Hussein Orders Cease-Fire

Situation Worsens As Syria Lends Aid

By United Press International

King Hussein of Jordan ordered his army in Amman today to cease firing in the Jordanian civil war and demanded "absolute and strict observance." The cease-fire order was issued after he accused the Syrian army of invading Jordan.

With the situation worsening by the hour the Pentagon disclosed in Washington it had alerted American armed forces in the United States and Europe for possible evacuation of American citizens from Jordan where the Army and Palestinian guerrillas have fought a civil war since Thursday.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said 200 Syrian tanks moving under cover of an artillery barrage had seized the city of Irbid, 14 miles south of the border, in a move that outflanked the Golan Heights cease fire line and brought Syrian armor to within 18 miles of Israel.

Hussein's cease-fire apparently applied only to the Amman area where Cairo newspapers said 6,000 persons had been killed in the civil war and where they said the bodies of thousands of persons were strewn in the streets, raising the possibility of serious epidemics.

Guerrilla radio broadcasts reported heavy fighting in the Irbid area and at Salt, 15 miles northwest of Amman, the site of a major Palestinian refugee camp. The guerrillas said they had "liberated" all of Jordan but fighting was still going on at Salt.

The respected Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth openly speculated that U.S. intervention was imminent and said Washington would send in paratroops if Hussein asked for help. But in his first broadcast since the war Hussein announced the Syrian invasion and appealed to the Syrians not to fight Jordanians.

Shortly afterward he ordered the cease-fire in Amman as of 5:15 p.m. (11:15 a.m. EDT).

Hussein said, "In response to the appeal of conscience and national duty and to put an end to the tragedies which the (Syrian) conspiracy imposed on our country, and in appreciation of our major responsibility...

"We can tell you today we are continuing to take a series of precautionary actions to increase the readiness of Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force units to support an evacuation operation for American citizens should that become necessary," he said.

Friedheim said the operation involved units in the United States and Germany and included medical and hospital units and some ships and aircraft. The 82nd Airborne Division of 10,000 men at Ft. Bragg, N.C., was one unit placed on alert.

Hussein ordered one cease-fire Saturday evening but guerrilla broadcasts said he did not accept it. Field Marshal Habis Al-Majali, the Jordanian commander-in-chief, said guerrillas opened fire and his men fired back.

US Armed Forces Ready Evacuation

PI 2-361al US ARMED — WASHINGTON (UPI) — American armed forces in the United States and Europe have been placed on alert for possible evacuation of American citizens from Jordan, the Pentagon said today.

A defense spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, said the alert was ordered overnight and included movement of more warships toward the Mediterranean as well as placement on standby of Army infantrymen and Air Force transport crews.

There are about 400 Americans in Jordan, plus close to 40 others among 54 persons still being held hostage by Palestinian guerrillas from four airliner hijackings.

Friedheim told reporters at the Pentagon:

"We can tell you today we are continuing to take a series of precautionary actions to increase the readiness of Army, Navy, Marine, and Air Force units to support an evacuation operation for American citizens should that become necessary."

"These increased readiness operations involve units both here and in Germany, including some medical and hospital units and some ships and aircraft."

Friedheim said that in the United States among the units placed on standby was the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., which is part of the U.S. Strike Command.

In connection with this, some C141 jet transports were reported ready at Pope AFB, next to Ft. Bragg, and others were being ordered in to back them up.

In Germany, members of the 8th Infantry Division and a brigade of the 1st Infantry Division also went on standby.

The United States has about 200,000 troops in West Germany, including three airborne battalions plus armored and mechanized units.

Friedheim refused to identify ships steaming toward the Mediterranean but said the alert "does include units that are now in the Atlantic and the 6th Fleet."

Soviets Make Moon Landing

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's latest moon probe, Luna 16, made a successful soft landing on the moon Sunday and transmitted "excellent" test pictures from the Sea of Fertility.

The Soviets did not announce the details of Luna 16's tasks, but a report from the West German space observatory at Bochum said the craft transmitted "excellent" test pictures upon landing.

The soft-landing at 8:18 a.m. Sunday marked a Soviet comeback from the failure of Luna 15, which Western space experts said crashed on the moon in July, 1969, while racing Neil A. Armstrong's Apollo 11 mission to the surface.

Luna 16 also was the first Soviet spacecraft to touch down in the lunar landscape since Luna 13 in December, 1966.

The official class news agency said Luna's earth controllers coaxed the craft down gently by remote control of its braking engines, which set the silver Sputnik down in stages like a jack in reverse.

The agency pinpointed its landing spot in selenographic coordinates as 0 degrees 41 minutes south latitude and 56 degrees 18 minutes east longitude, "in the area of the Sea of Fertility."

parliament in power for three years.

The nonsocialists will get 167 seats in the new unicameral, 350-seat Riksdag (parliament), the Social Democrats will get 166 and the Communists will get 17 for a total of 353 Socialist seats.

"The Communists can topple the government if they want to support the nonsocialists," Palme said. "The Communists had been the favorite target for his outspoken criticism of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, virtually confirmed the Social Democrats will continue to rule even if they must rely on Communist support."

The three nonsocialist parties, the Center party, the Liberals and the Conservatives, together polled the largest majority with 46.6 per cent of the vote. The Social Democrats lost 3.7 per cent and totaled 46.4 per cent of the vote and the Communists tallied nearly per cent.

Prime Minister Nol Flies To War Front

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prime Minister Lon Nol flew north today in a borrowed U.S. helicopter to take a close-up look and to brief field commanders on the largest Cambodian military operations of the war which has been bogged down for a week.

At the same time, the Cambodian high command announced the appointment of Brig. Gen. Phan Moeung to replace Brig. Gen. Neak Sam, who had commanded the 4,000-man Cambodian task force since it moved out of Skoun two weeks ago.

Sam was said officially to be suffering from malaria. But military sources said it was obvious Nol wanted to get the stalled operation moving again, to break the week-long Communist entrapment of 4,000 government troops near Tang Kauk.

At the same time a new Communist offensive was reported under way in the south.

Nol, an army general until Prince Norodom Sihanouk was ousted and he took over as

Threats Make Negotiations Impossible: Prime Minister

NEW YORK (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, saying "we can't negotiate with revolvers pointing at our heads," vowed Sunday Israel would refuse to return to the Mideast peace talks until Soviet-built missiles were removed from the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal cease-fire line.

"This is the reason we cannot continue these talks," she said. In Washington earlier, Mrs. Meir said, "we are being threatened physically by the Egyptians and the Russians with the missiles they have introduced and are introducing every hour into the area. I don't think we have a fair chance at all."

Asserting that if Israel does not fight "for our freedom and safety, nobody else will," she said her nation needs help from the United States. "I would like to say I am convinced—maybe I should say I am convinced—that we will get it."

The 72-year-old premier spelled out Israel's position on the last day of a five-day U.S. tour which included meetings Friday with President Nixon and State Department officials.

General Drive Set For UF

TT Campus Slaying Suspect's Trial Started In Ft. Worth

(Editor's Note: Benjamin Lach, a 26-year-old Polish-born son of a Boston baker, went on trial for his life today in a Fort Worth district court. It's been almost three years since the bloody, campus slaying which caused goose bumps for parents across the nation. UPI west Texas correspondent Mike Wester reports.)

By MIKE WESTER
FORT WORTH (UPI) — The sun was just beginning to glow across the laboratory and occasionally sparkle as it struck a reflection on an empty flask as Detective Sgt. Frank Wiley turned to his partner, Floyd Hargrave.

