Court Order Enabling State Schools To Levy Taxes And Issue Bonds

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) A federal judge has cleared the way for Texas school districts to continue to levy taxes and issue bonds while the legislature devises a new school financing system.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin had asked for clarification of this and other issues involved in a historic ruling that declared the present system unconstitutional.

U.S. District Court Judge Adrian Spears issued an amended order Wednesday. saying the original ruling was meant to "permit an orderly transition...from an unconstitutional to a constitution system of school financing."

The amended order specified that although the court retained jurisdiction for two years, this does not prohibit the state from appealing.

Barnes Said Threatened

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes' right hand man said today that Barnes was threatened twice in October by House members unhappy over changes made in House districts by the Legislative Redistricting Board.

Robert Spellings, executive assistant to Barnes, said Rep. Jim Slider of Naples and Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake threatened to call Barnes before the House General Investigating Committee for questioning unless House districts were changed to suit Speaker Gus Mutscher and other House members.

Martin had voiced concern that the action had ruled out the possibility of appealing to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Spears signed the order on behalf of himself and two other judges who struck down the financing system here last month. The panel found the current system, heavily dependent on property taxes, discriminates on the basis of each school district's wealth. The amended order said the ruling "shall in no way" affect the validity of outstanding bonds, notes, securities or contractual obligations, nor their sources of payment.

It also said the ruling does not affect the collection of taxes, the issuance of bonds and other securities, or contractual obligations during the two-year period in which a new system must be drawn

Earlier Wednesday. officials announced that a House Committee has scheduled its first public hearing to study new ways to pay for public education in

When he requested the amended order on Jan. 11, Martin asked the court to reword its findings on a section of the Texas Constitution that provides for school financing through property taxes.

The court made clear it had not ruled against property taxes but rather against the method of distribution. The state was enjoined from enforcing the questioned Constitutional sections "insofar as they discriminate on the basis of wealth other than the weath of the State as a whole."

War Critics Will Ask For Fixed Pullout Date

Senate war critics say they will continue to push for a fixed date for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina despite President Nixon's effort to defuse the war as a political issue.

Taken somewhat by surprise by Nixon's disclosure Tuesday night of secret U.S. North Vietnamese peace efforts, many conceded the President's speech will have a favorable political impact, at least over the short run.

But, in a series of statements and interviews Wednesday, they said Nixon's plan fails to set a specific date for U.S. withdrawal and risks North Vietnamese rejection by linking the U.S. pullout to a cease-fire throughout Indochina and release of American prisoners.

'North Vietnam is not likely to accept his proposals, and I do not recommend our people place too much hope in this," said Sen. Allen Ellender, D-

Ellender, who has opposed congressional efforts to set a fixed withdrawal date, thus agreed with Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee, a supporter of a fixed date.

Fulbright's comment: "I don't think we're going to get anywhere under this formula.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, Dlowa, said in an interview that 'when I first heard it on the news, it sounded pretty good. On close inspection, it didn't turn out that way."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who had predicted a major administration move some 24 hours before Nixon spoke, foresaw "a growing movement here in Congress to get a date certain" unless the President takes further peace steps, possibly after his later-February visit to Mainland

Secretary Of Commerce Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Nixon today personally announced the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans. and named as his successor the President's current international economic policy adviser, Peter G. Peterson.

Stans is stepping out to work in Nixon's re-election campaign, as he did in 1968.

Nixon said he is staying out of partisan politics until after the Republican National Convention, but Stans will be 'chancellor of the exchequer of one of the two major

In his letter of resignation Stans, 63, told Nixon "I am resigning to assist in the campaign for your re-election, and I believe that in this way I can best serve the interests of the country in 1972."

It was a three-way switch of top officials. The President also announced that his current presidential assistant. Peter Flanigan, a 48-year-old former New Yorker, will move into Peterson's spot as executive director on the President's Council of International Economic

Nixon called Stans "one of my closest personal as well as political friends" and said he had "served splendidly" as Commerce secretary, a post Stans held for the past three States told the Vietnamese Communists today it will not complete withdrawal of its forces from South Vietnam until a final agreement is signed based on all aspects of President Nixon's latest peace proposal.

The Viet Cong responded by assailing the Nixon plan. The North Vietnamese criticized Nixon for disclosing that his adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, had conducted secret talks in Paris with North Vietnam.

The Communists did not use the word rejection in discussing Nixon's proposal, and the North Vietnamese said they would have further comment on it.

'We would be willing...once there is over-all agreement in principle, to begin implementing certain military aspects of the agreement, such as those affecting withdrawals and prisoners, while we continued to negotiate on other aspects," said U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter at the 142nd weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks.

$200,000 Recovered, Stewardess Unhurt

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) - A stocky gunman who hijacked a jet airliner and its crew for a $200,000 ransom was shot and killed by an FBI agent today. The hijacker was killed with a shotgun blast after he got into a waiting getaway car when the plane landed

At one point during the 10hour drama that began Wednesday night at the Westchester County Airport, the hijacker said he intended to make a stewardess parachute from the plane with him.

The hijacker had taken over the Albany-to-New York City flight with a hand gun and claimed to have a bomb.

It was learned only after his death that what he carried was a starter's pistol which fires only blanks -and the 'bomb'' was two water-filled canteens-"like Boy Scouts would use.

A sheriff said the canteens were wrapped in pieces of blanket.

After the Mohawk Airlines jet landed at the airport, the hijacker, with the ransom money and his captive stewardess, went to the car he had ordered placed at the end of the runway He put the woman in the driver's seat, then went around the rear of the car and got in the passenger seat, at which point an FBI agent approached from the rear. said John Malone, assistant FBI director in charge of the

New York City office. The agent reportedly tapped on the window. The hijacker, Malone said, produced a pistol, whereupon the agent blasted him with a shotgun. The hijacker was identified as a former Peekskill, N.Y. man, Heinrich von George, 45, by the Dutchess County Sheriff's office. Peekskill police said a man by that name moved from there to Canton, Mass., in 1970. The stewardess, Eileen McAllister, who was unhurt, said the hijacker had kept a gun at her head for seven hours, but she shrugged off a suggestion that hers had been a harrowing ordeal. "I feel fine," she said, "just glad to be here.

An FBI agent described her as "very cool-she played it very cool dealing with this

For seven tension-filled hours he waited aboard the FH227 twin-engine turbojet while the airline rounded up the money in New York City and had it sent with a police escort to the airport.

He also demanded and got two parachutes, at one point saying he intended to force the stewardess to jump with him. But he later appeared to back away from this threat.

