US Considering Triple-Use Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. atomic weaponeers are working on a versatile new type of hydrogen bomb—a kind of triple-use weapon called the FUFO—it was learned today.

An experimental model has already been successfully tested at the Nevada proving grounds.

Its technical name is "Full-Fuzing Option Bomb," meaning that it would be an air-dropped weapon having built-in characteristics to be detonated either in the air, on the earth's surface, or by delayed action after first penetrating the ground.

How it would be fired would be at the option of the bombardier.

But it would be, in effect, a three-in-one weapon—replacing in a single device three different weapons which must now be carried by the global-ranging Strategic Air Command for three different purposes.

The top Atomic Energy Commission weapons official told The Associated Press that while operational weapons of the new type have not yet been made, AEC weaponeers are confident they can produce them if the Defense Department orders them, and if production is deemed "in the national interest."

It would be designed to replace old hardware of the three-variety kind in America's B52 and F111 bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

And, said Major Gen. Edward Giller, chief of the AEC's Division of Military Application, the weapon would thus give greater operational flexibility to the bombers—depending upon the particular needs of a given military situation—and also allow reduction in the nation's nuclear stockpile.

Giller stressed, however, that such three-way weapons, if eventually placed in the bombers, would not change the fire-power of the craft.

That is, a given bomb would have the same explosive wallop as an older one of the same nuclear components.

The name "Margaret" derives from the Greek and means "pearl."

FDA To Give Decision On 'Morning-After' Pill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says it will decide within a few weeks whether to approve "morning-after" birth control pills, already in use on college campuses.

The agency said it will keep secret the recommendations of an advisory committee.

The most commonly prescribed "morning-after," or postcoital, birth control drug is diethylstilbestrol (DES), recently linked to rare vaginal and uterine cancer in scores of young women whose mothers took it during pregnancy to prevent miscarriages.

An estimated two million women were exposed to DES.

Dr. A.L. Herbst of Harvard Medical School told the advisory panel last Friday that he has identified 137 victims of genital cancer. Investigation of 66 of the victims, aged 8 to 25, showed 48 were exposed to synthetic estrogens while in the womb, he said.

DES is available as a prescription drug for several maladies including postmenopausal vaginitis, breast cancer, prostate cancer and relief of breast engorgement after childbirth.

The abbreviation "lb." stems from the Latin word "libra," meaning pound.

Tired Telephone Remarks

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you get tired of hearing when you try to use any telephone in America:

"I'm sor-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

"Whom shall I say is calling, please?"

"He's not in the office, sir."

"He's in conference."

"He's on vacation."

"I'm sor-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

"Will you hold?"

"Did you ever get your party? No? Let me try again."

"It's me — your wife. What other woman would you be expecting to call you at 9:30 in the morning?"

"I don't know of anyone working here under that name."

Does he have an alias?"

"He was here just 10 minutes ago, but —"

"This is the third time I've left your message on his desk."

"What did you say your name was? Did you say Jawbone Slevsky? How do you spell it, please?"

"I'm sor-r-r-ree. The line is busy."

"Here are three other numbers where you might be able to reach him. By the way, if you get him, tell him the boss is looking for him, too."

"Yes, he's in, but he told me not to disturb him unless it was God or one of His archangels calling."

"Well, sir, I assure you I am doing my best. But I'm a telephone operator — not an octopus."

"This is a recording... This is a recording... This is a recording."

"He just stepped away from his desk for a moment, sir."

"The number you are dialing is no longer active. If you need further information, please dial information."

"Yes, sir, he's in now, but he's speaking on both his other phones at the moment."

"Would you care to speak to anyone else in his absence?"

"I'm sor-r-r-ree, the line is busy, and I can't break in unless it is a life or death emergency."

"There is no distinct social unit in a chimpanzee society."

Press Association Supports Speaker's Bills

AUSTIN—Texas House Speaker Price Daniel, Jr., told the Texas Press Association meeting in Dallas recently that prospects for the passage of his three proposed statutes relating to openness in State government and the public's right to know are excellent.

"The open meetings bill is already on the House calendar, the freedom of information act will probably be out of committee this next week, and the committee hearing on the bill protecting the confidentiality of newsmen's sources of information is set for this Wednesday night, Jan. 31," Daniel said.

Immediately upon the conclusion of Daniel's presentation to the mid-winter meeting of the Association, the TPA unanimously adopted a resolution pledging "our wholehearted support" for the passage of the three bills and expressing appreciation to Speaker Daniel and the sponsors of the bills for their efforts and their dedication to the public's right to know.

Daniel said enactment of the three proposed new laws would significantly enhance the fulfillment and protection of the public's right to know what is happening in government and how elected public officials are handling the people's business.

"These bills are not for the benefit or protection of the press or the news media, but rather are essential to the enhancement and protection of the public's right to know," Daniel said.

The membership of the Texas Press Association, representing over five hundred weekly and daily newspapers in the State of Texas, adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas all are dedicated to a Free Press and the responsibility to protect the right of all citizens to be fully knowledgeable on all matters pertaining to governmental bodies.

"BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED that the Texas Press Association legislative committee convey the membership's sincere appreciation to Speaker of the House Price Daniel of this the 63rd session of the Texas Legislature for his great interest and to Representatives Parker Green (HB.3); Denton, (HB.6); and Alired (HB.10), for their sponsorship of these bills. We hereby pledge our wholehearted support."

Fix on Moon

Night-flying moths use the moon as a beacon. By keeping the lunar image at a fixed angle on the eye's retina, they can maintain fairly straight courses. When they make use of an electric lamp or a candle flame, however, moths fly in ever smaller circles until they crash into the light source.