"It must have been another wild hunch which didn't pay off," the two stakeout men agreed. For the past three months and nine days the two and every available man on the Lubbock police force — had searched for clues in the scalp slaying of Mrs. Sarah Alice Morgan.

Wiley and Hargrave had begun the vigil shortly after dusk the night before. A chill remained in the air on the third floor of the science building at Texas Tech University. The two were just about ready to check in with Chief J. T. Alley and District Attorney Alton Griffin to tell them another night had produced nothing.

Then it all began to happen, quickly!

Girlstown Has Open House For 2,000 Persons Sunday

An estimated 2,000 persons toured the facilities of Girlstown, USA, near Borger Sunday during an open house held in celebration of the fourth anniversary of its founding.

During special ceremonies at 1 p.m. Pampa volunteer worker John Norris presented a check for $3,098 to C.A. Dodson, Girlstown director.

Dodson said the check would be used to expand a fund-

Plane Hijacker Does It Again

BANGKOK (UPI)—The U.S. Embassy said today the American who hijacked a plane from Thailand to North Vietnam Friday had been imprisoned for stealing a plane and flying it to Cuba in 1962.

An embassy spokesman said Bobby Joe Keesee, 36, of Phoenix, Ariz., stole a Piper Comanche in June of 1962 and flew it to Cuba.

The spokesman said Keesee was expelled from Cuba and in June, 1962, was tried for stealing the plane and an automobile. He was convicted and received two five-year concurrent sentences, the spokesman said.

Keesee was paroled from the federal correctional institution at La Tuna, Tex., June 8, 1965, the spokesman said.

Keesee, described as short and fat, with a crew-cut, forced the pilots of a small charter plane to fly him to a beach near Dong Hoi on the North Vietnamese coast. The pilot took off in a hail of gunfire and returned to Thailand unhurt the same day. A single bullet struck the tail's rudder.

The pilots said they last saw Keesee as he leaped from the plane carrying a briefcase.

Thai authorities said it appeared the hijacker knew exactly where he wanted to go in North Vietnam.

Pressure for a prime rate cut had been building up for some time but, up to now, only a few minor banks throughout the country had taken such action.

Prime Rate Shaved By New York Bank

NEW YORK (UPI)—A major New York bank today shaved its prime rate by a half point.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. said that, effective immediately, the new rate would be 7 1/2 per cent, down from the 8 per cent that has prevailed for months.

Sociology Students Hear Talk On Air, Water Pollution

Sociology students at Pampa High School heard this morning from acting city manager Mac Wofford what the city is doing about air and water pollution.

Wofford explained the operation of the sewage treatment plant, said the city now buries its trash and garbage instead of burning it, and explained details of Pampa's filtration plant to be built soon for the treatment of Canadian River water from Lake Meredith.

The acting city manager's talk was followed by a question and answer period.

School Trustees To Consider Seven-Man Board Possibility

Pampa School Trustees will re-consider calling an election to form a seven-member board of trustees and review a salary schedule for secretarial and clerical employees and auxiliary personnel during the regular board meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at Carver Center.

The seven-member board question has been considered by Pampa's five-member board frequently in the past 10 years, but an election to increase the board to seven members has never been called.

Trustees on WQ also consider bids on equipment, personnel changes, out-of-district student transfers, approve a sick leave policy for the district, and hear reports on the Phase I building program.

The salary schedule for secretarial and clerical employees and auxiliary personnel, effective Sept. 1, 1970, would affect only new personnel employed in the district. Supt. Dr. James F. Malone said.

Other reports are expected on a Fall accreditation visit by Texas Education Agency officials, a boiler inspection report, Summer school enrollment and costs, date for the Rubella Clinic and review of TEA reports required of school districts.

Trustees have also set a called meeting for 9:30 a.m., Oct. 1, and plan an open house

Dowdy Unable To Appear At Court Trial

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—U.S. Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., today was in good condition with a back ailment in Beaumont and a federal court was still without a defendant in Baltimore.

Dowdy, charged with perjury, conspiracy and the use of interstate facilities to promote bribery, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital Thursday after complaining of severe pain just before he was to go on trial in Baltimore.

U.S. District Judge Stephen Sachs has since postponed the trial indefinitely.

Dowdy was hospitalized first in Jasper two weeks ago, before being moved to the Beaumont hospital.

Dowdy, 58, is accused of receiving $25,000 Sept. 22, 1965, from Myrvin C. Clark and Nathan H. Cohen, former officers of Monarch Construction Co., allegedly to hinder an investigation by the Justice Department into the firm.

Kermit Housewife Still Missing As Area Combed For Any Clues

KERMIT, Tex. (UPI)—Police have now found all the clothes worn by 27-year-old housewife and mother Nancy Mitchell. They have yet to find Mrs. Mitchell.

"Every clue we get we check out and every one seems to turn up negative," Deputy Sheriff Jerry Bell said Sunday.

Deputies said they have found every bit of clothing Mrs. Mitchell wore when she disappeared Tuesday night. She apparently left the home barefoot because all the shoes she owned were found in her home.

"We have found every garment she had on," Texas Rang Capt. Jim Riddles said.

Police found no blood on the clothing and there was no sign of a struggle at the Mitchell home.

Mrs. Mitchell apparently was sewing late Tuesday night. Her husband was working on the night shift and her two children were asleep. When her husband came home at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday, his wife was not there.

Law officers and citizens spent Sunday combing the flat, sandy country surrounding Kermit. Riddles said there are many oil wells and tanks in the county which could hide a body.

"A man could bury her with his bare hands in 30 minutes in all that sand," he said.

A chap who had no shoes and had lost his teeth and another who lost his car, made work for law enforcement men over the weekend.

A barefoot man was arrested and charged with driving while drunk. While being booked into jail he complained of having mislaid his teeth. No mention was made of his shoes and he made no complaint concerning them, laughing and joking with officers as he was booked.

A stranger in town misplaced his car Saturday night. Reports say he was looking for a specific address; stopped his car to look closely in the dark, got out, became confused in directions and so lost his vehicle. Police were notified the vehicle had been stolen. By the time it had been found, the truth of the matter had been ascertained and a man and his wheels were reunited.

BRYON LILLY
Funeral services for Bryon O. Lilly, 71, are pending with Duenkel Funeral Home.

Mr. Lilly, a former Pampa and Amarillo resident, and an executive with Hughes Tool Co., died of a heart attack Sunday at his home in Santa Anna, Calif.

He was born Sept. 18, 1899. He moved to Amarillo in 1913 and was employed with the First National Bank and Santa Fe Railway Co. He moved to California and in 1926 he returned to the Texas Panhandle where he was associated with the Hughes Tool Company. In the early 1930's, he became an independent oil operator while he was manager of the Panhandle and North Texas Division of the Hughes Tool Company. In 1946 he moved to California as the Pacific Coast manager of the company.

Survivors are his widow, Eunice of Santa Anna; one daughter, one son, and four grandchildren.

Three Balloonists Say 'Trip Fine'

EAST HAMPTON, N.Y. (UPI)—A securities broker, his actress wife and a British aeronautics engineer crossing the Atlantic in the helium balloon "Free Life" reported today they were nearing Halifax, N.S., "in good spirits and good health."

Peter Dean, manager of the flight, said the three adventurers radioed at 8:30 a.m. EDT after their first night in the balloon that they were at 3,000 feet proceeding as planned in a northeasterly direction in good weather.

