IN MIDDLE EAST

U.S. Asks For 90-Day Cease-Fire Extension

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States has proposed the Middle East cease-fire which expires a week from today be extended another 90 days. The Soviet Union claimed the proposal had "no significance."

U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Charles W. Yost made the request for a cease-fire extension in the U.N. general assembly's Middle East debate Thursday. The discussions continue for the fifth day today, with Egypt, speaking for the second time, Jordan and the Soviet Union among the nations scheduled to take the rostrum.

In his resolution, Yost also proposed the General Assembly help restore the confidence between Israel and Egypt necessary for resumption of the Middle East peace talks. "We want serious discussions which will permit rapid progress toward a settlement," Yost said. "We pledge ourselves to do everything possible to help get such talks started and to promote their successful conclusion."

Soviet Ambassador to the U.N. Jacob A. Malik said that when Yost had brought up the proposal at a meeting of the Big Four ambassadors, "I said that any such unilateral proposals, if not supported by the four participants in the consultations, would have no significance. If there was no support it would just hang in the empty air."

Only hours before Yost introduced the resolution, the Soviet Union and Britain also called for an extension of the cease-fire. They made the request in a joint communique issued following a visit of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to London.

Dentist Says Candy Okay For Goblins

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—When a Halloween trick-or-treater knocks on a dentist's door Saturday night, should the young goblin, get toothbrushes and toothpaste, a stern lecture—or candy?

"Candy," says Dr. Harold C. Slavkin, a University of Southern California dentist and assistant professor of biochemistry.

"It's a myth to think that healthy children with good dental oral hygiene habits are harmed by a sensible amount of candy," he added.

Some persons, he said, have rigid dental rules to live by and they let these rules dictate for them.

But, Slavkin said, "it is much more important to teach a child judgment about candy and dental oral hygiene than to confront him constantly with rigid restrictions based upon myths."

"Judgment is what we are trying to teach our dental and dental hygiene students and what we hope they—in turn—will teach their patients," he said.

Dirty Politics Warning Issued For Final Days

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Warning of an upsurge of dirty politics just before the elections, Samuel Archibald, executive director of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, says complaints based on guilt by association innuendoes are on the increase.

Archibald told UPI in a "Washington Window" interview that guilt by association tactics had subsided in recent years following the Sen. Joseph McCarthy era. Last year, he said, complaints based on guilt by association dropped to about 8 per cent. This year, he said, they are averaging about 25 per cent.

"We've been getting a new type of complaint based on guilt by association," Archibald said. "The idea is to try to associate them (candidates) with campus violence."

Archibald said there has been an increase in complaints of dirty politics involving television, although the majority of complaints are based on newspaper ads which falsely portray a candidate's record.

"The old style of dirty politics is still with us," he said.

Archibald repeated a warning for voters to expect but not to be taken in by any last-minute sensational political charges.

"Beware the bewitching hour," he said. "If a new and sensational charge is brought up the weekend before election, it's almost certain to be an unfair charge, a false charge. If it were fair, it would have been brought up earlier... early enough to be answered."

300 Visit School On College Night

Pampa High School was visited Thursday night by over 300 students and parents attending College Night.

Representatives from many Texas and out-of-state colleges, junior colleges, universities, business schools and the Armed Forces were present to help the young men and women of Pampa plan their futures.

All who attended were pleased with the response shown by both representatives and students. Many students finalized their decision about the school they were going to attend after completing high school.

CASE FOR SCOUTING — This is the scene that will be enacted Saturday forenoon in the Gray County Courtroom at a mock trial dealing with the pros and cons of the Boy Scout program as part of a city-wide Boy Scout Roundup. Taking part in the trial, left to right, are Gene Carlson, chief witness for scouting; Sheriff Rufe Jordan, court officer; Judge Sherman Lanning, on the bench; Atty. John Warner, counsel for the defense, and Flip Darce, witness against scouting.

Seven Held For Dallas Holdups

DALLAS (UPI)—Investigators believed today that the arrest of seven persons in a Northwest Highway apartment house will result in the solution of at least 15 holdups and the murder of a cigarette company employe in a robbery Monday.

Jackie Vance Lowery, 26, of Dallas was charged with murdering Morris Patterson, 56. Patterson was ordered to lie on the floor and was shot in the back Monday night when he happened in on a holdup of the City Cigarette Service.

Six persons were arrested Thursday by 17 police and sheriff's deputies who raided the Sherwood Forest Apartments. David Barnes, a security guard, arrested a woman and a man Thursday night.

But the woman and at least four other persons waiting in cars outside the apartments escaped after exchanging shots with Barnes.

Sheriff Clarence Jones described the gang as a "team of high class holdup men." Police Capt. R. E. Dixon said the arrests will clear up at least 15 major holdups, including the holdup of Brennan's Restaurant and the bomb robbery Sept. 11 of the Irving Bank & Trust Co.

The raiders found in the apartments a map with the location of a dozen robberies marked on it. The raiders also found a sub-machine gun, two sawed off shotguns, two bombs, burglars' equipment, a police radio, seven books of rare coins, narcotics and five bags of money, resembling the bags stolen when Patterson was killed.

Justice of the Peace Tom Naylor ordered the whole gang held without bond.

Boy Scout Roundup Kicks Off Saturday

WITH MOCK TRIAL

The "Case For Scouting," a mock trial presenting the pros and cons of the Boy Scout Program, will be presented at a Boy Scout Rally at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the County courtroom of the Gray County Court House.

County Judge S.R. Lanning will chair the case and Sheriff Rufe Jordan will be on hand to make sure the "trial" is conducted in an orderly manner.

Attorney for the defense of Scouting will be County Attorney John Warner. Gene Carlson, an Eagle Scout and a Pampa High School senior, will be the chief witness for the defense.

