

RATIONING BILL SUBMITTED

Renewed Hope For Deal on Germany Seen

LONDON — (AP) — After two weeks of indecisive argument the foreign ministers council came to grips today with German reparations and other deadlocked issues amid widespread speculation that Russia may at last be in the mood to deal with the western powers on Germany's future.

These were the moves: (1) Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov submitted at the urging of U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall a comprehensive set of proposals for economic unification of Germany.

(2) When Marshall asked whether acceptance of the Russian demand for $10,000,000,000 (billion) in reparations from Germany was a "condition" for Soviet acceptance of German economic unity, Molotov said it was not a "pre-condition." Instead, Molotov said, he felt that reparations and economic unity should be considered simultaneously.

(3) Molotov did not reject outright, as he had at the Moscow conference, proposals by the western powers that in any economic zone merger, various occupational deficits should be shared.

(4) Following yesterday's session a Soviet official told reporters it had been a businesslike meeting and that progress could be made where there was a will to agree.

While these developments gave rise to a glimmer of hope that something might yet be accomplished by the London conference, western diplomats guardedly against any tendency toward optimism.

Graham Is Named To Reemployment Group for County

Jack Graham, American Legion post commander, Pampa, has been named a volunteer veterans reemployment rights committee member for this county by the Veterans Reemployment Rights Division of the U. S. Department of Labor.

He pointed to talk of adjourning December 19 and noted that no committee in either the Senate or the House has put into shape any legislation designed to check living costs.

Wherry said the administration is responsible for the delay. "Their job is to say just what the President wants and they have not done it. All they have done is ask for blanket authority."

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The administration today submitted proposed legislation to Congress which would permit the rationing of meat, gasoline and other commodities.

Undersecretary of Commerce William C. Foster told a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee that a bill handed to the group by Secretary Harriman also would permit the government to buy up the entire crop of wheat and certain other commodities.

Foster explained these rationing and crop-buying powers were contained in a bill designed to give President Truman authority to allocate and fix priorities on scarce items, including livestock and poultry, steel, grain and grain products, freight cars and other producers and materials.

Moreover, the measure would give Mr. Truman authority to allocate any other materials if he found after public hearings that a shortage was basically affecting "industrial production or the cost of living."

Senator Cooper (R-Ky) asked Foster whether implicit such authority to distribute a scarce item was the power to ration to consumers.

"It would include that power," Foster replied. When President Truman presented his 10-point anti-inflation program to Congress he emphasized—and cabinet officers have since repeated it—that the administration does not propose to use any of the powers if their use can be avoided.

The measure presented to the committee would extend export controls, allocation and priorities powers through March 31, 1950. The draft of proposed legislation apparently was submitted to meet increasing complaints by Republicans that the administration has failed to be specific in outlining the powers it wants.

Such criticism was leveled by Senator Wherry (R-Nebr) assistant Republican floor leader, who told a reporter "there has been no constructive or detailed anti-inflation legislation outlined by any of the administration officials the President has sent up here."

Wherry said this in expressing doubt the GOP-controlled Congress will act finally on any anti-inflation legislation during the special session.

Previously, both Senator Taft (Ohio), chairman of the Senate Policy Committee, and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), head of the House Banking Committee, have said they expect action before Christmas as a few cost of living measures.

They emphatically did not include, however, President Truman's request for stand-by pricing and wage controls and rationing power.

Reds Cancel Trade Talks With France

LONDON — (AP) — Soviet Russia called off her trade talks with France today and accused the French government of acts "hostile and contrary to the spirit of alliance and mutual assistance" between the two countries.

The Moscow radio broadcast the contents of a note handed to the French D'Affaires in Moscow by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Theodore Gousev in which the Russian decision on the trade talks was disclosed.

Simultaneously Russia's note charged the French government with "unilaterally annulling" the two-year-old repatriation agreement for the return of each other's nationals, ordered the Russian repatriation mission home from France and announced the expropriation of the French mission from Russia.

The Soviet Embassy in Paris announced earlier that the French repatriation mission had been ordered to leave Russian territory at once.

The embassy said the Russian government considered the Russian-French repatriation agreement of June 29, 1945, had been voided by a French decision to take over the Russian repatriation center at Camp Beauger, near Paris.

Moscow recalled its repatriation commission from France yesterday. The Soviet Embassy said the Russian repatriation mission would leave Paris today.

It explained that the action of the Russian government also was (See TRADE TALKS, Page 6)

Rail Executive Returns to Place Of Birth for Hunt

CANADIAN — (AP) — Panhandle quail and Long Island bankers who have a quarrel in the control of America's railroads were the target of Robert Ralph Young when he revisited his birthplace here.

Sunday and Monday the chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio hunters quail in his boyhood. He bagged his game. Yesterday he took a shot at the Bulwinkle Bill.

"It's vicious and unAmerican," he said.

Today Young was en route to Austin where he will be the guest of Gov. Beauford H. Jester tonight.

The Bulwinkle Bill was described by Young as seeking to legalize operational and service agreements among railroads.

He also charged that the "agreements" among the major railroads threatened mechanical improvements and were playing the whole industry into the hands of the airlines and the motor freight industry.

To stay solvent, he contends, the railroads must pick up an additional share of the passenger revenue.

He also told of the new train that the Chesapeake and Ohio plans for 1949. It will be 50 percent faster than the standard train, and only 75 percent as heavy as the lightest trains now operating, he said.

Such a train would shorten the time between Amarillo and New York by 9 1/2 hours.

Young is awaiting the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission on his taking a seat on the New York Central Board of Directors.

Young controls seven percent of the New York Central common stock through the Allegheny Corp. The commission will decide whether he is disqualified from holding a seat on the New York Central.

Two hundred of his old Canadian friends were his hosts at a barbecue yesterday at noon.

Bland Upholstery Co. Is Damaged by Blaze

Unestimated damage was caused at 4:35 a. m. today when fire broke out in the rear of the Bland Upholstery Company, 613 S. Cuyler, and destroyed several packages of upholstering cotton and damaged some parts of the building.

Fire Chief Ben White reported that the fire apparently started over the men's room in the rear of the building where upholstering cotton was stored in bales. There was an open hot water vent beneath the floor when the cotton was lying.

Firemen succeeded in confining the blaze to the rear of the building and threw some smoldering cotton outside to be wetted down. Some smoke damage was caused by the front of the store but was held to a minimum. Firemen said they were able to extinguish the blaze with a booster hose and shot less than 20 gallons of water on the fire. Damage to the building was also limited.

There were no injuries.

Scouters Change Place of Meeting

The second meeting of the Scout leaders' training course, under direction of W. O. Prewill, will be held tonight at the Boy Scout office instead of at the Palm Room as previously scheduled.