Army Trains 'Servants' For Generals

FT. LEE, Va. (AP)—Here the Army trains soldiers—to make tasty penguins out of hard-boiled eggs, carve swans out of ice, groom dogs and empty ash trays.

Other lessons range from bartending to flower arranging. The purpose is to prepare enlisted men, all volunteers for the program, for the job of making Army generals and their families more comfortable. Or, as an Army spokesman explains it, "to put the commanding officer and his family in the forefront of the Army installation and the community."

Some program critics call the personal aides servants. Most generals get one aide for each star on their shoulders.

A General Accounting Office report says that in pay and allowances alone the personal aides program costs the Army $3.6 million yearly. The Navy spends $4.4 million, the Air Force $4.3 million and the Marines $37,000 on similar programs, the report says.

What sort of enlisted man volunteers to be an aide?

"It takes a special boy...one who will take an order from a female, like the general's wife," a spokesman at Ft. Lee replied.

During a visit to Ft. Lee, an officer was asked directions to the training school. "An enlisted aides course?" he said.

"Oh, you mean the charm school. Over there."

He pointed to a two-story World War II-era building that has been remodeled to include five apartments. Each resembles a general's quarters and includes a living room, dining room, two bedrooms and a bathroom. Red and white carnations are carefully arranged on many tables.

The Army's enlisted aides course has been located in the building since the program started in January 1969. Courses are given six times a year, and the Army reports a total of 404 graduates. The waiting list of generals requesting aides is now at about 80.

Some generals don't ask for aides, according to the spokesman.

He said soldiers spend 70 hours learning the duties and responsibilities of an enlisted aide, 100 hours on management of dining facilities and 137 hours on "the advanced principles of cooking, baking and garnishing."

Duties listed in the course outline include pet care, cleaning a general's quarters, care of officer's uniform and equipment, preparation of center pieces and ice carvings and watering plants.

There are 17 known species of penguin, all quite similar in general appearance.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

FRIDAY, FEB. 2
Your birthday today: There is so much to learn you have little chance of making a full application just yet, and you have to share or teach as much as you can to assure future cooperation. Today's natives are versatile, jacks-of-all-trades.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Relax as you pursue a steady, soft self effort. Cooperation is abundant, perhaps even more than you are ready to use.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): Women have a field day, according to the soundness of their recent planning; men have an excellent business day.
Gemini (May 21-June 20): While you are winding up the workweek in good style, leave nothing of importance open for later revision; re-view your situation.
Cancer (June 21-July 22): Persistence finally opens the way for you. Any help offered brings added threads of obligation for the future.
Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Today dawns lively and promising, better than the last few days. Improvise from present resources while leaving reserves untouched.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Special projects fare better now. Have a general round-up to make sure you are not losing contact with people who can help.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your most adventurous streak comes out strongly, and you find yourself taking "risks" you hadn't planned.
Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A bold approach may get you much further along than you'd thought could be. Move quickly to consolidate any advance.
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be alert for financial progress. Successful past efforts become credentials for a further venture.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The spur of the moment is as good a moving force as any. Pause for reflection, your intuition should provide answers.
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Achievement comes with determination on your part. Be persistent, once you know what is available and what you want of it.
Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Seek advice, education, and be patient with the long stories that come along with it. Treat it all as personal.

Atheist turns cold shoulder on Gesundheit

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by CHICAGO TRIBUNE-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done in a case like this? A girl in our office sneezed, so I said, "God bless you." Instead of thanking me, she said, "You don't have to bother with that. I'm an atheist!" NONPLUSSED

DEAR NON: I wouldn't have done anything. But the next time she sneezes, tell her to take good care of herself because if she ever gets pneumonia she won't have a prayer.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I am actually writing a "Dear Abby" letter. My husband just left for "Bosses Night" and I'm sitting here with red eyes.

"Bosses Night" is a once-a-year affair, which features dinner, live music, and no spouses! My husband thinks it's nice. I think it stinks!

I told my husband that if my work had a similar function, he would strongly object to my going, and to make him happy I would stay home.

He said I was all upset over nothing. Am I? How would you handle this next year?

FEELING BLUE & SEEING RED

DEAR SEEING: I would get together with a few of the other "bosses' wives" and treat myself to the best entertainment in town.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this girl for a year or so. Things were pretty tight between us. We were supposed to go ice skating last week, but something came up and I absolutely could not make it. I didn't want my girl to sit home, so I asked my best friend to take her.

Well, he took her all right. It turned out he took her skating on Wednesday, to dinner on Thursday, to play tennis on Friday, and to a drive-in movie on Sunday. He would have taken her out Saturday night, too, but he had to work.

I didn't expect this to happen because we were such good friends. I thought I could trust him. What should I do? DON

DEAR DON: Start looking for another girl. But don't blame your friend. If your girl was really "your" girl, she wouldn't have been so easily lured away.

DEAR ABBY: Your computer date girl who was taken for $295 by a phony dating bureau is all wrong. Even the her contract contained phrases like "cannot guarantee" and "whenever possible," they did guarantee some effort on their part, and they are indeed liable for this effort.

By analogy, a medical doctor may state honestly that he cannot guarantee the success of a given treatment or operation. Now, if said doctor performs honestly and falls, that's one thing. But if he merely fails to perform, or performs negligently, that's something else again.

The date bureau agreed to do certain things, and if they did not fulfill their promised obligations, they are nothing but "sweet sue-able"—and the sooner we sue this kind of "sue-age" the better.

Sewing For Men Is Easy

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

You'll never guess what the with-it gals are sewing now! After taking on all the standard sewing challenges, such as complicated designer patterns, slacks, lingerie, bathing suits and coats, they are looking for new worlds to conquer. What's left but menswear—and that's what everyone is sewing this winter!

