EXPECT LARGE FIELD FOR CITY TENNIS TOURNAMENT

JOE DAVIS TO DEFEND HIS TITLE

Matches On High School Court Starting August 1st

Big Spring, once the "Hub" of West Texas netdom, is again going tennis minded. Enthusiastic responses to an announcement that a city tennis tournament would be held here has led directors to predict a field of twenty-five or thirty entries, the largest in the tourney's history.

Matches will be played August 1, 2 and 3. Director Jimmy Myers said, instead of the dates previously announced. No entries will be received after July 31st. Play will be held on the high school courts, which have been improved.

Several entries from Midland and neighboring towns are expected. Joe Davis, champion from 1931 to 1933, has stated that he will defend his championship. Davis won the title in '32 from Howard Smith and the following year from Curtis Bishop. Bishop will also enter.

Other expected entries are Wayne Matthews, high school coach; Jimmy Myers, Preston Sligh, Jim Brigham and Melvin Legg, members of last year's high school squad; Harry Jordan and Jimmy Jones, who reached the semi-finals of the state meet in 1933; Harold Harvey, San Angelo doubles champion in 1932, and numerous others.

A city tournament has been a feature of the sports calendar here for several years until last summer. Davis has won the title three times and Bishop once.

Fee for entrance are as were announced—35c for singles and 50c a team for doubles. Myers asks that all entrants get their fees in as soon as possible to facilitate placement on the bracket. He announces also that a public drawing for the placement of names on the bracket will be held July 31 7 p. m. at his home, 709 Main street.

Angels Trimmed By Herald, 6 To 4

Newsies Nudge Mellinger Team For Loop Lead

AMARILLO (Spl.) — Jack Dean, the original "wild man" pitcher of the Panhandle, settled down here Sunday to hurl a masterful ball against Berger. The Shamrocks defeated Berger in a twin bill.

Dean won his game, 5 to 1. He gave up four hits, whiffed four, and walked one. The only score against him was a homer in the first frame. Byron Chody hurried for Berger.

In his first few games here Jack was troubled with wildness.

The Mellinger Angels lost the softball league leadership again Wednesday evening when they were defeated 6-4, before a shaky assault of the Herald Type Lice.

The two teams suffered a terrific letdown over their other showings and put in a weird exhibition of softball, but the Newsies succeeded in tightening in the late innings to eke out a victory.

A mixup in the base running cost the Angels two runs in the first inning. The Harem took a 2-0 lead in leading off and had runners on second and third, but Cordill was run around by Swatzy when the former attempted to come home, and neither man counted.

Despite wildness on the part of Hare, the Angels shutout the Heraldites until the third when the Harris forces tied it up on two hits and a Mellinger error.

The Angels again broke the deadlock with a pair of runs in the third, but the Type Lice put two walks and a base hit together in the fourth to pull up even again.

Ray McMahon, meanwhile, settled on the hill, and was in trouble only once, that during the fifth when Hare tripled cleanly into left field. Hare's blow, however, came with two away and Cordill rolled out to Pickle to retire the side.

The Herald took a good lead in the fifth when Hall, Gant, and Morgan came through with base hits. Pickle added the final run in the sixth when Hare passed him and allowed McMahon to come through with the second of his base knockers.

The Redhead put the last six men down in order to "kill" the Angels' chances at victory.

Jack Wilson and Hare divided timber honors for the Angels with a pair of blows while McMahon and Ward Hall each hit safely twice to head the Herald assault.

Jim Recknegal, in his first attempt at tossing them in from the mound, limited the WOW to two hits in the second game to lead his Vet team to a 7-5 victory.

Scott and Luton were the only Woodmen to find Recknegal for base knockers in the seven innings, but Jim's defense was shaky in spots and the Woodmen made it fairly interesting.

Recknegal was in trouble in the fifth when the Sheppard forces counted three of their five runs and took a brief lead, but the Veter-

CHARLES AKEY ACES PRACTICE DRIVE ON NO. 8

Charles Akey, Munny golf pro, had one of the game's "toughest breaks" Wednesday. Akey's drive on No. 8 went far to the left of the green. Intent upon correcting his game, he slashed another practice drive that struck within six inches of the cup, to the left, but bounded to the right in the hole for an ace.

"I would do something like that on a PRACTICE SHOT," Akey lamented.

Akey was playing with Mrs. Theron Hicks, who witnessed the feat.

Bristow's Team Gets Mertz Cup

SAN ANGELO, (Spl.)—Obie Bristow's invading all-star golf squad copped the Mertz trophy from the San Angelo defenders here Wednesday, 7 to 5.

The San Angelo contingent split even with the all-star team on the morning Scotch foursome two-ball matches, 2 to 2, but went down in five matches of eight in the afternoon singles battles.

The San Angelo morning round winners were Hezlie Carson and John Marston over Lee Ramsel and Derald Lehman of Fort Worth, 1 up, and Tom Liddell and Marion Altman over Johnny Neal of Odessa and J. T. Hammett of Pioneer, 4 and 3.

San Angelo's singles matches winners were Captain C. E. (Red) Covington, 2 up, over Eddie Morgan of Big Spring; Charley Caston, 1 up over J. C. Southworth of Sweetwater, and Marston, 3 and 2, over Carnes Wilson of Abilene. Covington scored 38-36-74. Morgan 36-39-75.

Caston clouted 35-39-74. Southworth 38-39-77.

Marston whacked 35-40-75 while Wilson came in with 37-40-77.

Derald Lehman of Fort Worth nabbed the initial singles match from Hezlie Carson, 2 up. Lehman had 25-40-75 and Carson 39-38-77.

