Jordan Leader Orders 'Cease Fire'

MORE WARSHIPS? GIVEN SAILING ORDERS

Copter Carrier Sent To Mediterranean Fleet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American helicopter carrier with 1,500 Marines aboard is leaving the Atlantic fleet to join U.S. naval forces in the Mediterranean, it was disclosed today.

U.S. officials said that in addition to the chopper carrier Guam several other vessels had been ordered from the Atlantic to reinforce the 6th Fleet because of the worsening Mideast situation.

The Guam, leaving from Morehead City, N.C., today, will boost the number of Marines with the 6th Fleet to about 3,000. One battalion landing team normally is assigned to the fleet.

Asked about the ship movements, a Pentagon spokesman said: "We are, of course, taking certain precautionary steps which involved elements of the 6th Fleet, the Atlantic Fleet and the prudent positioning of additional transport aircraft should they be required for evacuation of Americans in Jordan."

The statement was the first by the Pentagon to mention the Atlantic Fleet in connection with "precautionary steps" in the Middle East. It was made by Jerry W. Friedheim, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

Friedheim said all of the precautionary steps were connected with a possible evacuation situation.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Thursday that the United States was prepared to evacuate the 390 Americans reported in Jordan if that became necessary.

The talk in official circles emphasizing the power of the 6th Fleet and its supporting elements appeared to be designed to impress on Arab guerrilla elements and their supporters two things:

—The ability and determination of the United States to back up President Nixon's warning to the Palestinian guerrillas Thursday that they would be held responsible for the safety of the 37 or 38 U.S. citizens held hostage from the aircraft hijackings.

—The possibility of U.S. military intervention to assist King Hussein of Jordan if Syria and Iraq throw their troops to support the guerrillas the king is trying to control.

The strong U.S. interest in seeing Hussein regain complete control of his kingdom stems from the belief here that there can be no real political solution of the Israeli-Arab conflict without Jordanian participation in the negotiations with Israel and Egypt at the United Nations.

He had appealed earlier to the guerrillas with what he called "a last chance to stop firing and withdraw immediately from the capital with their weapons and equipment." This was not obeyed and he appealed to guerrillas who so desired to fight under the banner of King Hussein.

Loss of life was believed heavy as Jordanian tanks and artillery shelled guerrilla strongholds, and Cairo's influential newspaper Al-Ahram expressed fear the death toll would rise to 20,000 to 30,000. Lives of 54 hijack hostages and 390 Americans in Jordan were in danger.

The International Red Cross rushed a medical team, emergency supplies and equipment to Jordan to aid the wounded who are without proper medical treatment. A Red Cross DC6 took off from Geneva for Amman with a surgeon, six nurses and seven tons of medical supplies including medicine, surgical equipment, tents and bedding.

The threat of international intervention appeared to be growing. Guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat appealed directly to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to come to his aid, but Nasser joined other Arab leaders instead in appealing for a cease-fire.

However, Arab diplomats in Beirut said the guerrillas from Syria and Lebanon, armed with Soviet and Chinese made weapons, were moving into northern Jordan to aid their embattled comrades. There was no word that the 12,000 Iraqi troops in that area had joined the guerrillas, despite pleas from the guerrillas. Algeria pledged full support for the guerrilla "revolution."

The U.S. Sixth Fleet was positioned off the coast for action, if necessary, to rescue the Americans in Amman, and U.S. C-130 Hercules stationed at Incirlik, Turkey, were alerted for possible action. The White House has not ruled out military intervention if necessary.

GOP HEADQUARTERS opened at 10 a.m. today at 125 W. Kingsmill with Republican dignitaries on hand to sip coffee and greet constituents. Mrs. John Lee Bell, headquarters chairman, said it will be open and staffed from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, excepting Saturdays until election day, Nov. 3. Voters are invited to drop by to discuss candidates' qualifications and have a cup of coffee. One of the features of today's opening was a $100 hat fashioned from $1 bills modeled here by Mrs. Bill Arrington. (Staff Photo)

Move To Lure More Recruits

By United Press International

Marshal Habes Al-Majali, the Jordanian commander in chief, ordered a temporary cease-fire today in the civil war to permit any guerrillas who so desired to desert to his army. The move came after Beirut reports said Palestine commandos from Syria and Lebanon were streaming into Jordan to aid the guerrillas.

Majali, in a communique broadcast by Amman radio, said the cease-fire would be effective at noon 6 a.m. EDT. It followed a renewal of heavy fighting in the capital city of Amman and half a dozen cities to the north.

Arab diplomatic sources in Beirut said guerrilla reinforcements were sent to Jordan from Lebanon and Syria and according to telephone reports reaching Beirut, guerrilla vehicles were seen leaving South Lebanon refugee camps on their way to Jordan.

In the United Nations, Arab powers led by Egypt moved to reopen the entire Middle East question for full debate by the General Assembly. It was expected to take up the matter this afternoon.

With all normal means of communications between Jordan and the outside world cut, most indications as to how the heavy fighting was going came from radio broadcasts.

Al-Majali, in his broadcast over Amman Radio, said "The armed forces give the commando brothers a last chance to stop firing and withdraw immediately from the capital with their weapons and equipment. The army is ready to help them leave Amman for the cease-fire line (with Israel)."

"Otherwise," he said, "I will be forced to increase the level of retaliation in its operations." Al-Majali said the move was designed "to prevent bloodshed."

At the same time, the guerrillas, in a broadcast over the Damascus-based "Voice of the Palestine Revolution" radio, said government forces backed by tanks, artillery and machine guns were attempting to take the commando stronghold of Zerqa, 15 miles northwest of Amman. Fighting was continuing, it said.

The guerrillas also declared Northern Jordan a "liberated zone," and said an area 25 miles by 30 miles, including five major towns, was under effective guerrilla administrative and military control today.

Amman Radio denied the guerrilla claims.

A pooled dispatch from Western correspondents in Amman sent through diplomatic channels Thursday said guerrillas and the army fought house to house for possession of the city. Thick black smoke belched from a dozen fires blotting out the minarets of the city's skyline, while armored cars led the army advance against the guerrillas.

Amman was under a curfew. The Arab League Council in Cairo called for "immediate and unconditional" cessation of fighting. At the same time, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Prime Minister Col. Mohammed el Gaddafi of Libya and Prime Minister Maj. Gen. Gaafar Mohamed el-Nureyri of the Sudan sent messages to Hussein and guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat appealing to them to end the fighting.

Auditorium Contract Plans Being Talked

Discussion of contract terms between the City of Pampa and Herbert Brasher of the Lubbock architectural firm, Brasher, Goyette and Rapier, was under way this afternoon at City Hall.

Herbert Brasher was scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. with acting City Manager Mac Wofford and City Atty. Bob Gordon to go over details of Brasher's contract to design Pampa's proposed civic auditorium.

Brasher also will attend next Tuesday's regular meeting of the Pampa City Commission. At that time he is expected to present preliminary drawings of the proposed structure.

The Lubbock firm will be formally appointed Tuesday to handle the architectural work. The commission also is expected to employ bond attorneys for the auditorium project.

Wofford said this forenoon the City will seek a clause in the contract with Brasher, Goyette and Rapier that the document will become null and void in event the proposed auditorium bond issue is rejected by Pampa voters.

The same will hold true with the M.K. Brown Foundation which would void its $400,000 auditorium cash gift and agreement to pay off the bonds.

A date for the bond election is expected to be set within the next week or 10 days.

Missing Boat Found, Also 'Pot'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Coast Guard has located the missing 41-foot sailboat "Undine" and its seven passengers, subjects of a six-day search in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Coast Guard feared the boat, which left the Yucatan Peninsula one week ago, was caught in tropical storm Felice which moved from the gulf ashore at Port Arthur, Tex., Tuesday night.

The Coast Guard said the Undine finally sailed into Bayou Barataria on its own Thursday afternoon with all crew members safe.

Later, after customs agents made a routine inspection of the boat, they found six ounces of marijuana and charged Paul T. Chase, 39, of Chapel Hill, N.C., with possession.

PEACE COMES TO HOUSTON

Chicano School Boycott Ends; Most Demands Met

HOUSTON (UPI) — A leader in the Mexican American school boycott of public schools says an agreement has been reached on 17 of 20 demands and has urged all Mexican American students to return to the city's schools on Monday.

The action ended a three-week boycott that began the day the city's schools opened for the fall semester. And the announcement of the boycott's end came, appropriately enough, the day after Mexican Independence Day.

However, one of the demands of the Mexican American Education Council (MAEC), the organizers of the boycott, was to have Mexican Independence Day (Sept. 16) be declared a school holiday. This was one of the three demands not agreed to by school officials.

MAEC Chairman Leonel Castillo said Thursday the demands the officials did agree to were:

- Identification of Mexican American students as an ethnic minority for educational purposes.
- Appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the pairing order handed down in the desegregation ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.
- Acceptance of a plan to hire additional Mexican Americans as school administrators.
- Protection for children who participated in the boycott.
- Assurances students who boycotted would not lose school privileges or undergo punishment.
- Assurances bilingual and other Spanish programs would continue.
- Assistance in academic courses and vocational training for Mexican American students.
- Regulations designed to protect personal safety of each school child in and around schools.
- Allowing increased participation by the public in the district's business.
- Provisions for Mexican Americans under the terms of the Nixon administration's bill for emergency assistance to help finance desegregation orders.
- The demands not agreed to were the ones concerning Sept. 16 and May 3 as holidays; electing school board members by districts instead of at large; and extra pay for teachers of bilingual programs.
- "We are together," Rep. Lauro Cruz, D-Houston, said. "The boycott is ended. We urge Mexican-American parents to return their children to school on Monday, peacefully."
- Cruz, an MAEC spokesman, was influential in the formation of the boycott.
- "The meaningful dialogue between the Mexican American community and its representatives with the (school) district and the result are proof of what dialogue can do," Cruz said.
- School superintendent Dr. George C. Carver said he could not "accept the good of boycotts." But I can accept that the majority of the items brought by the council were legitimate."
- The boycott began when the 5th Circuit Court ordered a desegregation plan for the city which the Chicanos claimed did not consider them as a separate ethnic minority from Anglos and were therefore paired with predominantly black schools.
- Castillo said the "Huelga" (strike) schools organized for Mexican Americans during the boycott would be retained to provide tutoring services for Mexican Americans. He also said the MAEC, organized to direct the boycott's activities, would remain functional.

BEATEN GIRLFRIEND SWIMS TO SAFETY

Chicago Gangsters Fatally Stab Viet Veteran, Toss Him Into Lake

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Vietnam veteran, discharged from the Army 15 days ago, was stabbed and he and his girlfriend were beaten and thrown into 20 feet of water in Lake Michigan Thursday night. The veteran died.

Police arrested seven young men shortly after the incident, which occurred off the concrete breakwall just south of the North Avenue Beach on the Near North Side. No charges were filed initially. Dead was F. John Thompson, 21, Hammond, Ind., who suffered four stab wounds. Katherine Kerrick, 18, Hammond, was taken to Hennrich Hospital for bruises, lacerations and shock.

