

Britain In State Of Emergency Due To Power Crisis

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth II proclaimed a state of emergency Saturday night, giving the government sweeping powers to deal with a six-day-old electricity slowdown crisis that threatened a blacked-out, shivering Christmas for millions of Britons.

The Queen returned to Buckingham Palace from a weekend in Kent to sign the state of emergency order approved Saturday morning in a special cabinet meeting. The order gives the government authority to call out the army to break the labor slowdown if it feels the move necessary. Not even the Queen's palace has been free of the power blackouts that have plagued 50 million Britons since Dec. 7.

It goes into effect at once, allowing the government to ration dwindling electricity supplies, black out neon signs and store windows, ban floodlighting for soccer games and greyhound racing and impose fines for breaches of the new emergency regulations. Troops were held in readiness in case of acute crisis. Officials said there is no plan right now to use them because it would not be "practicable" for them to try to run power plants.

The state of emergency was approved at a two-hour cabinet meeting following the complete breakdown Friday of talks between officials of the state-run Central Electricity Council and union leaders representing 125,000 electrical workers. The unions ordered a slowdown and "work to rule" last Monday to back a 30 per cent pay hike demand. The Electricity Council, with government backing, refused more than 10 per cent.

Government sources said the emergency powers decision meant Prime Minister Edward Heath and his cabinet are ready, if necessary, for a showdown with the labor unions in a bid to halt the wage-price explosion that has hit Britain as badly as the United States and many European countries.

Earlier this week up to one-third of the country was blacked out by power cuts in rotation for periods up to three hours. The blackouts, reminiscent of the total nightly blackouts in World War II, meant millions woke every morning to find their homes in darkness and without heat in chilly weather and no means of cooking breakfast. British men quickly became adept at shaving by candlelight. Restaurants and hotels served candlelit meals. Candles quickly disappeared from stores. Hospitals and old age homes were hit particularly hard. Street and traffic lights were hit, too, creating rush hour traffic jams. Many big stores closed immediately when the lights went to prevent pilfering.

1970 Elections Weaken G.O.P., Help Democrats

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—The 1970 elections weakened the Republican Party, strengthened the Democrats in the South and virtually assured a Southerner as Democratic vice-presidential candidate, the Ripon Society said Saturday. In the December issue of its magazine, Ripon Forum, the liberal Republican research organization discussed Democrat wins in the governorships and Senate seats in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas. "In no state did the GOP score significant gains in the state legislature but suffered significant losses in at least two, North Carolina and Tennessee," the article said. In the 11 Southern states, the society said, the GOP had a net gain of one congressional seat, giving them 27 of the region's 106 seats. Only three Democrats took office with less than 55 per cent of the vote, and 43 Democratic Congressmen were uncontested. The South, as a result of the election, has once again grown more prominent in Democratic thinking and "could legitimately argue for its traditional second spot on the Democratic ticket," the article continued.

Nixon Repudiates Report On Campus Unrest But Praises Agency's Work

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Saturday he had tried to use the "immense moral authority" of his office to end violence and promote justice in America, but responsibility for keeping the peace on college campuses belongs strictly to the academic community. In a long-awaited reply to the Scranton commission's Sept. 26 report on campus unrest, Nixon rejected its overriding assertion that only the President can provide the moral leadership to prevent further campus disorders. "Moral authority in a great and diverse nation such as ours does not reside in the presidency alone," he said in a letter to former Gov. William V. Scranton of Pennsylvania, the commission chairman. Praises Agnew Nixon praised Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as among those others to whom the nation looks for leadership and who have "spoken or acted with forthrightness and courage on and off the campus, unequivocally condemning violence and disruption as instruments of change ...". The President defended his programs to end the Vietnam War, poverty and the draft, to eliminate racial discrimination and to help more young people of every race to attend college, all issues the commission said concerned today's students. Nixon said dissent was inevitable in any administration and any society. "But no minority, no matter how united, how vocal, or how articulate, has veto power—over a President's decision to do what he believes is right in the nation's interest," he said.

Shipped In From South America In Christmas Parcels

Four Nabbed; Drugs Worth $23 Million

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Narcotics agents intercepted one of the largest drug shipments in history Saturday, seizing between $21 and $23 million in heroin smuggled in from South America in Christmas wrappings. Four persons, one a woman and the other three Brazilian nationals, were arrested. Officials refused to say where the shipment came from, but one conceded that Buenos Aires would be a good guess. Narcotics agents said the 94.5 kilos—about 208 pounds—arrived at Miami International Airport aboard a chartered DCB, but would not disclose the name of the owner of the plane. Agents would not say how they knew the shipment was enroute, nor would they say how the shipment got from the airport to Miami Beach's Collins Avenue, the famed hotel row, where the suspects were arrested while transferring the packages of heroin into a car. Agents said the heroin was in the country about 10 to 12 hours before it was seized, but that at no time was it beyond the reach of agents. The four persons charged with conspiracy to smuggle narcotics into the country were identified as Alberto Jan Van Caester, 38, of Saita, Argentina; Carlos Alberto Rojas-Colombo of Rosario, Argentina; Hibalito Navarro, 39, of the Bronx, N.Y., and Argentina, and Irene Gonzalez, 34, of Hialeah, Fla. They were held in the Dade County Jail under temporary bonds of $1 million each and were to appear Monday before U.S. Commissioner Edward Swan for a preliminary hearing. The heroin arrived in what appeared to be four brown leather mail pouches—inside each were scores of individual packages, all wrapped with Christmas paper and containing a plastic bag with two kilos each of uncut heroin. Thomas Hurney, deputy regional director of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Drugs in Miami, said one kilo of heroin ends up worth about a quarter of a million dollars when cut for street sales.

Israel Assured Of Continued U.S. Military, Economic Aid

By United Press International The Israeli state radio said Saturday that President Nixon has pledged a continued flow of U.S. economic and military aid to Israel to maintain the Middle East arms balance. It said Nixon also promised to warn Russia not to intervene directly in the Middle East conflict. The report was broadcast as Cairo government sources disclosed Egyptian armed forces held a four-day "offensive" maneuver this week marking the culmination of a crash training program using new advanced weapons supplied by the Soviet Union. The Egyptian sources said exercise "Roar" was designed to test Egyptian combat readiness after four months of rigorous training coinciding with the Suez Canal cease-fire with Egypt. The broadcast by the official Israeli radio said President Nixon's promises were contained in a recent letter to Israeli Premier Golda Meir. It was Israeli Agriculture Minister Chaim Givati disclosed key points of the Nixon letter at a political rally Friday night of the labor party in the Maagan Kibbutz (communal farm). The radio said Givati outlined four major points of the Nixon letter: —The President assured Israel a continuing flow of economic and military aid to maintain an arms balance between Arabs and Israel in the Middle East. —Nixon said the United States would veto any moves against Israel in the United Nations Security Council. —He promised to warn the Soviet Union not to intervene directly in the Middle East conflict. —He said no Israeli soldier would have to withdraw from positions in occupied Arab territory until the present cease-fire had become a binding peace treaty. In Cairo, government sources said that weaponry involved in this week's Egyptian military maneuvers included advanced long-range guns and armor delivered to Egypt by the Russians in the months just before and after the death of President Gamal Abdel Nasser in late September. Egyptian sources said the maneuvers and other moves to strengthen the Egyptian armed forces have been undertaken in preparation for possible resumption of fighting should Israel decide not to return to the Middle East peace talks in New York under U.N. special envoy Gunnar V. Jarring. The draft for 1970 is being held to a total of 163,500—compared to 290,000 in 1969 and just under 300,000 in 1968. During the Vietnam buildup it reached a peak of 365,000 in 1966. During the three weeks the prosecution had the spotlight, it produced witnesses who testified that Calley, 27, mowed down defenseless civilians in cold blood. The defense, which took over last Thursday, countered with witnesses who said that many "civilians" in the area were suspected of sniping at U.S. troops and committing other acts of terrorism. Defense attorneys also stressed that whatever Calley did at My Lai, he did under orders from his superiors.

Calley Guilty Of 'Nothing' If He Was Carrying Out Orders—Audie Murphy LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Audie Murphy, America's most decorated soldier of World War II, said Saturday that if 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was carrying out orders at My Lai "then he's guilty of nothing." "That's what a soldier is supposed to do—follow orders," said Murphy, commenting on the Calley court-martial, now in its second month at Ft. Benning, Ga. "If the man was carrying out orders, he should be exonerated," Murphy said. "If he went out on his own and did the things he's accused of, he should be punished." Calley is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968, the Pentagon Issues Call For 17,000 Draftees In Jan.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department today issued a call for 17,000 Army draftees in January. It was the highest monthly quota since last April, when 19,000 were drafted. The Pentagon said only that the draft rate was being boosted to assure "a timely flow of replacements" in the Army, but it was believed low calls of only 8,000 for November and 7,000 for December made the sharp increase necessary. The draft for 1970 is being held to a total of 163,500—compared to 290,000 in 1969 and just under 300,000 in 1968. During the Vietnam buildup it reached a peak of 365,000 in 1966. The calls early this year were 19,000 each for February, March and April and 15,000 each for May, June and July.

OPEN HOUSE TODAY

Public Invited To Inspect New Facilities At Highland General

Highland General Hospital officials will mark the official opening of the hospital's $1,442,119 west wing by conducting a public open house at the new facility from 2 to 5 p.m. today. Those participating in the ribbon cutting ceremony at the hospital's north entrance will be Gene Imel, president of the county hospital board; County Judge S.R. Lenning Jr.; Wes Langham, hospital administrator; Dr. Carl Lang, 1971 chief of staff; Roy Sparkman, chamber of commerce vice president, and Milo Carlson, Mayor. Rev. Dan B. Cameron, First Baptist Church pastor will give the invocation.

Highland General Hospital Auxiliary will have 15 guides conducting groups of 10 on tours. Additional parking space for four visitors will be available on the Coronado Center parking lot, as well as the hospital's new northwest parking lot. New facilities for the county hospital include a gift shop, operated by the hospital's women's auxiliary; new laboratory, x-ray suite, physical therapy, pharmacy, central supply, recovery room, emergency room suite, coronary care and intensive care suite, conference room, dining room and kitchen, and business offices. Remodeled areas are Surgery A, Medical A, and obstetrics. First step in providing Gray County with the new hospital wing was taken in 1966 with the employment of architects Charles L. Minnot Jr. and Associates of Oklahoma City, to help the hospital board and physicians draw up plans and specifications. In 1967 a bond issue for $850,000 was approved. Two Hill-Burton grants were received for $321,119 and $271,000. With the two grants, totaling $592,119, and bond money, the board and county commissioners had 1,442,119 available to build the new wing. Bids were awarded July 10, 1969, to Reid-Strickland construction Co. of Amarillo for $1,292,475. Construction began Aug. 25, last year and was completed 15 months later on Nov. 25 this year. The 140-bed accredited short-term county hospital has 208 employees with a monthly payroll of $80,000. There are 18 medical doctors, one pathologist, one radiologist on the staff. Dr. Joe R. Donaldson is chief of staff for 1970. Dr. Carl Lang is 1971 chief of staff. The hospital is governed by a board of directors which includes Gene Imel, president; Fred Vanderburg, vice president; E.L. Henderson, secretary; Gordon Lyons and D.W. Bond, all of Pampa and Jim Hathaway of McLean. The same governing board and administrator administers the 18-bed hospital at McLean. The board is appointed by Gray County Commissioners Court and is responsible to the court for its actions. The original 90-bed hospital was constructed in 1949 and opened in 1950. Seven years later 50 more beds were added with the construction of a two-story north wing, facing Harvester St.

