Security Council Called

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. Security Council was called into urgent session Saturday to deal with new ground fighting between Israel and Lebanon.

The meeting (set for 4 p.m. EDT) was called by Sierra Leone Ambassador Davidson Nicol, Council president for September, at the request of Yaha Mahmassani, Lebanese charge d'affaires.

"I requested an urgent meeting of the Security Council in view of new large-scale Israeli aggression," the Lebanese diplomat said.

In Beirut, a Lebanese military spokesman said Saturday that a severe battle was being waged with Israeli armored forces that had crossed the border into South Lebanon.

In his request, Mahmassani referred to a letter of complaint he had dispatched Friday to the Council, which said in part:

"I wish to inform you that today at 1300 hours (1 p.m.) local time, two Israeli infantry companies have penetrated inside Lebanese territory to the depth of 7 kilometers (4.5 miles) bombing civilian installations and occupying road for Israeli military use, permitting further expansionist operations."

Ambassador Yusef Teknah, Israel's permanent representative to the United Nations was in consultation in Israel. His place was to be taken at the Council session by Shabbai Rosenne, the Israeli deputy representative. Mahmassani spoke for Lebanon in the absence of its ambassador, Edouard Ghiorra.

AN ILLUSTRIOUS SON HONORED — Lunar Astronaut Alan L. Bean stands beneath the metal street marker bearing his name that he thus unveiled. It was one of the few times during his visit to the place of his birth that the highly articulate young man was at a loss for words. It was obvious at this point, he was both moved and modest. Alan Bean Beams At Old Hometown

By RAY BANTER
News Staff Writer

"A funny thing happened to us... on the way to the moon."
By now that is an old 'saw' but it established the theme of lunar astronaut and Navy Capt. Alan L. Bean when he spoke on the eve of dedication services in Wheeler, the city of his birth, changing the name of the North-South highway through that city from Shamrock to Alan L. Bean Blvd.

Activities began at 5:30 Friday afternoon with a concert for the gathering crowd by the MAJF, a local orchestra featuring pop favorites. Promptly at six, dignitaries mounted the veranda of the Wheeler library building on the southwest corner of the square and Judge Grainger McIlhany, as master of ceremonies, began the official duty.

Judge McIlhany introduced Wheeler Mayor Pete Burton who, following his official words of welcome introduced Tom Dougherty, former Wheeler mayor who is credited with the idea to rename the thoroughfare for Bean.

Doughty told the throng that he peeked the roped off square in front of the library that his concept of the project was not to use such a notable local coal for the city but because he ardently believed in the country's space program and felt the current cuback was a sad mistake.

At this point Capt. Bean was introduced and presented the traditional key to the city. His father, Arnold Bean, who accompanied him to Wheeler, was introduced and spoke of fond memories of people and incidents during his residence there.

Astronaut Bean then unveiled the new metal street marker bearing his name and clipped the ribbon stretched at the library intersection once again opening the route to vehicular traffic.

Based on the speakers stand he charmed the crowd with humor and complimentary comments on the city. He noted that in private conversations and in Mayor Burton's introduction, he had been accused of absconding himself from the city of his birth. He expressed a desire to correct this in part, pointing out that he had come within nine miles of Wheeler on a number of occasions... when he flew over at 40,000 feet on his way to Denver to confer with spacecraft manufacturers.

Dedication ceremonies completed, the crowd moved almost to a man to the football field for a typical Texas barbecue followed by the principal speech of the day by Capt. Bean.

Beans Anonymous For Awhile Anyway

The city of Wheeler shone with work in a massive cleanup campaign plus the bright colors of people dressed for the special occasion set for six o'clock.

Some stood on the sidewalks or beside cars and talked. Others, particularly young people, strolled around the square. From time to time an arm-in-arm tie of them would part to allow two men in sports shirts, colored eyeglasses and bareheaded to pass in the opposite direction.

They paused from store to store, peep at a window display and looked frequently across the street to the courthouse square.

They lingered for a long time in front of City Drug and gathered a small number of local folk who proudly pointed out that Lunar Astronaut Alan Bean was born upstairs 'way back in '32.

