

GOP Exec Committee Backs Re-Districting

Gray County Commissioners Wednesday will be asked to consider once again a proposal to re-district the county's four precincts to equalize the voting power.

Interested citizens are encouraged to attend. Following an announcement in Sunday's edition of the Pampa Daily News by Republican County Judge Sherman Lenning Jr. and Precinct 2 Gray County Commissioner Vernon Watkins (R) that they intend to submit a motion for redistricting Gray County, Mrs. Betty Brown, vice chairman of the county GOP executive committee, endorsed the proposal by stating: "The people of Pampa are deserving of representative county government. Judge Lenning and Vernon Watkins have tried repeatedly over the past year to redistrict our county in an effort to provide all citizens and taxpayers of Pampa a representative voice in local government consistent with the guidelines established with our courts."

"Each time Lenning and Watkins have submitted the issue to a vote, the democratic majority of the commissioners court have voted the proposal down or tabled it."

"Good government begins with the individual voter in his precinct, and he should not be denied a full voice in his county government by an arbitrary political boundary unrepresentative of the people."

Mrs. Brown was referring to the prepared statement recently released by Judge Lenning, which shows that 85.38 per cent of the county's registered voters live in Precinct 2, which includes Pampa. "The citizens of Pampa have one voice out of four in the commissioners court, which simply means the 15 per cent of the county's population represent the controlling majority on the commissioners court." Mrs. Brown continued by saying: "Population is unequally distributed in the county to such an extent, three commissioners living outside Pampa could impose a tax on the residents of Pampa," she said.

"We shut our eyes to the beginnings of evil because they are small, and in this weakness lies the germ of our defeat." —Amiel, Journal 1870

Judge Rules On Clay Shaw Prosecution

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Judge Malcolm V. O'Hara was to rule today whether Clay L. Shaw should be prosecuted for perjury because he testified he did not know Lee Harvey Oswald.

Attorneys for Shaw seek to quash District Attorney Jim Garrison's perjury charges because they allegedly were not drawn properly.

Garrison charged Shaw with perjury shortly after Shaw was acquitted March 1, 1969, on charges of conspiring with Oswald and others to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

A jury deliberated less than an hour before ruling that Shaw was innocent of the conspiracy charges.

Garrison now says Shaw lied during his trial when he testified he had never seen, known or talked to Oswald.

Italo Americans Protest Alleged Police, FBI, Media Harrassment

NEW YORK (UPI)—To the strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," an estimated 100,000 Italo-Americans cheered a reputed Mafia chief Monday before heading police pleas to go home and "have a glass of wine and a plate of spaghetti."

The crowd turned out at Columbus Circle for New York City's first Italian-American "Unity Day"—a protest against alleged police, FBI and news media harassment of Italo-Americans.

As the demonstration was breaking up, two policemen were stabbed in the back with an ice pick. One—Charles McCauley, 41, was in serious condition while patrolman Robert Phillips, 28, was listed in satisfactory conditions.

There were three hours of speeches by both Italians and non-Italians. Then, to cries of "We Want Joe," one of the organizers of "Unity Day"—Joseph Cosommo Sr.—appeared to tell the group "This day belongs to you, to you the people. You are organized now, you are one, and nobody can take you apart any more."

Colombo, according to the Justice Department—is the head of the Mafia in Brooklyn and is one of the six Mafia bosses in New York City.

He also has been one of the organizers of two months of picketing in front of the FBI office in New York after his son, Joseph Colombo Jr., was arrested April 30 on charges of melting down $500,000 in silver coins for resale.

There was general backing for the "Unity Day" meeting throughout Italian sections of the city. Shopkeepers closed their doors and the waterfront was nearly shut down, with most longshoremen attending the gathering. A number of non-Italian shops also closed to show their unity.

Apart from the stabbings that marred the end of the meeting, it generally was a good-natured affair, with singing and dancing. The throng included thousands of women and children, and there was a brisk sale of buttons saying "Kiss Me, I'm Italian" and "Italians are Beautiful."

Hart Challenges Then Votes For Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Getting tagged "soft on smut," Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., confided to his colleagues, is just about the "worst reputation" a senator can take home to the voters.

Shugging his shoulders, Hart decided to take risk Monday he challenged an amendment prohibiting the mailing of "sexually oriented" advertising to families which do not want such material.

Hart didn't contest the amendment, offered by Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., on its merits. He complained no one had seen the eight-page legislation, few knew what was in it, and no hearings had been held.

But the antimut bloc in the Senate is strong and for a while it appeared only Hart had any qualms.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, long a leader in the fight to curb smut mail, said "I would like to see something done about the pusher."

He charged the Supreme Court has "dodged, evaded, and avoided" the issue of obscenity in the mails.

Most of the senators voiced similar feelings.

Then Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., entered the fray and told Goldwater that under his amendment "you could end up with criminal charges against someone sending Michelangelo's greatest works of art."

