IN WAKE OF WORST TYPHOON

Manila Shaken By Earthquake; Residents Urged To Leave City

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake shook Manila Saturday just two days after the worst typhoon in the city's history caused widespread destruction and left at least 125 persons dead. There were no reports of casualties or serious damage from the tremor.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos warned of the possible outbreak of an epidemic in the wake of the typhoon and urged Manila residents to temporarily leave the beleaguered city, much of which has been without electricity and drinking water since the storm struck Thursday.

The earthquake struck at 8:25 p.m. Weathermen said it was centered at Iba, 88 miles northwest of Manila in nearby Zambales province where it registered an intensity of 6 on the Richter scale of 10.

The tremor registered 2 to 3 in Manila, strong enough to shake tall buildings in the city. Marcos, appearing visibly worried, disclosed a series of impromptu news conferences at Manila International Airport

GM's Full Production Expected To Be Resumed Mid-December

DETROIT (UPI)—One of the two local disputes which stood in the way of official settlement of the United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors was settled today, increasing optimism on both sides that full production would be under way by mid-December.

UAW members at the Mansfield, Ohio, Fisher Body Stamping Plant voted to ratify agreement on local issues, a GM spokesman reported. Details were not immediately available.

A GM spokesman said the issues at the Chevrolet supplier plant at Warren, Mich., also had to be settled before cars or trucks could be built.

The spokesman said a few plants may be able to start stockpiling parts in the meantime and GM's nonautomotive facilities could get back into production.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock and Irving Bluestone, co-director of the union's GM department, announced Friday evening that 367,573 union members had voted in the past week to ratify a new, three-year national contract with GM, and that 11,546 had voted against it.

Jordanian Government, Guerrillas Reach Accord To Restore Peace

By United Press International
The Jordanian government and Palestinian guerrillas agreed in a high level Amman meeting Saturday to make significant concessions in an effort to restore peace to that country.

The agreement reached in a meeting under supervision of the head of the Arab truce team came after a week that saw the worst outbreaks of fighting in Jordan since the September civil war between guerrillas and government forces.

Spokesmen said the key measures called for removal of government and guerrilla troops from urban areas and the freeing of most of the 250 guerrillas still held by the government since the civil war. In Cairo, the semi-official Middle East News Agency said Jordan's King Hussein would visit Egypt and Saudi Arabia next week to discuss "ways of strengthening the Arab position and developments in the Middle East."

The trip would mark the first contact between Jordan and Egypt since their relations cooled last month over the appointment of Wasfi Tel as Prime Minister in Amman.

In Damascus, Syria's new military rulers began building a popular base of support Saturday by forming a temporary "National Front" coalition cabinet drawn from the nation's leftist parties.

ON WITNESS STAND

Charles Manson Says He Killed No One, Ordered No One Killed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—As far as the jury knows, the defense rested without calling any witnesses, but as far as Charles Manson is concerned, he's told the world he's innocent.

He spent nearly 90 minutes on the witness stand Friday, protesting he had "killed no one and ordered no one killed."

Point by point, he went over the evidence and tried to show he wasn't guilty of the Sharon Tate murders, but he declined to repeat the story before the jury.

"I've already relieved all the pressure I had," Defense attorneys, had tried to rest their case on Thursday, without calling any witnesses, but Manson's three female codefendants had insisted they wanted to testify.

Their attorneys indicated they wished to confess and try to exonerate Manson, a man they called Jesus, and refused to question them, arguing it would be a dereliction of their duty as lawyers.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older solved the legal impasse by ruling they must rehearse their testimony outside the presence of the jury to be certain they did not intend to say anything legally inadmissible.

The young women demurred, but Manson took the stand. He told a sad tale of the life of a man who had spent more than half his life behind bars and had "never been able to adjust to your world."

"I did my best to get along in your world, he said, "and now you want to kill me."

He expressed resentment that the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, had testified he masterminded the slayings. He said Mrs. Kasabian blamed men for everything because she hated her father.

Cold Wave, Snow On Weather Menu

The National Weather Service in Amarillo put out a cold wave warning late last night and said it would hit the Texas Panhandle today.

It will turn much colder today, forecast said, with a 20 per cent chance of snow flurries.

The cold wave minimums should arrive by Monday morning with the low temperature readings late tonight and early Monday morning down around 15 degrees.

Today's high was expected to be no higher than the mid-30s with the mercury expected to zip into the teens around midnight.

Monday is expected to be somewhat warmer with a high in the 40s. Winds today were forecast at 25-35 miles per hour.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nixon administration officials said Saturday they expect early resumption of the talks in Warsaw between the United States and mainland Chinese ambassadors to Poland.

One high official Peking has hinted the Chinese would be ready to take up again soon the Warsaw meetings, which provide the only official hint of contact between the two powers.

TSTA To Sponsor Bill To Increase Retirement Pay

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) will sponsor a bill in the next legislative session to increase retirement pay by 10 per cent at no cost to the state.

A. H. Hooser, administrative assistant to the TSTA director, announced the proposal Friday at a meeting of the legislative committee of the Texas Association of County Superintendents.

Hooser said the plan, covering 33,000 retired teachers, would increase benefits by 10 per cent or $6.50 per year of service, whichever is greater. The pay hike would begin June 1, 1971.

In Retaliation For Attacks On Unarmed Planes

Hanoi Terms Raids As Grave Threat To Talks In Paris

SAIGON (UPI)—Waves of U.S. warplanes flying through a big tropical storm ranged deep into North Vietnam Saturday and Sunday, hurling tons of bombs on Communist anti-aircraft bases in the most dramatic Allied operation since the thrust into Cambodia six months ago. U.S. naval craft sank a Communist ship in a South China Sea battle.

North Vietnam said six American aircraft were shot down in the two-day aerial blitz and denounced the raids, which it said struck populated areas as far north as Haiphong and caused civilian casualties, as "an extremely serious act of war." The Hanoi Foreign Ministry said the attack posed a "grave threat" to the Paris Vietnam talks.

Radio Hanoi said the raids began at 2:30 a.m. Saturday (1:30 p.m. EST Friday). Laird said the strikes were of limited duration with a cutoff 7 a.m. Sunday (6 p.m. EST Saturday).

Communications gave no details as to the size of the attacking air forces, but Radio Hanoi said "many groups" were involved. It was understood that the scope of the attacks was similar to that last May 2 when more than 100 U.S. planes bombed three areas in North Vietnam following an attack on an American reconnaissance flight.

Laird, in his statement Saturday, warned that more bombings will be carried out "if necessary to protect the pilots of our reconnaissance planes."

The Pentagon said the raids were in North Vietnam's southern panhandle south of the 19th parallel and were directed against "missile and anti-aircraft gun sites and related facilities." This would be in a largely unpopulated area ranging up to 165 miles north of the border with South Vietnam.

The sea battle broke out late Saturday night 12 miles off the Mekong Delta coast and about 90 miles south of Saigon when the U.S. minesweeper Endurance spotted a Communist trawler and fired warning shots across the vessel's bow with 20mm guns.

The trawler returned the fire and attempted to ram the American minesweeper. Two U.S. Coast Guard cutters, the Rusli and the Sherman, joined the battle along with U.S. navy aircraft.

Fire from the American ships and planes sent the trawler, believed to be North Vietnamese, fleeing toward the coast. It disappeared from U.S. radar screens, and a Navy spokesman said it was certain the Communist vessel sank.

No U.S. casualties were reported in the sea battle, but the minesweeper Endurance suffered superficial damage, a Navy spokesman said. It was the first time since February, 1969, that a Communist vessel had been sunk off South Vietnam's coast.

Rising Costs Of Medical Care Taken As Reason To Back Up Auto Insurance Hike

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Insurance non-released statistics on the "soaring costs" of medical care and car repair Saturday to back up their recommendation for hiking auto insurance rates.

The Texas Automobile Insurance Service office gave a preview of some of the statistics industry representatives will present to the State Board of Insurance Monday.

Figures compiled in a study by two University of Texas professors in a study for the industry association show hospital bills have increased 78 per cent, on the average over the past five years in Texas. Statistics from auto repair appraisals show a jump of about 36 per cent over four years.

The costs of goods and services that insurance premiums buy are increasing much faster than the consumer price index," said David Irons, general counsel for the insurance service office.

Officials of the service office—which represents the 323 rate-regulated insurance companies operating in Texas—met Saturday and were scheduled to meet again today to vote on how large an increase they will seek in insurance rates.

The industry asked for 17 per cent rate hike last year and the board agreed to an increase of 11.4 per cent. The industry asked for a 17 per cent rate hike last year and the board agreed to an increase of 11.4 per cent. The hike prompted a public outcry and the appointment of a special investigation committee by Gov. Preston Smith, however, and was later trimmed to 9.9 per cent.

A change in the rate-setting formula announced by the state board Thursday will automatically raise rates about 6.6 per cent, according to the insurance men's estimates.

At Monday's hearing the board will consider what further rate hikes are justified to cover insurance companies' underwriting losses—the difference between premiums received and claims paid.

Statistics prepared by the state agency show the companies have lost money on this underwriting—or actual insurance sales—phase of the business for the past three years.

Board Chairman Ned Price, pointing out that the companies' average profit on underwriting over the past decade has been only 5 per cent, said Thursday he believes present rates are "confiscatory."

Price and the two other board members announced a new rate-setting formula which takes into account the companies' total income—including the earnings from investments as well as the statistics on underwriting on which the old formula centered.

Such a move had long been advocated by labor leaders and other insurance industry critics. The critics argued companies' profits are too high and should be used to offset underwriting losses in the rate-setting formula to lower motorists' premiums.

Too Little Return

But the insurance board said Thursday that looking at the total financial picture of the industry, the companies appear to have been making too little.

The board said insurance profits overall have averaged only 6.1 per cent (based on net worth) over the past 10 years, compared to the 11.56 per cent rate of return enjoyed by major industrial concerns.

The board said it plans to set rates that will allow the companies a profit comparable to the 11.56 return ratio. Such a policy would have meant higher rates under the old rate-setting formula and will mean the expected premium hikes this year for increased costs will be higher than otherwise.

Texas AFL-CIO president Hank Brown immediately accused the board of trying to "gig the Texas car owners again."

Labor Critical

"For 10 years we urged inclusion of investment income, but if the insurance board turns

Harvesters Win One, Lose One At Bowie

BOWIE, Texas—Losing the first game of the year by one point to the Bowie Jackrabbits didn't discourage the fighting Pampa Harvesters as they bounced back on the courts Saturday night and defeated the Jackrabbits 46 to 43.

The Harvesters enjoyed a half-time lead of ten points as the score was 32-22. However, the Jackrabbits had a fantastic third and fourth quarters which left them leading by one with a minute and a half remaining to play.

The score was 43-42 when the Harvesters rang the hoop with a two pointer giving them a 44-43 lead. A foul shot by a Bowie player bounced off the rim and Pampa recovered the rebound.

A quick success story shot gave the Harvesters a three point lead and the ball game. Their next game will be played at Abilene where they will be in the Key City Tournament.

The Shockers won both of their games from the Bowie E-team, taking the Friday night tilt, 55-41 and coming back to win again Saturday night 71 to 52.

Top Aid Plan Officers Fired

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The two leading administrators of the federal government's multi-million dollar legal aid program for the poor have been fired by the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

Ousted Friday by O.E.O. Director Donald Rumsfeld were Terry Lenzer, director of the agency's legal services program, and Deputy Director Frank Jones. AFTER ACQUITTAL S. Sgt. David Mitchell Says He Wants To Be Soldier For Life

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI)—S. Sgt. David Mitchell, his right hand smoothing the two neat rows of Army medals clipped to his green wool Army tunic, said Saturday he wants to be a soldier for life.

"I love this uniform," said the man acquitted the day before of assault with intent to murder charges at the nation's first My Lai massacre trial. "I wouldn't do anything to discredit it."

A panel of seven Army officers, six of them Vietnam veterans, deliberated six hours and 50 minutes Friday night, then declared Mitchell not guilty in connection with the sweep by U.S. combat troops through the South Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai, March 16, 1968.

When the verdict was read, Mitchell, 30, of St. Francisville, La., snapped to attention and faced the two colonels, three captains and two lieutenants who decided his fate. He then saluted crisply.

"I volunteered for the Army because I wanted to be a soldier," said Mitchell, his hair neatly trimmed and wearing a wisp of a mustache.

"That's the life I chose for myself. I thought it was a great organization then, and since I've been acquitted I think it's an even greater organization. I'm going to stay and make the Army my career."

Mitchell, married and the father of an 11-month-old daughter, enlisted 10 years ago and re-enlisted in 1968 in Vietnam. His present enlistment expires in 1974.

"I thank everyone who prayed for me," he said, smiling, when he was declared not guilty of slaughtering 30 Vietnamese civilians. "And that was the whole nation. Now I know it's a great Army."

Mitchell, the son of a Baptist preacher, said he planned to go home to Louisiana to rest with his family after the past 11 months of strain since he first was charged by the Army.

Ossie Brown, a civilian lawyer from Baton Rouge, La., and Mitchell's attorney, said the sergeant does not plan to testify at any other My Lai court-martials, including the Ft. Benning, Ga., trial of his Vietnam commander, Lt. William L. Calley Jr. Seventeen men, ranging from general to buck private, face massacre charges.

Brown said in his final arguments at Mitchell's court-martial that the My Lai massacre was fabricated by persons who want to ruin the military.

Bomb Rips Through Home Of Security Man In Tenn.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—An explosion early Saturday ripped through the home of the chief security man for one of the largest manufacturers of TNT for use in Vietnam.

Authorities said, however, bombing of the home of L.D. Turner apparently stemmed from a labor dispute, rather than from anti-war sentiment.

Turner's 16-year-old daughter, Nancy, was planning a "summer party" for Friday night, and had invited 33 friends to sleep in the living room where the bomb landed. She cancelled the party at the last minute.

Police said the bomb, containing four to six sticks of dynamite, was tossed through the front window of the Turner home about 2 a.m. Every room in the house was damaged, and other homes for blocks around

Peking Fails To Get Two-Thirds Majority To Gain UN Seat

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Communist China's bid for membership in the United Nations received majority support for the first time Friday in the General Assembly but fell 16 votes short of the total needed for acceptance.

