Shiites demand pullback of ships

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Nabih Berri, a leader of the Shiite Moslems holding 40 American hostages in Beirut, said today the captives will not be released until the United States pulls its warships back from the eastern Mediterranean.

Berri's demand added a new condition for the release of the Americans, now in their 11th day of captivity. Until now, Shiites have only demanded that Israel free more than 700 Lebanese prisoners.

Earlier today, Israel released 31 prisoners from Atlit prison near Haifa.

Berri dismissed the release as a "political zigzag."

He insisted the Shiites will not free the 40 Americans seized June 14 aboard a hijacked TWA jet until 735 other Lebanese behind bars in Israel have been released.

Berri, who is also Lebanon's justice minister, said U.S. Ambassador Reginald Bartholomew telephoned him today to reiterate that Washington would not publicly pressure Israel to free the prisoners, who are mostly Shiites.

Berri said: "The advance of the 6th Fleet towards our shores forces us to add one more condition — this time for the Amal movement — and that is the withdrawal of the 6th Fleet from our coast."

The 31 prisoners freed by the Israelis were turned over to representatives of the International Red Cross at Ras Bayada, five miles north of the Israeli border, said Timur Goksel, spokesman for the U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon.

Abdul-Majid Saleh, a Politburo member of the Shiite Amal movement, welcomed the homecoming prisoners in south Lebanon, "the land of the honest who defeated Israel and forced its withdrawal."

But Saleh added: "We will not accept that this is going to be the last batch released. All our men must be released so the Americans will be freed."

Officials in Israel said release of the prisoners was not intended as part of a deal with the sky pirates. But Israeli sources said it aimed at providing an opening to end the 11-day-old hostage crisis, which began with the hijacking of a TWA jet with 153 people aboard.

In an interview today with ABC's "Good Morning America," Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir reiterated that the rest of the Lebanese prisoners "will be released when the situation in the southern part of Lebanon improves."

"When there will be quiet, there will be no reason to keep these prisoners," said Shamir, speaking from Jerusalem.

"It's a legal process, but it doesn't have a plan or a timing. We have to see how it proceeds," Shamir said. "If there will be appeals of some people... that they can be liberated and they can appeal to our authorities."

Goksel, contacted by telephone at U.N. headquarters in the Lebanese village of Naqoura, said Dutch U.N. peacekeeping soldiers at the Ras Bayada checkpoint reported the prisoners were freed at 1:20 p.m.

The former prisoners boarded a Lebanese bus that headed up the coastal highway toward the predominantly Shiite city of Tyre, Goksel said.

Those freed included 25 Shiites and six Sunni Moslems, according to an Israeli government official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Before the release, 766 prisoners were held in northern Israel at Atlit jail, of which 570 were Shiites, 147 were Palestinians and the rest were Druse, Christians and Sunni Moslems, the source said.

Israeli officials claim the prisoners planned or carried out attacks on Israeli soldiers in south Lebanon, and have said they will be released as part of Israel's disengagement from Lebanon.

Israel has withdrawn all but about 100 of its troops from Lebanon.

Connection between crash, blast probed

Japanese seek cause of blast

TOKYO (AP) — Japan assigned more than three dozen investigators today to probe the explosion of a luggage container unloaded from a Canadian Pacific Air jetliner at Tokyo's Narita airport.

Officials refused to comment on reports the blast may be linked to the crash of an Air-India jetliner in the Atlantic.

Canadian Pacific Flight 003 originated in Vancouver. The Air-India flight originated in Toronto and stopped in Montreal, and was heading for London en route to New Delhi and Bombay when it crashed.

Indian officials said the Air-India crash may have resulted from an explosion — possibly a bomb.

In the Canadian capital of Ottawa, Foreign Minister Joe Clark condemned what he called the "terrorist bombing" in Japan.

Sean Brady, a spokesman for Clark, said there was no firm evidence of a link with the Air-India crash, but, "Certainly people are looking at the possibility of a connection between the two incidents given their coincidence in terms of date."

The Sunday explosion, which killed two luggage handlers and injured four, occurred about 40 minutes after the baggage was unloaded and 53 minutes before the Air-India jetliner with 329 people aboard crashed off the Irish coast.

Noboru Takada, Narita Airport police chief, told a news conference that 40 police officers had been assigned to investigate the explosion.

The blast occurred in a cargo handling area separated by a wall from where scores of passengers were gathered at luggage carousels awaiting delivery of their baggage from the aircraft.

Masafumi Ebie, spokesman for the airport police, said Sunday that the six workers apparently were unloading luggage from four containers beside a conveyor that carries baggage to arriving passengers.

Police said the Canadian flight carried a crew of 16 and 374 passengers.

Jean Garneau, a spokesman for the Canadian transport ministry, said by telephone in Ottawa that the Canadian Pacific Air plane was not searched prior to loading in Vancouver.

POSSIBLE LINK—Indian and Canadian officials say they are investigating the possibility of a link between the Air-India crash and an explosion on a luggage container taken from a Canadian Pacific Air jet in Tokyo. The

Hundreds of bodies recovered

CORK, Ireland (AP) — Helicopters and rescue ships pulled scores of bodies from the icy North Atlantic and searched today for hundreds more believed killed in the mysterious crash off the Irish coast of an Air-India jumbo jet carrying 329 people.

Officials said saboteurs may have set off an explosion on the flight, which originated in Toronto, Canada.

All 329 people on board were believed dead.

The airline's offices in London and New York said the flight carried 307 passengers and 22 crew members. The airline said 278 Canadians were aboard, almost all of Indian descent.

Also on board were at least 28 American residents, including seven U.S. citizens, all of Indian descent.

Indian and Canadian officials said they were investigating the possibility of a link between the Air-India crash and an explosion on a luggage container taken from a Canadian Pacific Air jet in Tokyo. That plane originated in Vancouver, Canada.

In the first 15 hours after the crash Sunday, 123 bodies were recovered before a massive sea and air search was suspended for the night. The hunt resumed this morning.

The Boeing 747, traveling from Montreal to London's Heathrow Airport, plunged into the ocean 120 miles southwest of the Irish coast.

Indian Civil Aviation Minister Ashok Gehlot said Sunday the crash appeared the result of an explosion. He noted that wreckage was scattered over a five-mile radius.

Anonymous callers to two news organizations claimed responsibility, one on behalf of a radical student group of India's Sikh minority, the other saying he represented a group seeking independence for the northern India state of Kashmir. Indian officials withheld comment on the claims.

The plane was scheduled to refuel in London before proceeding to New Delhi and Bombay.

Air-India Flight 182 was cruising normally at 31,000 feet when it suddenly disappeared off radar screens at Shannon Airport at 8:13 a.m. (3:13 a.m. EDT).

No distress signal was picked up from the cockpit.

City to hear more drilling requests

Pampa city commissioners will consider another request by Triple J Oil Co. on two additional wells within the city limits during their regular meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

To be considered on first reading is an ordinance relative to a zoning change from Commercial District to Specific Use Permit regulating the drilling of wells No. 5 and 7, located southeast of the Kentucky and Price Road intersection.

Well No. 5 is an already existing well that had been drilled without a permit about four years ago after the land had been annexed into the city. Well No. 7 is a proposed new well. Both are located just outside the Tumbleweed Addition.

The commission will consider on second reading an ordinance granting a Specific Use Permit for Triple J's drilling of wells No. 4 and 6, tentatively approved two weeks ago. Those two proposed wells are located within the Tumbleweed Addition.

In other matters, the commissioners will consider on second reading two ordinances regarding tracts of land northeast of the Coronado Medical Complex. One ordinance would annex land belonging to Forrest Hills and Columbus Morgan. The other would grant a zoning change from Agriculture to Retail District for the Morgan Addition.

In other ordinance matters, commissioners will consider personnel policies and the changing of the regular meeting date of the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board from the fourth Tuesday to the fourth Thursday of each month.

The commission also will consider a resolution relative to the Fair Labor Standards Act, adopting the 28-day work period for the police and fire departments. The policy arises from a recent Supreme Court decision requiring all municipalities to comply with the provision of the federal act.

Commissioners also will consider the acceptance of the water and sewer extensions within the Davis Place, Unit III, Block 7 and approve accounts payable.

Texan's buy infuriates Californians

AUSTIN (AP) — A group of historical preservationists from Southern California are up in arms over what they say is an "immoral rape" of their heritage after a Texan bought a historic home and hauled away its treasures.

The fury erupted after Texas rancher Barton English purchased the 20-room custom-designed Blacker House in Pasadena, Calif. and then removed all of its Tiffany chandeliers, lamps and other light fixtures, The Dallas Morning News reported.

"Such removal is tantamount to the cutting and sale of a portion of the canvas of the Mona Lisa... (it is) an immoral rape of our heritage," architecture historian Randall Makinson said.

"How would Texans react if somebody attempted to buy the Alamo and sell some of its historical fragments?" asked William Murtaugh, former vice president of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

The Blacker House is an Arts and Crafts bungalow designed in 1907 by turn-of-the-century architects Charles and Henry Greene, who were leaders in the so-called "bungalow movement" that flourished in Southern California.

The fixtures were specifically designed for the house, and the home is the city's finest architectural treasures, said Claire Bogaard, executive director of Pasadena Heritage.

But a New York antique dealer told The News that English intends to sell some of the fixtures and keep the rest.