I don't mean sports shirts, either. I mean tailored jackets, slacks, and a new breed of menswear called, variously, a patio suit, a shirt suit, a weekender suit, a safari suit or a blazer suit.

Five years ago, sewing and tailoring a man's jacket would have been practically impossible for the average gal-who-sews. Today, it's a different story. There are products on the market which simplify the assignment considerably. One of the best is a Jacket-Packet by Armo, which contains pre-cut layered chest pieces, smoothly curved sleeve heads, and shaped shoulder pads, all packed with a clear set of instructions.

Armo also offers new iron-on fusible interfacings which give a terrific crisp look, and eliminate all that pad-stitching which takes so much time in classic tailoring. Acro is the lighter-weight fusible, used in jacket fronts, lapels and collars; the stiffer Formite is used to shape flat detail areas such as pocket flaps, hems.

Is sewing for men terribly different from sewing women's clothing? Not really. Men's clothing does button on the opposite side from women's clothing; jacket collars are hand-stitched to the garment after all the rest of the collar construction is finished; interfacing replaces underlining, and machine buttonholes are preferred. Good fit is all-important, and careful measuring and pattern alteration are essential. As in all tailoring, meticulous pressing is part of the job.

This is an exciting new sewing challenge—and we've got a booklet to help you. "Sewing For Men" tells you about measuring, pattern alteration, the points of fit (such as jacket length) you might be uncertain of, and gives you instructions on adapting standard patterns for the new fusions. It's brand-new, and exclusive to readers of this newspaper.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Talk is supposed to be cheap, but it is likely to prove really expensive at the bridge table.

While West was considering his opening lead, South yelled "at his partner." "Couldn't you let me play three no-trump. Don't you know my bid shows nine tricks at that contract?"

West thought a while and led the king of hearts. A low heart was played from dummy and it was East's turn to think. Would his partner hold the ace of hearts? Not likely after South's gratuitous remarks. South wouldn't be claiming nine tricks at no-trump with two suits un-stopped and he certainly didn't hold a club ruff. Therefore, East ruffed the heart and played his queen of clubs. West signaled with the jack and East led to put West in with the 10, whereupon a second heart ruff defeated four spades.

North told South that if he had kept his mouth shut he would probably have made his four spades.

"Both of you shut up," growled East. "If North had passed I would have bid four clubs and we would have played and probably made a doubled minor suit game."

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS Television network is broadcasting tonight the final interview with a reporter had with former President Lyndon B. Johnson before Johnson's death last month at 64.

You should watch it, but don't expect startling revelations. It's not that kind of interview nor was it intended to be.

It's just a quiet hour's visit with a weary, much-maligned man as he talks about what he considered his greatest accomplishment as president — progress in equal rights for all Americans.

And he comes across as an unexpectedly soft-spoken, reflective man, not as the jaded, easily-caricatured Johnson who led this country through five of its most turbulent years.

Entitled "LBJ: The Last Interview," the program was filmed at the LBJ ranch in Texas 10 days before the former president died of a heart attack.

His interview with Walter Cronkite was conducted in guest quarters called the Cedar House. The whole thing took less than two hours, interrupted only when Johnson suffered an attack of angina pectoris.

He stepped outside briefly to take a nitroglycerine tablet that eased the pain, then returned and insisted on continuing the interview, according to the show's producer, Burton Benjamin.

The completed program contains film clips of Johnson's major civil rights addresses, among them his famous 1965 speech to Congress that included the black rallying cry: "We shall overcome!"

Attorney General Seeks Elimination Of Pollution

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill's office has asked District Court Judge David H. Brown to order that Anderson Clayton & Co. eliminate what the attorney general's office called air pollution caused by the firm's waste water lagoon here.

The suit brought by the state further requests that the food processing firm be required to pay $50 to $1,000 for each day such pollution violates the Texas Clean Air Act.

The petition states only that the situation has existed since December 1970.

An Anderson Clayton spokesman said his company spent $123,000 recently for new equipment to take care of any such problem.

Economic Prediction 'Cautious'

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — You can detect in President Nixon's economic report to Congress the satisfaction of a man who feels he has wrestled some very big economic problems and now has them nearly tamed and responsible to his will.

While the general prediction is that it will be another "very good" year, he said, "I believe it can be a great year." And in the spirit of things he has set some goals that critics might think quite optimistic.

But it is clear too that he is extremely wary that these very same problems, inflation especially, might challenge his leadership. It can be a great year, he said; only if we are prudent. By implication: more restraint, less self-indulgence.

These are some of the pocket-book goals the President has set.

—A continued reduction in the inflation rate to around 3 per cent, averaged out for the year, and a rate of even less than that during the final months of 1973.

This is a critical goal and one to watch all year long. Many private economists feel the rate will be 3.5 per cent or above. Moreover, they fear it might be rising rather than falling as the year progresses.

It also is a goal that can be reached only by a bumpy road. Food is expected to make headlines in the next few weeks as record-high farm prices arrive at the checkout counter. It won't seem like inflation is receding.

The administration concedes it has set its sights high, and it appears to be relying both on the self-discipline of producers and consumers in exercising restraint, and the discipline of the big stick it hasn't used so far.

—Less optimism is shown in regard to employment. It is even suggested that the level of idleness, that must be tolerated has been raised from 4 per cent of the work force to 4.5 per cent, at least for 1973.

The job goal is for a jobs rate of about 4.5 per cent by late in the year, compared with 5.6 per cent last year and 5.9 per cent in 1971. The rate last year fell through the months to a 5.1 per cent level in December.