The vote was 51-49 in favor of admitting the Peking regime to China's seat and ousting the Chinese Nationalists who have represented China since the founding of the U.N. in 1945.

The issue required a two-thirds majority of the nations voting, meaning that 67 nations would have had to vote in favor of Peking in order for Communist China to win membership this year. There were 25 abstentions.

Approval of a U.S.-sponsored resolution declaring the China representation issue an "important question" requiring a two-thirds vote to make a change saved the seat for Nationalist China this year. The resolution was accepted by a 66-52 vote with seven abstentions.

The fact that Communist China got more votes than did Nationalist China for the first time on the seating issue led some diplomats to speculate that it was only a matter of time before the Peking regime is seated.

"We consider it both unfortunate and rather ironic that a number of states which have been vocal in support of universality of U.N. membership nevertheless cast votes in favor of expelling a nation which has been a faithful and constructive member of the organization," said U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost.

The shift from last year's 56-48 vote in favor of Nationalist China was achieved by a swing of five countries—Austria, Canada, Chile, Equatorial Guinea and Italy—from abstention last year to voting in favor of Peking, plus a switch from votes against Peking to abstentions by eight countries—Bolivia, Botswana, Cameroon, the Central African Republic, Ireland, Luxembourg, Malaysia and Peru. Two—Cambodia and Mauritius—swung their votes from Peking to Taiwan.

Gov. Smith Announces Campaign For Safe Driving On Holidays

AUSTIN (UPI)—Armed with a barrage of television commercials and newspaper ads, Gov. Preston Smith announced an all-out campaign to get Texas motorists to drive safely during the coming holidays and "prove we can beat the statistics."

Smith said there have been 25 fewer deaths on Texas highways than at this same time last year—a drop of 1 percent in the death toll.

He said the decline indicates his statewide "drive friendly" campaign has had an effect in curbing the spiraling number of traffic tragedies.

"We hope it (the drive friendly slogan) is beginning to become a state of mind, and we are not going to let up," the governor said.

"Starting today, we hope to reach Texas drivers with giving, Christmas and New Year's messages," Smith said.

Liberal Senators To Fight To Kill House-Passed Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A liberal senator vowed to do everything he can to kill the House-passed trade bill in the Senate. He said its enactment would cost the American public $3.7 billion a year in higher prices and would touch off a trade war.

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okl., said he would fight next week to kill the bill in the Senate Finance Committee and if that effort failed he would try to round up a majority vote in the Senate in favor of killing the measure.

The bill to impose import quotas on shoes and textiles and a vast array of other goods which compete with American-made products—has drawn opposition from the Nixon administration and about 5,000 U.S. economists. It was adopted by the House Thursday on the strength of votes from congressmen from areas whose industries would be protected from import competition.

Harris told a Capitol news conference that the great depression which followed the erection of trade barriers in the 1930s was proof enough that quotas wind up hurting everyone.

He said their use has been shown to be "a futile way to try to protect American markets."

Harris said higher prices which would result from banning some foreign shoes and textiles from this country would cost American families at least $3.7 billion a year.

Enactment of the bill would reverse the free trade policy this country has followed since World War II.

Nixon's Welfare Reform Bill Killed By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee voted 10-6 today to kill President Nixon's innovative welfare reform bill.

The vote was a severe and possibly fatal setback to chances for changing the nation's welfare system, which has been characterized as a costly "mess" by the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

The committee agreed, by a 10-3 vote, on only a limited one-year test of the administration proposal along with five other approaches.

The administration bill, proposed by President Nixon in a nationwide radio and television address in 1969, passed the House last April. It called for guaranteeing an income of $1,600 a year to every poor family in America—whether the head of the household was employed or jobless.

The administration considered the proposal for only a dry-run test of its $4 billion plan unacceptable.

But a coalition of liberals who considered the measure too stingy and conservatives who considered it too generous teamed up in the 10-6 adverse vote.

Next Year Will Have More 3-Day Holidays

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Effective Jan. 1, 1971, a federal law passed in 1968 establishes four Monday holidays.

Commemoration of Washington's Birthday has been shifted from Feb. 22 to the third Monday in February; Memorial Day from May 30 to the last Monday in May; and Veterans Day from Nov. 11 to the fourth Monday in October. Columbus Day has been made a national holiday for the first time, and its date has changed from Oct. 12 to the second Monday in October.

These shifts mean there will be at least five three-day weekends every year. The fifth is Labor Day, which traditionally falls on the first Monday in September.

Legally, the new holiday law applies only to employees of the District of Columbia government, and federal employees, wherever they are. However, 35 states have adopted holiday schedules that conform to the federal lineup. Surveys show that 10 other states are going along in limited fashion.

Here are the federal public holidays for 1971: NEW YEAR'S DAY—Friday, Jan. 1; DEPENDENCE DAY—Sunday, WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY—Monday, Feb. 15; MEMORIAL DAY—Monday, May 31; IN JULY 4; LABOR DAY—Monday, Sept. 6; COLUMBUS DAY—Monday, Oct. 11; VETERANS DAY—Monday, Oct. 25; THANKSGIVING DAY—Thursday, Nov. 25; CHRISTMAS DAY—Saturday, Dec. 25.

Let's prove we can beat the statistics."

Smith unveiled a series of television spots that are being shipped to stations across the state to begin airing next Tuesday.

"They focus on major sins of Texas drivers: Ignoring road signs and signals, improper passing, changing traffic lanes, excessive speed, bad driving attitudes, tailgating and drunk driving," the governor said.

He said a full-page ad feature for Texas newspapers also is being sent out. One urges drivers to continue the good work and not "blow" the chance to beat last year's accident record.

Smith said the decline in traffic deaths was particularly significant in view of the fact that Texas has nearly half a million new drivers and that the number of miles driven in the state this year also is up.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 Speculation is mounting that a new chance for Mideast peace may be in the making. On the political side it springs from the bloodless coup which ousted the extremist leadership of Syria, the cautious efforts of the successor government to the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser to establish itself and the belief that the revolutionary Arab governments must be preoccupied with internal affairs for the foreseeable future. Militarily the picture also has changed. The take-over by Syrian strongman Lt. Gen. Hafez Assad, the firing of Iraqi Vice President Hardan Takriti, a leading hawk, and King Hussein's continuing difficulties with the Palestinian commandos has meant the virtual collapse of the Arab eastern front command. The commandos are more concerned with Hussein's forces at the moment than with Israel. Reopen Canal. On the Suez front, both the Egyptians and the Israelis have improved their positions, so much so that now in the overall speculation is considered the possibility of a withdrawal of both sides from the canal banks and the first steps be taken toward reopening of the water link between Asia and Europe. Politically and militarily present circumstances seem to offer an opportunity for serious peace efforts. General Assad is rated a moderate who might adopt a less militant anti-Western stand and be less insistent than his predecessors on a continuing war with Israel. He is friendly toward the commandos but would take them out of politics. U.S. Relations. In Cairo, Premier Mahmoud Fawzi of the United Arab Republic has put together a cabinet of 32 ministers, including four deputy premiers.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market has had a "tendency to decline when it looks best and to rally when it looks worst," L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says. He adds, "One of the best things about this indecisive behavior is that trading increases on the rallies and shrinks on the declines."
 "Our guess is that any (business) recovery in the first half of 1971 will be rather anemic," says Halsey, Stuart & Co. Inc. The company is equally pessimistic about the financial markets, noting that despite rate cuts "there has been virtually no increase in the money supply in the last three months."
 "Despite such continuing problems as unemployment and credit, excellent opportunities abound in today's stock market," Pioneer Funds believes. However, the company doubts "any substantial recovery will take place until the public returns to the market with greater confidence." The company does not expect this to happen "until stock prices show more stability."
 Last week's market weakness reflected "disappointment at the timidity" of the rate cuts and "dismay at the apparent inflationary" General Motors settlement, Wright Investors' Service says. The company notes there was little selling—with most of it originating in Europe. "In the light of experience," the company adds, "this can only be construed as a favorable augury, since European investors have a long history of selling American securities when they should be buying them."

Youth Gets Sentence

RICHMOND, Tex. (UPI)—William S. "Butch" Ainsworth, 26, of Galveston drew a 30-year sentence Thursday after pleading guilty to a charge of assault to murder Galveston County deputy sheriff Bob Williamson. Ainsworth, who has murder charge pending against him in Fort Bend County was scheduled to go on trial Monday. His guilty plea was a surprise. Williamson was taken hostage in a jailbreak engineered by Ainsworth last November. The deputy was shot in the head and chest and left for dead in a Richmond. Joseph McMahon, 19, who escaped with Ainsworth, was shot in the head and chest and left for dead in a ditch along Texas 6 east of Richmond. Joseph McMahon, 19, who escaped with Ainsworth, was shot and killed and his body dumped in the ditch with Williamson. The deputy crawled onto the highway and summoned help.

WELL-STUDIED EVIDENCE

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Groups of men entered eight topless-dancer nightclubs recently and took pictures of the girls. The men were Douglas County sheriff's deputies. Sheriff Ted Janing said the pictures would be studied for anything that might be taken into custody.

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—A Milan judge ruled Thursday the fact a girl is wearing a see-through blouse and miniskirt does not necessarily mean she is soliciting. The judge acquitted a girl identified only as Maria F., 22, of soliciting charges filed by a policeman because of her attire. Maria, a philosophy student, testified she was on her way to a date with her fiancé when the policeman stopped her.

B52 Bombers Pound Ho Chi Minh Trail For 44th Consecutive Day

SAIGON (UPI)—American B52 Stratofortresses bombed the Ho Chi Minh trail in eastern Laos for the 44th consecutive day Friday, prolonging the heaviest air assault of the Indochina war to cut the flow of Communist supplies to South Vietnam and Cambodia. Military sources said the planes dropped 250 tons of bombs along the battered trail Friday, the average amount of the daily drop since the raids began. Three of the B52s flying from bases in Thailand were diverted from Laos Friday and raided suspected Communist positions east of the border near the former U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh, the third reported raid by B52s in South Vietnam in the past six weeks. Other U.S. and South Vietnamese planes struck Friday at targets around Pleiku in the Central Highlands, military spokesmen said. The fighter-bombers hit in an area where a government regional force unit killed 34 Communists in ground fighting Thursday night and early Friday. The U.S. Military command said an Army OH6 observation helicopter was shot down Thursday near the eastern edge of the A Shau Valley, 375 miles northeast of Saigon, killing the two crewmen aboard. It was the third helicopter lost in two days in South Vietnam, raising the unofficial total of helicopters lost in Indochina to 1,832. The command said an investigation is underway of the slaying of two government regional force militiamen and the wounding of eight others by a U.S. Army Cobra gunship that fired accidentally into the force's position Thursday.

7th Anniversary Of Assassination To Be Marked In Dallas

By PRESTON MCGRAW
DALLAS (UPI) — For each of the past six years on Nov. 22, a nurse has walked down a sterile corridor in Parkland Hospital and hung a black wreath on the door of Trauma Room 1.

Sunday is the seventh anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. It was Mrs. Doris Elson's turn again to hang the wreath on the door.

Mrs. Elson is—and was then—supervisor of emergency rooms at Parkland, the city-county hospital to which Kennedy was rushed dying from an assassin's bullet Nov. 22, 1963.

The Trauma Room 1 ceremony has become a tradition at Parkland. As early as possible each Nov. 22 it is arranged the way it was when Kennedy died.

A nurse — Mrs. Elson if she is on duty — hangs a wreath on the door and closes it.

Room Goes Unused
The rest of the day Trauma Room 1 is not used unless patients fill Parkland's emergency facilities and there is no other place for the next patient.

The starkly simple Trauma Room 1 ceremony may be the most heartfelt in Dallas this year. Time has dulled the edges of the grief and a shock Kennedy's death caused.

Many residents feel there is less of a tendency to point the finger at Dallas as a "city of hate" than there was in 1963. For one thing, assassination has happened elsewhere.

The slain president's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, was assassinated in Los Angeles June 5, 1968. The Rev. Martin Luther King was assassinated in Memphis April 4, 1968.

The first couple of years after President Kennedy's assassination, the Dallas County Democratic Women's Club held ceremonies on the anniversary at the assassination site.

Memorial Service
For the past two years, the Democratic women have held a memorial service on Kennedy's birthday—May 30. They have stopped observances of the assassination on its anniversary.

"We feel this is a little less gloomy," said Mrs. James Tyson, president of the Democratic Women's Club.

"I think people have developed a new attitude. Those of us close to him felt this was a sort of city of hate.

"There was a prejudice in Dallas because Kennedy was Catholic. We are working on it, we have improved some, but we still have a long way to go."

Mrs. Tyson is Methodist.

Wreath Laying Planned
The Rev. Louis Saunders, president of the Dallas Council of Churches, will conduct a service at the John F. Kennedy Memorial at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Catholic Knights of Columbus will follow immediately with another service and wreath laying.

The Rev. William John Stack said a memorial mass Saturday night in Holy Trinity Catholic Church for Kennedy.

The Rev. Oscar Huber pastor of Holy Trinity Church gave Kennedy the last rites of his church. Father Huber transferred to St. Catherine Labourer Church at Sappington, Mo., three years ago.

About 300 members of the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are holding a district meeting in Dallas.

After an 11 a.m. mass Sunday they will march in a body to the new Kennedy Memorial for installation of new officers and a brief ceremony.

Memorial Dedicated
The John F. Kennedy Memorial, a concrete shell designed to give the feel of an empty tomb, was dedicated last June 24. It is in the middle of a landscaped block about 200 yards from the Texas School Book Depository, where Lee Harvey Oswald hid to kill Kennedy.

An inscription in black granite outside the memorial says: "The joy and sorrow of John Fitzgerald Kennedy's life belonged to all men. So did the pain and sorrow of his death. It is not a memorial to the pain and sorrow of death, but stands as a permanent tribute to the joy of one man's life."

The memorial is impressive, especially at night, when hidden lights make it look as if it were suspended, without support.