Along the same line, Hart asked Goldwater whether the writings of Chaucer would qualify.

"I don't think the courts would go that far," Goldwater said and added he didn't feel the term "sexually oriented" would apply to Chaucer's works.

Goodell quickly broke in and roused a sound of laughter when he asked Goldwater "Wait a minute, have you ever read Chaucer?"

The vote was 83 to 2 on the Goldwater amendment. The no votes were cast by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Goodell. Hart voted for the amendment.

President Don Lane's team pulled up third with 408 points. Team members E.E. Shelhamer, Roy Sparkman and Harold Barrett shared the awards.

Jimmy Wilkerson's team, finishing in last place, brought the captain a ceramic donkey for his desk as a reminder all through the year.

Vice president Fancher welcomed new members, who were introduced by president Lane, with an illustrated talk on the chamber's organization, committee work, and the 1970 project program aimed at bettering Pampa's economic, civic and cultural climate.

Bill Nix of Canadian, a new member of the Pampa chamber, was introduced and extended an invitation by Pampans to attend the Canadian July 4 celebration and rodeo July 2, 3 and 4. The holiday observance will wind up on Saturday, he said, with a parade and nighttime fireworks display.

It was announced that the Pampa chamber's July membership luncheon will be held July 27 in conjunction with a meeting of Water, Inc.

Pampans Injured In White Deer Collision

Two Pampa women were injured in a two-car collision on U.S. Highway 60 in White Deer about 7:30 a.m. today.

Mrs. Doris Friend, 100 E. 25 Ave., the driver of one car, and her passenger, Mrs. Carolyn Smith, 2140 Dogwood, were taken to Highland General Hospital by ambulance following the accident.

A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Smith was admitted for treatment of minor injuries and was in good condition.

Mrs. Friend was treated and released.

According to Carson County Highway Patrolmen investigating the accident, Mrs. Friend was the driver of a car westbound on the highway when a car driven by Ernest Shuman of White Deer turned from a side street in front of Mrs. Friend's vehicle.

Shuman was not reported injured and investigating officers estimated damages at $1,300 to each vehicle.

Fund Started For Fire Scarred Youth

A nine-year-old Berger boy is still in intensive care in Amarillo's High Plains Hospital following an explosion about a month ago.

Kevin Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Phillips, who live south of Berger, received burns over most of his body when kerosene, poured on an open fire, engulfed him in flames.

He is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips of Lefors and a cousin to Mrs. Jim Barnes of Pampa.

Due to the extensive and prolonged care required the Berger TOPS has started a fund to alleviate some of the financial burden. Medical services and room fees are costing in excess of $200 per day and it has not yet been determined how much longer the youth will have to be hospitalized.

Gray County residents, who wish to make a contribution to the Kevin Phillips Fund, may do so by contacting Mrs. Barnes in Pampa.

Russell was released on $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson this morning.

Rangers Said Cause Of Valley Problems

MCCALLEN, Tex. (UPI) — The national convention of the American Citizens (LULAC) Sunday passed a resolution blaming Rio Grande Valley labor problems on Texas Rangers.

"The Rangers are on the side of the growers and they're not working for the public," said one delegate during debate over the resolution.

Sunday's meeting concluded the convention that began Friday and drew speakers ranging from Sargent Shriver, former U.S. ambassador to France and Peace Corps director; Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate Lloyd Bentsen Jr., and written remarks from Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., who also is a Senate candidate.

Delegates passed several other resolutions Sunday including one favoring permanent voter registration in Texas and another calling on the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to employ Mexican-Americans in all departments.

The voter resolution said voters would "turn out in larger numbers in every election if they only had to register once instead of each year. The HUD resolution called for an investigation of complaints that Mexican-Americans were passed over at promotion time.

The convention defeated a resolution to end the boycott of the Coors brewing company on the grounds the Colorado firm had not ended discriminatory hiring practices.

Two proposals by Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi were passed. One called for support of a suit against the Corpus Christi Board of Education for alleged discrimination. The other proposal asked all delegates to continue challenges against racial discrimination in Texas' school districts.

A resolution to ask President Nixon to follow through on the Civil Rights Act of 1964 also was passed.

Delegates also were requested to return their Montgomery Ward credit cards because the department store chain buys from Economy Furniture Stores of Austin. LULAC delegates charged Economy discriminated against Mexican-American laborers.

Judge Recesses Extradition Hearing

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice recessed the hearing for a writ of habeas corpus fighting extradition of Charles Bentsen Watson to California until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Watson is wanted in California on charges he participated in the murders of actress Sharon Tate and six others in Los Angeles. The former Farmersville high school football player is being held in the Collin County jail in McKinney.

Justice recessed the petition hearing Saturday to allow him to "study all applicable authorities in order to give mature consideration to the case."

