Israel Raids Arab Guerrilla Bases

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli commandos raided two Arab guerrilla bases at the northern end of Lebanon today, more than 100 miles above the Israeli-Lebanese border. The Israeli military command said "dozens" of guerrillas were killed. The toll reported by guerrilla sources in Lebanon ranged from 15 to 26, with more than 60 wounded. Israeli said its only casualties were eight wounded, but a guerrilla leader said, "Enemy losses were heavy, far more than the Israeli Radio is admitting, and included a number of dead."

The guerrillas said the Israeli attack force numbered 350 troops and engaged the Arabs in "savage hand-to-hand fighting." The Israeli command said the targets were guerrilla bases in two Palestinian refugee camps at which terrorists were trained for attacks abroad, including the three Japanese who massacred 25 persons at Tel Aviv's international airport last May and the Munich Olympics killers.

Premier Saeb Salam of Lebanon said the attack was "an outrage" and came at a time when the Israeli-Lebanese border had been particularly quiet. He told his parliament that the raiders left a number of delayed-action bombs in the camps. He said the Lebanese army was searching for, and defusing, them.

Foreign Minister Khalil Abu Hamad said Lebanon would complain to the U.N. Security Council, but foreign ministry sources said a meeting of the council would not be asked. Salam said that, so far, there were 12 known dead, but many persons were believed buried under the rubble of buildings destroyed by the raiders.

Israeli Radio said the bases attacked were inside the big refugee camps at El Bedawi and Nahr al Bared, 5 and 10 miles north of Tripoli and close to the Syrian border. Israel said the commandos struck an hour after midnight and destroyed installations and buildings. A guerrilla communique issued in Beirut claimed that two Israeli warships bombarded the Nahr al Bared camp, killing "a large number of citizens, including many women and children."

WAR AND PEACE — Despite the cease-fire agreements reached in Vietnam and, yesterday, in Laos, various troop and supply movements are still being reported. Above, a South Vietnamese unit passes on Highway 1 near Tay Ninh in preparation for any cease-fire "violations."

Kidnaped Youth Released Safe

DALLAS (AP) — Bank president Kenneth Terry, his rugged good looks twisted like a strained muscle, stood in front of his posh North Dallas home a few hours after his young son was kidnaped and declared, "It's enough to make a man get out of the banking business."

Philip Terry, 12, had been released just hours before, unharmed and appearing casual and collected as the two stood together. "It has been an ordeal," said Terry, president of the First Bank and Trust Co. of Richardson, a Dallas suburb.

Plane Forced Down

TEL AVIV (AP) — Gunfire from Israeli warplanes hit a Libyan passenger plane today and forced it down with a loss of about 70 lives, military sources reported. The incident took place about 12 miles from the Suez Canal in the occupied Sinai Desert.

The Israeli military spokesman said 13 survivors were taken to a hospital. The plane apparently was en route from Cairo to Beirut. The spokesman gave this account: "The Libyan 727 entered Israeli airspace 50 miles from the canal over the Mediterranean coastline, and flew over Israeli military positions."

Laos Cease-Fire Signed

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The warring Laotian factions today signed a cease-fire agreement scheduled to take effect at noon Thursday, or 11 p.m. CST tonight. The terms are similar to those of the 1962 Geneva Accord, which stopped the fighting in Laos for a time but brought no lasting peace.

In addition to the cease-fire, Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavan said the agreement calls for: —Formation of a provisional government of national union, with half the cabinet posts going to rightist and neutralist non-Communists and half to the Communist Pathet Lao. Prince Souvanna Phouma, the 72-year-old neutralist premier who has headed the government since 1962, is expected to retain the post.

—Release of all prisoners and withdrawal of all foreign troops within 90 days. Some 300 U.S. airmen are listed as missing after being shot down in Laos, but the North Vietnamese have given the U.S. government the names of only seven American servicemen and two civilians held by the communists.

—Supervision of the agreement by the same three-nation International Control Commission that was unable to supervise the 1962 agreement. It is made up of Canada, neutralist India and Communist Poland.

Kissinger Returns From Latest Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger has returned from his latest Asian tour, reportedly bearing an agreement to many U.S.-Chinese relations significantly forward from the base established a year ago to today with President Nixon's trip to Peking.

U.S. officials kept their usual silence about Kissinger's travels, but some privately say they anticipate a joint Washington-Peking announcement this week. The general expectation is a statement of a formal economic relationship, including establishment of trade missions in the two countries.

Administration Suggests More Cheese For Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, disclosing that food prices last month took the biggest jump in a generation, says consumers might consider going meatless one day a week, or maybe switching from hamburger to cheese.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Tuesday that retail food prices in January rose the most in 20 to 25 years. The increase, he told a farm meeting, will be announced later this week by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Quake Shakes LA Area

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A moderately strong earthquake shook Los Angeles early this morning. Thousands of frightened residents called authorities but there were no reports of injuries or heavy damage and vital services were not disrupted.

