TOT Livestock Sales Bring Record Figures

By CLAY LIVELY

When the last bid had been made and accepted at yesterday's Top O' Texas Livestock sale, a great deal of money had changed hands and a lot of stock had gone from one owner to another.

Col. Walter Britten of College Station, auctioneer for both the junior sale yesterday morning and the Hereford Breeders sale yesterday afternoon, sold a total of 247 head of stock for $101,429.58, a record figure for the combined shows.

Seventy-seven calves, totalling 72,940 lbs. for an average of 947 lbs. per calf, went for $43,288.92, an average of 59.35 cents per pound.

In the pig sale, 120 animals weighing 25,614 lbs. were sold for $17,392.66, or 67.75 cents per pound. The pigs average weight was 213 1/2 lbs.

The 39 bulls sold yesterday afternoon went for $36,390, an average of $932.82 a head.

In addition, six junior heifers were sold for $2,448, an average of $408; and five junior steers brought $1,920, an average of $384.

Donna Keeton of Hemphill County sold her Junior Livestock Show grand champion steer to the 1st State Bank of Canadian for $1,50 a lb. The 1,046 lb. steer brought $1,569.

Janet Smith of Pampa sold her reserve champion steer to the Pampa New Car Dealers Association for 95 cents a lb. The 980 lb. animal went for $931.

In the pig sale, Chris Skaggs of Pampa sold his grand champion to Production Credit Association of Pampa for $1,50 a lb. The 228 lb. barrow brought $342.

Linda Coats of Pampa sold her 231 lb. reserve champion pig to Ted Alexander of Pampa at $1.05 per lb. for a total of $242.55.

The grand champion bull, Doctor Pride, was sold by Jake Hess of McLean to Wayne Maddox of Miami and Robert L. Newton of Lark for $1,800. The reserve champion bull, JPC Tex Onward 286, was bought from J.P. Callham of Conway by Pampan Fred Vanderburg for $2,000.

NO CALL-UPS SEEN

Lottery Assigns Draft Numbers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Number One was assigned to those born June 27 in 1954 in today's first standby draft lottery for men who are not expected to be called.

The number was not called until the 225th yellow and purple capsules were drawn.

The first low number chosen was Dec. 7, matched with No. 8 on the fourth draw.

March 28 and No. 10 were matched on the 27th draw. On the 32nd draw Oct. 26 and No. 9 were joined. January 29 and No. 7 were mated on the 47th draw and No. 6 and Nov. 11 were matched on the 196th draw.

The high number 365 was assigned to Oct. 19.

Acting Selective Service Director Byron V. Pepitone said that those drawing number 95 and lower will be classified.

Those with numbers above 95, Pepitone said, will be kept in the "H" holding classification that they were put in after they registered last year. Most will have no more contact with their draft boards.

Today's drawing involved the two million men who turned 19 this year and who would be subject to the draft next year if there should be one.

If they are not needed during 1974, Pepitone said in prepared remarks, their place will be taken by men one year younger who also will be primarily vulnerable for the calendar year of their 20th birthday, or in 1975. Although men can be inducted after the year of their 20th birthday, the possibility of this occurring are extremely remote.

Selective Service does not instantly produce military manpower, Pepitone said. He added it must be prepared to meet its manpower role behind the active-duty military, the Reserve and National Guard.

Seven Die From Fire Of Bus-Truck Wreck

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP) — A bus en route to Miami, Fla., crashed into a jackknifed tractor-trailer on a narrow bridge and seven persons died in the resulting fire, the Department of Public Safety reported today.

As many as 25 persons suffered injuries. Four were uninjured. The crash occurred 30 miles east of this remote West Texas town late Wednesday. The bus was en route from San Francisco to Miami.

At one time, official reports placed the death toll at 15, but this apparently included some multiple counts of bodies.

Jim Robinson, spokesman for the Department of Public Safety, said the victims were scattered all over the area and the dead were so severely burned that identification was delayed.

At a late hour, only the truck driver, Juan Valdez, a companion, Fabio Marin, the bus driver, Lynn Young of San Antonio, Tex., and a passenger, Scallion Burnett of Pecos, Tex., had been identified by the safety department.

Sigrid Morgan, Fort Stockton police dispatcher, said some of those on the bus were "burned almost to dust."

The safety department flew an identification team from its Austin headquarters.

The bus, belonging to Greyhound, was being operated by the Kerrville Bus Line, said John McJaffey, president of the Kerrville firm.

The bus was to stop later at San Antonio before going to Miami.

Of the injured, 20 were taken to the Fort Stockton hospital, said administrator Roger McLaughlin. Two other injured were taken to a hospital in nearby Iran.

A safety department spokesman said the accident occurred four miles west of the small community of Bakersfield on a narrow bridge over Tunis Creek on U.S. 290 in the desolate, hilly country northeast of the Davis Mountains.

Evidence at the scene indicated the truck jackknifed on the bridge which is 22 feet wide. It was a rental type truck belonging to an El Paso firm and was loaded with furniture.

Fort Stockton Police Sgt. Tony Cordova said the bus exploded into flames upon impact. Its fuel supply turning the vehicle into an inferno filled with screaming passengers.

Cordova said those who did not die in the flames leaped from the bus onto the darkened bridge and then into the dry bed of the creek in an effort to escape the searing heat and flames.

Tensions Mount In Sieged Town

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Women and children were being evacuated today from Wounded Knee and militant Indians were reported beefing up their forces as a government deadline to leave the hamlet approached.

Seven former hostages were to join the evacuation of the historic village, occupied nine days ago by Indian protesters who vowed Wednesday they were "prepared to die." Federal officials have described the situation as extremely grave.

The Justice Department said Wednesday that all nonresidents of the village must depart without weapons by 8 p.m. EST, after which any of the Indian invaders will be subject to immediate arrest.

Departure of seven men and women held captive for a time last week would leave only one former hostage, a Roman Catholic priest, still in the besieged community. Two elderly men and a 12-year-old girl left previously.

Father Paul Manhart, whose tiny church has been used by the Indians as a headquarters, said he intended to remain. "This is my reservation and I'll stay here to administer to my people," he said.

Carter Camp, a spokesman for the American Indian Movement, said today that reinforcements were on the way to the village, but did not elaborate. Another AIM protester said, however, that 32 more militants slipped through the federal lines this morning.

There was no confirmation from authorities. Officials said the night passed peacefully, although occasional gunshots could be heard. The shots appeared to have been from small rifles or shotguns.

Federal authorities also declared that negotiations should not continue with militant Indians who took over the village on Feb. 27. They urged all women and children to leave.

Leaders of the American Indian Movement said the federal position was a threat that the estimated 300 marshals and FBI agents maintaining a perimeter around the village would mount an attack.

Many of the children, bundled in a van and several cars, appeared to be suffering from respiratory problems. Federal officers carrying high-powered rifles and automatic weapons surveyed the vehicles carefully before allowing the caravan to depart.

Ralph Erickson, special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, said Wednesday the leaders of the more than 200 Indians involved in the takeover are bent on one of two courses—total capitulation by the U.S. government to their illegal demands or violence.

Governor Asks Houses To Keep 'Tight' Budget

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked the 63rd Legislature today for a belt-tightening economy budget for 1974-75 that would not require new taxes and would leave a $300 million surplus.

Briscoe bore down hard on the need for economy in Texas government.

"Since 1967 the per capita burden of state taxes has jumped 80 per cent," Briscoe told a joint session of senators and representatives. House members interrupted a crucial debate on a code of ethics for state officials and legislators to listen to the long awaited budget message.

"Is it any wonder that most of the people of Texas are weary of this trend?" the governor said. "I urge you to do everything in your power as individual members of this legislature to prevent a situation from developing which would touch off a new spiral of taxation."

"I assure you that I will do all in my power as governor to keep this from happening."

"The place to start is the budget," Briscoe said.

Briscoe's budget calls for spending of $9.8 billion from all sources for the state's next fiscal period, the two years starting Sept. 1, 1973 and ends Aug. 31, 1975.

His budget compares to former Gov. Preston Smith's recommendations of spending $9.8 billion with a $302 million surplus and the Legislative Budget Board recommendation of $9.7 billion with no surplus or deficit.

Briscoe said his budget would accomplish these goals: — It finances the necessary services of the state and still leaves an "unobligated surplus of more than $300 million in available revenue."

— It requires no new taxes and no increases in present taxes.

— Of the three budget recommendations now in your hands, it calls for the greatest economy in the expenditure of public funds.

— It defines clearly the priorities as I see them, with emphasis on human needs rather than bricks and mortar.

— It recognizes that Texas is a changing state and that new directions are needed to assure our people of full opportunity for employment, education, decent health care and a constantly improving quality of life.

Briscoe said his budget also took into account two serious problems that could affect Texas' economy seriously. One is a Texas public school suit (Rodriguez) now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court that may force the state to contribute much more to the upkeep of local schools. The other "is the confusion over welfare programs and especially the level of federal matching funds for social services," he said.

But no one can predict the outcome of these issues, and for this reason it would be the height of irresponsibility if the governor and legislature did not set aside at least $300 million as contingency funds.

"If we spend every dime we have simply because the comptroller says it is there to spend, then we may be taking the road to massive new taxes on the people of this state," Briscoe said.

Briscoe pointed out that his budget had a reduced commitment to new buildings and an increased commitment to new concepts uncertainties as to the amount and the form of contributions.

The United States won't be satisfied with anything less than a major contribution, certainly far larger than the $50-million initial payment mentioned in Japanese newspapers recently.

And since Washington prefers a multinational effort with individual contributions as free of strings as possible, the usual Japanese practice of tying aid to investment returns is not readily acceptable to the United States.

With Congress generally cool toward an Indochina aid program, particularly if it includes North Vietnam, Secretary of State William P. Rogers has been stressing a plan to involve many nations that would share the burden.

He has stated that the European Community as well as Japan has shown a willingness to join in. But if the Japanese position is uncertain, the European Community is an even weaker possibility.

Great Britain, for instance, has said it cannot provide more than a token amount. France has shown no inclination to participate and few other European nations are expected to contribute in any meaningful way.

The Bonn government's planning for 1973 is to lend no more than $32 million for reconstruction in all four Indochina states. This would have to be repaid over 30 years at 2 per cent interest and, for the moment, would be given on a bilateral basis, not through some international forum.

Weakening Rogers' claim of widespread international interest has been the response from the other participants in the Paris conference on Vietnam.

Britain and France already are considered largely out of the picture. Indonesia has said it won't contribute at all—and of course, the Vietnam states are to be the recipients, not donors.

OF WHITE DEER TEACHERS

Dismissals Get Angry Reaction

By TEX DEWESE
WHITE DEER — A good many parents and residents of the White Deer-Skellytown Independent School District are unhappy over the recent firing of two White Deer High School staff members.

About 160 of them got together last night at a town meeting in Parish Hall here and voted to present the school board with a petition asking that it reconsider the dismissals and inform the two men why they were fired.

The discharged staff members are Jason Smith and W.R. Burcham. Smith is a math teacher and Burcham is a school counselor and substitute teacher.

Smith appeared before the townsfolk last night, stated his case and answered questions from the audience.

A spokesman for Burcham, who was not at last night's meeting, said he thought a chance should have been given to resign if a decision to fire him had been made.

Smith expressed the same opinion and, in answer to a question, said he thought he was fired because he notified school authorities he was quitting a school bus driver's job and would not consider driving a bus any longer. Smith quit that job on Jan. 11, he said.

