Traders Against Listing of Names

CHICAGO—(AP)—Dealers on the floor of the Board of Trade said Saturday they felt the listing of names and positions of wheat futures traders was a violation of private business rights.

The Department of Agriculture Friday made public a list of big and little traders in wheat, responding to instructions from Congress. It included the names of everyone "long" or "short" wheat on April 30, 1946, down to the smallest possible total—an "odd lot" of 1,000 bushels.

The Chicago Board of Trade took no official position, a spokesman explaining that the board was simply a market place, and, as such, not involved in the publication of traders' names.

FHA Authority Gets New Funds

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman yesterday signed a measure increasing by $750,000,000 the Federal Housing Administration's authority to insure new home mortgages.

The original $4,200,000,000 authorization was exhausted about Thanksgiving. Home builders asked an emergency appropriation of $200 million through March 31, contending that the exhaustion of authorized funds would cripple the current boom in dwelling construction.

In the closing days of the special session, Congress cut the amount by 26 percent and directed that $500,000,000 of the

Texas' Three Major Crops Make Billion Dollar Business

1947 Was One of Most Disastrous Years in Texas

By the Associated Press

A dark black border around the edges of the map of Texas would have been appropriate in 1947, one of the most disastrous years in recent history.

The tragic Texas City explosion April 16, an explosion fatal to 568 men, women and children, would have been added to any one year. More people died in that one tragedy than died in the San Francisco earthquake. Destruction alone was enough to last a lifetime.

But Texas City was not the only disaster. It was the worst, but there were others which brought grief, tragedy, and damage, too.

The weather was unruly, starting on the very first day of the new year with blizzards, snow, ice, disrupted traffic and communications. This cold wave brought on to many, either frozen or asphyxiated in gas-heated cabins and homes.

A tornado ripped into the Panhandle April 9, swept on into Oklahoma, killing 152 in the two states. Relief was still being rushed to stricken Glazier and Higgins in Texas, and Woodward, Oklahoma, when the Texas City explosion stunned the world six days later.

Four hurricanes touched the Texas coast—one between Brownsville and Corpus Christi, another at Tampico Nov. 13 (felt in Texas), a third at Galveston Aug. 24, and still a fourth Sept. 15 that struck New Orleans, brought winds and rain to Texas.

Twenty persons were killed in a truck explosion and fire at Waxahachie Aug. 5. A plane crashed at Amarillo Dec. 2 killed four. Train wrecks were amazingly numerous, and were climaxed by the Dec. 11 collision of two passenger trains at New Braunfels which killed four persons.

Tornadoes occurred in widely scattered points—in Northeast Texas April 30, the Panhandle May 15, in East Texas in November.

The East Texas forest fire in March, again in April when they raged out of control from Sept. 24 to Oct. 3. Damage to Texas timberlands was heavy.

Explosions and fires were costly. A barge exploded at Houston Feb. 2 causing $100,000 damage. Seven buildings burned to the ground in Houston Feb. 7, with losses amounting to $175,000.

The tanker Lyons Creek was wrecked by an explosion at Houston March 4. A refinery blast was reported at Borger Oct. 31. A $150,000 fire gutted the Fort Worth stockyards August 21.

The tug Winona sank at Beaumont Feb. 21, and two men drowned.

Death and disaster stalked the Lone Star State in 1947.

DRIVER IS KILLED

TRIESTE—(AP)—Benezia Iulija, police said a Yugoslav sentry Friday night machinegunned to death a driver who tried to plunge his truck through a Yugoslav barrier into the American-British sector of the free territory.

The other occupants of the truck, a woman and two children, were unhurt.

SIMPLICITY—Nothing is more simple than greatness; indeed, to be simple is to be great. — Emerson

AUSTIN—(AP)—Production and income from the three major crops in Texas—wheat, cotton and rice—shot sharply upward in 1947, with a preliminary survey pointing toward a billion dollar business.

V. C. Childs, of the United States Department of Agriculture office here, placed the total income at $955,379,000—more than the estimated cash received in Texas on key crops in 1946. Wheat and cotton led the way, but rice didn't do badly.

The record 1947 wheat crop of 2,377,000 bushels compared with 2,216,000 bushels in Texas the previous year.

Using $2 a bushel as the average price, the expert for the USDA's Bureau of Economics division of crop and livestock estimates said this year's wheat income ranged around $252,840,000.

King cotton had its best year in Texas since 1937 with an estimated production of 3,580,000 bales at about $182 a bale. Add to this 1,280,000 tons of cottonseed, and cotton shapes up as the "big boy" among state crops. The combined income figure for 1947 was $625,380,000 while 1946 had a total of only $294,118,125.

Texas rice hit the sack not on 23,377,000 bushels at $3 a bushel. This amounts to $70,119,000, or nearly $20,000,000 over the previous year.

