MAKES TWO CUTBACKS

Space Agency Feels Economical Pinch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bitter disappointment of scientists and astronauts, the space agency has dropped two more moon landings from its Apollo program because of congressional money cutbacks.

Only four landings remain. These will be completed by mid-1972 under a new schedule announced Wednesday, giving the United States six exploratory voyages to the craters and seas of the moon if all are successful.

One result of the latest Apollo cutback, some space officials predicted, would be the possible resignation within a few months of several of the nation's astronauts.

The cuts Congress made in this year's space budget also mean an extra 700 civil servants and 2,300 space contractor personnel will lose their jobs before year's end, said Dr. Thomas O. Paine, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

In the days just after Apollo 11's historic first lunar touchdown at Tranquility Base last summer, scientists and astronauts looked forward to nine more lunar landings. One of these was eliminated in January for financial reasons, however, and the explosion aboard Apollo 13 in April interrupted another.

Congress then reduced President Nixon's $3,333 billion space budget request for the current fiscal year by a total of $142.2 million.

On this reduction, Paine said, $42.1 million had to come from Apollo. This resulted in the latest Apollo schedule deletions.

Paine said the Skylab program to build the nation's first embryonic space station and visit it three times in orbit remains unchanged.

"TEXANS PROPER PEOPLE"

Three Young Britishers Like Wide-Open Spaces

By JOHN REYNOLDS
News Staff Writer

More opportunities for on-the-job training and for jobs in general is one of the several major differences between London, England, and cities in south Texas and in the Texas Panhandle, which were visited recently by three young Londoners in Pampa visiting relatives.

The three Londoners were James Betts, 18; his sister Kathleen, 22; and their friend, Franca Piscina, 21.

The Betts were visiting their uncle, John McCausland, 2701 Aspen, and had visited relatives in San Antonio before coming to Pampa.

"In London," explained Miss Betts, "one can leave school at 16 and get a good-paying job. If one wants to be a typist like me, one doesn't go to college. Only people that want to be doctors, lawyers, or teachers or something like that go to college."

"The pace of the people in the Texas panhandle is slower," said James. "People here go at their own pace," interjected Miss Piscina.

There are differences in English and American dress.

"In England, one wouldn't be caught dead in shorts," said Miss Betts. Miss Piscina said she supposed the reason why is "the weather is different."

"I don't recall it ever getting 100 degrees in London," James mused.

Other distinguishing characteristic differences between America and England included the lack of buses, taxis, and an extensive subway service here.

"One sees few cars, but many buses in London. Cars are not essential. But here one simply would have to have a car, I would think," said Miss Betts.

"And the country side is simply fantastic here," said James. "In Europe, and England, the countryside are all the same. Here you know when you are in the country. I've never seen such wide open spaces."

"There are no air-conditioned cars in England," remarked Miss Piscina. "We are having ever so hard a time remembering to roll up the windows when we go somewhere over here."

"Fashion is changing in London," added Miss Betts. "The skirts are getting longer, and the mini skirts are going out."

Miss Piscina, Miss Betts, and her brother James flew from London to New York, from New York to Chicago, and from Chicago to San Antonio, about three weeks ago. They were met in San Antonio by the Betts' aunt, Mrs. Pat Treadaway, who lives in Center Point. While staying with her, they saw Del Rio, Six Gun City, El Paso, and a little of Old Mexico.

"Six Gun City was a proper place," remarked James.

The three young Londoners then flew to Amarillo, where the Betts' uncle, John McCausland, met them. He took them to see the junior rodeo at Higgins, "Texas" at Palo Duro Canyon, Canadian, and Mobeetie.

The young Englishmen considered the people of Texas "very friendly."

"Texans make you feel welcome," James said. "They are very proper people."

Soon it will be time for the three young people to return to London — "back to the rain," as they expressed it. But all three want to return to America.

"We saw mostly Texas," James explained. "And America is such a varied country. We would like to see more of it."

IN MANILA

Flood Waters Recede

MANILA (UPI) — The worst flood waters to hit the Philippine capital gradually receded today, leaving 34 dead, thousands homeless and the danger a fire could spread.

With 22 inches of rain reported, an area the size of Florida was affected, Manila itself was hardest hit with four or five feet of water in many areas of the city. President Ferdinand E. Marcos declared a "State of calamity and emergency" and mobilized a major relief program.

A fire broke out today in a seven-story building across the street from the U.S. Embassy in the city's "tourist belt" and firemen who brought their trucks through four-foot deep water to fight the blaze warned it could spread to neighboring buildings.

Among the 34 confirmed deaths were two U.S. sailors. They were killed by landslides at the Cubi Point naval station about 90 miles northwest of Manila. The Navy said the bodies were recovered but names were withheld until relatives could be notified.

Most of the deaths were reported from drownings, but three persons were electrocuted and at least nine were buried in landslides — including the two Americans. Many other persons were reported missing.

Public Works Secretary Manuel Syquico said he had no overall estimate of damage but it was expected to run into the millions of dollars. Thousands had fled their homes, but some were beginning to move back to clean out the mess as the flood waters receded.

Although the torrential rains had subsided to an occasional drizzle, the Manila Weather Bureau warned a new tropical depression was located about 171 miles northeast of Northern Luzon, the largest island. It said more heavy rains were predicted, possibly hitting the flood-stricken area late today or early Friday.

All American military units in the area were helping out with personnel, helicopters and life rafts aiding the Philippine authorities.

Deal To Double Local Plant's Employee Roll

By TEX DEWESE
News Staff Writer

Good news came to Pampa today with confirmation of a report that Western Beef Packers, Inc. has entered contract agreement with Armour & Co. of Chicago for killing, processing and fabricating beef cattle at Western Beef's local plant.

Kent Evans, president of Western Beef Packers, Inc., packing division, Amarillo, said the contract calls for the Pampa plant to begin killing cattle for Armour next Tuesday. Twenty new employees will be added immediately, increasing the total payroll to 70.

Within two months when the local plant begins boning and fabricating, Evans said, approximately 30 more employees will be added, boosting the total to 100 workers.

Evans said the contract currently calls for the killing of 2,000 cattle per week with provision for a maximum of 2,200 head on the slaughter line.

Evans said that under the contract Armour will do the buying and selling and the Pampa plant's end of the deal will be slaughtering, boning and fabricating.

Confirmation of the contract recalls negotiations locally in the fall of 1968 when Armour was considering construction of its own plant in the Panhandle, perhaps either in Pampa or Amarillo.

The Pampa Industrial Foundation and Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at that time were in negotiation with Armour and Co., seeking to get the plant for Pampa. The same efforts were being made in Amarillo to get the plant to locate there.

Evans said today the current contract between Western Beef and Armour cancels out, at least for the time being, Armour's original plans to put in its own plant in the Panhandle area.

The Armour business in the area now will be handled by Western Beef Packers at the Pampa plant.

Harvey Lewis is the local manager for Western Beef Packers, Inc.

TO SAFEGUARD TALKS

US Warns Soviets To Avoid Violations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has sent word to the Soviet Union and Egypt warning them to avoid any further violations of the fragile cease-fire agreement in the Middle East lest they impair the peace talks that have just begun at the United Nations.

Administration sources said instructions were sent Wednesday night to Ambassador Jacob D. Beam in Moscow to seek an early meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to convey the American warning, together with conclusive evidence of a limited number of cease-fire violations the United States has detected.

Instructions went to the chief U.S. representative in Cairo, Donald C. Bergus, to seek a conference with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, to give the Egyptians a similar message from the Nixon administration.

The United States officials said Wednesday has firm evidence that Egypt and its Soviet supporters have moved several batteries of SAM-2 anti-aircraft missiles farther into the 31-mile "standstill" zone on the west bank of the Suez Canal. The information was gathered by high-flying U2 reconnaissance planes, earth satellites and electronic eavesdropping in the area.

The United States, it was understood, is not urging the Egyptians and Soviets to move their original positions, but is warning them against further cease-fire violations.

Administration officials have tended to discount to some extent the extreme protests from Israel, believing the political situation was not as serious as some sources reported.

The United States, while acknowledging that now it has detected on its own some violations of the "standstill," contends these have not altered the strategic balance in the area and should not be permitted to interfere with continuation of the talks at the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the United States is sending Israel more sophisticated military equipment in an effort to bolster the confidence of the Tel Aviv government.

United Fund Starts Getting In Gear

The first of two kickoff breakfasts for Pampa's 1971 United Fund Drive is scheduled for 7:30 a.m. tomorrow in Coronado Inn.

Attending the breakfast will be fund officials and members of the Commercial and Industrial Division headed by Jim Stallings. Clarence Teden of Houston, employed as general coordinator of this year's campaign, will address the C&I division workers.

Floyd Watson will speak on payroll deductions and the need for management involvement in employee contributions.

This year's fund goal is $83,325 for distribution among the dozen or so participating agencies, according to Henry Donohue, general chairman.

The other kickoff breakfast is scheduled for late this month, probably Sept. 29. That will be for the General Gifts Division. The exact date will be announced later, Donohue said.

The 1971 United Fund drive will be conducted by six divisions with the following goals for each division:

- Commercial and Industrial, $37,000; Advance Gifts, $36,000; Professional, $6,000; Public Employees, $2,000; National Firms, $3,000, and the General Gifts Division, $6,000.

General Chairman Donohue said this year's goal is slightly above last year's and an effort will be made to go approximately 10 per cent above the $83,325 figure.

This, Donohue explained, is to provide an emergency fund in the case of local disaster such as the tornado which hit Pampa in April this year. Funds in certain of the participating agencies were depleted because of the storm, Donohue said.

Stallings said special stress will be placed upon the approach to be made in the solicitation of funds this year.

Christian Democrats Stage Torch Light Parade In Chile

SANTIAGO (UPI) — A torchlight procession by thousands of chanting Christian Democrats ended presidential campaigning Wednesday night.

Chile's 3.5 million voters decide Friday whether this constitutional democracy, with a record of orderly successions dating from 1932, will become the first nation to freely elect a Marxist president.

The candidates are:

- Dr. Salvador Allende, 62, a Communist-backed Socialist, who would "open the door to socialism" with massive nationalizations aimed at U.S. investment and, especially, at the domestic economic right.
- Ex-President Jorge Alessandri, 74, rightist independent, champion of free enterprise and foreign investment, who says he is committed to social change on an orderly basis.
- Rodrigo Tomic, 58, candidate of President Eduardo Frei's Populist Christian Democrat party, who promises to speed up the social reform initiated by Frei's "revolution in liberty."

No candidate is expected to get an absolute majority of 51 per cent and this would throw the top two candidates into a congressional run-off Oct. 24. Congress has always respected the popular vote, but is not constitutionally bound to do so.

Reversal of the popular vote could trigger street violence, which has been virtually absent from the campaign.

DEAR JEAN
HILL, England (UPI) — John Clayton, 46, decided tiling his farmhouse's roof was a good opportunity to proclaim his love for his wife, Jean, 38.

Now the name "Jean" in black letters stands out from new bright red tiles.

Suharto Arrives For State Visit In The Hague

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI) — President Suharto of Indonesia arrived in the Netherlands today for a shortened state visit that twice was postponed by protests of political opponents in Holland.

Suharto's red Garuda Airlines DC8 landed at a former military air base outside The Hague ringed by tanks and troops in battle gear.

Suharto, who became the first Indonesian chief of state to visit the Netherlands since his country gained independence from the Dutch in 1948, was to meet later with cabinet and parliament members.

FBI Charges University Bombers With Sabotage

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Four young men who slipped into the underground after being stopped by police investigating the Aug. 24 explosion at the University of Wisconsin were being sought today on federal charges.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced Wednesday that charges of sabotage, conspiracy and destruction of government property had been filed against the four.

