Budget

President Roosevelt has put through his easy budget policy without letting anyone know about it. Congress is beginning to realize it but is saying nothing. A few cries of anguish are arising from the Republican side but no one pays any attention.

The exact amount segregated outside the budget can not be told accurately. That is another tribute to the skill of the move. You can prove on paper that it may be over four billion. That is not a fair figure. Much of the amount authorized will not be spent.

Home Town Talk by Betty

Being up to law, you might call it is very worthwhile for any business.

Take our own R & R Ritz theater, for instance. Scan the reviews of motion pictures carried by the nationally known magazines that include a weekly department for that purpose and you will find that the Ritz exhibits many pictures better than those reviewed for the first time in these up-to-the-minute magazines.

One popular news magazine which reached the stands here Friday of last week carried reviews of three new pictures. Two of the three, "Gabriel Over the White House" and "The Keyhole" were on this week's program at the Ritz.

It was in the same issue of the magazine, Time in which Big Spring broke into the Business and Finance pages through an interesting story of the career of Josh S. Cosden, and his "buying in" of the Cosden Oil company properties here last month.

Time, however, misquoted Mr. Cosden. Time said that Cosden said "All I have to say is if anybody has $501,000 cash they can have the thing," referring to the Cosden refinery here. What Mr. Cosden actually said a moment after George N. Moore, had taken down the sale was: "All I have to say is if anybody had $501,000 cash they would keep it."

Scholarships Go To My Home Town Winner

In addition to the scholarship, the first prize winner will be given a cash award and the Thomas "herald" college cup. Seven cities have already notified convention headquarters here they will be represented in the contest. C. B. Hopkins of Gorman is the only person yet entered.

In The 32nd District Court Miss Fannie Louise Wyatt vs. J. A. Shipley, et ux, debt and foreclosure.

C. T. Watson returned Wednesday morning from Miles where he has been visiting his mother who has been ill.

CHAPTER XXII

Roif's tone was casual, good-natured. "Don't worry when I was going to have a chance to talk to you," he said. "Where've you been riding your horse?"

Janet said, "Oh, you surprised me!" She met his eyes and then avoided tending to straighten the pile of magazines.

He came a step nearer. "You haven't been trying to avoid me, have you?" he asked.

"Why, of course not!" So quickly defensive that the words belied themselves. "I've been busy, I guess. You know I work here."

Roif laughed. "And just now, apparently, nothing is quite so important as those magazines. But they looked very nice the way they were. I thought, 'Come on, Sit down. Is there any reason in the world why we shouldn't talk to each other for a few minutes?'"

"No-o," Janet hesitated. There were reasons but she couldn't tell him what they were. The little fire burning in her cheeks. That excited sensation when her eyes met his. Oh, yes, there were reasons why Janet should turn and flee from that room but instead she sat down in a rose brocade chair.

"That's better!" He stood looking down at her smiling. "You're very decorative in that chair. Becoming background. And that's a good-looking suit you're wearing. Too, on the whole, you're looking unusually attractive!"

He was the same Roif. Exactly the same. When he paid compliments you could never be quite sure whether he really meant them or was joking. He pulled a chair forward, sat down, and drew from his pocket a silver cigarette case.

"Have one?" he asked, flipping open the cigarette case.

Janet shook her head. She saw that the case was a new one and handsome. Suddenly it became a symbol. A symbol of all the changes that had taken place between them.

"Listen, Roif," she said quickly. "I can't sit here talking to you. You know I can't. The only reason I'm in this house is because I'm paid to work here. There's one thing though, I want to tell you. When I came here I didn't know Mrs. Curtis was your wife's mother."

She felt better now that she had got that out. It was easier to go on. "After I found out I was going away. But I needed the job, and I didn't know where to find another. There aren't many jobs just now. I've been reading the want ad columns every day."

"He stopped her. "But that's nonsense," he exclaimed. "Listen, you aren't going to leave this job. Why, it's just the thing for you! Lots better than working down town in an office. Mrs. Curtis thinks a lot of you, too. I've heard her telling Betty she couldn't get along without you!"

His concern was genuine. The laughter was gone from the dark eyes now. "Promise me you won't do that, Janet," he urged.