Don Cain will be the attorney for the prosecution with "Flip" Darce, another Pampa scout and high school senior, serving as the chief witness for the complainant.

All boys 11 years old or over interested in scouting are urged to attend the program. The goal of the Rally is 200 new Boy Scouts.

Bill Introduced To Kill ICC By Mansfield

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The oldest and largest of the federal government's regulatory agencies—the Interstate Commerce Commission—is facing a fight for its bureaucratic life.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana is at the forefront of efforts both inside and outside Congress to abolish the agency which regulates the multimillion-dollar railroad, trucking, barge and household movers industries.

Mansfield has introduced a bill in the Senate to put the 83-year-old ICC out of existence in 18 months. "There is a need for modernization of the federal regulatory setup and the ICC is the place to begin," Mansfield says.

Public Influenced Alright, More Nay Than Yea

NEW YORK (UPI)—White House campaigning appears to have turned more people off than on, according to a CBS telephone poll.

Nearly half of the 1,289 polled this week across the country said they wouldn't be influenced either way by President Nixon's endorsement. Those who said they would be influenced were three-to-two against the President.

The vice president's cam only 17 per cent of the voters to vote with Agnew, while 30 per cent said they tended to vote against an Agnew endorsement, CBS reported in its Thursday evening news program.

The survey showed 46 per cent said Agnew did not represent their views on dissenter, compared with 42 per cent who said he did.

President Promises To 'Take Off Gloves'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon charged today that mobs such as those which attacked his limousine at a political rally Thursday night were "radical, antidemocratic elements" that threaten freedom of speech and assembly throughout the nation.

He promised to "take off the gloves" and respond to such "viciousness" at a political rally tonight in nearby Anaheim.

The President's glass-topped limousine, containing Nixon, Sen. George Murphy and Gov. Ronald Reagan, was hit with rocks. Bottles and eggs were hurled from a crowd of perhaps 900 cursing antiwar demonstrators at the presidential rally left a GOP rally in San Jose, the last stop in a 5,500-mile cross-country campaign tour.

Fire Routs Sleeping Nixon

The President spent Thursday night in a guest house at his Spanish style villa after a minor fire caused by an overheated fireplace filled the home with smoke. Damage was minor.

Aides compared the protest incident to the attack made by a Communist mob on Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1958 when he was vice president.

"This was no outburst by a single individual," Nixon said in a statement issued on his arrival here at the Western White House. "This was the action of an unruly mob that represents the worst in America."

"Angry Revolutionaries"

White House aides and guests of the President riding in a bus behind his limousine huddled in seats and aisles as rocks and bottles smashed four windows. Newsmen in another bus were splattered with glass from five smashed windows.

"It was just like Caracas," said Rose Mary Woods, the President's long-time personal secretary, who was sitting next to one of the smashed windows.

Murphy termed the mob "wild-eyed, tough, angry revolutionaries" who "should be identified and isolated."

"I have been careful to point out that these are the actions of a violent few. It is important that all Americans keep this perspective," the President said.

"But the time has come to take the gloves off and speak to this kind of behavior in a forthright way. Freedom of speech and freedom of assembly cannot exist when people who peacefully attend rallies are attacked with flying rocks."

"At Anaheim (tonight) I will discuss what America must do to end the wave of violence and terrorism by the radicals, anti-democratic elements in our society."

Several Hundred Protested

The crowd had gathered by the time Nixon entered San Jose Civic Auditorium to ask support for Murphy and Reagan in their races against Democratic challengers John V. Tunney and Jess Unruh. Signs in the crowd denounced him as a "fascist" and "warmonger," and several hundred persons chanted "One, two, three, four, we don't want your f---war."

Inside Nixon told an audience of about 8,000 persons that he had been successful in winding down the Vietnam conflict and repeated his promise to end the war in such a fashion as to gain a generation of peace for the nation.

On his way out, the President was heading into the parking lot, where police held the crowd about 60 yards away, when a few of the eggs splattered within about five yards of where he stood. Nixon climbed on the hood of his car, raised his arms in the familiar V fashion and gave the anti-Nixon crowd his traditional campaign salute. The shouting and obscenities appeared to increase.

As his car moved out of the parking lot through a road cleared through the crowd, the missiles began falling.

The President's limousine, with a police escort and trailed by a convertible with Secret Service agents in it, lurched forward. One agent tumbled from the convertible. Several were hit with rocks but none was seriously injured.

A rock smashed into a window of the "control" car containing presidential adviser H. R. Haldeman. It stopped abruptly, causing several minor collisions in the motorcade.

Soviet Officials Authorize Visit To U.S. Captives

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet authorities today authorized U.S. consular officials to fly to Armenia and apparently they will be permitted to see three captive U.S. Army officers held there, an embassy spokesman said.

The spokesman said the diplomatic services office of the Soviet government issued air tickets for consular officers Peter B. Swiers and Richard Combs Jr. to fly to Yerevan, the capital of Armenia, next Sunday.

The two officials visited the officers—two Army generals and one major—last Monday in Leninakan, Armenia, where they were confined to a guest house when their light plane strayed into Soviet territory from Turkey on Oct. 21.

The Soviet government only issued the tickets and did not give specific permission for the officials to see the men, "but we take this to mean that permission will be given," the spokesman said.

REALISTIC MARIJUANA LAWS URGED

Baptist University Reprimanded On Federal Loan

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Baptist Convention delivered a mild reprimand to the Baptist-supported University of Corpus Christi for borrowing $500,000 from the federal government to defray costs of repairing damage caused by Hurricane Celia.