Both men have asked the board for a hearing and explanation of reasons for their dismissal.

Action also was taken at last night's meeting with the appointment of a committee to begin organization of a Parent-Teacher organization.

This, it was explained, was to make an effort to solve a problem described as "related to an apparent lack of communication with school administrators."

R.W. Standefer is superintendent of the school district and David Grayson is principal of White Deer High School.

The petition asking the board to reconsider its action in dismissing the two men will be on the agenda for consideration at the regular meeting of the school board in White Deer High School at 8 p.m. next Monday.

Last night's meeting was moderated by the Rev. Fr. James Gurzynski, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in White Deer.

DRAWING FOR POSITION — Mrs. Charlotte Luedcke, secretary at the school business office, draws the slips that will determine the order in which the names of six candidates for three school board positions will appear on the ballot. In order for the three-year terms are Bob Carmichael, Richard Markham, Curt Beck and Sherry Hager; for the two-year term, James Beistle Jr. and Paul Simmons.

Rain Dampens Pampa Vicinity

Pampans received their first breath of Spring, literally, Wednesday night when thunder, pealed, lightning flashed and warm rain fell, sharp contrast to the snow and sleet of the winter.

Only .02 of moisture accumulated up to 6:30 this morning with little hope of more from the current front since weather observers are predicting sunshine for the rest of the weekend.

The temperature is expected to dip to 34 tonight after a low of 43 last night. The high both today and tomorrow is expected near 62.

Showers covered a large section of the Texas-Panhandle and skies were foggy or overcast along the lower coast and the Lower Rio Grande Valley today.

Skies elsewhere over the state were clear. Showers dampened Childress while cloudy skies covered Lubbock and Amarillo.

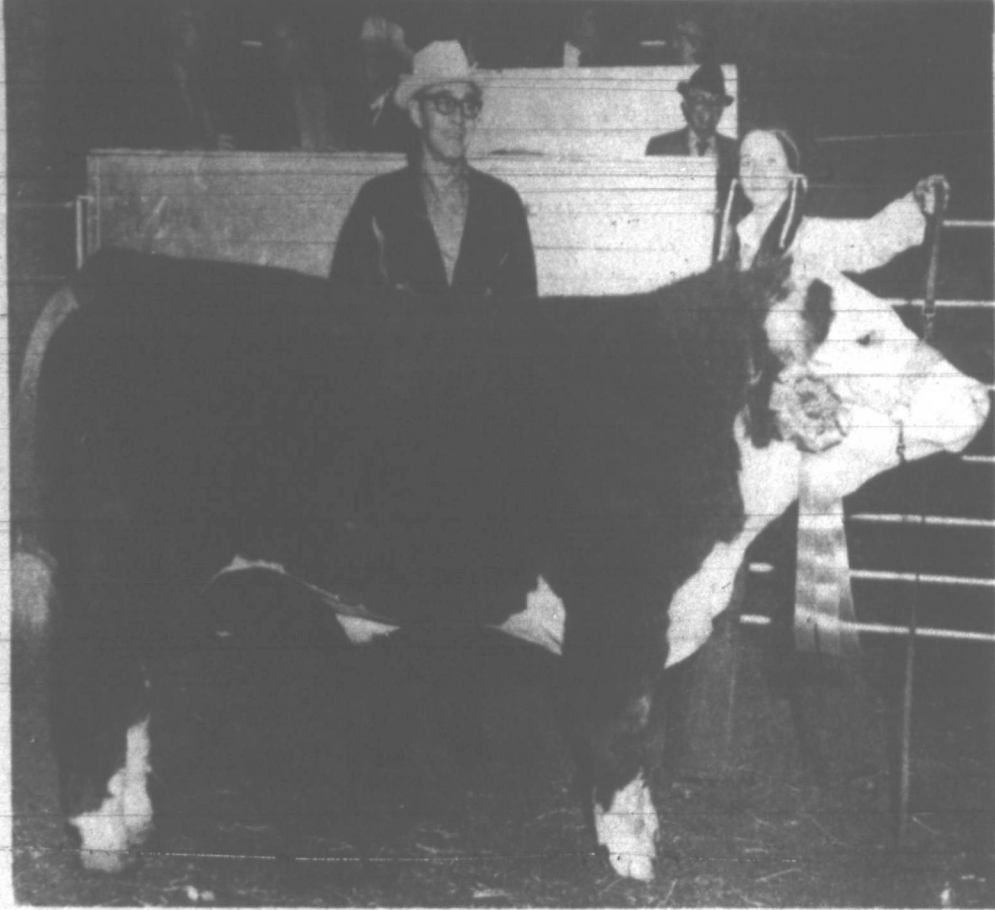

Earlier light rains moistened central and northern portions of the Panhandle and the South Plains from Plainview to Clovis, N.M.

Fog obscured the Texas coast as far north as Galveston, and drizzle fell on many South Texas Coastal areas, but also as far inland as San Antonio.

Forecasts call for continued mild temperatures, with occasional showers.

London Bombs Explode

LONDON (AP) — Two powerful explosions erupted in central London today a few hours after a large unexploded bomb was discovered outside Scotland Yard.

One explosion came outside the Old Bailey, London's central criminal court. The other rocked Whitehall, a street of government offices, and Trafalgar Square.

Smoke rose hundreds of feet into the sky above the Ministry of Agriculture building.

The Old Bailey bomb appeared to have been planted in a green sedan parked in front of a new extension of the courthouse.

All the windows of a 20-floor office block nearby were shattered.

In front of Old Bailey, ambulance crews treated at least two stretcher cases.

Vandals Hit At 3 Places

It was vandals' night out in Pampa last night with three incidents of glass breakage reported to police.

One Pampan had to leave his car overnight when it broke down. When he returned for it, someone had thrown a sack of empty beer cans through a window, after failing to empty one of the cans.

Some type of small missile went through the window at One-Hour Martinizing on North Hobart. A small hole with a peck mark was left in the pane of glass.

At another North Hobart location, Home Interiors, a shot from a pump-up pellet gun went through the front glass.

Other police activity overnight was concerned with the usual number of runaway youths and domestic fights.

WHITE CANE DAYS—Cabot secretary Jerri Jones pins a white cane on Lion Calvin Whatley as a prelude to Friday and Saturday sales of the lapel emblems by members of both Pampa Lions Clubs. The white canes serve a two-fold purpose: to raise funds for Lions' eyesight projects and to call attention to the need which will go beyond funds garnered this weekend. Whatley is a member of the noon Lions Club.

Lions To Observe White Cane Day

Members of Pampa's Lions Clubs will observe their second annual White Cane days Friday and Saturday with the lapel emblems on sale at various locations throughout the city.

According to Floyd Sackett, Lions Club executive, who is up to his eyebrows in the Lions eyesight program, chief benefit from the White Cane sales is the attention drawn to the program.

However, he hastened to add that funds so garnered are useful to the program.

That program is two-fold: locally, the clubs supply examination and eyeglasses to those who cannot otherwise afford them, particularly school children. The scope of this effort is revealed in the figures. Some 37 persons were helped last year at a cost of at least $50 each.

In addition to supplying eyeglasses, Lions support an extensive eyebank program which provides the needed units for corneal transplants.

Texas Lions also serve those who are beyond the help of the sight program. The Lions camp at Kerrville, which is used as a summer recreation facility for crippled children, is used the rest of the year as a teaching and rehabilitation facility for the blind. It is the only one outside the official state facility that enjoys the recognition and support of the state.

So, Sackett pointed out that Pampan can take a bit of pleasure in wearing their white canes this weekend for they will be helping those who have to walk with one.

Friday sales will be conducted at Citizens Bank and Trust and the Hughes Building Saturday. They will be at both Ideal and Furr Food Stores.

Mrs. Harley Sites, president of the organization, urges Pampan to shop these sales points and to visit the kindergarten rooms at Baker and see what is truly meant by "head start."

The dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., with supper from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Grand Knight Jimmie Eakin and general chairman Lloyd Simpson report that 20 chairmen have been appointed to plan and execute the various phases of another successful dinner and supper.

The duties of the chairmen range from advertising to dishwashing, purchasing supplies to cooking and parking to table waiting.

Simpson said the different chairmen have completed plans to make 1600 pounds of Polish sausage according to a closely guarded recipe, with several Knights mixing the special seasoning and overseeing the processing of the sausage from start to finish.

First reports indicated the plane went down about 9:10 a.m.

Mrs. Ralph Britten is seeking re-election to one of two spots open on the school board. Also running for a position are Mrs. Raymond G. Weller, a registered nurse at Groom Memorial Hospital, and Dr. Steve Davis, a physician and surgeon.

Warnings Issued On Microwave

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — Consumers Union says the public should not buy microwave ovens because potential radiation leakage under "reasonable conditions of use" can far exceed federal safety standards.

"The potential radiation of these ovens gives us sufficient reason to doubt the safety of these products, and the consumer should be cautious and stay away," a spokesman for the independent, nonprofit testing organization, said Wednesday.

The head of the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers said that "no known injury" had been caused by any microwave oven and that all American-made microwave ovens were well within federal radiation limits.

The Consumers Union official, Warren Braren, said the organization was urging that current federal standards be tightened. Not enough is known yet, he said, about the effects on humans of low-level radiation over an extended period of time.

Richard S. Markham, 30, a chemical engineer with the Celanese Corp., filed his candidacy for a position on the school board Wednesday morning, beating the midnight deadline.

Markham, a resident of Pampa two and a half years, said he made the move in the interest of doing what he could to improve the quality of education.

He said that, while he had no children in school, he did not feel this was detrimental to serving on the board. He expressed views regarding a program of guidance counseling that would include vocational choice orientation sessions for all students rather than those in vocational education classes.

Markham's wife is employed by the Cabot Corp.

He is seeking a three-year term on the panel. There are two three-year terms open and one two-year term.

Markham, a resident of Pampa two and a half years, said he made the move in the interest of doing what he could to improve the quality of education.

He said that, while he had no children in school, he did not feel this was detrimental to serving on the board. He expressed views regarding a program of guidance counseling that would include vocational choice orientation sessions for all students rather than those in vocational education classes.

Edith Irving Sentenced In Autobiography Hoax

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Edith Irving was sentenced to two years in jail today for her part in the $650,000 Howard Hughes autobiography hoax. She could have gotten five years.

The prosecution had called for only 18 months and asked for it to be suspended. Prosecutor Henry Ardinary told the Zurich Superior Court she evidently was acting under the influence of her writer husband, Clifford Irving, who is now serving a 2 1/2-year sentence at the U.S. Federal Penitentiary in Louisburg, Pa.

In the public deliberation on the sentence, a peculiarity of Swiss trial law, the presiding judge favored the suspended term proposed by the prosecution, but the other two judges voted in favor of an unconditional two-year term.

The sentence will be reduced by the two months Mrs. Irving served in the United States last fall plus four days she spent in Swiss custody while awaiting trial. Her lawyer said he hoped to get her paroled before the end of the year.

The court ruled that the costs of the trial, estimated at about $20,000, should be paid out of that part of the $650,000 that is still frozen in Swiss banks. Most of the money has been repaid to McGraw-Hill, but the court said the frozen balance had increased markedly in value because of the devaluation of the U.S. dollar.

Board To View Airport Plans

Projects at both the Pampa and McLean airports will be on the agenda of the Gray County Airport Board at the meeting Tuesday morning, according to Ralph W. Prock, chairman.

