

It Looks Like A North-South Argument

Platform Avoids Past Party Feud

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
CHICAGO (U.S. — Democrats pledged prosperity, peace and progress to the nation's voters today in a platform that avoided past party feuds over "civil rights."

A quick decision by Chairman Sam Rayburn, after a mixed shout of yea and no votes, put the national convention's official approval on the new campaign document early this morning. Delegates from Georgia and Mississippi asked to be recorded as voting "No," and one from Tennessee objected to the platform's lack of a congressional crime investigating committee plank.

But skillful maneuvers by Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, platform chairman, and National Committee Chairman Frank McKinney produced a fair sample of party harmony. The shouted adoption, after McCormack had read the nearly 100,000 words to tired delegates, was sweet music to party leaders who feared a repetition of 1948.

In that year a bitter floor battle for a stronger racial relations plank split the party wide open, and in the November election four Southern states were rebuffed from the Democratic column.

Aiding in the unity effort this time were Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, for Southerners, and Philip B. Perlmutter, who recently resigned as solicitor general.

Curiously, both Dixie delegates, who insist that states and communities can best handle racial problems, and Northerners, who want strong federal action, are claiming victory.

The answer is that the same words and phrases, if handled skillfully, mean different things to different people.

Northerners such as Sen. Lehman of New York, Humphrey of Minnesota and Benton of Connecticut.

Rayburn Raps GOP Promises
CHICAGO (U.S. — The American people won't trade Democratic party prosperity for Republican promises this fall, says Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

In a speech to the Democratic convention last night Rayburn stressed the don't-change-horses-in-midstream idea with which the Democrats hope to win in November.

He claimed the new plank was much stronger than 1948's. Southerners such as Sen. Sparkman, Holland of Florida and Willis Smith of North Carolina said parts of the plank went a bit too far but they preferred party harmony to a fight.

Actually the compromise was settled in two separate sections of the platform. Northerners had insisted on a plank demanding an end to Senate filibusters that often have killed off civil rights and other bills.

Instead they got a broadly worded plank calling for improvement of congressional procedures so that the majority rule prevails and decisions can be made after reasonable debate without being blocked by a minority in either house.

"We will continue our efforts to eradicate discrimination based on race, religion or national origin," the civil rights section stated after calling for equal opportunities for voting, education, economic advancement and living conditions.

"We know this task requires action, not just in one section of the nation but in all sections," it continued in a style pleasing to Southerners. "It requires the co-operative effort of individual citizens and action by state and local governments."

Northerners liked the next phrase: "It also requires federal action. We favor federal legislation effectively to secure these rights to everyone: (1) the right to equal opportunity for employment; (2) the right to security of persons; (3) the right to full and equal participation in the nation's political life, free from arbitrary restrictions."

"We also favor legislation to perfect existing federal civil rights statutes and to strengthen the administrative machinery for the protection of civil rights."

Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, hailed the plank as "a signal victory for the forces of liberalism in the party," although he conceded it "does not pinpoint the issues."

TRUMAN TALK SET FRIDAY
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 24 (U.S. — President Truman is scheduled to address the Democratic National Convention at 8 p.m. (CST) Friday.

National Committee Chairman Frank E. McKinney told a reporter the hour is subject to change if the convention hasn't completed its ticket by that time.

Say Truman Favors Adlai
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 24 (U.S. — Two close associates said today President Truman has passed along the word that he prefers Gov. Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The two party leaders said Truman's decision had been made in the light of a swiftly moving draft behind Stevenson's reluctant candidacy.

Barkley Sets New Blaze In Stirring Talk

By RELMAN MORIN
CHICAGO (U.S. — They said Alben W. Barkley was "too old."

They said he was a fine gentleman and a distinguished public figure, but heavy years, too many years, to be the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

The Democratic convention is on fire today because of the man who was "too old."

It is blazing with the new life and spirit he breathed into it last night when he spoke to more than 12,000 people, whipped them into a frenzy of excitement, and stirred one of the unforgettable spectacles of a generation.

His appearance at the convention was intended as a kind of "consolation prize" for a man deeply hurt.

Three days before, the 74-year-old vice president was a candidate, campaigning actively to be his party's choice for the presidency.

Then, as he put it, "some suddenly-annointed labor leaders" self-anointed withdrew the support he had supposed they would give him. They said he was "too old."

Barkley took himself out of the race. There was a tremendous explosion of warmth and sympathy and affection when the "Veep" marched down the platform onto the rostrum last night. The organ began to play "My Old Kentucky Home," and rolling billows of music and cheering thundered through the great hall.

Barkley stood looking down at the demonstration, unsmiling, almost impassive. From time to time he waved and bowed, acknowledging a tremendous salute. It went on for 24 minutes, constantly hitting new peaks of sound and excitement.

Russell, Kefauver Conceding Nothing

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, July 24 (U.S. — The name of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia was offered to the Democratic National Convention today as a presidential candidate who believes in equal opportunities for all.

Sen. Walter George, Russell's Senate colleague from Georgia, in a prepared nominating speech, described Russell as an outstanding public servant.

Russell, he said, subscribes "to the wisdom of our fathers that the military should always be under the direction of civil authority. . . . A military man in a civilian office tends to lead to distastefulship."

