FOR GOLF COURSE

Country Club To Construct Automatic Watering System

By CLAY LIVELY
The installation of a new automatic watering system for the Pampa Country Club's 18-hole golf course began this morning with groundbreaking ceremonies at the club. Stockholders of the club gave their approval to the project at their annual meeting Feb. 20. Prior to that the board of directors appointed a committee to plan the system and obtain bids. The project had been in the planning stages for a little over a year.

Members of the committee were chairman, David Fatheree, W.L. Loving, R.A. Johnson, R.A. Baker, J.D. Merchant and Hart Warren. Members of the board are President R.W. Curry, Vice President E.A. Myatt, Secretary-Treasurer Bill Arthur, Immediate Past President Tom Price, Loving, Fatheree, Don Forsha, V.L. Trammel, Joe Cree and Vernon Watkins. Merchant, a retired employe of Cabot Corp., will be the representative of the club who will oversee the project to its completion. The project is slated to be completed by July 1.

The system was designed by Bob Wilkins of Dallas, who has had considerable experience in planning golf course watering systems.

R.A. Johnson, an employe of Cabot Corp. and member of the club, did the detailed engineering work on the project.

K and R Plumbing and Air Conditioning of Pampa is the contractor for the job.

The system will be electrically controlled and is capable of putting 750,000 gallons of water on the course in a 12 hour period if necessary.

Plant Hearing Set Thursday

Proposed improvement of Pampa's municipal sewage treatment plant No. 2 will be considered Thursday at a public hearing of the Texas Water Quality Board in Amarillo.

Board approval of the City of Pampa's application for an amended waste control order would allow the existing facilities at Plant No. 2 to be improved to a proposed design capacity of 22,000 population, abandoning use of Plant No. 1.

The proposed improved plant, to be in operation in March, 1974, is located about two miles northeast of the Pampa city limits adjacent to Red Deer Creek.

Treated effluent from the proposed facilities, to be in operation in March, 1974, will be discharged into Red Deer Creek, thence into the South Canadian River. The hearing will be conducted in Conference Room C of the Municipal Building in Amarillo beginning at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Electrically set-to-water on a rotating basis, the system will eliminate the run-of water that plagued the old manual system. Water for the system will come from a 250,000 gallon reservoir. Two high pressure pumps, capable of pumping 1,200 gallons of water per minute, will lift the water from the reservoir and into the system. The club's present water well will be adequate to keep the reservoir supplied with water. The system requires 11,500 feet of 6" plastic pipe and 30,000 feet of 2 1/2" plastic pipe. There will be approximately 40,000 feet of ditching needed. The electrical system will require 210,000 feet of electric wire.

AT WOUNDED KNEE Settlement Hopes With Indians Dim

WOUNDED KNEE, S. D. (AP) — Hopes for a permanent settlement of the dispute that led to an Indian takeover of this village were uncertain today as a grand jury convened in Sioux Falls to investigate the circumstances.

An FBI agent was shot Sunday and Indians declared that no federal officials would be allowed to enter Wounded Knee, dampening hopes of peace that arose when the federal government pulled down roadblocks set up after about 200 Indian militants took over this historic village Feb. 27.

Interior Department officials declined comment this morning, and there was no indication that talks were scheduled with Indian leaders.

U.S. Attorney William Clayton estimated that the grand jury investigation would last at least two days. He said 73 persons had been arrested in connection with the takeover.

The Sunday gunplay came less than 24 hours after federal forces pulled down their roadblocks and withdrew from a perimeter a few miles from the center of the village.

The shooting involved a small truck the Indians smeared with mud and dubbed their "tank." Several FBI vehicles maintaining surveillance on roads into the village saw the truck about five miles west of Wounded Knee, officials said.

The FBI agents, who said they believed the vehicle was stolen, pursued the van, and there was an exchange of gunfire. Agent Curtis Fitzgerald of Chicago was struck in the right arm and was evacuated by helicopter.