Jimmy Walkup of Fort Worth beat Jimmy Farr, 3 and 2.

Neal stopped Altman, 6 and 5. The Odessa sharpshooter was 7 up.

PAROLE SYSTEM FAILS WHEN IT IS ABUSED

J. Edgar Hoover, director of those "G men" who have made such a notable record of late, has earned the right to be listened to with serious attention whenever he speaks his mind about crime problems.

His recent attack on the evils of the parole system, therefore, is not the sort of thing that a believer in an enlightened penal system can afford to laugh off.

Mr. Hoover told the International Association of Chiefs of Police that America's lack of a strong parole system is a "ghastly farce," and demanded an end to the common practice of making parole, probation and commutation of sentences easy to obtain.

That the parole system in this country has been abused, shamefully beyond question. That an officer of Mr. Hoover's standing and experience should center a hot fire upon it merely confirms a long-standing suspicion.

Yet we should be exceedingly careful to see to it that the criticism falls where it really belongs—the men who have abused the system, rather than on the system itself.

Basically, the parole system is an intelligent and humane part of enlightened criminology. It seeks to recognize the fact that the punishment ought to fit the criminal rather than the crime. Of two house-breakers, for instance, one may be a desperate thing who deserves to stay in prison for life, while the other may be a man whom society can release after a brief period. The parole system is simply an attempt to adapt the penal machinery to such divergent cases.

But any social instrument is, in the long run, just as strong as the society which tries to make use of it—and no stronger.

If society, for instance, fills its offices — its governorships, its mayoralties, and so on—with self-seeking politicians who are in public life solely for what they can get out of it, then no one need be surprised if the instrument which these men handle are debased and perverted.

If our use of the parole provokes such a man as Mr. Hoover to righteous indignation, the fault lies with the persons who operate the system. And that, in turn, means that the ultimate fault is our own for putting them in office in the first place.

The remedy is not to junk the parole system, but to elect to office men who will have honesty and intelligence enough to make it work the way it ought to work.

Robbins To Semi-Finals

Shoots Smooth Golf Wednesday In Defeating Guy Rainey, 6-5

Shirley Robbins, snooting an exceptionally smooth game, reached the semi-finals of the Munny county city golf tournament Wednesday with a 6-5 victory over Guy Rainey. Robbins shot a 74, taking a 36 on the front nine and a 28 on the back nine.

Robbins next plays Eddie Morgan. Obie Bristow, long clouting linkster, will meet Southpaw Theron Hicks in the other semi-final match.

Day Cornelison defeated A. E. Suggs 1 up Wednesday in a championship flight consolation match.

LOCAL GOLFERS QUALIFY TODAY

SAN ANGELO (Spl.)—Three Big Spring golfers, Obie Bristow, Eddie Morgan and J. E. Kuykendall, will qualify Thursday for the annual San Angelo Country Club invitation golf tournament.

Bristow was captain of the invading Mertz Trophy squad which trounced the Angelans Wednesday. Morgan took part in the singles matches.

CONTRAST IN LIVING

While farm belt leaders were suggesting a third-party platform calling for a guaranteed annual income of at least $2,500 for every adult American, the surrogate's court in New York City was preforming a piece of business that casts an odd light on this demand.

The court had before it an application for approval of certain expenditures for the support and education of Brenda Diana Duff Frazier, a 14-year-old heiress. It approved a request that during the next 18 months some $45,000 be expended from the girl's income.

These expenditures will include personal expenses of the girl of $25,000—among which are $5,400 for clothing, $900 for music lessons, $3,600 for dentists' bills and $600 for club dues—and slightly less than $17,000 as the girl's contribution to the upkeep of her mother's home.

There can be no quarrel with the court's action, of course. But a country which can support a 14-year-old girl to the tune of $45,000 for 18 months, while at the same time it keeps millions of citizens on the dole, is a country in which at least a few people are going to demand things like this $2,500 annual income plank in the farm belt.

That the President is trying to rehabilitate the economic demoralization of our nation, having in mind the ability of one hundred and twenty five million citizens to live and enjoy life with and among themselves.

Intelligent cooperation promises a more speedy realization of our hopes and ambitions. Criticism and sniping at every worthwhile program is but to prolong demoralization.

If the liquor repeal amendment should fall Aug. 24 and obviate the need of the legislature's providing for collection of its $500,000 taxes a month, several new questions would govern a decision whether the legislature will be called back anyway this fall.

The old age pension amendment will be adopted. Only opposition so far, of outspoken character, has come from organizations so clearly identified that their opposition will help it.

If the state system can be pushed into operation before any federal matching money becomes available, or if federal funds are provided to put the system into effect so far

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

STRIKE PARALYZES TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute, Ind., was placed under strict military rule as members of 48 local labor unions quit work in a general "labor holiday" in sympathy with striking workers at the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company. as taking unemployables from relief rolls, there will be strong insistence for the legislature to meet. There may be other questions in connection with the amendments demanding quick action.

One of the probable bases for the call, if issued, may be the results of a check-up by Gov. Allred on the attitude of lawmakers toward some of the important policy business which they failed to reach in the 120-day regular session.

Gov. Allred may find out in advance particularly whether the legislature would be willing to let the state get some revenue out of the exploitation of Texas natural gas through a huge work program of building the Detroit natural gas pipe line exclusively with federal money. The project is still alive. The federal loan would be repaid solely from revenues of the system; and the state's profits would exceed all the taxes now collected from natural gas.