The National Earthquake Information Center at Boulder, Colo., said the quake measured 5.2 on the Richter scale. It happened at 6:46 a.m. in Los Angeles or 9:46 a.m. EST. On Feb. 9, 1971, a quake measuring 6.5 on the Richter scale hit the city, claiming 61 lives, injuring more than 1,000 persons and causing more than a billion dollars damage.

Rogers Pleased At Peace Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers today hailed the cease-fire in Laos as an important move toward an over-all peace in Indochina and said U.S. bombing there will halt by 11 p.m. CST.

Rogers, appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee just after the Laos cease-fire agreement text was received here, said he had had time to study it in detail. "I am very pleased to be able to confirm that a Laos cease-fire to go into effect noon 11 CST tonight" has been reached by the rival Lao parties, Rogers said.

'I STILL LOVE HER' Man Granted Divorce To Get Wife Benefits

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — "It's final, but I still love her," said Howard Thomas after he divorced his wife of 32 years so the critically ill woman could get welfare benefits to pay her mounting medical bills. His 45-year-old wife, Ruth, lay in a nursing home unaware of the 10-minute divorce hearing Tuesday dissolving a marriage, which had given the couple six children.

She is in the advanced stages of incurable multiple sclerosis. "I was shook, and the judge was shook, too," said Thomas, a 49-year-old steelworker. "He knew it was something that had to be done." Just like me, he wished he didn't have to do it.

ON OPEN MEETINGS BILL

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senators seem worried that a new open meetings bill might force them to quit mixing business and pleasure. There was obvious disagreement in a Senate committee Tuesday, however, over a proposal to punish persons who try to injure or harass a public official by "intentionally and falsely" charging him with violating the law.

News items before the Senate Jurisprudence Committee said the provision might intimidate citizens, who would fear what might happen to them if the public official were acquitted of the charge.

Business, Pleasure Worry Senators

The measure, designed to strengthen the 1967 open meetings law, was sent to a subcommittee after four hours of testimony. Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, asked the House sponsor, Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, if officials chatting about the public's business over dinner or at cocktail or breakfast meetings would be violating the law.

"If they are just mingling with their constituents," said Parker, "but if they get off in a corner somewhere, yes." Jack Douglas, president of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors association, said the bill was written to prevent any efforts to conduct the people's business in secret, to spend the people's money in secret or to dispose of the people's land in secret.

Rep. Price Placed On Intensive Care

The Washington office of U.S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa reported this morning the 13th District congressman still was confined to the intensive care unit of Bethesda Naval Hospital following a relapse Monday.

Price was admitted to the hospital Feb. 6 after he suffered a coronary occlusion. Doctors at the hospital said yesterday they could find no evidence he had suffered a second heart attack. They added that the 45-year-old congressman was resting comfortably and his condition was stable today.

After Circuit Court Judge C. Richard Leavengood granted the decree, Thomas applied in his wife's behalf for the state welfare assistance needed to insure continued medical treatment. Jack Youngblood of the Florida Division of Family Services said Tuesday night the application would be processed with "due haste." The division administers the state-supported Medicaid program.

Leavengood gave Thomas custody of his two youngest children, ages 5 and 11. The others are adults. "We're behind our father 100 per cent," said daughter Brenda Pivinski. "If my mother were aware of the situation, I know she would understand."

Maximum penalties for officials who take part in secret meetings could be fined $500 and jailed for six months. Exceptions to the open meetings requirement would include discussions of price and location of real estate; sessions on hiring, firing and disciplining personnel; consultations with attorneys on certain topics; and conferences concerning security matters.

He said it would be "unconscionable" to send a government he called sadistic and brutal. After a second siege of chest discomfort Monday, Martinson said, doctors moved Price back into the intensive care unit — away from the telephones — and began to put him through new tests.

Conservation Efforts Can Save Energy--And Money!

You can help you Nation's energy conservation efforts, live comfortably, and save money too. Each of us can help accomplish these worthwhile ends — on a daily basis in our own homes, and where we work, according to Darrell M. Trent, acting director of the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness. All we need to do is practice conservation habits that help save energy. As our country continues to grow, we must face up to the fact that energy of many kinds is in short supply, Trent says. "It's time to tighten our fuel belt and stop wasting electricity and heat. This in turn saves oil, gas and coal. Save energy, and you save money," he explained. American now consumes about 29 per cent of its energy in industry, 25 per cent in transportation, including getting back and forth to work, 21 per cent for residential and commercial purposes, and 25 per cent for utilities. But the Nation can keep warm, get to work, and keep industry humming with much less energy than is now being used. An OEP energy conservation study shows that there are many ways you can help conserve fuel and electric energy at home, on the road, and on the job. Here are some: Weatherstrip and caulk around windows and doors. Properly applied, this can keep out cold air and seal in warm air so effectively that your family's heating bill can be cut 15 to 30 per cent.