George did not specifically name Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee.

By JACK BELL
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 24 (U.S. — A swing to Adlai Stevenson took what even some opponents conceded, had the look of a band wagon role today with the Democratic Convention nearing the point of picking its presidential nominee.

Many delegates who had been holding back were hopping in behind the Illinois governor.

But Sens. Russell of Georgia and Kefauver of Tennessee also were picking up votes from the big bloc of hitherto uncommitted delegates and weren't conceding a thing. Averell Harriman, the Mutual Security administrator, also was still plugging hard for the convention's grand prize.

Kefauver, in a news conference, declared: "I'm quite confident I'll be nominated." He said he had picked up "more than 60" delegates in the last 36 hours.

As the convention began its climactic day, there was still a big question mark over the status of the delegates from Virginia, Louisiana and South Carolina who have balked at signing any sort of advance "loyalty" pledge to the nominees.

Leaders of the three states held a strategy conference reportedly aimed at forcing a decision on whether they will be allowed to cast their 64 votes.

Gov. John S. Battle met with Govs. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Robert Kennon of Louisiana in a private session. They were understood to be working on the draft of a letter to convention Chairman Sam Rayburn. The letter would seek clarification of their status.

If the votes of these three states should be ruled out, the total of possible delegate votes on the presidential nominee would be 1,166 with 584— or 583 and a fraction—needed to nominate.

The convention was organized originally on the basis of 1,220 delegate votes, meaning a majority would be 615, plus a fraction. Convention managers planned to hold off on the actual balloting until a night session.

Truman Issues Ultimatum For A Settlement

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON, July 24 (U.S. — President Truman today issued an ultimatum to the steel industry and the CIO to their faces today that they must end the economy wrecking steel strike at once.

Then he sent them to the Cabinet Room of the White House to work out the differences that brought on the strike of 650,000 steelworkers 53 days ago.

Truman's pep talk lasted 10 minutes. The meeting between CIO head Philip Murray, president of the CIO, and Benjamin Fairless, head of U. S. Steel Corp., went on for an hour and ten minutes.

Fairless told newsmen "we are going to discuss the situation with our own people."

Murray confirmed the statement. There were no words of hope of a quick settlement, but an aura of optimism surrounded the meetings.

The fact that Fairless and Murray planned to talk to their associates seemed to indicate some kind of new formula for ending the strike was in the works.

In a brief statement read to reporters, Fairless said: "We have had a meeting with the President and Dr. Steelman and we have talked at length about our mutual problem. We are each going to discuss the situation with our own people."

Murray would add nothing to the Fairless statement but he subscribed to it wholeheartedly.

Cost Of Living Hits All-Time High In June

WASHINGTON, July 24 (U.S. — The cost of living, as measured by the government, soared to an all-time high in mid-June.

Figures made public today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that on June 15 the price of food, clothing, rent, entertainment and other daily living costs was 149.6 per cent of the 1935-1939 period.

In that year a bitter floor battle for a stronger racial relations plank split the party wide open, and in the November election four Southern states were rebuffed from the Democratic column.

The cost-of-living index jumped five-tenths of a point over the previous record high for last January under the pressure of higher costs for food, rent and miscellaneous goods and services.

About 40,000 wage earners may get a pay hike as a result of the new index. These workers have contracts which tie their wages to the rise and fall of the index.

Railroad workers, whose wages are hitched to the index, are not affected by today's report. Their wages are adjusted every three months. Auto workers are due for an adjustment next month, the railworkers in two months.

The index showed that between May and June, food prices rose three-tenths per cent, 34 per cent above the June, 1939, level but still slightly under the all-time peak of last January; miscellaneous goods and services six-tenths per cent; rent two-tenths per cent and fuel and electricity one-tenth per cent.

A marked drop in house furnishings and a slight decrease in clothing failed to offset increases in the other items.

General's Diary Now 'Top Secret'

WASHINGTON, July 24 (U.S. — The Army now has classified as "top secret" an American general's diary whose contents have been known to Russia for a year.

The move to prevent public knowledge of what the document contained, it became apparent today, is part of the Iron Curtain of secrecy thrown around the court-martial of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow.

The diary is presumably "exhibit A" of the trial, which began yesterday at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

The case exploded in the Army's face last January when a Communist book appeared in East Germany containing what it said were excerpts from the diary kept by Grow, then the military attaché at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow.

The excerpts included claims of need for war with Russia now and mentioned trips Grow allegedly made to study Russian military defense installations.

RIOTING ENDS Mossadegh Getting Cabinet Together

By NATE POLOWETZKY
TEHRAN, Iran (U.S. — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh put finishing touches on a new Cabinet today as Iran's bloodied capital slowly returned to normal from rioting that swept the popular old Nationalist cabinet back into power.

But a "hate America" campaign spread to the press, reflecting rioting anti-U. S. feeling here.

Mossadegh was expected to present his new set of ministers to Shah Mohammed-Reza Pahlavi today or tomorrow — with either the Premier himself or his choice heading the key war ministry. The monarchs refusal last week to let Mossadegh take over that post caused the Premier to resign.