Gov. Allred may ask the members what their attitude will be just before time to reannounce on definite taxing proposals, such as the $2 sulphur tax levy; and what their attitude will be on regulation of public utilities, as proposed in his utility commission bill. The responses will be more favorable on the whole, just before campaign time, than when the subject matter was buried under 1,000 local bills in the regular session, just after the members had been elected.

If favorable enough from enough members, such answers would create the basis of a session regardless of the liquor amendment.

New Demand For Novels Of Noted Writer

The latest of the famous Stratton-Porter novels to be presented to American audiences is "The Keeper of the Bee," filmed by the same company which produced "A Girl of the Limberlost," and it is anticipated that this picture will be accorded the same enthusiastic reception that was given its illustrious predecessor when it plays the Ritz Theater here on Friday and Saturday.

A wave of renewed enthusiasm for the works of the late Gene Stratton-Porter has brought the screening, during the past year, of three of her most famous novels, and has launched "A Girl of the Limberlost," first of them to reach the screen in the new cycle, to a point of popularity which has been reached by only nine other pictures during the current motion picture season.

that F. C. Dumaine is largest stockholder in another hostile corporation — the Amokeng. You don't know it, perhaps, but he was political sponsor of ex-Sen. Moses. And it was Moses' "Sons of the Wild Jacks" appellation which embittered western farmers to the point of political rebellion.

Revival— The Democrats' 1932 platform has become the center of controversy. Some GOP-ers suggest that their party ought to stand on it next year. Messrs. Glass, Byrd, Gore, Tydings and others charge that Mr. Roosevelt has "repudiated" it. That will be their defense in the 1936 campaign if they are accused of running out on the administration.

Mr. Roosevelt's friends aren't worrying over this issue. They have an answer all prepared. They will point out that old-fashioned Democrats helped frame it. Also that it was drawn to meet problems existing in June of 1932, but not those of March, 1933. In other words, their view is that the architects sketched their blueprint before they knew where the structure was to be built.

Rooseveltians will take credit for the President's so-called "repudiation." They will call it courageous statesmanship. But it will be a grand scrap—and almost the first time that a major party will pay that much attention to a four-year-old bird's nest.

NEW YORK By JAMES McMULLIN

Charm— New Yorkers with first-rate administration contacts learn of a proposed new phase of FDR's public relations program which is getting serious attention in high circles, although it has not been definitely approved.

The plan they hear about calls for an extensive speaking tour by the President this fall. This would replace the series of summer chats previously contemplated and would

FIRST LADY TRAVELS LIGHT Leads Vacation Style Parade With "Two-Bag" Wardrobe

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley—wears ice-blue satin for sports.

Mrs. Joseph W. Byrns—her lorgnette ribbon matches her frock.

By SIGMUND ARNE WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, with her summer activities almost "off the record," has reduced her traveling wardrobe to a comfortable minimum.

She explains that she carries only two bags even for a long train trip. One bag holds everything she will need for the ordinary demands of traveling. The other holds such dresses as are necessary for stops along the way.

She has found that certain materials make the best "traveling companions." They are lace for evening, very fine tucked chiffons for afternoon, certain types of crepe usually in all-over prints for day wear.

Accessories Few All her traveling frocks are chosen from some neutral shade so that one or two sets of accessories will serve for all outfits. Her plan simplifies packing so much that she usually takes just one hat, "one not too festive for tailored clothes, and yet appropriate for afternoon dresses."

As for the provoking matter of packing shoes, she passed the subject with a laugh, and said, "aren't shoes a nuisance?"

But while Mrs. Roosevelt is commuting quietly, and almost unnoticed, between the White House and Hyde Park, many other women in the official set have settled down for the enforced summer season here and the meticulous attention to appearance which summer weather makes necessary.

Mrs. Joseph W. Byrns, wife of the Speaker, always is a cool looking figure at dinner which she and her husband eat together in the dining room of a popular hotel. She is a trim person with thick, white, bobbed hair and bright dark reports that they are even dreaming of quitting the Federal Reserve. What else could they say? But the fact remains that this drastic move has been given careful consideration in the private councils of several large and highly-respected institutions. The question will become acute if and when the banking bill passes—even in the revised Glass edition.

Curiously the chief deterrent to such a bold step is not fear of what the government might do by way of reprisals—but what the stockholders' attitude would be. Bank-plan goes through. Borah wouldn't dream of shoving his friends off the deep end—and can be counted upon to contribute his quiet bit to block anything that looks seriously like distribution of wealth.

A number of New Yorkers rate the Senator as Public Her-er Number One. Comment runs that Borah might be a great man if he could ever agree with himself.

Deterrent— Bankers speaking for publication naturally characterize as ridiculous ews who have talked it over concede inevitable loss of prestige, of deposits, of earnings for a year or so. They figure that after that period they would be so much better off as to make the plunge worth while. But how could you prove that to stockholders who were watching their shares go down—as they would? It's a cinch a lot of stockholders would get very indignant—and managements are not at all keen to face the prospect of a continuous and wrathful barrage of criticism.

Air— The Senate debate on the banking bill will feature Grade A verbal fireworks from proponents of the New-Sweeney central banking bill (Father Coughlin's pet) and of the Goldborough amendment which directs the Federal Reserve Board to control the price level (featured by the Committee for the Nation).

But barring miracles all that lovely oratory will be just for the record. Insiders prophesy that the Senate will give these theories a thorough airing—and then give them the air.

Incog— Perhaps you've wondered how Mussolini is going to keep his wandering playright—Luigi Pirandello—under control now that the latter has gone to Hollywood. Here's how: One of Mussolini's sons is in the movie capital—and has been for six weeks—incognito but heavily guarded.