They were identified as Karleton Lewis Armstrong, 22, Madison, a former student at the University of Wisconsin; his 19-year-old brother, Dwight Allen Armstrong, a high school dropout; David Sylva Fine, 18, of Madison and Wilmington, Del., who recently worked for the UW student newspaper, the Cardinal, and a former staff member of a Students For a Democratic Society publication at the University of Delaware; and Leo Frederick Bert, 22, Madison, a summer session student who also wrote for the Cardinal.

"We don't have any idea where they are," U.S. Attorney John Olson said. "We will have a hard, long pull now that we've gotten this far."

The explosion in the early morning hours of Aug. 24 killed Robert Fassnacht, 33, a research physicist who was the father of three, and injured four other persons. The blast, set in a stolen van truck, tore through part of the Army Mathematics Research Center on the campus and caused $6 million damage.

According to an affidavit filed in U.S. District Court, a car containing the four young men was stopped by a Sauk County police officer north of Madison shortly after the bombing. They told the officer they were university students going to an outing at Devil's Lake, Wis., the affidavit said. Later, it said, the car was traced to the Armstrongs' father, Donald.

Agnew Talks With Johnson About Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew returned to Washington today from a 30,000-mile tour, convinced he made his point with Asian allies. Expect more material aid but fewer American troops.

Agnew told former President Lyndon B. Johnson he felt Asian leaders were reconciled to American troop withdrawals if they could get more military and economic aid.

The vice president briefed Johnson for 2½ hours Wednesday at the LBJ Ranch near Austin, Tex. The Johnson visit was the last event on a tour that carried Agnew to five Asian countries.

Johnson and Agnew toured the LBJ Ranch alone, with Johnson at the wheel of a convertible.

NEAR SKELLYTOWN

Pampa, White Deer Men Hurt In Blast

A Pampa man and two from White Deer are in critical condition at North Plains Baptist Hospital as a result of a pipeline explosion north of Skellytown yesterday afternoon.

Dean Dalton, 18, Pampa and Michael Wakefield, 18, White Deer, are listed in critical condition and James Frank Hawkins, 29, White Deer, was termed very critical by hospital authorities this morning.

Two other men were injured in the blast and resulting flash fire. They were taken to the hospital in Berger where one was treated and released and the other listed in good condition. They were not identified.

The accident occurred in a field near the Skelly-Watkins plant north of Skellytown where a pipeline was being repaired.

The Pampa man, Dalton, is an employee of Skelly. The other men injured were employed by K and K Construction Co., a firm engaged to do repairs on the line.

A thorough investigation of the accident which occurred near the close of the work day Wednesday has not been completed. It is believed that it was the result of a leak in the line under repair.

The three critically injured are in the intensive care unit of the Amarillo hospital.

Bomb Intended For U.S. Embassy In Athens Kills Makers Instead

ATHENS (UPI) — A Cypriot man and an Italian woman were killed Wednesday when a bomb they apparently were preparing to set off in or near the U.S. Embassy exploded prematurely, Athens police said today. There were no injuries to embassy personnel. Police identified the couple as George Tsekouris, 25, a Cypriot studying in Italy, and Maria Angeloni, 31, an Italian secretary. They were suspected in an earlier bombing of the Athens-Pireaus subway Aug. 21, police said. The bomb exploded in their auto in the embassy parking lot, decapitating Tsekouris and badly burning Miss Angeloni. Both apparently died instantaneously. A police spokesman said "the explosive was intended to go off inside or around the embassy." The two arrived in Athens Aug. 11 with an unidentified Swedish woman. They were in the Swedish girl's auto when the bomb exploded, but there was no indication she was involved. The explosion occurred at 4 p.m., shortly before the embassy was due to close for the day. An embassy spokesman said "given the force of the explosion and the time of the day, the loss of life might have been greater." The blast destroyed two other autos parked in the lot, damaged the embassy building and shattered glass panels and windows. American property in Greece has been the target of previous bombings by leftists who accused the United States of supporting the Greek military regime of Premier George Papadopoulos. Police said they believed Tsekouris and Miss Angeloni were responsible for the attempt on the Athens-Pireaus subway. A bomb went off on the railway track Aug. 21 after a subway employe threw away the package he had found on the track. Police said the couple had airplane tickets to return to Rome Wednesday night.

Judge Rules Merger Of Two Vollmert Suits

At the close of a brief hearing in 31st District Court Tuesday, Judge Grainger McIlhenny issued a decision combining for trial purposes two separate suits involving the estate of the late John Vollmert, Pampa oil industry figure. Vollmert died Sept. 25, 1968 and his widow had initiated legal action seeking to set aside a will and a trust instrument dated Sept. 11, 1968 and signed by Vollmert. Tuesday's session was concerned solely with joining the two actions for a later hearing on the merits of the case. Attorneys felt this would not come before December or even January of next year.

Lantern Parade Feature Of FTA Installation

WHITE DEER (Sp) — New officers of the Emmitt D. Smith Chapter of the Future Teachers of America at White Deer High School will be installed in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony tonight in the auditorium. Immediately following the installation, a "Lantern Parade" will be held down the hall and to the Community Center where the teachers and administrators, where an ice cream social will be served by the Future Teachers. Since the red flame of the torch in the F.T.A. emblem designates high ideals and leadership, the lantern will be carried by an upper classman who is a member of the chapter. A freshman will walk by his side and the school song will be sung while passing the Community Center. The purpose of the lantern walk is to help the freshmen get acquainted with the rest of the students, to promote friendship and boost school spirit. Old and new officers will be honored at the Community Center after the parade.

Wheeler County 'Old Settlers' To Make Merry

Wheeler County "Old Settlers" will gather at the old jail in Old Mobeetie for their 20th annual reunion on Labor Day, Sept. 7. Wheeler County was the first one organized in the Panhandle in 1879 and jurisdiction over what is now 26 counties was transferred from Henrietta, Clay County, to the new county. The old jail was the first substantial one constructed in the Panhandle and was completed in 1886. Wheeler County residents and business concerns furnish free barbecue, beans and coffee. Local ladies bring cakes, pies, salads. All old settlers and former residents of Wheeler County and their friends are urged to attend.

Police School Slated At WT

CANYON — A four-week basic police school will be conducted on the campus of West Texas State University to qualify officers for state certification. The school, starting Sept. 21, is conducted by the Texas A&M Police Extension Service. Bobby Hudson, chief of security at West Texas State, said, "We make campus facilities available for the school as a service to Panhandle area police departments." He said, "officers completing the course become eligible for certification by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education." Officers interested in the school should write Hudson at W.T.S.U., Box 295, Canyon 79015. Deadline for enrollment is Sept. 21. All-Male Jury To Decide Father's Fate

COLORADO CITY, Tex. (UPI) — An all-male jury went into seclusion Wednesday to deliberate the case of Robert Monteith, 23, charged with beating his 9-pound baby girl to death in an Abilene motel room. District Judge Austin McCloud restricted prosecution and defense final arguments to 90 minutes before charging the jury. "Bring your shaving gear when you come back after to allow you to separate after lunch because I'm not going to allow you to separate after you have been given the court's charge," McCloud told the jury. Monteith denied beating the baby to death. He said he accidentally dropped her on her head while playing with her, and then held her and "tapped" her on the buttocks and cheeks.

Two Pampans Pass CLU Examinations

Two Pampans were among students passing College of Life Underwriters' examinations according to results received by West Texas State University in Canyon. They are Otis Nace and Gerald L. Pate. FAIR HOAX FRIMLEY, England (UPI) — Fair goers whistled and applauded Monday at shapely American film "Star" Lorraine Lorrimer as she opened the Frimley Fair — but then they came in for a shock. After judging the fair queen competition, Lorraine took off her blonde wig and dark glasses to reveal local hairdresser Trixie Hall. She agreed to the hoax when fair organizers failed to get a real star.

Nixon To Host State Dinner For Ordaz

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon will host a celebrity studded state dinner tonight honoring Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz to stress California's close ties south of the border. Before flying here for the colorful welcoming ceremonies, Nixon will meet at the Western White House with members of the Senate Finance Committee to urge action on his stalled revolutionary welfare reform program. Accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and Cabinet members, the President will fly by helicopter at 2:15 p.m. EDT to the Naval Air Station at North Island to welcome Diaz Ordaz who will be arriving from Mexico City. At noon, the full panoply of a state welcome with a 21-gun salute, the playing of the national anthems and arrival statements will be accorded the visiting head of state. Security will be heavy. There have been reports that some militant Mexican-American groups and Yippies plan to hold what they call the "last supper."

Wheeler Readies Welcome Mat For Alan Bean

Tomorrow is "Bean and Barbecue" day in Wheeler! The Bean is Alan the Astronaut, born in this small county seat town in 1932 when the hospital was above the present City Drug store and his parents were at home in a small house on Shamrock St. In the intervening years the parents went to Fort Worth. Alan went to the moon ... and Shamrock St. goes into limbo at 6 p.m. tomorrow afternoon. At that hour Astronaut Bean will be present for ceremonies changing the street to Alan Bean Avenue honoring the man whose only claim to fame at birth was a tooth! The dedication ceremony will be at the Wheeler library building at the corner of Texas and Shamrock Streets. Present plans are for Bean's father to accompany him to the Panhandle for the occasion. The barbecue will be a typical Texas affair to be served on the Wheeler football field rather than in the gym as previously announced. Wheeler Mayor Pete Burton said the change was made because it was impossible to estimate the size of the gathering and it would be easier to set up on the field at the outset than to make a move if the crowd proved too large.

Service Station Loses Tool, Money To Thieves

Bill Turner who operates a service station at 225 W. Brown reported to Pampa police that someone had forced entry into the station during the night. A one-half inch electric impact wrench was missing and the cigaret machine had been forced open. The coin box was but Turner did not know if there had been money in it or not. A small amount of change left in the open cash register was taken. Investigating officers believe the front door lock had been forced with a thin tool but it was not known if it was unlocked because Turner, upon arriving for work this morning, inserted his key and turned it. The first inkling of loss was the forced cigaret vending machine.

Radiator Removed From Building

Officers of the Gray County Sheriff's office are investigating the theft of an industrial equipment radiator from Nortex Engine and Equipment Co., 2308 Alcock. The radiator had been removed from a unit the firm was servicing and placed against the outside of the building near where the repairs were underway. It was taken from that location. The cooling unit has a replacement value of $225. It weighed approximately 40 pounds giving it considerable salvage value for its particular metal content.

August Shows Accidents Up

The Pampa Police Department made public the August traffic analysis today which revealed the traffic accident total was up five over the same period last year. August had 45 in traffic accidents compared to 40 for August, 1969. Fewer parked vehicles were involved in accidents, 19, compared to 24 for the same period a year ago. In traffic accidents so far this year for the city total 360 compared to 340 to this date last year. Drivers in the 24-34 age group were involved in the most accidents for August, 18, with the 35-44 next with 15. No fatalities occurred but property damage caused by accidents in August totaled $19,603.00.

Cash Missing From Home

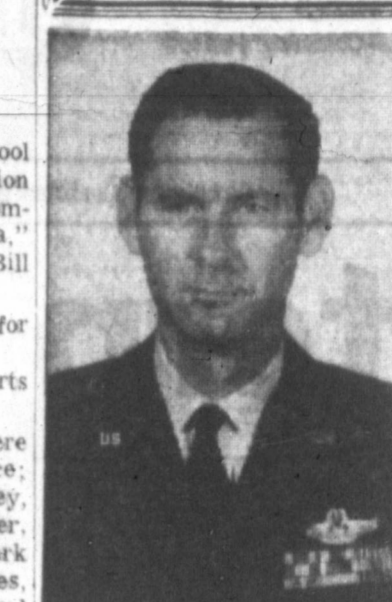

Bill Robinson, 856 E. Locust St., told Pampa police someone entered his home during a 45-minute absence and took some $240 dollars from his wallet and his wedding ring left beside it. Robinson said he and his son went to take the family car to his wife at her place of employment and was gone a maximum of 45 minutes. He had left his wallet and ring on a hall table. The ring was yellow gold with five diamonds. The back door of the home had been left unlocked and the back yard gate left open and it was thought the burglar made his entry this way. Neighbors on either side of the Robinson residence had seen nothing suspicious.

