

De Gaulle, Wartime French Hero, Dies at 79

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who led France from near civil war in 1958 into an era of pride and prosperity, died of a heart attack Monday night while watching television at his country home in Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

De Gaulle took power in 1958 when the army was in revolt in Algeria and the country was near civil war. For 11 years he ruled as a strongman, a number of times going to the people in referenda to make certain he had their backing. Each time he won until the spring of 1969, when he lost what he considered a crucial referendum on administrative reform.

He carried out his threat to resign on April 28, 1969 and apart from two vacation trips abroad—one to Ireland and another to Spain—the former president never left his country home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

De Gaulle also withdrew entirely from French political life and refused to comment or make his thoughts known on current political affairs.

De Gaulle was the last of the Big Four World War II statesmen to die. The others were President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the Soviet Union's Josef Stalin and Britain's Sir Winston Churchill.

French government officials said De Gaulle died at 7:30 p.m. (8:30 p.m. EST) Monday just as the news program was starting on the first channel of the state-run French television.

Earlier in the day, officials said, De Gaulle had been working on his still unfinished memoirs.

Members of De Gaulle's family told government officials the former president suddenly pitched forward in his chair onto a small table which had been placed before him.

Soviets Release Generals

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union released two U.S. Army generals and a Turkish colonel today who had been held since their plane flew into Soviet Armenia three weeks ago.

The American pilot of the plane remained behind to await favorable conditions for flying out.

The official news agency Tass said the three officers were handed over to Turkish authorities at the border at 7:45 a.m. (11:45 p.m. Monday EST).

In Washington, State Department officials said U.S. authorities in Turkey had sent word that the two generals "appeared to be in good health" when they crossed the border.

They were taken to Ankara to join their families.)

Tass said the pilot of the Beechcraft U8 that strayed into the Soviet Union Oct. 21, Maj. James P. Russell, remained in Soviet Armenia and will leave when weather conditions in this area are favorable.

The officers turned over at the border were Maj. Gen. Edward C. D. Scherrer, Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr. and Col. Cevat Danli, a Turkish liaison officer.

Brig. Gen. Hami Oytun, commander of the Turkish border garrison, and Vedat Okay, deputy governor of Kars, met the men at the frontier.

Turkish authorities kept newsmen half a mile from the border when the officers crossed.

The Pentagon said Monday there had been no decision on whether the men should be brought back to Washington or should continue the inspection of North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases they were conducting when they wound up in Armenia.

(Scherrer is commander of the Joint Military Mission in Turkey and McQuarrie heads the mission's Army Center.)

Jarring Threatens To Bow Out

RIDING ON A CUSHION of air, a 160-ton Amphibious Assault Landing Craft speeds toward shore in this artist's concept. Craft, which would operate at 50 knots, reportedly could carry substantially more than any present-day or contemplated transport helicopter. It has reached the preliminary design stage as part of the Navy's study to improve its system of moving men and materiel from ship to shore.

Miss Earhart Captured On Spy Mission In Japan May Be Alive

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two former Air Force officers published a book Monday claiming Amelia Earhart was captured 33 years ago by the Japanese on a spy mission, survived eight years of captivity and may be living today under the name of Irene Bolam.

Mrs. Irene Bolam of Monroe, N.J., who said she had been a close friend of Miss Earhart, had "no comment" on the book, "Amelia Earhart Lives." But she said she would hold a news conference at 3 p.m. EST today after she and her lawyer had a chance to read the book.

Pampa Girl Misses Only One Guess In 15 Football Games

Chris Laycock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Laycock, 2010 Christine, was the top guesser in last week's football contest sponsored by The Pampa Daily News and 17 business firms.

Public relations executive Fred Wittner, who said he had been closely associated with Miss Earhart for two years, called the book a "tremendous fiction" and asked why the authors had not compared Miss Earhart's handwriting with that of Mrs. Bolam with whom they had exchanged written communications. The authors claimed handwriting could change over a period of 33 years. Wittner also said the flier's friend called her "AE," not "Amelia" as written in the book.

Briscoe Eyes Race

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Rancher Dolph Briscoe is running for governor.

Briscoe met at his sprawling ranch near Catarena south of Uvalde during the weekend with 45 influential business and civic leaders in what would be billed as his opening strategy session for 1972.

The Uvalde banker and rancher, who ran a surprisingly strong campaign after entering late in 1968, told the gathering this week he's in the 1972 governor's race regardless of who else chooses to run.

Briscoe told his friends and supporters "This is just the first of a series of big strategy meetings we plan to hold across Texas in the coming months."

Supreme Court To Deliberate School Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court has at least five major school cases on its hands, with tough questions to answer on church-state separation, social justice and racial integration.

The court added to the load Monday by agreeing to consider two new cases—one from Florida on the way states allow more money to be spent in rich school districts than in poor ones; a second from Rhode Island on state aid for the salaries of teachers in Roman Catholic schools.

Even before those two were added, the current session already was considering these education-related matters:

Councilmen Zip Through Brief Agenda

City commissioners whipped through a seven-item agenda meeting in record time of 30 minutes this forenoon at City Hall.

The routine business session included paying monthly bills totaling $45,913.83, okaying routine salary changes for city workers, and passing an ordinance on final reading for traffic controls at 23rd and Lynn and at 22nd and Wells streets.

Appointment of the Rev. Sam Hulseby to the Lovett Memorial Library board was approved to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Joe Gordon.

One bid was received on purchase of a 4-door sedan for the public works department. The bidder was Culbertson-Stowers Chevrolet and the price was $2,962.

Authorization was given to re-advertise for bids for a 1½-ton truck cab and chassis.

City Manager Mack Wofford brought commissioners up to date on the Amarillo-Borger-Pampa letter, dispatched to the City of Lubbock asking for talks on recent changes in operating and maintenance costs to member cities in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Unless Foes Gather Around Peace Table

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Gunnar V. Jarring, special U.N. Middle East envoy, has threatened to quit his peace mission if results are not forthcoming by January, diplomatic sources said today.

Jarring, on leave from his job as Sweden's ambassador to Moscow, is scheduled to prepare a report for the Security Council on his mediation efforts in two months.

After spending most of a year shuttling between Israel and the Arab capitals, he suspended his mission for several months and resumed it last summer after the United States negotiated a cease-fire and standstill agreement between Israel and the Arabs.

Jarring's method was to talk separately with Israeli and Arab representatives, inasmuch as the Arabs refused to accept direct talks with Israel.

Israel broke off the talks Sept. 7 charging Egypt violated the agreement by moving up Soviet-built missiles in the Suez Canal standstill zone.

Although Israel was adamant about not resuming talks under Jarring's auspices until the missiles were pulled back, there were strong indications here and in Tel Aviv that it was seeking to remove what was diplomatically termed "this obstacle" to new conversations.

Diplomats were unable to determine whether Jarring was expressing a lack of confidence in eventual success for his mission or whether his reported threat to stop his efforts was a ploy.

The Big Four ambassadors held their 47th meeting since April, 1969, Monday, seeking guidelines for Jarring in his mediation mission.

Diplomatic sources said Ambassador Charles W. Yost told the envoys of the Soviet Union, Britain and France that the United States regarded the Middle East resolution approved by the General Assembly Wednesday as "divisive."

Israel considered the resolution pro-Arab because it called for Israeli withdrawal from occupied territory and did not refer to alleged Egyptian cease-fire violations.

The sources said Yost stated directly at Soviet Ambassador Yakov A. Malik and French Ambassador Jacques Kosciuszko-Morizet when she suggested that those who backed the resolution now provide ideas for getting Jarring's mission under way, again. There was no response, they said.

Saudi Arabian Jet Hijacked To Syria; Skyjacker Detained

DAMASCUS (UPI)—A Saudi Arabian DC3 airliner on a flight from Jordan to Saudi Arabia was hijacked to Damascus today, the official Syria AAB news agency announced.

The agency said Syrian authorities released the plane two hours later and detained the hijacker for interrogation.

It was the second hijack in the Middle East in two days. Monday an Iranian plane was forced to land in Baghdad by six armed persons but was later allowed to resume its flight to Iran.

The Syrian news agency said the Saudi plane, carrying 10 passengers, landed in Damascus at International Airport at 11:10 a.m. 4:10 a.m. EDT after radioing for permission to make an emergency landing.

"But after it landed, it turned out that the plane had been forced to change its course by an armed person," the agency said.

It said the passengers were given lunch at the airport and "all facilities were extended to the plane during the two hours and 15 minutes it stayed in Damascus Airport. Later it took off at the request of its captain but without the hijacker who was detained by authorities for interrogation," the agency said.

The agency gave no details about the nationality of the hijacker or his motives.