The car in which Fitzgerald was riding had six bullet holes in the windshield—one on the passenger side and five on the driver's side, the latter apparently made by another agent firing from inside the car. Indians said bullets smashed the rear windows of the van and flying glass cut an Indian's hand. "The FBI is trying to provoke the situation," said Dennis Banks, a leader of the American Indian Movement, which led the takeover. Each side said the other fired first. FBI agents donned flak jackets and used binoculars to survey each vehicle that approached their checkpoints, which were set up Sunday several miles from here. The crisis dissolved after the Justice Department in Washington said the shooting would not create an armed confrontation. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst said agents would remain away from the immediate area of Wounded Knee and would not shoot unless their lives were endangered. The Indians said four men identifying themselves as U.S. postal inspectors entered the village Sunday and were held in custody before being released.

Wetness Expected To Linger Awhile

By RAY BAXTER
While destructive storms that hit the rest of the state gave Pampa a wide berth, the weather that did prevail caused one fatality.

Mrs. Anna Lou Nelson died when the car in which she was riding overturned in five feet of water. (See obit. p. 2) Her husband, Ben, lost control of the vehicle while fighting water over the roadway on FM 2300 from two and a half inches of rain over the weekend.

The Panhandle's persistent nemesis, snow, put in an appearance Saturday afternoon in time to make the winter statistics.

It brought Pampa's snowfall for the winter to 25 inches. Rainfall since Jan. 1 totals 4.22 inches, which includes the current wet weekend.

There is much controversy in county agriculture circles as to the value of the rain. The majority of those who live by the land responding to a telephone poll Saturday said it hurt.

Nations Approve Floating

BRUSSELS (AP) — Six of the Common Market nations agreed early today to a joint, partial float against the dollar, maintaining a schedule of exchange rates among each other but ending obligatory purchases of the dollar to support it.

The other three member nations—Britain, Ireland and Italy—are already floating their currencies against all others. They said they would join the joint float as soon as economic conditions permitted them to peg their currencies against the other Common Market monies.

West Germany also agreed to revalue the mark upward three per cent. There was speculation that the Japanese yen, the other strong currency, also would be revalued somewhat. The decision by West Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark was easing the latest monetary crisis that closed foreign currency exchanges 10 days ago.

A communique after a meeting of finance ministers from the nine Common Market nations said the float would go into effect March 19, when the exchange markets reopen.

Four other nations with strong currencies—Switzerland, Sweden, Norway and Austria—reportedly were considering joining the float even though they are not members of the Common Market.

The agreement calls for a maximum fluctuation of 2.25 per cent among the values of the six floating currencies. It is considered a key step toward eventual creation of a single European currency.

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam today delivered a list of 100 American prisoners it will release in Hanoi on Wednesday; meanwhile, the United States again suspended the withdrawal of American troops to insure the Communists release all 267 Americans they still hold. The Viet Cong promised a list on Tuesday of approximately 30 prisoners of war captured in South Vietnam who will be released in Hanoi on Thursday.

In Washington the Defense Department confirmed the list had been received and that it included the names of 107 military prisoners and one civilian prisoner.

The U.S. delegation radioed the list from the North Vietnamese to Washington for notification of the prisoners' families. The list was to be made public by the Defense Department later today.

Bui Tin, the chief North Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon, said all those to be released on Wednesday were air men shot down in late 1967 and 1968. He said they included Lt. Cdr. John S. McCain III, son of the former commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

Those to be released on Thursday are expected to include Maj. Floyd Thompson, the POW who has been held longest, and Philip Manhard, the highest-ranking civilian POW.

Those turnovers will constitute the third phase of the POW release, leaving one group of about 156 to be freed by March 28, two months after the Jan. 28 start of the ceasefire. March 28 also is the deadline for the withdrawal of all American and other foreign allied forces.

A U.S. spokesman said troop withdrawals were suspended to "make damn sure we get all of the prisoners." He said he foresaw no problem and noted that both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong have said they will comply with the agreement. But "we want to make absolutely certain," he added. The spokesman said U.S. troop strength in Vietnam now totals 6,935 men, compared with 23,516 on Jan. 28. Foreign allied troops, primarily South Koreans, have dropped from 35,509 to 5,607. "We've withdrawn our troops at a steady flow, and we haven't been getting a steady flow of prisoners," the spokesman added. The Communists have released 299 Americans in three groups, on Feb. 12, Feb. 18 and March 4. This is a little more than half the 565 American prisoners they admitted holding.