When the Blacker House went on the market last June, it carried a $1.9 million price tag. English bought it about seven months later for $1.2 million.

Majorie Hill had to sell the home for financial reasons, and she had tried unsuccessfully to interest Southern California preservationists and several universities to take over house payments.

But since the Texas cattle rancher, who lives near Stonewall, Texas, has acquired the property, community awareness in Pasadena has been raised.

"We're kind of closing the Tiffany doors after the horses have escaped," said Rick Cole, a Pasadena city council member.

"It is an ironic fact that it took Mr. English to wake up the community to the value of the Blacker House," he said.

On June 13, Cole met with English in Austin to discuss the problem.

During a four-hour discussion, Cole suggested that English resell the house to a private buyer interested in maintaining it in its original condition.

English would not comment.

At least 28 American residents believed among dead on jetliner

By The Associated Press

Five entire American families of Indian origin were believed to have been among the dead as an Air-India Boeing 747 jumbo jet carrying 329 people plunged into the Atlantic off Ireland, scattering debris and bodies over five miles of ocean.

Of at least 28 American residents reported aboard, seven were known to have been U.S. citizens, and others were Indian citizens who had immigrated to the United States.

Those believed killed include 18 from Michigan, including at least four families from metropolitan Detroit, three groups from Buffalo, N.Y., and the Rajeshwar Gupta family from suburban Cincinnati.

Harlal Choudhury, a Gupta family friend, said Sunday, "Like all Indian people, they felt close to their family, and they took pride in visiting family and relatives back home."

Believed dead were Gupta, 45; his wife Swatantar, 38; daughter, Vandana, 15, and son, Shaffi, 12, of the Cincinnati suburb of Anderson Township.

Air-India officials could not immediately confirm the full names and hometowns of all passengers aboard.

The other American residents believed aboard included seven U.S. citizens: a suburban Detroit family of five, and a woman and her daughter from suburban Buffalo, N.Y.

Other American residents included three other suburban Detroit families and two women and two children from suburban Buffalo. Pulivelli K. Jacob, his wife and three children, of Canton Township in suburban Detroit, boarded the plane in Toronto, said Jacob Mathews, who described the family as his close friends and American citizens. They were bound for a visit with relatives in Dearborn Heights.

He identified the family as Jacob, about 43; his wife, Alekyuty, about 42; and their three children, Jessey, 13, Jhansy, 11, and Jestin, 8.

Air-India's passenger list contains the names of P. Jacob and four other Jacobs without first initials.

Alekyuty Job, 42, of Tonawanda, a Buffalo suburb, also was believed to have been aboard the flight.

Shuttle back from successful trip

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) - Discovery's international crew, proud of a near-flawless flight, swooped out of orbit today and guided the space plane to a perfect dawn landing on a hard-packed desert runway.

Five Americans, a French test pilot and a Saudi Arabian prince touched down at 6:12 a.m. PDT, at the end of a weeklong, 2.9-million-mile journey during which they launched a record four satellites and their ship served as a laser target in the first "Star Wars" space shuttle test.

"We are very proud of those accomplishments," commander Dan Brandenstein said earlier. No other shuttle crew had launched more than three satellites.

Sixty-five minutes before landing, Brandenstein and pilot John Creighton fired braking rockets 220 miles above the Indian Ocean to drop the shuttle out of orbit and start it on a blazing dive through the atmosphere on a course that descended over the Pacific and across the California coast north of Los Angeles. Two loud sonic booms cracked the air as Discovery descended into Edwards, its fuselage glistening in the morning sun as it circled overhead and made its approach.

On hand to meet the shuttle were 10 Saudi Arabian princes, including four brothers of Prince Sultan Salman Al-Saud, who was one of two foreign passengers in the seven-member crew. The other is Patrick Baudry, a French Air Force pilot.

City works on mosquito problem

By BOB HART
Pampa City Manager
The Clean-Up Campaign is continuing. We are beginning to work in Ward 4.

Our Sanitation Department collected 174 truck loads of items from Ward 3, and we expect to exceed that number of loads in Ward 4. In the early part of last week, in one block alone, our Sanitation personnel hauled 12 loads from the alley.

We will be finishing the Clean-Up Campaign this month. For those of you that may have set items out after we went through your area, we will be going back when we complete Ward 4.

If you do have some items, please call the Sanitation Department at 665-1689, and they will place you on a list. Please be patient with us, because it will take two or three weeks before we can get back to other areas.

I know that many of you are concerned about the mosquitoes. We did begin spraying for them on Tuesday night, June 18, and continued the spraying through the week.

We had some problems with our equipment and getting the sprayer ready for operation. This problem, coupled with the unusually heavy rains, caught us unprepared. You should see some relief from mosquitoes in your area during this week. If you are still having major problems, please contact us so that we can reschedule your area of town to be sprayed again.

Our seal coating program is scheduled to begin today. We will be seal coating a number of streets generally in the south and southwest portions of the community.

I would like to remind you of a few precautions you should take whenever the street crew is working in your area. The temperature of the asphalt material is about 300 degrees, so please keep your children and pets away from the street. Pets, a barefooted youngster or a child who might fall down on the street could receive a severe burn.

If at all possible, please do not drive on the hot asphalt. Be patient, as it will take about 15 to 30 minutes for the seal-coat rock to be applied, and then it will be much safer to drive on.

Keeping your vehicles off the streets will be very helpful during this time, so that it does not cause any undue delay in seal coating the streets.

I want to bring you up on the status of the reinstallation of driveway pipes. I have had several questions from citizens, and I know many others have questions, too.

The City Commission has adopted a formal ordinance authorizing the reinstallation of driveway pipes under certain conditions. The ordinance has been published in the paper, as required by law, and is now ready for implementation.

The permits have been prepared, and we are now in the process of typing letters. We will be mailing out letters and applications for permit to home owners throughout this week and possibly into the next. The letter outlines the key provisions, and a permit is also included.

I believe the letter is self-explanatory. However, I want to encourage you to contact our Code Enforcement Department at 665-8483 if you have questions, if you have not received a letter within a week to 10 days or if you need to check to make sure you were on the list to receive notification.

And, finally, I want to remind you again that the City Commission is meeting in the evenings on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The commission will be meeting tomorrow evening, Tuesday, at 6 p.m. on the main floor of City Hall.

Your attendance and participation are always welcome.

NAACP leader reaches out to youth

DALLAS (AP) — The fight for equality and a truly "color blind society" for their children is not over for blacks, NAACP Executive Director Benjamin L. Hooks said.

In a keynote address to the NAACP convention Sunday night before several thousand people overflowing a Dallas Convention Center ballroom, Hooks urged blacks to oppose a "hostile" administration in Washington and help make a better life for themselves and their children.

"We have not ever received full justice, full equality, full parity," he said. "How can anybody say we've made it? We still have a long way to go."

As in the past, Hooks lashed out at the Reagan administration for "turning back the civil rights clock." Cuts in social programs and attacks on affirmative action have given "aid to the enemies of civil rights," he said.

But he also told blacks they have problems of their own to solve.

"We must address the problem of our young people being able to recite the lyrics of everything that Michael Jackson and Prince sing, but not what's in their schoolbooks."

We must train students for the computer age, he said, but first teach them to read and write in English.

We must address teen-age pregnancy, he said, which keeps blacks "mired in poverty."

"Unless we act to deal with this dilemma, our entire race will bear its effects through the 21st Century," Hooks said. "They must understand that having babies when you're a teen-ager is simply not cool."

Black unemployment is still double that for white workers, he said, and almost 50 percent of black youths are out of work.

The median income for black families is only 56 percent that of whites, he said.

Less than 2 percent of all lawyers and doctors are black, he said.

But although he described times as "gloomy" because discrimination has kept minorities out of economic parity with whites and from positions of power in private business and government, Hooks said the NAACP is strong enough to overcome.

"We have three times as many people here as the last convention (in Dallas in 1954). We have young people from 290 cities here — over 1,000 young people participating in the convention," Hooks said.

"The national press won't report that. They say we're struggling to attract the young," he said.

More than 10,000 visitors are expected in Dallas for the five-day convention, the 76th annual meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

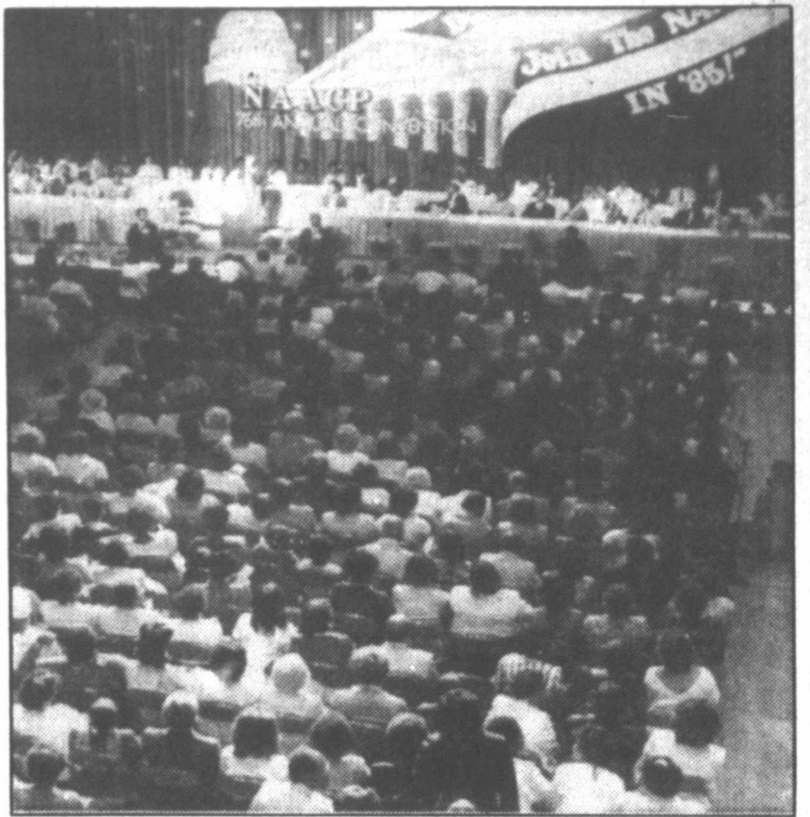

Sharpened on the often-violent struggles against public discrimination and violation of civil rights in the 1950s and 1960s, the NAACP now hopes to defeat today's more hidden racism which keeps blacks on the lower economic rungs, leaders say.