With the balloon maintaining altitude, the crew jettisoned propane gas tanks which were used to generate hot air to get them off the ground Sunday, Dean said. The rest of the flight will be entirely by helium.

city-wide net had cornered a Texas Tech pre-med student in West Lubbock where a street deadened into a cemetery. Polish-born Benjamin Lach of Mattapan, Mass., a suburb of Boston, was charged with murder-with-malice in the murder of the school cleaning woman on Dec. 4, 1967.

When Lach sped into the cemetery, the stolen automobile hit a shrub, whirled around and was headed straight toward a grave that two men were digging. The gravediggers jumped out and fled.

Lach, now 36, goes on trial for that slaying Monday in Judge Byron Matthews Tarrant County criminal district court No. 1. The state is seeking the death penalty in the case.

Lach has remained under custody without bond since his arrest. In December, 1968, he was found incompetent to assist in his own defense and sent to Rust State Hospital. He was declared sane during a second sanity hearing in Lubbock last March, and then the trial was moved from Lubbock to Fort Worth on May 28.

Selection of a jury is expected to take about a week, and testimony should take about two weeks.

MERRY OLD ENGLAND may have gone conservative in recent parliamentary elections, but look at how it turned out for the Royal Ascot races, an annual fashionable event dating from 1711. The poor horses could hardly hope to compete with the display of weird, wide and wonderful hats.

Scouting Scoops

By MRS. PHIL CATES
Brownie Troop 44 leader

Have you ever sat back and truly thought about the part that our youth play in the world today? The responsibility that is thrust upon them is unbelievable. The world and its problems and pleasures are all directed at them in some form. The Vietnam War has become a war fought by the youth. How serious the population explosion and other problems become is totally dependent upon them. Industry directs more and more of its products and advertising toward its new and better market — the youth.

Our young people have become the cog of a huge wheel with everything revolving around them. Being the center of this wheel means added responsibility. As adults, it is our responsibility to offer guidance and encouragement. We need to offer experiences that will provide them with the good judgment they need to deal with these problems.

"Good judgment is the result of experience, but experience is the result of poor judgment." Everyone is guilty of poor judgment at times, but let's not wait to let our young people exercise all of their poor judgment when important world problems are of concern. Let's reduce the amount of poor judgment later by offering guidance and opportunities now.

Scouting offers more opportunity for experience in more fields than almost any other organization. Every imaginable field of interest can be explored. Being a part of a working, organized and enthusiastic group can offer uncounted experiences to young people. I can truthfully say no other organization of which I have been a member has ever been as much help to me as Girl Scouting.

I count myself lucky that I was able to begin in the second grade as a Brownie and continue on until I graduated as a Senior Scout. Truly this is the only way to receive full advantage of the Scouting program. As a junior high teacher, I can see the needs of so many adolescents — needs that could be fulfilled in Scouting. I urge you and I challenge you to become interested and involved in today's youth. Help them to become ready to accept the responsibility that has been placed upon them. Call the Girl Scout Office and ask what you can do!

CLEOPATRA'S CANDY

In ancient Egypt, dates were called "Cleopatra's candy." Today, imported dates are known throughout the world both for their delicious flavor and for their nutritive value.

Dates supply all the elements for a balanced diet, including proteins, vitamins, and sugar in an immediately assimilated form for quickest energy. So whenever you need extra pep, enjoy imported dates, plain or in a variety of salads, main dishes, and desserts. They're great any date of the year!

Tourists Tour Cave With Help From Feminine Singing Guide

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sheryl Lynn, 24, spends her career between cave and cave, singing in both.

So far as she knows, this pretty, brown-eyed brunette is the world's only singing cave guide. Certainly she is the only girl among the 15 to 16 guides who steer tourists through the Meramec Caverns, in Stanton, Mo., 55 miles west of St. Louis.

She's also a former teacher, is working toward her master's degree in psychology and elementary grade guidance, used to own a restaurant-cafe in St. Louis, plays the guitar and banjo and owns a music publishing company.

All these facets are contained in a package standing about five feet tall and weighing from 96 to 100 pounds.

Miss Lynn works part-time as a guide, the rest of the time booking her act for conventions, cafe and club dates.

She said the showcase of caves, owned by explorer Lester B. Dill, has 26 miles of passageways and seven levels or "floors" and once was the hideout of the Jesse James outlaws.

Miss Lynn can explain for tourists the differences between stalactites (icicle-like formations from the ceiling down) or stalagmites (stump-like formations from the floor up) but after that she's not too technical in her lecture.

The singer-guide was born Sheryl Lynn Hemenway, eldest of four children of Elmer Hemenway, a St. Louis construction executive. She holds a bachelor's degree from Southeast Missouri State at Cape Girardeau and now is a part-time student at Missouri University in St. Louis.

While she was teaching for a couple of years, she ran the Brave Bull Restaurant in St. Louis and also sang there nightly.

"But I got out of that," she said, "because it was too hard to sing and watch the cash register too."

Now she'd like to try for the big-time in music. I interviewed her when she came to New York to audition for one of the phobias when a subway train shows. She failed the audition, but at 24, Sheryl Lynn can afford one disappointment.

I asked her why there is such a fascination about caves for many people — I get claustrophobia when a subway train halts between stops.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently you printed a long list of penalties for being caught with marijuana, and since you made no comment, I assume that you believe these penalties are fair and just.

DISAPPOINTED READER
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You are assuming a lot, my friend. I frequently publish letters without adding my comment. And many letters express views contrary to mine. I simply let others have their say. Why not?

I don't assume that because someone disagrees with me, he is wrong and I am right. I published the legal penalties for being caught with marijuana because many are still unaware of what they have to lose. I also happen to feel that the punishment does not fit the "crime."

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many people say that "pot" is harmless? Our daughter began using it in January. She went on to mescaline in March, started seeing a psychiatrist in May, and was in a mental hospital in July. She really had no intentions of getting involved with drugs, but her nearest and dearest friend, a girl I liked and trusted, got her started. Now the mother of this girl says, "You know, I've been reading up on marijuana, and it's really not so bad. It's no worse than tobacco or alcohol." What can I possibly say to her? And to all the people who are spreading this plague with their permissiveness?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: While the most reliable authorities tell us that marijuana is no more addictive (habit-forming) than tobacco or alcohol, excessive use of pot can be as destructive to some individuals as excessive drinking and smoking is to others. There is no way of knowing who can "handle" such things and who can not. Some people who drink like fishes and smoke like chimneys live to be 90. Others become alcoholics in their 20's and die of lung cancer in their 30's. It's a gamble. And of course the only winners are those who stay out of the game.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Contrasting Coin Purse Located Easily In Bag

DEAR POLLY — Handbags never seem to come with coin purses any more. When buying a change purse for your handbag be sure to select a dark one if the purse lining is light and vice versa. This will save many an embarrassing moment or frowns from those who wait while you go searching on groping in the depths of your handbag hunting for that elusive and hard-to-see coin purse.

I would like to know where one may obtain directions for knitting sweaters from old nylons. Seems to me that some years ago this appeared in your column. Maybe I am wrong but I hope someone can help me.

DEAR IRENE — You are right. We did have printed directions for knitting a cardigan from nylons but the supply has long been exhausted. You could follow any sweater pattern but not one made with a fancy pattern stitch. They are most difficult. I do not think they look nearly so good as made with plain knitting every row or knit a row, purl a row. This works great after you have cut the hose in strips and sewed the strips together. Color is removed from the old hose with a commercial color remover. I found it was best to dye the desired color after the sweater was knit.