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — John T. Downey, the last American prisoner of the Korean War, was freed from China today and flew home to see his seriously ill mother in Connecticut.

Peking let the CIA operative go after an appeal from President Nixon that he be allowed to join his 75-year-old mother, Mary Downey of New Britain. His release had been expected as a result of the visits to Peking by Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger but not until later this year. The other two Americans known to be held in China, Air Force Maj. Philip E. Smith and Lt. Cdr. Robert J. Flynn, are scheduled to be freed on Thursday. Downey told Red Cross representatives that he was in the same cell block with them and both appeared to be in "excellent spirits and health." Both Smith and Flynn were shot down on missions in Vietnam when they strayed over China—Downey, who has spent nearly 21 of his 42 years in Chinese prisons, looked pale but smiled continuously when he arrived at Clark Air Base from Hong Kong. He told newsmen he was "fine."

At Clark he found his brother William, a New York attorney, who arrived several hours earlier. "I just want to say how grateful I am for being released," Downey told newsmen. "And I appreciate the Chinese government letting me go at this time, and President Nixon for his efforts on my behalf, and Dr. Kissinger, I'm very pleased to be out, and at the same time, I'm very anxious to get home and see my mother."

William Downey said a doctor had examined his brother on the flight from Hong Kong and "he checks out fine on a preliminary examination. He certainly feels and looks good."

The two brothers took off in a special C141 medical evacuation transport at 12:42 a.m. CST for Elmendorf Air Base in Alaska. From there, they were to fly to either Hartford, Conn., or Westover Air Base in Massachusetts. Downey's mother, who visited him a number of times in Peking, suffered a stroke last Wednesday. Police studying island murders

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — More Scotland Yard detectives were due in Bermuda today to join the investigation of the murder of the island's British governor and his aide-camp. Police said they were questioning a number of persons but had made no arrests.

Gov. Sir Richard Sharples, 57, and Capt. Hugh Sayers, 25, were shot shortly before midnight Saturday. Their bodies were found outside the front door of Government House, the governor's residence. Police said they did not know how many gunmen were involved in the slayings, which occurred after a small dinner party while the men were walking Sharples' pet Great Dane, Horsa. The dog also was killed.

There were no security measures in effect at the time for the 15 acre park that surrounds the residence about a mile from Hamilton. Only the usual unarmed guard was on duty at the mansion.

A state of emergency was declared immediately, giving police the power to keep suspects from leaving the island. It appeared to have virtually no effect on the thousands of tourists jamming hotels.

French Gaullists Retain Majority

PARIS (AP) — French voters have given the Gaullists another five years in control of the National Assembly but have reduced the government coalition's majority to less than 60 seats.

Following runoff voting Sunday, returns from 406 of the 490 electoral districts gave the Gaullist coalition 274 seats, the Communist-Socialist alliance 181, the centrist Reform Movement 28 and extreme Rightists 3.

The Communist Party won 73 seats, compared with 34 in the last election in 1968, and the Socialists moved up from 57 to 89. The other leftist seats went to splinter parties on the extreme left.

The outcome was much more favorable to the Gaullists than had been expected. President Georges Pompidou was so worried by the strong leftist showing in public opinion polls and the first round of voting last Sunday that he made a last-minute television appeal to the voters Saturday. Pompidou himself was not up for re-election.

The economic achievements of the Gaullists over the past 15 years plus the basic conservatism of many Frenchmen pulled the government through. But the result was a warning that the left's calls for a better deal for the poor and for more equalization of economic gains had sympathetic echoes throughout the country.

"It is correct that these elections reflect a will for renewal by a large number of voters," Premier Pierre Messmer admitted.

The Gaullist majority in the assembly took a monumental dive from the 294-seat margin won in the 1968 landslide. But that occurred after the May student riots scared the French voters badly. The Gaullists could take some comfort from their new majority's being considerably better than the one-vote edge they won in the last "normal" elections in 1967.

Significantly, the heaviest losses were suffered by the Union for the Defense of the Republic, the Gaullist party. It fell from 293 seats to 181, making it more dependent on its partners. Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing's Independent Republicans and Jacques Duhamel's Democratic Center party.

