Southwestern Public Service Company crews are now in the process of constructing a new "East Muleshoe Substation", a new 69,000 volt transmission line from east of Muleshoe to provide power for this new substation, and new heavy conductor distribution circuits out of the new substation.

The new substation is being built on the corner of Avenue B and East Sixth Street and will have a capacity large enough to furnish service to all of the city area presently being served by the City Substation. Upon the completion of this work, the city's electric service during emergency conditions will be greatly improved.

will serve about one-third of the area with the City Substation serving the other two-thirds. The Company is building some new 69,000 volt transmission line and reconditioning a portion of an existing line now located near the east edge of Muleshoe. This will be used to provide transmission line energy to the new East Muleshoe Substation where it will be transformed from 69,000 volts to 2400 volts which is a suitable voltage for urban distribution and which can conveniently be transformed into suitable voltages for the consumer. There will be two new dis-

Legislation To Assist Cotton Growers

Congressman Bob Price today introduced legislation to assist cotton growers who suffer complete or partial crop losses through no fault of their own. "In view of the high costs and risks and low profit margins associated with farming operations today, I believe this bill would serve the interests of cotton growers by protecting their established yields through the price support program," Price said. The bill would amend the Agriculture Adjustment Act to provide for crop losses, sustained from causes other than natural or intended beyond the control of the producer, to use the average per acre yield of other farms in the country for that crop year in figuring participation levels in the USDA's cotton program during the three succeeding years.

Losses sustained from natural causes are already protected in present regulations; this bill would give cotton growers an added measure of protection of yields from other accidental causes. I hope my bill will receive favorable and prompt attention by the Congress," Price concluded.

Starting dates have been announced for trainees to the Ginners School sponsored jointly by the Texas Independent Ginners Association, Texas State Technical Institute, and the Texas Employment Commission. All TIGA members have been encouraged to spread the word of this unique school and to actively seek applicants to be trained to enter the industry as qualified gin stand operators.

Texas State Technical Institute, Rolling Plains Campus, Sweetwater, Texas will provide facilities for the training which will begin June 19, 1972 and continue 16 weeks, or through October 20, 1972. There are 25 training slots available.

Selections of trainees will be made without regard to race, color, sex, creed, national origin or religion. Selection will be made from the unemployed or underemployed disadvantaged worker, with veterans receiving preference in referrals. Applicants must be physically active, have complete use of extremities and able to perform hard physical work. Applicants must be functioning at an 8th grade level in Reading Comprehension and Arithmetic Computation as determined by the Metropolitan Achievement Test. Applicants accepting training must be willing to relocate. Members of the Texas Independent Ginners Association are urged to recommend an individual for this training. An employer may wish to upgrade a Gin Hand to Ginner through this training.

Housing is available on campus for $7.00 per week. Linens furnished. Trainee should bring a blanket or quilt. Cafeteria facilities are available on campus. Cont. on Page 3, col. 5

Every voter needs to know that if they voted in the Republican primary on May 6, they cannot vote in the Democratic runoff. And if they voted Democratic the first time, they cannot switch and vote Republican on June 3.

"We want the public to know that this action violates Article 240 of the Texas Election Code and is punishable by a fine of from $100 to $500.

"We know that this type of voting has taken place in the past. A survey by State Senator Oscar Mauzy in 1968 showed that there were some 1,300 crossover voters in his district alone.

"Certainly, any crossover voting would distort the true strength of a candidate in the other party. I think the low-key campaign by the Republicans lends itself to making a Republican want to switch over, if only for excitement's sake.

"We hope that public awareness will discourage this type of voting. If we find that it still takes place, we will have no alternative but to pass this information along to the proper prosecuting authorities," Bullock said.

"We want election officials to know that there is a law behind them and they should not permit this practice. This will be the only way we can preserve the integrity of the Texas election process."

Bullock said he wanted the Cont. on Page 3, col. 6

MJHS ECOLOGY CLASS...Students of Robert Hayes' social studies class at Muleshoe Junior High School have been correlating ecology with social studies this year. The class has spent the last six weeks period studying water, air and waste disposal problems. The class has completed two projects for the semester, an aluminum can drive drive and a trash can beautification program. After the aluminum cans have been picked up, they will be sold to the reclamation center and the money used to improve the school surroundings. These students are pictured painting and decorating litter containers and waste paper baskets to be used on the school campus.