Police said the couple was sitting at a chess pavilion near the beach just after the 11 p.m. curfew when "at least two "

Ranch Hand Finds Plane, 3 Dead

FORT WORTH (UPI) — A 56, president of L&L Welding Supply Co. said his ranch hand was out checking cattle after a rainstorm Thursday when he happened upon the burned wreckage of a Cessna 310 airplane with three dead men inside.

The dead men were: —J. M. Arnold, 42, the pilot, owner of the Texas Piano Co. of Haltom City.

—The Rev. Don Neace, 33, pastor of Aurora Baptist Church near Boyd in Wise County. Neace was an auditor for Texas Piano.

—Arnold Russom of Houston.

Their airplane took off Wednesday afternoon from Frederick, Okla., bound for Meacham Field in Fort Worth. It crashed three to four miles from the Fort Worth city limits on the Walsh Ranch in Parker County. Everything burned except the tail section.

A Parker County sheriff's deputy said the airplane may have crashed during a rainstorm caused by Tropical Storm Felice.

Red Sputnik Circling Moon, Says Kremlin

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet sputnik circled the moon in close orbit today, marking Russia's comeback in lunar exploration.

There was no indication whether the Soviets would attempt to guide the craft, called Luna 16, to a soft landing on the moon. Western space experts declined to make any predictions.

The Soviets set Luna 9 on the moon in February, 1966, when they were getting most of the headlines in lunar exploration, but their last attempt ended in failure and humiliation in July, 1968.

Then, Luna 15 raced Neil A. Armstrong's Apollo 11 landing mission in a duel shrugged off as coincidental by the Soviets but widely interpreted in the West as an attempt to steal Apollo's thunder.

Western Space Experts Said Luna 15 Crashed Not Far From Where Armstrong Put Man's First Footprint on the Moon

The official Tass news agency announced Thursday that Luna 16 had entered lunar orbit and was rounding the moon once every hour and 59 minutes at a height of 66 miles.

Luna 16 was launched Saturday on a mission officially described as "scientific exploration of the moon and near-moon space."

Thursday's Tass announcement said Soviet space controllers had communicated 28 times with the electronic responders aboard Luna 16 during its flight between earth and moon. It said onboard equipment was functioning normally, but did not describe it in detail.

ROPE PURCHASE TOLD

Witness In Manson Trial Tells Of Thong, Revolver

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When Danny DeCarlo lived with the "Manson Family" at the Spain Ranch, he saw a revolver, a rope and a leather thong like those used in the seven Tate-LaBianca slayings, the motorcycle gang leader testified Thursday.

DeCarlo, 26, leader of the "Straight Satans," was questioned by Deputy District Attorney Vincent T. Bugliosi who tried to connect Charles Manson, 35, accused mastermind of the killings with physical evidence of the case.

DeCarlo testified he was with Manson when the cult leader bought about 150 feet of three-strand nylon rope at a surplus store and that it was no different from the one found around the necks of actress Sharon Tate and hair stylist Jay Sebring.

DeCarlo said he was a weapons instructor during his service in the Coast Guard from 1961 to 1965 and was put in charge by Manson of an arsenal at the ranch which included four rifles, two shotguns, a submachine gun and a long-barreled, .22 caliber pistol. Manson often wore and fired the pistol, DeCarlo said, and once remarked that he would rather shoot people than birds with it. The witness said it disappeared about the time of the killings.

Asked by Bugliosi whether the handgun identified in earlier testimony as the death weapon was the same as he saw at the ranch, he said: "Yeah, it's similar to it."

Bugliosi showed DeCarlo a leather thong and asked whether he had ever seen Manson wear one similar to it. He replied he had.

The state's key witness, Linda Kasabian, who was granted immunity for her testimony, said that on the evening that she and other members of the "family" drove to the home of Leno LaBianca, Manson was wearing a leather thong. Later she said the thong was missing from Manson's neck.

Manson is on trial for the killings last August along with Susan Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel, and Leslie Van Houten. Charles "Tex" Watson, also charged in the slayings, was recently extradited from Texas but has not yet gone on trial.

DeCarlo also identified a sword the state contends was used in the LaBianca killings as one which Manson often carried in his dune buggy.

Under cross-examination, DeCarlo said that he was "drunk 99 per cent of the time" during his stay at the ranch but that he could remember most of what occurred.

SUPER-LENS TEAM ALL SET

Spy Camera Tracks Loch Ness Monster

DRUMADROCHIT, Scotland (UPI)—A five-man team of American scientists, armed with an infrared "spy" camera that takes sharp pictures in the dark, set to work today in hopes of finally proving the existence of the Loch Ness monster.

The team, headed by Jack Ulrich, a consultant to the Smithsonian Institution, arrived in Drumadrochit Thursday night. The scientists today readied their equipment and scouted the best vantage points to set it up.

They hoped to begin actual observations Saturday. The U.S. team's two-week expedition, financed by the Fleischmann's Distilling firm, is being carried out in conjunction with the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau, a nine-year-old nonprofit group.

Skeptics Ridicule Theory
Roy P. Mackal, a University of Chicago biochemist and scientific director of the bureau, said skeptics will ridicule the theory of mysterious creatures in Loch Ness until the believers "get something in the bottle."

graphs of the legendary monster the Scots call "Nessie," would be a useful step toward unchallenged identification.

"But the ultimate and necessary step will be producing some hard evidence—we must get something in the bottle-tissues flesh," he said.

Mackal said he welcomed the American expedition, whose other members include Peter Suarez, 27, a movie photographer; St. Clair Strong, a microbiologist; Douglas Faulkner, an underwater explorer and Bernard Neuwelms, a zoologist and author of a book on sea serpents.

Pin Hopes on Camera
The team pinned its hopes on a $25,000 infrared camera that can take perfect black and gray photographs in total darkness and has an effective range over water of 75 yards.

"At 75 yards or less, the camera should be able to define the warts on Nessie's skin—if there are any," said Suarez. Suarez will man the nine and one-half pound camera on the bow of the expedition's boat before dawn during the next two weeks.

A STEADY stream of friends and well-wishers stopped by the offices of the County Tax Assessor's office Thursday afternoon to extend "Happy Retirement" wishes to Lucile Douglass, who had completed 24 years of service to the county. Mrs. Douglass came to the Panhandle area in 1927 from Waco. While holding down most of the jobs in the tax assessor-collector's office, Luc (as she is known to her friends) was a similar figure to lots of Pampans as she worked in the license tag department. Pampa Gas Tanks Gurgle Contentedly

Most gas tanks in Pampa are gurgling contentedly on full tanks as a price war, which started mid-week, continues unabated today. The all-out combat started Wednesday, when most major gasoline companies reduced prices to compete with independent service stations around town. Signs were up advertising gasoline at 22.9 cents per gallon for regular and 24 cents for ethyl; or 24 cents for regular and 28 for ethyl. Prices had been 32.9 for regular at most stations, but the majors held at 25.9 per gallon. Premium gasoline, which had been 34.9 and 37.9 depending on which station you drive into, was being sold at mid-morning for 28 cents per gallon.

Detectives Nab Bank Robber Watching 'Loot'

DALLAS (UPI) — The bandit who was busy watching a vice president of the American Bank & Trust Co. put money in his briefcase Thursday that he failed to notice the two detectives walk up to him. "He didn't even know we were there until I put my pistol in his back and my partner put a pistol in his belly," detective Tom Sewell said. The bandit was identified as Richard Shirley Rawlinson, 37, who resigned last May 1 from the Duncanville Fire Department, Municipal Judge W.K. Chapman ordered Rawlinson held without bond. Bank senior vice president Guy L. McShan said Rawlinson showed him a fake bomb made of flares and a voltage regulator strapped together with adhesive tape. At the time, McShan did not know it was harmless. McShan took Rawlinson over to assistant vice president Carl Corey. On the way to Corey's desk, McShan nodded to a telephone operator, a signal to call the police. "This man needs some money. Let's go to the vault," McShan said. Corey said he could not open the vault because it took two keys and the man with the other key was at lunch. "You better get some money or I'm going to blow this place up," Rawlinson said. McShan and Corey took Rawlinson behind the tellers' cages and Corey had put more than $3,000 in the briefcase when Sewell and detective Eugene Lipe walked in. Police in Irving, a Dallas suburb, said they wanted to talk to Rawlinson about the robbery last week of Irving Bank and Trust Co. by a man who had a bomb. "I never dreamed I'd do something like this," Rawlinson said as the detectives took him away. He blamed accumulated debts and a collapsed marriage for his turning bank robber.

Radio Signals Used To Save Balloon Cargo

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. — (UPI) — Radio signals are being sent out today in an effort to release a package of scientific instruments from a runaway balloon. A Federal Aviation Administration official said.

The giant balloon was lost Sept. 9 after a launch at Minneapolis and then sighted Thursday by residents of a 100-mile stretch of Southern Oregon and Northern California, near the Pacific Ocean.

Caught by a high-level westerly wind, the 600-foot wide balloon drifted over the ocean and then back, some 60,000 feet in the air. Aboard is a 1,200-pound package-carrying instrument to measure cosmic rays in an attempt to determine the existence of "super heavy" elements created by exploding stars.

Bud Byerly, FAA tower chief at Midford-Jackson County Airport announced the use of radio signals in an attempt to bring down the instrument package over an uninhabited area east of Klamath Falls. He said the balloon was losing altitude.

Dr. P. Buford Price, University of California physicist professor at Berkeley who assisted in the scientific project, said he hoped the balloon will gradually lose its helium and come down on land "so we can recover the package."

God, Country Award Earned By Boy Scout

Laird Ellis, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Ellis, 921 N. Somerville, was awarded the Boy Scout God and Country Award at the regular services of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on Sunday, Sept. 13. This was the first God and Country Award earned by a member of this parish in the forty-two years the church has been organized.

Laird is a member of Troop No. 80, sponsored by the First Methodist Church. Tom Dunn, of the troop leader, reported that Laird lacks one merit badge from having his Eagle Scout requirements completed.

GM Lays Off 12,000 Workers

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors has announced layoffs of 11,988 employees at its various unstruck plants because of lack of work caused by the walkout of the United Auto Workers.

Included among those laid off Thursday were 3,151 workers at nine of 27 GM plants that originally had been exempted from the strike because they build parts for other auto companies. In addition, GM said, 1,200 workers at its Delco Division plant in Rochester, N.Y., have been told not to report back until next Wednesday.

There are 343,610 UAW members on strike against GM. Main-table negotiations have been recessed until Tuesday but UAW officials continued efforts to clean up local grievances that could delay resumption of production following a national settlement.

TV Comedian Indicted For Perjury

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A federal grand jury indicted comedian Phil Foster Thursday on charges he lied about how much he paid reputed mobster Thomas "Tommy Ryan" Eboli for furniture.

Foster, nationally known for night club and network television appearances, allegedly perjured himself before the grand jury June 25 when he testified on the price of some household furniture he bought from Eboli, according to U.S. Attorney Frederick B. Lacey.

Lacey said Foster told two special agents of the International Revenue Service who investigated Eboli's 1965 income that he paid $100 for the furniture, but when he appeared before the grand jury, he testified it cost $3,800. The significance of that testimony, said Lacey, is that the government "must credit Eboli with receipts of $3,800 rather than $100 from this nontaxable income."

