Marshall, Bidault Will Meet Tonight

LONDON — AP — The United States, Britain and France worked today on tentative plans for economic consolidation of Western Germany, whose industrial potential may be a major factor in the European Recovery Program.

Collapse of Big Four Conference Was Inevitable

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst The failure of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in London—a complete and acrimonious collapse—was a foregone conclusion.

Ever since the parley began November 25 to draft German and Austrian peace treaties, it has been a knock-down fight between Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and the representatives of the three democracies—U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, French Foreign Minister Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Well, what next? Indications are that Russia intends to intensify her drive to defeat the Marshall Plan and extend her domination westward across Europe. This will be done rigorously by the three democracies, and observers look for an early unification of the American, British and French Zones of Germany, leaving Russia in exclusive control of the rich eastern part.

The logical outcome of such a partition would be the ultimate establishment of two Germanies. The failure to produce a unified Germany might be expected to have far reaching and perhaps adverse effects on the rehabilitation of a continent which has depended so heavily upon Germany for its economic wellbeing in the past.

A gas explosion in a house that rocked the 1300 block of N. Starkweather with the force of a bomb last night miraculously left W. P. Hamm, its new owner, unharmed, but shattered the building's insides and broke a water line lying underneath it.

T-Formation Football at Its Peak Say Coaches and Writers

Brave Leftlander Tops League With Earned Run Average

NEW YORK —(AP)—T-formation football is at its peak with variations of the single wing and Notre Dame box again gaining favor in the opinion of a majority of the coaches and football writers participating in the annual Associated Press season-end poll.

Michigan's success with the single wing and occasional use of the T is given as an example of the new trend although Notre Dame, ranked No. 1 in the national poll, still employs the T exclusively.

The general opinion is that the defense still has not caught up with the T.

Offensive football enjoyed another fine season with increased interest in the forward pass, regardless of down, position of the ball or number of minutes to play. In that sense, the colleges were following the professional trend.

One of the best clubs in the nation, the Cleveland Browns of the All-America Conference, employs the T with such efficiency that no defense has been able to stop it consistently.

Most of the T-teams have added flankers and many are making more use of the man-in-motion sequence, especially in passing. Instead of long touchdown-or-nothing passes, the tendency seems to be toward short shots into the flat zone.

The age of the specialist was hailed by most of the poll participants, many of whom mentioned the free substitution rule.

The specialist trend reached a new high at Southern California where Tom Walker, a band leader, was called upon to kick its points after touchdowns.

Midwest observers point out that Wisconsin and Iowa incorporated the Notre Dame box into their offense and Jim Tatum of Maryland thought he spotted a new trend toward the split-T.

North Carolina, Duke, Southern Methodist, Pennsylvania and Penn State were single wing examples although some mixed in a little T.

Generally speaking, whatever trend there was away from the T was seen in the Midwest and the East.

As for 1948, most poll participants forecast a general increase in scoring with the accent on passing and wide open play.

NEW YORK —(AP)—Warren Spahn, the Boston Braves ace left-hander, topped the National League pitchers with an earned run average of 2.33 for the 1947 season, according to official averages released today.

Rookie Larry Jansen of the New York Giants boasted the best won and lost percentage of .808 on 21 wins and only 3 defeats.

Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati, with an earned run average of 2.47, was good for second place behind Spahn. Blackwell was the top winner with his 22-8 season, including a 16-game streak that made him the best a righthander had compiled in modern days in the National League.

Blackwell's buggy-whip delivery gave him the strik-out title with 192 victims. He also worked the most complete games, 23, and hurled the only no-hit no-run classic of the National season when he blanked Boston, 6-0, June 18.

Following Spahn and Blackwell in the earned run ratings were Ralph Branca of Brooklyn, 2.67; Dutch Leonard of Philadelphia, 2.68; and Murry Dickson of St. Louis 3.06, although he lost more than he won, finishing with a 13-16 mark.

Fourteen fast and furious elimination bouts opened the second annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Seven-Eleven Club-sponsored All-City Boxing Tournament last night in the Sportatorium.