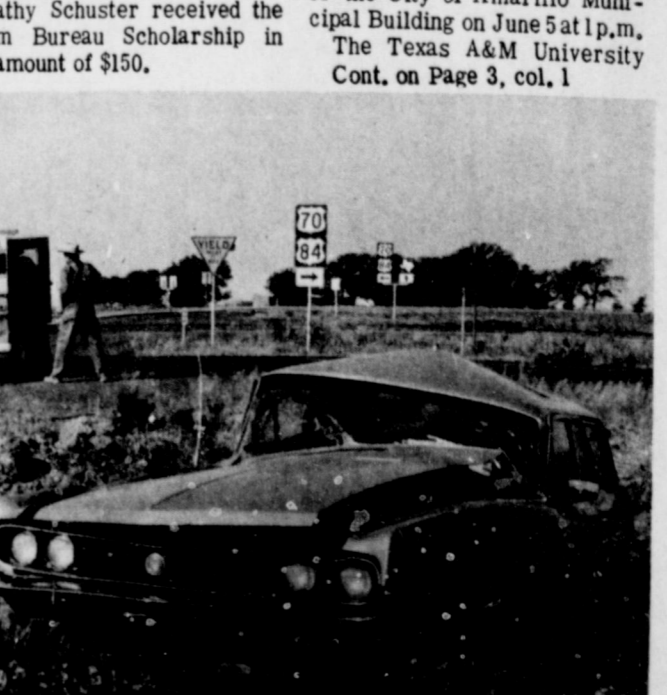

Screwworm Battle Raging Statewide

A "red alert" is being sounded throughout the state as screwworms continue to assault livestock and other animals. Bailey County has not recorded any cases to date, but it's most important that all animals be checked closely and regularly for infestations," says County Agricultural Agent Spencer Tanksley. Weather conditions were favorable for heavy screw build-ups last winter in northern Mexico as well as in parts of the Southwest, explains the agent. Some infestations were also spread by transporting infested livestock last fall, and the insect pest spent the mild winter in new quarters. This spring overall conditions were "ripe" for a massive screwworm invasion. According to Tanksley, more than 2,300 cases have been confirmed in Texas this spring, the earliest and heaviest outbreak in the history of the Screwworm Eradication Program.

Although sterile fly production at the Mission Lab is running at its peak-200 million a week--treatment with these flies is not enough to stop the destructive, flesh-eating livestock pest. Tanksley urges all livestock producers and owners of other animals (dogs, cats) to follow certain precautions: 1. Carry out all approved preventive practices to help eliminate screwworms, 2. Inspect animals regularly and carefully and treat all wounds whether they are wormy or not, 3. Delay all surgery until cool weather this fall. Shearing, docking, castrating and dehorning only profice additional wounds for worm infestations. Studies show that almost 90 percent of all worm samples come from calf navels and man-made wounds, 4. Spray animals with an approved product before shipping them. This is a preventative measure against spreading the infestation, 5. Be cautious of livestock shipments coming from infested areas. If buying such animals, be sure to check them thoroughly for wormy wounds, 6. Care should be taken not to move infested livestock across lines. Infestations resulting from this practice may bring about a quarantine and the regulated movement of livestock, 7. As soon as a wormy wound is found, send a worm sample to the Screwworm Laboratory Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572. If the case is positive, sterile flies will be dropped as soon as possible to further protect animals in the area.

"Everyone must cooperate if the screwworm eradication program is to be effective," emphasizes Tanksley. "This means farmers, ranchers, pet owners, auction managers and others who work with or own animals."

THREE INJURED...A two car collision one mile east of Lariat injured three people at mid-morning Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Blakley were traveling west on U.S. Highway 84 when they collided with a station wagon driven by Bruce Little of Muleshoe. All three occupants were taken by ambulance to West Plains Memorial Hospital. None of their injuries were believed to be serious. The accident was investigated by the Texas Highway Patrol unit from Farwell.

Water Courses Being Held

The third of a series of five short courses throughout the state for supervisory personnel in the water utilities profession developed and sponsored by the Texas Water Quality Board, will open in Conference Room 208 of the City of Amarillo Municipal Building on June 5 at 1 p.m. The Texas A&M University Cont. on Page 3, col. 1

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on a new idea he's discovered.

Dear editor:
Every once in a while somebody comes up with a new idea, and I found one last night buried on an inside page of a newspaper where I had gone to get away from the turmoil on the front page. I don't mind reading about a problem bad enough to get on the front page if it has an answer, but most of the problems being headlined today don't have any answer.