One of the major casualties was Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, who lost the Armenieres seat he had held since 1945 to a Socialist. Justice Minister Rene Pleven also lost to a Socialist, but Bordeaux returned its longtime mayor, Jacques Chaban-Delmas, despite a financial scandal that cost him the premiership last July.

Messmer and Giscard d'Estaing won in the first round last Sunday when a majority was required for election and only 60 candidates won. In the runoff, the seat went to the high man.

Israel Holds Talks

TEL AVIV (AP) — A high-ranking member of Premier Golda Meir's Labor party says Israel is holding regular secret talks with leaders of the Arab world.

The statement by Yitzhak Ben-Aharon, secretary-general of the giant Histadrut labor federation, followed earlier reports of meetings between Deputy Premier Yigal Alon and King Hussein of Jordan. The government has denied the reports.

Peron's Candidate Leading In Voting

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Juan Peron's candidate for president, Hector J. Campora, ran first as expected in the balloting Sunday to end seven years of military rule. But it appeared certain that he would have to face Ricardo Balbin of the Radical Civic Union in a runoff within a month.

With returns in from all but 1,000 of the 55,560 polling places, Campora, a 63-year-old dentist turned politician, had received 6,235,528 votes, or 48.7 per cent. Balbin, 62, was far behind in second place with 2,718,023 votes, or 21.2 per cent. Seven other candidates divided the rest.

The rest of the votes went to seven other candidates. The Peronist leader needed 50 per cent of the vote to prevent a runoff. The election was the first since the armed forces kicked out President Arturo Illia in 1966. The voters also chose a new Congress to replace the one closed down when the military stepped in.

Campora is Peron's personal representative in Argentina while the 77-year-old former dictator lives in Madrid. Peron was ousted in 1955 after ruling Argentina almost 10 years.

During the campaign, Campora made no secret of who would be in charge should he be elected. "Campora to government, Peron to power" was his campaign slogan. He telephoned Peron twice Sunday night to keep him posted.

The Peronist forces backing Campora included a dozen parties and groups divided by factionalism and disputes but united in their devotion to the ex-president.

President Alejandro Lanusse, an army general, says he is retiring from the presidency and the armed forces on May 25, the

FOR CANAL PROGRAM

Voters To Decide Fate Of Trinity River Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bitter fight over the merits of the proposed $1.6 billion Trinity River canalization program that would link the Dallas-Fort Worth area with the Gulf of Mexico has its climax Tuesday when voters in 17 Texas counties go to the polls.

They will be voting on the authorization of $150 million worth of bonds as their share of the project to be paid for with a maximum property tax of 15 cents per $100 valuation.

To pass, the bond issue must be approved by nine of the 17 counties and by a majority of the voters participating in the election.

An estimated one million voters will be eligible to take part in Tuesday's election. Of these, approximately 80 per cent live in Dallas and Tarrant counties with 630,000 in Dallas County alone.

The project calls for a channel with a minimum depth of 12 feet and a width of 200 feet and the construction of 16 channel dams and 20 locks to achieve the stair-stepping lift of 482 feet. The project would also shorten the length of the river from 548 to 335 miles by straightening 184 bows and bends.

The canalization project has received the endorsement of Gov. Dolph Briscoe and other officials, chambers of commerce and labor groups. They declare that the project will provide "a new window on the world" by providing inland water transportation for industry, adding water reserves for five million new residents, controlling flooding and abating pollution.

But a number of citizen environmental groups, clergymen and public officials have been equally emphatic in their denunciation of the canalization as "a billion dollar economic boondoggle."

Both sides agree that the Trinity River needs to be cleaned up, but there the agreement ends.

The Citizens' Organization for a Sound Trinity, cost, which opposes the bond election, says that the Trinity River Authority has had 18 years to clean up the river and has not done so. The organization also says that estimated total cost of $1.6 billion dollars provides nothing for pollution control.

The Trinity River Association says the maximum tax will amount to no more than $7.50 per year on a home valued at $20,000. But opponents say that there will be inequities in the tax because property is assessed at different evaluations in the 17 counties and that some private companies, including railroads and motor carriers, would be exempt from the tax.