It's easy and inexpensive to install weatherstripping at movable joints and to caulk the frames of all windows and doors. Keep at it until you find that in quite cold weather light but not excessive fog or moisture occurs occasionally on windows on the downwind side. When that point is reached, you will not only have accomplished substantial heat savings but will have provided about the proper humidity conditions for your comfort.

Install storm windows or insulated glass to cut in half the heat that is needlessly lost through the windows in your house. This extra window investment will pay for itself within 10 years, and thereafter return you an annual dividend of 13 to 18 per cent or more in areas of the United States where the average winter temperature is lower than 45 degrees.

In comparative tests with other sash and frame materials, wood rated a much better insulator than metal. In tests with an outdoor temperature of 29 degrees, interior wood sash registered a warm 59 degrees; metal, a chilly 32 degrees.

A costly 22 per cent more heat was lost through metal windows with an 80 per cent glass area than through wood sash windows of the same size.

Also, weatherstripped wood windows with insulating glass stayed free of condensation in outdoor temperatures of 30 degrees below zero; while moisture formed on metal sash windows in temperatures of 20 degrees above.

Keep your heating and air conditioning equipment in top operating efficiency. Vacuum dust and lint from air intake registers. Replace your furnace air filters every two to four months or when they become loaded with dust or lint.

Have the heat exchange surfaces of your heating plant cleaned when needed and have the combustion air adjustment checked or improved by service professionals.

In homes and apartments without storm windows, close draperies at night. This results in some deflection of drafts and more comfort. A little heat may also be saved.

Regardless of where you live and work, turn off electric lights, TV, radio and other electric utilities when they are not needed. Every kilowatt-hour saved is a benefit to you and your country.

Try to avoid prolonged use of major appliances during "peak-use" times — in the early morning and during late afternoon and early evening.

Repair leaking water faucets. A leak of one drop per second adds up to about 650 gallons per year. A leak that fills an ordinary cup in 10 minutes wastes 3,280 gallons per year.

If this is heated water, the loss is very expensive. Leaks also cut or erode faucets and sinks and often cause unsightly sink stains.

Lower the thermostat setting in your house or apartment at night. By reducing the thermostat setting 4 degrees for 8 hours each night, a savings of $1.80 on a $60 monthly heating bill can be achieved.

If you live in a metropolitan area, consider riding a bus rather than a car. It takes up to 5 times as much energy to get a person from home to work in an automobile than it does by bus.

The automobile, with less than 10 per cent energy fuel-use efficiency, is an expensive consumer of energy.

Many of the same points mentioned above to conserve heat loss in winter also apply to air conditioning savings in the summer.

So such measures as weatherstripping and caulking, use of storm windows and insulated glass, and installing overhead and sidewall insulation have year-around energy conservation virtues.

Remember, when you conserve fuel and energy — you help yourself, your community, and your country.

BUT TO WHAT EXTENT?

Advertising Concerned With Changing Tastes

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether advertising and marketing create tastes or merely reflect those that exist is a moot point that probably never can be resolved in a simple answer.

But there is no question whatever that advertising is sensitive to values and tastes, that advertisers are among the sharper observers of social change, and that in search of success they exploit their findings.

If you can recall some of the ads seen in the past few years, you most likely will be able to discover these underlying assumptions:

- 1. The emergence of the largest middle class in history, with "typical" middle-class values, including a commitment to familism, or the home, children and clear sex roles.
2. A belief in upward mobility, or the American dream of success.
3. A commitment to the Puritan-or-Protestant ethic as the means to achieve mobility: conformity, the work ethic, focus on the future and the virtue of self-denial.

Responding to this interpretation, advertisers made marriage and the family a major focus and goal, assumed that personal denial for the sake of the family was correct and made togetherness an ideal.

This, in part, is the analysis presented to a meeting this week of the Association of National Advertisers by Florence Skelly, executive vice president of Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., a marketing and opinion research firm.

But now, said Miss Skelly, whose company conducts an ongoing study of social change, a new climate may be emerging that eventually will bring into question some assumptions made by the ad people.

Although none of the changes are as yet universal, she said, some tendencies in values and life styles already are substantial and growing. Among them:

- 1. A change in the nature of familism, marked by female careerism, a blurring of the sexes, a challenge to the traditional linkage between masculinity and being a good provider and a new attitude about children.
2. A significant shift in what constitutes success and how one signals these achievements to others. Status symbols are changing. More people will be concerned with life quality rather than economic condition alone.