New contracts concerning soil conservation at both airfields will be discussed and, possibly, executed.

The panel will consider the cost of a trash burning pit at Perry-Lefors Field.

The contract with the operators of Perry-Lefors Field will be screened and discussed at this meeting, as will the matter of a pay telephone installation at the McLean facility.

The board members will consider the seriousness of cracks in runways and taxiways and the matter of sealing them.

Prock noted he was exerting an all-out effort to have every member of the board present for these important considerations.

The meeting will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in the conference room of the Cree Co. in the Hughes Building.

Don Newsom, head football coach at McMurry College, will be the principle speaker at Furr's Cafeteria for the Eastern Texas Panhandle Area of the McMurry Fund. Chairmen and workers will gather at 6 p.m. today for the dinner program.

PERENNIAL PLANTING PLANNED — Taking advantage of the sunshine, undaunted by the wind, three Lee students work the patch of earth that will be a project of perennial plants just as soon as winter is gone for good. From the left, Tammy Cox, Bill Lantz and Mrs. Otto Mangold with Clay Stephens in front. Mrs. Mangold was very modest about being named conservation teacher of the year, saying the honor should have included the students who help her and school officials ever ready with their encouragement.

Mrs. Mangold Selected As Conservation Teacher

By RAY BAXTER
Mrs. Willie Mae Mangold, science teacher in the Pampa school system and long recognized as a leader in conservation education, has been named outstanding conservation teacher in the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Among many projects developing under Mrs. Mangold's leadership, her favorite and potentially the most dramatic, is the outdoor laboratory at Robert E. Lee Junior High School. The laboratory, an extension of the regular classroom, is being developed in the space created by the square construction of the building. The bitter cold winter arrested the physical development of this project but failed to chill Mrs. Mangold's enthusiasm. She will flash a color picture of a similar project complete with weeping willow at the slightest show of interest, noting her dream of a similar one at Lee.

She will point out that "we already have the pond" in a tone that says "we are almost there, already." The pond is already in use by science classes with students showing a particularly avid interest in the salamanders now living there. Given one ray of sunshine on any given day and Mrs. Mangold will have students out spading dirt for one phase of the project. Tuesday, they were making ground ready for planting perennials. Another patch holds staked squares of string marking a bulb plant project.

Completed, the area will have grass rising here and there over sloping mounds, a walkway that will tour the entire project, circling a bird bath during the course, shrub area and — just maybe that weeping willow. Such a dream takes work and money. Happily, students supply the work, eagerly anticipating the times they can get outside and put tools to earth.

Money is another problem. The Taylor Evans Seed Co. helped last year with a growing project and Mrs. Mangold said she wished she had made tapes for the company capturing the students' enthusiasm as they harvested that crop — and at it!

But her work is not going unnoticed. "Nor her ability to share ideas and communicate well with students and colleagues. It was all these things that led the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District to name her to the current honor.

Her husband, Otto Mangold, is also in the school system and a daughter, Cassandra, attends Pampa Junior High School.

Christ by Robert

THE WORDS OF CHRIST

BY DAVID POLING
When he saw the crowds, he had compassion for them because they were harassed and helpless, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, "The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; pray therefore the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest."

Matthew 9

The public response to the ministry of Jesus was overwhelming. In an earlier passage we read that Jesus had taught in the synagogue, preached the gospel of the Kingdom of God, and healed "every disease and infirmity." The impact of his personality and message was staggering. The sick and lonely and lost flocked after him, seeking comfort, assistance and health. Jesus knew that he must have a company of devoted believers and helpers — so he chose twelve apostles.

It is important to note that these men called into shared ministry were laymen, were not deeply attached to the religious power structure, yet felt called to serve God in the company of Christ. All were Jews and Jesus sent them to find and serve "the lost sheep of Israel."

The church's task today is evangelism and outreach is still to find the lost sheep. There are literally millions of church members who have fallen away through confusion, disinterest, or dismay at institutional happen-

Local Family Sought For Host Program

NEW YORK — Pampa area families are needed to entertain English-speaking European teachers in their homes for one or two weeks this summer. It was announced today by The American Host Program.

According to J. Stuart Perkins, Board Chairman of the Host Program, who is president of Volkswagen of America, American Host is one of the few non-governmental programs designed to show the American way-of-life to foreign teachers by pairing them with American families.

Now in its 11th year, American Host has opened doors to better understanding for more than 3,000 European teachers who have passed on their new understanding of America to their students.

Perkins said that being a "host family" is open to anyone who has the desire to increase understanding and friendship between Americans and Europeans. All American Host requires, he said, is hospitality—a private room for a guest and free time for one or two weeks to introduce the guest to friends, neighbors and perhaps fellow teachers.

Arrangements for participating as a host family can be made by writing to: Tom Murphy, The America Host Program, Hotel Commodore, Suite 2100, New York, New York 10017. Or call (212) 683-6567. Deadline for information is March 15, 1973.

Boy-Power May Ease Fuel Shortage

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer
Haven't heard any ivory tower economists or hard-headed brokers speak of it yet, but it seems reasonable that if you have any stock in the buggy whip factory you'd better hold onto it. It may rise out of sight.

This is because of what is termed the "energy crisis" but which really is nothing but an acute case of the shorts in the oil and gas supply.

They're talking now about dollar-a-gallon gasoline, and when that comes, people may turn to horsepower again.

Most people's cars get about 12 to 14 miles to the gallon, no matter how much they lie about it. And a horse will walk that far for only 50 cents or so of oats by fire there for years, they back up to it and hook an elbow over the mantle. It is an act built into their genes and chromosomes.

There is nothing cozier than a real fire, whether it is in a fireplace or a stove.

But, man, is it a lot of work! It's much easier to flick the thermostat up a couple of degrees than to cut half a cord of wood a day.

Of course it's not that much work if you have a small boy to do the wood chopping for you.

You can, in a city, buy wood cut to order at fabulous prices. Don't know where the wood men get the stuff—the Petrified Forest, probably—because a lot of it won't burn.

So you leave it out in the yard to dry out, and by that time the termites have turned half of it into dust.

Boy power was the favorite way in West Texas to turn long pieces of mesquite into proper lengths for firewood.

First you had to have a large log for a chopping block. The boy dragged the piece of mesquite onto the block until the proper length protruded.

It's so bad that a fellow we know built a second fireplace in his house and laid in a good supply of wood to let it cure before the gas and heating oil supplies are gone.

There are a fairly large number of persons in the Southwest who didn't know what gas heat was until they were grown men and women.

Some of these complained about central heat when it finally came. They just couldn't get warm unless they backed up to a fire.

Watch men today when they walk into a room with a fireplace.

Even if there hasn't been any dies and leaves everything to her cat, are you?"

"Why do you always serve roast beef hash for dinner the same day I already had it at the office for lunch?"

"I know you are one of the world's living authorities on Proust, professor. But I hope I can get through your course in French literature without reading anything by or about him. To me, Proust sounds like nothing but a homosexual pincushion."

"It sure has been a nice party. Can we give anyone a lift home?"

"That sounds like a great idea, boss. Just put my initials on it, and I'll put my department to work on it."

"I wouldn't marry you if you were next to the last man on earth. I'd rather marry him."

"Well, of course, we might play charades."

"What good are judo tricks to a 120-pound girl like you? I'd like to see you try a few of them on a man my size."

"No, if something ever happened to you, I doubt if I'd be in any rush to propose to anyone else — not at least until I got back from the cemetery."

Here, for example, are a few typical offhand remarks which, once made, may cause the speaker to wish later that he had maintained his golden silence.

"I do!"

"If you think you have such a tough time, why don't you come to the office some day and do my work — and I'll stay home and take care of the kids?"

"Anything you can do I can do better."

"You stay here in the car, and I'll walk to the nearest gas station and get a can. It probably isn't very far, and the fresh air will do me good."

"Aunt, I'm the only nephew you have left. You're not the kind of weird, rich, old lady who

Recipe Won First Place Ribbons At Tri-State Fair For Pampan

During the 1972 Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, Mrs. Bob (Marie) Eastham, was awarded a first-place ribbon, senior culinary division, for her pound cake entry. She received the same honor at the 1970 Tri-State Fair, and is sharing this favorite recipe today.

She enjoys cooking for her husband and four children, Stephanie, Keith, Mark and Steven, and says, "the effort is never wasted on the two older boys, especially Keith, the teenager." Mark is a student at Austin school. She has served as a project leader for her daughter, Stephanie, a 4-H Club member for the past six years, who also has received many cooking awards. She placed first in the 4-H County Bake Show in 1971 and won first and was crowned at the 4-H Better Bake Queen Contest, where 23 counties competed.

Stephanie, 1971 4-H Gold Star Girl of Gray County, was a winner at District Food Show in 1972, then placed sixth at the State Food Show at College Station the same year.

Other activities Marie enjoys are working with the youth programs of her church, where she is presently serving as Primary President.

When she finds time, and can leave a very busy 2 1/2-year-old Steven, at home, her hobbies are bike riding and arts and crafts.

She says, "the Eastham kitchen has been a busy family cooking adventure during these years at their home, 2531 Christine."

BOB'S POUND CAKE
Fair Winning Recipe
1 Cup Crisco
4 Whole Eggs
1 Cup Buttermilk
1/4 Teaspoon Soda
3 Cups Flour
1/2 Teaspoon Salt

1 Teaspoon Lemon Extract
Cream sugar and shortening until fluffy. Add eggs one at a time. Beat well. Put soda in buttermilk, set aside. Alternate flour and buttermilk, beating and add flavoring. Pour in greased and floured bundt pan. Bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

YEAST ROLLS
(Start about 3 1/2 hours before meal)
15 to 20 minutes ahead, mix and set aside:

1 Teaspoon Sugar
1 Pkg. Dry Yeast
1 Cup Lukewarm Water
Cream together:
1/2 Cup Shortening
1/2 Cup Sugar
1 Cup Hot Water
Stir until blended.

Add:
1 Cup Cold Water
1 1/2 Teaspoon Salt
When this has cooled to lukewarm, add yeast mixture. Then add approximately 3 cups flour or until stiff enough to work. Place on floured board and knead until smooth. Put in large greased bowl, cover and let set in warm place (approximately 80 degrees) until doubled in bulk. Place on floured board. Make into rolls, place in greased pans and let rise again until double in bulk. Bake at 400 degrees for about 20 minutes.

Hints: A good place to let rolls rise, is to place in oven, with just the light on and the door closed. This gives just the right amount of heat.

PINEAPPLE-APPLE CRISP
One 1-pound 5-oz. Can Comstock Apple Pie Filling
2 Teaspoons Tapioca
1/2 Teaspoon Salt
1/2 Cup Sugar
Set oven at 350 degrees. Combine above ingredients, let set for 10 minutes. Pour in unbuttered 7" x 11" pan. Topping:

MRS. BOB EASTHAM

CAJUN MEAT LOAF
(The topping makes the difference in this meat loaf)
1 1/2 Lbs. Ground Round or Lean Hamburger
1 Medium Onion (Chopped)

1/2 Cup Tomato Sauce
1 Cup White Bread (Crumbled)
1 Egg
1 1/2 Teaspoon Salt
1/4 Teaspoon Pepper
Prepare bread, add tomato sauce, egg and mix. Then add other ingredients and mix well. Place in baking pan. Prepare topping:
1/2 Cup Tomato Sauce

Crackly Almonds
Slivered almonds sautéed in bacon fat are fabulous on green beans.