Imagination— A few weeks ago Attorney General Homer Cummings blazoned the news abroad that there were 150 bucket shops in New York and that he would shortly make the horrid details public. He hasn't yet. He has now appealed to the Stock Exchange and Curb Market to give him all the dope they can—but they both claim there are practically no bucket shops left at all, so what can they do? It looks as if Mr. Cummings had been using his imagination a trifle.

will you serve on a jury WITH THIS LADY?

If you haven't tried Gulf gas lately, you're a big surprise coming. Put it "on trial" in your car for the next 3 weeks. Then see if you don't agree with the verdict of this fair member of the Gulf "jury."

*750 people said "yes"... Gulf got the verdict

RECENTLY we staged a "trial" of That Good Gulf Gasoline... with 750 car owners—men and women—as jurors.

They drove Gulf in their own cars for 3 weeks—long enough to give it a real "work-out." They compared it with their regular brands on (1) mileage (2) starting (3) pick-up (4) power (5) all-around performance.

At the end of the trial period, 7 out of 10 voted for Gulf on one or more of these 5 counts. Many found it better in all 5 ways!

Why the better results? Because Gulf is 5 good gasolines in one. Thanks to controlled refining, it gives you not merely 2 or 3 ideal gas qualities—but all five.

Try That Good Gulf for 3 weeks. We'll bet it's your regular gas from then on! GULF REFINING COMPANY

CLUBS

H. D. C. News

By MISS MAYME LOU PARR
Mrs. J. W. Wooten of the Fairview H. D. club has a well-planned and completely landscaped yard. It was her display on the club achievement day.

On two sides of the yard are hedges of Amor river privet to protect plants from sand and wind. The back of screened with tamarix, (salt cedar), as foundation plantings, she has used euonymus ligustrum, bridal wreath and other low growing plants. For interest she has used crepe myrtle, japonica, wister and roses.

Her arbor vitae cuttings, rooted in her cutting bed, have interested club members, because the arbor vitae is very difficult to root except in a hot house.

Mrs. Rice's Yard
The yard of Mrs. A. J. Rice, Lomax H. D. club, contains many varieties of growing shrubs for a new yard. Most of these were cuttings, wild fuchsia, buckbush, yellow jasmine are used around the fairly low front porch. High shrubs such as privet, lilacs, tamarix, pomegranate, and three varieties of vines, are used at the sides.

Other Yards
Mrs. Jack McKinnon a member of Elbow club and 4-H pantry demonstrator, has 17 varieties of vegetables in her garden.

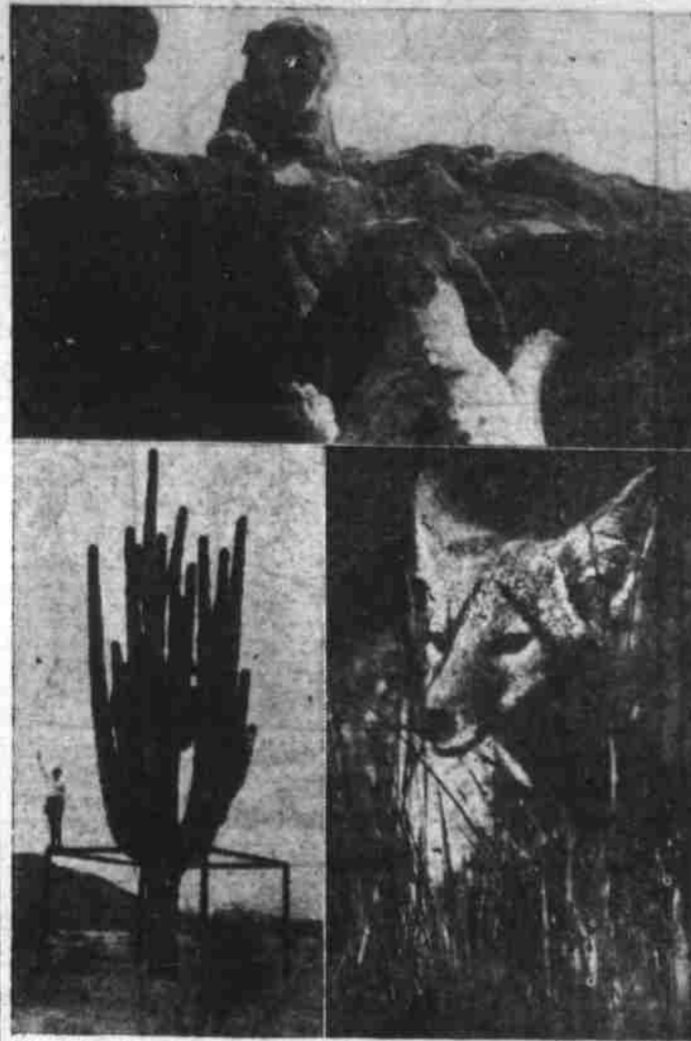

Mrs. A. D. Martin, 4-H pantry demonstrator of the R-Bar club, considers a small garden well irrigated more profitable than a larger area. She plants a new variety between older plants a few weeks before removing the old plants. In that way she has a continuous supply.

This same method is used by Mrs. Frank Tate of Overton. She has a riot of color in her back yard from a volunteer bed of zinnias.

Mrs. Heckler of R-Bar and Mrs. Painter of Overton show that persistence wins, as each has grown a number of cutting of several varieties, despite the many sandstorms.

Wardrobe Work
Mrs. Charlie Lawrence, wardrobe demonstrator for the Luther H. D. club, will represent the county in the state clothing contest at A&M college, July 29—August 2. Mrs. Lawrence won second in the county. Mrs. H. W. Bartlett of Overton club was winner of the first place, but illness in her family will prevent her from attending.