Throughout the evening's card the majority of the fights were decided by close decisions except for two technical knockouts scored in the last two fights of the evening.

Further elimination bouts will be held tonight with the finals in each weight division being determined tomorrow night, plus the awarding of a trophy to the outstanding boxer of the tournament.

In the 85-pound class, seven bouts last night were all decided by judges vote. Brothers Ray Dean and Sammy Martin offered the crowd one of the most exciting bouts in this weight class with the older brother, Ray Dean, getting the nod from the judges.

Ray Bayle outpointed Tommy White, 112-pound division, in the closest and most evenly contested fight of the evening.

Charlie Lafoon was victor over Dan Roche by a technical knockout in the third round of their 147-pound weight fight, and in the 160-pound division class Kelly Anderson scored a TKO on Max Hukill in the third round of their bout.

Results last night:
85-pound division — Robert Kelly defeated Louis Haynes, Jack Cox defeated Sam Giffney, Don Estes defeated Bill Gray, Ray Dean Martin defeated over Sammy Martin, Bill Coberly defeated over Bobby Libby, Jimmy Bennett over Bill Ed Cooper, and Wayne Jones over Gene Martindale.
112-pound division — Ray Bayle outpointed Tommy White.
135-pound division — J. D. Compton defeated Billy Carl Anderson, Pete Cooper defeated Marvin Harrel.
147-pound division — Troy Ray over Tommy Chisholm, Wendell Cheek defeated Vernon Holler, Charlie Lafoon TKO over Dan Roche.
160-pound division — Kelly Anderson TKO over Max Hukill.

Sports Round-Up
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK —(AP)—Judging by the assorted ways in which college conferences agreed to follow the NCAA "purity code" last weekend, the national meetings in January will necessitate a bit of a rubarb with everyone insisting his way is right. At least, none of them would be scared by such "revelations" as the CAV league foundation brought out 18 years ago. Another howl comes change in the rankings issued the other day.

Low Fonseca, whose world series novies will be previewed today, says that 7-12 million people are waiting to see the film.

Midwest report says two former Purdue athletes are building basketball powerhouses.

Johnny Woodin at Indiana State (Terre Haute) and Johnny Sines at Lawrence. It may take a powerhouse to endure modern basketball, at that. Two games in Madison Square Garden last Saturday produced exactly 122 personal fouls. Bob McCurry, recently re-elected Michigan State football captain, won the toss before every game this fall. Apparently he earned the job.

Joe Stone of Ashland, Ky. High School scored nine touchdowns in ten football games this fall on runs that averaged 61.6 yards.

CLEANING THE CUFF
Chicago baseball writers plan to ask Branch Rickey to stand in for Jackie Robinson, winner of the J. Louis Comiskey most valuable rookie trophy, at their annual dinner Jan. 18. Jackie can't make it because of a movie assignment in Hollywood.

Auburn alumni, who had the hatchets on for Carl Voyles, are reported to be a lot happier with popular Wilbur Hutless in the athletic director's job. When fans carried Coy McGee off the field after the Notre Dame-Nebraska game, McGee pointed to Nebraska's Tom Novak, who played a whole of a defensive game, and said: "There's the fellow you should be slapping on the back."

Sport Shots

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS —(AP)—Don't look now Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio but things are being said and are going to be said that will make you pretty sore.

Places like Amarillo, Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo, Greenville, Temple, Waco, Corpus Christi and Austin are already saying you formed this City Conference in interscholastic league sports because you would like to win a championship once in a while.

Frankly, chums, just what has this organization accomplished? Has it equalized athletics in the schools like the idea of a triple A conference that has been booting around for years?

The real solution is formation of a conference taking in all schools with 750 enrollment up.

Under the present set-up the city conference will have a champion but it will be disputed lustily by the schools in class AA—The schools that are in the smaller cities. That is, it will be disputed if someone terms it a "state champion" — and they probably will.