Anyway, a town, I forget its name, has passed an ordinance limiting the telephone calls telephone salesmen can make. If you want to sell something by phone, you have to buy a permit and can call only on weekdays from 8 a.m. to noon and 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Violators are subject to a $200 fine.

This is a step in the right direction but it doesn't go far enough.

What we need--and I haven't worked out the details on it yet--is a law preventing anybody from calling anybody else unless the called person wants to be called. I don't remember the figures but I remember reading a while back the number of telephone calls made each year in the United States and it runs into the billions and billions.

I estimate that fifty per cent and maybe three fourths of those calls were to people who had just as soon not be called, some particularly at the time and others not at all.

Now the problem for Congress is to figure out a law that prohibits unwanted telephone calls.

I don't see how members of Congress can do it, but it'd give them something to do to get their minds off all those other problems they can't find answers to either.

Meanwhile, if you want to develop strength of character, the next time your phone rings just sit there and let it ring till whoever's calling gives up. If you can resist the temptation to answer, you have conquered one of man's major frailties. Excuse me, I've got to stop, the Phone's ringing.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Connally Challenges Opponent

AUSTIN--Wayne Connally challenged his opponent for lieutenant governor this week to explain his positions on busing school children, unionization of public employees, and drug control legislation.

The Floresville rancher called the runoff opponent, Bill Hobby, "the candidate of the labor bosses," and asked him to tell voters what he means by favoring union membership for public employees. "Does he mean to include school teachers, firemen, policemen and all others who are now being served by their own associations?" asked Connally. "And what about courthouse employees?"

"And does he remember the pictures from New York City when garbage men struck and citizens couldn't get their streets cleared?"

This is the first specialized elite forces squad to be formed in this area, and will be comprised strictly of men from Curry and Roosevelt Counties in New Mexico and Parmer and Bailey Counties in Texas.

Although not the first of its kind in the great southwest, it is the first from this area and the first in a great many years. A special unit of choice representative from the 82nd Airborne Division is on hand at the Clovis Recruiting Station until the Squad ships out.

Only men, 17-34, with no more than one dependent, good moral character and high mental and physical capabilities are being interviewed. An Army spokesman stated that the temporary program will be in conjunction with normal technical enlistment programs.

MRS. JOE STANLEY JOHNSON, the former Diane Perkins.

Miss Perkins, Johnson Wed In Littlefield Ceremony

Miss Diane Perkins and Joe Stanley Johnson were united in marriage in a ceremony performed in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church of Littlefield on Friday evening, May 19, 8 p.m. Rev. A.J. Kennemer, pastor, read the double ring vows.

The bride's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Albert Perkins of Littlefield, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph R. Johnson of Muleshoe. The baptistry of the church was centered with a candle tree of Huckleberry foliage with mixed yellow, white and gold daisies and baby's breath. On the rostrum were spiral candelabra entwined with Huckleberry foliage with mixed yellow, white and gold daisies and baby's breath. Flanking the candelabra were candle trees on both music rails with foliage identical to the candle tree in the baptistry.

Soloist, Thomas Coker, Jr. sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Greatest of These Is Love." Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coker Jr., sister and brother-in-law of the bride from Tulsa, sang a duet of "We Are One In The Spirit." Other musical selections were presented by Mrs. Mike Pope of Lubbock, pianist, and Mrs. A.J. Kennemer, organist. Mrs. Kennemer also presented a special selection on the marimba, "O Perfect Love."

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of antique candlelight satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace, featuring a ring collar and cuffed bishop sleeves. Lace and pearls enhanced the bodice and formed a front trellis panel which extended to the hemline. Unpressed pleats swept to a wide chapel train. Her chapel-length bridal veil was attached to a matching lace calotte accented with pearls. The bride carried an ethereal cascade of white stephanotis, white and yellow roses and a Catalina orchid atop a white Bible.

For something old the bride carried a ring belonging to her paternal grandmother; her dress was something new; and she borrowed the traditional blue garter from her sister. Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas R. Coker Jr., Bridesmatron and bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard A. Swaboda of Columbia, Md., sister of the groom; Kathy Shackelford and Carol Ponder, both of Abilene; and Carolyn Lumsden and Jan Christian, both of Littlefield.

The attendants were attired in formal gowns of jonquil yellow voile featuring smocked Empire bodices, portrait necklines and bishop sleeves. Velvet ribbons encircled the waists and ended in bows with floor-length streamers. They completed their attire with matching calottes, fashioned by the bride's sister. The attendants carried white pearlized baskets of white, yellow and gold daisies; white, yellow and tropicana baby doll roses; and baby's breath.