Critics have charged that fluctuations in NAACP membership and an inability to attract youthful professionals have damaged the organization.

But the thousands who crowded the hall on opening night Sunday — including many children and young adults — showed no signs of abandoning the fight. Interrupting Hooks' pulpit-pounding speech with frequent applause and shouts of "Amen," the NAACP delegates and visitors apparently agreed with his concerns about youth and relished his attacks on the Reagan administration.

Hooks said the administration's attitudes toward minorities — particularly the record of William Bradford Reynolds as director of the U.S. Justice Department's civil rights division — have evolved into "open hostility to equal rights."

Hooks gave the keynote speech and brought the crowd to its feet as he lashed out at a "lying" administration in Washington and opened the NAACP convention with a call to finish the fight for equality. ## Woman, 91, says she won't vote again

CROCKETT (AP) — Annie Parks cast her first vote last year when she was 90, and she has regretted it ever since.

Ms. Parks, who is now 91, and 11 other Houston County residents face trial this month or in August on felony charges of voter fraud stemming from the June 1984 Democratic Party runoff.

The indictments allege some of the dozen voters had invalid voter registrations and the others had never registered, but election officials say any election code violations were unintentional.

"If something happened illegally, it happened out of a lack of knowledge of election laws. It was all a great misunderstanding, not an attempt to do anything illegal," said Henry Lovelady, election judge for the precinct in which Ms. Parks voted.

Ms. Parks' attorney, J.B. Sallas, said a local pastor, who often gave the elderly and poor rides to the polls, drove Ms. Parks to the election place on June 2, 1984.

"They took me to one table and then to another, and then they gave me a ballot and I voted," Ms. Parks told the Houston Chronicle. "I had never voted before. I had never wanted to fool with it none."

Houston County District Attorney Don Gordon said election judges allowed some people to vote without valid registration cards. Other unregistered voters signed blank sheets of paper that were supposed to have been affidavits, Gordon said.

State law allows voters who lose their registration cards to sign an affidavit at the polls and vote, but the affidavit is supposed to include a written oath in which the voter swears he is registered.

Lovelady said election clerks erred in allowing Ms. Parks to vote. He said poll workers assumed she was registered when she cast her ballot.

The indictments charged 21 people, including Houston County Democratic Chairman J.P. "Dutch" Brewton. Brewton and nine other defendants have since pleaded guilty to misdemeanor offenses or their cases have been dismissed.

Gordon said he's willing to make the same plea bargain with Ms. Parks and the other remaining defendants, — a $1 fine, $107 in court costs and two months probation. Otherwise, they face a trial.

Brewton said the charges are a case of "nitpicking."

However, Gordon said, "Election judges had gotten too lax around here. They took a casual good-buddy attitude and let anybody vote."

Whatever the outcome of the case, Ms. Parks says one thing is certain — she will not vote again.

"It's too much trouble," she said.

One killed, two injured in mid-air collision

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — A pilot tried in vain to warn two small planes that they were dangerously close to colliding moments before the single-engine Cessnas crashed in mid-air, killing one man and injuring two others, authorities said.

The pilot of a third plane noticed the two aircraft were flying too close together and tried to radio them but received no response, Kelley said.

As the planes neared the ground, "their wings touched and they both went down," Kelley said.

"We don't know why they got so close. They might have been on each other's blind side," said Steve Klempa, Temple deputy police chief.

The two injured men were listed in critical condition late Sunday, Nelson said.

soldiers from Fort Hood, he said.

Kelley said that according to witnesses the two single-engine Cessnas were making a final approach to the landing strip and one plane was flying slightly above the other.

Arrest doesn't end probe into missing women

FORT WORTH (AP) — Authorities in Fort Worth say they're "convinced" that a man arrested last week in connection with one of several women who have disappeared or been murdered in the last nine months was not involved in more than one killing.

Michael Wayne Goodin, 19, was arrested last Wednesday and charged in connection with the death of Lisa Lynn Griffin, 20.

Miss Griffin's body was found Jan. 9 by railroad workers in southwest Tarrant County. She had been shot in the head.

Tarrant County Sheriff Don Carpenter said Saturday that Goodin gave authorities a one-page statement about Miss Griffin's killing and led them to the exact spot where her body was discovered.

Miss Griffin is one of several women whose deaths or disappearances are being investigated by a Fort Worth police task force.

"We're absolutely convinced" that Goodin is not involved in any of the other murders, said police spokesman Doug Clarke.

But police reports show that Goodin is the same person who telephoned police a few days after Miss Griffin's death to report finding her driver's license.

Miss Griffin's car was found abandoned in a parking lot near the apartment complex where Goodin lives, officials said.

Authorities believe that information provided by Goodin will lead to the .22 caliber handgun that killed Miss Griffin.

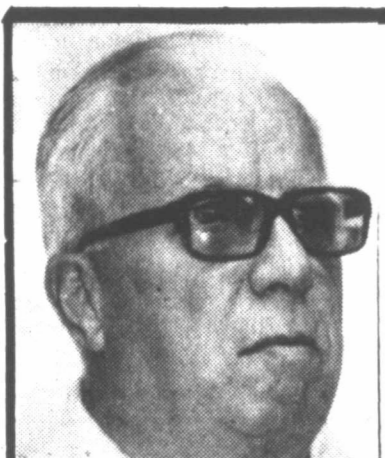

An autopsy showed the woman died from a single gunshot wound to the head.

The sheriff declined to say how investigators broke the case, but Goodin is identified in Fort Worth police reports as the person who reported finding Miss Griffin's driver's license in a drain pipe near his apartment complex.

Goodin was charged with murder Friday afternoon. He remained in Tarrant County Jail Sunday in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Neighbors said Goodin and Miss Griffin had attended the same school, but were unsure which one.

Batting the cockroaches

Can sex kill?
It can if you're a cockroach, according to some university scientists who have been studying how to control major pests, of the insect variety.

Because I recently received samples of a new type of insecticide for roaches which has a "sex lure," I decided to do some research on the obnoxious little critters.

Cockroaches are an ancient group of insects which have existed on earth for about 300 million years or 150 times longer than man.

Most cockroaches are tropical or sub-tropical in origin, generally living out of doors and being most active at night. They ordinarily prefer a moist environment with a relatively high degree of warmth.

Roaches which live in houses are usually scavengers, feeding on a wide variety of food. Roaches are especially fond of starch materials, sweet substances and meat products, but will also eat a great variety of materials such as cheese, beer, leather, bakery products, starch in book bindings, glue, hair, dead animals and plant material.

The American cockroach is the largest of the common roach species. It is also known as the palmetto bug, Bombay canary and flying water bug.

Since the beginning of recorded history man has fought a continuing battle with cockroaches — and have always lost.

Like chaperones in the back seats of old Fords, the scientists set out to ruin the American cockroaches' rituals and interfere with mating in the latest method of attacking the distasteful bugs.

At the University of Kansas, Prof. William J. Bell says scientists have successfully synthesized the sex attractant of the American cockroach and plan to use it to lure roaches to their death traps.

The sex lure, or pheromone, has been incorporated into a product called Lure N Kill, in spray and bait form to be introduced this summer in Southern states. Bell, a professor of biology, was involved in testing of the product.

He says it actively brings the insects to the insecticide instead of waiting for them to appear.

The man-made aphrodisiac for roaches apparently sends the male into a sexual frenzy and lures him into traps or sprayed areas treated with the insecticide which quickly kills him. Females and immature roaches also seem to be attracted to the area, he reports.

"In field trials," Bell says, "the insecticide with the pheromone performed significantly better than the insecticide alone. In one test, for example, the insecticide with the pheromone lure killed 43 male American roaches, 16 females and one nymph. The insecticide alone killed only one male roach."

With all of this information in hand, I asked my wife to try one of the sample baits with the sex lure, which I had received in the mail. As residents of one of Pampa's older houses, we had a minor problem with the critters which other insecticides seemed didn't resolve.

Apparently the product works, because the next morning we found several dead roaches.

A couple of weeks has passed and there have been no further signs of cockroaches.

So, if our unscientific test is any indication — yes, sex can kill if you are a cockroach.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Adult illiteracy American problem

Sixty million adult Americans can't read. They can't read a daily newspaper. They can't read a tax form. They can't read the warning on a pesticide can. How do they survive in this modern society?