1 Tablespoons Brown Sugar
1 Tablespoons Vinegar
1 Tablespoons Prepared Mustard (from jar)
Spread topping over meat loaf. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

THE "LAWYER" FRUIT
Our name for the buttery fruit called avocado came from the French word, avocat. Actually meaning lawyer, the name resulted when the French tried to imitate the sound of the Aztec name for the popular fruit. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association reminds us the luscious avocados are in good supply at your market now. Serve them with lemon juice, or stuffed with seafood "on the halfshell," or sliced in green salads.

Removing Chocolate Stains

COLLEGE STATION — Chocolate candy may be nice for Valentine's Day, but it can leave an ugly stain on fabrics.

Marilyn Brown, consumer education-clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, listed some simple steps for eliminating such stains.

"First, soak the area where the spot is located in cold water."

"Next, rub detergent into the stain while still wet. Rinse thoroughly and let dry."

"After it's completely dry, examine the area to determine whether a greasy stain remains. If so, further treatment may be necessary."

One such treatment involves use of cleaning fluid and chlorine bleach. Since these products cannot be used on all fabrics, a simple test is a recommended precautionary measure.

"Apply cleaning fluid or chlorine bleach to a hidden part of the garment — a seam allowance, hem or even shirt-tail. Examine the area where the products were applied to determine whether the fiber was damaged or the fabric's color or appearance changed.

"As a rule, chlorine bleach cannot be used on non-colorfast items — wool, silk, acetate, spandex (elastic) and polyester."

If the test shows the fabric isn't affected by either product, then sponge the stain with a safe cleaning fluid and rinse. Launder the garment in hot water using chlorine bleach. If it still remains, repeat the cleaning fluid treatment.

Miss Brown stressed that stain removal doesn't have to be complicated — 75 per cent of common, troublesome stains disappear with laundering in cold or hot water, using detergent, chlorine bleach and/or solvent.

"Promptness, patience and perseverance are the keys," she emphasized.

P-A-G 516 Hybrid Sorghum

P-A-G 516 is a very high yield potential grain sorghum. The head is semi-compact but dries down fast. If head smut and MDM tend to be a problem, 516 would be a wise choice this year. During 1972 this hybrid set records of "highest" yields throughout the sorghum area. For medium to medium-late maturity, 516 is the hybrid you will want to plant.

"I usually try other hybrids every year but nothing suits my farming practices better than P-A-G 516. Last year I planted a competitive, full season hybrid besides my P-A-G 516. The yield was only slightly higher, but it took twice as much water and a lot more time to make. My yield on the P-A-G 516 was over 7,000 lbs per acre."

Planted 40 bags last year of P-A-G 516 with yields over 7,300 lbs per acre. Mr. Hinds has been planting P-A-G hybrids for a long time. Since P-A-G 516 was released he has planted almost all his grain acres in P-A-G 516.

1972 A yield of 8,391 lbs per acre adjusted to 14% moisture off 69 actual measured acres.

Student 'Activists' Displaying Greater Interest As Volunteers

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer
A new kind of student activism, involving hundreds of thousands of young people, has quietly taken root in many U.S. high school and college campuses.
Students say they're out to improve society and themselves, not by protesting or confrontation, but by volunteering their time and talents to social service agencies and community groups.

"Volunteering is the 'in' thing to do now at school," says Marla White, a Boston University sophomore who works with retarded children.
Examples of the surge of student volunteerism are:
—The number of students involved in Red Cross volunteer activities has increased by 600,000 in the last two years.
—At Furman University in Greenville, S.C., more than half the 2,000 students participate in 55 volunteer projects. In one, students teach college janitors and maintenance men how to read and write.

—At Boston University, the number of students volunteering for community programs has more than doubled in the past two years. "We've been flooded by students," says Carol Moore, director of student volunteer services.

—At Franklin High School in Livonia, Mich., 300 students put in thousands of hours each week on several projects, including the presentation of antidrug seminars to parents and the tutoring of elementary school pupils. When the program started five years ago, only 18 students were involved.
"In the last 10 years, the number of college student volunteers has skyrocketed from 5,000 on about 30 campuses to about 409,000 at more than 80 per cent of the nation's colleges and universities, according to figures compiled by the federal National Student Volunteer Program (NSVP).

About 600 schools have organized volunteer programs. About 200 offer credit for volunteer work, NSVP officials say. They say the number is growing steadily.
No figures are available for high school pupils, but there seems to be a similar explosion of interest in volunteering, says Jeanne Carney, NSVP director. She says more than 500 high schools have organized volunteer programs, with many giving credit.

Students say they're volunteering to help people as well as meet their own needs for relevance, personal involvement and career testing. "Young people are turning inward in this country. They're developing a greater interest in other people. And they're more concerned about the quality of life in the United States," says Nicholas W. Craw, head of recruiting for ACTION, the government volunteer agency.

ACTION is in charge of the Peace Corps and VISTA programs. Craw says applications for both, declining in recent years, are now shooting up dramatically.
Peace Corps applications, he says, are running 37 per cent higher than last year, and VISTA applications are up 46 per cent. Most are from persons under 25.

Several students, school administrators and government officials said they thought a number of young people who were involved in social protests, particularly those against the Vietnam war, have turned to volunteering.

Ballet Scheduled Here Saturday

The beauty of talented young people in dance will be featured at the premiere performance of the Ballet of the Golden Spread at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, in the Pampa High School auditorium.

A chartered area ballet company, co-founded by Madeline Graves of Pampa and Phyllis Jackson of Amarillo, the non-profit troupe is composed of students from Pampa, Borger and Amarillo.

Original choreography by Mrs. Graves will be featured in the number, "Oktoberfest," while another outstanding feature will be "Japanese Spring," with story by Phyllis Jackson and choreography by Mrs. Graves and Mrs. Jackson.

Performing from Pampa will be Kris Richardson and Meredith Dingman, senior company; and Cindy Thompson, Anne Kadingo and Debbie Lewis, junior company. Guest performers will be several members of the Texas Tech dance division, under the direction of Miss Peggy Willis, assistant professor of dance at the university. This group will perform "Grand Pas Classique" and "Fantastical," both choreographed by Miss Willis.

The company's senior company will perform "Spectra," choreographed by Miss Willis. Tickets at $1.75 for adults and $1 for students, grade-school through college, are available from company members or at the Madeline Graves School of Dance, Pampa.

Although both junior and senior companies performed one number last spring in recitals at Pampa, Borger and Amarillo, this will be the first full-scale performance of the Ballet of the Golden Spread.

Performances are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School, Amarillo; and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Borger High School Auditorium. Proceeds from the three performances will be used to bring in noted guest teachers to give classes for company members and to help company members secure dance scholarships.

Membership in the non-profit company is open to any ballet student of the area, with auditions being held each fall by a guest artist.

Members of the senior company, other than from Pampa, are Cindy Jones, Donna True, Teresa Jones, Kathy Brumfield, Linda Yows and Joan Tiede, all of Borger; Diana Fouk and Lori Jackson, both of Amarillo.

Out-of-town junior company members are Lori Crouch of Woodward, Okla., formerly of Pampa; Cindy Wooden, Janet Wooden, Diane Light, Laura Lyle and Carla Owens, all of Amarillo; and Dona Hooks, Terri Tipton, Susan Osborne, Terri Stutzman, Tanya Haynes, Cindy Dobbs and Kim Neef, all of Borger.

he would also be insuring his contract against four clubs in the West hand.

As we said, that was his plan, but the wily Mordred was just as familiar with this safety play as Lancelot, so Mordred produced the queen of clubs with his most non-chalant air.

Almost any bridge player could be pardoned for going up with a high club. But not Lancelot. He had known Mordred a long time so the peerless one played the same low club from dummy he had intended to play in the first place.

"Gadzooks!" cried Mordred. "Verily thou art too good a bridge player."

LaCultura Program On Manners, Morals

A meeting of La Cultura Club was held recently in the home of Mrs. Don Wilson, 1920 Lynn, with Mrs. Walter Colwell, president, presiding. The Collect was led by Mrs. Imre Nagy. Mrs. Max Lovell presented a program on America's manners and morals from the days of the first Puritan colony in America thru the 1960s. She spoke on the problems of drinking and entertainment even during the 17th and 18th Centuries.

Her report included the religious influences during these periods as well as the educational problems in some sections of our country.

In the 18th century the length of a man's hair was a matter of controversy and many leaders spoke out against long hair and curls for men.

The Blue Laws came about during this period in an effort to control moral behavior by law instead of religious conviction. In retrospect, one begins to see that problems concerning morals and manners have not changed much during these three hundred years.

Mrs. Bill Reader, a guest, played selections from a tape about institutions that handle juvenile delinquents and the methods used to discipline these youths.

The club voted to join the General Federation of Women's Clubs in their campaign for Justice for Juveniles and passed the following Statement of Commitment:

WHEREAS, 100,000 children are deteriorating in jails and four out of 10 of these youngsters are merely status offenders guilty only of violation of curfew, truancy, running away, or incorrigible behavior, offenses for which no adult could be incarcerated; and

WHEREAS, these children also include those abandoned by their parents, unwanted, unloved, products of broken homes, neglected and abused children, children who have committed no crimes; and

RESOLVED, that the La Cultura Club of Pampa go on record supporting the General Federation of Women's Clubs in its national campaign, JUSTICE FOR JUVENILES, to help correct the inequities now suffered by children.

Local Jaycee-Ettes Host Area Meeting

The Pampa Jaycee-Ettes hosted the Area Sit-In-Hen meeting, recently in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

The theme for the meeting was George Washington's Birthday and guests were registered on a cherry tree shaped register and presented with name tags in the shape of hatchets. Refreshments of ham sandwiches and desserts featuring cherries were served.

Mrs. Nathan Lancaster presented an audience participation skit entitled "I Did It With My Little Hatchet" in honor of the first President.

Mrs. Milton Saltzman, Area 1-A Vice-President of the Texas Jaycee-Ettes, called the area roster. Jaycee-Ette clubs present were Borger, Dumas, Friona, Hereford, Perryton and Pampa. The Friona Jaycee-Ettes won the travel trophy and for having the largest number of members present.

Pampa Jaycee-Ette members attending were Mmes. Philip Kimbley, Frank Sitterly, Benny Horton, Andy Rhodes, Dan Stanley, Don Williamson, Paul Peoples, Nathan Lancaster, Milton Saltzman and a special guest, Mrs. Gary Graves.

Dear Abby

Secretary should follow instructions or quit

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a private secretary to a gentleman who owns a successful business. I like my job and have been with him for some time.

Recently a young woman has been calling my boss at least six times a day. He seems eager to talk to her as he has instructed me to put her thru immediately no matter what. [His wife is told he will return her call when he is available.]

Sometimes this young woman telephones and leaves an involved message which I must relay to my boss promptly. ["Call me at 5 p. m. at home and if I am not there, don't call again, but leave a message on my answering service where you can be reached after 8 p. m."]

I have other things to do, Abby, without handling this "affair," and I also find it embarrassing as well as annoying to be in the middle of it. I am instructed to tell his wife that he is "tied up" in a conference when I know he is having a long lunch with this new girl friend. This rubs me the wrong way.

How do I get out of this bothersome and embarrassing bind? I like my job and have built up seniority and many benefits, and don't want to quit.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: You are paid to handle your boss' telephone calls, messages and follow his instructions, so do just that without sitting in judgment on his personal affairs. If you can't fulfill your secretarial duties without feeling that you are a "party" to something which rubs you the wrong way, the only alternative is to quit. You certainly can't tell your boss to choose between you and HER!