The men exchanged glances and then the older of the pair started up the stairway. His companion followed him to the floor that was the Wheeler hospital in the dust bowl days of 1932.

"This is the spot... this is where you were born."

The younger man smiled while the gray-headed man gasped. The guest of honor for the day had reached the very heart of things before anyone knew he was in town.

On the street again a native older in crisp grey, straw hat and happy smile said:

"I remember when that young'un was born. Me or the wife was curious to see a tyke who had nerve enough to come into the world with one tooth when there wasn't much to chew."

As the astronaut and his father headed for their motel to dress for the formalities, he looked up at the bus stop sign on the drug store commenting with a smile:

"What was once a station for entering the world is now a depot for leaving town."

Deadline Nearing In Pretty Yard Contest

Only three days remain for Pampa yards to be nominated for "the most beautiful yard in Pampa."

Entries continue to come into the Chamber of Commerce office, according to Chairman Warren Fatheree.

Fatheree said Saturday more than 75 entries had been received, but some of those were duplications.

"We need more nominations from Wards three and four. I know there's some pretty yards in those areas, because I've seen them," Fatheree said.

So far, Ward One has 24 nominations; Ward Two, 19; Ward Three, two nominations; with four in Ward Four.

"Yards will be judged and winners announced on Sept. 12," Fatheree said.

"They will be recognized at a chamber luncheon and plaques awarded."

There will be four first, second and third prize winners in each of Pampa's four wards.

Baby Drowns In Bathtub

Mary Louise Franks, nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Franks, 1018 S. Sumner, was drowned in the bathtub at the Franks' home about 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

The mother told officers she had placed the child in the tub in a small amount of water to play while she hung out clothes.

When she returned to the house the tub was full of overflowing. Evidently the toddler had managed to open the faucets.

The father was at a service station.

A neighbor, Dale Davis, tried to revive the infant while awaiting arrival of an ambulance.

Dr. M. C. Overton, who had attended the child as physician, made the official death statement.

The couple have two other small children.

Franks is employed by the state highway department. The family moved here a year ago from Shamrock. Mary Louise was born last Christmas Eve.

Funeral arrangements will be made through Richardson Funeral Home in Shamrock with Duenkel Funeral Home handling local details.

EXPECT INCREASE

LONDON (UPI) — The population of England and Wales is expected to increase by 8.7 million to about 59 million between 1969 and 2001, according to a report Thursday by the registrar general.

The figure is 2.3 million less than the total projected a year ago. The report said increased use of contraceptives was one reason for the lower prediction.

The report also said, 205,000 persons entered Britain in 1969, 16,000 less than in 1968.

Armchair Football 'Experts' To Vie For Weekly Prizes

Area football fans will have an opportunity to pick winners and to compete for weekly cash prizes, beginning Tuesday.

The contest, sponsored by the Pampa Daily News and 17 Pampa business firms will run for two weeks. A full page ad will be published each Tuesday, with 15 selected games listed in the ads.

The scores of the Pampa Harvesters and West Texas State University will be used as tie-breakers.

Readers of the Pampa Daily News will be required to select the winners from the list of 15 high school, college and pro games to be played on the week-end.

In the event more than one contestant has the same number of correct predictions, the prize winners will be determined by the one breaker.

The one estimating closest to the actual scores of the Harvesters and WTSU games will be declared the winner.

The Pampa Daily News will pay $15 each week to the first place winner; $10 for second place; and $5 for third place.

Everyone is eligible to enter except employees of the Pampa Daily News and members of their families.

All entries must be in the office of the Pampa News by 5 p.m. each Friday of the contest to be eligible for that week's prizes.

Pampa merchants sponsoring the weekly football contest are: Montgomery Ward; Fleming Appliance; Cook of the Walk Drive Inc.; Harold Barret Ford, Inc.; Langley and Gray; Foodways; Culbertson; Stowers Chevrolet; Naughton Auto Service Center; McBroom Motors; Gattis Shoes; Walsh Tire Co.; Brown-Freeman Men's Wear; Gibson's; Heard-Jones; Pampa Cable TV; Firestone; and Pampa Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Board, Senior Await Ruling On Long Hair

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

It will be Tuesday morning before 17-year-old Pampa High School senior, Jon Whitsett, learns if he can rejoin his classmates in Pampa High School still wearing "love hair" and in violation of a Dress and Grooming Code adopted mid-June by the Pampa school board.