Thirty-five or more persons were killed in wild pro-Mossadegh demonstrations that followed.

All opposition to Mossadegh appeared to have evaporated in the violence. One after another, opposition members of Parliament sent letters to the newspapers last night pledging him their support.

CRMWD Case Set For New Hearing

The Texas Supreme Court will hear the CRMWD-Martin County water district case on Oct. 29.

This date was announced Wednesday. The Martin County Underground Water Conservation District and the State Board of Water Engineers had appealed a 12th District Court decision. In that decision, returned March 22, Judge Jack Roberts had held for the Colorado River Municipal Water District and permanently enjoined the MCVWCD from enforcement of regulations. Among other things, these curtailed annual withdrawal considerably.

Since June, CRMWD has been supplying part of Odessa's need from the well field.

Warplanes Following Up Co-Ordinated Bomb Raid

SEUL, Korea (U.S. — United Nations warplanes set out in force over North Korea today in a follow-up to yesterday's deadly co-ordinated bombing of Communist port and power installations by hundreds of carrier and land-based planes.

Some 200 U. S. Marine, Air Force, South Korean, South African and Australian jets and bombers teamed with Navy planes from two fast U. S. carriers Wednesday. Their target was the Wonsan area of Northeastern Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jets and fighter bombers went out in big numbers again today.

On the ground, the eight-day battle for Old Baldy Hill west of Chonwon fell off to sporadic artillery, mortar and small arms fire. Associated Press Photographer George Swears said the Chinese still held the crest of the Western Front hotspot.

The Navy said Panther jets, Skyraiders and Corsairs from the carriers Bon Homme Richard and Princeton demolished three steam electric plants near the battered port of Wonsan.

New Line Of Cactus Paints Are Proving Very Popular

Two new lines of Cactus paints are proving exceptionally popular in this area.

One is a group of pastels in conventional types of paint. The other is a satin type which employs a rubber emulsion base.

Gene Campbell, production manager for Cactus Paint Company, said that the response to the new color arrangements for the conventional indoor paints had exceeded expectations.

The colors include sunshine, yellow, sea green, buff, powder blue, peach, twilight gray, quartz pink, sage green, rose and turquoise. These come in either the gloss enamels, semi-gloss, flat wall, satin, or the flat wall oil base paints.

Ike Forces Planning Program To Attract Independent Ranks

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER (U.S.)—Political advisers to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, moved today to set up a program aimed primarily at wooing independents and disgruntled Democrats to his support.

The move is based, these advisers said, on a call by the general himself for continuation and expansion of the national Citizens for Eisenhower Committee—an organization they credited with having played a major role in his successful bid for the GOP nomination.

Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania outlined the plan at a news conference here last night after he and two other Eisenhower leaders had conferred with the general at his vacation retreat near Fraser, Colo., 72 miles west of Denver.

Duff, Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, and Ralph Calkins, GOP national committeeman from Oregon, spent most of the day with Eisenhower and discussed, Duff reported, virtually every phase of the forthcoming campaign.

The day started with a breakfast of flapjacks and bacon, which Eisenhower cooked. The general also prepared lunch—trout, salad and mashed potatoes.

At the Denver news conference in the Eisenhower campaign headquarters, Duff and Calkins said particular emphasis had been placed at the Fraser huddle on a need for continuing and stepping up the activities of the citizens committee. The organization is headed by Walter Williams of Seattle.

Eisenhower declared, Duff said, that he was in wholehearted accord with the idea and gave instructions assigning the committee a key role in the campaign.

The committee will have the job of bringing out a big vote of registered Republicans next fall. But Duff said it will pay special attention to trying to win over independents and disgruntled Democrats.

The Pennsylvania senator added that the committee's activities will be co-ordinated closely with the work of the Republican National Committee and the regular GOP political organizations everywhere.

Duff said Eisenhower "is not only in robust health but in excellent good humor and feeling ready to go to work" against the candidate the Democrats nominate at their convention in Chicago.

Eisenhower himself told newsmen he has been much too busy trout fishing and working with his oil paints to tune in radio accounts of the Democratic convention.

The general's paintings—four landscapes and two portraits since he arrived at the ranch a week ago—drew warm praise from his visitors.

Gov. Thornton liked one landscape so much he got a promise from the general to turn it over to the Colorado Historical Museum in Denver.

Navy Man Returns For Funeral Rites

Melvin Byers, stationed with the U. S. Navy in Kodiak, Alaska, arrived by plane to attend burial services held Tuesday morning for his grandfather, A. B. Crews, 79.

A retired railroad conductor, Mr. Crews had lived in Big Spring 44 years.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. J. T. Byers, Mrs. W. L. Busbee and Lillian Crews, all of Big Spring; and three sons, Albert and Joe Crews of Big Spring and Carl Crews of Sweetwater.

City Police Have Variety Of Activity During June

Big Spring's 20 policemen made 256 arrests, issued 641 traffic tickets, handled some 2,000 radio calls and operated three squad cars a total distance of 14,628 miles during June.

Those and other activities were summarized in the monthly report of the police department handed city commissioners this week.