While an earlier figure of 4 per cent had been set as the goal, without a specific date for achieving it, the administration is seemingly wary that to seek that level too quickly might force prices higher.

Economically, full employment is not full employment. It is the rate of joblessness that can be supported without producing shortages of skill that, in turn, push up labor costs and then prices.

Millions of Americans will generally be out of work at any one time; unable to work, between jobs, laid off and looking unskilled and otherwise idle.

—Incomes are projected to rise sharply in 1973. This doesn't mean that bigger pay raises are forthcoming, but it does mean that people will have more money to spend because inflation will be reduced.

In addition, billions of dollars in tax refunds already are beginning to filter back to those who had too much money withheld during 1972. Billions of dollars is on its way back to consumers.

—Good prospects are foreseen also for homebuyers, as more than 2 million units become available for the third straight year. Add to that figure a rough total of one-half million mobile homes and you have a boom.

Spiders have eight legs; true insects six.

French Contests Slated

CANYON — Deadline for entry is Feb. 5 for the West Texas division of the National French Contest, to be conducted March 31 at West Texas State University.

High school students in any level of French are eligible to test their linguistic expertise in the contest, which is sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of French.

Contest divisions are accorded to the student's present level in French classes. Special divisions for participation are provided for French-speaking students or those who have had advanced training in the language.

Areas of testing are speaking and listening and reading comprehension.

The contest, now in its 38th year, is conducted throughout America. Names of the winners of the area contest are sent to Austin, where the top state scorers are selected for national competition.

Chairman of the Panhandle National French Contest is Murl L. Mordy Jr., assistant professor of Modern Languages at WTSU.

A feature of this year's competition, Mordy says, "is that no one will go home empty handed." Each participant will receive a certificate of merit, and top scorers will receive book prizes.

Test evaluations will also differ this year, Mordy says. Students will not receive numerical scores, rather, he says, they will be evaluated individually.

Contest applications are available by writing the West Texas State University modern language department, Canyon 79015.

WORRY CLINIC

Judy follows the printed manual for servicing her car. But manuals are academic and often studded with exaggerated sales malarkey. So it is always wise to modify "drawing board" engineering with a lot of "horse sense."

CASE WS14: Last July our daughter Judy sent one of her sons to a week at a boy's camp in northern Michigan.

She drove her minibus up there to pick up Peter when the week had ended.

"Daddy," she told me, "I decided to drive back to Chicago via Wisconsin and visit Betty Lippert (her cousin) at Hortonville."

"Just as we left the main highway about 4 miles from Betty's, it sounded like the engine in my car had fallen apart."

"Peter and I got out and just then a courteous highway policeman named Karr, drove up."

"He summoned a tow truck for us, sent us to a reputable garage, and also notified Betty, who soon drove over to pick us up."

"The garage mechanic told me he services an average of 2 cars per week which burn out, just like mine."

"For he says the wrong oil was used in it."

"When I protested that I follow the instructions manual and have the car checked and serviced always on schedule, he said that manual is wrong."

"For he informed me the oil gets too low when owners try to go 3,000 miles or more without a check-up."

"And he says the manufacturers often delude customers by their glib sales arguments about the long-lasting oil and grease records."

"My minibus has only 45,000 miles on it and you know I bought it brand new, so do you think this garage mechanic is correct?"

"For I have followed the book to the letter and had it serviced right on schedule!"

AUTO "HORSE SENSE"

The oil gauge on your motor is a better index of what it needs than a glib sales pitch in the printed manual!

For manuals are often produced to help sell cars.

And their writers are often brainfrustrated instead of engineers with "horse sense."

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Many of our college engineers are "drawing board" experts but lack practical experience. This same criticism often applies to physicians, who are called "textbook doctors," but lack the quick "know-how" for handling emergency medical crises.

For example, when I was interning in obstetrics at Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago, one of our professors had a young wife on the delivery table.

But a ruptured artery started spurting blood.

This professor (whose famous textbook had been adopted by various medical schools for teaching Obstetrics) couldn't face up to practical medicine!

So he paced the floor, wringing his hands in bewilderment!

And this same type of "brainfrustrated" expert has often cluttered up the automotive field, as well as the manufacture of many other household conveniences.

"You must cut the cloth to fit the figure, not the pattern," thus runs a truism well known to you housewives.

For textbook theories don't always solve the specific needs of human beings or automobiles.

If the oil stick shows you need more oil in the crankcase, you better follow the reading on that stick, not your theoretical manual!

Autos are mechanical "horses" and the oldtime farmers knew that humidity, heat and the traction required to pull the wagon or plow, determined the feeding, watering and rest demanded by a farm team.

Would that all modern motorists had grown up in the "horse and buggy" era!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Woman May Be AEC Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dixy Lee Ray, who says the Atomic Energy Commission has a "bad guy" reputation it doesn't deserve, is reportedly President Nixon's choice to take over as chairman of the agency.

Dr. Ray, a 58-year-old marine biologist from Tacoma, Wash., who was named to the five-member commission by Nixon last summer, will replace James R. Schlesinger as chairman, congressional sources revealed Tuesday.

Whatever Happened To Sensational Watergate Disclosures?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever happened to all the sensational disclosures the Watergate trial promised?

They certainly didn't blaze forth in the courtroom where G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr. were convicted Tuesday of what one defense lawyer characterized as "an ordinary burglary."

It will take another forum in another place—perhaps the forthcoming Senate investigation into an allegedly broader campaign of political espionage and sabotage against Democrats—to answer a raft of unanswered questions.

The major fact officially established for the first time is that Republicans were spying on the Democrats at the highest levels. The lingering question is: WHY?

