

De Gaulle Asks That Russia Be In On Mediation

By REELMAN MORIN
PARIS, June 2 (AP)—General De Gaulle charged today that Syrians who fought the French "carried arms furnished by the British and suggested that a four-power conference including Russia negotiate the question of the whole Arab world"—an area where British interests predominate.

When asked to give the names of the "crowd" of British agents which he said precipitated the Syrian and Lebanese uprising, De Gaulle said "everyone knows their names, and I would blush to give them to you."

"We must finish with 'diklats' and crises," said the French leader in outlining the French side of the Levant dispute which has found the Syrians and Lebanese refusing to negotiate with the French because of French wishes for concessions in their homelands.

"It would be a most monstrous absurdity," said De Gaulle, "if, having ended the war against Germany, we should find ourselves confronted by bloody incidents between the Allies."

De Gaulle told of French-British political and economic clashes in the Middle East dating from the last world war and clearly indicated his refusal to submit the Middle East problem to a tripartite meeting of France, Britain and the United States, as proposed by Prime Minister Churchill three days ago.

He declared Churchill's message "will change nothing," adding "I haven't thought it necessary to reply to this message."

Reminding his listeners at a press conference that Russia has interests in the Middle East, De Gaulle said:

"There are many who are interested in this question. First of all there are the Big Four—France, Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia. And there are also the Arab states.

"These constitute a group. If they want to settle the question in a normal manner—and I hope peaceably—they must consider it all together and not from the point of view of stupid rivalry."

De Gaulle said France was entitled to military bases the same as Britain and the United States and charged that the "British attitude" in the Middle East was one reason for France's inability to give full independence to Syria and Lebanon.

De Gaulle indicated his willingness to submit the explosive question to international discussion providing Russia was invited to participate and "the question of the whole Arab world, including Egypt, Iran, Palestine and others" was discussed.

Thirteen Shot In Prison Rioting

JESSUP, Md., June 2 (AP)—Thirteen convicts were shot and wounded tonight before state troopers and prison guards were able to drive several hundred rioting house of correction prisoners back into their cells and end disorders which broke out during the evening meal.

State police were ordered to open fire with riot guns at the climax of more than three hours of disturbances when approximately a dozen inmates rushed eight troopers attempting to close a door. One of the officers, Trooper 1/C Hugh N. Kavanagh, was gashed in the back.

The convicts, all of whom are short termers, had armed themselves with bottles, clubs and utensils.

Seven of the men wounded were white and six of them negro.

Ike To Attend Family Reunion

Abilene, Kas., June 2 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is coming here June 21 for a reunion with his family and fellow townspeople.

Committees already have been set up to make arrangements for the reception, which will include a parade and a speaking program at the fair grounds. Governors of several states and commanders of military installations in Kansas will be invited.

The entire Eisenhower family will have a reunion at the home of Mrs. D. J. Eisenhower, the general's 83-year-old mother.

Lamesa To Have US Employment Office

A U. S. Employment Service office will be opened in Lamesa the first of the week. H. A. Clark, manager of the Big Spring USES, said Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Waller are in Lamesa completing arrangements for the housing of the unit, which is being set up for full time service to employers, veterans, returning war workers, and all types of unemployed workers.

Sporadic Firing Continues In Damascus Area

French Troops Being Removed By British From Damascus

By The Associated Press
Sporadic firing continued in Damascus yesterday (Saturday) as French Leader Gen. Charles De Gaulle charged that British agents had precipitated uprisings in Syria and Lebanon against France.

In the Syrian capital of Damascus, angry Syrian crowds caught and killed two Senegalese soldiers trying to reach French headquarters from their outposts, while British troops strove to protect the French.

French troops were being taken from their barracks in the city by the British under cover of the curfew—but some French conscripts fired on passersby from a barracks wall and wounded two.

Gen. Oliva-Roger, French officer who directed the bombing, shelling and machine-gunning of the ancient capital which started Tuesday night, was dismissed from his command by British request. Syrians looted some French houses.

Meanwhile, Pope Pius XII, in a world broadcast, reviewed the Vatican's prewar German policy and expressed hope that the German people, purged of Nazism, "can rise to new dignity and new life."

In Moscow, President Truman's personal representative Harry Hopkins delayed his departure for Washington after a farewell dinner at the Kremlin. Informed sources said Hopkins was staying a short while longer to turn his attention to "new work." There was speculation that the Levant situation may have had something to do with the delay.

Unconfirmed Scandinavian reports said that Allied military had arrested Col. Gen. Georg Lindemann, former commander of German forces in Denmark.

Chinese Menace Jap Air Base

CHUNGKING, Sunday, June 3 (AP)—Chinese troops today imperiled the Japanese-held former American airbase of Shaoyang (Paoching) in south-central China after smashing enemy fortifications on the town's approaches, the Chinese high command said in a special communique.

The command said Japanese troops were falling back to Shaoyang's outskirts after Chinese veterans seized three outer bastions—Yenkowpu, eight miles west; Tankow, 19 miles northwest, and Chukowpu, 23 miles northwest.

The Chinese burst through Shaoyang's outer defenses after launching fierce attacks in which the Japanese suffered heavy casualties, the communique said.

Shaoyang is one of the most important strongholds in Hunan province guarding the west flank of the ruptured Japanese corridor to Indo-China, and its capture would cut the inner line of Japanese defense stretching from Hankow to Hong Kong.

A 150-mile gap already has been torn in the southern end of Japan's overland corridor.

Soviets Stand Firm On Veto

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
SAN FRANCISCO, June 2 (AP)—Russia was reported tonight to have taken an emphatic "no retreat" attitude on a veto-voting issue which once again has deadlocked the Big Five and the United Nations Conference.

This stand was dictated straight from Moscow.

Said the official British information services:

"Unfortunately, there seems no reason to believe that the movement of the conference along the final phases of its journey will be facilitated thereby."

The core of the issue is this: Should the Big Five—Russia, China, Britain, France and the United States—have absolute veto powers in the all-powerful security council of a proposed world league, even over the mere discussion of situations which might threaten the peace?

All but Russia are willing to interpret the veto privilege as inapplicable to the airing of disputes in the security council. Small nations, with a measure of British and American sympathy, want to go even farther and lift the veto from investigation of controversies and action to adjust them peacefully.

But a Russian paper laid before the Big Five delegation chiefs declared that the Soviets want the widest possible interpretation of the veto. They are insisting that it cover discussions as well as investigation, peaceful settlement and the use of force against aggressors.

Boiled down to fit a specific example, the Russian position was said to be that if a member of the United Nations dropped into the mail a complaint against any other nation, the security council could receive the document. But any of the Big Five could use its veto power to prevent opening of the mail or any discussion of its contents.

Some American delegates said they saw little chance that Russia would give any ground, now or later. Others were hopeful the Soviets would move toward a less rigid line as Big Five deliberations continue on the biggest issue of the conference and other problems welded to it.

The veto question also is involved in such matters as selecting the chief executive officer of a world organization, picking judges for a new international court, and revising the charter at some future time. Under present plans, the council would have to take action on all these.

No Youths Sent To Combat Within Less Than Six Months

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—War department officials said today that full observance is being given congress' mandate that no youths under 19 years of age be sent into combat without maximum of six months training.

Congress wrote this into a one-year extension last month of the selective service act.

Army officials said the law had not made any extensive changes in training schedules at infantry replacement centers such as Camp Maxey and Howze, Texas.

Given $1,000 Bond

PARIS, June 2 (AP)—Tech. Sgt. Henry Schauer, first Medal of Honor wearer to be stationed at Camp Maxey, was presented a $1,000 war bond here tonight by citizens of Paris. Attending ceremonies at the plaza were civic leaders and high ranking army officers.

Halsey Back In Action, Okinawa Mop-Up Opens

Attack Pressed On Crumbling Enemy Forces

GUAM, Sunday, June 3 (AP)—Peppery Adm. William F. Halsey, just returned to action in the Pacific with his U. S. Third Fleet, sent carrier planes against potential suicide plane bases on the Japanese homeland on Kyushu Island Saturday while the 10th army tore into disintegrating enemy forces on Okinawa.