A new climate of pessimism about the American dream in general, although not necessarily about one's personal chances for happiness. There is skepticism about business as an institution, for example.

As a result, Miss Skelly concludes that admen probably can rely less on their intuitive sense of how America lives and what is important. Some assumptions must be examined "case by case, brand by brand," she said.

Among them:
1. Women want to get a husband and then be super homemakers, wives and mothers.
2. People want to settle down, establish roots.

3. Superior performance ultimately is the most compelling support for a product irrespective of other factors.

4. Visible displays of climbing the ladder to success are important purchase motives.

5. Fear of criticism by others is a powerful purchase motive.

Consumer Legislation Catalog

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1973 congressional catalog of consumer legislation has something for every American family.

Measures now under consideration would expand federal regulation of business and would establish federal standards for food additives, tap water and auto insurance.

Most of the bills are repeats of measures that were drafted or killed a year ago.

Bills introduced so far include:
—No-fault auto insurance, providing automatic payment without a court fight—for all reasonable medical expenses and lost wages up to $50,000.

—Federal guidelines to simplify wording of warranties and guarantees.

—Mandatory repair at auto-makers' expense of all cars ordered recalled for safety defects.

—Federal requirements that food additives must be beneficial.

—Expanded Federal Trade Commission powers to determine and halt unfair business practices.

—Creation of a Consumer Protection Agency whose lawyers would present the public view before all federal regulatory agencies.

—A requirement that all radios offered for sale have FM as well as AM receivers.

—Federal quality standards for drinking water, including a grant program to upgrade deficient water supply systems.

—A requirement that businesses must furnish to anyone, upon request, documentation for advertising claims.

Consumer advocates in both houses have given top priority to the FTC powers, warranty, no-fault, and consumer agency bills.

WHAT WAS STOLEN MARTINSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—The Martinsville police and the Morgan County Sheriff's Department found their police radios weren't much good in relaying the information on a recent burglary.

Someone stole their transmitter from a radio building in the city park. It was valued at more than $2,000 and weighed more than 150 pounds.

Officers borrowed a transmitter from nearby Greene County to get back on the air.

Wife envies TV widows:
She's an 'alcohol widow'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: How I envy those women who complain because their husbands are glued to the TV, watching football. Mine is glued to the bottle. Alcoholics Anonymous is wonderful for some people, but it is mud to him. He tried it a few times and never went back.

I could write a book about my life, which has been nothing but unhappiness for 19 years. We have three school-age children. I work five days a week away from home and have to do all the grocery shopping and errands. When I prepare a meal that doesn't suit my husband, it lands on the floor, on the wall, or, on several occasions, thru the window.

I can't even trust him to pay a utility bill. We've had the electricity and water turned off because the bill wasn't paid.

I just have to write this, Abby. I have no relatives to talk to. We have no friends. Who wants to associate with people like us? He still holds on to his job. It's a miracle how he can drink all weekend and make it to work on Monday morning. He says a man who works can do what he wants to do with his time off. And that's what he does. Drinks! Please help me.

BLUE MONDAY

DEAR BLUE: You can't force a man to go to A. A., but you can learn how to cope with an alcoholic mate by attending ALANON. (They're listed in your phone book.) I urge you to go, Dear. They have accomplished wonders. Also, there is Alateen for teen-agers of alcoholic parents. And please give me a progress report.

DEAR ABBY: To all those horticulturists who talk to plants, forget it. My wife and I had our first plant in December 1964; we not only put little Fern's flower-bed by the phone, we gave her a room of her own. Everything was just vine at first, but now all of our problems seem to stem from her. Honestly, she had us eating out of her palm. Right after she blossomed—too young to be thinking about roots—she started going out with dates; they wouldn't leaf her alone. Then some nut got her in trouble. We'd force them to get married, but they would make a terrible pear. Now her reputation has been soiled and she can no longer rest on her laurels.

Fern has grown older and doesn't care to get spruced up anymore. She refuses to go out until we give her a vase-lift.

I may be out on a limb, but my advice is not to talk to plants.

BLUE-FORGET-ME-NOT

DEAR BLUE: Lettuce face it. Your bloomin' punishment is beyond be-leaf. But I dig it. Oak, Bud?

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine told me a long time ago that someone wrote to you and asked: "If a non-Catholic attends the funeral of a Catholic, does he have to kneel and make the sign of the cross like the Catholics do? And you said no, it wasn't necessary. Well, Abby, you are soaking wet!

Whenever a person goes into a church other than his own, he should kneel, cross himself, stand up and sit down and read the prayers just like everybody else. And not to do so is to show contempt.

