WASHINGTON, April 9 (A) - President Truman sent Congress a special message on the steel situation today, offering to cooperate with the legislators in establishing "specific terms and conditions" by law for government operation of the seized mills.

The message was dispatched to the Capitol as the steel industry fought back in the courts against Truman's order last night for seizure of the plants.

Many of the major steel mills were closed.

Workers, whose union had agreed to work under govern-ment seizure, were crying "lockout."

Some of the steel companies were taking the position, however, that the situation had to be clarified before they

Montgomery To Talk About Disease Charge

WASHINGTON UP—The House northern portion of South Central Agriculture Committee today Texas Wednesday. called on Robert Montgomery, ra-dio and television commentator, to back up his assertion that the United States has wasted 200 million dollars fighting a non-existent outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease

Rep. Poage (D Tex) joined Co mittee Chairman Cooley (D-NC) in demanding that the former movie star produce any facts he has to bolster his contention in recent broadcasts that a five-year U.S. campaign against the livestock IKE'S SHOWING scourge has been an unnecessary "boondoggie."
Cooley contends the campaign was absolutely necessary to protect the U.S. catle industry, and that the cost was small compared with damage that would have resulted if the disease had become established in this country. Poage said that, for one thing,

Montgomery had exaggerated the government's outlay by nillion dollars. "But that's not the most serious charge," the Texan said. "It's his contention that none of the expense vas warranted." Poage said he was prepared to dispute Montgomery's argument that the quarantine against Mexican cattle, due to be removed next Sept. 1 if there are no new out-breaks, could be held re ponsible for raising the price of meat in this country to unwarranted levels. "Actually the price of meat isn't disproportionately high in compar ison with wages and other prices. Poage told a reporter.

Give the little lady a hand

THIS ad is addressed to husbands husbands who've yearned for the thrill of sitting behind a broad hood packed with horsepower-and the pride of rolling down the street in a car that tells the world, "Here's a man who knows the finest thing on wheels."

But husbands have wives. And wives have been known to say, "No big cars for me. They're too hard to handle."

Well, we have an answer for that one. It's a ROADMASTER with Buick's new Power Steering.† And Power Steering takes over any time the steering gets tough-works like a helping handreduces the effort of turning the wheel of a car at a standstill to about the same effort it takes to pick up a mink coat.

But out on the open highway-with a clear straight stretch before youyour hands still have command of the wheel-you can feel that sure, firm, easy and eager responsiveness that's a part of the fun of driving.

The rest of the fun is in something else that's new this year-the highest horsepower that a Buick Fireball Engine has ever delivered - and an Airpower carburetor that lets loose an extra reserve of power when needed, and still adds extra miles to your cruising range on each tankful of gas.

So we suggest a family demonstration. You'll both like the hushed and restful silence of this superbly able traveler. You'll like the harmonious beauty of its interior, and the deep and luxurious softness of its seats.

You'll like the velvet-gloved grip of its Wide-Band brakes, and the most capacious trunk in Buick history.

You'll like the smooth surge of Dynaflow Drive, and you'll like-but why waste time talking, when you could be finding out more than we can ever tell you? How about making a date to do that right now?

Mahon in presenting the appropriation committee's proposed military outlay for the fiscal year should be helpful in getting the entire picture in proper perspective. There are some points which deserve special emphasis. For instance:

"A great nation like our own cannot blow hot and cold with every passing day. ## Famed Morris Questionnaire Had An Official Okay From President

tained a copy of the so-called "Newbold Morris" questionnaire which caused one Cabinet member to be kicked out, one cleanup man to be fired, and generally created more furor than Washington has seen since the Korean War. The questionnaire is similar to that sent to the Washington, D. C., police and the New York police. It was ok'd by the Presicient. Nevertheless, most of the Cabinet de-murred against filling it out—two of them, Secretary of Defense Lovett and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, vigorously, It to their integrity Furthermore, Attorney General

Grath, at Die next to the last Cablust, properties he attended, virtually proposed that the questionnaires be junked. "I'm still holding that stack of questionnaires Newbold Morris wants to send out," McGrath said, in substance, "I don't think we should send them out. They're an > insult to everyone in government." The President suggested that McGrath wait until the following week and take the matter up with him direct. Truman did not say so, but Morris had brought the questionnaire over for his personal inspection, and the President gave it his blessing.