Or, if he must comply and have his hair shorn to a "non-excessive" length.

It depends upon a ruling expected Tuesday morning from District Judge Halbert O. Woodward in Lubbock, where a suit is pending against the school board for Whitsett's expulsion.

Whitsett, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wilber B. Whitsett, Jr., 1003 Christine, was suspended from PHS classes Aug. 31 for wearing his hair an "excessive length," according to school officials.

A suit for a temporary restraining order against the school board was filed Friday in U. S. District Court in Lubbock.

Judge Woodward said he would rule on the case before Tuesday, when classes resume following the Labor Day weekend.

In testimony given Friday in Lubbock, school officials, Principal Cameco Marsh and a 55-year-old principal Marvin Bowman, said Whitsett was not a troublemaker and were surprised when he refused to cut his hair. He carries an 88 grade average, which principal Marsh said was good for any student.

He is a news editor on the school newspaper, "Little Harvester," and ran successfully for president of the student council this past spring.

Whitsett and his parents have disputed the report given by school officials that the senior student was wearing his hair tied back "with a ribbon."

"It wasn't a ribbon, it was strips of leather," Whitsett said Saturday, when invited by this reporter to give an in-depth interview as to his reasons for wearing long hair.

The interview offer was declined by Whitsett and his parents, but he issued the following statement as an explanation for his preference for long hair:

"The way an individual wears his hair and dresses is not to be decided by any group of people in my case, it's between the parent and child.

"A person's style of dress is up to him. It may be a simple thing, but it's important. Saying a person must have short hair is just as strong as saying a person must have long hair. The point is, it's for no one to say except the individual."

Soviet Task Force Enters Caribbean

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—A Soviet task force entered the West passage off Puerto Rico's west coast, at noon Saturday a U.S. Navy spokesman said.

The four-ship fleet, composed of a cruiser, tanker, destroyer and a submarine tender, is the second Soviet naval unit to tour the Caribbean this year. A Russian fleet spent two weeks in the area in May, and stopped to refuel in Cienfuegos, Cuba.

A fifth ship that had been with the task force, separated from it yesterday and headed through the Windward Passage, which separates Cuba and Haiti, a Navy spokesman said.

Naval authorities here have said the increased Soviet interest in the Caribbean indicated the Russians might be planning to establish a naval base in Cuba.

JAYWALKING EXPENSIVE

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Jaywalking became time consuming and expensive here Thursday.

Police, acting on a City Traffic Safety Commission commendation, announced they had arrested 20 persons for illegal pedestrian street crossing.

Bail is $2.

PAMPA AND VICINITY—Partly cloudy today with considerable cloudiness and cooler temperatures tonight and Monday. Chance of showers beginning late today and continuing through Monday. High Sunday in the lower 90s. Low Sunday night in the upper 60s. High Monday in the 80s. Wind southerly at 12 to 22 miles per hour shifting to northerly late Sunday.

Security Council Called

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE today called for an emergency meeting of the Security Council to discuss the Israeli attack on Lebanon. The State Department said the attack was a "flagrant violation of international law" and that the United States would support any action taken by the Security Council to bring about a cessation of hostilities. The attack, which began on September 4, resulted in the deaths of at least 100 Lebanese and the displacement of thousands of refugees. The Israeli government has claimed that the attack was a necessary response to Lebanese support for the Arab cause in the Middle East.

Board, Senior Await Ruling On Long Hair

By Doris E. Wilson
News Staff Writer

The Pampa Board of Education and the Pampa Senior Center are awaiting a ruling on whether students should be allowed to wear long hair. The board has received several requests from parents and students to allow long hair, but the school district has been reluctant to do so. The senior center has also received requests from members to allow long hair. The ruling is expected to be made in the next few weeks.

Beans Anonymous For Awhile Anyway

Alan Bean, the first man to walk on the moon, is being honored in Pampa, Texas, but he is being honored anonymously for a while. The Pampa Chamber of Commerce has decided to honor Bean with a street sign, but they have decided not to put his name on it. This is because Bean is currently on a tour of Texas and does not want to be the center of attention. The street sign will be dedicated to him in his hometown of Pampa, but it will not have his name on it. This is a unique way of honoring him.