The picture has several blank spots in it. Childs said he probably would not have complete information on the 1947 Texas agriculture income, including the important livestock marketing figures, until sometime next month.

A sample of what can be expected from the minor crops, however, is a report on the year's income-production of flax, a relatively new crop in South Texas.

The past year, 729,000 bushels of flaxseed were marketed in the state, with the average price at $5.75 and the total income estimated a $4,191,750. In 1946, 555,000 bushels of flaxseed were raised in Texas at higher prices (around $8.50 a bushel) for $3,607,500.

C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist at Texas A and M College, pointed out that while the total cash market receipts for Texas agricultural products will probably be "somewhat higher" than for 1946, net slightly, as a result of increased incomes will likely be up only production costs.

Careless Driving, Storms, Bad Luck Result in Wrecks

Associated Press Staff

Storms, careless driving, and bad luck caused an unusual number of train, bus and plane wrecks in Texas during 1947.

Early in the year, a train and a car collided at Arlington, killing one man, to set off a regular epidemic of such tragedies.

On April 13, three were killed at Higgins when two freight trains collided during a blinding snowstorm. The disaster followed closely on the heels of a death-dealing tornado at the same West Texas town.

Seven were hurt in Dallas when two street cars collided April 22. Six days later, a bus overturned near Hillsboro, injuring 28 persons.

Accidents were not confined to collisions—a train exploded in Fort Worth May 21, injuring two persons.

Four were injured in a freight train crash July 1 at Wichita Falls. Seventeen cars were derailed at Denison Sept. 4. Seven were killed in a tragic San Angelo passenger car-pickup head-on collision Sept. 21.

November was a jinx month. Two train wrecks in one day—Nov. 8—occurred at Amarillo and Corsicana. On Nov. 10, there was a train wreck at Leonard, and the following day, Nov. 11, at Houston. Other November wrecks occurred at Panhandle Nov. 21, and Odessa Nov. 23.

There was another bus crash Dec. 3 at Marlin.

One of the year's worst wrecks in Texas was the New Braunfels head-on collision of two passenger trains Dec. 11, killing four.

Heaviest fatality of the year, however, in accidents of this nature was the Waxahachie truck collision and explosion Aug. 5, in which 20 persons died.

Panel Will Meet on Western Union Dispute

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A three-man panel named to settle Western Union and three AFL unions will hold its first meeting here Monday.

Cyrus S. Ching, federal mediation and conciliation service director, selected Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the Washington Post; Walter E. Fisher, University of Pennsylvania professor, and Charles A. Horsky, Washington attorney, to serve on the panel.

The unions called off a strike scheduled last Tuesday and agreed with the company to let a panel selected by Ching decide on the proper period for comparing wage-profit relationships in talking new wage rates. The arbitrators will not, however, pass on a union demand for wage increases of 15 cents an hour for 50,000 workers.

Another point to be decided is the date any new wage rates will be applied—last October 1 or November 1.

Court Martial Is Approved by Army

YOKOHAMA—(AP)—The Army Department has approved a general court martial sentence of three years at hard labor for Maj. Frank A. Kotches of Stamford, Conn., convicted of soliciting gifts from Japanese for influencing Army contracts, it was announced.

Use of synthetic perfume started with the beginning of the 20th century.

MOVEMENT FINANCED

CAIRO—(AP)—The weekly newspaper Akhbar El Yom said Saturday a fund of $20,000 Egyptian allocated to a "secret budget" of the foreign ministry by Parliament would be used to "finance the Arab movement against a Jewish state" in Palestine.

voters to go to the polls. May first should likewise be underscored.

It is the day for the precinct convention delegates are elected. This—in reality—is the Texas Democratic voter's only real opportunity to express his Presidential preference, since the county delegates to the May convention are the ones who ultimately name the Presidential electors. They also select delegates to the National Democratic Convention.

The county conventions will be held May 4, and the Presidential Elector Convention at Brownwood May 25. June 7 is the last day for state office and U. S. senatorial candidates to file for place on the primary ballot.

On July 4 absentee voting for the first primary starts. It ends July 20, and the first primary is dated July 24.

The second Democratic primary will be held Aug. 28, the September or "Governor's" convention Sept. 14 at Fort Worth, and the general election on Nov. 2. The Republican Party will nominate in convention.

In between, there are numerous other dates of considerable importance, but those are the principal ones.

In the strictly state elections, Texas voters will select a governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, three members of the Supreme Court, one member of the Court of Criminal Appeals, one member of the Railroad Commission, comptroller, state school superintendent, treasurer, land commissioner and commissioner of agriculture.

In the district races, 18 state senators of the body's 31 must stand for election, and the 150 members of the State House of Representatives from 127 districts. Senators are elected for four-year terms, representatives for two years.