DEAR POLLY — I have a solution for those toddlers, about two years old, who cry when they get their hair cut. At least this worked wonders for mine. Let them watch the procedure in a mirror. They are entranced watching themselves and even making faces while the hair is being cut.

DEAR POLLY — I have found that filling a pin cushion with white sand keeps pins and needles sharp.

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell S.H. that I had some gummy marks on a door. I pressed some adhesive tape down on the marks left by the tape, then jerked the adhesive off very quickly. It took the marks with it.

'The man from the paper' is a teacher for boys in a class by themselves

Your newspaperboy manages a business of his own. And that's why having a newspaper route can be so important to a boy. He earns his own money on the route, and he learns the basics of doing business. He buys his papers from us, he sells them to you. He is salesman, deliveryman, collector, and bookkeeper.

Yet while he has a business of his own, he is not entirely "on his own". The man from the paper is there — in his corner with friendly counsel and guidance. He knows how and he makes his career working with boys. He also knows business methods — the ways in which a boy can make a success on his route. These he passes on to the boy. He is a teacher and the class he conducts is for boys "in a class by themselves."

If you think it would be worthwhile for your son to acquire the valuable lessons that come with newspaper route management, phone or write us today —

Your Horoscope

FOR TUESDAY, SEPT. 22, 1959
Your birthday Tuesday: The year ahead offers fulfillment of realistic hopes and dreams, perhaps even beyond reasonable expectations. There are many dramatic turns of circumstance amenable to constructive use. Romantic ventures thrive, particularly in the latter half of the year. Tuesday natives frequently collect possessions or obligations to the extent of hindering their freedom.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): This lively day lets you clear of recent confusion. Delayed issues are suddenly active and resolvable. Take home a nice surprise for your loved ones.

TALITHA (April 20-May 20): Attend to your responsibilities to your family and community. Good results are indicated for your various efforts and for renewed creative projects.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your intuitive urges on the surface for all to see, perhaps misunderstood, temporarily. Keep moving, though all have. You can do something dramatic to improve your home.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): The stress of family members conflict with your work. Once this situation has been stabilized, you may make significant progress on personal ventures. There is good news later.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): List the things you need to know, then put in a full day of investigation. By evening you will have a new understanding of the situation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Something you have long desired can come to reality today. Don't mix friends into your financial arrangements. Most friends are favorably disposed — but for consideration (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your business suddenly presents a crisis that you must pay attention to. You get valuable help if you react promptly and cheerfully. Other concerns must wait.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now every thing has to be complete and fully visible. Hidden matters are suddenly disclosed — but not all the facts. You can make extraordinary progress if you move promptly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your group affairs attract unexpected support. Review insurance and long-range security. Hold new information in confidence until you've decided what to do and have made a plan.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Sudden change of circumstances bring new problems. Cooperation is the key and explicit. Revise plans to fit your changing situation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Move on with the situation you must want to complete. Confer with experts. Career effect is better. If you avoid sudden changes and keep everybody briefed.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative projects thrive, and where you present them attract circumstances. This promise is to be a rather successful day.

Pirates Widen Lead To Two Full, Mets Drop Into Third

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates was satisfied. Gil Hodges of the New York Mets was glum. And Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs was protesting.

Murtaugh and Hodges had contrasting moods for the same reason—the Pirates beat the Mets, 9-3, in 10 innings after a 4-1 loss to split their Sunday doubleheader, take the four-game series with the world champions, three games to one, and got two games ahead in National League East race.

Durocher was protesting that had identified only as "Pierre the ball boy" had interfered on a key play that led to the Montreal Expos' 4-1 triumph over the Cubs.

"It was a terrific game for us to win," said Murtaugh, referring to the nightcap, when Willie Stargell hit a tie-breaking homer in the 10th and the Pirates added three more runs with the help of a two-run triple by Gene Alley.

The Pirates were in an uncomfortable spot after losing the opener to Jerry Koozman's two-hitter and sending Fred Cambria against Met ace Tom Seaver, an 18-game winner, in the nightcap. But they knocked out Seaver in 5 1/3 innings and then came up with their game-winning rally against relief ace Tug McGraw.

Durocher protested the Cubs' loss on the claim that the ball boy in the Chicago bullpen, an employee of the Montreal club, kicked a double by Ron Fairly, preventing right fielder John Callison from fielding the ball, and, allowing the tying and winding runs to score for the Expos. Billy Williams, Jim Hickman and Joe Pepitone homered for the Cubs.

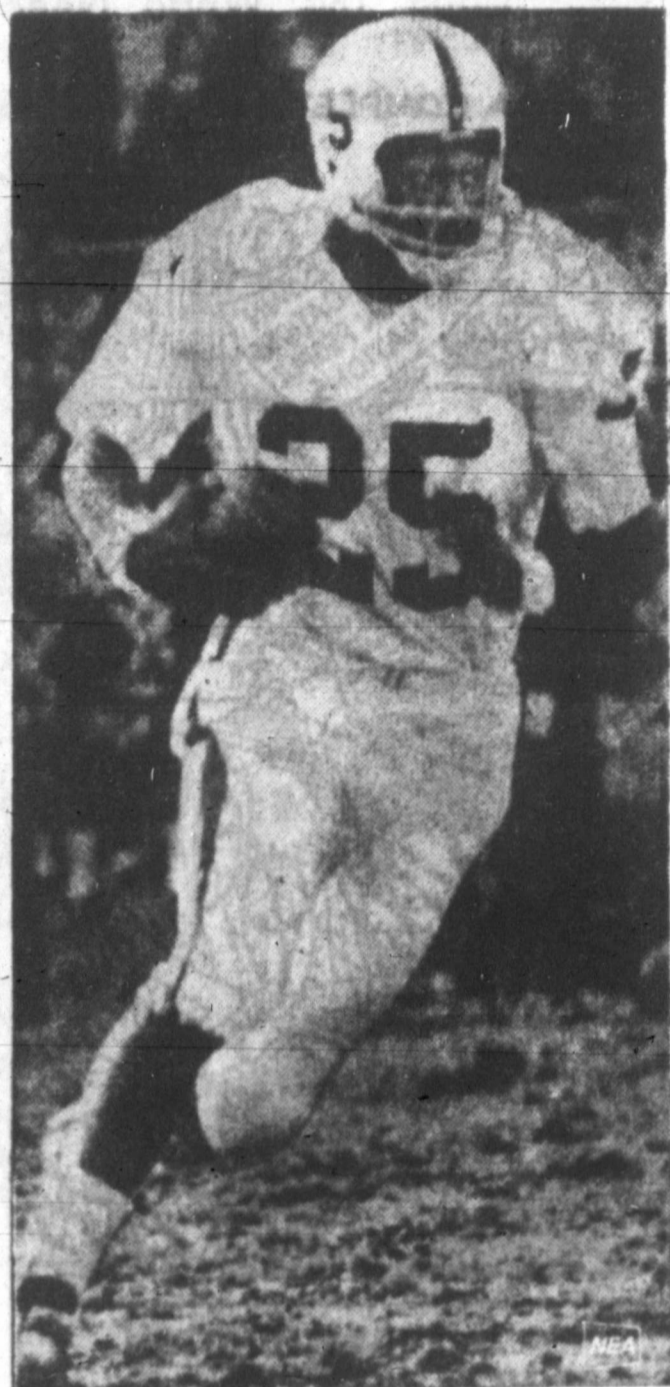

The Atlanta Braves walloped the Cincinnati Reds, 11-2, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4, and the Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Houston Astros, 7-6, in 14 innings in other National League games. The other teams were not scheduled.