Federal Agents Launch Largest Raid On Big Gambling Operations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell announced Saturday that federal agents had staged the largest coordinated raid on organized gambling to date, striking simultaneously at sports betting operations in 26 cities. A Justice Department spokesman said all kinds of sports were involved, although more than half the raids involved professional football. At least 27 persons were arrested. Single handguns were seized in Albuquerque, N.M.; Buffalo, N.Y., and Oklahoma City, Okla. The spokesman said it was impossible as yet to determine the total bets handled by operations. But Mitchell said "convictions of the people who were targets of today's raid would severely damage the financial apparatus which bankrolls organized crime." He said the key to the raid was the serving of 160 search warrants across the nation, including five on executives of Cesar's Palace in Las Vegas, Nev. Two of the Palace's executives were arrested on a charge of using interstate facilities (telephones) in aid of racketeering. Agents also hit three betting houses in Las Vegas and charged their operators with acting as illegal underwriters for the nation's top bookmakers. Raids were made in New York; Los Angeles; Detroit; Cleveland; Miami; Atlanta; Houston; Phoenix; Buffalo; Omaha; Neb.; Dayton; St. Louis; Toronto; Martins Ferry and Bridgeport, Ohio; Macon, Ga.; Hot Springs and Van Buren, Ark.; Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla.; Albuquerque; Palm Springs, Calif., and Las Vegas. The spokesman said search warrants were obtained in some cities there were searches only. In others, there were seizures as well, and in some, seizures and arrests. About $69,500 was taken.

Fraud Trial Jury Convicts Eight

EROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—U.S. Attorney Anthony J.P. Farris says the conviction of eight persons on charges of vote fraud in Starr County shows citizens of South Texas have "had enough."

"The citizens of South Texas have proved that the American system does work and that, I hope, court gangs that bend the Texas election code are now on notice..." Farris commented.

It was the first federal prosecution in years of contested elections in Starr County.

Convicts Eight A jury of seven women and five men, after hearing four days of testimony and evidence gathered in a seven-month investigation into the May 2 Democratic primary, convicted eight of the original 22 indicted late Friday. A mistrial was pronounced in the case of four other defendants, including County commissioner Amando Pena.

U.S. District Judge Reynaldo Garza had dismissed charges against nine other defendants after the government abruptly rested in the fourth day of the trial without presenting evidence linking them with a conspiracy to injure and suppress certain qualified voters in the county.

Former Governor Named To State Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith Saturday appointed former Gov. Price Daniel to the State Supreme Court.

Daniel, 60, now a Liberty, Tex., lawyer, will take a seat as an associate justice on the high court Jan. 1. He will replace retiring Justice Clyde Smith.

"I know of no man who has ever served the citizens of the State of Texas and the nation with more integrity and more dedication than has Governor Daniel, and I know he will bring to this high office the highest type of service," Governor Smith said Saturday.

"The fact that the people of Texas chose Price Daniel to serve as a member of the House of Representatives, attorney general, United States senator and as their governor is indicative of their high regard, respect and affection for him," the governor said.

Daniel established a reputation as a trust-busting crime fighter when he was state attorney general from 1947 through 1953.

SPEED READING COURSE SET FOR PAMPA

One Million Words? In a Single Week? Can YOU handle that?

Yet, if you are a student or an average person in a position of average responsibility you are expected to read up to, and in many cases even more than, one million words in a single week. Think of the flood of printed material you must cope with daily. There is more and more material in print every day — and more and more people, including you, have read it.

How rapidly DO you read? And more importantly, how well do you understand and retain what you have read? Is it a chore for you to read a book? Do you back-track repeatedly? Let your mind wander to other things? Silently pronounce words to yourself as you read? If you do any of these, chances are that you not only need but would profit greatly from the Speed Reading Academy's course in Rapid Reading which is set for discussion at Pampa.

Mr. Wayne D. Scott, SRA president, said arrangements have been made to offer SRA's exclusive 7-week, 21-hour Rapid Reading course to a limited number of students in Pampa.

The course is designed primarily for the college-bound high school student, the college student and professional — but anyone over 13 years of age of average intelligence, and without visual weaknesses can quickly master the speed reading techniques of the S.R.A. Method.

The average college student today reads anywhere from 150 to 250 words per minute, retaining about 50 per cent or less of what they have read, Mr. Scott said. "We guarantee that you can learn to read 1,000 words per minute or more, with better comprehension, retention and enjoyment or your tuition will be refunded."

Thousands of people who have completed the course have an average reading speed of 2,000 words per minute, with 80 per cent or better comprehension. In order to enroll in the course — you must attend one of the free orientation lectures mentioned below and the reading counselor will explain the course in detail — and give you a brief reading test to determine your present reading speed and comprehension.

Most people are shocked to find how slowly they actually read and how low their rate of comprehension really is. How do YOU rate as a reader? Students enrolling will be required to attend one class per week for seven weeks. Classes are limited to twenty students — and class places will be filled on a first come, first served basis.

A series of one hour orientation lectures to acquaint interested persons will be held in Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn, 1101 N. Hobart St. on Monday, Dec. 7, at 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m.; and a final meeting on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 2:30 p.m.

Nationally Known Educator Resigns From UT Faculty

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A nationally recognized educator, Dr. William Arrowsmith, Saturday resigned from the faculty of the University of Texas at Austin in protest of what he termed "the tyranny which Frank Erwin, as chairman of the board of regents, has established at the university."

Arrowsmith, in a resignation letter, said Erwin had "ruthlessly invaded" faculty autonomy and "fired or cashiered with appalling brutality" any administrators who dared resist.

"A university of 40,000 students and several thousand faculty and staff has become, through political chicanery and abusive power, the personal property of one man," Arrowsmith said.

Provokes Dissent

Arrowsmith accused Erwin of exploiting public hysteria about student dissent by distorting unrest at the campus last spring as a "radical takeover." Arrowsmith said it was actually a "moderate victory."

Southern Corn Blight To Hit

COLLEGE STATION— The chance of having more serious Southern Corn Leaf Blight infestations during 1971. Hybrids susceptible to the blight will have to be grown again in 1971 because sufficient quantities of resistant seed lots aren't yet available," he said. "Corn breeders are doing everything they can to insure a sufficient quantity of resistant seed stock for 1972, but there is no way for sufficient quantities to be made available for the 1971 season."

Losses in Texas due to Southern Corn Leaf Blight were minimal during 1970, with serious infections in only a few fields, Dr. C. Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist at Texas A&M, says. He adds, however, that there is a good

The disease spreads rapidly in a field once it begins to occur, and although fungicides may be used to control the disease, they are usually impractical because of the high cost involved.

What can the farmer do? "If he plans to plant his 1971 crop on the same land as his 1970 crop, the stubble should be turned under deeply to remove as much of the fungus as possible, assuming that the disease occurred during 1970," Horne said. "He should also learn as much about the disease as possible so that production techniques can be adjusted to reduce damage.

If a resistant hybrid is available, it is suggested that the farmer plant as much as he can obtain to fill his crop needs, and to take other suggested steps to lessen potential damage to susceptible hybrids from the disease.

John W. Norris Named To Board Of Girlstown

The appointment of John W. Norris of Pampa to the board of directors of Girlstown, USA, has been announced by Burnett B. Roberts of Lubbock, chairman of the board.

Girlstown, USA is a non-profit organization which provides a home for neglected or abused girls. Founded a generation ago by Amelia Anthony in Cochrane County, near Whiteface, Texas, Girlstown, USA opened its doors to nine homeless girls in 1949. Since that time, more than five hundred homeless girls, have called Girlstown, USA their home. Presently, 71 girls make their home on the Whiteface campus.

Girlstown is not an institution, but a home where girls are reared in an atmosphere of love and share the duties and responsibilities of being a member of a family. Non-sectarian, the girls residing at Girlstown may attend any church of their choice, but they are required to attend church each Sunday. They attend public schools and participate in school and community activities.

In 1966 the Borger Extension of Girlstown, USA was opened four miles east of Borger, Texas, on Highway 152. Comprised of two families of seven girls each and their houseparents, fourteen girls now reside on the Borger campus. The Borger extension is presently in an expansion program to enlarge their facilities.

In October of 1970, Girlstown, USA accepted the donation of the Breckenridge East Hospital facilities in Austin, Texas, with a potential capacity of forty-eight girls. The Austin campus is now accepting girls and expects to reach capacity in the near future as Girlstown is turning away an average of fifteen girls per week.

Girlstown is dependent solely on contributions. They receive no federal, state, or local tax support.

Heretofore, Norris' endeavor for Girlstown has been in connection with the Borger Extension, and with Blackie Spence of Borger, has headed up the efforts in promoting new facilities for the campus. In addition to the personal and administrative support given the Borger Extension, Norris maintains an administrative office for Pampa volunteer workers in his office building.

Contributions have been coming in real good on the Nance Ranch Project for West Texas State University. Several hundred dollars have been contributed. Dr. Charles Smallwood is to be here to help select them and receive them Monday.

THIS AND THAT

Our Beef Cattle and Field Crops Program Building

Committees met last Monday evening to have a look at the new Farm Program. Ed Garrett, farm management specialist; Frank Petri, agronomist, Extension Service; and Dr. Cal Parrott, beef cattle specialist, met with our committees to help plan activities for these committees for the coming year. Some very fine programs are in the making.

The Soil Conservation District meets in regular session next Wednesday, December 16 at 2:00 p.m. All visitors welcome. They meet in the office of the Soil Conservation Service located on Alcock Street. The new Agricultural Building now has outside walls complete as well as the roof beams set. Much interior work has been done. This building serves many purposes. The 4-H Club members from Pampa and over the county use the building a great deal. It is also used for area-wide meetings. The building will be much better constructed and will be a great deal nicer than the old building. Work on Highway 60 is progressing nicely also. These are two very nice improvements being made in Pampa.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

In an effort to conserve water through re-capturing "used" irrigation water many irrigation farmers have constructed "tail-water" recovery pits. Many of these farmers have discovered that it is reasonably easy to stock the recovery ponds or pits with fingerling fish. Those who have done this have discovered that the fingerling fish grow rapidly into table size fish in a matter of months. They have also discovered that the tail-water fish ponds provide some wholesome recreation fishing for the family.

Poster Whaley and John Field, the Gray and Carson County agents, carry some very good instruction booklets, on stocking farm family fish ponds. In their offices at Pampa and Panhandle.

In our column this week we are carrying a portion of an article from an Extension Booklet, in response to a number of requests.

Desirable Kinds of Fish

The fish used most commonly for farm pond production are sunfish, largemouth bass and channel catfish. The channel catfish rapidly is becoming the number one warm-water pond fish in Texas. It does well if stocked alone or in combination with bass and/or sunfish. The redear is the most adaptable sunfish for Texas waters. Unlike bluegills, redears usually do not overpopulate a pond in one or two years. Sunfish often are stocked as forage fish, but this practice is not essential. Largemouth bass and channel catfish grow well in properly managed ponds, without the aid of other forage species.

Stocking Farm Ponds

Stock ponds with the kinds, numbers and combinations of fish suited to the particular body of water. The kind of fish you prefer is an important consideration. The proper combination of fish will assist in maintaining the proper balance in the fish population. Overpopulated fish ponds result in a food shortage and too many small fish. When the pond is badly out of balance, drain it or remove all fish and start over with the right kinds in balanced proportions. If a pond is stocked properly when new and then managed properly, restocking should not be necessary.