Rieth, who talked with the man over the plane's public address system, said that as the hours wore on the man appeared to be growing edgier.

"He's screaming. He sounds like a madman," Rieth said at one point, he "says he's not only an expert parachutist, he's an expert pilot. He'll put bullets through us and take this crate out of here himself." When the money finally arrived it was passed into the cockpit and the parachutes were placed aboard through a cargo hatch. "He's giving us two minutes to take off," Rieth radioed the control

Then with lights flashing and with FBI agents, state troopers and local police watching, the plane took off at 1:59 a.m.

Another Mohawk plane, running without lights, took off to trail the hijacked airliner.

At first the gunman told the crew to head for Pittsfield, Mass., 10 miles east of the New York line, and to stay below 5,000 feet altitude. But once aloft he passed a note to the captain switching his destination to Poughkeepsie and ordering officials there to have a fourdoor Ford with a police radio and empty glove compartment ready to meet

He said he wanted the area clear and declared he would take the stewardess with him as a hostage

When the plane landed at 3:21 a.m. it taxied to the end of the runway and the hijacker made his move to the waiting

The man's demand for a parachute and ransom followed a hijacking script that has become increasingly

President Sends Economic Report To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) -With indicators pointing toward the economy as the No. 1 issue in this year's elections, President Nixon sends his annual économic report to Congress today.

The President is expected to repeat his prediction that 1972 will be a "very good year" for the U.S. economy, forecasting perhaps a record 9-per-cent increase in Gross National

The Nixon administration is counting on wage-price controls, begun last Aug. 15, and last month's dollar devaluation to perk up the economy over the next 11,

The President has set a goal of cutting the rate of inflation to between 2 and 3 per cent a year. But the wage-price con-trols, coupled with a new tax break for business, have failed to reduce the unemployment

Private Clubs, Bars Required To Post Tax Bond

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Private clubs and bars that sell mixed drinks will have to post tax bonds according to the amount of their business, the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission voted Wednesday. Under the change, effective

Feb. 15, bars and private clubs will have to post a bond equal to twice the amount they pay the state in collecting the 10 per cent mixed drinks tax, provided it does not exceed $25,000 a month. Present ABC rules call for bonds of $3,000 for private clubs and $5,000 for mixed drink retailers. ABC Administration C.N.

Humphreys Jr. said the change was needed because some bars, with only a $5,000 bond, now have tax collections as high as $17,000 a month.

Antiwar Priest Granted Parole

WASHINGTON (AP) -Antiwar priest Daniel Berrigan has been granted parole after serving just over 17 months of a three-year sentence for destruction of draft records at Catonsville, Md in 1968

The U.S. Board of Parole announced the decision Wednesday after its second parole review, which included new information concerning Berrigan's health.

A previous application was denied last August.

Berrigan, 51, is the brother of the Rev. Philip Berrigan who, along with six other persons, went on trial Monday in Harrisburg, Pa., on charges of planning to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, national security affairs adviser to President

The Harrisburg indictment also charges Philip and the others with a plan to blow up heating systems in Washington

Daniel was dubbed the "fugitive priest in 1970, after he failed to appear to serve the records-destruction sentence. He eluded the FBI for four months, while surfacing occasionally to make public appearances and speak against the Vietnam war. Federal agents arrested him at a private summer home on Block Island, R.I., in August Berrigan reportedly is suffering from ulcers and a hernia, in addition to an adverse reaction to medication. He is serving his sentence at the federal prison in Danbury, Conn.

Berrigan was sentenced with eight others-including Philip- for burning draft papers. The group became known as the Catonsville Nine. He also was named-but not charged-in the initial indictment concerning, Kissinger and the Washington bomb plot. A second

Author Says He Hands Hughes Personally A $275,000 Check

NEW YORK (AP) - Author Clifford Irving again says he personally handed Howard R. Hughes a check for $275,000 in billionaire's autobiography and Hughes replied, 'Thanks.'

Irving said he had laryngitis and let his lawyer, Martin S. Ackerman, do most of the talking at a truncated Kennedy airport news conference Wednesday after arriving here from Spain.

"Cliff is here through me," Ackerman told reporters. "He has met Hughes, the book will come out, it will be a successful book, and it will be authen-

Hughes, in purported signed affidavits and a telephone interview, has called the unpublished Irving book a fake, denied ever meeting with the author and said he never received $650,000 which McGraw-Hill publishing Co. says it paid him.

On Wednesday, state Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Culkin ruled that a notarized affidavit disclaiming any knowledge of Irving or authorization for his book was a valid Hughes document.

"This is probably the most horrible experience I've ever gone through," Irving said. He has maintained that he delivered McGraw-Hill checks of $275,000 and $50,000 to Hughes personally and gave one for $325,000 to a bona fide Hughes representative. Swiss police are searching for a woman identified as H.R.

Hughes who apparently deposited the three checks into a Swiss account and later withdrew the money. A police spokesman in Zurich reported that Spanish officials have been asked to check the whereabouts of Irving's wife, Edith, when the money was withdrawn by the mystery woman.

Irving, his wife and their partial payment for the two children came here from their home on the Spanish island of Ibiza, passing up a request from Swiss police to go to Zurich for questioning.

> Swiss police have reportedly sent the FBI a list of questions to be put to the Irvings if they do not go to Zurich.

> Irving is in New York for a court appearance in a libel suit against him over a previous book.

Before leaving Ibiza in the Balearic Islands, Irving told newsmen he also hoped to untangle the mysteries surrounding the purported autobiography of the secretive industrialist:

Some of the people who complain most loudly about their big tax bills actually pay more each year than the government asks of them. On top of their tax they add their own fee for negligence or misinformation.

Most of the overpaid returns, the ones most easily discovered, result mainly from poor arithmetic and nothing more. They are simple errors and usually involve little money, which Uncle Sam tries to return.

Other errors, involving much more, may never be detected. Such overpayments usually are of two kinds: Failure to take all the deductions allowed, and failure to plan affairs so as to benefit from the tax laws.

Here are a few common errors of deduction:

-If you work at home and can show that the nature of your job requires such an arrangement, you are entitled to deduct a percentage of the rent or mortgage payment, plus maintenance and depreciation.

-Not only can you deduct the direct expenses involved in long-distance moving, but you can also list expenses incurred in house-hunting trips before the move and meals and lodging while you wait to inhabit the new quarters. -Charitable contributions can be in the form of cash or sometimes in the form of goods and services. If you used your car in recognized

-If you make a contribution to a political candidate or party you may earn a tax credit of one-half the amount of any contribution to $25—double that for a couple.