Money from the sale would be considered nontaxable, if Eboli made no profit on the exchange. The government is interested in determining Eboli's actual income and the money's source.

INFANT DIED

Records Show Polio Victim Not Denied Hospital Care

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Records show that Juan Mares Jr., 14-months, was treated on two consecutive days at Green Hospital before his death early this month as a suspected polio victim.

The visits to Green Hospital were Sept. 3-4 before the infant was taken Sept. 5 by his mother.

Mrs. Juan Mares, of Santa Rosa Medical Center operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

Mrs. Mares reported all treatment had been sought from the Medical Center before she took the child to Bexar County Hospital where he died the night of Sept. 5. She charged the Medical Center refused to admit her son unless a $100 deposit was made.

"We did not refuse service at Santa Rosa and it is not our practice to demand a deposit," said Dr. George M. Fleming, Santa Rosa administrator.

"Evidence reveals that the child was first seen in our emergency suite at 5:40 a.m., Sept. 5. Two physicians examined the child and one was reviewing laboratory findings in preparation to admit the child. In this process, the parents then elected to take the child to another hospital. The child was therefore released at the insistence of the parents at 6:50 a.m."

Green Hospital records show the child first was treated for an upper respiratory infection and then examined for a weakness of the left arm as a result of a history of falling.

A county hospital district official said there may have been an error in judgement in not admitting the infant on the first visit at Green Hospital. However, he noted the "course of illness probably would have been the same" because there are no drugs or treatment for polio.

Air Force Makes Offer To Bail Out Lockheed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has offered to tear up its controversial contract with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. for the C-5A cargo plane and substitute a new one in hopes of rescuing the firm from possible bankruptcy.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., released an Air Force document outlining the terms of the new contract Thursday and branded it "one of the greatest government giveaways ever attempted in a single stroke."

The Air Force declined comment, since negotiations are still in progress. But it confirmed the paper released by Proxmire was a progress report given to the secretary of the Air Force on the negotiations.

The new contract is necessary, the briefing paper said, to avoid lengthy litigation between the government and Lockheed over which party is responsible for added costs in the plane's production that have swelled its total price tag by $2 billion more than expected.

The dispute cannot be resolved, the Air Force said, "in time to hold off bankruptcy. Any victory (for Lockheed) would be only partial, and it would still be faced with a catastrophic loss."

A new pact, the document said, "would offer a greater assurance to Lockheed of ultimately working out its current financial problems."

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

PAMPA, TEXAS, 63rd Year PAMPA DAILY NEWS
Friday, September 16, 1970

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Just when highway construction in the state is at an all-time high, the Texas Highway Commission has cancelled the regular December lettings of highway contracts.

Commission blames the contract moratorium on the recent holdback of part of Texas apportionment from the Federal Highway Trust Fund. Action came at a time when, because of favorable weather, highway construction was at its highest. For the past two months, pay-out for construction completed by Texas Contractors has set new records in dollar volume.

Contractors were paid $42.6 million in July for work completed in June and $46.3 million in August for work completed in July. Payments represented work on 501 contracts in June and 593 contracts in July.

Federal Aid Highway Act of 1968, as approved by Congress, provides that states should receive $5.4 billion for the 1971 fiscal year from the Highway Trust Fund. Amount allocated, however, was reduced by the Administration. Highway Commission Chairman Dewitt Greer said, to $4.6 billion nationally and resulted in a reduction of the Texas share from $275 million to $210 million — $65 million less than was expected.

Proceeds in the Federal Highway Trust Fund are derived from special taxes levied on motor vehicle users. Fund was set up in 1956 to provide a stable source of revenue for the construction of National System of Interstate and Defense Highways.

Cancellation of the December bid letting is the first since World War II, Greer said. The noted Commission Chairman said reduction has come because the condition of the finances of the Federal Government has required that it borrow money from the Federal Highway Trust Fund for government operation even though the trust fund was established for the specific purpose of building the highway system from highway user revenues.

Greer said the "motor vehicle users of this country, who pay these dedicated taxes, have every right to expect that the Federal Government return to the highway system these revenues, in accordance with agreements made 14 years ago."

HOSPITAL TROUBLES IN TEXAS — State Rep. R.H. "Dick" Cory and House Speaker Gus Mutscher made a trip to Washington seeking better interpretation of recent Social Security regulations which threaten to close 158 of the state's hospitals.

Most are in rural areas and are having extreme difficulty complying with new regulations such as the one requiring them to have registered nurses on duty around the clock. A Texas nursing shortage of 10,000, plus the difficulty of finding nurses willing to live in smaller communities, contribute to the problem.

Hospitals which do not comply with the regulations are in danger of having Medicare payments terminated, which would in turn force them to close their doors. Representative Cory, who is chairman of a special Speaker's Committee on Texas Health Care, noted that Texas, because of sparse population in wide areas of the state, has 40 per cent of the nation's Class 7C hospitals.

Another fear of the Committee is that if the small hospitals close their many physicians will move away due to lack of hospital facilities.

IMMUNIZATION LEGISLATION UPCOMING — Gov. Preston Smith says he'll ask the 62nd Legislature, which convenes in January, to pass legislation requiring immunization against several communicable diseases before a child may enter Texas schools. Governor proposes compulsory immunization against measles, polio, whooping cough, tetanus and — in the wake of the epidemic in San Antonio — protection against diphtheria.

Smith said figures available to him for 1968, the latest year for which complete data is available, indicate that Texas has the highest incidence rate in the nation for measles and polio, the second highest for diphtheria and the fourth highest for whooping cough disease, but a single inject in Tetanus is not an epidemic generally immunizes against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS — A non-profit, charitable organization which conducts a driver training program must be licensed to do so by the Texas Department of Public Safety says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin. The exceptions are training or classes conducted by colleges, universities, high schools and junior high schools for regularly enrolled students.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: — A county may extend City-County Health Unit services to within county boundaries, even though the city does not participate in the unit; however, the county may contribute only those services normally made available by the county unless the city wishes to join the City-County Health Unit.

Justice of the Peace is not entitled to collect a fee for actions transferred or dismissed without trial from his court. — Commissioners Court may authorize travel expenses of an expert witness to appear at an HEW Committee hearing in Washington, D.C., to give evidence of the need of federal funds in certain poverty areas in the county. Commissioners Court may also authorize travel expenses for Chairman of a County Historical Survey Committee necessary to the performance of his duties in that capacity; and Court has power to create a Museum Board to manage a County Museum and pay travel expenses of the board members in carrying out their duties in those capacities.

— An independent school district has authority under the Texas Education Code to deduct union dues from wages of custodial and maintenance employees upon their written authorization and to forward the deductions to the union.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. Smith has appointed Richard A. Fielder, Lockhart attorney, as District Attorney of the 22nd Judicial District Court.

Aron M. Connolly, M.D., has been named acting Assistant Deputy Commissioner of Mental Health Services of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Connolly has served as superintendent of Rusk State Hospital since 1967.

MINORITY SCORES CRUDE LANGUAGE
Text Book Committee Disregards Dissidents

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The state textbook selection committee, acting over the objections of a group of East Texas citizens, adopted two high school literature textbooks Wednesday which the citizens group said contained "crude" language.

The textbook selectors also adopted three science books opposed by critics because of their presentation of evolution, but put off until today decisions on world history volumes that drew objections for their presentation of American history and communism.

Mrs. H. G. Vanderveer of Tyler criticized the 11th and 12th grade literature books for what she termed "realistically crude" language. She cited such words as "hag" and "damn."

Mrs. Mel Gabler of Longview, who has frequently criticized state textbooks, said another literature volume, "MacMillan Gateway English" included a blasphemous poem and selections written by communists.

Mrs. Gabler protested the three life science texts on grounds they present evolution as a fact rather than a theory and fail to include scientific evidence of "sudden creation."

The three protested science texts approved by the committee are "Modern Life Science" published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc., "Focus on Life Sciences" from Charles Merrill Publishers, and "Interaction of Man and the Biosphere."

The protested 11th grade literature book was among five texts selected by the committee. There were also five texts selected for 12 grade literature.

Dallas Man Objects
Dr. Nolan Estes, Dallas school superintendent and chairman of the textbook committee, objected to the choices of 11th grade literature books for a disapproving reason. Estes complained the five books chosen did not provide an adequate selection for urban area schools.

"It's a tragedy for our cities and our urban minorities," he said after the committee failed to approve texts he said were designed for use in schools with large numbers of children from minority groups.

The committee also voted on texts for grammar school art, music and arithmetic classes. The committee's selections are passed on to the State Board of Education for final approval.

He Is Armed, Dangerous

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A letter purportedly written by fugitive Timothy Leary, the drug evangelist, says, "I am armed and considered dangerous to anyone who threatens my life or freedom."

If the letter—which also claimed the terrorist "Weatherman" organization engineered Leary's escape from prison—is authentic, Leary has taken a major departure from his previous advocacies of "peace and love."

The letter, received by United Press International Wednesday, was apparently signed by Leary and a Weatherman leader, Bernardine Dohrn, who wanted for unlawful flight—avoid prosecution for a charge in Chicago and other charges. Leary, who escaped Sun from the California Me Colony at San Luis Obispo, minimum security prison, his point by point acts of violence against the establishment.

Hollywood Reports

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Tony Randall plucked an invisible speck of lint from his sports jacket and said, "I'd rather you didn't compare me personally with Felix Unger."

Comedian Randall will portray the nit-picking Felix in this season's most promising comedy series, "The Odd Couple."

Felix is tremendously odd. Tony is merely meticulous. The award-winning play which eventually became a movie has, in a relatively short time, become an American classic of two men, separated from their wives, housekeeping together and swinging with the chicks.

It is a study in contrasts. Felix is a nut with a compulsion for fastidiousness. Apartment mate Oscar is a sportswriter and dedicated slob. The Oscar role in the ABC-TV series belongs to Jack Klugman, also an accomplished actor. But, one would venture that Klugman must work harder at being a slob than Tony does at hand-wringing.

"I've played the role of Felix in the theater," Randall said neat, clipped words.

"It was 15 weeks in Chicago with Tony Mockus as Oscar. And 15 weeks in Las Vegas with Mickey Rooney. These are wonderful roles and almost all who play them are good."

Felix, er, ah, Tony was impeccably dressed in a fitted sports jacket, tasteful necktie, new shirt, creased trousers and highly polished shoes.

All Very Good
"The oddest couples have played the 'Odd Couple' in the theater," he said. "There was Ernest Borgnine and Don Rickles, George Gobel and Phil Foster, Dan Dailey and Richard Benjamin. All good. Very good."

Reminded that he and Felix shared some common traits, Tony grew indignant.

"Don't say that. I'm not obsessively fastidious. I'm a bit of a health nut. I exercise. Do a little weight lifting."

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Richard Burton, a longtime admirer of Lucille Ball on her CBS-TV series, helps kick off the new television year tonight by appearing on the comedienne's season premiere with his wife, Elizabeth Taylor.