DEAR ABBY: May I add my two cents to the hassle about doctors and nurses calling their elderly patients by their first names?

You will notice that a nurse's badge reads, "Miss Jones or Mrs. Smith"—never "Mary" or "Anne." And a doctor expects to be addressed as "DOCTOR"—never by his first name; therefore an adult patient should be given the same courtesy.

I solved that problem recently when I went to see a doctor I had not seen before. He came bouncing into the examination room all pep and vinegar, and after glancing at my card, he said, "And what is bothering FRANCES this morning?"

I replied, "Nothing very serious, JIMMY!"

After that, I was "MRS." to him and his staff.

GRANDMA [VAN BUREN]

DEAR GRANDMA: That's what I call giving a doctor a taste of his own medicine. Hooray for you!

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote to you saying she needed a false fanny, and your answer interested me. Is there really such a thing on the market? If so, I certainly could use one. I weigh about eighty pounds and can't seem to gain. I'd look a lot better in clothes if I had a little something in the back. I don't have any trouble with my front view because I wear a padded bra, so please let me know where I can buy one of those false fannies and I will be forever grateful.

SHAPELESS IN HOPE, ARKANSAS

DEAR SHAPELESS: There are indeed such things advertised in catalogs. Send me a stamped addressed envelope and I'll track down the address.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Double-Ring Service Unites Robin Triplitt-Burton Turner

Nuptial vows were solemnized Wednesday, Feb. 28 at 6 p. m. in the First United Methodist Church, Pampa, for Miss Robin Sue Triplitt and Burton Eugene Turner of Pueblo, Colo.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Triplitt, 1700 Grape, and Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Turner, 1109 Starkweather, are parents of the bridegroom.

Dr. Lloyd V. Hamilton, pastor, officiated for the double-ring service. Miss Linda Reed, pianist, played, "The Twelfth of Never," and "The Wedding Song."

The wedding was performed before an arrangement of white flowers flanked by two candelabra entwined with ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie and Alencon lace. The high-rise fitted bodice featured a high neckline and long full sleeves ending in wide cuffs at the wrists. The floor-length skirt, highlighted with lace appliques and seed pearls, was fashioned with a cathedral train. Alencon lace complimented the front panel and cuffs of the gown. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a coil of lace and pearls and she carried a cascade of pink and red roses.

Miss Vickie Lee Woody, maid of honor, wore a red velvet floor length gown designed with a sweetheart neckline, and empire waistline, short pleated sleeves and a-line skirt. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

Don Gary Gattis served as best man.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white crocheted cloth where punch and the two-tiered wedding cake, decorated with red roses and topped with red wedding bells were served.

Chocolate cake and coffee were served from the bridegroom's table which was covered with a white linen cloth.

Beverly White assisted at the punch bowl and Theresa Hickman served cake. Registering guests were Tammy Richardson and Holly Triplitt, sister of the bride.

Attending the wedding from out-of-town were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Rhoads, Farmington, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bradley, Gruver; Mrs. Frank Palmer, Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Turner, Abilene.

Stripe-Happy Fashions

COLLEGE STATION — Spring's fashion separates will flaunt stripes, one authority predicted.

Marilyn Brown, consumer education-clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, indicated that much "stripe use" is due to versatility.

Stripes can make almost any fashion statement from bold to quiet.

Simply looking at the up-coming fashions, one would think that designers had spent time in old-fashioned prison garb, the specialist quipped.

From pin stripes to racing stripes, designers are featuring them in vertical, horizontal and diagonal designs.

Especially new for spring

Jacket Variety

The jacket is an important part of the spring wardrobe and the styles are limitless. There are hip length cardigans, shortie battle jackets, toppers, wraps and the long sleeved jacket that goes with the three-piece dress.

are the half-and-half treatments. Miss Brown continued, "Look for T-shirts seamed diagonally in half racing stripes and half solid color."

Cardigan sweaters also are available in similar designs — such as one side striped and the other not. Sometimes panels of striping are done against color panels.

Color schemes likewise vary from bold to quiet — from navy with bright yellow to lavender and white.

Classic combinations — navy and white, or red, navy and white — also appear in the season's garments, she concluded.

Touring Texas Is Varietas Program

The Varietas Study Club observed Texas Day at their meeting on Feb. 27 in the home of Mrs. Jess Kirchman. Mrs. N.B. Ellis, president, presided.

Mrs. J.E. Gibson and Mrs. S.C. Evans presented the program, "Touring Texas." Mrs. Gibson spoke first, presenting a paper prepared by Mrs. Clyde Ellis. The material was based partly on the book "Texas in Open Color" by Evelyn Oppenheimer and told of the beauty spots of the state.

Mrs. Gibson described the Big Thicket, the Pine Forest of East Texas, the High Plains, the Hill Country, the Rio Grande Valley, Palo Duro Canyon, The Big Bend Park, and other such attractions. She also discussed the wild life, the new parks, the educational institutions, and the missions.

Mrs. Evans told of additional places of interest in the state. She described El Paso's tourist interest, Pecos where the world's first rodeo was held in 1883, ranching and mining, old and new forts, the restoration of historical buildings, Texas airports, and hospitals.

She said, "Texas has a climate and a geography to suit everybody because it is varied enough to include all kinds."

The club members answered roll call with short sketches of special points of interest in the state.

Present at the meeting were Miss Anna Pierce and Mrs. W.A. Bohot, F.A. Cary, H. Price Dosier, N.B. Ellis, J.E. Gibson, S.C. Evans, Lee Harrah, J.E. Kirchman, Otis Nace, Ralph Thomas, and Sherman White.

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A film in the "must-see" category is on the CBS Television network tonight. It's called "The Marcus-Nelson Murders," written by Academy Award winner Abby Mann.

It's a powerful, three-hour dramatization of a controversial double murder case that shocked New York nearly a decade ago—the fatal stabbings of Janice Wylie and Emily Hofferf in August 1963.

The young career women were killed by a prowler at their East Side apartment. Eight months later, a 19-year-old black drifter was arrested in Brooklyn on other charges and charged with their deaths.

Police at the time said the youth, George Whitmore Jr., confessed not only the Wylie-Hofferf murders, but also the later slaying of a woman in Brooklyn and the attempted rape of a nurse there.

Miss Wylie's uncle, the late author Philip Wylie, said at the time of Whitmore's arrest that "it sounds to me like a guy who got scored into a confession, or who wanted to make a name for himself."

Whitmore later repudiated the confession, contending police had beaten it out of him. Another man, Richard Robles, subsequently was arrested and convicted of the Wylie-Hofferf murders.

Whitmore was cleared of those slayings. The charge of killing the Brooklyn woman also was dropped. But in 1967, a jury convicted him—after three trials—of attempted rape. He's still in prison.

How he wound up there—and its relation to the Wylie-Hofferf case—is the fictionalized central theme of "The Marcus-Nelson Murders," in which all real names have been changed.

The story of George Whitmore—he is called Lewis Humes in the movie—is seen through the eyes of a tough police lieutenant who eventually refuses to believe Humes committed the crimes he confessed.

The lieutenant, finely sketched by Telly Savalas, doubts Humes' confession from the start; the doubts become total disbelief as he checks and double checks all aspects of the charges against the youth.

In Mann's hands, "The Marcus-Nelson Murders" becomes a strong, point-by-point recital of how a young, ignorant black man is railroaded—and how the courts, police, prosecutors and indeed all of us are the ultimate victims.

The film's acting and direction is uniformly excellent throughout. Two black newcomers to TV are particularly impressive—Gene Woodbury as Lewis Humes and Roger Robinson as a street-wise drug pusher, pimp and murderer who turns informer to save his own hide.

Nettles were imported into Britain by Roman soldiers who used the plant as protection against the cold winters. The legionnaires rubbed the stinging leaves on their shivering bodies to stimulate circulation.

Turquoise Symbolizes Friendship

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—Navajo Tribal Chairman Peter MacDonald says the piece of turquoise carried to the moon by Apollo-15 astronauts and now back with the Navajo Tribe symbolizes the cooperation between Indians and whites.

Turquoise, MacDonald said, is associated by Navajos with the sun, and the unification of the sun and moon through the space voyage established an integration "much as we, the Indians people here on earth, have interrelationships with our white neighbors."

"I know we will all treasure this stone and it will be remembered by us as a way in which we, the Navajo people, and the Indian people as a whole, have worked hand in hand with the non-Indians," MacDonald said as the turquoise was returned ceremoniously Tuesday.

The stone, carried on the July 1972 moon mission in return for use of rugged Navajo terrain to train the Apollo astronauts, was presented to the tribe by astronaut David Scott.

MacDonald said turquoise is one of four stones considered sacred by the Navajo and the moon figures prominently in Navajo religion and legend.

Scott said viewing the earth from the perspective of space "gives you an appreciation of what the earth is, an appreciation of what we have here and the limitations of its resources."

He said, "It makes you want to cease the arguments and disputes and have all men joined together to protect our environment and natural resources."

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER-STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Money For North Viet

Henry Kissinger, the leftwing college professor who seems to be calling all the foreign policy shots for President Nixon, says it's not ransom or war reparations for the United States to use its taxpayers' money to rebuild North Vietnam. He says it's "a long-term investment in the structure of peace."

Well, there are some folks who think differently. "It ain't necessarily so," in the words of the song.

A few years back when an administration of another party sent drugs and money to Cuba in return for release of Cuban freedom fighters, the politicians denied there was ransom or blackmail connected with the transaction. We remember when a British politician named Chamberlain said he was buying "peace in our time" when he turned a nation over to Hitler.

Politicians are prone to try to put the best light on their actions. Naturally they are not going to admit that they are succumbing to blackmail or paying ransom, even when it is quite obvious that's exactly what they are doing.

For some strange reason, the politicians think they have some sort of mandate to bail out various failing collectivist nations, whether it's financing grain sales to Russia and China, buying "Turkish" tobacco from Yugoslavia or buying chrome from Russia at double prices instead of from Rhodesia, or financing the reconstruction of facilities in the land of aggressor North Vietnam.

Barry Goldwater says he is opposed to spending U.S. dollars to rebuild North Vietnam. He says that's a job for Russia and Communist China to do, not the United States. And some of the Democrats seem to agree with him, although there seems to be more partisanship in their stands.

Frankly, we can find no constitutional reason for the politicians to spend a penny in any other land. That doesn't seem to bother the politicians like Kissinger and Nixon.

But they certainly are not naive enough to believe that robbing American taxpayers to finance rebuilding facilities of a former enemy will be "a long-term investment in the structure of peace."

You don't buy friends and you don't win any respect by such attempts.

Your News Carrier

What would you do for the youth of American if you had the opportunity and ample means?

Would you be willing to help teach them to add and subtract? Would you like to help motivate them to self-reliance, regularly in constructive habits, and to commitment toward the free enterprise system?

That is, if you had the time, opportunity, and know-how?

Well, the time required is two minutes a month, the opportunity occurs every month, and the know-how is just a matter of remembering. As you may have guessed, we are talking about the newspaperboy who knocks at your door to collect for The Daily News. If you like young people and wish to help them become the type of men and women you would want for neighbors, here are a few suggestions:

Remember your newspaper carrier is a youngster. A kind word is like the sunshine to him, a harsh word is like the gloom. Regardless of how he may pretend, he is not likely to be caloused.