Sailor Killed in Hunting Accident

TEXARKANA—(AP)—A hunting accident near here Friday proved fatal to Herman Lynn Gumm, 38, sailor home on Christmas leave.

Gumm was with two other youths when the accident occurred. One of his companions said the hammer of a gun became hung on a boat seat, causing the gun to go off.

The victim was a native of Grand Prairie.

Today's column is a continuation of the statements made by John R. Sturgis...

In yesterday's article we were listing the 22 laws of distribution set forth by Mr. Sturgis...

"13. Wealth is the part of the products of labor which is not consumed but saved."

"14. Capital is that part of the wealth which is employed to furnish workers with the means and other equipment necessary for efficient production of what people want."

"15. When the increased cost of production or factors are taken out of the profits of the capitalists it reduces that part of the country's wealth which would go to build new industrial plants or improve old ones...

"16. Under the competitive system capital tends to drift into the possession of those who are best qualified to employ it in the production of what people want."

"17. The success of an industry or other business depends upon and is in proportion to the intelligence of the management."

"18. When uninterfered with by the government or others, and operating under Nature's laws, each person secures for himself out of the country's products an equivalent of what he puts in. Some services are more valuable than other services. These values are determined by the law of supply and demand. People obtain each other to get the best. The scarcer a service, the more valuable it is."

"19. Mr. Marshall is not regarded as a war-monger or an alarmist. As wartime Chief of Staff, he had most cordial relations with his military opposites, and he came to have a personal affection for them."

"20. He discovered his mistake at London, as did President Truman only a few months after he entered the White House. Secretary Marshall now has no love for or regard for the Communists, and regards them as a mortal enemy only awaiting the opportunity to destroy the U. S. along with the rest of the universe."

"21. He may not use this blunt language but conferences with key members of Congress, at least for publication. But no amount of diplomatic talk can conceal the fact that the United States and Russia are now at war."

"22. Two major shifts in the Truman cabinet are scheduled for early 1948 as the President seeks to strengthen his Administration's political appeal for the forthcoming election and we're looking for a change in them any day now."

Texas Law Review Is Reaching Top

AUSTIN —(AP)—The Texas Law Review is now the second largest college publication in the nation with a circulation of 3,300. Dean Charles T. McCormick of the University of Texas Law School has reported that Harvard's Law Review is the leader with 5,200 circulation, and Columbia University's third with 2,700.

"The quality of a law school is judged by the outside world by the law review publishing the scholarly output of its students and faculty," Dean McCormick said. "The fact that the Texas Law Review's circulation is the second largest gives evidence of a high estimate of the work of the school."

If the new government can hang on, we may expect to see a great intensification in the assault against the monarchy. Should that be overthrown, it would immediately be replaced by a Communist government affiliated with Moscow, like all the other Balkan states excepting Turkey. This would cause fresh pressure to force Turkey to join the Axis demands in the Balkans.

The leader of the Red rebellion is one "General" Markos Vafiades, who is said to be a capable leader and a good organizer. Thus far he seems to be carrying the bulk of his capital about in his hip pocket. Fierce fighting is proceeding in Northern Greece near the Albanian and Yugoslav frontiers, and the "general" has succeeded in keeping the whereabouts of his headquarters—presumably a sort of government—a dark secret.

Firemen and Families Have Christmas Party

Around 70 persons gathered at the Pampa Fire Department Christmas Eve as a party was given for Pampa firemen, their wives and children.

The feature of the evening was the arrival of Santa Claus, in person, who distributed gifts to all the children present.

Refreshments of doughnuts, hot chocolate and coffee were served.

Hundreds of passengers were stranded in chilly trains through the night with one group of 400 spending ten hours huddled in seven cars after embarking on a normally 20 minute trip from Pennsylvania station to Flushing, Queens.

Motor coaches between New York and New Jersey operated only on main highways. The Pennsylvania Railroad was operating to New Jersey but the Hudson tubes, linking New York, Jersey City, Hoboken and Newark, were operating only to Journal Square, Jersey City, and transferring Newark passengers to Pennsylvania Railroad trains.

Pampa line crews did most of the work on the 30-mile power line, but crews from Fanninville and Amarillo came in to help in order that most of the power line might be turned on before Christmas.

Work was being finished this week at the Grandview School as it was being electrically equipped to receive power from the new line. This will replace the old Delco system which has been in use there for some time, and this will also enable the school to comply more closely with state school regulations.

It was noted this power extension will bring in a new era of convenience and efficiency to a large number of farms and ranches in this section, not only making homes more comfortable, but serving to increase production.

Automatic Shine Making Separate Checks on Traders

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Chairman Anderson (R-Minn.) of a House investigating committee called upon Secretary of Agriculture Anderson yesterday to disclose the names of 200 federal employees in Chicago who allegedly speculated in the commodities market on the strength of "inside" government information.