Note: That's a tax credit, not just a deduction. A tax credit is much better because it comes off the final figure. A tax deduction merely enters into the calculations that precede the final figure.

While a sharp pencil in figuring such deductions will save you money, your largest tax savings are more likely to result from wise planning. You don't have to be a millionaire to shelter your assets from taxes.

A few examples -A CASH SHELTER FOR

YOUR CHILDREN'S EDUCATION. You and your wife each can give up to $3,000 a year to any number of persons without paying gift taxes. This enables you to place sums of money in the names of your children for their education. In so doing, you eliminate or defer taxes on the interest.

It is unlikely that your children will pay any taxes either because their incomes will be insignificant. But remember, the money placed in a child's name is his; since you cannot take it back you had better be sure you can afford the gift.

UT Legally Acquires 588-Acre Odessa Site

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The University of Texas legally acquired its 588-acre UT of the Permian Basin site at Odessa, the State Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The high court brushed aside an attack on the site acquisition made by H. Winston Hull and four other Ector County landowners.

An Austin district judge previously had upheld the transaction, but the Austin Court of Civil Appeals said 280 acres of the campus had been obtained illegally.

The appeals court said Ector County commissioners exceeded their authority when they brought the 280 acres for a park, then deeded the land to the UT system. Also, the court said, the land was bought with county bonds, violating a legal requirement that the University obtain it free of

But the Supreme Court found that the deeds for the campus met the legislature's requirement that the land be obtained by "proper conveyance" since the deeds were in proper form and were properly delivered.

'The validity, or propriety, of the actions of the (Ector county) commissioner court is not properly before us in this action in which only the plaintiff citizens and the state comptroller are parties," the court said.

The plaintiffs sued State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert to keep him from haying out any of the money appopriated by the legislature for the new

As to whether the 280 acres were given to the University free of debt, the court said:

"Clearly there is no debt to the state in the ordinary sense of the word. The regents did not buy the land from anyone. There was no unpaid balance. Nor did the regents assume any debt of the county in accepting the donation from the county.

"The first time one of these university militants hits one of these lines with a bullet there will be an inferno,"- lawyer John Sayton of Austin told the court at a Nov. 3, 1971,

"That matter was entrusted to the Board of Regents, and it did pick and accept the land for a site. The site picked is within the requirements set out by the legislature," said the court's unanimous opinion, written by Associate Justice Joe Greenhill

U.S. Gives Moon Dust To Russia

SPACE CENTER, Houston AP-The space agency announced Wednesday it has given another three grams of moon dust to Russian scientists, bringing to nine grams the total amount of U. S. lunar samples received by the Soviets.

Three Soviet scientists picked up the sample, which equals about one tenth of an ounce, at the Manned Spacecraft Center Sunday. The Russians, Yurity I. Belyayev, Mikhail S. Chupankhin and Kirill P. Florenskiy, arrived here earlier in the month to attend a conference on lunar science.

Officials said the three grams came from the Apollo 14 samples brought to earth last year from the Fra Mauro region of the moon.

Soviet scientists had earlier recieved three grams each from the Apollo 11 and Apollo 12 samples.

In exchange, the Soviet have given American scientists three grams from their single collection of moon dust. The Russians gathered 101 grams, about three ounces, of dust from the moon's Sea of Fertility using an unmanned lander called

Insurance Board Will Hold Hearing On Proposed Rule

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP - The State Insurance Board today set a Feb. 15 hearing on proposed rule changes that could eliminate some consumer gripes about the new coastal windstorm insurance pool.

Included are increases in total amounts of coverage, possible reduction of some rates and the use of standard policy forms that would enable a customer to get some of his premium money back if he cancelled a policy.

The board called the hearing on its own. At a hearing requested by December, numerous complaints were made about the pool's operations.

One gripe was that a property owner could collect only up to $100,000 on a home or $500,-000 on a commercial or public building, such as a warehouse or a school deductible on dwellings would rise from 1 to 2 per cent of the amount insured, with a minimum of $250. The 2 per cent deductible on commercial risks would be replaced by a $500 deductible

The board also will consider using standard windstorm policy forms instead of special forms prescribed for the pool.

With the special pool forms, a policyholder who cancels his coverage is not entitled to any money back. The use of standard forms would enable a policyholder to get a refund of part of his premium

Mistress gets 'facts of life'-from wife

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I give your readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to any woman who is "in love" with a married man:

Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays. Never call him at home.

Don't ever expect him to take you out in public, but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollars and cents you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you.

Never depend on him in times of personal crisis. Don't believe him when he tells you his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat, or too thin, and she hasn't slept with him for 10 years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him-even if she catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However, her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another married man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat [or too thin] and hasn't slept HIS WIFE with him for 10 years. Sign me

DEAR WIFE: Brave! Thanks for sharing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently met a very attractive and charming couple. We took to each other on first meeting and they asked us if we played bridge. We said we did, so they invited us over for a foursome of bridge. We accepted.

Abby, my husband and I enjoy bridge, but these people took the game so seriously, that they nearly came to blows with each other! All evening long they were making sarcastic remarks to each other and my husband and I didn't enjoy the evening one bit.

We invited them to our home [avoiding any mention of cards when we asked them], but we ended up playing bridge again, anyway. This time was worse than the first! They have since twice invited us over for bridge and I said we were "busy"-which we weren't. They are a charming couple when they aren't playing bridge, and we'd like to see them again. If they invite us again, would it be proper for us to accept and suggest we NORTH AND SOUTH don't play cards?

DEAR NORTH: Certainly. That's one way of finding out If it's your company they want, or a foursome for bridge.

DEAR ABBY: When my wife and I were married, she was 33, and I was 41. She said at the time she didn't want any children until she was sure our marriage would last. Well, it's lasted for 11 years, and she's still not sure.

I told her if she doesn't make up her mind by next Easter, she will have to get another "Daddy" for any children she plans to have, because I am not about to start raising kids in my middle fifties.

If you can provide me with any other arguments for my side, please let me have them. Thank you.

fashion season began in French salons today, and one thing seemed clear: women will soon be showing legs

At Louis Feraud, who showed this morning, the mini-is back, from a demure three inches above the knee to a more provocative three inches below the hips. With it go sheer stockings and very high toeless black or red pumps, to make more of a good thing.

Feraud is thinking in black and white for summer. As a contrast his models wore red lipstick, red hair and even red eyeliner to match wide-sashes wrapped around the waist.