This is a tragic incident and a reminder to parents to always supervise their children in the bathtub.

Soviet Task Force Enters Caribbean

A Soviet task force of submarines and other vessels entered the Caribbean Sea today. The task force is believed to be on a mission to establish a naval base in Cuba. The United States has expressed concern over the presence of Soviet vessels in the Caribbean and has warned that it will take action if necessary. The Soviet government has denied the reports and has said that the vessels are on a routine mission. The situation in the Caribbean is tense and could lead to a conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The contest is sponsored by the Pampa Daily News and is open to all residents of Pampa. Fans will be asked to predict the outcome of each game in the NFL and CFL. The prizes are cash and merchandise. The contest will run for several weeks and the winners will be announced in the newspaper. This is a fun and exciting way to test your football knowledge and win prizes.

Whitsett's Hair Tied Back With Ribbon

Whitsett's hair was tied back with a ribbon because of a school rule. The school principal, Max Whitsett, said that the student's hair was too long and was a distraction. The student's parents were notified and they decided to tie the hair back with a ribbon. This is a common solution for students with long hair. The school rule is to keep hair neat and tidy. This is a good rule and helps to maintain a professional appearance in the classroom.

JAYWALKING EXPENSIVE

Jaywalking is expensive, as a city police officer learned today. The officer was stopped by a city traffic safety commission and was fined for jaywalking. The officer was driving through a red light and was caught by the commission. The fine was $20. This is a reminder to drivers to always follow the traffic rules and to be safe on the road. Jaywalking is a dangerous and illegal act and can result in a fine or even a license suspension.

EXERCISE INCREASES

Exercise has increased in Pampa, Texas, as more people are taking advantage of the new walking paths. The city has invested in several new walking paths and has seen a significant increase in the number of people using them. This is a great way to stay healthy and enjoy the outdoors. The walking paths are well-maintained and provide a safe and scenic route for walkers and joggers. This is a positive sign for the community and shows that people are becoming more health-conscious.

WIFE'S DEATH

A woman died in Pampa, Texas, today. The woman was found in her home and was pronounced dead. The police are investigating the incident and are looking for any information that might help them identify the cause of death. Red Cross News

by Libby Shotwell, Executive Secretary ARC
The Red Cross Board will meet Sept. 8 in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn Tuesday Morning, at 7 a.m. D. V. Biggers, chairman asks all members of the board to meet for this first meeting of the year.

Money for Celia is still coming into the Red Cross office. Not enough, but we are grateful for the donations made to the victims of Celia. So far, $215 has been given through the Red Cross. When we visited the Greater Amarillo chapter this week, we found that the United Fund of Amarillo had given a check for the amount of $6,000 to that chapter towards helping the victims of Celia. We are sorry our UF does not have the money to assist us. Remember our goal is $344.80 and these are fellow Texans who need help.

Ted Gikas went with the contractor, C.B. Homer this week to view the work done by the National Red Cross in rebuilding a home with major damage in the April tornado. The National Red Cross is always there when we have a disaster—they do a good job after every one else has gone home.

Boys and girls remember we have the patches need by those who passed their swimming classes this summer. Beginner, advanced Beginner and Intermediate and swimmer as well as Junior Life Saving are sold for 25 cents and Senior Life Saving patches are 50 cents. Bring your card to the Red Cross office and get your patch.

The Red Cross Hospital Volunteers had a coffee in the home of Mrs. Lee Harrah Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. with Miss Lelia Clifford presiding. She welcomed all of the ladies and urged them to let her know if for illness in the home, or for any other reason they could not work in the hospital on their assigned day, to be sure and let her know. Mrs. R. O. Lanville, director of the Casa Del Nursing Home was a guest and told the ladies there was a definite need for them to visit the elderly in the home. Miss Verne Meador, Director of Nurses at Highland General thanked the women of their work in the Highland General Hospital. She stated that there was a need for the ladies to visit the patients at the time for visiting and that the out of town ladies often time were very lonely. Mrs. Harrah served sweet rolls and coffee to the group.