Sixty million is an appalling number. It is approximately one-third of this nation's adult population. Yet, that's the conclusion reached by Johathan Kozol, an educator and the author of a recent book, "Illiterate America."

In this country? In this society? Sixty million Americans can't read? Maybe in a Third World country. But here? In America?

Kozol defines "literacy" in the United States as being able to read at the 10th grade level. He suggests that level is mandated by the "real print demands of the workplace." And he says that "the move from a smokestack economy to the information age means that the individual who reads at the fifth-grade level is no longer literate."

Kozol claims that illiteracy is growing, citing the influence of television and the other visual media. He also referred to a 1979 Ford Foundation study, showing that 25 million adult Americans read at less than the fifth-grade level and 35 million read at less than the ninth-grade level.

While Kozol suggests a massive mobilization of volunteer tutors to staff community-based remedial reading programs across the country, maybe the emphasis should be placed on seeking more fundamental changes in the way we educate our children.

American taxpayers have poured billions into its vast system of tax-supported, government-run schools. As budgets have grown, educational performance has declined. It is a scandal much more outrageous than overpriced coffee pots and ashtrays in the Defense Department.

Adam Smith is still right

The tragic soccer riot in Belgium was only the latest sign of the mounting British malaise over a very bad economy which now threatens Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's political career.

Anyone who wonders why youthful Liverpool soccer fans erupt in frustration and violence need only consider that in that drab city, youth unemployment is more than 50 percent and overall unemployment above 20 percent. The average youth may wait over five years after leaving school before getting a permanent job.

Thatcher cannot forever blame these conditions on her Labour party predecessors. They are in fact the direct product of a narrow-minded monetarism willing to sacrifice economic growth, jobs, and opportunity on the altar of tight money and austerity in a mindlessly demand-sided fight against inflation.

True, Thatcher has cut inflation from the 18-20 percent range she inherited to the respectable 4.7 percent achieved in 1984 - but the economic cost has been mindboggling. Unemployment soared from 5.6 percent in 1979 to 13.6 in 1984. It has averaged 12.3 percent during the last four years.

Since 1980, despite the "success" against inflation, real average hourly wages have FALLEN nearly 16 percent - and total British employment has FALLEN by 1.2-million jobs. A simply horrendous performance even when compared with Jim Callaghan's Labour government.

And why not? Under this supposedly "conservative" prime minister the average tax burden has RISEN from 34 percent of GNP to 40 from 1979-1984 in one "austere" budget after another.

In short, the Thatcher economy, by any measure, has been a disaster, and almost any change in democratic government would now be desirable in Great Britain; unless Thatcher is willing to learn some new-old lessons.

To help his good friend, President Ronald Reagan should now read and dispatch to her a copy of a remarkable new book by Stanford University economist Alvin Rabushka. "From Adam Smith to the Wealth of America" (Transaction Books). It is packed with historical economic data demonstrating, beyond a doubt, that Britain's and America's economies prospered in almost direct degree to their adherence to Adam Smith's free-market, low-tax, supply-side postulates - and failed in proportion as those ideas were ignored.

Rabushka's first seven chapters are devoted to an economic history of Great Britain from the 1776 publication of Smith's "Wealth of Nations" to the full flowering of Smith's ideas during the last half of the 19th century, when it became the dominant economic power of the world.

When Smith delivered his revolutionary treatise, Britain was a picture of stagnation, with negative economic growth, a tax burden soaring toward 20 percent of GNP, real wages falling. This is an economy dominated by the protectionism of 18th century mercantilism, with 30-80 percent tariffs, intense government regulation and licensure of business formation and entry, and an economy run for the protection of the mercantile and landed rich, not for the growth and prosperity of its people.

It wasn't until the late 1820s that Smith's thesis - that the key to prosperity was the release of markets and individuals from the heavy hand of government into the "invisible hand" of the market - that competition and freedom began to be timidly tested.

Then, beginning in the 1840s, under Sir Robert Peel and continuing for nearly forty more years under the brilliant guidance of William Gladstone, Britain bought its tariff barriers down from 30 percent to 6, its public expenditures down from 20 percent of GNP to 7, and repealed most of its rigid paraphernalia of protectionist mercantilism.

The results were stunning - real wage rates more than doubled from 1841 to 1880 after FALLING from 1815 - 1840. Foreign trade multiplied by 1,200 percent, and inflation (producer prices) actually fell 30 percent. Adam Smith's ideas made Queen Victoria's England a world-wide paradigm of prosperity.

Rabushka's chapters are full of powerful examples of 19th century Laissez-faire - when tax-rate and tariff cuts constantly generated huge increases in economic growth.

Perhaps his best chapters deal with the way Smith's vision of economic freedom is still paying off in the relatively free market, low-tax, laissez-faire economies of the Far East, especially Taiwan, South Korea, Singapore, and Hong Kong. Over the past two decades they have enjoyed average economic growth approaching 9 percent. Just in the last four years they have outperformed the high-tax economies of the West by ten-fold.

Come to think of it, the president should send a copy of this book to every member of Congress, especially to all those "Thatcherite" Republicans who, like columnist George Will, keep muttering about "traditional fiscal conservatism" and tight money.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
 Today is Monday, June 24, the 175th day of 1985. There are 190 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
 On June 24, 1497, the first recorded discovery of North America took place as explorer John Cabot, on a voyage for England, sighted land, probably in present-day Canada.

On this date:
 Ten years ago: An Eastern Airlines Boeing 727 crashed while attempting to land during a thunderstorm at New York's Kennedy International Airport, killing 113 people.

Five years ago: President Jimmy Carter traveled to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, where he assured officials of U.S. support for the country's non-aligned status.

One year ago: A two-week lull in the Persian Gulf war ended as Iraqi warplanes attacked a Greek-registered tanker near Iran's Kharg Island.

Today's Birthdays: Actor Al Molinaro is 66. Comedian Jack Carter is 62. Movie director Claude Chabrol is 55. Actress Michele Lee is 43.

Weeding out non-believers

The number of Roman Catholics in the United States declined last year.

Professed Catholics and their children still comprise 22 percent of the United States population, but there were fewer last year by 106,891.

And the National Conference of Catholic Bishops noted a corresponding decline in the number of church schools and of Catholic clergy.

At the same time, the 800 million-member church worldwide is divided as never before - on sex, women, abortion, birth control and priestly celibacy.

Pope John Paul II is convinced that vacillation and compromise and deluded dogma are weakening his church.

He is determined to remain strict and to demand strictness: "The requirements of the Gospel are in fact requirements."

Pope John Paul's most recent visit to the Netherlands was surely both terrifying and disheartening to the Pontiff. Radical youths hurled rocks and bottles and carried protest signs and shouted epithets.

Even the Dutch prime minister, himself a Catholic, warned the Pope that his countrymen were "suspicious" of Rome.

The head of a Dutch missionary group challenged the Pope. "Are we preaching a liberating Gospel if we exclude unmarried people living together, divorced people, homosexuals, married priests and women?"

The Pope, determined to restore traditional absolutes of rightness and wrongness to the church, has made himself a lightning rod for Catholics urging change in "the old ways."

Indeed, statewide surveys show that 70 percent of American Catholics oppose the Pope on abortion, 80 percent oppose him on birth control and priestly celibacy, 65 percent oppose him on remarriage after divorce, 60 percent oppose him in ordination of women.

And yet the Pope and those Catholics who stand with him remain convinced that the church dogma - like the 10 Commandments - must remain a mirror in which we can see and measure our own sinfulness.

And he is naming to church leadership only those who share his views.

Critics within the church are well aware they are being "monitored."

Chicago Cardinal Bernardin who authored the 1983 pastoral letter opposing nuclear arms is said to have had his wings clipped.

The Pope has clamped down on liberal Jesuits and more recently on Franciscans.

This Pope visualizes a worldwide need for imposed discipline, is convinced that weeding out the "liberation theologians" is worth it - at the cost of lost membership - in order for the church to become dynamic again.

NATO not likely to come apart soon

By William A. Rusher

LONDON - Two weeks in NATO Europe, talking with politicians, government officials, military men and (perhaps most important) ordinary citizens, is an extremely invigorating antidote to the daily barrage of "news" from both sides of the Atlantic, implying that the Western alliance is on its last legs or is facing an imminent crisis of some sort.

Suppose that, out of 10 people, nine are reasonably content, but the tenth is upset about something and runs around shouting. Who gets the attention? Who is interviewed, photographed and clucked over?

That is roughly the situation in NATO. To be sure, in any group of 16 countries at least one will, at any given moment, be predictably out of sorts. In NATO just now it's Greece - a small, almost peripheral member, which recently re-elected an anti-American prime minister. Even he, however, has stopped short of carrying out his threats to close down the U.S.-manned NATO bases in Greece.

Then there are the nervous Nellies - notably the Netherlands (another minor player), whose fragile center-right government is under constant leftist and pacifist pressure to wobble on its alliance obligations. Typically, Dutch Foreign Minister Hans van den Broeck was the only NATO official Karen de Young was able to identify, in her recent epic article in The Washington Post, as counseling the U.S. government to continue observing the weapons limits in the (unratified) SALT II treaty. But even the Netherlands has in fact scrupulously lived up to its commitments.