There is no plan for playing off the championship between the city conference and the class AA division. The only way the City Conference can escape from slurs that it was formed so the big boys might win some times is for the two divisions to play for the title when each champion has been determined.

We are quite neutral about this; our slogan is "Let's you and him fight."

Steers Move East to Keep Record Intact

AUSTIN —(AP)—The University of Texas basketball team en route East today, hoping to keep clear a record of no defeats in competition at New York's Madison Square Garden.

The rebuilt Longhorn squad left yesterday by train for New York; in past years, Texas has invaded the Garden courts three times and has never been beaten.

Their first game this trip will be with City College of New York Thursday night.

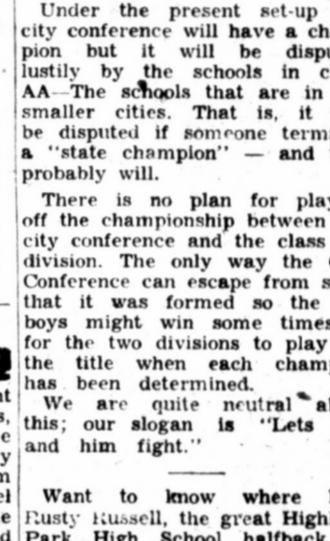

The Longhorn's first trip was in 1929, when Texas easily downed Manhattan. Last December Gray's fast-breaking crew came from behind to overcome Long Island, 74-66. The third appearance was in March, in the NCAA playoffs when Texas outran CCNY, 54-50, to take third place honors in the National Collegiate Tournament.

The Steers complete their journey through the East Saturday night, facing St. Joseph's on a crowd-winning doubleheader that also sends Kentucky against Temple University.

Early Texas games point up another strong first team, with just as much speed as last year, but the Longhorns are sharply deficient in reserves. The standouts in the opening games have been the fleet backcourt duo.

Entire Nous Club Has Christmas Party

The members of the Entire Nous Club held their annual Christmas party, with their husbands as guests, Sunday evening in the E. A. Shackleton home, east of Pampa.

The house, throughout, was festive with Christmas greenery, pine cones, silver bells, sparkling "snow," red tapers, holly, mistletoe, tiny reindeer and a miniature scene of the Three Wise Men in the Holy Land.

The Christmas dinner was served buffet style to about 35 including the members of the club, the husbands present and two guests, Miss Ann Hastings and Miss Vera Rigdon.

After dinner a series of guessing contests resulted in prizes for Mrs. Charles Tigmore, Dave Turcott, and Miss Hastings.

The members of the club presented their president, Mrs. J. C. Farrington, with a gift of a copper double-cooker, and the president distributed individual gifts to all the ladies present.

Only 24 Days Work

Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah," was completed during the 24 days between Aug. 22 and Sept. 14, 1741. After a rehearsal on April 8, 1742, it was performed for the first time at a concert held in Dublin on April 13. It was not until a year later that it was heard in London on March 23, 1743. But since that time it has probably had more performances than any other masterpiece in the history of music.

How to Store Dry Foods
COFFEE or jam jars with screw tops and pint or quart mason jars make handy receptacles in which to store rice, cereals, spaghetti and other dry foods in cupboard and pantry space which could not otherwise be used.

Fasten the jar tops, with nails or screws, to a permanent position on the bottom of a wooden shelf. Then, when the jar has been filled, it can be screwed into place, hanging from the bottom of the shelf. Large jars can be placed at the back and a row of smaller jars for spices and condiments can make up a front row. You will find the foods stored in this way handy to get at and easy to keep in order.

The space under the jars can be used for dishes or for other packaged foods. This arrangement stretches the space in cupboards and pantries and puts everything in place so that it is unnecessary when removing items from the shelves. If you have trouble identifying some of the items, such as salt and sugar, flour and baking powder, scissor off a part of the package label and put it along the glass at the bottom of the jar before filling.

This same arrangement can be employed under a shelf over your gas range for spices and condiments that are used often. The jars can be decorated if you wish with decalcomanias or stripes of colorful paint to match your kitchen decoration scheme.