Fish suitable for stocking ponds may be secured through state and federal fish hatcheries without charge. Stock fish may be applied for at any time, but preferably before April of the year in which you want to stock the pond.

Direct requests for fish through the state hatcheries to the Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas. Requests for fish through the federal hatcheries should be directed to the Regional Office, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Box 1306, Albuquerque, New Mexico. These agencies provide application cards. Do not apply for fish for the same waters through both hatchery systems, since a cross check is made and this only causes delay.

When filling out a fish application card, always indicate the exact number of surface acres of water in the pond. Fish hatchery personnel use the surface acreage of water as a basis for determining the correct number of fish. The pond owner indicates the type of fish he desires and the amount of water resented.

Dumping quantities of fish which have been seized from local waters or releasing bait fish from minnow cans into the pond upsets the desired balance. Stocking ponds with adult fish rather than with fry or fingerlings has proved unsuccessful.

It is wise to stock unfertilized ponds with fewer fish in the beginning. Since fertilized ponds produce more food, more fish may be included in the initial stocking.

What to Stock

The following combinations and number are suggested for fertilized ponds:

Ponds less than one-half acre in surface area - 50 channel catfish and 50 redear sunfish or 75 channel catfish.

Ponds one-half to 10 acres in surface area - 100 largemouth bass and 75 channel catfish per surface acre or 150 channel catfish per surface acre.

Ponds over 10 acres in surface area - 100 black bass, 100 redear sunfish and 50 crappie per surface acre or 50 channel catfish, 100 crappie and 100 redear sunfish per surface acre. Visit your county agricultural agent on this - he can render you valuable assistance.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary ARC
The Red Cross Board met Tuesday morning at the Coronado Inn. Reports by the standing committee were read. The smallest group this year attended. The next meeting will be the second Tuesday at 7 a.m. Phase circle date and start the new year right.

Ray Fisher, the new First Aid Instructor Trainer for Pampa told of the organizational meeting in Amarillo.

He stated that the Panhandle of Texas was well represented with delegates from Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview, Dalhart, Dumas, Pampa, Childress, Shamrock, Hereford, Perryton, Daroulette, Littlefield and Canyon attending.

Bill Schweitzer, Manager, Ft. Worth, told the group what it could expect from the division. That there would be 99 chapters to cover from Ft. Worth and this would be West from Ft. Worth, south to El Paso, north to the Panhandle line. Ralph Carpenter will be the new Field Representative working out of Ft. Worth. All correspondence would come to Ft. Worth and not St. Louis and all of the personnel of Fort Worth would be helpers for our chapters. All supplies will be bought from Washington, D.C. Storeroom.

There will be a going away party, dutch lunch, for Bill Jean, Field Representative Sunday Dec. 20 (place to be announced next week) and anyone who wishes to go should call the Red Cross office 669-7121 and make reservations. Bill will be transferred to Okla. City the first of the year.

You are all invited to the open house of the Highland General Hospital Sunday afternoon Dec. 13. Cookies and punch will be served by the Hospital Volunteers the Auxiliary.

Word has been received that a National Flood Insurance Policy may now be purchased. This will curtail huge expenses by the Red Cross in time of Hurricanes. If you have a relative who lives on the coast, have him contact the Red Cross for information regarding this policy. Persons who rent may insure their household effects, and persons who own their homes or property may insure against loss by water. This is from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Division program sponsored by the US Government.

The art students of Robert E. Lee have made 50 table decorations for the Veterans at the VA Hospital in Amarillo for Christmas. Mrs. Phil/Cates is teacher sponsor for the school.

Thanks boys and girls for your continued work with Red Cross.

If you plan to give a Christmas basket to someone in our community, won't you contact the Red Cross office, as Libby Shotwell is acting as co-ordinator for the Welfare Index. 42 baskets were given through the Index for Thanksgiving and more clubs and individuals are needed to help those who have a need this year.

The following persons have completed the course for Hospital Volunteers for Gray County. They are: Mrs. W.R. Dunn, Mrs. Ruth Moseley, and Mrs. James Trusty. Miss Debbie Beistle will join the group of Volunteers who work at Highland General on Saturday afternoon.

New King-Sized Waterbed Built

COLLEGE STATION—Do you spend nights tossing about on a mattress too firm or soft for your comfort? A new king-size "waterbed," invented and designed by Charles Hall, has been built for comfort as well as an aid to insomnia, advises Jan Slabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

The mattress is composed of an inner liner of durable plastic, filled with 150 to 200 gallons of water to make the sleeping surface. A radiant heating system with thermostat control maintains the desired temperature. Firmness is determined by the amount of water in the plastic liner. A garden hose and adapter supplied by the manufacturer are used for inflation. An emergency repair kit is included should the inner liner be damaged.

Harvester Losing Streak Ends

MARSH GAMBLIN (24) putting the ball in the air for two more in Friday night action in Harvester Fieldhouse. Gamblin hit for 17 of the Harvester's 88 points.

Lamar Savages Is Pampa Prey

Jumping out of the fire of two defeats the hustling Pampa Harvesters snowed the Lamar Colorado Savages in a fast action 88 to 61 victory Friday night in Harvester Fieldhouse.

The Harvesters using new plays and the same outstanding players pressed the Colorado team into the high scoring defeat. Pampa was helped by Marsh Gamblin, a 6' junior with 17 points. Gamblin played as if the net had threads reaching out pulling the ball through. Most of his shots came from the outside on a short set jump.

Gamblin by far the outstanding player in the game plays with a cool outlook, never being shaken by a pressured defense.

The Harvesters as a whole looked better Friday than they have all season. Five of the Pampa cagers hit the double figure bracket. Mike Jordan with slow nights behind him came forth with a total of twelve points. Five of the magical two pointers and 2 free throws.

Donnie Cain the high point man for the Harvesters with 18 could do no wrong unless you call fouling out a wrong. Only two points away from twenty the 6'4" Junior hit eight field goals and two foul shots.

Cain is headed for honors in the annuals of Harvester memories if his playing keeps going at Friday night's rate.

Richard Buntun, 6'3" junior, kept the backboards busy with his rebounding and eleven points tally for the Savage game. Buntun was hampered with fouls and left the game in the fourth quarter after pulling his fifth.

Gary Haynes the fifth Harvester in the double figures with 14 kept both the offense and defense of Colorado stymied with his ball handling. Haynes is a 6'1" junior and will be a great help to the Harvesters' bid for glory.

Mike Edgar kept the fans on the edge of their seats with his defensive play. The 6'5" Junior with spring-loaded feet kept the rebounds and jump balls Harvester property all through the bout.

Colorado's top man was Mike Straily with 16 points and in comparison with scoring was third in the game. Pampa's Cain and Gamblin led with 18 and 17 respectively.

The inch and a half height advantage didn't seem to bother the Colorado team until it came to the jumps and rebounding. There the Harvesters couldn't be beat.

The Harvesters will be playing in Tulia this coming Tuesday and could use more support from area fans. Friday night the stands could have held several hundred more people and the road games are fast and furious as well as the home games.

The Shockers, with their fine team will be playing at 6:00 p.m. Tuesday at Tulia.

Pampa's Junior Varsity set the stage for the Harvester win with a 56 to 36 win over the Lamar Jr. Varsity, Friday night. Game time for the Shockers in a home bout is 6:00 p.m. and again the stands are there for interested parents and fans.

Clark Kicks Two For Cowboys In 6-2 Victory Over Browns

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Mike Clark kicked two second-half field goals and Chuck Howley recovered a Cleveland fumble in the Dallas end zone to stop a late Browns' drive Saturday as the Cowboys beat the Browns, 6-2, on a muddy field.

Dave Edwards then preserved the crucial triumph for Dallas by intercepting a pass with 2:35 left in the game.

By winning, the Cowboys moved into a virtual tie with St. Louis for first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football Conference while Cleveland fell a half-game behind Cincinnati in the American Football Conference's Central Division.

Both teams failed to move the ball in the first half and the Browns took a 2-0 lead when Cowboy Bob Hayes was tackled in the end zone for a safety. Hayes fumbled a Cleveland punt on his three-yard line, attempted to swing wide but was tackled in his own end zone by Chuck Reynolds with 4:15 left in the first quarter.

Richard Flowers blocked a Browns' punt at the start of the third quarter and Steve Kiner returned to the Cleveland three-yard line. Two penalties pushed the Cowboys back to the 32 and Clark put Dallas ahead, 3-2, with a field goal from the 39-yard line.

After Dan Reeves fumbled a snap from center on another field goal attempt by Clark with 6:02 left in the third quarter, the Cowboys held the Browns and then marched 54 yards to the Cleveland 24-yard line. Clark, kicking into a strong wind, sent one through the uprights from 31 yards out with 12:22 left in the game.

The Browns, with Bill Nelsen hitting on three passes good for 37 yards, took the kickoff and moved 52 yards to the Dallas 19. An offensive pass interference call put the ball back on

Tulane Upsets Colorado In Liberty Bowl Classic

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Tailback David Abercrombie, in his final college game, scored two touchdowns Saturday to lead underdog Tulane to a 17-3 win over Colorado in the 12th annual Liberty Bowl.

It marked the first postseason appearance for Tulane in 30 years.

The teams settled for a field goal apiece in the first half. The Tulane three-pointer was a 19-yard effort by Lee Gibson late in the first period. Colorado retaliated in the second period with a 32-yarder by David Haney.

Abercrombie took the opening kickoff of the second half and romped 66 yards to the Colorado 30. Five plays later, he ran in for the tally from the two.

Abercrombie capped a drive that covered 49 yards in 11 plays midway in the fourth period and ran in from four yards out for the second Green Wave touchdown.

Abercrombie, of Seminary, Miss., named by sportswriters as the game's outstanding player, was a sometime starter at quarterback for the Green Wave in 1969. He was switched to tailback in the spring and racked up 997 yards rushing during the season. He was credited with 124 more yards in the Liberty Bowl.

Tulane missed another scoring opportunity late in the second period when David Hebert fell on a loose ball at the Colorado 27. A personal foul penalty against the Buffaloes gave Tulane the ball at the 12.

The Greenies were shoved back to the 17 in three plays and lined up as if to try for another field goal. But Rusty Lachaussee tried a pass in the flat to Abercrombie. The ball was overthrown.

Both teams stuck primarily to the ground as 37-degree temperatures were whipped by north winds of 10 to 15 miles an hour.

It was the fourth bowl game in Tulane's history and the first since it played Texas A&M in the 1940 Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

It was the sixth trip for Colorado, which won the 1969 liberty Bowl, 47-33, over Alabama.

NBAS SELECTIONS MADE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Pettit, Dolph Schayes, Paul Airdin and Joe Fulks were selected Friday as the forwards on the silver anniversary team of the National Basketball Association.

NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy announced that the six other members of the 10-man squad will be named next week. The 10-man team is being selected by balloting among players who achieved NBA all-star recognition since the league was founded in 1946 and who are now retired.

JUMPING FOR THE BALL are Mike Stralley 35 and Mike Edgar 34 for the hustling Harvesters. The Harvesters received the tip-off and went on to win 88 to 61 in Friday's game against the Lamar Savages.

After Waiting Seven Years The Giants Will Play Cards

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The New York Giants have been waiting for seven years for today's game with the Cardinals but the St. Louis fans have been waiting forever.