In the Okinawa campaign, now in its closing phases, the 10th army divisions ranged below the collapsed Naha-Yonabaru line Saturday for general gains up to 1,000 yards. They were backed by tanks and heavy artillery, due to a cessation of rainy weather which had deluged Okinawa with 13 inches of rain in 10 days.

Enemy resistance was moderate. The Third fleet's assault on enemy suicide plane bases came at a time when Tokyo radio was trumpeting that huge successes had been scored by such attacks on shipping at Okinawa and that the attacks would be stepped up. But Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today that enemy air action through Friday continued on a small scale as it had the past few days.

Aground on Okinawa, in the west coast sector southeast of fallen Naha, the First marine division yesterday gained 1,000 yards below Shuri and crossed the Naha-Yonabaru east-west highway.

Near the center, the 96th infantry division captured Chan village which is two miles below captured Shuri and pushed on below Chan toward Tera village. The Yanks seized high ground near Kamizato.

On the east coast side, the Seventh infantry division pushed southward in a move aimed at cutting off the Chinese peninsula and reopening the Nakagusuku harbor, once anchorage of the Japanese fleet.

The Seventh captured Ogusuku town, two and a half miles south of occupied Yonabaru and spearhead toward Shinazato.

Meanwhile, the 77th infantry division mopped up Japanese stragglers around fortress Shuri. Emphasizing the slow mop-up character of by-passing operations in the Pacific, Nimitz said 63 Japanese were killed and 63 captured between May 20 and May 26 on two, Saipan, Tinian and Guam—the last base the headquarters of the admiral making the announcement.

Japanese survivors of the shattered Shuri line on Okinawa appeared today to be mustering a large portion of their waning strength for a last-stand defense of Naha airfield, largest on the island.

Sixth marine division patrols reported that Naha peninsula on the west coast was "alive with enemy troops" in the vicinity of the airfield south of Naha city.

Lamesa Applauds Infantry Show

Approximately 3,500 people applauded the "Here's Your Infantry" show—the same one billed here Friday of this week—at Lamesa Friday evening.

Sgt. Worth Peeler, among Big Spring people witnessing the show, went all the way in describing it as a thrilling and impressive demonstration.

It was, he said, realistically staged, so much so that at one point spectators felt that a GI had been blasted when an enemy strong point was destroyed. The infantrymen, however, put on the complex demonstration without a hitch.

Looking forward to a record crowd when the show is staged at Steer stadium Friday at 8:30 p. m. local committeemen have completed arrangements.

Admission to the realistic production is by E bond purchase and tickets are available at all agencies for purchasers. Those who bought bonds before tickets at bond headquarters.

Quantities of sand, tree trunks, foliage, etc. have been secured to furnish a realistic background. All is in readiness for arrival of the 77 infantrymen who will put on the demonstration in interests of the Seventh War Loan campaign.

Sixth Landing On Mindanao Is Made

MANILA, Sunday, June 3 (AP)—American forces made their sixth amphibious landing on Mindanao Island Friday in a move designed to encircle and exterminate isolated Japanese garrisons.

The landing was made at Luyon, 75 miles south of Mindanao's capital city, Davao, and on the western shore of Davao gulf.

Doughboys rushed ashore against light opposition, quickly secured their beachhead and moved inland in search of the enemy. The landing was made under cover of strong aerial and naval support.

The maneuver was a shore-to-shore operation, shifting some American forces, probably from Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff's 24th infantry division in the Davao sector.

It was not immediately indicated how many Japanese were in the Luyon sector, an important area for that city guards the entrance to Davao Gulf. Heavy guns set up along the coast at Luyon or to the north could harass any shipping entering the gulf.

Japanese in the Luyon area probably were cut off on southern Mindanao as Woodruff's outfit bisected the island in its recent sweep through the center to attack strong enemy forces guarding Davao.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur recently estimated 50,000 Nipponese troops remained on Mindanao, the bulk of them in centrally located Bukidnon province. However, Woodruff's division has encountered stiff resistance and been forced to repulse strong counterattacks northwest of Davao. Another strong force may be in the Luyon area.

Moving northwest from Davao, the 24th infantry division has liberated numerous towns in its drive.

New Aerial Blows Hurlled At Japs

By HAMILTON FARON
GUAM, Sunday, June 3 (AP)—Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey was back in the Pacific war today at the head of the Third Fleet, and the Japanese reported that the action-loving seadog already was throwing carrier planes against their homeland.

Halsey's return, announced here by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, coincided with indications that new far-reaching blows against Nippon were in the making.

As he took over on his flagship off Okinawa, relieving Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, Fifth Fleet commander, May 27—Halsey declared he was ready to strike anywhere "from the North Pole to the South" and right into Tokyo Bay.

E Bond Sales 61.5 Per Cent Of Drive Quota

Two communities reporting sales of bonds Saturday to bond headquarters helped boost the E bond total to within $225,000 of completion of the goal, chairmen announced. This was 61.5 per cent of the quota.

Knott reported in sales of $13,012.50 while Forsan reported sales of $1,593.75 to make E bond total stand at $360,445. Overall sales are now $628,425. The hope of the committee is that the remaining $225,000 in E bonds will be purchased before Friday in order that the county can announce at the "Here's Your Infantry" show that it has reached its goal.

"That is the only real way to let our boys in the Pacific know that we know there is a war on," said Ted Grobel, co-chairman. "It could also be a nice way to tell the soldiers here to put on the infantry show that we don't need to see what a real battle looks like before we can dig down and raise the money to meet our quota," he said.

Other rural communities who have not reported upon their sales are urged to do so before Friday in order that the county will see where it stands and how much more it needs before it can raise the necessary $225,000 in E bonds.

If the quota is met by Friday, the chairmen announced that they would officially declare the drive over and close down. The county then would be able to claim its B-29 bomber "purchased and paid for."

Denison Invasion Set For Today

DENISON, June 2 (AP)—The shoreline of Lake Texoma will resemble a Pacific battlefield as combat-equipped troops storm ashore from nine Higgins landing craft here tomorrow.

The mock invasion will be the opening program of a four-state Red river war bond drive. Amphibious landings later will be held at five other spots along the Red and Mississippi rivers.

The war finance committees of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana are sponsoring the programs to stimulate sales of war bonds during the Seventh War Loan drive.

Blank ammunition and demolition charges on the beach will be used here. About 175 soldiers from Camp Hbwze at Gainesville will participate.

Tomorrow night the radio program "We, the People" will be broadcast from here. The two Jima survivors, Andrew J. Higgins, Sr., president and founder of the Higgins Industries of New Orleans, Capt. R. A. McDerby, who piloted two invasion craft up the Red river, and Walter Saunders, Denison man who made a similar trip in 1905, will be on the program.

Plane Crash Kills Three Near Amarillo

AMARILLO, June 2 (AP)—A twin-engine light utility cargo plane from Winston-Salem, N. C., crashed 50 miles northeast of Amarillo today, killing three occupants.

The wreckage was found a mile and a half from Weymouth ranch headquarters. The plane had landed at Enid, Okla., en route to Albuquerque, prior to the crash.

ENOUGH NURSES

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—The American Red Cross announced today it had been notified by the army that it has enough nurses at present to care for sick and wounded soldiers.

Reviewing The Big Spring -Week-

Joe Pickle

From all accounts, the "Here's Your Infantry" show here Friday evening is pitched along the scale of a super-production with plenty of fireworks and excitement. Tickets for a show like this come with E bond purchases—thus you get in the gate for doing no more than all of us ought to do.

The drought in this area is approaching the acute stage. Only sub-soil moisture remaining is held by reason of keeping fields clean. Ranges are burned. Stock water may become a problem. It's not local as it was last year, for the same situation prevails from Del Rio to San Angelo, Colorado City and north through the Panhandle. If this don't let up, it won't do much good to nurse lawns, gardens, etc.