Officials Attempt News Censorship

The boys in Washington are at it again. This time it is an effort to "classify" all government information. Actually what is intended is military censorship of all government news with only that being released that the officials decide might be good for the public to know. In these days of international turmoil there may be some reason why certain information concerning the operation of the Atomic Energy Commission, the military branches of the government and possibly some of the State Department activity could be "classified."

Gracie Reports

Well, I took a look at the Christmas toy displays yesterday and I was very interested to see the practical one. True, there were rocket ships and airplanes and locomotives but there were also lots of toys to build houses with. This looks like our first real hope for a solution to the housing problem. If we give our kiddies building toys now we may knock together something for us to live in when they grow up. Or maybe they'll rush together some little borary housing units with the vials in this year's toy sets.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Common Ground

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - The highest officials of the armed forces and the State Department disagree sharply over the wisdom of Anglo-American diplomatic moves in the partition of Palestine. At the unwilling to express their views publicly, the military believes that the two western nations have been outsmarted by Moscow. It is their belief that Stalin supported our suggestion for division of the Holy Land among the Jews and Arabs for selfish nationalistic policy purposes. His postwar program of gobbling up small, satellite countries convinced them that he was not sincerely seeking a solution of the Palestine question, or that he was acting from humanitarian motives. Since the United Nations has not been able to establish an international police force, due mainly to Russia's tactics of delay and opposition, it appears inevitable that the United States and Russia will have to send troops to the Holy Land when the British pull out next summer. London has indicated that she will not participate in any policing of the area after she washes her hands. Pontius Pilate-like, of the area.

FOOTHOLD

Our Army-Navy men maintain that Stalin will never withdraw his forces from this strategic territory, once he is permitted to obtain a foothold there. His agents, in their opinion, will stir up both the Jews and the Arabs, and keep conditions in such a state of turmoil that he will have a Moscow-made pretense for permanent occupation. Just as he persists in keeping his forces in Austria, Poland, Yugoslavia and other countries, they think that he will remain in Palestine.

CHANCES

In view of this reaction to the Eisenhower - for - President questionnaires, it is agreed that his chances will improve as the Republican prospects for a 1948 victory decline, if they do. If President Truman grows weaker as election time approaches, and if his defeat seems certain, neither of the generals will have an outside chance. In that event, the big and little Warwicks will name one of their kind, preferably Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. He is the man whom the "regulars" prefer, provided they can assure themselves of his sponsorship of the Hartley - Taft Act has not alienated the labor vote. They figure that Mr. Taft, or a man of his type, would "do right by the party," as they phrase it.

GAG

Rep. Donald L. O'Toole of Brookline pulled the best gag in connection with the aircraft procurement scandal. As a member of the banking and currency committee, he listened to a recital of the complexities involved in handling the $597,000,000 stopgap fund for France, Austria and Italy. Then he said: "I could vote for this bill with greater assurance if that wizard of finances, Bennie Meyers, were going to administer it!"

contented that I believe that

Roosevelt and certain men should not have been allowed to learn to read. I never said anything like that, or ever believed it. What I did say is that the world would have been better off if Stalin, Hitler and Roosevelt could not have been able to read. Then they could not have done so much harm to their respective countries. A man who would consent that people should not be allowed to learn to read would be a dictator of the worst kind.

Answering Cleveland Public Educator's Inquiry

I have a letter from Frank J. Skelly of the Cleveland (Ohio) Board of Education in which he says: "I read your sentiments on compulsory education in Newsweek and showed the article to Dr. D. J. Wiens, Chief Bureau of Attendance, Cleveland Public Schools. Dr. Wiens and myself are attending a meeting of educational officials in Detroit next week called the Tri-State Conference on Pupil Personnel. Could you send us a message to present to this group. It sure would be interesting to get your views."