The report showed fines amounting to $5,253.50 assessed in Corporation Court as a result of the department's work. Of the total, $3,469 was paid, $1,644 was "laid out," and $140.50 is pending.

Arrests were made for such offenses as assault, robbery, attempted murder, liquor violations, display and carrying of firearms, indecent exposure, disturbance, affray, drunkenness, driving while intoxicated, theft, destruction of private property and vagrancy.

Drunkenness was the dominant offense. Arrests on that charge numbered 160 and fines assessed for intoxication amounted to more than half of the month's total, or $2,729.

Twelve persons charged with driving while intoxicated were arrested by city police and transferred to county authorities for prosecution. Also transferred were two cases of robbery, one of aggravated assault, one of attempted murder, and one involving a motorist who was charged with driving while his license was suspended.

In the traffic field, officers issued tickets for 92 "moving" violations, 34 instances of driving without license and 47 cases involving mechanical defects and parking violations other than over-time parking.

HAD ONLY 3,000

Stevenson Crowd Short Of Buttons

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
CHICAGO (U.S.)—The people who helped whistle up the draft-Stevenson move find it's blown them clear out of campaign buttons.

A week ago they had 3,000 of them—big, shiny red, white and blue buttons saying, "America needs Stevenson for President."

Today: Not a one that isn't pinned to somebody.

No use asking the volunteer band that set out six months ago to win the top Democratic nomination for Illinois' Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Their headquarters, on the 15th floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, is fresh out too.

"I'm just breathless," said Mrs. Barbara Simpson, a striking blue-eyed blonde. "We've been out of buttons since Tuesday. I wish those others we ordered would get here."

Another worker, Miss Mary Anderson, came in with two teenagers in tow, trailed by a photographer. The trio posed, proudly displaying Stevenson buttons, and the flash-bulb popped.

"All right, girls," called out Mrs. Simpson. "Take them off and lock them up. That's the last three buttons."

Mrs. Simpson is easy to interview. You just ask for a button and it's like pushing one—out comes the whole story.

"We're just rank amateurs here. I don't know what the political pros, or whatever you call them, are doing out at the Convention Hall.

"All I know is we started here with one room, no money and no candidate. Now we've got seven rooms, more volunteers than we can use, donations coming in all the time and—even Gov. Stevenson is starting to sound like he would run."

The committee, she went on, got started last January in Chicago. Its co-chairmen are Walter Johnson, Chicago University professor, and George Overton, Chicago lawyer. It's called a national committee but most members are Illinoisans, like Mrs. Simpson.

"Actually," she whispered, "I come from a long line of Vermont Republicans."

The blue eyes sparkled when she added:

"I never was much for politics. I don't even remember whether I voted for Stevenson in '48. But if this thing works out, nobody will ever convince me democracy is endangered in this country."

Me—Advising a Banker!

The Missus and I were invited to dinner over at Balesville the other night. I sat next to a banker from the state capital.

"Mighty nice country you've got down there," he says. "Don't be surprised if I come to live there myself. In a few years I plan to get away from everybody, buy a farm and just take it easy."

"Well," I told him, "we'd like to have you. But when someone plans to buy a farm and 'take it easy' he often winds up working harder than ever. It takes work to run a farm right no matter how many hands you can afford to hire.

"And from where I sit," I continued, "you won't get away from people either. Neighbors are plenty important in a farming community—whether it's helping one another out or just friendly visiting over a sociable glass of beer." "Hard work and neighbors dropping in all the time?" he asks, looking at me over his glasses. Then he smiles and says, "Sounds wonderful. You're just sold me on a farm."

Re-Elect Jake Bruton

Figures and conditions show that, during the term of office of Jake Bruton as sheriff, Howard County is fairing better than ever in law enforcement and in maintaining decent conditions.

JUST ONE EXAMPLE In all the years since 1925, there have been 49 cases of narcotics violations handled by the Howard County Sheriff's Office, and 32 OF THESE HAVE BEEN HANDLED DURING BRUTON'S TERM OF OFFICE.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE During the "dry" year of 1951, over 100 liquor cases in Big Spring alone were handled by the Sheriff's office. Under the present conditions, Jake Bruton and his force have done an outstanding job in checking licensed establishments.

ONE MORE EXAMPLE Fees of the office of sheriff collected for the county (this is not fines alone) in 1951 totaled $4,580.67. This compares with just $2,059.07 in 1950 and only $1,186.61 back in 1943.

HOW YOU CAN MAKE AMERICA STRONG — IV

HE NEEDS YOUR VOTE — TO STAY FREE!

Our children's future is uncertain. Because our country's future is uncertain. Perhaps we have let them down. Can it be that self-government interests us no more... that the priceless gift of personal freedom can find no takers? Can it be that we know not—and care not—who represents us at the meeting place? Have we traded personal opportunity and integrity for security... for a handout at the back door? And robbed our children in the process? To be strong as a nation, morally and spiritually, is a primary duty we owe our children. Before it is too late... before the chance is gone forever... America must be made strong again. With informed, skillful, courageous leadership. Next election, no matter what kind, let's get up and put on our hats and go to the polling place and vote! Know the issues and the candidates. Vote to fill every office with an able man. Let's go back to the old-fashioned habit of taking a part in our democratic government. Our youngsters need votes... to stay free!

