Death Valley

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE
 Baxter Black DVM.

They don't call it Death Valley for nuthin'. And coyotes don't make a good pet. But livin' out here with the griz and the deer. You pretty much take what you get.

And the Rockies have shoulders like granite. They're big and they make their own rules. So take what you need but you better pay heed. 'Cause the mountain don't tolerate fools.

And the wind is the moan of the prairie That haunts and bedevils the plains. The soul stealin' kind that can fray a man's mind Till only his whimper remains.

You can stand in the canyon's cathedral Where water and sky never rest. And know in your bones that the meek, on their own Will inherit the West.

It's wild and it's wide and it's lonesome. Where the dream of first blood still survives. And it beckons to those who can bid adios. To the comfort of 8 to 5 lives.

So come all you brave cabaleros. Cinch up and reach down inside Till you feel the heat then take a deep seat 'Cause the West, boys, she ain't broke to ride.

Olive Howles Angel Cox
 Will be honored on her birthday with a reception in the parlor of the First Baptist Church, Muleshoe, Texas, Saturday, Dec. 3rd, from 2-4 p.m. All Olive's family and friends are invited to help make this a very special time for her.

Sherlock Holmes and Thanksgiving

In a recent issue of Leadership journal, Chris T. Zwingelberg observes that though everyone is familiar with Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes and his amazingly keen powers of observation, few of us are aware of Holmes' belief that deduction and observation

'Our highest assurance of the goodness of Providence seems to me to rest in the flowers. All other things, our powers, our desires, our food, are really necessary for our existence in the first instance. But this rose is an extra. Its smell and its color are an embellishment of life, not a condition of it. It is only goodness which gives extras, and so I say again that we have much to hope from the flowers.'

Think about it. (By the way, the root word from which "thanksgiving" comes is also the root for "think." To really think is to be truly thankful.)

God has absolutely showered us with extras. With His brush He has painted a world dripping with color when, for most things, a few shades of gray would do. He has given us the ability to enjoy an astonishing variety of tastes. He has populated our lives with wonderfully interesting people, not even the most creative author could have envisioned. (We tend to be the dullards who dislike variety and difference; God absolutely exults in them!)

Thanksgiving was Thursday, but as the "extras" keep right on coming from the hand of God, every day is a good day for gratitude.

are even more necessary in faith and religion than they are in detective work.

In Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's The Adventure of the Naval Treaty, Doyle pictures his famous sleuth studying a simple rose. Holmes' famous sidekick Watson observes, "He walked past the couch to an open window and held up the drooping stalk of a moss rose, looking down at the dainty blend of crimson and green. It was a new phase of his character to me, for I had never before seen him show any interest in natural objects."

"There is nothing in which deduction is so necessary as in religion," said he, leaning with his back against the shutters....

Better Business Bureau

Older Americans are increasingly the favorite targets of scammers using the U.S. mail and interstate telephone lines to pitch crooked investment schemes, warns Postal Inspectors. These schemes have included the crooked financial planner that offered "muni-unit trusts"; phony savings clubs; and gemstone telemarketers.

The familiar pattern: Investors or victims bankroll the scammer's high rolling lifestyle rather than earning the promised high returns on their investments! Postal Inspectors have this advice for potential investors. Be wary of high pressure sales tactics, promises of high investment returns and minimal risks.

Take the time to check out the reputation of the offeror by contacting state and federal regulatory agencies. Seek advice from a trusted friend or family member and seek professional counsel before investing.

Telemarketing has become an increasingly popular way to legitimately contact numerous potential customers quickly and easily in an effort to sell a variety of products and services. At the same time, however, it has also become a common mode of defrauding thousands of consumers who may be called about sweepstakes and prize promotions, "free" vacations and travel certificates, "no-risk" investment opportunities or "charitable" donations.

Your Better Business Bureau, in answer to the many questions that we receive every day about these types of gimmicks, has Published a brochure called "Tips on avoiding telemarketing fraud" which outlines the most prevalent types of telemarketing frauds, including "reloading," "recovery" and "cyber-schemes"

Perry is appointed to industry advisory council

AUSTIN - Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry has been appointed to a three-year term for the Commissioner of Agriculture position on the Industry Advisory Council of the Southern Regional Aquaculture Center.

Perry, who is a strong advocate of increasing ag processing in Texas, said, "Aquaculture - from crawfish and catfish production to shrimp and hybrid-striped bass farms - encompasses a vital, value-added sector that has plenty of room to grow in the Lone Star State."

The Industry Advisory Council assists with the development and guidance of research and extension programs supported by the Southern Regional Aquaculture Center based in Stoneville, Miss.

The center is one of five regional aquaculture centers established by Congress to support aquaculture research, development, demonstration and extension education to enhance viable and profitable U.S. aquaculture production, which will benefit consumers, producers, service industries and American economy.

We all thrill to a... FAMILIAR TUNE

It is so soothing, comforting, and pleasing to listen to our favorite tunes when played by capable artists. These tunes can make our minds wander back to pleasant memories of days gone by, and also awake us to new joys. Each Sunday we have the opportunity to be thrilled by the preaching of God's word, and the story of God's great love for us. Attend church Sunday and enjoy worshipping God with others.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Texas Cattle Feeders Association meets

Cattle industry history is being made right before our eyes and, with the successful unification of the major beef organizations, cattlemen can look forward to a future where they will not only survive, but prosper.

That's the message Jim Webb gave to around 900 cattle feeders at the 1994 "Bridge to Tomorrow" Annual Convention of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA), Nov 13-15 in San Antonio.

The unification effort arose from a long-range plan developed last year, Webb said. The long-range plan is intended to refocus the driving force of the beef industry that, despite the efforts of the four organizations, has been unable to respond adequately to consumer signals.

to improve our current situation, because it means having four plans and four ways of managing issues." That, he emphasized, creates industry confusion, lack of cooperation and sometimes even conflict.

"We know that beef has a major problem with quality and consistency," he said. "Unfortunately, mixed messages coming from the industry have sent confusing signals to the marketplace." There's also the problem of island mentality. "Many subgroups, such as cow-calf producers, stocker operators, feeders and packers, aggressively compete against each other with little regard for the end product or the consumer."

If the beef industry is to remain viable into the 21st century, all segments must focus on consumer demands for quality, consistency and convenience at a competitive price, Webb said. To meet these demands, the industry must focus itself around specific objectives, a mechanism of control to assure results, coordination among all industry participants and cost effectiveness.

"The organizations that connect industry profitability to consumers must address the forces at work on our industry, such as government regulations, foreign marketing of beef, domestic promotion, competing meats, diet/health issues and food safety,"

Webb told TCFA members. "This plan brings the industry together to solve our common challenges--something we have not been totally successful doing separately. And it does so within the legal constraints imposed by the Beef Promotion and Research Act and Order."