The Giants, trailing the Cards by one-half game in the NFC's Eastern Division race, will attempt to overhaul St. Louis Sunday when the two teams meet in the Giants' biggest game since they lost the NFL title game to the Chicago Bears in 1963. The Giants haven't had a season above .500 since.

But to the St. Louis Rooters, there has never been a title game in the past and this may be the team's best shot at a division crown since the club moved to St. Louis in 1960.

The Cards' only two title games in modern times came when the team was playing in Chicago in 1947 and 1948 under Jimmy Cozelman. The Cards lost to Philadelphia in 1948 after beating the Eagles in 1947.

If the Cards lose this game, they'll still have a slim chance in the NFC East since they'll be a half-game back with a game left. New York must win or it'll be blown out of contention for the division crown.

The Giants, who've traditionally played well against the Cards beat them 35-17 in the first meeting in New York when Fran Tarkenton threw five touchdown passes.

This game will be played in St. Louis, where the Cards have yet to lose on the artificial turf.

The Giants have yet to win on artificial turf this season in three attempts although one of those games was played during the exhibition season.

The Giant-Card game is one of the highlights of this weekend of action that started on Saturday with the Kansas City-Oakland and Cleveland-Dallas games.

In the other nine Sunday games, San Francisco is at New Orleans, the New York Jets are at Miami, Minnesota is at Boston, Pittsburgh is at Atlanta, Cincinnati is at Houston, Baltimore is at Buffalo, San Diego is at Denver, Green Bay is at Chicago and Philadelphia is at Washington.

In the final Monday night TV game of the season, Detroit is at Los Angeles.

Only four of these games—Philadelphia-Washington, Green Bay-Chicago, San Diego-Denver and Minnesota-Boston—will not involve teams still with a shot to make the playoffs under the complicated new system this season that includes second place clubs.

But one of those contests—

Minnesota-Boston—has an interesting sidelight since Joe Kapp will be playing against his old Viking teammates. Minnesota was the first team last week to clinch one of the eight playoff berths and the Vikings will be at home on either Dec. 26 or Dec. 27 in one of the openers.

Baltimore can clinch a division crown—the AFC East—and another home berth in the first weekend of playoff action with a triumph over Buffalo. The Colts are 9-2-1 this season and their record is the second best in pro football to Minnesota's 10-2 mark but the Colts fans haven't been too enthused about the erratic play of their favorites this season.

San Francisco, tied with Los Angeles for first place in the NFC West, can move one-half game ahead of the Rams with a triumph over New Orleans. But the Saints are more dangerous than their 2-9-1 record looks since they tied the Forty Niners in the first meeting. And their two victories this year, over Detroit and the Giants, could ultimately prove to be key factors in the eventual lineup in the playoffs.

Rentzel Case: Why? Asked By Physicians

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor
(First of two articles)
NEW YORK (NEA)—The tragedy of Lance Rentzel goes beyond football and beyond the charge of felony. The problem enters the dark recesses of the human brain, and the tentacles reach into the collective mind of the country, as well.

One pro football player, who has a not uncommon feeling of being a "harmless flake," said, "This is bad for the game."

Abnormalities, except for those "harmless flakes," have been additionally swept under the rug as taboo in newspapers and society in general. Yet the problems persist. Problems such as Rentzel's should be treated responsibly. One way to do this is to get the views of experts in the field.

"From what I read, Rentzel's problem is a general disturbance with sexual disturbance being just a sort of side-effect," said Dr. Maxie Maultsby, a physician at the University of Wisconsin who has done psychological testing of football players. "It seems his problem should be handled as a sickness, and not as a crime."

Rentzel, the 27-year-old star center for the Dallas Cowboys, was arrested for "indecent exposure involving a 10-year-old girl" in Dallas. He was arrested for the same thing four years ago in St. Paul, Minn., when he was with the Minnesota Vikings. Rentzel was not sentenced, but Municipal Judge James Lynch ordered him to seek psychiatric care.

What shocks many is that a football player—the symbol of the idealized supermasculine American man of our times—can suffer a twist of the mind.

manager and vice-president. "Seems like a Sir Galahad type of guy." Blond, bright, handsome, outstanding athletic ability, from well-to-do parents in Okla., married to show business star Joey Heatherton. "Lance in particular," said Jim Finks, Vikings' general

Lance Rentzel

Rentzel indeed fits this description.

"Just because someone is in a so-called 'manly' activity does not mean he is not capable of deviating from the sexual norm," said Dr. Bruce Ogilvie of San Jose State, and consulting psychologist for the New Orleans Saints. "I have known several athletes to be that way, and some of the highest judges of the land were exhibitionists."

"So is one of the great, knighted actors of England," added Dr. Arthur Janov, author of the controversial book, "The Primal Scream." Janov added wryly that in one way or other most of us are exhibitionists, especially football players who, he said symbolically show off their muscles on the field.

In a case history in his book, an exhibitionist named Lenny ever knew was that when I was alone, I began to feel mad and I wanted to feel good. I was always body-oriented. I seemed to have to do something physical... What happened was that my mind just took off from my body. During my exhibitionists' rituals I was in some kind of haze. My impulses seemed to come from something besides my conscious mind.

"I tried to fight it; my profession and my job were at stake. When the impulse hit me, I would try to deny it, but it was impossible."

Rentzel, according to Finks, had "some" psychiatric treatment at the University of Minnesota medical center. Tex Schramm, Cowboys' general manager, said he did not know whether Rentzel had continued his sessions for the past four years.

Several psychologists agree that problems of Rentzel's nature begin in childhood and can be a seeking for love from parents that was denied them as youngsters, to an effort to prove their masculinity.

"Sometimes," said Maultsby, "a football player might enter a contact sport as a defense for his fears of himself."

Dr. James Nicholas, physician for the New York Jets, disagreed. "You can make a case for anything after the fact. You can say that anything we do is defensive." He believes that football is in fact a "manly endeavor."

Finks said that perhaps the pressures of the game, weighed too heavily upon Rentzel. Dr. Albert Ellis in New York said that that could be "one of the factors but probably a very minor one."

Who Are These Men?

NFL Centers Rarely Viewed by Cameras

NEW YORK (NEA)—Being a center for a professional football team isn't exactly the most glamorous job in the world. In fact, as sports go, it is probably the most anonymous.

Consider what some National Football League centers—some of whom have been around for awhile—said about their own obscurity:

"There are 60,000 people sitting in the stands and only three of them are watching me—my wife, my father, and my mother."—Mike Evans, center Philadelphia Eagles.

"I was leaving the practice field at camp one day and a fan approached me and said: 'Hey, Sam Huff, would you sign my book.'—Len Hauss, center, Washington Redskins.

"We have this helmet on and our heads are always stuck between our legs; then, the play begins and we end up buried under a pile of bodies."—Mick Tingelhoff, center, Minnesota Vikings.

Evans, Hauss, Tingelhoff. They are three of the 13 regular centers in the National Football Conference. Who are the other 10?

"What can you judge a center on? Hauss asked. "Who really knows? How often do you look at the center? If you asked 100 people on the street about Cincinnati's Bob Johnson, 99 would never ever have heard of him. But I can tell you he is a good center."

"It doesn't take anybody to know if Sonny Jurgensen makes a mistake, but in my position, all covered up, it takes a pretty good eye, a trained eye, to find out. For a layman to do it is possible, but unlikely."

Capulsing his duties, Minnesota's Tingelhoff said: "Get the snap off on the proper count, and put the laces on the quarterback's right fingers. You have to be fast enough to get out, on the middle linebacker, strong enough to handle the tackles, and be able to recognize different defensive formations, read the blitz, and call offensive line signals. It's a job."

GEORGE IS ANYTHING BUT: Bland...As In Blanda? Or So Say The Oakland Raiders

By MARY RALBOVSKY
NEW YORK (NEA)—In the third quarter of a game against the New York Jets, quarterback Daryle Lamonica was knocked out of bounds by the Jets' Ralph Baker. Lamonica got up slowly. Before anyone knew whether he was injured, George Blanda had tossed off his parka and was rushing through a horde of bodies to reach Coach John Madden.

Madden put Blanda into the game and, 28 seconds later, Blanda passed for Oakland's first touchdown. Then Lamonica returned and played the rest of the game, except for the next-to-last down. Again, Madden thought Lamonica was hurt and sent Blanda in. But Lamonica returned on the next play and threw the tying touchdown pass with one second remaining. Then, with Lamonica holding, Blanda kicked the extra point that won a 14-13 game.

Later, Madden was asked if he shuttled his quarterbacks by plan.

"No," he said. "Both times I thought Lamonica was hurt. I wouldn't have used George otherwise."

Squeezing a can of Gatorade in his left hand, Madden then searched the faces around him for another question—hopefully on another topic. For Madden, the Lamonica-Blanda situation is a touchy one. Didn't Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton put Thomas Jefferson on the same spot? But even more surprising is the miscasting of Blanda himself. Many think of Blanda as a 43-year-old phenomenon, a kindly gent who is delighted with the opportunity to hang on while providing inspiration for the Geritol set. That is hardly the case.

"This inspiration-to-the-ol-folks business is a lot baloney," said Blanda. "I'm here to do a job, play quarterback for the Oakland Raiders, put points on the board. How they use me is their business. I'm not after Lamonica's job, but I'm not happy just standing around either. If I was, I shouldn't even be here."

The Raiders have been using Blanda late in games because, whether they admit it or not, the durability of Lamonica's arm is suspect.

Cowboys Deep Into The Pot Scene?

By IRA BERKOW
NEW YORK (NEA)—The next big story out of Dallas may be that the Cowboys have more players into the drug scene than any other National Football Conference team.

One of the top names in the NFL hierarchy said he couldn't understand this because the Cowboys as an organization "are the most progressive team in the league."

But a top NFL player commented: "Progressive! Progressive from the standpoint of computers. Every player on the team has an efficiency chart down to the last decimal of how he can run a fly pattern. But from the human element they may be the least progressive team. They treat their players as robots."

Whether this has any correlation to drugs, well, only their pusher knows for sure...

With the growth of health foods stores across the country comes a contrary view of what's best for an athlete. For example, Tom Seaver eats ice cream bars before a game—and not wheat germ. Henry Aaron will have a small glass of sherry before going to the ball park—and not distilled water. Fran Tarkenton eats his wife's grits and ham instead of the traditional rare steak.

Steve Worster Top In The SWC

By MIKE RABUN, UPI Sports Writer

When the Darrell Royal Anthonery Shop brewed up the Wishbone-T offense in 1968, the chief ingredient for a successful dish was a big, strong fullback who did not go down just because one player on the other team hit him.

Steve Worster was the man for the job.

"And, after the Wishbone-T became the rage, one member of the Texas athletic department was forced to comment: "Without Worster the Wishbone would be just another old bone."

He's the Key

In the years at the University of Texas, Worster carried the ball 383 yards in regular season games for 2,013 yards. He was a key factor in establishing what is now the third longest winning streak in college football and he led the Longhorns to two national championships.

And when the scouts who vote for United Press International's all-Southwest Conference team were asked to select a "player of the year," the choice was overwhelming.

It was Steve Worster.

"Woo, Woo, Woo"

Worster, a quiet, shy person, endeared himself to Texas Longhorn fans so much they invented a special chant to accompany his every game. It went "woo, woo, woo," and even Worster had to admit that "those people just don't know how good that makes me feel."