"You really think it's all right for me to stay?"

"Of course I do! I want you to."

"I don't know," Jane said doubtfully. "I don't know exactly what I should do."

"Then let me decide for you! You've made a real plea for yourself here. I'll see that there's nothing to—er—embarrass you. You needn't worry about that. Only we can be friends, I hope. There isn't any reason why we shouldn't be, is there?"

There was a flash of that quick, winning smile. Janet said, "No, Roif." She smiled, too, and the color deepened in her cheeks.

"Then let's shake on it."

Their hands met. Janet said, "Really, with a voice unsteady from emotion, 'I've got to go now! I—I'm late.'"

In another moment she was hurrying up the stairs. She did not stop until the door of her own room had closed behind her. Then she sank down on the edge of the bed. She was cold and every bit of strength seemed to have ebbed from her body. She clenched her hands together tightly, shivering though her heart was pounding.

"I won't see him again!" Janet resolved. "I mustn't let him know I feel that way I do!"

But his eyes were smiling into hers as she said the words and the pain in her heart was so sharp that Janet instinctively raised one hand to shut out the sight. "Oh, Roif!" she murmured, going back to the chorus of all her loneliness and unhappiness. "Oh, Roif, why can't I forget?"

She didn't go down stairs again until she had heard Mrs. Curtis telling someone that M. and Mrs. Carlyle were dining out. Then Janet bathed and dressed and went down to the library.

Roif proved to be as good as his word. Three days later he and Betty moved into their apartment and during those three days Janet saw him only once. He was with Betty then, on their way to some sort of engagement. He was wearing dinner clothes and Betty's wrap had slipped back to reveal her newest evening gown, a bizarre creation of coral and gold.

Janet passed them on the stairway. Betty was speaking to Roif and did not even glance toward the other girl. Janet, after that first swift look, kept her eyes from meeting the man's.

With the young couple gone, she had hoped that the household would return to its quiet order.

Geology Bureau Head Visits Earth Slip In Mitchell

SWEETWATER — Investigation of the slip in the earth which recently occurred near Colorado, in Mitchell county, was brought to the attention of Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the Bureau of Economic Geology, of the University of Texas. He has visited the scene of the phenomena and found that the shifting of the earth is still in progress.

"The locality, which I have visited is on the right bank of Champion creek five miles south of Colorado," Dr. Sellards said. "Champion Creek is a tributary of the Colorado river. The creek at this place has formed a steep bluff. The strata in the bluff are red sandy clay from the water's edge to about 45 feet above; stick green clay overlying the red clay, a lag stratum two or three feet thick. Above the green clay is sandstone and conglomerate to a thickness of about twenty feet, forming the top of the bluff. The sandstone is a water-bearing stratum and the water seeps out in one place forming a spring. There is rather more water than usual at present because of one or two preceding wet years.