SWIM CLUB — There has been some interest toward forming our swim club again. This club is for the purpose of practicing for competitive swimming. We had the Dolphus Swim Club up until a couple of years ago, but the boys and girls dropped out so much that we had to discontinue this project. We are in favor of starting this club again if enough boys and girls would be interested in joining.

If the club was formed, the team would workout each day that we are open from 6-7 p.m. Monday through Friday and possibly some Sat. Mornings. Boys and girls from 6-18 years of age would be invited to join. We do not give swim lessons in this club. This is a club for swimmers only.

If you find yourself interested in joining a swim club after reading this information, please call the Center at 669-2012 and give us your name. If we have enough then we will call a meeting of the swimmers and their parents to organize the club.

VOLLEYBALL LEAGUES — Remember the Volleyball league meeting on Thursday night at 8:00 p.m. in the Center.

SWIM LESSONS — The swim season for the 1970-71 school year will start on Wednesday afternoon so if you have forgotten to enroll your children, you should do this immediately. Classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meeting dates with the classes lasting one hour. We are closed on Tuesdays during the school year. All classes will be taught by Jackie Marlar, our resident water safety instructor. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 for non-members.

Coal Returning To Importance

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) - Coal as a major source of energy is regaining its former prominence and major oil companies are making sure they'll have a piece of the action.

Humble Oil, one of the free world's largest petroleum industries, recently began operations through a subsidiary near Carlinville, Ill., on one of the United States' largest coal mines.

By October, the company says, modern coal-mining machinery will be churning out tons of coal in sections of Illinois No. 6 (I-N-S), so named because it is the sixth of seven large seams of coal in the state.

Coal took a back seat to other energy producers in the late 1940's when petroleum zoomed to the front. Railroads, once the biggest users of "black sunshine" abandoned coal-burning locomotives for modern diesel power plants. Then industries, homes and businesses switched to cleaner burning oil and electricity.

Production Falls
Production of coal fell from a high of 630 million tons in 1947 to a low of 403 millions in 1961. But dwindling discoveries of crude oil and natural gas have caused the energy industry to take another look at the 800 billion of recoverable coal reserves in the United States. Production went to 545 million tons in 1968 and last year 310 million tons of coal fueled the generation of over half the nation's electrical power.

"This is only one reason why Humble's subsidiary organized to construct and operate the mine in Illinois," Humble spokesmen said. "The facts are that the nation measures its petroleum potential in mere decades, its coal resources in centuries and its energy needs unlimited."

Charles F. Jones, Humble's vice chairman, said toward the end of the next decade, new supplies of oil and gas might not keep pace with demand.

Assume Important Role
"It seems quite possible then, and even probable, that the development of synthetic fuels from coal, or oil shale, or both sources, could assume an important role in supplementing our traditional sources of petroleum energy," Jones said.

When Humble's mine in Illinois reaches peak production in 1972, it will rank among the larger coal mines in the nation, producing at least three million tons of coal annually.

During its 25-year productive life expectancy, 80 million tons of coal will be mined in the 40-square-mile area.

"Because of this growth," Humble says, "the future of coal is anything but black."

Landon Reflects On Students Of 1904

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) - Alf M. Landon, who will be 83 on Wednesday, finds campus protests of today different from his student days.

"There wasn't any violence. There wasn't anything of that nature at all in those days," said Landon, who was the 1936 Republican presidential candidate challenging Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"As far as student interest and campus interest in politics, I think it was just as active in those days in state and national politics, except it did not involve any lawbreaking or violence or anything of that nature."

Landon, also a former Kansas governor, recalls as a student at the University of Kansas, at Lawrence that in 1904 the progressive movement was "reflected somewhat" on the campus.

However, today, "there is a high tension" not only because of the Vietnam War and the Middle East, but also because of economic conditions. He terms recent bombings and other violence on and off the nation's campuses "very disturbing."

Landon, a keen observer of history, notes that political protest is nothing new though to the United States.

"The Populist movement, for instance, was a protest against the so-called 'establishment.' Although they didn't use that word in those days, that covers it."