In the year of the quarterback Worster finished fourth in the Heisman Trophy balloting, receiving more votes than any other running back in the country.

And it was his own coach who touted Worster to the national press.

Following Worster's final game before the home folks at Memorial Stadium Dec. 5, Royal once again expressed his fondness for the man who made the Wishbone go.

Was Team Leader

"You know you fuss with these guys, and you coax them and you yell at them a little and you finally get them to doing what you want. And they have to go. But we are sure glad to have had them."

"People asked me why I was so high on Worster for the Heisman Trophy. I'll tell you why. He played his position for us for three years."

"Not only did he carry the ball, but he carried out his assignment when he did not have the ball. He blocked on the option play. He was a team leader."

"He did everything we asked him to do. He didn't build up the statistics, but we don't play for statistics. We play for the scoreboard."

Royal had to back up a little, though, because there was one thing he remembered Worster did not do.

Leaves Steve Alone

And it came up when the discussion got around to "running to daylight."

"Worster runs to daylight so well," Royal said. "I remember we once tried to tell Steve specific holes to run to. We drew circles on the blackboard and told him to run to one place under one condition and to another place under another condition."

"But he said he just couldn't understand all of that, and finally we said 'OK, Steve, we'll forget that. Just do what you've been doing.'"

Darrell Royal knows when to leave well enough alone.

THE "FIGHTING HEART" award was presented to Dewayne Glover, left, by head coach, 'Swede' Lee at the Pampa Booster Club's Football Banquet Saturday night. Glover was cited as being the player who had shown the greatest contribution to the school, the city and the 1970 Harvesters.

Dewayne Glover Wins Fighting Heart Award

Dewayne Glover, a Senior at Pampa High School proudly received the Fighting Heart award from Coach 'Swede' Lee, at the annual Football Banquet, Saturday night.

Glover's comments upon receiving the award were given from tear-filled eyes and to the effect: "I really don't have the words to say how much this means to me, there are 40 other guys on the Harvesters team that deserve this award."

It was brought out in the presentation that Glover hadn't missed but two practice sessions in the past two years and had started in 17 games.

Miss Mary Price was crowned the 1970 Harvesters Football Queen before the audience of over 300 people.

Dr. Joe Donaldson, the master of ceremonies, kept the attention of the audience with his pick-pocket routine and added bright outlooks for the future Harvesters teams.

The guest speaker for the occasion, Coach Jim Carlen of Texas Tech and winner of the Coach of the Year Award brought forth the idea that "Winning is important."

Carlen quoted his past records in high school and college and said, "There is no reason for happiness when you lose. Don't evaluate others, evaluate yourself.

"You cannot control the other person, but you can control yourself and correct your own mistakes," he added.

Carlen emphasized the need for rules in a college, high school and life situation. "You have to work as a team or else your work is going to do nothing."

"We ask our players at Tech a few basic things, one of these is that we request our young people to be in the church of their choice on the Sabbath."

He went on to say, "Another one of our rules is that a player not drink, smoke or take drugs."

Carlen laid the mistakes of today's youth at his generation's feet when he stated, "When we were the age of our children now, we made the mistake of trying to be popular instead of being respected."

Hubbard Gets First Touchdown And Raiders AFC West Division

Oakland (UPI)—Mary Hubbard, a reserve running back, ran six yards for his first touchdown of the year and Daryle Lamonica threw 36 yards to Fred Biletnikoff in the second half Saturday to lead the Oakland Raiders to a 20-6 Jani Stenerud midway through the opening quarter.

The Raiders, one point underdogs, controlled the tempo of the game after a Jim Lynch interception of a Lamonica pass set up a 20-yard field goal by Jani Stenerud midway through the opening quarter.

The victory sends Permian against Austin Reagan in the state Class AAAA final playoff next weekend.

All-American Football Squad Includes WD's Ricky Thurman

White Deer produced a winning team in the 1970 season and on this team was defensive lineman, Ricky Thurman. Skill, ability and teamwork play an important part in the selection of the All-American High School football squad by Parade Magazine.

Ricky Thurman has answered each and every one of the categories involved and was picked as one of the twelve-man All-American defensive team members of the poll.

Thurman, regarded as one of the Panhandle's and Texas' top blue chip college prospects, was the only representative from Texas on the Defensive Unit.

Joe Aboussie, Wichita Falls tailback, and Mr. Disaster tight end, John Boecker, of Seguin, marked the offensive choices.

RICKY THURMAN

As an all-district selection both years in Class 1-A, Thurman averaged better than 14 tackles a game and had a season high of 27 stops against Canadian when he threw Wildcat quarterback, Bill Lynch, for losses four times.

Thurman is considered the best lineman to come out of White Deer in recent times and according to coach J.T. Hill is the best lineman he's had in his longtime coaching career.

"If Ricky can't make it in college, then nobody can. He's a good one," said Hill.

Thurman has created interest in various college coaching staffs including Texas, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Baylor, Colorado, Notre Dame, TCU Oklahoma and OSU.

Southwestern Conference Postpones Action On University Of Houston

By ED FITE, UPI Sports Writer

DALLAS (UPI)—The Southwest Conference Saturday postponed action for at least five months on a bid by the University of Houston to gain conference membership.

The conference appointed an eight-man committee to study the "feasibility and mutual benefits to be derived from inviting the University of Houston into the conference."

Conference officials stressed a round-robin schedule in athletic events would be mandatory before Houston could be admitted.

One member from each school—either an athletic director or a faculty representative—will be on the committee.

The committee was instructed by SWC president Dr. William Davis to report at least 30 days before the conference's spring meeting—set for the first week in May in College Station.

Davis said, he had not yet appointed the committee members, but that he planned to do so as soon as he returned home to Lubbock.

The University of Texas and Rice University are known to actively support Houston's admission into the conference. Six of the eight member schools must vote in favor of Houston's admission before the motion can carry.

"We want to give the University of Houston and the conference ample time to take a look at all the angles," Davis said.

He said the admission standards of Houston, along with the difficulties in creating a round-robin schedule, would be key topics discussed by the committee.

I shall expect the committee to work actively on the project and we will appoint people who will do that," said Davis.

"I probably will work with the committee, as will Howard Grubbs (the conference's commissioner) from time to time."

UT And Rice Insist No Pressure Decisions Made

DALLAS (UPI)—Officials of both the University of Texas and Rice University insisted Saturday that their decisions to back the University of Houston for Southwest Conference membership were not prompted by political or any other pressures.

Much public speculation has been voiced that the unexpected move by Texas and the subsequent endorsement by Rice were motivated by "pressures from above."

The conference Saturday voted to set up a joint committee with the Houston school to "investigate the feasibility and mutual benefits to be derived from inviting the University of Houston to join the Southwest Athletic Conference." The committee is to report next spring.

"There was no pressure whatsoever," said Darrell Royal, athletic director and head football coach at Texas. And, his faculty athletic chairman, Dr. J. Neils Thompson, agreed.

The move on Rice's part, said Dr. Alan J. Chapman, Thompson's counterpart at Rice, "did not come down from the top... the Texas action (of announcing it would support the move just brought it out in the open."

Royal first denied there was any pressure in Texas scheduling the Houston Cougars for an opening game in 1968 (a 20-20 tie), although he admitted he had turned down several overtures from Houston Athletic Director Harry Fouke for earlier games.

"It came up at a summer coaches' meeting when I decided we needed a game," Royal said. "I took it up with our president, Dr. Norman Hackerman, and asked him if he would call the president at Houston and see if they were interested."

"I took that route instead of contacting Fouke because I felt it might serve some useful purpose at the administrative level."

Highland General Hospital Opens Doors For Visitors To New Wing

NEW GIFT SHOP — Mrs. Dean Copeland, member of Highland General Hospital Auxiliary, arranges items in the hospital auxiliary's new gift shop, located on the first floor of the new west wing, which will be dedicated in an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. today.

OPERATING ROOM IMPROVEMENTS — Highland General Hospital doctors and nurses will use one of three operating rooms equipped with conductive flooring to permit use of any type anesthetic. Three hospital staff nurses, Mrs. Tommy Bates, nurse anesthetist, Mrs. Marcella Hudson, R.N., operating room head nurse, and Mrs. Elsie Howard, LVN, scrub technician, check instruments and equipment before surgery. New ceiling lights and new surgery spotlights were added during the hospital's remodeling.

RELOCATED IN WEST WING — Mrs. Katherine Miller, central supply technician, adjusts dials to open the hospital's new autoclave for sterilizing instruments and supplies. Central Supply was re-located in the basement near the pharmacy when the new west wing was built.

Fawn-gray paint, bordered with charcoal gray covers the 20-year-old pale green color of Highland General Hospital, but the Gray County hospital has more than a new coat of paint as visitors touring today during open house will see.

The tour will start at 2 p.m. in the new, $1,442,119 west wing, which was completed Nov. 25, five years after the hospital's board of directors and administrative officials started planning for Pampa's newest medical improvements.

The west wing includes a new gift shop, operated by the Hospital's Women's Auxiliary, a new laboratory, X-ray suite, physical therapy facilities, pharmacy, central supply, recovery room, emergency room, coronary care and intensive care suite, and business offices.

(See Related Pictures And Stories, Pages 16-18)

NEW STAFF MEMBER — John W. Carson Jr., the hospital's new pharmacist, fills all prescriptions required by hospital physicians for the county hospital's patients. Carson received his B.S. Degree in biology and B.S. Degree in Pharmacy from Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla., and was employed as pharmacist here July 1. The pharmacy was moved from first floor to the basement of the new west wing.

TELEVISION MONITORS X-RAYS — In a new x-ray diagnostic room, Dick Kastein, right, and Bob Steger, hospital technologist, prepare a patient, Mrs. Douglas Greer, for an x-ray treatment. Kastein is chief X-Ray technologist, and has been employed at the Pampa hospital 15 years. He received his training at Mercy Hospital's X-Ray School, Oklahoma City.

ONE OF MANY TIME-SAVERS — Eugene Reed, chief technologist for the hospital's laboratory, operates the lab's SMA-12 Jr., a $60,000 machine which can do a series of 12 most common chemistry checks in eight minutes, two hours faster than the previous method. Reed was employed as chief technologist in 1957. He is a graduate of Gradwohl School of Laboratory Technique and received X-ray training from Fresno, Calif., Community Hospital. Highland General Hospital's West Wing Provides Several New Medical Services

Adding the new west wing to Highland General Hospital provided space to relocate related services, remodel the older hospital wings and add all books which the hospital buys for doctors' use. Shortly after the hospital was first built in 1950, it was discovered the office space was in freezing weather and keep the drive accessible at all times. The old wing of the hospital, including Medical and Surgical hospital's women's auxiliary staffs the snack bar which is equipped with 10 different dispensing machines for hot and cold foods and drinks," Langham said.

Nurses' stations on Medical A, Surgery A, and obstetrics were remodeled, with a new built-in medicine room, which can be locked when not in use. A private reporting area for doctors was built at each station with patients' medical charts for doctors to dictate discharge orders or add instructions to patients' charts.

Everything that is done to a patient is recorded on a patient chart. Much of this is dictated on the nine dictating phones in each recording station. Three medical record technicians and a librarian transcribe the dictation to proper forms, and after doctors sign them, the chart is placed in a record jacket and filed. These records are kept for three years in the jackets, and then are microfilmed. Microfilms will be retained probably for the life of the hospital.