It is worth taking a look at simply to see what a swell ham Burton is. It is situation comedy raised several degrees. It seems that Burton tries to sneak out of a hotel in a plumber's uniform to take Miss Taylor's widely-publicized $1.5 million ring to the jeweler to be fixed.

Lucy, who won't believe he's Burton because he's in such a getup, collars him and insists he fix the plumbing in her office. After doing her bidding, he forgets the ring, she tries it on and can't get it off. Miss Taylor needs it in time for a news conference. It is, by the way, the real ring you will see. Miss Ball has the best line of the night. At one point, she is left alone with Burton, and, having finally realized who he is, she suffers through an interminable, embarrassed silence. Finally she breaks it by asking: "How's the missus?"

Sunday night, meanwhile, another returning series, "The Bold Ones," got quite a lift from the addition of a new regular star—Hal Holbrook, famous previously for his one-man show at Mark Twain.

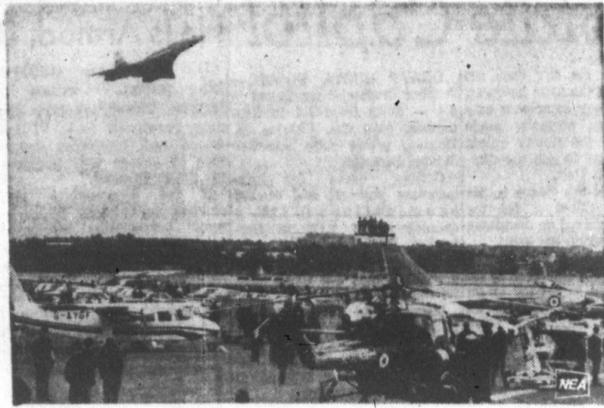

"The Bold Ones," on NBC-TV, is a trilogy of exciting dramas about the law, medicine and politics—with Holbrook making his debut as a principled U.S. senator, a part he will be seen in all season.

In his Sunday premiere, he is threatened on the phone with death if he keeps a college lecture engagement in which he is to discuss the subject of dissent. Though his family and aides are fearful, he goes ahead anyway, and, despite an usual melodramatic tone that creeps into most such series, the episode was better than most.

As video shows deal more and more with timely, substantial issues in an attempt to hook younger audiences, one often gets the feeling he is watching a sort of grade school primer on current events, done up in poster-style dialogue to make sure the mass audience understands.

There was some of that in "The Bold Ones" Sunday, but Holbrook's drol, mature attitude helped dissolve it, and Joe Olin's script tersely combined action and some verbal bite. As the senator's wife, Sharon Acker was lovely and convincing and subtly inviting.

Saturday night, aside from offering the Miss America Pageant, complete with Bert Parks' incomparable teeth, abc-TV aired a 90-minute version of the Broadway musical "George M!" about the composer-actor-writer George M. Cohan, and starring Joel Grey.

WHILE CONTROVERSY over cost and noise keeps American plans for a supersonic airliner on the drawing boards, the British-French Concorde takes to the air. This prototype model, 002, shows off at Britain's Farnborough air show, but well below supersonic speeds and at low altitude.

Giant Baptist Meet Planned For Houston

HOUSTON (UPI)—Dr. Jimmy R. Allen, president of the Baptist General Convention, announced Wednesday he is working on a plan that would bring three million Baptists to Houston for one gigantic evangelistic rally next year.

Allen said the convention involves bringing together representatives from every white, black and Mexican American Baptist convention in Texas.

He said if each convention approved the rally, it would be the first time in history every organized Baptist group in Texas would meet in a joint session.

The tentative date for the rally was set for Oct. 27, 1971.

The meeting would bring together four black Baptist conventions, one Mexican American convention and two predominantly white conventions including the 1.8 million member Baptist General Convention. The combined membership of all the conventions is over three million persons.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours have gone out of their heads over a personal tragedy. Their 18-year-old daughter left home to marry a serviceman she had known only two months. The police were called to avoid bloodshed when she left, and her father warned the girl and this serviceman never to set foot on his property again.

Now the father falls asleep on the porch every night with a loaded shotgun in his hand. An accident could easily occur under these crazy circumstances.

He will not listen to reason. He even got his son to round up a bunch of toughs to try to find the serviceman and beat him up.

Are there any counselors in this area who could talk some sense into this man in his angry state?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Counselors? A man who sits with a loaded gun and murder in his heart needs restraining first, not counseling. For his own good and the good of his neighbors, your friend should be reported to the legal authorities and the local mental health organization. He sounds sick and violent. A dangerous combination. And since you are his "friend," you do it.

DEAR ABBY: In your opinion, is it permissible for a woman to neck (or whatever you want to call it) with her ex-husband?

PAULINE

DEAR PAULINE: It is permissible for a woman to "neck" (if that's what you mean, that's what I'll call it) with her ex-husband, if she is single and so is he.

DEAR ABBY: A few days ago I received in the mail the most unusual announcement I have ever heard of in all my born days. I would certainly like to know if you or any of your readers ever saw or heard anything to match it.

A couple of friends of mine, whom I seldom see, but exchange Christmas cards with, sent me an announcement. I will use fictitious names and give you an otherwise exact copy of it.

Seaside Motel P.O. Box 224

Smalltown, N.C. Daytona Beach, Fla.

My problem is: Should I send them congratulations, separate gifts, sympathy cards, or what, exactly am I expected to do if anything? This thing sure floored me and I am not putting you on, Abby.

C.B. IN MURPHY, N.C.

DEAR C.B.: Send them both "get well" cards. Yes, I've heard of such announcements.

It's a rather cutesy way some of the more sophisticated set use to let their friends know they are officially divorced, and therefore available, in the market or what-have-you. It also helps their friends keep Christmas card lists current.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Just me" in Fort Worth: Most women who marry men for their money have to divorce them before they can get their hands on any of it. (P.S. Lotsa luck. It's a rare woman who comes out winners when she's out to skin a man in Texas.)

Homemakers Club Meets in Home

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — The Skellytown Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Miles Pearson as Mrs. Bob Heaton, president, presided for the business meeting. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The members worked on items for a Bazaar which will be held later.

The house guessing game and the hostess gift were both won by Mrs. Gertrude Huckins.

Attending were Meses. W.S. Berry, Ethel Hunt, Irene McCoy, Bob Heaton, Miles Pearson, Gertrude Huckins, Carolyn Rutherford and one guest, Mrs. J.M. Grange.

DEAR POLLY — When I am making blouses or shorts that have elastic at the waist I sew a small piece of bias tape or seam binding in the back seam to distinguish the back from the front. I keep a special roll of this tape on the side of my machine so it is always close at hand.

—MRS. J.A.

DEAR GIRLS — This would be a good use for those very short ends of tape that we all have left over from various sewing projects.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I like to keep hand soap beside my kitchen sink but it looked so messy until I started to keep it in a covered butter dish. This looks much better. It is easier to clean the dish than the soap.

Accessories make the midi, say the Paris "greats." Handknit lace in heavy "macrame" natural cotton (left) fashions a wide belt, bonnet and neckband. The dog collar (center) was shown at the Givenchy collection. Called the "million-dollar diamond dog collar," it boasts 800 pear-shaped round and marquise diamonds. It was designed by Van Cleef & Arpels. Tweed boots from the Balmain collection complete the elegant look from head to foot (right). This ensemble is in black and white wool.

Judges Name Tops 'N Texas Winners For Community Service Contributions

AUSTIN (Sp) — A Midland cerebral palsy victim who overcame her own handicap to become an outstanding instructor of retarded children, a Dallas woman who fought to preserve that city's historical heritage, and a Victoria housewife who founded a school for children with learning disabilities are this year's TNT 'N Texas award winners.

Honorees were announced in Austin by Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin and Mrs. Marvin Selig of Seguin, this year's TNT co-chairmen.

The annual TNT community service awards was presented by actress Kathryn Crosby at Fort Worth ceremonies this week.

Honorees are: Miss Jean Starnes, director-teacher of Midland's Opportunity Center for Retarded Children, Mrs. Sawnie Aldredge, founder of the Dallas Heritage Society and Mrs. Lloyd C. Jones, who began Victoria's Christopher Hall School for Children with Learning Disabilities.

TNT, sponsored by the Texas Federation of Republican Women and the Republican Party of Texas women's division, was founded three years ago to recognize three Texas women annually for outstanding civic or social work.

DEAR POLLY — I accidentally smeared some pink lipstick on my new white breadspread. Is there some way I can get this off? —COLEEN

DEAR POLLY — I am an expectant mother with few funds available and would like to pass on a few Pointers I think both attractive and useful.

A serving cart such as many of us have in our kitchens makes an excellent dressing table and for storing baby's bath needs. Candles and towels can be stored on the second shelf and the bottom shelf will hold the baby's tub when it is not in use.

A set of plastic revolving canisters are ideal for roomy storage of all baby's toiletries, diaper pins, etc. Animals cut from adhesive-backed paper can cover the markings of "Sugar," "Flour," etc. These canisters store nicely on the top shelf and add a bright touch.

A handsome set of shelves can be made from fruit cartons stacked on top of each other and antiqued a pretty color. They hold sheets and blankets now and books, toys and records later.

Baby's curtains need be no added expense if the expectant mother uses old solid-color curtains on which she applies animal cut-outs and then adds gay ruffles for a new look. —MRS. C.P.

Reptile-mania slithers down to the feet in shoes that combine soft suede and snake patterned leather, according to a teenage magazine. Vamps are high, accented with buckles, straps or sometimes tailored bows. Colors range from autumn-toned brown to plum or green. Shoes may be split down the middle into suede and snake, have a snake toe and heel, a snake vamp, or a "cobra" bow and heel.

DEAR POLLY — I like to keep hand soap beside my kitchen sink but it looked so messy until I started to keep it in a covered butter dish. This looks much better. It is easier to clean the dish than the soap.

Accessories Make Midi Style Click

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — It's the new accessories that will make the long look click this coming Fall. As a matter of fact, it's a tip-toe operation. Everything, but everything is outmoded along with the mini. Jewelry, bags, make-up, all have to be rethought to look right.

The long, lean look has brought back hats. When leader Yves Saint Laurent shows "Three Musketeer" hats with swashbuckling feathers to top his creations, there is definitely something more in this than just a touch of whimsy. And somehow they look right.

Pierre Cardin went along with the same idea, deciding it was time that hats replaced "babushka" headscarves. He showed Renaissance students' berets worn at an angle and off the face. And all the fashion moguls showed fur hats from the towering guardsman's busby to every type of Russian military headgear, along with chechies and Moumouchi turbans. They came in mink, fox, lynx, seal and leopard.

Knitted caps, stocking caps, suede pull-ons and turbans are for everyday wear but another winner is the hood. The "Little Red Riding Hood" comes separate or attached to the jacket, coat or cape, in fabric, fur or turlined.

So much for the top. At the other extremity, boots are definitely a "must." They have never been so widely featured. For daytime they usually reach well over the calf but for more dress-up occasions they can extend well over the knee, especially if they are made of elasticized satin.

The little black satin bootie of the '80s, pull-on or buttoned, is fashionable. All these boots come in leather, tweed, fur and satin. Roger Vivier shows some in gold and silver crocodile skin and lame.