SMARTER THAN YOU

DEAR SMARTER: For a non-Catholic to kneel and make the sign of the cross without sincerity is not a mark of "respect"—it's hypocritical. Furthermore, Catholics neither demand nor expect it. Ask a Catholic priest. [I asked several, and they all agreed.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT" IN ATLANTA: Get off his back: A man is not responsible for the kind of valentines he receives. If he had something to hide, he never would have brought it home.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q—I will be putting in two dry wells soon. Both will run from downspouts to carry off rain water. How deep should the drain tiles be below the surface?

A—Place them from one to two feet below the surface. Be sure they are slanted slightly in the direction of the wells.

Q—I have to plane or file the top and bottom of a door. Which is better?

A—Planing will take off more wood. Filing takes longer but is easier to control unless you have had some experience in planing. Have you considered those new wood scrapers that look like cheese graters?

Q—There's a considerable amount of moisture rising from the dirt crawl space under my house. What can I cover the dirt with to prevent this?

A—You can use either roll roofing or polyethylene film. Overlap the pieces about six inches, being certain not to make any tears in them as you put them in place. Seal the overlaps with roofing cement or other exterior adhesive. Be sure the ground is graded so that rain flows away from the house and not towards the crawl space.

Q—One of the ceiling tiles in our basement was punctured badly by one of my sons while using a billiard cue. Since the tiles have interlocking edges, how do I remove just one of them without damaging those nearby? Fortunately, I have a few tiles left over from the original installation.

A—Use a utility knife or a single-edge razor blade and cut around the borders of the damaged tile. Remove it and put the new tile in place, but this time you'll have to use an adhesive.

Q—I have to paint my house soon. I'd like to paint in the morning, but everything usually is covered with dew. Do I have to wait until the sun has dried everything?

A—With certain types of latex exterior paint, you can paint over damp surfaces. But first read the label on the container to be certain that this can be done with the particular kind you buy.

Q—I prefer a paint brush to a roller, being of the old school. I must admit that I usually have trouble with brush marks where one part overlaps another. How can I avoid this?

A—First, get one of the new paints which minimize brush marks. Secondly, no matter what kind of paint you use, always work from a dry area into a wet area, using firm, wide strokes. Dip the brush about halfway, with the excess patted off on the inside of the container rim.

'Boys Will Be Boys'

By AILEEN SNODDY

Boys' rooms take a turn away from chronic disaster sites with new concepts in furniture. Furniture systems, for example, take into account such expected "boys will be boys" habits based on litterbug instincts, hoarding instincts and just plain lazy instincts.

Smaller boys, in the under-7 bracket, now have a new type bunk bed setup based on the tried-and-true Tinkertoy theory. Using a framework of wooden blocks and dowels, one company makes it possible to make bunk beds, storage units, desks and places for fun equipment. For added color a mom can make fun felt panels of fabric lions and tigers and also throw in a few squishy vinyl boas and alligators to keep the youngsters company. All are easily cleaned and withstand most boys' rambunctiousness.

Color is important, too, and in the block-and-dowel room the natural furniture wood mixes kindly with a carpet in shades of rasp-

Tinkertoy principle yields bunk beds, play area and desk for small boys. Decorative animals are of fun felt and washable vinyl, and raspberry-colored rug is of cleanable Enkoloft spun nylon.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

THURSDAY, FEB. 22

Your birthday today: Material prosperity turns out to be the natural main drive of the year. Today's natives are fond of creature comforts, able to mix comfortably with almost any sort of company without losing track of their interests.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: The possibilities are so good, cooperation so possible that daydreaming is in order, in disciplined moments of rest-breaks.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Being willing to confide and share with friends brings benefits in both your work and your leisure today.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Nearly all aspects of your daily living are favored for pleasant repetitions of recent experiences. Friends are full of surprises.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Now it's your turn to call the shot, offer clues as to what comes next. Younger people will make good use of your help.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Be flexible instead of standing on pride. You have a good chance to confirm your previous judgments at first hand.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: A little extra exertion is probable, will do you no harm. Pick up early and get out to see about neglected contacts.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Step right up and lay claim to whatever you feel is yours, ask for improvements wherever you've earned them.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Intuition guides you thru a complex search, probable passing cooperation with people you aren't familiar with.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Be ready and willing to move up and on; it's time you led the group if you haven't been doing it often already.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Impulse now has behind it primitive but valid unconscious guidance. Avoid making a role which you can't fulfill later.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Your place in the world is confirmed in subtle and overt manner. If it is not to your liking, decide to do something about it.