In the American League it was Baltimore 7, Cleveland 0; Minnesota 8, Chicago 1; New York 5, Detroit 1; Boston 3, Washington 1; California 4, Oakland 2, and Milwaukee 4, Kansas City 3.

Ron Reed pitched a four-hitter for his seventh win and rookie Ralph Garr had a two-run double and three singles for the Braves as Jim Maloney, sidelined most of the season, suffered the loss for the Reds.

Jim Hutto's double drove in the tie-breaking run in a three-run 10th inning for the Phillies as Dick Seima squared his record at 7-7 in relief of Barry Lersch. Harry Parker suffered the loss for the Cardinals.

Pinch-hitter Manny Mota's single with two out in the 14th inning drove in Billy Grabarkewitz with the winning run for the Dodgers.

ONE OF THE LEADING PLAYERS on this year's Penn State team is quarterback Mike Cooper.

Texas, Penn State Grind Out Impressive Victories

By United Press International
College course and classes are just about beginning, but college football, already two weeks old last Saturday, shows Texas and Penn State still the major power.

Texas pushed its winning streak to 21 games by trouncing California, 56-15, and Penn State obliterated Navy, 55-7, for its 23rd straight win and 31st without defeat.

Returning students at Nebraska had a pleasant surprise waiting for them. Their gladiators had opened the semester by battling Southern California to a 21-21 deadlock.

Lex James, the Texas A&M

quarterback, greeted returning scholars with a 20-13 victory over highly regarded Louisiana State—a feat accomplished by finding Hugh McElroy for a 79-yard touchdown pass with only 13 seconds left on the clock.

Pittsburgh, the symbol of Eastern football in the '40s and '50s and the battered ruin of the 1960s, still can't quite make it, but the Panthers gave UCLA a rugged time before falling, 24-15.

Army, like Navy, had a bad time, and the worse is yet to come. The Cadets fell to Baylor, 10-7, for Baylor's first victory since 1968. And next in line for West Point are Nebraska, Tennessee and Notre Dame.

Notre Dame opened with Northwestern and worked out with a 35-14 win.

For Texas, Eddie Phillips was at quarter replacing James Street, and he ran for 129 yards and scored two touchdowns in guiding the Longhorns to their easy win.

Darrell Royal, the Texas coach, said later that "I didn't think we would be that sharp for an opening game, but I had full confidence that Eddie would take advantage of every opportunity we had. He did just that in scoring on five of our first six possessions."

As for Penn State, Navy Coach Rick Forzano could only say: "They may be stronger defensively than they were last year. If I was impressed with their defense, I'd have to be nuts."

In other games, Kentucky upset Kansas State, 16-3; Missouri topped Minnesota, 35-12; Washington a m b u s e d Michigan State, 42-16; Tennessee beat SMU, 28-3, and West Virginia, gobbling up 640 yards in total offense, trampled Richmond, 49-10.

Blue Flame Ready

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI)—The vehicle that is ready—but the weather, which has been benevolent toward the Blue Flame rocket car for two weeks—is showing signs of impatience.

Workers put last minute touches on the world land speed record challenger at dawn, preparing the big car for test runs today when they hope will reach 500 miles an hour.

Light showers Sunday and more very early today were ominous signs for the 36-foot, 2½-inch rocket car. But the weather appeared willing to cooperate later in the day as the weather bureau forecast partly cloudy skies for the afternoon.

However, the long-range forecast here warns of cooling and more showers by Thursday.

By late Sunday, engineers had repaired a faulty air compressor used to pressurize the Blue Flame's fuel tanks. Project Manager Dean Dietrich and the pit crew also spent the day stripping and reassembling the car, which has an eerie resemblance to the World War II V2 rockets.

Devlin Fires 10 Under Total For Alcan Crown

PORTSMOUTH, Ireland (UPI)—Australian Bruce Devlin took off with part of a $55,000 check in his pocket today and Dave Hill announced he had made his peace with the British to close out the celebration attending the wind-up of the $125,000 Alcan Golfer of the Year championship.

Devlin, maintaining a putting consistency which defied the gusting winds of this 7,117-yard Irish Sea links all week, won the first prize check with a 10-under-par 278, which included a four-under-par finishing round of 68—with two careless bogeys thrown in at the end.

Only five men of the 25 man field beat par for the four rounds over the par-72 course. Apart from Devlin, they were second-placed Bob Rosburg, three under at 285—seven shots behind the winner—and joint third-placers Lee Trevino, Petr Osterhuis and Neil Coles. They were one under at 287. Miller Barber and Billy Casper, the 5-1 per-tournament favorite, finished with even par at 288.

Devlin, a 32-year-old 6-foot-2 former plumber, said $55,000 is too much to digest at one time. "I'm taking a quarter now and the rest can be spread over three years. Maybe we'll save a bit from the tax man that way."

"My putting was good all week, and that was it," Devlin said after his earnings this year had soared to $164,773.

Rosburg earned $15,000 for second place and Trevino collected $9,900 a his share of third spot.

Hill, meanwhile, announced he would play—if he did not have to qualify—at the 1971 British Open. He said he did not really mean it when he said he would never play in England again after a squabble during the Ryder Cup in 1969.

Hill and his partner Ken Still were involved in a rules row during the Ryder Cup and Hill was alleged to have made some untoward remarks to British Captain Eric Brown. He apologized Sunday to Brown, who said as far as he was concerned the incident was closed. Brown told Hill he was welcome "in England—or Scotland—even any time."

Gretel II Even Cup Race Series At 1-1

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—The Australian platoon system finally paid off in an America's Cup victory for Gretel II.

Using three helmsmen, Gretel achieved the improbable by defeating the defender Intrepid in one minute and seven seconds Sunday to even the best-of-seven series at 1-1.

The Aussie victory, however, is unofficial, since protest flags were hoisted from the masts of both 12-meter yachts during starting line maneuvers.

Intrepid's skipper, Bill Fickler, may claim that Gretel cheated his 30-ton yacht to veer sharply and almost collide with the New York Yacht Club Committee boat.

Jim Hardy, Gretel's skipper, contends Intrepid did not respond to his bluff and that Fickler probably thought he had enough room. Instead, contact was made between the craft at the starting line.

The protests will be heard by the NYCC Race Committee today and a decision probably is due by 1 p.m. EDT.

Should the committee decide in favor of Intrepid, the Gretel would be disqualified and race awarded to the Americans.

Martin Visser was at the helm and guided Gretel on her start. Hardy took over a bit later, then reserve helmsman David Forbes steered the Aussie on the come-from-behind fifth leg that moved them 50 seconds in front going into the sixth windward leg.

Knudson Earns Robinson Title In Sudden Death

ROBINSON, Ill. (UPI)—regulation play on the 6,625-yard course.

Hal Underwood, Humber, Te., and Grier Jones, Wichita, Kan., tied for fourth with 27s and picked up $4,440 each.

Kundson, 33, Toronto, who said he has never lost in a playoff, won the Robinson classic in the longest sudden-death playoff on the PGA tour this year.

"I guess we both just played superbly," he said. "I have really had a bad year, but I felt pretty good this week. Last week I did a hell of a lot of practicing."

Finishing in a three-way tie for sixth with 27s were J.C. Snead, Hot Springs, Va., Charles Stafford, Los Angeles, and Mason Rudolph, Lehigh Acres, Fla.

