Girls Gain Top Honors At Junior Stock Show

Donna McFall of Miami had the grand champion steer and Linda Coufs of Pampa showed the grand champion hog at Saturday's Gray County Junior Livestock Show.

Miss Coufs, member of the Pampa Future Farmers of America, also had the reserve champion steer at the event sponsored by the Pampa Noon Lions Club. Miss McFall is also a Pampa FFA member.

Reserve champion hog was shown by Chris Skaggs, Pampa, member of the Gray County 4-H Club. Miss Coufs' hog, a Duroc, was also breed champion and Skaggs' Duroc was reserve breed champion for the Saturday afternoon show in the Pampa Barn at Recreation Park.

Other hog breed champions included: Hampshire class-breed champion shown by Kenneth

CONCERT RENEWALS OPENED

Current ticket holders in the Pampa Community Concert Association will have the next two weeks to renew memberships for the 1973-74 concert season.

Volunteer workers will meet at 2 p.m. today in the patio of First United Methodist Church to receive campaign packets and instructions for the annual membership drive.

The next two weeks have been set aside for renewals and memberships then will be opened March 19 to the public until the seating capacity of the M. K. Brown Memorial Auditorium is sold out.

Membership fees are $12 for adults and $6 for students and cover the entire concert season of four major attractions.

Three concerts already have been booked. They are Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians, Rumanian Ballet and Canadian Comic Opera Co. A fourth concert is to be selected at the close of the membership campaign.

Drive chairman Dick Stowers Saturday urged current members who wish to renew to do so early because an early sellout is expected.

Division chairmen, team captains and workers will attend this afternoon's tea along with members of the Community Concert Board.

Concert association officials report greater advance inquiries about 1973-74 memberships than at any time in association history.

Two more concerts remain in the 1972-73 season. They are William Walker, Metropolitan Opera baritone, on Tuesday, March 20, and Whittemore and Lowe, internationally famous piano duo, Saturday, April 21.

Sudan Rejects Demands

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Sudan rejected demands for another hostage and safe air passage Saturday by the Palestinian terrorists who assassinated two American diplomats and shot a Belgian envoy.

The commandos remained holed up in the Saudi Arabian Embassy, threatening to kill two Arab diplomats still held hostage unless their demands are met.

President Nixon and King Hussein of Jordan want to see Arab spill Arab blood, claimed a terrorist who addressed police with a loudspeaker. He urged Sudanese authorities to meet his demands to keep this from happening. "Please avoid bloodshed," he cried. "The death of the Arab hostages is unnecessary."

The commandos demanded an airplane to fly them to an unknown destination and a high-ranking Sudanese official to guarantee their safe passage. But the Sudanese government refused to bargain with the Palestinians in view of the executions Friday night.

They ordered the seven guerrillas to surrender and release their two hostages, Ambassador Sheikh Abdullah Malhouk of Saudi Arabia and Charge d'Affaires Adley el Nasser of Jordan.

Both have been held since the Palestinians, members of the Black September group, shot their way into a reception about 7 p.m. Thursday and took over the embassy in a bid to win the release of guerrilla prisoners in Jordan and elsewhere.

Since then, the heavily armed commandos have executed U.S. Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and U.S. Charge d'Affaires G. Curtis Moore, in honor of whose departure Malhouk gave the reception.

They said -- and reconfirmed Saturday -- that they also killed the Belgian charge d'affaires, Guy Eid. But the Belgian Foreign Ministry in Brussels said Eid's fate was uncertain.

Sudanese police ordered the evacuation of a four-block area around the embassy, explaining the area had been declared "operational" in fear the guerrillas inside might blow up the building and themselves and their hostages along with it.

Scores of police carrying automatic weapons and backed by armored cars watched the embassy.

The guerrillas had demanded safe passage Friday to the United States, where the U.S. Embassy spokesman said they intended to stage an execution in front of the assembled press.

"The fedayeen wanted to fly to a major airport in the United States, taking the hostages with them along with three or four high-ranking Sudanese ministers," the spokesman reported.

"Three Sudanese Volunteers," he added. "What they did not know was that the fedayeen intended to land the aircraft, take the hostages out on the tarmac, make sure the press was there to witness it, line them up and slay them on the spot."

More Prisoners To Get Freedom

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP)—Three C141 flying hospitals roared off Sunday for Hanoi to bring 106 more American prisoners of war and two Thais to a red-carpet welcome at this American base.

The first of the C141 Star-Lifters was to lift off about noon -- 10 p.m. CST Saturday -- for the 900-mile, 2 1/2-hour flight to Hanoi's Gia Lam airport. It was expected back at Clark with the first group of freed POWs about dusk.

"We'll have them all back in time for dinner," said an Operation Homecoming spokesman.

Other flights were to follow Monday to pick up 27 American servicemen, 3 U.S. civilians, 2 German medical workers and 2 Filipinos being released by the Viet Cong in Hanoi.

The release of the POWs by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong followed nearly a week of haggling over alleged violations of the Vietnam peace agreement that at one point appeared to threaten the whole accord.

As a result the return of the 142 POWs was delayed by five days according to the U.S. timetable.

The best known of the POWs listed for return Sunday was Navy Cmdr. Richard A. Stratton, 41, of Palo Alto, Calif., and Quincy, Mass. He allegedly confessed to dropping antipersonnel bombs on civilians and other "war crimes" at a Hanoi news conference on March 4, 1967, about three months after he was shot down.

Widely displayed photos of the conference showing Stratton's gaunt, stooped figure and haunted expression, become familiar to millions of Americans and others as a symbol of the plight of the American POWs.

As in the case of previous releases Feb. 12 and Feb. 18, a crowd of about 1,500 residents of this sprawling air base is expected to turn out to cheer the men on their arrival where they will be greeted by Adm. Noel Gayler, commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

A brief arrival statement by the senior returnee on each plane will be made before the men board the blue hospital buses that will take them to the 270-bed base hospital.

Mayor's Contest Appears

James B. Maule, operator of Jim's Grocery, 1001 E. Frederic, filed his candidacy for mayor one hour before the filing deadline Friday afternoon.

He will oppose R. D. Wilkerson for the top spot in Pampa's April 3 election. Maule was the only candidate to file on the final day.

Other candidates who will have their names on the April 3 ballot will be:

H. R. (Ray) Thompson, unopposed for the Ward 1 city commission seat.

William Tuke and Joe B. Curtis for the Ward 2 unexpired term of Wilkerson, who resigned to run for mayor after serving one year of his two-year term.

Leo Braswell, seeking re-election for a third term, and William T. Broxson for the Ward 3 commission post.

Arthur Rohde, Ward 4 commissioner, still has one more year to serve before that seat is vacant.

The balloting for all candidates will be city-wide. There will be four voting places, one in each ward.

They will be located as follows:

Ward 1--City Hall.
Ward 2--North Fire Station, 321 E. 17th St.

Ward 3--Optimists Boys Club, 501 E. Craven St.
Ward 4--South Fire Station, 1010 S. Barnes St.

Voters planning to be out of the city on April 3 may cast absentee ballots March 12 through March 30.

Polls will be open on election day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Students Gear Activities To Public School Week

Twenty-three years ago members of the Masonic Lodge of Texas undertook a noble task--that of prodding citizens of every community in the state where schools are maintained to become closely acquainted with the local educational program of the public school system and the needs of the students and teachers involved in it.

From the opening of school Monday morning until dismissal of the final classes Friday afternoon, all grades in Pampa schools will be open at all times for a visit from parents and other interested citizens.

School officials and teachers as well as their pupils are planning special programs and displays for their participation in this special interest effort in the educational process in this community.

These programs and displays are open to all. In addition, a special invitation is outstanding to any interested person to visit a school and have lunch with the students during this special Public School Week.

As the idea captured the interest of parents and friends of students, Masons of Texas succeeded in enlisting the interest and the efforts of a number of civic clubs in communities throughout the state to follow the same pattern as lodges in promoting participation.

Throughout the year in almost any city or town in the state, students present programs to these various clubs, usually a special musical ability. During Public School Week, Masons and other cooperating clubs seek to reverse the procedure and bring the clubs and other citizens to the students in their classrooms.

Local Masonic leaders point out that there is enough change in teaching methods and student accomplishment during the past generation turnover to utterly fascinate today's parents.

Added to that is the intensified vocational program, the remarkable evidences of its success measured by student accomplishment in these working classes.

Too, Pampa has always had an outstanding musical program through the grades culminating in the celebrated Harvester band and choir.

Public School Week affords the opportunity to see the hard work that goes into the teaching and rehearsals needed to polish such talent.

Masons throughout the state so believe in this program that their own activities come to a standstill during this week so that nothing will distract each member of doing his share in promoting the special educational emphasis week.

This is done on order from the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas.

Just how strongly members of the lodges of Texas feel is aptly expressed in the statement of the present Grand Master, Duncan Howard, in kicking off Public School Week in Texas this year.

"The operation and control of our Texas public schools has been delegated to local boards and officials by the citizens of a given community. If we are to maintain the control and operation of our schools, then we must be informed concerning the needs and local problems that we may have and take care of this."

"If we fail as citizens, to support our schools locally, then someone else will do it."

'Due Process' Gets Response

By RAY BAXTER
This past week, school officials distributed to students a statement of policy and due process and the instrument elicited much more response than the return card from parents.

Friday school officials admitted that a more detailed explanation of the statement should have been issued with it. This was evident from the calls from parents both to the school administration office and to the News.

Last Sunday, the News published an explanation of the document together with an opinion on the only discrepancy immediately apparent to this reporter in the instrument: the restriction on student smoking.

The document, which has stood the test of high courts in another system in Texas, has one purpose: to protect the rights of a behaving student to an education and to protect the properties and personnel of the educational plants, school officials said.

It is a legal document to satisfy constitutional law and will be used only in specific instances where an individual has transgressed the statutes of the state on which it has its foundation.

Just as a person arrested on suspicion of breaking the law must be given a statement of his rights and asked if he understands them, so this is a statement required so that a student (and his or her parents) will have been informed beforehand of the seriousness of breaking the law where schools are concerned.

Chief concern expressed by parents in their calls was that it denied a student any right to express an opinion. This comes from an interpretation of one provision aimed at underground publications and such anonymous communications.

It does not apply to the Little Harvester nor to any honest statement from a student properly identified, officials stated.

Dr. James Malone, superintendent of schools and Bob Carmichael, president of the school board, explained the smoking restriction.

It seems that Pampa schools have always had a ban on smoking on campus. Many ex-students remember this back three decades.

Now, with 40 per cent of the student body suspected of smoking marijuana and 90 per cent of that number doing so on campus, a stringent ban on smoking on campus is an effort to curb this practice.

Dr. Malone noted that all the background of the statement could not be included since printing costs would be prohibitive and many would still not understand without a helping hand.

Therefore, he said he was ready to help any parent or citizen interested in the school system with an explanation in person if they would call his secretary and arrange a time for same.

Student Wins Drama Award

Don Alexander, Pampa High School drama student, received a grant-in-aid award as an alternate to a scholarship at a drama festival Saturday at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, N.M.

Alexander and three other Pampa students received excellent acting awards for their performances in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

The other students were Terri Malone, Ocie Powell and David Wheeler.

TOT Stock Show To Open Monday

Preliminaries were to get under way this forenoon for the opening tomorrow of the 3-day 27th annual Top O' Texas Stock Show at Pampa's Recreation Park.

Today's activities will consist of weighing in and grooming of animals.

Entries include 41 registered breeding cattle, 107 fat steers and 175 fat barrows. Judging will start at 9 a.m. Monday with swine entries. Steers will be judged starting at 1 p.m.

A barbecue is set for 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Show Barn with complimentary tickets for all junior exhibitors. Tickets for the public will be $2 each.

Tuesday's program will open at 9:30 a.m. with the Top O' Texas FFA Livestock Judging Contest with 45 judging teams from over the Texas Panhandle competing for top honors. Results and awards for the contest will be announced at a 5 p.m. banquet in the Pampa High School cafeteria.

Also scheduled on Tuesday will be the 10 a.m. Brunch and Style Show of the Texas Hereford Auxiliary at Coronado Inn.

Hereford breeding cattle will be judged at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Recreation Park Livestock arena.

Highlight of the three-day event will be the annual banquet of the Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Heritage Room of the M. K. Brown Auditorium.

The banquet will be open to the public and reservations may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office up until noon Tuesday.

Wednesday, final day of the show, will feature the sales of junior livestock starting at 9 a.m. and the Hereford Breeders sale at 1 p.m.

The day will start off with a ranch-style breakfast for all bidders at 8 a.m.

Col. Walter Britten of College Station will be the auctioneer for both sales.

The Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, with Foster Whaley as chairman, is sponsoring the livestock show. Clyde Carruth is show superintendent.

St. Matthew's Preparing Annual Pancake Supper

The 18th annual Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church Parish Hall, 727 W. Browning.

The Shrove Tuesday activity is held prior to Ash Wednesday and the beginning of the Lent season for many Christian denominations.

Tickets for the supper are $1.50 each, with children under six years of age admitted free when accompanied by an adult. Tickets may be purchased from church members, at the church office or at the door for the supper.

Members of the Episcopal youth groups and of the congregation are contending for the titles of King and Queen and the two attendants. Coronation and presentation of prizes for the top ticket sellers will be at 6:15 p.m. by Rev. Sam B. Hulse, rector of St. Matthew's.

Shrove Tuesday is the English equivalent of the French "Mardi Gras" and the Italian "Fat Tuesday." The English custom of eating pancakes on this day arose from the economy of using up the eggs and fat which were formerly forbidden articles of diet during Lent.

This Tuesday, the last day before Lent begins, is sometimes called Pancake Tuesday or Pancake Day as well as Shrove Tuesday.

The word "shrove" comes from "to shrive" or to hear confessions, further explained by translation made of the "Ecclesiastical Institutes" in 1000 A.D. by Abbot Aelfric, which said that in the week before Lent everyone should confess his deeds to a confessor who shall so shrive him, as he then may hear by his deeds what he is to do (by way of penance).

Ab Conway is general chairman for the annual event. Committee chairmen include James Gilman, Miami, procurement; Mrs. Kenneth Gigg, ticket sales; Kenneth Gigg, equipment; Mrs. John R. Reeve, decoration; Jim Raley, table and chair arrangement; Mrs. Ted Alexander, hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Klinger, crowns.

Also, Bill Dingus, bacon fryer; Mrs. Peggy Bonner, table setting; Bill Arrington.

Communist leader Georges Marchais and Socialist Francis Mitterrand came up with their common government program last year. Its over-all effect would launch France on the way to a state-controlled economy, make it a dubious partner in the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — and the Gaullists claim — impose a totalitarian government.

Pentagon Toughens Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, by refusing price increases demanded by two major defense contractors, has served notice of a tougher approach to weapons buying.

In quick succession last week, the Navy told Grumman Aerospace Corp. it would be held to the original contract terms for building the new F14 fighter plane, and it dictated a settlement to Litton Industries for the price of five amphibious helicopter assault ships.

In still a third contract, the Pentagon approved production of the Air Force's new F15 Dogfighter but withheld full funding until engine problems are solved.

The hard-line stance on the Grumman and Litton contracts drew praise from the two most persistent congressional critics of controversial Pentagon procurement practices, Sen. William Proxmire and Rep. Les Aspin, both Wisconsin Democrats.

Proxmire called the Litton decision "tough and right" and said: "If the Navy sticks by its guns, our losses on this program might be held in check and, more importantly, a valuable precedent could be established for handling other mis-managed weapons contracts."

The election is the most significant since Charles de Gaulle came to power at the height of the Algerian war in 1958. His successors, led by President Georges Pompidou, have been telling voters that only continued Gaullist rule can insure national prosperity, security and individual well-being.

The opposition Communists and Socialists, who teamed up last June and have been leading in public opinion polls since, declare that only their program can bring social justice and more money for the working man.

The voting Sunday is the first of two steps that will bring a 400-man National Assembly, or lower house, on March 12. A runoff ballot March 11 will involve candidates who were unable to get at least half the votes in the first round. Only a simple majority is needed in the second stage.

For the past few years, the government has enjoyed an overwhelming majority in the Assembly, counting on about 380 votes to the left's 96. Most observers believe the Gaullists will lose about 100 seats, making their position shaky.

Even middle-class Frenchmen, after 15 years of the same old faces, seem ready for a change.

Maule Files For Mayor

JAMES B. MAULE, candidate for mayor

James B. Maule, Pampa groceryman, filed late Friday afternoon for mayor in Pampa's April 3 municipal election. Maule was the only candidate to register his intentions on the "final day for filing."

He will oppose R.D. Wilkerson, who resigned his Ward 2 city commission seat to seek the mayoralty. (See Story on Page 1).