"A great many people were disturbed with the policies the Populist party advocated, but since have become the law of the land which shows when policies are sound they eventually work their way into our society," he said.

Although Landon was born at West Middlesex, Pa., he spent nearly all his years in Kansas and will celebrate his 83rd birthday at a small family dinner at his Topeka home.

Townsend Recalls Royal Romance
LONDON (UPI) - Peter Townsend today broke his long silence about his romance with Princess Margaret. He said she is now only a memory.

"No, I never see Princess Margaret, just like I think of people never see their old girl friends, you know," said the Battle of Britain RAF hero whose love the queen's sister rejected in the 1950s.

Would it be embarrassing to meet her now? "No, I'd just say hello, like anybody else. What would you do?" Townsend told United Press International in an interview.

Now married to a Belgian tobacco heiress and the father of five.

Double Sheet Equals Culottes

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Now that sheets are permanently pressed and prettily patterned, smart gals are snapping them up to use for quick-to-stitch outfits. A double sheet, measuring 90x115 inches, is equivalent to six yards of 45-inch fabric—a great buy in any market.

Today's culotte idea comes from the designers who used a bright plaid sheet for this at-home set. No lining, no zippers or buttonholes, and almost no handstitching make a whiz to sew. Make a pattern first. Tape newspapers together to measure waist-to-floor length plus 4 inches along vertical side, hip measurement plus 26 inches along horizontal side. Fold paper in half lengthwise, with fold at your right. Measure 14 inches down from top of pattern and draw line

One double bed sheet and ingenious cutting instructions add up to a plaid patio ensemble. Drawing design and plenty of ease making this suitable for sizes 8 to 14.

Nuts add texture contrast to a caramel-coated custard. Sprinkle on packaged custard mix after cooking, or place on the caramelized sugar before baking the homemade kind. If in unrolling some of the nut-caramel sticks set, set the baking mold in hot water until syrup melts enough to pour on custard.

adjust halter to fit snug through midriff. Mark halter at waistline; trim to 1/2 inch. Face bottom edge of halter with wide binding. Join points with hand eye or with ties of binding. POLLY'S POINTERS Various Ways To Remove Crayon Marks On Photos

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY AND SANDRA, who wanted to remove crayon marks from a photograph — professional photographer once advised me to use turpentine on a piece of clean cotton to remove crayon marks from my daughter's wedding picture. The marks came right off and the picture was undamaged.
—MRS. I. R.

DEAR POLLY — A simple way for Sandra to remove crayon scribbling from snapshots is to dip a piece of cotton in baby oil and wipe it over the marks. Wipe dry with another piece of clean cotton.

DEAR POLLY — I gently rubbed a facial tissue moistened with lighter fluid over crayon marks on a colored snapshot and the crayon marks wiped right off.
—PAT

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Sandra to rub a piece of dry turkish towel over the crayon marks on her photograph. If the picture has a shiny surface this should do the trick. If the photograph is of a different texture, she could scribble crayon on a like picture of no value and then try the different suggested remedies and find the one she thinks best for her treasured picture.
—CAROL

DEAR GIRLS — Carol's suggestion is most sensible and could be applied to the use of various remedies for various things. All the above mentioned ones worked well for me but on her particular picture one might work better than another.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Mary Jean's Pointer about using a blanket for protection to a plastic pool that is set on cement is fine but I would like to add something extra — an old rug at the side of the pool so the child steps on it when getting out on the cement with wet feet. Cement can be very slippery, especially if painted, and could cause a fall. (Polly's note — Be sure the rug does not slip.) Such a rug is also handy for a child to stretch out on for a sun bath.
—DORA

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I would like some suggestions for using sea shells to make things, such as pictures or lampshades. I have a gallon bucket full of beautiful shells I gathered in Florida and plan on getting even more. I would like to do something nice with them.
—MARY

FRENCHWOMAN SEES NEED

Viet Self-Help Projects Aim At Saving Children

NEW YORK (NEA) —For the past four years the small villages of Vietnam have been home for Mlle. Ghislaine de Ficquelmont, "Gilly," as she is affectionately known to her friends and the people she has helped, is director of the South Vietnam field office for Save the Children Federation.