The Iranian airliner—also a DC3—almost ran out of fuel Monday before landing safely in Baghdad. It also was threatened with destruction by the hijackers and was menaced by Kuwait military planes.

News In Brief

3rd Diphtheria Victim

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—The city health director announced Monday a 3-year-old boy has become the third diphtheria fatality of the year. The boy died Sunday, three days after he entered a hospital. The health director said the boy contracted diphtheria Nov. 2 and entered the hospital day. The child had received one of the three prescribed anti-diphtheria inoculations.

Texas Firm Lays Off 1,800

DALLAS (UPI)—Texas Instruments Corp. announced today a layoff of 1,800 persons in its Dallas plant because of "continued softness of the markets it serves."

A plant spokesman said the reductions in manpower were made in "semiconductor areas

Railmen Win Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A presidential board, in an effort to resurrect collective bargaining in the railroad industry, has recommended a 3.25 per cent wage increase for workers coupled with changes in work rules the industry claims are inefficient and outmoded.

Nixon To Change Tactics

WESTVILLE, Ohio (UPI)—President Nixon will put "a governor on the mouth" of Vice President Spiro Agnew because of last week's election results, predicts columnist Jack Anderson.

Anderson, in an address Monday to students at Oberlin College said: "The Republican party took a severe beating in last week's election

'Lame Duck' Medical Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the first actions facing "lame duck" members of the House when they meet Monday will be a vote on a bill to give most of them the same liberalized hospital care and insurance fringe benefits they enjoyed as elected members.

The bill's sponsors—the House Administration Committee—was so certain of easy passage that the measure was scheduled under a procedure

Nixon Reviewing Policy

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—President Nixon shifts gears today to begin a foreign policy review with two top diplomatic advisers.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who held extensive talks on the Middle East during his sojourn at the United Nations, will fly here late tonight following a dinner in Washington.

Nixon's national security affairs adviser Henry A. Kissinger, was due at the Florida White House later today or possibly Wednesday.

Blake Laramore and Byron Hash are co-chairmen for the Shriners' serving committee.

English Word No Longer Insulting

LONDON (UPI)—The word "bloody" is not insulting, according to a London magistrate.

When Bernard Shaw included the word "bloody" in Pygmalion everybody was very shocked and it was considered risqué.

Judge Eric Crowther said Monday: "But now no play on our television screens is complete without the word being mentioned several times."

Crowther advised Michael Wemborne, 45, a doctor, to plead innocent to using an insulting word. He then dismissed the charge.

U.S., Canada Urged To Sign Oil Treaty

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Houston oil producer and geologist Michael T. Halbouty said Monday the United States and Canada should sign an oil treaty because North America is fast becoming the last bulwark against communist attempts to take over oil producing countries.

Halbouty, president of an independent oil firm and former president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, said the Nixon administration is to blame in limiting the imports of Canadian crude.

He said there is a growing Soviet influence in most oil producing countries in the world and many nations have nationalized the oil industry.

Halbouty said: "Under a common policy I feel that incentives to find additional crude for U.S. and Canadian security would be forthcoming."

"Greater importation of Canadian petroleum into the United States under a common policy of free trade on important items for both countries is necessary," Halbouty said.

TOKYO (UPI)—American pilots imprisoned in North Vietnam may receive heavier Christmas parcels than they were allowed last year, the Vietnam news agency reports Monday.

As a "humanitarian" gesture, it said, families of captured pilots can send packages up to 11 pounds instead of the 6.5 pound limit imposed last year.

The agency said in a broadcast monitored here the parcels must be sent by post via Moscow and will not be accepted sent by way of any other destination.

Christmas and New Year cards, the agency said, should be addressed to the prisoners care of "C.M.L.I.A.F.A.M.; New York."

TELL-TALE TOUPEE
READING, England (UPI)—John Ellen's toupee cost him a five-year prison sentence.

The hairpiece came off during a robbery at a Reading bakery and police traced Ellen through a serial number.

The toupee was the prosecution's main exhibit Monday when Ellen appeared in court for sentencing on a robbery charge.

Marston C. Meador won the "best speech award" with a talk entitled "The Wonder of Words". Ralph Ford and Dick Markham were voted "best table topic speakers," and Dave Osborne won "best evaluator."

Ten members were present.

Bacterial Infection Hits Babies

HOUSTON (UPI)—A serious bacterial infection has afflicted at least 24 newborn babies in the overcrowded nurseries at Jeff Davis hospital.

Eleven of the infants remained in a special isolation unit, but 12 recovered and went home, hospital officials said Monday.

The infection—technically known as Pathogenic E. Coli—is under control, said Newell J. Vaughan, administrator of the Harris County hospital district.

"There is no cause for alarm."

"We are concerned of course, but this type of infection is not uncommon to hospitals which handle a large amount of newborns," Vaughan said. "As you know, the nurseries at JD have been crowded for several months and it is difficult to prevent all infections under these conditions," he said.

Pampa's Leading FUNERAL DIRECTORS
665-2323

By August Van Guree

DEAR ABBY: I have a small cottage at the rear of my home which we are renting (at very low rent) to my newly married nephew and his wife. They are both teen-agers. We let them live in it for free for over a month.

The problem is that the second night they were married they invited over another teenage couple who are not married, and they let them spend the night there.

I told them that I would not object to their having overnight guests providing they were married, but I was not going to stand for their having unmarried kids staying with them all night.

I have children of my own and I do not think it sets a good example for them to see unmarried teens "living" together back there. I realize that if my nephew and his wife approve of that sort of thing, they could invite their friends over and let them do whatever they want — and it wouldn't take all night, but I still think I am right to forbid them to let their unmarried friends stay together all night. Am I wrong?

DEAR WILLING: Not in my book.

DEAR ABBY: I have a dear friend I'll call Mary, whom I have known for years. Mary's two biggest problems are her health and a husband who has abused her in every way possible.

She has seen many specialists, and they all tell her it's "nerves," about which little can be done. Mary's husband squanders his money on drinking companions and other women, and there have been times when I have had to lend Mary money to feed her family.

Mary calls me and cries every day. She keeps asking, "Should I leave him?" I always give her the same answer, "That's for you to decide." She left him a few months ago, but he talked her into taking him back. Now he treats her worse than ever.

Designer Creates Ladylike Fashions

By PATRICIA Mc CORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) —Designer Adele Simpson, considered peerless as a designer of ladylike clothes, brings back the huge fringed shawl for spring. Triangular-shaped shawl, that is.

The prettiest in her collection, seen Thursday, matched a nearly ankle-length silk dress printed in what she described as a rose festival pattern. The shawl was so huge its back point fell to the hem of the dress.

For spring, Mrs. Simpson, winner of many designing awards, also likes ladylike capes. One was shown with a daydress several inches below the knee. It matched the red dress and was slightly longer. Another daytime cape was a neat above the elbow-length one that matched a navy glen plaid tailored dress.

Mrs. Simpson, whose customers include Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, endorsed the jumper and the jumper look—the latter being a dress with sleeves set in to look like a blouse. She also favored the coat and shirtwaist dress, in neutrals, navy and paintbox colors. None of these was mid-length.

HONOLULU (UPI) —James V. Halj ran unsuccessfully for the legislature. Needing a job, he placed an ad in the classified sections of the local papers during the weekend.

It reads: "Unemployed politician seeks challenge commensurate with qualifications. Good speaker. Writer. Education. High Q. Low voter appeal."

A COMPROMISE
SAMBLESBURY, England (UPI) — Villagers fighting against construction of a brewery because it ruined Sablesbury's visual charm won their case Friday—up to a point. Town fathers said $168,000 have been donated by the brewery's owners toward planting 10,000 trees, shrubs and bushes to shield the building from the eyes of passersby.

Designer Simpson, sticking with the formula that has made her successful, served up only ladylike clothes. There wasn't a peek-a-boo or transparent top look in the collection.

The pants outfits that opened the collection were four parters, meant for those who want to be comfortable while going from here to there by plane. The pants had matching wrap-around skirts and mid-length trench coats plus dotted or printer blouses self-bowed at the neck. These came in red and navy versions. Worn with huge-brimmed hats they were indeed, ladylike.

For after five, Mrs. Simpson liked pastels nearly to the ankle dresses, some with skirts decked in flouncing. The fabrics she favored were crepe, silk and chiton.

Soft dressings were how she described the evening silhouette, featuring many chiffon cages in pale ice cream colors.

Phi Epsilon Beta Members Plan 'Football Party'

Members of Phi Epsilon Beta of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the home of Mrs. Carroll Russell for a business meeting.

President, Mrs. Dennis Wyatt, presided over the business meeting, with reports being given by committee chairmen and officers.

Special guest for the evening was Elda Landon from Girlstown whom the chapter is sponsoring for the year. Vice-president, Mrs. Sammy Giddeon, announced a "Football Party" is planned in the home of Mrs. Mike Clark at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 13.

