HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

The Jubilee is all over.

That is, the Jubilee is all over for most everyone. But, there is one fellow in town for whom it is not over, far from it. And that fellow has worked much in an effort to help Big Spring entertain folks during the July 4 holidays.

He is Joseph Edwards, of the Chamber of Commerce oil & gas committee, an unselfish as a fellow as you ever saw; a plumb good guy.

Joe had not one whit of pecuniary interest in anything connected with the Jubilee. He headed the Chamber of Commerce committee which advertised the program very extensively, arranged for decorating the streets, obtained two bands which entertained the crowds, and spent money in various other ways.

As most of you know, the attractions offered at the Jubilee grounds on West Third street were under the financial backing of a group of local individuals who were attempting to kill two birds with one stone; and to the entertainment offered during the Jubilee and also make some money to pay off a note for about $6,000 which they signed that the 1929 West Texas league club representing Big Spring could finish the season.

It might be said in passing that those fellows, instead of making some money, lost some more money.

But, back to the other part of the deal. Mr. Edwards reported Tuesday morning that approximately $300 due from firms and individuals for advertising space in the 80-page program book issued during the Jubilee had not been collected.

The advertisers, therefore, are asked to send their checks for the ads which they authorized to go in to the book to Mr. Edwards, fourth floor, Petroleum building. He is the duly authorized representative of the Chamber of Commerce and will make a complete report to the directors when the collections have been made and the bills paid.

But bills cannot be paid until the ads are paid for. True, the program got out a little late, but that is neither here nor there. It is entirely in point that, due to the shortcomings of no one in particular, the Jubilee did not make money—but the part of it over which Mr. Edwards was chairman was not supposed to make money. It was supposed only to break even and do that solely through sale of space in the program.

Come on, boys, pay off. It is just a matter of paying for something we bought. Let's get this business over with.

Airport Bonds Are Delivered

Airport bonds were being delivered today by C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. According to Watson $8,000 of the $30,000 issue was disposed of this morning. The rest of the bonds will be collected today and Wednesday.

Commerce Dept. Envoy Due Here

Marshall C. Hoppin, department of commerce, Washington, D. C., was to arrive in Big Spring this afternoon on the westbound Southern Air Transport plane from Fort Worth.

Hoppin, with Chamber of Commerce and airport officials, will inspect the local airport with reference to the expansion program.

He will inform local officials of the requirements necessary to raise the standard of the local airport and landing field to an AIA classification.

Following his inspection of the local field he will meet with officials of the company and point out the defects and outline the necessities for the highest government classification.

CITY BOARD WILL HEAR MILK PLEA

Inspector Heard; C-C Men Favor No $3 Tax

A committee composed of C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, J. V. Bush, county agent, and Tom Ashley, will meet with the City Commission tonight in the interest of Howard County butter and milk producers, in an effort to settle differences which have arisen between the urban and rural bodies.

Meeting Held
At a meeting held Monday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce committee room, J. M. Williams, sanitation inspector, explained the city milk ordinance to those attending. Bush, Watson, Ashley, Fred Keating and Earl Phillips attended the meeting.

The consensus of the Chamber of Commerce representatives was that the $3 occupation tax should not be levied by the city.

"It is my opinion," Watson said, "that the strict dairy requirements are necessary for the health of a community. It is also my opinion that those benefited by such an ordinance should pay for it, and not the farmer who is trying to eke out a living selling milk and butter."

The physical examination also was attacked by some of those present. Earl Phillips protested this, declaring it would cost more to get all milk handlers examined than the profit of the products sold would net.

The cost-testing charge, which ranges from $1 upward, was approved by the body.

According to Williams the protests "are being stirred up by a handful, rather than a majority." He declared that of the 35 dairymen to file for permits, no protests had been filed with him.

According to Williams the ordinance, which has created such a furor among farmers and dairymen, was passed in October, 1928, and is the standard ordinance in effect in every city of any size.

In Other Towns
Watson reported he had talked with officials of Sweetwater, Abilene, San Angelo and Lubbock, and he reported no occupation was charged, with one exception. Lubbock charges a $5 fee for milk peddlers. None of the cities, according to Watson, levy an assessment for butter and butter milk selling.

Williams explained no charge is levied here for butter sellers, but that health requirements must be met. This includes a physical examination of the handler or handlers, tuberculin test of cows, and correct labels on the butter, including the name and address of the producer and weight of the butter.

No Hurry
"There is no hurry," Williams said. "I have told all of the dairymen the money can be paid within the next few months. I do not intend to commit myself. I am here to enforce the law, and I do not honestly believe one item in the ordinance is unfair as far as sanitation is concerned. The butter peddlers are the only ones registering a kick, so far as I can ascertain."