Troop leadership will be discussed. The meeting will begin at 7 p. m. and last until 9:30.

Warning Issued on Post Office Parking

Chief of Police Louie Allen this morning asked for every citizen's cooperation in adhering to the 15-minute parking limit in front of the local Post Office.

We have been getting complaints from people trying to get into the Post Office to collect their Christmas mailings who have to walk from two or three blocks simply because others will park their cars around the Post Office and leave them there regardless of the time limit," Chief Allen said.

The chief added that tickets for over parking can be and will be given to those continuing the offense. The parking time limit around the Post Office is clearly marked in black letters on a white background and large enough for anyone to see, if they look, Allen said.

Schools Throw Out Soviet Magazine

FORT WORTH — (AP) — No copies of the magazine "Soviet Russia Today" will be tolerated in Fort Worth Public Schools, school officials have decreed.

Supt. Joe P. Moore said the pro-Soviet periodical has been mailed in recent weeks to Polytechnic and Paschal High School Libraries. In every instance the magazines were destroyed or reported to principals, Moore said.

Moore said that the December issue which arrived yesterday described former Secretary of State Byrnes' recent book, "Speaking Frankly," as the "most baffling, incredible and terrifying document to come from the pen of a responsible American official in many years."

Sentence Deferred

Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly this morning deferred sentence on one man charged with intoxication pending further developments of his case. No other cases were heard.

City Approves Bid For Street Grader

The City Commission this morning approved the bid of $550 for a city grader.

The little grader, towed by a truck, will be used to pick up mud from the gutters that is too heavy for removal by the street sweeper.

Current city bills amounting to $8,000 were approved.

The Commission went into further discussion of the garbage ordinance after the noon hours following a quiet and almost routine business meeting in the morning.

MOSLEM WORLD HEARS CALL FOR 'HOLY WAR'—Map above shows the principal areas having large Moslem population, to whom the holy men of 1000-year-old al-Azhar University in Cairo, Egypt, issued a call for all Moslems throughout the world to embark on a jiba l or "holy war" to fight partition of Palestine. Their statement declared the jihad is an "unconditional obligation." Figures on map give approximate number of Moslems.

French Laborers To Comply With Cabinet's Order

PARIS — (AP) — The Communist-dominated French General Confederation of Labor ordered France's 2,000,000 strikers back to work tomorrow or feel the militant ultimatum to the strikers to go back to their jobs.

Communist leaders had indicated previously they would defy the government, which had set tomorrow as the deadline for the return to work.

PARIS — (AP) — Communist labor leaders gave every indication today that they intend to defy a cabinet ultimatum ordering France's 2,000,000 strikers to get back on the job by tomorrow or feel the militant wrath of their government.

Benoit Frachon, the Communist secretary general of the General Confederation of Labor (CGT), to which the ultimatum was delivered last night, expressed extreme dissatisfaction with the terms of the cabinet statement offering bonuses and promises to the strikers.

The Central National Strike Committee, a solidly Communist group of CGT leaders operating independently, declared immediately that its strike order still stood and added that steps even were being taken to strengthen effectiveness of the work stoppages, which have crippled the French economy.

Premier Robert Schuman's new offer to the strikers, made last night, provided:

- 1. Strikers must return to work by tomorrow.
2. For so doing, they will receive...
3. In addition, the government will undertake immediate studies in an effort to stabilize salaries and prices, retroactive to Dec. 1.
4. Further, the government will not attempt to prosecute strikers, except those guilty of sabotage, violence preventing non-strikers from working, or for other violations of the new Anti-Strike Law.
5. Strikers will receive no pay for (See FRENCH, Page 6)

Potter County has been wet since 1936.

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — The fight of the Moslems against partition of Palestine moves into the United Nations Security Council today with two Arab nations demanding the right to participate in all debates about the turbulent Holy Land.

The appeals of Egypt and Lebanon for non-voting seats on 11-nation council, U.N. enforcement arm which eventually must assume responsibility for maintaining peace in divided Palestine, apparently were the diplomatic side of the Arab League program to prevent creation of a Jewish state in Palestine.

The two letters to the U.N. reached here almost simultaneously with an announcement in Cairo, where the seven-nation league met, that plans were being drafted for "immediate" action to oppose creation of a Jewish state in Palestine.

The Palestine issue was placed on the council's agenda in a routine meeting to allow the body to receive official notification of the General Assembly's November decision to split the Holy Land into independent Jewish and Arab countries. Now, apparently, delegates first will have to decide whether to hear the two Arab nations, with approval of seven of the 11 members needed. There is no veto on such a question.

Syria is the only Arab League nation which has a regular seat on the Security Council.

The messages to the U. N. were signed by Prime Minister Riad Sulh of Lebanon and Foreign Minister Ahmed Mohamed al-Khashabeh of Egypt. Both attended the Cairo meeting along with representatives of the other league states — Syria, Saudi Arabia, Trans-Jordan, Iraq and Yemen.

So far all U. N. debate on Palestine has been centered in the 57-nation assembly. Of the 11 council members, the United States, Russia, France, Poland, Belgium, Brazil and a U. S. ally voted for partition in the larger body. Britain, China and Colombia abstained and Syria voted no.

Citizens Urged To 'Mail Early'

Early mailing of Christmas parcels and cards to insure delivery on time was urged by the Post Office this morning.

Postmaster W. E. Weathered said many times parcels and cards do not arrive at their destination in time for Christmas simply because they are mailed late and cannot be handled by the trains. Thus they have to be held aside until room can be made for them in the cars. The same situation often arises for Christmas cards with the one and one-half cent stamp on them.

The postmaster added that the one and one-half cent, unsealed Christmas card is handled as third class mail from sender to receiver. They do not receive directory service, are unreturnable, and their return address is marked on the envelope.

The local Post Office is planning a temporary 45 percent increase in postage for the Christmas rush and has already installed additional temporary parcel post racks to hold incoming parcels.

Parcels and cards that do not arrive until one or two days after Christmas usually lose their holiday effectiveness. Weathered declared and added, "the easiest way to get the proper Christmas effect with a card is to mail it early and expedite its delivery."

Fighting Becomes More Fierce Over Partition Plan

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Bitter communal strife burst out new this morning in all-Jewish Tel Aviv and first reports said three Jews had been slain, boosting the unofficial Palestine toll of dead for 10 days of Arab-Jewish fighting to 102.

A police armored car was set afire during the fighting by a "Molotov Cocktail," in what Jewish sources said was an operation of Irgun Zvai Leumi, extremist Jewish underground group, which has been in constant conflict with the British.

Unofficial reports said a Jewish policeman had been wounded fatally in the armored car attack. One of the other two persons killed this morning was a girl. At least three persons were reported injured.