Virtually all of the other NATO powers, including all of the big ones, are pillars of the alliance. More important, their citizens by large majorities support it too. They don't slump down in front of NATO bases; they don't form human chains; they feel no call to act in such ways - or indeed in any particular way. They are simply satisfied with the alliance as it stands, and with their respective nations' adherence to it.

"The only trouble with the NATO alliance," one high-ranking NATO officer told me, "is that it has just completed 40 glorious years." Well, 36 technically - NATO only came into official existence in 1949. But in fact it had existed, informally, since the end of World War II in 1945. Forty years is a long time in politics, and almost a record for 16-nation alliances. Politicians will naturally try to connive for their nation's particular advantage in such a situation; and reporters would be less than human if they didn't depict the consequent spats as signs of fatal weakness, heralding the alliance's imminent dissolution.

My advice to my readers, however, is to stay calm and bet on NATO. It may be less exciting than worrying over the "Finlandization" of Western Europe, but it's a lot more realistic.

Similarly, sensible Europeans tend to spend altogether too much time worrying that the United States may retreat into hard-shelled isolationism, or turn its attention and affections toward the Far East and forget all about Europe.

Time for additional fertilizer

By JOE VANZANDT
County Extension Agent
GARDEN FERTILIZATION
Most gardens are really growing with all of the rains we have had recently. Now is the time to consider additional nitrogen fertilization on several garden vegetables.
For tomatoes, peppers, summer squash, and okra, sidedress an additional 1 cup of ammonium nitrate per 100 square feet of area when fruit begins to set by placing in a shallow trench 6 to 8 inches on either side of row. Cover with soil and irrigate. A similar rate can be sidedressed to cucumbers, winter squash and pumpkin when vines begin to run. Application to cabbage, corn and broccoli should be made about 5 to 4 weeks after the setting of plants or corn emergence. Do not sidedress additional nitrogen to peas or beans.

MANAGE LAWN TO CUT WATER BILL
When the weather turns dry, don't just turn on your lawn sprinkler and then gripe about your high water bill.
By watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn properly, you can reduce your water bill as much as 40 percent.
Conservation by the homeowner provides the only solution to high water bills and excessive water demands during our hot and usually dry Texas summers.
In cities where industrial demand for water is low, lawn watering may account for as much as half of all the water used during summer months.
Most Texas lawns use about 2 inches of water per week during the summer and most of this usually comes from irrigation. However, as little as 1-inch of water per week can keep lawns alive and green.

Exactly what can a homeowner do to reduce his summer water bill?
First, water your lawn only when grass starts to show signs of drought and stress. Look for discoloration and wilting. If leaves roll up in the late afternoon and footprints remain after walking across the lawn, then water within 24 hours.
Once you've decided that your lawn needs watering, do it right. Most homeowners don't water their lawns properly. They either water too often, causing grass to develop shallow roots and making it a prime target for insects, diseases and temperature extremes, or they water too infrequently and apply too much water at one time, resulting in a lot of runoff.

When watering, soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches. In heavy clay soils, watering for 15 to 20 minute periods may be necessary to prevent excessive runoff.
Cutting back on lawn fertilization can also reduce watering. Applying fertilizer in the spring and fall will generally keep your lawn healthy. Fertilizing during the summer, especially with nitrogen fertilizer, will green up your lawn, but it will also increase your grass growth and water use.
Mowing less often and cutting your grass at taller heights also will help keep your lawn in better shape during hot, dry weather. Bluegrass and Fescue lawns do well when mowed at a 3-inch height, while bermuda and buffalo grass lawns can be cut at a 2-inch height.

Dear Abby

Second-time students measure success by a different degree

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son, who has a wife and two children, just received his law degree at the age of 31. Our whole family is tremendously proud of him, and we have you to thank for it. He said a letter he read in your column inspired him to return to college and become a lawyer. He shared that letter with us, and I had it framed and presented it to him at his graduation.
Please run it again, Abby. It may inspire others who think it's too late to realize that it's not too late at all. With love ...

How can we prevent this from happening?
BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: There is no way you can control the way your daughter spends her inheritance. But feeling as you do about her husband, please consider leaving a nice sum to your local animal shelter. That way you can be sure that some four-legged dogs will also benefit.

DEAR ABBY: You told "No Way Out," the married man who wants out of an affair he had going with a female employee, immediately to confess everything to his wife so the other woman cannot blackmail him. This violates the first principle in such matters: Always lie.

The man should either suffer silently, or if it becomes truly intolerable, fire the woman. If she informs the wife of the affair, explain that it's motivated by revenge and untrue. When she presents his wife with his sales slips for expensive gifts to her, explain that they were for prizes for an employee incentive contest. When she presents airline tickets and hotel bills, explain that they were on business trips and had to share a room because of the company's austerity program—and nothing happened. When she presents the wife with pictures of him and her in the ultimate embrace, he should assure his wife that the employee was shaking uncontrollably from malaria-induced chills, and he threw himself on her to warm her up.

DEAR FRIEND: What an upper your letter was! Here is the piece, with special congratulations to your son, the lawyer:

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old college dropout whose lifelong ambition was to be a physician. I have a very good job selling pharmaceutical supplies, but my heart is still in the practice of medicine. I do volunteer work at the local hospital on my time off, and people tell me I would have made a wonderful doctor.
If I go back to college and get my degree, then go to medical school, do my internship and finally get into the actual practice of medicine, it will take me seven years! But, Abby, in seven years I will be 43 years old. What do you think?
UNFULFILLED IN PHILLY

DEAR UNFULFILLED: And how old will you be in seven years if you don't do it?

DEAR ABBY: We have an only child—a grown daughter we dearly love—and when we pass on, we want to leave her our entire estate, which is considerable.
The thing that troubles us is this: Our daughter is married to a very unworthy character. For years he has taken advantage of her sweet, forgiving, generous nature because he knows she worships him. We are sure that whatever we leave our daughter will be spent on this dirty dog.

Abby, your penchant to recommend confession dooms a lot of marriages. Please be more cautious.

By JEFF GOODWIN and TANYA MORRIS
County Extension Agents
DATES
June 23 - 26 - Gray County 4-H'ers will attend State 4-H Camp at the State Center on Lake Brownwood.
June 25 - 9 - 11 a.m., Dog Project meeting, behind the Courthouse Annex. (bring your dog)
June 25 - 27 - District Roping School, Bill Cody Arena, Amarillo.
EVERYBODY WINS WITH 4-H
4-H'ers are involved in a lot of competitive events this time of year - fashion shows, horse shows, roundups and the like. And these types of events are directed toward making youth better individuals, not just winning.
People are the only creatures on earth who survive by serving each other. It is in serving each other that people can find the satisfaction and reward they require for successful living. This fact is one of the basic principles upon which the 4-H club program is built.
Another way to say it is that "people get what they want in life by helping others get what they want." Individuals cannot succeed or even survive for long without the resources they receive from other people, and vice versa. Today's 4-H program fosters a spirit of cooperation and creativity; a feeling that it is important to help other people develop their potential as human beings.

Opportunities for youth and adults to fulfill this basic need in life are almost without limit in 4-H. It's called leadership development, citizenship and community service. Everybody helps everybody else in 4-H, and therefore everybody comes out a winner.
In 4-H, 50 percent of the value of a youth's 4-H work is devoted to leadership of others and in citizenship and community service projects. The other 50 percent of the member's work is devoted to his or her own projects.
Not only do people who are 4-H members, parents and volunteer leaders benefit from 4-H, but so does the community in which they live. 4-H families are devoting more and more of their time and energy to citizenship and community service projects. The want to literally "Make the Best Better." in their own communities.
To find out how to become a part of the 4-H team, contact the county Extension office. Young people enrolled in the third grade through 19 years of age can join as members. Adults of any age can be a part of 4-H by being project leaders, activity leaders, club leaders or help in many other ways. If you see a need for help in your community, tell someone in 4-H about it; 4-H can also be of service to you. Please contact us at the Gray County Extension office, 669-7429.

Seek social outlets in the year ahead that will give you the opportunity to make new friends and contacts. Enlarging your circle of acquaintances will have definite fringe benefits.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Domestic tranquility will be disrupted today if you start rehashing disagreeable marital issues. Let the wounds heal. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Others are apt to ignore your pleas for assistance today if you demand they drop what they're doing to help you. Be realistic.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's important today that you determine in advance how much you intend to spend on non-essential activities. Unmonitored, you may be extravagant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Relax and enjoy yourself today, but try not to over-indulge in the good things life has to offer. If you practice moderation, everything will be more pleasurable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today you may be required to adjust your schedule to suit someone else. Even though it's annoying, don't make a big deal out of it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually you're easygoing and tolerant when dealing with friends, but today you might be a trifle short-tempered if pals are reluctant to do your bidding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Ignore temptations today to behave in a showy manner that you think might impress others. Affectations will detract from your image, not enhance it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you might have to deal with someone whose philosophical outlook is contrary to yours. Nothing will be gained from debating values.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Think carefully today before injecting yourself into matters that do not directly concern you. You may be asking for trouble that could be avoided.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Joint efforts are likely to fall flat today if you're associated with people whose aims and ideas are not compatible with yours. Get in synch.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Work that you are expecting others to attend to for you today may be left undone. Count only on yourself, not potential helpmates.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Avoid taking risks today on someone else's ideas, especially if this individual bungled something in the past. His pattern hasn't improved.