Government prosecutors volunteered their idea in the opening statement to the jury: "They (campaign officials) were concerned about demonstrations by extremist groups on either the left or the right."

But at the close of the trial, Asst. U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert seemed to be debunking his own theory when he ridiculed the defense argument that this was why the democratic telephones were tapped.

"Isn't the only conclusion that that had nothing to do with it?" he asked. "They were looking for political strategy and things of a personal nature."

Had there been such knowledge in Democratic party headquarters about possible violence, Silbert said, the Democrats would have called authorities themselves.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who had said the jury would want to know whether political espionage was involved in the break-in last June, took a hand himself when he thought lawyers for either side were ducking questions.

One witness was Hugh W. Sloan, treasurer of the campaign finance committee. The judge sent the jury out of the room and asked some pointed questions:

Q. You said, I think and correct me if I am in error, that you turned over a total of about $199,000 in cash (to Liddy). Where did you get that money from?

A. Cash fund contributions to the President's campaign.

Q. What was the purpose of turning over $199,000 to Liddy?

A. I have no idea.

Q. Who authorized you to turn the $199,000 over to Mr. Liddy in cash?

A. Jeb Magruder (deputy director of the re-election committee).

Q. For what purpose?

A. I have no idea.

Q. You didn't question Mr. Magruder about the purpose of the $199,000?

A. No, sir. I verified with Mr. Stans and Mr. Mitchell he was authorized to make those Maurice H. Stans, the former secretary of Commerce, was finance chairman of the Nixon campaign. Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was campaign chairman. Neither was called to testify, although some of the money provided Liddy wound up with the Watergate burglars.

There were other questions left open.

Sloan said that later in the morning of the Watergate arrests he saw Liddy in campaign committee headquarters, adding:

"To the best of my recollection what he indicated was: 'My boys were caught last night; I made a mistake by using somebody from there which I told them I would never do. I'm afraid I'm going to lose my job.'"

Who was "them"? It was never explained.

Another witness said Liddy had a stack of papers—indicating with his hands a pile of eight inches or more—and was looking for a paper shredder.

No testimony was elicited about what was in those papers, but Liddy's lawyer, Peter Maroulis, said Liddy destroyed them because "he didn't want to cause embarrassment to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. He knew he had made a monumental error."

One of the government's chief witnesses was Alfred C. Baldwin III, a rotund former FBI agent, who testified McCord hired him to be on the receiving end of the wiretapped conversations.

Senators Call For Action On Anticrime Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats called Wednesday for prompt action on a whole range of anticrime bills, ranging from measures to compensate victims of crime to gun restrictions, after the shooting of Sen. John C. Stennis.

The veteran Mississippi Democrat remained in very serious condition at Walter Reed Hospital after he was robbed and shot by two men in front of his Washington home Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Stennis' fellow Democrats endorsed Sen. Mike Mansfield's call for immediate steps "to provide effective crime control legislation."

Children Of God Damage Suit Set

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Trial of a $300,000 damage suit brought by a Children of God sect member against her parents and others has been set for Feb. 12 in U.S. District Court.

Miriam A. McClendon filed the suit last January, claiming she was committed involuntarily to two mental institutions solely because of her religious beliefs.

Her mother is Dr. Juliette McClendon, an instructor in Austin College in Sherman.

The other defendants are Jim Dunn, Miss McClendon's court-appointed lawyer; County Judge Les Tribble, who ordered her committed; County Clerk Paul Lee, who processed the legal papers for commitment; and Drs. David H. Darling and J. H. Stout, who testified the young woman should be sent to the institutions.

White Gets Large Ceremony Crowd

AUSTIN (AP) — Houston lawyer Mark W. White Jr., 32, was sworn in as secretary of state Wednesday, and so many people turned up for the ceremony that it impressed the man who appointed him, Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

A crowd that included former Gov. Price Daniel, Atty. Gen. John Hill and others wedged into the governor's reception room for the stand-up ceremony.

"It's obvious that you attract quite a crowd," said Briscoe, who escorted his wife, Janey, into the room for photographs. "It might mean something for your future."

After Associate Justice Ruel Walker of the Texas Supreme Court administered the oath of office, White kissed his wife and shook hands with the Briscoes.

White was confirmed Jan. 23 by the Senate in an unusual open session. Governor's appointments normally are debated and voted on in secret session, although this year's Senate rules say the vote must be in public.

Sex Segregation Still Exists In Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women are as segregated by occupation today as they were 30 years ago, President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers reports.

The council found that with few exceptions, women are still stuck in low-paying jobs and encounter discrimination when they seek more lucrative careers. Its first report on the economic status of women was released Tuesday.

More fact-finding and discussion of the government's role in helping women improve their situation is needed, the council said.

The council cited examples of job prejudice against women: "some clients reject women lawyers, some customers reject automobile saleswomen, and some workers reject women bosses."

It said employers often exaggerate the risk of a woman's job instability or her potential unacceptability to his clientele, and they screen her out of advanced training and advanced positions.

"The low representation of women in positions of responsibility is striking," the report said.

The CEA said many income and job differences stem from assumptions by both men and women that a woman's place is in the home and her job comes second.

The council said women remain as segregated from men by occupation as they were 30 years ago.

"The existence of discriminatory barriers may discourage women from seeking the training or adopting the life-style it would take to achieve a responsible and highly demanding job."

The CEA also said: —Women's earnings are 60 per cent those of men, and the gap increased between 1956 and 1969.

—Incomes of women don't increase with age to the extent that men's wages increase.

—Female heads of households have even more dramatically lower income than their male counterparts—$5,116 to $10,930 for 1971. Only 32 per cent of women heading families were able to be fulltime, year-round workers.