Staubach Guides Cowboys Over Eagles 17-7 In Opener

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Roger Staubach, accustomed to the ramrod perfection of the U.S. Naval Academy, had a bit of bad taste in his mouth Sunday following the Dallas Cowboys' 17-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Old Salt of the Severan was a bit disenchanted, victory or no, over the struggle his favored Cowboys had with the surprising Eagles. It didn't thank perfection in to standards of the lad who was a bit of a midshipman, and a commendable naval officer, following graduation.

The Jolly Roger, softspoken, thought it was a "mediocre game," even though his team won because of Philadelphia's failure to take advantage of scoring opportunities.

The erstwhile Middle went the full route at quarterback and tossed the winning touchdown pass to Lance Rentzel in the third period. Still a scrambler, Staubach ran for 51 yards in six carries and completed 11 of 15 passes for 115 yards.

"We should have scored more than we did even though we won," Staubach said, and he meant it. In the Navy, you're not supposed to overlook opportunities.

His role of No. 1 quarterback for the Cowboys had him satisfied, but wary.

"I guess I'm No. 1 because I started, and I hope I stay No. 1," Staubach said. "I'm not the coach, of course, and I know have a long way to go in establishing myself."

"But the longer I play, the better chance I have to make certain that I am No. 1."

There's a crisp decisiveness about Roger's thoughts on the job.

"Coach Tom Landry calls the plays, and sometimes I don't agree with them. I'd prefer calling them myself," Staubach admitted.

The eyebrows of listeners were still arched when Roger continued with "the coach let me call some of them in exhibition game. Maybe if I get three or four games under my belt, the coach will have enough confidence to let me call the plays."

Coach Jerry Williams of the Eagles had some compensating moments despite the loss.

The Eagles, even with 11 rookies, were vastly improved from the rag-tag mob which lost all five pre-season games.

"We were well pleased with the first half 7-7 tie," Williams said. "Lack of experience hurt us in the second half."

"When we get everyone in there," added experience will wipe out some of the mistakes, and will be all right, Jerry.

Lions Tounce Packers 40-0

By United Press International
Not since the pre-Lombardi era have the Green Bay Packers suffered through a worse Sunday. The Detroit Lions roared to a 40-0 victory in which the Packers were unable to scrounge a first down in the entire first half.

The Packers managed a total of 114 yards total offense while allowing the Lions 266 yards on the ground and 132 by air.

The shutout was the first against the Packers since Baltimore's 56-0 1953 victory.

Bart Starr, the bench-warmer Lombardi transformed into one of the NFL all-time greats, saw Lem Barney intercept one of his passes in the third quarter and return it 50 yards for a touchdown.

The Lions added embarrassment again in the fourth quarter, when a reserve quarterback, Greg Landry, romped 76 yards on a quarterback sneak to set up Bill Tripplett's 11-yard touchdown run.

Erroll Mann, a Green Bay castoff, booted four field goals in five attempts, including one for 46 yards, and Mel Farr scored two touchdowns to lead the Lions to their smashing triumph.

In other National Conference plays, Dallas topped Philadelphia, 17-7, Atlanta took New Orleans, 14-3, and San Francisco scored a 26-17 decision over Washington.

John Brodie took advantage of a pass interference call and passed 21 yards to Dick Wiltcher for the insurance points as the Forty-Niners ruined the debut of Bill Austin as Washington head coach. Brodie, who completed 90 percent of his passes, gave off to Doug Cunningham on a one yard TD plunge in the first quarter.

Running back Sonny Campbell, who didn't carry the ball at all in the first half scored the winning touchdown on a two-yard sprint off right tackle in the fourth quarter and Bob Perry lobbed a 17-yard touchdown pass to Harmon Wages with 1:30 left in the game to insure the victory for Atlanta.

Roger Staubach, pierced the air with a 31-yard tie-breaking pass to Lance Rentzel late in the third period and Mel Renfro and Herb Adger collaborated in the Dallas secondary to bat down three potential touchdown passes.

Super Vikings Rip Super Bowl Chiefs In Rematch

By United Press International
With their price at stake, the Minnesota Vikings got a measure of revenge Sunday when they downed the defending world champion Chiefs as Kansas City's season debut was anything but super.

Dave Osborn and Oscar Reed scored touchdowns on short plunges and linebacker Roy Winston scored another on a fumble return as Minnesota defeated Kansas City, 27-10, to avenge the 23-7 Super Bowl defeat the Chiefs had engineered on Jan. 11.

The Vikings turned the trick without Joe Kapp, their rough ex-Canadian league quarterback who had inspired and also led the ball club to be one of the most feared in pro football.

Gary Cuozzo, a second-stringer throughout most of his NFL career, took over Kapp's role for Coach Bud Grant and provided the field leadership that led the Vikings to victory.

In other action, Cincinnati upset Oakland, 31-21, Boston defeated Miami, 27-14, Houston ripped Pittsburgh, 19-7, Denver upended Buffalo, 25-10, and Baltimore edged San Diego, 16-14.

The Bengals, only team to beat Oakland during the

Cut Waste, Save A Billion

Most of us have heard the precautionary warning, "make six copies of every communication with government and send one copy to as many bureaus," so often that it has become commonly accepted without question.

Till now, nobody has done anything about it. Except to spend more and more money to accommodate more and more files filled with unwanted paper. Factiously, it often has been said that the reason the Pentagon is the largest building in the world is because it has to store so many files.

Congressman Larry Winn Jr. of Kansas suggested to White House panel recently that $35.47 per file drawer could be saved the tax payers if wasteful handling of unwanted paper could be eliminated. Multiplied hundreds of thousands of times in federal offices, this could mean huge savings.

Bouncing The Bosses

It's all the rage these days to dream up more laws and administrative decrees to regulate the business world. "The consumers must be protected," the authoritarian line goes, "from the greedy business people who are ruthless in their drive for profits."

Well, be it immediately admitted, we don't know of any businessman in his right mind who doesn't want to make a profit. But there is another side to that coin which the bureaucracy-building regulators conveniently neglect to mention.

As a matter of cold fact, when it comes to "ruthlessness," the businessman, alongside of the U.S. consumer, is a rank amateur. When Mrs. and Mr. Consumer go into the market place, the last thing they want to hear is the businessman's troubles. His labor problems, the high taxes he pays, the difficulty of obtaining goods and services, his competition, and scores of other daily problems with which the businessman must wrestle daily, are matters of utter unconcern to the shopping public.

And when THAT question is ignored or answered unsatisfactorily, corporate heads, executives, public relations men, in business large and small, begin falling like tenpins

The Delta Queen, the very last overnight passenger vessel left on America's rivers, clings to a shred of hope that she may yet receive a stay of execution. And one congressman cites the fact as proof that the citizen's pen is as a mighty sword in Washington.

It is only because of thousands of letters, wires and phone calls to representatives and senators that Congress is now considering measures to give the Queen a new lease on life, says Rep. William Stanton, R-Ohio.

That lease is in the form of an amendment to the Merchant Marine Act, which would exempt the paddlewheel riverboat from certain

DESTROYING INCENTIVE

If welfare recipients are to enjoy a higher standard of living than men and women who work at a job, the incentive for the self-reliant life is likely to disappear from our society.

Concern on this score is being felt as a result of the administration's efforts to win congressional approval of the Family Assistance Act. Many legislative leaders in both parties believe that the welfare plan would be a destroyer of incentive.

The Chicago Tribune, in an editorial on the plan, commented: "Investigation showed that a woman earning $7,000 a year in New York City could have less money (after taxes) at the end of the year than a mother of three fatherless children with no income other than benefits under the administration's plan."

If this is the case, and the evidence indicates it is, then it seems clear that the proposal will cause some people to choose a permanent welfare existence rather than gainful employment and a self-reliant way of life.