Funeral services for Major Jerry Eugene Moore (ret.), 44, of 607 N. West, are scheduled for Friday, 2 p.m., at Carmichael-Whitley Colonial Chapel, under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home, with Rev. H. Dewitt Seago, of the First United Methodist Church officiating. Burial will take place in Fairview Cemetery. Major Moore died in Highland General Hospital Wednesday evening after a year-long illness. Major Moore, a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, was a veteran of World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam Conflict. During World War II, he was an aviation cadet for 18 months in the U.S. Air Force, and then attended Officer's Candidate School and was commissioned a Second-Lieutenant in 1949. He flew combat missions in the Korean war, and also flew in cargo during the Vietnam Conflict. His title was Aircraft Commander. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church. Survivors include his widow, Judy, of the home; three daughters, Judy, Patti, and Lynn, all of Fairfield, Calif.; one son, Mark, of Fairfield, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Dorothy Jack, of San Antonio, his mother, Mrs. Edith Moore, of Pampa; and his grandmother, Mrs. R.T. Moseley of Oklahoma City.

W.B. ANDREWS

Israel Considers Action Against Missile Bases

By United Press International as the instigator and negotiator of the cease-fire and that Israel must be free to take action to prevent any further violations.

Israeli newspapers said Wednesday Prime Minister Golda Meir told a meeting of Labor members of Parliament Wednesday that a situation may arise under which Israel may be compelled to take action against the SAM2 bases. The SAM2s are high altitude Russian-built missiles.

The sources said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan feels the U.S. has failed in its obligation

There was no hint as to what any "action" might be but in the past Israel has hit the missile bases with Phantom jets and has used helicopter-borne assault troops against radar bases. Since then Russia sent in SAM3 missiles which are used at low altitude to protect the SAM2s.

Any Israeli action against the missile sites would end the 90-day cease-fire which began on Aug. 7. In the meantime, there were indications from both Israel and Egypt that the New York peace talks would be cut off before they really begin.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli cabinet meeting failed this week to decide on when to send Ambassador Yosef Tekoa back to New York. In New York, the Egyptian ambassador to the United Nations indicated Egypt might not want to continue the peace talks after the 90-day truce ends.

Reports that Egypt might not want to extend the 90-day cease-fire came from the United Nations where Ambassador Hassan el-Zayyat met with U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring Tuesday and indicated Egypt might not want to talk peace when the truce lapses Nov. 5.

The other party in the negotiations is Jordan, which is having its own troubles at home with the Palestinian guerrillas who have refused to sign the

Suharto Visits Dutch

JAKARTA (UPI)—Indonesian President Suharto left for the Netherlands Wed. for a visit abbreviated and delayed for two days by an anti-Indonesian incident in The Hague.

Suharto reduced his scheduled three-day visit to the Netherlands to a 24-hour stopover after the seizure of the Indonesian ambassador's residence in The Hague Monday by an armed band of Indonesian Ambonese exiles.

His visit was shortened for "security and technical reasons."

Suharto originally was scheduled to remain in the Netherlands for three days as the first Indonesian head of state to visit that country since Indonesia became independent in 1949.

Jordan Refuses To Halt Attacks On Guerrillas

AMMAN (UPI)—Jordan today rejected an Iraqi ultimatum to halt attacks against Arab guerrillas or face intervention by the 12,000-man Iraqi army stationed in Jordan. The crisis was heightened by a new assassination attempt against King Hussein Tuesday night. The cabinet met in a four-hour emergency session to consider its latest crisis in relations with Iraq. Amman itself looked like a deserted city after a night of fighting between Hussein's troops and Palestine refugee guerrillas.

Machegun fire crackled occasionally in the streets. The left-wing Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine said today 50 persons were killed or wounded in Tuesday's fighting which broke out after the attempt on Hussein's life. The Al-fatah group said 10 persons were killed and 40 wounded. Although the cabinet rejected the Iraqi ultimatum a formal note reiterated Jordan's sincere wish to maintain brotherly relations with Iraq. It said the Jordanian army fired on the guerrillas only after the attack on Hussein and that the fighting stopped before Jordan received the Iraqi warning. The Iraqi ultimatum came in a statement by Foreign Minister Abdel Karim Al-sheikhali to the Jordanian ambassador and was broadcast over Baghdad Radio. It demanded: "Stop immediately all exceptional measures against the commandos. Failing this, the Iraqi government and Iraqi troops stationed in the eastern front will take all necessary measures to protect commando action." Hussein, meanwhile, completed the journey to the airport interrupted by the attack on his motorcade Tuesday and met his daughter Princess Alia. Alia's flight from Cairo was diverted to Beirut Tuesday because of the fighting. Iraq, Syria and the Arab guerrilla movements have rejected the American-instigated Middle East cease-fire and have criticized Hussein and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser for moves against the guerrillas. On Tuesday, Iraq threatened to intervene with the 12,000 Iraqi troops stationed in Jordan. "Reject Warning" The Jordanian government regrets such a warning being directed against it and it cannot accept it," the cabinet said in a note delivered to the Iraqi ambassador in Amman. Public transport in Amman was at a standstill and there were only a few private cars on the streets. Business was country's newspapers did not appear, schools were closed and few government employees turned up for work. Palestinian guerrillas piled loose stones and automobile tires into barricades guarding their strongholds. Others armed with bazookas, mortars and machineguns took up positions on rooftops. The joint army-guerrilla patrols which normally police Amman's streets in jeeps were missing. A caller told UPI in Beirut, almost at a complete stop.

Trailer Theft Too Big

HENDERSON, Tex. (UPI)— Jacksonville police chased them and shot 18 holes in the pickup truck with a rifle. It was raining and the highway was slick, but the pickup truck and police reached speeds of 110 miles an hour. When police tried to force the pickup truck from the highway, the two would-be thieves sidestepped their squad car. Alarmed by radio, Henderson police were waiting just outside their city and took up the chase.

Bluebottom ice cream pie cops Labor Day dining fun.

Colorful Dessert Surprises Guests

Fresh blueberries are in their last plentiful gasp and make a colorful dessert for a holiday weekend. If the fresh berries are not available in your market, use a prepared blueberry pie filling for a scrumptious "bluebottom ice cream pie."

This dessert will be a labor of love for Labor Day visitors.

BLUEBOTTOM ICE CREAM PIE

- 4 cups fresh blueberries
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 cups water
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup sugar

- 1-3 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- Combine blueberries and sugar. Mix water and cornstarch and stir into blueberries. Cook at a simmer until sauce is thickened. Reserve one-half cup of the mixture for decorating the top. Cool.
- Combine crumbs, sugar and margarine. Press mixture into bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie pan. Spoon blueberry filling over crust. Spoon ice cream over blueberry filling. Beat orange juice into reserved blueberry filling. Drizzle over ice cream.

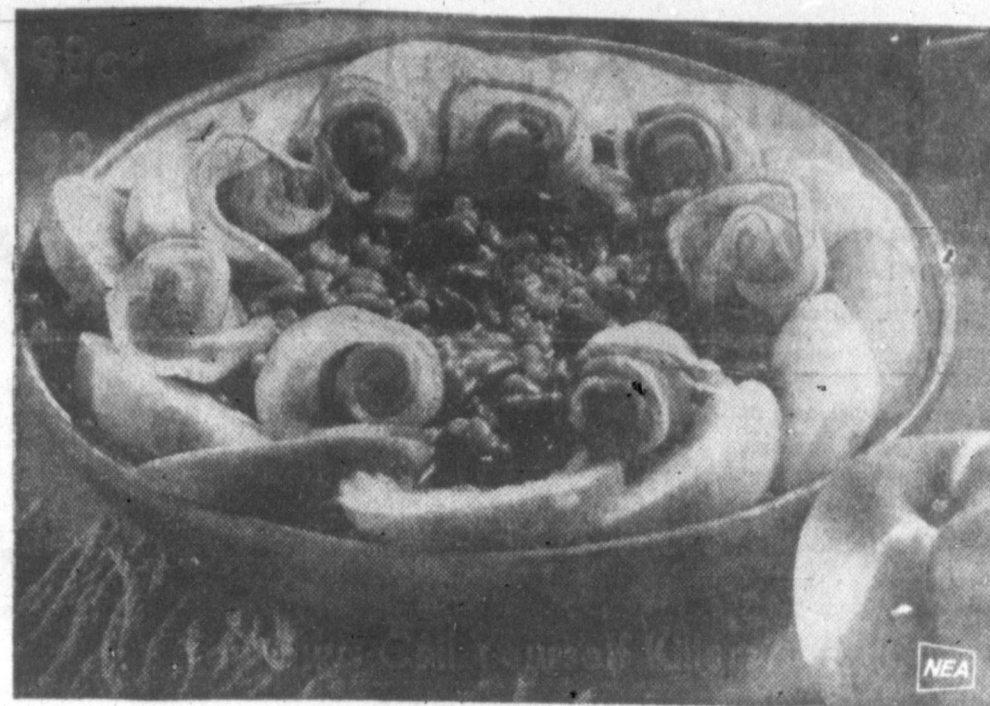

Stuffed Bass Offers Variety For Labor Day

What better way to celebrate a successful Labor Day than with a freshly caught fish. Knowledgeable homemakers will make arrangements with the local fish market or have a substitute meat in the freezer as a backup. Even the best of fishermen come home with empty creels.

A baked stuffed striped bass makes an ideal dish for friends or family gathered to celebrate the long weekend. Cook it in the oven or in a covered grill outdoors.

BAKED STUFFED STRIPED BASS

- 1 striped bass (about 3 lbs.)
- One-third cup minced celery
- 1/4 cup minced green pepper
- 5 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs, packed
- 1/2 cup wheat germ
- 18 oysters, fresh, frozen or canned (optional)
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons cut chives
- 1 teas. sweet basil
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Clean fish and prepare for stuffing, with backbone removed if desired. Cook celery and green pepper in butter about 5 minutes. Do not brown. Add crumbs, wheat germ, oysters (optional), parsley, chives, basil, seasonings and enough oyster liquid or bouillon to moisten. Cook 5 minutes longer. Fill cavity in fish with mixture. Sew up cavity or fasten with small skewers and white twine. Place in greased pan. Dot surface of fish with additional butter or margarine (about 1 1/2 tablespoons). Bake in 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork, basting two or three times with pan drippings or additional melted butter. Makes 6 servings.

Nectarines lend piquant fruitiness to bean/bacon dish.

Combine Nectarines With Bacon, Beans

Nectarines are another fruit we are learning to cook with. Like cherries and apricots, nectarines are a member of the rose family and probably evolved, scientists say, from the almond. They're not "smooth-skinned" peaches but have a piquancy all their own.

Most of the U.S. crop comes from the San Joaquin Valley in California and meads dwell with an old Yankee baked bean favorite—a perfect coast-to-coast combination for Labor Day.

- 2 cups. Combine beans, sugar, vinegar and spices in saucepan. Heat to blend flavors. Fry bacon in skillet. Drain on paper towels, then roll each piece of bacon fat to beans. Add nectarines to skillet and fry until hot. Turn hot bean mixture into shallow bowl. Top with bacon rolls and make a ring of nectarines around the edge. Sprinkle with minced parsley. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BEANS AND BACON NECTARINE

- 2 (to 4) fresh nectarines
- 1 can (about 1 lb., 3 oz.) baked beans, undrained
- 1 can (15 1/4 oz.) red kid-

For Summer Menu, Add Yams, Pecans

Here are two different Southern-style vegetable dishes for your warm weather meals. One uses a 5-ounce package of instant mashed yams, the other, fresh corn out from the cob.

PLANTATION MASHED YAMS

- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 package (5 oz.) instant mashed Louisiana yams
- 1/4 teaspoon each salt and grated orange peel
- Toast pecans in butter over low heat. Mix sugar and cinnamon; toss with pecans. Prepare yams according to package directions; add salt and orange peel (omit butter). Fold one-half the sugared pecans into mashed yams. Sprinkle remaining on top.