Committee Considering Ethics Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House State Affairs Committee is expected to act Monday night on an ethics bill that Atty. Gen. John Hill says is constitutional.

Rep. Larry Bales, D-Austin, told a news conference Friday that he and Randall Wood of Common Cause, a self-styled citizens lobby group, would work through the weekend on weaknesses in the bill pointed out by Hill.

The thorniest problem is establishing criteria for inclusion of non-elected state employees. Hill said salary alone could not be used as a criterion, so the bill's section including all employees paid $15,000 or more a year will have to be changed.

Bales and Wood said they are considering combining salary with jobs that have decision-making power. Officers who conduct hearings and officials appointed directly by state boards may be included, they said.

The bill requires the disclosure of income and holdings. Bales said he was particularly pleased with Hill's agreement with him that state officers and top employees could be required to disclose holdings.

Wood said he considered this feature of the bill "crucial" because otherwise "we might never know" of large holdings in private interests by public officials.

An ethics bill was passed by the 1971 legislature, but former Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said it was unconstitutional for several reasons, including the invasion of privacy involved in mandatory financial disclosure.

Hill said financial disclosure may constitutionally be required of top state officials and employees.

'SO FAR, SO GOOD' Indochina Peace Just Starting

PARIS (AP) — "So far," said Sir Alec Douglas-Home with the dry detachment of "so good," Britain's foreign secretary had just signed the international endorsement of the U.S. peace agreement with the Vietnamese.

So, too, had foreign ministers of the world's other great powers: the Vietnamese contenders themselves; and the four states assigned to check cheating.

Douglas-Home has been in frontline diplomacy since Neville Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler signed the ill-starred Munich Pact in 1938. He thinks he knows what makes international settlements work.

In the Vietnamese context his meaning was clear. Peace in Indochina is only just beginning — perhaps the last foreign soldier to die there has not yet been born.

Nevertheless, the British diplomat, like U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, drew comfort from a conviction that all the world's big powers want an Indochina peace package once and for all.

The United States, Russia, China and other nations want to shed a commitment that has for too long shackled their freedom of action on other fronts.

For them the age of alliance politics has ended — the age of the politics of maneuver is starting.

With all Indochina pacified — perhaps even neutralized ultimately in a sort of East-West standoff — the way then would be open for a crucial new phase in relations between America and the world's other great powers.

Mail Ordering Deadline Past For Car Licenses

The date is past for ordering your license tags by mail, according to the state highway department.

For a number of years, the department has mailed out a handy three-part form which could be processed by mail for a one dollar fee above the cost of the new plates until March 1.

Since the average tag transaction by mail requires at least 30 days beyond the March 1 date, there is not time enough to mail plates to meet the April 1 deadline when all motorists must have the new numbers on their vehicles.

The three-part form is still a quicker way to purchase tags even though the car owner must go to the county tax office to obtain 1973 plates. With the form, no title or registration receipt are needed.

It is important, however, state officials point out, that the form is not separated prior to presenting it at the local tax office.

Church To Hold Easter Festival Of Religious Art

The First United Methodist Church of Pampa is making preparations for an Easter Festival of Religious Art to be held during the week before Easter from April 15 through Easter Sunday, April 22, in the Patio Room of the church.

Included in the show will be paintings, drawings, wood carvings, metal sculpture, madonnas and many other types of religious art. Local and area artists, both amateur and professional, are encouraged to exhibit their work.

Individuals who have obtained significant religious art items are invited to exhibit this type of work also.

The show will include work done by children as well as young people. Anyone in this age bracket is encouraged to exhibit their art work in the show.

This is the first year for such an art festival for the church, but it is expected to become an annual affair.

Christian educators have stated art can inspire and nourish faith, that religious faith can be strengthened through an encounter with any of the arts when they are an expression of worship.

Anyone with such work to be exhibited or with suggestions is asked to call any of the following persons:

Women Fight Over Charges

A Pampa woman told police Saturday that her car was crowded off the street in the 900 block of Varnon Drive and the driver of the imposing vehicle, another woman, threatened her.

According to the complainant, the incident was over baby-sitting fees. When she refused to give the woman money, the complainant said she was attacked.

Police said she had two marks of bites on her body, one of them bleeding.

She had the identity of her attacker and officers explained to her how to file charges in court Monday.

WITH NEW KNOWLEDGE Moon Conference To Test Theories

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Old theories about the moon are expected to be tested in the light of new knowledge this week when more than 750 scientists gather to discuss their study of lunar rocks and data brought to earth by the Apollo missions.

About 250 papers will be presented at the Fourth Annual Lunar Science Conference. One expert predicted "some strange and unusual things."

The papers will include the first in-depth look at the results of Apollo 17 and in particular results of studies of the intriguing orange soil found on the moon by the Apollo 17 astronauts.

The soil, according to one investigator, is about 3.7 billion years old, a common age for lunar material.

Many scientists, including Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, the Apollo 17 astronaut who found the soil, had expected it to be perhaps the youngest material ever brought from the moon.

Major questions about the moon will come under close examination. These include: Where did the moon come from and how did it form? Precisely how old is it? Is there water on the moon? Does it have a core? Are there still live volcanoes on the moon?

Answers to these questions may be years away, most scientists say, but the four-day conference starting Monday "may give us a big jump toward the answers," said one expert.

Views among the lunar scientists vary greatly on many of the questions, but there is a general agreement on these points:

- Life does not exist on the moon and perhaps never did. Basic chemical building blocks for evolving life were never formed.
- Quakes so small they would probably not be felt on earth still shake the moon, but they are thought to be caused by tidal forces, not the internal shifting of material.
- Geologic evolution on the moon essentially stopped about 2.5 to 3 billion years ago. The earth, still experiencing the evolutionary violence of quakes and volcanoes, is a million times more active.
- There are still supporters for each of the three major theories on the moon's origin. These theories—which are so old they are called "traditional"—are:
  - The moon is a twin planet of the earth, formed at the same time from space debris as was the earth.
  - The moon formed elsewhere in the solar system, drifted into the gravitational influence of the earth and became a natural, captured satellite.
  - The possible presence of water on the moon has been supported by an instrument left on the lunar surface which detected water vapor. Readings from the instrument were automatically radioed back to earth. Many believe this vapor came from one of the Apollo spacecraft.

Credit Union League Meets For Dinner

Top O' Texas Chapter of the Texas Credit Union League met recently with six credit unions and their officers represented.

Credit unions represented at the dinner meeting Feb. 27 at the Red Keys Steak House (with number of officers from each) were Lefors Community Federal (18), Cabot (9), Skel Tex (15), Phil Pet (13), Pampa Municipal (8) and Borger Local 463 (2).

Wilbur Dodson, manager of the City Employees Credit Union of Amarillo and the Panhandle district director of the Texas Credit Union League, presented a program on a new lending revolution in credit unions, open end credit. Open end credit is similar to revolving credit used in business and industry.

Fred Blackwell, chapter president, presided at the meeting. L.G. Pierce, Cabot, gave the invocation and Mrs. Charlene Morris, secretary, treasurer, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Joe Pafford, Cabot, and Forest Cloyd, Pampa Municipal, received donor prizes.

The next meeting was set for Tuesday, April 24, at the Harvester Bar-B-Que in Pampa.

Woodrow Wilson To Give Program

Woodrow Wilson School and PTA will present "Focus on Heritage" Thursday, March 8, at 7 p.m. in the school gym.

The program will be presented by fourth, fifth and sixth grade students and teachers under the direction of D.V. Biggers, principal.

The program will be presented in "theater-in-the-round" with costumes, singing and dancing.

The program is being presented as part of Texas Public Schools Week. March 5-9. Parents are invited to visit school during the week.

Our Men In Military

HUGH K. GIGGY II
SAN ANTONIO — Hugh K. Giggy II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Giggy of Pampa, Tex., has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from the School of Military Sciences for Officers at Lackland AFB, Tex.

The lieutenant, selected through competitive examination for attendance at the school, is being assigned to Laughlin AFB, Tex., for pilot training.

L. Giggy, a 1966 graduate of Mountainair (N.M.) High School, received his B.S. degree in science in 1972 from New Mexico Technological University.

His wife, Terry, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cook of Albuquerque, N.M.

RONALD L. HADLEY
U. S. ARMY, Germany (AHTNC) — Army Private First Class Ronald L. Hadley, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Hadley, 1201 E. Kingsmill, Pampa, Tex., recently participated with some 32,000 soldiers from V Corps in Caravan I, A massive field exercise, in Germany.

The exercise, conducted by V Corps and elements of the German Army, was one of the largest field exercises in Europe in the past decade.

The troops trained under realistic combat conditions to insure their "combat ready" status.

PFC Hadley is a senior gunner in Battery A, 1st

Citizen Radio Club Installs New Officers

Top O' Texas Citizen Band Radio Club held its annual installation of officers banquet recently at Dyer's Barbecue.

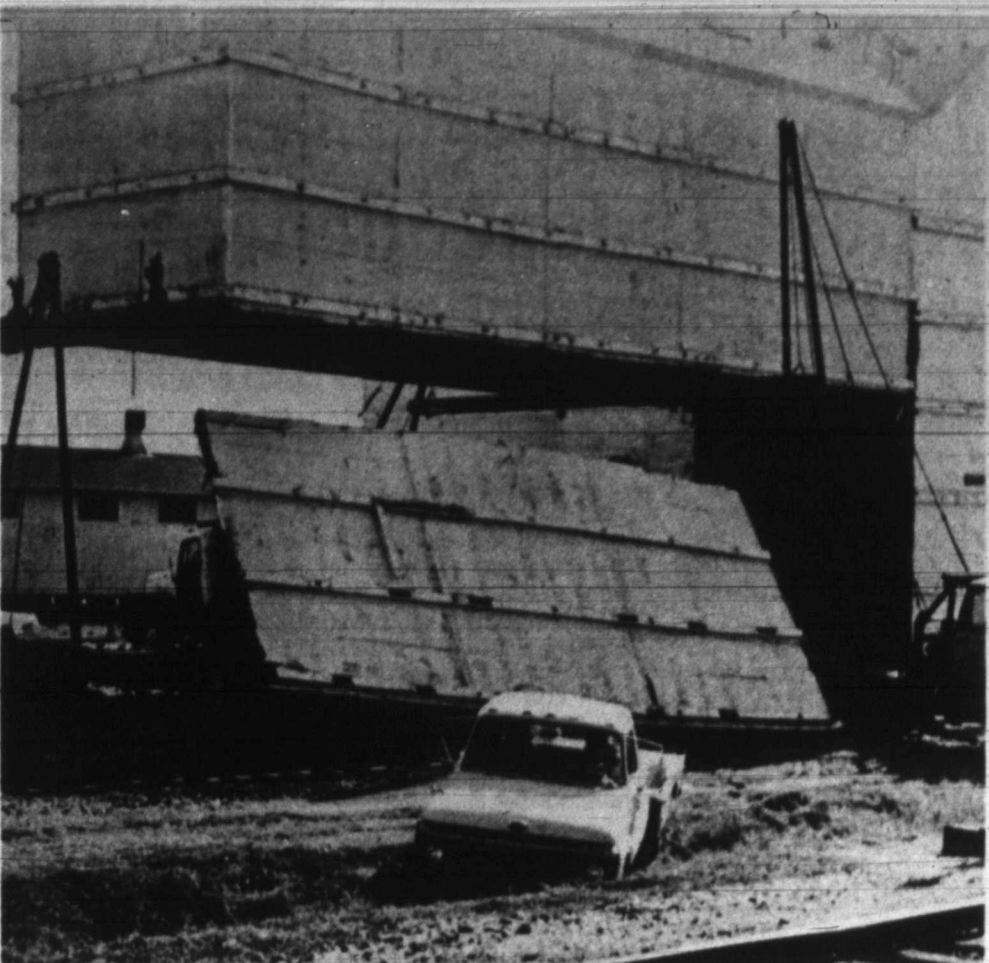

Outgoing president Bill Kidwell presented a gavel to the new president, Lloyd Rash, at the Feb. 23 meeting.

Other incoming officers include A. E. (Penny) Pennington, vice president; Mrs. Stacy Stubbs, secretary; Mrs. Charlene Morris, treasurer; Mrs. Wanda Watson, corresponding secretary.

Also, Willis Watson, director; Mrs. Betty Miser, publicity chairman; Dale Robbins, program chairman; Mrs. Carolyn Hood, editor; M. D. Hood, publisher, and Jean Ellis, reporter.

The club meets for a business meeting the second Thursday and a family night the fourth Thursday of each month.

All interested persons are invited to attend the meetings at the Pampa Optimist Boy's Club on any of the meeting nights.

COMING APART—The old Teaman elevator at the corner of Tyng and Starkweather Sts. is being removed after the structure changed hands in a recent purchase deal. The structure was purchased from Western Grain Co. by Joe Edd Mackie. Above in the pickup preparing to move one of the sections are Vinson David and Clayton Stokes.

Birth Rate Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's birth rate fell to its lowest level in history in 1972, according to statistics published by the Health, Education and Welfare Department today.

The sharp decline in the birth rate began in 1971 and continued as expected last year.

According to the National Center for Health Statistics, the birth rate fell to 2.03 children per family.

As reported earlier by the center, this was significantly below the 2.1 children per family regarded as the replacement level for the nation's population.

The replacement level means that if this birth rate continued for the next 50 to 70 years, population would not grow at all.

Court Indicts Lake Havasu Estates Firm

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Lake Havasu Estates, Phoenix-based promoter of thousands of undeveloped lots in remote Mohave County, has been indicted in U.S. District Court for fraud, misrepresentation and failure to register lots and provide property records.

The charges follow by two weeks an indictment in Wisconsin of Kenneth R. Lavin, head of the firm, which is not related to McCulloch Corp., developer of Lake Havasu City 40 miles from Lake Havasu Estates.

When the Wisconsin fraud indictment was released last week, Lavin's secretary said he was "out of the country," perhaps in Europe.

Charged in the latest indictment with violations of the Interstate Land Sales and Full Disclosure Act of 1968, besides Lavin, are his brother, Ronald D. Lavin; Patricia L. Lavin, Kenneth Lavin's wife, all of Phoenix; Paul Barrie Machold; and Robert C. Stevens.

Singing Group Gives Service

A local quartet composed of four students are available to provide singing entertainment for civic clubs and organizations, banquets, churches, coffee houses and so on.

The group, composed of Edna Marker, Wayne Bruce, Linda Reed and Mark Box, have previously entertained for church banquets, the nursing home, the IOOF Lodge and the B&PW association.

Groups desiring to have the quartet may contact Edna Marker at 669-9327 or Linda Reed at 665-1268 or the other members.

BY CONSTITUTION COMMITTEE Revision Faced With Great Political, Philosophical Task

AUSTIN (AP) — Before their work is done, 37 Texans may regret the day they were "honored" by selection to the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission.

At least they can be thankful they were spared the task of writing the final draft of a new constitution to submit to the voters—the legislature won that duty for itself.

For several months, all the warring vested interests and political philosophies in Texas will use the commission as a battle ground.

While they are not required to, legislators have left little doubt they will take the commission's recommendations very seriously when they meet Jan. 8 as a constitutional convention. There seems to be a general assumption the lawmakers expect the commission to write a first draft of a new constitution.

All the voters told the commission to do when they set up the constitutional revision machinery last November was to "study the need for constitutional change and report its recommendations to the members of the legislature not later than Nov. 1, 1973."

The legislature instructed the commission to hold public hearings in at least six different areas of Texas and to issue periodic reports. Lawmakers also voted to keep the commission in business until they are 60 days deep into the convention next year.

Chairman Robert W. Calvert, former chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, has called the first commission meeting for next Saturday.

Most commission members come from occupations and backgrounds that would not lead one to assume they are well-acquainted with the complex 50,000-word constitution.

What will they find when they dig into it?

First, there will be basic philosophical problems of how Texas government should operate.

How often should the legislature meet? Annually? Every two years as it now does? Should the four-year terms granted to top state officeholders only last year be retained? Which members of the executive branch should be elected and which appointed? Should the attorney general, treasurer, comptroller, land commissioner, agriculture commissioner, and railroad commissioners be the governor's men or answer only to the voters?

Should the present minimum age limitations be retained—30 for governor, 26 for a senator, 21 for a representative? Should legislators' pay be set by the constitution, by the lawmakers themselves, by a special commission or by some other officials?

What about the present "pay as you go" requirement that prohibits deficit spending—should it be retained?

The structure of the state court system also presents deep philosophical problems, particularly as to whether judges should continue to be elected. Calvert heads a group of judicial reform advocates who want the legislature to submit the judicial article to the voters this year and have it out of the way before the convention begins.

Then there are the even more emotion issues revolving around conflicting senses of morality.