This morning's fighting in Tel Aviv followed a wild night during which a taxicab army of Jewish volunteers beat off a two-hour attack by Arab machine gunners and grenade throwers in what some informants called the fiercest fighting since the United Nations decision to partition the Holy Land.

For a time, before the Arab attack was beaten off, wild panic gripped Tel Aviv and many residents fled their homes in blind fright.

Fighting squads of Hagana, the Jewish defense army, and volunteer commandos and tanks raced to the battle scene in the border zone which links Tel Aviv to Arab Jazira.

Gunfire could be heard this morning from the old walled city of Jerusalem.

Thousands of Jewish men and women, aged 17 to 25, crowded registration offices over the nation today for the Jewish agency's "Manpower census."

The Arabs said they also were stepping up their mobilization campaign.

Citizens of Texas to Be Given Part in Proposed Revamping and Improving of Public School System

AUSTIN — (AP) — The citizens of Texas should have a direct part in the proposed revamping and improving of their public school system, the Gilmer - Aiken Committee on Education decided yesterday.

To encourage citizen participation the committee voted to establish citizens committees in each of the 254 Texas counties. These county groups will act as subsidiaries to the five major subcommittees now studying the problems of state organization of the educational setup; local administrative units; financing of public education; textbooks, curriculum and certification, and school census; and school buildings.

Expansion of the organization on a statewide basis led the Gilmer-Aiken Committee to authorize the hiring of an executive secretary who will be coordinator of the study program.

The changes in organization and direction of the survey designed to give Texas an efficient system of public education were approved by the committee after it heard Dr. Edgar L. Morphet of Tallahassee explain how Florida followed such a pattern in making a year-long study of improvements for its school system.

Morphet served as executive secretary of the Florida Citizens Committee on Education.

State Sen. James A. Taylor, chairman of the Texas committee, commended Morphet's suggestion of statewide participation by Texas laymen, but he opposed the hiring of a coordinator. He argued the Legislative appropriation for the study was too small to cover the salary of a well-qualified coordinator.

Other members overrode Taylor on this point.

Dr. Morphet tells me that North Carolina hired a coordinator at $6,000 a year," Wright Morrow of Houston told Taylor.

He was insistent that an executive secretary be hired. He received verbal support from Dr. E. F. Pittenger, former dean of the College of Education of the University of Texas, and Dr. R. J. Turentine of Denton.

Recognizing the majority attitude, Taylor declared:

"If you think we need a part-time or full-time man, I think I know where I can get the money to hire him. We don't have enough money now."

He named Dr. J. W. Edgar, superintendent of Austin schools, and Morrow to select an executive secretary as soon as possible. The meeting will be subject (See SCHOOLS, Page 8)

That can explain a lot of unusual happenings in both sports—such as the recent Louis-Walcott fray—but Loeffler was referring mainly to the ups and downs of the Basketball Association of America. The Bombers, for instance, would rather play the Baltimore Bullets than the New York Knickerbockers. "They have a set style like the old pros," Ken explains. "We can stop that." The Knicks, on the other hand, have a heater-skitter bunch of youngsters like Cag Egan, who bust loose for a record 47 points last Saturday. Braun took 35 shots of all varieties and sank 18 of them. There's not much you can do about that kind of shooting.

North Texas Star Makes AP Little All-America Team

NEW YORK—(AP)—Football players from 11 different colleges and varying in age from 17 to 26 years make up the Associated Press' little All-America team for 1947. The all-star lineup is culled from every section of the United States and is made up of players whose alma mater's size and schedule kept them from sharing the national headlines with the football mastodons. Playing ability of the athletes on the little All-America, as compared with those on the All-America proper, is not involved. A pair of nimble operatives, William "Pat" Denison and William Iannicelli of Franklin & Marshall, are stationed at the flanks. Ken Dubard of Wofford and Felton Whitlow of North Texas State are the tackles while Arthur Oley of Randolph-Macon and James Nelson, who helped Missouri Valley College produce the nation's longest current winning streak, are at the guards.

Three other stellar Texas College lads are on the first three teams, besides North Texas State's big tackle, Felton Whitlow. On the second team James Batchelor, East Texas State star, is at a back position while Hardin-Simmons' Jack Ellison holds down a guard position. Omer Jordan of West Texas State was named at end on the third string. The complete squads follow: First Team—Pos.—Third Team: Pos. Player, College, Age, Ht. Wt. Class. . . Borger Coach Elected Head Of Association

T. E. "Tricky" Ward, head coach of the Borger High School football team, was selected to serve as president of the Panhandle Plains Coaches and Officials Association for the forthcoming year at the association's annual banquet held last night in the Palm Room of the City Hall. He succeeds Stina Cain of Amarillo. Elected vice-president was Phil Harvey, of Pampa; and Jess Cearley of Amarillo was elected secretary-treasurer. Howard Lynch, football coach of the Amarillo Golden Sandies, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the guest speaker, Frank Kimbrough, football coach of the West Texas State College Buffaloes. Following Kimbrough's address, he was presented by Phil Harvey in behalf of the association, a fountain pen and pencil set in appreciation for his work in promoting football and training men in the Panhandle. Following the business, movies of the West Texas State-Arizona State of Tempe battle were shown. The Buffaloes won 35 to 7. Coaches, officials, and guests were present at the banquet from Pampa, Amarillo, Morse, Groon, Borger, White Deer, Canyon, Phillips, Dumas, and Altus, Oklahoma. Boosters Edge Skellytown 30-26 The Pampa Independent Boosters basketball quintet staged a desperate hoop attack last night in Skellytown to surge ahead in the last two minutes of play to eke out a 30-26 victory over the Skellytown Independents. The Boosters were never over three points ahead and the game was tied 21-21 going into the last four minutes. At this point the Pampans began to break fast for the basket, and as the final minute rolled up the score stood 28-26. The Boosters led at the end of the first quarter 12-11, and at the end of the half the score stood 18-18. The scoring department was led by big Junior Davenport, Booster center. Davenport collected 12 points and was closely followed by Skellytown's Lloyd Gooch who got 9 points. These same two teams are scheduled to play again Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Junior High School Gym.