> Following the Cabinet meeting and without conferring with the President again, McGrath made his now famous statement to a House committee that he himself might not sign the questionnaire.

> The Newbold Morris quiz-sheet which caused McGrath's exit from the Cabinet starts out with some innocuous questions about names of wife, children, amount earned by wife, amount earned by children. Then question 9 begins to get down to brass facks. It asks for a list of assets on the date the official entered the government, with a list of assets today.

This list of assets is spelled out under 'cash-in banks and elsewhere; automobiles; stocks, bonds, real estate, furs, lewelry, household effects," etc.

Under this question; McGrath would have had to list his partnership in O'Keefe Motors in Providence, R. I., a Dodge-Plymouth agency, Since most auto dealers have made a lot since the war, presumably McGrath's assets would have ingreased considerably.

The ex-Attorney General might also have had to list his interest in Textron, a taxfree foundation manufacturing textiles, which was investigated by the Senate and from which he received an annual salary of $15,000. It is understood that he resigned from this after entering the Justice Department, though he had drawn the salary , while in other government positions and while Textron's tax exemption was under consideration in the Treasury Department.

Section B of question 9 gets down to details which might worry some officials. It asks if any assets are held under "a fictitious name or through a nominee, trustee, or escrow agent."

Question 11 directs: "List all bank accounts, such as savings, checking, trust, postal savings, Christmas club, building and loan account of yourself and fam-By," including those held under fictitious

> No. 14 goes into employment outside the government, including legal fees. Under this question it is necessary to fill out three pages listing companies from whom fees were received.

Under this, McGrath would have had to list the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Providence which he helped establish. His brother now runs It,

- No. 15 merely asks routine information about filing income-tax returns, but No. 16 government officials to list any gifts exceeding $250 in value; while No. asks whether the official has ever beassociated in a private of business manper with an ex-convict.

Question 18 will hit government officials who are race-track fans. "Have you won or lost any sums of money in ex-cess of $500 in any form of gambling during the past four years?" Morris queried. The man who fired him, Howard Mc-Grath, was no gambler-aside from possible election bets-but he did own part of Lincoln Down's Race Track in Rhode Island which subsisted on legal betting. Question 19 might be embarrassing for some people. It reads: "Have you or any member of your family during the entire period of your federal employment re-ceived any gift or compensation or promise thereof from any person, firm, or corporation for aiding any dealings with any agency of the federal government?" There follows space for listing each gift and the person giving it. Question 20 asks whether any cash over $500 is, or has been, around the homes or persons of government officials. Question 21 gets to the root of one of the dodges of some officials -setting up law firms to handle government business and do lobbying favors which they themselves can't do publicly.

The two next questions inquire about mmissions or brokerage fees received from outsiders; or any type of compen-sation for the referral of business. .

The last question asks for details on any brokerage accounts carried in a government official's name, or that of his wife, member of family, or fictitious name. This add have hit ex-Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma when he operated various brokerage accounts in his wife's name and other names to cover up his speculating on the commodity market. The answers have to be sworn to before a notary.

This is the document which made apparently strong and virile men blanch and resign; the document which now is left in the lap of new Attorney General Jim Mc-Granery. "To send or not to send?"-that will be Jim's big question.

GOP Race Continues To Be Close Struggle Between Taft And Ike

(This is the first of a series of reports on the political score today in terms of parties and candidates.)

By GEORGE GALLUP Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J .. - The race for top position in the Republican presidential sweepstakes continues to be a neck-andneck affair.