"We've also remodeled the office of Vermell Meador, R.N., director of nurses, to make her more accessible to Medical A and the emergency room suite. On the third floor, we've added an obstetrics physicians' lounge with bed, and dressing area for the doctor to rest if he is called on an O.B. case and the patient is not yet ready. This way he can get some sleep, and be instantly available if necessary," Langham said.

Remodeling plans included changing patient rooms on third floor to licensed vocational nurse classrooms. Usually about 18 students are enrolled in the LVN course. Most are employed at Highland General Hospital after graduation. During the five years the LVN school has been operated at the hospital, 52 students have been graduated.

NEW OFFICES FOR ADMINISTRATOR - Wes Langham, Highland General Hospital Administrator, checks on plans for the open house planned from 2 to 5 p.m. today to commemorate completion of the hospital's new west wing. Langham was personnel director and assistant administrator from July, 1965, to January, 1968, when he was named as hospital administrator. (Staff-Photo) new parking spaces. Beginning with the basement, we provided a new staff entrance area with locker rooms for employees to change, remodeled the kitchen with some new equipment moved central supply from the second floor to the basement, moved the pharmacy from the first floor to the basement, and provided a large storage area to combine all storage in one area. Wes Langham, hospital administrator, said.

"Previously, central supply was not really centralized because we had supplies located in four different areas of the hospital. We also wanted to use one supply area for the new recovery room. Because central supply and pharmacy are closely related, we were able to put them together in the new building."

Moving up to the first floor, a new doctors' lounge and library has been added, which met a requirement for hospital accreditation.

Two rooms were used for the lounge, a carpeted area. Drapes were hung and shelves built for too small, and a waiting room was used for office space. When Medicare was offered, four other patient rooms were used for offices but with the new facilities, all administrative offices are now combined.

The administrative office complex includes separate areas for the administrator, his secretary, assistant administrator, operator, switchboard, and admissions clerk and a large room with glass curbsicles for the business manager, payroll clerk, two insurance clerks, one credit clerk, an emergency room clerk, and posting machine operator.

The bond and grant money provided funds for 18 new parking spaces at the hospital's northwest corner parking lot, and 80 parking spaces for doctors and employees at the southeast corner of the hospital.

Also at the southeast entrance is located the new unloading dock which was located with the ambulance drive at the front or west entrance of the hospital.

The ambulance drive has copper tubing under the cement so hot water can be circulated

Addition Provides New Services

Highland General Hospital's new wing is especially equipped to care for critically ill patients in the intensive care and coronary care suite. The addition is connected to the original building, which was built in 1950, but was remodeled when the new wing was added.

In the South Hall of Surgery A is a two-bed coronary care unit with patient monitoring equipment. Across from coronary care unit is a four-bed intensive care unit which will be staffed around the clock with patient monitors, cardiopneumograph and oxygen and suction setups. The registered nurse can monitor all six patients through television screens.

The intensive care unit takes the place of a patient's family hiring a private duty nurse, and still provides a registered nurse around the clock and life saving equipment.

A patient is connected with the monitor through electrodes over the chest to keep a close check on any abnormal heart beats or rhythm. Before the new wing was built, there was an electrocardiogram at any time.

In obstetrics on the third floor, two labor rooms with new baths and restroom facilities have been added. The delivery room was remodeled with new delivery tables, new ceiling lights and spotlights. All floors were made conductive to allow any anesthetic to be given.

A new six-bed emergency suite was constructed to replace the old two-bed emergency room, and is equipped for surgery. Other equipment includes the latest in resuscitative, oxygen and suction equipment. There is monitoring equipment and a defibrillator which is used on cardiac arrest. In each of the six emergency rooms, suturing and all types of emergency examinations can be performed.

The recovery room on the second floor was moved next to the operating room. Under the old arrangement, after surgery, the patient was taken across the hall into the recovery room, but by moving the room, a patient's family will not see him until he is completely recovered and ready to be taken back to his room.

Three operating rooms were remodeled, new operating tables were added and the old lighting in the operating room was replaced with new ceiling lights and new spotlights. Conductive flooring was placed in all operating rooms so any kind of anesthetic can be given to patients.

BEHIND THE GLASS WIRE — Mrs. Margaret McClure, LVN, shows off a new baby, born Dec. 5 at Highland General Hospital. The baby, Patricia Rene Beaver, was just two days old when The News photographer snapped her picture in the hospital nursery. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Beaver of Lefors.

ELECTRONIC PATIENT MONITORS — Mrs. Paul Gobin, R.N., watches the electronic patient monitors in the coronary and intensive care suite which are used to register remote heart rates, run electrocardiograms, and for nurses to keep a 24-hour watch on all six beds in the intensive care unit.

LBJ Attends Dedication Of Memorial In His Name

KILLEEN, Tex. (UPI) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson attended ceremonies Thursday at Central Texas College dedicating a granite memorial to the former President and the new Lady Bird Johnson Center for the Performing Arts.

"In a day when tumult and trouble are racing through our country it is so good to see something constructive going on," Mrs. Johnson said.

"Those who have already given up on the American system, I think you ought to come down here to Killeen and see what has been done in just a few months," Johnson said.

Johnson also attended the opening of the college in 1967. Those ceremonies were marred by an antiwar demonstration which results in a fight between antiwar students and professors from Austin, Tex., and soldiers at nearby Ft. Hood. School authorities said the idea for the Johnson memorial was conceived shortly after Johnson's first visit to the campus.

The memorial is 25 feet long, four feet high, and made of red granite and white marble. Two bronze eagles sit at each end of the memorial and the Presidential seal is carved in the middle of it.

The school's president, Dr. Luis Morton Jr., told Johnson the memorial represented "the true feelings of the people of your native countryside."

"When you were the President of this nation they followed your every accomplishment," Dr. Morton said. "This is why they have chosen to honor you and to place this monument for posterity to see and to feel what they saw with their eyes and felt very deeply with their hearts."

The college was created by one of 60 education bills passed during Johnson's administration.

Hospital Has Power To Run Even During Blackout Of Entire City

Highland General Hospital's new power plant complex can provide enough electric power to operate all necessary hospital facilities for 24 hours even if every light in Pampa is blacked out for power failure.

"Our old generator was a 25 kilowatt standby one operated on a gasoline engine, and would probably run eight hours without going out. It provided exit lights, emergency room lights, operated one elevator, and serviced an electrical plug-in in the operating room and delivery room, but this plug in would provide only spot lights," George Ford, maintenance engineer for Highland General Hospital said.

The new generator, in the mechanical room of the new addition which will be dedicated today, operators on 175 kilowatts and is powered by a 290 horsepower diesel engine. It can run for 24 hours, operate lights in the operating rooms, delivery room, emergency room, exits, night lights in the hall, lights in each nurses' station, stairwell lights, one elevator, the blood bank in the laboratory.

"It comes on automatically any time there is a power failure for even a few minutes, and will stay on for at least five minutes even if the power does come back on immediately. If it doesn't, it will reactivate and remain on for at least 24 hours, until power can be restored," Ford said.

Under the old plan of heating and cooling, we had individual window air conditioners, refrigerated and evaporative, and had steam radiators in each room. With the new system, we have chilled water circulating through each room with tempered air ducted into each cooling coil for air conditioning. We also have exhausts in each bathroom to exhaust the air out of the building.

"We still have steam radiators in each area, except in the nursery, intensive care and coronary care and new emergency room, lab, x-ray and office. For cooling we have a total of 210 tons of refrigerator chiller, and can get any temperature needed in the chilled water air ducts," Ford said.

Twentieth Century Forum Studies Christmas History

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Ernest B. Wilkinson for the club's annual Christmas party as the president, Mrs. Holt Barber, conducted a short business meeting, and Christmas gifts were collected for the Carver Day Nursery.

Mrs. Robert Cotter and Mrs. Edward Dunigan presented the program on Christmas in the Panhandle. Mrs. Dunigan began the program by explaining, "Texas is a world in itself, and has enjoyed a variety of Christmases. Chronicles of the early days, always recalled what people had to eat on Christmas day because times were bleak and material goods were scarce."

"Texans ate well from the land on those by-gone Christmases. A West Texas surveying party in 1872 enjoyed a Christmas feast such as no price, potentate or magnate ever sat down to. reported Capt. Jack Elgin, recalling 14 varieties of meat," Mrs. Dunigan said.

"We would have had 15, he recalls, as one of our hunts offered us a mess of rattlesnakes, and polecats, which he assured us were a most excellent delicacy, but our cook drew the line at these. We had buffalo, antelope, deer, bear, rabbit, prairie dog, possum, and possibly other animals that I do not recall; turkey, goose, brant, ducks, prairie chicken, curlew, quail and other birds. The most expensive meat which we had upon the table was bacon, which we had to haul 500 miles," she said.

Mrs. Cotter explained, the establishment of the first home in Texas Panhandle in 1876 and said "keeping Christmas with all the cowboys in from the line camps was soon a custom on the JA Ranch where Col. Goodnight and his beloved Molly, made their home. No store bought bangles or glitter sprays were used on the Christmas table at the JA Ranch. None were needed. Cedar boughs with their waxed berries, cut from their own Palo Duro Canyon, clear amber, dry Chinaberry clusters these decorated the table." "There was roast antelope, wild turkey, raisin pudding; homey greetings and good cheer were there. Christmas was a happy day," Mrs. Cotter said. "Mrs. Henry Lovett loved to tell of the Christmas 'Protracted Dance' at the 'White House headquarters building on the N Bar N Ranch in Carson County near the present town of White Deer," Mrs. Dunigan said.

"December of 1889 brought below zero weather, but this did not keep the hearty pioneers at home. Because of the extreme cold Henry Lovett borrowed a cart so Mrs. Lovett could wrap her feet up in a quilt for the ride from their dug out home in Gray County to the N Bar N."

"Mrs. Jennie Wetsell of Potter County recalls the first community tree for Amarillo. Every man in town donated for toys, each child received a gift under the tree."

"In the early life of Groom a heavy snow made it impossible to go down into the canyon for a Christmas tree. The bleached white branches of a dead tree were twined with bits of colored ribbon and scraps of bright cloth and hung with cut out paper stars," Mrs. Dunigan said.

Mrs. Cotter and Mrs. Dunigan duplicated this tree for the club's Christmas party. Telling of the plight of the lonesome cowboy, Mrs. Cotter read of a Christmas spent in Palo Duro Canyon in 1887 by seven cowboys during a snow blizzard.

"The men set fire to a dead tree (cedar) in a cleft of the canyon wall and soon had a roaring torch 50 feet tall to keep them warm. When they had finished dinner, one of the men announced he would read a new novel, 'The Dutchess.'"

"The men sat around the camp, listened to the love story and imagined themselves the hero. Thus they spent their Christmas together."

"Whenever men of good will gather, in however rough, oppressive or hostile environment, the thoughts of Christmas tends to warm the hearts and souls and transport them above and beyond the physical limitations of life," Mrs. Cotter said.

Refreshments were served from a Christmas table. A new member welcomed into the club was Mrs. C. M. Holmgren. Guests attending were Mrs. D. Duke, and Mrs. Charles Zlomke.

Woman Dyes Rice For Wedding Service

By POLLY CRAMER.
DEAR POLLY — E. S. M. wanted to know how to tint rice for a wedding. I have done this for many weddings. If I know the color of the bridesmaids' dresses, I try to dye the rice to match.