The program "Am I Intellectually Competent" was given by Mrs. Harold Taylor and Mrs. Wilbur Walls.

ROAD RUNDOWN

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The federal Highway Administration says there now are more than 3.71 million miles of roads in the United States, including 548,573 miles of city roads and streets and 3,161,726 miles in rural areas.

The agency also said 21 percent — or 796,000 miles — of all the country's roads are not surfaced.

Scouting Scoops

Senior Girl Scouts from Pampa and Borger spent a weekend at their new council campsite located near Clarendon recently with Explorer, Scouts and members of the Order of the Arrow.

Scouts worked together to clear trails and trim trees at camp. On Sunday morning a church service was conducted by the scouts, while those wishing to attend church in town were taken by car.

Members of the professional staff present were: Miss Celia Fowler, executive director, Mrs. Jack Duke, camp director, and Mrs. T.M. Whiteley, district director.

Other adult sponsors were Mrs. C.L. Garrett, Phillips, and Mrs. Walter Morgan, Borger. Also from Borger were Marvin Thompson, Bob Thompson, Jack Duke and Pat Rion. Sponsors from Pampa included Bill Felter and Paul Edwards.

Adult work crews present were Chairman of the Camping Committee, Pat Rion from Borger; Bill Mackey, Wayne Hampton, Eugene Turner, Don Johnson, Michael Wilson, Newt Secrest and Don Fletcher, all from Pampa. Male sponsors were also members of the work crews.

Scouts attending were from Pampa, Borger, and Clarendon.

Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

MOBEETTIE (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Carter were honored for their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception held in the home of their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hefley and family.

They were married Oct. 17, 1920. Host and Hostess for the event were their Children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hefley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alexander and family and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carter and family.

Center pieces were of gold mums and yellow roses with a three-tier cake topped with wedding bells.

Granddaughters Carla, Alexander served the punch while Linda Carter served the cake. Glenda Roberts and Lisa Murrell registered the 124 guests.

LIGHT-HEARTED — The gypsy mood of fall is captured in this fly-away dress of floral-printed cotton accented with touches of gold tuck. A wide belt cinches the waist of the laced bodice, and ruffle flounces adorn the full sleeves and gathered skirt.

THE SILHOUETTE — In the right proportion for fashion, 1970, is this cotton velour ensemble by Kirsti. The midi coat buttons to the waist, then swings freely to expose wide straight trousers. A super wide leather belt by Elegant faces up the midriff.

'Yippie' Rubin Vows To Topple West Society On TV Show

LONDON (UPI)—Perhaps it would never have happened if David Frost had agreed to smoke pot with Jerry Rubin.

Rubin, a founder of the American Youth International (Yippie) party, had just lit a cigarette on Frost's live British television program Saturday evening.

Laughing, he offered it to the British-born master of ceremonies, suggesting it was a marijuana "joint" and would do them both good. Frost smiled and shook his head, turning it down.

That did it. At a nod from Rubin, about 20 hippies rose from their places in the studio audience and advanced on the stage, sprinkling flower-petals and four-letter obscenities as they came.

Millions watched as the shaggy-haired Rubin, free on bail pending appeal of his conviction for inciting to riot while a defendant at the "Chicago Seven" trial, puffed on his cigarette and laughed. Frost made his way to a seat in the audience.

Rubin told Frost he and his followers wanted to topple Western society and replace it with one not oriented to money.

"If you're so much against money," Frost asked, controlling his temper, "why did you demand twice the fee we normally pay guests for appearing on the show?"

"Why not?" Rubin said. "We're going to use it to buy bombs to destroy your society."

Frost tried to answer—and got a water pistol squirted in his face.

Author-playwright Robert Ardrey, Frost's next guest, leaped to his feet. "When are you going to reach puberty?" he shouted. "I have never seen such an infantile performance."

Frost and Ardrey, author of ecological-anthropological studies such as "The Territorial

'Southern Strategy' Fails Nixon On Nov. 3: Wilkins

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, says President Nixon's "Southern Strategy" failed him in the Nov. 3 elections because the President failed to assume the great majority of Southern whites are careless of the rights of Negroes.

Wilkins also said the Republican administration used scare tactics and traded on a law and order issue tainted with racial overtones.

"I think Mr. Nixon has made a great mistake here," Wilkins said at a news conference at the Louisiana NAACP convention Sunday. "I think that he feels that Southern white people are a unit on the way they feel about these problems and they are not a unit."

"Some of them believe that Negroes are going too fast and others believe that they are going too slowly, and some of them are outraged by the treatment accorded Negroes and some of them think it's fine."

"So, if in Mr. Nixon's Southern strategy he aims to please the white people in the South by ignoring the needs of Negroes, then he is failing to recognize that a great many Southerners believe that the Negro has been shortchanged."

Wilkins said he expects Nixon to scrap the "Southern strategy."

"They're going to change because they're politicians first of all and they want to win in 1972 and they cannot win in 1972 with the policies of 1970," he said.

CAUGHT ON FAST

CHESTER, England (UPI)—Mini-skirted girls dancing to rock music at the newly opened Silhouette discotheque couldn't figure out why their dates spent more time staring at the floor and laughing than doing the "rug or Boogaloo with them."

"We caught on fast after someone noticed the floor was polished stainless steel and a natural mirror," said 20-year-old hairdresser Pat Dutton. She and some friends complained immediately to the manager, who promised to take action.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is early in the morning and Dr. Merganser and I are crouching in the blind watching for lame ducks.

"There's one now," Dr. Merganser cries, shielding his eyes against the ascending sun. "You can tell by the way it lurches and flounders. Must have been hit pretty badly."

Ordinarily, nobody pays much attention to lame ducks. They flock in after an election just long enough to sign up for official trips that congressional committees deem necessary to save the republic.

Then they are off and winging to Paris or some other distant spot that requires a stopover in Paris. At government expense.

Lame Duck's Swan Song

This post-election junket, or last fling, usually is a lame duck's (ahem) swan song. But this year things are different. This year Congress is saving the republic here at home.

With a post-election session starting next week, lame duck identification assumes some importance. So I asked Dr. Merganser, a veteran political ornithologist, to give me a few pointers.

"There are several species and subspecies of lame ducks," he reported. "The sore-headed sulker probably is the most common variety. It is a member of the species known as umbrage-taking albatross.

"Characteristically, the sore-headed sulker is badly ruffled after an election defeat, so approach him with caution.

"Another familiar type of lame duck is the incipient comebacker. Although thoroughly beaten less than fortnight ago, the incipient comebacker already is planning to run again in the next election.

The Same Species

"For classification purposes, he is a member of the same species as the perennial aspirant and the chronic campaigner.

"Certainly one of the most interesting and distinctive species of lame duck is the presidential underwing. He is a Republican House member that the President persuaded to run for the Senate in hopes of knocking off some obdurate Democrat.

officers, management and personnel who will continue in their present capacities.

With the addition of GKG Services, Inc., known as Gates, Kingsley, Gates Funeral Directors, and upon completion of other pending acquisitions, SCI will own and operate 71 funeral locations, 34 cemeteries and other related facilities in the United States and Canada.

Woolworth's Sales Rise In 5-Weeks

NEW YORK. — F.W. Woolworth reported today that consolidated sales for the five weeks ended Oct. 31 reached a record total of $32,240,565, an increase of 7.9 per cent over sales of $21,526,586 for the comparable period last year.

Woolworth's Sales Rise In 5-Weeks

NEW YORK. — F.W. Woolworth reported today that consolidated sales for the five weeks ended Oct. 31 reached a record total of $32,240,565, an increase of 7.9 per cent over sales of $21,526,586 for the comparable period last year.

"While figures for the five-week period were affected by the general economy," according to Lester A. Burcham, chairman, and John S. Roberts, president, "they represent record sales."

Rice Feed Store Features Livestock's Health Needs

Ronnie Rice is the owner and operator of Rice's Feed Store located at 522 S. Cuyler. Rice has been in this business for six years now.

Rice's Feed Store is the place to go to buy animal feeds, health products, and also lawn and garden products.

This is the time of the year to plant hyacinth, jonquil, and tulip bulbs and to treat your lawns for prevention of crab grass by applying Pax. Rice's Feed Store is the place to get all your needs for lawn care and the right store to buy winter bulbs.

Rice carries a complete line of feeds and range cubes including the Purina and Acco brands. He also has the wild bird feed as well as the livestock feed. FFA and 4H boys keep in mind Rice's also carries the grooming products you may need for your livestock. Rice's Feed Store is the ideal store to purchase excellent feed.

This time of year it's necessary to take steps to protect range calves. New-born calves are subject to many types of diseases caused by weather conditions.