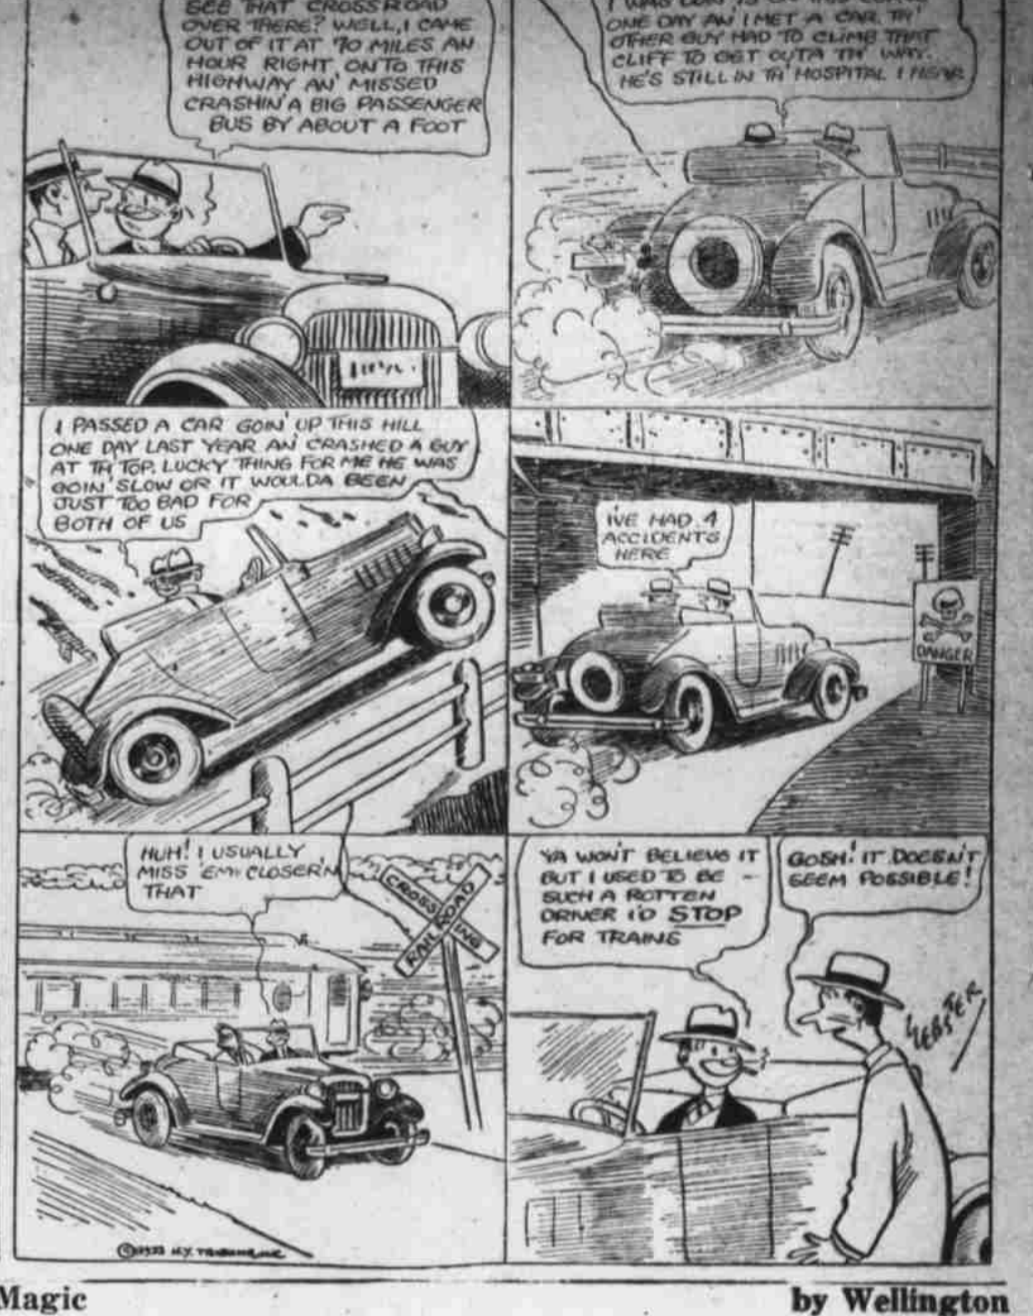

"The water coming in contact with the clay under the sandstone has softened it until a considerable part of this bluff gave way slipping into and partly blocking the stream. The principal slip seems to have occurred about two weeks ago. Although since that time the heavy blocks of the sandstone in the bluff have continued to settle, pushing the soft clay and debris in front of them. This has resulted in a slow creep and gradual blocking of the stream bed. It has been this slow movement of the earth that has attracted particular attention.

"This phenomenon is not unusual but illustrates very well how bluffs cave and sometimes block streams."

IN MEMORIAM

L. F. "Uncle Wack" Smith Friend, companion, and counselor of the entire student body. "One who never turned his back but marched breast forward. Never doubted clouds would break. Never dreamed, though right were worsened, wrong would triumph. Held we fall to rise are baffled to fight better, sleep to wake." From Browning's "Prospice"

CRITICISM

Are you a critic? If you are not, you should be. To the majority of people, criticism is the most misinterpreted word in our vocabulary. They think that criticism is a reflection thrown on some activity or action, a mere fault finding. Any disapproval, blemish or censure is the type of idea some have of the word. Criticism is comment; some may be hard; some good. But the word is ambiguous, that is the main principle. Anybody and everybody should be a judge of rising problems. A judge should be an unfavorable, indiscriminating critic. A fault-finder is no critic if fault finding is his only object. A critic is one with the rare ability to judge correctly. If criticism is spoken of in any way, it is best to look on the matter from both sides.