To tint four cups of uncooked rice, use three cups of cold water and vegetable coloring. I use two teaspoons of yellow or blue and three teaspoons of red or green. Two or more colors may be mixed to get other shades, such as lavender. Mix coloring with water, add rice and soak until desired color is obtained. Drain tinted rice, spread on a cookie sheet and dry in a 200-degree oven. Either regular or instant rice may be used but I think the instant takes a deeper color.

—KAREN
DEAR POLLY—E.S.M. can dye rice by putting rice and food coloring in a cheap grade of rubbing alcohol from the drugstore. When rice is desired color, drain off the alcohol and spread out to dry. Rice will not be sticky.

—JEANNE
DEAR GIRLS — Rice dyed in alcohol seems to absorb the color quicker and certainly does dry quicker. I spread it out on a counter on paper towels. Of course, you all realize this rice is not to be eaten.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 years old, and enrolled in a creative writing course at school. My main purpose in taking this course was to get courage to express my feelings. I have been writing all my life, but have never shown anyone my work. Well, I loved this course as well as the teacher. He was one of the nicest men I have ever known. One day I expressed my feelings in the form of a poem and gave it to him. It went like this:

"I dreamed you were my father
This dream did make me weep
I dreamed you were my father
My love for you runs deep
I dreamed you held me in your arms
And told me I was good
I dreamed that you would punish me
Each time you thought you should
I dreamed you were my father
This dream did make me weep
I dreamed you were my father
Though I was not asleep."
Abby, I never had a father, and in this poem I was trying to tell my teacher how much he meant to me. Well, after he read it, he never even looked at me again. He won't call on me in class, and he turns his head when he sees me in the hall. I feel so embarrassed and ashamed. I don't want to go to his class any more, and I don't think I will ever show my work to anyone again. Was it corny of me to have expressed my feelings in poetry? I hate being rejected, and believe me, I've been rejected a lot.

HURT: I think your poem was good, and I urge you not to let this unfortunate experience discourage you from writing, and sharing your work with others. Your teacher appears to be strangely insensitive for one who teaches creative writing. He cannot be expected to know the battles you are fighting in your personal life. (And you know nothing of the battles he could be fighting in his.) The feelings you expressed obviously turned him off. But I think he was more frightened than displeased.

DEAR ABBY: It is so difficult to know what is morally right and what is morally wrong these days. What used to be considered wrong 25 years ago is suddenly "right." How is a person supposed to know how to behave?

BIG DILEMMA: Let your conscience be your guide. For some strange reason, we now have about 20 million laws trying to enforce the Ten Commandments.

Here's Way To Remove Stains On Redwood Table

By POLL YCRAMER
DEAR POLLY — Abby can remove stains from her redwood picnic table by mixing one cup trisodium phosphate and four ounces of oxalic acid (poison) crystals in a gallon of warm water. Apply this solution to the table with a stiff brush (not wire), allow to dry, rinse with clear water and again allow to dry. A water repellent may be applied after the cleaning, or to obscure future discoloration a deck or furniture stain may be applied.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to remove green floral clay from sterling or silver-plated pieces. I have used it to attach "oasis" to a bowl and now cannot get rid of it. Help, please!
—MRS. T.B.

DEAR POLLY — I hit upon the following Pointer quite by accident. My adjustable ironing board was near the table when I needed a support for my bonnet-type hair dryer. I tried using the ironing board and found it works better than any previously used support. I can adjust both the dryer and the board to a comfortable height and sit at a table to read or write letters as my hair dries. This can be adjusted for drying children's hair.

Pampa Music Teachers Hear Review On Two Czechoslovakian Composers

Pampa Music Teachers met in Mrs. Harris Brinson's home for their November program on Czechoslovakia, with the hostess, Mrs. Brinson, wearing an authentic Czechoslovakian costume made by her great-grandmother in 1895. The costume is on display at the McLean Museum.

Mrs. Brinson, presenting a program on Czechoslovakian music, gave a brief history of the country and biographies of two Czechoslovakian composers.

"Bedrich Smetana, like so many talented and well-known composers, went deaf and finally insane in his later life," Mrs. Brinson said and played a recording written by him entitled Overture from "Bartered Bride."

"When Antonio Dvorak was a small boy, his father wanted him to be a butcher, but he chose a musical career instead.

He knew few dark periods in his long life. He was interested in folk songs of America and Negro music from the United States. He came to the United States and settled in a Czech community in Iowa," she said.

Mrs. Brinson played three of Dvorak's "Slavonic Rhapsodies." The first tells of a knight tournament, the second a lovers' affair, and the third and most famous, a hunt and the service of fair ladies," she said.

She played a tape of the fourth, fifth and sixth movements from Karel Husas' "Music For Prague 1968" a contemporary piece which the Pampa High School band will perform on the trip to Chicago this week.

Members also attending the meeting and a luncheon at Furr's Cafeteria were Mmes. Brinson, Lois Fagan, Calvin Whately, Eddie Milligan, and guests, Mrs. Frank Shaffer and Tracy Cary.

Women's Club Names Officers For 1970

Members prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a family and voted to make a Christmas basket for the same family.

Members will meet Dec. 10 in the home of Mrs. Rape 1116 E. Foster to exchange Christmas gifts and attend a salad supper.

Refreshments were served to members Mmes. M.R. Voss, Buddy Cauthorn, M.B. Hunter, B.G. Rape, Tom Hollis, Brunetta Stewart, J.A. Johnson, P.B. Burrows, E.D. Fischer, Darrell Jones and Don Long and guest Mrs. Bill Curtis.

Story Of Tranquilizers, Drugs Told In New Book

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Helen of Troy's formula for spiking cocktails with ancient drugs and the story of tranquilizers are told in a book by a new Washington woman author.

She is Viennese-born Dr. Anne E. Cauldwell of the National Library of Medicine at Bethesda, Md., whose opus "Origins of Psychopharmacology from CPZ (chlorpromazine) to LSD" has just hit the stands.

It's medical non-fiction that the layman can understand and traces the history of drugs back to the time of Homer.

Dr. Cauldwell said she wrote the book "because it was necessary."

She was inspired when her private research at the library showed that French surgeon Henri Laborit created CPZ—the starter of all the tranquilizer drugs so widely used in the '50's and '60's—while other medical colleagues were given the credit.

Drug's Revolutionary Effect
She says she learned a lot about "medical politics" and became deeply intrigued by the fact that Laborit synthesized the original drug by design in December, 1950, at Val de Grace Hospital because it was needed to alleviate anxiety, agitation and stress.

Since then the drug has revolutionized the care and treatment of psychiatric patients in mental hospitals.

Dr. Cauldwell, a tall, attractive brunette, said she tried for three years "to get someone else" to write the book.

"I also lost three boyfriends," she added with a smile. "But maybe they were not worth it. They could not understand the time it took and my commitment."

She found also that the life of an author is not easy. "I learned my friends could live without me," she said ruefully.

Prefers Playing Cello
She admits her first love is playing the cello. Like many Austrians, Dr. Cauldwell's background is rich in medicine and music. She received her medical degree at the University of Berlin in those days that were portrayed in "I Am A Camera."

She emigrated to the United States in the late 1930s and became assistant principal cellist in the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Her talented daughter, Gisela Cauldwell, in her early 20's, is an aspiring actress who has performed in plays Off Broadway, in summer stock and in Montreal where she studied at the National Theatre School. She is now in the theater in New York.

Dr. Cauldwell has always mad her way in a man's world but she is all for the Women's Liberation Movement—and believes equality should be achieved without a loss of femininity.

Now, she says, her writing days are over. But her medical friends who have heralded her work are telling her that it should be just beginning.

Birthday Parties

Connie Doggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Doggett, celebrated her ninth birthday recently at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Morris, 1417 Charles.

Guests were Mary Skoog, Dawn Marchak, Eddie Morris, Cheryl Doggett, Kay Leudecke, Becky Boyd, Brenda Johnson, Linda Johnson, the honoree, Connie Doggett, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Doggett and Mr. and Mrs. Morris, all of Pampa.

El Progreso Has Christmas Party

El Progreso Study Club members entertained their husbands with a Christmas party recently at 1915 Holly Lane with Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Malone and Mr. and Mrs. O.K. Gaylor as hosts.

Mrs. Malone entertained the group with a Christmas story. She challenged each member to search their hearts and find the true spirit of Christmas. She reminded the members of how much God gives and how little we give in return and asked "if we would be proud to have the Master in our homes for Christmas."

"Eternal life, a home blessed with joy and happiness, the unbroken chain of life and then the hope of resurrection are the gifts of God. Are you giving the best gift of all to God?" she concluded.

Dinner was served from a decorated table to Messrs. and Mmes. Veri Hagaman, Roy McMullen, Darrell Cameron, Quentin Williams, Glen Radcliff, Charles Lanehart, Glen Dawkins, Carlton Nance, Tom Perkins, R.I. Bray and R.A. Keagy, and Mrs. J.F. Curtis.

West Europe's Christmas Customs Vary As Names For Old Santa

By United Press International
The bells of Western Europe ring their loud and clear chimes to rejoice at the birth of Christ when midnight passes into Christmas Day. Few other such customs do Europeans share.

Different Christmas traditions, different days of festivity, different choice of fare have grown up in the countries of Europe, as different as the names of Santa Claus. He becomes Father Christmas, Sinterklaas, Joulupukki, Babbo Natale and Nikolaus.

Christmas for all Europeans, however, is a time for family reunions, for merry-making and for the children. Christmas is perhaps the only time of year when the churches are packed. But some say with regret that the spiritual significance is fading while commercialism rises, with more extravagant street decorations, bigger and more expensive gifts to buy.

In Sweden, where hospitals open emergency sections for the Christmas victims of over-indulgence, students are running a poster campaign urging people not to stuff themselves while others in the world are starving.

Christmas is also fir trees and trimmings, carols and candles. Country by country, this is Christmas in Western Europe: BELGIUM Celebrates Christmas Eve. Families gather around the tree, exchange gifts, sit down to their dinner, although they have no traditional dish. Nowadays many go out to pubs or restaurants, but tradition holds true with nativity plays staged by several towns in the open air or churches.

BRITAIN makes Christmas Day the important one. Dinner after church definitely is turkey, followed by Christmas pudding, rich with sultanas, piping hot and flaming from brandy set alight. Mistletoe hangs from the ceiling, a custom from pagan days. The idea is to snatch a kiss beneath it. Boxing Day, the day after Christmas, is another holiday. Tradesmen used to knock on doors collecting tips or "boxes." Now they prefer to collect before hand so they can stay home. Boxing Day, like the caroler's who go around singing for charity, Father Christmas is the one who puts the presents into stockings on Christmas Eve.

DENMARK shuts up shop at noon on Christmas Eve, goes to church in the afternoon, then sits down to a huge dinner, to candlelight and exchange their gifts. They sit down to another great meal of cold dishes on Christmas Day. That evening is the busiest of the year for Danish doctors because, as in Sweden, most people eat too much. The climate insures a white Christmas.

FINLAND pays homage to its dead on Christmas Eve. Candles are placed on every grave and a memorial service held in the military burial ground in Helsinki. Housewives prepare a traditional ham, a fish dish named lipeakala and rice pudding. Joulupukki (Father Christmas) brings presents from a mountain in Lapland with a sleigh drawn by reindeer. The sleigh, called akkia, has a keel instead of runners. More commercially, a jolly joulupukki can be hired to bring children their presents, but he will probably travel by car.