Bums Expected to Trade For Cub First Baseman

NEW YORK—(AP)—Despite vigorous denials by Brooklyn officials, the Dodgers today were expected to trade a sequel to the six-man trade with Pittsburgh by sending Shortstop Billy Cox to the Chicago Cubs for First Baseman Waitkus or Phil Cavarretta. Cox came to the Dodgers yesterday along with Pitcher Preacher Roe and Infielder Gene Mauch in a deal that sent outfielder Dixie Walker and Pitchers Hal Gregg and Vic Lombardi to the Pirates. No cash was involved, according to Brooklyn President Branch Rickey. According to the lobby rumors which marked the opening of the three-day major league winter meetings here, Cox was shipped to Chicago to fill an aching void at shortstop. Rickey's plan, rumors insist, is to play Jackie Robinson, last year's first baseman, at second and send Eddie Stanky, the scrappy little second baseman, to St. Paul of the American Association as manager. Another report, also strongly denied, has the New York Yankees ready to announce the acquisition of Pitcher Early Wynn of the Washington Senators. The most sought after player at these meetings is Catcher Jim Hegan of the Indians. Detroit has offered either pitcher Dizzy Trout or Virgil Trucks, Catcher Hal Wagner and Outfielder Pat Mullin for Hegan and First Baseman Elbie Fletcher. Washington is willing to part with Pitcher Mickey Haeffner and Outfielder Stan Spence in return for Hegan and rookie Pitcher Bob Kuzava but has received no response from the Indians. The Indians also have made a "stupendous" offer for Sam Zoldak, control pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, but were turned down. It was said that the Indians offered $100,000 for the 24-year-old lefthander.

DALLAS—(AP)—There was a time when the football season ended on Thanksgiving Day. Now that date is just the midway mark. It's a sorry time indeed that can't get a bowl bid and extend the season. The way things are going, in a few years a team to be distinctive must claim it never got a bowl invitation. Now, in the various football conferences over the country, bowl games are being cheapened and made insignificant by every state breaking out with a rash of post-season "classics." They'll run out of names and teams at the present rate. The conferences should hand down provisions that any team to play in a bowl game must have a certain record; it must be a champion or make such a good showing it is considered worthy of representing its region. What's a bowl game for anyway? Shouldn't it feature good football above anything else? If the people want to see a show they can go to the movies. It's much cheaper and much easier to buy a ticket.

BOWLING

In the City Bowling League, last night at the Pampa Bowling Alley, Peg's Cab won two out of three from the City Drug; Duencel-Carmichael won two out of three from Leder's Jewelry; Montgomery Ward won two out of three over Heskew-Chambers; and Brake and Cook Service Station won three from Coffey Pontiac. Ted Evans of the Brake and Cook team bowled high single game with a 229 and bowled high three game series with a 652.

Crisler Picked as Coach of the Year

NEW YORK—(AP)—Herbert Orrin "Fritz" Crisler, who led Michigan's Wolverines to the Western Conference championship and into the Rose Bowl, was voted coach of the year today in the New York World-Telegram's annual poll of college football coaches. Crisler received 68 first place votes to beat out Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, whose Cotton Bowl-bound team had only a tie to mar its record. Bell got 40 votes. Lynn Waldorf of California, who was voted the first coach of the year award in 1935, received 35 votes for third. Leon (Goose) Goslin of Detroit grounded into four consecutive double plays against the Chicago White Sox in a game on Apr. 28, 1934. Minnesota awarded freshman football letters to 76 players during 1947. Donnelly and Ken Heintzelman, among whom Ott can have his pick of four. The most important legislative action at the meetings is expected to concern the Pacific Coast League. It was learned that the majors definitely will turn down the PCL's bid for major league recognition.

Left homeless after rampaging flood waters swept over a large part of Japan, these victims are shown harvesting a relief rice crop near Tokyo. This paddy field, which was originally created to provide extra rice for war sufferers, is the former Shinobazu Pond in the Ueno District. The current crop is earmarked for flood victims.

Most of America Is Telling Hollywood How to Make Pics

By BOB THOMAS
(This is the second of three articles on censorship of Hollywood films.)
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — More of America is looking over Hollywood's shoulder and telling it how to make movies. Consider the plight of Alfred Block, an intent but humorous man who has been censoring pictures for M-G-M since 1934. He has to be constantly aware of: 1, the industry's own far-reaching production code; 2, the multifarious rules or censorship boards of U. S. states and cities and foreign countries; 3, the demands of hundreds of pressure groups.

Most potent of the latter category is the Catholic Legion of Decency. Formed in 1934, it was the principal factor in convincing Hollywood it had to clean up its pictures.

The legion seldom puts Hollywood films on its condemned list (examples: "The Outlaw," "Forever Amber"), but cites many as "objectionable in part." Usual reasons: divorce and suicide.

Censor Block also has to be aware of the Protestants now. They have formed a similar film reviewing group.

The clubwomen of America keep a close eye on the movies and one of their chief concerns has been liquor. Drinking in the home is now discouraged in films and in the last "Thin Man," Mr. and Mrs. Charles were practically teetotalers. No foreign nationalities may be used as villains, although one director said that he sees indications that Russians may soon be used in that category. Unscrupulous doctors or lawyers cannot be portrayed without prompt protests from medical or bar associations. Every other group has its sensibilities and it has become a Hollywood truism that you're safe only with a civilian who is white, unreligious, American and unemployed.

Aside from all the other worries, Block has to see that the feminine form is adequately covered in M-G-M films. The new, low-neck fashions have intensified his work.

Block said that sometimes he may approve a costume which would be proper if viewed at eye its sensibilities and it has become shoot the scene from an elevated camera, and the angle leaves nothing to be imagined. Then Block has to go to work and talk the director out of it. Block often carries out his own orders, as when he objected to the white bathing suit worn by Marie McDonald in "Living in a Big Way." More material had to be added, he said. "Of course, you know what you're doing," said Marie, looking hurt. "You are ruining The Body."

Now for a Big Steak

This is a "poly poris" and a bonafide mushroom, according to H. I. Statler, who found it on a farm near Medina, O. Statler collects mushrooms as a hobby and plans to can this giant for future use. Just for record, Boy Scout Donald Hinks, above, applies a tape measure and finds the specimen is 19 inches in width.

England's tin mines and high grade iron ore mines have been exhausted.

Reluctant Immigrants

These are a couple of DC's—displaced camels. And they just don't like the idea of taking up residence in the Philadelphia Zoo. The dromedaries apparently miss that old East Africa atmosphere, but their keepers are determined to make them feel at home.

HUGE MURAL
A mural of the heavens, 2850 square yards in size, adorns the high-vaulted ceiling of Grand Central Terminal, New York City. The largest stars are illumined to proper brightness; the constellations show up in order along the ecliptic, and are so large that Orion, the hunter, measures 40 feet from toes to tip of his club.