The square toe is out, replaced by a more dainty almond-shaped toe and heels have achieved at least 2 1/2 to three inches.

Belts are important because they help to break the silhouette. Buckles have never been so diversely stressed: in all shapes and sizes, on gilt or silver metal, they are part of the decorative medium of an ensemble.

Venet's favorite was a couple of entwined swans. Cardin's was a huge heart dripping with fringe or centered with two enormous daisies. Women would do well to browse around antique shops, flea markets or delve into Aunt Mamie's old wooden trunk up there in the attic for old buckles. But they no longer appear on shoes, only on belts.

In jewelry — finished are the dozens of dangling gypsy necklaces; in are the dog collars and enormous medallions dangling from a fine metal thread. The chokers and dog collars vary from rows and rows of fine gold braid almost reaching to the ears like those worn by some women of African tribes to the million-dollar diamond choker shown by Givenchy with one of his oh-so-simple black crepe dinner dresses. In a modern mood are the enormous medallions designed by Cardin which look like flattened fishbombs dangling from a slender chain. As for Courreges, his choker neckbands consisted of a one-inch ribbon in all colors tied on one side. Back from the past is the black velvet neckband with a diamond or fancy jeweled brooch pinned center front.

Feather fringe, ostrich for the most part, is a wonderful and attractive way to add inches to a short dress. The new ostrich fringe is clipped and at Balmain matched exactly a black and white tweed suit in collar and cuffs and a reptile-printed chiffon evening gown with a deep fringe in the print's colors.

Stockings, when glimpsed between the top of a boot and the hem of a skirt, match the latter. Hence, black, brown, purple, red, green and brown hose are right in fashion. The same rule applies with evening sandals, where hose continue the color scheme.

Hairdos are simple. Fuzzy, curly wigs are out. Chignons are in, worn straight on top or at the nape of the neck, sometimes worn with a jeweled snood. Cardin's models wore what looked like something off a centurion's helmet.

TO BE MARRIED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dorothy Andrews Elston, the treasurer of the United States, was to be married today to Walter L. Kabis of Odessa, Del. Mrs. Elston, whose signature appears on paper currency, said she would continue as treasurer. Kabis is chairman of the Water and Air Resources Commission of Delaware.

AUTUMN STYLE LEADER

The perfect wardrobe builder... one pattern from which you can make an elegant pants-suit or a handsome coat-dress... both fashions are leaders in style. A long jacket tops flaring pants and can be made in a small pattern fabric or solid color; or lengthen the jacket for the popular coat-dress.

Consult the Fashion Coordinator included in each Young Original Pattern for color, fabric and accessory suggestions.

B-130 with Photo-Guide is in Sizes 7-15, bust 31-37, Size 9, 32 bust... jacket, 2 1/2 yards; pants, 1 1/2 yards and coat - dress 3 1/2 yards... all of 54-inch.

Send $1 today for this smart Young Original designed for women who sew. Write (Pampa Daily News), P.O. Box 438 A, Midtown Station, New York, N.Y. 10018. Print your full name, address with zip code, pattern number and size. Add 25 cents for first-class handling.

A hot milk beverage for breakfast is a good way to start the day on these cool Fall mornings. This proportion makes 2 1/2 cups: In a saucepan combine 2 tablespoons each of peanut butter and chocolate syrup, gradually add 2 cups milk and a dash of salt. Heat to serving temperature.

NEW WAY TO BE! SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at...

First Baptist Church

Rev. Dan B. Cameron, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday. In the eleven o'clock morning worship, he will preach the third sermon in a series on the Book of Hebrews from the subject, "A Question Mark or an Exclamation Point."

David Campbell, minister of music, will direct the Sanctuary Choir in the choral worship, "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" by Bass. Mrs. Deborah Woodward who will sing a solo, "His Way, Mine" by Baker. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "If Thou But Suffer God to Guide Thee" for the offertory.

The pastor will preach the second sermon in a series entitled, "A Matter of Maturity" from the topic, "Search for Identity," in Sunday evening service at 7 p.m. The special music will be presented by Mr. Paul Barrett, Bass, and his selection is "Ship Ahoy." "There is a Fountain" by Calvin is the organ offertory selection.

Visitation begins at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday for the ladies and at 7 p.m. for the men. The prayer meeting at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday will be under the direction of the pastor, who will continue teaching the Book of Matthew. The fellowship supper precedes the prayer meeting from 5:30 until 6:15.

Church Of Christ, Scientist

Emphasis on materialism is a modern form of idolatry and can be counteracted by an understanding of the Ten Commandments as explained in the Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" to be read in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, Sept. 20.

"We bow down to matter, and entertain finite thoughts of God like the pagan idolater," states one of the readings from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. "Mortals are inclined to fear and to obey what they consider a material body more than they do a spiritual God."

The Bible citations include the First Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other Gods before me," and the other nine commandments.

First United Methodist Church

Morning worship services will be held at 8:45 and 11 a.m. in the Sanctuary. Dr. H. DeWitt Seago, pastor, will preach on the subject "The Double-Plus Man," using Genesis 41:1-34 as background scripture.

"To These We Sing" by Peter Tkach under the direction of Morris Kille, minister of music. Martha Colville will be the youth leader in the services. Tracy Cary, organist will play "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert as a prelude. "O Lord Most Holy" by Franck for an Offertory; and "Festival Postlude" by Everett Titcomb for a postlude.

Evening Vespers will be held at 6 p.m. in the Chapel with Dr. Seago preaching. Youth Fellowship meetings will follow Vespers.

Bethel Assembly Of God Church

The Bethel Assembly of God Church, 1541 Hamilton announce the West Texas District

Superintendent, Rev. Haskill at 7:30 p.m. except Sunday night which begins at 7 p.m.

Rev. VanAmber, pastor extends a welcome to attend.

Central Baptist Church

The Central Baptist Church will hear the pastor, Bryan Halliburton, preach for both services of worship Sunday. For the 11 a.m. worship, he has chosen "The Tragedy of All Tragedies" for his sermon topic.

congregational singing. Mrs. LaWayne Hogan will present the special music. "The Same Old World" is the subject the pastor has chosen for his 7 p.m. sermon. Roy Gibson will sing a solo and direct the music.

visitation on Monday at 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. The Wednesday services begin at 7 p.m. with Jr. choir and teachers and officers meetings. The mid-week Hour of Power begins at 8 p.m. followed by Adult choir practice.

New Minister At Lefors First Baptist

The First Baptist Church, Lefors, has Rev. James Dudley

Bristow for the new minister of its parsonate. Bristow, 30 years old, moved to Lefors Aug. 24 from Lela, Texas, where he pastored for 2 years.

Bristow, reared in Muleshoe, attended Dallas College of Mortuary Science, Wayland Baptist College, East Central State College, and Oklahoma Baptist University. He was in the funeral profession for several years before he turned to the ministry. He pastored four churches before he came to Lefors.

Special Services Slated At Lamar Gospel Assembly

Rev. Bill Wilson, renowned revivalist, camp meeting speaker and noted Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship speaker, will be guest speaker at Lamar Full Gospel Assembly, corner of Bond and S. Sumner Streets, Tuesday, Sept. 22 through Sunday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 each evening.

Rev. Wilson will relate travels through Europe, South America, South Sea Islands. Special music will be provided by the talented young people of Lamar Full Gospel Assembly each evening.

First Assembly To Feature Indian Speaker

John McPherson, a Cherokee Indian of the western band will conduct a meeting at First Assembly of God Church Sept. 20-27.

Services begin nightly at 7 p.m. and Sundays 9:45 a.m. and 7 p.m.

A native of Oklahoma, McPherson has traveled throughout the USA, in Europe, the Middle East, Islands of the Sea, in youth camps, retreats, army camps, revival campaigns and kids' krusades.

Revival Begins At First Free Will Baptist

A week's revival begins Monday evening Sept. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Free Will Baptist Church with Rev. Jack Ledbetter father of the "Ledbetter Singers" of Wichita, Kan. as evangelist.

Rev. L.C. Lynch, pastor, invites everyone to come and hear the gospel as preached in an old-fashioned manner.

The First Free Will Baptist Church was host recently to the Northwest Brazos District Youth Rally with youth groups attending from Pampa, Vernon and Amarillo for Bible Drills and entertainment.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

Assembly Of God Church, Skellytown

REV. ROBERT L. BAILEY

In Exodus Chap. 8 we read the account of the plague of frogs that was sent upon the Egyptians because Pharaoh would not let the Hebrews go free. The frogs were everywhere; in the houses, in the beds, in the oven, in the food, everywhere one looked, sat, lay, or stepped (squish), the frogs were there!

Pharaoh called upon Moses to intreat the Lord that He may take away the frogs. Moses asked when Pharaoh wanted them to be removed. Pharaoh's reply was tomorrow, so he chose to spend one more night with the frogs!

God has given us many great promises in His word. All we have to do is to ask Him to meet the needs of our lives; regardless of how small or large they may seem to us, God is still concerned.

Many people need salvation, comfort, healing, or many other needs to be worked out for them. These needs should be turned over to Him, for He can work them out so much better than we can. Yet we choose to spend one more night with our frogs!

How foolish for men to still procrastinate, when the way has been prepared and so freely given to all. Why reject the provision God has made; all that is needed is for us to call upon Him in faith. Just as quickly as He caused the frogs to disappear, He can cause our sorrow to vanish. He can turn our night to day and calm the troubled waters of our lives. Why wait any longer? Why spend another night, week, month, or year carrying your (frog) of sin, doubt, or worry? Why not call upon Him now?

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Holding Pollution Line

Pollution, one perceptive observer has noted, is nothing in the world but resources in the wrong places in inordinate amounts. When it is remembered that the world's resources, in their totality, are a fixed quantity and that nothing is ever really created or really destroyed, one is forced to agree. And, while such a realization, in itself, does nothing toward resolving the pollution problem, it is capable of pointing out the correct path.

Stated another way, pollution is caused by the disposal of resources in forms that are today commonly regarded as waste; "waste" meaning there is no known or economically feasible use for the various by-products of our productive processes now being disposed of as being without value, or of such small value that it does not pay to bother with them.

This being so, the problem begins to clear and, at the same time, the solution begins to appear. We simply have to find new uses for natural resources now regarded as waste and economically feasible procedures for converting now "useless" by-products into these new uses.

The hoped for solution, of course, would be techniques that would permit the recycling of all such "wastes" now polluting our environment into useful and beneficial products and services in a never-ending chain process. "All," however, in this sense, is an ideal concept not likely to be realized any time soon. We can, nevertheless, make progress anyway. And, although efforts of such a nature seldom make the headlines, yeoman service in this respect is being performed in various segments of the market place.

H. L. Hunt Writes

COLLECTIVISM vs. FREEDOM

We are rightly concerned about the economic conditions in underdeveloped countries, where people suffer from genuine poverty. Many "experts," including some who are very influential in our government, claim that a centralized, collectivist economy is the best way to raise the standard of living in these countries. But the facts prove otherwise.

In a recent speech at the Chungang University in Seoul, Korea, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns pointed out that the personal enterprise system has done far more to help underdeveloped countries than has collectivism.