FRESH CORN CREOLE

- 3/4 cup diced green pepper
- 1/4 cup diced onion
- 1-3 cup butter or margarine
- 3 cups fresh corn cut off cob
- 1 1/2 cups diced fresh tomatoes
- 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- Saute green pepper and onion in the 1-3 cup butter. Add corn, tomatoes, sugar, salt and black pepper. Cover and cook 10 minutes before stirring in the 1 tablespoon butter.

FIFTY DOLLAR REVENUE

BOISE, Idaho (UPI)—The "Little Old Lady" who advertised a 1969 Cadillac in first class condition with low mileage for sale for $50 meant what she said. The lady, who preferred to remain anonymous, explained that her husband, who died recently, specified in his will that the car or the proceeds from its sale was to go to his girlfriend.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.

(UPI)—The State Park and Wildlife Commission has announced the Corpus Christi State Park should be open by Tuesday. The park was severely damaged Aug. 3 by Hurricane Celia.

Business In Alarms Increases

NEW YORK (UPI)—The increase in crime has frightened several million American homeowners into spending from $150 to $1,000 apiece on burglar alarm systems. Many of them call for continuing monthly payment of $20 to $30 to a security patrol company.

The burglar alarm and security device business is so big now that there are between 5,000 and 6,000 manufacturing firms in it compared with 1,000 only five years ago, according to the National Burglar and Fire Alarm Association. Sales are estimated around $1 billion a year.

Not all the devices are in the $500 to $1,000 range for a home or require the services of central security firm connected to the home by wire. Many simply depend on flooding the house with light or making a loud noise to frighten the intruder. Among these are plug-in ultrasonic alarms selling for up to $150.

Others are connected to the telephone and automatically call police when an intruder is detected. The police in many communities aren't too fond of these devices, saying they result in many false alarms.

The more elaborate home protection systems are connected to every outside door and every window in the house. Unless deactivated by a key, the system sounds the alarm, turns on lights and calls the security patrol at any forcing or breaking of a window or door.

The cheapest device is a battery operated alarm fastened to a door. It merely makes a noise if somebody tries to force the door. These can be bought almost anywhere.

The industrial and commercial market for alarm systems is bigger and more sophisticated because the devices guard against unauthorized internal snooping and pilferage as well as outside intruders.

Naturally, fear is what sells the alarm systems. A typical ad shows a figure climbing through a window and says — "This man is your enemy — he may be a professional burglar, a juvenile delinquent, a dope addict or psychotic." An ad by General Telephone & Electronics asks — "Who's downstairs ringing your doorbell? A friend? Or the Boston Strangler?"

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One quick riddle through a new book called "Energies" is all you need to perceive why 85 per cent of the adults in this country have weight problems.

It shows that most people never eat balanced meals.

The number of calories in the food we eat greatly exceeds the number of calories that we expend in eating the food.

One raw quince, for example, contains 60 calories. A medium-sized pomegranate has 90 calories, including pulp and seeds, while five or six raw kumquats add up to 65 calories.

But the amount of energy required to consume these delicacies burns up only 50 calories per hour.

Thus we finish each meal with a surplus of calories which, unless reduced by other means, will be converted into body fat at the rate of 3,500 calories per pound.

You could dispose of these excess calories by brushing your hair (100 per hour), playing the pipe organ (150 per hour), watching television (25 per hour) or answering the telephone (50 per hour).

But these activities become rather boring after the first 15 or 20 minutes and lassitude begins to creep over us. Few of us can work up enough momentum to keep brushing our hair for an hour. Particularly after a big meal.

Another approach, which for some reason is not mentioned in the book but which seems far more practical, is to increase the amount of energy you expend while dining.

In other words, the intake of 65 calories from half a dozen raw kumquats would be offset by the output of 65 calories during their consumption. There are several ways of doing this.

Juggle the Kumquats

One way is to spend 5 or 10 minutes juggling the kumquats before we eat them. It's really amazing how much energy you expend keeping six kumquats in the air at once.

Not all dishes are suitable for juggling, however. A bowl of turkey noodle soup (60 calories) is a notable example. So it is well to have alternate methods for upping your dining energy output.

I personally recommend juggling, which burns calories at the terrific rate of 600 per hour. Rather than sit down to eat, you jog around the table while having breakfast, lunch and dinner.

And here's another helpful hint: Try combining dining with karate, which also burns 600 calories hourly. Serve your dinner guests a few karate chops along with the lamb chops.

In sum, eat three vigorous meals a day and coast the rest of the way.

NAB ESCAPED LIONS

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Two large mountain lions escaped into Roger Williams Park early Monday through holes vandals apparently had cut in a fence. The animals were subdued with tranquilizer guns and returned to their cages.

TYPHOON KILLS 11

SEOUL (UPI)—The Korean Counter Disaster Center said today at least 11 persons had been killed and 10 others were missing in the flooding and winds from Typhoon Billie.

The agency said winds of 45 miles per hour and five to seven inches of rain had damaged or flooded 2,700 houses and left 2,000 persons homeless. It said 164 boats were destroyed, nine bridges damaged and roads swept away at 41 points.

The typhoon struck Sunday in South Korea then blew into North Korea.

Water Panel Votes To Push For Dams

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Water Rights Commission voted Tuesday to recommend Gov. Preston Smith approve the building of three dams in Wood and Rains counties and flood control measures in Greenville, Tex.

The commission also voted for endorsement of a U.S. Corps of Engineers plan to straighten and deepen the Sabine River channel from Echo to Morgan Point—a five-and-a-quarter mile stretch just above the city of Orange. Estimated cost is $2 million.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., asked Smith to hurry his report to Washington on the "feasibility" of the proposal in an effort to get the plan before Congress in time for action this year.

Officials of the Sabine River Authority and the Texas Water Development Board told the commission the dams and flood control measures are needed urgently.

Howard B. Boswell of Austin, executive director of the State Water Development Board, said the upper river basin has a history of "disastrous floods" that could repeat at any time.

"The flood control that these projects will provide is tragically needed," said John W. Simmons of Orange, general manager of the Sabine River Authority.

The Orange County Navigation District will pay a portion of the costs of the river improvement project. The city of Greenville will provide right-of-way for flood protection structures as its share of the $181,000 project there.

Hollywood Reports

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—You would think belly dancers, with the advent of topless and bottomless performers, might have gone the way of bugle whips when the internal combustion engine came along.

Not so.

Little Egypt, a Lebanese beauty and related to the original Little Egypt of the 1893 Chicago Fair, is as much in demand as ever.

Some persons call her by her first name, Little Egypt. Others call her by her surname, Egypt. Both have been certified as her legal name. She prefers to be called Lorraine, which is her middle monicker.

But how can a girl wearing a bra, veil, and modest (bigger than bikini) bottoms compete with the exhibitionistic females who prance around in their birthday suits? That is, bare naked?

"They haven't hurt my career," said Little Egypt in a strong Brooklyn accent. "But the nude dancers have hurt belly dancers who work in small clubs.

"I think audiences like to see authentic and realistic dancing. Nude Dancing Doesn't Qualify

It would appear that nude dancing would qualify as about as authentic as the art of dancing can get. Little Egypt says no.

"I've seen a nude performance, but I don't think the audience really appreciated the lack of mystery," she said. "And nude dancing will never be popular when the audience includes women.

"Packaging a dancer is just as important as packaging a product. That's what fashion is all about. And that's why I keep my clothes on."

Little Egypt was in Hollywood for a top role in NBC's "Gideon" with Peter Ustinov and Jose Ferrer which will be aired next spring. She is moving here permanently to seek an acting career.

"I am the top belly dancer in the world," she said.

From an economic standpoint and demand on her talent, Little Egypt could be right.

"I can count the number of legitimate belly dancers in this country on two hands," she said, holding up 10 fingers. "But there are a lot of strippers wearing belly dancers' costumes doing bumps and grinds.

MORE TROUBLE AHEAD?

Educators Eye New Year

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At more than 2,000 colleges across the nation, anxious educators are wondering whether the new academic year which begins this month will be as turbulent as the one that staggered to a conclusion last spring.

A survey by the American Council on Education shows that 524 institutions experienced disruptive campus protests during the 1969-70 academic year. They resulted in 14 deaths and more than $9 million in property damage.

Although leery of going on record with flat predictions, some college administrators are hopeful things may be a little quieter this term.

In support of their cautious optimism, they offer such facts or opinions as these:

—Mass outbreaks of violence seem to have an immunizing effect on people directly exposed to their excesses. Students who witnessed destruction and bloodshed on campus last year will be reluctant to repeat the experience—just as many urban Negroes dread a renewal of ghetto rioting.

—A substantial number of students came out of last spring's campus riots with the feeling they had been manipulated by extreme radicals who deliberately set out to provoke clashes with police and National Guardsmen.

—Many colleges have instituted reforms—in curriculum, in codes of discipline, and in faculty-student relationships—to meet legitimate student grievances that were factors in last year's campus protests.

—College administrators have learned a lot from their own past mistakes in handling campus protests. Most of them now have a much better understanding of where to draw the line between reasonable concessions and abject surrender, and how to deal firmly but not provocatively with incidents that might lead to violence.

—Some faculty members who were formerly sympathetic toward student protest are having second thoughts.

This hopeful reasoning seems sound as far as it goes. But it overlooks one tremendously important consideration.

When human beings—whether they are students or black people or white construction workers—are genuinely outraged, they are apt to case prudence to the wind and express their anger in irrational ways.

If President Nixon or Congress or a state governor or a university administration does something during the coming academic year that outrages students as much as the U.S. move into Cambodia did last spring, there will be more trouble—bad trouble—on the campus.

Silber Said To Be Unable To Cooperate

AUSTIN (UPI) — The acting president of the University of Texas Wed. said Dr. John R. Silber was fired as dean of the college of arts and sciences because "he could not be expected to work cooperatively as an administrator."

Silber, a popular philosophy professor, was abruptly dismissed from his administrative post July 24 at the climax of a top-level administrative shake-up of the seventh largest university system in the nation.

Dr. Bryce Jordan, acting president, released copies of a four-page letter to faculty members explaining his role in the dean's dismissal. Jordan previously had refused to discuss the affair except to say he had recommended the controversial move because in his view "the interest of the University of Texas at Austin required it."

Jordan said Silber's "continued" and "entirely inappropriate opposition" to a plan for reorganizing the arts and sciences college would have "endangered its implementation."

HONOR ATTU HERO

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan will bestow one of its highest decorations on the general who led the bitter World War II defense of Attu Island in the Aleutians against attacking American forces in May 1943. A spokesman for Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said Monday the Second Class Order of the Rising Sun will be awarded posthumously to Lt. Gen. Yasuo Yamazaki who died with 2,630 of his soldiers in the battle.

FIRE ON FERRY

ODDEN, Denmark (UPI)—Fire broke out in the engine room of the ferry Mette Mols Monday while it was between Odden and Grenaa, forcing some 200 passengers to evacuate the ship. The passengers were transferred in a calm sea to a sister ship. Another 100 passengers and the crew of 30 stayed aboard the Mette Mols while it was tugged to Odden harbor.

FIRE DAMAGES TRAIN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fire in the engine of a New Haven division commuter train snarled service into Grand Central Terminal at midmorning Monday for 40 minutes. The damaged train was towed into the station and no injuries were reported.

Ford Out As Target For Strike

DETROIT (UPI) —Ford Motor Co. yesterday was eliminated as a possible strike target by the United Auto Workers this month, leaving the choice of a strike target between General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp.

UPI learned that Leonard Woodcock, president of the union, told the UAW's GM Council that the union's ruling body no longer considered Ford a strike target.

Ford was the strike target in 1967 and the UAW struck that company for seven weeks. GM has about 395,000 UAW members plus several thousand other union members who would be idled by a strike. Chrysler has about 100,000 union members.