Stock your barn with nutrients and preventives to be sure of healthy calves. Rice's carries a number of vaccines, pen strip, terramycin, and other medicines for livestock.

Go down to Rice's feed Store, 522 S. Cuyler, to purchase your feed, medicines, and lawn and garden supplies.

Columbia University Professor Claims Colleges 'Over Train'

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Columbia University professor, Dr. Ivar E. Berg, Jr., accuses universities of perpetrating "a great training robbery" on young people.

He says colleges educate young people for 1 jobs which they ultimately discover are commonplace and don't require use of knowledge gained in school. Dr. Berg says this makes more and more students cynical about the value of education.

An aptitude expert, Charles Rudman, director of Klein Institute in New York, agrees. "Companies still are insisting on college graduates for jobs which obviously do not require a college education," he said.

Prof. Paul Hollander of University of Massachusetts at Amherst said in a letter to The New York Times that the standards of college are being lowered by the climate of permissiveness in society. This is causing, he said, a disastrous increase in the number of unqualified degree holders.

Professor Hollander told United Press International he did not have the problems of business specifically in mind in making his criticism. As a sociologist he is concerned about the political and social impact of the educational problem.

Aptitude expert Rudman says top management usually is to blame for the insistence in business on college degrees for routine jobs. Some executives may know a high school grad would do a better job but somebody up above insists on a degree holder "who can grow with the company."

Business is seeing the light at last, Rudman said. "In the future there will be more realistic hiring standards for people, from salesmen to top managers." But if management is going to hire more extensively from high schools or community colleges, Ruman said, more attention will have to be devoted to aptitudes.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—TPO Inc. believes "the technical probabilities (are) now heavily in favor of a short term rally." The company says the "minor correction" of the past few weeks seems to have "terminated" and the rally — "coming at a time when the market has been oversold at a strong support area" — could last a "minimum" of two to four weeks.

The market "seems to be waiting for something, without knowing quite what," the Dines Letter says. The newsletter says most stocks are testing their lows for the year, "and with tax-loss selling just ahead, the picture for depressed stocks does not look overly ruddy."

"The market has the appearance of a young bull," Harris, Upham & Co. says. But the company says the bull needs "to strengthen his legs and muscles — before he starts charging." The company is uneasy about the near term because the market is "facing the artificial pressure of year-end tax selling over the next two months."

The "traditional Republican stance of fiscal responsibility: (balanced budgets)" may be scrapped, Spear and Staff Inc. believes. The company foresees "massive deficits as the Nixon team labors to get the economy" rolling before the 1972 elections. The company believes profits should respond but it will take time for Wall Street to gain confidence in the "game plan" changes and "this points to a gradual and erratic bull market."

Foreign News Commentary

Italian recognition of Red China brings to seven the number of NATO nations having diplomatic relations with the mainland regime of Mao Tse-tung and the world-wide total to 46.
The Red Chinese are doing considerably better than the Communist East German regime which has embassies in the capitals of 25 nations, 13 of which are Communist.
No NATO nation recognizes East Germany.

Since both have had difficulty gaining entrance into the world family of nations, their case histories are worth comparison.
East Germany's difficulties arose from the so-called Hallstein Doctrine under which West Germany automatically broke relations with any nation recognizing the East.

It was formulated in 1955 by Walter Hallstein, then state secretary in the West German Foreign Ministry, and first applied in 1957 against Yugoslavia.

It broke down as East Germany became an economic power in her own right 10th among the world's industrial nations. In May of 1969, Iraq became the first of the Arab nations to recognize East Germany and was followed by Cambodia and then by most of the other Arab nations.

There was no diplomatic retaliation by West Germany. Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek uses the Hallstein theory technique against Red China. Against the urging of the United States and other nations, he automatically breaks relations with any nation recognizing the mainland regime.

For Chiang as with West Germany, the question becomes one of diminishing returns, and whether finally Nationalist China might find itself in the grip of the same isolation it now attempts to impose on the Communists.

Politically, Nationalist China long has been on the decline. Sixty-six nations recognize her but few maintain full-size embassies in Taipei.

Television Schedule

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

Casualties: "Bracken's World" NBC-TV's series about the behind-the-scenes goings-on at a movie studio, has been canceled effective this midseason. The producers of CBS-TV's "The Governor and J.J.," a situation comedy about a governor and his daughter, say that series also received its cancellation notice Monday, effective midseason too.

The Headliners: Robert Young, star of the nation's most popular television series, ABC-TV's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," told "Variety" correspondent Dave Kaufman that the network at first was reluctant to have him in the show, and that he actually tested for the role despite being in the business 40 years.

CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan devotes his entire Nov. 22 program to a tribute to composer Richard Rodgers on his 50th anniversary in show business, with guests including Herschel Bernardi, Shirley Jones and the Lennon Sisters. Same network's new, stumbling Andy Griffith series, "The Headmaster," about a school principal dealing with contemporary problems, is reported being revamped so the star will return to something closer to the format of his old, No. 1-rated situation comedy.

Petula Clark has an hour variety special on ABC-TV Dec. 9, and her guests include Peggy Lee, Dean Martin and David Frost. Flip Wilson's Dec. 10 NBC-TV outing features Lena Horne and Tony Randall. Pearl Bailey's one-hour weekly ABC-TV variety series, scheduled for a January premiere, has gone into production. Wednesday night's "Kraft Music Hall" on NBC-TV headlines impressionists David Frye, Frank Gorshin, Edie Adams, George Kirby and Rich Little.

The 45th birthday of the late Robert Kennedy will be marked by the "Today" series Nov. 20 with an interview of his widow. An NBC-TV Thanksgiving Day special Nov. 26, from historic Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C., will offer American music ranging from folk tunes to pop hits, with James Stewart as narrator and Andy Williams as host. Other performers on the prime time hour, "Festival at Ford's," will be Henry Mancini, Pearl Bailey, Dionne Warwick, Bobbie Gentry, Ernie Ford and The Supremes.

The Programs: Radiation dangers are examined in a half-hour CBS-TV documentary, "How Peaceful the Peaceful Atom?" next Tuesday. "It Couldn't Be Done," NBC-TV's hour orchid to such American achievements as the Panama Canal and Golden Gate Bridge, will be repeated Feb. 9. A look at illegal picking and processing of marijuana as it grows wild in Kansas is offered on CBS-TV's "60 Minutes" tonight.

Five Stations Reject Banking TV Show

HOUSTON (UPI) —The Texas Banking Association has tried to keep the television documentary "Banks and the Poor" from being shown on the state's five educational stations because the TBA says the program is not objective.

KUHT-TV, the University of Houston station, plans to run the program at 8 p.m. tonight, and educational stations in Dallas and College Station say they will run the program also.

Robert Schenken of KLRN in Austin-San Antonio said his station postponed the program in order to take a closer look at the written transcript. Schenken said a few things in the film may be "unfair and confusing" at first glance.

John Henson, program director for KTXT-TV in Lubbock said his station made a decision not to broadcast the program even before the banking association broached the subject. The association sent letters to the state's educational stations complaining about the program, which concentrates on financial institutions in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C.

James L. Bauer, manager of KUHT in Houston, said his station received a letter signed by Sam Kimberlin Jr., executive director of the banking association.

Kimberlin asked the station to show the program to the KUHT trustees. If the trustees agreed with the association's objections, that the program be canceled.

Bauer said he has felt no local pressure to cancel the program.

Bauer said the association sent the letter asking that the program be canceled and based his conclusion on a regular Educational Broadcasting System news release. The letter said the program's treatment of banking does not present a true picture of financial institutions in Texas.

Hollywood Reports

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jill St. John, one of Hollywood's great beauties and fashion leaders, is going into the dress business for women who can't afford the expensive new styles.

The piquant redhead is having her own clothes copied and retailed at what she calls "cheap" prices.

Thus, if Jill pays, say, $300 for a sports ensemble it will sell for approximately $30 in a nation-wide chain of discount stores in which Miss St. John does no shopping at all.

How Costs Are Cut
Jill was asked how a $300 outfit can be copied for a tenth that much and still bear any resemblance to the original.

"Well, first of all we don't include the label of the original creator. The dresses will probably be made in Hong Kong because the labor is less. The fabrics will be different too. The materials will wear longer and be washable."

Jill's motivations aren't altogether economic.

"I think it's unfair of famous women to wear the latest fashions that cost a fortune and then have them photographed or publicized," she said.

Jill was wearing a brown dress that covered her curves from the tip of her toes almost to her chin. It was, she thinks, a hint of things to come.

"Once the human eye gets accustomed to the new lengths then the fashions will snowball. Eventually, lengths will go down to just above the ankles. I'm all for it. Girls should keep themselves covered up."

PUBLISHER FINED

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—The Penguin Publishing Co. was fined $112 today for distributing the American novel, "Portnoy's Complaint."