WEISER, Idaho (AP) — Dale Morris of Fort Worth, Texas, who comes from a family of fiddlers, has won $1,400 by outfiddling 24 other contestants in the 23rd annual National Oldtime Fiddlers' Contest.

"I can't believe it," Morris said Saturday night. "I just played the very best I possibly could and hoped for the best."

Temperatures dropped here Saturday night, but the atmosphere at the Weiser High School gymnasium was anything but cool when Morris heated up the gymnasium with his performance.

Morris, 19, played "Brillianty," "Martin's" and "Allentown Polka."

Morris previously had won the Houston Livestock Show contest in Texas and a national rodeo fiddling contest. But it was his first time competing in the Weiser festival.

House battles Pentagon budget; Senate may ease gun control laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House will be plowing through a huge Pentagon spending bill again this week as Congress prepares to wrap up business and head home for a Fourth of July recess.

The Senate will debate the always-hot issue of gun control before it breaks for the recess, tentatively set to begin Friday.

The House still has two major areas of controversy — military procurement reform and anti-satellite weapons — before it finishes the huge bill authorizing the Pentagon to spend $292 billion in the fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

That Democratic-proposed budget is $10 billion less than the defense spending plan approved by the Republican-controlled Senate and the two versions will have to be reconciled by a conference committee.

Meanwhile, the major item on the Senate's calendar will be a proposal by Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, to slash the federal limits on firearms and gun dealers imposed by the 1968 Gun Control Act.

That law, passed after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, put strict limits on interstate sales of guns and requires that extensive records be kept by gun dealers.

McClure, in sponsoring the changes, said, "the ones who bear the brunt of this law are not necessarily the most dangerous criminals. The ones who have been harassed by the enforcement of this act are often innocent men and women who have bungled their paperwork."

A chief opponent is Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who has lost two brothers to assassinations by gunfire. Kennedy opposed similar legislation in past years.

But Jerry Tinker, a Kennedy aide, says the two sides are working toward a compromise over items such as lifting of regulations on guns used for sport.

such as rifles and handguns, while keeping limits on handguns.

Meanwhile, the House-Senate conference committee on the budget was resuming work to find a compromise on a 1986 budget resolution that will satisfy both houses on the hot issues of defense spending and Social Security.

The House will deal with at least 50 amendments to the Pentagon bill, all aimed at overhauling a Pentagon spending system which in recent years has produced $650 ashtrays and taxpayer checks sent to defense contractors for items like country club memberships and gift cookbooks.

The anti-satellite (ASAT) controversy surrounds an Air Force plan to conduct final-stage tests of weapon designed to knock out enemy satellites.

Air Force supporters say the program is needed to offset a similar Soviet weapon.

NCAA sanctions not that tough

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Nearly 200 college presidents, an impressive show of force, interrupted their other administrative duties to attend last week's special NCAA meeting in New Orleans.

This was more than unusual. It was revolutionary. NCAA meetings usually are dominated by athletic directors and faculty reps, but this time a bunch of their bosses showed up to express growing concern with what they describe as "an integrity crisis" in college sports.

What could they have in mind? Just because recruiting abuses have deteriorated into a national disgrace?

Just because schools cavalierly pass off and on probation almost routinely?

Just because drug scandals and admission violations pock-mark the college landscape?

Just because winning has become an obsession, an end to be achieved without a whole lot of concern for the means?

Is that a crisis? Most assuredly, the presidents said.

Only a cynic would wonder where the presidents have been until now. Finally, however, they have made a gallant attempt to reclaim their programs, passing stiff, new penalties that will make the rules-breakers pay dearly for their indiscretions.

The cornerstone of the legislation is the "death penalty" — a mandatory suspension of up to two years for schools committing two major violations over a five-year period. Major infractions are those that would give a school a competitive or recruiting advantage such as altering academic records of student-athletes to assure eligibility or offering bribes to attend a school.

All this isn't quite as tough as the presidents would have you believe, though. There are windows here which were not slammed as tightly as they might have been.

The New Orleans legislation requires a minimum penalty. Maximum is two years, but minimum could be something substantially less than that.

An institution's first violation remains punishable by probation, which has hardly proved a substantial deterrent until now.

AP analysis

A real get-tough policy would have called for two-year suspensions right then and there, on the spot, the first time around. One strike and you're out.

Why give law-breakers a second chance before pounding them? If you're going to get tough, then get tough.

In fact, the presidents did take such a get-tough stance, but only against a few schools, and it was on this point where the unanimity of the convention was tested. It was agreed to make this new legislation retroactive to Sept. 1, 1980, which means that 20 to 25 NCAA institutions guilty of major infractions since that date have already had one chance. The next violation would mean suspension.

Suspension means shutting down a program — no television, no revenue, no recruiting, no program.

Suspension is serious stuff, much more serious punishment than probation, which has eroded over the years into little more than a wrist-slapping that the rules-breakers seem more than willing to risk.

Only twice in the 79-year history of the NCAA has a member school had an athletic program suspended. The sentences were handed out to basketball programs — at Kentucky after the 1951 point-shaving scandal and at the University of Southwestern Louisiana in 1973 for a variety of violations following a period on probation.

The presidents now appear to be saying that if you want compliance with the rules, you must make the penalties for breaking those rules so painful that it would be foolish to take the chance. Suspension fits that description.

Dr. John W. Ryan, president of Indiana University and chairman of the NCAA Presidents' Commission, which designed the new legislation, called the measures "important beginnings."

No. 12 can be good and bad

It's magic for Guerrero, misery for Chicago Cubs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's an even dozen for both Pedro Guerrero and the Chicago Cubs.

Twelve was a magic number Sunday for Guerrero, who hit his 12th home run this month to tie a Los Angeles club record and lead the Dodgers to a 6-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

Twelve was also a miserable number for the Cubs, who lost their 12th straight game in a 7-0 shutout by the Cardinals.

"What can I say?" Chicago Manager Jim Frey said as the Cubs moved within one game of tying the record for the longest losing streak in club history. "We're not going to panic."

In other National League action Sunday, Montreal beat New York 5-1; Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 3-2; Atlanta stoned Cincinnati 2-1 and San Diego turned back San Francisco 6-1.

Dodgers 6, Astros 2
Guerrero's two-run homer in the third inning off Ron Mathis, 3-2, gave the Dodgers a 2-0 lead and led Frank Howard's record for most homers in a month by a Los Angeles Dodger. Howard hit 12 in July of 1962.

Guerrero has hit seven home runs this season against Houston, including six in the last six games against the Astros, and has 16 overall to rank one behind Atlanta's Dale Murphy in the NL home run standings.

Cardinals 7, Cubs 0
John Tudor pitched a two-hitter, scored two runs and drove in one as the Cardinals defeated slump-stricken Chicago and extended the Cubs' losing streak to the longest since they dropped 13 in June, 1982.

The Cardinals, incidentally, won their fourth straight and 13th of their last 16 while surging to the top of the NL East.

Expos 5, Mets 1
Vance Law hit a two-run homer and Tim Lincecum drove in two runs to back the seven-hit pitching of Montreal's Bryn Smith. Law's homer, his fourth of the season and third against the Mets, came in the fifth inning after Raines hit a one-out single.

Smith, 8-3, pitched his second complete game of the season, striking out two and walking none. Ed Lynch, 4-4, who pitched five innings and allowed all five runs, was the loser.

Phillies 3, Pirates 2
Juan Samuel scored on a throwing error in the ninth as Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh. Samuel was hit by a pitch from Pirate reliever Jim Winn, 2-3, leading off the ninth and moved to second when Winn balked. Rick Schu then bunted past Winn and third baseman Jim Morrison barked the ball and threw wildly to first, allowing Samuel to score.

The Phillies managed only three hits in the game, including home runs by Mike Schmidt and Derrel Thomas.

Don Carman, 2-1, the fourth Phillies' pitcher, worked the ninth inning for the victory.

Braves 2, Reds 1
Steve Bedrosian and two relievers teamed up on a four-hitter to lead Atlanta over Cincinnati. Bedrosian, 4-6, blanked the Reds on one hit over six innings, yielding to Rick Camp in the seventh after giving up a pair of one-out singles. Camp pitched out of that trouble, and Bruce Sutter came on to give up an unearned run in the eighth to earn his 11th save.

The Braves took a 1-0 lead in the third off Frank Pastore, 2-1, on a sacrifice fly by Dale Murphy, then made it 2-0 in the fourth when Glenn Hubbard walked and came home on Larry Owen's double that eluded Gary Redus in the left-field corner.

Padres 6, Giants 1
Kurt Bevacqua belted his second grand slam of the year in the fifth inning and Dave Dravecky scattered nine hits as San Diego won its fourth consecutive game.

Dravecky, 7-4, struck out a career-high nine batters while only walking one, giving up the Giants' only run on a two-out, ninth-inning homer by Rick Adams.

Miller adds to winnings

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Alice Miller can afford to take a week off. She doesn't need the money.

Miller decided to put away her clubs and treat herself to some Chicago Cubs baseball after becoming women's golf single-season money leader. She fired a steady 70 on Sunday for a six-stroke victory in the $250,000 Mayflower Classic.

"What a day, what a week, what a year," Miller said after her fourth Ladies Professional Golf Association victory of the season. It boosted her earnings to $318,250, surpassing the old one-season record of $310,399 set in 1982 by JoAnne Carner.