As usual, this designer is torn between two, and in his opinion, usually contradictoryimages of women. so, his collection was split almost entirely into black and white, with some pleasing attempts to reconciling the two extremes.

White is for little schoolgirl dresses, with frills, pleats, trucks and white lace anywhere from hem to elbow. His sweater dresses even trailed white wool roses. Black is for satin and shantung and slinky skirts

Mission Study Held By Circle

The Zelma Northcutt Circle of First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Orval Batson, 1012 W. Buckler. Mrs. Jack W. White read the prayer calendar and led the prayer for the missionaries.

Mrs. M.B. Smith taught the lesson, using Acts 2:1-47, showing how the first church ministered to those in need. She discussed missions in the northeastern United States, relating personal experiences of a trip she recently took to that section of the country. There were eight present.

Worry Clinic

By - George W. Crane, Ph. D.,

Dr. Shunk asks if young people aren't hungry for more idealism and Biblical stress on morality. For the phenomenon of "enotional recoil" is at work. There is a growing revulision at the smut and pornography that have swept America! Similar gastric recoil even affected the Israelites under Moses! CASE S-582: Dr. William R. Shunk is the dynamic professor of history at Purdue University.

Along with Dr. Mattie Coney and Dr. Billy Abel, he served on the Educational Communication Association'srecent TV panel dealing with the use of the Bible in high school English literature classes

At our dinner party prior to the cutting of the tape for this splendid program, Dr. Shunk asked: "Dr. Crane, how do you think modern youth will react to this Bible series?"

PORNOGRAPHIC REVULSION

From my contact with America via the hundreds of thousands of letters that reach me via this newspaper column, I believe the pendulum is ready to swing back toward normalcy.

And "normalcy" involves idealism and morality, not the excessive stress on sexual excesses of the past decade.

For inherent in the human brain are a few "Divine Sparks," as philosopher Descartes described them.

These implanted seeds of Deity separate human beings from all other mammals, even including the smartest apes.

commercialism of sex plays, lewd movies, smut and pornographic magazines. people are about "fed up."

Prof. Raymond Dodge, brilliant psychologist at Yale, used to tell us graduate students that "recoil" will ultimately follow too much propaganda.

The Bible even describes similar physical recoil when it mentions that the ancient Israelites grumbled at the monotony of their steady diet of manna.

So jehovah sent them flocks of quails, which they relished

But God warned Moses that the people would soon become so nauseated by the meat that "it (will) come out at your nostrils, and be loathesome unto you."

America's orgy of sexual smut and pornography is thus backfiring!

For people are basically hungry for spiritual idealism and true love that relegates mere erotic indulgence to a secondary role.

There is thus a growing thirst for morality!

Historians report that John Wesley saved the Sodom-like society of Great Britain by his stirring religious appeals for sobriety, purity and reverence

So send for my booklet "How to Stimulate Bible Reading,' enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane Hopkins Bldg. Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) - Only three of every 10 investors should buy and sell shares in American industry directly instead of through an intermediary, such as a mutual fund, says investment adviser Tom Martin

The first investor is the one who enjoys and is good at picking stocks. The second enjoys following the market as a hobby or avocation. The third "has a damn good source of information.

Martin may be biased, because he is executive vice president of Anchor Corp., adviser for mutual funds having assets of close to $2 billion. He also is a man of unusual candor.

In Martin's view, the mutual fund industry is slowly emerging from a period of agonizing reappraisal of its goals and procedures after running off the track during the 1960s.

Those were the dramatic years of "performance." As happens from time to time, people develop the notion that fortunes are made easily in stocks. Many factors contributed, but the mutual funds certainly did their share.

'We lost sight of our goals,'' said Martin, explaining how some funds permitted the investing public to use them as vehicles for short-term trading instead of long-term investing.

"Funds were not meant for short-term gains," he said, "but some funds participated in the game. They did nothing to prevent it.

The news media is guilty also. The performance records of glamor funds were widely acclaimed, and the insinuation was that they could repeat their shortterm gains year after year. They couldn't.

In fact, as too often happens, the peak of publicity about some of the glamor funds coincided with their peak accomplishments. Millions of dollars thereafter poured into funds whose only direction

Following the performance disaster came more bad months from 1968 to 1970, when many funds turned in mediocre records, mainly because they didn't foresee the extent and duration of economic problems.

The public reacted by slowing their purchase and raising their redemptions. Many mutual funds investors switched to corporate or U.S. Savings Bonds and some simply put their cash back in the bank.

"Now," said Martin, "we must regain the confidence of the public and regain that market-and it is our

He sees mutual funds as competing for the savings dollar- the same money that goes into the banks-as much as for investment dollars. And to prove it deserves this money, he claims the funds now place a great deal more emphasis on long-term consistency and stability.

In order to achieve goals, many funds, including those in the Anchor Group, are originating their own research rather than trusting to that of the brokers, which Martin claims is deteriorating in

In his view, now is the time for financially oriented stocks. such as banks and insurance companies Curiously, however, there is in his view a "schizophrenic" aspect to the market in that some of the low-priced, lessestablished stocks may provide good speculations because, Martin says, there is an abundance of money available for trading as opposed to investing.

SMILE when you say that, tourist! Actually, this is the response a keeper at Rome's zoo got from a resident seal with only two little words—"fish, fish."

POW Wives Cautiously Optimistic

PAMPA TEXAS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) Wives of men missing or held captive in Vietnam seemed resigned Wednesday to a long wait for action on President Nixon's latest peace proposal.

"I'm not real optimistic, just cautiously optimistic," said Judith Blevins, wife of an Air Force captain missing for more than five years.

"I think it was a fair proposal, but I'm just going to wait and hope it does some good, she said of the President's offer, aired to the nation Tuesday night. "I don't want to think about it too much until something definite comes in.

Margaret Armstrg, whose husband has been missing more than four years, said she held out little hope.

"My husband is missing in action and I don't think President Nixon's statement about anything will make any difference in my situation. The end looks a little closer than it did before, that's all.'

One of these days I might just find out what out status is," she added Linda Ann St. Pierre, another of several persons surveyed, said she was "real encouraged." But she added: "I think we have to wait and see what the North Vietnamese say, though. I never get my hopes up any more until I see what the other side has to say.

Her husband, Capt. Dean Paul St. Pierre, has been missing in action for nearly four years. Mrs. John Held, whoe husband also has been missing nearly four years, expressed disappointment. "The thing I'm disappointed in is that politics is still involved with this, and the election coming up probably affected this proposal's announcement," she said.