Pampan Speaker At Canadian Scout Court of Honor

W. B. Weatherford of Pampa, Council president, gave a talk on "Loyalty and Cooperation in Scouting" at a court of honor held at Canadian last night. T. D. Wiggins of Canadian, talked on "A Purpose in Life." Scouters awarded miniature badges by Council Commissioner Laycock were John Caylor, chairman of the Canadian troop, T. D. Wiggins, institutional representative, and Vincent Lockhart, of the committee. Star badges were presented by John Caylor to Donald Hodges, Dannie Conklin, Glenn Trueblood, Roger Reagan, Jimmie Waterfield and Bill Torbert. First Class badges were presented by T. D. Wiggins to Jackie Mathews, Charles Miller, Dickie Malcolm, Clyde Cain, Dickie Patrick, Stanley Hodges, Orla Curmutt, Raymond Miller, George Porter, John Rachtley and Walter Jackson. Noble Trueblood presented merit badges to Bill Torbert, Jimmie Waterfield, Stanley Jones, Thomas Conyers, Glenn Trueblood, Donald Hodges, Roger Reagan and Dannie Conklin. Freddie Gallman, Scoutmaster of Troop 80, Pampa, presented Tenderfoot badges to 15 new Scouts.

In the opening ceremony Scouts presented the flag and played "To the Colors," and Rev. John F. Walsh, Scoutmaster, turned proceedings over to Scout Executive Hugo Olsen, who served as clerk. After the ceremonies refreshments were served to visitors and troop leaders.

during the strike crisis which is now harassing the French government. Twelve days earlier French authorities had staged a raid on the Beauregard Repatriation Center, taking away three children of an expatriated Frenchman whose former wife—a Soviet citizen—had taken them there.

To Russian protests concerning this raid the French replied that territoriality and therefore was subject to search.

Though no evaluations of this program's success has been made, the reception on the part of high school students has been very encouraging, Morphet said.

Taylor caused speculation that he may seek a special session of the Legislature next fall to act on the recommendations contained in the final report of the committee when he said:

"I think the sooner we can prepare our report and make it public, the better chance we have of getting it adopted—even if we wait until the regular session to submit it."

The committee displayed special interest in Morphet's explanation that Florida counties will be told, beginning Jan. 1, how much they must contribute toward the operation of their schools. The county-wide system of school taxation was substituted for a district system such as is now used by many Texas schools.

"The counties can tax for it (their share) any way they like," Morphet said.

An average of $115 per student per year is spent in educating Florida youth, and the state pays approximately 70 percent of this amount, Morphet said.

He also described Florida's system of scholarship loans whereby high school graduates are encouraged to enter the teaching profession.

Scholarships of $400 are now offered to 500 high school graduates each year on a basis of competitive exams, and with each county allotted a certain number of scholarships.

Those students who receive college training and then become teachers can retire one year's notes on their scholarship loan for each year they teach. Those who do not teach after using the scholarships to attend college must repay the loan at 5 percent interest.

Though no evaluations of this program's success has been made, the reception on the part of high school students has been very encouraging, Morphet said.

Two attempts at railroad sabotage early today were reported frustrated. Near Clermon-Ferrand a charge of explosives was reported found on the rails a short time before the Paris-Nimes express passed. Soldiers were called out at Arles after grenades, employing tear gas, had failed to disperse a crowd of demonstrators who gathered before a union hall.

Two young men were wounded—one of them seriously—by shots fired last night as police tried to break up a crowd at L'Estaque, near Marseille. Reports from that strike paralyzed port said that mail was distributed there this morning for the first time in two weeks.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — A hostile agent with intent to unmask the most politicians of the teamsters' union and to make them appear ridiculous and mean could not conjure more effective combats than they proudly publish in their journals. The ignorance expressed in some of the royal an imperial laus of Dan Tobin, the "international" president, is stupidly artless.

Dave Beck of Seattle, Tobin's assigned protector in the north-western province, has the sense to employ professional talent in mixing the hogwash published in his Washington Teamster. Tobin edits his own international Teamster. Dave is the aspirant to Tobin's throne. The old humbler thought Dave seemed a little too eager, when, last winter, Beck sprinkled himself with gory as the forward-looking leader who called off the vengeful goons in the Oakland general strike. Tobin had already called them off and was some awaiting sweet acclaim when word came that Beck was the man of the hour. The old fannel-mouth's own message had been held up while Beck beat him to the streets with the order to the hen's to cease and desist. Tobin was suspicious in the ridiculous way of a clown slowly comprehending some broad wickedness by his colleague in the act.

But Beck, a master apple shiner, gossamer-greased him with flattery to keep him still a few more crucial months. Then last August the union held, in San Francisco, its great international convention of dukes, princes and barons, come from near and far on lavish expense accounts.

With old Dan's blessing, Dave put thru a constitutional amendment creating the special office of executive vice president with plenary powers. That being done, Beck's only remaining uncertainty lay in the risk that Tobin might name someone else to this job.

Beck's campaign now was a course of outlandish adulation in his paper that might have turned the stomach of a garbage-fed hog.

The teamsters' convention ended on August 33, Tobin dallied for the convention of the AFL, also in San Francisco from October 6 to 10.

Up in Seattle, Beck's staff, got busy in the manner of the maharajahs arranging great gorgings for the glory of the crown on a progress of the emperor. Dave was steering his majesty up to the northwest province and fixing to give him the royal works.

"Joint Council Plans Big Welcome For Pres. Tobin," said a head across the front of the Washington Teamster on October 17.

"International Leader of Teamsters Will Address Big Meeting in Seattle."

"A great mass meeting of union teamsters will welcome Daniel J. Tobin when he arrives in Seattle Thursday, October 23, on his way back to Indianapolis, etc. A mammoth rally is scheduled for the teamsters audience in the evening of his arrival."

Actually there were present about 230 head, mostly professional unioners. The king-emperor's unity was miffed, even the some rank and file were herded into other halls to listen to the boy's bore's babble, piped in by wire. They staggered out of the gas chamber seeking for stimulants.

The Washington Teamster is owned by the joint council of teamsters, No. 28, of Seattle. Beck is president of the council and the employer and boss of the editor, Ralph Benjamin, a competent professional.

On October 24, Dave turned on the goose-grease and Tobin "threw" around the northwest like an oiled eel.

Page one was entirely devoted to the stately features of the "ing-emperor of one million useless nonentities. The clear, hazy eyes which can, and so often do, spot the little white onion in the slot on the spinning wheel in the underworld lumps of Miami peered benignly at the chumps who pay his lavish way.

The cutline called him the "honored guest." Final arrangements were "being checked." A "monster mass meeting" was "stated" for Thursday. And Emperor Fathead I and his queen were "scheduled" to do this and that.

He didn't go sight-seeing in the way of mortal slobs. He "inspected" the fruit packing sheds. He didn't "go" anywhere, he "proceeded." Movies were made of the imperial progress and presented to the crown for the archives of the dynasty.

"Tobin voiced the highest praise of Beck," we read in Beck's own sheet.

"Closing the meeting, Dave Beck paid great tribute to the national leadership of the union."

At last, Old Fathead I appointed Dave executive vice president.

I have hesitated to remark that Tobin has not named Franklin D. Roosevelt's self-adulation with a memorial to himself while he still lives. I am not sure he hasn't planned it that way.

