Miss Eva Mae House And Eugene L. Morrison Wed In Lovely Home Ceremony

Ceremony Attended By Abilene Relatives Of Bride And Parents Of Groom; Honeymoon To Be In Fort Worth

Miss Eva Mae House, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. House, and Eugene L. Morrison, of Abilene, were united in the bonds of matrimony Monday morning in a beautiful wedding at the home of the bride's parents, 2001 South Gregg street.

Pink roses, carnations and zinnias, varying from the lightest shades of pink to a rose color, were used to decorate the oval arch between the living room and dining room under which the young couple stood, and for the floral decorations of the rooms.

The Rev. J. Richard Spann, pastor of the First Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. The bride was a lovely picture in a dress of hyacinth blue with accessories of ashes of roses. She carried an arm bouquet of pink and white sweetpeas.

After the ceremony the relatives of the bride and the few close friends who learned of the hour attended the ceremony gathered around the punch bowl and drank to the health and happiness of the young couple.

The dining table was spread with a handsome Cluny lace banquet cloth and centered with a crystal basket of pink radiant roses. Tall pink tapers in crystal holders added the beauty of the service.

Many of the bride's relatives from Abilene were present. They were Mrs. L. W. Hollis, Sr., her grandmother; Mrs. Bernard Hanks, an aunt; Mrs. Laura G. Roberts, a great aunt; Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Hollis, Jr., an aunt and uncle.

Local friends attending the ceremony were Meses. Victor Flewellen, Shins Phillips, Geo. Garrett, Mae Cooley, Steve Ford; Meses. Joe Galbraith and Wendell Bedichek.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin K. House. She was born and reared in Abilene and was graduated from the Abilene high school. She has made her home in Big Spring for the last year, coming here when her father accepted a position with the Big Spring Herald. She is a member of one of West Texas' oldest families and is the grand daughter of the late Dr. L. W. Hollis Sr., of Abilene.

The groom is an Abilene boy, who was reared in that city and graduated from the Abilene high school. He attended A.M. College and finished a course in electrical engineering at the Cohen's Electrical School in Chicago. He is connected with the Sun Electrical Co. of Abilene.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for Fort Worth for a brief honeymoon. They will make their home in Abilene.

Mrs. Steve Ford opened her lovely home in Edwards Heights Saturday afternoon to five tables of friends of Miss Eva Mae House, who was married this morning, and of her mother, Mrs. M. K. House. Roses from the hostess' gardens made the large living room a bower of flowers. Bride and groom tallies were used.

In the play Mrs. Young made high score and was presented with a beautiful linen breakfast set. After the delicious two course luncheon was served, the hostess wheeled in the tea wagon which was loaded with many lovely gifts for the bride-elect. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to unwrapping these packages and admiring their many beautiful and useful contents.

The guests of the afternoon were: Miss House; Meses. House, M. M. Edwards, E. V. Spence, V. H. Flewellen, C. W. Cunningham, A. E. Service, Homer McNew, Lilburn Coffee, M. H. Bennett, J. Y. Robb, W. W. Inkman, Shine Phillips, Albert M. Fisher, R. C. Strain, Vivian Nichols, V. Van Gieson, J. B. Young, J. D. Biles, and Jack Williamson, of Eastland.

The Rev. Woodie W. Smith has returned from a 10-days revival at Courtney. At the meeting there were 23 additions to the church, 23 conversions, and 19 baptisms.

Helen Jacobs Becomes Net Champ Of US

Easily Defeats Carolyn Babcock Of Los Angeles Two, 6-2 6-2

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—For seven or eight years Helen Jacobs has coveted the women's national tennis crown, and she won it easily Sunday by defeating Little Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2.

Carolyn, the sensation of earlier rounds, when she turned back such stars as Mrs. L. A. Harper and Joan Hildley on successive days, couldn't make it a contest against the sure-stroking girl from Berkeley, who completed her victorious way through the tournament with the loss of only one set.

Whether it was stage fright or the fact she was against a player vastly superior to those she had previously met, Miss Babcock did not look like the little wizard who had set the critics raving by her fire and perfection of her game Sunday she was a very wild, erratic little player, merely doing her best against a tennis oracle who knew all the answers.

Playing at the top of her game, the new champion ripped across her service with an explosive force that baffled her youthful opponent. Her returns, both forehand and backhand, were so severe they forced Miss Babcock into a total of 48 errors in the two sets. Carolyn never had a chance to get set.

Against Carolyn's 48 errors, Helen committed only 23, despite the fact she was whipping the ball into the back corners and constantly mixing up her game. On her few rallies at the net she had Miss Babcock at her mercy. When Carolyn, in the second set, tried desperately to rush in and make a battle of it, she saw the pellet go flashing past her racket, out of reach.

Miss Jacobs lost her service only once, and that in the second set, when there was no doubt of the outcome. She dropped only five points on her service in the first set and served three love games in the second. On match point she went to some trouble to work Miss Babcock out of position so she could slam over a placement and win the title with a flourish.