Phillips declared "the big dairies aren't kicking because they know they will force some of the little fellows out by the three dollar charge and the expense of having a family undergo a physical examination."

At the conclusion of the session it was decided to meet with the commission in an effort to get the $3 charge removed; get in touch with state health department in regard to getting blood tests made free; and find out the minimum charge for testing of cows.

HOWARD COUNTY FINANCIAL CONDITION HEALTHY, JUNE 30 TREASURER'S REPORT SHOWS

ROTARIANS IN SESSION

Dr. Wolfe, Bruce Frazier, Speakers Tuesday

In the first meeting held in the new Crawford hotel dining room, the Rotary club heard an address by Dr. Otto Wolfe on civic sanitation, in which he stressed danger of spread of disease through contaminated or incorrectly produced milk, and how animals transmit disease.

He said he had learned the chief reason for opposition of farmers to the milk ordinance being enforced here lies not in the requirement that their cows be tested for tuberculosis but in having to pay a permit fee to sell milk in the city. Bruce Frazier, who represented the club at the Silver Jubilee convention of Rotary International in Chicago recently, reported his trip to the club.

He told of the inspirational programs and the entertainments offered convention delegates.

The next convention will be held in Vienna.

Paul P. Harris, founder of Rotary, premature aged, appeared before the convention, said Frazier, and said, simply: "After 25 years, how do you like it, fellows?"

The net gain in International membership for the first ten months of the past fiscal year was 6,353, said Mr. Frazier. Rotary International has $444,464 invested in securities, he said.

Values of Improved Roads Discussed

OLAHOMA CITY, July 8 (AP)—Good highways are contributing more than any other factor in promoting friendship, consolidating schools, fortifying churches and stabilizing markets, Charles H. Brough, former governor of Arkansas, today told the United States Good Roads Association delegates in 18th annual convention here.

Brough urged the delegates to go on record as favoring an additional congressional appropriation of $25,000,000 for bridges and culverts on interstate highways and an additional $50,000,000 for aid to post roads traversed daily by rural mail carriers.

"Let us all urge upon our representative general assemblies and our highway commissions the elimination as rapidly as possible of the 16,000 grade crossings on the federal aid roads alone and the placing on these highways of uniform markers for the information and convenience of our tourists," Brough suggested.

Work of women in several cities in beautifying highways was commended by Brough.

LOS ANGELES, July 8 (AP)—Governor C. C. Young today declined to pardon Thomas J. Mooney, who is serving a life sentence for the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing.

"Until some further light is shed upon the case which I do not now possess," the governor said, "I manifestly must accept the conclusions of the supreme court and the advisory pardon board."

In a long statement the governor said he considered the Warren K. Billings and Mooney cases parallel, and both men were innocent or both were guilty.

Steve D. Ford Home From Atlantic Coast

Steve D. Ford, secretary of the Big Spring Kiwanis club, returned Monday from Atlantic City and New York City, after an absence of two weeks. He went to Atlantic City as delegate of the local club to the international convention.

Mr. Ford reported a fine trip but expressed the belief crop conditions in West Texas are better than in any state he visited. The Mississippi delta and Tennessee, he said, were very dry.

There were 1,568 voting delegates representing 1,216 Kiwanis clubs in the convention, where the registration totaled 3,922. Mr. Ford spent July 4 in New York City. He said the whole town closed up tighter than a drum for the holiday. He visited Coney Island and, with 1,300,000 people there for the holiday, learned that what had appeared a multitude at Atlantic City was really just a small congregation.

BELTON GIRL, FOUND HERE WITH MAN AND HIS THREE CHILDREN, WILL BE RETURNED TO MOTHER

A diminutive sun-tanned farm girl who "hated to face her mother" sat in Chief of Police E. A. Long's office this morning and before Judge Tracy Smith told how she had run off with a married man and lived with him for five months—a nothing—a girl father that knew nothing about such an experience—to his three children.

"Oh, I can't go back," she sobbed. "I can't go back to my mother and face her."

Chief Long arrested the man here this morning following a complaint filed with him by Big Spring residents. When arrested the man and girl were living in a tourist camp cabin—with the three children of the man's. The man will be turned over to federal authorities where charges of violation of the Mann act will be lodged against him.

Cheaply Glad

Clad in a cheap and faded gingham dress, her stockings rolled to worn out brown and scuffed shoes, the little farm girl of Belton related her story to Judge Smith and signed a statement.

That was when Chief Long asked her if she "wouldn't rather go home to mother."