While thousands of teamsters' wives are sending their children butterless to school, he is earnestly planning an imperial palace in Washington, to cost $3,000,000 of their butter-money.

From the throne, Dan casually remarked that "one of the routine changes" was a constitutional amendment authorizing this extravagance, inevitably to be known as the Tobin shrine.

It desolates me not to have space to enable old Dan to depict himself more fully.

But I offer these selections from his own address to his convention as published in the October issue:

"Poverty and slavery is even worse."

"Our journal, of which I have been editor since my inception into office, has had an outstanding place in the literature of the nation. The education that we endeavor to convey thru its columns has been quite helpful not only to our members but to their wives and other members of their families."

Last year those butterless wives and other members of the teamsters' families had to pay $243,313 to maintain this means of flattering the vanity of old Fat Head I, rex-imperator. (Copyright, 1947)

Lois DuBose, Vernon Livingston Miller
Are Married in Elaborate Church Rites

SHAMROCK (Special) — Miss Lois DuBose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. DuBose, was married Saturday, Nov. 29, to Vernon Livingston Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Vernon Miller of Houston. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hubert H. Bratcher in the First Methodist Church.

The marriage service took place in a setting of white chrysanthemums, fern, amaranth and white satin bows and streamers, and burning cathedral tapers.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Cabot Brannan of Clinton, Okla., organist, and Frank Wolford of Wheeler, vocalist.

Miss Ruthie DuBose, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She and the six bridesmaids wore identical dresses of emerald green velvet. The honor attendants wore a bonnet of pink velvet with ostrich tips and it was tied under the chin with velvet ribbon. The bridesmaids wore bouquets of open lattice work with side ostrich plumes and velvet-ties under the chin and they carried muffs of pink chrysanthemums.

The two flower girls wore pink taffeta dresses, fashioned along lines of those worn by the bridesmaids. Their head dresses were bonnets of shimmering white tulle. They carried baskets of rose petals.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of ivory silk satin, designed with a sheer yoke of illusion outlined by a draped berth of heirloom Flemish lace. The long fitted sleeves were tapered to points over the hands, and a full skirt worn over a wide hoop, swept into a chapel length train.

Her long veil of imported silk illusion fell from a crescent comb of Flemish lace draped to frame her face. The bottom tier of illusion extended beyond the train of her gown.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with a white orchid center.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length dress of pink crepe and a gold lace hat. Her corsage was of white camellias. The bridegroom's mother wore an evening gown in a soft aqua shade and her corsage was an orchid.

The bridegroom's father served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the DuBose home, which was decorated in a profusion of pink and white roses.

The bride is a graduate of Shamrock High School, Stephens College at Columbia, Mo., and the University of Texas where she was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Texas where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. During the war he served overseas with the infantry.

For her wedding trip to New Orleans and Havana, Cuba, the bride wore a Adrian suit of green with brown accessories and a green and brown orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will establish their home in Houston where the former is associated with his father in a construction firm.

On Saturday noon Miss DuBose and her bridesmaids were complimented at a buffet luncheon at the Mission Hotel. Mrs. Cabot Brannan of Clinton, Okla., was the hostess.

A rehearsal dinner took place Friday evening at the region Hotel. Hostesses were Mesdames Art Wittingham, Baton Rouge; Mrs. T. J. Lyle, Dumas; and Mrs. B. F. Holmes.

Former Pampa Girl Is Wed in Oklahoma

CANADIAN (Special) — Miss Elsie Ruth Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt M. Graham, Sr., formerly of Pampa, now of Odessa, was married on Nov. 28, to Leodore L. Randall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Randall, Agate, Neb. The marriage took place at six o'clock in the evening, in the sanctuary of the University Place Church, Enid, Oklahoma, with Olan Yale performing the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Marjorie Johnson, August, Kansas, organist, and Miss Phyllis Ann Parker, Pampa, soloist, furnished the nuptial music.

The vows were exchanged at the altar which was banked with baskets of white chrysanthemums and candleabra. Candles were lighted by Mrs. Clifford Parker and Miss Nadine Clark.

The bride's roommate, Miss Frieda Zybach, of Canadian, Texas, was maid of honor. She wore an aqua taffeta gown with cap sleeves and peplum. Her head dress was a tiara of aqua net with shoulder length veil.

Bridesmaids were Mesdames Robert Garver, Yates Center, Kans.; and Marcia Hewitt, Osawatimie, Kans. They wore pink taffeta dresses fashioned identically to the maid of honor's. They wore matching tiaras and carried bouquets of aqua carnations.

George Randall attended his brother as best man.

Miss Graham, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white sheer gown, styled with a v-shaped yoke, a peplum ending in a long cascade, and the long, full sleeves were gathered to a band of wide lace. Wide lace was also on the hem of the gown and on the edge of the finger-tip veil which was held in place by a white tiara. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue, two-piece crepe dress. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink crepe. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the young people's room of the education building. The three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served by Miss Clark.

Mrs. Briggs Tells El Progresso Club of Pilgrim Fathers' Trials and Tribulations

Mrs. Glen Cannon was hostess to the members of the El Progresso Study Club in the City Club rooms last Tuesday.

The subject for the afternoon of study was "Religion—Faith of Our Pilgrim Fathers," and Mrs. George Briggs, a long time member, told of the joys and sorrows of our Pilgrim Fathers.

She began her remarks with this statement, "What we think we know about the Pilgrim Fathers is purely traditional, not fact. Those who landed at Plymouth Rock on that memorable day in 1620 were adventurers, yet we hasten to add some were truly saintly men."

The entire history of their journey was recorded in a diary kept by Governor Bradford which was lost for 200 years and then found in the library of a London Bishop. The movement began with Brewster the man elder in the ancient church. The Mayflower and the Speedwell without number during their voyage and not least among these was seasickness. The author told of how one member of the crew was constantly nagging at the sea. The Pilgrims were not to be thrown overboard but the gracious and merciful God saw to it that he was taken first.

Immediately following the landing Captain Miles Standish set up his defenses against the Indians consisting of two cannon and twenty muskets and one building which housed all of the supplies. Daub and waddle houses were built. Many were their hardships during the first year. An epidemic struck taking about half the settlers in its grip and their fear of the Indians was constant. However, they did celebrate on the day marking their first year but did not reap the harvest of that year.

About 1630 the Puritans established the Massachusetts Bay Colony with Governor Winthrop in command. They too experienced trouble with the Indians, but not religious misunderstanding.

Mrs. Briggs concluded by stating that the pilgrim fathers were a people who had very definite ideas about right and wrong and they planted seeds of courage and democracy and tended them well that others in the ages to come should reap the harvest.