Still, we won't predict the weather in West Texas. And by the same token, it appears equally hazardous to predict when an announcement will be made on the veterans hospital for West Texas. The psychoneurosis hospital announced for West Texas last week is a different hospital from the

Tracy And Hepburn Are Teamed Again At Ritz

As sparkling and heady as champagne and timely as the next tick of the clock, M-G-M's "Without Love" co-stars Academy Award winners Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn for the third time, are at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday. Added to this S. R. O. box-office combination is perky, popular Lucille Ball.

A hilarious, modern romantic comedy written for the screen by Donald Ogden Stewart and based on the Broadway stage hit by Philip Barry, "Without Love" is Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer's answer to requests for another "The Philadelphia Story" or "Woman of the Year."

An unbeatable supporting cast is headed by Keenan Wynn, Carl Esmond, Patricia Morison and Felix Bressart. Dizzy, a woman-hating dog, adds laugh-making antics also.

With the acclaim and plaudits of critics and theatregoers still sounding for his portrayals in "The Seventh Cross" and "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," Tracy plays sharp-witted, female-hating Pat Jamieson, young man-of-the-world scientist who is absorbed in developing a secret oxygen mask for Army and Navy pilots.

As Jamie, a man-hating wealthy widow, Miss Hepburn is "humanized" in the inimitable Tracy manner. A science student, she aids him with his invention.

When this pair of romance-hating individuals meet in crowded Washington and make a marriage with a no-love pact, anything can happen — and does in "Without Love!"

As her first dramatic comedy role under the Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer banner, Lucille Ball plays Kitty Trimble, flashy, quick-witted buswoman. Not only instrumental in bringing about this screen romance between Tracy and Miss Hepburn, she also pursues her own hilarious romance with Keenan Wynn.

Keenan Wynn, scheming soldier pal of Robert Walker in "See Here, Private Hargrove" and the gangster tamed by Margaret O'Brien in "Lost Angel," portrays Quentin Ladd, young playboy engaged to a naggy society woman. It is Wynn's most important role to date — a starmaking part.

Deanna Gets Dramatic Role In "Christmas Holiday"

Deanna Durbin, for several years Hollywood's top singing star, now emerges as one of the screen's top-ranking actresses as well.

Her new Universal picture, "Christmas Holiday," at the New State Theatre, today and Monday, proves beyond doubt that Miss Durbin can, effortlessly, hold her own in any company of dramatic artists.

The picture, adapted from W. Somerset Maugham's novel of the same title, tells a story within a story and presents Deanna in a dual characterization — a worldly cafe entertainer, and a charming bride whose world collapses about her when her husband of six months commits murder.

The film introduces Deanna singing a torch song in a tawdry New Orleans cafe, and reveals her earlier years in flash-backs as she relates the story of her life to a young Army Lieutenant. Songs in the picture are held to a minimum. There are only two, Irving Berlin's "Always" — which the star sings twice — and an original by Frank Loesser, "Spring Will Be A Little Late This Year." However, these numbers are made outstanding by the fact that Deanna sings them in a torch style never before employed by her.

Gene Kelly, who co-stars with Miss Durbin, gives one of his finest performances as her husband. Kelly is completely charming and yet thoroughly convincing as a killer moved more by weakness than malice.

Richard Whorf as a newspaper reporter, Dean Harens as the young lieutenant, Gladys George as the cafe proprietress and Gale Sondergaard as Kelly's mother, all come forward with outstanding performances in exacting roles.

Robert Siodmak's direction gives force to the story, as adapted for the screen by Herman J. Mankiewicz.

"Christmas Holiday" was filmed by Woody Bredell, A. S. C.

Liberation Day Happiest Of Life For Quinon Reid

By HELEN WILSON

The happiest day in Pfc. Howard Quinon Reid's life was on April 2, 1945 when American tanks rolled over barbed wire fences which enclosed 3,000 Allied prisoners in Stalag 9-B, a camp just outside Bad Orb, Germany.

Back home now for a 60 day leave with his wife, Ruth and two children, Ronald and Quinon, who reside at Coahoma, Pfc. Reid looks on his 106 days of imprisonment as the worst nightmare he ever experienced, and wishes desperately he could completely forget it.

PFC. QUINON REID
... he counted days

Reid was a member of the 106th infantry division which experienced nothing but trouble when the foot soldiers attempted a stab across the Siegfried line. Two regiments were cut off by Von Rundstedt's forces and they were without food or ammunition for two days. Surrender to the Krauts was inevitable but the men did not give up until December 19. Their surrender came at 3 p. m., and the warming temperatures of the winter afternoon failed to soothe the American's frozen feet.

Loaded into box cars, the men started their journey to Stalag 9-B, a place they later learned to hate as the greatest hell hole in all the world. Forty men were herded into each car, and even though it was not too crowded, they had to take turns at sitting.

At the beginning of the trip one loaf of bread was given out for six men to share on the entire four day journey. A thick foul syrup the Germans called marmelade was dumped into a grimy Yank helmet as an added delicacy and they were on their way.

"Without food for two days before we surrendered, the men had learned to do without food for sometime so we survived the trip," Reid explained.

The train pulled into a small town called Lindburg where part of the prisoners were to be kept, but RAF bombers almost blasted the town to bits and the entire load was taken on.

On the fourth day they reached Bad-Orb near Frankfurt and were taken about four miles out of the village to the prison camp.

It was Christmas Day, 1944 when they arrived, and their food for the day was nothing more than grass soup. "The stuff was made of sugar beet tops," Reid continued, "and we were given bread."

"We started our 106 days of imprisonment and believe you me I know just how many days there were for we counted them in desperation." I weighed 135 pounds when I left England and was under 100 pounds when we were liberated. Our only food was what we laughingly called potato soup, made mostly of water. Our rations included a GI cup of this soup and a portion of bread each day, but it only lasted us about one hour. After that we got that knowing feeling in our stomachs.

"Oh, yes, I forgot," Reid pointed out, "Now and then we got a cube of horse meat. You'll never know just how good horse meat can be."

The Coahoma soldier knew of no atrocities committed, and only mistreatment he spoke of was on one occasion when German guards struck two soldiers with the butt end of their guns for asking a question.

When the soldiers first arrived they still had some money, and cigarettes, bought from the Germans, sold as high as $20 a piece.

There were only two American doctors for the 3,000 men with a like number of chaplains. They decided among themselves to turn two barracks into a hospital, for disease broke out and diphtheria, mumps and spinal meningitis became prevalent.

It was no wonder, according to Reid who only had his clothes off three times during his imprisonment. "There was only one shower to accommodate the entire camp, but I was lucky. The majority of the boys only got two baths, but my buddy was sick on one bath day and I took his place. When we bathed our clothes were deloused and they really needed it. We were bothered with fleas, lice and bed bugs. Scissors to cut our hair and razors to shave with were scarce."

When asked if the men soon begin to show signs of mal-nutrition, Reid said that the boy's stomachs swelled. "When the men were too sick to remain with us in the barracks, we carried them to the hospital and never saw them again, unless they got all right for we had to be careful that disease did not eat up the entire camp."

Too weak to work, the men were not required to do hard labor. Reid was only on four camp details, cutting wood. Winter was still raging and the men in his barracks had considerable trouble with their frozen feet.

"The guards, older soldiers who were not strong Nazis, were just like gossipy women. They couldn't keep a secret and would tell us of the advancing Seventh and Third armies on either side of our camp. We soon heard artillery fire which the Germans claimed was their ack-ack, but we knew artillery fire when we heard it."

The wonderful sounds of their advance came nearer and on the day preceding German surrender, white flags flew prominently from Stalag-9-B. It was believed by the men that the commanding officer in charge of the camp signed the surrender on the evening before liberation.

Prisoners were locked in their barracks on the morning of April 2, and the men became almost panicky as heavy armored tanks ate their way through woodlands and crushed over the stockade fences into the camp.

"We broke down the barracks door and swarmed over that beautiful tank just like flies. Sometime later we were ready for a celebration and the stockade warehouse was opened. There were potatoes, canned meats and other food, and we couldn't restrain our hungry bodies. I gathered up six spuds, baked them and after eating three I was sick and couldn't eat any more."

Reid explained that his barracks leader ate two cans of K-rations and his stomach burst. "We lost several of our men that way and it was quite sometime before our stomachs stretched enough to hold an ordinary meal."