Anderson said in a letter to Anderson that his House Committee on Commodity Speculation wants the facts concerning "the investigation conducted by the Commodity Exchange Authority during the fall of 1947" involving the 200 federal workers.

"The committee desires the names and addresses of each of the said employees and the name of their bureau or agency in which each employee worked, as well as the names and addresses of the commodity brokers handling the accounts," Anderson's letter said.

Anderson's demand upon Secretary Anderson came as a combination of sleuthing and accounting by both Senate and House committees was put on the trail of any "government insiders who may have profited from commodity market speculation."

Besides the inquiry being made by Anderson's committee, an independent check will be made by a Senate committee.

Anderson told newsmen late yesterday that he had received information from "a very reliable source" that the Commodity Exchange Authority conducted an investigation of alleged gambling on the Chicago commodity mart in August or September "and never made it public."

Anderson told the agriculture secretary that since the Commodity Exchange Authority "has long since completed its Chicago investigation" by the federal workers, "I trust you'll provide the committee with the desired information by Jan. 2, 1948."

In the same letter, Anderson rapped the secretary of agriculture in connection with the two lists of traders already released by Anderson on December 22 and 26.

"While these lists of traders may be of interest to certain persons, the names given are of little value to the House committee because you have failed to designate if any of the persons named have been or are in the employment of the federal government," the Minnesota legislator said.

names of the 200 workers, Anderson also asked Anderson for the names and addresses of every employee on the payroll, since July 1, 1945, of the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Commodity Exchange Authority, throughout the country.

In addition to names and addresses, Anderson told newsmen, this committee wants to know what happened, if anything, to the 200 government employees.

The Senate investigating group is a five-man group appointed by Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee. The special House committee under Anderson is a seven-man unit.

NICE, FRANCE —(AP)—Mrs. Henriette Kennis, who presented herself naked at a beauty contest here, drew a suspended fine Friday. The judge carefully examined a picture of her in her birthday suit after her attorney pleaded she was "a work of art."

Mrs. Kennis and her husband—a lampshade manufacturer who said he approved her action—were among the spectators at what had been announced none too literally as a nude beauty contest. When the girls appeared wearing certain articles of apparel, Mrs. Kennis shouted "fake," jumped up and showed "em.

Nobody can recall who won the beauty contest.

Police Are Seeking

Woman in Murder Case

SANDERSON —(P)— Sheriff J. S. Nance said Friday that he believed he stopped a car near Sanderson Christmas Day in which a woman wanted in San Antonio on a murder charge was riding with a soldier.

The sheriff said he halted the car after he became suspicious, and held the pair until he had checked their story with San Antonio police.

Nance said police in San Antonio told him the couple was not wanted there and that he let them continue.

Afterwards, he said, he read of the slaying of Mrs. Margaret Qualline, 37, at Macedonia, Bexar county, near San Antonio.

Charged with murder in her death was Miss Bernice Bossenette, 33, an ex-WAC.

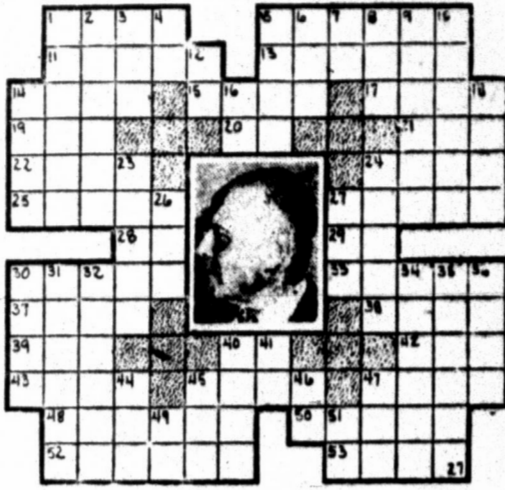

Mrs. Qualline was found dead in her home early Christmas morning. She had been shot with a rifle. The two women had been sharing a small farm home near Macedonia.

Sheriff Nance said he believed the woman in the car he stopped was the same one wanted in San Antonio.

A Post-Christmas Rerort to Santa

NEW YORK —(P)— U. S. mmm, good morning, Miss Smith. Well, it's nice to see somebody came down to the office this morning. All these empty desks with name-plates—the place looks like a cemetery. U. S. mmm. Have a nice Christmas? That's fine. Well, I guess we may as well get down to work, Miss Smith. Got your notebook? Take a letter please— to Santa Claus, North Pole, care of U. S. Postmaster, APO Zero.

"Dear Mr. Claus:

"Your packages of 12-25-47 were duly received and contents noted.

"Many people write you in advance of Christmas, but I thought for a change you might like a letter telling the results of your visit.

"I asked my wife, Hortense, to write you our appreciation, but it seems she is too busy today. She had to go to a department store to exchange the silk nightgown you brought her. She wanted to know if Santa Claus thought she was the fat lady in the circus.