Gail Williams of Littlefield and Barbara Darling of Waco lighted the candles. Their dresses were fashioned identically to those of the other attendants except that they were made of a polyester blend of yellow, orange and green floral print. They each wore a band of fresh flowers in their hair.

Serving his brother as best man was Ronnie Johnson of Houston. Groomsman were Tommy Elkins and Pete Cunningham, both of Corpus Christi; Richard Reasor of San Antonio; George Vorpahl of Hillsboro; and Clifford Black of Muleshoe. Ushers were David Perkins of College Station and Mike Perkins of Memphis, Tenn., both brothers of the bride; and Cary Purdy and John Elliott, both of Muleshoe.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Perkins wore a formal jonquil yellow chiffon gown, veiled over peau de sole. The gown featured a V-neckline, long sleeves and a pyramid skirt. A softly folded chiffon belt accented the waistline. She wore matching velvet bows in her hair and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a formal gown of bittersweet silk chiffon designed with an accordion pleated skirt. She wore matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception following the ceremony in the parlor of the church, was catered by Mrs. Jane Vining of Odessa, assisted by Mrs. Judd Walker of Littlefield.

The bride's table was covered with a white Chantilly lace cloth. An antique silver epergne, complemented with yellow roses and baby's breath, was the focal point of the serving table. Four revolving layers formed the base of the three-tiered Lady Windemere wedding cake. Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. Charles Vandiver of Dimmitt, Mrs. David Perkins, Mrs. Rodney Richardson, Shannon Palmer and Jane Nowlin.

The groom's table was decorated with a yellow linen cloth, a tall candle encircled with a fruit ring and the groom's cake. Presiding were Mrs. Ronnie Johnson of Houston and Marilyn Pool of Muleshoe. Sharon Williams, Rebecca Driskill and Beth Driskill distributed the rice bags.

The guests were registered by Mrs. David Perkins of College Station and Terry Riddle of Longview.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the bride chose a tailored wheat colored coat-dress ensemble. The A-line coat and dress were trimmed with a wheat, rust and cocoa tricolor braid. Her going away ensemble was complemented with an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will reside in Houston where he will attend medical school at the University of Texas.

The bride attended Baylor University, Johnson is a 1972 graduate of Baylor University. He is affiliated with Baylor Chamber of Commerce, men's service fraternity; Omicron Delta Kappa, Alpha Chi, Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Epsilon Delta, all honorary societies.

Ready to go on a diet so you can be certain to squeeze into last summer swim suit? Before you do, try this easy means of cutting down on daily calories: list all the extras that you eat during the day--the Danish at coffee breaks, the tidbits as you feed the baby, the cold drinks in the afternoon, the many "nibbles" as you prepare dinner, and the "just a snack" at bedtime. When you total these calories, you may be surprised how they count up and add to your daily total. Just cutting out these "in-betweens" may be a good way to lose some weight before swimming days arrive without depriving yourself of necessary nutrients.

The War for Independence . . . the Civil War . . . World War II
 . . . Vietnam . . . so many lives have been lost in the service of our country. As we honor these dead , many of us may feel discouraged at the world's failure to achieve a lasting peace. But to cease striving for that peace would be the greatest dishonor we could bring to the memory of our dead. Let us rather "take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion . . . that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Legislative and administrative rules and regulations affecting farmers, many of which are still being formulated, are a clear indication that agriculture in the years ahead will be faced with significantly more aggressive government control over both "inputs" and "outputs."

This is the comment of Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, following Texas Department of Health hearings in Austin May 18 on proposed flammability standards for children's sleepwear under the Texas Hazardous Substances Act. "Fireproofing" requirements for apparel, imposed by both state and federal government, is one of the areas referred to by Johnson in which government regulatory powers will increasingly affect agricultural "outputs."

PCG presented testimony at the flammability hearings urging that requirements, in addition to protecting children from unnecessary fire hazards, should (1) be practical from the standpoint of garment manufacturers, (2) cause no undue increases in the cost of sleepwear to consumers, and (3) should not be prejudicial to the use of any given fiber.

"Texans and federal standards on flammability can and will have an effect on cotton consumption," Johnson said after the hearing, "and this is only one of several regulatory activities at state and federal levels that is going to affect the business of growing and merchandising cotton in the immediate future. In fact, our ability to cope with this trend toward more strenuous regulation of our affairs will have much to do with our success or failure in the farming business."