The manager of the TR—David H. Brune—summarizes the arguments for the project by saying "the multi-purpose channel is for low-cost transportation, economic growth, flood control, recreation and preservation of natural areas."

But in a Sunday speech, Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Tex., of Dallas declared, "Barge transportation is already obsolete. The only persons who will benefit from the canalization are the shippers who will pay no fees and the people who have been buying land along the Trinity in anticipation of a possible profit."

Steelman said, "Water transportation won't reduce the prices of food or clothing for residents along the Trinity. Surveys show that 95 per cent of the anticipated cargo will be sand and gravel, steel and petroleum products."

Proponents of the plan argue that the $160 million in bonds to be paid for by Texans represents a tremendous bargain for the Trinity River basin and the state because the bulk of the cost would be borne by the federal government.

Opponents say that because of interest the eventual cost of the bonds will be more than $300 million dollars. They say that when first projected in the mid 1960s, the canalization was to have cost $750 million dollars and that before it is completed inflation could put the total cost at more than $3 billion.

On the subject of pollution control, there is also disagreement.

Connally's Switch Would Help GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top Texas Republicans predict the potential defection of Democrat John B. Connally will vastly accelerate a trend toward realignment of the nation's political parties.

Presidential counselor Anne Armstrong said Connally's switch to the GOP would mean "a monumental break in the dike" that has bound Democrats together.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said he thinks such a move by Connally would help Republicans become the majority party.

"I think Connally could have vast influence over the acceleration of a trend that has been in existence," Tower said.

"We have been going through a political realignment for years, especially in the South. This would be a way of helping out a trend."

Tower declined to say what he thought Connally's role in Texas politics would be if he switched, or whether he would rival Tower for the leadership.

Connally has shown increasing inclination to switch parties soon, perhaps a first step toward seeking the presidential nomination in 1976.

Connally is a three-term governor of Texas, was the only Democrat in President Nixon's Cabinet the first four years as secretary of the treasury and headed a "Democrats for Nixon" campaign last fall.

Mrs. Armstrong and Tower both said they look for Connally to help pull in considerable number of the 20 million Democrats who voted for Nixon in November.

Even if Connally doesn't openly invite powerful conservative colleagues from the Democratic party to join him in the GOP, Mrs. Armstrong said, he will be influential in what she expects to be their eventual crossover.

Mrs. Armstrong said she talked to Connally recently about his plans and she was convinced he would move, but she declined to speculate on the timing.

Tower said Connally would be "a tremendous asset, in about every way."

This would especially be true in Texas, he said, and would result in a substantial strengthening of the financial and leadership structure of the state GOP.

Both Tower and Mrs. Armstrong were leery of speculation whether Connally might run for president. Mrs. Armstrong said if he did she'd support him against any Democrat but declined to say what she'd do in a party contest.

"I don't think he's coming in with the intention of taking over the party," Tower said.

"Nobody's got an inside track on the GOP presidential nomination. It's too early."

Tower said, however, that he had detected no resentment of Connally as a potential interloper.

He agreed that many Texas Republicans had been irked by Nixon's choice of a Democrat for a prime Cabinet spot, overlooking many aspiring Republicans.

"I think whatever resentment there was dissipated by the time he left office," Tower said. "He proved to be a team player, he supported the President and he did a good job."

Bullish on central air conditioning? Consider investing just a little more in a long-term, blue chip Gas air conditioning system.

Only a Gas air conditioning system pays you regular dividends for many happy years. That's because the heart of a Gas cooling system is a simple gas burner, rather than an electric, mechanical compressor. A clean-burning gas flame doesn't wear out—so there's less to go wrong, fewer maintenance calls, a longer life with no loss of original cooling capacity. And because natural gas is the prime energy source, you'll also save money on operating cost.

Call one of our air conditioning specialists this week — before the summer market becomes really active. He'll make a free, no obligation, survey of your home and give you a quotation on the cool investment.

If you sneeze and sniffle during the ragweed season, if you have cramps, diarrhea, or rash after eating a particular food or drug, if you wheeze or itch when around a cat, a horse, chicken feathers, or some other substance — then you may be suffering from an allergy.