The administration's plan penalizes the citizen who desires to be self-supporting. A columnist for the Baltimore Sun reports that under the plan a woman with four dependents and a job paying $5,000 would take a drop in income if she took a job paying $6,000 and gave up Family Assistance. Again, if that's the case, how does the administration proposal help get people off the welfare rolls?

It is really incredible that a plan should be offered as a "reform" of welfare laws when, in fact, it makes non-work more rewarding than work. The Senate Finance Committee also is concerned about the colossal dimensions of the Family Assistance plan. The number of persons receiving public assistance would be tripled in 13 states if the plan is enacted into law.

In effect, the Family Assistance plan would be legislation aimed at redistributing wealth. Self-supporting citizens would have to pay much higher taxes in order to maintain the huge non-working population on the welfare rolls. Furthermore, existing state administration of welfare programs would be eliminated. Dependent individuals would simply sign up for federal benefits. No thorough check would be made on applicants for aid under the Family Assistance plan.

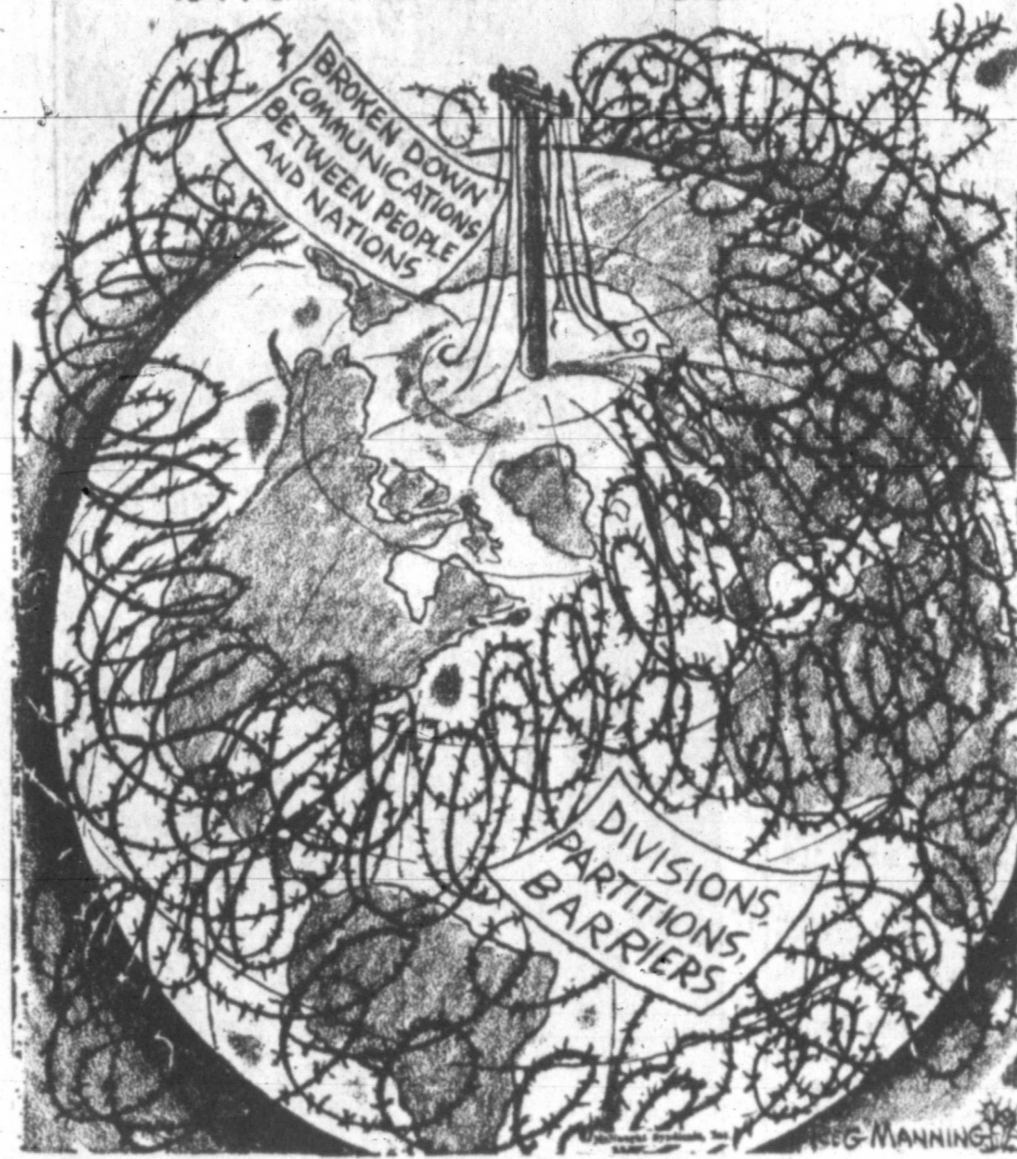

It is no wonder, therefore, that U.S. Rep. John M. Ashbrook (R-Ohio) said that many congressmen — both Republicans and Democrats — regard the Family Assistance plan as "questionable," to say the least.

Realistic citizens know that a considerable number of people in our society are not strongly motivated towards work and self-reliance. At best, these people have marginal realization that work isn't necessary, that they can collect cash and food stamps adequate to meet their needs, they will not seek employment.

America cannot afford to have people of this type withdraw from the work force and make a lifetime commitment to idleness at taxpayer expense. Every able-bodied person must work to support himself, his family and the society of which he is a part. Federal and state legislation should be geared to otherwise inducing non-workers to change their ways and start contributing something to the country in which they live.

The Nixon administration's Family Assistance plan is an affront to working Americans. As such, the bill should be killed in the Senate.

Editor:

On Sept. 16, 1970, a nationally televised speaking engagement fulfilled by President Nixon at the Kansas State University in honor of the Ali Landon Distinguished Lecturers was shown. For those who watched and listened to the entire speech on television it was obvious that a large crowd of students, faculty and other political notables were present.

A commentator estimated the crowd at some 15,000 people. It was also entirely obvious that the vast majority of this crowd was amicable and in agreement with many of the President's statements as evidenced by the many standing ovations that he received. However, as with any crowd of this size, the hecklers and indisciplinables were present and were estimated by an on-the-scene commentator at 25 or less with 9 or 10 of this group creating most of the noise and disturbance.

As a further example, when the Texas State Radio Network presented its short burb of the speech and rebroadcast a sentence or two of the 37 1/2 minute speech, was a portion of the speech presented wherein a favorable reaction of the vast majority was received: Hell no! Presented was a period of maximum heckling by the handful minority during a "non-meaty" portion of the speech.

These are perfect examples of the slanted, yellow dog journalism and news reporting with which Vice President Agnew has confronted the news reporting media and for which he has been branded a loud mouth, radical trouble-maker by the proud but offended press.

Television does have its faults but at least an individual does have the opportunity to judge for himself the content of live news coverage and not have to depend upon the observations of a few who are paid to report all the facts, not just what they want to report.

Mideast Refugee Aid Lost Because Plan Fizzled Out

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent — WASHINGTON (NEA) — What happened to the now-forgotten Truman and Eisenhower-backed concepts for Middle East development that might have absorbed the Palestine refugees and lessened the level of Israeli Arab tension to manageable levels is an interesting study in bureaucracy, politics, confused objectives and the circumstances of the times.

This reporter has checked through voluminous files of the 1950s and early 1960s and has recently talked again to some of the men involved in Middle East problems in those days. The files are confusing and the men themselves are puzzled about what happened, though each has his own personal theories.