Here is my answer to Mr. Skelly: "The article in Newsweek made by Joseph Stalin other than statements and conclusions that were never even in my mind. In the recent conflict are 'outsiders', they do not belong to the lodge. The C.O.P.s are figure that the two heroes not having a political background or upbringing, would not have the proper notions about such niceties as patronage, day-by-day rewards for party patriots, and all the other questions which concern the clubhouse crowd."

"I have repeatedly offered in the columns of this paper any preacher in Orange County holding a pulpit salary of government or to harmonize tax-supported schools with quotations of Jesus Christ. He did not have to be successful, he just had to try. No preacher accepted the offer. He offered the superintendents of schools in Santa Ana and five sister newspapers of this publication $500 if they would attempt to defend tax-supported schools against any one of the prominent American citizens. Not one of them would agree. I am enclosing an editorial published July 31, 1947 in The Register and in the other newspapers a few days later. I am also enclosing a leaflet by Leonard Reed, founder of the Foundation for Economic Education, which we published with his consent on December 3, 1946. It is under the heading of 'A Great American Leader and a Big Business Friend on Public Education.'"

"These will give you a little idea of the reason we believe tax-supported schools will hasten the downfall of our country. Rose Wilder Lane says that tax-supported schools are the 'primary tyranny.' Isabel Paterson says 'compulsory education is tyranny naked.'"

"How do you explain the fact that none of the superintendents of schools in the towns in which sister newspapers of this publication are published would attempt to defend what they are doing for $500? I know of no honest intelligent man who wouldn't be glad to discuss publicly what he is doing for nothing, let alone $500. Of course the reason they won't do it is that they are not educators at all, but only bureaucrats and apple polishers and are not seekers of the truth. Of course these ideas won't be regarded with much respect by a group of people who are recipients of money received against the will of people who believe in the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Declaration of Independence. The public educators do not have a decent respect for the opinions of mankind. They have the power and they propose to keep it. If you do not think that people who are willing to debate against public schools are educated, read 'The God of the Machine' by Isabel Paterson. Ayn Rand says this is the greatest book published in the last 4000 years. Or, read 'Give Me Liberty' by Rose Wilder Lane."

"How do you people who believe in tax-supported schools determine how far the state should go? How do you arrive at the conclusion that the state has a right to do a thing that no individual has a right to do? You certainly wouldn't claim that you as an individual would have the right to use another man's property to make another man pay for your ideas of education. You can't transfer to the state the right to protect your life and property because you had that right originally. It is an inherent right."

"Undoubtedly the superintendents of schools in the six cities will not accept the opportunity to be of service because they would be very much embarrassed at the above questions. They would have to deny their belief in the Declaration of Independence and the Ten Commandments. They have nice fat salaries with a lot of honorific titles. They cannot afford to jeopardize their positions for a mere $500. They are much more interested in holding their jobs than they are in learning the principles set forth in the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Declaration of Independence. That is undoubtedly the reason they will not perform the duty."

OLD QUESTION OF FLEET SIZE STILL UNANSWERED

The question of how big a fleet the U.S. should maintain for national security has been argued back and forth in Congress for many years. Main impact of the Keller report is to revive interests in the subject, and make old recommendations seem new. Congress set a policy in the Merchant Marine Act of 1936. A Maritime Commission report in 1938 laid out a long-range shipbuilding program which paid off handsomely by expansion in wartime. In June, 1946, the Maritime Commission reviewed its program in the light of expected peacetime traffic. It recommended construction of 88 new passenger ships and 86 fast new freighters. The Keller report merely revised this to 46 passenger ships and 206 freighters - 50 a year for four years.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE WITH MAJOR HOOP!