BORAH AND M'KELLAR DISAGREE

Resolution To Ask Treaty Papers Is Discussed

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee today told the senate he was willing to agree to adoption of the McKellar resolution calling for the papers relating to the London naval conference, which President Hoover has withheld from the foreign relations committee.

Condition
He asked however, that the resolution incorporate the language "if not incompatible with public interest."

Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, refused to agree to this change.

Borah recalled that in all resolutions heretofore adopted by the senate asking the president for information, that phrase was used.

The president already has stated that he did not regard it as compatible with public interest to send some of the notes exchanged between Ambassador Dawes and the state department prior to the London conference to the senate for publication.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, asked Senator McKellar if he thought there was any way of coercing the president into sending the papers. McKellar said he did not regard it as compatible with public interest to send some of the notices exchanged between Ambassador Dawes and the state department prior to the London conference to the senate for publication.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, asked Senator McKellar if he thought there was any way of coercing the president into sending the papers. McKellar said he did not but he proposed as an alternative that the senate reject the treaty.

The many endorsements of Konjola led me to try it, and six bottles of this wonderful medicine made me able to resume my work. I am feeling better in every way than for a long time."

Konjola's 22 ingredients work together, battling at their very source, the causes of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Big Spring at Collins Bros. drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section—adv.

State Loses Title to Land

AUSTIN, July 7.—Twenty-five candidates have entered the race for eight contested seats in the Texas senate this year, according to apparently complete lists, compiled from reports of county chairmen and from other sources. Seven senatorial candidates were reported unopposed. Sixteen members are holdovers this year, their terms expiring two years hence.

The list as compiled is subject to possible revision because candidates in some instances would have been able to file by mail and in all instances to withdraw after the reports were forwarded. As it now stands, following are candidates for the senate:

- Dist. 2. Miss Margie E. Neal (D), Carthage.
- Dist. 4. W. R. Cousins (D), Beaumont.
- Dist. 6. W. E. Doyle, Teague; Julian P. Greer (D), Athens; R. A. Oens, Corsicana.
- Dist. 9. Ed Westbrook (D), Sherman; Cecil Murphy, Gainesville; J. J. Loy, Sherman; W. S. Moore, Gainesville.
- Dist. 10. John M. Moore (D), Greenville; S. E. Barnett, Greenville; Will A. Harris, Point.
- Dist. 11. George Purl, Dallas.
- Dist. 15. Gus Russek (D), Schulenburg.
- Dist. 16. Walter F. Woodul (D), Houston.
- Dist. 17. T. J. Hjalbrook (D), Galveston.
- Dist. 19. Tom Cambrell, Lockhart; W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales; Reno Eickenroth, republican nomination, Seguin.
- Dist. 22. Grady Woodruff, Paradise; Eugene Miller (D), Weatherford; True Strong, Nocona.
- Dist. 23. Ben G. O'Neal, Wichita Falls; Rube Loftin, Henrietta; G. W. Backus, Vernon; Roy Daniels, Wichita Falls.
- Dist. 25. Walter C. Woodward (D), Coleman.
- Dist. 27. James E. Neal, Laredo; Archie Parr (D), Benavides.
- Dist. 28. Julien C. Hyer (D), Fort Worth; Frank Rawlins, P. S. Ban-

The state of Texas has lost a judgment for $1,263,705 by a decision handed down by the Third Court of Civil Appeals, reversing and remanding the case of R. L. Blaffer and others against the State of Texas.

The title to 237 acres of the Humble oil field in Harris county remains in the possession of R. L. Blaffer and others as result of the court's decision.

Blaffer is one of about 50 defendants. All of the principal oil companies operating in the Humble oil field are parties to the suit; also, many royalty owners.

The case originated in 1924 when the governor ordered the attorney general to bring suit for the recovery of approximately 400 acres of the Dunman survey. The suit was brought on the theory that a vacancy existed between old and new surveys.

"Primarily the case is one of boundary, the appeal involving the true location of the south corner and south and east and west line of the Strange and R. Dunman surveys," the court opinion explained.

The state was declared in possession of the title to the land by a decision of the Travis county district court. The state was also given judgment for $1,263,705 against the defendants for oil produced from the tracts in litigation. The recovery of $50,000,000 was originally asked by the state.

"In final analysis," said the appellate court, "the whole case rests on the true location of the southeast corner of the R. Dunman."

Part of the evidence had to do with the theory of the state that the San Jacinto river had shifted its bed to the south since 1838, when the first survey was made. The higher court devotes a large part of the opinion to a consideration of this idea, but concludes that, although the river has changed its course, it is not the correct basis for determining the survey lines.

She's Changed Her Name, But That Accent—Never

Jeanne Williams (above) found it easier to change her name to Sonia Karlov than to drop her accent.