The Soundest Basis For Casting Your Ballot In Saturday's Vote

One more day separates us from the first Democratic primary, which, despite the rustlings of a Republican awakening, still calls the turn in Texas politics for all practical purposes.

Thus, particularly on a local level, voters will be balloting Saturday upon their officials for the next biennium. Because many of the races which have opposition have only two, several offices will be settled definitely. The remaining ones will be reduced to two contestants for the runoff or August primary. Unless all signs fall, the Democratic nominees for county, precinct and district posts will sail right into office in the general election in November.

It is increasingly important, therefore, that you make your plans to ballot in the primary Saturday if you consider yourself a Democrat. Howard County has a record voting potential, but unless a lot of people shake off the shackles of civic lethargy, the vote may fall considerably short of a record.

Voting early is helpful; voting positively for someone rather than against someone or voting blindly is most important of all. If you don't know the candidates, get hold of a sample ballot and study the list. If you still don't know, ask someone who does know them. Always ask this question: "Who is equipped by training, character and ability to do the best job?"

If we vote on this basis Saturday, none of us can lose.

Flying Saucers Keep Cropping Up, But This Is A First For Radār

The Air Force waited almost 48 hours and then released the story of strange aerial objects floating around over the nation's capital. Maybe it was waiting to see if Harry Truman was sending up trial balloons to see how the wind was blowing in Chicago.

But when the story did break, it outdid all the other flying saucer yarns of record. The radar screen at the National Airport Saturday night had picked up eight slow-moving objects flying in the vicinity of Andrews Air Force Base a few miles away. These objects had to have real substance to show on the radar screen, rather than mere light which might be attributed to optical illusion. Whatever they were, these things were real.

Their slow speed, about 130 miles, differed from most flying saucers which have been represented as traveling at enormous velocity. They made alternate up and down motions and were also said to hover at times.

Furthermore, a commercial pilot flying southward from Washington had seen the objects the same night, only this time there were only seven instead of eight. A pilot of 17 years' service described them as "like falling stars without tails."

Interviewed later, Pilot Pieman said he had never seen objects like these before. He had seen a lot of shooting stars, but these were not like stars. They were much faster than "anything like that I have ever seen. They couldn't have been aircraft. They were moving too fast for that."

This differs from the radar screen report not only in numbers involved, but in rate of speed.

"Please remember," insisted Capt. Pieman, "I didn't speak of them as flying saucers—only very fast-moving lights."

The radar screen proved them to be more than light, and that is something new in all the reports of similar phenomena we have seen.

What's going on here? The Air Force and 150,000,000 Americans, not to mention two billion other human beings, would like to have the answer. The Air Force is investigating all such incidents and may, some day will have the answer.

Stevenson Determined To Stay Clear Of HST And The Bosses

CHICAGO. — The inside story of Adlai Stevenson's tortuous trail toward the Democratic presidential nomination can now be told for the first time.

Inside fact is that Stevenson stayed in the background, for two basic reasons:

1—He wanted an absolutely free hand, did not want to be the handpicked stooge of the big city bosses.

2—He did not and does not want to be Truman's man. His private opinion is that Truman is a political albatross around any Democrat's neck.

That was why the Illinois governor grimly fought off the entreaties of Illinois Political Boss Jake Arvey, that he announce his candidacy. Such a move, he knew, would have made Arvey the big wheel of any Stevenson-for-President drive. He also gently rebuffed all pressure from the White House, deliberately scorned a White House blessing.

During a series of conferences with a White House adviser two months ago, Stevenson laid down five basic conditions under which he would consider running. They were aimed to discourage Truman, as follows:

- 1—That he, Stevenson, have the right to name his own campaign manager.
- 2—That he have the right to name his own chairman of the Democratic National Committee.
- 3—That the Democratic platform be cleared with him before presentation to the convention.
- 4—That President Truman agree to campaign only whenever and wherever Stevenson wanted him to.
- 5—That President Truman agree to clear all speeches during the campaign with Stevenson in advance of delivery.

Stevenson also asked that he have the power to pass on his own vice presidential running mate. He also wanted the White House emissary to be very careful not to consult with Jake Arvey on any of the above.

When President Truman heard Stevenson's conditions, he hit the ceiling. Stevenson's attitude, he exploded was a personal affront, particularly when it came to clearing presidential speeches with a candidate.

"I'm President," Truman said, "and I owe that fact to no one, including Adlai Stevenson. I'm not going to clear my speeches with a living soul."

"What's more," Truman added, "I'll speak where I darned well want to speak and when I want to speak. I fought the '68 campaign out alone and I can fight this one out alone too if I have to."

As a result of Truman's reaction, Stevenson climbed back into his shell, refused to commit himself further on the nomination. As a result, also, Truman put Stevenson in the same doghouse that he had already erected to hold another leading Democratic candidate—Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Stevenson's stirring speech to the opening of the Democratic convention brought his candidacy to life with a bang. It will be interesting to see whether the President and his cronies now gang up on Stevenson the way they have on Kefauver.