Following their liberation, the men were taken behind the lines, were deloused again and shipped on C-47's to Le Harve, France where they boarded a ship for America.

"The first thing I wanted to eat when I got home was pancakes. We used to lay around the barracks dreaming up food, and somehow I always pictured pancakes," Reid grins.

Holder of the combat infantryman's badge and one combat star, Reid will report to San Antonio July 4 for redistribution.

Bills To Become Law Without Signature

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson said today he had filled without his signature bills requiring proprietors of public places to admit seeing-eye dogs with their masters without extra charge for the dogs, and prohibiting the use of motorboats without mufflers within one-half mile of a residence.

Twenty-seven Sent To Rapid Treatment Centers During May

Twenty-seven patients of the Big Spring-Howard county health unit went to VD rapid treatment centers during May, according to the monthly report of the nurses. Treatments given during the month totaled 223, and 45 patients reported for tests. Results showed that 24 were infected, and half of that number came from jail cases, VD Nurse Louise Horton said.

As a part of her monthly activities, Health Nurse Ann Fisher presented health movies to school children, dealing with rat control, sanitation and nutrition. Early in May Mrs. Fisher conducted a summer round up clinic of preschool children at Knott.

Three patients were sent to the state tuberculosis sanatorium during the month, and there were 29 chest X-rays sent to the state tuberculosis officer in Austin. Forty eight tuberculin patch tests were given during the month.

New Quotas Ease Meat Shortage

Over the hump, at least for the present, Big Spring packers started killing Friday on their June quotas, thus relieving a meat shortage which started around 10 days ago.

The situation was eased temporarily last week when the government allotted packers an additional 11,000 pounds to see them through the month.

Marvin Sewell, local packer, said Saturday that if the 25 per cent cut remained in effect, Big Spring will face the same situation later on this month. His June quota of 50,000 pounds is only half of the ordinary quota under which he killed in the past.

A wild market was reported in Lubbock this past week with buyers from all over the nation taking what meat they could. A fair market was indicated at the Big Spring livestock auction sale Wednesday but most purchases were small and from smaller buyers, thus the demand is due to ease.

Decentralized Power Seen In Cabinet Posts

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — Three facts out in the reconstituted cabinet which President Truman has organized to start functioning July 1.

He has accented:

1. Greater recognition of the far west and southwest. The official family for more than twelve years under Franklin D. Roosevelt was heavily eastern in geographical make-up. This could have an important bearing in Mr. Truman's chances for the democratic presidential nomination in 1948.

2. Younger blood in the management of government as it turns from a world to a Pacific war. Barring further changes before the new fiscal year begins, the average age of the reshuffled cabinet will be 54. In the last days of the Roosevelt regime it was 58.

3. Decentralization of presidential authority. Although it did not show up in the official announcement of the cabinet replacements, some authorities predicted Mr. Truman will let his department heads be "bosses in fact" of their domains, stepping in only when he deems it necessary to suggest new policy or to prevent undue inter-agency friction.

The five, west of the Mississippi, including the four new Truman appointees are:

Tom C. Clark of Texas, attorney general; Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington state, Secretary of Labor; Rep. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, secretary of Agriculture; Robert E. Hannegan of Missouri, postmaster general; Henry A. Wallace of Iowa, secretary of Commerce. The latter is a Roosevelt selection.

Ages of the Truman appointees and those of their predecessors are: Clark 45 and Attorney General Biddle 59; Schwellenbach 50 and Secretary Perkins 63; Anderson 49 and Secretary Wickard 52; Hannegan 41 and Postmaster General Walker 59.

Holdovers from the Roosevelt cabinet and their ages: Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Illinois, 71; Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, New York, 54; Secretary of War Stimson, New York, 77; Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, New York, 53; Secretary of State Stettinius, Virginia, 44; Wallace, 56.

Friends of Mr. Truman in the senate and elsewhere are saying he made a wise political move in shifting geographical emphasis in his new appointments.

It is true that the democratic party under Mr. Roosevelt counted great strength in the far west, as well as the East. But there had been upsurges of discontent at intervals from various parts of the west, on claims that patronage from that section was on a wartime diet.

Also, Texas provided the greatest intra-party uprising in years at the national convention.

In naming Clark, a Dallas lawyer who has made a name for himself as assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, the president — by design or not — picked a man friendly to both factions in the Lone Star State.

Poor Maury, He's Almost Gobbled Up For the Gobbledygook Of An Assistant

By FRANCIS M. LeMAY

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — Gobbledygook has come home to roost.

And Maury Maverick, himself now accused of the same "bureaucratic language" that he gave the Gobbledygook name, says "My misery is as of Job."

As chairman of the smaller war plants corporations, Maverick former representative from Texas, recently made a series of speeches and wrote magazine articles against vague, involved, long and baffling words and phrases — "Gobbledygook" — that find their way into government correspondence and publications.

Then he read a long statement to the house appropriations committee to justify an allotment of money he wants for his agency. That did it.

His statement completed, Rep. Rabaut (D-Mich.) observed:

"There is one fault I find. He formerly used simple one and two-syllable words, but now he comes before us with complicated polysyllabic sentences, with a Caesarian ring. A big change has come over him. When he was in the halls of congress he mingled with common folk, but now is mixed up with big folks and he uses polysyllabic language." "What is a 'silhouette'?" interposed Rep. Taber (R-N. Y.).

"Where did you get that?" asked Maverick.

The members showed him a place in his statement where he said: "The chairman of the smaller war plants corporation has been able, to a great extent, through his own tireless energy, to silhouette the needs of smaller business in the minds of the American people."

Maverick thought one of his assistants must have put that in the statement.

Maverick pleaded: "I pray of you, do not let the punishment fit the crime. x x x All I can say is that you have not quite accused me of writing poetry."

Area In Middle Of Something And It Has All Earmarks Of A Drouth

Howard county is in the middle of something — and it has all the earmarks of a drouth.

Reports from Vernon Schaad, meteorologist in charge of the US weather bureau station here, Saturday showed only .31 of an inch of rain during May—that occurring as a dashing thundershower which fell briskly the afternoon of May 9 only in spotted areas.

The scant fall during the month, which normally is the second wettest of the year, brought the total to only 3.19 inches for the first five months of the year.

This not only looked bad along side the normal of 6.46 inches for the same period, but it was substantially down from the two preceding drouthy years when 1944 had only 4.94 inches for the five months and 1943 had 4.81 inches.

Perhaps the only comparable years harken back to the 1909-12. The first five months of the opening year of this dry span showed 2.52 inches, the next year 3.23 inches. 1911 bounded back with eight inches but 1912 turned up only 3.90. Of further interest is the total rainfall for each of these years. In 1909 the total was 12.26, in 1910 it was 7.25, in 1911 it was 14.44 and in 1912 it was 11.10—against an annual normal of around 19 1-2 inches.

In 1916 the first five months only 4.25 inches and the year 15.79. The following year had 1.99 inches through May and only 4.68 for the year—the lowest amount ever recorded here. In 1918, when the worst drouth period touched the bottom, 2.74 inches fell through May and the year turned only 12.35 inches of rain. Farmers and ranchers still shudder when they think back on that.

The year of 1933 yielded only 2.09 inches through May and 11.29 for the year, but it came on the heels of a heavy rainy year and a partial crop was made. The following year had 4.20 inches including May and 12.09 for the entire year, but summer showers made a grain crop.

Adding to the miseries of the current situation is the unseasonable temperatures. For one thing, the 64-degree range in temperatures was the most radical in years. The 105 degrees on May 28 was the highest since the 109 on May 31, 1903 and the 41 degree minimum was the lowest since May 1916.

No one seriously hoped for rain during the last half of May, for the prevailing wind was out of the south and southwest—right out of the heart of Mexico—and the velocity ranged up to an average high of about 30 miles per hour. A wise old priest once said it would do no good even to pray for rain while the wind was in the west.

While May was the third driest such month on record here, it does not necessarily mean continuation of drouth. For although the records do indicate that continued dry weather may be expected—they also clearly show that there is no such thing as a true weather cycle in this country. It simply rains when it gets ready—and stays dry the same way.