Not context of the speech NOT the reaction of the vast majority, but individuals whose manner of protest was insignificant and obnoxious to the majority. As a further example, when the Texas State Radio Network presented its short burb of the speech and rebroadcast a sentence or two of the 37 1/2 minute speech, was a portion of the speech presented wherein a favorable reaction of the vast majority was received: Hell no!

This increased relief actually intensified the problem. Since it was impossible to know who was a refugee and who was not and since free meats have great appeal in areas where poverty is intense, tens of thousands of hungry people became "instant" refugees. No one could prove they were not. And so they joined the camps and the food lines, to sink with the others in hopelessness and despair. But perhaps they were hopeless and despairing to begin with.

There were other problems: The Arabs were given little part in the planning. In almost every case the concepts were presented as ideas developed by Americans or other non-Arabs. The reasoning was that, unlike in Europe under the Marshall Plan, the Arabs didn't have the technical men qualified to develop regional programs.

This led to Arab suspicions. Were these plans for the interest of Arabs, or were they designed to help the Israeli or somehow or other connected with British or American or French interests in the Middle East?

During part of this period, the U.S. was attempting to sell the Middle Easterners on forming an alliance against Communist expansion. However important this was, and however desirable, the U.S. economic proposals therefore were regarded by many Arabs (who didn't want to get involved) as a means to force them into military alliances they were leery of. They weren't pro-Russian. They just didn't want to serve U.S. interest — not being convinced the Russians were a danger. They wanted to be "independent" in their foreign policy.

There was a tendency on the part of the U.S., Britain and France to favor those Middle East regimes which had been friendly in the past and, therefore, there was a desire on the part of some officials to do nothing that could upset the apple cart. There were strong rivalries between some of these governments which made it extremely difficult for them to work together.

If there was some luck of cooperation among the Arabs, the same could be said for Israel. It has been estimated by United Nations surveys that the refugee Arabs had left the U.S. equivalent of a third of a billion dollars worth of land and other property behind when they fled. The U.S. in the years following the establishment of Israel was not prepared to exert the necessary pressure to make those funds available for re-establishing the refugees in business, commerce and industry (though some funds were unlocked).

Another problem during these years was the shakiness of the Arab governments. The average period of tenure in office in Iraq, Syria, Transjordan and Lebanon from 1950 to 1962, for example, was four to five months. With this instability, no government felt it could take the chance of getting involved in any solution that would seem to help Israel, regarded as the mortal enemy. Each feared (and probably rightly) that his government would be overthrown as a result.

So the programs ended up as relief and public works programs. The refugees, by and large, stayed in their camps. They were not absorbed. They didn't go to those parts of Syria, Iraq, Egypt and Lebanon where their industry and their abilities could have improved the economies. They lived for two decades in squalor in dreadful camps, which is enough to lead men to radical solutions and revolt.

Curiously in recent months, we have come full circle. One of the major factors in the Middle East settlement this country's negotiators are attempting to sell is some arrangement for over-all development of the Middle East, which would involve the resettlement of the refugees.

The administration is prepared to invest considerable sums in such development — Congress willing.

Question Senate Speed-up, Mid-October Adjournment

WASHINGTON — There is lots of skepticism here about the hopes of congressional leaders for final adjournment of the 91st Congress by mid-October.

That is the goal newly set by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and accepted by the Republican and Democratic leadership. In the Senate, where the end of session legislative hang-up always occurs, Mansfield has laid out an ambitious day-by-day schedule of pending bills. He is planning night sessions to keep his colleagues to the timetable.

The list of must legislation is very imposing. For example, Mansfield's schedule allows just a week for consideration of President Nixon's wholly new welfare plan plus an expected amendment improving Social Security benefits. One week simply may not be enough time for careful Senate consideration of the issue — even if the Senate meets into the evening every day.

Nor is the welfare package the only bill with a high potential for taking time. Mansfield hopes for unanimous agreement to limit debate on such questions as equal rights for women, foreign and spending and funding for the Pentagon. Any senator can block any such agreement.

There is another problem, too, which was demonstrated a week ago today when a quorum — 51 of the 100 senators — failed to vote on a relatively minor health bill which did not even make Mansfield's priority list. Since a quorum could not be located the senate had to adjourn.

That was embarrassing because the non-vote came just 24 hours after a session designed to put Senate sentiment squarely behind the mid-October adjournment goal. It was doubly embarrassing because Mansfield, and some others in the joint leadership, were among those not voting.

It was triply embarrassing because President Nixon picked that day to prod Congress for action. The incident is, in addition, significant reflection of the fact that re-election campaigns began in earnest on Labor Day for nearly a third of the Senate's present membership. It will be increasingly difficult to get a quorum, especially on Fridays and Mondays, and difficult to get unanimous agreements on voting schedules.

agreements were approved, however. We are advised that Mansfield's accelerated schedule didn't go entirely unchallenged, although some senators did all silently with staff memos in their pocket which challenged the feasibility of the adjournment goal.

Senator Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., spoke out against the speed-up. According to knowledgeable sources, Ervin took note of the number of major bills requiring Senate action and said he doubted that they could — or should — be completed in so short a time. According to our reports, Ervin suggested that the nation would not be well served if the Senate gave assembly-line approval to bills which should have careful and detailed attention.

OPPORTUNITY LOST — If lawmakers cannot meet the mid-October adjournment goal, Congress will recess and come back to complete its legislative business after the congressional elections. That means, of course, a "lame duck" session in which senators and congressmen who have been retired by their constituencies can nevertheless help make national policy.

Most politicians and political scientists would agree that lame duck sessions should be avoided. The opportunity to avoid one this year was probably lost months ago, however. There would be plenty of time now, if the Senate had not devoted about 13 weeks — more than 262 actual hours — to two protracted defense debates.

Ostensibly, that time was taken for passage of a military sales bill and a military procurement bill. Actually most of the two long debates involved withdrawal of troops from Cambodia and a firm schedule for withdrawing all troops from Vietnam. As it developed, no congressional action was needed to get U.S. troops out of Cambodia and no action was taken to force a more rapid Vietnam withdrawal on the President.

Mansfield was doing little to speed an early adjournment during those two military debates. After U.S. troops went into Cambodia, he even abandoned his usual above-the-battle leadership role and led administration critics in pressing a withdrawal amendment.

It has since been suggested that Mansfield felt quite free to act, in that instance, because President Nixon had not consulted him, or other congressional leaders, on the move into Cambodia. Mansfield and Mr. Nixon are now reported to have had a couple of private breakfast meetings to patch up those differences.

If a distasteful lame duck session becomes necessary, however, Mansfield will have to look back beyond his early fall legislative speed-up and ask himself if all that early summer talk was really necessary.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: — Is the Family Aid Bill that is being pushed by President Nixon and his administration just another form of socialism or communism?

ANSWER: — It certainly is. The Family Assistance Program, which President Nixon has called the most important piece of domestic legislation in 35 years, nothing but a guaranteed annual income to be paid by the federal

If this is indeed, as Nixon claims, the most important piece of domestic legislation in 35 years, then it is important only in a destructive sense. It will enormously increase the tax burden on all the people in the country, add to inflation, which cruelly taxes the poor and the young and the elderly, and further destroy incentive and reduce productivity.

The Nixon administration is supposedly trying to curb inflation. But they cannot be very serious about it when they are pushing this socialist measure which will only add to the inflation.

If the Nixon administration wanted to bankrupt this country they could not find a much better way to go about it.