Watson's attorneys, Bill and Roland Boyd of McKinney, have said they would appeal to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans should Justice deny the writ.

Israel Waits To Comment On Peace Plan

By United Press International
Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser arrived in Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders. Political sources said Israel will withhold comment on the new U.S. Middle East peace plan until the Arab nations react on it.

The trip by Nasser was the second in a year to the Soviet Union. The Egyptian armed forces depend heavily on the Soviets for weapons, planes and technical aid. Nasser's trip to Moscow last January resulted in installation of Soviet SAM3 missiles in Egypt.

The first hint of what the Soviets may think of the U.S. peace plan appeared Sunday in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. It said the plan is a rehash of a plan already rejected.

Sources said the Israeli ambassador to Washington, Yitzhak Rabin, had convinced the Israeli cabinet it would be wiser for Israel to let the Arabs have their say on the matter first.

Premier Golda Meir was speaking to parliament today. The sources said she would emphasize the Israeli decision to await Arab reaction.

Joseph Kennedy III Spends Summer Mountain Climbing

SEATTLE (UPI)—His thick sun-bleached hair framing a familiar square-jawed face, 17-year-old Joseph Kennedy III is spending the summer learning the difficult role of guide for climbers on 14,410-foot Mt. Rainier.

The eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has worked as an apprentice guide for climbers. He three times has climbed the four miles to Camp Muir at the 10,000-foot level, hauling rations and other supplies to the base camp.

He has begun studying technical aspects of mountain climbing along with several other apprentices who work for Rainier Mountaineering Inc. The company is operated by Lou Whittaker, brother of Jim Whittaker, first American to scale Mt. Everest and a close friend of the late Senator Kennedy.

It was Jim Whittaker who accompanied Robert Kennedy in 1965 when the senator climbed 13,900-foot Mt. Kennedy in Canada named after his assassinated brother, the former president.

Not New for Family Climbing is not a new thing for the Kennedy family. Edward Kennedy climbed the Matterhorn in Switzerland in 1957 and had a few needling remarks for his brother Robert, after the scaling of Mt. Kennedy.

Young Joseph Kennedy says he still gets tired hauling more than 60 pounds on a trip up to the base camp at Muir. But the six-foot 190-pounder admits that "I think I'm going to enjoy this summer."

"The other guides have a feeling about Mt. Rainier that is sort of a religion," he said. "I'm getting the feeling, too."

Joseph's brother David, 15, came West at the invitation of Jim Whittaker last summer and climbed the mountain. Recently, June 18, his mother, Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, the mother of 11, climbed to Camp Muir in a snap, winning the admiration of mountaineering professionals.

Joseph Kennedy, who will be a high school senior next fall, is concentrating on his work this summer and reluctant to be drawn into political comments.

"There are an awful lot of things wrong with this country," he allowed himself to say recently. "The basic thinking must be changed."

Foreign News Commentary

Czechoslovakia's hard-lining conservatives obviously are determined to take a full Alexander Dubcek and the men around him who attempted briefly to put a "human face" on Czechoslovak communism.

Show trials such as those which led to the execution of earlier Czechoslovak Red leaders in 1952 are not ruled out, although Moscow is believed to oppose them.

The conservatives latest victory came with Dubcek's ouster from the party, two days after his removal as Czechoslovak ambassador to Turkey.

It leaves in the Czechoslovak government only one of the top men who joined with Dubcek in the spring of 1968 to give Czechoslovakia a few delirious months of hope that long-lost freedoms were being restored.

The man is President Lubek Synovka for the time being, but he is a power.

Earlier this month, former Premier Oldrich Cernik another of the 1968 reformers, resigned as minister of technical and investment development and disappeared from government.

He had been replaced as premier by Lubomir Strougal, one of the breed of "new realists" whose return to positions of power began with the Soviet invasion of August, 1968.

He has a reputation for toughness going back to 1948 when as a 19-year-old law student he went into the streets to cheer the Soviet liberators.

He has denounced "petit bourgeois" and "nationalist" trends and has pressed for measures which might bring about a new order among intellectuals.

He is regarded as a possible successor to Gustav Husak, the present party leader, regarded by the conservatives as too soft on the liberal Husaks who moved upstairs to take over post of president from Synovka.

The above trials in 1965 involved former Party Secretary-General Ruzicko Slansky, former Foreign Minister Vlastislav Clementis and 13 other states. Vlastislav Slansky was a nationalist group.

It was Czechoslovakia's greatest show trial to date. Slansky and nine others were executed on Dec. 1, 1952. The others received life sentences.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Use of spies has been a part of warfare since the beginning of recorded history. During the Civil War, Gen. Thomas (Stonewall) Jackson received vital data through the Union lines delivered by a Southern beauty named Belle Boyd, which produced smashing Confederate victories. The Confederate espionage network secured complete reports of all meetings of President Lincoln's cabinet during the early stages of the war, The World Almanac says.