The 3,000 "messengers" to the 85th annual Baptist General Convention of Texas Thursday approved a resolution suggesting that the school "borrow money from some other agency than the government and be prepared to repay the loan which they received from the Small Business Administration." No deadline was mentioned although a progress report was requested for next year.

The resolution recognized that the school's violation of separation of church and state was prompted by an emergency.

"This was no premeditated breach of faith but an attempt to survive in the face of exremely critical circumstances," the resolution said.

Several delegates complained about allowing the school to keep the federal money even temporarily. The Rev. Jimmy Bowman of San Antonio suggested the convention loan the school the money to repay the loan from its operating reserve fund.

"Why can't we stop all this foolishness of going somewhere else to borrow the money when we have it ourselves," Bowman asked.

"I think this is a good opportunity to put our money where our mouths are," said the Rev. Oliver W. Sumerlin of Mercedes, Tex.

But other delegates argued Bowman's proposal would set a "dangerous" precedent for the nine other Baptist-run schools in the state to seek "emergency" funds.

Bowman withdrew the proposal after the president of the university, Kenneth A. Maroney, asked the delegates to "give us an opportunity to work out the problem."

The delegates voted to set up an advisory committee of Baptists with expertise in financial matters to assist the school.

The convention also approved a compromise, vaguely-worded statement on marijuana laws, expressed opposition to any use of tax money for students in parochial schools, granted independent status to the Baylor University College of Dentistry and called for including qualified women, blacks, Mexican-Americans, youths and representatives of smaller churches on convention boards.

The resolution on marijuana urged "that Texas Baptists work to make our laws dealing with marijuana users more realistic by giving our courts discretion to deal with each case on its merits."

Oswin Chrisman, a Dallas probate court judge and chairman of the convention's resolutions committee, said the resolution supports lesser penalties for first-time possessors of marijuana. But he said he did not know if the delegates who approved the resolution interpreted it that way.

New officers were installed in the final session Thursday night. The Rev. Jimmy Allen of San Antonio was elected to a second term as president. The Revs. James Cooper of Dallas and Rudy Hernandez of Corpus Christi were elected first and second vice presidents.

The delegates voted to meet in Houston next year where an evangelistic rally at the Astrodome with six other Baptist groups is planned as the convention's highlight.

Hollywood Reports

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jack Benny was the biggest name in radio 20 years ago when he jumped into the unknown waters of television.

He surfaced—smelling like a million dollars.
In an historic video first, Benny walked before the cameras and with elaborate egotism said, "I'd give a million dollars to know what I look like."

The live audience in New York City exploded with hilarity.
Benny will celebrate his 20th anniversary on the tube Nov. 16. And well he should. He pioneered the way for Bob Hope, Red Skelton and other radio stars who were as chary of television as John Gilbert had been of talking pictures.

Wasn't The First
"I wasn't the first radio personality to go into TV," Benny said agreeably. "George Burns and Gracie Allen were the ones to break the ice."
Of course television had developed some of its own stars—Milton Berle and Sid Caesar. But radio stars didn't like the new medium, and movie stars wouldn't get near it for anything.

"I wasn't afraid because my stage experience prepared me for facing an audience who could see me."

Jack's first show was 45 minutes in length. He thought a half hour was too short and an hour was too long.

"My first guest was Dinah Shore," Benny recalled, "and she'll be back with me for my anniversary show."

So will half of Hollywood. Benny has enlisted his old radio gang, Rochester, Dennis Day, Don Wilson and Mel Blanc with cameo shots by Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Skelton, Burns and Dinah.

Includes Film Clips
Additionally he has included film clips of 48 major guests who appeared on his television shows; among them Marilyn Monroe, Harry S. Truman, Gary Cooper and Humphrey Bogart.

"It's going to be a great show," Benny said with the enthusiasm of a newcomer.
Perhaps the nicest surprise on Benny's show will be the appearance of his wife, Mary Livingstone, who hasn't been seen on the tube with her husband in 14 years.

Benny, unlike his wife, has compulsion to perform.
"Let me put it this way," he said. "If another new medium came along now—one as revolutionary as television—I would want to get into it, even at my age."

Then he said, "Oh, forget about that last part. About the age, I mean."

REMEMBER, THERE IS NO ECONOMIC SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY

Eerie Things Happen In Spruce Creek Cemetery

DELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Sheriff Edwin Duff is a hard-nosed cop, not given to idle fancy. He loops on his desk a 15-inch Brahman cow horn alongside a jar of Halloween candy.

The cow horn is a clue to a series of macabre graveyard desecrations which liken this moss-shaded area of Florida, to Edgar Allan Poe's "Ghoul-Haunted Woodland of Weir."

Corpses have lost their heads, tombs have been defiled and headstones scattered.

Duff, chief law enforcement officer for Volusia County, believes witchcraft is at the source. Some scholars of black magic say he could be right.

The cow horn, with a rawhide thong attached, was found buried seven inches below the surface when investigators reopened the grave of Mrs. Mamie Clifton Mason on Oct. 15 at Spruce Creek Memorial Cemetery in New Smyrna Beach.

The coffin had been ripped open, the body decapitated and a 200-pound tombstone moved 40 feet away. Both hands of the headless skeleton had been scraped clean.

Mrs. Mason, mother of Florida Highway Patrol Director Reid Clifton, died in 1948 at age 60.

"I'm told the ram's horn, or cow's horn, is part of a Haitian voodoo ritual," the sheriff said. "We're going on that theory. I have some people doing research on it."

Dr. Solon T. Kimball, an authority on anthropology and witchcraft at the University of Florida, doesn't discount the sheriff's theory.

"It is true that professional witches do search out the remains of dead people for their practice," he said. "But

Pacifica Radio Station Manager Denies Bombing Investigated

HOUSTON (UPI)—The general manager of a Houston radio station which was dynamited off the air May 12 and again Oct. 6 says Justice Department officials lied when they assured him the FBI was investigating the bombings.