Remember your newspaper carrier not infrequently must make more than one collection in order to collect once. Frequently the residents are not at home. Sometimes they will have moved away, expecting to pay their household bills from their new address, not remembering that the newspaper carrier traditionally collects in person, unlike other vendors.

If you are preparing to move, pin a note to the door to alert the newspaper carrier a few days in advance. Telephone him if he left his number with you.

The newspaper carrier's collection period runs from about the 25th of the month to the fifth of the next month. He tries to collect on a Saturday morning when most folks are home. If you will remember, you can be prepared for him when he comes.

Some boys are more careful than other boys. The ones who are not careful will benefit most from your advice. In case your newspaper carrier did not give you his telephone number, ask him for it.

To be sure, the free enterprise system doesn't rock any cradle for reasonably mature adults. But just as a child learns to swim by first wading, so it is reasonable that the enterprise society will encourage him with a friendly attitude, as much as possible. Don't worry about your newspaper carrier missing out on the lesson of hard knocks.

Mandatory Retirement Not Likely

By ROBERT ALLEN
WASHINGTON — It's a timely and much needed reform—but its chances of getting anywhere are virtually nil.

Rep. John Seiberling, D-Ohio, is sponsoring a constitutional amendment that would impose an age limit of 65 on members of Congress, and 70 years for federal judges, including the Supreme Court.

"Long ago," says Seiberling, a 54-year-old grandson of the founder of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., "Congress acknowledged the wisdom of mandatory retirement when it established a retirement age for those in government civil service. It is time Congress applied this principle to itself and the federal judiciary."

It is time, indeed, and long overdue! The Akron legislator couldn't be more correct.

As he pertinently points out, the average age of chairmen of House committees is 65, while federal judges serve for life and some hang on interminably. Examples:

The late Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black was 85 when he finally forced to retire due to severe illness, from which he died a short time later. Justice William O. Douglas, 74, lingers on although requiring a battery-charged pacemaker for his heart and recently was reputed to beailing.

But desirable as such a mandatory age limit might be, putting it into effect is something else. Amending the Constitution is a difficult and tortuous process.

To begin with, the proposal would have to be passed by Congress—virtually all of whose key leaders are "senior citizens," to put it tactfully. They are not likely to be enthusiastic about legislating themselves out of influential office—which took many years to attain.

Then, even if the amendment somehow got through Congress, where a two-thirds majority is required, it would have to run the highly uncertain gauntlet of the 30 state legislatures, three-fourths of which would have to approve.

It would take a long time—as demonstrated by the discouraging fact that there is no evidence Seiberling's sound idea is even getting started in Congress.

Still Plugging Away
That's not daunting him; he is firmly convinced that sooner or later his proposal will make headway.

"At a time when we are all concerned with the need to breathe new life into the legislative branch of our government," argues Seiberling, "this amendment is particularly important. In the past several months, we have made significant reforms in House procedures and the committee system. I believe they will go a long way toward re-establishing Congress as a branch of government of equal stature with the executive branch."

But notwithstanding these worthy strides, we have not touched on one aspect of Congress, which, perhaps more than any other, will ultimately determine whether the proper balance of powers within our government can be restored—the membership of Congress.

The crux of that problem, in Seiberling's opinion, is aged leaders. What Congress needs is younger members with the physical and mental vigor to stand up under the heavy demands of their jobs.

"This is a job for mature men and women," asserts Seiberling, "but not for the aged."

Citing himself as an example, he said that one of the first things he discovered as a member of Congress was "how difficult and physically taxing the office can be. The hours are long, and the problems are complicated."

It is no coincidence, Seiberling noted, that business corporations concerned with their "institutional health" have almost universally adopted mandatory retirement for both officers and employees—usually 65.

"Business has found that without mandatory retirement of older officials and employees," he declared, "it is extremely difficult to attract and hold able younger men and women needed to keep a firm vigorous, progressive and successful."

Similarly, Seiberling pointed out, many states now require judges to retire at 70. "That sound precept," he added, "should be applied to the federal judiciary. If practice has proved that it is good for the states, it is certain to prove the same for the federal bench."

BRUCE BISSAT Nixon Pooh-Poos Congress on Cuts

By BRUCE BISSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) The raging debate here over money and power has already become so chaotic that there is little chance it will be widely understood in its complexity and refined detail. That works to President Nixon's advantage, and he knows it.

The reason for that is, of course, plain enough. The big reality, recognized by public officials in both parties, is the widespread anti-tax, anti-spending mood in the nation. It translates into heavy support for Mr. Nixon in his slashing assault on some social programs and his proposed imposition of a federal budget ceiling.

The trouble is, the President is so confident of this support that the attack on spending, the reduction or elimination of programs is being carried forward with overtones of contempt for opposition.

There's nothing new in the idea of a clash between president and Congress. Such warfare is historic. Examples far back in the 19th century are easy to find. One president was told by a leading lawmaker:

"Mr. President, the leaders in Congress tell me Hell will freeze over before they do what you want about that bill."

The president responded: "Sir, tell my friends up there that Hell will freeze over tomorrow."

That sounds reasonably tough, yet I get the impression things are worse today than ever before, and that unvarnished contempt has much to do with it.

President Nixon is known to believe that, whatever he may say to the present congressional leaders on their visits to him, they have become largely ineffectual, disorganized, outdated in their working methods.

One friend who thinks he understands well the temper of the White House establishment, and how the President's aides carry out their duties, says simply:

"They take their cue from him. In this case, that means 'congressional liaison' has dwindled to almost nothing."

From Dwight Eisenhower's days through the Johnson regime, liaison with Capitol Hill had been built to major proportions. Lawmakers were courted, placated, sometimes appeased, always given the feeling that they and their views and their problems were taken into account.

Despite occasional, well-advised meetings with Hill leaders by Henry Kissinger, top domestic aide John Ehrlichman and others, knowledgeable sources insist the Nixon team as a generally regards courtship efforts as unnecessary, as a nearly total waste of time.

The President's new budget message shows how the real cue can be given. It voices hope for cooperation and accommodation with Congress in holding down spending. But the key attitude is expressed by Mr. Nixon, with the words deliberately set in italics, in his declaration that there is "no room for the postponement of the reductions and terminations proposed in this budget."

That's the tone of a man who thinks he not only has the upper hand but can keep it, that Congress or any other adversary can't do anything to reverse his intended course.

The nation's governors, felt town at February's close, felt some of the same. Their sense of powerlessness against Washington is not new.

Everyone, too, expected them to complain as they did about abrupt program cuts and confusion over revenue-sharing and its real meaning for their fiscal future. But what came through from many was their notion that the White House is treating them like dirt, that "inter-governmental relations" are a farce, that contempt for rival views is the order of the day.

It's sort of heartwarming to know that the international monetary community has dollar problems, just like us common folk.

Your Health

The Pill Aid Promiscuity

Dear Dr. Lamb — Today my wife took our 17-year-old daughter to a respected gynecologist in our area for painful menstrual cramps.

The doctor prescribed birth control pills for our daughter saying that they were the only effective remedy for her problem.

I feel that if this type of prescription is a fairly common occurrence for young unmarried girls that this practice is a direct frontal assault on the limited remaining moral strength that our country has. My wife takes the attitude of "you can't fight City Hall."

I am well aware of the theory that the wide use of birth control pills by young girls is directly responsible for the epidemic resurgence of syphilis and gonorrhea. I am inclined to go along with this theory.

Please explain how prevalent this type of prescription is in this country for young unmarried women and what your opinion is of this practice.

Dear Reader—You have asked a difficult question and one that certainly deserves a comment. On the factual side, birth control pills do alter the normal acid chemical environment of the vagina and makes a girl who engages in sexual activity more susceptible to gonorrhea than she would otherwise be. In addition, a girl who's on the pill feels protected from pregnancy and sometimes has the very mistaken idea that she's also protected from venereal disease. All of which leads to removing part of the controlling influences that limit sexual activity in young people before marriage.

It is also true that birth control measures help to prevent a large number of unwanted pregnancies that would otherwise occur outside of marriage whether we like to accept that fact or not.

Basically because a doctor's role is to help his patients, I don't believe he should allow himself to get into a position of moral judgment concerning the practices and behavior of his patients. At the same time a doctor rightfully might not wish to become an agent in a practice which he might consider immoral.

For this reason, doctors of a particular religious faith may not wish to prescribe birth control pills or perform abortions or otherwise be involved in factors which their own personal creed considers immoral. Such doctors' rights should be respected as they too are individual beings.

It seems to me that the burden really rests on the patient as to what the patient wants to do and, in the case of minors, on the parents as well. If a girl has decided not to engage in sexual activity before marriage.

Inside Washington

Illegal Aliens Are Heavy Toll on Nation's Economy
By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — There are from one to two million foreigners illegally in the U.S.—and the number has been steadily increasing since 1965.

This constantly ballooning of illicit aliens is taking a heavy toll—adding seriously to the nation's already grievous economic problems, notably unemployment, soaring welfare costs and multi-billion dollar balance of payments deficits.

Still another burden is the considerable expense of deporting these masses of undesirables.

In fiscal 1970 (latest official figures), some 343,000 were evicted at a cost to taxpayers of more than $35 million.

Last year, over 420,000 deportable aliens were apprehended (no data is yet available on what it cost to get rid of them). That exceeded by 50,000 the number of legally admitted immigrants—and is a 22 per cent increase over the previous year.

Significantly, this rising flood of illegal aliens is not confined to the Southwest border region; nor is it largely of an agricultural nature—as generally believed.

It now prevails in most major metropolitan areas, and is appreciably industrial.

As an illustration: in Detroit, in the first half of fiscal 1972, 2,111 deportable aliens were located, more than half of them Canadians working in local plants. That total was a 67.4 per cent increase over the first half of the previous year.

These are the stark findings of the House Subcommittee on Immigration and Nationality on the basis of a nationwide study which ranged from Washington to Los Angeles, Denver, El Paso, Chicago, Detroit and New York.

Says Reps. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa. chairman:

"The basic conclusion reached by the majority of the subcommittee was that the adverse impact of illegal aliens has been substantial, and warrants legislation both to protect U.S. labor and the economy, and to assure the orderly entry of immigrants into our country."

One Solution
In Rep. Eilberg's opinion, the most practical way to accomplish that is to "remove the incentives for aliens to enter illegally and to make it unprofitable for employers to hire them by imposing penalties on those who knowingly engage in this practice."

For that purpose, he is sponsoring a comprehensive bill—and confidently expects to win House approval. Its prospects in the Senate are less promising.

In the past, the House has approved such legislation—only to have it die on the vine in the Senate, where from time to time there is much rhetorical wringing of hands and shedding of crocodile tears about alien migrant workers, but little else.

Four major reasons are cited by the subcommittee for the steadily rising tide of illicit foreigners:

(1) "The economic imbalance between the U.S. and the countries from which the migrants come, particularly Mexico. Unemployment south of the Texas border ranges between 25 and 50 per cent. Those employed in Mexico earn perhaps the equivalent of $1 a day, as opposed to wages in the U.S. of $1 to $1.50 an hour in farm work and $3.50 in industry."

(2) "A directly related reason is the willingness of U.S. employers to hire these people, with or without knowledge of their illegal status. The vast majority of aliens enter this country illegally for the purpose of finding work, and they would not come unless they were fairly certain of getting a job."