Bolivia's "nationalist revolutionary" government which seized power nine months ago is suffering from a credibility gap.

The country's 30,000 tin miners are not sure the government of Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia is as revolutionary as it says it is.

Businessmen are not sure how to balance Ovando's promise of "full guarantees" to the private sector against an implied government intention to eliminate totally all private property.

The peasants who gave strong support to the late President Gen. Rene Barrientos are feeling neglected and students, generally anti-United States, are impatient with what they regard as the slow pace of promised government reforms.

Signs of discontent even are showing up in the army.

Violence Rises
Accompanying all this is a rising tide of violence.

A bomb explosion during a weekend student outbreak at Santa Cruz, 500 miles from the capital, La Paz, took the lives of two policemen and brought to four the number of persons slain in two days.

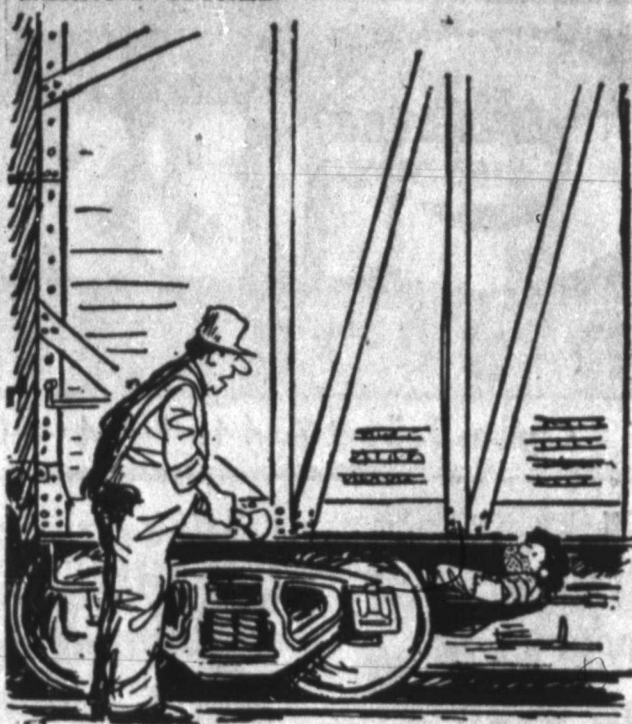

In February, former Interior Minister Jaime Otero Calderon was found strangled. He was publisher of a weekly newspaper and had served in the government of former President Victor Paz Estensoro, overthrown in 1964 in a military coup led by Ovando.

On March 14 newspaper publisher Alfredo Alexander Jordan and his wife were killed by a bomb delivered as a gift package. Alexander had been critical of the military government.

The government won considerable popularity when, less than a month after seizing power, it nationalized the $150 million Gulf Oil Company.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You'll have to take your business elsewhere. Penn Central is in bankruptcy!"

Long On Grain Short On Trains

ADA, Kan. (UPI) — A train of empty railroad cars finally moved into town Sunday and workers began hauling 60,000 bushels of wheat piled along three blocks of Main Street to the freight depot to move it to market.

The Ada Grain Co. stored the mountain of grain in the street after its 350,000-bushels elevator was filled and the tiny Central Kansas town faced the worst shortage of empty freight cars in years.

"It's the first train of empty cars we've had here in some time, said Carl McGavran, elevator manager. "We've got men down there now, moving the grain off the street, down to the tracks and out of town."

The small train did not solve Ada's wheat overflow problems, however, and the boxcar shortage remained critical for farmers in the nation's largest wheat-producing state.

Kansas' railroad officials blame Eastern railroads for the boxcar shortage. Officials say the Eastern roads rent cars from the Midwestern lines during growing season and are supposed to return the cars in time for harvest.

Eastern lines find renting cheaper than building their own cars and Kansas' railroads favor the arrangement, but recalling the boxcars under Interstate Commerce Commission regulations is complicated and often causes a harvest-time shortage of empty cars in the Midwest.

Congressmen have responded to complaints from grain farmers unable to reach their markets. Rep. Garner E. Shriver, R-Kan., has introduced a bill that would require the Defense Department to help free railroad cars for the harvest.

Being a Girl Scout isn't considered to be a very "hip" group by some girls, but after being a Scout for eight years and experiencing all the joys and tears of success and defeat, I've begun to realize what Scouting is really about.

When a girl is a Brownie her world suddenly opens into a strange but wonderful land full of new ideas and fun things to do! And then she walks across a bridge to another world, the world of being a Junior.

This is the first year that a girl can experience the excitement of Established Camp! Camp shows a girl the beauty of a sunrise and the fun of meeting new friends. At camp a girl can really prove that she is just as capable as anyone there.