Chairman Burns contrasted the countries of Burma and Thailand. In Burma the government imposes tight controls on production and trade. Thailand, however, has encouraged personal enterprise. During the past 10 years, Burma's exports of rice have decreased by nearly two-thirds, while Thailand has increased rice exports by 28 per cent.

Ceylon, India and Indonesia, other Asian countries which have experienced little economic growth, have also relied on a centralized, collectivist economy.

The economies of overtly communist countries have been notoriously unable to meet the needs of their people. It is impossible to ignore the periodic severe food shortages in such countries as Red China, Cuba and Russia.

Dr. Burns praised the South Koreans for their refusal to accept the collectivist ideology. He cited the rise in exports, which have gone from virtually nothing to $600 million a year in just one decade.

The economic well-being of a nation's citizens is best insured by providing them with the opportunity to own property and produce in freedom, under the individual initiative, personal enterprise, profit-motive system rather than centralizing all control in the hands of government bureaucrats.

Stop Worrying

VIEWPOINT

Truth About Peace Symbol

By JESSE HELMS
Recently, hoping to make a point — and to measure public awareness — we made casual mention of an item of "research" we had requested and received from the Library of Congress. It concerned the so-called "peace" symbol — the circle with the inverted broken cross inside — which has become a part of almost every protest movement across the country.

During the past several months, we had built quite a file on the subject. But having noticed some curious "research" efforts on other subjects coming from the Library of Congress we decided to see what kind of objectivity might result in the instance of the "peace" symbol. So, through a North Carolina Congressman, we made routine request for research.

The request was handled by a Marguerite Goral at the Library of Congress, and her "report" on the "peace" symbol bordered on the incredible. It was woefully inadequate; it was dangerously subjective — not at all objective by any reasonable definition of the word. It was, in short, a whitewash job.

Yet this was so-called "research" produced by the Library of Congress, at the request of a Congressman, and circulated — as a supposedly accurate and honest recitation of the origin of the "peace" symbol. It was nothing of the sort.

At the outset, it needs to be understood that the "peace" symbol, regardless of what a "researcher" at the Library of Congress may suggest to the contrary, was revived by a protest movement in 1958 headed by Bertrand Russell in England, a self-declared atheist and a widely-known pro-communist. The Library of Congress researcher, Marguerite Goral, stated flatly in her report, however, that "There is no correlation established between this sign and any anti-religious movement..." Indeed, Miss Goral dismissed, almost sarcastically, suggestions of a relationship between the symbol and communism.

Bosh! The symbol is in use regularly by every pro-communist organization in America, and elsewhere in the world besides. As for Bertrand Russell, it is interesting that the Library of Congress failed to mention that Russell was an atheist, and an ardent pro-communist. The Library of Congress researcher described Russell only as the leader of a "pacifist" group.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT
Coronary Heart Disease

Has No Regard for Age
Coronary heart disease, primarily a disease of persons who are over 40, is being seen with increasing frequency in the 5-to-17-year age group. The predisposing factors in these children are (1) high blood pressure (over 142 systolic, when the heart contracts, or over 82 diastolic, when the heart relaxes), (2) a blood cholesterol level over 220 and (3) body weight 30 per cent above the average for the child's height.

The most effective way to reverse this trend is to lower the fat content of the family's diet and increase the amount of exercise the child takes daily.

Q — I am a boy, 14. I have large breasts and this is very embarrassing. Will they shrink or could I have them operated on?
A — In most boys, this enlargement, often accompanied by some soreness, disappears in one to four years. If it doesn't, it will be necessary for your doctor to determine whether you have a glandular imbalance or whether the enlargement is just fat. Surgery may be advisable in the first case but not in the second.

Q — Each time our children get one of their frequent strep throats, our pediatrician takes throat cultures and gives them all a shot of penicillin, even if they have no fever. Doesn't too much penicillin make the germs resistant to the drug?
A — If your doctor is sure the infection is due to a streptococcus each time, he is wise to treat all members of the family with the antibiotic. The drug should be taken for at least 10 days to insure the eradication of the germs. The building up of a resistance by the germ is the result of inadequate treatment.

Q — About three months before our last child, now 11 was born, her older brother and sister had chickenpox. When she was about two weeks old, she had a breaking out that looked like chickenpox, but our pediatrician couldn't say for sure that it was. She has been exposed to the disease since then, but she has never gotten it. Could she be immune?
A — Chickenpox is very contagious and very few persons reach age 15 without having an attack. If your daughter has been exposed and has not taken the disease, that is pretty good evidence of immunity but, like your pediatrician, I can't be positive about it.

Huey Newton's Six Points

If one merely repeats the stated goals of Huey P. Newton's Black Panther Party, chances are this anxious group would find almost universal agreement.

The news, most assuredly, is in full support to almost all the aims listed in a news report from the Philadelphia convention of the Black Panthers.

- 1. Freedom and power to the people to determine their own destiny.
- 2. Full employment and end of capitalist exploitation.
- 3. Decent housing.
- 4. A true education.
- 5. Exemption from military service.
- 6. An end to police brutality, fair jury trials and freedom for all political prisoners.

Well said, Mr. Newton. Now all we have to do is define the terms.

We suggest that if we can just get straightened out on Number One, everything else will fall into its proper place. But let us examine the other five points in light of number one.

"Full employment and end of capitalist exploitation." Logic compels us to reject the possibility of having freedom to the people to determine their own destiny and at the same time have full employment, and without "capitalist exploitation," anything remotely resembling full employment is impossible.

Exploitation merely means the utilization of people, tools or natural resources or a combination of these for practical, profitable purposes. So "exploitation" isn't a bad word. And we challenge anyone to show us how there can be employment without such utilization of natural resources, tools and labor.

prevail, then the goal of decent housing is most likely to be attained. Nowhere else in the world are there more houses and nowhere is there a wider choice for the consumer than what the "decadent capitalists" have provided. Point Number 4 — "A True Education." We support this goal without reservation. But we would remind Mr. Newton that he has called for the individual to determine his own destiny, so naturally, he would remove compulsory schools and not permit politicians to define "education."

As for "exemption from military service," The News has opposed the military draft since its inception.

Point 6, an end to police brutality, fair jury trials and freedom for all political prisoners, has our unqualified support. But also we do not believe in brutality against police officers, or anyone else for that matter. The Black Panthers have a few points in this connection, which they must clear up before they command respect from society.

But aside from the Black Panther image as a violence-prone gang, Mr. Newton's remarks have the same familiar ring of all politicians seeking power — "throw out the guys in office and let me really show you how to run a country."

Mr. Newton calls for a complete socialist government. That means the state would control all property and means of production. At the same time he wants freedom for the people to determine their own destiny. That, Mr. Newton, would be some trick indeed.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

Last spring the carpenters in Ohio demanded, and got, a $3 per hour wage increase. Beginning in 1972 they'll be getting $10.93 an hour for shoring up costs and shimming mortgaged houses.

A 20-year-old butcher going to work at that rate and working until he's 65 could rake off more than a million bucks! That is, if he didn't work any overtime and never received another pay raise in his life.

It is a nice theory. But it won't work that way. Last year, some building tradesmen received as much as $30,000, and still ain't satisfied. They won't be content till they have priced themselves right out of a job.

How can a little feller earning four or five bucks an hour, pay ten bucks an hour to carpenters working on a house, not to mention the interest? And what about the thousands making only 2 bucks? Ha—

What will happen is that custom-built housing will disappear. Average-income people will have to live in multi-family units. There will be a boom in assembled houses and ballroom structures.

Clearing House

Get something you would like to get off your chest? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested that you should write to the Editor, that people should speak their minds, so, in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

Editor: When I read of the "Peoples' Army Jamboree" in Portland, it seemed to "joggle" my memory of the "Peoples'" and that, that's been around. Such as: "The Peoples' Republic of China," "The Peoples' Liberation Army of N. Korea," "The Peoples' Volunteers' (A faction of the Red Chinese Army deployed in the Korean War), "Young Peoples' General Assembly for peace," "The Peoples' Education and Press Association of Texas," "The Peoples' Park," "Advanced Peoples' Police Cadre" (in U.S.), and "Revolutionary Peoples'" to name a few.

Isn't this just using the old "Band Wagon Device," by which people are encouraged to do something because a great many other (?) people are doing it?

Inside Washington

As Troops Pull Out — How About POWs?

WASHINGTON — President Nixon and his top advisers must soon come to grips with the question of what happens to Americans, held as prisoners of war, as the Vietnamization program goes forward.

The question is now being asked privately by POW families. By its nature, however, it's a question which can't be muted for an indefinite period and will ultimately require a full and forthright answer.

The issue is simple enough: President Nixon, in Vietnamizing the war in Southeast Asia, is gradually drawing down U.S. combat forces. What are the hopes for more than 1,500 Americans now prisoners or "missing" if the war winds down without a negotiated settlement?

The administration provided a simple answer last spring in POW hearings before a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee. On that occasion Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., commented that the Vietnamization program offered a bleak prospect for POWs and their families.

F. Warren Nutter, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, replied that President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird have repeatedly stated that "these men will not be abandoned."

Some U.S. prisoners have already been held by the Vietcong and North Vietnamese for several years. What is wanted now, by some POW families, is a rationale and elaboration of the administration's pledge.

If the talks continue to be fruitless in Paris (where the POW issue has now been forcefully raised) and troop withdrawals continue, does there come a time when Vietnamization halts pending a settlement of the prisoner issue?

P.O.W. DAY — The POW families continue to escalate their drive to dramatize the plight of the prisoners. Currently, the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia is focusing on Nov. 11. The idea is to make Veterans' Day something of a war prisoners' day in public ceremonies this year.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Sybil Stockdale, wife of a captured Navy captain, the league has also been spearheading the campaign for a joint session of the House and Senate on the prisoner-of-war issue. Most of the House and Senate leadership have approved the idea of such a session.

The league has been trying to have such a joint session scheduled in early October to coincide with its first national convention which has been scheduled here in Washington. The convention itself is calculated to attract extensive media coverage.

With assistance from H. Ross Perot, the Texas multi-millionaire, the POW families arranged months ago to highlight the prisoner issue for the tourists who troop to Washington each summer. An exhibit was strategically located on the ground floor of the Capitol Bldg.

Thousands of tourists file each day past a spotlighted simulated prison cell and a bamboo POW "cage" similar to those which, according to the handful of returned prisoners, are used to confine Americans in Southeast Asia.

"UNANSWERED PROBLEM" — The campaign for support by the POW families has probably been more effective than is generally realized. That is particularly true with respect to congressional sentiment.

The pages of the Congressional Record bear testimony to the fact that "ahawks" but "doves" alike think something must be done to secure better treatment — and, eventually, release — for the American POWs. Many of the speeches delivered in the House and Senate are short and attract no attention on a day-by-day basis. The cumulative effect is considerable, however.

In one such recent speech — less than 200 words — Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., flayed the Communist regime in North Vietnam for refusing to abide by the requirements of the Geneva convention.

"It must remain a matter of top priority with the government of the U.S. to ease the lot of these men and to continue every possible avenue of negotiation for their safe return to their waiting families," said Baker.

He called the plight of the POWs "one of the great unanswered problems of the year."