Wife Wishes To Know Effect Of Hanoi Prison On Husband

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Julie Butler wishes she knew how much five years in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp changes a man.

Her husband, Air Force Capt. William Butler, has been a prisoner since November 1967. He is one of more than 500 Americans due for release.

"I don't have any preconceived ideas about what it will be like when he finally gets here," Mrs. Butler said.

"Five years of his life have passed him by. Change will be apparent with his every human contact. I'll just have to take my cues from him."

Her husband has never seen the ranch-style house she purchased here two years ago. Their son Peter, now 6, was too young to know his father at the time of his disappearance; his daughter Sheila, 5, had not been born.

Mrs. Butler said her necessarily expanded role during her husband's long imprisonment has left her with a new feeling of independence.

"He's going to have to find room in the family," she said.

"I don't think it's going to be rough, but I have compensated for his absence. I'm glad to give these duties up, but they're going to be hard to shut off."

The children also face their father's return with some uncertainty, she said.

"They don't know what to expect. They have a sort of contagious excitement, but they really don't know."

Mrs. Butler is trying to keep her emotions under tight control.

She made a point of avoiding television and newspaper reporters after President Nixon announced a peace settlement ending the nation's longest war.

"I had finally reached the point where I was saying, 'When it's signed, sealed and delivered, call me. But until then, I don't want to hear anything,'" she said.

"I won't get excited until I know he's back in the United States."

But for the Butler children, the excitement already is tangible.

The other day Peter came home clutching a set of drawings of his father by his classmates at Glenwood School.

"Look, Mommy," he yelled on his way through the front door. "Our whole class drew pictures of Daddy coming home."

Each bore the same message scrawled by young hands: "Dear Mrs. Butler, today we thanked God for peace. We hope Peter's father will be home soon."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Feb. 1, the 32nd day of 1973. There are 333 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1790, the U.S. Supreme Court held its first session, meeting in the Royal Exchange Building in New York.

On this date: In 1587, Queen Elizabeth I of England signed a warrant for execution of Mary Queen of Scots.

In 1734, a war began between Turkey and Persia.

In 1861, Texas voted to secede from the Union.

In 1893, Thomas A. Edison completed work on the world's first motion picture studio — in West Orange, N.J.

In 1956, Autherine Lucy became the first Negro to be admitted to the University of Alabama.

In 1958, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt announced that his country had merged with Syria to form the United Arab Republic.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union and France signed a trade agreement although the Soviets did not get the tariff concessions they sought.

Five years ago: Richard M. Nixon announced he was a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination.

One year ago: The British Embassy in Dublin was bombed as anti-British demonstrations swept Ireland.

Today's Birthdays: Opera singer Renata Tebaldi is 51 years old, humorist S.J. Perelman is 69. The singer, Heidegarde, is 67.

Special For Valentine's—Pizza!!

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

This may be the era of Women's Lib but most women (and men, too) still like to be remembered on Valentine's Day. Love and its expressions may have gone many varied directions in recent years but a little tasty pastry touches the hearts of all. Certainly decorative for Valentine's Day is a Queen of Hearts Pizza that starts with a crisp corn meal pastry crust topped with a cream cheese filling and bright red strawberries. One pizza serves 12.

QUEEN OF HEARTS PIZZA

Crust:
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup enriched corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening, soft
6 to 7 tablespoons cold water

Topping:
Two 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla, whipped
Two 16-ounce packages frozen strawberries, thawed
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch

Queen of Hearts Pizza pleases all ages on Valentine's Day.

Heat oven to 425 degrees. For pastry, sift together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add cold water, a tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly until pastry just holds together. Form 3/4 of the pastry into a ball. Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to form a circle slightly larger than a 14-inch pizza pan. Fit pastry loosely in pan. Fold edge under; flute. Prick crust; bake in 425 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Roll out remaining pastry. With a small heart-shaped or pattern cookie cutter, cut out 8 to 10 pastry hearts. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in 425 degree oven 5 to 6 minutes or until golden brown.

Combine softened cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, beating until mixture is smooth. Add whipped cream; continue mixing until well-blended. Spread mixture evenly over crust. Chill until firm.

Combine a small amount of juice from strawberries with cornstarch; mix until lumps disappear. Add to strawberries. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture becomes thick and clear. Remove from heat; cool thoroughly. Spoon thickened strawberries evenly over cream cheese layer. Top with heart cut-outs. Chill until serving time. Makes 12 servings.

Cupid's sweet arrow hits the mark with cream puffs and Love punch.

Cupid's Cream Puffs

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Some delicious sweets for the sweetest holiday—Valentine's Day—include some very special homemade treats. Cupid cream puffs, for example, have an Orange Whip Filling. For a special party serves these with a non-alcoholic Love Punch.

CUPID CREAM PUFFS

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
4 eggs

In medium saucepan, heat butter with water over high heat, stirring occasionally until butter is melted and mixture is boiling. Add salt and flour all at once, stir vigorously over low heat until mixture leaves sides of pan in a smooth compact ball. Remove from heat. Quickly add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition until smooth and shiny. Drop mixture by spoonful 3 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet, shaping each into a mound. Bake in 300-degree oven 50 minutes. Cool on wire rack. To serve, slice top off each cream puff; fill with Heavenly Orange Filling. Replace top and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Makes about 12 medium puffs.

HEAVENLY ORANGE FILLING

1 pint heavy cream
1/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1/4 teaspoon almond extract, optional

Whip cream until stiff. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar. Fold in undiluted orange concentrate and almond extract.