Mrs. Lawrence won first in appearance of dress. She has built a completely equipped new closet in her bedroom, has kept a record of her expenditures for clothing from July 1, 1934 to July 1, 1935. She has assisted friends and club women in making clothes as follows: smoked 5 children's dresses; made 8 baby dresses; designed 9 dresses for club women; made 1 adult coat and 12 children's under garments; cut 3 slips and 6 dresses by foundation patterns. She has helped the county H. D. agent, in fitting 15 foundation patterns.

Short Course News
Others attending the short course are: Madison Smith, sent by the county recreation group; Mrs. G. L. James, council chairman sent by the council; Mrs. Frank Duke; Knott; Mrs. Myrtle Sprull, sponsor of Gayhill 4-H club and a member of the Luther H. D. club; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis, R-Bar; Miss Lucille Birkhead of Coahoma; Mrs. A. A. McElrath, Overton; Mrs. W. D. Powell, Lomax; Mrs. Willard Smith, Fairview and Mrs. Jack McKinnon, Elbow.

Luther Club Women Enjoy Picnic Lunch

"File All Tested Recipes," said Miss Mayme Lou Parr, County D. A. to Luther H. D. club members Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. S. L. Lockhart's.

Recipe files may be made at home, or purchased for a small sum, with cards alphabetically arranged.

A convenient hat rack and a rack for shoes was shown to club members.

After the demonstration a picnic lunch was spread under the trees near Mrs. Lockhart's home.

Club members and a number of visitors enjoyed this occasion.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Norwin Smith Tuesday, Aug. 6.

Recent Bride Is Shower Honoree

Mrs. A. A. Porter and Miss Minnie Earle Johnson were co-hostesses recently for a pretty bridal shower honoring Mrs. J. T. Johnson.

The gifts were presented by means of letters of advice. The last letter read by the honoree directed her to go to the front bedroom. There she found the bed heaped with lovely gifts for her.

After they were opened and passed around, the hostesses served ice cream, angel food and punch. Rice in miniature bags formed plate favors.

Guests were: Misses Gladys Smith, Lennah Rose Black, Pauline Schubert, Dorothy Coleman, Hattie Bell Mullins; Mmes. Miller Harris, Hubert Rutherford, Josh Johnson, Tom Rosson, Anne Mae Lunebrink, Lee Porter and W. V. Crunk.

Those sending gifts were: Mrs. Violet Cox and Bill Barnett; Misses Gladys McGee, Florence Henderson, Betty Pace.

F. H. Caughlin, general manager of Empire Southern Service company, of Fort Worth, who spent Wednesday in Big Spring on business, returned to his home Wednesday evening.

Rules For Dressing Well

Mrs. Charlie Lawrence, wardrobe demonstrator of the Luther Home Demonstration club, is one of the group of rural women that will leave Saturday morning with Miss Mayme Lou Parr, H. D. agent, for the A&M short course, the high point in the life of a rural club woman.

Mrs. Lawrence says that wise expenditure, good clothes storage and a good fitting foundation pattern will enable any rural woman to dress becomingly.

The following account she tells, in her own words, how she followed these rules and won first place in appearance in the clothing contest held by the H. D. club this summer:

I have enjoyed being wardrobe demonstrator for my club this year. The work has helped me in many ways. We homemakers and farm women should learn the plan of wise expenditure for clothing. That we may appear well dressed at all times whether our income is large or small.

A convenient and well kept clothes closet adds longer life and neatness to our clothes. I am proud of my little closet, because husband and I planned and built it just like I wanted it. My closet measures 6 ft. high, 4 ft. long and 2 ft. deep. Across one end I put 4 shelves these are handy for shoes, shoe polish.

There is a wide shelf across the top for our hats. I have two wire hat stands that hold fast to the edge of the shelf.

I covered a "Stetson hat box" with white paper. This is a nice place to store my hats, that are out of season. (One of the stores in town gave me the box.)

Just under the wide shelf extending across the closet, I put a mop handle to hang our garments on. On the lower half of the door I have twelve shoe pockets made of cretonne, these are used for shoes, hose and brushes.

Across the top of the door I have a rod for ties, and belts. I papered the inside walls with heavy brown paper, taking care to cover all cracks. Then used calamine to wash them white. The shelves, rod and door are enameled white. I had to buy the door, the cretonne for the shoe pockets and the wire hat stands. The rest of the material we just picked up about the place, that otherwise would have been wasted. The total cost was $3.41.

Saves Money
Checking up on my last year's clothes, saved me money. Some of my dresses I made over, others with just a few changes were brought up to date. I had five yards of real nice plaid gingham that I bought six years ago, at a close out sale for a penny a yard. At the time, I thought it would make a nice top for a comforter.

but since plaids are in style and I had never used the materials for a quilt, I made a pretty shirt waist dress. Everybody admired my dress and of course would ask where I found such pretty plaids. I am proud of my foundation pattern, making my own clothes now is a pleasure. Since I have a good fitting pattern, I use any pattern for design, but always use my foundation pattern for fit. And now since most of my cooperators have a good fitting pattern and have learned to cut and fit a garment have turned their minds and hands toward wise planning and buying and better planned and kept clothes closets.

Miss La Juan Gilmore Is Honored At Party

Present were: Mmes. Joe Cleve, Bill Welch, Rufus Martin, Hollis Webb, Lawton Johnson, A. L. Carter; Misses Minnie Morgan, Grace Wilkes, Pauline Howie, Mary Louis Gilmore and Ruby Bell and Gilmore.