Given Passing Glance
But the people who come to Dallas nearly every day in the year want to see where it happened and many give the memorial only a passing glance on the way to Dealey Plaza, which looks across a little park to the assassination site on Elm Street.

None of the persons involved remains alive. Oswald, of course, was killed Nov. 24, 1963, in the basement of the Dallas City Hall by Jack Ruby, a nightclub operator.

Ruby was convicted of murder and sentenced to the electric chair. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overthrew the verdict on the ground that Ruby's trial had been turned into a "circus" and the trial should have been held somewhere other than Dallas.

Three years after he was sentenced to death, Ruby died of cancer, legally an innocent man.

though millions of Americans saw him shoot Oswald on television.

Secondary characters continue to die steadily. The last to die was Dallas Sheriff Bill Decker, who took a leading part in the assassination investigation and whose deputies guarded Ruby night and day for more than three years to make sure somebody did not kill him.

Some Youth Problems Lie With Adults' Hostility Toward Young

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some of the problems of youth today lie simply with adults' hostility toward the young.

Grownups have helped to create their own Frankenstein, as it were, by a great putdown of the young people, says a woman who for 17 years was a referee in the San Francisco juvenile court system, came to New York to help develop the city's family court, and now directs the National Commission on Resources for Youth, in its third year.

Mary Conway Kohler will head up the forum on children's rights when it participates in the White House Conference on Children Dec. 13-18.

Behind the youth rebellion, there is youth battling for the rights adults have denied them, Mrs. Kohler said in an interview.

"Bill of Rights"
"I hate to say it," she commented, "but we're hostile to our kids. As adults, we say, 'We'll get to you later.' We don't need them. We evince our hostility by the simple act of showing that we haven't developed an orderly transition from youth to adulthood."

Mrs. Kohler, who studied law at Stanford University, has drawn up in effect a child's "Bill of Rights"—rights she feels the adult world owes its children. They include:

—The right to education. "Think of it," she says, "a child deprived of schooling because a principal didn't like his long hair."

—The right to counsel and to a hearing if he runs afoul of the law. "The juvenile courts have had the right over the children...the state has been the ultimate parent," as she put it.

"We talk about doing something for the child's good, then lock him in an institution without counsel...a child goes into a detention home for months, even years as a 'temporary.'"

—The right to take on responsibility—"to participate, to be responsible for something other than himself. Schools and youth centers have to go about this...schools give him no responsibility for choice of curricula, the community gives him no choice in community efforts..."

—The right to grow up in a society without discrimination.

—The right to affection, to grow up nurtured by it. Mrs. Kohler decried the way the law, for instance, will jail a scowflaw, leaving a "parentless home." "Isn't there," she asked, "some other way of punishing the adult without also punishing the child?"

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jimmy Stewart, what's going on with movies, television and the theater?

He's a good man to ask. Stewart has starred in 75 films, been on Broadway, won an Oscar in 1940 (Philadelphia Story), and made the first deal for an actor participating in profits with a major studio (Universal's "Winchester '73").

His answer: "I keep trying to analyze what's happening to show business. I love it, have faith in it, and I've benefited from it for more than 35 years. I care about movies."

"It's very easy to say that there'll always be a show business. And just as easy to say it's dead. The truth lies somewhere between."

"Bit I was brought to a start recently when I spent almost seven weeks on location in Moundsville, W.Va. It's a mining and manufacturing town with beautiful trees, freshly painted houses and a population of 16,000—the same as it was 25 years ago."

"People talk of poverty pockets, but not in Moundsville."

It's prosperous, the young people aren't moving away. They have four beautiful elementary schools, seven churches and two fine high schools.

"It's a county seat and the business section is flourishing. 'What I'm leading up to is this: there used to be four motion picture theaters in Moundsville. Now there are none! That brought me up short."

"I asked the citizens why and I got different answers but I had the impression they were enthusiastic movie fans."

"It finally got down to the fact people didn't like the kind of pictures being made. So they quit going. But they still enjoy movies on television. It's a nostalgic thing for older people and young alike."

"They especially enjoy the films of the 40s and early 50s. They've almost become collector's items. Hell, maybe I've become a collector's item myself."

"If they want to see a movie they have to drive 35 miles to Wheeling. The closing of those four movie houses reveals a lot of things."

Farm Bureau Leaders Elected

FT. WORTH (Sp) — The Texas Farm Bureau elected two new officers, one new director, at its 37th annual meeting here Nov. 8-11.

J.T. (Red) Woodson of Gober in Fannin County, a grain and livestock farmer, was named president of the 121,158-member organization, succeeding Sidney Dean of Victoria. Carol G. Chaloupka, Dalhart, was elected secretary-treasurer, replacing H.L. King of Brownfield who remains on the board; and M.F. (Mike) Frost, McAllen, was elected state director from District 4, a position formerly held by Woodson.

PAMPA DAILY NEWS 6 PAMPA, TEXAS 3rd Year Sunday, November 22, 1970

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

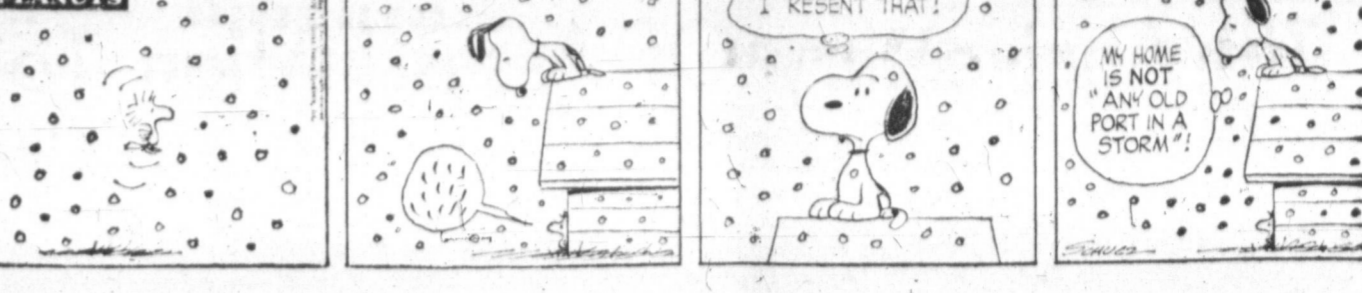

SUNDAY NOV. 22, 1970
Your birthday Sunday! The Sun enters the sign Sagittarius today at 12:35 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Babies born before the minute are Scorpios, those born after are Sagittarians. The time the Sun changes signs is the magic in different years, can even be a day before or after dates generally used. Both scorpios and Sagittarians born today are promised last-minute opportunities of all sorts, be it a promotion shift in vocational interests. Sunday's natives: Scorpio like to be powerful friend of the year, Sagittarius seek precision, exact expression of truth, but rarely in the abstract.
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Save your money but don't fret over it. Focus on ways of improving your general economy. Think carefully about the wisdom of your present course.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Pastimes are up to claim much of your energy Sunday. Think your subconscious can dig out a new, more precise, exact expression of truth, but rarely in the abstract.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Do something to make your home life better, even a seemingly minor thing. Healthy self-esteem and an awareness of your situation will find the answer.
CANCER (June 21-July 21): The temptation is to come with your favorite pastimes, while your best interests are in planning them with others, even traveling to do so.
LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): Added expense is indicated, so seek ways of making a difference. Plan a good surprise for your loved ones; clear up any misunderstanding early.
VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Get an early start do your share in the community's development. There are people you should see, and most are in a friendly mood. You may discover an old, well-kept secret.
LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): Carrying your share of family and community affairs brings rewards, some immediate. A great deal is to be learned—listen carefully study the meanings of what you hear.
SCORPIO (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): With an eye start your mission, but don't quite an achievement. Cooperation, simply presented goals are somewhat easier to accomplish.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your part in community observations turns out to be important to both you and your neighborhood. Renew old contacts, return past favors, and CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your feelings are closer to the surface on this exciting day. Seek new social contacts, opportunities for self-improvement. End any bad habit; make your resolution early.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take life as it comes, within simple plans. Family affairs promise pleasant surprises. Evening is excellent for entertainment—find or give a small party.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You come to a turning point—what you do now produces greater effects later. Stay on the move. Enjoy sharing life with loved ones and friends.
MONDAY, NOV. 23, 1970
Your birthday Monday! Responsibility comes to you this year, not much leeway for personal planning. Inescapable choices come to you from your community. Most of what you attempt without clear perspective, and thus depends largely on faith and intuition. Express themselves strongly and well under the stresses of the year. Monday's natives are very practical and perfection in all they do.
ARIES (March 21-April 19): For once an early start only adds to confusion—nothing is quite what it seems to be at all times. Let things settle a bit, then do what is most urgent.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): With the evening is for taking action, which is essential. If the money is not all yours, do nothing with it now. Reflect on what should be done about your situation.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Creative work is favored, at the expense of routine with resultant misunderstandings. It will take a while to figure out Monday's mysteries, so think about them and schedule. Just be sure what you do is well recorded.
LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): Your imagination brings you much drama, opinion that is nature, but next very practical for financial planning. Invested. Relax early.
VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Your interests and earnings advance as you feel your way through peculiar, stressful conditions that you may not understand. Let well enough alone.
LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): Promises Monday's little more than wishful thinking. Staying put, checking things out pays better than intricate search patterns, hasty journeys.
SCORPIO (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): Extra care with possessions is advised. Any significant deals involve factors not readily visible; you find later the story later more complex.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Business and personal ventures thrive despite confusion and incomplete information—intuition avoids unnecessary changes or hasty reactions.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Strive for a direct approach. Don't seek money; invest direction; rely on your own efforts; the needs of others under their appointments. Accept overtime as a special opportunity.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Afternoon brings improved conditions. You can achieve a goal, but by postponing the results of morning effort. Put in extra time if it is feasible.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Start late on, if you can, take the day off for refreshment of mind. If you must work, expect misunderstandings. Patience brings rewards later.

BARNES TO SPEAK: HOUSTON (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes will speak Tuesday at a luncheon at the Southwest Center for Urban Research, according to Dr. Ralph Conant, director of the University of Houston Institute for Urban Studies. Barnes' topic will be "The 62nd Legislature and Urban Problems."

Washington Window

By GEORGE J. MARDER
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic power brokers, some real and some fancied, are operating along the Washington cocktail circuit and in the Capitol lobbies to prepare for the upcoming contest for House majority leader.

The selection will not be made until the next Congress convenes in January. But the preliminary maneuvers are fast, fanciful and frequent in the once-in-a-generation, free-for-all to pick a successor to Congressman Carl Albert of Oklahoma as Democratic floor leader.

Albert is scheduled to move up to speaker, succeeding John McCormack who is quitting. Albert is publicly remaining uncommitted. That has made the field wide open, with at least half a dozen mentioned as possibilities, most of them hopeful and soliciting support either openly or otherwise.

There are some congressmen who feel that Albert is not as aloof as he makes out in keeping above the battle and that at the minimum, he's exercising a negative influence. It's pointed out that when McCormack became speaker, he gave his blessings to Albert, then his whip, to succeed McCormack as floor leader. With this backing, Albert had no trouble making it to the leadership spot.

Now by opening the field to free choice, Albert has withheld a similar favor for his own whip, Congressman Hale Boggs of Louisiana. Boggs is ready, anxious and hoping to be so blessed. It's not apt to be forthcoming from Albert, and if Boggs makes it, it will have to be on his own, in competition with at least six others: James O'Hara of Michigan; Morris Udall of Arizona; Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois; Ed Boland of Massachusetts; B. F. Sisk of California, and Wayne Hays of Ohio.

The list of those being talked about by members is growing during this lame duck session of Congress, with those coming to or returning next year the object of numerous attentions.

Meanwhile, here's what's happening: Congressmen from at least one state are known to be trying to operate under the much-discredited unit rule in casting their votes for leader. The unit rule binds all members of a delegation to vote for the majority choice, regardless of individual preference. The last Democratic National Convention officially frowned on use of the unit rule as undemocratic. A member frankly acknowledged the hope that the unit rule will put the delegation in a top bargaining position for "some goodies."

What goodies? "Oh a few choice committee assignments, among others."

White Deer, Childress Win Bi-Districts

WD Plays Petersburg For Regional Honors

By HARLAN HYSMITH
Staff Sports Writer

A fast, smooth offense, a hard-nosed, ball-hawking defense and some Clarendon miscues handed the White Deer Bucks a 28-0 win over the Clarendon Broncos in a Class A bi-district game played in Clarendon Friday night.

The Bucks will meet the Petersburg Buffaloes sometime next week for the Class A regional title. Petersburg, unbeaten and untied, took a 35-6 bi-district win over the Kress Kangaroos to reach the regional playoffs.

Junior Jerry Urbanczyk picked off a fourth quarter Bronco pass by junior quarterback Mac Tomlinson with 6:38 left in the game and raced 63 yards for the score to put the game safely away for the Bucks. Four plays later, Buck senior Martin McCloud put the icing on the cake by intercepting another Tomlinson aerial and taking it to the Bronco 12 yard line. Stymied in their running game, the Bucks took to the air with White Deer quarterback Phil Miller connecting with Pat Hudgins for the final seven yards and the final touchdown.

Clarendon kicked off to start the game. The Bucks made one first down but had to punt. The White Deer defense which held the Bucks' opponents to only 39 points in regular season play held the Broncos to three plays on their initial possession of the football. The punt put White Deer on the Clarendon 49 yard line.

White Deer bit off chunks of Clarendon real estate two, three, and four yards at a time. A 12 stripe pass from Miller to Guinn gave coach J. T. Hill's gridders a first down on the Clarendon ten yard marker. Junior running back Terry Sargent was stopped for no gain. On the next play Guinn took it in from the ten.

Guinn kicked the extra point to give the Bucks a 7-0 lead with 2:54 left in the first period. The Buck trenchmen and back-up men held Clarendon again and the Bucks got the ball on their own 36 following a Johnny Gillean boot. White Deer consistently made third down yardage on the drive, winding up on the Bronco two yard line. Guinn hit the line for the tally and added the point after to make the score 14-0. Bucks, with 9:46 to go in the first half.