"Nothing in Vietnam is easy because nothing usually works," she said. Gilly is here on a well-deserved leave of absence. "I don't know how, but everything eventually does get solved," she added. "Either there's no water or there's no electricity. Or on a rare day when the water and electricity are both available, the pipes are blocked. So we go to Saigon to get clean."

SCF is an international child welfare agency headquartered in Norwalk, Conn. It helps families and communities both here and around the world by supplying expert advice and money to be used in self-help projects for rehabilitating the poor while permitting them to retain their dignity.

The people do the work themselves and so can preserve a sense of independence. This is the kind of program that Mlle. de Ficquelmont heads up for the many families who are victims of the Vietnam war. And in doing things for others Gilly has had much experience. "My sister (who has been with her in Vietnam) and I," she said, "are not scared of the Viet Cong. But we are afraid of cockroaches and rats. And big and little, we have whole families of both. I kill with sprays, my sister with her shoe." Gilly's background explains why she is not afraid of the Viet Cong. While serving in the military hospitals with the Red Cross in France during World War II, she also served in the French underground aiding British Air Force officers and crews to escape to England.

Among her many awards are the Medal of Liberation of Metz from the French government, the Medal of Bronze of the French Red Cross and the Certificate of Merit from the Allied Expeditionary Forces — none of which prepared her for combat with roaches and rats.

In South Vietnam Gilly has helped organize the reclamation of wasteland, draining of marshes, leveling of embankments, methods of animal husbandry, purchase of livestock, road construction and establishment of workshops and small businesses. She helps organize the projects. The community or village does the work.

"The Vietnam people are so often wrongfully criticized," she said. "We hear about corruption and it is often true in the larger cities or villages. But the people in the rural areas are wonderful.

"They are interested in a better life for their children. Probably more than 80 per cent illiterate, they want to send their children to school. Every child doesn't get a chance to go and the families who have children in school are proud."

It's not a question of how much it costs to send a child to school, but often the child is needed at home while mom works or is at market. And markets are often very far from home.

"What we are trying to do in Vietnam," said Mlle. de Ficquelmont, "is to attack the roots of poverty. Why are you poor? We ask the villagers. 'What can be done about it?'"

"We don't give the answers. They know the answers. They tell us they are poor because the land is dry and they have no water or that the nearest market is so far that they must spend too much time on every small thing they do."

Often the rice has to be stored on the other side of the village and it takes 200 to 300 people to carry it across the bridge. In the meantime nothing else gets done.

In the rural areas of Vietnam very few people own rice paddy land. They have to rent this land, plus fertilizer and insecticides. SCF helps the poor to rent the land and they work it out from there themselves.

The villagers who want to grow vegetables instead of a cereal get agricultural advice. But again Gilly tells them, "We will not do this work for you, but if we can help you solve your own problems, we will."

When, she maintains, the family becomes stable and self-supporting, dignity is preserved. And when they have finished the project, it is theirs.

"I love my job," Gilly said. "There is so much to do. But

Gilly says New York is like her native Paris. "You do not make close friends here. In Vietnam you do."

"When, during a community

Thousands of South Vietnamese children like this little boy are in need of American sponsorship. His parents were killed during a raid on their village.

Wear Femininity For Fall Fashions

NEW YORK (NEA) — Women want femininity in fashion now after several seasons of tough chic. Designer, Marion Digney, knows-how to create it.

For Fall and Winter '70 her designs are based on the feminine theme done in a variety of long lengths and alive with the romantic flavor that has put this talented designer in the forefront of fashion at the age of 24.

There are mid-lengths in soft wool ruffle-trimmed day dresses. Evening looks are in delicate sheer fabrics—yet all are wrinkle-free.

Miss Digney who made reptile accessories a national rage goes on to use them in the purest fashion sense as trim for the prettiest double-knit day dress where a slender three-ply waist sash is drawn through gold loops.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY

The best way to make a dollar per hundred on stocker cattle right now is to wait one more week to buy them.

We need some adjustment in the price of replacement cattle in relation to finished cattle.

Heavy placements of cattle during April and May this year. These cattle are now finishing and will depress the market more in this area in relation to other feeding areas.

The general economic picture has a great deal to do with the buying habits of the luxury items in our diets — beef and other red meats.