That is certainly how it is shaping up for President Nixon who will come under increasing pressure to explain how release of the prisoners can be obtained from the intransigent North Vietnamese as U.S. forces in Vietnam and Southeast Asia become progressively weaker.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — I have just read a booklet called "The Anti-Establishment by Russell Rapp in which he says, 'the struggle for the survival of man has not been waged against the natural forces of his environment, nor against the creatures that share his habitat. By far the most dangerous enemy of man has always been and continues to be, his fellow man.' Do you believe this to be true?

ANSWER: No, we do not. It is true that through the ages there have always been some men who have preyed upon other men. Probably they have been led to do so because this is by far the easiest way to get what they want and need. Man is a puny and helpless creature compared to the forces of nature and even to many other animals on this earth — it is relatively easy for some men to victimize others.

It is a constant struggle for man to produce the food he needs and the other things that make his life more pleasant and secure. It is only when men cooperate and exchange their knowledge and production that they are able to overcome the obstacles of nature and create a life for themselves that has any measure of comfort and allows him time for spiritual development. But even with this cooperation among men, it is still necessary for men to work, and work hard, to maintain any kind of a comfortable standard of living. Only the increasing use of tools and machinery has made this struggle easier for man. The use of tools and machinery can only come when man is secure in his life and his property and can accumulate capital and knowledge.

Some individuals fail to see this, or are unwilling to do the work necessary to keep themselves supplied, so they steal from others. Through history people of this kind have stolen, individually and collectively, from those who produce.

Those who steal do not contribute anything to mankind's well being. But those who produce and create add to mankind's well being. From the cooperative division of labor and free exchange of production and creativity mankind progresses. Any progress in the future toward solving all the problems that face us will have to come from this process. No progress can ever be expected from theft or from those who steal.

Mankind could never have reached the level of material and spiritual development he has so far attained if man were truly man's most dangerous enemy. If that were true, men would have killed themselves off and become extinct long ago.

Pro Season Kicks Off Tonight, League Games Count For Real

By JOE CARNEULLI
UPI Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Rams, tired of past frustrations, will settle for nothing less than the Super Bowl this season.

That's the spirit drilled into the Rams by Coach George Allen, a brilliant tactician whose teams seem to win everything but titles.

Allen's positive philosophy was carried out to the letter in pre-season play as the Rams compiled the only unbeaten record among the 26 pro teams, winning all six games. Now Allen will see if his team can carry that spirit over into the regular season as Los Angeles opens its season tonight playing host to the St. Louis Cardinals in the start of a four-day football weekend.

In Saturday night action, the New York Giants play host to the Chicago Bears in a National Conference game while Sunday NFL play finds Detroit at Green Bay, Washington at San Francisco, Atlanta at New Orleans and Dallas at Philadelphia.

American Conference games scheduled for Sunday include Oakland at Cincinnati, Houston at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at San Diego, Miami at Boston and Denver at Buffalo. Cleveland is scheduled to play New York Monday night.

The only inter-conference game scheduled for the weekend is the main feature, matching last year's Super Bowl opponents—Kansas City and Minnesota—Sunday at the Twin Cities.

The Rams, blending powerful defense and a smooth offense, are 10^{1/2}-point favorites over the revamped Cardinals. Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen, Coy Bacon and Diron Talbert—the Rams' talented front four—allowed only 334 yards on 137 carries in pre-season play.

Roman Gabriel, coming off an outstanding season last year, leads the Ram offense while Jim Hart, the NFC statistical leader in passing during exhibition play, will handle the Cardinals' attack.

Les Josephson, the Rams' top rusher during the pre-season, is out and Larry Smith, the second running back, is bothered by a hamstring pull.

The Cardinals feature six new players in the starting lineup—centers Wayne Mulligan, guard Clyde Williams and running back MacArthur Lane on offense and tackle Joe Schmiesing, linebacker Don Parish and cornerback Miller Farr on defense.

Los Angeles easily is the class of the four-team Western Division while St. Louis is expected to battle Dallas, New York and Washington for honors in the five-team Eastern Division.

OUT FOR MOST OF THE SEASON with an injured leg, Twins' Rod Carew returned to find the team in a tall spin. During his absence, he said he watched the Twins on television and said watching the lead diminish was no pleasant sight—"I was going out of my tree."

Pampa Aims For Two In A Row, Face Odessa Tonight At 8 P.M.

What the offense doesn't do, the defense will in Pampa's clash with 5-AAAA Odessa High at 8:00 P.M. tonight in Harvester Stadium.

Pampa High's "Swede" Lee fields on injury free team containing only one change in the starting line-up that edged Hereford last week, 24-22. Johnny Roth, Junior, will start at offensive left halfback.

The Bronchos, under the leadership of mentor Joe Means, will be out to avenge a 13-0 loss at the hands of Amarillo High.

Pampa's potent offense will be led by Dale Ammons, 6'2", 175. Filling out the backfield will be Johnny Clark, fullback, and Roth and John McCarroll, halfbacks. The responsibility of stopping Odessa's devastating defense, which averages close to 200 pounds per man, will be borne by offensive linemen Mike Reddell, split end, Ricky Harris, tight end, Casey Cameron, left tackle, Jimmy Clark, right tackle, Mickey Sims, left guard, Loren Rice, right guard, and Keith Coyle, center.

Defensive line chores in coach Lee's 4-3-1 roving defense fall to Jim White and Tibby Rogers, ends, and Mickey Sims and Mike Cummings, tackles. Linebackers are Dewayne Glover, Billy Watkins, and Alvin Ferguson. The third line of defense for the Green and Gold is made up of Sam Watson and Dan Hood, halfbacks, and Dennis Taylor, rover. Defensive phantom for the Harvesters will be safety John McCarroll.

Quarterback Dale Ammons and linebacker Dewayne Glover were named Area AAA Player of the Week and Honorable Mention, respectively, as a result of their performance against Hereford last week.

Ammons scrambled for 134 yards and kicked a game-winning field goal in Pampa's 24-22 win. Glover led the Harvester defense in tackles and assists. Glover had six unassisted tackles and 20 assisted tackles.

In the same game, Danny Harris earned Honorable Mention for scoring 16 points.

Orioles Clinch Division Title

By United Press International

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver didn't take part in the festivities following the Orioles' clinching of the American League's Eastern Division.

He'd rather wait until his club gets the chance to avenge last year's World Series defeat.

The Orioles backed into their second straight title Thursday afternoon as the Boston Red Sox defeated the second-place New York Yankees, 5-4, in a 10-inning contest. Dick Bosman dampened the Bird's spirits somewhat with a five-hitter to give the Washington Senators a 2-0 victory later in the day.

Meanwhile, seemingly unperturbed by their defeat at the hands of the Senators, the Orioles were celebrating by popping champagne and beer and dumping buckets of ice water on everyone.

"We really wanted this one. That's why it's taking us so long to unwind," said the Oriole first baseman, Boog Powell.

In the only other American League action, Minnesota edged California, 4-3. Milwaukee downed Kansas City, 4-3, in 13 innings and Cleveland defeated Detroit, 6-2.

Los Angeles easily is the class of the four-team Western Division while St. Louis is expected to battle Dallas, New York and Washington for honors in the five-team Eastern Division.

The Pampa Shockers overcame fumbles and penalties to scalp the Liberal, Kansas, B-team Braves, 26-8, last night in Harvester Stadium.

The Kansas team suffered one major casualty when Mike Zikoy sustained a broken leg after a pile-up in the second quarter. Liberal coach, John Salavantis said, "Zikoy was one of our better prospects."

Richard McCampbell, Liberal, was the most valuable offensive player for the Shockers. In the three quarters McCampbell played, he carried the ball across the goal line five times, scoring all of Pampa's 26 points.

Defensively, Ed Townsend should stand for honors Townsend's alert work was summed up by Salavantis when he said, "We tried running to the right, the left, and over one of our better prospects."

Townsend, but every time we tried, he turned us back.

Egad, friends, this Saturday's schedule will delight even the zaniest football fibbers!

No matter where one looks — east, midwest, south, southwest or far west — there's a football treat in store.

In the east, resurgent Pittsburgh will host powerful UCLA. The midwest boasts several top flight attractions including Notre Dame-Northwestern, Missouri-Minnesota, Indiana-Colorado, Michigan-Arizona and Purdue-TCU. Promising thrilling action for southern residents are the Florida-Mississippi State, Georgia-Texas A&M and LSU-Texas A&M clashes to name just a few.

In the southwest hosting the national champ Texas beats the California Bruins, Arkansas meets Colorado State U., and Oklahoma entertains Wisconsin. Leading attractions in the far west feature Southern California-Nebraska, Stanford-San Jose State, Oregon State-Iowa and Washington-Michigan State. Would that we could select all of these fine teams to be winners, but alas, that is not the case.

We've painstakingly analyzed and reanalyzed the strengths and weaknesses of the various clubs and conferences involved and—kaff-kaff—have prepared a letterperfect slate of winners for you—har-rumph!

The Pitt Panthers reaching for the glory of yesteryears will give UCLA and its demon quarterback Dennis Dummit a real scare before succumbing by a 27-17 count. At Eynston, Illinois, it will be a similar story as talented Mike Adame and the Northwestern Wildcats battle Notre Dame in the season opener for both elevens. The Hoople System pegs the Fighting Irish to prevail 49-27 but only after a spirited tussle!

The Missouri-Minnesota contest will be close all the way with Dan Devine's "show-me-lads" taking the nod 26-21. In the other games involving Big Ten teams, The Hoosiers of Johnny Hont will stop Colorado,

Alcan Golf

By HENRY W. THORBERRY
PORTMARNOCK, Ireland

(UPI)—Australian Bruce Devlin was singing a happy song but Dave Hill's refrain was "I Wanna Go Home" today when the 26-man field shooting for the top prize of $55,000 in the $125,000 Alcan Golfer of the Year championship got away on the second round.

Devlin was the only man to beat par Thursday in the face of gale winds on the 7,117 yards par 72 Irish Sea links and his 69 gave him a three stroke advantage over Lee Trevino and Bert Yancey.

Down south I predict victories for Florida over Miss. State, 24-14, Georgia Tech over Florida State, 36-12, and the LSU Tigers over Texas A&M, 42-12.

Out west, the mighty Trojans of Southern California and Stanford's Indians, both winners last week, and the Oregon State Beavers will register impressive triumphs over Nebraska, Sab Jose St. and Iowa respectively. The Washington-Michigan State affair promises to be something elst with uffy Daugherty's Spartans the surprise victors 28-20!

Michigan will edge Arizona, and The Purdue Boilermakers will flatten TCU, 45-14. In the latter meeting keep your eye on Purdue sophomore Chuck Piebes who will could be another quarterback of the Len Dawson-Mike Phipps-Bob Griese variety. And that, Kiddies, is a lot of quarterback — um-kumph!