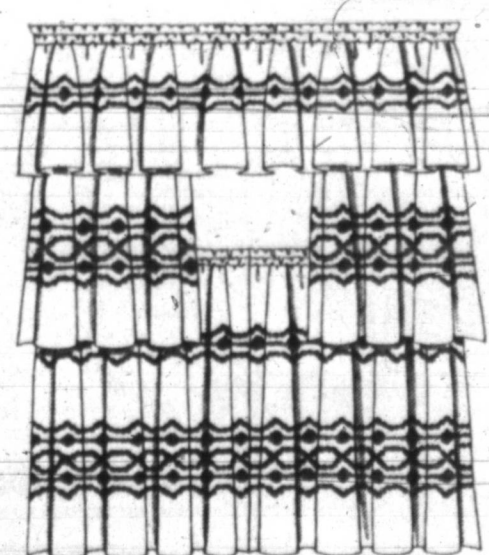

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Promote your ideas, explain them to distant personal contacts as well as to nearby friends. You run into some competition.

Decorator Says Colors Reveal Personality

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Your home may reveal your true personality, according to interior designer Virginia Frankel of New York. For instance, she says, color may reveal a lot about one's character. The designer had always decorated her own homes in white, but says that when she moved to her present apartment, she began using brilliant colors. "I decided that I had become a happier person," she explained, discussing her recently published book, "What Your House Tells about You."

Other facts Mrs. Frankel says one's house may reveal about one's personality are: People who like bright, hot or acid colors - oranges, reds, strong purples, greens - are often bold, adventurous, with generally happy people. Blues and greens in the middle range speak of coolness and caution. Beiges, grays and muddy pastels may be used by a person who stays close to the safety line in behavior and taste.

In decorating for bachelors Mrs. Frankel has learned the girl traps which include fur rugs and pillows, chrome and glass tables, large deep sofas, hassocks, wine racks, built-in lights and bar, hi-fi speakers and telephones in every room, kitchen gimmicks (for female visitors) cookbooks, and so on.

For many women decorating a home is such a traumatic experience they may become physically ill if the couch doesn't match the draperies. But contrary to popular thinking, Mrs. Frankel says, it isn't always the well-kept home that is a joy, not when the woman nags her husband and children to maintain it, and they feel like interlopers.

A warm, happy house has a lived-in quality, she points out. It is comfortably messy and cluttered. Soil and stain spots blend in with other lived-in features.

From a decorator's standpoint, she points out, the most important indicator of a happy home is "the aura of sharing." Each room reflects a husband and wife's needs and interests - she will make sure he has his ottoman, reading light and large ashtray, and he will make sure she has a place for her easel, loom, sewing machine or collection of art or seashells.

Students Aid New Project

By RAY BAXTER
Week of Compassion had an auspicious beginning at First Christian Church Sunday as young people of the Sunday school donated an animal to the Heifer Project International.

Members of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades presented Pastor Ralph Palmer with a check for $600 to initiate the project.

Rev. Palmer likened the concept of the project to the spread of Christ's love in that a heifer is given to a mission station either in a needy area of the U.S. or on a foreign field.

There the animal is bred and the offspring given to other mission stations until the propagation project has filled a growing need for such livestock where people are not able to buy such.

Sunday school teacher Linda Holt sparked the effort. David Lanehart was president of the fund-raising effort; Mary Breazeale, treasurer, and Linda Hunt, publicity.

Other students participating were Jerry Sims, Patty Sims, Tinker Deist and Joe Zuerker.

Concurrent with a film and publicity campaign regarding the heifer project, empty milk cartons were placed about the church. In addition, funds came through Sunday school classes, a continental breakfast sponsored by the sophomore Sunday school class, Christian Women's Fellowship, Eat and Trim and various individuals.

Observance of a Week of Compassion is designed to draw special attention and concern to the needs of others in the world. Rev. Palmer's sermon was an original contemporary parable dealing with this concept.

HEIFER PROJECT — Young people of First Christian Church take a first-hand look at what their money will buy for their participation in Heifer Project International. This quartet, representing a host of young people of the church working on the project, crowded into a stock trailer on the church parking lot Sunday to get acquainted with an animal similar to one they will send to a mission point. In ceremonies following, the group presented the Rev. Ralph Palmer with a check for $600 that they had raised in their project campaign.

Canadian Budget Supported

OTTAWA (AP) — There were clear indications Tuesday that the Canadian government's budget proposals would gain the support needed from the New Democratic party to keep Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's minority Liberal government in power, at least temporarily.

New Democrat leader David Lewis said there was much he liked in the budget that Finance Minister John Turner presented to the House of Commons on Monday. The party's 31 votes provide Trudeau a majority as long as they stay with him.