Clarendon had a scoring opportunity at the end of the second quarter when Tomlinson connected with Danny Hill for 23 yards to the Bronco 35. Another Tomlinson pass was good for 36 yards to the Buck 13. Three plays later the Bronco aerial specialist caught Gillean for an apparent touchdown. Gillean, however, was out of the end zone when he caught the ball. White Deer took over at the 13 after a fourth down pass went through the receiver's hands. White Deer moved the ball steadily until the Bronco defense came to life inside the Clarendon 20. A fumble recovery by Clarendon junior Ronnie Hill stopped the Bucks at the 16.

Clarendon was moving the ball when the buzzer sounded ending the first half of play. The teams went into the locker rooms with White Deer having a 14-0 edge.

The second half started with White Deer's All-State candidate Ricky Thurman kicking. Gillean returned the ball to the Bronco 35.

Overanxiousness caused a Clarendon fumble, that was recovered by Urbanczyk on the Bronco 29. The Clarendon line dug in at the one yard line to stop the Bucks.

Clarendon returned the pigskin to the White Deer 47 before being halted. A Gillean kick backed the Bucks up to the White Deer six yard stripe. The Clarendon defense got fired up and kept White Deer from getting the first down.

The punt put the Broncos back on their own 46 with only 3:59 left in the third quarter. Time was running out for the Broncos' bi-district hopes.

Clarendon consistently moved the ball until another fumble forced them into a third and 17 on the Bronco 48. Danny Hill drew an offensive pass, interference call when he shoved Guinn on the next play from scrimmage. The penalty gave the Broncos a fourth and 32 on their own 35 yard marker.

The third quarter ended with White Deer on their own 41 yard line. Clarendon defensive players Elray King and Ronnie Hill made outstanding plays to halt the Bucks' threat. The ball went over on downs to the Broncos with 9:23 left in the contest.

Playing desperation football, Clarendon went more and more to the passing game in order to catch the Bucks. The Broncos had a winning chance if they could score soon.

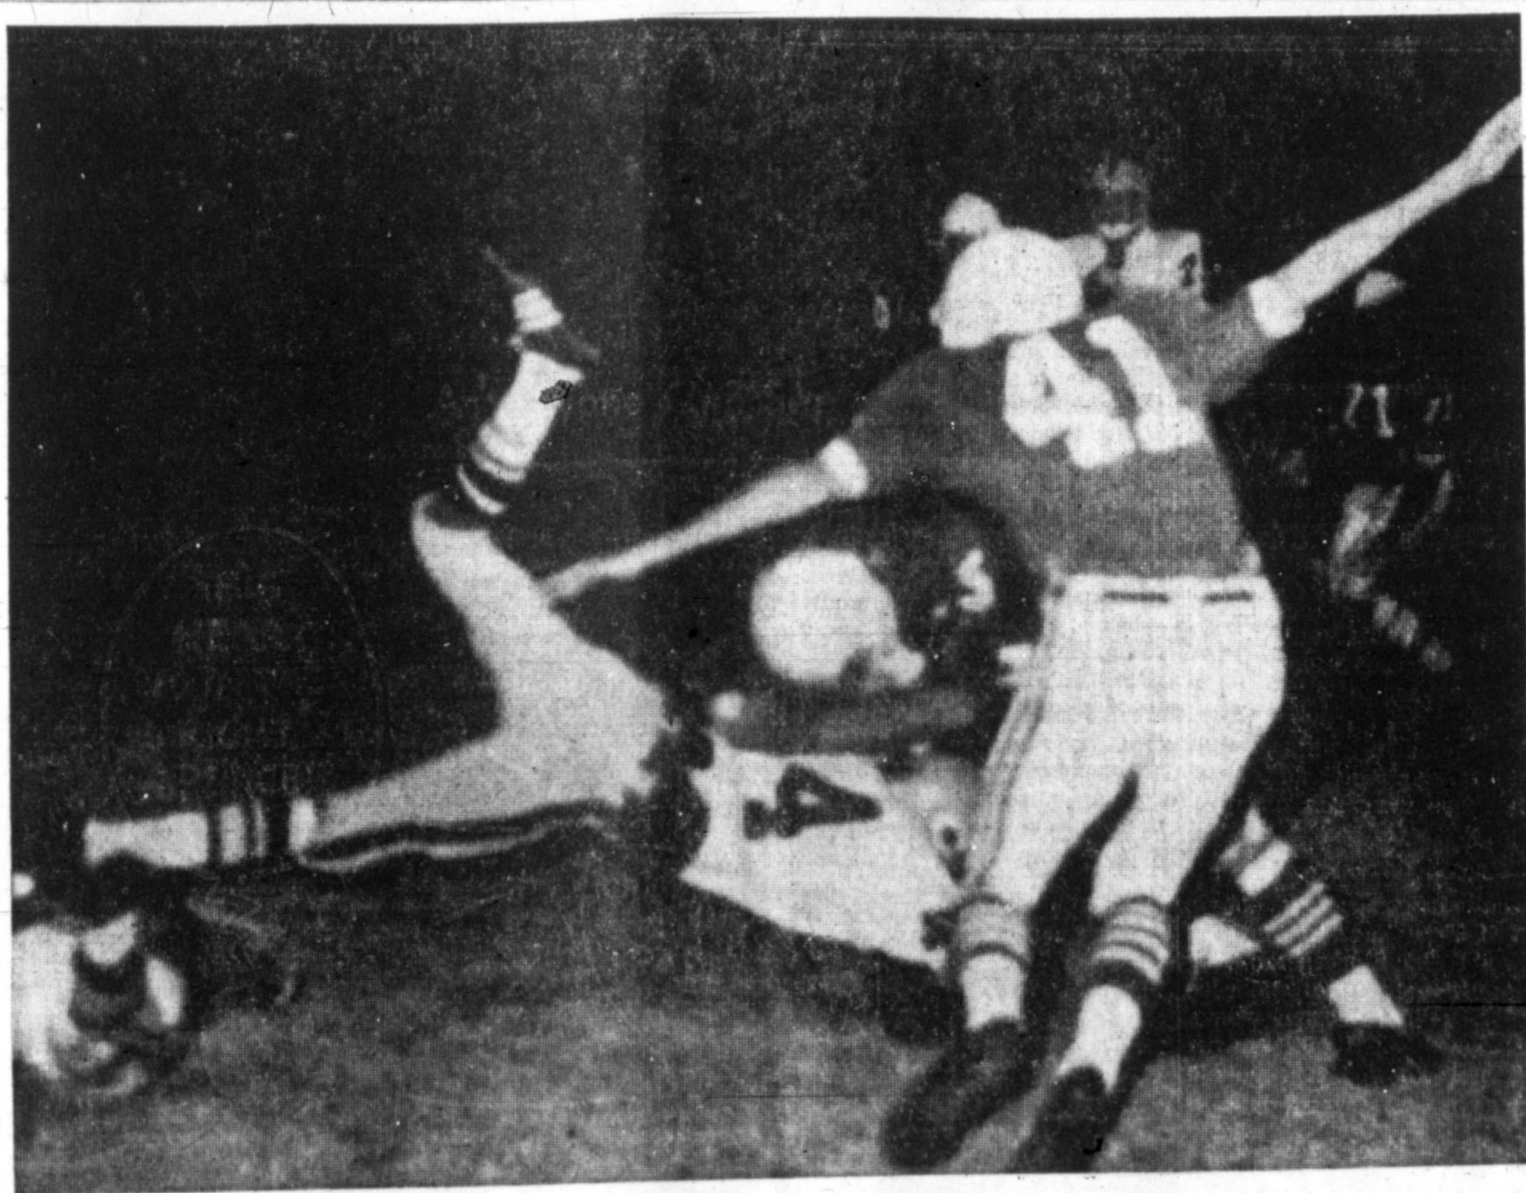

David Guinn shattered the Broncos bi-district hopes with his interception return. McCloud's snare a few plays later administered the final blow to the Broncos' dream. The final Clarendon threat was snuffed out by Oddie Nickell when he recovered a fumble.

Baylor Overwhelmed By SMU's Comeback

DALLAS (UPI)—Gary Hammond lunged three, two and one yards for touchdowns, and Southern Methodist's alert secondary pliered four passes and limited three Baylor quarterbacks to two completions in 20 tries for 21 yards Saturday in a 23-10 SMU victory.

Hammond, who workhored his way 32 times for 70 yards rushing, brought a breath of life to a faltering SMU ground game that had been held to a minus two yards in the first half by a swarming Baylor defense.

He also contributed one 44-yard pass completion in his only throw of the day, but caught eight from quarterback Chuck Hixson for 61 yards as the Methodists were forced to turn to the air to make any headway against the angry Baylor defense. Hixson completed 19 of 34

Arkansas' Richardson Leads Razorbacks To Tech Defeat

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Sophomore tailback Jon Richardson came off the bench to score two touchdowns Saturday and lead the sixth-ranked Arkansas-Razorbacks to a 24-10 decision over Sun Bowl-bound Texas Tech.

Richardson scored on blasts of one and two yards, and a two-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Bill Montgomery to Pat Morrison halted Tech's hopes for a share of the Southwest Conference championship.

It also set up for the second straight year an end-of-the-season conference title showdown between Arkansas and No. 1 Texas on Dec. 5 in Austin, Tex.

WTSU Cage Star In Hall Of Fame

CANYON—West Texas State University basketballer, Ray Golson has been taken into the Louis D. Brandise High School Basketball Hall of Fame. Golson, 6-4, junior guard, set team scoring records at Brandise prior to his graduation from the New York City high school in 1968. Golson was an all-regional selection last year while playing for Christian College of the Southwest in Garland.

PBA Leaders Being Pressured By Soutar

AKRON, Ohio—Dave Soutar, Gilroy, Cal., is heavily favored to take the $6,000, first prize money in the $50,000, American Airlines Open in Detroit this weekend. If he should repeat as a champion of the tournament he won a year ago, he'll be a solid threat to Mike McGrath, Nelson Burton, and Don Johnson, the current top three money winners of the Professional Bowlers Association (PBA).

Childress Wins 14-6

The district champion Phillips Blackhawks and Childress Bobcats met in Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo Friday night for the Class AA bi-district title and, when the smoke had cleared, the Bobcats had eked out a narrow 14-6 victory.

Larry Johnson and Kevin Wood were equally responsible for the Childress win. Johnson penetrated the Blackhawk goal line from eight yards for both of the Childress scores. Wood, the Bobcat quarterback, showed tremendous desire and determination playing the Bobcat defensive secondary.

Phillips got on the scoreboard first on a 13 yard jaunt by fullback Raymond Guest. The scoring drive stalled but a roughing the kicker penalty kept the Blackhawk's drive in progress. Guest picked up 35 yards on that drive and ended up with 80 yards in 23 carries.

Fumbled punts set up both the Bobcats' scores. Steve Kurlt bobbled a Childress punt in the third quarter and Ricky McIntyre fell on the loose pigskin on the 'Hawks' 23 yard line. Four plays later, Johnson moved in. The kick by Wood was good and the Bobcats led 7-6.

The third quarter ended with no further scoring. History repeated itself in the fourth quarter in a way the Blackhawk's aren't likely to forget for years. Only 9:59 remained in the game when the Bobcats ran into another punting situation. The punt fell into the hands of Blackhawk David Lewis—and fell out to be recovered by Childress' James Logan. Johnson scored, Wood kicked and the Bobcats jumped out into a 14-6 lead. The lead was good to the final whistle.

Phillips outplayed Childress in the first half but couldn't keep their momentum in the second half. The Blackhawk's scoring drive consumed 60 yards in eight plays. Most of the game, however, was a defensive battle. Billy Culwell surpassed Guest's performance for the Blackhawk's with 90 yards in 18 carries. Johnson got 70 yards in 19 spurts for Childress.

Stanford Upset By California

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Dave Penhall, California's unheralded quarterback, upstaged Jim Plunkett Saturday in a 22-14 upset victory over the Rose Bowl bound Stanford Indians, passing for one touchdown and running for another in a near-perfect performance. Penhall, throwing most of the time while on the run, baffled Stanford's defense by completing 18 of 36 passes for 231 yards. His touchdown throw covered 10 yards to Bob Darby and he ran one yard for the other California score.

Lefors In 28-13 District Win

The Lefors Pirates beat Follett 28-13 in Lefors Friday night in a crucial District 1-B grid clash.

The Lefors win threw District 1-B into a three-way tie that was decided by the flip of a coin. Coach Scott Dunham was wearing his lucky rabbit's foot and the Pirates won the toss to become the District 1-B champs.

Chuck Aedleman started the scoring for Lefors by falling on a Follett fumble in the Panthers' end zone. The Panthers came back fast with Joe Bob Baker going in from the Pirate one yard line. Kicks by Mike Robbins of Lefors and Steve Becker for Follett finished out the scoring in the first quarter, which ended in a 7-7 tie.

Follett managed to put another tally on the scoreboard in the second quarter. Follett game caller Becker found Dan Sams in the clear for a 55 yard

Jim Harding

Detroit U's Harding

'I'm Sure I'm Right'

By IRA BERKOW, DETROIT (NEA)—In the midst of all of his troubles, basketball coach Jim Harding of the University of Detroit, received a letter from a Vietnam War veteran which, said Harding, "made my throat heavy and my eyes misty, even though you wouldn't normally consider me an emotional person."

The letter was from U.S. Army Major Art Radvalis, who had played for Harding when he coached at Loyola University in New Orleans.

"I hadn't heard from Art in 10 years," said Harding, "and I was surprised to get the letter. He said he wanted to tell me that the things I taught him helped him come back from Vietnam alive. Things like unselfishness, mental preparedness, physical preparedness. He didn't say this but I was reading between the lines."

"He said he didn't appreciate my dogmatic ways and everything when he played for me, but looking back he said that I can make a champion out of anyone who has guts."

"I never did know how Art really felt. You know, most people are not appreciated at the time when they are doing something constructive."

"Oh, yes, there have been some players I have hurt because of my demands. Not everyone can respond to my program. But this letter, from a major in the permanent army, well, I was touched."