READY MADE WIFE

Chapter 15
MONEY AGAIN

The next morning, as soon as Mark Albery arrived at his office, Rex Moore called and asked to see him.

"I've come to ask you for something," the young man said. "It's a tall order, but I've got nobody else to turn to. I'm badly in need of money. Would you let me have a loan of a thousand pounds?"

Albery looked slightly startled. He was paying the young man a thousand a year as a retainer. It was his habit, however, to take such surprises humorously.

"What's the idea, Moore? Do you want to buy Mrs. Moore a pearl necklace?"

"No, it's a debt I want to pay. It will be all right, Mr. Albery," he added earnestly, for him, almost humbly. "It sounds a lot, I know, but I can pay it back soon. I've been offered a big price for some articles by the North American Gazette—'Dead Airman Comes to Life'—you know the sort of thing! I'm starting on them at once."

"But what about your dislike of publicity?" asked Albery, with uplifted eyebrows.

"Can't help it, I've got to get the money. But I want it now."

"To himself, Albery was saying, 'I must be right. There must be some woman in this. He never said anything about being in debt before.'"

Aloud, he spoke with quiet cordiality. "Of course, I'll lend you the money, my boy. I'm glad you came to me. I always feel I can't do too much for you. I'll write the check now."

"Make it so that I can cash it, please!"

"All right!" Albery wrote, and handed over the slip of paper as if it were a thing that happened every day. "You needn't be in any hurry to pay it back," he said. "Well, what's the latest report on the new fuel?"

"I don't like to say anything yet. It seems too good to be true. I've only tried it in the car. If it really comes off, it will nearly double our range in the air. Gerald is still working on the safety test; he seems certain of success. Of course, I'm not an expert."

"But using it in the engine of the car, you said there would be danger above a certain speed?"

"I think so. That's what Gerald is working on."

"Safety is everything, my boy. Don't take risks!"

"One must now and then—it's all in the day's work."

"But it mustn't be in your day's work for the present—not that particular risk. You've got to be perfectly fit for the Pacific flight next month."

Rex Moore took his leave, thanking his employer with something nearer emotion than anyone had ever heard in his voice.

Albery rang on the telephone, and a minute later Laurie Moore came into the room, and the man's blood ran faster in his veins, as he looked at her changing face, with the little nervous lines around the mouth that told of some inner distress.

Rex Moore wrote letter after letter to Mrs. Steele, and tore them up. Brought up against what she had done for him, the fact that he was trying to pay her back with a bundle of borrowed bank notes deprived him of words.

But he could not help it. He simply had to pay her back some of the actual money that her husband had spent on him. It was probably more than this. The specialist's fees in America were enormous, and they had traveled great distances to see him.

Perhaps he ought to go and see her? It would look less ungrateful if he tried to explain that he would lose all self-respect if he did not bring himself to do it. He had always fled this woman. He was in a way afraid of her. He would have to bear the stigma of ingratitude. He could not face her alone. It was bad enough to go with Laurie to dinner with her that night. The same thought of Wanda Steele was in his irritated mind that Laurie had so often had about him; why had she come back into his life?

'UNCONSCIOUS' CAUSE OF TRAGEDY

cat and dog life?" he added mockingly. "I'm glad I'm going to meet your sister. Does she mention me? You said she wrote nice things when she heard I had come back."

"Glad writes she is 'thrilled to see you' at the idea of meeting you," Laurie told him.

"Good! I'm sure we shall get on. You must think up a small dinner for her tomorrow. We'll celebrate."

"I suppose we'd better get ready to go to dinner with Mrs. Steele," Laurie said.

"I suppose so." His voice lost all expression. He had been thinking before almost as if they were friends; at least, as if they understood each other. It was a queer they've crashed, or come down somewhere in the jungle. Albery is sending me to look for them. Wilmer Jones is coming with me. I must get ready at once. We go down to the airport tonight and take off as soon as we can."

"Is it dangerous?"

"Of course not. I'm damned glad of the chance of doing something. Ring up Mrs. Steele, will you, and tell her we can't dine."

Laurie's quick temper rose at the words that were virtually a command.

"Look here," she said. "This is our chance. As you're going away, I'll clear out of her tomorrow. When you come back we can explain that we didn't get on."

"Nonsense!" His voice was so violent that she started back. "Besides, I've borrowed some money from Albery, and he'd be bound to smell a rat! What on earth could you say to him?"

"How long will you be away?" she faltered.

"I don't know. Perhaps two or three weeks." Then came the old mocking taunt: "You had two years of it as my widow! Surely, you can stand two months of 'being my wife!'"

Laurie finds herself in a bad state of mind, tomorrow.

MIDLAND COLTS HERE ON SUNDAY

J. P. Butler, one of the officials of the Midland Colt baseball team, gave assurance Thursday morning that the Colts would be here for a game with the Cowboys Sunday afternoon, starting 3:30 p. m.

In their last game, two weeks ago, the Colts defeated Monahans 4 to 2. However, the week before that Monahans came through with a 12-5 decision over Midland.

Purposes

staff emphasized the fact that the public is invited to visit the offices here and make any sort of inquiry. Several times they went out of their way to stress this point. They also alluded to the hope that Big Spring and Howard county projects could be used as models for the district.

Big Spring and Howard county have a potential total of at least $12,750 monthly from WPA if the maximum available labor supply is utilized on projects, said Davidson. He derived his figures, he said, by multiplying the available 451 laborers by the $600 per man per year allowable and dividing by 12 for a monthly average.

Contingent On Projects
 In contrast to the relief work program, according to R. H. Lawrence, examining engineer, no money will be expended unless projects are provided. The former set up merely provided a certain allotment to be used as best it could.