The new champion, now 23, takes the big cup home on her fifth attempt. She had played in four previous events, reaching the finals against Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in 1929. She lost to Dorothy Bennett Whittinghall of England in last year's semifinals. The failure of Mrs. Moody to defend her title left Berkeley Helen a clear path this time.

Summary: First set: Jacobs 41344445-6 Babcock 1412111-2 Second set: Jacobs 4344444-6 Babcock 0521020-2

Stroke analysis (both sets): SA. PL. P. N. DF. Jacobs 0 8 11 12 1 Babcock 0 9 21 27 3

After a rest period, the new champion returned to the court to pair with Sarah Palfrey of Sharon, Mass., and added the women's doubles title to her collection. Playing with superb teamwork, the girls from opposite coasts defeated Alice Marble of San Francisco and Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter of Dedham, Mass., 6-6, 6-1.

The initial set was hard fought from start to finish, but the second pair with the Jacobs-Palfrey combination sweeping all before it. The doubles was won last year by the English pair, Betty Nuthall and Mrs. Dorothy Bennett Whittinghall, who did not defend.

Recent Bride and Groom Honored At Bridge Shower... Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Lowmire gave a lovely pink and white bridal shower for Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Crook Friday evening. Mrs. Crook was Miss Fay Satterwhite before her marriage.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening. The honorees made high score and were presented with a number of lovely and useful gifts. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Woods, Mrs. A. L. Woods; Misses Ima Deason, Pauline Hart, Pattie Burns; Meses. John Garrison, Roy Crook and O. C. Hart.

Mrs. Billie Gill Frost and family have returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Birchfield in Crowell. They spent last weekend camping on Lake Kemp. Mr. Birchfield brought them in Sunday evening. Mrs. Frost will open her dance studio on Sept. 12.

Coahoma's Baseball War Far From Settled As Bulldogs Take 5 To 4 Game Of Sunday From Town Outfit

COAHOMA (Special)—Coahoma's baseball revolution is far from a settled matter following Sunday's game between the official town team and the Bulldogs. After being the door mat earlier in the week to the first team by a 4-0 score, the Bulldogs turned the trick against the Reids and Walkers, taking the second game by a 5-4 count.

Tom Hutto went the route for the Pups, allowing only four hits. He would never have been in danger had it not been for McCarty's single in the fourth with two aboard and two outs.

It took Bulldogs six innings to solve the J. Walker riddle, but in that frame they jumped on him for four runs. Mahoney finished, pitching nice ball.

Neal, hard hitting Pup outfielder, got the longest hit of the day, a three base lick in the initial inning. As yet no date has been set for a deciding game, but it is likely it will be played the latter part of the week.

The box score: Bulldogs: AB R H PO E Cook, 3b 5 0 1 3 1 Devaney, ss 5 1 2 1 0 Jones, cf 5 2 0 2 0 Neal, lf 4 1 2 3 0 Hutto, p 4 1 1 8 0 P. Woodson, 2b 4 0 0 2 1 F. Watts, c 4 0 2 0 0 Harrington, rf 4 0 2 0 0 M. Watts, 1b 4 0 0 7 0

LOVE or MONEY

CHAPTER XXIII

The Townsend limousine arrived at Lottie's apartment promptly at 10 o'clock. It remained there waiting until well after 11 because Mona and Lottie had set out at 9:30 to shop. On the list were shoes, hose, gloves, purse and even a rose-pot handkerchief.

Lottie's suit, donned with much twirling and twisting before the mirror, had been pronounced exactly right for Mona. Both girls agreed that it was far better than a new one, hastily selected and not fitted properly.

Lottie selected a blouse to go with it. "You look simply adorable!" she told Mona as she tucked a stray lock carefully beneath the new blue hat. "That suit might have been made for you. It fits you exactly as well as it does me."

"It's sweet of you, Lottie, to take all this trouble," Lottie said.

"No trouble at all, honey! I never dreamed I'd be lending my clothes to a bride for a swell wedding!"

"It isn't exactly the way I'd thought of marrying Barry," Mona said wistfully. "His uncle sending the car and me dashing out at the last minute to buy a bride outfit."

Lottie smiled. "I know what you're thinking about," she said. "White satin—church aisles—Kitty and Kathleen tossing rose petals and your Ma weeping fit to kill—"

"Ma ought to be there, though," Mona said slowly. "I just can't understand it, Lottie. I mean this rush and everything."

"I know, dear," Lottie's voice was sober. "The main thing is you're going to marry Barry."

She surveyed Mona approvingly, then dropped to her knees and busied herself with the hem of the skirt. "You say they're opening accounts for you," she went on, rising and scowling at the refractory hem.

"And you're not even going to live at Twiland. Wonder why?"

"I'm to spend the year—or most of it except the hot months—at the town house," Mona repeated patiently.