The most pathetic meeting of the entire Democratic convention occurred not in a smoke-filled room but in room 709 of the Blackstone Hotel during a breakfast between Vice President Alben Barkley and eight labor leaders.

The meeting was called by friendly mutual agreement and was attended by Walter

Rewards Of Matrimony More Certain For Women Than Any Political Work

(EDITOR'S Note: "Politics is a man's game," concludes Trellis Mae Peeble, America's average wife, in a letter home to her husband about the national donkey serenade.)

By HAL BOYLE

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Dearest Wilbur,

If I learn nothing else from the Democratic National Convention, I at least have learned this—politics is really for men. Women had better stick to matrimony, where the rewards are surer and they can be certain of at least one man's ear.

Yes, politics is for men. And men deserve politics—the heartless beasts!

I am hollering mad at all male Democrats today for the way they behaved during Ladies' Day in Convention Hall. If I had my way I'd have every woman in America boycott (or should I say girl) Democratic Parties and form a "Women Only Party."

I guess I had better begin from the beginning, honey. Anyway, political conventions are now like baseball parks. They have a Ladies Day just to prove they recognize the existence of two sexes.

The leading female politicians are invited to speak. And Tuesday afternoon the donkey delegates heard—or, I might say, should have heard—Perle Mesta, minister to Luxembourg; Eugenie A. Anderson, ambassador of Denmark; and Georgia Nease Clark, treasurer of the United States.

These ladies just looked simply lovely. I would hate to say how much they must have spent on new hair-dos and gowns. It was the big moment of four years for them—a kind of middle-aged junior prom. And they had worked

Filming N. York Scenes Runs Into Big Money

NEW YORK—When he was an actor on Broadway where everyone in the neighborhood of Times Square speaks like Oxford scholar, no one paid much attention to Gregory Ratoff.

Ratoff had an accent but he didn't worry that he had been born in Samara, Russia. He always remembered that Frenchman Ford Madox Ford had once written a very erudite and understanding book called "New York Is Not America."

Ratoff is now back in New York to direct and produce a 20th-Century-Fox comedy called "Taxi."

"With a title like that," Ratoff said, "it could be made only in a metropolis like New York. Perhaps in London, perhaps in Paris. But only in New York could you get the speed of action that 'taxi' suggests.

"In sum, the story tells what a single taxi driver might encounter during 18 hours of an exciting day, from the time he starts at 3 a.m. at La Guardia Airport and ends his trip at 3 a.m. the next morning—18 hours from the time he began with his original fare."

And what is the difference, I asked Ratoff, between shooting this picture on simulated New York settings in Hollywood and shooting them inside and outside natural settings in Manhattan?

"Sometimes the cost is less, and sometimes it may be as much or more as the amount with which we would be billed in Hollywood. As an example, we did five hours research for a location on New York's Bowery and we did eight hours of shooting film on the location we had selected. That was 13 hours of work for a full crew to make the filming. What we did was very good, but on the screen that film will make only three minutes of actual pictures.

"But I do not have to worry if I am producing a picture in Rome," he said. "In Rome, or a similar Italian city, I can put the actors in 18th Century costumes and they are filmed against 18th Century houses—authentic, and they are still there."

Ratoff, who has become quite a specialist on costs of movie production since he started filming in Rome and New York, illustrated the difference in prices between the two places.

In one scene Ratoff wanted a short scene of a delicatessen owner standing in the doorway.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

The first military funeral ever held in the Lone Star domain on this day in 1833 marked the burial of James Collinsworth, who had leaped from a steamer to his death in the waters of Galveston Bay three days before.

Mourners heard Collinsworth lauded for his brilliant mind and his service to the fledgling Republic; the orators left unmentioned his weakness for ardent spirits which had probably brought about his suicide. Long active in public affairs, Collinsworth at the time of his death was chief justice of the Supreme Court and candidate for the presidency of the Republic.

Born in Tennessee, Collinsworth came to Texas in 1834. He quickly won a reputation as an outstanding lawyer. Soon after the Revolution he went to Washington with Peter Grayson to solicit United States aid in the war with Mexico and to seek annexation. Appointed Secretary of State by David Burnet, Collinsworth resigned that post in a huff because the president had appointed to night offices "persons who had never been in the country, except temporarily," Collinsworth, Texas, for fifteen months, resented the newcomers.

Collinsworth's death and the suicide soon after of Peter Grayson, also a presidential candidate, insured the election of Mirabeau Lamar to the Republic's highest office.

Big Probe But No Report On The Noise Problem

(Copyright 1952 by Walt Kelly)

CHICAGO — Most conventions brew up a great deal of noise as well as platforms and planks and perspiration. Today a small survey was taken to determine whether July of 1952 has been the noisiest month in Chicago's history.

An interview was arranged with a long time resident of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, a pigeon who had occupied the same suite of eaves for a good many years. Unfortunately it transpired after the interview started that the pigeon named Colonel Tipptoes, an experienced politician, would say nothing but "No comment." An intermediary (Hugo the Mouse) explained that this was because the pigeon had been driven deaf by the outbursts of enthusiasm in recent days and probably was not hearing the questions.