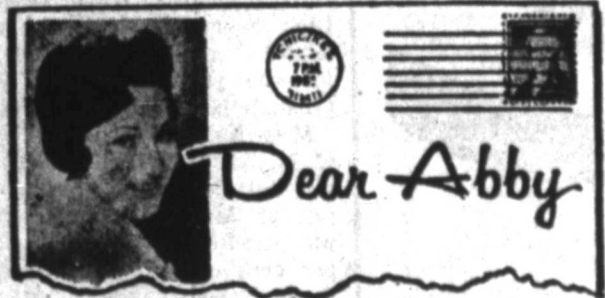

There is always plenty to do at camp. A girl can swim in the lake, canoe, go to the Arts and Crafts room, archery, riflery, go on hikes, learn new songs and a lot more.

There is even an all camp baseball game between the campers and the counselors. It is funny how the girls always seem to win!

And of course there is always a campfire at night, even if it is just in your own unit. Finally, at the last campfire, the girls, who were chosen ahead of time by the votes of the other girls, are given a special award, The Best Camper Award. This award is a simple little bottle filled with ashes from the last campfire, but it means more than any elaborate bottle could because it means that you are one of the best.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: While putting socks and underwear in my son's drawer, hidden far back I found several pages of sexy nudies, torn from a girls magazine. They were folded many times, and looked as though they had passed through many hands before reaching my son's. To say I was shocked is putting it mildly, as he is 15 1/2, an officer in the DeMolay, and an upright Christian boy of high ideals. His father died when he was 12, and he and I have always discussed everything openly and I thought we had a good relationship.

After long deliberation, I took the pictures from his hiding place and pasted them on the door of his room. When he came home from school I told him I had "cleaned" his room and had put his "art pictures" where he could see them and enjoy them. He said thanks, and three minutes later they were removed by him and put in the trash. Somehow I feel he will never want to collect such things again. Was there a better way to handle this?

MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: I suppose because your son took the pictures down, and put them in the trash, you feel you "won." You could be wrong. It is important for young people to know that their privacy will not be violated. I am not accusing you of deliberately snooping, but having come across "art"—obviously hidden, I think you should have left it alone. All your son will learn from the demonstration you described is that next time he wants to hide something, he'll have to find a better hiding place.

DEAR ABBY: I have been burning since National Secretary's Week. Why should a wife sit home while her husband "honors" his secretary with flowers (he never gives me any), takes her out to lunch and then takes her to dinner? I admit I am jealous. She is young and I no longer am. Why should there be a National Secretary's Week?

I don't see any National Nurse's Week. Or National Janitor's Week. Or National Gas Station Attendant's Week. Or National Store Clerk's Week. What makes secretaries think they are entitled to special consideration?

J.W. DEAR J.W.: Their bosses.

DEAR ABBY: I have just read a letter signed "DISGUSTED," who married a man with two children. And she's complaining because she has to take care of them on week-ends.

A year ago I married a man whose wife ran off and left him and their five children. The youngest was three, and the eldest was nine. It was a big job I took on, but I haven't regretted it for one minute. My husband is an officer in the Coast Guard and I knew he'd be gone a lot, but we found so much happiness I almost can't believe it. These children are like my very own and they love and appreciate me.

Please print this to let people know that it's possible to marry a man with small children and be happy. By the way, I'm 24 and my wonderful husband is 29.

CAROL IN ASOTIRA, ORE. DEAR CAROL: Please congratulate your wonderful husband for me. He picked a wonderful wife.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LISA: I don't think he was "confessing." I think he was bragging. (And possibly lying.)

Mets Nip Pirates, 3-2

By NEIL HERSBERG

The sophisticated platoon system with which the New York Mets startled the baseball world in 1969 is still working—to the consternation of their National League rivals.

of the ninth off Tom Seaver on singles by Richie Hebner, Roberto Clemente, and Willie Stargell. But Hodges quickly showed the managerial ability that made him manager of the year in 1969.

Steve Blass (5-9) from the mound. Hodges sent in Al Wells to run for Shamsky and Joe Gibbon came on for Blass and Cleon Jones, pinch-hitting for Wayne Garrett, forced Wells at the plate against reliever Orlando Pena but Donn Clendenon, batting for Jerry Grote, lofted a sacrifice fly to right to win the game as Marshall scored the deciding run.

Alomar Leads 10-3 Angel Victory; Senators Rally To Down Orioles

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer
Add Tommy Harper to the list of American League outfielders who have discovered that Sandy Alomar has more muscle than is expected from a 5-foot, 9-inch, 155-pound "slugger."

Harper played Alomar in close three times Monday night and admitted after the California Angels whipped the Milwaukee Brewers, 10-3, with the aid of Alomar's single, double and two triples that he "made a mistake."

The Washington Senators rallied for a 5-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and the Minnesota Twins beat the Kansas City Royals, 5-4, in the only other American League games.

In the American League, California defeated Milwaukee, 10-3, Washington beat Baltimore, 5-3, and Minnesota edged Kansas City, 5-4. All other teams were idle.