"President Nixon has said it himself so many times, though. You just can't bargain with these people.

Confessions Of Lazy Man

NEW YORK (AP) - Confessions of a lazy man: The world lies before us like a freshly opened oyster-but few of us even take the trouble to look and see whether there's a pearl in it.

This is the action of lazy men, people properly scorned by proper people who do their bit to keep the world forging upward and onward. If the fate of mankind rested on us lazy ones, we'd all still be getting our main nutrients from banana plants.

Sometimes the conscience of a lazy man is appalled by his own inaction.

To take a personal case, I am now and then made uneasy by the cold fact that during a life now in the upper reaches of middle age I have never-quered the zither. Learned how to sew on a button or marinate a herring. Listened to a sex lecture at a PTA meeting or broken up a dice game at Las Vegas.

Grown a beard or completed the correspondence course in ventriloquism I started at the age of 12. Punched a timělock or organized a riot or a respectable orgy. Launched a missile or lunched with a king.

Oh, hell, now that I've admitted this much, I might as well tell all. I haven't even haunted a house with Phyllis Diller or spent a night out with Count Dracula painting the town red.

But if we lazy people have our moments of guilt and regret, we have our rewards, too. We don't cause more ambitious people trouble except by being too sluggish to get out of their way quick enough.

Yes, the lazy man is not altogether a loser in life. He also has the added compensation of knowing that, while he hasn't really got done, this only leaves him that many more worthwhile things he can still find to do if he ever decides to change his ways and become a

State Court Sets Qualifications For Candidates

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Supreme Court ruled that a candidate for state senator must live in his district for only one year before the date of the general election.

The court's decision blocked an attempt by Dallas County Democratic Chairman Earl Luna to keep Rep. Jack Blanton of Carrollton from running for the senate.

Luna refused to accept Blanton's application for a place on the Democratic primary ballot because Blanton had not lived in the 16th senatorial district six months prior to this year's

Feb. 7 filing deadline. Luna cited a provision of the Texas Election Code that says candidates for the legislature and other offices that are less than statewide must live in their districts for six months prior to the filing deadline.

Blanton and Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin contended that only the state constitutional requirement of a year's residence in the district before the general election must be obeyed.

The court upheld rulings of a Dallas district court. The Dallas Court of Civil Appeals tentatively decided to affirm the trial court judgment but sent the issue to the Supreme Court as a "certified question."

The high court said it accepted the question because "it should be finally resolved prior to the filing deadline."

Sen. Connally Candidate For

Lt. Governor

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Sen. Wayne Connally, Floresville, formally paid his filing fee today as a Democratic candidate for lieutenant

Connally handed a $1,000 check to Jo Ann Pool, an employe of the State Democratic Headquarters, and completed the necessary forms for his race. The headquarters said the $1,000 would be held in escrow until it is determined if a federal court decision against political filing fees will be made permanent. Connally recalled that he first announced for the race

Nov. 19 saying he had traveled the state and was convinced that voters want "an end to petty politics and political

Court Allows Use Of Picture As Evidence In Murder Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, which has wrestled with the problem for years, today broadened the limits for using pictures of victims and bloodstains as evidence in murder

The court overruled its own 1965 ruling that gruesome photos are not admissible unless they tend to solve a disputed fact issue.

In today's decision, the court said the admissibility of such photographs must be decided on the same basis as' any other evidence and is largely at the trial judge's

"We hold that if a photograph is competent. material and relevant to the issue on trial, it is not rendered inadmissible merely because it is gruesome or might tend to arouse the passion of the jury, unless it is offered solely to inflame the minds of the jury. If a verbal description of the body and the scene would be admissible, a photograph depicting the same is admissible," the court wrote in a 4-1 ruling.

The court's ruling came in the case of Favis Clay Martin, whom an Amarillo jury con-

Nixon Vows To Defeat Unemployment Texas Air Quality Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) -Joblessness has become the great economic enemy. President Nixon said today. He assured Congress he is determined to defeat both unemployment and inflation. and reported "the outlook is bright" for success.

In his annual Economic Report to Congress, Nixon quashed with finality the hints by some officials of an early end to Phase 2. Price-wage controls will be enforced, he said, until the goal of "reasonable price stability can be maintained without controls "We will persevere until the goal is reached," he promised,

"but we will not keep the controls one day longer than necessary."

The report, third and last of the major presidential mes-sages to the new session of Congress, announced a strong business expansion in the final quarter of 1971. Real output rose 6 per cent in annual rate, twice the rate of the preceding six months.

Gross national output will rise by nearly $100 billion in 1972, or more than 9 per cent, to a total of $1.145 trillion, the message said, and two-thirds of the record gain will be real, not just inflation.

"1972 begins on a note of much greater confidence than prevailed 6 or 12 months ago." the President said. "Output is rising at a rate which will boost employment rapidly and eat into unemployment. There is every reason to expect this rate of increase to continue ...

"We are converting the fear of perpetual inflation into a growing hope for price stability ... For the first time

"The outlook is bright, but much remains to be done. The great problem is to get the unemployment rate down from the 6 per cent level where it was in 1971 ...

Six per cent unemployment is too much, and I am determined to reduce that number significantly in 1972."

Nixon said the 1971 tax cuts and the massive budget deficits he announced in Monday's fiscal 1973 budget message will provide an upward thrust for the economy. Current federal spending, he said, would exceed revenues by $8.1 billion even if the economy were running at full employment.

"This is strong medicine, and I do not propose to continue its use," he assured the lawmakers, "but we have taken it in order to give a powerful stimulus to employment."

U.S., Red Peace Offers Seen Bearing Striking Resemblance

disclosed U.S. peace plan for Vietnam and the Viet Cong peace proposal supported by Hanoi bear striking resemblances, but they have some important differences.

The seven-point Communist plan presented last July 1 calls for setting a "terminal date for the withdrawal from South Vietnam of the totality of U.S. forces and those of the other foreign countries in the U.S.

Nixon's eight-point plan which he said Tuesday night was presented secretly Oct.

PARIS (AP) - The newly 11, calls for "a total withdrawal of all U.S. forces and other foreign forces allied with the government of South Vietnam within six months of an agreement."

> Thus a withdrawal time frame is laid down. The Viet Cong plan says that after the United States sets a withdrawal date, "the totality of military men of all parties and of the civilians captured in the war, including American pilots captured in North Vietnam," will be freed. These two operations-withdrawal and on the same date and will end on the same date."