Thereupon we sent for the Colonel's Hearing Aide, a Belgian

Something To Know In Case You Get Bitten By A Rabid Animal

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

A good thing to know is what to do in case you're the victim of a mad dog bite. That's because rabies, an ancient disease that killed a Big Spring woman last year, has a mortality rate of 99-plus per cent if allowed to go unchecked. Meaning you're a goner if you get the infection and don't do something about it before the symptoms appear. And the thing to do is start a series of 14 antitoxin injections.

The shots aren't exactly picnic, themselves; some doctors consider the antitoxin rather dangerous but they don't hesitate to order the serum when a person is thought to have the disease.

(Incidentally, the rabies shots were given a number of Texas children last year in an anti-polio experiment. Results, if any, haven't been substantiated from the polio vaccination standpoint.)

Rabies, also called hydrophobia, usually is transmitted in the saliva of an infected animal. Hence the term "mad dog." A canine gets the disease, it makes him temperamental as a used car, somebody or something gets bit, and the infection flows with the saliva into the victim.

The disease isn't confined to dogs and humans. Skunk, foxes and other animals (even cattle), have been known to "go mad." A bat is believed to have carried the infection fatal to the local woman.

You can't always tell when a dog or cat has hydrophobia. The safe thing to do is have the biting animal confined for observation by a veterinarian or other qualified person. Any rabid creature will display definite symptoms within a 10-day period and his victims have about 15 days in which to start the antitoxin treatment.

In case the animal must be killed, be careful not to damage the head or brain in any way. Examination of the Ammon's horn portion of the brain is the only laboratory method of determining whether a dead animal was infected with rabies.

The extremely delicate diagnosis may be made impossible if the brain is bruised, shattered, or allowed to decompose. The head should be separated from the body and kept at a temperature just above freezing. Be careful not to freeze the specimen; that'll also ruin it.

The best thing to do (if an animal suspected of having rabies is killed) is call health authorities. In Big Spring, that's Lige Fox at the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit.

He will take over, help you prepare the head for shipment to State Health Department laboratories in Austin, and in a matter of hours you'll know whether or not you've been exposed to rabies.

Anthropologists have found evidence that rabies has existed practically since the dawn of civilization. The disease has been eradicated from two or three European countries for varying periods of time, but it usually recurs when guards are lowered. Texas ranks third among the states in the number of cases of the disease reported. The virus has been found in around 20 Texas animal species and some sections of the state have been plagued by rabid foxes, skunks and various other animals.

At present, the State Health Department hopes to ascertain if the infection is very prevalent among bats and other flying creatures. The local sanitarian has been requested to forward to state health laboratories any "sick" bats he runs across. Fox has considered trying to capture some of the attic-dwellers, but he's at a loss when it comes to determining which are in poor health.

Health officials doubt that there are many rabid animals or birds hereabouts. Nevertheless, they urge close observation of any creature that bites a person or shows other signs of becoming violent. Hydrophobia seldom is found, but when it is—stakes are high.

Gallup Poll

Republicans Offer Three Big Reasons For Getting '52 Vote

PRINCETON, N. J.—What ideas did the Republicans "sell" Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, average voters, with their speeches and oratory at the recent Republican convention?

To discover which of the many ideas stressed by Republican speakers seemed to be most convincing to newspaper readers, television viewers and radio listeners, the Gallup Poll had its nation-wide staff of field interviewers ask people, in the days immediately following the G. O. P. convention, this question:

"In the talks and speeches at the Republican convention, what did you think was the BEST argument brought out to get people to vote Republican this November?"

Three arguments were most frequently mentioned, each one by about the same number of persons interviewed:

1. The G. O. P. will reduce government spending and will lower taxes.
2. The G. O. P. will clean out graft and corruption in government.
3. The Democratic party has been in power too long and it's time for a change.

Close behind these three arguments came the argument that the Republicans would handle America's foreign policy better, that it would stop the war in Korea and improve the chance for peace throughout the world.

The same survey question will be put to a representative cross-section of the American people immediately following the Democratic convention to see what ideas they got over to the American public to convince voters that they should vote Democratic this November.

Although many G. O. P. speakers charged that the Truman administration had

Sheep Raised In South Greenland

If we could pick up Greenland and lay it on North America, we might place the northern end in Canada, say alongside Winnipeg. In that case, the southern tip would stretch down to the Gulf of Mexico.

Greenland has about one eleventh of the area of North America, and almost one eighth of the area of South America. On maps of the Mercator type, Greenland looks much larger than it really is.

The first white person to settle in Greenland seem to have been Norsemen led by Eric the Red. The Norse party got there more than nine and a half centuries ago.

Eskimos were living in southern Greenland at the time the Norsemen arrived.

Late figures show that the population of the big island is only about 22,000. This means one person for each 38 square miles. We might call that a "thin population."

All of the residents live near the coast. The southern end of Greenland has almost the entire population.

Anyone who appears in the center of Greenland is likely to be an explorer. White men have tramped across parts of the great central glacier, and aviators have flown above it.

Denmark owns the island, but the people are mainly Eskimos, or of mixed white and Eskimo stock. Less than 500 residents are classed as pure white.