Miller coasted to victory, taking the lead on the first hole and pulling away as one by one her challengers fell into a sea of bogeys. She finished at 8-under-par 280.

Jane Blalock, Mary Beth Zimmerman and Beth Solomon shared second at 286. Blalock finished with a 70, Zimmerman a 72 and Solomon a 73 for her best tournament finish since 1981.

Amy Benz and Lori Garbacz were the only other women to break par, each finishing at 287.

Miller, a 29-year-old Arizona State graduate, had only three victories and $374,992 in earnings for her first seven seasons on the tour.

Rangers' rookie makes big debut

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ray Miller, the new manager of the Minnesota Twins, almost got a storybook ending Sunday afternoon, but a rookie Ranger kept it from coming true.

Unlike his first two nights on the job, when the Twins rallied from two-run deficits to win 3-2, Miller's team could not get the big hit for a third straight game Sunday and lost to the Texas Rangers 3-1.

Texas rookie right-hander Glen Cook pitched 6 1/3 scoreless innings to win his major league debut.

"I definitely was nervous," said Cook. "But if you're not nervous, you're not human."

Cook, who was recalled from Class AAA Oklahoma City on Thursday after Frank Tanana was traded to Detroit, won't have time to relax. He was scheduled to return to Oklahoma City after the game where his pregnant wife, Linda, who is four days overdue, was to have induced labor today.

"I asked her what happens if I get called up (to Rangers)," Cook said. "She said 'Don't worry.' My wife's a good sport and she said to go for it."

Cook went at the Twins hard, allowing just five hits before being relieved by Greg Harris in the seventh.

"He was ready to pitch in the big leagues and he proved he was," said Ranger Manager Bobby Valentine. "It was the most pitches he's thrown (88) all year. I told him I didn't expect anymore than what he's done at Oklahoma City," Valentine said. "The only difference here is a little more meal money."

Miller was not upset after his first loss as a big-league manager. He said he was impressed with Cook but would like to get a second look.

"Cook came right at us," said Miller. "We had little knowledge of him. We knew he was sneaky fast and would come right at you."

"Historically, at Baltimore, we were horrible against first-time guys," said the former Orioles' pitching coach. "You have to see him twice but this is not to diminish his performance. He threw some good pitches and came in with the slider when he was behind."

Cook retired 15 of 16 batters before giving up a one-out double to Mike Stenhouse in the seventh.

Harris relieved Cook and pitched out of trouble in the seventh.

Final game determines playoff picture

By The Associated Press

The final pieces of the United States Football League's playoff puzzle will fall into place only after the regular season's last game.

The Oakland Invaders play the Gamblers tonight in Houston. The Invaders are already the Western Conference champions. The Gamblers have clinched a post-season spot. But all four first-round playoff matchups depend on tonight's game.

If the Gamblers win, they visit the Memphis Showboats, who finished 11-7. If they lose, they must play in Birmingham against the 13-5 Stallions.

The Invaders can finish with the USFL's best record by winning. They will then host the 10-8 Tampa Bay Bandits. If they lose, they must host the defending champion Baltimore Stars, who are 10-7-1 but have won five of their last six games.

Win or lose, the Gamblers could be playing their last game in the Astrodome. Reports have circulated that the club will move to Chicago for the planned 1986 fall season, but a formal announcement has not yet been made.

"I really don't know what the future holds for us," Houston Coach Jack Pardee said.

The Gamblers drew an average attendance of only 19,536 this season. Attendance hit a record low of 11,780 last week and is expected to be even lower tonight.

"I don't know if there is any bitterness, but there is a lot of disappointment," said Gamblers center Billy Kidd.

The Gamblers will once again play without injured quarterback

Jim Kelly. Todd Dillon will start for Houston.

On Sunday in the USFL, Birmingham downed New Jersey 14-6, Baltimore defeated Tampa Bay 38-10, Jacksonville romped over Denver 42-6 and San Antonio tipped Portland 21-13.

Orlando beat Los Angeles 17-10 Friday and Memphis beat Arizona 38-38 Saturday.

Cliff Stoudt tossed a third-quarter touchdown pass and Ted Walton scored on a 46-yard interception return as the Stallions captured the Eastern Conference title.

The Birmingham victory snapped the Generals' 13-game winning streak at home and the Stallions' defense ended Herschel Walker's string of rushing for at least 100 yards at 11 straight games by limiting the star running back to 73 yards. New Jersey finished the regular season at 11-7.

"We're just a team from down there in little old Birmingham, Alabama and everybody tends to forget about us," said Stoudt. "We've only won as many games as anybody in this league and the Southern Division last year, and we haven't impressed anybody."

Experience key as Levi captures Atlanta golf title

ATLANTA (AP) — It was a veteran against a rookie and experience proved to be the difference, but not in a way most would expect.

Wayne Levi needed two holes of a sudden-death playoff to oust rookie Steve Pate Sunday and capture the $500,000 Georgia-Pacific Atlanta Golf Classic.

Levi won his eighth tour title with a 12-foot birdie putt on the second extra hole, but he thought the experience factor came into play late in regulation — and had nothing to do with Pate.

Levi, holding a one-shot lead, placed his approach to No. 15 in the bunker and took a bogey 5, losing his lead to Pate, who sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the hole.

"After I bogeyed 15 and lost the lead, I said 'don't let that bother you,'" Levi said.

He recalled the 1982 Atlanta event when he had a quadruple bogey 8 on the hole and failed by one shot of going into a playoff.

Levi, who earned $90,000 for the victory, got even with an eight-foot birdie putt on the 17th and both playoff competitors birdied the 18th — Pate from 12 feet and Levi from 15. Each parred the first extra hole before Levi's 12-foot birdie on the 17th green ended it.

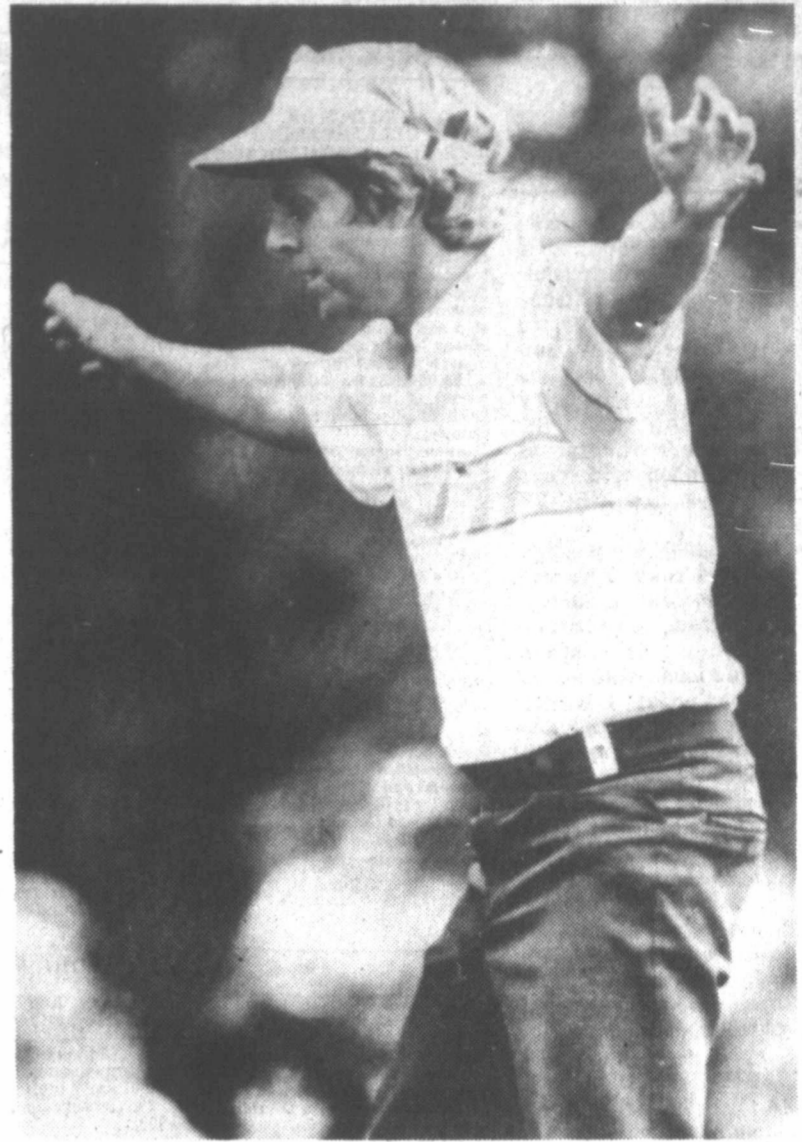

Levi said his winning putt became "much easier" when Pate chipped six feet past the hole from the fringe "because I knew I would still be tied if I missed."

Both finished regulation in 273, 15 under par on the hilly, 7,008-yard Atlanta Country Club course. Levi had a last-round 67 and Pate, the second-round leader, a 69.

"I played real well," said Pate, who earned $54,000 for second place. He had won only $5,461 in his previous 13 pro events, with a tie for 53rd serving as his best finish before Sunday.

"It's great to win," Levi said. "It's what I've practiced all my life to do. When you play the last few holes when the pressure's on you, that's what it's all about."

Raymond Floyd, a two-time PGA champion, could have made it a three-way playoff by sinking a 30-foot eagle putt on the final green. But he barely missed and settled for a birdie that finished a round of 70 to finish alone in third at 274.