American Men In Class By Themselves 'Lows Frances Perkins, Cabinet Member

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—The only woman ever to hold a cabinet post in the United States "lived today that American men are in a class by themselves."

Gracious Frances Perkins, about to step down as secretary of labor after 12 years—"which you must admit is a long time"—twirled her glasses and remarked with seriousness:

"I never was treated with anything but the greatest consideration in the cabinet. American men do know how to accept and treat a woman as an equal in debate and at the same time to help her on with her cost and gloves."

"Being the first woman (in the cabinet) I was an oddity," she said.

In one of her rare interviews, "I was aware of this at the first cabinet meeting" in March, 1933.

Vice President John N. Garner, beetle-browed, tough-talking Texan, "looked at me throughout the meeting, as though he was considering 'what kind of critter is this?'"

It amused me.

"When President Roosevelt turned to me and said in his friendly way, 'now, what's on your mind?' I replied just as briefly and clearly as I could."

"When that first cabinet meeting broke up, Mr. Garner came over to me, slapped me on the back, and exclaimed: 'You're all right; you've got something on your mind. You said it and then stopped.'"

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid BARCEL Concentrate. Pour this into a bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help remain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. PILOT KILLED ing plane spun in and crashed on the runway of the naval air station's training squadron field at Grand Prairie.

What We Need—

Dabney Would Support Local Industry

Support of local business and industry is the thing that G. W. Dabney is most anxious to see in present and post-war times in Big Spring. In his belief, local employers should hire local labor in every case possible and import workers only when absolutely necessary.

After the war there will be plenty of returned soldiers who will be an addition to the town if they can find fair employment. These local boys, Dabney believes, should have first opportunity at every job.

Dabney, who has lived here 14 years and has been with the T. & P. railroad since 1906, is here, he says, for the duration—not of the war—but of himself! He believes that friendship is the most important thing in anyone's life and in Big Spring he has found many friends that have made life worth while for himself and his family.

Another belief of the railroad man is that local residents should spend their money in Big Spring instead of going out of town. For instance, he thinks Big Springers should buy their gasoline from the local refinery, furniture from local stores, etc., all down the line. This would mean increased business for everybody here.

The newly elected city commissioner also thinks that the city and county should encourage a building and paving program after the war and take whatever steps possible to see that the present adequate water supply stays adequate. For no town can grow if water continues to be a problem, he maintains.

Dabney also urged greater civic pride in beautifying and keeping the city clean. He thinks first impressions are the most lasting and that the areas along the highways leading into town should be cleaned up and built up. All persons who meet the public should be encouraged to practice courtesy to strangers, too, he declared, for a chance encounter with a few persons can make or break a town in many individual's opinions.

The railroad man also urged that the dividing line between the north and south part of town be abolished. "We need to practice tolerance and do away with racial or religious prejudices or else our town will never grow and prosper," he declared.

Cosden Chatter

By JACK Y. SMITH

Marvin M. Miller spent the early part of the week in Albany and Graham, where the company is drilling some new wells. He returned by way of Lubbock where he attended a Cosden jobbers' meeting Thursday.

The third in a series of meetings for Cosden jobbers was held at the Hilton hotel in Lubbock for the company's distributors in that area Thursday. Later in the evening a barbecue picnic was held at the city park. The meeting was well attended and everyone seemed to have a good time.

Velva Glass, who is now working at Cosden's Fort Worth bulk plant, has written that she is getting along fine in the city. Her daughter, Mrs. Sul Ross, is now with her husband at Ft. Myers, Fla.

L. E. Dix was a visitor in the office Friday. Dix is employed with the Texas & Pacific Railway company, Fort Worth.

E. B. McCormick returned Saturday from a trip to Chicago on company business.

We are happy to have Louise Hallmark and Mrs. Corinne Denton as new employees. Miss Hallmark is a stenographer in the traffic department and Mrs. Denton is a stenographer in the credit department.

Nell Ray McCrary entertained the credit department in her home recently.

Mike Phelan of the engineering department and his family are now in New Mexico where they are spending their vacation.

We were very glad to receive a letter from Garner W. Pitts, F. I. C. Garner is receiving the "Chatter" and says it's just like a letter from home. He also tells us he took part in the invasion of Okinawa April 1, and came out without any damage to the ship or casualties among the crew.

Capt. James H. Smith of Harrisburg, Pa., and Cpl. Alvin H. Smith had a simultaneous leave together recently, on which they took a trip up the Hudson and spent some time sight-seeing in New York City and vicinity. James and Alvin are brother to Gladys Smith in our credit department.

R. L. Tollett spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Fort Worth and Tyler.

No Canning Sugar For This Week

Issuance of home canning sugar in the Lubbock district will be suspended for one week beginning at the close of business June 2, Acting District OPA Director Earl Kerr announced today.

Local war price and rationing boards will continue to receive applications during the week, but no certificates will be issued until June 11.

Purpose of this one-week moratorium is to enable ration boards to make an accurate check on the rate of issuance of home canning sugar to date and to work out a system of issuance to stay within their quotas.

Local boards have been instructed to issue in 1945 no more than 70 per cent of the 1944 issuance for home canning purposes.

Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District News

"Cattle show a preference for speltz over oats and speltz furnishes twice as much grazing as oats," according to D. W. Christian, Jr., district cooperater and livestock farmer. Christian's stock farm is situated in the eastern portion of the district in the Morgan community. Christian, who has terraced a large portion of his farm and who recognizes the value of leaving crop residue as a protective soil cover said, "Speltz leaves a quantity of stubble as well as supplies a great deal of grazing." Christian grazed 130 head of cattle on 96 acres for the past six weeks.

Ellis Iden, farmer and district cooperater who lives in the northeastern portion of the district near Vealmoor, told SCS employees that this drought and short pastures caused him to realize the value of feed reserve. In 1941 Iden cut 12 acres of red top cane and placed it into a trench silo. It cost him about $60 to cut and store the ensilage. He is now feeding this silage to 18 cows and calves and will have sufficient feed for six months. In 1941 Iden was offered a dollar per acre to graze the 12 acres of cane—now he is realizing many times that amount feeding it as silage.

"Wheat stubble left on and near the surface of tight soil will aid in ease of cultivation, increase absorption of moisture and should check evaporation ordinarily," M. L. Hamlin, district cooperater, said Friday in explaining to Soil Conservation Service employees his purpose in leaving 450 acres of small grain stubble on the soil surface.

Rails, Utilities Gain On Market

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Investment demand, generally based on peacetime optimism, continued to lift assorted rails and utilities to 8-year tops in today's stock market although late selling stemmed the upswing of the carriers and losers were plentiful at the close. Dealings were relatively fast from the start. Transfers of 980,000 shares compared with 700,000 a week ago and were the largest for a short stretch since Feb. 3. The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged 66.4 but was up .8 on the week. The utility composite moved up .3 to a new high since 1937. Of 764 issues registering, 352 were up, 219 down and 193 unchanged.

At best levels for the year or longer were Canadian Pacific, again the liveliest sprinter; Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, Engineers Public Service and American Woolen. In front were Laclede Gas, North American, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and U. S. Rubber.

Cotton Eases Off In Rather Quiet Session

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The cotton futures market moved through a quiet session today to close 15 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher. Early gains of 30 cents a bale were influenced by the reported government plans to make incentive payments to mills in order to step up lagging textile production.

Figures closed 15 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher.

"Nearer To Tokyo"

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Here is a War Bond message from Brig. Gen. Robert L. Denig, director, division of public relations, Marine Corps: "Americans should keep in mind during the 7th War Loan drive."

Denig that every war bond purchase helps to put us nearer and nearer Tokyo. On to Tokyo must be the slogan of the home front during this war bond drive."

American Breaks Traffic Records

American Airlines shattered all records on the number of flights serviced at the Big Spring terminal during the past month.

The monthly summary showed that American had 604 flights putting into the Big Spring port—or nearly 20 planes a day. One day had 23 flights, also an all time record here for one day.

The airline has four passenger and two crew change stops here daily, or a scheduled total of 186 stops for the month. The sharp increase was occasioned by heavy traffic demands which resulted in a greater number of fuel stops.