"I want to say myself that my gratitude knows no bounds for the four wonderful ties you gave me. What superb colors! They look as if they had been cut from four different rainbows. They are really too gorgeous for ordinary office wear, and I am putting them away in a box in the closet to present to Junior when he grows to manhood.

"As for Junior himself, he is slightly disgruntled with you this morning. Santa. The bright new sled you brought him is already broken. It collapsed under the weight of Junior and three of his little friends as they were riding belly buster down a hill.

"I hesitate to bring up this final matter, Mr. Claus. Your reindeer, inadvertently I'm sure, pawed a number of tiles from the roof of our house, and in coming down the chimney you damaged the flue, and the fireplace now smokes badly.

"Our landlord estimates the repairs will come to $112.72. I am inclosing a blank check just in case you do wish to make a small gesture.

"In closing, the whole family send best wishes to you and your dear wife. We're glad you called on us and trust you will do so again at your convenience. With all good wishes for the coming year I remain sincerely yours,

There, I think that'll do it, Miss Smith. Just sign it and put it in the mail. U. S. mmm. I don't feel so well myself today. Had to take a little sodium bicarb this morning. Feel like I had a lump of lead in my stomach.

I think I'll knock off for the day now. If anything important comes up, call me at home. U. S. mmm. Good day, Miss Smith. Certainly was a fine Christmas, wasn't it?

Police and Firemen Are at Rescue Work

NEWARK, N. J. —(P)— Police and firemen broke a frozen rail Saturday to rescue women and children. Police Chief John Haller said many hundreds of the women who have been marooned "hungry and freezing" all night in cars and buses by a record-shattering snow storm.

Emergency crews plowed through the drifting snow on foot, bringing coffee and food. Shovelers were readied in precinct police stations to receive the refugees stranded on U. S. route 1 between Elizabeth and Jersey City.

"We haven't been able to get through with heavy moor plows because of the six inch cars and buses," Haller said. "But we've got jeeps in there now, and we're plowing as far as we can, and the men are going on by foot.

"We don't know just how many there are, but there are a number of buses, and each of them probably has 30 persons or more.

Meanwhile the Long Branch ob- in it," Haller said.

Bureau said the snow reached a record depth of 30 inches here, apparently the hardest-hit spot in the smothered northeast, many reported that more than 8,000,000 calls were placed Friday.

English Boys Want To Be Cowboys

LAMARQUE —(P) If the folks of Lamarque and vicinity have their way a British family of five will soon pack their things in London and come to Texas to make their home.

They were invited here after their sons, Fredrick, 11; Leonard, 8, and Skipper, 7, wrote a letter "to a Texas cowboy" to find out something about life in the West.

The letter was published. Someone suggested that the three youngsters be invited to visit Texas, and so a fund was started. Someone else suggested that the whole family be invited to live here. That idea clicked, too.

The parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Payne, wrote that they had always wanted to come to America. "The boys are beside themselves in happiness," they wrote.

Mrs. Glen Weber of Lamarque sent the boys some bluejeans and cowboy shirts. She and her husband offered to donate land here for a place for them to live. They also donated money to go toward passage.

Other residents and organizations began to contribute money, and two offered to take the children on trips.

More than $300 was raised. Orlando Blackburn, editor of the Lamarque Mainland Times, active in the plan, said that at least $500 more would be needed.

Bootlegger Is No Vanishing American

OKLAHOMA CITY —(P)— The bootlegger is no vanishing American in Oklahoma, where prohibition is 40 years old.

Police said he was a big disappointment to Oklahoma city-ans who phoned mysterious numbers on Christmas Day for their favorite brand of Yule spirit.

Bond ran out in the morning; blinds gave out in the afternoon. By midnight the city was close to the statutory drought.

Police, who helped a little by capturing 180 pints, but had two theories to explain it: one, extra-heavy demand; two, "the wholesalers didn't take care of the little boys."

Age Limit Raised In Logging Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach Saturday raised the minimum age limit to 18 years for most jobs in pulpwood logging.
The secretary's order followed a study by the child labor branch of the Wage and Hour Division. Previously some jobs could be handled by 16 and 17 year olds. After February 2, the 18-year-old limit will apply to logging of pulpwood, chemical wood, excellor wood, cordwood, fence posts, and similar woods.

Some occupations in which persons 16 and 17 may still be employed are those removed from the place where felling, bucking, skidding, yarding, and loading occupations are performed.
Also excepted from the 18-year rule are jobs in offices or repair and maintenance shops, in operation of living quarters of logging camps, some road and railroad repairs, forest protection, peeling of pulpwood under certain conditions, straightening and tallying lumber on the dry chain, clean-up in the lumberyard, and clerical work in yards or shipping sheds.