Sophomore Critic Pursues His Duties

From the view point of a Soph I think this school should have a number of important changes. Ever since the first of the Sophs have been criticized by the upper classmen and freshmen. Because we are so good natured, we have stood for a lot of things. But I think things will be different from now on.

APPRECIATION

The Sophomore Class wishes to express its deepest gratitude to Miss McElroy and Mr. Parsons for accepting the responsibility of sponsoring the Sophomore class. Miss McElroy is a graduate of North Texas State Teachers' College at Denton and has been in the Home Economics Department of the high school for three years. Mr. Parsons came to us from the University of Texas. He has only been with us this year, teaching chemistry and general science.

He takes English II, algebra II, Spanish I, and history II. He is also very popular in other school activities as a member of the Pep Squad and Current Event History Club. Bob Flowers with more experience will be a star in the mile. Coach George Brown has his spring football candidates going through daily workouts. Prospects in basketball for next year are not so bright, with only three letter men returning. Mr. Reed carried the local track team to Angelo last week, and Big Spring captured fourth place. Cy Reid set a new record in the mile of 4:45. Henry Richbourg took the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 3 inches. Two or three of the high school boys may land a place on the local city baseball nine.

Five Men Ready For District Track Meet Saturday

Summing up the track prospects of the Steers, five men are found ready for the district meet, which is to be held at Abilene April 14-15. This year's squad includes such stars as "Cy" Reid, who holds the district record of 4:48 in the mile. Reid has been setting a fast pace after a year's absence due to an injury early last year, and is expected to break his own record this year. Livan Harris, whose hobby is throwing the javelin and running the 440 is rated as one of the best men who has ever represented Big Spring in these events. "Fagan" Vines, football star, has been showing wonderful form in the high hurdles. George Neal, 150 pound dynamo, who is a miniature track team himself.

Pharmacy Is Topic Of Shine Philips

It looks as if a lot of the students of the Big Spring High School want to be big pill rollers; anyhow, they turned out well to hear Mr. Shine Philips' lecture on "Pharmacy." His first object was to show the students how pills were made, telling them that they had the privilege of seeing a pill rolled out. That was something that most modern druggists had never seen or experienced. The modern druggists do not make their pills. Pills now used are bought in large quantities and are very rarely made in a city of this size. Mr. Phillips gave a very interesting lecture and at the close several questions were asked and answered to clear his theme.

Festivities Of Senior Week Are Planned

Annual Celebration To Begin With Class On May 22

Many of the plans for Senior Week, which begins with Senior Class day on May 22, have been made. The present plans call for several days' celebration. The Senior class will give a chapel program on Wednesday, May 24 and in the afternoon have a picnic. On Thursday evening, May 25, a reception for the seniors and their parents will be held in the auditorium of the Big Spring High School. Sunday, May 28, at the First Baptist Church, the Baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. R. E. Day. The commencement exercises will be held on Tuesday evening, May 30, at which time the Senior class will present a gift to the school. The main speaker on the commencement exercise program is yet not known. Two students, chosen for their ability to speak, will also speak in the program.