"Learning to be a lady I suppose! Using the right fork. Which sauce to order with the fish. Learning to be a credit to the Townsend family—"

"Well, I've a lot to learn," observed Mona. "And I do want to be a credit to them!"

"What I mean is this," the other girl interrupted. "When you get back right after the ceremony you're going to find time heavy on your hands. No job, no house work. Just time to kill. Well, suppose we step out and buy your clothes together. Maybe I dress like a vamp myself but I know what the well-dressed young girl street-wise should wear. That will take up part of your time. Of course I'll be as busy as a bee myself but I can get off now and then."

"Busy as which bee?" asked parka it twice in the same place."

"And Twiland is full of parking places, isn't it?" offered Lottie. She was jubilant. This meant, of course, that Steve would be there. He'd be best man, most likely and she said of honor—whatever you could call it when the wedding takes place in a sick room.

They rode now in silence. The sun was shining and spring was in the air. A tender haze of green filled the distant fields and finally the dim outlines of Twiland's raised above the sheltering branches across the valley.

Lottie craned her neck as the car entered the gate but failed to spy Steve's car.

"Listen, honey," she whispered as they drew up before the door, "if you want to back out right now I'm with you. Nobody on earth can make you go through with this if you don't want to."

Jimmy appeared at the door, his face beaming. "Mr. Garretson will be down directly, Miss," he told Mona. "I wish you much happiness, Miss, if I may be so bold."

He turned to the stairway and, bowing, pointed the way into the drawing room.

The room was empty. From a drawer in a table the butler drew out a package. It was a long, flat jeweler's box. "Mr. Steve asked me to give you this, Miss," he said. "Privately, Miss. He said you would understand."

"Mr. Steve?" Lottie exclaimed. "He's here?"

Jimmy shook his head. "No, Miss. He's gone. But he asked me to deliver the package before the wedding, Miss."

Lottie turned in dismay to Mona who stood with the open jewel case in her hand. It was the necklace and Mona had promised to wear it on her wedding day.

Mechanically she slipped the thin chain of diamonds about her neck and fastened the clasp.

"Gone!" Lottie repeated. "You mean Steve didn't want to stay for the wedding, Jimmy?"

"Hardly, I think, Miss. You marriage. He insisted on sailing for South America last night."

Tigers Win In Eleventh

Mound Duel Ends After Series Of Thrill Plays

A double by Parras with A. Garcia on second Sunday broke up mound duel in the eleventh inning between Payne and Brown, giving Tigers their first win off Stanton since early season. After limiting Tigers to nine scattered hits during the first ten innings, Brown hit A. Garcia with a pitched ball, walked Payne, and served Parris a two base ball. It meant victory for the veteran Payne, who had distributed ten hits evenly for eleven innings. Heaton, Moffitt, and Wilson for Stanton and Fierro and Hernandez for Tigers kept both pitchers in the running by fast fielding. Brown was in a bad hole in the third when Gamboa doubled to left field, Cruz was hit by a pitched ball, and Hernandez singled to left field. However, Story's neat throw held Gamboa to third, and he was forced at home a moment later on Fierro's hot grounder to Heaton. A Garcia forced Cruz at the plate on a good throw by Heaton. Hernandez, trapped off third, was thrown out coming home, Brown to Heaton to Pollock.

Again in the fifth he was in a bad way when Gamboa's single was followed by Moffitt's error on Cruz's grounder. But Hernandez bounced into a double play. In the seventh Vega was thrown out at home by Wilson trying to score on Cruz's single. Payne was in danger only once, during the second, but he and Cruz fielded perfectly to retire Stanton scoreless.

nance and profiteering under Fergusonism." Judge Ely then turned to the Hoffman Construction Company contracts and said: "The method and the manipulation were identical. One of Ferguson's highway commissioners, obligated to certain contractors, got the Hoffman Construction Company a fat retopping contract out of which it took a $600,000 profit in six months and the highway commission took a tour of the United States.

"That these profits of these two companies were exorbitant and condemnatory was proved by the fact that the court in the American Road Company suit forced disgorgement of $600,000 excess profits and saved the state $900,000 more on future profits, according to the testimony of the company's president. Moreover, in the Hoffman Construction Company case it not only took a $600,000 profit for its retopping contract, but it got $35,346.63 for road maintenance in Bexar County but actually spent only $6,587. Again we find what Fergusonism has meant in Texas. Is it difficult to vision what its return will mean?"

'Unders' Will Be Enrolled By City Schools This Year

The city school board has decided to allow "unders" to enter when the 1932-33 session opens Monday, September 12. Only condition which may prevent them entering is possible over-crowding of classes without them. "Unders" are those children who will not be six years of age until on or before January 1, 1933. They may attend school by paying tuition of $2 per month. They are supposed to pay tuition for the entire session. Supt. W. C. Blankenship suggested that all children falling in this group be entered when school opens, as "unders" will not be taken after January 1.