PRO: Frank Beard On The Golf Tour Temperment

(Eleventh of 12 Pieces.)
By FRANK BEARD
Unlike some golfers, I know my own limitations. I know I'm not a robot. I know I can't do the impossible. I can't do anything that a good amateur golfer can't do. He makes the exact same shots I make; the only difference is that I make them more often. Anything he can do three times out of 10, I can do seven times out of 10.

I'm reminded of something Patty said to me the other day. "Sometimes," she said, "I think you're afraid to win. You're afraid because you don't want what comes with winning—the responsibilities, the publicity, the attention, all of that."

Maybe Patty's right. I don't know. The toughest person in the world to try to figure out is yourself. You're always rationalizing. Some people might say I played cowardly today, but I say I played realistically. There goes old Frank—protecting his flank again.

Dale Douglass is a bit too conservative. He doesn't seem to have the drive you need on the final day to win. You've got to be bold. You've got to go out and win it. They don't hand a tournament to you. I guess I'm no one to talk. Some people say I'm not too bold, either.

I'm rooming with Steve Reid, and before we went out to dinner tonight, after we'd had a few Scotchies, he got to talking again about how badly he wants to play on the tour, how badly he wants to be a good tournament player, how badly he wants to become one of the stars. This game just eats him up, he's so intense.

He told me that the other day he was complaining on the phone to his wife about his game and she said, "Well, you can always come home and run a filling station."

Steve said he got so angry he slammed the phone down and didn't call his wife for three days. He once had to quit the tour and take a club job for awhile because he ran out of money, and he doesn't ever want to do that again. I've never seen anyone who burns more with the desire for success. I don't mean just financial. I think it's a lot more than that with Steve.

He and I went to dinner tonight with some friends, and as we were sitting in a nice Italian restaurant, some fellow from a nearby table got up and walked over to us. "Aren't you Frank Beard?" he asked me.

I said I was, and he introduced himself — somebody from Philadelphia—and I felt kind of good being recognized and kind of bad that he hadn't recognized Steve. I guess that's what Steve's really striving for, recognition.

Bill Maxwell came over to me on the putting green and told me he was glad I'd won in Minnesota. "And I'm real happy you won by seven strokes, Frank," he said, "because the one thing you're missing is a killer instinct. You just got to remember that these people out here are your friends every place except on the golf course. You got to go out and stomp on 'em. Beat 'em by 70 strokes not just seven. When you're seven strokes ahead, you got to try to make it 17. If you don't, if you let up, if you get to thinking about anybody but yourself, you'll wind up second all the time."

McLain To Face Yanks Wednesday In 1st Start For Suspended Hurler

DETROIT (UPI)—Deniy McLain returns to the Detroit Tigers Wednesday as his three-month suspension from baseball ends and, as one of his teammates put it, "maybe it will wake us up."

Without their two-time Cy Young Award winner, Detroit trailed the first-place Baltimore Orioles by seven games, with 91 of the 162 on the schedule yet to be played.

McLain was expected to slip into town unnoticed today and immediately go into seclusion before his heralded initial pitching performance of the 1970 season.

The controversial Detroit right-hander was called onto Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's carpet just prior to the start of spring training and suspended indefinitely for his associations with gamblers in 1967.

"There's a lot of pressure on him," said teammate Al Kaline of McLain's being thrust into a starting assignment on his first day back. "Let's wait 'til he gets here to see how he'll do."

The 31-game winner of two seasons past has been working out at Lakeland High School in Florida for the past month to get himself in shape for his test against the New York Yankees and pitcher Gary Waslewski (1-1).

Graebner-Taylor Tilt Wimbledon Highlight

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—A New Yorker with a big serve, a burly Englishman and a veteran Spaniard set out today to end Australian dominance of the granddaddy of all tennis tournaments.

The hometown crowd will be pulling for Britain's Roger Taylor in a center court quarter-final match against Clark Graebner of New York City which could lead to a long-overdue American or British men's singles champion in the 94th All-England lawn tennis tournament.

Graebner, Taylor and Spain's Andres Gimeno, 33, the only other non-Australian survivors, face stiff but not impossible odds to reach the finals Saturday, and deprive the Australians of the title for the first time since Spain's Manuel Santana's victory in 1966.

Bob "Nails" Carmichael, a former Melbourne carpenter and the lone surviving unseeded male, meets Gimeno.

In the other—all-Australian—quarter-finals, Tony Roche plays Ken Rosewall and John Newcombe takes on Roy Emerson.

In the women's singles, America's Billie Jean King and Rosie Casals, Australia's Margaret Court and Francoise Durr of France blasted their way through to the semifinals on windswept chilly courts Monday.