McFatrige captures Pamcel Open title

Doug McFatrige shot a 149 for 36 holes to win the Pamcel Golf Open held Saturday and Sunday at the Celanese Course.

McFatrige had a second-round 75 to go with a 74 the first day. It was his first Pamcel Open title.

Randy Cole finished second, three strokes back, after starting out with a first-round 72. He slipped to an 80 the second round. Roy Milliron took third with a playoff victory over Roy Don Stephens and Brant Warner.

Ron Richerson in first-flight competition had the best score of the two-day tournament with a 144.

Past Pamcel Open championship flight winners include: 1984 — Barry Terrell; 1983 — Albert O'Neal; 1982 —

Barry Terrell; 1981 — Gene Cryer; 1980 — Jerry Larsen; 1979 — Ken Bailey; 1978 — Ken Bailey.

1985 Pamcel Open Results
Championship: 1. Doug McFatrige 149; 2. Randy Cole, 152; 3. (won playoff) Roy Milliron, 154; 4. Roy Don Stephens, 154; 5. Brant Warner, 154.

First Flight: 1. Ron Richerson, 144; 2. Bill Simon, 157; 3. Alvin Danner, 159.

Second Flight: 1. Bobby Dillaha; 2. K. Richardson; 3. Bob Briggs.

Third Flight: 1. Mike Hutcherson; 2. Ted Erickson; 3. Steven Mills.

Fourth Flight: 1. Buddy Epperson; 2. Gary Starnes; 3. Wesley Crosier.

Ex-Ranger a quick success

By BEN WALKER
AP Sports Writer

His family was at Tiger Stadium. His friends were there. And, after 11 years and stops in California, Boston and Texas, Frank Tanana was finally there — dressed in the navy-and-white of the Detroit Tigers.

"I've wanted to wear this uniform ever since I was a kid," Tanana said after he made an impressive debut with his new team Sunday, pitching seven shutout innings as the Tigers trimmed the New York Yankees 3-1.

He began this season with Texas, and won only two of his first nine decisions.

"I was waiting to see what kind of emotional roller coaster I'd be on," said Tanana, who scattered eight hits, walked one and struck out two. "This was an exciting day for me. It's good stuff!"

In other American League games, Toronto beat Boston 8-1; Texas stopped Minnesota 3-1; California clobbered Chicago 11-1; Seattle hammered Kansas City 8-2; Baltimore downed Milwaukee 6-3 and Oakland topped Cleveland 9-3.

"We swung at a lot of bad pitches," New York Manager Billy Martin said. "But he (Tanana) pitched a good game. You can't take that away from him."

Bob Shirley, 2-2, took the loss.

Blue Jays 8, Red Sox 1
Ernie Whitt hit the first grand-slam home run of his career and Rance Mulliniks added a two-run shot as Toronto beat up Boston in a brawl-interrupted game.

Mulliniks homered off Bruce Kison to give the host Blue Jays a 2-0 lead in the third.

Then, in the fourth, Kison threw a high-and-tight pitch that hit a ducking George Bell in the arm. Bell charged the mound and kicked Kison in the groin area as both benches emptied. When order was restored nine minutes later, home plate umpire Deryll Cousins ejected Bell and Kison remained in the game.

Dave Stieb, 7-5, gave up five hits over eight innings for the victory.

He lowered his AL-leading ERA to 2.09.

Angels 11, White Sox 1
Ruppert Jones capped a four-run first inning with a bases-empty homer, and Rob Wilfong and Mike Brown later homered as California pounded out 17 hits in Chicago.

Mike Witt, 6-foot-6, who has been victimized by poor offensive support several times, gave up six hits and struck out eight in seven innings.

Rangers 3, Twins 1
If Glen Cook was nervous, it didn't show. Cook, making his major-league debut in the Metrodome while his pregnant wife was four days overdue in Oklahoma, pitched 6 1-3 shutout innings to lead Texas over the Twins.

"I definitely was nervous," Cook said. "But if you're not nervous, you're not human."

The Rangers scored twice in the sixth, one on Pete O'Brien's

450-foot home run.

Orioles 6, Brewers 3
Larry Sheets climaxed a four-run rally against Milwaukee reliever Rollie Fingers in the eighth inning with a three-run homer to pace Baltimore.

Paul Molitor hit a two-run homer for the host Brewers.

Mariners 8, Royals 2
Bob Kearney and Spike Owen homered and Mike Moore teamed with Ed Vande Berg on a four-hitter as Seattle completed a three-game sweep in Kansas City.

Kearney got Seattle going with a leadoff homer in the third. The Mariners scored three more runs in the inning off Bud Black, 5-7.

A's 9, Indians 3
Carney Lansford hit a two-run home run and Mike Heath tripled, doubled and singled as Oakland cruised past struggling Cleveland.

Chris Codiroli, 8-3, got the victory. Joe Carter homered for the visiting Indians.

Keke Rosberg wins Detroit Grand Prix

DETROIT (AP) — Keke Rosberg had to overcome balky brakes, rough roads and litterbugs to win the Detroit Grand Prix. And he did it in record time.

The 1982 world champion from Finland says he really doesn't know why he has such a mastery on the handful of temporary street circuits that the Formula One drivers visit.

Arnie wins by 11 strokes

BEACHWOOD, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion Arnold Palmer completed a wire-to-wire victory in the Senior Tournament Players Championship Sunday with his second consecutive 4-under-par 68 and a Senior Tour record 11-stroke victory margin.

Palmer, 55, finished with a 14-under-par 274 at the Canterbury Golf Club — the best total on the Senior Tour this year — for his first victory of the year. His victory margin bettered Rod Funseth's 9-shot win in the 1983 Hall of Fame Classic.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Mark Lindsay, a bricklaying British actor unknown to American audiences, and Japanese-American actress Kim Miyori, who was Dr. Wendy Armstrong on "St. Elsewhere," will star as John Lennon and Yoko Ono in a new NBC-TV movie.

"Imagine: The Story of John and Yoko" goes into production July 8, John J. McMahon, executive producer for Carson Productions, said in a release Sunday. It will be broadcast in November.

Lindsay, currently working in London as a bricklayer, has appeared in several British productions.

The three-hour story of Lennon, the former Beatle who was shot to death in December 1980, and his artist wife will be filmed in New York and London, McMahon said.

SOMERVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Former automaker John Z. De Lorean is expected back in court Wednesday, to make a legal claim that New Jersey is his home.

If the judge agrees with him, the question of the property settlement from his divorce from Cristina Ferrare will be settled in this state, where an ex-spouse can receive anything from half a share to nothing.

Ms. Ferrare, 35, wants the case settled in California, where the community property law would guarantee her half the assets acquired during their 11-year marriage.

At stake in the dispute are a 430-acre estate in the New Jersey community of Bedminster, a Fifth Avenue co-op apartment in New York and property in California, with a total value estimated at more than $10 million.

De Lorean, 60, who was acquitted last year of cocaine-dealing charges, says he lived in Los Angeles only temporarily while he was on trial there.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pianist Dave Brubeck, in a triumphant performance at the Kool Jazz Festival, reunited with the two surviving members of his innovative quartet that made the 1950s swing.

Bassist Eugene Wright and drummer Joe Morello joined Brubeck, now a silver-haired 34, in a sentimental rendition of "We'll All Remember Paul," a tribute to Paul Desmond, the fourth member of the famous group, who died in 1977.

Also on the bill Saturday night for the show, "The Musical Life of Dave Brubeck," were the jazz great's three sons, Chris, Darius and Danny, along with singers Carmen McRae and Jon Hendricks.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (AP) — Jacques Cousteau says pollution is still destroying the oceans and people must take action before it is too late.

As a whole, one can say that things are still deteriorating.

BUSINESS REVIEW & FORECAST

we bring you ...
the best of everything

"Remember when?" ... you always hear these familiar words when families or old friends get together. Processing memories in color prints for years to come is the aim of One Hour Photos at 1421-C North Hobart across the street from Furrs grocery.

Locally owned and operated by E.P. and David Spurrier, One Hour Photos can process your color film into beautiful, quality prints in one hour. The film is developed and processed in a KIS developer and can produce as many prints as the customer wants.

All C-41 film is processed right in the store therefore the customer doesn't have to worry about losing irreplaceable snapshots. All prints are made on Kodak quality paper and testing of the film is made in advance to give the correct color on the finished prints. The Spurriers suggest that color film should be developed as soon as possible for good quality prints and to avoid deterioration of colors on the film.

The firm offers competitive pricing on film and processing.

KODAK and FUJI film is available at the store. Open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday thru Saturday, the customer is offered the convenience of getting their prints back when they want them.

Another location in Borger is managed by Dolores and Bill Spurrier, the company has been in this type business for 1 1/2 years and at the Pampa location for 2 1/2 months.

One Hour Photos has established three additional film drop locations for customer use. They are the Harvy Mart Number 2, Top O' Texas Quick Stop and T Shirts Plus. Film may be dropped off at these locations and prints be picked up in 24 hours at the location where the film was left.

Future plans of expansion by the firm include the processing of slides and enlargements up to 28 by 30.

The Spurriers encourage anyone with any questions to call or come by the store, they will be happy to assist you with professional help for better quality prints.

E.P. and David Spurrier can process your photo prints in one hour. Speed, quality and price for everything you want and need in quality prints for years to come.