NEW YORK (AP)—The man without a country has something of a feminine parallel in Jeanne Williams, alias Sonia Karlov.

As Jeanne Williams she is American born of American parents, but as Sonia Karlov she always will be Russian.

The story begins six years ago when Jeanne and Mary Williams, sisters, left their home in Syracuse, N. Y., to become chorus girls.

The girls were ambitious and determined not to stay in the "Follies." Mary, the younger, studied voice and soon appeared in "The Grand Street Follies." Jeanne decided to become a dramatic actress.

Three years ago Jeanne started for Hollywood, started with no hope of finding a place.

Somewhere before the train reached the west coast Jeanne Williams disappeared. Three months later there appeared on the horizon a new Russian player with a distinct Russian accent and the name of Sonia Karlov found that her picture career was over. She had learned her Russian accent too well.

Now she is returning to Broadway in a new play. But she still is Sonia Karlov with a Russian accent.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Ronoke, Va. Who, in your opinion is America's best woman poet?

There are differences of opinion, but Emily Dickinson has great claims on that premiership. She has been called "the Helen of modern literature" who applied herself to all the human experience that make this world and the next. The London Spectator says that though her love for a man was defeated she sublimated it in her worship of God.

Study her poems, in which she often "changes the commonplace to a miracle and brings miracles down like sparrows to the threshold of every day." A genius of Puritan descent, living in a provincial town, she developed a splendid serenity out of her crucified affections. Here is a sample of her work:

"Savior! I've no one else to tell
And so I trouble Thee,
I am the one forgot Thee so,
Dost Thou remember me?"

"Not for myself I came so far,
That were the little load—
I brought Thee the Imperial heart
I had not strength to hold."

"The heart I carried in my own,
Till mine too heavy be,
Yet strangest—heavier since it went—
Is it too large for Thee?"

Here is consummate and subtle art, deeply probing the mysteries of pain and the consolation which derives from absolute submission to the Eternal Goodness. Note its concreteness, its terse expression, its haunting melody.

For these and other reasons I personally would nominate Emily Dickinson for the position you name.

Trafalgar, Ind. I would be pleased indeed to have your explanation and comment on Psalm cxxxix, 13 and 16.

I have given considerable thought to the above Scripture from the King James and other translations and I have the comment of others upon it. But none is very clear and satisfactory. Also give your comment on Job xii, 7 to 10.

The Psalmist here describe the mysterious creation of human life and how from the undeveloped embryo it grows into a body endowed with marvelous members and faculties. By such expressions as "In thy book were they all written, when as yet there was none of them," he states his belief that man's entire course is planned ahead and recorded in God's inkless scrolls. In other words, the Psalmist is convinced that an ideal scheme is prearranged for every individual's existence. St. Paul maintains a similar position in his letter to the Ephesians: "For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God afore prepared, that we should walk in them" (E. 10).

In Chapter xii, 7-10, Job satirizes the vaunted wisdom of the friends who complacently patronized him. Their wisdom is so simple and rudimentary that even the fowls of the air and the fishes of the sea possess it. It is as though the patriarch said: "The lowest creatures in God's creative scheme are just as much aware as you are that He is strong and wise." This phraseology must be treated as poetry. We have to remember that the ancients did not make the distinction between human and animal intelligence which modern knowledge has formulated.

New York City. I am a sincere atheist and a taxpayer in a community with a tax rate of $30 per thousand. In this community there are six Protestant Churches, two Catholic Churches and a Parochial School, all tax exempt. If these properties were taxed the rate would be less than $28. Why should I be taxed to aid in spreading doctrines I emphatically oppose?

Churches and schools are exempt from taxation because they are agencies for the furtherance of human well being. In spite of the fact that there is an overcrowding of churches it cannot be said of any single one that it is an incubus upon society. To be sure, the efficiency of some churches might be increased if they united their forces and this is being done in some localities, but the process is painfully slow.

The skeptic cannot lawfully ignore any of the obligations of the society of which he is a member. If exceptions should be made in favor of some taxpayers for personal reasons, confusion and injustice would follow. Objections to churches and schools as an integral part of the organism of society, and the refusal to support them, establish a precedent for treating other institutions in a similar way. In a democracy the voice of the majority rules: Those who decline to accept its verdict should withdraw to some place where every one can do as he pleases. There is no such place in the United States, or in any other civilized country. Applying your theory to other facts, thousands of pacifists are being taxed for the support of military forces in which they do not believe, while many of our Christian brethren are compelled to support educational systems they conscientiously deem inadequate for the child's religious needs. These and kindred groups bow to the decision of their fellow citizens and I see no other course for you to adopt.