Most recently, it seems that the entire Detroit varsity could not "respond" to Harding's program. They quit the squad en masse because, they said, they suffered verbal and physical abuse from him and were "not treated like human beings." They since have returned, under the climate of an uneasy truce. Their athletic scholarships, about $3,500 a year, could have been withdrawn had they remained on the sidelines.

For Harding, 41, this is another in a series of problems which have resulted from his unyielding, "dogmatic ways" at Loyola. His first college job after leading a Milwaukee high school team to the state championship, he alienated the Jesuit fathers when they discovered he was shopping for another job. At Gannon College (Pa.) the athletic board refused to allow him to take the team to a postseason tournament. When hard feelings arose, Harding moved on to LaSalle.

At LaSalle he recommended that two players have their scholarships withdrawn. Also in that period, LaSalle was put on NCAA probation. He then went to the Minnesota Pipers of the ABA where the players became antagonized at his domineering tactics and the beginning of the end was when Harding punched Gabe Rubin, Pipers' chairman of the board.

"That," said Harding, "was the only thing I've regretted in my career. It was poor judgment. Hitting him was belittling to me as a man."

Through it all, Harding has been a winning coach. His teams on all levels have won over 80 per cent of their games. "All I want, out of life," he has said, "are championships."

Jim Harding, contrary to popular belief, is human. And his troubles at the University of Detroit have made an impression on him. He insists that he hasn't changed his basic philosophy, but, he says, "I'm 100 per cent less high pressure than I was from my early days, and 50 per cent less than last year."

"I find myself wanting to be patient, but I'm not a patient man by nature. For example, we're working on the press offense in practice and guys aren't going in their proper patterns and they aren't deep enough to meet the ball. So there's repetition and repetition and repetition. You lose patience. I say to myself now, 'Try to be patient.' And there have been times when I've come home after practice, after having been vehemently critical of a player, and I've felt sorry because perhaps I'd hurt the kid's morale. He seemed depressed."

Harding says he is 5-10 1/2, but appears shorter perhaps because his build is fireplug compact. His blondish hair has receded, leaving only soft sprigs in its wake on the front of his head. He is not the type of man for small talk. It does not seem easy for him to laugh, though his steadfast blue eyes can show pleasure.

He sits in his small UD office and his sport jacket is buttoned up and the maroon and gray silk puff in his breast pocket matches his maroon tie. On the book shelf behind him, is a framed article of thought with the heading: "What's so wrong about America that we're so frantic to change it?" The essence is that things are pretty good here, despite all the protesting.

Harding admits that he is "not much of a psychologist. But I never really felt that psychology in team preparation was that important. My philosophy has been that a team must be better prepared physically, technically and mentally than the opponent. By Wooden player throw his jacket on the bench in disgust, after coming out of a game. Wooden's teams are greatly under control. I feel if a boy gets pressure in practice he will be accustomed to it and will handle it better in a game.

"Part of our world problems today is too much permissiveness. In our society today, people interfere with the normal business by marching, breaking windows, throwing rocks without being penalized harshly.

"I think kids are changing today because we're allowing them to change. At Detroit, we tell them what the program is. If they accept it, they come. If they don't like it, don't come."

Jurgensen Best But Frustrated

By IRA BERKOW, NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Like so many of his accomplishments, Sonny Jurgensen's feat of moving into second place in all-time yards gained by passing was obscured by the pall of defeat.

Jurgensen, in the second quarter of a recent game against the New York Giants, passed Y.A. Tittle and edged behind Johnny Unitas in the record book. But the Washington Redskins had squandered a 19-point fourth-quarter lead and lost.

"I want to go out a winner," said Jurgensen, dressing after the game. "This was a big game for us. It would have given us a good chance at the division championship. When I was younger, I'd say that next year we'd get it back. Now I don't know how many next years I've got left."

Christian Adolph Jurgensen III, 36, has been a professional quarterback for 14 years. He broke in with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1957, and was traded to the Redskins on April Fool's Day, 1964.

Only a few of the teams he has led had better than 500 records. He took over as first-string quarterback of the Eagles in 1961, after Norm Van Brocklin retired with a world's championship to his credit. Jurgensen, with an aging team, began breaking league passing records, but the Eagles began dropping and finished last in 1962 and 1963.

He did not fare much better with poor Redskin teams. Yet his reputation as a quarterback grew in esteem with professionals, if not with the fans. "I wanted Bobby Mitchell and me to be introduced before a game far apart from each other. I wanted to see where the boos ended for him and began for me," he said wryly.

But Giant quarterback Fran Tarkenton said, "In the last decade, I'd have to say that John Brodie and Jurg were the best quarterbacks in the league."

But "best quarterbacks" don't win championships alone. And Brodie has never won, either. The taint of a loser has been felt by other stars in other sports, as well. Jerry West, Elgin Baylor, Oscar Robertson is basketball, for example. So there develops a nebulous undercurrent that these fellows just blow it in the clutch. Though professionals know intellectually that this is claptrap, they still succumb to the belief emotionally.

"It becomes a joke after awhile," Jurgensen said. "Of course, I cry a lot, too."

No one doubts that Jurgensen's arm is still as splendid as his pot belly. But an arm is not the only requirement for a winning quarterback. Rudy Bukich and Ed Brown were two of the best arms in football, but where are they now?

Yet Jurgensen is magnificent at reading defenses, at throwing accuracy and getting the ball away rapidly. Sometimes his motivation has been questioned, and people have wondered how a plump quarterback can really care. "You throw with your arm and not your stomach," has been Jurgensen's retort. He also says that his love for cocktails and cocktail waitresses has been overplayed.

Yet when Vince Lombardi took over as Redskins coach in 1969, Jurgensen was so thrilled (some expected him to bridle at Lombardi's doctrinaire techniques) that he slimmed down and ran practice drills with the fervor of a freshman.

"I saw myself as a man who had applied himself diligently to professional football for 12 years," he said, "and I never really got the most out of it. I saw them as frustrating years. I was up to here with records."

Baja Run Tortures Men And Their Automobiles

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In a reckless moment, the author accepted an invitation to ride as a passenger in the recently concluded Mexican 1000 off-road race. Following is his report, pecked out with strained fingers from a standing position.)

By BOB COCHNAR, NEW YORK (NEA)—If "fabulous firsts" are your thing, you may be interested to know that, after 48 hours of unrelenting horror, I have become the first person ever to run the Mexican 1000 as a passenger in a propane gas-powered Ford Condor motor home.

There may have been others, but I am convinced they were forced to choose between the race and jumping over the Grand Canyon in a suit of armor. I volunteered.

The desert of Baja California (that peninsula of land which shoots southward from California) is about as hospitable to vehicles and men as Venus's flytraps are to flies. Yet this did not prevent 500 men and 250 vehicles from attempting to race 832 miles from Ensenada in the north to La Paz in the south. The men paid $250 per vehicle for the privilege.

Having had a vague interest in this treacherous off-road race company Wes Thomas and Walt Kiefer in their 14,000-pound Condor outfitted with such luxuries as beds, a shower, stove and chemical john. "A piece of cake," Thomas allowed as we rumbled into position at the start line.

Thomas is 59 years old and appeared to be of sound mind and body. Kiefer is president of the Condor Coach Corp and surely he had faith in his product.

And guys like James Garner and Parnelli Jones and other normal-looking types were competing, so what was the problem?

Youth Center To Sponsor Men's Basketball

The Pampa Youth and Community Center will again sponsor a men's winter basketball league.

Membership in the league is open to any sponsored team in the Pampa area. Entry fees will be 745 per team plus referee fees of $5. per team for each game played.

In addition to the team fees, each player must be a center member or pay a 50-cent admission charge for each game. A six-months individual membership in the Youth Community Center is $5.

If a team does not have a sponsor, one of the members may contact George Smith, director of the Center, at 665-2012 or 665-2622.

Financial arrangements can be worked out to allow any team to participate.

Team representatives are urged to be present at the Community Center at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 30, for an organizational meeting.

La Cultura Study Group Reviews Texas Politics

La Cultura Study Club members met recently at Mrs. Wayne Hampton's home 1616 Fir, and voted to have a Christmas party Dec. 4. Husbands will be special guests for the 7 p.m. party at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Mrs. William Chafin, presenting the program on Texas politics after 1900, said, "The discovery of oil at Spindletop was important to Texas politics because it brought new industry and an economic boom that could not be ignored by politicians."

After Joe Bailey was elected Senator from Texas in 1905, his connections with oil companies doing business in Texas was questioned.

"Three factors have had the greatest influences on Texas politics oil, race and prohibition. In 1914 James Ferguson was elected governor as the representative of the farmer and small business man. By 1917 he was charged with fraud and impeached by the Texas Senate. He ran again and lost, but when he had his wife, 'Ma Ferguson' run for the governorship, she won," Mrs. Chafin said.

"During the campaign it was a choice between Ma Ferguson or a representative of the Ku Klux Klan. During her administration a law was passed making it unlawful to wear a mask in public thus closing up the Ku Klux Klan.

"She was also instrumental in prohibiting drug stores from selling liquor for medicinal purposes. Ferguson again ran for governor and lost again. He once more backed his wife, and in 1932 she became governor again," Mrs. Chafin said.

Those attending were Mmes. Chafin, David Damron, Tom Charbliss, Fon Wilson, Robert Elliott, Walter Colwell, Ralph Dozier, Carl Adcock, Charles Arledge, Lee Foxworthy, John Ellis and Hampton.

Students Addresses Cotillion Members

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club members, meeting with Mrs. J.W. Campbell, 1330 Williston, planned their Christmas project and Antique Show and heard a program on a Pampan's visit to Europe. Mrs. Jack Pape, named as a new member, was among the 11 members attending the program by Connie Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Barber. Miss Barber, introduced by Mrs. Campbell, was a member of the Lion's Exchange program last Summer. She lived a month in Sweden and visited four other European countries. She was one of 62 students from Texas who lived in foreign countries on the Lion's Exchange Program.

In her comments, Miss Barber said her Swedish father was a meat distributor for the government. His wife operated a beauty shop. The government is socialist and controls every facet of life. Youth seem to have no interest in religion, but some of the older people worship in the lovely church buildings there. The people like to have parties which often lasted late into the night, a night which was light into the early morning hours.

Members' next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Dec. 1 at the home of Mrs. W.E. Neslage, 2409 Comanche.

Fall's Nippy Air Calls Insects Inside

The tumbling leaves of Autumn are a reminder that soon it will be time to put up the storm windows — time to start moving indoors, to make your place warm.

And Fall is also a time when a group of outdoor insects casts around for a warm place to spend the Winter — your home for instance.

Commonly called "household invaders," some of these insects are biters such as ants, chiggers, brown dog ticks, and some flies. Most, however, are just unsightly nuisances that crawl about your home without doing any real harm. These include earwigs, millipedes, clover mites, springtails, boxelder bugs, and most infamous of all, roaches.

Penetrating your home is no real problem for these insects. Tiny cracks and crevices in walls and doors, a window left ajar for a moment — and in come the insects. Some even ride the family pet indoors.

The best way to stop this creeping, crawling infestation is to build yourself a "bug barrier" — a kind of insect "no man's land" across which they cannot pass. This is done by using one of the newer insecticides that will control many different kinds of insects with one application.

For example, homeowners have found that an application of lawn and garden insect control in a five to 15 foot band around the home foundation does the job. Tests have shown that chemicals which contain Diazinon will control over 120 different insects.

However, for maximum effectiveness, the bug barrier must be complete. Everything must be covered, including lawns, walks, shrubs and driveways. The insects will find even the smallest gap in your barrier. The liquid spray is found most effective for the shrub areas, as well as the walks and driveways. The lawn can be treated with a granular form applied with a lawn spreader.

Each member is to bring and exchange gift and salad, with the calories per serving listed.

Margaret Beck was crowned weekly queen for her 5 1/4 pound weight loss. One new member, Nancy Bridwell, was welcomed to the club.

Miss Americolor Crashes 'Race, Creed, Color' Bar

NEW YORK (NEA) — A girl next morning, as the child reaches the school grounds, she sees a mob of angry people barring her way. She starts moving toward the door of the school, trying not to hear the names they are calling her, trying not to see the gestures they're making. She is frightened. She looks at an old woman, seeking reassurance. The woman spits on her. She sees a policeman and runs to him for help. Surely, he will let her through. His bayonet bars her way. Her fear escalating to terror, the child pushes through the crowd to a park bench, where she sits, crying. When a bus comes along, she gets on; she has to find her mother. When mother and child meet, the mother is crying. And now the child knows why.

When the scene was over, the audience was hushed. Even Women's Lib wouldn't call this kind of beauty contest talent irrelevant.

But the emphasis of the pageant is not on wounds; it is on achievement.

This year's Miss Americolor, Caroline Paige, has dreams and the contest was the first step toward realizing them.

"They had notices up in school about the contest," Caroline explained, "and my cousin and I decided to enter just for fun."

Quilting Members Sponsor Dinner

MOBEETIE (Spl) — The Mobeetie Mt. View quilting club met at the Totty School house with Mrs. Earl Whitten and Mrs. Irvin Seitz as co-hostess for the day. The quilt Mrs. Whitten put in was finished. Mrs. Seitz's will be finished next meeting.

Those attending the dinner meeting were Mrs. Mary Brewer, Mrs. Lelia Roberts, Mrs. Beatrice Street, Mrs. Doyle Grimes, Mrs. Irvin Seitz and Mrs. Earl Whitten.

But the fun turned serious when Caroline was named first Miss Philadelphia, then Miss Pennsylvania and finally, Miss Americolor.

Her credentials are impressive. At the age of 20, she is teaching modeling and dancing. Her talent at the pageant was an interpretative dance to "A Taste of Honey."

Miss Americolor is all about "It is definitely not what the other pageants are about," Caroline said. "I watched the Miss America and the Miss Black America contests and the girls all looked the same. I like to look like myself, not a carbon copy of somebody else. That's what I always tell the girls who come to modeling school, too. "Sometimes a fat girl will come in because she wants to look like some woman she saw in a magazine. I always say, 'Don't look like anyone. Look like yourself.' And when her reign is over, Caroline pointed to a ring on the index finger of her left hand. "I have a date to get married," she said.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I lost my husband three years ago, and was left with three daughters who are 13, 14, and 16.