Continental Air Lines reported 63 stops here during May, one over the scheduled number, accounting for a total of 667 commercial airline stops during May or an average of more than 21 planes per day.

CENTURY PLANT BLOOMS
Charlie Robinson has at least one thing which is really growing on his place on the highway east of town. It is a century plant, now in bloom. Growing at the rate of about a foot a day it now has a bloom stem about 20 feet high.

King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy was on his throne longer than any other living monarch with the exception of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland.

Tribe Blanks Yankees While Sens Humble Sox

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Ed Kliehan blanked the Yankees with six hits in his first starting assignment, to annex his first victory of the season. Cleveland defeated New York 4-0 today to even their series at one game apiece. Kliehan, sophomore hurler of the Tribe, blanked the first place Sox with six hits in his first starting assignment, to annex his first victory of the season.

Three singles in the second inning off Ernie Bonham, making his first start in three weeks, following a layoff because of a lame back, gave the Indians their first run. In the ninth, after play was resumed following the long interlude, the Tribe pounced on Bonham for five singles and three runs before Emerson Roser stopped them.

Chandler Favors Hands Off Policy By Baseball On School, College Players

Kyle Has Another Star To Credit

ST. LOUIS, June 2 (AP)—It looks like the little town of Kyle, Texas, has contributed another pitching star to the major leagues.

Kyle is the birthplace of Cecil (Tex) Hughson, former ace of the Boston Red Sox now in the army, and also of Jack Creel, who already has won a regular starting assignment in his first year with the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Creel, like Hughson, is tall and willowy and also like Tex has a good curve and plenty of zip on his fast ball. Both are right-handers. Tex is 29, Jack is 28.

Creel came to the majors via Daytona Beach of the Florida state league, Houston of the Texas league and the Cardinal farm at Columbus.

But his record with the Cards is another story. Early in the season he was used only in relief, of which the Cardinal starters needed plenty. Jack served as fireman in seven games and did well in all of them.

Jack's record so far is three won and one lost.

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—One of Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler's first formal moves as baseball commissioner will be toward adoption of a hands-off policy on high school and college athletes.

"I think this ought to be done, and I'm going to discuss it with club owners," Chandler told a reporter today. "I'm sure they'll want to take such a step."

Several protests against organized baseball taking school players have come to Chandler's attention.

Two complaints have been made direct to Chandler in writing by G. A. Kirkland, physical education director, Catawba College, Salisbury, N. C., and Homer L. Thomas, director of athletics of Birmingham, Ala., public schools.

Dana X. Bible, Texas University Athletics head, has publicly criticized baseball on this score but Chandler has received no word from him.

Chandler recently said that high school and college athletes ought to complete their education. He pointed out today there will be "no shortage of players for organized baseball when the war is over."

He added that "it defeats baseball's purpose" to take players off high school and college teams.

Benched, Jake Powell Quits Washington

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Jake Powell, 35-year-old outfielder, quit the Washington Senators today and told newspapermen, "I'm through."

Powell learned before the start of today's game with the Chicago White Sox that he was being benched. He left the park in civilian clothes. Vince Ventura took his place in left field.

Powell has not been hitting well this spring and made a costly double error on a hit into his field in Friday night's game, which the White Sox won in 11 innings, 11 to 9.

Tennis Courts Ready For Use

The tennis courts near the high school stadium are ready for use and a seal coat has been placed over the asphalt.

The use and regulations for use will be under the direction of the Big Spring school system, but there were no definite plans Saturday.

The courts were prepared through the cooperation of the City of Big Spring, Cosden Petroleum corporation, Empire Southern Service company, Texas Electric Service company, Howard county, Sam McComb and R. L. Nall. They were sponsored by the chamber of commerce and the Lions club.

Approximately four per cent of drivers involved in fatal accidents are hit and run drivers.

Delay Road Judgement

Ultimate Survivor

By FRANK GRIMES
(Herald Special Writer)

The United Nations Conference at San Francisco has not many days to run. Soon the delegates will pack their bags and scatter to the four winds.

Only time can determine the value of its deliberations, the workability of its devices, the course of its program. It is a human organization, the work of human hands, and subject to all the errors of commission and omission man-made institutions are heirs to.

Its success depends on the amount of faith civilized people repose in it, remembering always that faith without works is dead. The fear of it felt by evildoers corresponds exactly to the amount of faith and work put into it by its supporters and devotees.

Once a man so obscure that contemporary secular history makes no mention of His name or works rebuked His followers thus:

"O faithless and perverse generation!"

The generations of the faithless and perverse have continued from the dawn of time to this good hour. Often perversity destroys faith, as with the league of nations in which millions believed but which a few destroyed.

Our faith in the league was, not misplaced or betrayed; we simply did not take sufficient account of the perversity of man. We did not work for and with the league hard enough. We let it down; it did not let us down.

The same thing could happen with whatever new organization is devised at San Francisco to keep the peace. It had its detractors before a single delegate unpacked his bag. It was ribbed and sneered at from the wings at every session. Even in its birth-throes, selfish partisans in the congress of the United States attacked and sought to destroy one of the mainstays of peace and understanding—the reciprocal trade treaties. They made a partisan issue of a matter that should transcend personal and party interests.

That was a shocking and sobering incident, and the margin by which treaties survived the house was disconcertingly narrow. The legislation still has to run the gamut of senate partisanship.

Dumbarton Oaks has its enemies, and so has Bretton Woods. Foes of Bretton Woods seek its destruction by the selfsame method used so successfully against the league of nations—by innocent-appearing, moderate-seeming but really cancerous amendments.

Germany under reparations paid back four billion dollars—and managed to borrow six billion dollars in the process. Much of that six billion was floated in the United States, sold to trusting American investors by American bond houses. Now some of the very men who thought German bonds were a good investment in the 1920's want control of the international financing arrangements under Bretton Woods.

Selfishness, greed, the burning desire for Failure to include Howard county under the list of those in the state assumed "farm-to-market" or lateral roads may seem at first thought that we have been dealt with harshly.

However, it seems the better part of discretion to at least delay any such judgments, for there may be some things in the balance which do not meet the eye.

Naturally, we wish to share with other counties in the assumption of this construction and maintenance load. On the other hand, it must be remembered that the state highway commission likely gave due consideration to creation of a network of these secondary roads. In this way they would become a part of a pattern rather than a mere dot to counties.

It may be that when the proper time comes for fitting into an orderly program, Howard county will be included. At least we should ascertain if this is not the case before we chaff at being left out.

It is entirely possible that there are some sizeable road plans involving this county which would not rightly fall into the secondary category. Two major projects of import are the Snyder and Andrews highways.

Meanwhile, what has been mapped for some of our neighbors cannot help but be of benefit to us. Witness the inclusion of a paved road from Garden City to the Reagan county line and one from Big Lake to connect with it. Howard county already has been given its farm-to-market road to the Glasscock county line and there is reason to believe that the remaining gap to Garden City will be closed. For the first time in history we would not only be connected with an all-weather road to Garden City, but to Big Lake as well.

Besides tapping some of the best ranch country in this section of Texas, this also would be connecting with a highway that may carry heavy traffic to the Big Bend area some day. If so, it will be a sharp saving to take this route from here.

Don't Be A Bond Slacker

Friday evening the infantry show comes to town and hundreds—and we hope several thousand—bond buyers will turn out to see it.

Every person ought to see the demonstration for the object lesson it possesses in 1) giving a better appreciation of the combat hazards facing our men, and 2) of the heavy cost involved in supplying equipment for fighting men.

But more than that we want several thousand to see it because that will mean that they have bought bonds—and that means that we will bite off that $585,000 E bond quota without looking back. Don't be a bond slacker—buy Monday and buy heavily.

power, all the tragedy-comedy of position, place and preference, and we hope several thousand—bond buyers will turn out to see it.

All the millions of dead faces turned to the rain and the sunshine of ten thousand battlefields will not stay the hand of the selfish, will not awaken the conscience of those who lust for power and profit.