LOVE PUNCH

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen sliced strawberries, slightly thawed
2 cans (6 ounces each) frozen orange juice concentrate, undiluted
1 quart ginger ale

Puree strawberries in blender or press through coarse sieve or food mill. Blend in undiluted orange concentrate. Mix thoroughly. Divide among six or eight glasses. Fill to the top with ginger ale. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Let rise applies to yeast dough. Put dough in a warm place so yeast can "grow" and cause dough to expand and get "light."

Fruits, Vegetables In Good Supply

If you were in Rome when the early Romans were, you'd probably have eaten fresh turnips regularly. In the days of the ancient Roman Republic, turnips were one of the most popular vegetables. In fact, it is believed that the Romans were so fond of the root vegetables that they took them along on their conquest of England.

According to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, it was the British who introduced them to the New World over four centuries ago. Today in the United States turnips are still popular. Although most often served boiled, there are many possibilities. Mashed turnips sprinkled with brated cheese and browned under the broiler are simple to do and delicious. Or try turnips French fried. They're also good glazed like sweet potatoes. Turnips give a nice, nippy taste to soups. Scrub and peel the turnips before cooking. It only takes 20 to 30 minutes boiling for turnips to cook tender. Don't overcook as turnips taste better when just a little firm in texture.

Turnips are a good source of vitamin C. They're in plentiful supply at your market now through March. White or yellow, select turnips that are smooth and firm with few leaf scars around the crown or fibrous roots at the base.

In bread making, salt slows and stabilizes the fermentation of yeast and also strengthens the gluten in the flour.

A thin type of penetrating floor sealer with a tung oil base is good to use on slate that has become dulled and gray.

Based on Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," the play is being presented daily at 8 p.m.

Court Says Defendant Denied Rights

AUSTIN (AP)—James Arthur Columbus was refused the right at his 1965 trial for burglary to call an alleged accomplice as a defense witness.

He has spent eight years in the Lubbock County jail or the state prison at Huntsville because of the burglary conviction.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled Wednesday that the trial judge made a mistake when he ruled out the testimony, and it ordered a new trial for Columbus.

A Lubbock jury sentenced Columbus to life imprisonment after the district attorney presented evidence of prior felony convictions.

Records filed in the case said the alleged accomplice would have testified that the pair went with a friend to clean the building in question. The friend told them he had been hired to clean the building and opened the door with a key, the records said the accomplice would have testified.

The court said Columbus' Sixth Amendment right to present his own witness to establish a defense was violated by the judge's refusal to permit the testimony.

Armed Services Ordering Cutbacks In Grocery Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—With food prices rising, the Navy has ordered mess cooks to substitute hamburger for steaks and chops. Army troops will be eating more pot roast.

The armed services—like many housewives—are cutting their grocery bills by substituting lower-priced items in their menus.

"Menus will be just as nutritious but not as delicious," explained a military food-service officer.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., in a message to all commands, noted a 20-per-cent rise in Navy food costs over the past six months.

The Agriculture Department Tuesday reported a 5 per cent rise in food prices from mid-December to mid-January; a 21-per-cent increase over last January's prices.

Zumwalt, the chief of naval operations, ordered food managers Jan. 11 to "suspend requisitioning of selected high-cost luxury and convenience items" such as steaks, roasts, lamb chops and lobster and to reduce "consumption of other high-cost items."

Similar orders are expected shortly from the Marine Corps. The Army and Air Force have yet to adopt these drastic measures but officials indicate similar steps may be taken if the price trend continues.

"We're watching very closely the rapid price rise of certain things" such as shrimp, lobster, minute steaks, sirloin and some fish filets, said the chief of the Army's buying program.

"Steak is still on the menu," said the officer who asked not to be quoted by name, "but we'll have more pot roast and swiss steak than ever before."

The Defense Department had ordered the armed forces to cut beef purchases by 10 per cent in the final four months of 1972.

Invitation To Massacre

You are beginning to see a number of execution-style massacres in this country. One day the headlines tell of a banker and his family who were tied to trees and shot.

Whether you favor the death penalty as a cruel necessity to prevent greater evil or whether you oppose it, you will be able to follow the reasoning of a criminal mind in a typical serious offense in which the victim is a witness to the crime.

Courts And Mr. Carter

About three years ago a fellow named Melvin Carter sued the District of Columbia. He claimed that a year earlier a DC policeman arrested him without probable cause and while he was being held by two other officers, the policeman beat him with brass knuckles.

The law U.S. Code Section 1983 states: "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory, subjects or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity or other proper proceedings for redress."

The District Court dismissed the complaint against all defendants without opinion. On appeal, the D.C. area's U.S. Court of Appeals reversed the District Court, holding that the allegations stated adequate causes of action under common law and under the federal statute.

In other words, if you are going to get yourself beat up by some person who is under color of law, take care that the person who wields the knuckles is not from the nation's capital because he has a federal exemption to do so!

We're not criticizing the justices in this case. We're just telling what they did.

New Bid For Prayer In Schools

By BRUCE BLOSSAT WASHINGTON—A new drive is being mounted in Congress to put through a constitutional amendment permitting prayer in public schools.

Leader of this latest effort is Rep. Chalmers Wylie, R-Ohio, who sponsored the proposal, narrowly defeated in the last Congress. While chalking up a 78 majority in the House (240 for, 162 against), the measure lost by 28 votes due to the requirement of a two-thirds majority for approval of constitutional amendments.

Wylie, a decorated World War II veteran, is convening a conference of bipartisan opponents of the Supreme Court's ban on prayer in schools to determine the nature of the new constitutional amendment that will be offered.

The so-called "Warren Court" held prayer in schools unconstitutional in two decisions—1962-63. In the opinion of Wylie and his supporters, there has been no diminution in the nationwide demand for legislative action to override the tribunal. They find interest as intense and widespread as ever.