SLEEPING SICKNESS KILLS OLD MANCHER

EL CENTRO, Cal. (INS)—Doctors today were puzzled over the death apparently from sleeping sickness of John Doss, 67, who for 20 years has operated his ranch near Calipatria.

Doss' symptoms were said to be similar to those of the African tropical malady. Prior to his coma, Doss had never been sick a day, friends said.

Second Half Of City League Season Opens Today

RICHARDS'N TO MEET COSDEN Coahoma and Mexican Tigers Admitted To Loop

The second half of the city league season, after huge quantities of dissertation, great gobs of side-swiping gab, dissention et cetera, gets under way today, quite a different organization than it was at the start of the season. Coahoma came into the league and withdrew from the league and came into the league again all in one night. At last accounts Coahoma was in. The Mexican Tigers also took a berth after Tiny Reed and ourself had made a non stop flight to the Mexican Greenwich Village to interview Vega, whom we found with the aid of Pancho the ball shagger, and others. So the second half will start with Cosden, Richardson, Coahoma, Bankers, Barbers and the Tigers. Texas and Pacific aggregation and the Barbers combined because Lefty Baber, the please-go-away-and-let-me-sleep representative of the loops, couldn't get to the meetings on time.

Willbanks, the circulation manager, discovered a few minutes too late last eve that his straw hat was missing after all the ball players had gone home. Under cross examination we had to admit we knew nothing about his straw hat, and would like to be sitting on it if we did. The baseball players were exasperated this morning, however, when Baker the advertising hound came creeping in the office with Willbanks' team colored knob protector. Now if it had been a new baseball that was missing it wouldn't have taken us more than a couple of guesses as to where it had gone to.

The combining of the Texas and Pacific and the Barbers automatically releases several aspiring young ball shaggers. Coahoma also takes a few from the ranks of Richardson Refinery, including none other than Garcia, the brown hued fast ball tosser. Garcia, hereafter, will be seen in a Coahoma uniform blinding his offerings as usual. Tip Grissett and Lefty Lydia, two elongated twirlers that prove menacing at times to opposing teams, will be seen with the Barbers.

Hereafter the Sunday games will be between the Big Spring All-Stars and the All-Stars of other outstanding villages in this section, with Samuel Sain in charge. Just where some opposition is to be found is causing the worry. Such teams as those offered by nearby points would be as clay in the hands of the Big Spring potters. Officials of the Outpost League, incidentally, blame their three defeats at the hands of the local aggregation, on the condition of the infield. As well as we can recall very few balls were hit in the infield.

The open tennis tourney of the Big Spring Tennis Association will be held July 18, 19 and 20. Our informant infers the burden of local honor will be upon the shoulders of Ray Brown, who copped the singles crown, and Brown and Whitehurst the doubles' winners. Also much material from outlying sections is expected to be in the city during the three days to participate in the tourney. Ray Brown, incidentally, is receiving the entry blanks.

It is quite fitting, we presume, that Cosden Refinery and Richardson Refinery, should open the second half of the league. Those two teams have bolstered in every division. Cosden has a new catcher named Sain whom Spike Henninger declares is some pumpkin. Chile Ayres, another some pumpkin, has been added to the infield. J. E. Whittington and Bill O'Quinn, are two others to don the red caps. Cosden may not win the second half, but it won't be Cosden's fault if it doesn't.

The Bankers are supposed to have strengthened, but a look at the roster doesn't reveal any additional power. No new pitchers have been added, and few stellar lights.

Eddie Montague Goes To Indians

CLEVELAND, July 8 (AP)—Eddie Montague, the fastest shortstop in the Southern Association, will be returned from New Orleans to the Cleveland Indians within a week to see what he can do for the slumping tribe. Montague was with Cleveland in 1928, but was sent to the Pelicans last year.

General Manager Billy Evans of the Indians also announced the release of Sal Glattio, midgey right hand hurler, to New Orleans under option and cancellation of the option of the veteran Joe Shaute of the same club.

Flowers-King Tut Bout Set Tonight

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 8 (AP)—Clashing for the fourth time, King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, and Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, N. Y., negro, will meet tonight in a scheduled ten round fight. Tut won one decision and a draw over Flowers in two bouts. The third ended when Tut fouled Flowers.

Dairy cows increased 1,000 in four years in Idaho, according to the United States extension service.

BOBBY JONES, DIEGEL HUMBLE OLD MAN PAR

MINNEAPOLIS, July 8 (AP)—Estimates of the score, which will bring victory in the national open at Interlachen starting Thursday were revised sharply downward today as Old Man Par stood humbled after record-breaking rounds Monday by Bobby Jones and Leo Diegel.