Larry Lee of Pacifica radio station KPFT-FM said Wednesday assistant U.S. Attorney General Will Wilson and Charles Ruff of the department's management and labor section sent a form letter in reply to Houston citizens protesting the lack of federal investigation.

"Wilson and his colleague, Charles Ruff, are lying in this letter," Lee said. "The FBI is not investigating the Pacifica bombings."

The noncommercial station, which presented a wide range of news programs including interviews with members of such disparate groups as the Ku Klux Klan and the Black Panthers, has been off the air since the Oct. 6 explosion which destroyed the station's transmitter.

The FBI's only action was to offer the "informal" assistance of a single agent to the Harris County Sheriff's Department, Lee said. Houston FBI agent-in-charge Tom Jordan said his offer was rejected.

"The sheriff's office... has told at least two reporters from out-of-state media that it knows the identities of the Pacifica bombers, but cannot make a case against them," Lee said.

"An agent in the FBI office put it to me today, 'We're definitely not in the investigation. We're not doing a thing,'" Lee said.

"The U.S. attorney in Houston, Anthony J. P. Farris, called on Oct. 16 for permission to enter the case," Lee said. He quoted Farris as saying, "Nothing has been decided. No word has come down."

Lee said many public officials have asked the Justice Department to intervene, including Reps. George Bush, R-Tex.; Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex.; and Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee; and Willard E. Walbridge of Houston, chairman of the joint boards of the National Association of Broadcasters. Also John W. Macy Jr., president of the congressionally-created Corporation for Public Broadcasting, and Dean Burch, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

"Earlier this month, in Indiana, (Attorney General John N. Mitchell predicted a possible resurgence of vigilante terrorism in America," Lee said. "His department's actions in the Pacifica case indicate his

NEW YORK (UPI)—Common stocks of sound, well-managed companies that have weathered the past months of economic stress, represent good values today, Vance, Sanders & Co. says. By such standards as price-earnings ratios and dividend yields such issues are exceptionally well positioned, it adds.

The rally of this past summer, while indicative of a major base building period, was not the type of action which usually initiates a new bull market, Harris, Upham & Co. says. If the beginning of a substantial rise lies ahead, a decline of substance will occur first, "allowing the dust to settle," the firm adds. "The task of identifying the new leaders is now at hand," the firm says.

Short-term gains are likely to be elusive, so "do not be fooled by occasional upsurges in 'flyers,'" according to Spear and Staff Inc. Now is a good time, however, to fill out long-term positions on market dips. "The stage is set for a 'healthy' correction, not at all surprising after an approximate 20 per cent advance by most stocks in only three months, the firm adds.

Be "cautious" about buying major gold issues at this point, E. F. Hutton advises. Technically, they look strong, but this is a group where it is usually better to take profits or lighten holdings when the issues are strong and repurchase on softness.

Who Benefits From Advance Collection?

YOU DO!

Each Pampa Daily newspaper carrier is an independent contractor who buy his newspapers wholesale and pays for them with money collected from his subscribers.

But Pampa Daily newspaper carriers are losing profits because of the mobility of today's population. More and more families are moving each year and all too often the carrier is forgotten. Result: lost profits for the carrier. Advance collection will solve this problem.

Advance collection is nothing more than paying the subscription price of your newspaper ahead of time rather than a week in arrears.

Who benefits from advance collection? You do. When your carrier's profits are insured, he will keep his route longer. And the longer a young boy stays on a route, the better his service is. It's just a matter of "practice makes perfect."

THE CHANGE WILL BE EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER 1, 1970 IN THE CITY OF PAMPA ONLY! Will you help your carrier be a success in this?

COUNTY JUDGE

GRAY COUNTY

JUDGE S. R. LENNING JR. and wife LELA LENNING with children CHERI, 18; GARY, 16 and ROY, 14

I believe that every candidate running for Public Office should let the voter know where he stands and what his platform is. My basic platform is having GRAY COUNTY run on a business-like basis and as economically as possible. To accomplish these goals I propose the following:

- Redistrict County Commissioners' Precincts so that all voters will have equal representation on the Court. At the present time Precinct No. 1 has 4.3 per cent of the voters, Precinct No. 2 has 86.3 per cent, Precinct No. 3 has 1.5 per cent and Precinct No. 4 has 7.3 per cent. This is simply not fair representation.
- Consolidate all county equipment to be under the supervision of one County Road Supervisor. This will save the County a minimum of $100,000.00 per year over a short period of time.
- Reduce the County Commissioners salary from the present $650.00 per month and the additional $100.00 per month for mileage to a flat rate of $400.00 per month. This would more than pay for the Road Supervisor.
- Make the Commissioners Court a policy-making body only.
- Reduce in time, the number of Road and Bridge employees as they retire under our new retirement plan.
- Reduce the amount of equipment now used for road maintenance since the county owns more than is necessary for road maintenance.

Statue Goes To Last Resting Place

One of the most difficult moving jobs in art history will take place at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center Saturday, Oct. 31, when a national art treasure—the historic "End of the Trail" statue—is moved to its final resting place in a new building at the Americana center in Oklahoma City.

The "End of the Trail" is a huge, 2½ times life-size sculpture known to practically every American family as the subject of countless postcards, statuettes, prints, and souvenirs. This sad Indian warrior astride his weary pony is the most powerful symbol of the end of the frontier. Nonetheless, James Earle Fraser's 55-year-old original was moved around like a homeless waif before 1968, when the National Cowboy Hall of Fame acquired it from Visalia, California, county officials.