(3) "Insufficient Border Patrol and Immigration Service personnel to cope with the problem at the current rate of increase." Immigration Commissioner Raymond Farrell told the subcommittee that last year he asked for a $150 million budget and was cut $21 million. As a consequence, additional personnel could not be employed and "we just couldn't handle any more illegal aliens with the manpower we had."

Commented Rep. Eilberg: "The hearings clearly revealed that the Immigration Service experiences little difficulty in finding large numbers of illegal aliens, and the only limitation on the number of apprehensions is the amount of resources devoted to that task."

(4) "Certain provisions of the 1965 amendments to the Immigration and Nationality Act—and the termination of the 1964 Bracero Program, under which farm labor was brought into the U.S. under contract from Mexico. Both measures had a restrictive effect on temporary and permanent job-related immigration from the Western hemisphere immigration problems" is under consideration.

Free Loaders
The subcommittee also uncovered substantial evidence that illegal migrants are:

—Having a significant adverse impact on the national labor market by taking jobs that "would normally be filled by American workers; depressing wages and impairing the working conditions of American citizens; and reducing the effectiveness of employee organizations.

—Appreciably adding to welfare costs. Two illustrative instances are cited: the New York State Department of Labor, checking a small group in New York City, found a score of illegal aliens drawing welfare payments; in Texas, several thousand were reported drawing old age assistance.

—Declaring the subcommittee report: "The preponderance of testimony indicated clearly that illegal aliens are participating in federal and state public assistance programs at considerable cost to taxpayers."

The subcommittee was severely critical of the Social Security Administration for the "ease with which social security cards can be obtained." The report stated that numerous witnesses assailed the Social Security Administration for "refusal to require proof of an individual's legitimate entitlement to work."

In addition to these adverse impacts, the hordes of illegal aliens are negatively affecting the balance-of-payments problem by sending considerable sums of money to families abroad.

Nets Recover From 23 Point Deficit To Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
How does a basketball team come back from a 23-point deficit? Garbage shots, defense and hustle.

That is the way the New York Nets described their 91-89 comeback American Basketball Association victory over the Kentucky Colonels Wednesday night.

Coach Joe Mullaney of the Colonels had some other ideas. "The Nets were atrocious, and we kept up with them," Kentucky won the turnover battle 28-21.

"We have never become the defensive team we should be," Mullaney said. "We are constantly doing things to give up the ball."

Mullaney, in a rage after the loss, chided Artis Gilmore for not playing defense and allowing the other teams center to get the ball without any resistance.

In other ABA action, Indiana stopped Memphis 122-114, Utah eased past Carolina 128-112 and Denver edged Dallas 116-111.

In the National Basketball Association, New York crushed Philadelphia 120-94 and Cleveland beat Houston 118-100.

When you are ahead by 20 points at the half, I guess you aren't supposed to say anything," Mullaney said.

Losing 51-28 at one point in the second half, the Nets staged an amazing comeback and finally tied it at 85 with 4:07 to go on a jump shot by Billy Paultz.

George Carter's field goal gave the Nets the lead 89-87 with 28 seconds to go and Gary Gregor's two free throws with eight seconds left iced the victory.

Dan Issel scored at the buzzer for the Colonels.

Carter and Lackey each had 20 points for the Nets while Paultz added 19. Issel scored 25 for Kentucky while Louie Dampier added 24.

The Indiana Pacers scored its fifth straight ABA victory at the expense of the sagging Memphis Tams.

Freddie Lewis scored 22 points for the Pacers who defeated the Tams for the seventh time in eight meetings.

Ron Boone scored 34 points and led the Utah Stars over the Carolina Cougars.

Boone, Willie Wise and James Jones combined for 82 points for the Stars in the battle of division leaders.

The Denver Rockets stole the ball twice in succession late in the game and enabled them to defeat the Dallas Chaparrals.

Mary Roberts stole the ball on successive plays and fed Ralph Simpson for layups.

Bitter Mike Pinkham Hits Lack Of Discipline

DALLAS (AP) — Bitter Mike Pinkham, one of two assistant basketball coaches fired at Southern Methodist Wednesday said there was such a lack of discipline that players showed up late for practice and three got drunk the night before a game.

Pinkham and Neal Kinlund were dismissed Wednesday but head coach Bob Prewitt was handed a one-year contract to shore up the Mustangs, pre-season Southwest Conference favorites who sank to a 7-7 record.

Pinkham said "It's an injustice. I'm a disciplinarian and I tried to discipline the kids and he (Prewitt) didn't. I can't see kids getting by with things. Three kids were out drunk before the (second) Arkansas game with girls and I caught them."

"I don't think you can win doing things like that. I don't think the players should have been allowed to play. Two of them were starters."

Pinkham added "I don't know how they could have dismissed me and Neal and they don't dismiss him (Prewitt). Look at his record (65-85)."

He said "Some of the kids even came to me wanting discipline. In practice, they would Walt Frazier scored 28 points and Bill Bradley added 22 to lead the New York Knicks over the Philadelphia 76ers in an NBA contest.

The game was close just before halftime, but the Knicks scored eight straight points and then Frazier sunk 10 of his points in the second half to make the game a rout.

The Cleveland Cavaliers ripped off 12 straight points at the end of the first quarter to take a 28-24 lead and went on to trounce the Houston Rockets.

The winner of the game can have the undisputed title should AHS be upset by Borger (now 0-5 in district) in their game tonight.

The varsity contest will get underway tonight in the Pampa girls gym 20 minutes after the conclusion of the B-team game which will start at 6:30 p.m.

show up late... or do anything they wanted to do. There is just no discipline here."

Pinkham said he thought SMU would have trouble recruiting blacks in the future.

"I don't think black players will come here anymore... I doubt if they'll even be recruited," Pinkham said.

Prewitt said "I'm not going to get into any discussions about what Pinkham has to say. I feel the statement I made earlier that there was a basic difference in our philosophies still stands. There were some problems and I'm making every effort to work these out."

Among the problems Prewitt has ahead of him include star freshman center Ira Terrell's demand to play forward and criticism by junior forward Sammy Hervey of junior guard Zach Thiel's attitude.

Pinkham said "I've worked hard and done the job. I've been as loyal to the coach as I know how. I've done the work he has asked me to do and even more. I'm not ashamed. I know I did a good job—look at the record—look at the recruits. This just stuns me. I thought probably they would fire all three of us. But I'll be better off getting into a better program."

Pinkham said "I worked hard on recruiting. The coach (Prewitt) was no recruiter. And there was no discipline."

Giants Lose McCovey For Exhibition Games

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Willie? No, he won't.

The San Francisco Giants have lost the services of their slugging, injury-plagued first baseman Willie McCovey for several exhibition baseball games due to persistent foot and knee ailments.

McCovey, who missed the majority of last season with a broken arm, has been hampered by leg problems throughout his career. He received an injection of cortisone Wednesday, a drug usually used to treat arthritis and other diseases of the connective tissue.

McCovey has worked out lightly this spring although troubled by a foot arch. The cortisone was ordered after he reported some pain in his knee.

which he apparently favored because of the foot trouble.

The other Willie, New York Mets' Mays, reported his knee felt better and stated he would wait until the end of spring training to decide if he will retire from baseball.

In exhibition games Wednesday, the New York Yankees clobbered the Minnesota Twins 11-4, and the Detroit Tigers beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-3.

Frank Tepedino, New York's designated hitter, collected four hits in six trips, with three doubles and one run batted in to power the Yankees over the Twins in the opener of their spring training schedule. Celorino Sanchez, Fred Frazier and Ken Bennett smashed home runs for the Yankees.

There was no progress reported in efforts to sign Minnesota's three big holdouts—Harmon Killebrew, Rod Carew and Jim Kaat. The Twins said they signed Carew, but the infielder denied it.

The Tigers, the American League East defending champions, hammered 16 hits including three by third baseman Tony Taylor, to defeat the Pirates.

Center fielder Mickey Stanley had two singles and a double while his replacement, Dick Sharon, slugged a home run and a single in two turns at the plate.

Catcher Johnny Oates signed his contract with Atlanta, reducing the number of Braves holdouts to three, including pitcher Pat Dobson.

Barkats Get Awaited Call

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Sam Houston State Coach Archie Porter got the call he had been waiting for Wednesday. Now he is staying close by the telephone to see if the National Invitation Tournament in New York City will dial his number.

Sam Houston was named The Associated Press college division basketball champion and Porter said "Maybe it will help get us into the NIT. I see where they still have three openings. There are a lot of teams in that tournament we could stay with."

The undefeated Barkats need only one more triumph to erase the NAIA record for the most consecutive victories of 33 set by Stephen F. Austin. They play in the NAIA playoffs in Kansas City beginning Monday.

LOS ANGELES DODGERS

National League West

PROSPECTUS: Dodger fans may think they have wandered into the wrong place the first time they see this year's team take the field. Gone are veterans Maury Wills, Wes Parker, Bill Singer, Bill Grabarkwitz and Jim Lefebvre, a m.o.n.g. others. And Walter Alston, who has found the secret of managerial immortality, is left with a bunch of hopeful youngsters and resigned veterans.

PITCHING: Don Sutton and Claude Osteen had excellent seasons, are good core for staff. Tommy John was also effective and Dodgers acquired Andy Messersmith, proven American League winner who had off-season in '72 in Frank Robinson trade. Jim Brewer comes off spectacular relief season (1.27 ERA) but he and Pete Richert need right-handed help in bullpen. Three rookies—Bruce Ellingsen, Charlie Hough and Doug Rau—also worth watching.

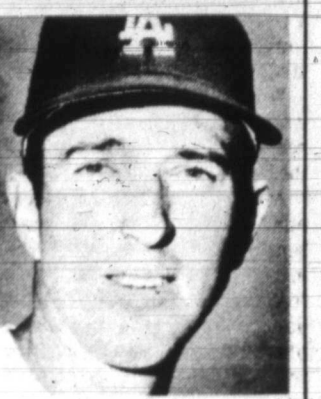

INFIELD: A real Unknowns Anonymous. Bill Buckner will battle minor league slugger Tom Paciorek for Parker's job at first. Slender Lee Lacry will be second. Bill Russell (the Younger, not the Bill Russell the Elder who used to play basketball) sped Wills' retirement by taking over at short. And Steve Garvey, a so-so holdover, will have to hustle to win the third base job from Ken Camy, coming off .329 year at Albuquerque.

OUTFIELD: Willie Davis is good, though not intimidating in center. Dodgers hope rookie Van Joshua (.337 at Albuquerque) can hold down one outfield spot, with sharp-eyed Manny Mota, Willie Crawford taking what's left.

CATCHING: With Chris Cannizzara and disappointing Dick Dietz, only vets—help must come from young Joe Ferguson or Steve Yeager.

Predicted Finish: Fifth in West.

Lefors' Connie Eudey Selected To All-Stars

CANYON (SpI) — Connie Eudey, Lefors High School senior, has been named as one of the first ten selections for the Third Annual Panhandle Girls' High School All-Star Basketball Game March 24 in Amarillo.

The All-Star game precedes the championship contest of the Fifth Annual Amarillo National Women's Invitational Tournament. Game time is 7:05 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Miss Eudey, a 5-7 forward, will represent the East team. This season she averaged 25.6 points per game, hitting 41.5 per cent of her field goal attempts and 49.9 per cent of her free throws.

She also collected five rebounds and four steals per game.

A four-year letterman at Lefors, Miss Eudey also participated in girls' track, qualifying for the state meet in the mile relay in 1969.

Only seniors are eligible for the all-star game which matches 14 teams representing the East and West of the Texas Panhandle.