—Nineteen dollar hogs. So I say you are in for a shake up in prices.

A slight drop in the price of beef stimulates the housewife to buy beef. Most of the finished cattle are in strong hands.

These negative factors face us and we might just as well face them.

RPEP To Hold Annual Meeting At Munday

MUNDAY — The annual meeting of the Rolling Plains Economic Program (RPEP) is slated for Monday, September 14, at 2 p.m. in the High School Auditorium at Munday.

Some 150 agricultural and industrial leaders and farmers and ranchers from throughout the Rolling Plains are expected to attend.

Featured speakers at the annual event will be U.S. Congressman Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and Dr. John E. Hutchison of College Station.

Other speakers at the session will be Rob Brown, a rancher from Throckmorton who will discuss "Outdoor Recreation in Throckmorton County"; Charles Graf, a Vernon swine producer, who will talk on "Swine Business"; and Lee Glazener, manager of the Vernon Federal Land Bank Association, whose topic will be

The Economic Impact of Guadalupe Production

These are some of the present areas of agricultural growth in the Rolling Plains, explain Britts, and they promise to contribute much to the area's economy in the next few years.

A business session during which new officers and an executive committee will be elected for the coming year will conclude the afternoon program.

H.H. Partridge of Munday is presently serving as vice-chairman of RPEP and members of the executive committee are Brown; J.L. Hill and Charles Bragg, both of Stamford; Johnnie Ammons, of Roby; Mrs. H.A. Haynes of Anson; and Jim Humphreys of Guthrie.

James G. Simmons, Extension District Agricultural Agent with headquarters at Vernon, is coordinator of RPEP.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

Many irrigation farmers throughout the Texas Panhandle plant their winter wheat on a schedule suited to running feeder cattle on the young wheat during the winter months.

The Texas Panhandle has a unique winter weather pattern. With the Rocky Mountains situated to the Northwest we have a constant series of fronts moving through that brings winter, spring, summer and fall weather all winter long.

Once the winter wheat is up there is an influx of cattle from neighboring states. With the coming of winter grazing becomes skimpy and the cattle are moved onto the lush winter wheat.

Field Day Soon

The 61st Annual Field Day and Open House at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 15 beginning at 1 p.m.

The theme for this year's event is "Agricultural Research for the 70s".

The public is invited to discussions on subjects vital to High Plains agriculture. These discussions will be concerned with such topics as "Cotton Varieties," "Grain-Sorghum Varieties," "Weed Control," "Narrow-Row Cotton," and "Grain Sorghum Insects."

A General Tour, a set of displays in the laboratories of the main office building, and conferences with specialists are also a part of this year's schedule of events.

NIXON'S BOO-BOO

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI) — Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz gave a luncheon at the Hotel del Coronado for his official party Thursday soon after he arrived. "We have to eat," he explained.

lighter weight cattle from Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana. The cattle put on weight fast during the mild winters and are re-sold at the end of winter for a tidy profit.

According to figures released by the Extension Service the value of the fed cattle in Gray County for 1968-69 averaged $7,100,000. The average for Deaf Smith County was over $40,000,000.

For comparison the value of wheat for Gray County was $1,810,000. For Carson County $3,019,000 and for Deaf Smith County $5,061,500.

To put it mildly, irrigation has definitely speeded up the economy for the Texas Panhandle. When compared to the economy of 1956 the future looks bright indeed.

The past week I received the September issue of Agriculture Newsletter from the First National Bank of Panhandle. The section devoted to Trends in the Demand For Meat gave some interesting figures.

In 1950 there was a consumption of 50.1 pounds of beef per capita in the U.S. In 1960 it was 81.9 pounds per capita. In 1959 the average retail price per pound for beef was 74.6 cents per pound. In 1969 the cost per pound was 96.3 cents.

The Texas Cattle Feeders Association has just released figures showing that more than 3,000 people are directly employed in the cattle feeding industry. Many thousands more are employed in the allied industries which provide the resources and services required by the feeding industry.

Certainly these are impressive statistics, but they tell only part of the story. Other facilities are in the planning stages, and there is no doubt that this region will rapidly become the beef packing and processing center of the nation.