Esdaile, The Star Gazer

Q—Why is LaVerne Stewart the only girl in school that doesn't think I'm a social outcast? Lloyd Forrester. A—Because nobody will tell her. Q—Does Spec Yates really like me as much as he says he does? Dixie S. A—He tells Dorothy the same thing and she believes him. Why shouldn't you? Q—What makes me so popular with the weaker sex (freshmen especially)? K. S. A—Who told you that you were? More Sanders conceit, isn't it? Q—"Whose 'death lie' heat wave"? Cleo? Oxydol, alias "Smith"? A—And I ask "whose 'lie' heat wave" is Vance Lebkowsky? Q—How could I have been something even if I had wanted to? Vernice. A—By discarding the Coburn affections. Q—I still want to know "why is a door-knob"? Cleo Lane. A—Has Lloyd fallen for Frances? Minnie Belle. A—No, she just had her car Sunday. Q—Why does George Ed O'Neal always pick on Juniors and Seniors rather than Fish?—A Freshman. A—Juniors and Seniors pay no attention to him, and all fish can whip him, so it's the better of two evils. Q—Will someone please introduce to somebody more concealed than Eva Mae O'Neal, Marguerite Tucker, and Melba Wilson? Wandering. A—It's hard to find that person, but don't you know Margaret Wade or Jimmy Wilson, or even Modesta Good after the "Now, me and Modesta" episode? Q—What should I name my wreck? Johnny Nall. A—Percy, the Pest, is my suggestion. Q—When will we have 3.2 in Texas? A Freshman. A—By the time you graduate. That'll be in 1940. Q—What does Margaret Wade mean by making two dates for the banquet—Doc Trust Grant. A—So she won't have to go with you. Q—Why must my "pa" Modesta bring her sisters from Abilene to vump my Percy? LaVerne Stewart. A—Well, nobody else will, so out-of-town talent must be brought in.

Wheel Plans Senior Edition

With plans for the senior edition of the Wheel nearly finished, the staff began advance work this week. The plans for the two main features, the annual wheel popularity contest and the collection of seniors pictures, have been definitely completed. The seniors have been granted the privilege of having their old pictures accepted. If old pictures are to be used, seniors are to communicate with the studio where the sitting was taken and they may obtain their cut for twenty-five cents. All seniors who wish to have new pictures taken must select their own studio and have their own sitting. Pictures 21-22 are the regulation size. Only bust picture is acceptable. The popularity contest has been changed from the last few years. There will be four student chosen this year, two boys and two girls. The selections will be made under two divisions. There will be the high school favorites, a boy and girl, and the most exemplary students. The contest for nomination is to be held Monday—April 17. The three high students in each division will be in a run-off. The results of the first contest will be announced in next week's Wheel, but the final contest will not be announced until the senior edition.

Senior Class In Business Meeting

The Senior Class held a meeting in the auditorium last Wednesday to discuss some important matters concerning the graduating exercises. It was decided that the Baccalaureate sermon would be at the Baptist Church and Rev. R. E. Day should preach it. Mr. L. A. Wood, State Superintendent, was elected to speak at Commencement exercises. Cecil Reid, senior class president, selected the following committee to conduct the inter-class field day: Hazel Smith, Jane Tinsley, Jake Morgan, Elmo Martin. Hagman Addresses Students On Aviation

W. L. Hagman, the airport manager of the American Airways, delivered a very good address on aviation and its possibilities.

He first drew a chart on the black-board showing the number of radio operators, mechanics, pilots, co-pilots, and other branches in the American Airways. He told approximately the salary of each man.

He also said that the boys that wanted to get the thrill out of flying should join the U. S. Army Air Corps. They would have to go through a very strict examination which only a few men can pass. The routine is just learning to fly. "But if one does not want to go through the army training, another way is 'barnstorming' which merely means that a pilot makes his money by advertising for companies and taking up passengers. This line of business was at first very profitable, but it has slowly died to nothing. "There are other branches of aviation such as designing and engineering. The latter wouldn't quite be classified as a branch in aviation because all they do is lay out landing fields and erect hangars and other buildings. Designing is a very profitable branch if you happen to be a good one. "There seem to be only three or four ways of getting into aviation. In the former years it was 'barnstorming' but it is practically impossible to make a living that way today. Next in starting at the bottom with some certain company and working up, such as starting as a mechanic or radio operator. The next is starting by joining the Army Air Corps. The men that start here receive the best of training in the United States and nearly everywhere have a job. "The last is going to some flying school such as Parks Air College, an go to the expense of learning that way and then try to find a job."