Prohibitionists might try to reverse the recent decision to bring in legalized public sale of mixed drinks.

FOR RESTORATION

Detailed Research Made About Independence Hall

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If the visitor to Independence Hall notices the small sand boxes with ashes in them, or tallow stains on a tablecloth, he might think, "Hmm. Lousy house-keeping."

But sandboxes and the candle wax are not accidents. They are calculated "mistakes" which are the result of one of the most intensive historic restoration projects in the nation.

Historians believe the smudge on the door of the nation's birthplace was there in 1776. The little boxes filled with sand were colonial-style ashtrays, although the founding fathers used them occasionally as spittoons. And the wax drippings? Well, candles were the only source of light in those days, and they dripped.

Details like these are what the National Park Service hopes will make the period of American history between 1776 and 1800 become more alive for visitors. That period is one of the richest in history for the United States and the service wants to make sure people know that Independence Hall was more significant than merely a place to hang the Liberty Bell.

Under an act of Congress in 1948, the Park Service undertook the job of restoring the 22-acre Independence Hall Park. It has taken more than 20 years and millions of dollars, but the job is nearly done.

Independence Hall, Congress Hall, Carpenter's Hall, plus other halls and buildings dating back to the Revolutionary period, all have major historical importance. Once Congress acted, funds for the project became available. What wasn't immediately available was the knowledge of what the six-block area near the Delaware River really looked like in 1776.

So researchers began the tedious task of finding out. They studied old records and documents, some buried in library storage rooms from Maine to Georgia. Meanwhile, archeologists began unearthing thousands of artifacts—pottery, coins, pieces of buildings—that would give them clues as to what life was like then. Finally, architects began restructuring the major buildings from the inside, without disturbing their historical integrity but at the same time preserving them for the future.

The entire superstructure was laced with steel beams and rods to take stress off the old wooden beams, which were left in place.

Then layers of plaster and paint built up over the years were carefully peeled off the walls to get to the original surface. And most importantly, fire prevention and complete climate control systems were installed to retard further deterioration.

Researchers painstakingly studied dozens of layers of paint to determine the original colors of the walls. They had to scrape carefully or else use special chemicals. Only then were they able to order matching paint for the final covering.

As for furnishings, they kept whatever original items they could find. There was one original panel out of about 100 that formed the decorative base on the stairwell under the bell tower. That one panel became the model for the rest.

The historical details were correct, even down to the nails in the floor and how far in they had to be driven.

Among the things that surprised historians during the renovations was that there had once been chandeliers in the Long Room on the second floor of Independence Hall. When some of the plaster was removed, hooks which indicated there had indeed been chandeliers were found in the ceiling. So chandeliers were put back in.

Off the main hallway where the Liberty Bell is displayed is the room where the Second Continental Congress met to declare independence from Great Britain. Later, in the same room, the delegates threw out the Article of Confederation and drafted the Constitution.

Featured in the room are the original "Rising Sun" chair used by George Washington during the Constitutional Convention, and the ink stand that was used at the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The little ashboxes are everywhere and walking canes used by some delegates still lie across their desks where they were parked.

It was also in this room, during debate on the Declaration, that a bomb threat was received on July 4, 1776, threatening to blow up the building. According to a letter written by one of the delegates, and found during the historians' research, no one bothered to go look for it, and it never went off anyway.

Historians had to search hard for clues to restoration. They found some in paintings done of Congress in session, which showed the colors and pattern in the carpet. Still others came from a political cartoon of the period. It showed two Congressmen in a knock-down, drag-out fight. The fight itself was of little interest. What was of interest was that the cartoon also showed the desks were in semicircular rows and that the curtains on the windows hung halfway down. The historians used it as a model.

"Trumps never break for me," was his complaint.

Do you see where he went wrong? All he had to do was to use a little common sense when he played the trump suit. He could afford to lose two trump tricks so that he had no worries about a 3-3 trump break. How about a 4-2 trump break?

If either opponent held king-queen-nine-small (the eight had dropped under the ace) there was no way to avoid the loss of three trump tricks, but if the trump honors were divided as was the case he would be all right if he just led a low trump instead of the jack.

Busy Week Ahead For Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) — The coming week could be one of the busiest of the 63rd Texas Legislature for Senate and House committees trying to clear proposed law changes for floor debate.

Important statewide measures are slated for public hearing in both houses Monday and Tuesday with indications that some sessions will last far into the night.

At the Monday night meeting of the House State Affairs Committee, a subcommittee report on the long-awaited ethics bill may be ready for action, following the attorney general's opinion last week. Approval by the committee would set up the bill for House debate later in the week.

The House State Affairs Committee also will hear two bills creating a state ombudsman to handle citizen complaints against the government.

Also Monday night the House Transportation Committee will hear the habitual traffic offenders bill backed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Tuesday will be the big day in both Senate and House for committee action.

The Senate Jurisprudence Committee at 4 p.m. has a four-star agenda, starting with the measure that would put into effect a unified court system and followed by the House approved bill on disclosure of confidential information, plus a Senate measure on disclosure also. The fourth big attraction is the House-approved bill on judgments based on comparative negligence in traffic collision.

Tuesday night the House Insurance Committee will hear a no-fault insurance bill that has the backing of the State Bar of Texas.

Legislation Status

AUSTIN (AP) — Here is the status of major legislation in the 63rd Texas Legislature.

HB 2—regulation of lobbying activities, House passed.

HB 3—open meetings of governmental bodies, House passed.

HB 5—authority of conference committees, House passed.

HB 6—governmental records open to the public, House passed.

HB 8—speaker's race contributions, House passed.

HB 10—privilege against disclosure of confidential information, House passed.

HB 11—comparative negligence damage judgments, House passed.

HB 106—right hand turns on red signals, House passed.

HB 120—allow 18-year-olds on grand juries, House passed.

HB 185—bargaining rights for firemen, policemen, House passed.

HB 325—making University of Texas of the Permian Basin a four-year college, House passed.

HB 433—bonds covering collection of state and local sales taxes, House passed.

Preparations Winding Up In Annual Pancake Race

LIBERAL, Kan.—Everything is winding up for one of the greatest Pancake Day celebrations Liberal has had in the 23-year-old history of the event featuring the famous International Pancake Race against women of Olney, England, on Tuesday.

Fifteen racers, and one stand-by, have signed up for the 415-yard sprint over an S-shaped course through the main streets of town. Women are polishing their skillets, ironing their aprons and practicing flipping pancakes on the run, as required by race rules.

Twenty-four acts for the amateur talent show to be held Tuesday night were selected at preliminary auditions last Saturday.

Giant cargo planes carrying equipment for the air show scheduled Tuesday afternoon will arrive Sunday, and the seven helicopters in the U.S. Army Silver Eagles team and the Air Force Thunderbirds, precision flying team will arrive Monday.

The performance will be held Tuesday at Five State Raceways northeast of Liberal. An admission fee of $2 per carload will be charged.

Dignitaries who have accepted invitations and who will be flying and driving into Liberal all day Monday include Gov. Docking, Lt. Gov. Schultz, Secretary of State Elwill Shanahan, Attorney General Vern Miller and a number of Senators and representatives.

Over a ton of steel in griddles will be set up this weekend at the Armory to feed approximately 2,000 people pancakes from 6 to 11 a.m. Tuesday.

All details are being mailed down in last minute preparations. The big question is always the weather, but that never cancels the International Race.

THEIR EFFORTS REWARDED — Mrs. Maudine Ricketts, left, and Mrs. Hattie Hindman were honored at a dinner party as they retired March 1 from the C.R. Anthony Downtown Store. Both received corsages and floral arrangements as they cut the retirement cake. Also, Anthony store co-workers gave them gift certificates. Mrs. Ricketts, who worked 10 years in home furnishings and fabrics, plans to redecorate her home, do some sewing and traveling. Her husband, Bishop, is retired. Mrs. Hindman, who has worked 31 years in ready-to-wear and sportswear, is planning several projects, including working with the elderly. Work of her husband precludes travel. ## NGPA Convention Slated For Dallas

Energy, economics and environmental considerations for both conventional and substitute gas processing will be featured topics on the program of the 52nd annual convention of the Natural Gas Processors Association, scheduled March 26-28, 1973, in Dallas.

Approximately 1500 gas processing personnel from the U.S., Canada, and a number of foreign countries are expected to attend. A slate of top industry executives, headed by keynote speaker R. L. O'Shields, president and chief executive officer of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, will provide an overview of industry concern and action.

Other aspects of the industry's status in the energy crisis and the public arena will be discussed by James E. Finley, executive vice president of Continental Oil Company, Houston; G. H. "Bud" Lawrence, vice president, American Gas Association, Arlington, Va.; and NGPA President Millard Hipple.

Engineering Institute To Have Meet

The Panhandle Section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Inc., will hold its monthly meeting in Pampa, Thursday, March 8. Dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. at Dyer's Bar-B-Que on Highway 60.

Program for the evening will be a talk and slide presentation by H. Jay Johnson, manager of open die forging operations for the Cabot Corp. Machinery Division plant. This will be followed by a plant tour of the open die forging operation where it is expected the melt furnace will be in operation.

Forty-eight thousand pounds of alloy steel are poured per heat from the arc-type electric furnace. The steel is either air poured or vacuum degassed poured into ingot molds varying in size from 8,000 to 24,000 pounds.

When the steel solidifies the ingots are stripped from the molds and placed in furnaces to hold for forging. A 1500-ton forging press is used to forge the ingots into the desired shapes.

After a cooling cycle, the forgings are machined and heat treated to meet customer requirements. High quality medium-duty alloy steel is produced for commercial and government products. The Machinery Division of Cabot also produces Oil Well Servicing, work-over and drilling rigs.

Cities Service Employees Retire

Two retiring Cities Service employees and their wives were honored recently at separate dinners celebrating the occasion.

Carl D. Anderson and E.E. Campbell were recognized for their years of service at a dinner at Jim's Steak House.

Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Campbell were given similar recognition at a covered dish dinner at the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

Anderson, a veteran of 44 years was given a television set and Campbell was presented a golf cart.

Anderson has served as superintendent of the Cities Service Gas Company's compressor station east of the city since 1948. Campbell was an engineer at the same facility. The Andersons live at 2101 N. Wells; the Campbells at 2225 N. Christy.

Bermuda Slowly Becoming Independent

By EDWARD T. BUTLER
Associated Press Writer
HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Bermuda a country? An independent nation alone in the Atlantic, without an air force or a navy to protect its 55,000 people?

In general these people seem happy as subjects of Queen Elizabeth II, and independence isn't a burning issue on these islands. But some officials say a cutting away from Britain seems to be coming—maybe in five years, maybe 15. It can be argued that Bermuda is but a few steps from independence now. For one thing it no longer uses British money but has its own Bermuda dollars which are at par with U.S. dollars.

You don't detect any active movement toward independence here—no slogans scrawled on the walls, no pamphlets.

The Progressive Labor party first proposed independence in 1964 and still wants it, but did not make this an issue in 1972 elections.

The United Bermuda party, which is in power and which has not spoken out in favor of independence, seems to have left the door ajar.

The party, headed by Sir Edward Richards, has proposed legislation that will make him premier and set up a Cabinet. It would also set up a system under which the British colonial governor or chief executive, Sir Richard Sharples, would fade into the background.

Atlantic Finds New Oil Field

LOS ANGELES — Atlantic Richfield Company announced discovery of oil in an exploratory well in the Java Sea offshore Indonesia, some 3.5 miles southeast of its PSI X-1 discovery announced last December.

The new well, PSI X-2, flowed crude oil on test at a rate of more than 1650 barrels per day (30.5 degree API gravity) from a limestone formation below 3491 feet. The test was made through a 5 1/2 inch choke.

PSI X-2 is 15 miles offshore, approximately 125 miles east of Jakarta, and some 60 miles southeast of its production operations in the previously discovered Ardjuna Field, a spokesman said.

The new well was drilled to a total depth of 4345 feet at a site located in 93 feet of water. Atlantic Richfield Indonesia, Inc., an Atlantic Richfield subsidiary, is operator of the well for a group of American firms which hold a production-sharing contract with Pertamina, the Indonesian state-owned oil company.

"These changes," says the party's program, "will not prejudice in any way any possible future decision to seek independence. They will give these islands a form of constitution which is as advanced, short of independence, as is possible."

Britain is responsible for Bermuda's foreign affairs, internal security, police and defense. The police force, paid for by Bermuda, is made up of men from the British Isles and the West Indies—chiefly because Bermudians themselves balk at the idea of having to arrest a friend or a neighbor. Yet the British have begun to encourage Bermudians to become policemen.

The last time Britain had to take a direct hand in internal security was in 1968 when racial disturbances broke out a few days before a visit by Prince Charles. Paratroopers were sent in and things quickly died down. There was none of the embarrassment that resulted from Britain's landing at tiny Anguilla in 1969 to put down a minirevolt of the "mouse that roared."

Bermuda is two-thirds black and officials say race relations have improved markedly since 1968. More blacks are seen working in the pubs and stores around Front Street in Hamilton and in the hotels along the beaches than were visible a couple of years ago.

Walter N. H. Robinson, leader of the Progressive Labor party, sees no advantage in remaining tied to Britain, but he acknowledges he cannot come up with a concrete list of benefits for all Bermudians under their own flag.

"Pride in being a nation is what we could gain," he says. "The benefits would be psychological."

Robinson finds Bermudians apathetic in running their own affairs and asserts it will take something like independence to stir up their interest.

Opponents say that Bermuda couldn't afford independence, with the need to have diplomats around the world.

They claim Bermudians could not maintain the defense and security of these islands that form a 22-mile fishhook in the Gulf Stream.

Robinson and some in British colonial quarters dispute this. They note Bermuda maintains tourist offices now in countries where diplomats would be needed.

Elsewhere, they say Bermuda could do as other small nations do: have someone else represent them.

"When people tell me we would be in danger of attack under independence," Walter

Robinson says, "I tell them that we would have to worry only if the United States becomes a hostile nation. That's not likely."

British officials look on the question of attack as academic. They say the United States and Britain would not permit an attack. The United States maintains a naval base here... and 85 per cent of the people visiting the islands at any one time are Americans.

"But Bermudians don't want to be Americanized, you know," one British official said. "I can see Bermuda forming more and more ties with Canada."

Toronto is 1,125 miles away; London 3,445. The Carolina coast is only 600 miles away.

Bermuda would remain in the Commonwealth, and is not likely to throw off the British flavor that has made it attractive to tourists from the United States.

Would Britain let Bermuda go?

"We would, of course," said one official, "provided there is a clear popular expression in favor of it. We would not force independence on a people who don't want it."

Another forecasts independence much sooner—perhaps around the time of the next scheduled elections in 1977.

Bermudians opposed to independence assert Robinson and his party have never presented a convincing case.

Executive Secretary ARC
James L. Dairymple, sergeant for the Highway Department, has completed an Advanced First Aid Class for the Texas Highway Patrol. Those who completed the course were Phil Altman, Don Copeland, Larry Dunnam, Kenneth Evans, Jay Fieldings, Freddy Gulegde, Joe Hataway, Frank Montana, R.C. Parker, Bill Thomas and Richard Weitzer.

We are proud of our Highway Patrolmen. Letters have been sent to persons who might be eligible for the Senior and Junior Life Saving class beginning March 12 with Mrs. Oran Carter leading the class.

Persons who are eligible should be 15 years old to qualify for the Senior Life Saving Class and 12 years old for the Junior Life Saving class.

Senior Life Saving is a pre-requisite for the Water Safety Class that will be taught at the Youth Center Pool.

KKK Knocks Pornography

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is focusing a critical eye on pornography. "Other respectable social organizations" should do the same, says Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, imperial wizard of United Klans of America.

Shelton said in an interview Thursday that the war on smut is merely a branching out of activities. Over the years, Klan targets have included Jews, Catholics, liquor and racial integration.

"We're still involved in educating people to the evils of busing students, and we're behind the scenes in some court battles," he said.

Thus far in its assault on X-rated films, the Klan has singled out theaters in Gadsden, Ala. and Lake Wales, Fla. Shelton said, adding: "By spring, we'll be in full force in several states, including Georgia, Mississippi, Kansas and Montana."

The imperial wizard, who said he has not seen an X-rated movie or even an R-rated one, said Klansmen who volunteer to view the films to take notes have reported their contents to him.

Bookstores have been staked out in some locations, Shelton said. He added that, from all indications, the potential visitor to a pornography shop "has a tendency to fall into the freakish category."

"We have at several smut locations across the nation hidden cameras taking pictures of everyone entering the premises of these pornography palaces," Shelton said. "Their pictures will be filed in our local offices to work in conjunction with the local police departments." He said no police department has requested the Klan's help.