"It is very clear the school-prayer issue did not die with the vote in the House," says Wylie. "People throughout the country are as much up-in-arms as ever over the Court's arbitrary and high-handed action. They want something decisive done about that, and we are going to do our utmost to do it."

"We came close to doing it in the last Congress. My constitutional amendment had a majority of 78 votes. That is a truly remarkable showing. It graphically demonstrated that decisive majority of the House emphatically disapproved of the Supreme Court's illogical edict and wanted to override it. But unfortunately, a constitutional amendment requires a two-thirds majority and we were 28 short of that."

With a number of changes in the House membership, it is too early, Wylie declared, to evaluate the outlook for passage in this Congress.

"We'll have a better idea of the chances after we have talked things over and taken some soundings," pointed out Wylie. "A number of fellow members have inquired about our plans and urged me to continue the fight I have every intention of doing that."

The Ohio legislator has a notable record as a determined battler. As a member of the 30th Infantry Division, one of Gen. Patton's spearhead units, Wylie won five combat decorations, including the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart and French and Belgian medals. He saw action in five European campaigns, was wounded and given a battlefield commission as lieutenant.

The son of a railroad worker, Wylie toiled as a section hand to pay his way through college. Similarly, he worked his way through Harvard Law School. Before being elected to Congress, he was City Attorney of Columbus, Ohio, assistant state attorney general and a leading member of the Ohio legislature.

Scientists Report New Sex Pheromones 'Lure'

By PAUL HARVEY

You've heard the story about the young lady at the perfume counter looking over all those trade names: "Original Sin" and "Naughty Night" and "Love Potion Number Nine."

What I'm about to relate is not for "beginners." Purposely, I saved this until after the holidays so this newspaper and I would not be accused of peddling perfume.

But scientists have discovered a fragrance that really is, really does, really is the smell of Tarzan, really Jane—and vice versa.

The first part of what I'm about to relate is going to sound very scientific because these scientists sniff-testing animal fragrances don't want you to think they're just fooling around.

It has been established that the female gypsy moth releases a few molecules of her special scent into the air, and it is detectable by the antenna of any male moth within miles.

Subsequently, they meet and mate with the programmed precision of guided missiles. The substance she releases into the night air is one of a group called "pheromones," chemical messengers, secreted externally, to influence the behavior of others of the species—usually through the olfactory sense—the sense of smell.

A long time ago a Harvard biologist, Prof. Edward Wilson, said: "To understand pheromones is to understand animal language. As we learn more about them, there's a chance we'll make some surprising discoveries about human communications."

Recently, The Wall Street Journal undertook to discover, purely in the interests of economics, whether there is now or is about to be some bottled cologne for male or female which genuinely does what they all claim to do.

The Journal discovered that British scientists have in fact isolated a chemical sex attractant secreted by female rhesus monkeys.

Dr. Richard Michael, who headed that research effort, says: "Yes, we now see the possibility of sex lures in other primates, including man."

Studies of both mice and men suggest pheromones cause an "immediate and direct effect on behavior."

The British medical journal, Lancet, says pheromones may explain other body cycles which it's not necessary to delineate here except to say that a fragrance which is sometimes attractive to the opposite sex isn't always.

This past Christmas season there was much advertising for a perfume based on musk, but some scientists were smiling because the musklike odor—exaltolide—bought by women—tests attractive only to other women.

So far we lack complete understanding of human pheromones. We lack conclusive evidence that man communicates with odor; but human glands which serve no other known function suggest that he does—and when they do bottle it, look out!

Especially the lady shopper I heard about—shopping a department store in Jackson, Miss., during the Christmas season. The woman, harried by six toddlers she had in tow, stopped at the perfume counter, looked at all those advertising claims and asked the salesperson: "Do you have anything in a repellent?"

Hanoi Allies Want End To Open War

By RAY CROMLEY WASHINGTON (NEA)

Clearly and distinctly the key to success of truce in Vietnam lies with China and the Soviet Union.

If Moscow and Peking continue to supply major amounts of aggressive arms to Hanoi, open conventional war is almost certain to erupt again, truce or no truce.

If Moscow and Peking decide to limit what they send to what Hanoi requires for its own defense and internal security, that will bring a new ball game.

The betting here is that South Vietnam can hold its own. In any event, the underground guerrilla war will continue. Given the revolutionary ideology of the men in power in Hanoi and the ease with which guerrilla weapons can be acquired, there is no way any outside power can bring this struggle to an end.

Hanoi's political and military underground in the South must be defeated by Saigon and Saigon alone, backed by the non-Communists of South Vietnam.

But conventional war—with tanks, planes, artillery, transport—now is quite another matter.

There is growing conviction at the White House, at State and in the Pentagon that both Russia and China want the open war ended and not resumed, and that they will therefore show restraint in what they send the North Vietnamese after a truce.

(Moscow and Peking will, in any case, match what the United States sends to South Vietnam; the issue is whether they will or will not send a great deal more. And there is no doubt both these Communist powers will continue to aid the underground efforts of the North Vietnamese in the South.)

As one White House official closely connected with the negotiations with Russia, North and South Vietnam and China, put it in a private conversation a few days back:

It is clear from our dealings with Moscow and Peking that both want this thing over—but not necessarily for reasons we would like. China wants things cleared up at its back door so that it can better face up to the Russian threat on the long Russo-Chinese border. Peking wants to ease the Russians out of North Vietnam, but this cannot possibly be accomplished so long as the Vietnam war continues in full bloom.

Moscow wants the war ended for a different reason. To solve its deep economic problems, the Soviet Union requires major aid from the United States. The open Vietnam war is a serious continued burr.