Typists Take New Honors

Two Big Spring Girls To Be On District Team At Austin

The Big Spring High School typists made their second trip to compete in the district contest of the Interscholastic League held at Colorado Friday and Saturday. The typists were under the instruction of Mrs. W. O. Low. Her pupils took first, third, and fourth places and also placed two of the three members on the district team which will compete in the state contest at Austin sometime in the first week of May. The local team has possession of the beautiful plaque and is going to endeavor to win it next year so it will be a permanent possession for the high school. Mona Jean Turner of Big Spring was the high ranking individual among the contestants. There were several strong high school teams represented. Those that were represented were Colorado, Eldorado, Iatan, Merton, and Big Spring. Miss Turner typed 760 words and made only two errors. Her average was 49.33 words per minute. Her degree of accuracy was 97.37, with a grade of 146.70. Jane Tinsley also had a good record. She typed 780 words with five errors, averaging 49.20 words per minute. 96.67 was her percentage of accuracy with a total grade of 142.97. These two girls were placed on the district team with L. Wren of Colorado. All are expected to compete in Austin. Those making the trip to Colorado were Mona Jean Turner, Jane Tinsley, Margaret McDonald, and Mrs. W. O. Low, the instructor. Miss McDonald had an honorable mention and is a valuable member of the Big Spring team. The Colorado people showed much hospitality to their guests. They furnished homes and meals. A very enjoyable trip was reported by the typing team.

Junior High Class Notes

The fifth grade class under the instruction of Miss Jeanette Pickle presented a play in the High School auditorium last Friday morning to raise money for the Junior High Library in order to buy new books and to equip their library with the things they need. The fund raised was $9.75. The seventh grade girls who intend to graduate have been discussing the style dress and material for their graduation frock. No definite plans have been made. Mrs. Frank Boyle took a class of twenty-two students to inspect the plant of the Big Spring Daily Herald Wednesday, April 5. Mr. Bedichek, editor of the Herald, took the class through and explained the different parts of the press. The class is studying the printing press and the linotype machine. The class reported a very enjoyable trip.

CLASSROOM NOTES

Miss Mary McElroy took her biology class on a field trip some time ago and they are planning to take others. The class is making a study of flowers and plants. Each girl of the clothing class under the instruction of Mrs. George Brown have just completed their garment that they made at home without any instruction but their own. They are completing the study of design and color, and each has chosen a pattern and material for a school dress. They plan to start work on these garments this week. Mrs. Bumpass' history classes are getting ready to make their trip around the world. Students are visiting the local merchants to secure proper equipment for the various kinds of trips by land, air and sea. Mrs. Bumpass plans to make this trip very interesting for her classes.

Senior Play Set For Thursday Night

"Courageous Connie," the annual Senior play, will be presented at the Municipal Auditorium, Thursday, April 13. Admission charges will be twenty-five cents for everybody.

Vocational Guidance Is Promoted Here

It is interesting to note that vocational guidance was used in olden Greece and was written into its constitution as a law. Since the World War, it has been used more and more. It was used at first to help the disabled veterans to choose a vocation suited to their physical ability. Now the movement has spread to the high schools of the country in not only helping disabled people but able-bodied people to choose a vocation. The United States government has set aside a fund to help sponsor this movement. In Big Spring High School a series of talks are being given on different vocations. These talks are sponsored by the local Kiwanis club to help students choose a vocation by showing them what each vocation is like. We should take advantage of this program and let it help us.