10 Are Dead in Cold of Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Police reported 10 dead and more than 100 hospitalized from the unusual three-day sub-zero cold in the Mexico City area as the weatherman predicted "slightly rising temperatures."
The cold wave which moved across the central plateau from the Gulf of Mexico Christmas Eve, brought snow flurries in the mountains around the capital Friday night. Cold rains and hail storms were reported as far north as Coahuila and Durango states.
The temperature Friday morning dropped to 33.62 degrees Fahrenheit—the coldest Dec. 26 on record here. The chill was penetrating at this mile and a half altitude where few homes and buildings are heated.
The capital's radio-equipped police patrol cars were alerted to watch for persons suffering from exposure. They picked up homeless and took them to heated public dormitories for hot food, massages, and warm beds. Serious cases were hospitalized.

Laredo Has Frosts For Three Days

LAREDO (AP)—Light frosts have been recorded in the Laredo area for three days in succession, beginning when Jack Frost accompanied Santa Claus to this section early Christmas morning.
Temperatures dropped to 37 with the frost Saturday.
Harvest of the tomato crops practically was ended by the continuous light rains and the cold weather preceding Christmas.

Marooned Airmen Are Reported Safe

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass. (AP)—Seven American airmen and two Canadian weather observers, marooned on a frozen Labrador lake since their B-17 fortress force-landed Christmas Eve, were safely back in Goose Bay Saturday after a four-hour, 29-minute rescue flight.
Officers at the Atlantic Division headquarters of Air Transport Command here said radio messages reported the men were in good shape and apparently suffered little from their two-day vigil on barren Lake Dyke.
Their rescue was accomplished Emil G. Beaudry of Manchester, piloted plane Friday by Lt. Colonel N. H. The distance from Goose Bay to the downed plane is 275 miles.
The fortress had taken off on a Christmas mail delivery mission to Baffin Island outposts.

Last Minute Buying Tops Period of '46

NEW YORK (AP)—The final rush for Christmas gifts during the past week pushed retail sales somewhat ahead of the preceding week and 10 to 14 percent over the corresponding week a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet has reported. The Southwest regional gain was 8 to 12 percent.
"The buying of luxury items was generally below that of a year ago; moderately priced articles of good quality continued to be preferred," the business research firm said. "Despite the gain in dollar volume, consumer purchases measured in units generally varied little from those of 1946."

Leap Year Hints on How to Win a Shy Bachelor Offered

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—The 1948 breed of bachelor is going to be a difficult target for leap year lassies.

I've talked with a number of single men who say they are open to reasonable marriage proposals, but since 1948 is the year for the ladies to pop the question—they want it done right.

"Most girls are completely ignorant of how to propose properly," one young man said. "They are generally too bold or careerist about the whole matter."

"They forget marriage is a very serious thing, and no fellow in his right mind is going to say 'yes' to a fibbing girl who giggles when she asks his hand."

This hairless lad said he thought it would be a nice old-fashioned touch if his girl knelt as she asked him to plight her troth.

"If they come to me I'll just tell them to get my father's permission first," said another bachelor.

The consensus was that they expected to be extremely careful about the whole thing and wouldn't be rushed off their feet by any headlong courtship.

Here are a few tips, however, that ought to enable any enterprising girl to land her man:

First of all, don't try to dazzle him into marriage by throwing your money away on him in a gay mad tour of pleasure spots.

Mere gold will not buy an honest boy's love.

You must remember that bachelors are delicate and brooding, and they want to be sure you are a dependable girl and sensitive to their moods.

When you call on your bachelor for your first date, try to win his confidence. Bring along a good book or a box of cigars—little presents like these let him know you want to please him.

Intimate gifts like underwear or shaving lotion should be avoided until you know each other better, and the family has come toward him as truly serious.

Where to take him? Well, many young men don't like to huddle in dark smoky night clubs of questionable repute. It is better to begin by taking him to a movie or treating him to an evening of good clean fun in the neighborhood billiard parlor. Let him beat you a couple of games just for fun. He'll love you for it.

Be sure to get him home early. When you drop him at his door, don't try to kiss him. It will only alarm him and make him think you do that with all the other boys, too. A slight pressure on his warm little hand as you part will show your friendly interest.

Naturally as you get to know him better he will become more responsive, and in time the consideration you have shown will stir him to show his affection in his own boyish way.

It is now time to talk to him about your prospects. Let him know how much money you are making and convince him you both can live on it. If you own an electric washer, mention that. He will be interested in all the details.

The best place to propose to him is on the sofa some night when his parents are away. Look deep into his eyes, hold his hand—and then just pour your heart out to him in simple terms. Tell him life is meaningless to you without him.