The decision not to strike Ford immediately heightened speculation that the nation's second largest union may take on GM—the world's largest manufacturing organization—in a massive labor confrontation Sept. 15, unless the two sides can agree on a new contract by the time the present one expires at midnight Sept. 14.

At the conclusion of the GM meeting, Woodcock said the company's offer, almost identical to the offer of Ford and Chrysler and laid on the bargaining table at the same time Tuesday, was "the worst they've given us in 20 years."

Television In Review

By DICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —CBS-TV, which says it is trying to be more sophisticated in its programming, is moving Merv Griffin's late-night series permanently from New York to Hollywood as of the middle of next week.

As everyone knows, Hollywood is a citadel of sophistication. I mean, if movie stars aren't sophisticated, who is?

The fact, of course, is that with Griffin, NBC-TV's Johnny Carson and ABC-TV's Dick Cavett all originating their late-night shows from New York, the competition for desirable guests there has been fierce.

And, with Carson and Cavett getting better reaction in the show business industry, in press notices and in word-of-mouth response, Griffin's position has hardly been desirable.

What it comes down to, really, is that all of the star power in the world doesn't help if a show doesn't have the right concept, the right attitude, the right tone. Many movie stars have bombed out on television, and networks learned that big name celebrities have to do more than just put in an appearance to get ratings.

Jack Paar, the best late-night host television has ever had, held forth with such non-stars as Alexander King, a superb and witty conversationalist; Genevieve, an offbeat French performer; and Dody Goodman, a zany lady who was but a minor actress. Yet all became national celebrities because the show's attitude was right.

Cavett is a generally fine conversationalist and a humorist of deadly understatement. Carson is a powerhouse comedian and a master showman who never lets things flag for long. Whether or not one likes them, there is no doubt they are very adept professionals. Griffin, on the other hand, seems rudderless because he has not really been doing what he does best, what he used to do extremely well on his old, less pressurized syndicated series. His secret then was that he was an excellent listener who quietly and amiably guided all types of guests into provocative, pleasant conversation.

Listening well is no small achievement for a good host, but he is a different personality since going network. He tells jokes now, and he can't. He performs more in general, and he can't very well. He is often silly, giving the impression that he is the kind of fellow who puts on funny hats at parties.

He has to return to his natural self, and let his old directness replace the coyness and cuteness and gushing. If he doesn't, no change of venue will help.

FLAGGED DOWN

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Craft Lofland, 18, was arrested for "failing to obey a lawful command of a police officer and disrespect for the Confederate flag" when he allegedly refused to remove a Confederate flag tied to his trousers with a leather thong. Police said when Lofland was taken to the station they found a small bag of marijuana on the back seat of their patrol car, and he was charged with possessing marijuana. He was free Monday on $1,530 bail.

KOREAN RED CHARGE

TOKYO (UPI)—United Nations forces fired shells into North Korean positions in the western sector of the truce line, North Korea's official news agency charged Monday. The Korean Central News Agency said the incident occurred at 9 a.m. Sunday near the RimjinpGang River in KimpO Penins.

Hurricane Celia Ranked Fourth Worst

MIAMI (UPI) — The National Hurricane Center has classified Hurricane Celia, which struck the Texas coast near Corpus Christi with 161 mile-an-hour winds Aug. 4, the fourth most destructive hurricane on record.

According to center director Dr. Robert Simpson, Celia caused $740 million in damage. This compares with $1.4 billion caused by both Hurricane Camille along the Louisiana Gulf Coast in 1969 and Hurricane Betsy in Florida in 1965, and $831 million caused by Hurricane Diane on the East Coast in 1955. In terms of deaths, Celia was far down the list of storms with the 11 fatalities attributed to it. A hurricane which hit Galveston, Tex., in 1900 is blamed for some 6,000 deaths. Camille caused 256 deaths, Diane 200 and Betsy 75.

10 PAMPA DAILY NEWS PAMPA, TEXAS 3rd Year Thursday, September 3, 1970

With pure shape mastery, designer Rodrigues pulls off a true silhouette coup with disarming ease in his pants-plus-dress team-up for Milbo (left). The dress is cut along sparse body-conscious lines through the bosom, wrapped to the side and eased in a gentle flare. Easy pants continue the flare to the floor. The color—brightest sun gold. Victor Joris of Cuddlecoat sees his shapely tunic in bright cornflower blue (right) both ways—as a scanty little dress or teamed up with its own straight-legged white pants and feminine crepe shirt. Irish Linen is the fabric used in both these designs.

Tunic Tops Pants For Summer

NEW YORK (NEA) — Summer wardrobes demand greater versatility than do clothes for any other time of year because of the frequent change-of-scene that Summer brings.

Whether it's that Labor Day vacation or a succession of quick get-away weekends, double-duty clothes are the answer to how to pack for a maximum number of occasions in a minimum amount of space.

This Summer it's the tunic-plus-pants wardrobe extender that fills the bill.

Not for a minute does it resemble those trite travel clothes that are fine for packing but never seem to look right at home.

The tunic-plus-pants idea is unusually pertinent this year because of the increasing acceptability of pants-suits for other than strictly sportswear occasions.

Pants outfits in such wellbred fabrics as linen are fine for traveling, for spectator sports, for dinner and casual evening wear. And their tunic tops by themselves are great little dash-about dresses or even swimsuit cover-ups. They're right in step with the sleeked-down and leggy look of Summer.

Ginori does Summer's great put-together in a safari mood—a knee-clearing tunic dress in natural Irish linen with outsize pockets and decorative stitching mated to precisely tailored white trousers.

Victor Joris gives his tunic deft shaping in cornflower blue to wear on its own or with white trousers and the most feminine sort of crepe shirt.

Designer Rodrigues takes the idea into late day with similarly flared pants and tunic in brightest marigold.

It's a case of one good idea expanding to three as pants and tunic go their own separate ways and also join forces for Summer's winning fashion combo.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter, Caroline, has started going with a guy named Angelo. He never takes her any place. He just comes over every night to watch television and wear out our sofa.

When Angelo comes over, the wife and I have to go sit in the kitchen so he and Caroline can have their privacy in the living room. I suppose we could go in our bedroom, but who wants to go to bed at 7 o'clock?

So every night lately the wife and I sit in the kitchen like a couple of cockroaches trying to watch television on a dinky little portable.

The wife is so happy that Caroline finally has a boy friend she doesn't say a word. I am getting tired of this setup. What should I do?

KITCHEN SITTER
DEAR SITTER: Send me a picture of Caroline and I'll tell you what to do.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, Ellen, who is now seven. Since we aren't able to have any more we have decided to adopt a child, but here is our problem.

We want a little girl Ellen's age not so much for ourselves but for Ellen. She is a shy child and has never made friends easily. Being an only child, she's inclined to be a little spoiled and, therefore, not easy to get along with. We feel that if Ellen had a sister her age it would relieve her loneliness and give her someone to keep her company.

We've spoken to several adoption agencies and they haven't been very encouraging. They seem to think we should adopt a younger child, and possibly a boy. But Abby, what kind of a companion would that be for our lonely little daughter? Also, isn't it true that when a new baby comes into a home, the older child becomes jealous and resentful?

Can you give us some advice?
ELLEN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You appear to be more concerned with the needs of your own child than with the needs of an adopted child. To first a "twin" on Ellen in order to provide her with a companion and relieve her loneliness could be a sad mistake for all. Why not take a foster child for a while and see how it works out? Or perhaps the Lord in His infinite wisdom intended for you to have only one?

DEAR ABBY: My gripe is my landlady. She had a key to my apartment, saying she needed it in case of an emergency.

I know for a fact that this landlady has gone into my apartment and looked through my drawers, closets and my desk.

I asked a friend of mine who is a private detective if my landlady had the right to go into my apartment without my permission, and he said absolutely not! He also said I had the right to change the lock on my door and refuse to give her the key. Well, this is exactly what I did. And I told her that in case of an emergency she could break the door down with an ax and I would pay for a new one. Needless to say, no emergency ever came up and I've been living there for two years. Of course when she sees me, she turns her head, but I like it better that way.

KNOWS MY RIGHTS
DEAR KNOWS: "Rights" differ in different buildings, cities and even states. It's amazing how few landlords know their rights. And even fewer tenants know theirs.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WAITING AND HOPING: A man who would cheat on his wife would lie to his girlfriend. And if he did divorce her and marry you, what would you have? A husband who cheats on his wife.

Used Birdcage Stand Makes Nifty Bird Feeder

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Helen's query as to what she could do with her old birdcage reminded me of one that a friend had ingeniously turned into a planter. I then bought a birdcage at an antique shop to use for this purpose. Mine holds a group of small pots with trailing greenery, to which I have added a few plastic blooms for color. I am sure you would both agree this makes a marvelous focal point.

—HELOISE

DEAR POLLY — Helen will find that the stand to her no-longer-used birdcage can make a very good bird feeder. Either hang a box or pan from the arm or use the bottom of the cage by spreading some of the wires. My sister used one to make a swell pole for her outdoor gas light. Also, such a stand could be used as a nice

Lambreath Family Has Ranch Reunion

WHEELER (Sp) — A family reunion of the late Minister and Mrs. G.H. Lambreath was held at Wimberly on the Rocky River Ranch. Lambreath, a Wheeler minister for several years, helped build the first Church of Christ building in 1915 and served as pastor in the same building.

Nine of the couple's 11 children attended the reunion, which had 104 registered.

Children attending were Mrs. Bonnie Smith of Seminole, George Lambreath of New Mexico, Mrs. Bob Ramsey of Wheeler, Larry Lambreath of San Antonio, G.A. Lambreath of Clarendon, Mrs. G.N. Hibbits of Arlington, Herman Lambreath of Carlsbad, N.M., Mrs. Olin Miller of Franklin, La., and Mrs. Cornett Hibbits of Arlington.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Again I am faced with a old and unpleasant problem. I hope some of the readers know of a practical way to clean and then keep clean the area of window sill between a screen and the inside window. I have tried pouring water in this space and cleaning with a rag but this makes such a mess and the water runs down the outside of the house to make streaks. Any suggestions certainly would be appreciated.

—MRS. J.B.

DEAR POLLY — I recently attended a Flower Show luncheon and thought the table decorations were so cute. Limbs from a thorn bush had been sprayed black and hanging from the thorns, by white plastic rings, were white nylon net pan scrapers. When the luncheon was over everyone was invited to take a net puff home as a gift.

Flattering Frames Add Eye Accent

MIAMI, Fla. (Sp) — It has been said that glasses are doing as much for the girl of the New Seventies as the very flattering yashmak did for the women of the East for centuries.

The world's loveliest ladies admit to short-sightedness these days and seem to revel in being photographed in their distinctive specs. Sophia Loren, Ingrid Bergman, Princess Grace, Nancy Sinatra, ex-Queen Soraya and Vanessa Redgrave — they are rarely seen in public WITHOUT their glasses now that frames have become the most flattering facial accessory imaginable.

Wear eye make-up boldly behind your glasses. A neat little trick is to blend colored shadow between lid and brow, winging it softly upwards and outwards. Then apply a neutral shade like beige, honey, white or brown to the lids themselves.

Define upper lashes with a very narrow band of liner and build up the arches of scanty eyebrows with pencil or brush on brow powder. The top sweep of the glass frame should complement the line of the eyebrows. Mascara should be applied in two thin coats and a lash-curler used to coax lashes into a pretty curve while the mascara is still damp.

The delicate skin surrounding the eyes needs extra attention when you wear glasses because tiny lines and wrinkles may easily form in this area.

Families Attend Reunion In Park

The Stokes family reunion was held recently at Hobart Street Park with 112 family members and guests attending the games, breakfast and lunch programs.

Families attending from Pampa were Messrs. and Mrs. George Collinsworth, Vernon Baggerman, Alvin Stokes, Jerry Gailmore, Hugh Stokes, W.E. Couts, Deyrell Whately, Clayton Stokes, Jimmie Welch and Mrs. Edna Coon. Those from Groom were J.A. Quirk, Curtis Whately, Larry Baggerman, Odell Baggerman and Ruben Baggerman.