X Marks The Spot

This is station S.A.P.H. broadcasting from an outlook over the Big Spring High School campus. This program is as follows: The "Hare-Gordon" affair must have hit the rocks. Ed Gordon and Hare left the company of Bucket to walk with Bobbie and the so-called Bucket remained behind to look on with jealous eyes. Evidently Joe Hendricks found his "Heart's Desire" in the form of a redheaded girl from Midland, for he will do anything from tight rope walking to hitch hiking to reach that city. Extry! Extry! Fern Smith "gets her man." Anyway, she is on the trail of Albert Fisher hoping to get a glance at his lovely mug. Too bad he doesn't see any one but Lula. Say, Fern, is that the way to act, trying to beat Lula's time? Step up, all you "Soph" Jane Thompson vs. Lula Belle Greenhaw are about to stage a hot battle, and what do you think it's about? Robert Anderson! Now who would have thought it. Why, Rick Koberg, what is the meaning of this, a dignified senior like you capturing a poor little Soph's heart—like Frances Dornhardt? Dorothy Coleman's new love affair seems to be progressing. They looked at each other guiltily the other day when they stopped on the porch. Now I wonder???? Some people want to know if Herbie Smith thinks he is good looking. Of course, I wouldn't say he wasn't but I wish he would look in the mirror to see for himself. Well, the new wonder is in high school or maybe it's just the old wonder come back home—Dorothy LeFever. Well, Halbert, too bad you have to wear glasses or maybe it is so you can see the cute little freshmen who sit next to you in study hall. Not???? Well perhaps not; they are shaded, aren't they? I have heard that Jack Guiley has a new crush on Cleo Lane, but it may be one of those old secret love affairs. What about it, Jack and Cleo? Have you heard? Fay Yates stayed up until 2:30 the other night because she wanted to—OH, never mind, she may not want anyone to know. The Monroe sisters, the Washington sisters, and Jo Childress are starring in "Nerts-Nerts" this week. Maybe some of you boys can get an interview. All right, don't crowd, their time is not that full. G. Ed O'Neal has a cold this week. We wonder what caused it. Can you ease our mind, George Ed? Dan Cupid is certainly playing around with Madeline Black's heart. First it was Willie. Then Fred Halter steps into the picture, and now Buster. Well, who would have thought that Buster Davidson could beat both of their times. Just - short while ago the Falton-Whisenant-Akron took its flight, but now it has crashed on the deep-sea of heart break. The Yates-Payne affair that has been raging has at last come to a close, when the two agreed to disagree. Neither of them seems to be affected. All right, boys and girls, here are chances; on both sides. Station S.O.P.H. is signing off, but before we go, we wish to thank The Wheel staff for granting us the privilege of publishing the "Soph Paper." This information has come to you through the courtesy of the "Soph Sen" (who sees all, knows all, and tells everything). We thank you.

Marguerite Reed has been appointed reporter for the M. M. C. All news concerning club members should be reported to her at 554.

Maurine Schultz was out on Saturday. We hope she had a nice time and will be back next meeting.

Jim Simmons was ill and unable to attend the last club meeting.

The Rhythm Band will not practice until further notified by Mrs. Houser.

At the last meeting the club learned a new song "Early Start-up." Dorothy Rae Wilkinson, Hazel Kanuse, Mamie Wilson, Frances Katherine Taylor, Julia King and Marguerite Reed introduced it with a military dance. Members who were not present are asked to get the words and learn them.

All mice are urged to come next Saturday. A new serial is starting whose scene is laid in the jungles of Africa. The preview was thrilling.

Mrs. Ashley Williams announces that due to the convention activities of the city such as the American Legion convention and the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and school affairs, the night classes in duplicate bridge will not be organized at present. They will be organized later at a quieter date.

Christ's Second Coming Bible Lecture Topic

The attendance at the "Back to the Bible Lectures" held at 211 Goffed street is increasing each night. The interest is growing rapidly. Last night Evangelist Montgomery gave a thrilling lecture on "The Second Coming of Christ." He said that the second coming of Christ has been the hope of Christians in all ages. "It was the hope of the patriarchs and prophets in Old Testament times. When Jesus was on earth He had much to say about His coming. The apostles in all their epistles have much to say relative to that event."

"The reason why the second coming is so important is because of the far-reaching events that occur when He comes. At that time Christ will put an end to sin, sinners and the evil II class. 1:7-10. The righteous will then be rewarded. (Matt. 19:27; 24:30-31). There will be a restitution of all things. (Acts. 3:19-21.)"

"The second coming of Christ will be a literal, personal coming." (Rev. 17; Acts 1:11. "It will be a most glorious event." (1st Cor. 13:29.)

"While the exact time of His coming is not revealed (Matt. 24:36) yet Jesus himself said that when we saw the fulfillment of certain prophecies we may know that the event is near." (Matt. 24:32-33.)

"A definite warning message will be given to all the world before that day" (Joel 2:1-2.)

"Belief in the soon coming of Christ will have a sanctifying influence upon the life." (1 John 3:2-3.)

The subject for tonight at the hall will be, "How May We Know That Christ's coming is near?"

CLUB POSTPONED

The Les Deux Tables Duplicate Bridge Club did not meet last night as scheduled. The members voted to postpone the meeting for a week in order to have the meeting on a different week from the Idle Art Bridge Club which many of the members attend.