Magistrate Edward Ross found Penguin Books, Australia, Ltd., guilty of having published, distributed and sold an obscene article.

Ross ordered destruction of 414 copies of the book, seized by the vice squad in raids on Melbourne bookshops.

JEANE DIXON
Your Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 11, 1970
Your birthday Wednesday: This year your introspective side develops far more than the closed surface you present to the world. Your intuition sharpens and occasional sparkling moments of clarity light your way through a path of frustration ahead. (Use that time for reflection; planning when it comes.) Your limitations this year are superficial, and are transcended by your becoming a better aware person. Wednesday's natives have inventive minds, make convivia friends and formidable adversaries.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Caution about finances should mark your day, at least until evening after your intuition has had time to work. Pursue romantic or sentimental feelings.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The same events that prevail as Tuesday. Retain your serenity and the whole shadow dissolves as a bad dream long as the afternoon. Then you can wind up the day well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You still feel excited on Wednesday, as well as conflicting energies. Wait, if out. Things come up right later in the evening and you can have a pleasant evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Seek some creative outlet that has not been overused lately; explore it alone. Esthetic factors, poetry, vision are things that matter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Home life and career efforts are at cross purposes. Settle personal affairs first; if possible, take the day off for catching up on family discrepancies.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Most of Wednesday belongs properly to private considerations, meditation, health care. Go back refreshed to the work-world late in the day or even better, Thursday.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The early half of Wednesday is variable and your work is sidetracked by outside factors. Keep matters uncomplicated and in shape for later review.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The more you fret on Wednesday, the more the less will be achieved. People have to drift a bit, bumble into place. The evening is more interesting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your public life is full of minor obstacles. Your private affairs, however, inclinations turn out to be memorable in the evening, according to what you do about them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Let everything ride now wherever you can. Give others a chance to see the problem and possible solutions. The evening is for social activities—there may be somebody new.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Keep your last and good humor going, as mine of Wednesday is not really funny. Things tend to straighten out, and you go full speed ahead in the afternoon.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Wait a while for acquaintance to grow into friendship. If it does, then it will be time to trust and confide. The evening is for some lively conversation.

PAMPA, TEXAS 43rd YEAR Tuesday, November 16, 1970 PAMPA DAILY NEWS

Carlen Not Worried About Baylor Jinx

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Muhammad Ali has moved rapidly from the dark side of American opinion into the bright.

His victory after a 3 1/2-year ring layoff is one thing, for we are much taken by determination and success. But perhaps more important, Ali becomes better understood as Americans come to understand themselves better.

He defied the Army before it was a popular cause among many young Americans. He said he was a conscientious objector on religious grounds before the Supreme Court ruled that our C.O. laws must be broader. He spoke of his being "beautiful" before "Black is Beautiful" meant more than physical prettiness.

The judgment of Ali was clouded by his other actions: His joining the rumor-shrouded Black Muslims; his almost maniacal behavior at times ("I am king of the world, I'm a bad one. I am the king. Ain't nobody goin' to stop me. I'm still pretty," he ranted in the ring after winning the world's heavyweight championship from Sonny Liston); his flunking the Army's mental abilities test; his voluble "Louisville Lip"; even his suing the promoter of a computer fight which had him losing the all-time title to Rocky Marciano.

An interesting explanation for Ali's unpopularity is made in the forthcoming movie of his life, "a.k.a. Cassius Clay." Cassius Clay, it contends, evoked the wrath of whites because he stopped being "the next best thing to a white man."

The wrath was felt before he joined the Muslims in 1964 and before he refused military induction (1967). The boasting began the hate: "Anger and fear multiplied by disappointment and resentment" that he was coming to love himself with such immodesty.

When he joined the Muslims and refused to go into the Army, he no longer was the Olympic gold medal hero, the handsome, ideal American kid—money-hungry, on the make, untroubled by ideas.

Times change. Ali becomes more acceptable. Blacks become more acceptable. The Vietnam war becomes less acceptable. Muslims are not as fearsome to whites today as the Black Panthers. Mrs. Martin Luther King, Whitney Young, Henry Aaron, Bill Cosby and Sidney Poitier are at ringside for the Quarry fight and show their support for Ali, for his prowess as an athlete and his "dignity" as a black man.

He becomes more acceptable because his successful comeback artistically is respected. For a faint analogy, Richard Nixon's comeback from a California gubernatorial defeat was also respected.

Even his boasting is finally respected because, like Joe Namath in the Super Bowl, he bracked up what he said. (When Henry Cooper knocked him down in a London fight, Ali recalled: "It was rather embarrassing. I was supposed to be the greatest and there I was on my back. I had to get up and put him away." He did, in the next round.)

Finally, and ironically, it is his shift toward the middle that may be the biggest factor in the changing public opinion. The "new, subdued" Ali retains his pride and convictions and charm without childish limericks and braggadocio.

He is now a 28-year-old man with a wife and three daughters; he has suffered in a limbo for 3 1/2 years with a jail sentence imminent and still threatening. He has changed with age. And so have we.

Foster Doesn't Like Frazier Fight Odds In Upcoming Bout

DETROIT (UPI)—Bob Foster, the light-heavyweight king with the heavy ideas, says the odds against him beating Joe Frazier next week aren't right.

Joe Louis agrees. "A lotta people are selling this fight short," Foster said of his Nov. 18 bout with Frazier for his heavyweight crown.

"There's some long odds that aren't right. I came to Detroit for one reason—to win," Foster added. "I pick Foster to win," Louis said, returning to the town he grew up in Monday for the first time since October of 1969. "He is a good puncher and I gotta go with the puncher. Frazier is too easy to hit."

"You've got to respect a man who can punch as hard as he can. He hits as hard as anybody I've ever seen. He may even hit harder than (Rocky) Marciano."

The trim-looking Louis was only in town for one day. He returned to his Denver home, where he has been undergoing treatment on an outpatient basis for emotional problems.

Starr Is Back In Starring Role With The Fickle Football Fans

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—It wasn't too many weeks ago the fans were booing Bart Starr.

The 36-year-old Starr was having his problems and Green Bay fans felt Don Horn, just 25 and the Packers quarterback of the future could do a better job running the ball club.

The fans got their chance to see Horn as a starter Monday night—and so did the Baltimore Colts.

"I felt a lot better out there when I saw it was him starting instead of Starr," said Colts safety Rick Volk.

As it turned out, Volk picked off two of Horn's passes. Horn was booed by the partisan Wisconsin crowd. And the Colts got a 13-10 victory—one that left them three games in the lead, with a 7-1 record, in the American Football Conference's Eastern Division.

Green Bay in Third Place The loss left Green Bay in third, three games behind leading Minnesota and one behind second-place Detroit, in the National Conference's Central Division.

A steady rain fell during the day Monday and throughout the game, making the field extremely soggy.

The Packers "stole" a 3-0 lead on the Colts in the first quarter.

A 16-yard field goal by Jim O'Brien following Volk's first interception was called good. But the Packers were called for holding and the Colts rejected the points to take a first down on the Packers four instead. On the first play, Bob Jeter stepped in front of Johnny Orr in the end zone and intercepted a John Unitas pass.

After the Baltimore defense held, Donny Anderson punted. The ball hit Ron Gardin's hand and bounced away with Packer Rich McGee's falling on the ball. That set up a 20-yard goal.

Baltimore drove 80 yards to take the lead with 3:42 left in the half and Jimmy Hill swept left end on a pitchout for a 15-yard touchdown.

Abilene Christian Places Five Men In Track Top Ten

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—Abilene Christian College, placing five men in the top ten, captured its sixth straight Southland Conference cross-country championship Monday.

ACC has won the title every year of the conference's existence.

Gerry Garcia of Lamar Tech ran off with individual honors over the four mile course through the Arlington Park Golf Course. He was timed in 20:06, 31 seconds ahead of Arkansas State's Bob Gray.

ACC wound up with 34 points while Arkansas State finished second with 54. Lamar Tech was next with 66 followed by Texas-Arlington with 73 and Trinity with 135.

Ragnar Schie of Abilene Christian finished third in the individual competition with a time of 20:46 while Walt Hamond of Texas-Arlington was fourth and Barry Collins of Lamar Tech was fifth.

Detroit's Basketball Team Working Again

DETROIT (UPI)—The University of Detroit's 25 varsity and freshman basketball players boycotted practice for a week because they didn't want to play under Coach Jim Harding.

Monday, following a meeting with the controversial coach, they were all back in uniform and on the court and Harding promised that "everything will be run just as it was before last week."

He indicated there were no plans to change his coaching policy and said, "after 41 years I have to do it my way."

Victory Romp Sends Notre Dame Into Tie With UT For Top Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—Who's No. 1. Notre Dame? Texas?