I met a man who was in the same boat. His wife died and left him with three sons, ages 10, 16 and 17. We had so much in common, this man and I, that we started seeing each other, fell in love, and within six months we were married. We pooled our resources and live in a lovely old, but large home, and everything seemed perfect, but it was too good to be true.

I suppose you are ahead of the story because the inevitable happened. Our two eldest daughters and sons like each other too much. We don't dare leave them alone any more. I am going out of my mind with worry. I suppose if a genuine "love" developed between his sons and my daughters nothing would be wrong with it, but I'm afraid there has already been too much intimacy. Please suggest something.

WORRIED MOM
DEAR MOM: The facts of the girls have been told the facts of life, and the boys, too. Under the circumstances, since you feel there is cause for concern. If possible send the girls or the boys to boarding school, relatives or friends. You can't keep them separated forever, of course, but the temptation will be reduced considerably, at least until they've had a chance to meet others and grow up.

DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem. My husband and I have recently become quite friendly with some neighbors who are about our age—middle 50's.

While playing cards, the man started playing "footsies" with me. I moved my foot and pretended not to notice. Then he grew bolder and started "finding my foot" no matter where I moved it.

I finally told my husband, and instead of getting mad, he laughed and said, "It doesn't mean anything. Forget it."

Well, I can't forget it. I have already cooled off my friendship with the wife, but the awkward part of the situation is that my husband continues to be friendly with the husband, and he can't see why we all can't be friends. Should I tell the man's wife why I cooled the friendship? Or should I resume friendship to please my husband?

IN DOUBT
DEAR IN: Don't tell the wife anything. Bot do tell the man that because your husband wants to be friendly with them you will give him another chance. But one wrong move and that's it!

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with two small children. My ex-husband pays me no alimony as he is broke. That's why I divorced him—no support.

Right now my husband is unemployed and he has no car so he thinks I should provide him with transportation every Sunday so he can see the children. I can't see spending my Sundays chattering him back and forth. Am I selfish?

GRIPED
DEAR GRIPED: No. Feeling as you do, tell your husband that if he wants to see the children on Sundays he will have to provide his own means of transportation. If he wants to see them, he'll find a way.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ONLY A HOUSEWIFE": What do you mean, "only"? As far as I'm concerned, the job of a housewife is an executive position. In her home you are the Director of Health, Education and Welfare, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Head of Entertainment and Public Relations, and Chairman of the House Rules Committee. And you'd have to be married to a millionaire to be paid what you're really worth.

A long, lean jacket is the secret of the elegant lines in the Tucker Knit, three-piece pants suit (left). Perfect for trips, whether around the world or just downtown, because the fabric won't crush or wrinkle. Pantastique creates the versatile three-piece pants suit (center) to take you through a day's long range of activities. Blazer and pants co-ordinate with print overblouse. These are in Quintess polyester. For evening Darlene's soft two-piece pants and top (right) are in a knit of Phillips 66 nylon.

Pants Create Maxi Fall Fashion News

NEW YORK (NEA)—Although psychiatrists haven't made a final report, there's no doubt that the hemline quandary is becoming contemporary woman's newest trauma. The dilemma makes one feel it would be simpler just to stay in bed.

Those who lead fashion and are not led by it are discovering a simple solution. Skirt the length issue with a complete wardrobe of pants. For women who have found a trousered life convenient, casual and cool in every sense of the word, there are pants for every occasion.

Thanks to synthetic knits, you are not only freed from hemline worries but also from your ironing board. These knits are perfect for travel since they shed the creases acquired en route or in a suitcase. A synthetic knit pants wardrobe is equally work-saving and money-saving. It is drip-dry and eliminates cleaning bills and makes possible a smaller, always available wardrobe.

Where can you wear your nifty group of pants suits? The tougher question to answer would be, "Where can't you?" A tailored blazer suit will take you through a busy day's routine of shopping, meetings, school visits. A striking long-jacketed pants suit could be the elegant answer to a day in the city, even to meeting your husband for dinner. The barriers against wearing pants anywhere are long since dawn. Even the most staid of restaurants now welcome pants-clad members of either sex with nondiscriminating enthusiasm.

For gala evening hours pants are the ultimate solution. You will look, dressy, casual and "with it," all at once.

With a wardrobe of pants so easy to wear, there is no need to worry about designers who dictate the hemlength.

French Women Favor Liberation Movement

PARIS (UPI)—So European women are more passive than U.S. Females? Don't give le difference, because women's lib is alive in France.

Four hundred women and girls from around the nation marched in their midis and maxis into a conference hall at Versailles near Paris recently for a three-day congress on how they see their station in life, their hopes, problems and solution.

The congress, organized by the women's magazine Elle, is the first such gathering in France.

Whether only a loud minority or the majority of French females think they should be liberated will be known on the eve of the congress when the results of a nation-wide questionnaire by the magazine are disclosed.

They Want Equality

Meanwhile, committees named by the magazine in 22 cities have been conducting roundtable discussions among women as a warm-up to the congress. The results have been headlined in newspapers from Lille to Nice and featured on radio. And they firmly indicate the French girl of 1970 no longer is the legendary coquette drenched in Chanel No. 5 who wants only to obediently ply males with amour and cuisine. In Rouen some women at the roundtable thought ladies should "live with resignation and dignity" in their interior place. But they were outnumbered by reformers who said society must give all members equal rights, despite the differences between men and women.

The Rouen woman complained that when it comes to jobs "the game isn't equal for men and women." Others said economic independence "should be the key to a just social situation, and demanded the government pay women salaries to rear children because "Maternity is productive. The mother gives to the country future consumers and producers."

One right the Rouen girls insisted upon was the right "to choose whether to have children, to marry or to work."

The roundtable participants in Lille complained women's magazines treat women "as women, wives and mothers, but never just as persons."

In Dijon, girls agreed that "we have the desire and need to work." The Grenoble women discussed why "women who work appear to be more satisfied with life than those who always remain housewives."

Author Rejects 'Police State' Terror Tactics

AUSTIN (UPI)—A spokesman for women's liberation said Thursday radicals are inviting repression by adopting terrorist tactics.

Kate Millett, author of "Sexual Politics," told a packed house at the ballroom of the University of Texas the political, economic and social revolution desired by protestors will come to pass by a process of "re-education."

She said "body tactics" such as revolutionary crimes and terrorist bombings were self-destructive.

"If you have a revolution of 1,000 bomb throwing revolutionaries you're going to have a police state because the revolutionaries would have to impose their system on the rest of the population," she said. "The only way you're going to have a revolution is for it, in fact, to be good enough so the people want it."

She received her loudest applause when she disavowed terrorist bomb attacks.

Autumn Harvest Inspires Thanksgiving Decorations

NEW YORK (N.Y.) (Sp)—Outside, the grass is turning brown and the nip of cold is in the air. The crisp Autumn weather has produced vibrant flashes of bright gold, soft bronze, burning reds and deep purple. The holiday season is imminent and its first major festivity is Thanksgiving.

With the activity focus through back to indoor living, brought back to indoor living there is greater interest in decorative accents for the home to enhance all formal and informal holiday parties. For Thanksgiving, the day set aside to pay tribute to the gifts of nature, an effective decorative approach is the combination of fresh flowers with Fall motifs and the natural beauty of the outdoors.

The color-drenched splendor of the harvest should spill over into fall designs but, florists note, constant selectivity should be used to prevent combinations of too many forms and colors. Containers for Fall floral arrangements are also of key importance, and are as numerous as the materials to fill them.

Besides composites, tureens, or the quaint Colonial appeal of brass, copper, or pewter vessels, baskets and other wicker-ware make captivating containers. At this time of the year some of the most beautiful floral designs are done in baskets . . . perhaps because they are made of nature's own products, and are lovely, natural foils for flowers.

With this in mind, florists have designed a striking seasonal arrangement, the "Thanksgiving" which will be offered throughout the country during the week preceding Thanksgiving.

For the holiday hostess, or as a special remembrance for friends or relatives out of town, features a pyramid design of this colorful arrangement, set in a lined wicker basket, features a pyramid design of bronze and yellow pompons, yellow daisy mums, and clusters of dried star flowers.

For a touch of the Autumn fields, the "Thanksgiving" will also include cattails, oak leaves, stems of leatherleaf fern, and tassels of wheat to complete a perfect holiday centerpiece.

A point to keep in mind, according to florists, is that fall's rich palette provides a wide variety of colors for truly creative floral designs. For example, the fiery oranges and reds of chrysanthemums tempered by the subdued purples of grapes and mellow browns of nuts, dried grasses and grains can be combined in an arrangement to score a natural seasonal hit.

Other items such as seed pods, ripe fruit, golden Indian corn, and even pheasant feathers can be used to rev-up the most traditional floral design and remind us all of the first Thanksgiving and the bounty of the harvest.

Brighten Lawns With Overseeding

SALEM, Ore. (Sp)—Wise home gardeners know there is an easy foolproof way to make even the grayest of Autumn days a little more cheerful.

This can be accomplished with a minimum of effort by spending a few hours in overseeding your lawn so that it remains a bright green all Winter long.

Those brown-lawn blues, which result when the first cold snap causes dormancy in the native grasses, can be quickly, easily and inexpensively chased away by overseeding with ryegrass.

Annual Ryegrass is available at seed dealers and garden supply stores in handy consumer packages at a nominal cost.

Overseeding is a trick even the amateur can do right the first time. First step in a good program of overseeding is to give the lawn a good raking.

Ideally, this is done with an old-fashioned metal-tined rake, but any good rake will do the job.

Raking removes the matted grass clippings and other debris that has accumulated at the surface of the ground during the Summer.

This accumulation, called "thatch," should not be allowed to gather on the lawn at any time because it will prevent water and fertilizers from getting to the roots of the grass.

It is especially important to remove thatch in Autumn. This is one of the causes of Bermuda grass losing its color earlier than normal dormancy time.

A blanket of thatch does not

Garden Club Makes Yule Decorations For Residents Of Convalescent Home

Pampa Garden Club members heard reports on civic beautification and made Christmas door decorations for patients at a convalescent home during a recent meeting at the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas. Mrs. Lee Moore was hostess.

For the business meeting and workshop, 22 members and one guest, Mrs. A.B. Cross, attended as Mrs. James Malone, president, began the meeting with a thought from Albert Schweitzer's philosophy.

The club's Civic Beautification Committee reported progress on the Pampa High School Capsule Garden and said shrubs furnished by the school have been planted and an eight by eight foot flower bed has been prepared for planting of bulbs and shrubs in school colors of green and gold.

Mrs. Milo Carlson reported the Junior Garden Club has chosen the name "Pampa Rosebuds," for their club, and voted to participate in the Smokey Bear Contest, and to make Christmas corsages for members of the Convalescent home.

Members will meet in Mrs. James Malone's home, 1915 Holly Lane at 9:15 a.m. Dec. 5 for the Christmas program and gift exchange.

Panhandle Water Grownups Sure Leave A Mess

By FELIX W. RYALS

The year 1970 goes into the record books as an exceptionally dry year for precipitation. Dryland wheat and sorghum grain farmers compare 1970 to the early 1950's. During the drought of the early fifties irrigation farming was unknown to the middle and upper Panhandle counties.

The first irrigation well was drilled in Carson County in December of 1951. The first irrigated crop in Carson County was produced in 1952. About one dozen farmers were irrigating by 1956. From 1956 to 1960 Carson and Gary Counties made a rapid transition from dryland to irrigation farming. The pace speeded up during the first four years of the 1960's.

The water needed for irrigation comes from an underground reservoir or aquifer called the Ogallala. Water engineers and hydrologists tell us that most of the water in this underground reservoir was deposited there many thousands of years ago. They also tell us that studies have shown that the Ogallala is being depleted at a much faster rate than it is being recharged or re-filled by the occasional rains falling on the Panhandle.

Irrigation of sorghum grain plus the favorable year round weather caught the attention of the feed lot operators in California, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa in 1964. They were invited to tour the Panhandle area. By July of 1970 Texas was second only to Iowa in the number of cattle in feed lots. Agricultural economists predict that Texas will be ahead of Iowa by July of 1971.

The packing houses have now followed the feed lots. By October of 1970 a dozen packing houses dotted the Panhandle. Several pork packing and processing plants have joined these. Two other spokes of the economic wheel are expected to come to the Texas Panhandle during the early 1970's. These are the tanneries and leather goods plants. Oil and gas companies have expanded to meet the fertilizer needs of irrigated agriculture. Water has been the catalytic agent in this

Tips Offered On Tomato Storage

Fruit from frost-damaged tomato plants still offer some mighty good eating if removed soon after the frost and stored properly.

For a continuous supply of fresh tomatoes on the dining table, Dr. Roland Roberts of Lubbock, area vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, offers these timely tips.

Pick the fruit and place them in shallow boxes or flats being careful not to pile them more than two deep. Then stack the boxes so as to allow free movement of dry air around the fruit.

"The best temperature for storing green tomatoes is about 50 to 55 degrees," says Roberts. "Below this temperature they may decay or develop an off flavor. A constant temperature is also best as changing temperatures will cause moisture to condense on the fruit surface and thus favor decay."

Bring the fruit into the kitchen as required for use. Kitchens are usually warm and 70 to 75 degrees is an ideal ripening temperature. adds the specialist. Tomatoes do not need light to ripen. If they ripen faster than you can use them, store the ripe fruit in the refrigerator vegetable drawer.

accelerated economy. We must somehow get this message across to the people of the West Texas area. Most of the water for irrigated agriculture agribusiness industry, municipalities is coming from our underground reservoir called the Ogallala.

A series of observation wells south of the Canadian River from Amarillo east through the Texas Panhandle records the static level of the underground water reservoir each year. These readings are usually taken during the cold months of the year when the wells are not being used. Readings in a selected number of these during November 1970 indicates that the water level has declined more than it has in any previous year since the observation readings were begun in 1956.