The Nixon plan also calls for the "release of all military men and innocent civilians captured throughout Indochina," and it says "the release will begin on the same day as the troop withdrawals." But then the differences

Viet Cong says the United States must "cease backing the bellicose group headed by Nguyen Van Thieu aimed at maintaining the puppet Nguyen Van Thieu." The U.S. delegation to the peace talks interprets this as a call for Thieu's ouster, and it is also closely linked to the prisoner release provision. In other words, there can be no prisoner release without the

Henry Kissinger Describes Plan As Flexible Blueprint

WASHINGTON (AP) - The secret eight-point Vietnam peace offer unveiled by President Nixon was described today by Henry A. Kissinger as a flexible blueprint-not a take-itor-leave-it proposition.

Kissinger, the President's assistant for National Security Affairs, held a news conference 15 hours after Nixon, in one of the major surprises of his administration, disclosed an offer made secretly to Hanoi negotiators eight months ago.

The package included a U.S. troop pullout in exchange for a prisoner release and an agreement that President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam would step down pending a new election.

Although Radio Hanoi said the proposal offers "nothing new" and made no change in current U.S. positions, Kissinger said he hoped Nixon's decision to make public the secret bargaining might prompt North Vietnam to renew the suspended talks "on a somewhat more urgent

Kissinger, incidentally, said the Hanoi government could for reconstruction "in the amount of several billion dollars," should a settlement be reached. Kissinger said, however, the United States rejected a North Vietnam demand for reparations. In addition to the cool North Vietnam reception to Nixon's, peace offer, the proposed found little favor with his critics at home.

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Erase Backgrounder

We Americans speak proudly about our freedom of the press. We emphasize the right of the public to know the activities and opinions of its representatives. With justification, we assert that the United States of America leads the world in setting the standard for honest and uninhibited communications.

At the same time, however, Americans on the whole do not appear to have given much thought to the fact that their best-known federal source of information from the executive branch is, day in and day out, the "official source," or the unnamed

"spokesman."

Newsmen, and even members of Congress, are making it plain that they are becoming fed up with the 'backgrounder'—a conference conducted by high officials of government who officials of government who speak directly to contemporary issues, but who do not allow their names to be used to support the statements.

Recent examples that have gained attention include a 1970 statement by a 'high source' that the United States might 'expel' the Soviet Union from Egypt. The same high source declared this year that India was the aggressor in Pakistan, and later added that Russia's activity in support of India might cancel next spring.

All of the statements, it has subsequently been disclosed, were made by Dr. Henry Kissinger, the national security adviser to President Nixon. His anonymity was ultimately removed by Sen. Barry Goldwater and the press.

the President's trip to Moscow

The "backgrounder" is not, of course, a recent development but has become commonplace by constant use over many years. It is to the credit of this Administration, as well as the press, that American people now are taking a long look at the practice.

Spokesmen for the communications media insist that anonymous briefings make the press a party to foreign and domestic policy games in a manner contrary to our concepts of an independent press. Not the least of their worries might be that the "backgrounder" conference also can lead some reporters to manufacture their own "informed" sources on a rainy news day.

On the other hand, the Administration insists that off-the-record sessions are useful in generating greater candor, and thus lead to a richer flow of accurate information to the public. The point is somewhat eroded by the fact that foreign governments knowimmediately who the "spokesman" is—and only the American people are left in

On the whole, it would appear that the federal government has all of the means it needs to float trial baloons in exploiting the nuances of international

Legal Tender Monopoly

Former Congressman Jerry Voorhis is proposing that the U. S. government buy out the Federal Reserve.

This will hit some people as a surprise for many suppose that the Federal Reserve regional banks are governmental agencies.

That popular impression is not correct. The 12 regional Federal Reserve banks are privately owned, although they are controlled by a governmentally appointed agency known as the Federal Reserve Bank Board.

Unlike other private businesses, the Federal Reserve regional banks have a guarantee of a market for their products. Under the law, you are absolutely forced to accept Federal Reserve bank notes—that green stuff in your billfold— as payment for any debt. That is what is meant by the words "legal tender."

The Federal Reserve regional banks also have another privilege. For a price, paid out of your taxes, they furnish the government bank notes with which the government pays its obligations.

Mr. Voorhis' proposal that the government buy the Federal Reserve banks is good propaganda, because it calls attention to the fact that such banks are private and hold unusual privilege. Of course, if the government actually did make the purchase, the banks would probably wind up in a mess like so many other things that have come under government. ownership. We believe it would be far better for the political privileges of such banks to be removed. That would take a miracle and we don't look to see it.

In spite of its earlier bluster about not seeking membership in the United Nations, Red China lost no time in moving into the U.N. once Free China had been thrown out. one reason why Peking was so eager to have a delegation in New York is clear from the kind of people on that delegation: they are experts in subversion and espionage.

The head of the Peking delegation is China's deputy foreign minister, Chiao Kaun-hua. Chiao worked for several years with the New China News Agency, which served as a cover for espionage.

Chiao's deputy, Huang Hua, is notorious for revolutionary and terrorist activity. As Peking's ambassador to Ghana in the 1960's, he was instrumental in formenting revolution throughout Africa, especially in the Congo.

The secretary to the

counterintelligence agent, previously expelled from both India and Mauritius for his subversive activities there. He was a key figure in the communist coup in Zanzibar in 1964 and was implicated in the assassination of the premier of Burundi.

That these "diplomats" intend to do more than attend U.N. meetings is clear from Chiao's assertion that Red Chiao's assertion that Red China supports "oppressed peoples and nations in their just struggles to win freedom and liberation." Already Communist China supports such Maoist-oriented organizations as the Revolutionary Union, whose objective is the overthrow of our government through revolution and terror.

Test Helps See Blood Vessels
Dear Dr. Lamb—Can an angiogram be used to diagram

the degree of coronary insufficiency and is it a recognized technique for this purpose? Will you describe this procedure? Is it painful? To what degree is it safe? How long is one hospitalized for an angiogram? How long has it been used and is it commonly done in hospitals throughout the United States?

Dear Reader—The term angiogram is not a very specific one. It only means injection of a dye into an artery or vein so it can be visualized by X-ray. The dye works like barium for an examination of the stomach and outlines the cavity of the vessel on the X-ray. These are often called arteriograms.

You can inject dye into the arteries going to the head and have an arteriogram of the arteries of the brain (cerebral arteriograms) or you can inject dye into the arteries of the heart and have a coronary arteriogram. You can visualize the arteries to the kidney or legs in a similar manner. Or you can inject dye into the veins with special procedures, like compressing the veins with a tourniquet, to make the veins stand out on a

The term angiogram is also used for injection of dye into the cavities of the heart. A series of X-rays taken in succession outline the chambers of the heart as the dye circulates through it, first the right heart chambers and then the left heart chambers. This procedure has been done for several decades but has been constantly refined to provide better and more pictures to see the actual size, shape and structure of the heart chambers.