Supporters of both teams would be right today since both Notre Dame and Texas share the nation's No. 1 ranking. Both the Fighting Irish and the Longhorns, who boast identical 7-0 records, received 13 first-place votes each and 310 points to finish in a dead tie for first place among the nation's major college teams in the eighth week's balloting by the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches.

Ohio State, with seven first-place votes and 281 points, took third with Nebraska, which captured the remaining two first-place nominations, fourth with 243.

Michigan was fifth in the balloting, followed by Stanford, Auburn, Arkansas, Louisiana State and Tennessee to complete the top 10.

Notre Dame, by virtue of its tie with Texas, becomes the third team in as many weeks to occupy the No. 1 ranking with, oddly enough, none of the top three teams losing.

Booster Club Will Meet In Cafeteria

The Harvester Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Pampa High School cafeteria, according to Bill Harris, club president.

Films of the Harvesters' 34-2 loss to the Palo Duro Dons will be presented by Swede Lee. A special color film showing highlights from last year's South west conference games will also be shown.

Collins Wants To Be Sure He's Warmed Up For Cow Palace Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nate Collins wants to be sure he's properly warmed up before he steps into the Cow Palace ring tonight for a middleweight bout against Emile Griffith.

Collins, a hard puncher with seven straight victories, plans to spar three rounds in the dressing room with fellow San Franciscan Jimmy Lester 15 minutes before taking on Griffith.

Lester and Collins both agree that Nate doesn't really get in the groove until he's been stung a few times. But Lester, unlike Collins, believes Griffith will win the bout.

"Nate is ready for this fight," but he's not going to win," Lester said. "I don't want to belittle Nate, but he doesn't have the ring experience and he doesn't know what to do in certain situations."

Emile, now 32, has held championships in the welter and middleweight classes five separate times. He hopes a victory over Collins will pave the way to a sixth crown, the world middleweight title now held by Carlos Monzon of Argentina.

Griffith, a New York resident born in the Virgin Islands, has an overall record of 66-11-0 compared to Collins' 21-13-0.

LA Rams Being Sued By McRae

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Franklin McRae, a third-year pro from Tennessee State, filed a $122,500 breach of contract suit against the Los Angeles Rams Monday.

The 6-foot-7, 255-pound defensive tackle suffered a broken leg in a training camp scrimmage before the 1969 season and missed the entire year. He reinjured the leg in a practice session before this season.

McRae, 26, claimed in the suit that the Rams owe him $22,500 in salary, $50,000 in damages for breach of contract and another $50,000 for negligence.

McRae originally was drafted by the Chicago Bears on the sixth round in 1966. He played in five games for the National Football League team in 1967, was released and spent 1968 in the Continental League.

The Rams signed him as a free agent prior to 1969.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Tech football Coach Jim Carlen says he could have spotted Baylor as a good football team three or four weeks ago.

But then, he says, the onlookers would have snickered out of the sides of their mouths, rushed outside and really had a good guffaw or two.

Baylor, which lost 10 in a row and threatened to make it 20 this year. Haw! Haw!

So Carlen didn't say anything. He just waited around, keeping his thoughts to himself. And here comes Baylor. Wham! They up and whip Texas A&M. Then they give TCU a run for their lives.

But then came the Texas game and the Bears were scheduled to go into hibernation. But they hold the Longhorns to 21 points and the last team in the South-west Conference to do that was Arkansas last year and they were the second best team in the country at the time.

Well, Carlen and his Red Raiders have to play Baylor this weekend and the Texas Tech coach has only four more days to get his charges inspired for the game.

In fact, Carlen is more worried about the condition of his team than he is about the Baylor jinx.

"A jinx can't defeat you—people do that," he said Monday at his weekly luncheon. "What we've got to do this week is get ready to play those people."

Tech has never beaten Baylor at Waco. Tech beat Texas in 1968, (they were the last team to come out of a football game with more points on the scoreboard than Texas) and appeared certain to be headed for the Cotton Bowl. The mathematics were on their side since their only conference loss was to Arkansas and Texas had beaten the Hogs that year and the Cotton Bowl folks have a rule that in case of a tie the team that has waited the longest to play in Dallas on New Year's Day gets the invite.

Well, Tech has never played and it appeared they would finish in a three-way tie with Texas and Arkansas. They had to get by Baylor, of course, but everyone was doing that in what was to be John Bridges' final year as head coach. But something happened and Baylor scored three touchdowns in the final quarter and won the game.

That was just the last chapter in the jinx story.

But Carlen says he hasn't got time for all that foolishness—"My problem is getting our kids well and ready to go."

"We're the only team in the Southwest Conference who plays 11 straight football games without a break," Carlen said. "We have to be up every week, and some of our kids just keep taking a licking. We've got to get some of them healthy by Saturday."

"A month ago if I had told you Baylor was a good team you would have said here we go again. But today, after the way the Bears played Texas TCU and defeated Texas A&M, maybe you can understand."

Carlen said many Raiders are suffering from the bruises so practices will be lighter this week than usual.

Darrell Royal Remembers How Distasteful It Is To Lose

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A certain amount of success is apt to spoil a person. Napoleon said it once, and Darrell Royal said it again Monday.

Royal was giving his weekly lecture to the press Monday and he was chronicling the woes of a team that had to struggle for a win over the Baylor Bears and things were getting more depressing by the minute.

"I was apprehensive going up there (to Waco) that the team might let down," Royal said. "It's amazing the gap that can be closed when the adrenalin flows on one side and fails to flow on the other."

"Logically we had more to prepare for than they did. We were No. 1 and undefeated, and had to look at that and the games ahead. They had only that one game to look at, and brother, did they look at it."

Royal's comments came before he learned his team was locked in a tie for the top spot with Notre Dame in United Press International's coaches' poll, but the subject of national rankings popped up as it usually does.

The conversation got around to the rankings by way of Royal's decision to kick on a fourth down and short yardage situation from midfield while holding a 21-7 lead in the final period. The kick was blocked and Baylor ran it in for a touchdown.

"If we had been playing for the polls we would have gone for the first down," Royal said. "But we don't play that way. We look at those things in this manner:

"First, we play a game for the local situation. Then we consider the importance of a game in the Southwest Conference. After that, we may think about the national ratings."

"If you take care of the first two, the last will follow."

Texas Longhorns Fall In Southwest Conference Statistics After Close Win Over Baylor Bears

DALLAS (UPI)—SMU's Gary Hammond and Texas Tech's Doug McCutchen made the big move in the Southwest Conference statistics this week, and the Texas Longhorn rushing game was the big loser.

Hammond, who gained 190 yards against Texas A&M, and McCutchen, who got 204 yards against TCU, emerged from last week's action as the chief challengers to Texas' Steve Worster for the league's rushing title.

Worster remained in the top spot with an average of 104.9 yards a game. But McCutchen moved into second place with a 99-yard average and Hammond was in third with an 83.1-yard average.

The Longhorns as a team picked up only 244 yards on the ground in their 21-14 squeaker against Baylor, and that comparatively paltry sum lowered Texas' pre-game rushing average to 370.5 yards. That put Texas behind the 391-yard pace set by Oklahoma in 1966 when it established the NCAA single season rushing record.

SMU's Chuck Hixson, who still is tops in passing figures although he sat out his first game as a collegian last Saturday.

Derek Davis of Baylor, No. 1 in pass receiving, having caught an average of 4.8 passes a game.

Marc Dove of Texas Tech, leading in punt returns with a 15.3-yard average for 10 returns.

Macon Hughes of Rice, the leading kickoff returner with a 32.1-yard average on nine returns.

Baylor's Ed Marsh, who is tops in punting with a 41.5-yard average.

ABM May Fire Pellets

Men close to the problem say privately that within the next three to five years the United States should be in a position to begin the development of a radically new type of antiballistic missile.

It could be another five to eight years after that, however, before the new system would be ready for operation, even with full congressional support and financial backing.

As now envisioned, the 1980 ABM will be nonomitic. Therefore, there will not be the danger, as now, of blacking out our own defense radar and making our own ABMs ineffective.

The defense missiles may fire swarms of pellets, about the size, perhaps, of pellets in ordinary shotgun shells.

Theoretically, at the tremendous speeds possible, even such tiny pellets should be able to destroy intercontinental missiles in flight.

To make such a nonomitic ABM system practical, the defense missiles must be very accurate. They probably will carry some sort of homing device, likely a heat-seeker. The incoming missiles presumably would be the hottest things around.

Craft Training Neglected

No matter how much money the government devoted to education, there would be calls for more. Yet for every $14 of federal money invested in universities, only $1 is spent on vocational education.

Vocational education is a forgotten stepchild with not powerful lobby in Washington looking out for its interests.