All the areas checked during November 1970 show a two to three foot increase in the decline of the static level over the previous year. Throughout the Panhandle area the underground aquifer resembles an irregular shaped bowl. The bottom of the bowl or aquifer rests on red clay beds that are impervious and protects the fresh water from the salt water deposits below the red clay beds. The red clay beds are exposed along the Canadian River and Palo Duro Canyon.

County Agents Try New Ways To Guide Youth Into Ag Careers

The Census Bureau's recent preliminary report which indicates more Americans are now living in suburban areas than cities may not have surprised too many people. And few groups have been less surprised than the nation's county agents, the men who have generally been stereotyped in a role of "the farmer's friend."

But during the past few years, many county agents have witnessed, from the front row seat, the flight to the suburbs. What was once agricultural land has disappeared amid well-trimmed lawns and the concrete of expressways, which carry the flow of humanity between the cities and the expanding bedroom communities surrounding the metropolitan areas.

Not only has the suburban growth taken away farm land upon which county agents once helped produce food, but it has drawn the extension service into new roles that may seem a far cry from the "farmer's friend" role the agent has known in the past.

Today, the county agent spends a great deal of time advising suburbanites on lawn, shrub and tree care. He is drawn into the problems of the city through food programs for disadvantaged families. And 4-H programs, once strictly farm-youth oriented, have been expanded to help teach city youngsters the many skills and arts rural youth have been exposed to for years.

Meeting the challenge of his changing role has forced county agents to revise old programs and concepts, and to improvise new methods to do the job at hand. At the recent convention of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents held in Corvallis, Oregon, the agents talked of their changing roles and the methods they are using to meet the challenge of change.

One area where the agents have shown great initiative is in career guidance programs to help direct young people into agribusiness careers. The demand for farm-reared youth is high in many agriculture-related positions, and the need for young people in all facets of the industry has sent the agents into urban and suburban schools to help steer young people into agribusiness careers.

Ten agents, whose programs were outstanding during the past year, were honored for their work by the NACAA and New Holland, the farm machinery division of Sperry Rand, sponsor of the Association's career guidance program. The company instituted the program five years ago when agribusiness firms realized the demand for young people with farming backgrounds was exceeding the supply. Farm youngsters were being lured away from agricultural opportunities by the promise of excitement in urban oriented careers.

The program was originally started to help keep the farm youth interested in farming. But today the county agents are also bringing talented non-farm youngsters into the agricultural industry through career guidance programs. And the program is having side effects that are bringing rural and urban areas together for better understanding of one other's problems.

In the fun in the sun country of Florida, for example, extension agent Roy J. Champagne conducted a program that has been carried out with the cooperation of the Miami-Dade Chamber of Commerce. Public and private schools in the city and county have cooperated in a project that includes a video taped program on agribusiness that will be seen by more than 100,000 students this year. He has drawn support from the county's agri-council and to date more than 52 scholarships for careers in agriculture have been awarded.

Jay Irwin, associate county agent in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, has received enthusiastic support from all of the county's guidance counselors in presenting a 4-H program, "My Future Is What I Make It." Three high schools included the program in their curriculum and more are adding it during the coming school term.

William Messersmith, associate agent in nearby Lycoming County, used a similar program and received assistance from the area resource development agent, the Department of Labor and Industry and other agencies.

Getting students to visit agribusiness firms or having representatives from firms meet with the students was a major segment of many career guidance programs that proved successful during the year. Don K. Wiles, county agent in Dodge City, Kansas; Thomas Stephenson of Eracken County, Kentucky and Dean Schank of Las Vegas, Nevada, all involved adults in their programs and provided the young people with the opportunity to talk on a face-to-face basis with people who are now engaged in agribusiness careers. Their programs also included campus visits, scholarships, special

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY

Artie and Robert Sailor were by our office on Friday talking about purchasing some stocker calves. They had just returned from a fishing trip in the Gulf. Marvin Webster, Paul Appleton, and Joe Gordon were all in the fishing party. This is an annual affair with this group after they get the fall harvesting done. Ralph Thomas fished with them one day. Ralph and Ruth Thomas spend a couple of months each year on the Southern tip of Texas at South Padre Island enjoying the mild winters and fishing.

Back to the stocker calves. I advised them to look into the purchase of a three-hundred-fifty pound number one Okie steer. Recently I've heard of some West Virginia calves that were laid down here under thirty-three cents that weighed about three-hundred-eighty pounds. It will pay to oil your calculating machine up and compare prices of different weights. Anytime you can buy an additional fifty pounds for less than what you can gain them for — you should go up another fifty pounds in weight on your purchase. Last summer I was looking at two pens of heifers at Heaton Cattle Company — one pen of the heifers weighed a little over four hundred. The other pen weighed a little over three hundred fifty. The additional fifty pounds on the four hundred pound heifer cost less than three dollars. Well, you sure can't gain them for eight cents a pound any way you look at it. The interest will likely cost you over two dollars per hundred pounds in the stocker phase.

The moral to this story is get your pencil short and keep it sharp when you get ready to buy cattle. Right now if you can figure out something that will make ten dollars a head, you are prouder of yourself than you were when you made a hundred dollar bill in the spring of sixty-nine. When cattle is going up a dollar a week, all it takes to make money is have a dry lot and a few bales of hay and buy every day and sell the cattle two weeks later. You don't have to worry about excessive death loss, high gain cost, or any of the management factors.

If you've got a home for them, most anything you buy today that you can market after next June will make you look like a sharp operator. You will start reaping big benefits from the corn blight situation that is even worse than has been reported.

NEW YORK (UPI)—If the auto industry gets back into business "without any major new hitch," Goodbody & Co. says prospects for the economy and corporate profits "will generate greater confidence" among investors and the public. The company says it would remain on the "buy side" for the time being, adding that it regards petroleum, residential building and finance "as the better situated groups."

The "go-go" element in Wall Street doesn't have the strength to mount "a major offensive in big name stocks," according to Hoppin, Watson & Co. In addition, the company says it feels "the next attempt to develop leadership" may appear in "some rather obscure, less shopworn area." The company adds: "The climate is propitious for a stock market advance, but the public is still more interested in present safety and income than in future prospects."

The General Motors strike "helped rather than hurt the investment outlook" because it occurred "at the right time to cool inflationary pressures," Argus Research Corp. says. It adds that once GM gets back into full production, industrial activity and consumer spending "will be picking up sharply," with a concurrent jump in retail profits for the 1971 second quarter. "Thus," it adds, "the pieces are falling in place for a constructive outlook for equity prices."

This is the time for investors "to be structuring" their portfolios for the 1970s because "now one can buy the glamor stocks of the future on a reasonable basis in relation to 'earnings and assets,'" Equity Research Associates says. It advises: "Think ... of the opportunities that lie before us in the next five years, try to imagine what the U.S. economy will look like by 1975 and what social changes will have occurred by then."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

'Good Men In Politics

From time to time, the News has pointed to the futility of electing "good men" to political office. Too frequently, those good men have the best of intentions when they are elected. Yet after they are in office a short time, they seem to change. We've seen it in national, state and local officials.

Several years ago, we quoted a passage from a novel by John D. McDonald from his paperback volume, "Judge Me Not" (Gold Medal Book, 1951), which we think demonstrates what happens to politicians. The novel is about a man attempting to reform a city government against a group of "crooked politicians." When finally the mayor of the town is tripped up, he expresses remorse. The reformer comments to him, "The moralists talk about right and wrong." The mayor replies: "It isn't that simple. A man enters public life, and he tells himself that he will do good. He will be effective and the people will benefit. It is idealism of a respectable variety. And then he discovers that he must make certain compromises in order to achieve good. Like a man who builds a house, to afford the roof, he must order cheaper windows. To afford a fireplace, he must skimp the foundation. The house no longer satisfied him as much as it did, but he tells himself that without the shortcuts there would be no house at all.

"But in public life, each compromise makes the next compromise easier, and each move toward good makes the next move more difficult. It is a miserable equation to live with. Yet the man goes on, and he tells himself that if you take the total good, and subtract the total evil, the net result is good. He drifts along, clutching the illusion, until one day he adds it up and he discovers that evil outbalances good. And he never knows the precise point where the balance changed, nor does he know which specific compromise was the wrong one."

We believe the statement describes what happens to most government officials who truly want to do good, but find they must compromise in order to achieve their aim.

We commend a reading of John Macdonald's perceptive words to every person seeking or getting a political office.

Tale Of Two Cows

The allegory of "two cows" to compare communism and capitalism has been used in times past. A version is again going the rounds which, in part, runs:

"Communism: you have two cows. The government takes both and gives you the milk."

"Capitalism: you have two cows. You sell one and buy a bull."

The definition of capitalism is on the right track, although a bit over-simplified; but the definition of communism is, by all available evidence, much too generous. Thousands of refugees who have managed to escape from behind the Iron Curtain have testified that the Communist government takes plenty, but gives little except to the highly privileged bureaucratic elite.

First, the Communist government not only takes the cows, but the entire farm — all the land, equipment and buildings. Most of the Soviet farms are in the form of "collectives" made up of a large number of formerly small farms. Everyone living in the area, the men, women and children, then are forced to work the collective farm at duties and tasks assigned by a bureaucratic overseer.

The government then takes not only all of the milk, but everything else produced by the collective. Day-by-day figures are kept and then compared to previous years — and each collective is constantly urged to produce more.

The farm families are then "paid" by the government an income fixed by Moscow — but the pay is calculated at the barest minimum to meet the living expenses of the collective families. The farmer's gross income is fixed at exactly what the bureaucrats decide it costs to live; the net income is zero.

Because of the disastrous failure of the slave system of Soviet farms, the Communists relented a bit and now allow individual farmers to till and either use or sell the produce from a very small plot of government owned land, where much of the food is now grown. But even with this incentive, at the end of a lifetime of toil the average Russian farmer has exactly what he started off with at the beginning; little more than the clothes on his back.

Ambition? It's In The Blood

Evidence is accumulating that people with high levels of serum uric acid in their blood tend to be high in ambition and achievement.

Serum uric acid is a factor in gout, the ancient ailment of prominent men.

Or it may be the other way around — that people high in ambition and achievement tend to have high levels of serum uric acid.

The researchers don't know. They do know, however, that uric acid shows a positive association with grades and achievement in activities among high school and college students.

Among college professors, the characteristics which lead to outstanding performance — drive, leadership and pushing of self are positively associated with serum urate levels.

Men in higher status occupations have higher acid levels.

It has also been found that environmental stress has an effect on levels of uric acid in the blood. Men had higher levels when they were about to lose their jobs than later, when they had become established in new jobs.

On the other hand, men with high uric acid levels appear to thrive under pressure and have a strong sense of self-direction and involvement.

Thus the chicken-or-egg question: Which comes first — acid or ambition?

Maybe when we find out we can package the stuff.

A two-page, two-color ad in Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine announces the introduction of the "TU-154," the flexible tri-jet airliner of the 1970's, ready for worldwide export.

The ad continues: "Whether it carries 160 or 60 passengers, whether it flies 3,300 or 300 miles, the TU-154 keeps airlines profitable."

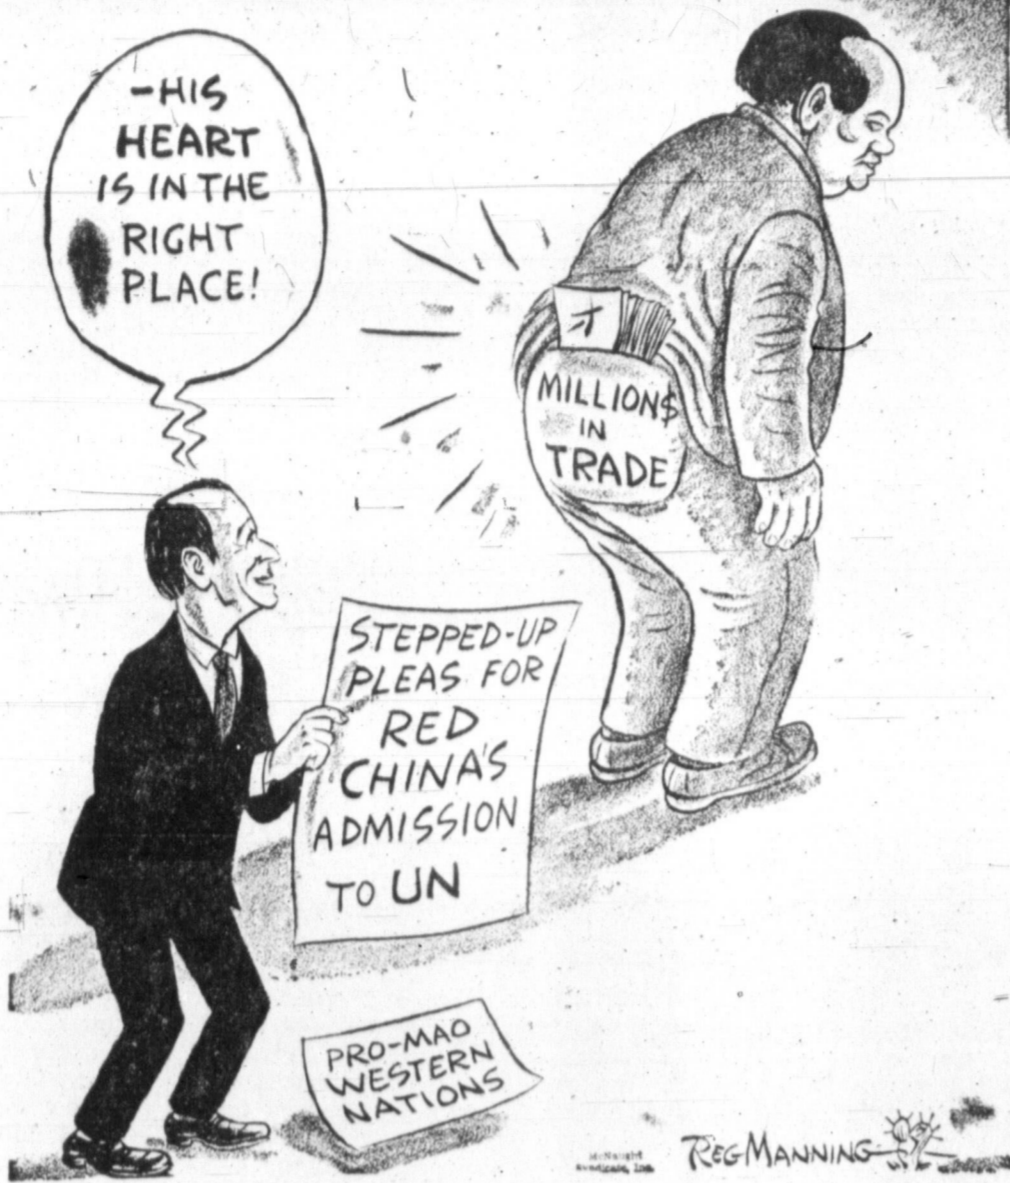

And at the bottom: "For more detailed information, please apply to V-O

What's this? The Soviet's advertising in a decadent Western journal? Appealing to the profit motive?