Mrs. Beauford A. Norris, a comparatively newcomer to the club, closed the program with two vocal selections. Miss Charlotte Allison accompanied her. Before singing, Mrs. Norris briefly of the background of the music. Her first number, "Now Thank We All Our God," is a hymn that grew out of the thirty years war which was taking place at the time the Pilgrims were enduring their hardships. The second one, "The Blind Beggar," is the immortal story of the man who was thankful that God had taken his sight and his soul might see.

The social hour was highlighted by a dainty delicious refreshment plate.

Others present were Mesdames Knox Kinard, Dave Pope, George Walstad, D. V. Burton, C. P. Buckler, S. J. Woodford, Edgar Jeushaw, W. L. Ledrick, P. C. Ledrick and C. T. Hightower.

SHAMROCK (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. J. Atkinson started on the last lap of three score and ten years of married life when they celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary with open house to their friends Sunday, Dec. 7.

Although Mrs. Atkinson will never walk again and Mr. Atkinson has been blind for the past 17 years they never sound a low note. She has been in a wheel chair for the past two years, after suffering a break in her hip following a fall, but she goes about the house doing her work without assistance.

This courageous woman cooks their meals, puts food on a plate, then places it on her lap and wheels herself to the dining room. She puts the dish on the table, then returns for more food, making the round trip with each plate.

For five years before she was in a wheel chair, she walked with a crutch, and each spring was in her garden pushing a small plow. She would leave her crutch at the end of the row and hold to the plow handles for support. She also raised chickens and flowers, and although she is 88 years old, sews by hand and makes her own clothes.

Mr. Atkinson recalls fighting Indians with his father, who was a captain of the "Minute Men." He remembers that during the Civil War his family moved a log house into a settlement at Black Springs in Palo Pinto County, for protection from the Indians. The log house was pulled by oxen on a wagon with wooden axles, and the wheels were held in place with inchpins.

His father's ranch was about 10 miles away. He recalls how the Indians stole a pony his uncle sent him, the first time he rode him to the ranch. The horses were hobbled at night, and the next morning they were gone.

"I'll never forget walking that 10 miles and carrying my saddle home," he declared.

"I started riding after cattle when I was seven years old," he remarked, and from the time I was 10 until I was 30, I made a hand in the branding pen and on the range."

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson are native Texans. His parents came from Alabama, when Texas was a republic. He enjoys his radio and is keenly interested in politics and the affairs of the world.

His wife, Jennie Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rogers of Grapevine.

Mr. Atkinson will be 92 years old in February, and last Saturday made a trip to his ranch with his only son, G. N. Atkinson, who resides in Shamrock.

When their door bell rings, one of them will call out a cheerful "Come In" and visitors find her face brightened with a smile, and in spite of his sightless eyes, his face is filled with animation, and his outstretched hand expresses a welcome.

It is against the law to catch a whale in inland waters of Oklahoma. You may get in trouble if you plow your North Carolina fields with an elephant, according to R. Martin Perkins, of Chicago, who goes about collecting such "fossilized" laws. The edicts are still on state lawbooks. In Pennsylvania you are not allowed to kill a snake unless it bites you while feeding razor blades to logs is a punishable offense in Illinois. Bostonians may own dogs no higher than ten inches, and anyone in Ohio riding a horse more than ten miles is taking a chance with the authorities.

Hubby went out with the boys one night and before he realized it the morning of the next day had dawned.

He hesitated to call home and tell his wife. Finally he hit upon an idea. He phoned his wife and, when she answered, he shouted: "I'm back. Don't pay the ransom."

Challenge To Love

By ETHEL HAMILL

THE STORY: At the sorority pledge dance, Cam goes outside for a breath of air. A young man in uniform comes up to her. He introduces himself as Joe. He is a cadet at the military academy. Cam is a sorority pledge, and says she recognizes Cam from the picture. Joe always carried with him. Beety tells Cam that Joe is in love with her, but she always been in love with her.

XXIV
CAM was so glowingly happy on that brief walk home from the dance that Maurine, bounding along beside her, occasionally left off admiring her new Eta Mu pledge rosette for long enough to cast a speculative scowl in her cousin's direction.

When they reached the Dean's house Maurine, babbling about being a "real, honest-to-goodness sorority girl," skinned up the gracious old staircase to write the big news to Daddy, because, no wasn't home when I tried to get him by long distance from Eta Mu.

Following more slowly, Cam found herself wanting to shout out her own cause for rejoicing almost with the same abandon. The thoughts which Beety had put into her mind had spread through her whole being and claimed its remotest cell and nerve. As Beety himself had kept putting it, he knew. Oh Joel, Joel, Joel!

Seated before her dressing-table mirror, she found a note pinned through her pale hair. Cam gave way at last to that ridiculous hunger to bear how it sounded when she said it aloud. "Joel really loves me!" How it sounded was just plain wonderful. "Joel loves me! Joel Conroy loves Cammie Austin!"

In the midst of her joyous chant, she broke off abruptly. Hadn't there been a sound outside her door? A small, almost inaudible scratching against the

Nine-Year-Old Automobile Is Most Radically New Car in Auto Capital

DETROIT — (NEA) — The most radically new automobile in the world, its chassis is essentially that of a '39 model Buick. It has an experimental Buick engine and a hand-tailored experimental convertible body.

Though it has been driven over Detroit streets, and on both coasts, only recently a local newspaper editor rushed a photographer out when some tipster described it to him on the telephone.

This mystery car is the personal automobile of Harley J. Earl, General Motors' chief designer in charge of styling. Back in 1938 Earl had accumulated a lot of ideas about the car of the future, too radical to be tried on paying customers. So he had the car built in secret garages they were. He has been making change ever since.

The car is so low, overall, that when Earl unfolds his 76-inch height it looks like a child's pushmobile with a ten-year-old boy. It has so little clearance above the ground that few drivers would take it off hard-paved roads. Yet the interior is so constructed that the six-foot-four-inch Earl drives long distances in comfort.

The top disappears automatically — at the push of a button — into a well behind the seat, whose cover opens for the purpose and then closes behind it. By pushing buttons Earl can raise and lower the side windows, or the radio antenna or can make the headlights withdraw into the fender and a disk cover their opening.

The body has no relationship to the bizarre shapes often prophesied. More than anything else it resembles a double-ended boat.

No reporter can get within two or three thick walls of any new models not ready for announcement. But from talks with key men in the major organizations and comparison of Earl's car with the Buicks of 1936 and 1947, it is possible to get some ideas worth betting on.

Economy, comfort, convenience, and safety are the things to watch in new cars for the next two or three years. There will be styling changes, but none so revolutionary as the advertising will try to make you think.

Manufacturers are up a tree on economy. They could easily provide a good, fast, comfortable car for less than they are getting. But every time one tries

By A. W. Bobione.