Coaches of the West-team are brothers Jim Crabb of Sayre, Okla., and James Crabb of Mangum, Okla.

Johnny Ethridge, former Amarillo High School basketball coach, and Dub Malaise, a former coach at South Plains College will lead the East squad. Both men are from Lubbock.

The eight teams making up the field for the Women's Invitational Tournament are four-time defending champion Wayland Baptist College, John F. Kennedy of Whoo; Neb., Ranger Junior College, Northwestern Louisiana and Parsons of Fairfield, Iowa.

Other participants are Belmont of Nashville, Tenn., Seminole Junior College of Seminole, Okla. and Murray State of Tishomingo, Okla.

WENDY BROWN
...essay contest winner

Local Girl's Essay Entered In Contest

Wendy Brown, Pampa High School student, is the winner of the conservation essay contest this year sponsored by the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

The current subject for the annual event was "Natural Resources—Meeting the Needs of the People."

Wendy's winning essay will be entered by the district in the state conservation awards program. The winner of this competition will be announced in May.

Here is the text of her essay:
"In order for man to survive, natural resources must be available for his expenditure. With the finite supply of resources, man must wisely conserve the earth's products. Without sunshine, air, water, soil, minerals, forests, or wildlife, human life would be at a total loss. The earth's surface lays the foundation for human life and activity.
"Primitive man was entirely dependent on the natural resources. Modern man is still dependent on the natural elements, but his advanced technology and knowledge has taught him to appreciate his environment. Hopefully, his strides will preserve the resources for future man.

"Sunshine, the earth's heatlamp; water, life's flowing faucet; air, the breath of life; soil, the firm foundation; forests, the evergreen timberland; minerals, the earth's treasure chest; and wildlife, the untamed zoo, have provided, are providing, and will continue to provide man with his basic needs.

"In our modern society with the population explosion and thriving industries, these elements are quite often taken for granted. Many people are not aware that if the supply of one resource expires, no substitute would be adequate to replace the loss.
"Nothing could restore the energizing sun rays, rain drops, fresh air, fertile soil, green forests, mineral mines, or wild hunting grounds. Living things could not function. Life would soon cease.

"Therefore, conservation should be emphasized in today's society. If people use the earth's elements extravagantly and carelessly, future generations will suffer the consequences.
"Today's actions will determine whether our natural resources will meet the needs of the future."

TRAPPING WATER RATS

LONDON (AP) — Extra trappers are being called in by the Eastern Suffolk and Norfolk River Authority for an all-out campaign against the coypu, a South American water rat, once bred for its fur.

Three mild winters have encouraged the coypu to breed rapidly and farmers have protested about mounting damage to crops and river banks.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Dean Wigmore shows how a professional speaker (or singer) exercises his vocal cords every day. Even your ordinary conversation will improve markedly if you apply the 7 rules outlined below. Unless you are easily understood, you can't persuade people!

CASE W-546: Dean John H. Wigmore was the internationally famous head of our Northwestern University Law School.

His textbook on "Evidence" is still in standard use.
"Dr. Crane," his wife once informed me, "he does a great deal of public speaking, as before banquets of law associations.

"Every morning, therefore, I hear him in the bathroom exercising his vocal cords.
"For he will recite the vowels in loud, heavy tones, as 'a-e-i-o-u,' just to prevent his words from being fuzzy.

"And he tries to enunciate distinctly, so he practices using his lips to round out long 'o' and 'u.'

SPEECH PSYCHOLOGY

Everybody who wears false teeth should be doubly alerted to Dean Wigmore's stress on lip movements!

This is true not only of professional orators and singers, but of average folks who wish to converse more clearly.

Deaf people, who rely heavily on lip reading, can quickly weed out the denture wearers, who often mumble!

For they speak in "their throats," stressing the guttural or velar sounds, which don't show much lip movement.

So heed these terse axioms of speech psychology:
(1) Beware of mustaches, especially the thick bushy modern variety that hide the entire upper lip.

(2) If you have thick lips, by all means be sure to exercise them in front of a mirror till you clip off your vowel sounds with precise consonants.

Thick-lipped folks thus need to close their lips completely to close their lips completely to say "papa" and "mamma," otherwise such words reach the listeners as "ah-ah."

(3) Encourage your kiddies to play with their voices, as by looking at their mouths in a hand mirror while they utter words.

Thus, they will find that "i" involves pushing the upper front teeth against the lower lip and then blowing as they let go with their teeth.

This is a "breath" sound but looks to a lip reader exactly like "v," where the upper teeth likewise push against that lower lip, but the vocal cords make a sound. Try it this very minute!

(4) Sing in the bath tub, as Dagwood often does, to learn better control of your vocal cords.

And participate heartily in your church hymns, for this is splendid oral exercise.

Professional singers undergo hours of specific vocal drill, but many public speakers fail to do this.

(5) If you are a vocalist, learn to smile while you utter the lyrics of the song.

Movie actresses and TV vocalists routinely do this, which is a mark of a pro.

(6) Practice diaphragm breathing, for this lets you hold a musical note longer or utter several additional words before you pause.

Novices are short of breath, so they speak in short, choppy phrases.

(7) Sing or speak loudly enough for the people on the rear rows to hear, so test your voice in a large auditorium before you perform.

For further advice, send for my booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hopkins 234, Marshall, Indiana 47855. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents in covering and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the year ending January 1-December 31, 1972, or other taxable year beginning in 1972. Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Can I designate $1 of my tax to go to a particular presidential candidate?

A) No. However, if you wish, $1 of your tax ($2 if you are married and filing a joint return) may be paid over to presidential candidates of a specific political party. Just check the box on IRS Form 4875 (in your tax forms package), fill in the name of the party, and attach this form to your tax return.

Instead of designating $1 of your tax for a particular party, you can designate it for a non-partisan general account for all eligible candidates. Just check the box provided.

Q) My adjusted gross income is $13,000. Can I take the $2,000 standard deduction on my return?

A) No. The standard deduction is 15 percent of your adjusted gross income up to a $2,000 maximum. Fifteen percent of your adjusted gross income is $1,950. This is your standard deduction, not $2,000.

Q) My son turned 20 in 1972. Does this mean that I cannot claim him as a dependent any more?

A) No. If your son did not have gross income of $750, or more or was a full-time student for at least five months of last year no matter how much money he made, you may still claim him as a dependent, regardless of his age, if all the other dependency tests are met, including furnishing over one-half of your son's total support.

Q) Are scholarships taxable?

A) No. In general, if you receive a scholarship or fellowship grant, you may exclude all or part of that amount from your gross income, depending upon whether or not you are a degree candidate. If you are a degree candidate, there is no limitation on the amount that may be excluded from your income. However, if you are not a degree candidate, the amount you receive as a scholarship or fellowship may be excluded up to $300 times the number of months for which you receive amounts under the grant during the tax year.

A scholarship that is compensation for past or future services or primarily for the grantor's benefit, is not excluded from gross income.

For more information, see IRS Publication 520, "Tax Information for American Scholars in the U.S. and Abroad." A free copy can be obtained by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q) I installed a new water heater in my home last year. Can I deduct the cost on my tax return?

A) No, but you may add the cost of this item to the basis of your property, so that it will be taken into account in the event that you sell your home.

Q) Are gambling losses deductible?

A) If you itemize, you may deduct your gambling losses incurred during the year, but only to the extent of your winnings. Gambling winnings must be reported as income.

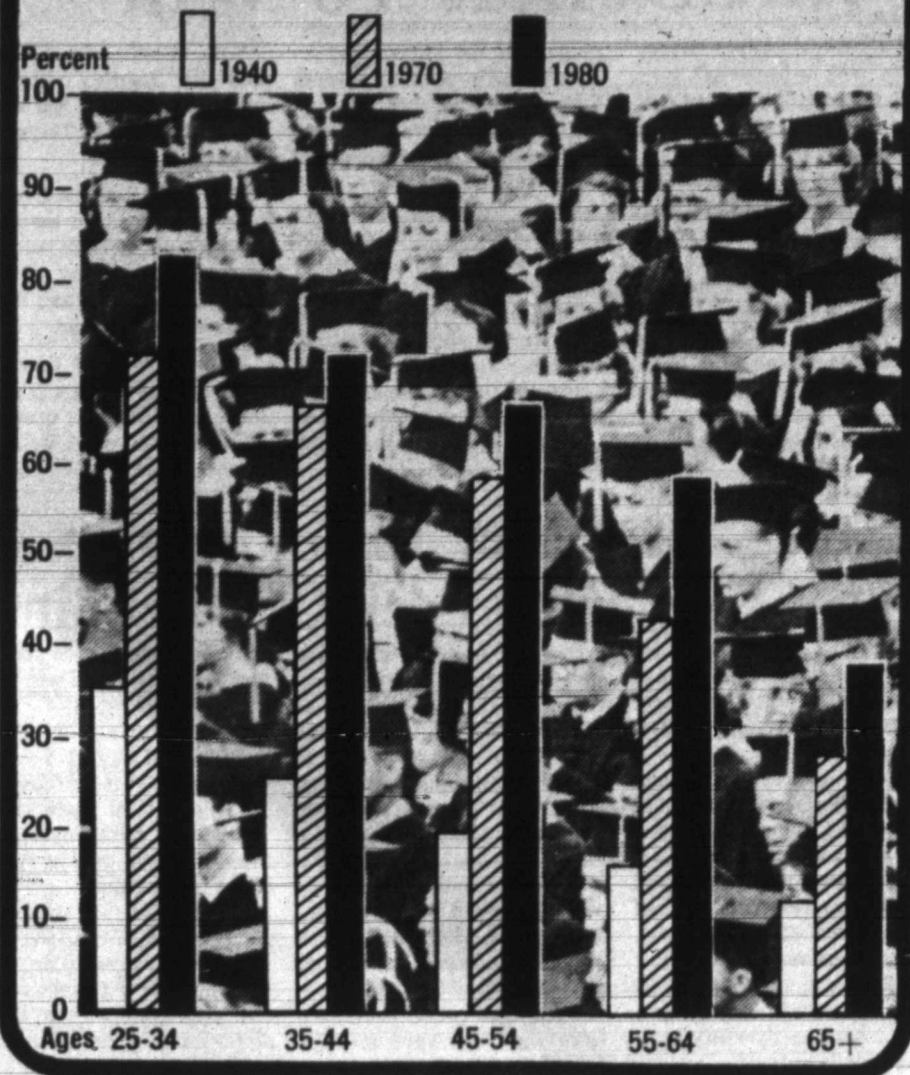

Q) I still haven't gotten my W-2 form from my employer. What should I do?

A) Contact your employer. He is required by law to furnish his employees W-2 forms by the end of January.

Your return must be filed on time. If you do not have all your Forms W-2, report all of your income and attach a statement explaining how you computed any tax withheld for which you claim credit, but for which you have no Form W-2.

If, after you have filed your return, you receive a Form W-2 for income that you did not include in your return, or if you find your estimates of income and withholding tax to be incorrect, file an amended return, Form 1040X. This form is available at any IRS office.

MORE AND MORE HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

Knowledge is power and also popular, judging from the steady rise in average educational level for the U.S. population. The years of formal schooling have been increasing steadily since 1940. Currently almost three-quarters of the population between the ages of 25 and 34 has at least a high school education, as against about 35 per cent in 1940. By 1980, it is expected to be over 80 per cent. Similar percentage increases are registered in all age groups.