An allergy is an unusual reaction to a substance, an abnormal behavior of the body to it. Half of the people in the world sneeze or sniffle, wheeze or itch, suffer intestinal disturbances or other uncomfortable symptoms because of their allergies.

Half of the adult population in Texas and one-third of our children are afflicted, say state health officials.

In some it occurs only at certain seasons of the year, in others at fairly long intervals, while in many it is a daily problem.

When the allergy-producing substance enters your system and comes in contact with the antibodies in the cell, that union produces dramatic effects. The best known of the results of these miniature explosions is the release of the chemical histamine from the cell.

Normally, presence of histamine stimulates production of adequate amounts of antihistamine which would of course cause no symptoms to develop. Sometimes enough antihistamine is not produced to counter the levels of histamine.

Histamine is perfectly harmless when inside the cell, but once released outside the cell it produces undesirable changes. It dilates and congests blood vessels so that fluids from your blood stream leak out into the tissue, causing swelling.

If this change takes place in the skin the result is hives. If this reaction occurs in the nose, the membrane swells and you have a condition known as hay fever or "sinus."

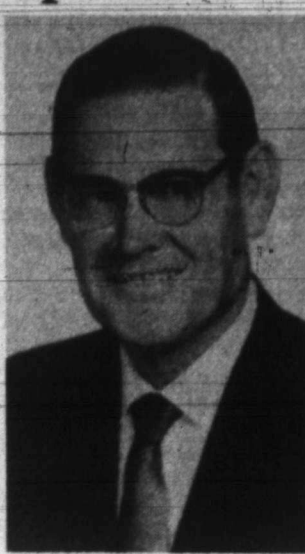

Another action of histamine is to contract or put into spasm involuntary muscle fibers — your muscles not controlled by your own will, such as stomach, intestine, urinary bladder, or uterus. If this muscle effect takes place in the muscle fibers around the bronchial tubes, asthma is the result. If in the intestine, cramps and diarrhea may be the effect.

At least one in three Texans who have untreated hay fever will develop asthma, say state health officials. In many cases, seasonal asthma may fail to subside with the end of the season and may become chronic.

Among the most common forms of respiratory allergy is

Cities Service Appoints New Plant Supervisors

Cities Service Gas Company announced the appointment of new superintendents at its Pampa, Tex., and Grant County, Kan., compressor stations.

RAYMOND MORRISON
...new superintendent

Raymond W. (Jack) Morrison transfers from Hugoton station east of Ulysses to Pampa, where he fills the post recently vacated by the retirement of Carl D. Anderson. The latter retired March 1, ending a 44-year career with the company.

The Pampa post includes stations at Higgins, Burnett, Deahl, Hughey and White Deer.

A Ray Blanchard shifts to the Grant County plant from a similar position as superintendent of the natural gas transmission company's Straight station north of Guymon. The Hugoton station complex includes United station on the site, and a satellite station near Sublette.

Morrison joined the company in 1936 as a machinist and repairman and later became a machine shop foreman. He was promoted to the superintendent ranks in 1952 and was assigned to the East Ulysses post in 1968.

Morrison is married and the father of a grown daughter, Mrs. Jane Weaver, who lives in Florida.

Blanchard returns to the station where he was assigned in 1959 as an engineer in the compressor department. He first joined the company in 1948 and moved into the superintendent ranks in 1961, subsequently serving at Wichita, West Ulysses and Straight.

He is married and the father of three children: Larry, also employed by the company in Wichita; Terry, a student at Kansas State University, and Betty Jo, enrolled in the Wesley School of Nursing, Wichita.

Cities Service Gas Company, a subsidiary of Cities Service Company, delivers wholesale supplies of natural gas to 500 communities in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska and Texas.

AIME Society Elects Russell

Donald G. Russell, general manager of information and computer services for Shell Oil Company in Houston, has been elected president of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME for 1974.

Russell will serve as president-elect on the SPE Executive Committee and the Board of Directors during 1973 and will assume office as president of the Society at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineers (AIME) in February, 1974. SPE is a constituent society of AIME.