Defense Insights Coming Up

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is much nonsense written about the Nixon defense budget for 1974 which Congress will be debating in the months just ahead. Lost sight of are the following facts:

1. Between 1968 and 1974 the cut in men and women in uniform will total 1.3 million. The slash in Department of Defense civilians and defense industry workers will make the total cut in defense-related employment almost three million.
2. Despite the heavy decline in military and defense civilian personnel, defense manpower costs will be $11 billion greater in 1974 than they were in 1968 when the Vietnam war was going full force. This increase results from pay boosts resulting from introduction of the "volunteer army" concept, so-called "catch-up" pay increases for the military passed during the Johnson administration and overall government-wide civilian pay boosts.
3. Purchases of military missiles, aircraft, ships and other weapons and equipment show a decline from $26 billion in 1968 by almost $10 billion to a little over $16 billion in 1974. Even after eliminating the Vietnam-related procurement in 1968, the drop still adds up to hefty $5.5 billion, in the face of inflation, cost overruns and the need to replace equipment and stocks which deteriorated, were destroyed or used up in the Vietnam war years.
4. The weapons of war—aircraft, missiles, tanks, ships, ammunition and the like—account for 20 per cent of the 1974 budget, or a little over $16 billion as noted above. This contrasts with 56 per cent for manpower, 10 per cent for research and development and 15 per cent for operating costs.

Out of the $79 billion spending budget, Air Force, Navy and Army aircraft account for $7 billion, missiles for $3 billion and naval ships for $4 billion. This is clear that it is in manpower where the most significant gains can be made for the taxpayers or for civilian personnel, the belief here in the Pentagon among knowledgeable men is that more cuts are overdue. The military men this reporter has talked to believe that the slashes they have made thus far have given them a better Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines. Deadwood has been eliminated. Savings are great. (Consider that the average military personnel and benefits totaled $5,500 a man in 1968 and $10,000 in 1974, as planned.)

Civilian reductions bring comparable benefits and savings. But some way will have to be found to allow the secretary of Defense to fire or transfer the men he wants to lose.

LIKE LOOKING for a gas leak with a match, federal revenue sharing has its hazards and could blow up in your face.

County Judge Don Cain and City Manager Mack Wofford found that out a couple of days ago when they got Form 3226 from the U.S. Treasury Department's Office of Revenue Sharing.

As chief executive officers of governmental units receiving revenue sharing money, Cain and Wofford were told bluntly they could be fined $10,000 or imprisoned five years, or both, if they try any trickery in disposing of the loot.

The government unit heads have to sign a statement they won't resort to any monkey business aimed at circumventing Uncle Sam's rules and regulations on how the federal windfall can be used and for what.

Just to show you how chinchy the Wonderful Wizards of Washington are about how the money will be squandered, here's what Form No. 3226 says:

And we quote: "THE UNDERSIGNED Chief Executive Officer assures the Secretary of the Treasury that the provisions cited on Form No. 3226 will be complied with by the government named below.

"Whoever, in any matter within the jurisdiction of any department or agency of the United States knowingly and willfully falsifies, conceals or covers up by any trick, scheme, or device a material fact, or makes any false, fictitious or fraudulent statements or representations, or makes or uses any false writing or document knowing the same to contain any false, fictitious or fraudulent statement or entry, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both (U.S. Code, Title 18, Section 1001)."

There are three lines at the bottom for the signatures—in the local case, signatures of Don Cain for Gray County and Mack Wofford for the City of Pampa.

On a separate sheet is a list of 10 requirements assuring the Office of Revenue Sharing that all rules will be lived up to and the money will be shelled out as intended within a reasonable time.

Both county and city already have received two checks that have been "salted away" for the time being.

Gray County has a total of $175,000 in the revenue sharing kitty and the City of Pampa has $158,000.

Judge Cain thinks the $175,000 will help get Gray County out of the red by the end of 1973. All but a few thousand dollars of it will be used to pay operating expenses of the sheriff's department and county tax office. That, of course, will ease the drain on the county's general fund and move it into the black.

AS FAR as the city is concerned, no decision has been reached on how its $158,000 in revenue sharing bread will be buttered. As this was written, the city was awaiting word on the fate of that $255,000 application for federal aid on

Rights Of Newsmen

U.S. Senator Sam Ervin, D-N.C., proposes to exempt news reporters from giving testimony in federal proceedings in those instances in which reporters have no direct personal knowledge of a crime.

Two newsmen—Jack Landau of the Newhouse papers and Fred Graham of CBS—told Ervin's committee the proposed remedy is not enough. Landau said a news source "certainly would be discouraged if he thought the reporter would be called before the state's grand jury." As we gather from the reports of testimony given to the Senate committee, the two newsmen are asking that the exemption from the giving of testimony be made binding upon the states and that it be made absolute so that a reporter could not be required to testify even if he saw the crime committed.

The question of whether a news reporter somehow has a different standing in law than persons now so employed was the subject of a Supreme Court opinion, on June 29, 1972. In this case, Justice White speaking for the majority quoted a lower court to the effect that "the obligation of newsmen is that of every citizen to appear when summoned, with relevant written or other material when required, and to answer relevant and reasonable inquiries." He then went one step further and ruled that a newsman not only must testify when he is a direct witness to a crime, he can also be called when he is nothing more than the purveyor of public information to such crime.

The White opinion is the present state of judicial interpretation of the free flow of information.

Senator Ervin, finds the court ruling unsatisfactory. He sees a difference in the newsman's role when he happens to have been a witness to a crime from the newsman's role when he is reporting what somebody else told him about a crime.

What Ervin says makes sense to this newspaper. Newsmen are in the most advantageous position when their identity with the public is complete. When a person, who happens to be a news reporter, witnesses pertinent evidence, he is not different from anybody else, citizen or whatnot. To that extent we can agree with Justice White. However, when the reporter is not a close witness to a crime, but rather is functioning as a conduit for information about a crime, we side with Ervin and against Justice White, because people have a right to gather information. And whatever people have a right to do themselves, they have an equal right to retain an agent to do.

The gist, therefore, is that as a direct witness to a crime, the person who is employed as a reporter has a responsibility identical with that of everyone else. Similarly, when it comes to information gathering, the reporter has a right identical with that of everyone else. As a grand jury would not call for hearsay from a butcher, a baker or lightbulb maker, so there is no basis for calling for hearsay from some other occupational group. Newsmen Landau and Graham asked too much. Justice White went too far. Senator Ervin has plumbed the matter precisely.

Amnesty Question Is Different Today

By DON OAKLEY

An interesting thing about the current controversy over alleged "slanting" or "managing" of the news by newspapers is that many people would be unaware of the controversy had they not read about it in their newspapers.

Not only do newspapers report the charges made against themselves, they show an admirable willingness to open their columns to opposing viewpoints.

The New York Times, for example, has been bleeding its editorial heart out over the Vietnam war exiles. Yet it recently gave considerable space to an administration spokesman to present facts which seriously undercut the arguments of those favoring general amnesty.

Rather than there being anywhere from 50,000 to 100,000 exiles in Canada, Sweden and other countries, as the Times and others have declared, the government's verified figure for deserters and draft dodgers is just under 4,000 in Canada and an additional 1,200 elsewhere, wrote Patrick J. Buchanan, a special consultant to the President.

Sweden, the second most popular sanctuary, maintains an official count which shows that as of last fall there were a total of 602 deserters in that country. According to the Swedish director of Immigration, of 565 Americans permitted to enter between 1967 and 1970, 110 were involved in major crimes and 52 of them have been jailed and nearly 30 deported.

To lionize the war exiles as "moral heroes" is obscene, says Buchanan.

These facts, of course, do not really change anything. Whether there are 7,000 exiles or 70,000, or whether some of them may be fleeing more than the draft law, the question of amnesty remains a valid one and numbers have nothing to do with it.

Editorially, the Times continues to plead the case for amnesty and has rattled the bones of every president who ever had to face the issue.

It cites George Washington, who pardoned everyone who participated in the Whiskey Rebellion in 1794. But especially does it hold up the example of Abraham Lincoln, who not only pardoned deserters and suspended executions but extended amnesty, even before the war was over, to thousands of Confederate troops who had taken up arms against the Union.

A closer examination of Lincoln's record, however, shows that his pardons of Union violators were made on an individual basis. He proclaimed no mass amnesty for Union deserters.

As for his charity toward Confederate soldiers, while there is no doubt that it was fully in accord with the great humanity of the man and with his desire to bind up the nation's wounds, it was also undertaken for a quite practical reason—to encourage them to stop fighting. It required the taking of an oath of allegiance to the United States and did not apply to former Union officers or to high officials in the Confederate government.

The Times quotes Lincoln as saying, "When a man is sincerely penitent for his misdeeds, he can safely be pardoned and there is no exception to the rule."

This is a worthy guide for any president. But the thing is that no spokesman for the Vietnam exiles has ever expressed such penitence. Some of them, in fact, have demanded penitence from the United States.

Thus it is hardly fair to compare a "hardhearted" Nixon with a magnanimous Lincoln when the situation Mr. Nixon is in in 1973 is vastly different from that of Lincoln in 1865.

Your Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Yesterday I began a discussion of what simple constipation really is. Much of the problem can be managed by the individual.

After a medical examination to be sure that there is no other important problem, the usual approach to simple constipation is to change one's habits. High on this list is the elimination of the use of laxatives or enemas. Almost all of these aggravate the problem. Individuals who take enemas or laxatives will empty out the colon and it normally takes two or three days for the food to provide sufficient residue for another bowel movement. If an individual has stopped eating foods that contain an appreciable amount of bulk and decreased the total amount of food they eat, which is common in older people, the time may even be longer. Thus, it is not a new record to go three or four days without a bowel movement after you have eliminated all of the residue in your bowel by laxatives or enemas. The first thing to do is stop taking all laxatives.

The next step is changing the diet. Try to include more bulk and fluid in the diet. Dry foods and foods that don't leave much residue tend to move slowly through the colon; for example, concentrated sweets, even lean meats, most desserts, and many bakery products. What you need are more cereals, vegetables, and fruits in the diet and adequate fluids.

Develop some regular exercise pattern. Exercises that involve the abdomen are particularly helpful in eliminating the problem of constipation.

Most people with this problem need to develop a regular bowel habit, even though this may not mean daily elimination. This is done by having a good breakfast containing considerable bulk; for example, hot oatmeal, some fruit (prunes are excellent for most people in this regard) and possibly some fruit juice, plus some other beverages, or if you don't want to drink anything else, you might drink two cups of warm water. Ten to 15 minutes after the morning meal is over, or sooner if you feel the urge, you should go to the bathroom and sit comfortably for a period of time.

There is a normal reflex that is stimulated, particularly after breakfast, called the gastrocolic reflex. Basically, when the stomach is filled after it's been empty all night, it initiates the reflex which in turn stimulates elimination. If you do this every morning, in the course of time, this reflex pattern will become a habit and it will go a long way in eliminating the constipation problem.

Individuals with longstanding constipation may need to use a little mineral oil or a tap water enema intermittently for the first two or three weeks while the bowel habit is being trained. These should only be used as a last resort and then infrequently because the longer one resorts to these habits the more trouble there will be in developing a regular bowel habit.

By following this program, most problems of simple constipation can be controlled.

Tax Records Breached

Your income tax reports are confidential, right? That's what you think. You probably think that because that's what you've been told.

You were told that by your "friendly government servants." They should tell you again and tell you differently because the picture has changed drastically.

For example, federal tax information is divulged to state tax collectors, and vice versa.

That must be old hat. You would expect persons in tax collection to develop a rapport with one another. And they have pushed this working arrangement to the point of formal agreements.

Now, we learn that President Nixon has carried tax-togetherness a step further. The government watchdog over farmers, the Agriculture Department, has obtained authority to examine farmers' income tax returns. Mr. Nixon signed an executive order requiring the Internal Revenue Service to comply with the Agriculture Department's request.

According to the order, the inspection shall be for statistical purposes only. That is a backhand admission that the inspections somehow should be hedged. As far as people are concerned, this breach of confidentiality is additional evidence that you cannot believe what political office holders tell you. Their promises have built-in self-destruct mechanism.

Australia Bounds Left

Intelligence officials in Europe are convinced that the Reds have scored a victory in Australia that could hasten the Communist takeover of Asia.

Even before he was sworn in, Australia's new Prime Minister Edward Whitlam began to move left "as fast as a bushfire in the Outback." Recalling the Australian Ambassador to Taipei, he instructed his Ambassador in France to make overtures to the Red Chinese. At the same time, Whitlam directed the Aussie representative to the U.N. to support Third World resolutions against Rhodesia, and closed the Rhodesian information office in Sydney. On the homefront, the Prime Minister ended the draft, freed draft resisters, and moved to reduce Australian ties with Great Britain.

An authority questioned by The Review of the News summed up the Australian situation as follows: "When Britain's pull-out left a vacuum east of Suez, Australia took her place. Now the Labor movement in Australia has stripped these defenses overnight. Whitlam's performance was shocking."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Federal Reserve System, the central banking system of the U.S., was established Dec. 23, 1913, by Congress to give the nation an elastic currency and to improve supervision of banking. The World Almanac notes, Today the system's primary function is to foster a flow of credit and money that will facilitate orderly economic growth, a stable dollar, and a long-run balance of international payments.

Consumer Gripes

What is the public's biggest gripe against marketers today? According to a Council of Better Business Bureaus poll of 67,700 Americans—billed as "the broadest survey of consumer opinion ever undertaken in this country"—31 percent cite "products that don't perform as represented."

Next come misleading ads (23 percent), poor personal service in stores (20 percent), misleading labels, directions or packaging (13 percent).

Occasionally

OCCASIONALLY the load of mail that comes across this desk daily reflects a deep tone of sadness and of hope.

One such letter comes from the wife of a 27-year-old man now residing in Spicewood, Texas.

Her husband has been searching for many years to find some trace of his father whom he had never seen.

Only a week or so ago he discovered, while searching records in the State Health Department in Austin, that his father was killed in an automobile accident in Pampa in 1949.

The letter is from E.H. Phillips, Star Rt. 1, Box 175R, Spicewood, Texas 76689. When he learned his father died in the auto wreck in Pampa Sept. 12, 1949, he wrote and asked us to search the files and send him a copy of the news story and any possible survivors other than himself.

Phillips, shocked at finally learning what happened to his father, now is trying to locate relatives so he can visit them and perhaps obtain a photo of his father, the letter states.

We found the newspaper story in the back files. It told of the death of Henry Whitlam, Phillips in a tragic auto turnover while racing with another man on the Borger Hwy. at the Pampa city limits. He was killed instantly as his auto hurtled end over end four times.

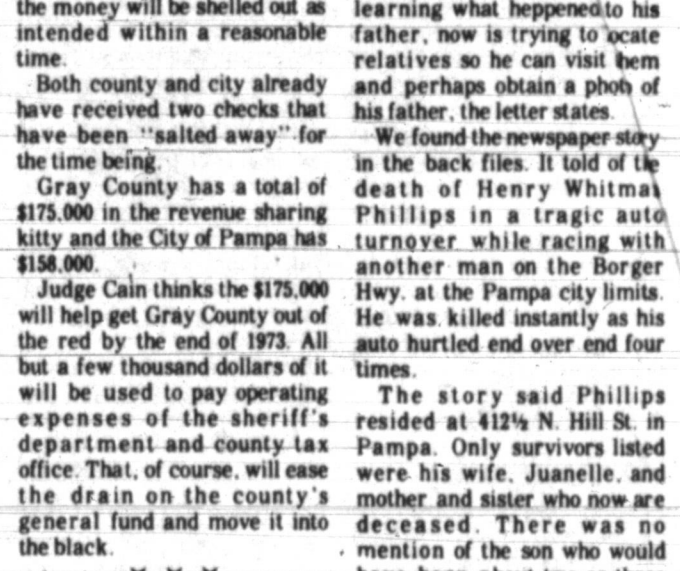

The story said Phillips resided at 412 1/2 N. Hill St. in Pampa. Only survivors listed were his wife, Juanelle, and mother and sister who now are deceased. There was no mention of the son who would have been about two or three years old.

If there is anyone still residing in Pampa who knew the accident victim or knows of any living relatives, the son in Spicewood would appreciate receiving any information about his father and any other survivors.

A PEACH OF A PAIR are Russians Irina Rodina and Alexander Zaitsev as they skim gracefully to the European figure skating championship in Cologne, West Germany. It's their first major victory. Irina teamed with Alexi Ulanov before he became engaged to Ludmila Smirnova. Alexi and Ludmila, now married, finished second.

Youth Center Wrap Up

Memberships — The Center's participation in its program is through a membership plan which is open to the general public. The memberships are divided into two categories—limited and unlimited.