But conventional education, on which we spend so much money in the belief that it is the answer to poverty, will not eradicate or even reduce poverty, claims one government official.

Poverty would be reduced not by opening new universities but by offering education with a vocational purpose, says Marvin J. Feldman of the U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity and director of the presidential task force on vocational education and poverty.

He proposes a national system of vocation with the federal government supplying funds for the initial cost of buildings and materials. Another method would be performance contracts with private institutions to provide the education for the

About The Weather

A Nimbus-4 weather satellite is taking Mt. Rainier's temperature eight times a week as it passes 60 miles high over Washington State.

Not that the dormant volcano is about to erupt. Geologists are merely keeping an eye on certain "hot spots" at the peak of the 14,410-foot mountain.

Mt. Rainier has exhibited just enough physical change in recent years to warrant being watched, says the U. S. Geological Survey. A major warming trend could conceivable melt glacier ice, with resultant flooding in the valleys.

Keeping tabs on a volcano's temperature is only one example of how space satellites, whose launching once made headlines around the world, have become indispensable scientific tools.

between incoming warheads and decoys. Nuclear ABMs, because they can "kill" enemy missiles at greater distances, need not be so discriminating. They can "take on" a small cluster and reasonably be expected to knock-out everything in the cluster—decoys and armed warheads alike.

A more effective ability to discriminate will likely be accomplished through a combination of sensing devices—including optical, infra-red and ultra violet—to penetrate whatever gimmicks the Russians or Red Chinese think up.

The pellet ABM presumably would be able to use a considerable amount of the equipment of the Safeguard Safeguard system as modified and improved by the late 1970s and early 1980s.

Now this pellet concept isn't nearly so dramatic as the "laser ABM"—which would use laser beams to destroy enemy intercontinental missiles in flight.

Though a laser ABM is under study, the way things look now, a practical laser ABM is a long way down the pike.

The problem is that a laser beam of the "strength" necessary to destroy an enemy missile in space or in the upper atmosphere would require tremendous amounts of power and installations of such size as to be impractical in the foreseeable future.

H. L. Hunt Writes

EXTRAVAGANCE IN E.D.A.
In June the House of Representatives approved a one-year extension of the Public Works and Economic Development Act, with a new appropriation of $770 million. Yet the activities of the Economic Development Administration (EDA) should have been curtailed rather than augmented.

Congressman Thomas Pelly of Washington reported on the floor of the House that the EDA has financed projects which compete directly with personal enterprise businesses. For example, the EDA recently granted a $1.8 million loan to the community of Yakutat in Alaska to stimulate the economy of this supposedly "Town-in-a-come, high-unemployment area."

Yet as Congressman Pelly pointed out, the population of Yakutat is only 300 persons and "those who either are able to or want to work have employment in a private enterprise freezing plant in that community." If the government project succeeds, it will undoubtedly be at the cost of the private business, since a community of 300 could scarcely support two such enterprises.

The EDA has also financed wasteful and unnecessary projects in other areas. Recently the Duluth, Minnesota, regional office approved the spending of $4 million in "anti-poverty" funds to build a luxury recreation center in the "lake of the Ozarks" area of Missouri. The Duluth office referred to this part of Missouri as a "depressed area."

But Missouri State Rep. Granville Vaughn pointed out that "land around there is priced at several thousand dollars an acre. The government could go broke buying bargains like that in this 'poverty-stricken' area."

Clearly the Economic Development Administration is in need of cutbacks rather than extensions.

Just What Is Treason?

By TOM ANDERSON
Is anyone who deliberately and continuously helps the enemy guilty of treason? When are we "at war"? Does drafting hundreds of thousands of our men to fight an enemy half way around the world mean we're at war? Does over 44,000 of our men killed and hundreds of thousands maimed mean we're at peace? If we're not fighting the enemy, who are we fighting?

The following incredible story entitled "Bloody Oil" is from the October 15, 1970, issue of Newsletter:

During World War I Georges Clemenceau is said to have told President Wilson, in a secret telegram urging the U.S. to send more oil to the Allies, that "a drop of oil is a drop of blood."

Today the ratio has somewhat changed, but a cargo of American-produced oil delivered to Hanoi aboard a Greek-owned tanker is still worth several bathtubs full of blood of American servicemen fighting the Communists in Vietnam.

The story of oil produced by giant American oil companies in Indonesia and the Middle East being supplied to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces by tanker fleets sailing under various flags of convenience, is one of the most successfully suppressed news items in the last 25 years—even though it has been bruited in Europe.

Here are the highlights of a recent French intelligence report concerning the matter: "Oil products for the Communist forces engaged in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos which are landed in Haiphong, do not originate in the Soviet Union or Red China, but are provided by giant American firms belonging to the International Oil Cartel—Standard Oil of New Jersey (Rockefeller interests), Standard Oil of California, Texaco, Gulf Oil, (Mellon) interests, Socony Vacuum (Rockefeller interests).

The tab for those oil deliveries is picked up by the Soviet Government and payments are made into special numbered accounts in Switzerland. This oil is sold at slightly reduced rates, in return for which the Soviet Government guarantees the immunity of the American-owned filling stations in Indochina against Viet Cong or North Vietnamese attack.

"Tankers belonging to Onassis - Nicosios - Livanos family, flying Liberian, Panamanian and other flags of convenience, pick up the oil in Sumatra, Southern Borneo, Iran, Saudi Arabia, ostensibly for delivery to Europe, Japan, or to Vladivostok, in the Soviet Union. But at sea the sailing orders are changed; and the oil cargoes are rerouted to Haiphong."

The French report says that the U.S. naval and air patrols keep close surveillance of the traffic, with the U.S. military intelligence in Saigon being fully aware of the matter and in possession of close estimates of the amount of oil thus supplied by U.S. companies to the Communist forces and to the Soviet-supplied truck and tank fleet which carries the war supplies from Haiphong and Hanoi southward along the Ho Chi Minh trail to the Communist forces in South Vietnam and Cambodia. But, the report adds, total secrecy is enforced on the matter, on Washington orders, and the U.S. military in Indochina are strictly forbidden to discuss the information, because of the highly sensitive character of the matter.

For the Soviets, this arrangement has the obvious advantage of avoiding the necessity of tying up a large part of their tanker fleet, which would become necessary if they were to carry oil products to Haiphong from their oil port of Batum, on the Black Sea—around Africa and over a distance of more than 20,000 miles.

The oil produced on Soviet-owned Sakhalin Island, off Siberia is not sufficient to supply the needs of Eastern Siberia, and more oil has to be shipped by train from the "Second Baku" area of Western Siberia to Vladivostok, Khabarovsk, etc.

To some people there is no right or wrong, no black or white, no either-or. To me, the article "Blooil" constitutes either treason or libel.

They used to be known as boondoggles. But you can't hardly give them such a qualifying name as that unless you guess we'll have to list them as bureaucratic capers.

Anyway, here is a Capter that seems to be strictly from Mt. Shasta but it came out of HUD, that conniving little bunch that is supposed to take care of all our housing and urban development problems. Now they have gone into the school playground business.

In Colorado Springs, Colo. they gave one quarter million geets to study the playground see-saws! The phrase used is "To Study, Design and Test Playground Equipment for Pre-school Children."

Some of the people necessary for this "study" includes (1) Landscape Architects: You know, you can't just mark off a playground and let the kids have at it. It must be carefully landscaped—no doubt with exotic shrubbery that will be trampled down in two weeks.

(2) Industrial designers: I can't seem to figure out how industrial designers get into the act of children's games, but there they are—(3) Sculptors and artists: A playground sculpted and painted? (4) Psychologists: Psychologists! According to HUD the project will demonstrate how to build playgrounds contributing to the physical and mental development of small children.

The HUD outfit could better spend the money examining the officials "mental development" to determine how they arrived at this further waste of the little feller's taxes thru the "Playground Capter"...

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb
Gout Is a Form Of Arthritis

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to know what is gout and what are the symptoms and if there is any cure.

Dear Reader—Gout is often called the disease of kings because it has affected so many notable people in history. It is a form of arthritis. In some cases a joint suddenly becomes swollen, red, hot and painful.

The big toe is the joint most often involved although their joints can be affected.

People with gout have an abnormality in the way their body manufactures proteins and how it handles the type of proteins found in fish, fowl and meat. A by-product of this process, called uric acid, is usually eliminated in the urine.

When the uric acid referring to an acid in the urine) accumulates in the body, in some people it forms into small crystals in the cartilage of a joint and this is related to the sudden onset of the sore, swollen joint. Usually the soreness subsides in a few weeks and then recurs.

In some cases the uric acid builds up slowly in the cartilage of joints. The joints eventually are destroyed and the foot, hand, elbow or knee is deformed.

Excess uric acid can cause kidney stones and kidney disease and many people who have gout develop heart disease.

