English women, whose clothes ration makes it almost impossible to buy more than one daytime costume a year, are up in arms over the Paris-New York "long skirt" edict. Realizing this, British designers have effected a compromise skirt length. Typical is this Victor Steibel creation, featuring a skirt just a shade longer than last year's models.

(Continued from Page 1) $60,000,000 of the total. One clue pointing to a possible line of compromise came from Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), a member of the foreign relations committee. He said the committee had agreed unanimous ly with Secretary of State Mar-shall that something should be done for China later, in a separate bill.

As to the amount of money, Smith was doing no forecasting. But he said figures received by Senate seemed to support the full $597,00,000 for Europe alone. And unless the House has that sum will be restored.

Texas State College for Women, Man Fined on Two Assault Counts

Fines and costs amounting to $94.50 were imposed yesterday afternoon on Ray Fulcher by County Judge Sherman White after he found Fulcher quilty on two counts of aggravated assault on two arresting officers. Fulcher pleaded not guilty to the charges, waived a jury, and acted as his own attorney. Judge White found the de-fendant quilty as charged after Patrolmen Harry B. Morgan, Joe Wilkinson, Geoffery Williams and E. G. Albers, Jr., had testi-fied. Patrolman J. H. Nichols was not called to the stand. Fulcher had been arrested by Wilkinson and Morgan last Saturday afternoon and charged with disturbance of the peace. He resisted the officers in the Police station and assaulted Wilkinson and Morgan in the melee. His case was transferred to the County Court after he pleaded not guilty to disturbance of the peace and resisting arrest in Corporation Court. The resisting arrest charge was changed to two counts aggravated assault by County Attorney Bruce Parker yesterday. The Court permitted Fulcher to secure bond for payment of

Electricity Found To Revive Heartbeat Physicians Report

CHICAGO - (A) - Electricity a force that can stop a heart's heat—has been used by Cleveland physicians to revive the waning pulsations of a 14-year-old boy.

An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association said the patient's pulse stopped and blood pressure sounds ceased after he had undergone a chest operation.

The incision was reopened and manual message of the heart begun. Some faint heart action was noted after 35 minutes of massage and mechanical respiration. However, the irregular rhythm indicated the individual fibers of the muscles of the ventricles were acting independ-

The Chitter Chat Club held its Christmas party in the home of Mrs. J. A. Grundy, 1311 Duncan, Tuesday evening, Dec. 9. During the brief business session, cup towels were collected to be sent to Boys Ranch, a report was given on the money donated to the Salvation Army Drive by the club, and Christmas gifts were planned for a needy family.

The business session closed with the club prayer, after which secret pals were revealed, gifts exchanged, and names re-drawn for the following three months.

Plate refreshments of green jello fruit salad, cheese biscuits, and white butter cake with red icing were served. The plate favors were miniature Christmas trees gaily decorated and colored stars in red and green nut cups. Members present were Mes-dames James Culpepper, Howard Archer, W. L. Harrison, C. W. honest and blasphemous worship, was hardly more severe than that that thousands in this century have surfered, as the mass executions, gas chambers, and ovens of destruction bear witness.

If the Book of Revelation, with its symbolism and its strange and colorful images, is in many parts hard to understand, and doubtful of interpretation, it is because of the dangers that beset both its author and its readers in those days of persecution. It was written in a sort of secret code, though its symbols and figures would be understood by those for whom it was written.

Dogmatic interpreters, who are sure that they have the right key and understand all its mysteries, will condemn me for suggesting that much in the Book is difficult and of doubtful interpretation. But the very fact that the interpretations differs so much, is the surest evidence of what I am suggesting.

But, if much is difficult to understand, much also is sublime and moving in its beauty and power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, the ultimate triumph of right, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, the ultimate triumph of right, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfalling sureness in the assertion of God's eternal power, and there is an unfall CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH 901 N. NEW BOOK ANNOUNCED

This book consists of nine parts which are divided into short chapters. It is a compilation of subject of a recent conference of the College of Preachers of that communion. The college urged the National Council to help in the formation of an association of professional women church workers; to study the whole subject of the training of women for church work, aiming toward the setting of a standard for training centers; and to pronote the recruiting and training of women, in present training centers, as a part of the Church's present crusade for evangelism.

It is a Book for our time, as was for theirs.