Nine attended from Amarillo, two from Greenville, and one each from Calmuel, Okla., Lone Oak, Plainview, Shamrock, Emory, Canyon, Clark, Tulsa, Dallas and Hurst.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girde constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a shimmering action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girde will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girde itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such shimmering strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" in both girde and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at...

India's Leaders Against Land Grab

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Mrs. Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India, disapproved. So did President Varahgiri Venkata Giri. So did the chief ministers of all of India's 17 states.

To a visiting group of 150 American professors and school teachers Mrs. Gandhi described India's land-grab movement as "unconstitutional and undemocratic." Certain political parties, she declared, were trying to outdo each other by adoption of undesirable methods.

There had been, she admitted, some delay in implementation of land reforms.

Large Land Grab
The prime minister's mild manner and speech scarcely described the movement sweeping across those to a dozen Indian states where landless peasants were carrying out one of the largest land grabs in Indian history.

Sponsored by the pro-Moscow branch of the Communist party and later joined by two socialist groups, the demonstrators seized tens of thousands of uncultivated acres owned either by absentee landlords or the government.

By the end of August, police had jailed more than 20,000 of the demonstrators, including members of Parliament.

Present demonstrations had begun in West Bengal in mid-July and spread from there.

Land reform in India falls under the authority of the state governments rather than New Delhi, with 30 acres the usual ceiling on the amount one person can hold legally.

Laws Poorly Enforced
But the laws have been poorly enforced, one reason being that the Congress party which has dominated Indian political life since independence, draws most of its financial support from the landowning class.

The mounting popularity of the peasant revolts has the government worried on two counts. One is the danger of a total breakdown in law and order should the demonstrations be permitted to continue.

The other is that national elections are coming up in 1972 and whether Mrs. Gandhi likes it or not she cannot ignore the fact that the poor and landless make up the largest bloc of Indian voters. One hundred thirty one million Indians work on the land.

Authorities Are Unable To Pinpoint Killing Blame

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—Harry Nichols Rice, 18, was shot and killed July 20 during a confrontation between police and college aged youths a block from the Kansas University campus.

Investigating authorities said they could not determine whether Rice was shot by police or by a sniper. At the time, Rice's father said the bullet wound in his son was too small to have come from a police weapon, but a witness said he saw a policeman fire at Rice.

County Coroner Dr. James Reed instructed a six-man jury to determine when Rice died, how he died, who killed him and if the slaying was committed with criminal intent.

The jury listened to 22 witnesses Tuesday and then said unanimously it did not know who killed the Kansas

University student. "There was not sufficient evidence presented to determine whether the death was or was not caused feloniously," the jury said.

Rice's mother, Mrs. Harry D. Rice, attended the inquest and said it only explained why the police were present when her son was killed but not who killed him.

"The inquest was supposed to answer the questions of parents as to why the boy was shot," she said. "This inquest spent eight hours determining why the police were aggravated and then the reasons for shooting. Our child has been exonerated by the President's Committee, by the KBI (Kansas Bureau of Investigation) and by all the law enforcement agencies men could muster."

Dutch Queen Offers Self As Hostage

THE HAGUE (UPI)—Dutch Newspapers reported Queen Juliana had offered herself as a hostage Monday when she learned Ambonese Island dissidents were holding the wife and two children of the Indonesian ambassador under a death threat.

Government sources did not confirm the hostage report but said the queen did offer to go to the ambassador's residence and that Premier Piet de Jong's cabinet used maximum persuasive power to make the queen change her mind for her own safety.

The Ambonese Islanders seized the embassy in a burst of gunfire that killed a guard and then threatened to execute the ambassador's family. They did so to protest the state visit of Indonesian President Suharto who postponed his visit for 48 hours because of the incident.

Suharto left Jakarta tonight with his wife, Mme. Tien Suharto, and an entourage of 40 persons. Executive authority during his absence will be exercised by Sultan Hamengku Buwono XII, the minister of economy.

The independent Dutch daily Algemeen Dagblad said the queen had been particularly concerned with the fate of the three hostages after the raid on the embassy in suburban

Stock Market Gives Back Gain

NEW YORK (UPI)—Autos and electronics were among the weakest issues on the New York Stock Exchange Wed. as the market continued to give back some of last week's sharp gains. Turnover, however, was relatively light.

Shortly before noon, the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips showed a loss of 6.44 at 751.71. Of the 1,294 issues crossing the tape, 715 pointed lower and 261 gained.

Analysts noted that aside from profit taking, which normally follows a strong rise, market sentiment was dampened by a threatened automobile strike against General Motors on Sept. 15 and fear of renewed hostilities between Israel and Egypt.

The head of the United Auto Workers bargaining team at GM said he would not hesitate to recommend a strike against the world's largest manufacturing corporation if necessary to get a satisfactory new contract. Ford and GM stock prices were down more than a point apiece, while Chrysler fell around 1/2%.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock scheduled a news conference for 2:30 p.m. Wednesday after a meeting of UAW members which was expected to result in a rejection of the companies contract offers.

Other soft spots on the Big Board included IBM down more than 4, and Superior Oil off 2. Down a point or more were Corning Glass, Eastman Kodak, Atlantic Richfield, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, General Electric, Burroughs, Honeywell, Texas Instrument, Xerox, and Itek.

Prices also sagged in trading on the American Exchange. Declines advances, 369 to 146.

Among the most active issues were Tenna fractionally higher on than 18,000 shares, Asamer steady on 16,000 shares, Career Academy slightly on more than 13,000 shares.

Your Horoscope

FRIDAY, SEPT. 4, 1970
Your birthday Friday! The year ahead brings you the challenge of the opportunity to catch your equilibrium. A conservative approach to all problems is essential. You find a natural tendency to back away from drastic experiments to bring new factors into balance. Romance and speculative ventures must fit into the odd moments of your time. Friday natives are nearly all married for a long time in unusual interests, unlikely events.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Let people come to you rather than force issues. Pleasure and the appeal of new experience leads you off your beaten track Friday evening.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your inclination is to take the comfortable way out. Instead, get a full day's work done along with the credit. Prepare for a change in special habits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your pride and vanity are readily cooled. Strive for perspective. A more cheerful spirit on your part goes a long way.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Push a little to break the momentary monotony of your daily routines. You attract cooperation, good humor, the evening for lively conversation.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): Continued fact, your relationship is the more critical. You can get a good deal done on work you can't do at home. Keep it. Keep it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Everybody wants to find an easier path today. Including you. Financial matters stand still or recede a little. The evening promises well for romantic interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): For lack of opposition you can easily become a progress Friday. The general temptation is to handle your leadership duties more easily at present.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): Your persuasive talents are at a fairly high level now. Keep matters simple and implement the most important ones first. Handle matters in this order.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your friends are all for leading you away from serious matters into frivolous yourself. Think back see where things well favored. Stay alert and on the move.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Seek professional advice, settle legal issues, sign location agreements Friday in the day. New acquaintances, fresh contacts are promising.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Ask someone some pertinent questions. Push forward rapidly despite the hesitating to hear with friends and neighbors. Romantic interests air later.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): If you are not satisfied with the way today turns out, there's really nobody at fault but yourself. Think back see where things changed.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Despite market optimism, Alexander Hamilton Institute believes an aggressive investment policy is not yet warranted. "It's impossible" to predict economic trends on "one month's statistics," the firm says. In addition, "the negative factors which have haunted Wall Street so long are still with us," including corporate illiquidity and high interest rates.

The short- to intermediate term trader should be selling at this point, and a high-risk trader should even consider shorting selected stocks, according to Filor Bullard & Smyth. The market is being run up at the moment by the "phoenix" speculator, the kind of investor who "consumes himself in his own speculative excesses at the peaks of market upswings and rises from his own ashes to repeat the process all over again." The firm says the market is in the same overbought condition it was three weeks ago and a simple three to four week decline can be expected soon to set up a base for an upside move in the fall.

Moody Favored In Top O' Texas Golf

When the 33rd annual Top O' Texas golf tournament opens Saturday it will be a "wide open affair" according to pro-golf hosts Hart Warren and Martin Reeves. Both pros favor Lloyd Moody to win the championship fight. Lloyd is the brother of the 1969 US Open winner Orville Moody and reportedly defeats his brother regularly.

Proof of caliber for golfers in the annual tournament is four of the top nine finishers in last year's meet have turned professional with three more returning for a shot at the title.

The four golfers who have turned professional are Dick Ellis of Pampa, Shamrock's Jerry Hecner and Amarillo's Steve LeCone and Marvin Dick.

This year's field is limited to 206 players with some expansion allowed in the championship flight. According to resident pro Warren, the scheduled drawing and listings for tee times was delayed due to several last minute cancellations. He said the drawing has been rescheduled for Thursday night.

Max Hickey and Buster Carter who tied for fourth place last year are area top contenders for the amateur flights. Not only are they the top returnees but Pampa is their home course. Playing on a familiar course usually gives a player a few strokes edge.

Actual play begins Friday, with a practice round and tournament play begins Saturday through Monday. The Championship Flight will play 72 holes of medal play with the two finalists going 36 holes Monday. The first flight will take part in 54 holes of medal action with other flights playing match rounds Saturday and Sunday and 18 holes of stroke play Monday.

Golfers to watch are Lloyd Moody, picked favorite in the championship flight and John Zett known for his long distance drives. In the first flight Max Hickey and David Parker who finished in the top ten last year and Danny Edwards, runnerup in the Oklahoma State Amateur. Eddie Duenkel who won the PamCel Tourney and Elmer Wilson, the defending first flight champion, will also be interesting players to watch.

PURCHASE PITCHER

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets, suffering bullpen woes as they slipped into third place in the National League East during the weekend, Monday purchased relief pitcher Ron Herbel from the San Diego Padres for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Mets Not Out

By United Press International
The Mets have been counted out of the 1970 National League's East Division race since spring training but here it is September and they are only a half-game behind the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates after a 7-3 win over the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

What's more important from the Mets' point of view is that the two big heroes of 1969—Tommy Agee and Tom Seaver—combined Wednesday night in their latest triumph.

U.S. Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Rod Laver and Mrs. Margaret Smith Court begin defense of their U.S. Open tennis championships today while the West Side Tennis Club still buzzed over Wednesday's opening matches which marked the arrival of sudden death in a major championship.

One match was decided by the rule, when Ray Ruffels of Australia defeated Jean Loup Royer of France, 6-7, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, 7-4.

Pancho Gonzalez, the grizzled 42-year-old legend from Malibu, wants no part of sudden death, and avoided it in his opening match against Ingo Bading of Germany. Pancho took the first set, 6-2, and when Bading hung on for 5-all in the second, Gonzalez promptly broke through Ingo's service and then raced through his own serve for the set at 7-5. Bading, suffering from bronchitis, lost the first game of the third set, then retired.

Landry Concerned
DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas

Cowboys may have cured part of their ailing secondary by trading for ex-Packer Herb Adderly at cornerback, but Coach Tom Landry—faced with playing Super Bowl champs Kansas City Saturday—admits he still has lots of worries.

"For example," he told his weekly press luncheon guests, "our major errors have not eased one bit."

"We have been making mistakes about every fourth play. Offensively, you could never cross a goal line under that pattern."

And, the rather stoical coach added that it wasn't just his offense that kept him tossing at night.

Wadkins Leader

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Lanny Wadkins is only 19 but he seems to know where he is going.

The solidly built Wadkins helped open the 1970 U.S. National Amateur golf championship Wednesday with a three-under-par 67.

Shaving Strokes by Frank Beard

When I putt, I crouch over the ball more than most players. My head isn't much higher than my belt buckle would be if I were standing erect talking to you. I know I'm one of the best putters in the game today. I couldn't be making as much money as I am if I weren't. But I wouldn't necessarily recommend my posture to you.