But Jones, defending champion, alone among the competitors was reluctant to change his estimate of 294 for the four rounds of tournament play despite his brace of 72s Sunday and his sensational shooting with Diegel just before Monday's sunset. The champion and the smiling challenger from the professional ranks scored 70s, beating the old record of 71 made last week by Jock Hendry, St. Paul pro.

Tommy Armour, winner in 1927, declared that 290 would win this year. Denny Shute, young professional from Columbus, Ohio, said 288 or 289 would be the low net. A few insisted that if playing conditions were ideal there would be a good chance to tie the low score record for open meets set in Minneapolis in 1916 by Chick Evans with 286 at Minikahda, only a few miles from Interlachen—but this group was small indeed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 8 (AP)—Interlachen, scene of the national open golf tournament starting Thursday, is pronounced "Interlock-in," with the emphasis on the "lock."

BUFFS HOLD TIGHT TO LEAD

Small Percentage Separates Bisons and Spuders

BY GAYLE E. TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Theoretically, the Wichita Falls Spuders had hoisted themselves back into a tie for the Texas League leadership today, but the Houston Buffs still were clinging to the percentage points.

Although the first half champs had won 10 games, one more than the Bayou City crew, they had dropped five since the second chapter began, as against four reverses for the Bisons. The difference was 25 points, demonstrating forcefully that losing ball games is bad business.

In climbing a little closer to their accustomed seat yesterday the Spuders looked like their old selves of the first half. While Ash Hillin, the former Texas Aggie, limited the Sports to six hits, his roisterous mates climbed on Morrell and Cooper for 12, and the score was 7 to 3. Two of the Spudder blows were homers by Fitzgerald and Kloza, and Perry hit his almost daily round tripper for Shreveport.

Denny Burns hauled the Beaumont Exporters out of the cellar, leaving the decrepit Dallas Steers in full possession, when he mastered the Buffs, 8 to 2. The Shipper veteran gave up nine hits and three walks, but was at his best in the clinches. Twelve Buffs were left stranded, three of them in the final frame. Eleven Beaumont blowed off Brown and Reinhart included homers by Shiver, Mullen and Holley.

Four thousand fans, the greatest Monday crowd in Waco's baseball history, saw the Cubs capture their ninth victory in ten nocturnal starts at the expense of San Antonio, 4 to 3, and go into a tie with Fort Worth for third place. It was a genuine pitchers' duel between Ray Lucas of the Indians and Elim Harris of the Cubs. Lucas gave up only five hits to eight off Harris, but the Cubs bunched them in four innings. Piet, promising Waco second baseman, led the victorious offense with a homer and double. Harris registered six strikeouts.

The Indians sensed some skull duggery in the eighth, when, after Rye had driven across the winning run with a double, the lights went out for 15 minutes. They finally were convinced that a Waco adherent had not thrown the switch, however, and the game proceeded. Fort Worth and Dallas were idle for the day, having played their scheduled bout as part of Sunday's doubleheader. Old Pete Alexander who was affected by more things than the heat in his third Texas League start Sunday, was understood to have been admonished by the Dallas management. Old Pete, however, has been admonished before by bigger and better managers than the Texas League can boast.

PITTSBURGH (INS)—Definite identification of Pennsylvania as a "dry" state is the claim made by Dr. Homer W. Tope, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, as a result of the nomination of Gifford Pinchot on the Republican ticket for Governor.

"Mr. Pinchot's nomination, which is practically equivalent to assurance of his election, is a guaranty against repeal of the state enforcement law by the 'wet' group," Dr. Tope declared.

The consideration was $325,000 and the purchase carried with it natural gas contracts covering some 2,500 acres.

SENATORS BACK IN FRONT

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Aided by the schedule makers, Walter Johnson today had his sensational Washington Senators out in front in the hectic American League pennant scramble for the second time this season.

Because the men who set the playing dates saw fit to give the Athletics a day of rest yesterday and at the same time let the Senators play the Red Sox, Washington is leading the champions by one-half game as the result of an 8 to 1 triumph over Boston.

In defeating the Red Sox, the Senators accounted for their eighth consecutive victory—the third time this season they have run their string of victories to eight. On another occasion they won seven in a row only to lose the eighth.

To Alvin Crowder, St. Louis Browns' castoff, goes much of the credit for Washington's victory. The former St. Louis hurler set the Sox down with eight scattered hits and did not issue a base on balls to win his fifth straight game since joining the Senators. He lost his first game to mar an otherwise perfect record.