As Anyone Can See

THERE SEEMS to be an unusual amount of interest in plans for a Pampa "Hot Line" which would set up a sort of crisis intervention center that could serve as an outlet for disturbed, distressed and despondent persons and put them back on the path to proper thinking in emergency situations that might otherwise lead to tragedy.

"Hot Line" would be a telephone number that could be called as a last resort in situations where the caller could seek and get anonymous counseling for solutions to what perhaps appear to be insurmountable problems.

More than 100 persons volunteered to help at the first "Hot Line" organizational meeting last Sunday. That shows Pampans care.

It looks like a great idea and could very well build into something that would aid not only would-be suicides, alcoholics, drug addicts, etc., but reach into other avenues of social rehabilitation.

QUESTIONS STILL come by mail and telephone from persons wanting to know when Pampa's civic auditorium will be ready for use.

Best answer we can get so far — and it seems to be a pretty definite one — is around December of 1971 or January of 1972.

The $800,000 worth of auditorium bonds, to go with the $400,000 M.K. Brown Foundation cash gift, will be sold Dec. 1. That's less than two weeks away.

Within 30 days from then the architect hopes to have contracts let and work on the structure should start in January. Construction should take from 10 to 12 months.

And it is just possible one or two final concerts of the Pampa Community Concert Association's 1971-72 season could be held in the new auditorium.

THE HUNTING season is here and a reader of this column has asked us why we don't say something about hunting safely — perhaps like being sure to always take a second look before mistaking another hunter for a deer, or a duck or a bird or something, and how to handle a gun.

So we checked into it with the Texas Safety Association whose president says hunting season every year brings needless tragedy to Texas, and in almost every incident carelessness is the culprit.

George William Perry, a Dallas attorney who heads the statewide safety group, urges Texas hunters to learn and use the basic rules of weapons handling and hunting safety.

According to Perry, 24 persons died in Texas hunting accidents last year and there were 92 separate accidents involving 142 hunters. Sixty-nine of the persons involved were under 21 years of age and 40 were 16 or younger.

PERRY THINKS that is pretty clear evidence that many are hunting before they have been given proper instructions in safe hunting practices.

He says parents need to make sure their youngsters understand the rules of safe hunting and then make sure they obey them.

Here are some of the most important rules as submitted by Perry:

Treat every gun as if it were loaded. Never take anyone's word that a gun is empty. Always point the gun muzzle in a safe direction and never aim at anything you don't intend to shoot.

Never shoot at unidentified noises, but wait until the whole animal or bird is visible. Know the correct way to carry your gun, under your arm, on your shoulder, cradled in your arms and in both hands.

When hunting in a group no hunter should carry a gun so that it even points at another person. Unload gun before crossing fences and pass the gun under first.

And always correct unsafe gun handling whenever you see it by explaining and demonstrating the right way to handle a firearm.

We might add that if you see a wild turkey dive-bombing in your direction or a deer pointing a gun at you ... duck. They're mad at you.

THESE WILL be a "Dutch Treat" victory luncheon in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room tomorrow when Pampa will celebrate its highly successful 1970 United Fund campaign.

The goal was $88,325 and fund officials say the final cleanup may show that figure has been exceeded by approximately $3,000.

The celebration will be the highlight of the Chamber of Commerce monthly luncheon. It's open to all Chamber members and all workers who participated in this year's drive.

Fund officials are expected to come up with some organizational changes which will increase efficiency and make the test pilot drive effort even more pleasant.

Needless to say, Frank Culbertson, UF president, and Henry P. Donohue, who wheeled this year's drive as campaign chairman, are happy over the fund's success, and they will thank the volunteer workers in person tomorrow.

ONLY 28 more shopping days until Christmas. Which is a gentle reminder that after next Thursday when the Thanksgiving Turkey gets out of the way there is nothing blocking the highway that leads straight to the Christmas holiday. While on the subject here is an advance bit of wise counseling to those who already are planning office Christmas parties. It comes from a reader and goes like this:

"Remember, the spirit of Christmas is not found in a bottle or 'loaded' punchbowl. It is found in your heart."

Science Works on Altering Body to Ward Off Disease

A new era of medicine is incubating in laboratories around the world. It could spark a medical revolution. In the past, we have used vaccinations to increase the body's immunity or resistance to a specific disease. Then antibiotics provided chemicals that killed or limited the growth of bacteria.

Now scientists are studying ways of altering the body so it won't be as susceptible to disease. One or more of these may cause the body to be resistant to most virus infections. This could mean that the body could become resistant to the innumerable viruses that can cause common colds.

Many of these studies are related to the most fundamental chemical actions of the cells throughout the body. In this regard, they may prove important in curing or preventing cancer.

Interestingly enough, there is some hope that these basic chemical actions may influence the function of the brain in terms of learning, memory and so-called aging. The day hasn't arrived yet! But the trend is clear and the direction is toward improving our knowledge at the cellular level. This could, in time, make many current methods of treatment as obsolete as the ancient houses for smallpox victims.

Medical World News reports that a special strain of Japanese-bred rats failed to populate as all good rats are expected to, do. Honey was added to their diet and love bloomed. It is amazing what a little honey can do.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My dad, 61, has had cramps in his legs at night. He works hard and is on his feet a lot during the day. Would any pills help him?

Dear Reader—Quite a few people have leg cramps at night. The highly selected young test pilots who were examined for the astronaut program were asked if they had this problem and 15 per cent of them said they had experienced it at one time or another. It can be caused by a particular sleeping position. Some doctors give patients quinine or related medicine if the condition is severe and there is no apparent cause.

Because circulation problems are common in older men, anyone with frequent cramping in his legs should have an examination to be certain this is not the cause. Some individuals who really do have a circulation problem can be helped with surgery. An operation, however, will not help if the cramps are caused by some other factor. Cramping caused by disease of the arteries of the legs usually causes pain during walking and the pain is relieved by rest. But it can cause muscle cramps at night, too.

By INJUN WOODY

Now the administration is working hard on trying to take one giant step backward. The new foreign aid "reform" will only abet the incompetence of the U.N. in administering programs and funds supplied by the U.S.

The United States makes most of the major contributions to foreign programs. But if a government official tries to check up to find out where the money is going and what it is buying the U.N. gives them bull-eyes and won't tell them a thing.

U.N. officials claim the U.S. is not entitled to follow U.S. tax dollars through the international organization. They won't tell how some questionable programs were approved, and they won't give out any answers or the results.

No wonder. In one instance where investigators were able to follow the path of $200 million in American funds they found they were channeled through a multilateral development bank in Asia.

The funds then went to India, supposedly for a development program. But they were actually used by India officials to purchase U.S. government bonds! So the country was forced to pay for its fund twice, and still had nothing to show for the money as far as development in India goes.

Now, the new "reform" plan will do away with the rule that 90 percent of AID must be spent in this country and instead require only 50 percent.

This will throw the money to our biggest industrial competitors Japan and Germany. With more spending overseas the balance of payment situation will put us on a harder rock than before.

There might be more crazy geeks outside Washington than in it. But not too many.

A Happy Thanksgiving to all of you who are reading this column! Our Red Cross has helped clear the baskets for our Welfare Index and if you did not get to give a basket for Thanksgiving and would like to have a name for Christmas, won't you please call 669-7121 and get a name?

Miss Barbara Murry and O'Nita Vinson, R. C. Volunteers, will serve the juice at Highland General Hospital on Thursday morning so that the Hospital

Volunteers may stay home and visit with their families on this holiday. Thanks, girls!

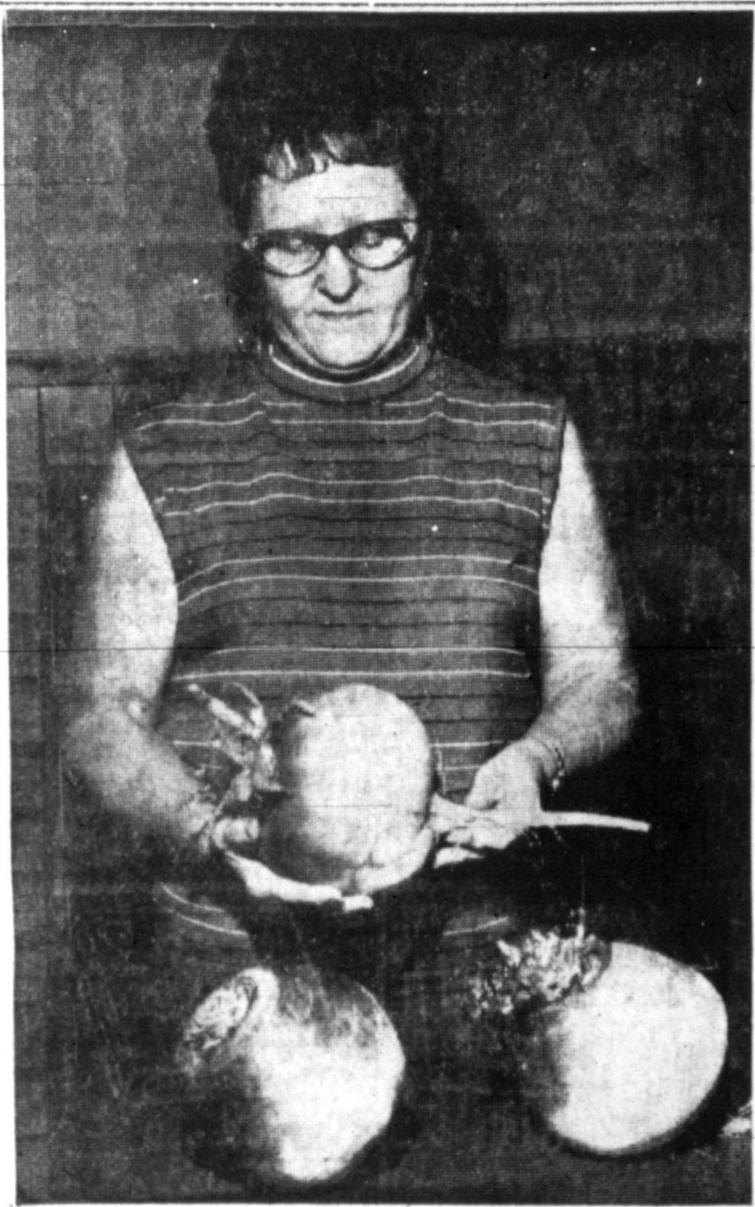

Mrs. Jackie Marlar completed two classes at the Youth Center Swimming Pool this week. Theresa Casey and Brent Crownover received their cards in Beginner Swimming. The following received their Intermediate Cards: Floyd Baxter, Mike Crippen, Lelee Lee, Theresa Baxter, Sam Gilbert, Susan Johnson, Richard Steger, Stacy Williams, and Rob Williams.
Mrs. Forrest Hills completed her Mother's Aide Class at the Little House for Cadet Girl Scouts last week. Those who will receive their cards are: Melanie Miller, Janie Wolborn, Sharon Farmer, Heidi Cash, Jerri Ann Potter, Sherry Whitely, Barbara Whitely, Dana Chisum, Vickie Carter, Stephanie Secret, Cindy Mackey, Ladell Greene, Debbie Baggett, Kim Hoover, Jerri Bohlander, Donna Confal, Linda Busse, Karen Hampton, Serena Shearer, Debra McDonald, and Marsha Holland. Congratulations to all of you girls.

The organizational meeting in Amarillo Nov. 17 at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. was well attended by chapters and guests. From Pampa we had Mrs. Don George, vice chairman of the Red Cross Board; Mrs. Don Wilson, Service to Military Families chairman; Ray Fisher, chairman of First Aid; Ted Gikas, first aid instructor, and fund consultant, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Shotwell.

Miss Beth Bruce from St. Louis who spoke to the group regarding the organization of chapters, said, "This process has been in the making since 1968 when the Board of Governors voted to combine chapters for better service." There will be 9 chapters under the Fort Worth direction instead of St. Louis. Bill Schweitzer from Fort Worth told the group we are uniting under the Fort Worth banner to give better service and the staff of Fort Worth will be at your disposal, after Jan. 1, Ralph Carpenter from Fort Worth will be our Field Representative and Bill Jean will be transferred to the Oklahoma Panhandle.

TEXAS SIZE TURNIPS grow in Mr. Crawford Hughes' backyard turnip patch as these three four-pound turnips prove. Mrs. Hughes holds a 4 1/2 lb. example of the couple's green thumbs. Since they moved here 25 years ago, the couple have planted an annual turnip patch at their home, 941 S. Wells. These over-size vegetables were grown to amuse neighbors and to give them a taste of home. (Staff Photo)

DRUG ARRESTS
HOUSTON (UPI) — Narcotics officials arrested 27 persons of an average age of 18 1/2 years Friday, many of whom were held on charges of assessing or selling marijuana. Five of those arrested were juveniles and two were girls. It is the third largest number of arrests in two scale drug raids in Houston this month.

BOMB THREAT
KINGSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Classes were suspended Friday in Manning Hall on the Texas A&I University campus because of a bomb threat. A day-long search uncovered no bomb. J. E. Turner, dean of men, found a typewritten note taped to an entrance of the administration building when arrived for work Friday.