The budget calls for cuts in the personal income tax, increased pensions and lower sales taxes and customs duties. Turner told newsmen that more than 70 per cent of the tax cuts would go to families where the breadwinner makes less than $10,000 a year.

"It's a family budget for the average Canadian family," the minister said.

But it also risks inflation by a $975 million deficit on $19 billion in expenditures. Turner said this risk had to be taken to cut unemployment, which is now over 7 per cent.

A unique feature of the bill provides for adjustment of income-tax rates and exemptions to compensate for price rises, beginning next year. Canada will become one of the few countries in the world with such a system to compensate for inflation.

Williams Appointed Hospital Manager

Highland General Hospital announces the appointment of Horace Williams as office manager.

Williams is replacing A.C. Malone, who moved to the position of Gray County auditor.

Employed at Highland General Hospital for the past seven years, Williams will be in charge of all administrative duties in the Business Office.

Williams is a graduate of Pampa High School and attended West Texas State University. He is married to the former Ethel Green of Plainview and they have one daughter, Angela, age 1 year.

The accounting and bookkeeping management will be under the supervision of Highland General Hospital's new chief accountant, Krishnadas Thakrar.

Thakrar, a recent immigrant to the United States, is originally from Uganda, East Africa. He studied accounting and auditing at the University of Bombay, India.

Until recently, Thakrar was an accountant with the Imperial Chemical Industrial's Subsidiary in Uganda. Due to an expulsion order by the president of Uganda, Thakrar and all other Asian residents of Uganda were forced to leave that country.

Thakrar and his family were then compelled to live in a refugee camp in Naples, Italy, for two months, until the United States government agreed to accept them on a permanent settlement visa.

Sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Pampa, Thakrar and his wife, Bharti, and two daughters, Bindu, age 2, and Alka, age 2 weeks, live in White Deer.

Scott Wants Train Smoke

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, whose complaint led Amtrak to ban cigar and pipe-smoking from some trains, has been asked to reconsider.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, in a letter to Burger, says he's so addicted to his pipes that he would not travel on Amtrak without them if he could help it.

Scott reminded the chief justice that Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Republican Leader Gerald Ford also are partial to pipes.

"May I enter a mild disclaimer?" Scott said in referring to Burger's complaint last Nov. 30 that prompted Amtrak to ban cigars and pipes from its club cars on the Metroliner run between Washington and New York.

"Or should I back off with a mea culpa?"

"Could it be dicta, obiter, some word go to the secretary of DOT or to the king of rails, to the effect that pipe smokers may enjoy the use of some part of the presently interdicted area for the indulgence of their contemplative addiction?"

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Last week, an ad in the television section of a newspaper here said: "A brush-fire breaks out, and threatens to destroy the Loud home in tonight's episode of 'An American Family'."

Later, the ad said: "Next week, problems between the couple begin to reveal themselves, and their son Grant is in an auto accident. The following week Pat decides to file for divorce."

"Follow the drama of TV's first real family."

This has been going on here ad nauseam, ad infinitum, ever since Mr. and Mrs. William C. Loud let a television documentary crew film the doings of their family for seven months.

When edited to 12 hours for public television, this mammoth home movie made the trials of the Louds a shade better known than those of Job. Everybody wrote about them and dissected them.

And just when it seemed things were settling down, the Louds were scheduled to appear Tuesday night on television — ABC's "Dick Cavett Show" — to say more about the documentary about themselves.

For my dough, all this gab about "An American Family" is an ominous sign. It may mean the start of a wave of television documentaries about other troubled American families.

For example, CBS Television's "60 Minutes" show had a piece about an Oklahoma family a few weeks ago. That accounted for two states, the Louds being California residents.

It still leaves us with 48 states and as many families to go. In anticipation of the big rush, I've gotten television rights for the 48th family, that of Everett Scrimshaw of Bumfudgeon, Fla.

Everett is a typical head of a typical television documentary family. He's a widget-maker, earns $40,000 a year and has six wives and 14 children, one by a previous marriage.

He owns four television sets, an old Army whistle with the pea still in it, two pounds of snuff and three cars.

His oldest son, Julius, 43, turned weird at age 13 and refuses to come out of his room. His youngest daughter, Aurelia, 43, is marrying a Druid. The family dog has the mange and does tricks.

A fire has threatened the split-level Scrimshaw home since the start of the barbecue season, and the Bumfudgeon Fire Department is of no help. It just shows up with a garden hose and hot dogs.

Scrimshaw's wives are all in New York, visiting with the youngest Scrimshaw, Everett Jr., who is trying to break into mugging.

We'll start filming the Scrimshaw family just as soon as Everett Jr. gives my documentary crew its cameras back and apologizes for throttling the producer.

We hope to capture the Scrimshaws and all of their flaws on television, just like the pioneers of this sort of thing did with the Loud family.