The limited membership is the regular Youth Center membership that we have been selling for 12 years. This plan entitles you to use the swimming pool, dressing rooms, gym and recreation hall.

The unlimited membership gives you all of the above features, but allows you to use the new health facility. The health facility houses the exercise machines, handball and racquetball courts, weights, reducing machines and sauna.

The individual limited membership is sold to persons who are 8 years of age or older. The cost is $5 for six months or $8 per year. For a family the cost is $12 for six months or $20 a year.

The unlimited membership for an individual is $65 for six months or $118 a year. For a husband-wife combination membership the cost is only $90 for six months and $170 a year.

We do have an installment plan for a six months membership. For full details call the Health Facility at 665-4381.

Calico Capers — The Center has an adult dance time for those interested. This is in the form of square dancing. The Calico Capers Square Dance Club meets at the Center each Saturday night from 8-11 p.m. to dance. They have a guest caller from out-of-town each time.

Club membership is open to all couples who are interested in square dancing and also to those who want to learn. A beginner's class is now being conducted on Tuesday nights.

If you are interested in learning how to square dance or you want to join a club, you may come to the Center on Tuesday or Saturday nights and meet the club president, Billie Millican. He will explain the features of the club and introduce you to all the members.

Women's Swim Time — The Center has an activity period just for women on Monday and Friday mornings. At 9-30 a.m. the women meet in the gym and exercise to a series of recordings and then at 10:10 they have an informal swim time.

All women are invited to participate. The cost is only $5 for six months. There is also a baby sitting service for a nominal fee.

Dolphin Swim Club — The Center has an A.A.U. sanctioned swim club for those of you who are interested in competitive swimming. The Dolphins meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays from 6-7 p.m. to workout in preparation for several selected weekend swim meets.

The club is open to all boys and girls who are interested in swimming on a competitive nature. To qualify for the team you need only be a Center member and know how to swim.

No swim lessons are given during this time, but coaching on the various strokes is given. You may come to the Center to enroll or contact coaches Malcolm Douglas and Mrs. Bob Steger for further information.

Swim Lessons — Listed below are the current swim lessons that will be offered during the coming months. Parents should check this list and enroll their children as soon as possible for these classes will fill up very quickly.

All lessons are taught through the direction of the American Red Cross office under the direct supervision of our resident water safety instructor, Ruth Carter. All classes meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for one hour according to the schedule.

Classes are open to the general public or members. Lessons are free to Center members and $4 for non-members.

BIRDS FLOCKING TO LONDON

LONDON (AP) — A gray wagtail, a shy moorland bird, has been seen regularly fluttering through the dense traffic of central London. It is one of several unusual birds attracted to the British capital by cleaner air and river conditions.

"It seems that birds are moving farther up the cleaner River Thames," said the bulletin of the London Natural History Society, which recorded that central London's parks have attracted teal, red-crested pochard, kestrels and rooks.

Third Wife Isn't Used To Being Queen

By JOHN BONAR
AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — At 24 the world's youngest queen, Alia of Jordan, can't get used to being called "majesty."

She has been married two months to King Hussein. "Sometimes people will call me 'your majesty' and I wonder who they are talking to," she confesses. "My friends call me by my name and I like it better that way."

The daughter of a diplomat became Hussein's third wife on Christmas Eve.

"I brought her up to be a queen, never dreaming she would become one," says her proud father.

Beautiful, vibrant and a warm extrovert who "likes to be everybody's friend," Alia boasts an international education and fluency in Arabic, English and Italian.

Hussein has known his new bride literally since she was born on Christmas Day, 1948. The king was then a 15-year-old schoolboy at Victoria College in Alexandria, Egypt. Alia's father, Bahuddin Toukan, was Jordan's ambassador to Cairo and Hussein's guardian.

Her father's diplomatic travels took Alia to Turkey, Amman, London, the United States and Rome. She spent a year at an American school in 1957-58 when her father was Jordan's representative to the United Nations and returned to New York in the late 1960s when Toukan was reposted to the U.N.

She speaks English with something of a New York accent. Her romance with Hussein blossomed at a water skiing festival in Aqaba where the bikini-clad Alia caught his eye. Soon after, she quit her job with Royal Jordanian Airlines and the rumors began.

Officially the king was still married to his second wife, British-born Princess Muna. Up to his wedding day, Hussein denied that he was going to marry Alia. Later he explained: "About a year ago it became obvious that the relationship I once had with Muna was dead."

Like the king, Alia prefers an active life rather than sitting at home in the palace. She shares her husband's interest in sports and "getting out among the people to let them feel I am one of them."

Their only serious disagreement so far? "He is always fiddling around with the knobs of the television set when I'm watching," said Alia. "It drives me crazy."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Rev. Tremaine would deserve an "A" from public speaking teachers, even if he were half his present age. But for a man of 93, he merits a double "A." Heed his prescription for a long and alert lifespan: Beware of vegetating in an easy chair!

CASE W-542: Guy Tremaine, aged 93, recently filled the pulpit for 2 Sundays near our Indiana summer home. He celebrated his 93rd birthday last July 5th.

As a former Chautauqua performer (whistler), as well as talented singer, he has superb platform poise.

His voice was still steady and strong. He also maintained keen eye-contact with his congregation. And started his address with a humorous story.

Then he employed over 20 examples and cases in his 30-minute speech, ending on a high emotional note.

"Many times," he said, "I am asked how to clarify the idea that God is a Spirit."

"Young people wonder how God can be everywhere at the same time. And when they pray, they feel that it is futile to address their requests to a Spirit, which is diffuse, intangible and all-pervading."

"So I explain that in our solar system the sun is located at a fixed spot and is a specific, definite entity."

"But its light is meanwhile diffused all over our universe. And so it is with reference to God and His Spirit."

"You can thus direct your prayers to God as a fixed or central deity but meanwhile be surrounded by His Spirit."

One of his pertinent stories also dealt with a man from Covington, Kentucky, who visited Cincinnati one night and imbibed too much.

During his resulting drunken spree, he got into a fight and was finally arrested.

While locked in the jail, he beat on the bars loudly, demanding to be released.

"Let me out of here!" he bellowed.

"I want to go back to Kentucky where people can fight in peace!"

Then Rev. Tremaine added that this same idea must motivate the North Vietnamese.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Farmcast

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

More Cows, More Milk... Fertilizer Use Increases... Broiler Prices Advance... Citrus Harvest Active.

Texas cows produced almost five tons of milk each during 1972. Total milk production in Texas this past year was up four per cent from a year ago. Total milk production was 3,381,000,000 pounds.

The milk cow population also increased slightly, from 355,000 in 1971 to 358,000 in 1972. Average production per cow in herd, including dry cows, was 9,444 pounds in 1972, up 320 pounds from 1970.

But the nationwide average per cow production was 10,271 pounds. Total milk production throughout the nation during 1972 amounted to 120 billion pounds; this is 1.5 per cent higher than the previous year.

FERTILIZER use in Texas continues to climb. Total amount of fertilizers applied on Texas farmlands during 1972 was up almost 200,000 tons over 1971.

Types of fertilizer are divided into three categories: mixed fertilizer, primary nutrient fertilizer, and secondary and micronutrient fertilizer.

Mixed fertilizer utilized in Texas totaled 1,312,535 tons; this is up 11 per cent from 1971. Primary nutrient fertilizer amounted to 1,200,733 tons, which is six per cent above the 1971 use. Secondary and micronutrient fertilizer applied amounted to 1,100 tons which was down slightly from the 1971 level.

Amounts of fertilizers used in Texas during 1972 include: nitrogen-712,135 tons; phosphate-280,292 tons; potash-112,045 tons.

Anhydrous ammonia fertilizer accounted for 39 per cent of the nitrogen fertilizer used in 1962; ammonium nitrate accounted for 25 per cent, and ammonium sulfate accounted for 14 per cent while nitrogen sulfates accounted for 13 per cent.

Superphosphate made up 20 per cent of the directly applied phosphate materials.

CITRUS harvest continues in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Harvest of grapefruit is active, and moderate supplies of early and midseason oranges will be available this month.

Condition of citrus trees is good. Recent freezing weather caused little to no damage.

BROILER wholesale prices are jumping at almost unheard of rates. The price recently jumped four cents a pound at the wholesale level, which is perhaps the first time that has ever happened.

Reasons for the price increase include: The high price of red meat is causing consumers to buy more broilers, thus making the law of supply and demand react;

Bad weather in Georgia, a major broiler production area.

As a result, prices to consumers for broilers will be at levels of 20 years ago. Until recently, broilers have for the past several years been several cents per pound less than they were 20 years ago.

Production efficiencies of broiler producers as well as increased feed conversion are among reasons why broilers are at bargain prices.

CATTLE on feed in Texas as of Feb. 1 totaled 2,215,000 head. This is 22 per cent above a year ago, but one per cent below a month ago. Nationwide, cattle on feed in the seven major states was one per cent above a month ago and eight per cent above a year ago.

Largest known species of fern is the tree fern of Norfolk Island in the South Pacific, which attains a height of up to 80 feet.

at Lubbock.
Before you know it, time to apply fertilizer will be right on us. So let's test—don't guess!

Milo Harvest
There is still a few acres of unharvested milo in the county. We have heard of one fellow that has 50 acres to harvest and two or three others that have only a few acres. I've never heard of a harvest this late before. If we don't get done soon, wheat will be ripe before we get the milo cut.

New Pampa Product
Kay Fancher, chairman of the Industrial committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Jerry Sims, president of Pampa Chamber of Commerce, will soon have an announcement about a new addition to one of our more established industries in Pampa. I predict you will see some big action from what started out to be a fairly small addition. But, we better not say anymore. Let's let Kay and Jerry make their own announcement.

Vanderburg Named To State Panel

By-FELIX W. RYALS
Fred Vanderburg, president of the board of directors of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District, was elected to the irrigation panel board of directors of the Texas Water Conservation Association at the annual meeting in Austin, Feb. 22.

The directors of the various panels of the Texas Water Conservation Association make up its board of directors. Each of the panels elect a member to the executive board of the association. The panels elect a member to the executive board of the association. The panels of the association are divided into ground water, irrigation, municipal, industrial, river authorities, environmental and navigation sections divisions according to interest groups.

Resolutions coming from the various panels and passed by the Association have more impact on water legislation than any other organization in Texas. Many state legislators serve on the panels.

The board of directors of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District at its regular quarterly meeting on Feb. 5, passed a resolution favoring continued local control and management of ground water and in opposition to state control. This resolution was introduced at the annual convention of the Texas Water Conservation Feb. 22 before the irrigation panel and was unanimously adopted by the panel.

The resolution reads: "Be it resolved, that the Texas Water Conservation considers that existing state laws provide adequate authority for effective control and management of the state's ground water resource through establishment of local districts for such purposes, and that a general law of statewide applicability is not necessary or desirable as a means of coping with special problems of less than statewide scope."

Jack C. Williams...to soil institute

Soil Expert Ends Study At Institute

Jack C. Williams, area soil scientist with the Soil Conservation Service here has just returned from six weeks of intensive study in the Soil Science Institute at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa.

The institute began Jan. 8. Thirty-four soil scientists attended the session. Thirty-two were from the Soil Conservation Service and two from the Forest Service.

The institute is an annual event in the graduate school to bring selected field soil men up to date in the latest technical aspects of soil interpretation and classification. Subjects studied were soil chemistry, physics, engineering, genesis, fertility and soil-plant relationships. Additional related subjects included were geomorphology, climatology, ecology and plant physiology.

Panhandle Water

Norman Flaigg heads the Austin office of the Bureau of Reclamation handling the Mississippi River study. A portion of Flaigg's address to Water, Inc. follows:

"The lower Mississippi River is the most practicable source outside the High Plains for obtaining an irrigation water supply to replace the dwindling ground water reserves still available in the Ogallala aquifer. The Mississippi River Commission estimates that an average of 61 million acre-feet per year during 1928-68 could be available at a division point on the Atchafalaya River near Morgan City in excess of water requirements in the lower Mississippi River region under projected 2020 development conditions. These flows could be made available for diversion out of the region, subject to future determination that such diversion will not adversely affect the Gulf of Mexico or estuarine resources of the Louisiana Gulf Coast.

"The investigation shows that it would be physically possible to construct a project to transport water from the lower Mississippi River system to the High Plains to distribute it to water users there and in the Pecos River Basin of New Mexico. The investigation has revealed no clear-cut physical limitations on the size of such project, other than the amount of excess water available for that system and the amount of land suitable for irrigation in the receiving areas.

"Operation studies show that average annual deliveries to Texas irrigators during 1928-68 under the plan studied would be 4,740,000 acre-feet, or about 85 percent of irrigation requirements for 3.5 million acres.

"The cost of this project will be high. Perhaps far higher than you expected. The irrigators will be able to pay only a small share of the cost.

"The project evaluated is about the smallest that could be developed to provide replacement irrigation in 34 Texas counties on the North Plains and South Plains. Substantial reductions in per-acre construction and annual costs could be achieved, first by restricting the 3.5 million acres of irrigation to 27 counties on the South Plains, and second by further concentrating such irrigation in fewer South Plains counties. Such alternatives would permit reduction of the irrigated area to some degree for the 27-county alternative and to any desired size for more-concentrated alternatives, thereby further reducing project costs.

"Because of its size and cost, the project probably could not be authorized, funded, and constructed a time for water to be delivered to High Plains irrigators before the water removable at reasonable cost from the Ogallala aquifer has been largely withdrawn, if irrigation continues for very long on the present scale. On this basis, the project would not preserve the portion of the economy now supported by irrigation at its present level but instead would provide essentially new irrigation to restore part of that economic level.

"That's about all I can tell you at this time except that a project of this type would take 30 years or so to plan, authorize, construct and place in operation.

"In the meantime, you should do everything you can to make the best of the supplies that you have. More efficient use of the ground water is the first measure you can apply. The second is greater development and use of the plays water supply."

FB Leader Says Food Is Bargain

WACO—The president of the Texas Farm Bureau said farmers are afraid that "misguided public concern" over food prices will lead to a price freeze on raw agricultural products.

J.T. (Red) Woodson made the comment in reference to a news report that retail food prices have made the greatest one-month increase in 20 to 25 years.

He warned that price controls would result in scarcities instead of benefitting the consumer.

The farm leader said that, despite publicity over food price increases, food is still a bargain.

Animals Need VEE Shots Before Mosquito Season

The U.S. Department of Agriculture urges horse owners to have their horses, mules, and other equine animals vaccinated for Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), the deadly horse sleeping sickness, before mosquitoes that could carry the disease emerge in large numbers during the spring and summer.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service note that a major portion of the nation's 6.2 million horses remain unprotected. Comparatively few have been vaccinated since the 1971 emergency vaccination drive, following the outbreak of VEE in Texas.

As a special precaution, APHIS authorities now urge revaccination of horses, mules, and other equines in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California—specifically horses vaccinated once previously during the 1971 emergency vaccination campaign. Also, foals vaccinated before six months of age should be revaccinated to assure a longer immunity.

More than 94 per cent of the horses in 19 states—totalling over 2.8 million—were vaccinated at government expense in 1971. During 1972, only about 200,000 horses were reported to have been vaccinated—half of these in Texas and New York where VEE vaccination was required under certain circumstances, by state and federal regulations.

There were no confirmed cases of VEE in the United States during 1972. APHIS officials believe this was probably due to the large number of horses vaccinated the year before. But VEE did strike in areas of northwestern Mexico during the summer and early fall of 1972, causing concern in adjacent areas of the United States.

Vaccination in 1973 is especially recommended for horses subjected to interstate travel to shows, races, and similar events, or those coming into contact with horses from other areas of the country. Commercially produced VEE vaccine is available through practicing veterinarians and can only be administered by them.

In October 1972, Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz declared an end to the VEE emergency announced in July 1971 when the disease entered this country by way of Central America and Mexico. In a parallel action, he also announced the lifting of a federal quarantine which had required vaccination of horses in Texas before they could move into other states.

APHIS authorities stress that horses in this country will continue to be threatened by VEE, a cyclic and devastating plague of horses in South America since the late 1930's. They say the threat will grow as the number of unvaccinated horses increases proportionately during successive foaling seasons. VEE kills about 60 per cent of infected horses.

Marginal Land
Through modern agricultural technology, nearly 10 million acres of marginal cropland in the U.S. formerly devoted to growing cotton are now being used in other ways.

This has come about from a cotton yield increase of a half bale per acre since 1940.

Hereford Wins Top O' Texas Invitational With 147 Points

By CLAY LIVERY Hereford showed tremendous balance yesterday as it rolled up 147 points to win the varsity division of the 1973 Top O' Texas Invitational Track Meet at Randy Matson Track.

The 147 total points put them 29 ahead of runner-up Pampa. Third place went to Tascosa with 81, fourth to Berger with 66, followed by Plainview 31, Dumas 30 and Perryton 25.