"May I speak to Mr. Conroy, please?" she requested, breathlessly, when his landlady answered. There was a long pause then, while Cam's heart did several strange loops and spins, as if it were riding a roller coaster.

A voice—not Joel's—said, "Hello!"
"I'm sorry. I asked for Mr. Conroy."
"Oh!" And now she recognized the substitute. It was Beety. "This you, Cam? I thought it'd be you, maybe, when the lady said for Joe."

"Isn't he home yet?" She didn't even bother not to sound eager. "Listen, honey, I was a heel. The guy comes in about half an hour back, see? He's looking blue as ink, so—well, I told him. About seeing you, accidental like. About the way you feel for him?"

"What did he say?" She found the words sticking in her throat.
"It wasn't so much what Joe said. It was the look he got on his kisser. You'd have thought the mug had just inherited a million bucks. He busted loose in a general direction without even bothering to say goodby."

"You mean he's on his way over here? Now?"
"That's it. And with a look in his eyes. Be nice to him, baby." She hung up without guessing what she was doing. She seemed to be walking on rosy clouds as she stepped out onto the veranda. She— heaven even to imagine it—she'd be sitting here in the twilight and waiting as he strode up the hill. She'd just look at him and smile and that would be all he would need. Beety said all the words that had to be said.

The door closed behind her softly. And like its echo came the sound of the gate latch at the end of the walk, clicking open and then shut again. Maurine, back from the post box? No—the step was firmer. Joel, already! She saw him now, as she hurried forward. His tall figure was bearing down upon the veranda steps with a speed for which there would be a delicious reason. Even in the fading afterglow, his bright unruly hair was shining.

so the new Ford that will challenge Chevrolet's leadership next Spring won't have this improvement.

As far as can be learned from Chrysler's grim-lipped spokesmen, nothing revolutionary is in the works there. The new safety rim, in which you can blow a front tire at 70 miles an hour and keep on rolling, is the latest thing there, aside from an improved brake. Both these spell watchword.

The whole trend is toward bodies wide enough to hold three comfortably in each seat. Widening is restricted by a few million garage doors, many of which already are taking a licking with even the present body widths.

The trend also is toward moving the back seat in front of the rear axle. This offers three benefits: first, rear-seat drivers aren't jostled on the axle; second, space is provided to thicken the now scanty upholstery on the rear seat; and third, this will permit a solid rear door from top to bottom, without that troublesome cutout to fit over the rear fender, so that passengers can get in and out more easily and with less menace to party

Ford has not yet found the automatic transmission he wants.

Buck has announced a new war-developed shiftless transmission. But Cadillac and Olds sprain this and stick to hydro-matic. Pontiac will offer hydro-matic as an option. The leaves only Chevrolet, of the GM line, without clutchless transmission.

Challenge To Love

By ETHEL HAMILL

CAM raced toward him on feet as light as air. "Joel, I just was talking to your friend Beefy and—and he told me—"

"Beefy tells people a lot of things." His voice was so sharp that it checked her instantly. "Beefy's quite the little talker. Only the things he babbles about are pipe dreams—most of them. It's some of the things that other people say that make sense, sometimes."

There was that in the blazing fire of his blue eyes before which Cam recoiled in instant confusion. If this was the look to which Beefy had referred, then the sergeant did indeed indulge in pipe dreams. "Joel!" she managed, shakily. "What is it? What's wrong?"

"I've just discovered something. Something I'd like you to verify for me, or deny, if you don't mind. Was there a navigator named Gary Marlowe engaged to you, after I left? Did he leave you every cent of his army insurance, and did you collect it when he cracked up?"

So that was all that was bothering him! Relief so acute that it left her shivering swept over Cam.

"But you knew all there was to know about that," she said quickly. "Remember, Joel, the very first day you got back to college—"

"I remember distinctly. You said that you'd hardly known him. When Maurine said something out of turn about your having been engaged, you said it wasn't true at all."

"And it wasn't. Gary and I weren't engaged. He only thought—"

"Whatever he thought, he thought it to the tune of a man which pretty well knocked the props out from under me when I read it just now. A darned expensive mistake for a man to have made."

"Joel! I know Gary believed we had an understanding. He must have, although I certainly never realized it at the time. But—"

"Guys don't sign up for policies like that unless they're sure."

"It was my fault, I suppose," Cam whispered. "If I hadn't been a little idiot, I'd never have left any doubt in his mind even unintentionally. If he'd ever said anything, it all would have been cleared up before he went away."

"And while it was going on, the whole mistake—"

"Quite a profitable 'mistake,' I'd say." His jawline, above her in the shadows, looked as if an artist had drawn it in one swift, hard stroke. Its sharp contour caught anger and bitterness with an un-awake masterliness and economy.

"And while it was going on, the whole mistake—"

"Joel!" Cam began, her voice weak with shock. "Maybe you did 'hardly know' this Marlowe boy. But I'm just realizing that I never knew you at all. I'd have knocked down the man who eyed me, and I'm sure that you'd go around getting engaged to strangers on their way out to die—men with insurance to leave you!"

Before Cam could more than draw in a shuddering breath, he had wheeled around and was striding down the walk again.

"Joel!" she called after him, but he did not look back. "Joel!" But the gate latch had clicked shut already.

"You don't understand. I never took a penny of that money of poor Gary's. The minute I heard what he'd done, I made the authorities turn over the full policy to the Carter War Memorial Fund—and every dollar of it went to build the summerhouse."

But she was sobbing to an empty dusk. Joel Conroy had gone.

The night stretched out forever. Yet when her ceiling began to streak with light at last, Cam still lay wide-awake against her pillow and stared at the brightening wash of pre-dawn luster over its unrelieved white plane. She had scarcely moved on her bed, all during the hours while the Dean's house had lain dark and silent.

There had been so many things for her to think about. Perhaps she knew a few of the answers now. At last.

Obviously, the essence of what Beefy had confided in her during their almost incredible tete-a-tete in the lee of the lilac hedge was rock-ribbed truth. Joel's very anger last night was bitter proof that he had, indeed, cared about her. And Jeeply.

If Sergeant Dalrymple had told her the truth once, it was only logic to assume that he had told it twice. When Joel had left the boarding house, he must have been in an eager mood, happy, exultant. Then the stunning thunderbolt forged of rumor about herself and Gary—the facts as true, the interpretation of those facts so wrong—must necessarily have struck him somewhere on his way toward College Hill, and after he had said goodbye to Beefy.

Try as she might, Cam was unable to imagine where or how or when. But by now she regarded this one fact as a certainty. That must have been the way it had happened. What he took to be hanging evidence of cheap greed in her had been presented to him in such a way that he could find no rebuttal for it.

It had blinded him to everything else.