Government is also getting involved with byssinosis, a lung ailment common to long-time workers in textile mills, often compared to "black lung disease" among coal miners. Incomplete studies indicate byssinosis may be connected with cotton dust in mills, and it is proposed that victims be paid disability benefits by the federal under additional government regulation include agricultural chemicals such as insecticides and herbicides, and farm labor.

Late last month hearing examiner Edmund Sweeney of the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recommended that essential uses of DDT be continued. He made the decision after seven months of testimony, much of which sought to prove that DDT causes severe environmental damage. EPA Administrator William Ruckelshaus has until June 15 of this year to accept or disregard Sweeney's recommendation.

Also under fire from environmentalists are such pesticides as lindane, benzene, hexachloride, endrin, aldrin and dieldrin. All are important to agricultural production.

Relations between farmers and farm workers, another vital agricultural input, either is or soon will be influenced by government from at least three directions: current and pending minimum wage and overtime laws, proposed legislation which will encourage unionization, and the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).

The House of Representatives in Washington recently passed a bill raising the agricultural minimum wage from $1.30 to $1.70 per hour within two years. The Senate Labor Committee has under consideration a bill which would jump the minimum wage for farm workers to $2.25 an hour in three annual steps.

Two proposals related to unionization of farm labor are being considered in Washington. One would bring farm workers under the National Labor Relations Act along with industrial workers. The other would establish a separate Farm Labor Relations Board.

Numerous efforts are being made to get changes made in the altogether impractical Safety and Health Act, which, for example, requires that a lone worker in the middle of an alfalfa field must be provided with bathroom facilities.

"There is almost no limit to the regulatory laws that are on the books or in the making," Johnson concluded, "and much depends on whether agricultural interests can exercise the necessary influence to keep these laws and their administration practical and reasonable."

The schedule of premiums and discounts for eligible qualities of 1972-crop upland cotton, to be used this year by Commodity Credit Corporation in making loans to producers, was released May 5. According to an analysis by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., premiums and discounts "are generally narrower than those in effect for the 1971 crop," reflecting spot market prices for cotton recorded over the nine-month period from August, 1971 through April of this year.

"This will be the third year of a trend toward smaller differences between loan values for higher and lower qualities and longer and shorter staples," notes Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, adding that this is a "natural result of the supply-demand relationships for the various classifications." Until recent months supply of shorter staples and lower grades of cotton has been somewhat restricted, while the supply of higher white grades of medium and longer staples has been relatively plentiful.

"However the final quality distribution of the 1971 crop has reversed the situation to some extent," Johnson said, "and the narrowing of differentials may well end with 1972."

The base loan rate for Midling 1-1/2 inch cotton, basis 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire and net weight at average location, for 1972 is 19.5 cents per pound, the same as for 1971. The loan rate for this base quality at Lubbock area warehouses, excepting Floydada, for the past several years has been five points below "average location," or 19.45 cents per pound. The Floydada loan rate has been the same as the average, 19.5 cents.

But USDA has indicated there may be some minor revisions in the 1972 location differentials because of increased transportation costs. The extent of these revisions is not yet known, which means calculation and publication of physical loan prices for High Plains cotton at this time would be premature.

A History Of Bailey County Pioneer Families

BLACK DUSTERS...like this one used to hit Bailey County in the springtime and blacken the sky. Day was turned into dark as black as night and lots of folks swore the world was coming to an end.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bayless

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bayless came to Bailey County from Snyder, Texas in a Model-T Ford. They began farming in the Baileyboro area. Bayless held the office of constable for several years.

Roy Bayless remembers that there was no pavement from Muleshoe south. In order to get from Muleshoe to Baileyboro, you followed a trail across the sand.

At that time, most of their trading was done in Sudan. Before 1930, all the grain that was harvested in the south part of Bailey County was brought into Muleshoe by mule-drawn wagons. One trip could easily take a whole day.

The Baylesses' first home was a small two-room cabin. The Baileyboro community organized a church in 1928. Practically all of the early settlers' social life was in some way connected with church activities.

Bayless recalls that one year it was necessary to build a "cotton shaker" to shake the sand from the cotton before it could be ginned. This indicates the kind of sandstorms the early pioneers had to weather. In 1936 the sandstorms were so bad that the sand blackened the sky and everything was dark at noon. They were so bad, in fact, that lots of people thought the world was surely coming to an end.