The dead paid with their lives for man's inhumanity to man. What of the living? Is it to be one continual Gethsemane, one unbroken Via Dolorosa from Adam to the ultimate survivor?

And will that ultimate survivor be a warrior with a bloody sword, or a child cradled in a manger?

Heroes Of The "Silent Service"—

Sub Patrol To Go Down As One Of War's Outstanding Combat Tasks

After more than three years of line. The submarine bobbed to the surface one day to take on a squat lugger after the skipper decided it was a "surface target." The lugger was no setting duck. As water boiled from the sub's bow, machine gun bullets from the enemy craft whizzed off her plating.

With a five-inch gun the submarine silenced the lugger, then chewed it to bits. It was another close call, for a Japanese airplane swooped down on the submarine, chasing it beneath the waves.

Still in the heart of enemy waters, the submarine nudged along the island chain. A vessel hove into periscope view. A few moments later the submarine spewed torpedoes and the ship sank.

The submarine, in keeping with the tone of her whole maiden run, finished her patrol with a flourish. One gray day the sub found three disconsolate Japanese airmen sitting on the wing of the downed plane.

The pilot was adamant when one of the schooner prisoners shouted to him in Japanese. Ignoring the sub, he jabbered at his two crewmen. Just as the sub came alongside the pilot turned and hurled an aircraft flare on her deck.

"Lt. Comdr. Edward L. Beach of Palo Alto, Calif., parted his hair with a rifle shot," Street reported. "The three Japanese slid into the water and began to swim. One appeared to be ready to be picked up, but then screamed 'Kill! Kill!'" bobbing his head and drinking salt water. Before the startled submarine men could get to him he sank.

"One suicide for the emperor," commented Street grimly. The pilot, after playing dead when hauled aboard, soon came to life and the third Japanese scrambled aboard willingly.

Near the slim bow of the submarine floated the plane. Beach turned his rifle on it and gained the distinction of being perhaps the first man to sink a plane from a submarine deck.

Closing the patrol, Street wrote jubilantly: "Sighted plane. Sank same."

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Hollywood—

Ticklish Job Of Bunnie Gardel

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Gentlemen, don't you wish you had Bunnie Gardel's job?

She is the gal who spreads makeup on Betty Grable's legs, who tints Alice Faye's shoulders, who colors Gene Tierney's torso. And more so.

"You see, makeup men can only do the face and the front of the neck," Bunnie explained. That leaves the ears, the back of the neck and everything else to ladies like Bunnie. And sometimes she has to do everything else, too.

"Take 'The Dolly Sisters' for example," she said. "In that picture Betty Grable and June Haver wore a couple of mesh costumes which you could see right through. That meant that they had to be made up from head to toe."

"Aren't some of the actresses turbed by such goings on?" Bunnie estimated that some of the newer actresses wonder, "Is this strip necessary?" But they get used to it and take it in stride," she says.

"Which star would you rather make up?" "That easy—Betty Grable. She's wonderful to work with. And there's something about her skin that makes it so easy to put the make-up on."

"Aren't some of the actresses ticklish?" "Yes, quite a few. I guess Jane Withers was the most ticklish I ever knew. She was always giggling while I was working on her. Maureen O'Hara is very ticklish about the ears. She has a dickens of a time while I'm trying to make them up."

Bunnie uses the ordinary pancake type of makeup and applies it with a sponge. When the actress goes in swimming, as Gene Tierney does in "Leave Her to Heaven," she has to use a grease makeup which won't come off in the water.

"Body makeup is helpful in making an actress look fat or thin," said Bunnie, who has painted away excess pounds for many a star.

"By making the side of the thigh darker than the rest of the leg, the star will appear to be thinner than she really is. Likewise, by painting it lighter, she will appear to be heavier."

However, girls don't go painting their heavier areas with makeup. The illusion is good only for the camera.

"Is body makeup used outside of the movies?" "I don't think so," Bunnie said, "except on legs to create the illusion of stockings."

Perhaps you are a doubter. If so, try this experiment; next time you see a bathing beauty with what looks to be a manufactured tan, rub a wet finger on her midriff and see what happens.

Washington—

Errand Boy Or A Rubber Stamp

WASHINGTON — "I'm sorry, gentlemen, but I haven't had time to study this bill thoroughly. I didn't finish reading my mail until 1:30 this morning, and I had some other matters to attend to before I came to the meeting of this distinguished committee."

This is a direct quote from a member of Congress who started testifying before a committee at 10:05 a. m. He was dressed, shaved, shined and apparently well fed. For more than an hour, he had been in his office, dictating letters, seeing three callers, giving instructions to his staff. Two hours later he was due to be on the floor of the House, listening to debate and voting "intelligently" on pending legislation.

After that, he could read more mail, answer it, interview visiting constituents, run a few errands by phone or foot, spend a meager hour studying reports on some legislation important to his district, talk on the phone to half a dozen lobbyists, and then dash home to pick up his luggage and catch a train or plane for an address before the annual meeting of the Brotherhood of Congressional Body Snatchers.

There are loafers in Congress, certainly, as there are in any group of 531 individuals, but a day with any conscientious member of the House or Senate would exhaust a half dozen voters, working in relay.

The trouble is that most of this work is futile, unnecessary and contributes greatly to the feeling of frustration from which many members of Congress, especially younger ones, suffer.

I'm not going to try to plow through the mass of suggestions that have been made for relieving the pressure of work on members of Congress. In the testimony, of both insiders and outsiders, these suggestions probably fill as much space as or more than any other proposals for streamlining our national legislature.

Few voters even know the names of their Congressmen, and of these few, only a fraction ever write them, and nearly all of these letters, even the crank ones, have to be answered and they add up often to a hundred a day. There's nothing much Congress can do about that except spread the gospel of honest necessity or sincere belief. In those two categories, they would appreciate more letters, not less, from the

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Anderson Due To Fire Pig Killers

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Major job facing Congressman Clinton Anderson of New Mexico as he takes over the War Food Administration (he will also be secretary of agriculture) is to weed out the key men who kept food production down to minimum levels. Some of these men wanted to aid the big food firms, others couldn't forget the days when federal policy was to kill off little pigs.

Last year, for instance, War Food Administration concentrated on trying to clear off all surplus fats—even permitting the use of edible fat for soap and paint. This year there is a shortage. Last year WFA held out to the bitter end against bringing all meats back under rationing; it actually discouraged hog production and permitted meat canning facilities to work at less than capacity. Everyone knows the result this year.

Last year, when the War Production Board proposed facilities to provide an additional 300,000-400,000 tons of cattle feed from the mash left over from distilleries, WFA killed the project and permitted thousands of tons of potential feed to go to waste. Only last month WFA reversed itself and okayed the program.

Last year Tom Stitts and Dewey Termohlen, heads of the dairy and poultry branch of WFA, were worried about too many chickens and eggs. Termohlen wanted the national goal for 1945 set 25 per cent below 1944; but the figure was finally set at 16 per cent less—later raised to only 8 per cent less. Early in April, the masterminds suddenly awakened to the fact that the country faced a serious shortage of eggs and poultry. Suddenly they urged farmers to increase their flocks by 20 per cent—too late to do much good before mid-summer.

Poultry Stamps

Termohlen's prize scheme last year was for a poultry subsidy program awarding one dollar per hen if 70 million hens were marketed at $1.00. At that time, of course, eggs were plentiful and poultry was not. Fortunately, the plan was never adopted.

The plan called for issuance of stamps by WFA with the government to pay the farmer 50 cents for his hens at marketing time. The stamp would then remain with the hen through various transactions until it reached the wholesale market. At this point, the stamp would be returned to WFA agents, who would compare the stamp number with their records and pay the farmer the other 50 cents—if the poultry population of his farm had not increased since he originally sold the hen.

Finally, WFA never enthused over OPA efforts to crack down on the poultry black market. Today, with the army unable to lay up any stockpile of poultry despite a complete set-aside in four major poultry areas, the black market is such a sizeable racket that trucks are being hi-jacked in the midwest just as in prohibition days.

Present plan is to order a set-aside for the army of all poultry in the entire midwest—including Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio. In addition, OPA may soon announce a system for licensing all poultry handlers.