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
This is the story of a dead duck.
Our particular duck wandered from the straight and narrow path and this led to his death. It also brought him fame. Figure out your own moral.
The duck was a Surf Scoter drake. It was killed down near Rockport by Harry Mills of Mills Wharf.
Biologist W. S. Heit, in charge of the federal aid waterfowl program for the State Game Commission, said it was the first such duck to be killed on the Gulf Coast this century. It was only the second ever killed this far south. The other was shot near New Orleans back in 1890.
How it got to Rockport no one knows. Ordinarily, Heit said, the Surf Scoter comes south from its McKenzie river breeding grounds in Canada by two flyways. One is down the Pacific Coast. The other runs south to the Great Lakes and then on to the Atlantic seaboard.
When shot by Mills, the Surf Scoter was romping with a couple of Hellyvers, or Grebes to the technical mind.
The duck is being mounted for future admirers to view. And already he has been written up in scientific journals.
But the fact remains he's still just a dead duck.
Neighbor a smart dog belonging to Mrs. M. L. Montgomery of Amarillo, isn't a dead dog but he has a broken leg. His enthusiasm for a slide at the park caused his trouble.
Neighbor accompanies Don and Bill Montgomery to the park and learned to love the slides. He would climb up the step and get as big a thrill as any kid whizzing down the 16-foot-long slide. If Don and Bill weren't going to the park, then Neighbor would go alone, spend his time scooting down the way slick boards.

During a recent cold spell, he tried it. But there was ice on the steps, and Neighbor slipped and fell, breaking his leg. He's almost well now, and lying the slides happily.
Speaking of hunger, a yearling Brahman who won three prizes at the State Fair was so intrigued by the pretty ribbons of victory that he ate them.

The East Lansing college has lost eight players to organized baseball since the close of the 1947 season. Roberts had phenomenal success here. Experienced baseball men describe Hansen as a ballplayer's shortstop.

This way, you'll still have enough left to hit a few of the big city high spots, and -"

Challenge To Love (Cont.) Her dark eyes held the wild look of one watching the conflagration which is reducing a life's work to ashes. But as they fixed on Joel a little of their frantic brilliance faded. She ran toward him quickly. "Joel!" she was sobbing, as she came. "Oh, Joel, I got here in time! I was afraid you'd be gone, and I love you so-I love you so!" (To Be Continued)

Johnson's Cafe at Kingsmill and Cuyler.

Smith this morning denied that he planned to work with Line on the burglaries. He said they had been introduced in the Main Street Bar by a man identified as "Carl" but didn't remember "Carl's" last name.

Line, an ex-convict, served five to seven years in the New Mexico State Penitentiary for assault with a deadly weapon. Smith told police Line was "hotter than a fire-cracker in Colorado," but Line denied the accusation. Police will start checking on that angle today.

While in the second-hand store, Line stole a .38 calibre pistol later recovered by police. He threw the pistol away behind the grain elevator, Line told police this morning.

Line, born in Denison, told police he had a wife and baby in Dallas and that his baby needed an operation.

Smith now faces at least five years in Huntsville for breaking his probation or suspended sentence. He can be sent there without even a trial.

Among Line's possessions police discovered a little pamphlet titled: "Seven Years in Texas Prisons."

FOREIGN AID

distributed, but based its cuts on the figures above.

The committee said $66,000,000 of the amount voted for France was for items not directly related to emergency relief, and so was $22,000,000 of the Italian request. These items included such things as $26,000,000 for servicing of the French foreign debt.

The foreign-aid money is in a general appropriation bill which also provides funds for various other government uses.

The total in the measure is $72,504,000. The amount is 31 percent below what the administration asked.

The largest reduction was in the fund for Army, government and relief in occupied areas, amounting to 53 percent.

The committee cut $137,000,000 from the Army's request for $237,000,000 for food and relief in the British occupied zone of Germany and trimmed $123,000,000 from food and relief estimates for United States occupied areas in Germany, Japan and Korea.

In cutting the Army's requested funds for administration and relief in occupied areas, the committee said $237,000,000 of the original estimate represented the cost to the United States of feeding people in the British Zone.

It urged that there be "a clear and definite agreement between the two governments concerned (United States and Britain) setting forth in plain terms the obligations and responsibilities assumed by each government so that the Congress when making appropriations will know exactly the program it is providing for."

The money provided, it said, will be adequate "until a proper agreement can be entered into."