The "End of the Trail" has recently been restored, but is an extremely fragile work of plaster around a wood and wire form. This delicate, priceless statue will now be moved for the final time. It will be a problem to move its 8,000 pounds to a point 75 feet distant—its new setting in the Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial now being built.

Richard Muno, art director of the Center, stated that moving "The End of the Trail" will be like "picking up a butterfly without misplacing a grain of pollen, or like lifting a marshmallow with a pair of pliers without smudging the sugar coating."

The man in charge of this formidable job is Joe Eddy, manager of construction for Star Construction Company, the Oklahoma City subsidiary of Star Manufacturing Company, which designed the Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial for the statue and other historic works in the studio collection of Fraser and his wife Laura Gardin Fraser.

Eddy has recruited the biggest fork lift in Oklahoma to move the statue with muscle, but delicacy, to its new home. Beginning about 8 a.m. Saturday his assistants will begin building a specially reinforced base around the plaster base of the statue to accommodate the fork lift. Lifting and moving of the statue to its place inside the memorial superstructure is expected to take place Saturday afternoon. When the "End of the Trail" is in place, construction of the building will resume, with completion expected in November. The Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial and the Fraser art objects will comprise a two million dollar addition to the National Cowboy Hall of Fame.

At the December 13 dedication of the new memorial the public will see for the first time the dramatic setting of the gleaming white "End of the Trail" towering over the other historic Fraser sculptures, all lighted by a shaft of light from the 32-foot ceiling. Statues of Daniel Boone, Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, James Audubon, Abraham Lincoln, Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, and friezes of the Oklahoma Run and American history will be in the central grouping. Other displays will contain the sketch awards, studio equipment, photographs, and scrapbooks of the artists' lives.

When completed, the Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial will comprise an impressive 4,800 square foot structure immediately south of the existing Cowboy Hall Structure. A basic Star Manufacturing Company steel structure and roof system supports the stone, masonry, and glass structure. The 32-foot gable roof will slope down to 8-foot walls of stone and glass on the east and west. The entire north and south end walls will be glass-paneled from floor to ceiling between impressive masonry and stone columns. This will afford a magnificent view of the skyline to the south.

The Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial was designed by the Star Manufacturing Company, with Afton C. Gille Architect. Construction began in August, 1970.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kirkpatrick of Oklahoma City made possible acquisition of the Fraser art in 1968. Portions of the one million dollar acquisition have been exhibited in a temporary building donated by the Star Manufacturing Company.

Mrs. Nona S. Payne, 1616 Christine, Pampa, contributed the funds for construction of the new building, in memory of her rancher-husband David D. Payne. The Kirkpatricks and Mrs. Payne will be honored at the December 13 dedication.

Negotiations are underway to make the Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial a national monument by presidential proclamation. It is estimated that in the first year alone almost one million people will view the Payne-Kirkpatrick Memorial and the Fraser art objects. The building is the first major addition to the Cowboy Hall since construction of the main museum, completed in 1965.

The "End of the Trail" was executed by Fraser in 1915 for the Panama Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco, celebrating opening of the Panama Canal. The work won the exposition Gold Medal and nationwide acclaim for Fraser. Also the creator of the Buffalo-Indian Head nickel, Fraser became the most widely known sculptor in American history. He and his wife, residents of Westport, Connecticut, devoted their lives to important historic sculptures, ranging in size from coin to enormous statues. Fraser died in 1953 and his wife died in 1966.

The National Cowboy Hall of Fame recreates the exciting story of the West in exhibits of Western art and history valued at close to three million

Oil Companies Try Not To Leave Scars

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Geologist Sankey Blanton says he can guarantee that oil companies today are making every effort to meet mounting energy demands without leaving scars on the environment.

Blanton, senior geologist in Sun Oil Co.'s key areas region, returned recently from a field trip to the North Slope of Alaska.

The area Blanton worked extends from the Canadian border westward to the Canning River and from the Arctic Ocean south to the Continental Divide in the Romanof Mountains. It's a rugged range on the south, dropping to an almost flat, moss-covered tundra northward to the Arctic Ocean.

Blanton denies complaints by conservation and ecology groups that oil companies are a menace to the ecology. He refutes charges that tracks left in tundra areas by seismic vehicles will not grow over within a hundred years, and geologists in the area take every humanly possible precaution to preserve the environment.

Oil Companies Blamed
"Oil companies are getting the blame," he said, "but much of the littering in northern Alaska is really material left by the federal government from as far back as 25 to 30 years—in connection with abandoned military installations and with naval petroleum reserve No. 4 when exploration for it was in progress.

"Government officials not only are very strict about leaving debris around, but also specify that wild animals which endanger the camp must be reported to state and federal wildlife agencies."

Blanton says a factor that contributes to the expensive operations being carried on in Alaska is the "extreme caution to prevent any disturbance to the ecology."

"Leave no litter around the campsites or elsewhere," were his instructions when he left on this, his second tour of duty in northern Alaska. "This procedure is being followed to the letter by Sun and other oil industry geologists there."

Numerous Problems
Blanton, 47, says there is a variety of problems encountered during surveys of the Alaskan oil fields. Rugged terrain, mosquitoes in low lying tundra areas, afternoon storms and strong winds — sometimes 50 miles per hour or more — are some of the difficulties.

Before making the trip, Blanton prepared himself by extensive study at the Alaskan branch of the U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park, Calif., and at Anchorage, Alaska. Total familiarity with the region is one way of keeping environmental-disturbing activities at a minimum, he said.

There's another aspect to the ruggedness of work in Alaska—the long days.

"Having continually experienced days with 24 hours of sunlight," Blanton said on returning home, "I glory in being able to watch the moon come up."

Detroit (UPI) — General Motors Corp. partly blames a $77 million third-quarter loss—its first quarterly deficit in 24 years—on a 45-day strike by the United Auto Workers in the United States and Canada.