In grassy districts near the coast of Greenland, sheep are raised. Their wool is of special value in making woolen clothing to help Greenlanders live through the long, cold winters. Many natives wear fur clothing made from the hides of polar bears, seals and other animals.

Greenland (like Norway) has beautiful valleys known as fjords. Valley glaciers

The pretty Howard County farm girl, who has been going at 4-H Club work like mad for eight years, has just been elected secretary-treasurer of District 2 to add another terrific job to her routine chores.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Carroll, Ellouise is junior leader of the Center Point Club and secretary-treasurer of the Clover Leaf Club.

Her latest project - bedroom improvement - was slated a year ago when the family moved into its new home about five miles northeast of Big Spring on the Call road. The home itself was a family project - both Mr. and Mrs. Carroll as well as Wesley Jr., 9, and Ellouise, assisted in its construction, doing a great part of the work themselves.

Already Ellouise has made a dressing table and skirt, mattress and spring protectors, a shag rug and a lamp for her bedroom. The dressing table was made from apple boxes and beneath the chintz skirt are shelves for cosmetics, books and other articles. The rug was made from a feed sack, used for the backing, and special rug yarn. Ellouise made the lamp from an old kerosene model.

This year she is continuing the project by making a stool for the dressing table, shoe and laundry bags and quilt protectors.

"The chintz is the only thing that has any value," Ellouise replied when asked about the cost of the room's furnishings. "We bought about $10 worth of chintz and I guess counting the spread and curtains I've spent about $20."

The bedspread is a deep yellow chenille and the curtains are rayon marquisette in the same color, which set off the deep aqua of the walls.

Around the dressing table top is a band of quilted aqua chintz, to which is attached the chintz skirt, printed in yellow, aqua, green and touches of brown against a gray background.

Last year Ellouise won county medals in bedroom improvement, clothing, dairy foods and three in the dress review. In years past her projects have also included canning, gardening, recreation and junior leadership. Last year she was a member of the dairy foods demonstration team that won the district contest.

This year she will assist her mother, who is active in home demonstration club work and now engaged in the living room improvement project, in landscaping their yard, entering the planting of shrubbery as her club work. Three years ago when she was a page at the Texas Home Demonstration Association convention at A&M College, Ellouise made her own page's uniform, and right now she is busy making all of her school clothes for next year. She is also working on the county camp to be held the first week in August, and during the camp will lead a crafts course for younger children.

She has been to A&M to the state meeting three years, to district camp at Fort Stockton two years and one year at Lubbock. A junior in high school next year, Ellouise is president of the Future Homemakers of America clubs of District 2, vice president of her school club and is active in the chorus. Last year she won a trophy for the most outstanding setup in the volleyball tournament held at Big Spring High.

Will she become a home economics teacher or a home demonstration agent when she chooses her life's work? No, Ellouise thinks she might like to be a nurse.

TRUMAN

Acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Sfeelman, whose repeated mediation attempts to stop the crippling, 50-day strike have failed, was asked to sit in during the dramatic presidential appeal to both sides for an immediate end to the walkout.

Looming ominously in the background was the threat of imminent paralysis to the nation's defense effort.

Defense Secretary Robert Lovett estimated that "somewhere between 20 and 30 per cent" of the expected arms production for this year would be lost because of the strike, the longest steel production stoppage in the nation's history.

"Possibility of a crippling strike in a second vital industry—coal—made the picture even darker," John L. Lewis was reported to have notified at least part of the soft coal industry the present contracts will end in two months.

Judging from past experience, that means a strike or slowdown in coal fields is all but inevitable if a new contract is not signed by Sept. 22.

Coal stocks are at near record levels—about 70 days supply on hand—and a strike in mid-September would indicate the plants would begin to be felt about the time coal weather sets in.

The President said nothing in advance about a possible bold new plan to compromise the bitter steel dispute and bring a new work contract to 600,000 striking steelworkers.

But observers close to the situation said Truman would certainly appear to the patriotism of leaders of both sides.

Rayburn Says Dixie Groups Can Cast Votes

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 24 (AP)—Chairman Sam Rayburn said today Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia would be invited to answer the roll call of states for nominating speeches at the Democratic National Convention.

Sen. Russell, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, said in a statement he had no advance knowledge of Charnay's visit with Stevenson.

Rayburn declined to discuss the matter except to say that if anyone challenges the right of the three states to participate in the nominating proceedings, he will make a ruling at that time.

DRAFT

(Continued From Page 1) wagon is rolling in the direction of Stevenson. But if we can hold the line—if we can stop Stevenson on the second ballot, the votes for favorite son candidates and others can be diverted to Kefauver."

The Kansas votes raised to 188 the total of known prospective first ballot votes for Stevenson, as disclosed by an AP poll of delegates, Kefauver has 263, Russell 185, and Harriman 107.

Texas decided in a caucus to put all of its 52 votes behind Russell. Only 22 1/2 of them previously had been committed to him, so the move shoved the Russell count at this point up to 195.

The Stevenson boom got another boost when Gov. Paul A. Dever, Massachusetts, announced he would vote for the Illinois governor on the second ballot. He said he had made no recommendation to other delegates as to how they should vote.

The 38 Massachusetts votes were to go to Dever on the first ball as a favorite son.