To clinch it, show him the two boat tickets for Bermuda you've bought for the honeymoon. Tien fold the big trembling good-bye your arms, sister—he's yours for

MURDER AT MY HOUSE

By Rene Ryerson Mart

THE STORY: It all started after I had been in Hollywood three months, writing the movie script for one of my own mystery books—and trying to get over Oscar Craig. I was being kind of attractive Jeff Hinton, my director, and talking over my picture. Jeff said that young Jimmy Peters was to play the detective and that Avis Vaughn, one of the stars, had insisted on Art Cleave playing the male lead. I was curious to know why a picture has-been could get her own way about this.

JEFF squirmed a little bit, took out his cigarettes and offered me one and I another for himself, before he answered. I know now that he must have considered telling me the truth about Avis Vaughn then and there. But he didn't.

Instead he said evasively, "It will work out all right. Unless..." His voice trailed off in thought.

"Unless what?" I prompted.

"Unless there is trouble between Peters and Cleave. You see, the kid has a crush on Avis, too."

"A nice set-up," I said dryly. Jeff smiled crookedly.

After a little he went on to say that the part of the secretary to the murdered man was to be played by Madge Narney, one of the studio's most promising young starlets. I already knew that capable Helen Hinton had been cast as the old maid who eventually solves the mystery and that John Larraine, another dependable old-timer, was assigned to the only other important role outside the leads. I was flattered. It all stacked up to a darned good cast for my first play.

There was, however, one casting makeshift that didn't please Jeff. One of the minor bits of business in the script revolved around the fact that the suspect wife, played by Avis Vaughn, had a younger sister who looked so much like her that in a few scenes the audience wasn't supposed to know which character they were seeing on the screen. It was just one of those routine tricks mystery writers employ to throw amateur sleuths off the track.

What Jeff didn't like about it was that it called for Avis Vaughn to do a double role and he felt that double roles had been sadly overdone in recent films. He disliked the idea so much that he had tried to find a second actress to play the part of the sister. Failing, however, to find one who photographed enough like Avis to pass for her double, he had in the end assigned both roles to Avis.

He gripped a little more about this that night. Said that it was the only part of his body where the two light pink and that it might have been better to throw that bit of business out entirely.

His plane crashed. I saw it on the ground twisted and mangled. I saw the creeping flames devour it. I saw Oscar beside it.

"Want me to go in with you?" "No, I'll be all right."

"I'll see you in the morning, then."

"Right."

He backed the car out onto the road and started back down the hill.

I fished around in my handbag for my key and walked over to the kitchen door which opens right onto the drive and is more convenient than climbing the steps to the living room entrance above. I had left lights on in the house and one outside over the kitchen door, so I was not nervous about going in alone.

While I was fumbling with the lock I heard a "meow" from somewhere back of me and remembered that I had forgotten to put Tom inside the house, as I usually did when I went away.

"Here, kitty, kitty, kitty," I called.

But the big Persian didn't come running to rub himself affectionately against my legs. He meowed again and there was something wrong with it.

I WALKED over to a lower bed that edged the drive on the farther side and from where the sound seemed to come and peered down. After a moment my eyes adjusted themselves to the gloom and I saw the cat. I gave a cry and dropped to my knees and tried to examine him. His head was the only part of his body where the beautiful yellow fur wasn't clotted with blood. He let me touch his head gently and he made a pathetic little motion of trying to draw himself closer to me by using his front paws. I thought from the way he moved that his back must be broken. That and the blood made me a little sick. I didn't know then how much gore I'd see in the next twenty-four hours.

There seemed at the moment only one thing to do and that was to put the cat out of his misery as quickly as possible. I stood up swaying a little and thinking confusedly of calling the police or a veterinarian. And then I remembered cannot say I did not see that. That is dead—he is just away. With a cherry smile and a wave of the hand he disappeared. He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be since he fingers it there.

And you—O you, who the wisest.

For the old time step and glad return.

Think of him still as the same, I say: He is not dead—he is just away.

Troubles Everywhere You Look but Still—'Merry Christmas'
 ESSEX, Md. (AP)—Police beg to write a report when a motorist knocked down a telephone pole here on Christmas Eve, but before they were done they had written and I was Christmas.

Patrolmen William Boyd and William Weinkam said they lodged a drunk car against the local man, who set off a sort of chain reaction by knocking the pole across the road. (He was treated for minor injuries.)

Two more cars entered the scene, collided, and both drivers were charged with reckless driving.

During the general melee a sixth car turned around to avoid the pole, backed in a seventh, and embroiled its driver in an argument and charges of drunken and reckless driving, disorderly

 MEXICO CITY (AP)—At least 80 arrests have been made in Mexico's drive against the Republic's $14,000,000 narcotics racket.

OKLAHOMA COUNTS TESTS
TULSA —(AP)—Forty-three productive wells against 26 found dry and abandoned, was the count last week for Oklahoma's oil drilling efforts.

Initial oil production, according to field reports, was 4,070 barrels daily. Three gas wells also brought in for an initial flow of 29,585,000 cubic feet a day.