On the bright side is the fact that farmers responded so well to the April call for increased poultry production that hatchery production in the latter part of April was greater than in any corresponding period in the past.

Congressional Fight Inside fact about the fight between New York's republican Congressman John Taber and Missouri's belligerent democrat Clarence Cannon is that their scratch-each-other's-eyes-out animosity dates back to a secret meeting of the house appropriations committee about three weeks ago.

The appropriations committee met to consider the much-debated $2,500 extra expense allowance to congressmen. Democratic leaders had okayed the increase, but republican leaders had not. "They wanted the democrats to stick their necks out first. However, the rank and file of republican members were sore as blazes against their leaders, because they wanted the cash just as much as the democrats."

When the appropriations committee met, Congressman Taber, top republican member, sanctimoniously announced he would not approve the $2,500 boost. "If it could be drawn in a lump sum, Whereupon the committee slapped him down with a 20 to 10 vote permitting members to draw the expense amount in a lump sum if they wished."

The bellicose Taber then threatened a floor fight. Faced with this, the committee back-tracked and agreed to restrict the expense allowance to monthly payments. Chairman Cannon then called for a vote to report the bill out of committee—considered: only a formality, since there was apparent agreement on the entire bill. Everyone voted "aye," until suddenly Taber droned "no."

He Who Gets Slapped Whereupon, Chairman Cannon, who had already voted "aye," changed his vote to "no." Representative Joe Hendricks of Deland, Florida, asked why.

"In every conversation I've had with the gentleman from New York (meaning Taber), he made it plain that he favors this $2,500 allowance," replied Cannon. "When I voted just now, I firmly believed that the gentleman would vote likewise. And I do not intend to have this become a political issue."

Taber then denied that he had said he would vote for the $2,500 allowance. This aroused the ire, not only of Cannon, whose blood was already boiling, but of Congressman O'Neal of Kentucky and several other democrats. They insisted that Taber had okayed the extra funds.

"You want the extra dough," they stormed, "but you also want to be in a position to attack it for political reasons."

Finally the storm subsided. But a few days ago, when the whole matter did become a political issue, just as Cannon predicted, the irate Missourian called Taber into his office and socked him in the eye.

Note—When Congressman McCormack of Massachusetts was criticized twenty-five years ago for voting to increase the salary of assembly members from $1,000 to $1,500, he told his constituents: "If you want a $10,000 man for $1,500, vote for me. If you want a $500 man for $1,000, vote for my opponent." All fair-minded observers in Washington agree that congressmen deserve a salary increase. There is also complete agreement that they have gone at it in the most inept way possible.

Capital Chaff When the "March of Time" newswire tried to get Representative Clint Anderson (secretary of agriculture-to-be) to pose with a pitchfork or on a tractor, the genial Anderson declined. "I remember when Cal Coolidge posed in a ten-gallon hat," he said. "You can't do that to me. I'm just an insurance man." ... It hasn't been published, but in addition to voting an additional $2,500 for each senator, the senate appropriations committee also increased the senatorial stationary allowance from $200 to $400 per senator, and voted that each senator be allowed 25 free long-distance telephone calls per month while in Washington and 300 worth of calls per year while outside of Washington.

Last year, for the first time, a provision was made for ten free long-distance calls per month per senator—all calls to originate in Washington. This year the number is raised to 25, either originating in or terminating in Washington. There was never any provision before for calls in which neither party is in Washington, but now 300 worth of such calls are allowed.

New Pool Assured In Cochran County

By JOHN B. BREWER

SAN ANGELO, June 2 — Assured opening of a new pool in Cochran county, by Standolind No. 1 Edwards, swabbing naturally 150 barrels of oil in 22 hours from the San Andres at 5,025-90 feet, topped West Texas oil development this week. With the oil was some wash water.

The strike is in the C SW NW 13-L-GH & SA, 10 miles west of the Slaughter field.

Humble No. 1 J. M. Parrott, deep Permian lime strike in eastern Upton county, C SE SE 3-EL & RR, moved off rotary for completion at plugged back depth of 9,943 feet. It will alternately be shut in to pressure up, then opened, it was understood. On the last reported testing, 282 barrels of fluid was swabbed in 48 hours, acid residue ranging from 50 to 60 per cent. Eight thousand gallons of acid had been injected in two stages through casing perforations between 9,100 and 9,893 feet.

Indicating a flow of about 50 barrels of oil daily upon shooting Yates sandy time from 1,615 to 1,715 feet with 400 quarts of nitroglycerin, George T. Abell No. 1 Scharff & Blackmon extended the Pecos Valley high gravity field in northern Pecos county five-eighths mile south-east. It is the northwest quarter of section 38-3-H & TC.

The Texas Co. plans to start June 4 a slated 3,000-foot wildcat in northwestern Pecos county C SW NE 14-146-T & STL, two miles southeast of the Fort Stockton (Yates sand) pool and five miles northwest of Fort Stockton.

Ledge No. 1 Bouscaren estate, Clear Fork lime discovery in the Noelke shallow Permian lime field in western Crockett county, C NW NW NE 29-GG - HE & WT, recovered tools and resumed cleaning out following a shot from 3,950 to 4,042 feet. It continued to make occasional oil heads.

For the third time, Phillips No. 1-A TXL, second Ellenburger producer in the TXL field in west central Ector county, cemented 5.1-2 inch casing on bottom at 9,853 feet for cementing. It is in the C NW NW 21-45-1s-T & P.

Small San Andres lime strike 1.4 miles north of the Fullerton field and the same distance east of the Union pool, where production is from the Clear Fork, Chalmette Corp. No. 1 Lake Shore Corp. pumped 38 barrels of oil in 24 hours after treatment with 5,500 gallons of acid through casing perforations between 4,530 and 4,650 feet. Location is the C NW NE 24-A26-psl.

Amerada No. 1-A Dr. E. H. Jones, prospective basal Permian discovery in northwestern Gaines county, drilled below 9,397 feet in lime, scheduled to continue to 11,500 feet unless it obtains a decision in the Ellenburger at a lesser depth. It is in the C NW NE 39-A6-psl.

Gaines county registered two failures during the week: Humble No. 1 O. L. Bishop, C NE SW 45-H-D & W, at 5,187 feet and Honolulu No. 1-98 D. E. Cunningham, C NW SE 88-G-WTRR, at 5,471 feet. Both encountered water.

Honolulu amended its drilling application to provide deepening of No. 1-B Altman in northwestern Garza county to 5,500 feet. It had had only slight oil shows in exploring to 3,687 feet in lime. The test is in the southeast corner of section 1255-TTRR, only 1,730 feet north of Honolulu and Devonian No. 1 Elmer Hitt, pool opener near the Lynn county line 10 miles northwest of Post.

Texaco No. 1 Riley Butler, three-quarter mile northwest of Texaco No. 1 L. Y. P. Montgomery, opener of the Levelland pool in Hockley county, swabbed 24 barrels of fluid — 86 per cent oil and 14 per cent basic sediment and water—in 24 hours after treating the San Andres with 3,000 gallons of acid. The outpost showed the first oil at 4,778 and drilled to 4,840 feet. It is in the southwest corner of labor 9-40-Val Verde CSL.

THE HEAVENS OPENED UP

NEW ORLEANS, June 2 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Lankston, Sr., of New Orleans, were standing in Union Station here Thursday night when "the heavens opened up."

The couple was awaiting a train for Corpus Christi, Tex., when the loud speaker blared Mrs. Lankston's name and asked that she take a telephone message.

It was the war department with news that their soldier son, Sgt. Edwin P. Lankston, previously reported killed in action, had been found in a German prison camp and liberated a week ago.

Mrs. Lankston was unable to speak for several minutes, and then cried to her husband across the depot: "My God, the heavens have opened up for me—Edwin is alive."

Only yesterday morning, the Lankstons had received the purple heart and official citation along with the death certificate from the army.

Their daughter had been ill and the report of her brother's death had been kept from her. The Lankstons were enroute to Corpus Christi to break the news personally when the war department's call came.

"My mission of sorrow is now a mission of joy," Mrs. Lankston said as she boarded the train.