To see the arteries of the heart and tell if they are blocked or not several techniques may be used. Dye can be injected into the large aortic artery that comes from the heart. The coronary arteries all come directly from it and the dye will fill them. For more specific pictures some highly trained people place a small tube (catheter) into the opening of the coronary artery and inject dye into the artery for the X-ray pictures. Since there are two coronary arteries, right and left, each one is injected in turn. None of these procedures are unduly painful. If you don't feel well and have to stay a long time on the X-ray table, it can become uncomfortable from that point of view. The degree of safety varies greatly with which one of these techniques you are talking about, so I can't generalize, but of the group I suspect the coronary arteriograms, visualizing the arteries to the heart are the most dangerous. in the hands of individuals who have done a great many of these the danger is slight. In other instances, where the person doing them has not had great experience, they can be dangerous. Ask your doctor how many he has done and what his batting average is.

Continuing Soviet Victories

The Soviets win again. And whenever and wherever they win, we lose.

In a two-week war, India backed by the Soviet Union, dismembered Pakistan. Most Americans, even those who know it happened, think "so what?" Pakistan may also be taken and divided up between India and Russia. This would fulfill an age-long dream of the Russians, going back to the czars. Russia wants more of Southwest Asia. Russia always wants more. Next—Afghanistan? Northern Iran?

The Soviet Union and India are re-arranging the balance of power in Asia. And what are we doing? We are feverishly promoting tremendous increases in trade with our number one enemy Russia, and our number two enemy Red China, while we continue to disarm.

It now develops that Russian Ambassador Nikolai M. Pegov gave India secret assurances that "a Soviet fleet is now in the Indian Ocean, and ... will not allow the U.S. Seventh Fleet to intervene" in the recent Pakistan-Indian

The Bullets won a 115-114 overtime decision over the Buffalo Braves in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night. It was a comeback effort for Buffalo which trailed at halftime 59-48, and tied the game 103-103 at the end of regulation on a jump shot by Elmore Smith. Buffalo went ahead in the overtime, 114-113, on two foul shots by Walt Hazzard with one second left. The Bullets called time out and set up an inbounds-pass play. Forward Gus Johnson passed into center Wes Unseld breaking for the basket. Unseld sank the winning shot at the buzzer.

In other NBA action Cleveland trimmed Boston 112-108, Seattle defeated Atlanta 131-119, Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 113-102, Milwaukee beat Detroit 120-94, and Chicago dropped Houston 117-

Nicklaus Involved In Long Win Streak

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Jack Nicklaus currently is involved in one of pro golf's greatest winning streaks since Byron Nelson strung together 11 consecutive victories in 1945.

The famed Golden Bear, probably the game's most feared competitor, was a solid favorite to pick up his sixth victory in seven starts when he teed off today in the first round of the $150,000 Andy Williams—San Diego Open. "I may have played better in the past," mused Nicklaus, just off a week's rest during which he had his 32nd birthday, "But my scoring, in relation to the rest of the field, is as good or better than it has ever been.

"I've been playing pretty well ever since we left Hawaii.

That was almost 12 months ago. And in that time Nicklaus has finished ninth or better in all but one of his starts.

He may have found the emotional spur he needed in the recent success of Lee Trevino.

More Eligibilty Rulings who once fought for the Expected For '72 Olympics

TOKYO (AP) - The International Olympic Committee's eligibility commission was holding a secret meeting here today to review the amateur status of competitors entered in the opening in Sapporo, northern Japan, Feb. 3.

But the IOC Secretariat declined to give any information on where the commission, headed by Chairman Hugh Weir of Australia, was meeting for the second day, when the meeting began and when it ended or was to end.

The commission, informed sources said, reportedly was to review the controversial list of Alpine and Nordic skiers today, the list having been hand-carried earlier today from Sapporo.

Avery Brundage, IOC president, has said some 40 skiers should be disqualified from competing in the Winter Games for allegedly having violated the Olympic amateur.

All four commission executives and Brundage, informed sources said, were to review the results of the commission meeting in a meeting Friday morning. They reportedly will submit the commission's findings to the IOC general assembly meeting in Sapporo next Monday and Tuesday.

Sources said it was unlikely that anything on the issue would be clarified and announced by the commission, and any announcement would have to come from the IOC plenary session in Sapporo.

Pee Wee Basketball Program On The Move

Pee-Wee Basketball program co-sponsored by the Kiwanis and Optimist Club is now in the second half of the season of a round robin chase. The program is made up of teams representing the Pampa grade schools and St. Vincents which participates in the 6th grade action only.

At the present time Austin and Travis are leading the 6th grade cagers with 7-1 marks while Lamar's 5th grade is holding down first place with a spotless 6-0 ledger. Second reound action will continue tonight with St. Vincent's at Austin, Wilson at Houston and Baker at Lamar-all in 6th grade, while in the 5th Wilson will tangle with Houston at home, Lamar will be at Baker. The other teams will have practice

This program was started in the 1950's by Clifton McNeely, former coach of the Harvesters. It was taken over by the Kiwanis Club in 1958 and was joined about 2 years later by the Optimist Club. The program has met with success thru the years as it has provided the highschool with several outstanding players. All of the players on this year's Harvesters team got their early training in the Last year was a banner year for the program as a team Championship in the Little Levelland, Tex. last April.

Damons. They won't say exactly what—"We are not allowed to give any details now." But in the space of a few months, the department has acted to discredit the Damons. to embarrass and sadden their lives, and to step on their reputation as responsibe citizens.

Eight years ago the Department of Social Welfare placed a foster child, named Skippy, in the Damon's home. Skippy was 18 months old at the time, abandoned by his parents, and the state was happy the Damons were willing to save him from an orphanage. Officials said at the time, or at least led the Damons to believe, the boy wwould remain in their care as long as they wished.

And though the people of Gilman are not by nature activists ("We don't believe in mouthing off up here"), they have nonetheless been irked to boiling. "There isn't a man among us," says one mill worker, "who wouldn't like to go to Monpelier (the state capital) and punch somebody smack in the eye."