FRANCE predominantly Catholic, goes to midnight mass Christmas Eve. Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris is so popular that tickets have to be reserved well in advance. After church, families go on to a party either at home or a restaurant, eating through oysters, turkey, candied chestnuts, a special white sausage, washed down with champagne and burgundy. On Christmas morning the children search for their present-filled shoes — not their stockings — by the chimney.

GERMANY starts celebrations early. Already, the good children have recited a poem to Nikolaus in his red robe and white beard, who comes to call and hand out candy early in December. But bad children may be visited by Knecht Ruprecht, an ogre, and gets a spanking with a birch rod. The Christkind (Christ Child) puts presents beneath the tree on Christmas Eve. There is much embracing, tearful joy and carol singing. Mother brings in platters of spicy cakes, gingerbread, doughnuts and heftier items like chicken gibellet soup and pate. The family goes to church for a midnight service. They have an orgy of eating on Christmas Day and the following day, also a holiday. Dear to their hearts are stuffed, roast goose, with potato dumplings and a heavy sauce with blobs of fat swimming atop, also boiled fish such as carp, plus venison, rabbit or wild boar in rural areas, all swallowed with white wine or specially strong Christmas beer.

The walled, medieval city of Nuernberg has an annual Christkindmarkt (Christ Child's Fair) where the gay stands with angel dolls and toys transform the place into a gleaming wonderland of lights.

ITALY's father Christmas Babbo Natale is a post-World War II newcomer despite the fact St. Nicholas, the saintly bishop turned by folk tradition into Santa Claus, is buried at Bari. Babbo Natale, growing in popularity, brings presents Dec. 25 for good boys and girls. They get a second "Christmas" Jan. 6.

EPHAPHY Day, when Befana, a good witch who rides a broomstick, rewards good children with more gifts. Epiphany Day is the 12th day after Christ's birth, when the Three Wise Men arrived at Bethlehem with gifts. The manger, not the tree, is still the Italian symbol of Christmas and small ones made of wood are placed in most homes. St. Francis of Assisi is credited with starting the custom in the 12th century. Three traditional Christmas masses are celebrated in the churches, starting at midnight. Rome has the Vatican and more than 500 churches. On nearly every Christmas menu is panettone, a dome-shaped cake with an air pocket inside and rich with raisins, candied orange and lime rind.

THE NETHERLANDS exchanged presents December 5, the eve of the birthday of Sinterklaas (St. Nicholas). Some put a second lot of gifts at the foot of the Christmas tree. Carols are sung in churches and exhibition halls. At the court of Queen Juliana, members of her staff perform a Christmas play. The queen and her daughters personally serve their guests with hot chocolate and currant bread.

NORWAY goes to church at 5 p.m. Christmas Eve, then to a family dinner of roast pork or boiled cod, followed by rice porridge, and drunk with beer and aquavite. In families with small children, an uncle usually dresses up as Santa Claus to hand out presents. Christmas Day is another family day, then the younger set take over, celebrating well into the New Year although the old custom of carrying on until the 13th day of Christmas has disappeared. Deep in the countryside, some firms still put out in the barn on Christmas Eve a dish of porridge and lump of butter for "Nissen." In folklore he first cultivated the land ages friendly terms with him.

PORTUGAL celebrates Christmas Day with great family reunions, the members often having traveled miles. It's Menino Jesus (the Infant Jesus) and not Santa Claus who brings gifts for children, who, as in France, leave their shoes by the chimney. The seasonal cake is Boio Rei, a coffee ring studded with candied fruit and nuts. It means the Cake of Kings — the ones who went to Bethlehem on 12th night. Portugal does not have England's Boxing Day but tradesmen do call round for a Christmas tip.

SPAIN has started to take on other countries customs in the past decade, like Christmas trees, "Papa Noel" as he is called, and exchanging gifts on Dec. 25 instead of Epiphany Day. In almost every home the children construct tiny mangers with the Christ Child and The Three Wise Men, who form the basis of a Jan. 6 parade in most large cities. Children go to the big department stores and ask the wise men for gifts. Everyone attends midnight mass Christmas Eve and almost everyone enters the special Christmas lottery, which gives the most cash prizes of the year. Traditionally a Christmas bonus is added to the paycheck as well.

SWEDEN begins Jul (Yule) Dec. 13 when Lucia, dressed in white with candles in her blonde hair, is played by one of the women in the house. She serves the family with concern and more more special figure-of-eight buns. Gifts are exchanged Christmas Eve. Christmas dinner is a variant of the famous Swedish smorgasbord, with ham, a fish dish named lutefisk, home-made sausages, and also the rice porridge. Their gloeg is a burnt and spiced brandy. When Christmas is over, the children are allowed to strip the tree and eat all the goodies hanging on it.

SWITZERLAND starts the eve of St. Nicholas Day with the same tradition as Germany — cookies from Nicholas for good children and a spanking for the bad ones.

Their last day of school, Dec. 21, is called "schulisvester." Early in the morning, sometimes at 3 a.m., the children march through towns and villages with bells, horns and fireworks, collecting food from people. The next celebrations come Christmas Eve, with the family dinner, presents under the tree from the Christ Child, and carols. The church service is Christmas morning. On Epiphany Day, the family eats a large cake in which a star on small figure of a king is hidden. Whoever finds it becomes king for the day and the whole family must pay homage.

Bathtub Safety Treads Are Easy To Replace

DEAR POLLY— To remove the loose, unsightly safety strips from her bathtub, Elda would run very hot water into the tub and let it stand for a few minutes, then drain slowly. At the same time, start to peel the strips loose with the tip of a paring knife. Remove any excess glue that is left with cleaning fluid. Rinse with good sudsy water. After the surface is completely dry, it is ready for new strips.

removing bathtub safety tread strips? Some of ours came loose and, in experimenting, I found that a common paint thinner made easy work of removing the adhesive and the remaining strips were gently pried loose with no damage to the tub.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Reader Requests Ways To Protect Glass Door

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY— I have a sliding glass door in the west wall of my living room and get the hot afternoon sun. During the summer and fall the room is like an oven even though I keep the draperies closed. Can someone tell me what I could do to keep out the sun and heat? I do not want to use foil. I have two small children who often go in and out and I need to watch them when they are outside.

—SHIRLEY

DEAR POLLY— I solved the problem Gloria has with rust stains on her white acrylic pants suit by going to a dry-cleaners supply house and purchasing the same product that cleaners use to remove rust. Used as directed, it has solved all such problems for me and I hope Gloria will have

Miss Wainscott Offers Purchase Tips For Dryers

If a clothes dryer is on your list for Christmas, take time and shop wisely, cautions Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent. Study features available and select the model that will meet your present and future needs.

"Will you buy a gas or electric model? Determine the installation requirements, and make sure you can provide all requirements," she said.

Read and understand the warranty. Consider the available space in your home and make sure the dimensions of the model you choose will fit. Buy from a reliable dealer who will provide service when needed, she warned.

"Take care of your investment for the best results and long lasting beauty" by reading the Use and Care Guide to thoroughly understand how to operate the dryer. Learn to use the automatic and timed drying cycles to provide the degree of dryness required for best performance.

"Don't overload the machine. Clothes must have room to tumble freely to avoid wrinkling and for uniform dryness. Don't dry clothes that give off lint in the load with permanent press items," reminds Miss Wainscott.

Immediately wipe up bleach or spot treating solutions that spill on the dryer because they could dull the finish. Because a build-up of lint will lengthen drying time, keep the lint screen clean.

Clean the drum with a damp cloth after drying clothes that have been heavily starched, tinted, or dyed, she added.

When service is needed, call a reliable service man that has factory trained servicemen and authorized parts available. Be sure your dryer is installed according to manufacturer's installation recommendations for venting, electrical grounding and leveling, she said.

the same luck. —HAZEL

DEAR POLLY— Gloria could buy a small amount of oxalic acid (poison) crystals at a drugstore, wet the rust spots on her white pants suit, sprinkle a few crystals on it to cover, wait a few minutes and rinse thoroughly. I find this works like magic. I have used the oxalic acid treatment on fine linens, rugs after they have been shampooed and rust stains remained, and where metal furniture has stood.

—MARY O.

DEAR GIRLS— This is tricky business. Gloria already has tried a number of remedies, such as a spot remover, lemon juice, soda and vinegar, and an excellent dry cleaner informs us that if such stained garments are taken to a good cleaner BEFORE trying anything they can usually do a perfect removal job. He also suggested trying to buy the same professional solution as Hazel suggested. One of our good references suggests using one (tablespoon of the oxalic acid (poison) crystals in a cup of warm water to sponge the stain rather than putting them on full strength as Mary O. did. Do not use on nylon. Test your particular fabric first.

—POLLY

DEAR POLLY— Since cowhide suede is the last word in fashion I would like to pass on an easy help when one is making a garment from such material. When applying the pattern to the cowhide, use small pieces of plastic gummed tape around the edges, wherever a pin would usually be used, to hold it in place. The tape is easier to apply and there are no holes left in the garment.

FDA Says Lawn Dart Game Not Hazardous

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Food and Drug Administration has told a federal court that a lawn darts game posed no "imminent hazard" although the FDA knew of two children's deaths attributed to use of the toy, it was learned Saturday.

In a brief filed with the FDA the U.S. Court of Appeals made no mention of the deaths. "While some of the lawn dart injuries were serious," the FDA said, "these were episodic reports of injury and consumer complaints involving small numbers."

Ten days earlier, on Nov. 23, the FDA wrote a letter to B. Jarts Inc., of South Glen Falls, N.Y., summarizing the two deaths and 14 injuries allegedly caused by lawn darts. Jarts is a leading manufacturer of the toy.

The FDA letter was not a complaint but merely a compilation of accidents associated with lawn darts which apparently had been requested by the Jarts company during a Nov. 20 meeting with FDA officials.

The meeting followed the FDA's proposal Nov. 14 to ban the sale of lawn darts and three other toys as hazardous, pending manufacturers' appeals. The FDA, however, did not declare the toys an "imminent hazard," which under law would have made a ban immediate.

The FDA letter listed the two deaths and most of the injuries as involving children, including one who lost sight in one eye and another who had to undergo brain surgery.

The letter, never made public, was signed by Samuel M. Hart, acting director of FDA's bureau of product safety. UPI obtained a copy from a source who asked not to be identified. Hart could not be reached for comment.

The FDA, in its brief, cited Hart as an authority for its assertion that none of the toys should be declared an "imminent hazard."

FDA sources said the agency tentatively has decided not to ban lawn darts after all but instead to require a warning label and to rule they must be sold only through sporting goods stores.

Boys Ranch Suit Fund One-Third On Way To Goal

The annual drive to provide each of the more than 365 boys at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch with a new suit or clothing package for Christmas is under way with about one-third of the goal reached so far.

More than 100 suits have been made possible by friends of the boys who contribute $25 for this purpose. Amarillo businessmen and clothing manufacturers also make it possible for the Ranch's boys to select their suits or clothing combinations at special discounts. For many of the Ranch's new boys, it will be the first suit they have ever owned.

Among those who have contributed to the fund are: Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Hiten, Jr., Guymon, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Foster, Bartlesville, Okla., Mrs. Vera B. Wroten, Spearman; Mrs. Helen Chenoweth, Pampa; Melvin Phillips, Stratford; Canyon Lions Club, Joe M. Scott, Dalhart; KVOP, Plainview; and Harold E. Ferguson, Elkhart, Kan.

Contributions to the Boys Ranch Christmas Suit Fund may be mailed to the Boys Ranch Office, P.O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas 79105.