GM also blamed longer shutdowns for 1971 model changeovers "because of extensive changes in certain regular-size models" for its first quarterly red ink since the first quarter of 1946, when operations also were shut down by a UAW strike.

Negotiations were to resume today between GM and the UAW. The strike has now surpassed the 44-day shutdown of the Ford Motor Co. in 1967, and has caused thousands of layoffs in automotive and supplier industries.

Wednesday's financial report included the first two weeks of the current UAW strike, which began Sept. 15.

Worldwide GM car and truck sales in the third quarter totaled 937,000 units, 34 per cent below the 1,427,000 in the same period of 1969. Third-quarter 29 per cent.

WICHITA VICTIM DIES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—John Taylor, 21, died Wednesday of injuries he received in the crash of the Wichita State University chartered airplane. He was the 31st person to die from the crash.

The Oct. 2 accident near Loveland Pass, Colo., killed 13 other members of the Wichita State University football team, the team's head coach and the school's athletic director. Taylor, of Sherman, Tex., was a reserve cornerback for the Wheatshockers.

HILJACKERS' FOES

OTTAWA (UPI)—Air Canada has installed electronic weapon-detecting devices that went into regular use at Montreal International Airport today.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson announced Wednesday that the airline eventually plans to operate similar devices at other major airports across the nation "as a measure to step up security."

BOTTLE PRICE RAISED

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Stores have raised their price for return glass soft drink bottles to five cents each to stop a bottle drain to West Texas. Points in West Texas had put the price increase in effect some time ago, and soft drink bottlers said truckers were carrying large quantities out of the Fort Worth area for resale in West Texas.

The Panhandle needs Max Sherman for effective representation in Austin. If this district is to receive the recognition and consideration it deserves, we need a dynamic, energetic voice to speak for us in Austin. We need a voice that will be heard in the Texas Senate. We need Max Sherman... he is your kind of Senator!

Max SHERMAN THE MAN
Sherman knows the Panhandle as a life-long resident. He grew up in Phillips where he graduated from high school.

He worked his way through Baylor and the University of Texas Law School by waiting tables, counseling freshman students, and selling Bibles. At Baylor he was president of the student body and was named Most Representative Senior Male Student. He graduated with honors from the Law School at Texas and received many awards.

Sherman served his country in the Army. He entered as a recruit and later received a commission in the Judge Advocate General's Corps.

He married the former Gene Alice Wienbroer of Borger and now has two children. His wife taught at Borger High School, Palo Duro High and Amarillo College.

Since 1961 he has been a practicing attorney.

Max SHERMAN THE SENATOR
Max Sherman is dedicated to making the Panhandle a better place for your family and for his own. He is strongly committed to:

- Economy in government.
- Government at the local level.
- Good, locally-controlled schools.
- Prompt, effective laws to stop drug traffic.
- Improved, firm crime prevention laws.

Max Sherman has taken his campaign to the people. At the beginning of the campaign he personally went to each county to file for the office of State Senator. Since then he and his wife have traveled more than 16,000 miles meeting and visiting with voters in this district to learn what they want in government. It's the people who will always determine his course in Austin. He is not obligated to any outside influences.

Max Sherman believes there is no substitute for hard work. He has worked hard in this campaign and has promised "I will work as hard at being your State Senator as I worked at getting elected."

Max SHERMAN THE LEADER
An energetic 35 years old, Max Sherman is active in civic and church affairs. He is a church officer and Sunday School teacher and is president of the Panhandle's oldest and largest Kiwanis Club.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Could troops could search without warrants, hold suspects without charge for seven days, delay arraignment for 90 days and suspend the right to bail. If fully employed the law permits the Canadian cabinet to decree laws, impose censorship and reinstate the death penalty.

In this country, Congress has given the President power to declare an "internal security emergency" during which the attorney general can be empowered to "apprehend and detain any person if there is reasonable ground to believe that he will engage in, or probably will conspire to engage in, acts of espionage or sabotage."

Clearly the sort of "insurrection" Congress had in mind was one "in aid of a foreign enemy." But a President, in his role as commander in chief, could issue executive orders going beyond his normal emergency powers and then ask Congress to ratify his actions.

In the event of a political kidnapping in this country, then, the President might act outside the explicit authority given him by Congress—and get away with it.

When Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte was found slain, opposition to Trudeau's action all but vanished in Parliament. Even before his death, a public opinion poll found 83 per cent of the people supported Trudeau or felt he had not gone far enough.

Judging by that sort of reaction in events-conscious Canada, a U.S. President is not likely to hesitate from doing what he feels necessary in a kidnap crisis.

TOKYO —Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, in a statement following his election to an unprecedented fourth term: "My political philosophy is to retain peace and freedom and seek a prosperous nation."

Times Purchase 50 Million Worth Of Papers, TV, And Books

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times Co. agreed Wednesday to purchase for $50 million in stock three Florida newspapers, a television station and several magazines from Cowles Communications, Inc. The agreement calls for the Times to assume the $15 million debt of the properties it is acquiring, which is to be financed at the rate of 6.5 per cent. Cowles will receive 2.6 million shares of Times class A stock. The Florida newspapers include the Lakeland Ledger, the Gainesville Sun and the Ocala Star-Banner. The other properties are WREC-TV in Memphis, Tenn.; the Cambridge Book Co., which publishes textbooks; Family Circle magazine, a monthly consumer publication sold in supermarkets; and the Modern Medicine group of magazines which serves the medical and dental professions.

Political Candidates Start Counting Up The Expenses

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith and Republican senatorial candidate George Bush have each spent more than $600,000 in their fall campaigns, expense reports showed today.