Mrs. Court, the top seed, beat West Germany's Heiga Nielsen, 6-8, 6-0, 6-0. Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., bidding for her fourth Wimbledon title, outplayed Karen Krantzcke of Australia, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. Miss Casals of San Francisco trounced British Wightman Cup player Winnie Shaw, 6-2, 6-0. Miss Durr beat Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-4.

Pampa, Perryton To Clash Tonight

Pampa's American Legion baseball team, fresh from a pair of weekend victories, will travel to Perryton today for a 7:30 p.m. east zone battle. The Rebels nipped Perryton, 7-6, Sunday at Optimist Park.

Liberal will invade Optimist Park Wednesday at 8 p.m. for a non-conference affair and Dumas will host Pampa Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The Rebels will host Berger Sunday at 5 p.m. to round out the week's action.

Pampa stands 4-2 for the season.

Plant Shutdown Makes It Rough On All Employes

(Editor's Note: The week before the Ford Motor Co. closed its Dallas assembly plant last Feb. 17, a UPI reporter went to the assembly line and talked with some of 1,200 employes. Most were worried about finding new jobs and feeding their families. Three months after leaving the assembly line, their is the story of the American economy.)

By PRESTON MCGRAW
DALLAS (UPI) — "This place is overflowing. I can't catch them fast enough," J. C. "Pete" Bratton said. "I've got two motors torn down now. I just pulled a six and I'm putting in an eight."

He stopped for breath. "I have a complete overhaul job waiting. That car over there's got a headlight short and a man just brought in a trailer wiring job. But was he making as much as he made with Ford?"

"Let's don't put it like that. I am making as much as I made by the hour," he said. Bratton, 52, has been a partner in an automobile repair business with Sam Webb since the Ford assembly plant closed. It is hard to find an automobile repair man as versatile as Bratton.

An Able Repairman
When a new car came off Ford's assembly line with anything wrong, Bratton fixed it. Body, engine, ignition, air conditioning — it was all the same.

The personnel office at Dallas County Junior College telephoned him the other day and asked him to come for an interview as an instructor in air conditioning at its new Northfield campus.

Still it's not like the old assembly plant and Bratton said the reason is this:

"I was a little more aggressive than most and turned in a lot of suggestions. I made $3,500 each on several suggestions and I made $4,000 or $5,000 a year on that. I made $12,000 at Ford last year and I am not in that bracket yet."

Larry Cross, a tall, red haired young man who was having a badly cut finger stitched up in the company doctor's office last Jan. 9 when the closing was announced, generally has had the same experience.

Working at McKinney
Cross was a utility man with Ford. He was making $3.99 an hour, plus fringe benefits of about $1 an hour more. He has turned 24 since the plant closed and now is working for a mobile home manufacturer in McKinney, Tex., for $3 an hour and looking forward to a 25 cent an hour raise.

He likes his new job and his new employer but the fringe benefits are not what they were. His new job is installing plumbing, a trade he learned in high school.

Mrs. Cross, the mother of three young sons — two red haired like their father — said she does not feel quite as secure as she did during the 5½ years her husband worked for Ford. "They just don't have the benefits," she said.

"He was off for about two weeks," Mrs. Cross said. "He went to the airlines first and another place. They just weren't hiring. My brother-in-law is a mobile home dealer. He told my husband to try Celebrity Homes."

Started Right In

"He went up there on a Wednesday with his work clothes on and started right in. "For about a month before the plant closed, he worked for Safeway Stores as a stocker so he could pay off our bills. He had to stop when the plant closed because he couldn't work for Safeway and get unemployment."

"He got about $40 a week unemployment and Ford made it $121."

Mrs. Cross' father, Howard Irby, 42, had worked at the Ford plant 42 years. He now is out of town on vacation.

Irby's job at Ford ended on Friday and the following Monday, he went to work for Safeway as a truck driver. There was a difference. He was making $4.25 an hour at Ford. He makes $3.50 an hour for Safeway.

Things Not Good

Doyle Bridges, president of United Auto Workers Local 870, keeps the union hall open on the same block as the now silent assembly plant. He said that by and large things have not gone well with many of the people who lost jobs.

"It's a little difficult to keep up with, except in a reverse way," Bridges said. "There were about 1,650 hourly people in the plant. Six hundred or more are still drawing unemployment."

"We have 150 to 200 people who transferred to Ford plants at Louisville, Kansas City and Chicago. Some of those who transferred have come back and are drawing unemployment.

"Some are out on retirement and some people who are out on retirement are working somewhere else. Some have gone to other places. But out of those left, probably not more than a quarter have jobs and that may be high."

The trouble is, Bridges said, that the jobs open nowadays — mostly service jobs — pay $1.50 to $2.00 an hour less than Ford paid and the fringe benefits are not there.

Always Making Payments

"These people have homes and automobiles — things they are making payments on," Bridges said. "They were making an average of $3.95 an hour plus overtime. If they can set it some former employes are better off taking about $40 a week state unemployment pay plus a supplemental unemployment benefit (SUB) from Ford.