SPORT PAGE

Pampa's Richard McCampbell tied the 100-yard dash mark of 10.0 after running a 9.8 in the morning's preliminaries.

120-yard high hurdles, 15.5 by Mike Taylor of Pampa. Broke old record of 15.9. Broad jump, 20' 11" by Robert Yeager of Pampa. Broke old mark of 20' 4".

Hereford nipped Pampa for that victory as both teams were timed at 3-32.6. Hanson ran a tremendous leg in that race as he anchored the Harvester team.

A HAIR'S BREADTH was the margin of victory for Harvester Steve Mathis in this 220-yard dash preliminary Saturday morning at Randy Matson Track.

Allin Leading Citrus Open Tourney By Four

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Little Buddy Allin continued his record setting with a five-under-par 67 Saturday and stretched his lead to four strokes through three rounds of the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

It was another two strokes back to Homero Blancas and rookie Tom Kite, tied at 205. Blancas had a 68 and Kite 69 as the exceptionally low scoring continued in the almost perfect playing conditions.

Lee Trevino, a winner his last time out, and Australian Bruce Crampton, the season's leading money winner, were in a group at 207—nine under par but a distant nine strokes behind the 28-year-old Allin.

Pampa Golfers Make Advances

The Pampa Harvester golf team moved up in District 3-AAAA standings Friday by shooting the second low total for the day over Southwest Golf Course in the district's second round. The score moved Pampa from seventh to fifth.

Pampa's total of 306 strokes was good for second behind Tascosa's 296.

Amarillo High, which held the lead after the league's opening round, was third Friday with 307 strokes and dropped from first. Tascosa took the overall lead with a total of 624 strokes.

Pampa's Steve Hopkins shot a one-over-par 72 Friday to move into strong contention for the district's medalist honors. Tascosa's Donny Loerwald had the day's low round with an even par 71.

Hopkins' two round total is 83-72-155, two strokes behind the leader for medalist honors, Jerry Greenfield of AHS.

Greenfield has had rounds of 78-75-153. Two other golfers are at 154: Loerwald (83-71) and Don Bentley, Tascosa, (81-73).

Sandie John Shankle is tied with Hopkins for third with a total of 80-75-155.

Coach Deck Woldt said it was the best round ever for Hopkins

NMJC Thunderbirds Take Border Olympics

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) - New Mexico Junior College, paced by freshman Elroy Oliver of Amarillo, Tex., stormed to its third consecutive Border Olympics title Saturday while Houston Worthing captured the high school division with an awesome display of depth.

The NMJC Thunderbirds, of Hobbs, N.M., compiled a record 193 points as they ran away from the junior college field.

Odessa Junior College, paced by the closest pursuer with 93 points, and Blinn Junior College was a distant third with 73.

Oliver compiled 24 points by winning the high jump, finishing second in the long jump, and taking a third place in the high hurdles.

There were two records set in the JC division, with NMJC's Guy Abrahams unreeing a 9.4 in the century to break the old mark of 9.5 set by Willie Harrison of Odessa JC in 1971.

Trever Viljoen of Odessa JC jogged the mile in 4:12.3 minutes for a division record. It broke the old standard of 4:19.6 by Mejo Joahar of Wharton in 1969.

In the high school division, Worthing piled up 64 points to nip Galveston Ball, which had 56. Refugio was third with 33 and Monahans finished fourth with 32.

Defending champion Baytown Sterling came in fifth. Craig McPhail of Houston Jones cracked the division record in the 330-intermediate hurdles with a 38.1 seconds effort to beat the old mark of 39.1 by Steve Taylor of Houston Lee in 1967.

There was one university division record in the field events. Danny Brabham of Baylor long-jumped 25 feet, breaking the old division mark of 24.1 set by Darryl Hughes of Rice in 1972.

Mustang's Bob Prewitt Won't Discuss Troubles

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist basketball Coach Bob Prewitt continued to decline comment Saturday on the Mustangs' basketball season that ended at 10-15 after preseason predictions of Southwest Conference and national glory.

"There are several things that contributed to our season. But I am not going into any of our problems in any way this afternoon," Prewitt said following Texas' 83-77 season-ending victory over the Mustangs. "You can reflect on a lot of things but it is all hindsight and that's easy."

In recent weeks, published reports have abounded of a rift between some SMU players. Prewitt and assistant coach Mike Pinkam. Other reports have rumored that Prewitt may not be back as coach next season.

But Prewitt received a vote of confidence Friday from forward Sammy Hervey, SMU's leading scorer and the second leading point-getter in the SWC this year with 21 points per game average.

In an interview with the Dallas Times Herald, Hervey placed blame on teammates Zach Thiel and Ruben Triplett for the team's problems which have resulted in heavy criticism of the Mustang coaching staff.

"I plan on coming back to SMU next year, but if they change coaches I'm not sure what will happen," said the 6-7 Hervey.

"I don't think we should get rid of any coaches," he continued. "I think we should get rid of a couple of players that are causing all the problems."

"The players that have been doing all the talking haven't been producing," Hervey said.

of Triplett and Thiel, both all-conference performers last season.

Triplett, a senior, has scored at a 9.4 clip this season after averaging 18.1 last year. His rebounding output is down 124 from 281 last year.

Thiel, a junior, is shooting at an 11.5 clip but has failed to give the Mustangs the steady floor play expected of him.

Red Raiders Beat Baylor

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) - Texas Tech built a 10-point lead and then held off Baylor 77-74 in the final Southwest Conference game of the season for both teams.

The Raiders, obviously relaxed, never trailed and held off a pressing defense by the Bears to finish their season with a 19-7 record. The Raiders finished 12-2 in the conference, while Baylor dropped to 14-11 and 8-6.

The game wound up Baylor Coach Bill Menefee's career.

Freshman Rick Bullock led Raider scorers with 24 points and grabbed off 14 rebounds, high for both teams. Lee Griffin paced Baylor, which had four players in double figures with 21 points.

Tech jumped into an early lead and never was headed, although the score was tied twice in the first half. The Raiders led at halftime 37-32. Late in the second half, Baylor cut the Raider lead to one point, 58-57, but Tech spurred ahead in the next five minutes by 10 points.

Texas Tech controlled the backboards 48-39 and won despite 23 turnovers, compared with 16 for the Bears.

U. S. CIVIL SERVICE TESTS!

Men-women age 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service exams for job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide greater security than private employment and opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs, you frequently must pass a test. The competition is keen.

Lincoln Service has helped many people prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the longest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and mail or e-mail TODAY.

Texas Outdoor Roundup

PADUCAH — If managed properly, those mesquite-covered rolling plains characteristic of much of the Texas Panhandle will support several species of wildlife, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

The problem of finding what special techniques are needed to encourage wildlife belongs to biologists on the Matador Wildlife Management Area.

This 28,184-acre facility is located 10 miles northwest of Paducah on the Pease River. It is part of land once owned by the Matador Land and Cattle Company, a Scottish land syndicate.

The area is typical of much of the Red Rolling Plains where bobwhite quail, scaled quail and mourning doves are the most important game animals. The area also supports modest populations of Rio Grande turkey and white-tailed deer.

Since the most important game animals of the Texas Panhandle are the bobwhite quail, they are the object of most of the research on the Matador area.

Biologists feel that a thorough understanding of the population dynamics of quail in the mesquite-mixed rangeland habitat of the Red Rolling Plains is fundamental to sound management recommendations.

They say it is especially important to understand the mechanism involved in population turnover, particularly with respect to eruptive populations and crash declines so typical of the area.

In a study on quail parasites, biologists found that parasites inhabiting quail of the West Texas Rolling Red Plains do not alter the physical condition of the birds. They could only be considered a secondary factor affecting mortality as in the case of injury or starvation.

Food studies on the management area are proving especially helpful to Panhandle landowners who want to manage their land for wildlife. It was found that of all the species of plants in the Panhandle, only a dozen were important to quail. And of this dozen, the three most important were western ragweed, the crotons and broom snakeweed.

As a result of this research, landowners know that successful management of quail foods can be directed toward a few specific food items.

Biologists say that as a result of information gathered on the Matador Area, various governmental agencies are beginning to modify their range-management recommendations to better provide for the needs of wildlife.

Many landowners in the Rolling Plains are now discing portions of their rangeland to encourage forb production. Others are using plots of winter greens to sustain turkey populations.

Data from public hunts on the area, documenting that hunting is largely self-regulating, has convinced many persons that restricted seasons are seldom necessary, and this has resulted in opening substantially more lands to hunting.

These same landowners will probably benefit from other studies such as those on insecticides and quail, turkey habitat improvements, brush control research and livestock-quail research.

Land-use practices in the Panhandle coupled with the increased demand for game, give the Matador Area a challenging future.

The wild turkey has received relatively little attention and should become the focal point of future research.

The Rolling Plains is the second-most important ecological region in the state with respect to nesting mourning doves. Much needed research on nesting habitat preference of the mourning doves will be conducted on the Matador area.

The use of prescribed burning as a means of brush control and range habitat management will be investigated.

There is also the possibility of building a 200-acre impoundment to give migrating waterfowl a resting place. Resting places are rare in the dry Texas Panhandle.

AUSTIN — Those first-balm days of spring are going to catch a lot of folks by surprise, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

The impulse will be to get outdoors and have some fun, but there's one hangup. Recreational equipment, especially boats, trailers and skis, are likely to be in miserable shape after a winter's storage.

A little preparation while the air is still frosty will put you on your way more quickly when the urge to go strikes.

An overall check into the seaworthiness of your boat should be the first order of business. Seams should be recaulked if the caulking is cracked, and a little extra fiberglass on those worn spots may save some misery later.

Check your fuel lines for leaks and loose connections. And then check your steering cables for evidence of chafing where they run through sleeves and around drums.

Safety equipment should also be checked. Running lights are always vulnerable to the ravages of time, so the wiring should be checked for shorts and the bulbs should be checked for burn-outs. Make sure you have some extra bulbs on hand.

You say you've had those life jackets for a couple of years? Ask yourself, "Will these things save the lives of the ones I love?" Life jackets don't last forever. They mildew and eventually rot. The straps break or the material tears when you tighten the straps. If you have any doubts, spend a few bucks for new jackets and for your peace of mind.

Your fire extinguisher is probably due its annual check-up. Discharge mechanisms, sometimes deteriorate through long exposure to dampness, and the contents may lose effectiveness as a result of wide variations in temperature, evaporation, chemical change or age.

Don't forget that engine tune-up. What's the point of driving half the day only to find you can't get your engine started? Or worse yet, what could ruin a perfect day faster than being stranded in the middle of a lake with engine trouble?

Clean your gas tanks and start the year with new gas-oil pre-mix.

Then see the care of the accessory items. Ski ropes should be checked, unknotted and neatly coiled. Skis have earned themselves a fresh coat of wax after last year's abuse, so don't begrudge them.

Now you're about ready for a carefree weekend, unless some forgotten detail fouls you up. That detail could be your trailer. The wheel bearings could probably use some attention. The least you could do is repack them with grease. And since wheel bearings are fairly inexpensive, new ones might be a good idea.

A burned-out wheel bearing on your trailer between here and there would ruin your weekend, plus part of the next week. Wheel bearings are notoriously hard to find on a Saturday afternoon.

Lubrication of all moving parts, including the coupler, winch and tilting mechanism, should make your day go more smoothly.

Your tires could also need some attention. Flat tires are no fun. Carry a spare.

As a final test, hook the trailer to the car and check tail lights and brake lights.

Now you've given your boat and trailer the works. Step back. Do you feel right about it, or does some doubt linger in your mind? Trace the source of your doubts. Peace of mind will help your weekend outing immensely.

You can get more information on safe boating by writing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Water Safety Section, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701. Ask for the safe boating packet.

AUSTIN — Records were made to be broken.

The Parks and Wildlife Department recently announced a record aoudad.

from Palo Duro Canyon and immediately drew a challenger.

The word comes from San Antonio that John G. Klaus of that city killed an aoudad on his Bandera County ranch back in April, 1972, that was estimated to be 15 years old.

The ram's horns were measured by a San Antonio taxidermist, and submitted to Roland Wards Record Book as a new world's record aoudad.

The ram's right horn measured 34 1/2 inches in length and the left 36 1/2 inches.

Last week's Texas record was 33 inches from a ram found dead in Palo Duro Canyon and the previous world's record was 34 1/2.

MANY HOT DOG EATERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Football fans are a hungry lot. Of the more than ten million fans who saw National Football League games last season, more than five million hot dogs were consumed. Servomation Corporation reports pro football fans also ate more than 3 1/2 million bags of peanuts and one million bags of popcorn. Ted Nicolay, a vice president with the firm, says more than 15 million soft drinks and beer were consumed, along with more than one million cups of coffee.

Judy Rankin Will Defend

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Judy Rankin will get stiff competition from several hot-shooting proettes this week when she tries to defend her title in the $100,000 S&H Green Stamps Classic as the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour is resumed here.

Mrs. Rankin, from Midland, won the tournament last year in a sudden death playoff with Kathy Whitworth on the 19th hole.

Miss Whitworth, the all-time leading money winner on the LPGA tour, again will be a favorite along with JoAnn Carner, Beth Stone, Kathy Aherne and Betty Burfeindt, who figured in the close 1972 finish until she hit a trap on the 17th hole.

Also in the field at Westwood Country Club will be Mickey Wright, the all-time leader in four victories with 81. Miss Whitworth has won 85 tournaments dating back to 1959 and including one this year.

The prize money jumped from $25,000 to $100,000 here this year with a change in sponsors for the Women's Golf Charities, Inc., event which donates proceeds to the Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research.

Tournament officials said about 90 proettes will enter the tournament, which begins Friday. The final round will be played Sunday.

Also in the field will be JoAnn Prentice, who won the Burdine's Invitational at Miami, Fla., and Sandra Palmer, winner of the last tournament at Pompano Beach, Fla. Miss Palmer defeated Miss Burfeindt in a sudden death playoff.

Tracy Smith Claims God Is On His Side This Time Around

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Tracy Smith. The name comes flashing back from the past and it recalls America's strongest distance runner, a three-mile specialist who runs well indoors and who had the ability to beat anyone on a given day.

The reputation in 1967-68 was legitimate. Smith rarely lost, set two world marks and toured the world, beating the best. But Tracy admits a mental block kept him from a big breakthrough.

The block appears to have been removed. Today the blond Smith lives in a modest Long Beach apartment. He is back in school, a world record holder again and once more on the path of the big breakthrough. This time, however, he says he's got God on his side.

"I'm running for Athletics in Action," says Tracy, just 27 and still an awesome physical specimen for a distance runner.

"They're affiliated with the Campus Crusade for Christ and I think this is what I've needed all these years."

Smith graduated from high school in nearby Arcadia and went to Oregon State "to get away from home." He set world indoor three-mile marks of 13:16.2 in 1967 and 13:15.2 in 1968. But he never graduated from college and when injured late in the 1969 season started thinking about retirement.

A year ago he decided he wanted to help youth. His left Achilles tendon was still sore so he thought running again was out of the question. He joined the Los Angeles Police Department and forced to run up hills in the Police Academy, found he could still jog a bit.

His return to action last year fell short in the Olympic Trials and Tracy was still wandering. "I knew I could beat just about anybody on my strength," said the muscular 5-foot-11, 153-pounder who has broad shoulders. "I loved to run an even pace and then, right in the middle of the race, really blast two laps. I had that power but I wasn't improving."

"But with Athletics in Action I seem to have found something really meaningful."

Smith captured the National AAU three-mile title two weeks ago in New York, running 13:07.2 for a world mark. He credits religion for the turnaround.

"That was the most exciting and most satisfying win in my career," he said. "I was so tired of getting beat down."

"When I heard that stadium announcer say I could break the record if I ran the last quarter in 64 seconds, well I really wanted that record but I was also starting to hurt. I always used to think that God could help, but in that race I started thinking about Jesus on the cross and how much that must have hurt. And then I just ran harder—I really wanted to hurt."

After years of roaming, Tracy says he's finally settled down.

Tracy is a senior in physical education at Long Beach State and is a nonpaid assistant coach for Dr. Jack Rose, the head coach.

"Tracy is just the most super human being I've ever met."

said Rose. "He's been with us just two months and already every distance runner on the team has run a lifetime best. I don't know how he does it but he's incredible."

When Smith first started making headlines, fellows like Steve Prefontaine, Frank Shorter and George Young weren't around to challenge him. Prefontaine was still in high school. Shorter was not yet a top runner and Young was specializing in the steeplechase.

Now Smith says he's nearly ready to challenge them. "I know I can run under 13 minutes for three miles," he says. "The only thing that was lacking before was confidence. I was scared to make the big move with a half mile to go. I've always been scared to run hard. Let's face it, I can't outkick the big kickers."