Their opponents, GOP gubernatorial hopeful Paul Eggers and Democratic senatorial nominee Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. have spent more than $400,000 each—thus making both races in the $1 million category.

In preliminary expense reports filed with the secretary of state Bush showed the biggest expenditures. Through midnight Monday, he had spent a total of $696,000 and had received contributions of $665,708 to lead all candidates in both categories.

Bentsen, who had a tough and expensive campaign against incumbent Sen. Ralph Yarborbor in the Democratic primary, showed expenses of $419,332 for the fall campaign and contributions of $424,563.

Smith's expenses for the fall race totaled $652,860, with total gifts of $534,651, including a carryover of $67,888 from the primary which he ran unopposed. Eggers listed total payments to date of $409,028, and total contributions of $312,661. The Wichita Falls attorney also listed debts of $96,000—more than any other major candidate.

Final expense statements are not due until after the Nov. 3 election.

Calvary Baptist Church

Calvary Baptist Church has initiated a new program of family worship for its Wednesday evening services and is sponsoring a family dinner hour and mission programs for all ages.

Groups starting activities at 5 p.m. each Wednesday at the church, 824 S. Barnes, are the Women's Missionary Union, Baptist Men, Royal Ambassadors, Girls in Action, Mission Friends and Rhythm Band.

Goals of all groups are to be more actively conscious of the spiritual and friendship needs of those unable to attend church services and the church's social programs. Plans are for each group to regularly visit the church members who are ill and unable to attend, and to help develop an active interest among members to meet the mission needs of Pampa who have not affiliated themselves with a local church.

Ags for youth groups are four and five years old for Rhythm Band and Mission Friends; six to 10 year old and 11 to 12 years old for Girls in Action, and first grade through junior high and high school for RA's, according to Mrs. Jack Robertson, WMU director.

After the age group meetings at 5 p.m., other mid-week programs are the family dinner at 6 p.m., Bible study and prayer services at 6:45 p.m. and visitation after the prayer service.

Baptist Head Says Liquor Is Texas' Worst Moral Problem

AUSTIN (UPI)—The President of the Baptist General Convention of Texas recognizes the problems of poverty, pollution, war and over-population. But, he says, amendments concerning those problems are not on Tuesday's general election ballot in Texas and liquor by the drink is.

dollars to manipulate Americans to approve of this drug that they search for some justification for hiding," Allen said.

history of our country is being made right now," Allen said.

"The greatest drug problem in our nation is beverage alcohol," the Rev. Jimmy Allen of San Antonio said Tuesday night. "It leaves in its wake six to eight million crushed lives of alcoholics and problem drinkers. It destroys 27,000 Americans a year on our highways. It heightens violence in our society with taverns providing the stage for thousands of murders a year."

"They feel they have found in it the discovery of other problems in our society which are destructive of human life," he said. "It becomes unsophisticated and old fashioned to still be worrying about liquor in a world of war and want."

Allen is pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Antonio. He was elected president of the 1.8 million member Texas Baptist convention last year and is expected to be named for a second term later this week at the group's 85th annual meeting.

Allen said the constitutional amendment which would, if passed, allow voters to decide if they wanted liquor by the drink in their own areas, would encourage the establishment of 12,000 outlets for this drug of alcohol instead of the 2,000-plus which we now have.

Allen said pollution, over-population and the war in Southeast Asia deserve the "highest priority" for all concerned Christians. But, he said, they should not "send us scurrying for cover or shrugging our shoulders in apathy" at the alcohol issue.

Allen also said a "gradually building assault on the concept of religious freedom of separation of church and state" has reached "crescendo proportions."

He said proposals designed to use tax money for grants to students in private, church-related schools were a "subterfuge" to get around constitutional provisions prohibiting the use of public money for sectarian causes.

"To complicate the picture, many Christians are so weary of fighting this battle and so discouraged about the fact that profiteering interests are willing to keep spending thousands of

"Uncle Sam" originated from Samuel Wilson, a U.S. Army inspector of provisions in Troy, N.Y. The World Almanac recalls, in October, 1812, visitors touring Wilson's plant asked what the initials "E.A.-U.S." on barrels stood for. A workman stated that E.A. stood for Elbert Anderson, the contractor, and added jokingly that the US stood for "Uncle Sam" Wilson.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

FIRST CHURCH of CHRIST, SCIENTISTS

The Pursuit of Perfection

The attainment of perfection lies in attention to little things and a positive faith in God. Jesus evidently learned this in his carpenter's apprenticeship under Joseph, and in his early religious training. In his parable of the talents he quotes the overlord as saying to the two enterprising servants, "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things." (Matt. 25-21) Another illustration of Jesus practical knowledge of the carpenter's trade is his parable of the two men who each built houses, one on the rock and one on the sand, the latter of which fell. "... and great was the fall of it." (Matt. 7:27).

Furthermore, Jesus refused to accept fear of failure or impossibility. Speaking of the difficulty of the rich man entering heaven, he said, "The things that are impossible with men are possible with God." (Luke 18:27). In his healing ministry there is reached. In Bethsaida a had to make two attempts before perfection was reached. In Bethsaida a blind man was brought to him. "... And when he had spit on his eyes, and put his hands on him, he asked him if he saw aught. And he looked up, and said, I see men as trees, walking. After that he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up: and he was restored, and saw every man clearly." (Mark 8:22-25.)

Probably the most spectacular modern instance of attention to details and the pursuit of perfection is the NASA space program's Project Apollo. Mistakes made along the way, one of which resulted in the demise of three astronauts, were rectified to the point that man finally walked on the moon. The crowning example of the persistence and ingenuity of these intrepid scientist-adventurers, was the all-out effort of those involved to bring the crew of Apollo 13 back safely in its aborted attempt to land a second time on the moon. A whole world supported these efforts in a prayer of recognition that with God, all things are possible, and the deed was accomplished.