THE DRILLER'S LOG
By KEN BENNETT

With the new year just around the corner we begin to look forward to things to come. The oil industry is no different. With new markets, new by-products, new development, and an ever increasing need for increased production of new oil and gas fields, the new year promises to be one of real interest to everyone concerned. As for our immediate concern I'm sure we all feel the need of new development in this area, and since the start has been made there seems to be definite reason to believe that further developments will be stressed. The feeling of optimism in the overall oil set-up would point to a year that should make 1948 memorable in oil history. One thing is certain, the talk is here, and where there is talk there is usually something behind it.

Oil industry leaders will convene January 19-20 in Midland, Texas, at the quarterly meeting of the Executive Committee and State Vice Presidents of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. The expressed purpose of this meeting will be to propose means of further stabilizing the domestic oil and gas industries, and to analyze the availability of steel, and other materials still in critically short supply. With well completions up ten percent over last year, but with demand even higher, the industry faces a problem of development of reserves and this is also complicated by limited transportation facilities to some of the nation's consuming areas. These matters and association affairs will be given priority at the two-day meeting of executives of the independent association.

Just a few notes... John Rhea, petroleum engineer for Humble, is vacationing at Roswell, N. M., with his mother. Ralph Moore, assistant chief clerk, is also vacationing but he is doing his resting by staying around home. He returns to the job Monday. J. L. Anderson, chief clerk for Magnolia, has just completed a four weeks vacation, visiting in Houston and other South Texas spots. J. L. Brown, superintendent of the natural gas department for Magnolia, has also just completed a four weeks vacation. Stanolind employees are enjoying a good rest over the holidays. The plant closed Christmas Eve and will reopen tomorrow. Ed Thomason, petroleum engineer for Sinclair, is vacationing in Oklahoma.

L. H. (Chub) Humphrey, Tulsa Area director of education for Shell, conducted a supervisors meeting in the City Hall week before last. His subject was, "The Shell Company: Its Organization, History, and Policy". Local Shell

Philadelphia Faces Acute Oil Shortage

PHILADELPHIA — An acute shortage of oil Saturday threatened to close down the Philadelphia Gas Works and leave more than 500,000 industrial and home consumers without gas.

Hudson W. Reed, president of the company, said Friday that the company's oil supplier has been unable to meet the increased demand for fuel oil and that unless present supplies are increased immediately, the gas company will be out of oil by Feb. 4.

Reed asserted that if it is necessary to close down the plants the first step would be to cut off all supplies to industrial users.

The crisis facing the company, Reed said, is the most serious in 50 years. He said oil on hand was down to 7,000,000 gallons as compared to annual need of 115,000,000 gallons.

The oil shortage also affected Philadelphia homes with thousands of Philadelphia families struggling to obtain fuel supplies as hundreds of homes already were heated.

7 Completions Reported in Area

Seven new oil wells were completed in this area during the past week according to a report from the Oil and Gas Office of the Railroad Commission.

Four of these completions were in Hutchinson County: Gray, Hale, and Wheeler Counties each reported one.

Gray County
J. Glenn, No. 4, Webb Tract No. 1, located 330 feet from N and E lines of NW-4 of Section 61, Block 25, H & GN Survey, tested 120 barrels of oil in a 24 hour test. Top of pay 2585 feet. Total depth 2645 feet.

150 Thousand Acres Leased In Wheeler Co.

SHAMROCK —(Special)— Approximately 150,000 acres of land have been leased in North Wheeler County recently by five major oil companies as a result of the important strike south of Elk City by the Shell Oil Company.

The lease play in the county extended north from Twitty area to the Hemphill County line. Two solid blocks of 15,000 acres were taken, the balance being comprised of smaller blocks.

Leases were for 10 years and the rental was $1 per year. Bonuses paid ranged from $1 to $2.50 per acre, depending entirely on locations selected by major oil companies.

E. K. Caperton of Shamrock, handled most of the lease play. Participating companies included Sinclair Prairie, Sun Oil Company, Phillips Petroleum Company, Superior of California, and Magnolia.

Wheeler is one of possibly 25 counties considered important by major companies since the Elk City strike in the Anadarko Basin which extends about 200 miles crossing Western Oklahoma and the Panhandle. Hemphill and Roberts Counties are included in the heaviest play.

The Elk City well is supposed to be making about 500 barrels of high gravity oil, and about five million cubic feet of gas. The well was drilled to 13,000 feet and production is from 8,600 feet.

The possibilities of another well drilled by Phillips Petroleum Company in Roberts County, north of Pampa, have brightened hopes of oil people. This well was drilled to 11,000 feet and is reported to have showings of gas and oil.

The lease play has brought a big opportunity to county landowners in rental and bonus money. Prospects are not considered good for any drilling in this area during the near future, but big development at some future date is a possibility. The Elk City well has been a year in drilling.