We may not have the drama of television's first real family, but we'll sure have the last. We hope.

Ah So, It's Japanese Godfather

By MITSUO KIMURA
TOKYO (AP) — How so? Family of Godfather has honorable Japanese branch? Not exactly, but the Japanese national police are concerned enough about organized crime to have launched Operation Crush and Cleaning against mobsters at work in this land of law and order.
Police say the estimated 124,000 Japanese gangsters run gambling and loan sharking operations, drug trafficking and business-shakedowns. They are trying to infiltrate legitimate business.

Bronze Urns Reported Gone

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — An estimated 500 bronze urns were stolen from a Wichita Falls cemetery sometime during the weekend, the manager of the Crestview Memorial Park, Ray Ashbrook, said Monday.
He estimated value of the urns at $30,000 or more.
The urns are used to hold flowers on headstones. They were fastened by heavy chains that were either cut or torn out.
Ashbrook said tracks indicated about five men stole the urns, apparently for scrap metal, and loaded them on a truck.

WORRY CLINIC

Harvey's erotic vigor increased as his weight went down! And after losing 10 pounds the last 10 days, he shifted to a more liberal diet whereby he lost 5 pounds per month. In 6 months, his blood pressure was down to 160, without use of drugs!

CASE W-533: Harvey J., aged 38, is worrying his devoted wife. "Dr. Crane," she began, "Harvey's blood pressure is now 190."

"And the doctor says he simply MUST shed at least 40 pounds."
"For he weighs 210 and is only 5' 9" tall."
"But I am also about 30 pounds overweight, so I'd be glad to go on a diet with him."
"However, we have both tried to diet in the past, but with no success."
"So what can I do to help him get down to 170 pounds?"

DIETING STRATEGY

Your body sprouts 3 miles of additional blood vessels for every 5 pounds of surplus fat that you carry!

So Harvey's faithful heart must move his blood through 24 extra miles of blood vessels at every beat!

Obviously, that requires more pressure, which is why obesity wears out your heart faster.

Most of the highly publicized dieting plans are excellent, IF you follow them precisely.

But in cool weather, I think you'll prefer my 10-day dehydration diet, for it reduces your weight 10 pounds in the first 10 days.

And Harvey will need a quick tonic to his morale in order to lose 40 pounds for that's a 6-month task.

Here are some medico-psychological hints for losing weight most easily:

(1) Don't drink with your meals.
Caffeine beverages also increase acid secretion of the stomach and thus stimulate more hunger pangs.

(2) Ladle out your quota of calories in the kitchen; then bring your plate to the dinner table.

But do NOT have any other edibles on the table to tempt you, such as family style platters of food or even crackers, cookies or jelly.

(3) Stress protein foods, such as cottage cheese (which gives you the equivalent protein of T-bone steak).

the expansion. Kazuo Hirabayashi, superintendent of the National Police Agency, said authorities confiscated about $9 million in raids on gambling dives alone last year.

Like many other things, crime is different in Japan. Although there are burglaries and an occasional killing or kidnapping, the streets of Tokyo and other major cities are generally safe all night.

But police have become worried about a merger between the Japanese underworld's top two rival gangs and their moves toward muscling into above-board businesses.

Hirabayashi said the merger of the Yamaguchi-Gumi Gang from Kobe in western Japan and the Inagawa-Kai from Tokyo reflects a move by the Yamaguchi-Gumi mob to become the "underworld ruler" without a gang war.

"We regard this merger as Yamaguchi-Gumi's major step in Tokyo, where its influence has been little," he added in an interview.

The aim of the merger apparently is to provide stronger opposition to police by presenting a united front. But Hirabayashi doesn't see it as an end to struggle for power between the gangs and their factions.

The merged gangs also are seeking wider influence in legitimate taxi fleets, construction firms, tourists hotels and night clubs, authorities said.

Wool Producers Expect Higher Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheep producers can look forward to rising wool prices again this year, the Agriculture Department predicts.
Officials say 1973 wool prices should average well above last year and be "a vivid contrast to the 1971 depression" when wool prices averaged 19 cents per pound, the lowest in more than 30 years. The 1972 average was about 35 cents a pound.

and lambs on farms by 11 per cent last year, officials said.

The forecast, made in a preliminary report on wool outlook, calls for strong foreign markets. Part of the expected foreign demand results from the recent devaluation of the U.S. dollar, the report said.

Higher wool and meat prices helped boost the value of sheep

Sheepmen say lamb losses to predators, mostly coyotes, have hurt western producers severely. Some estimate lamb crop losses in the western states may run 5 to 10 per cent unless the government permits use of predator poisons again.

The poison ban was ordered last year, and sheep producers say losses have risen sharply.