The local Methodist minister is more or less the leader of trhe aroused community sentiment. Rev. James Lundin says he has been so "SICKENED" BY THE AFFAIR THAT HE HAS GATHERED HALF THE TOWN'S ADULT GREETING:

To be sure, the Damons have been good parents. And prolific ones. Besides three children of their own, they have, in the past 12 years, cared for "oh, 10 to 15" foster children. Mrs. Damon explains that "we just like to have kids around the house." She admits that some of the welfare cases have been "a little tough." But, she adds, 'We've done our best to take care of any child living in our home.

Why Do Many People Shun Resorts In Summer?

By JOHN T. CUNNIEF APBusiness writer

Follow the crowd and you'll aways have a long line and big bills before you. Ironically, while claiming to seek relief from the crowds, most vacationers do just that, and they pay for it in more ways than one

Most families, for example, scorn the late spring months when the spectacular falls cascade over the granite walls of Yosemite National Park and wait until summer, when the falls are dry, the roads

On Cape Cod and at hundreds of other resort areas around the country the crowds disappear after Labor Day, even though some of the finest weather prevails and prices drop to as little as one-half the summer rate

And why do so many pelple shun Florida resorts in the summer, when the weather is actually more pleasant than in many other parts of the country and the rates are far lower than "in season?"

The demands of education influence the season, of course. But is this any reason why millions of others without such obligations should end their season too?

Timing, which is probably the most important requirement of a comfortable. inexpensive vacation demands a break with

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) - NBC launched "Search for the Nile." a BBC series of six onehour programs, Tuesday night in the two-hour time block it recently opened for weekly specials The first two programs, run fore and aft of President Nixon's address on Vietnam, set the scene in leisurely fashion for the adventures of two British army lieutenants who in the mid-19th century set out on donkeys to discover the river's source. Narrator James Mason said finding the source was as important to the 1850s "as landing on the moon was to the 1960s.

Richard Francis Burton was a dashing, arrogant adventurer who had managed to enter the forbidden city of Mecca disguised as an Arab. Then he was determined to solve the age-old mystery of the Nile. He was joined in the difficult journey by a starchy, inflexible younger officer, John Speke

The photography was impressive—much of it was shot in Africa. But the two hours relied for drama primarily on the unfriendly relationship between the two

Four more hour-long episodes will be shown on future Tuesday nights. It is undoubtedly an impressive recreation of British history but it appears to be a more detailed account than will interest most Americans.

CBS's special, "I'm a Fan," was a light-hearted but often heavy-handed hour of comedy and music, all poking fun at the public's passion for sports. The emphasis was on TV sportswatchers.

Dick Van Dyke, the host, was given little clever material. Carol Channing's material was far the best. She was funny as a woman relishing the gore at a hockey game and had a witty song while playing the lady at the loudspeaker paging a doc-tor at a football game.

Much of the material was tired, and the points of view were obvious. There were some interesting dance numbers, particularly one that kidded halftime shows at tradition. And how about breaking tradition by camping, land crusing, house swapping, taking a city instead of resort vacation?

CAMPING may soon be out of the category of "something different" because it has attracted so many millions that some parks, including national parks, are thoroughly iammed

Camping also can be expensive the first time out. Tents, sleeping bags, lanterns, ice-boxes, herosene stoves, cartop carriers and so on cost dearly. So if you're experimenting, rent the first season and save

LAND CRUISING in a rented motor home, a self-contained house on wheels, is growing in popularity even though only a very tiny percentage of families have ever vacationed

These are luxury items. Typically, an air conditioned, 24-foot-long home capable of carrying four people very comfortably and six in a pinch may rent for $250 a week, plus 5 cents a mile for the first 1,000 miles and less thereafter.

But this cost is deceptive, because a motor home provides motel comfort without motel room and meal costs. There is no worry about reservations or tipping or meeting rigid time and place

To make room for the President's speech, the networks pushed back broadcasts that followed by a half hour. Each network followed the address with brief reviews and picked up where they had left off before the interruption. NBC preempted "Nichols" for a panel discussion of the speech later in the evening. CBS added a halfhour special at the end of its late news shows.

The parking meter is a symbol of this machine age and I'm going to fight it." Colletta, a university student. said in People's Court.

Judge Vern J. Munger Jr., awarded the youth a 20-cent settlement.

But Colletta could not collect it until he paid the court 50 cents for a machine-made copy of the judgment.

were to drive and stay at motels you would incur expenses of close to $15 a day for gasoline, oil and minor repairs, based on 350 to 400 miles a day.

In addition, you would pay $15 to $20 for a roon, plus $1 or $2 more for each child. Call the total room bill $20. Then you would have to figure on !8 a person per day, tips included, for meals.

The daily bill for a family of four traveling by car comes, therefore, to $65 a day ($20 motel, $30 food, $15 mileage) or more than $450 a week.

The motor home traveler pays $250 rental and about $100 mileage. But, since the family can buy its food at a supermarket, it cuts that bill at least in half, most likely to less than $100 a week. The total cost is no more.

Not many families participate in HOME SWAPPING these days, but you may be certain they would they could easily make arrangements. Consider: no hotel bills or tips, no expenses for eating out, no rental fees if cars are also exchanged, no boarding fees for pets.

THE CITY VACATION can be a real bargain. Did you ever look at the city streets on a Sunday afternoon? You couldn't help but observe that you could stroll pleasantly. Quite a contrast to the city most people know.

Enterprising hoteliers and restaurateurs in some cities are now making it increasingly attractive to take mini-vacations in the city on weekends and during the summer, when most families and many businessmen head elsewhere. Low rates and family packages often are offered.

THE STAY-AT-HOME OR DAY TRIP VACATION is also an ideal contrast to routinely going away for a week or two. It offers an opportunity to visit all the sights in your area that you have planned to see but never did

And the money you save on hotels and travel can be used to eat at the restaurants you felt were beyond your means and to attend entertainment you felt was scaled for more affluent people.

People In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Singer Jack Jones is to give his former wife $1,000 a month, household furniture, a chess set and a painting of a dog under a divorce settlement reached in Superior Court.

Gretchen Jones, 22, for her part of the property settlement approved Tuesday, pledged to vacate the 33year-old singer's house in suburban Sherman Oaks within a few days.

The couple married Sept. 5, 1970, in Houston, Tex., separated eight months later and were divorced Dec. 16. Mrs. Jones is a former airline stewardess.

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Former columnist Walter Winchell was reported in improved condition at the UCLA Medical Center, but hospital spokesmen declined to say what's wrong with him. Winchell, 74, has been in the center since Nov. 19 and has been in and out of the hospital several times during the last few years, a spokesman said Tue-day.

Some 1,200 species of mistleta are found in tropic and temperate zones on all continents except Antarctica.