"But now I know that the hurting is worth it."

"In 1968, before I got injured, I felt I was the top guy in the country and now I'm looking forward to races with Prefontaine and Shorter and the others. I don't know about this year but my goal is to become the top guy again."

"And with God's help I think I can."

After he graduates in a year, Smith wants to teach and be a part-time track coach. He says he's pointing for Montreal's 1976 Olympics, says the money offered by the new International Track Association doesn't sway him now.

Longhorns Announce Spring Football Plans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns, working on an unprecedented string of five Southwest Conference football titles, start spring practice Tuesday in quest of No. 6.

The main tasks appear to be to rebuild the offensive line, which lost two-time all-America tackle Jerry Sisemore and three other starters, and to replace quarterback Alan Lowry.

Defensive coaches must find replacements for Cotton Bowl hero Randy Braband at linebacker and two graduating halfbacks to fill out a defensive squad that allowed only seven touchdowns last year.

The quarterback candidates are Marty Akins of Gregory-Portland, Mike Presley and Grand Prairie, Larry Miller of Austin and Walter Rowan of Little Rock, Ark.

All-SWC fullback Roosevelt Leaks, who ran for 1,099 yards as a sophomore, and halfback Tom Landry return from the starting Cotton Bowl backfield.

Spring training is scheduled to wind up April 6 with the annual Orange-White intrasquad game.

LIONS ADD NEW FOE
NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time in 26 years, Columbia is adding a new rival to its football schedule. The Lions will take 'em Bucknell in its home opener next Sept. 29. Only other non-Ivy League foe to play Columbia next fall will be Rutgers.

No Rush To Perform Abortions Yet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas women seeking an abortion for other than medical imperatives might still do best to go out of the state for it.

A month after the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the state's anti-abortion law on the ground that it violates the constitutional right of privacy, few Texas hospitals or doctors seem geared for any increased demand to be made on them.

Some cling tenaciously to past policies—no abortion except to save the mother's life—regardless of changed law. Others just seem unable to make up their minds. Most want more legal guidance.

"People are pretty unwilling to accept the fact that abortion is legal—it is hard to accept change," said Joan Avine, a member of the Austin Women's Political Caucus.

Legislators in the state capital, where there is no immediate sign of local hospitals bending past rules, seem as confused as anyone.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill, pressed on all sides for an opinion, asked Feb. 13 that the U.S. Supreme Court grant a rehearing on the abortion issue, claiming that the court "erred in substituting its social beliefs for the judgment of the Texas Legislature." But the Supreme Court turned down his plea last week.

Hill's interpretation, as things now stand, is that the state can prohibit abortions only during the last three months of pregnancy. He says the court ban on state interference applies only to the first three months and, during the fourth, fifth and sixth months, the state may regulate the abortion procedure in ways reasonably related to maternal health.

City Atty. Don Butler of Austin feels that private hospitals, at least, have the option of refusing abortion cases, though the ruling is unclear about public institutions.

Dean Davis, counsel for the Texas Hospital Association, representing about 600 public and private hospitals, can't see anything in the decision that orders any hospital—public, private or non-profit—to perform abortions.

Generally, the Texas Medical Association is sticking with its earlier policy that no one "shall be compelled to perform any act which violates any personal, moral principles they might hold."

Warren Harding of Bexar County Hospital in San Antonio summed up the general dilemma in which hospital administrators find themselves when he said: "We feel there really hasn't been a clarification from the state on where we stand. We're sort of waiting what's going to happen."

Meanwhile, most Texas hospitals are hanging back from blazing any trails: none want to be dubbed an abortion mill by critics.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Sunday, March 4, the 63rd day of 1973. There are 302 days left in the year.

On this date in 1788, the first U.S. Congress convened in Federal Hall in New York City. The Congress had to adjourn because a quorum was not present.

On this date: In 1681, England's King Charles II granted William Penn a charter for what is now Pennsylvania.

In 1791, Vermont became the 14th state.

In 1829, the White House was mobbed by an unruly crowd at the inauguration of President Andrew Jackson.

In 1917, Republican Jeannette Rankin of Montana became the first woman to serve in Congress.

In 1943, American forces defeated the Japanese in the Pacific war Battle of the Bismarck Sea.

In 1945, Soviet troops reached the Baltic Sea in their drive across Germany's province of Pomerania.

Ten years ago: Seven persons were killed when a hospital bus plunged into New York City's East River.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson asked Congress for a multibillion-dollar health program, including an intensified birth-control effort.

One year ago: The Soviet Union and Libya signed an agreement to develop and refine Libyan oil.

Today's birthdays: South African singer Miriam Makeba is 41.

Thought for today: All my possessions for a moment of time—purported last words of Queen Elizabeth I, 1558-1603.

Some pregnant women are still being referred out of state to seek a solution of their problem.

"It is time Texas started taking care of its own," said Glenda Parks, a Problem Pregnancy worker in Fort Worth, criticizing the slow pace at which Texas hospitals are tackling the issue. She urged the establishment of free, state-supported abortion clinics to be run in connection with hospitals.

Most hospitals not having yet given their staff physicians permission to perform abortions, few private doctors are willing to move until they know what hospital policy is.

Apart from those with strong religious or moral convictions, some doctors won't touch an abortion because they fear the harsh judgment of others. No body wants to be known as an abortionist.

One private doctor in Dallas said some younger doctors might adjust to helping patients who really need the service—but older doctors are adamant. It won't be easy to achieve a legal abortion in Dallas," he predicted.

Making a first move to solve this problem, Dr. Claude Evans, Southern Methodist University chaplain and founder of Clergy Consultation on Problem Pregnancies, announced opening of a clinic ready to handle six to 12 legal abortions a day for a $150 fee. "We don't run the clinic—two doctors run it," Evans said. "But we may get more than they can take care of when the clinic's existence is generally known."

Thus far, three big Dallas hospitals—Parkland, Baylor and Presbyterian—have adjusted traditional policies to meet the new law. Others still hover on the brink of decision.

Rod Bell, administrator of Presbyterian Hospital, which now offers legal abortion up to the end of the first 12 weeks of pregnancy provided both patient and doctor concur, expressed fears that abortionists might flood into Dallas if the city hospitals fail to offer an adequate service. If outsiders move in, Bell said, "we can't compete with the backroom boys and discount houses."

Presbyterian, which is expected to charge about $150, won't deal with any walk-in clients, though. Every patient must be referred through a doctor.

Baylor University Medical Center will do legal abortions during the first 12 weeks provided two physicians agree it is medically advisable. The patient's desire will be only one factor in the decision, a hospital spokesman explained. In other words, there must still be "therapeutic justification."

Harris Hospital in Fort Worth is perhaps marginally more accommodating. It has facilities for up to 25 non-medical abortions a week, with costs ranging from $110 to $190. But Harris requires proof that the attending physician has counseled the patient about her decision to abort or has provided her with other counseling.

Peter Smith Hospital gets an average of 20 abortion requests a day, but performs only three to four operations a week and those for medical reasons. It continues referrals to Problem Pregnancy, the Texas counseling service.

It is estimated that something like half the gynecologists in Fort Worth will perform an abortion when one is indicated after counseling. Charges are $175 and up during the first 8 1/2 weeks of pregnancy; $200 up to 12 weeks.

Arlington Community Hospital is the only other in Tarrant County prepared to perform abortion on request.

Houston hospitals, like those in other big Texas cities, seem to have been caught unprepared with any plan for meeting the Supreme Court ruling.

St. Joseph's, the city's oldest general hospital, predictably announced it would not change present policy. "I will not do direct abortions under any circumstances," said Dr. Joseph A. "Speci," in charge of obstetrics and gynecology for the Roman Catholic hospital, which is operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word. He added his belief that 95 per cent of all current abortions are done on "normal, healthy young people who would bear normal children."

The Houston Memorial Hospital System, including a big downtown general hospital with three satellites, still has to make up its mind on a policy change, as have the tax-supported Jefferson Davis and Ben Taub general hospitals, which care for many of Houston's poor.

Only the Hermann Hospital, major teaching facility for the University of Texas Medical School at Houston, is allowing its staff physicians to perform abortions on a voluntary basis during the first 12 weeks. Later abortions require special authorization and the advice of a specialist on whether abortion is still "appropriate."

Richard Ferguson, executive director of Planned Parenthood in Houston, said his board is "strongly considering" opening its own abortion clinic in that city.

Bruce Woodward, president of Planned Parenthood in San Antonio, said he hoped to have an abortion clinic operating within 30 days in or near one of the city hospitals.

Bob Lloyd, administrator of St. David's Hospital in Austin, estimated 15 of 23 physicians on his staff have no overwhelming objection against abortion, but the Roman Catholic Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio proclaimed its "unswerving intention neither to provide those services nor to cooperate in the deliberate termination in the life of a human being."

Military hospitals in the San Antonio area said they were continuing under directives laid down in 1971, pending fresh orders. President Nixon directed that state law, where more restrictive than military regulations, should be followed by military installations located in those states.

A spokesman at Brooke Army Medical Center said Army policy is that abortions can only be performed for medical reason, either mental or physical. It was, he said, "a little less restrictive" since the Texas state law was thrown out.

Col. Jack Halki, chief of hospital services at Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center, said the Air Force had not yet clarified the situation. Wilford Hall still follows the more restrictive old state law—that the mother's life must be in danger.

With the movement toward liberalization coming slowly, most hospitals proceeded with extreme caution while a few stuck firmly to old policies. Here's how the situation looked elsewhere in Texas:

ABILENE
Three local hospitals and the Air Force Base hospital say their boards have not yet decided on policy. No abortions have been performed since the court ruling. One doctor said no court would give him orders about when an abortion could be done.

AMARILLO
Sister Grace O'Meara, administrator of St. Anthony's Hospital and head of Texas Association of Catholic Hospitals, organized petition asking Atty. Gen. Hill to try to get Supreme Court decision reversed. Hospitals in area are not performing abortions and local doctors say they need more guidance.

BEAUMONT
St. Elizabeth's, a catholic hospital, remained firm against all forms of abortion. Baptist Hospital, which does therapeutic abortions only, is considering whether to change its rules.

BRYAN
One hospital said it will go along with the views of its medical staff and set a new policy in March. A second hospital, which is Catholic, remains against all abortions.

DENTON
Leonard Watson, administrator of Flow Memorial Hospital, said: "The medical staff is presently working on a policy to present to the board. Right now there is no policy, but at least the wheels have been started moving." Because the abortion ruling is unclear on many points, the hospital will require a husband's consent or parental consent for a minor.
MARSHALL
Marshall Memorial Hospital will require a signed statement clearing the attending physician and hospital employees from responsibility in cases where a patient is admitted in a condition of abortion.

CARTHAGE
Thomas Ritter, administrator of Panoia General Hospital, says the life or wellbeing of the mother is still the rule. "My doctors can't decide whether they want to abort or not to abort," he said.

ATLANTA
Dr. James Brooks, co-owner of Brooks General Hospital, where old rules remain: "The government can't change the Bible. And that's the way this hospital's going to be run."

GALVESTON
Neither the University of Texas Medical Branch Hospitals nor Galveston County Memorial Hospitals have yet given staff physicians permission to perform abortions. Dr. Robert P. Green, president of Galveston County Medical Society, said his society was taking no stand because "it's a very personal matter for most physicians." "Some, he thought, will feel liberated enough to perform abortions, and others will not."

Muscular Dystrophy Benefit Dance

Kappa Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will sponsor its fifth annual Muscular Dystrophy Benefit Dance, from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Saturday, March 10 in St. Vincent's auditorium.

Music will be furnished by the Tiny Lynn Orchestra. Tickets are available from any sorority member, Fern's Flower Shop, and will be sold at the door.

All proceeds from the dance will be given to the Muscular Dystrophy Association to be used for research and patient service cost for patients in the Pampa area. There are six known cases in this area, with two living in Pampa.

All MD patients are offered flu shots given annually by their physicians and are provided with braces, wheel chairs, lifts, and other aids prescribed by physicians of MD patients.

Of the money collected for MD, 75 per cent is sent to New York City to National Headquarters for research and 25 per cent is retained for the local chapter.

Visiting with Mike Anderson, 6, son of Mrs. Lisa Hilton, 411 Purviance, a local MD patient, are Mrs. I.A. Hungerford, left and Mrs. Charles Browder.

Mrs. Hager Is Speaker For BPW

Tuesday evening the spotlight was focused on the local scene when the Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club met in the club room at the City Hall.

A new musical group composed of Edna Raye Marker, Linda Reed, Wayne Bruce and Mark Box presented a variety program. Purpose of the foursome, Miss Marker explained, is for fun and to gain experience in singing together.

Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Sherry E. Hager, a candidate for one of two three-year terms on the Pampa Independent District School Board.

Mrs. Hager is the wife of the Rev. Martin Hager, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pampa. The Hagers live at 1712 Holly Lane and have four children.

known for its great school system," Mrs. Hager said.

"I intend to keep lines of communication open to all parents, teachers and students," she continued.

"I want to know what is going on in the schools, where the problems are and where teachers, coordinators and administrators need support," she stated.

"One principle that will guide me," she said, "is my strong and irreversible decision that schools are operated for the benefit of the students.

Schools exist to prepare students to 'take hold' of a world far more complicated, challenging and ethically demanding than the world of their parents and teachers—a world saturated with information, conflicting ideologies, cross currents of ultimate purposes and intentions," she said.

"Students need, require and want rich educational experiences, both academically and vocationally," she stated.

Spending should be done wisely, she said, but not to the point of sacrificing "our most valuable possession, Pampa's youth."

"I am committed to a total educational experience for all Pampa youth," Mrs. Hager concluded.

Mrs. Hager holds a B.A. degree in Political Science and English from Millikin University and took courses at Texas University.

While her husband studied for the ministry at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Mrs. Hager helped with family finances by working. She was employed at the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, the Oil and Gas Division of the Texas Railroad Commission and in the Political Science Department at Tarleton College in Stephenville.

Since coming to Pampa in June, 1967, Mrs. Hager has devoted most of her time to her family and home. However, she has been active in her church and selected community services.

She is secretary of Genesis House board, a volunteer worker at the Planned Parenthood Clinic and a member of the Highland General Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. D.C. Ash, president, presided. The Collect was given by Mrs. Lillie Mae Fowler. Committee reports were heard.

Mrs. G.E. Tinnin, Mrs. L.B. Robertson and Miss Elsie Cunningham were elected to serve on the nominating committee to propose a slate of officers for the 1973-74 club year.

Mrs. Ethel Stubblefield, a new member, and Mrs. A.D. Hills, a guest were introduced.

The Board of Directors of the Pampa BPW Club will convene March 6 at 6 p.m. in Furr's Cafeteria for a dinner meeting.

PE WIVES SOCIETY
The Petroleum Engineers Wives Society met recently for their annual Husband's Night party at the Village in Berger. Following dinner, games were played with Mr. and Mrs. V.M. Lumpkin and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carlisle winning the prizes.
A red carnation corsage was presented to each of the wives. Those attending from Pampa were: Mrs. and Mmes. R.L. Adams, J.C. Beyer, Bill Chafin, Mack Courtney, Stanley Harris, G.B. Hogan, R.O. Linville, Bill Lytton and J.C. Smith.
The next meeting will be a luncheon at the Pampa Country Club March 13, at 11:30 a.m. with a book review by Mrs. J.F. Malone.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Middlebrook, Lamesa, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. Ted Eads, 411 Hill, Pampa.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. Bill Hardage, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lamesa, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

Flanking the altar were candelabra holding seven tapers. Pews were marked with blue satin bows.

THE BRIDE
The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Bud Middlebrook, was attired in a formal gown of satapeau and alencon lace, designed with a Victorian, closely fitted bodice and neckline with a sheer yoke. Lace appliques traced a pattern over the bodice and down the sheer, long tapered sleeves. Her satin, a-line skirt, fell unadorned to the hemline and her detachable chapel train cascaded into a scalloped lace hemline. She wore a matching candelight alencon lace cap holding an elbow-length veil of illusion, edged in scalloped lace. Seed pearls and crystals accented the gown and veil.

The bride's bouquet was of blue feathered carnations and white roses, with matching streamers.

In keeping with tradition, "something old" was a Bible, given by her great-grandfather, C. L. Brown, to her mother; "something new," were her earrings; "something borrowed," was a cameo necklace, belonging to her mother, that had been worn in all family weddings. She wore a blue garter and a six-pence in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Debbie Elme, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Norma Stary, great-niece of the bride, distributed rice bags. The maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of pale blue double knit fashioned with a high neckline and fitted bodice. She carried a nosegay of white flowers. Two year old Norma, wore a matching street-length dress.