The badly crippled Indians dropped a few more points off their percentage column when they fell before the St. Louis Browns 6 to 1. The victories got to Pete Jablonowski and Belvidere Bean for eleven hits, which included circuit drives by Ralph Kress and Goose Goslin.

A standoff was the result of the Detroit-Chicago doubleheader, the Tigers taking the first 3 to 2 behind the good pitching of Earl Whitehill but losing the second 5 to 5. Whitehill held the Sox to four hits but the Sox managed to stay in the battle until the tenth inning because Dutch Henry did a good job of keeping the Tigers 12 hits scattered. In the second encounter, ability to take advantage of Detroit's loose fielding gave the White Sox the decision.

Babe Herman's powerful bat gave the Brooklyn Robins a full game advantage over the Cubs as the National League champions lost while the pace setters were trimming the Boston Braves, 2 to 1.

A home run off Herman's bat, which was preceded by a double converted into a run when Wright singled gave the Robins the decision and Ray Moss the best of the best of the pitching duel with Bob Smith. Moss let the Braves down with six hits while the Robins touched Smith for seven, three of which were made by Herman.

The Cubs looked just like another bail club as they dropped their third straight to the floundering Reds. The score was 4 to 2. Pat Malone pitched one-hit ball for five innings but weakened in the sixth and seventh long enough to let the Reds hit three triples and a single and score four runs.

A modern game of baseball was played at Philadelphia, where the Giants defeated the Phillies 13 to 12 in a slugging orgy that brought five New York and three Philadelphia pluckers to the mound. Among the 38 hits collected by the two teams were Klein's twenty-fourth home run of the season and another hit of the same variety by Frank C'Doul.

The Cardinals march up the standings was halted by the Pittsburgh Pirates, who won 9 to 5 behind the steady southpaw pitching of Larry French. The Cards had won five straight games. Sunny Jim Bottomley and Gus Suhr hit home runs.

CHICAGO HAS MODERN "BEACH COMBERS"

CHICAGO—(INS)—An unfailing sight after a big storm along the shore of Lake Michigan are the souvenir hunters, who swarm the beaches in hopes of finding some remnant washed ashore that they can prize above ordinary possessions. Whole troupes of these tenacious searchers flocked to the lake from after a recent big storm.

While the usual bits of wood glass and trinkets were picked up, the prize souvenirs discovered this time were half a dozen large wooden compartments washed ashore from the wreckage of some unknown barge. Even the chunks of limestone contained in them were triumphantly carried away.

Besides the queer shells and other things thrown out by the force of the gale that ripped the waters open, there was an old home-made shoe sole, prized by the man who found it. It was stiff with age and immersion, and would never have received a second glance from even a rag pickers earching the refuse dump.

Mrs. A. Biney Jones, Greenville, former resident of Big Spring, arrived Tuesday morning from California for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Walker.

11 CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR SPEND $50,000

AUSTIN, Tex., July 8 (AP)—Caterers to ballyhoo whims of the eleven candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas have promise of reaping an extra rich harvest this year, with more than $25,000 already spent to further campaigns—nearly four times as much as expended at the corresponding time two years ago. This imposing total was reached not by excessive expenditures by the candidates, as compared to previous years, but because of the extraordinary large number seeking to be among those present when the second heat of the race is run.

Two years ago, L. J. Wardlow, one of the strongest starters spent more in the first period of the campaign than has any one of the eleven in the race this year. His total topped by a few hundred the $6,000 expenditure reported by Senator Clint Small, West Texas aspirant for executive honors.

The other three—Governor Dan Moody, W. E. Hawkins and Edith E. Wilmans—were still on their first thousand dollars when they made the first of three reports required by law.

Going back four years, a strange contrast is found between the expense accounts turned in that year and this by Miriam A. Ferguson. Fighting her young attorney general, Dan Moody, Mrs. Ferguson's campaign had cost more than $3,000 when the first voucher was turned in. This year her expenses so far have been less than $400 in her campaign to vindicate the Ferguson name.

As an indication of what the final reports of the eleven starters may show when the last vote has been tabulated, Governor Moody's total expenses four years ago were reported as $7,883 and Mrs. Ferguson's as $7,966. Two years ago Governor Moody spent $6,505; Wardlaw $7,960; W. E. Hawkins $968, and Edith E. Wilmans approximately $700, no total having been given on her final affidavit.

Expenditures reported by the eleven candidates of their first preliminary report this year were: Clint Small $6,096.41; Earle B. Mayfield 5,442.43; James Young 5,371.52; Barry Miller 4,369.75; R. S. Sterling 1,748.85; Thomas B. Love 1,601.30; Frank Putman 985.89; Miriam Ferguson 382.23; Dr. C. E. Walker 172.75; C. C. Moody 105.00; Paul Loven 74.00.