I crouch for two reasons. I believe I can see the line of the putt — the path it will follow to the hole — better than if I stood up straight. And I'm comfortable. I can not overemphasize the importance of comfort in putting. It's the key to scoring on the greens.

I know some old publick players in Louisville, where I live, who look awful putting, but they can put the eyes out of the hole. Rules are made for people who can not help themselves. If you break every rule of putting style and you're a good putter, what difference does it make? You have to have confidence and you have to have the feel and you have to be comfortable.

Don't copy me or anyone else. I can always tell when an amateur has read about Arnold Palmer's putting style. He'll be knock-kneed. Or he has read about Gary Player, and his left arm is straight. Do what YOU feel most at ease doing. Get a grip and stroke that are comfortable. Hit a putt the way you would if somebody had a gun at your wife's or girl friend's head, and you had to sink it. That's YOUR style.

Cancer Claims Lombardi

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Coach Vince Lombardi, pro football's molder of championship teams, died today of cancer at Georgetown University Hospital.

Death came at 7:12 a.m. EDT.

The 57-year-old Lombardi was head coach and executive vice president of the Washington Redskins at the time of his death. Prior to taking charge of the Redskins in 1969, the gruff, taskmaster of a coach had risen to fame by building a championship dynasty for the Green Bay Packers in his first head coaching job.

In nine seasons at Green Bay, he won five National Football League championships and two Super Bowl contests against rival American Football League teams.

Lombardi, after bringing Washington its first winning team (7-5-2) in 14 years in the 1969 season, was first hospitalized on June 25 with a stomach ailment.

Two days later, he underwent major surgery in which two feet of his colon was removed.

when a tumor was discovered. Lombardi left the hospital in early July, intending to take up the head coaching reins again.

But on July 27, he re-entered the hospital and a second operation of an undisclosed nature was performed. Redskin officials, at the request of Lombardi's family, declined to make public either his condition or the nature of his illness.

In Lombardi's absence, Assistant Bill Austin was designated "interim head coach" of the Redskins.

Lombardi is survived by his wife, the former Marie Planitz, a son, Vincent H. Lombardi, and a daughter, Mrs. Susan Bickham of Chicago.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lombardi of Brooklyn; two sisters, two brothers and six grandchildren.

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

The Deficit Keeps Growing

Because Congress chose to override President Nixon's veto of a $4.4 billion spending bill for schools, the estimates of the deficit for this year will have to be revised upward again.

We suppose there would be some satisfaction that Congress sustained the veto on the $4.4 billion item for housing and other agencies. But on two out of three vetoes because of what the President considered excessive amounts, the vetoes were overridden.

Mr. Nixon contended the $4.4 billion appropriation for aid to schools was $435 million over his budget. However, the budgeted amount was still higher than the previous year, as spending continues to mount. Only a few years ago, the question was whether it was a proper function of the national government to finance local schools, then, a small amount was authorized, and the resistance was broken down by the pressure of the high-powered school lobby of the National Education Association and its affiliates. Each year the amount climbs. But there'll never be enough to placate the school hierarchy.

Naturally there were the cries that President Nixon was "insensitive to human needs" when he objected to the spending which he considered excessive. As a matter of fact, there are some people who believe that he was insensitive to human needs when he proposed any spending of other people's money for schools, and

Regulator Admits Failure

Paradoxically, at a time when legislation is moving rapidly through Congress to create another "independent" federal regulatory agency, a so-called Consumer Protection Agency with broad dictatorial powers, the retiring chief of the "independent" Federal Trade Commission, which was also supposed to protect the consumers, is calling for its virtual abolition.

According to recent wire dispatch, retiring Federal Trade Commissioner Philip Elman, a veteran of 31 years in the federal government, seven of them with the FTC, stated that the FTC and other so-called independent regulatory agencies are independent from all but the interests they regulate. As a result, he said the public is the loser.

But the retiring FTC commissioner went even further. Pinpointing the source of the outpouring of arbitrary and capricious administrative law taking this country down the totalitarian road, Elman said that the combination of prosecutorial and judicial functions in a single agency usually make the outcome of a commission proceeding "a foregone conclusion."

In short, the retiring chief said that the FTC, after 56 years (it was created in 1914) of riding the tax payers' backs and meddling in the marts of trade, is a failure.

As a solution, Elman recommended the FTC as now organized should be abolished and its functions split up between an administrator who could be recalled by either the President or Congress and a grade court.

The ex-FTC chief is, of course, on the right track and is to be commended for his courageous observations. But what he fails to grasp is that Good Mileage, Too?

Anyone who gripes that his Detroit-built motor is a gas hog with a homing instinct for every service station in sight can take some comfort from this item from Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Saturn rocket, whose engines are the most powerful ever built, gules 15 tons of kerosene and liquid hydrogen a second. According to whoever figured it out at the National Geographic Society, this translates into a sizzling five inches to the gallon.

Don't Count On Tax Saving

Wage earners, elated at the increase in take-home pay as a result of the reduction of federal income taxes effective July 1, were warned in the Aug. 17 U.S. News and World Report not to begin counting, or planning on spending, those extra dollars yet.

For, while it is true that federal taxes have dropped — for now — the magazine emphasized, state and local authorities, as if in perfect coordination with the higher powers-that-be, are pushing tax levies ever upward; and this despite widespread taxpayer revolts that have blocked many tax boosts all around the country.

As a guide to where you, as a typical tax payer, are likely to be standing financially at the end of the year, USN & WR cited federal taxes collected for 1969 at $194.8 billion compared with anticipated collections for 1970 of $192.5 billion—DOWN $2.3 billion. But, state and local taxes across the country are up, the magazine continued, from $81.3 billion in 1969 to an estimated $89.5 billion for 1970—up $8.2 billion. In short, tax payers are going to be pouring $3.9 billion more into government laws this year than they did last year, or 35 cents out of every dollar earned in the entire U.S.

The source for USN & WR's analysis was tax figures provided by the U.S. Department of Commerce which, of course, would never admit to the additional hidden tax of inflation by which the government increases its take without appearing to; which, when added to the admitted 35 per cent take of total tax payer income, may push the final take to well over 50 cents on every dollar.

Where are the rising state and local taxes being applied? The USN & WR article supplied the answer to that too—gasoline taxes, personal income taxes, sales taxes, corporation income taxes, cigarette taxes, you name it, the various levels of government are taking bigger and bigger cuts at just about every point where goods and services change hands.

The question at this point is: What kind of a monster have we created? Obviously, its appetite knows no bounds. And the trend is unmistakable. We are headed, without a shadow of a doubt, into the kind of society which exists today in Soviet Russia, and existed in Nazi Germany; a society where the government owns or controls everything and does back to the individual, not what he earns by the sweat of his mental and physical labors, but what the bureaucrats in power think he "needs."

H. L. Hunt Writes

WITHHOLD FRIVOLITY

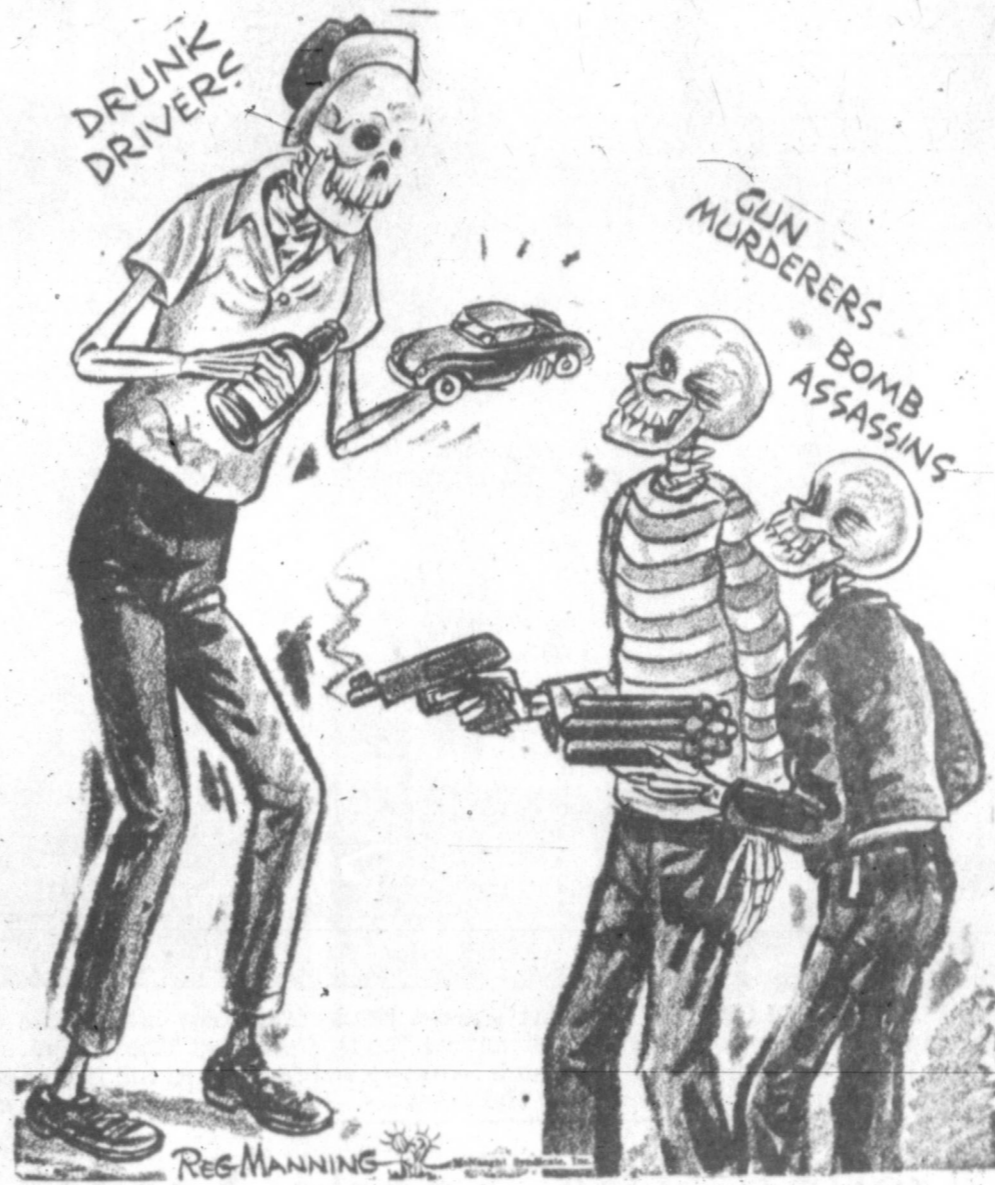

In critical times, concerned patriots take the lead among their fellow men in devoting most of their free time to the joyous struggle to preserve Freedom and our Republic USA. They begin to withhold from frivolities and concentrate their talents and energies on the essential things of life.

So much satisfaction and pleasure can be obtained from working for truth and freedom that those who have turned their attention to these joyful pursuits never miss their former frivolities. Recreation is essential to the human being, but the word comes from combining "re" and "creation," and nothing can be more recreating to the body than joyful accomplishment of some great mission of crusade.

There can be no greater earthly mission than preserving Republic USA against all its enemies, both foreign and domestic. That's why those who have given up paying so much excessive attention to frivolous spectator pastimes in favor of working for Freedom find their step lighter and their eyes brighter.

Weak civilizations have turned to "bread and circuses" in time of crisis to lull the masses. Thus did Rome fall. Strong civilizations gird up their loins and go to work in time of crisis, downgrading their circuses and spectacles. Whether it is 200,000 gathering for a "rock" music festival or a smaller number at some sports spectacle, too much time and effort by too many unthinking people goes into these frivolities. Our survival as a free people is somewhat more important than that.

Pattern Is Being Set For Terror In Months Ahead

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The waning summer of 1970 marks a real turning point for this country. The escalation of radicals' violence into bombings that bring death, as at the University of Wisconsin, has stripped off the last veil from the fake "humanity" of the disrupters.