SUB and state unemployment add up to 95 per cent of what the ex-worker was paid on the job, less taxes and $7.50. The $7.50 is for transportation and lunch money the man does not spend, now that he is not on the job.

Before the plant closed, Ford invited prospective employers to come out and interview any man in the place.

"I was not pleased with that and I was not impressed," Bratton said sharply. "The only people who came out were from the police department and other public jobs. The majority of men had to get out and scratch for themselves."

Some Still Working

Not quite everybody lost his job in Dallas Feb. 27. There are 27 hourly workers and 12 hourly workers — most of them on maintenance — still there.

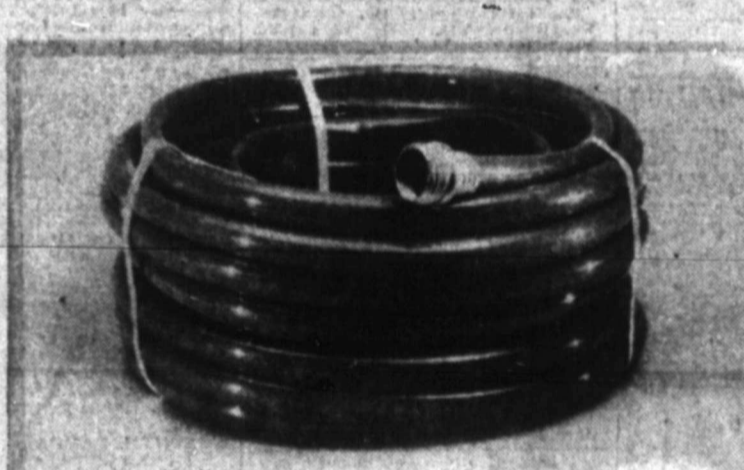

The force will be cut down and part of it will be kept on duty 24 hours a day and the plant is sold.

Plant manager A. Folger has moved on to Atlanta. Tom McCraw, 66, Folger's administrative assistant, now works as an industrial engineer at the Dearborn, Mich., assembly plant.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — President Nixon will be hard-pressed to match the ratings popularity of his daughter Tricia when he appears in a one-hour, three-network television conversation Wednesday night.

The attractive Miss Nixon gave a terrific ratings boost to CBS-TV's news series "60 Minutes" when she offered a partial tour of the White House in a segment of that program on May 26.

The series zoomed to third place among all shows in the national rankings. Only the Emmy Awards telecast and an episode of the medical tale "Marcus Welby, M.D." finished ahead of "60 Minutes" in the from May 25 to June 7.

Wednesday's three-network endeavor with the Chief Executive, entitled "A Conversation with the President," will be seen live and in color at 10 p.m. EDT on ABC-TV, CBS-TV and NBC-TV.

It will originate in the presidential compound at San Clemente, Calif., and Nixon has indicated he will discuss various aspects of foreign policy with his three network interviewers.

They are John Chancellor of NBC, Eric Sevareid of CBS and Howard K. Smith of ABC.

Nixon's informal, prime-time discussion with the newsmen will be the fourth such presidential conversation that television has presented. The practice was started by the late President Kennedy a week before Christmas in 1962. His successor, Lyndon Johnson, took part in the next two broadcasts, in 1964 and 1967.

The latest conversation will take place three days before the July 4 "Honor America Day" ceremonies in Washington that will be televised in detail by all the commercial networks Saturday.

Wednesday, by the way, will be a busy day for watchers of public affairs broadcasts on video. In addition to the nighttime Nixon discussion, NBC-TV will cover the draft lottery drawing in a series of reports and special programs starting at 10 a.m. EDT, at the Department of Commerce Auditorium in Washington.

The night before, meanwhile, on Tuesday, CBS-TV will have an hour special, "Where We Stand in Indochina," assessing America's military movement into Cambodia, and broadcast on the day U.S. forces have been scheduled to withdraw from that nation.

And tonight, ABC-TV's news series called "Now" takes a look at the "silent majority" in a program entitled "straight from the heartland," a half-hour in which residents polled in and around Grand Island, Neb., express confidence in the overall performance of President Nixon and Vice President Agnew.

Fortune Editors Say Economy Has Turned

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. economy has turned the corner and will accelerate during the next 18 months, say the editors of Fortune magazine.

A magazine survey also concluded the federal budget will move back toward a surplus within the 18-month period.

The nation's economic growth will take place despite a continuing reduction in defense expenditures, the editors said, maintaining the reduction rate will be the same as that of the past 18 months to the lowest level since 1965.

Inflation will slow down from the peak annual rate of 6 per cent reached in the first quarter of this year to 3 per cent in 1971 the survey predicted. It said savings will pick up to a real annual rate of 3 per cent and consumer spending will rise only 1 per cent this year and possibly 2 per cent next year.