In the fall of 1933, L.L. St. Clair, R.L. Brown and Roy Bayless hung and burned "Old Man Depression" in effigy. They built a dummy to represent the Depression, hung the dummy on a float in one of Muleshoe's early Trades Day Parades and burned the dummy to signify the end of the Depression.

This is one in a series of historical biographies of Bailey County pioneer families who arrived here prior to 1930.

Hobby Gets Endorsements

Bill Hobby, Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor, stated that he was "Very pleased and overwhelmed by this strong showing of support on my behalf by Senator Jim Wallace and the other prominent citizens of the Northside Committee for Bill Hobby," at a breakfast held in his honor, Saturday, May 20.

At the breakfast/press conference called by Senator Wallace and the Northside Committee for Bill Hobby, he was lauded by the Senator as "the only logical choice for Lt. Governor in order to provide effective, efficient and forceful leadership for Texas."

The committee was formed by more than forty interested citizens of the northern half of Harris County to encourage supporters of Bill Hobby to vote in the June 3rd run-off.

Hobby, who has recently picked up endorsements by several prominent groups, including one of his former opponents, Senator Joe Christie, said that "This is indicative of the 'house-cleaning' effort shown May 6th, by the voters of Texas and even by the peers of my opponent, Sen. Connally, that they have come forward in my behalf, because they are tired of the lack of innovative leadership or progressive program which my opponent represents. The people of Texas want for full, progressive programs, a more business-like approach to state government which feel I can provide. I pledge that I will do everything in power if elected Lt. Governor to bring about the reforms lead the Legislature in the manner which Sen. Wallace and people of Texas want and serve, and to fulfill their duty in my abilities to bring about a new, dynamic, legislative leadership to Texas."

Congressman Bob Price

I support the President's decision to mine Haiphong Harbor and to cut off supply lines to North Vietnam, and I believe that a majority of Americans agree that this course of action is both correct as well as long overdue.

In support of the President's efforts to end the war and in order to show the Communist that American people do support the President through their elected representatives in Congress, I co-sponsored a House Concurrent Resolution which states that, when adopted, it would be the sense of Congress that a complete withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam should be accomplished within four months after--

1) the establishment of an internationally supervised ceasefire throughout Indochina, and 2) the release of all American prisoners of war held as a result of the present conflict in Southeast Asia.

The President's proposal lets the Communists know a couple of things in crystal-clear terms--first, that we are willing to withdraw our forces but second, that we will do so on our terms and not as the result of military defeat at their hands.

The proposal is reasonable and one that I believe the Communists would do well to accept since, in my judgement, it is as generous an offer as we are going to make.

COTTON GROWERS ASSISTANCE BILL
I introduced legislation last week that would permit cotton growers who are victims of crop losses due to causes beyond the control of the producer to use the average county yield for that crop year in figuring participation levels in the USDA's cotton program during the next three years.

Producers are already protected from losses to their cotton crops if the loss is due to natural causes. My amendment to the Agriculture Adjustment Act would extend assistance to producers whose cotton loss is due to man-made causes that are accidental.

In view of the high costs and risks and low profit margins associated with agricultural operations these days, I believe this bill would serve the interest of cotton growers by protecting their established yields, and I hope it will receive prompt, favorable attention by the Congress.

A SYMBOL OF SAFETY

When the ship is in danger, we can depend on the life-boats to take us over the seas to safety. It is comforting to glance at the life-boat when the seas are rough.

Our Armed Services are a symbol of safety when our country is in trouble. when war threatens to raise its ugly head. In the past, when war has come, our servicemen have not hesitated to give their lives to protect and defend us.

There is a special Day each year when we remember and honor our servicemen who have died in the defense of our blessed country. Let us not forget, as individuals, to honor these dead and give thanks to God for those who protect us even now. Remember them as you attend church this week.

©Coleman Adv. Ser.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

"But... I couldn't believe she could win the whole thing!"

Mrs. Frances Farenthold

Sure I knew Texas needed something better. But then, like so many, I only felt the choice was among the other three. After all, all the experts said she didn't have a chance. The polls said she couldn't possibly win. And none of the big shots were for her. How was I to know?

Yeah, I voted in the first primary... voted, you might say, for a 'second choice'. I didn't know Texas could win the whole thing - real reform, honest officials and a government at last that just worked for us - the people.

So June 3 I'm voting again. And this time I'm voting for the whole thing -