We may get a lot more of such destruction in the months just ahead. But the new pattern is set.

The radicals — be they students or angry blacks or adults seeking the physical and mental shelter of the student movement — have passed from occupying buildings to destroying them, even at cost of human life.

They have passed from the days when they boasted of thievery and vandalism to a time when they are willing to take the risk of killing, whether the victims be their conscious "enemies" in established society or merely irrelevant bystanders.

In reaching this stage, they have fulfilled the prophecy of Prof. Lewis S. Feuer, whose study of historic student movements in "The Conflict of Generations" indicated terrorism as the inevitable final turn for the thwarted radical.

The new magnitude of radical violence confirms, too, that the disrupter — as opposed to the rational dissenter — has nothing to say. When the "tame" disruptions of the 1960s failed to produce the impossible instant social change he demanded, the radical had no place to go but to dynamite, in larger and larger charges.

The campus Cong and the urban Cong can ply their destructive trade with increasing frequency, no doubt of it. Explosives are easy at hand and few people are required to plot their use and set them off.

But the person or persons who shattered a public building in Minneapolis, and the one or more who killed a man and did $6 million worth of damage to a University of Wisconsin building, simply prove that the New Barbarians (as historian Daniel Boorstin calls them) have gone by the point of no return.

A key message in Feuer's studies of radical student movements through history is the terrible predictability of this outcome. Terrorism is always the final stage, leading always to self-destruction by one means or another.

The summer of 1970 was thus like no other in our recent string of "hot summers." Though racial violence flared in bitter episodes, the great black urban riots of the 1960s did not recur. The new destruction is far more deliberately planned and pinpointed.

What we have now is true revolutionary activity, violence intended to wreck rather than to draw attention so repairs to a faulty system can be made. But as some analysts have noted, we do not have revolution, for that takes mass support of a kind that does not exist.

The American mass today is against what it is witnessing. Neither the poor, the great bulk of the nation's restless blacks, the blue-collar workers nor even a large proportion of U.S. students are aligned with the terrorist radicals.

Were it not for the shaky condition of the country's economy, which presently threatens to penalize President Nixon and reward Democrats at the polls in the 1970 elections, the Democratic party might suffer deeply from the escalation of domestic violence.

For its doctrinaire liberals have flirted with the disrupters from the outset. Drawn by sympathy for student causes (too often manufactured to suit self-imposed alienation), they consistently refused to set a clear line between dissent and disruption.

So long as disruption meant wrecked furniture, slashed paintings, water in the dean's waste basket and red paint in the draft files, these liberals could fuff things up. But dynamite and its consequences in death and maiming, wasteful rubble put them in a very bad trap.

Tentatively they try to turn the issue away by crying fear of repression. That prospect may indeed rise. But the doctrinaires may do lasting hurt to the Democrats if they do not face the fact that terrorism is the new commonplace and now menaces us all.

Wit And Whimsy

Twenty years ago, most people thought that television was impossible — and lots of people still do.

Hey, maybe this is the solution:

A man boarded a plane in Las Vegas the other night and was relieved to hear the captain announce, "Before we take off, folks, I want all of you to know that we just don't have enough fuel to fly to Havana."

Then there was the girl who took it so hard when she reached 40 that she bounced right back to 31.

Scientists have developed a computer so sophisticated that whenever you ask it to solve a problem, it first asks for a Bloody Mary.

A farmer was among those watching from the shore of the Hudson as Robert Fulton's Clermont got up steam for its first upriver run.

Farmer Bell (gloomily) — They'll never start her. Then, as the boat moved off and gathered speed, he gave out another dire prophecy: "Farmer Bell" — They'll never stop her.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Rest Exercise

In Arthritis Treatment
Q—I am taking Aralen for my arthritis. How does it help? Are there any harmful side effects?

A—How this antimalarial drug helps rheumatoid arthritis is not known, but in many cases it does. The closely related Plaquenil, however, is a safer drug. Since either drug may cause retinal damage, anyone who is taking them should have an eye examination every six months.

Q—What exercises are good for osteoarthritis of the knees?

A—Rest and exercise are both helpful in the treatment of arthritis, depending on the stage and severity of the disease. The amount and type of exercise should be determined by your doctor.

Q—My daughter's doctor has prescribed 24 aspirin tablets a day for her rheumatoid arthritis. Isn't this too much aspirin? Is rheumatoid the type of arthritis that cripples? Is cortisone still used in its treatment?

A—Persons with rheumatoid arthritis tolerate much larger doses of aspirin than a normal person. This disease is very crippling unless it is skillfully treated, preferably by a team that includes a rheumatologist, orthopedic surgeon, physical therapist, vocational counselor and occupational therapist. Some form of cortisone is still an important part of the treatment program.

Q—What is Antivert given for? What are its side effects?

A—This drug is given for dizziness, especially that of Meniere's disease. It may cause drowsiness, blurred vision and dry mouth.

Q—I am taking Butazolidin and Equagesic for my arthritis. How do they help? Can they cause any side effects?

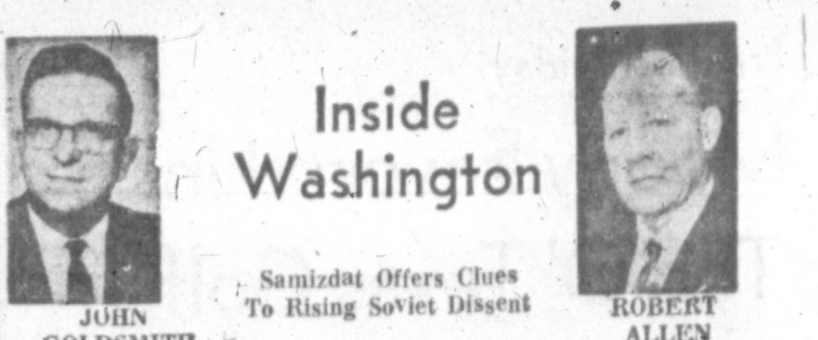

A—Butazolidin is an anti-inflammatory agent but not of the cortisone type. It may cause nausea, waterlogging, skin rash and sore mouth. Equagesic is a muscle relaxant and pain reliever. It may cause dizziness, nausea, drowsiness and skin rash.

Q—I am taking gold shots for arthritis. Can I get side effects from them?

A—Gold salts are a valuable remedy for some victims of arthritis but they must be given with great caution as they may cause an itching rash, sore mouth, anemia, jaundice, diarrhea and headache.

Q—Are honey and vinegar of any value in the treatment of arthritis?

A—No.

Samizdat Offers Clues To Rising Soviet Dissent

WASHINGTON — Kremlinologists here are very much interested in an influential Russian publishing enterprise, though they admit that they know very little about its operations and have no circulation data at all for its publications.

They do know that the outfit owns no modern print shop. It has no plush editorial offices, nor any of the other trappings of a major publishing house here or elsewhere in the free world.

This, of course, is Samizdat, the Soviet Union's underground publishing empire. Even the name is a bit of a put-on — an acronym which mocks Gzizdat, a shortened name for Moscov, a heavily censored state publishing house.

For the most part, Samizdat operates on the old chainletter principle. Readers obtain typescript copies of a document from a friend. Each then makes as many carbon copies as his own typewriter will accommodate and passes them along to friends.

Analysts here, who pay close attention to Samizdat, freely admit that they do not know how many thousands — or tens of thousands — of self-published documents are in underground circulation. Clearly the readership is small by the standards of Western publishers, but it is highly selective.

For that reason Samizdat is now recognized as the lifeline for an ever-rising voice of dissent inside the Soviet Union — a voice which is heard increasingly outside Russia's borders because of media interest and the publication, outside, of more and more books by dissenters — books which have usually been smuggled to Western publishers in Samizdat typescript.

POETRY TO POLITICS — Underground publishing in Russia dates back at least to the 1920s. It had hard sellings, however, under the massive repression of the Stalin era, and it did not flourish as the official Soviet society seemed to open up a little under Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The real rise of Samizdat began after Khrushchev's fall in 1964. For a while, however, the content of underground publications was, as it had been in prior years, heavily literary books, essays and poetry which had been rejected by the authorities as unbecoming to the Soviet state.

Then, in 1965 Soviet writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel, were arrested after their books, critical of the state, were published under pseudonyms abroad. The two were tried and condemned early the following year.

With the Daniel-Sinyavsky trial, the tenor of Samizdat began to change, according to the experts here. Poetry gave way to politics and polemics — including such items as Alexander Ginzburg's account of the trial, (an account of Ginzburg's subsequent trial also was published in Samizdat.)

In April 1968 the first issue of a new periodical, Chronicle of Current Events, was published in Samizdat. Appearing toward the end of every other month since that time, the Chronicle has become the best known title on the Samizdat list.

The events recorded in the Chronicle are trials, protests, and arrests — the day-to-day news of dissent from all over Russia. A Chronicle feature also catalogs Samizdat itself telling readers what texts by what authors are currently available through underground channels.

The Chronicle gathers news much as it dispenses it. Readers are urged to give material to the person from whom they received the Chronicle. That person will pass it along to his suppliers and so forth.

FROM WITHIN — The rise of Samizdat has occurred during a time of renewed repression in the Soviet Union. Many U.S. experts think the KGB could choke off most of the Samizdat activity if it were more aggressive, and there are several theories as to why that has not been done.

It is suggested for example, that a continuing Samizdat keeps the Kremlin informed on the nature and levels of dissent among Russian intellectuals — scientists and technicians who hold important posts — have become authors in the new, political Samizdat.

Analysts point out that there is a paradox, for readers in the United States, who dig into the increasingly available Samizdat documents republished here. The views expressed are seldom revolutionary.

'Hanky-Panky' In His Name

By PAUL HARVEY

A year ago I worried in print about whether some high-living professional churchmen might not be inviting an investigation which could discredit themselves and besmirch religion per se.

I meant that admonition to be a helpful warning. Had the critic been a vindictive Ralph Nader, he might have presented evidence which would jeopardize the tax status of church-related organizations and cast an ugly shadow over all.

Some resented the suggestion. At least one church-related foundation apparently made no effort to clean house. Now it is on the carpet confronted with potentially embarrassing questions from the Internal Revenue Service, the Justice Department, the Post Office, the Securities and Exchange Commission and California's attorney general.

The Baptist Foundation of America Inc. has no formal affiliation with any major Baptist group, though its co-founder and president, the Rev. T. Sherron Jackson, is a respected Baptist churchman and five of its nine trustees are ministers.

The BFA was founded in 1966 as a tax-exempt, non-profit organization intending to build hospitals for children, retirement centers for the aged and other such facilities. It was to be no less than "a monument to faith in God and to freedom and courage of the human spirit."

It has built no hospitals, no retirement centers and — according to the Wall Street Journal — figures in two dealing with men with criminal bizarre stock deals, has been Journal — figures in two bizarre stock deals, has been dealing with men with criminal records and apparently is responsible for substantial losses for individuals and institutions throughout the United States.

The Baptist Foundation of America Inc., shortly after its founding, had assets totaling more than $20 million, is presently headquartered in an impressive suite of offices in Los Angeles and turns to the public a benevolent face.

But it has issued countless millions of dollars worth of promissory notes in exchange for property and services, most of which notes are now in default.

The Journal's researchers were unable to determine whether the BFA was more victimizer or victimized, whether the foundation cumulated good deals with bad dealers.

But the foundation lists among its assets thousands of acres of land in Tennessee, and tax assessors down thataway can't find any of it.

In the ranks of our nation's major denominations are thousands of selfless, conscientious church officials and clergy who need no defense for themselves and their activities. They do deserve to be defended against some professional churchmen, usually not clergy, whose highlighting is not what the widow's mite was meant to pay for.

Church-owned property in the United States has been valued at $44.5 billion for the Catholic Church, $28 billion for Protestants, $7 billion for Jewish congregations. Each year $3 billion goes into the collection plates. You can't funnel such sums through human hands without some margin for hanky-panky.