Blood tests help to identify people who are likely to develop gouty arthritis, so ask your doctor to give you one if you suspect you have these symptoms.

Men are much more likely to have gouty arthritis than women. Only 5 per cent of the patients with arthritis of this type are women. The classic gout patient is a middle-aged, overweight man, with his painful foot resting on a foot stool. When women have gout attacks they usually are older and the attacks are milder.

There is an inherited tendency to gout and this tendency can be transmitted by women, even if they do not have attacks. Gout in children is rare.

The feet and ankles are the joints most often involved. In severe cases, the knees, hands, wrists and elbows may be affected. The spine, shoulders and hips almost never have gouty arthritis.

Blood tests for uric acid and a tendency for gout have revealed that men who are aggressive, intelligent and often leaders tend to have more uric acid than other people.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

SBA Ordered to Withhold $27 Million Sugar 'Subsidy'

WASHINGTON — The Small Business Administration, long in hot water with Congress, is again under harsh attack.

A House Small Business subcommittee has, in effect, untily ordered the agency not to approve a $27.4 million lease guarantee it was all set to grant a Portsmouth, Va., sugar company.

In the forceful opinion of the subcommittee, the concern has highly dubious assets, qualifications and prospects.

This unusual action was taken by the subcommittee, headed by Rep. John Klucynski, D-Ill., in a stertly-worded report that for some unknown reason has gone unnoticed.

The panel's critical findings and crackdown were based on a series of hearings triggered by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. In disclosing the proposed $27.4-million lease guarantee, the veteran "Treasury watchdog" charged it was an "unsound subsidy" that almost certainly would "saddle another burden on the already staggering U.S. taxpayer."

He also asserted the Portsmouth company intended to use machinery imported from England.

Gross' charges are fully upheld in the subcommittee's report.

Small Business Administrator Hilary Sandoval, repeatedly assailed in and out of Congress on a number of counts, is not mentioned by name in the report. But there can be small satisfaction for him in that.

From beginning to end the document is unsparring in its disapproval and condemnation of the proposed multi-million dollar deal.

BILL OF INDICTMENT — In the very first paragraph of its findings, the subcommittee caustically characterizes the concern involved — Old Dominion Sugar Corporation — as a "corporate shell which has never done any business of any kind and which was run by a man who had no experience in the business."

The final paragraph concludes, "This venture could cost taxpayers $8,173,379 at the minimum and $23.4 million at the worst."

In forcefully enjoining SBA to "critically reevaluate" the proposed lease guarantee and to take no further action without the express authorization of the subcommittee, it held this was necessary because of four principal findings, as follows: "The intent of Congress was to aid and assist the small businessman. . . A guarantee for more than $27.4 million is not small business."

"SBA does not have a reasonable basis to conclude that the Old Dominion Sugar Corp. would be financially profitable. . . Testimony by individuals in the sugar industry was in direct conflict with that of SEA. The latter stated that the company would have to make an 8.6 per cent gross profit in order to survive. SBA consultants had forecast a 4.3 per cent profit.

"It is evident the proposed lease guarantee can be summarized as taxpayers' money being used to guarantee rent payments by a company which has never been in the sugar business, has no experienced management and has no real knowledge of the sugar market."

"The proposed SBA undertaking is not in the government's best interest and constitutes poor stewardship of public funds."

The report also contains two startling disclosures: —That "an SBA financial adviser rated the Old Dominion corporate structure as very poor."

—That the "chief SBA underwriter stated the venture did not appear feasible and was not the type of risk the government should be guaranteeing."

There is no explanation in the report why, in view of these strong objections from its own officials, the Small Business Administration proposed granting the $27.4 million lease guarantee.

While there is no hint of wrongdoing in the subcommittee's report, its condemnation of the deal is sweeping.

It remains to be seen what SDA now does about it.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

FREE LUNCH—ON YOU

What is inflation? Silly, question! Everybody knows what it is; we're all suffering from it. Inflation is the condition we're in today—it is high prices.

But maybe it isn't as simple as that. A top financial analyst informs us that a rise in prices is not inflation. William F. Rickenbacker, a former NATIONAL REVIEW editor and the author of numerous books on the subject of money, spoke over the Manion Forum in a series of programs concerning inflation. We asked him, if a rise in prices isn't inflation, what is it? Rickenbacker's reply:

"A rise in prices is a rise in prices. It usually comes about because the amount of money circulating in the country has been increased."

"In order to get an accurate way of talking about the whole problem, you have to save the word 'inflation' and apply it only to the increase in the money supply. If you call the increase in money supply 'inflation,' that permits you to talk about rises of prices, which are different from inflation."

"What we have today is paper inflation. This comes about when the banking system creates, out of thin air, deposits in the banking system, and those deposits are facilitated by the Federal Government's monetary policies."

"When the Federal Government runs a deficit and needs to borrow money, it issues federal bonds. The bonds find their ways into the banks. The banks create deposits for the government's account, and new money is created out of thin air. The vastly increased amount of money in circulation leads to rises in prices."

"Since 1946, the gross public debt of the government has increased from $260-billion to $375-billion. Around a 40 per cent increase in the money in the federal debt, and in that time we've had approximately a 40 per cent decline in the purchasing power of the dollar."

"This does not mean that the increase in the money supply is immediately reflected in the purchasing power of the dollar. There's always a time lag. The money supply would increase one year, and people said, 'Well, this is just an unusual occurrence.' But after the money supply has been increasing steadily for a great number of years, then the people begin to get the idea, this is going to go on forever. Then they begin to trade money away and buy goods with it, thinking that the money isn't going to be worth anything and the goods will. That's when prices begin to go up.

"We're in a deep mess. How did we get here? We got here because the politicians discovered that it was very easy to get elected if they promised a lot of goodies for the people and decided not to stick the people with the bill for them, but to buy the goodies with borrowed money.

"When a politician advocates a brand new spending program to be financed by borrowing, he passes it off as something which will be painless. Actually, he hasn't made a painless proposal; he has shifted the pain from our arm to our leg, that's all."

"Inflation is a cynical tax. It falls with terrible gravity on the poorest people. Very rich, sophisticated, flexible investors can stash their dough away overseas or in some escape hatches from the inflationary taxation system. The average person doesn't have the wealth to engage in this kind of thing, and he gets socked right between the eyes every time."—American Way Features

STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF GRAY
 NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE
 By virtue of an execution issued out of the District Court of Gray County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said court on the 11th day of September, 1970, in favor of the Plaintiff, Bert A. Howell, and against the said Defendants, Gary R. Hankhouse and Crystal Hankhouse, in the case of Bert A. Howell vs. Gary R. Hankhouse et al., No. 17418 in such court, I did on the 21st day of October, 1970, at 2:30 o'clock P.M., levy upon the following described tract and parcels of land situate in the County of Gray, State of Texas, as the property of said Defendants, Gary R. Hankhouse and Crystal Hankhouse, to-wit: All that certain lot, tract or parcel of land lying, sitting and being in Gray County, Texas, and being the South 6/8 part of Lot No. Eighteen (18) in Block Fifteen (15) of the Cook Adams Heights Addition to the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, according to the plat thereof filed and recorded in Gray County, Texas, to-wit: Block Fifteen (15) of the Cook Adams Heights Addition to the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, according to the plat thereof filed and recorded in Gray County, Texas, on the 1st day of December, 1958, being the first and second months, between the hours of 10 o'clock A.M. and 4 o'clock P.M. on said day at the courthouse door of said county, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction for cash, all the right, title and interest of the said Defendants, Gary R. Hankhouse and Crystal Hankhouse, in and to said property, in order to satisfy the judgment of said court, dated at Pampa, Texas, this 21st day of October, 1970.
 I, J. D. Jordan, Sheriff of Gray County, Texas, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of the original of the said notice of execution, filed and recorded in Gray County, Texas, on the 11th day of October, 1970.

Oregon vs Army

1. Find the fifteen games listed on the 15 sponsor's ads on this page. Circle the team you think will win the game. In case of a tie score, the game will not be counted.
2. Print your name and address in the coupon below along with your estimate of the scores of the Pampa Harvesters and their opponent and WTSU and their opponent.
3. Mail this entire page to: CONTEST EDITOR, PAMPA DAILY NEWS, P.O. Box 2198, Pampa, Texas 79065, or bring this page to the News office prior to 5:00 p.m. this Friday.
4. In the event more than one entrant guesses the same number of games correctly, the "Tie-Breaker" scores will be used to determine the order of the winners.
5. Everyone is eligible to enter except employees of THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS and members of their immediate families.
6. All entries become the property of the Pampa Daily News and none can be returned.
7. Winners of each week's contest will be announced in the Tuesday's edition of The Pampa Daily News.