The committee said it has information that administrative costs in the British Zone of Germany are "excessive" and should be reduced to leave more money for actual relief.

The committee gave the House with its bill a report on testimony it took in secret from Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of state.

The report disclosed that Lovett told the committee this about the emergency foreign aid:

"You will not get any of this back, in my opinion. I think you might just as well face up to that."

Lovett told it, too, that the aid program was no guarantee of European recovery but "the very hard, ugly choice between two risks."

"The first risk," Lovett told the committee, "is the risk that if we undertake the long-term program it may not work out."

Against that risk, he said, "We have to weigh, from the standpoint of national security and our economic welfare, the incalculable risk of what happens if we do not take this step of an attempt at recovery."

After the House votes on the appropriation bill, the Senate Appropriations Committee will have a chance to change it, and may put in funds of China.

Anti-Inflation

ure would authorize voluntary agreements by industry aimed at bringing down prices under temporary suspension of the anti-trust laws; extend export controls; and continue transportation restrictions.

The latter two points are included in Mr. Truman's program, the heart of which is power to restore limited rationing and wage-price controls if necessary. The consistent Republican answer on that has been: nothing doing.

Taft's bill went to the Senate Banking Committee. But it made no immediate plans to consider the measure.

The administration delivered a price and wage control bill to the House and Senate Banking Committees yesterday. It would carry out Mr. Truman's ideas, but there is no chance for any action on it now.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.), noted that the bill would give the Republican-controlled Congress a check on any price ceilings that might be imposed, "so that they could knock them out if they wanted to."

"It's not enough that they are getting out of the market, as I am told they are doing," Stassen said. "They ought to get out of the government."

Stassen said this applies to Edwin W. Pauley, special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royal, who told the Senate committee last week that he has had commodity market holdings approximating $1,000,000 (million). Pauley denied that he had used any information he obtained as a government official in his trading activities.

CONFERENCE

look for an intensification of the Russian drive immediately.

The day-by-day proceedings of the foreign ministers' conference have made it clear that Moscow had no intention whatsoever of making an agreement. From start to finish, Molotov pursued the customary Soviet tactics of stalling for time so as to hamper rehabilitation, and used the meeting as a sounding board for the spread of Bolshevik propaganda which was calculated to pit the democracies in a bad light and give communism a lift.

In one important respect, Russia has received a distinct setback. When France entered the conference she was maintaining a middle-of-the-road course between the Soviet Union and the democracies. Paris wanted to be friendly with Moscow. However, Molotov's uncompromising attitude and his violent attacks on the western allies pushed France into the American-British camp.

BIG FOUR

Powers with development of a local governing authority in Eastern Germany.

Secretary Marshall's Republican advisor, John Foster Dulles, who recently conferred with French leaders, including Premier Robert Schuman and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, said last night that he felt certain "agreement can be reached on a combination of the three (Western) zones."

The final failure of the London conference, the sixth session of the foreign ministers' council since the end of the war, was in many respects an anti-climax. It followed a pattern which had been foreseen, and dramatics were few. The real explosion, as a matter of fact, occurred last Friday, when Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov bundled up all the known Soviet charges about the other occupying powers and threw them in the faces of Marshall, Bevin and Bidault, who already had denied them to Molotov's face.

Then, and again last night, Molotov stood firm on his demand for billions of dollars in reparations from Germany's future production. The western min-shepherds gathered around the Christ Child. The figures were made and the scene was constructed by Mrs. J. M. Clegg, and it is one of two such scenes in the city, the other being a Nativity scene in front of the Courthouse, erected by a Chamber of Commerce committee with Charles Thomas in charge.

The schools have been busy with room and hall decorations, from the first grade through Senior High. Especially noteworthy are the large lighted and tinsel-draped trees in the hallways of Junior and Senior High School. The Palm Room at City Hall also has a large tree, a project of the city and the Chamber of Commerce.

isters took the position that this would make Germany an economic vassal of the Soviet Union. It was on the reparations issue that the conference finally foundered.