In reply to a question raised by City Manager E. V. Spence, McNew said that only those cases which were opened or had been reopened on relief prior to May 21 would be certified to NRS, the agency to furnish labor for WPA projects.

No Loans
 A distinguishing mark of difference between WPA and FWA is that the former has no loaning facilities. There will be no refunds made to the federal government as under the FWA 45-55 per cent grant-loan provision.

WPA's chief object is to put men and women to work. It will, however, furnish a certain amount of funds for truck, team, equipment hire and materials where necessary. Incidentally, approval of projects likely will be influenced somewhat by the amount of materials and expense other than labor while the sponsoring institution promises to furnish.

The agency (WPA) will furnish what skilled labor is certified by NRS and in isolated cases in the ratio of 1 to 10 where skilled labor is not available. However, as a general rule the sponsoring agency where he will remain for several days on business.

and technical labor, for WPA projects will be principally for common laborers.

Minimum Hours
 Laborers on WPA projects may expect a minimum of 130 hours work per month and other temporary employment will not preclude their return to WPA projects. Under the relief work set up, when a man took private employment, although temporary, he was removed from the relief rolls and had difficulty in getting back. Thus there was no little amount of refusing to take extra employment on the part of relief workers.

The question was raised by Spence, and subsequently by others present, as to what assurance could be had that man power would be furnished in sufficient quantity to keep projects going. T. F. Eason, field supervisor, said that the best assurance of this would be through wise staggering of projects so as to make a large enough number of men available at all times to satisfy prospect needs. The planning board of each community could be of great value in this work, he said.

Able bodied men who refuse to work on WPA projects will be returned to relief. After this year there is to be no relief except where it is the "responsibility of the state and political subdivisions," McNew forecast.

"What's the answer to that?" queried County Judge J. S. Garlington.

"Just that relief is to be the responsibility of the state and political subdivisions," parried McNew.

The meeting Thursday morning was the first of a series to be conducted over the district by Tuesday. By that time all 13 counties in the district will have been contacted and informed of the purpose and nature of the WPA set up.

With this done, it is anticipated that reception of projects will be started in earnest by the district headquarters here.

WHAT would modern navigation do without the channel buoys—those floating markers that keep ships off the shoals? In a very real sense, the advertisements in this paper are channel buoys, placed for your protection—for the safeguarding of the family expenditures.

These advertisements are the signed statements of reputable firms who seek your patronage on the single basis of giving value for every dollar spent. They are honest statements, the only kind an advertiser can use and remain an advertiser.

People who get the most for their dollar in the market-places are those who keep an eye on the channel buoys. Day by day, they follow the advertisements to learn what and where to buy to the best advantage. Make this a habit. Study the advertisements, in the interest of shrewder buying.

8000 Texas Rural School Teachers Soon To Be Paid Through Federal Aid; Checks To Be In Mails Soon

AUSTIN—Checks for paying approximately 8000 rural school teachers of Texas under the federal aid program which enabled nearly 1500 schools this year to complete normal terms are being prepared and will be in the mails shortly, State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson has announced.

Unwilling to see rural schools close two or three months short of a normal term at the penalty of the rural youth of Texas, the FEPA early last spring agreed to pay a portion of teachers' salaries in schools in towns and communities under 5000 population which were unable to complete a full term on their own finances.

More than 1500 school districts applied, and 1493 projects were approved, enabling thousands of Texas school children to complete a normal term, F. A. Foyse, engineer in charge, revealed. Exact number of children benefited is to be compiled later. In most cases schools were enabled to remain open an average of two months longer than otherwise would have been possible.

A total of 8764 persons, chiefly teachers but including others connected with schools such as bus drivers, will receive the checks being prepared by the Relief Commission.

SPORT LINES

JACK DEAN IS SNAPPING out of his wild streak and has been pitching some good ball lately for the Amarillo Shamrocks. Dean will get a severe test Friday night when the Shamrocks play the strong Road Runners at Pampa. On Sunday Pampa plays at Amarillo. Dean is also ace high as a drawing attraction in the Panhandle loop.

JACK HAS ALSO BEEN TAKING part in quite a few golf matches. Never knew him to go in for that sport before.

SPEAKING OF GOLF, BIG Spring should organize a hole-in-one club. Numerous local golfers have scored aces during the past two years. Charley Akey, Mundy, performed the feat Wednesday afternoon—on a practice shot.

JIMMY MYERS, WHO IS sponsoring a city tennis tournament here the 1st and 3rd of August, made a trip to Colorado the other day to check up on net activities in the Mitchell county metropolis. He reported very little tennis playing there.

MYERS PLANS TO INVITE Miami tennis players to take part in the city meet here. He also contemplates inviting netters from other surrounding towns.

IF THE CITY JOUST CLICKS off in fine fashion with the expected record number of entries, Myers will revive the old Sand Belt tournament here. Probably about the middle of August.

MEDALS INSTEAD OF TROPHIES will be awarded in the city tourney, Director Myers stated.

OBIE BRISTOW'S MERTZ CUP team won out over San Angelo linksmen Wednesday, but one thing we can't understand is why Obie ever picked J. T. Hammett of Pioneer to play on his team. Not that Hammett is a slouch golfer, because he's not. But practically all of his golfing has been on sand greens, and the Mertz matches were staged on the grass green Anglo country club course. Hammett would have been an ideal selection for a sand green match, but he does not have the experience necessary for a tough grass green match. There's a lot of difference between sand and grass greens.