Was not this proof positive that Jesus' teaching of the possibility of perfection, through persistent attention to details and reliance on God's help, is indeed relevant in today's universe?

13 PAMPA DAILY NEWS PAMPA, TEXAS 63rd Year Friday, October 20, 1979

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

FOR SATURDAY, OCT. 21, 1979
Your birthday Saturday. Consideration, practical application are your most useful approach to life in the year ahead. What you have been learning over the past few years comes together. You gather resolve and momentum to overcome limitations of long standing. Recently developed relationships face considerable stress, older ones quiet down. Saturday's natives frequently show unusually great physical strength, at other times strong executive talents.
ARIES (March 21-April 20): Your own enterprises are the more dependable path, although group matters are worth doing. Check facts thoroughly. Evening is excellent for a party.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Leave nothing to chance. Clear off the weekend chores promptly. Then take a break, or at least a change of direction. Your sense of humor makes all the difference.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You are in your natural pattern Saturday. Enjoy diversity of activity, coincidences. The evening is for clearing and fun, but remember, so other people don't quite understand where you are going; with creative projects. This evening enjoy being a spectator.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your home and your basic beliefs are the proper starting point for all actions. Do whatever is possible to improve matters, then gather your loved ones and celebrate.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Confusing circumstances are no problem unless you are "distractions" from your efforts. Creative ventures are top priority for the moment; evening parties are an art form.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Pursue your goals diligently while others are intrigued the moment. Evening parties are an art by changing situations. Shortcuts, for a top change, really save time and effort. Enjoy yourself in the evening.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If you really want to stay on the path, be clear in saying so; do whatever is needed to confirm your place. Treat and discipline your brain as a without regard for nostalgia.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Discretion continues to be essential to your projects. You are susceptible to whimsical thinking, misleading appearances. Share decisions with associates.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Friends are ready for action each with his own idea of what should be done. Get an early start and stay ahead of them. With definite direction, you can accomplish a great deal.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Think through everything before Saturday. Some transactions are complex, have a subtle side. Social activity is pleasant.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Cultural pursuits are the feature of the day. Daydreaming is quite easy. News from far places is encouraging but very incomplete.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Now that President Nixon has rejected the report of the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, the administration faces a problem of what to do with the document.

Some disposal experts have proposed placing the report in concrete vaults aboard a World War II Liberty ship and sinking it in 16,000 feet of water 230 miles east of Florida.

But others insist that procedure would be risky. They say the report will retain its potency for many more years. Should the vaults deteriorate or accidentally break apart, the report could float to the surface, drift ashore and contaminate large areas of America.

The Romance Menace
I'm with the latter group. There are portions of the report that are extremely unsettling and a menace to your peace of mind. And the passage of time is unlikely to make them any less so. For example:

"A comparison of unwed pregnant high school girls with junior college girls found that romantic themes in television, books, romance magazines, motion pictures and musical recordings were generally considered more arousing than pornographic materials among both groups.

"The two groups of girls differed, however, in that the pregnant girls considered television to be most sexually provocative, while college girls reported that movies were most stimulating."

Fear Strikes Home
Land o' goshen! I happen to be the father of an unwed high school girl who watches television a lot. So that part of the report was disturbing to say the least.
The very day I read it I came home from the office to find my daughter watching "Petticoat Junction." To an adult, this program may seem innocuous to the point of stultification. But it does have themes that a teenager might consider romantic.
I said, "Why don't you turn off the television and go read a dirty book or something? I have a copy of 'Lady Chatterley's Lover' that you might enjoy."

Angela Davis' Attorney Charges Unnecessary Cruelty Of Client

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—A member of a black lawyers organization said Wednesday the special precautions taken since activist Angela Davis was jailed are "notorious" examples of using the law as "a vehicle for visiting their daughter and restricting non-white races."

Wyst Coast court case in which a judge was killed. She has been kept in solitary confinement and allowed no visitors except her immediate family and attorneys, Burns said.

"We are very concerned about her treatment because for no reason she has been placed in solitary confinement," Burns said. "We really are concerned that she be placed in appropriate surroundings for someone presumed innocent until proven guilty."

Burns said Miss Davis' segregation from the general prison population could only be considered politically motivated "since she hasn't done anything since she was arrested to warrant additional punishment."

Dry Weather Has'creased NVN's Infiltrations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With the coming of the dry season in Southeast Asia, North Vietnam has increased significantly its infiltration of men and war material southward along the H Chi Minh Trail, according to Nixon administration officials. They predict increased pressure against the allies during the next few months.

The assumption is that Hanoi's prime objective is to restore its position along the Cambodian border just opposite Saigon, the area from which four North Vietnamese divisions were driven by U.S. and Saigon forces in May and June. Administration officials said today they foresaw no possibility the North Vietnamese contemplated or would be able to launch any major drive such as the 1968 Tet offensive. Such an offensive would require a major recruitment and supply preparation, of which there is no evidence.

Administration officials appear to believe Hanoi's options now boil down to either negotiating seriously at Paris or continuing with small scale guerrilla-type warfare consisting primarily of sabotage and terror operations. They acknowledge Hanoi well might decide to undertake both of these courses at the same time. It is acknowledged that the North Vietnamese have sufficient strength to win some dramatic victory against Cambodian forces if they wish to expend the manpower on this.

COURTS-MARTIAL DELAYED
SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The courts-martial of two Air Force sergeants charged with mistreating recruits have been delayed until mid-November, the Air Force said. The two, S.Sgt. Folando Sada, 27, and T. Sgt. Jack H. Wilson, 34, had been scheduled to go on trial Wednesday. The delay was granted at the request of the defense attorney.