Richard Oliver, Amarillo, was best man. Gene Eads, brother of the bridegroom, Pampa, and Randy Hardman, Lamesa, nephew of the bride, were ushers.

Wedding music was sung by Mrs. Elton Stary of Noodle, Tex.

RECEPTION
Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church in Canyon.

The serving table was centered with the bride's bouquet and the three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with blue roses, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride is a graduate of Lamesa High School and has attended Baylor University at Waco and West Texas State University at Canyon.

The bridegroom is currently employed in Pampa and is a graduate of Pampa High School. He is presently attending WTSU, where he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Club News

JAYCEE-ETTES
The Pampa Jaycee-Ettes held their regular monthly meeting recently in the Reddi Room of the Southwestern Public Service Co. with Mrs. Philip Kimbley, president, presiding. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Don Williamson and Mrs. Benny Horton.

Jimmie Lou Wainscott, County Extension Agent, presented the program on Budget Buys in Meats.

It was reported that two Pampa Jaycee-Ettes had attended the December Sit-In-Hen meeting in Amarillo and six members attended the Sit-In-Hen meeting in Happy in January.

Three members participated at the District I Convention held in Amarillo.

Mrs. Frank Sitterly reported the bake sale held by the club in the Hughes Building recently had been a success.

Mrs. Don Williamson presented her "Have Your Say" speech on what Jaycee-Ettes meant to her.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served and the door prize was won by Mrs. Paul Peoples.

Members attending the meeting were Mmes. Philip Kimbley, Dan Stanley, Andy Rhodes, Benny Horton, Don Williamson, Paul Peoples, Frank Sitterly, Milton Saltzman and a special guest, Mrs. Thomas Auwen.

Curried Apples
Core apples and slice into rings; place in broiler pan and spread with a mixture of soft margarine, brown sugar and curry powder. Broil about 4 minutes; sprinkle with chopped almonds and return to broiler for a minute or less to toast. Good with baked chicken, ham or breakfast meats.

Dear Abby

Her traveling salesman husband doesn't roam

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a traveling salesman, but I never worry about him cheating on me when he's on the road. I solved that problem years ago. Know how?

I tire him out so good when he's home, he's lucky if he has enough energy to carry his sample cases to the car.

SECURE IN SYRACUSE

DEAR SECURE: I hate to burst your bubble, lady, but a man can have the finest banquet in the world, and six hours later he's hungry again.

DEAR ABBY: While my parents and I were putting away the Nativity Scene and wrapping the pieces in old newspapers, I found a picture of you from 1962. You were very pretty then.

DENA BERNARD

DEAR DENA: Thanks, dear. It's letters like yours that keep me humble.

DEAR ABBY: Could you please give me some advice on how either to marry a rich man or get in the movies?

I would love to marry a movie star, but I live in Wisconsin and don't have the money to get to California and mingle with the stars. If I did manage to scrape up the bus fare, do you think it would help if I got myself a job as a waitress in one of the movie studios?

I will graduate from high school in June and don't have the money, or grades, to go to college. People keep telling me I am very pretty, and I'm built nice. I am not lazy and have nothing special keeping me here, so what advice can you give me?

DAIRYLAND-GIRL

DEAR DAIRYLAND GIRL: Before you leave the Dairyland, you'd better face a few facts. If all the pretty, well-built girls who went to California in search of rich husbands or movie careers were laid end to end, they'd reach Kenosha. Unless you have a job waiting for you or sufficient money on which to live until you find one, plus at least one good friend to guide you, stay home.

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse, age 40, never married. I've worked hard all my life taking care of my patients, aging parents, and doing church and community work. I'm sure many people assumed that's all I ever wanted out of life.

I recently experienced something that I had given up all hope for. I nursed a young man with a serious illness back to health. We have fallen gloriously in love with each other and want to marry. This is the most beautiful, unbelievable feeling I have ever known.

My friends think that I have lost my mind because the young man is only 22. He is very mature for his age, and has a salable job skill, and is employed steadily.

Four years ago, a United States senator married a woman 43 years his junior and now they have their second child. I live alone and have no relatives. Before I fell in love, the most excitement in my life was going home to talk to my canary. My heart has already told me what to do, but will you please confirm it?

IN LOVE IN TENNESSEE

DEAR IN LOVE: You are an adult, and need neither the approval of your friends nor a confirmation from me to do as you please. Many May-December marriages have succeeded. Yours can be one of them.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Allegro Visits Satellite School

Twentieth Century Allegro met recently in the home of Mrs. W. R. Whitsell, 1812 N. Faulkner. Included in the brief business meeting was a discussion of plans for a bake sale to be held Friday, March 2 in the Hughes Building.

After the meeting, the members journeyed to the First Presbyterian Church and toured the Satellite School. The pre-school room was visited and members were fortunate to see handcrafts in the making by several older students.

After the tour, a selection of slides showing the day to day operation of the school were shown.

Members present were Mrs. A. W. Bassett, Harris Brinson, Hans Hansen, Robert N. Johnson, Dwane Luke, Gene Lunsford, Jack Reeve, R. E.

Reid, and W. R. Whitsell. The next meeting will be on March 6. The hostess will be Mrs. Robert Haggard, 2125 Chestnut.

Irish Cobbler

For St. Patrick's Day, squeeze lemon juice over quartered apples in buttered baking dish, then sprinkle with an easy topping of crumbled pie stick mixed with slivered almonds, cinnamon, brown sugar and oats. Dot with butter. Bake until apples are tender.

Double Duty Turbans

Jersey head turbans not only give the face a sophisticated, sculptured look, but do wonders for hiding damaged or problem hair.

20th Century Club Observes Guest Day

The Twentieth Century Club of Pampa observed its annual Friendship Guest Day Tuesday, Feb. 27, with a morning coffee at Lovett Memorial Library. Mrs. Rex Rose, president, welcomed guests, and Mrs. W. R. Campbell gave the invocation. The Pledge to the Flag was recited, after which Mrs. Rose introduced the speaker for the occasion, Rev. Sam Byron Hulsey.

Rev. Hulsey is a member of the Lovett Memorial Library Board, and his topic was "Friends of the Pampa Library." He expressed his appreciation to the women and their interest in the public library and then gave some of the dreams, concerns and plans for the future of the library.

He stated that the chief goal for a library is that it not be remotely organized or moved to the side in the life of a community; rather, it should play a major role in the community. This, the Lovett Memorial does, as it serves the needs of everyone with its many collections such as Texas history, sculptures, paintings, and record collections.

Rev. Hulsey noted the fact that a large corporation in our city takes prospective employees to see the library as a good example of what Pampa offers. He also expressed appreciation to the staff of the library who have had 64 years of service among them. Lovett Memorial will soon be observing its 20th anniversary, and Rev. Hulsey stressed the importance of the organization of "Friends of the Library" in making plans for the future. Some of these plans include services to the blind, the development of an agri-business collection and the whole area of local history.

He made the observation that board members are always ready to accept invitations to make speeches about the library so that the public may become better informed.

Rev. Hulsey concluded his speech with a quotation from Elizabeth O'Connor's book, "Search for Silence." "All things toward which you are stretching out are linked together" emphasizing the need for everyone's support in this undertaking.

Mrs. A. L. Bonner, Jr., who with her husband, the vice-president of Cabot Corporation, will serve as temporary co-chairmen of the "Friends of the Library" organization, spoke briefly on the background and purpose of this organization.

It is a group of interested Pampa citizens who believe in the Library and its importance to people; they will help to stimulate and increase interest in and promote financial aid to the Library.

Any citizen interested in becoming a member of "Friends of the Library" can contact Mr. or Mrs. Bonner. The organization meeting tentatively scheduled for sometime in April.

Bouquets of red roses were presented to Mrs. Rose, president, and Miss Elsie Cunningham, vice-president, as expressions of appreciation for their work in the club.

Engagement Told

Nuptial vows will be solemnized June 16 in First Presbyterian Church, Pampa, for Miss Gail Lynn Wilson and Thomas Loid Rains. Making the announcement are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael O. Wilson, Jr., 2214 Aspen. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rains of Alpine, are parents of the bridegroom-to-be. Both the bride-elect and her fiancé are junior students at Texas Tech in Lubbock, where she is majoring in English and is a member of Pi Beta Phi, social sorority. She graduated from Pampa High School in 1970. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Alpine High School and is majoring in accounting and pre-law. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta, social fraternity.

Scouting Scoops

MRS. G.J. BOYD
 Juliette Low Programs have kept the Girl Scout troops across the country busy making plans and presenting their various activities.

The following programs were presented in Pampa: Highland Neighborhood; Austin School; Cadette Troop 90, Lee Jr. High and Senior Troop 2, held a Father-Daughter Box Supper Feb. 27. Janice Snider, Neighborhood Chairman, welcomed the group and introduced Norma Whitely, field advisor.

"The Juliette Low World Friendship Fund was established in 1928 as a living memorial to Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States," explained Mrs. Snider. Contributions to the fund are made voluntarily by girls and adults who are members of the Girl Scouts movement. "The fund supports international friendship

Guide to Glamour

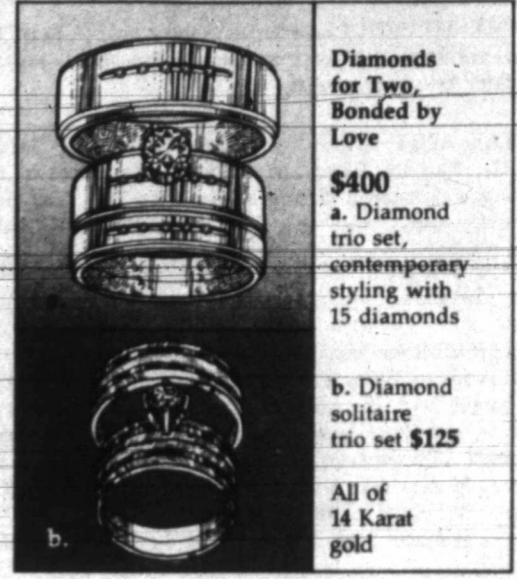

Although no hair spray can take the place of a permanent, it certainly can help to hold and control the curl you have. A few tips on its use: To get the best results from hair spray, hold container about 10 to 12 inches away... Keep the container in motion... Try tying a hair net over your hair, then spray. (This is a big help on windy days). If spraying in curls before setting makes them too tight, try spraying lightly after you set your hair.

 By LAURA B. CORNELIUS
 Even though the snow did fall, 38 seniors were in attendance for the hostess club to entertain. The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club did the honors, consisting of Mmes. W.A. Carter, Odessa Blakeslee, Mina Benham, C.F. Jaynes, Ray Robertson and H.N. Stone. Door prizes went to Mrs. C.W. Lawrence and L.E. Henderson. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogsett traveled to Tulsa, Okla. for the wedding of their oldest granddaughter of Dwayne's family. New members were Mr. and Mrs. George Hancock. Donald Emmons is in Highland General Hospital with an apparent heart attack. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Emmons and the grandson of Mrs. A.E. Bean. Ennis Jones had surgery at Highland General Hospital Feb. 21. R.W. Tucker is in Ballard Nursing Home, Allen, Okla., zip code 74825.

Walk with your face to the sun, and your shadow will be behind you. Donated by Edith Lawrence. Altrusans presiding were Marian Jamison, chairman; Louise Sewell, Lora Dunn, Olive Hills and Gertrude Barber. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knight of Stinnett, visited Mrs. Rosalie Wedge recently. They were neighbors at Skellytown years ago.

Wedding Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Evans, Midland, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Brenda Lynn Evans, to Richard Ray Simpson, son of Mrs. Emmett Simpson, Winters, Tex. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myers of Pampa, and Walter P. Evans of McLean. The wedding is planned for Aug. 11 at 4 p.m. in Convent Presbyterian Church. Miss Evans is a senior at Lee High School and attends Midland College. She is employed by Powell Printing Co. Her fiancé is employed by Skaggs-Albertson's and attends Odessa College where he is majoring in mid-management.

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

SUNDAY, MARCH 4
 Your birthday today: Relationships encounter stiff going, your own moods and conflicts adding to the stress. Today's natives tend to be cheerful extroverts who sometimes overreach themselves, so this year poses a special challenge.
Aries (March 21-April 19): The plainest words you can find are good enough. Non-verbal expression carries more meaning. Plan a minimum of activity.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): Friends are divided on all questions. Nothing is gained by involving yourself in issues outside your own interests.
Gemini (May 21-June 20): Much of what concerns you is temporary. Stay on the surface rather than accept today's confusion as normal.
Cancer (June 21-July 22): Very likely you are called on for further responsibilities, and have to consider skipping some of your own plans for now.
Leo (July 23-Aug. 31): The fact that for the moment there is no comfortable groove for you should not be allowed to distress you in the least.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Visits lead to disclosures but are helpful in getting full understanding, however disconcerting the moment may be.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You can bring people together or coax them apart, depending on which serves the better purpose at the moment.
Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Variety this Sunday is mainly of sharp, harsh quality. Pay no attention to the superficial sense of comment.
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Decide early that you are simply going to float thru the day and its incidents without serious involvement.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Flaws and errors come to notice, and it's up to you what to do in response. Plans announced attract resistance.
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your resourcefulness may be tested this Sunday. An elaborate expression of your opinion doesn't quite fit in.
Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Local issues are likely to come to the surface. The smaller the community the more drastic the encounter. Be yourself.

MONDAY, MARCH 5
 Your birthday today: This is an excellent time for switching vocations, relocating, and similar major changes. Today's natives attract public attention by genial, generous, extroverted activity or by drastic opinions, depending on the individual.

Aries (March 21-April 19): No amount of haste or pressure will solve the riddles posed during the day, so relax and work with a sense of humor. Evening meditation opens the door to answers.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): You perform mental gymnastics readily. Romance is favored, but avoid extremes.
Gemini (May 21-June 20): You'll be quite voluble, probably more than you'd intended. In emotional contacts, it's just as well your real feelings are expressed.
Cancer (June 21-July 22): Communication brings needed and long-awaited information. Complete your business day early and take a break.
Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Attend to the day's adventure pretending it's the last chance you'll have to do things just this way.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): See what you can do to alleviate differences among those near you, beginning with yourself. Brief journeys are favored.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Overt competition arrives in greater display tomorrow. Start nothing you cannot finish with the resources you have on hand.
Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Young people and their activities may give you quite a ride this day of brisk action.
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Coincidence brings people and circumstances together in a surprising way. You are better off than you know.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Begin with the most strenuous or critical section of your work; get basic directions established first.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Movement, far and near, sets new goals and conditions. There is no way of avoiding making the significant moves yourself.
Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Bystanders, friends, and neighbors, all react with unpredictable but favorable results. It's nice to find agreement in unexpected quarters.

Finishing Unfinished Furniture

By MR. FIX
Unfinished furniture is a standard item in almost all department stores, discount stores, mail order catalogues and lumber yards. Its appeal is low cost, although a good unfinished piece can cost as much as a cheap finished furniture.

At a relatively low cost however, you can put together the furnishings for a study (bookcase, desk, chair), for a child's bedroom (chest of drawers, night stand, chair) or odd pieces for almost any room. There are magazine racks, record cabinets, stands for TV sets or hi-fi equipment. If you are ambitious you can buy tables for dining and matching chairs.

Whether the finished piece looks good or l-o-o-k-s-like something from a rummage sale depends on the time and care you put into the job. You don't have to have the skill of a cabinetmaker. There are instances where it is sold unassembled. Particularly mail orders.

If you are not handy with hammer and screw driver, buy something that is already put together.

If you must assemble it, check the instructions carefully. Make certain you have all the pieces. Pick the best surfaces and make sure they will end up on the outside.

Most assembly calls for finishing nails and glue. Some require screws. Work accordingly. If using nails, set the nail heads. This means driving the nail head slightly below the wood surface and it is done with a tool known as a nail set. Fill the slight hole with wood filler and sand when dry.

Unfinished furniture may feel smooth and ready to finish but it isn't. It must be sanded. Use fine sandpaper, starting with No. 2/0 and ending with 4/0. Wipe away all sawdust with a tack cloth or a rag dampened with turpentine.

COOL IN SUMMER WARM IN WINTER

Custom fitted Alum-Fab® aluminum insulating windows and doors tight close in the winter! Keep out drafts and chill air next to doors and windows.

And in the summer, insulating windows and doors help keep your home cooler. In fact, 40 to 70% cooler, according to the Office of Consumer Affairs in Washington.

Alum-Fab windows and doors not only insulate your home against extremes of weather, but also protect your prime windows and frames. They add a beautifully distinctive touch to the appearance of your home.

We are experienced, dependable local businessmen who will custom fabricate and install your windows and doors. Ask about our complete line of aluminum building products. Stop by or call us for a free estimate.