GIRL JUMPS FROM AIRPLANE; CORONER SUSPECTS SUICIDE

LINCOLN, Neb., July 8 (AP)—A plunge from an airplane soaring over the municipal airport late yesterday cost the life of Miss Alberta Brinkerhoff, 21-year old University of Nebraska co-ed.

A few minutes before the pilot of the low winged monoplane, Pete Orr, had pulled the young woman back into the cockpit of the ship after she had stepped out on the wing. He was circling the airport, preparing to land the ship, when the young woman again climbed out on the wing and fell to earth from an altitude of approximately 1,200 feet. Her body was found on the flying field.

Friends of the university senior said she had not been despondent and could advance no cause for her actions. Meanwhile C. A. Hugart, acting coroner, expressed the belief that it was a case of suicide and County Attorney Max G. Towle said an inquest probably would not be held.

Arriving at the airport in a taxi-cab Miss Brinkerhoff arranged to make a brief flight. Orr, pilot for a flying school, began warming up the motor of the ship, and the girl laughingly remarked that she was getting nervous.

The plane roared down the runway and was soon high above the airport. Before the takeoff, Miss Brinkerhoff had been strapped in the cockpit.

When the ship reached a high altitude, she stepped out on the wing. Orr, who holds a limited commercial pilots license, said she screamed twice that she wanted to land.

The pilot grabbed her and pulled her back into the cockpit. While she was regaining control of the plane, the young woman again climbed out on the wing and plunged to earth, he said.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brinkerhoff were expected today, from their home at Mount Clare, Neb.

Big Spring, Texas, June 22, 1930. —Editor, Big Spring Daily Herald: Our congress recently passed the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, which was signed by the president and became a law. The lawmakers struggled many months to produce the law as it stands and when it passed the final reading in the senate and house the sponsors of the bill pointed with pride to the fact that it placed added protection on many articles grown on American farms.

It is no doubt a laudable effort on the part of many senators and representatives to aid the farmers and there is no question in the minds of economists as a whole but that farmers can do considerably to better their own condition.

The great industrialists today realize that in order to continue production on the principle of mass production as practiced in America today that they must enable men and women workers who produce the nation's commodities to buy the products of their toil.

Farming too is an industry, an industry with its many and varied problems and perplexities. The biggest problem facing the farming industry today is the same as faces the industries, the problem of over-production.

The farmers, however, are as a rule advocates of cheap labor and insist that without cheap labor the industry cannot thrive. They seemingly lose sight of the fact that the major portions of the products of the farms are consumed by the laboring people.

We have in the southwest vast areas of land devoted to the production of cotton, wheat and all kinds. We have also, vast numbers of unemployed American laborers who in order to live and become an economic asset to the state and nation would work on these farms and in these truck gardens if they could get a chance to do so.

The majority of the farmers, however, insist on employing Mexican labor to produce things which in turn he hopes to sell to American men and women, the greater part of whom are working people. If unable to work, as thousands of them are today, they cannot purchase the produce with which, with the result that the farmers find themselves with an over production problem. If they would employ some of our white American labor and pay them wages consistent with American living standards these laborers would then be enabled to consume much of the produce of the farm and thereby relieve to a great extent the serious over production problem now facing the farmers. To state it plainly the farmer can help himself if he would do his part toward developing his market by making it possible for thousands now unemployed to consume his produce.

We have here in Big Spring some truck gardens and nurseries, some which will not give employment to a white man regardless of the fact that he expresses a desire to serve in any capacity. They, on the contrary, employ cheap Mexican labor, and yet expect the buying public to purchase their produce as readily as they would had it been produced with American labor. If they were dependent on the Mexicans to consume their produce they would be compelled to cut their acreage considerably. Why then do they not give a few members of the class that constitutes the mass of the purchasing public to whom they expect to sell, an opportunity to work in those fields and thereby be enabled to live as Americans should? Reliable Prescription Service

The Oldest Profession

EVEN in the days when Moses was tending the flocks of his father-in-law at the foot of Mount Horeb, there was in existence a collection of formulas (preserved in what is now known as the Ebers Papyrus), calling for many drugs in common use today. Pharmacy has been referred to as the oldest profession, as in those early days the pharmacist was the physician, the chemist, and the botanist as well.

In these days the pharmacist must have an intimate knowledge of all the modern agents which the physician prescribes, a knowledge which he can only gain through long years of education and training. But in order to make a living the druggist must sell merchandise as well as professional service. Only the neighborhood which shows an appreciation of this fact can hope to support a drug-store with a well-equipped prescription department, ready for service when sickness comes.