Your Horoscope

FOR SATURDAY, SEPT. 19, 1959 YOUR BIRTHDAY, SATURDAY. This year you must get directly to fundamental issues. There is just enough remaining to provide you a better quality, competitive feelings. One of the main factors in your success will be your continued effort to keep your life pattern uncomplicated. Today's natives have an abiding interest in literature. Many have distinguished themselves as writers. ARIES (March 21-April 19): Expect added expenses today as plans go awry, schedules slip. Do your share promptly. A PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You have been long hanging fire. TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Even in activities which need little preparation, you still encounter slight disappointments, delays, and persistence bring success. GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Double-check facts and figures. Fast feet. In one of those times you can really mix things up. O.K. conditions provide both cause and cure - don't get yourself tangled up. CANCER (June 21-July 21): Your own problems are not all that critical; sympathy leads you to worry about others as well. Do what is possible; in the final truth, however, everybody must carry his own. LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Don't force issues. People need time to decide anything of importance. Family life conflicts with other matters. Your financial position improves later in the day. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The concerns of older people may weigh on your mind. Focus facts and figures. Fast feet. Use extending it helps the most. Be clear and direct in what you say. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Caution and definite action are indicated in financial matters. Saturday. Unusual expenses, strange estimates are to be expected. Keeping things in balance will attract support. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Close cooperation is difficult or abrupt, while presenting a good business are fairly easy to achieve. Gather friends for a companionable evening. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You see some natural limitation. Much can be accomplished once you adjust to this reality. Avoid undue fatigue, but put in a complete day. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): While you attend chores, reflect on your world of people. Strive for an optimistic outlook. Some of your services are needed. Evening hours bring cheerful news. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It seems easier to deal with strangers over large issues than with familiar people over petty ones. Give people a question, briefly. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your pace has to fit the limitations of people around you. However, some fair can be established. Settled. Then the excuses for conflict are transferred. Seek clarity, peace.

TV In Review

By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Four-in-One," a new, weekly, one-hour drama entry that arrived on NBC-TV Wednesday night, is a series that, in theory, should have everything going for it. To begin with, the title comes from the fact that the hour will be filled with four mini-series of about six episodes each. One series would be the first mini-series on "Four-in-One," the show that bowed in Wednesday night, "McCloud," should have everything going for it, at least on the drawing board. Consider the elements: First we have the central character, played by Dennis Weaver, the onetime Chester on "Gunsmoke." Weaver portrays a Southwestern deputy marshal temporarily assigned to the modern-day New York Police Department to study big city law enforcement procedures. With Weaver dressing and behaving like a traditional Western marshal, almost out of the 19th century, we immediately have a combination of two of video's most treasured formats: The Western and the cops-and-robbers story. In addition, we theoretically have a show to thrill the silent majority of Middle America because here again we have the classic confrontation of the small town fellow and those big city sharpies he can show a thing or two. Well, for heaven's sake, what more could a show want? Is it video's answer to the "Midnight Cowboy?" Well, not quite. In the end, it all comes down to execution—all the theoretical possibilities, all the drawing board stuff, all the unbeatable concepts. And while I really looked forward to Wednesday's debut, and look forward to other episodes of "McCloud" too, it could have gotten off to a more auspicious start. For Weaver got involved in a rather routine plot combining a big city killing and political intrigue, and the emphasis was on the unique aspect of the show: The genuine values of this unusual character and his situation. There was a good deal of very broad acting and dialogue and direction, when the setup called for more subtlety. The situation is so American that viewers really don't have to be played to so obviously. They understand. "McCloud" has a concept that, on paper, is good enough to be shaped into a superior movie for theaters. It doesn't need the crazy-angle photography or gimmickry of the usual story protection. I like the idea of the show, and I think a lot people do.

Texas Chicanos Fight Back; Labeled Lazy, Seek Justice

(Last of Three Parts)
By TOM TIEDE

SAN ANTONIO — When the mayor of this city, Walter McAllister, was recently asked about the 300,000 citizens here who are of Mexican descent, he was quoted as saying: "Perhaps they're not quite, let's say, as ambitiously motivated as the Anglos to get ahead financially."

He then went on to categorize the Mexican-Americans, half of his city's population, as mostly interested in playing guitars.

It was an incredible blunder. But, then again, was it a blunder at all? Many of the 1.5 million Mexican-Americans in Texas think not. McAllister is 81 years old and by his own admission "so conservative that Bob Taft was too radical for me." He thus personifies the historic state sentiment that Mexicans are the thorns on the yellow rose of Texas.

The mayor says bluntly that "I have no sympathy for people too lazy to work," and since San Antonio's Mex-Am (or Chicano) unemployment rate is twice that of other residents, it is clear what he means. He means the reason why 46.5 per cent of Chicano housing in Texas is disgraceful, why 16 per cent of Chicanos have no education, why the Chicano average income of under $3,000 is that they are, in his words, "not quite . . . as ambitiously motivated."

Consciously or unconsciously, the institutionalized powers here still stand back from La Raza Unida (the united people) movement. And the average Anglo citizen, if he cares enough to say anything at all, may agree with this drawing restaurant owner: "I got nothin' against Chicanos, but I don't think all this demandin' they're doing is gonna git them anythin'. They're beginnin' to sound like niggers now—we want like that, but we don't wanta work to get it."

Therefore, when San Antonio Chicanos recently passed petitions around to force Mayor McAllister to withdraw his statements about them, they received little Anglo support. Petitioner Jose Martinez, in fact, received a bloody nose when he tried for one Anglo signature. "He hit me," said Jose. "He called me a spic and he busted my face."

Figuratively, Chicanos have been equally bloodied whenever they're requested Anglo (that is, established power) help. Simple requests, such as bilingual teachers in elementary schools, have long been ignored. Urgent requests, such as less brutality from the very Anglo Texas Rangers, have, too. When Chicanos have boycotted schools to protect segregation, or struck from work to demonstrate against peon farm wages, only a few Anglos have assisted.

Even the Catholic Church, the most powerful influence in the lives of most Mexican-Americans, has come under harsh Chicano criticism.

"In a word," says Chicano leader Jose Angel Gutierrez, "the church sucks. There they stand, right in the middle of the outhouses, the kids with their ribs showing, the oppression and the crap. AND WHAT DO THE CHURCHES DO? They talk about how God loves us, how we ought to love our enemies. Well, dammit, God isn't putting any food on the table — and it's damn sure our enemies won't, either."

Talk like this has contributed to the lack of church and other institutional assistance for the Chicano uprising. Father George Green, a parish priest in Dimmit County, says nervously, "I won't help outlaws who mock God."
Yet, far from mellowing their militancy, Chicano leaders seem to be expanding it. Because they simply do not care if their angry activity alienates possible allies. In fact, they prefer to battle on their own.

A personal fight is the best fight, explains local Mex-Am organizer Juan Patlan: "We don't want to be like the blacks. They're got their movement up tight with white hanger-oners. But we don't want, nor do we need, any-Anglo help."

For the truth is that Mexican-Americans in Texas, throughout the Southwest, all over the nation, have been shamefully neglected. In the U.S., the Chicano unemployment rate is twice that of Anglos. In Colorado, a recent survey indicates that the Chicano life span is only 56.7 years, or a decade less than that of other citizens. In Los Angeles, more than one million Mexican-Americans are caught in a continuing war between blacks and whites, both apathetic to browns.

And in Texas, 267.39 square miles of Texas, with its $3.5 billion oil industry and $1.25 billion farm business, with its 12 million cows and four million sheep, with its 112 institutions of higher learning and historical perspective of liberty, hundreds of thousands of Chicanos still live half lives.

"Yes," says one of them, "justice will come — it has to. If it doesn't we're gonna have the Alamo all over again here."

Agnew Working Hard To Convert Daughter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is trying to sell his 14-year-old daughter Kimberly on working within the "system."

Kim was a bit of a heroine once to antiwar forces when she wanted to join a protest peace march in Washington, but her father thought otherwise. From time to time since then, placards have appeared at rallies reading "Free Kim Agnew."

The vice president recently decided to show Kim how the system works in a free swinging political campaign. He took her and her mother Judy along last week on the first lap of a two-month political tour to boost GOP congressional candidates.

"She enjoyed it very much," a family spokesman said.

Enjoys New Mexico Trip
Kim, who is fascinated with the West and American Indians, also enjoyed a recent trip to the Pueblo, N.M. area. She rode horseback to Blue Lake where she presented a gift to an Indian chief.

She became interested in the plight of the Indians after her father became chairman of President Nixon's Council on Indian Affairs.

As the only Agnew offspring still at home, Kim attracts considerable public interest. A family aide said she "doesn't

Lead Industry Opposes Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lead industry vigorously opposed President Nixon's proposed tax on lead in gasoline today with the warning it could pollute and cause more pollution than it would stop.

John L. Kimberly, executive vice president of Lead Industries Association, told the House Ways and Means Committee in prepared remarks that oil companies will have to add so-called aromatic chemicals to gasoline to boost octane ratings if they switch from lead.

Aromatics, Kimberly said, could boost exhaust pollution by 25 per cent over emissions from gasoline with lead.

MIND CONTROL

Special Seminar Sunday, Sept. 20 7:30 p.m. Psychorientology Tuition $5.00 Repeater Free

"THE SCIENCE OF THE FUTURE, TODAY"

Brief History of Silva Mind Control

Research in mental brain wave control began in Laredo, Texas in 1944. Beginning, not with the intention of using the results for health purposes, but to increase the I.Q. factor. We now know more about brain waves, their frequency and energy output. We generate more energy at a lower, stable brain frequency than at a higher one. The Beta frequency is the highest known level of frequency and is for the five-sense type of functioning. Your brain is at the Beta as you read. The Alpha brain frequencies are lower than Beta. The Theta and Delta brain frequencies are lower than Alpha. Research was to learn and use lower brain frequency, apply its greater energy to make stronger impressions on brain cells. This contributes to an increased I.Q. factor.

Next was to prove the brain was functioning at a different frequency. Subjects had to do something at its lower frequency with his body, brain or mind that he could not do at higher levels. While maintaining control and awareness he learned to alter heart beat and blood pressure, vary pain, digestion, temperature and alter circulation.

Interested mostly in increasing I.Q. factor, we concentrated in the educational field. Our goals: Cut out distractions when studying, impress information with greater brain energy, have better recall.

Our new project was to research and improve the subjects guessing ability. To guess what we had in mind. Subjects became so very proficient at guessing a problem case without given information we next trained subjects to give information on which WE DID NOT HAVE details. We were successful getting correct information.

Subjects are tested without EEG machine for functioning at lower brain frequencies by given problem cases he knows nothing about: If he gives correct information, he is there. We can now state as a fact that in 48 hours we can train a group of subjects to function at a lower data of brain for specific applications.

This indicates that the human brain functioning at these levels has tremendous problem solving potential.

Silva MIND CONTROL is now offered in every state in the United States and Mexico.

"IT IS HIGHLY ESSENTIAL THAT WE TRAIN ALL HUMAN BEINGS TO USE THE ALPHA REGION OF THEIR BRAIN. THE DISCOVERY THAT HUMAN INTELLIGENCE HAS THE CAPACITY TO USE ANOTHER REGION OF THE BRAIN (THE ALPHA REGION) WILL CHANGE THE WHOLE CONCEPT OF PSYCHOLOGY, PARAPSYCHOLOGY, PSYCHIATRY, PSYCHOANALYSIS AND HYPNOANALYSIS."