GEORGE GENTRY, LOCAL high school principal, is preparing a set of figures to take a slash at the stubborn and high-bat Inter-scholastic League official—Roy Henderson—over the 18-year rule. Gentry believes West Texas fans and school officials will go almost solid against the rule. An exception will be Abilene, where both the school and newspaper has backed the rule. San Angelo school officials are for the new rule but the newspaper is very much against it. Other towns can bring such pressure to bear that Abilene and Angelo will be forced to get in line.

GENTRY ALSO STATED THAT he believed it would be very easy to organize another league.

HARRY TYLER, SAN ANGELO football coach, plans to attend a coaching school in Fort Worth soon, according to Scribe Blundy Cross.

AMOS MELTON, FORT WORTH Star-Telegram golf writer who has been covering the San Angelo event, says Ed White, national intercollegiate champion, is the real tournament threat.

Louis Paine of the water department of the Texas & Pacific railroad company, of Abilene, was in Big Spring Wednesday, on company business. Mr. and Mrs. Paine formerly resided in this city. Mrs. Paine and son are now vacationing in points in Canada.

Mrs. I. Jacobs of Dallas, mother of Max Jacobs, is visiting her son and family.

Present were: Marjorie Coffee, Lynn Porter, Mary Evelyn Johnson, Mary Evelyn May and Harriet Ann Lunsberg.

Helen Reta and her mother are leaving Friday morning for their home in California.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal Church entertained with a tea and bridal shower Wednesday evening in the newly renovated parish house for two members of the church.

Honorees for the bridal shower was Mrs. Loy Acuff, the former Miss Helen Hayden; for the tea, Mrs. Dee Hilliard, who is moving to Midland to make her home.

A profusion of summer flowers were used for decorations for the room. Miss Elise Willis and Miss Nancy Dawes rendered several piano selections throughout the evening.

Mrs. John Clarke made the presentation speech for the Auxiliary and presented Mrs. Hilliard with a picture of St. Mary's Church and Mrs. Acuff with a table lamp. Mrs. Acuff also received many gifts from friends present.

After the time was spent in visiting and conversation, refreshments of angel food squares and ice cream were passed by Mrs. Edmond Nostetne and Mrs. Eugene Davenport to approximately 35 guests.

SPORT SLANTS

The Madison Square Garden folks have decided to give up the ghost of their white elephant in Miami. So the huge arena in the Florida winter resort, which cost close to $50,000 to build and many, many additional thousands to maintain, is being dismantled.

Perhaps the effective work done by the little woodworms in their efforts to take the structure off the hands of the fight promoters had something to do with the decision. More than likely Col. John Reed Kilpatrick and his colleagues were finally come to the conclusion that Miami is not a good city for big fights.

Certainly, no no can accuse them of not having given the arena a fair chance. They took it on the chin in their every attempt to stage a major attraction. Maybe their offerings were not attractions of major caliber but they were the best available at the time.

The Garden was inspired to build the huge stadium after the Shark-ey-Stribling bout attracted a gate of $425,000 at Miami Beach. They based their judgment on that one fight. They neglected to take into consideration the unusual circumstances surrounding that affair which had much to do with its re-appearing such a financial harvest.

YOUNG VICTIM OF LAKE DROWNING

Mrs. Alice Sherman, 23, of Sutton, Mass., for whose death by drowning her husband, Newell P. Sherman faces murder charges to which he pleaded not guilty. Police said, however, that he had admitted up setting the canoe in which the couple were floating, and leaving his wife to drown while he swam ashore. With Mrs. Sherman in this picture is Dudley, one of two young children who survive her. (Associated Press Photo.)

is buying from Anell Hoffmann, manager of the Buer brothers. Even in the limited time allotted himself the younger Baer may go far, for he is well equipped for service in the ring. Almost as tall as Carnera, he has whittled his weight down to the point where the 240 pounds he carries is an asset, not a liability. A fair boxer with a neat left jab, he boasts a fair turn of speed. Above all he packs a terrific punch.

While Buddy hopes to follow in his older brother's footsteps as far as gaining the world's title is concerned, his campaign is mapped out along lines in direct contrast to his brother's play-boy methods.

Mrs. William Read, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. R. E. Russell, is visiting in Galveston.

Why That One Drew

First of all there was the tremendous popularity of Young Stribling in the south. Jack Dempsey stepped into the picture when an untimely death took Tex Rickard out of the promoter's chair. It all helped to build up the gate for that success.

But the crowds did not flock to the Sharkey-Scott bout. That fracas drew less than a $200,000 gate. Carnera and Maloney drew somewhere in the neighborhood of $50,000 while the Carnera-Loughran fight proved the biggest failure of all when it attracted even less than that figure.

Nothing in these figures to indicate that at some future date the stadium might pay for itself.

The Garden Isn't Likely to tempt staging another big fight show in Miami—not for a while at least. If the south should develop another boy with a following that would come close to Stribling's, they might change their minds. In the meantime the task of dismantling the big arena—that is, the part of it that has not already been destroyed by the termites—will go on.

Two Years For Buddy
At the tender age of 20 Buddy Baer, the younger but bigger brother of Max, is allowing himself just two years more to carve out his niche in boxing's hall of fame. If it can't be done in that time it never will be done.

At least in those two years Buddy hopes to acquire a bank account of sufficient proportions to enable him to leave the ring fairly fixed and settle down on the ranch he

Farewell Party Given For Departing Child

Helen Reta McDonald, four year old daughter of Mrs. R. W. McDonald of Los Angeles, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. E. Moseley, was the honoree at a jolly little farewell party Tuesday afternoon. A pink and green color scheme was delightfully carried out in party decorations and in the refreshments of cake and ice cream.