A nationwide survey started after the New Hampshire and Minnesota primaries Wisconsin and Nebraska shows Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower running ahead of Sen. Robert A. Taft by a slight margin. Eisenhower polled 37 per cent among Republicans in this survey, Taft 34 per cent. Gen. Douglas MacArthur runs third with Republican voters followed by Governor Warren who has gained ground.

The previous poll taken before New Hampshire had shown Taft ahead, by a one-point margin. In fact, the margin of difference between the two men has changed only slightly as compared with a De cember survey, in terms of popularity among Republican voters.

The general effect of Ike's victory in New Hampshire and his strong showing in Minnesota seems to have been among Independent voters. With that group General Ike has shown a marked increase in popularity.

It should be pointed out that Taft's victories in recent primaries may alter the present position of the two leaders, just as the New Hampshire and Minnesota primaries apparently helped General Ike.

Oak Sheds A Lot Of Water Daily

Think of how many kinds of leaves there are! Some are round, or almost round. Others are heart-shaped or oval. A leaf may have many little points, or few large points, or it may be smooth around the edges. The needles, or leaves, of pine trees are shaped like tiny spears. Leaves may be as small as pine needles, or they may be of gigantic size. A single round leaf of the Victoria water lily may be six feet wide!

Even that is not the largest leaf in the world. On the island of Sumatra grows the Kladdi plant, This sometimes has leaves which are nine feet long and six feet wide. Other leaves are longer, but less wide. Although leaves differ in size and shape, most of us think of a typical leaf as one from a tree, such as an oak, elm. maple, poplar or willow. A leaf like one of those has a midrib running through the center, from base to tip. Reaching out from each side of the midrib are "veins." As I said last time, a leaf makes food out of air, sunshine and water. The water comes from inside the tree. Rising through the trunk, it goes into the branches, then into the leaves. -Living leaves usually get more water than they need. The leaves have tiny openings (often called "pores" or "stomata") and water passes out of these.

During a single warm day, a beech tree 2 Big Spring Herald, Wed., April 2, 1953 is likely to give off from 25 to 50 gallons of water. An oak, with half a million leaves may send out 100 or 130 gallons of water in a day. When a tree loses more water than it can spare, the leaves tend to wilt. During the night, the leaves slow down in their loss of moisture, and by morning, the wilted leaves may be in good condition again. Most of the pores which send out water are on the under sides of the leaves. They are described as 'breathing pores."

This intrigued other council delegates, especially Australia's and New Zealand's, who have similar roblems in administering their far Pacific island territories.

Ahead-the Nicest Miles in the World!

Well, the day has come! You have your beautiful Golden Anniversary Cadillac-and are off on that cross-country journey you've so eagerly awaited.

You're full of hope and anticipation-but almost afraid it's too good so be true. Can any car perform and handle the way people say this one does?

You come to the end of the street that opens into the crosstown thoroughfare-and the big, easy-acting brakes settle you down to the softest, smoothest stop you ever experienced in all your life.

You touch the throttle, and the great engine starts you out like the flight of an arrow-smoothly and swiftly and quietly.

Almost before you know it, a light turns redand, once again, that easy, velvety stop. And then the green-and again that swift, eager move into action.

Stop and go-red and green . . . and pretty soon it dawns upon you that you never dreamed of driving a car that handled and performed like this.

Wonderful in city traffic-no doubt about it!

And then the cars thin out about you-the traffic lights stretch farther and farther apart-and you find yourself on the open road.

Instinctively, your foot goes down on the throttle; but, quickly, it eases up again. For you find yourself really rolling in a couple of hundred feet! So you do a little experimenting until you find the spot where the accelerator belongs for sane and sensible drivingand then you settle back and relax.

You scarcely seem to be moving at all. You handle the wheel with the weight of your hand. You're comfortable-resting-at peace with the highway! The sun rises higher and the road beckons on.

"Where did we plan on stopping tonight?

"Better take a look at the map and see what's on down the line. We're going to get a lot farther than I ever dreamed we could!"

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac. Better come in and see it-and drive it-while you're in the mood!