The Shell Oil Co. executive has a long record of service to both the Society and the Institute, including the authorship with Shell colleague C.S. Matthews of the first SPE Monograph, "Pressure Buildup and Flow Tests in Wells."

Russell served as an SPE Distinguished Lecturer in 1967-68, he is a former chairman of the Society's Monograph Committee, the SPE Transaction-Editorial Committee, and the SPE "ad hoc" Textbook Committee.

Russell is a graduate of Sam Houston State University and the University of Oklahoma, and has been with Shell since 1955. He was promoted to his present position in the summer of 1972.

Tree pollens cause trouble from about the middle of March to the middle of May, grass pollens from May to August, and ragweed pollen from approximately the middle of August to October. Because they come in direct contact with the tissues, only small amounts of pollen are required to produce symptoms.

The severity of hay fever varies in different parts of the country, from season to season and day to day. It is largely dependent on the weather conditions during the growth of the plant, and the temperature, humidity, sunshine and wind velocity during pollination time.

Molds commonly grow on plants, and the seeds (or spores) are microscopic in size, many of them being even smaller than pollen. The kinds of molds which produce hay fever and asthma are particularly prevalent on grains, such as wheat, oats, rye and corn. Next to pollen, molds are the most common causes of seasonal hay fever and asthma.

Then there is contact dermatitis. If you go for a hike in the woods you may suffer an inflammation of the upper layers of the skin, varying from redness to blisters and also accompanied by itching. It is an allergy caused by direct contact of the causative substance.

Poison ivy dermatitis is one of the best known examples of this kind. Poison ivy is not a poisonous plant. No one is affected by it the first time he touches it. Only on subsequent exposure does an allergy show up in about half or more of the persons. But many other plants and common substances in use in the house can produce this disease.

Three factors may play a part in the production of allergic illness. Susceptibility is one. Only certain people have the ability or the background to become allergic. Granting you have this background, you still must become sensitized to a special substance and then be re-exposed to it. If you avoid either of these steps, you will have no allergic illness.

A third factor is what might be called contributing factors. Various conditions — temperature, chemical irritants, dust, emotional disturbances, etc. — may aggravate allergies or trigger their attacks. But by themselves they do not cause allergic symptoms.

If there is a family history of an allergy either on the father's or mother's side, then the disease frequently manifests itself in the offspring. But the allergy they develop will not necessarily be the same type as their parents'.

Specific allergy tests can be given by your doctor to discover the substances to which you are reacting. Specific desensitizing treatments may be given to build up immunity gradually. Prevention and avoidance of the offending substance, if possible, is the most effective means of dealing with an allergy.

THE WORDS OF CHRIST

BY DAVID POLING

To another He said, "Follow me." But he said, "Lord, let me first go and bury my father. But He said to him, 'Leave the dead to bury their own dead; but as for you, go and proclaim the kingdom of God.'"

Luke 9

From countless sources in history we know that proper burial was of great importance to the people of the Near East. Mourning practices were expected and extensive — thus the harsh comment from Jesus to the one who expressed interest in His ministry. This man had been attracted to the company of Christ. Yet he suddenly remembers the obligations of family and tribe — the proper burial of his father.

For Jesus this was not a valid excuse, for what could be a higher calling than the urgent announcement of the Kingdom of God? He suggests an alternative: let those who are dead, unconcerned, spiritually vacant — let them fulfill the old order, the ancient practices. Let the dead bury the dead, for the ministry of the word of God is a greater calling and a higher goal.

Gerogiann Grayson Becomes Bride Of Dorman Thomas, Jr.

Miss Gerogiann Grayson became the bride of Dorman W. (Buddy) Thomas, Jr., of White Deer, Saturday, Feb. 17 at St. Paul Methodist Church, Pampa.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Grayson, 605 N. Sumner, Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. Dorman W. Thomas, Sr., of Wheeler, are parents of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. J.W. Rosenberg, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony, which was performed before an altar decorated with white wrought iron kneeling bench and an archway entwined with greenery, white gladioli, wedding bells and love birds tied with a large satin turquoise bow. Pews of honor were marked with large white satin bows.

Organist, Mrs. Atha Wilks, Pampa, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Dennis Taylor, Pampa, as he sang, "The Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE
The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of polyester cotton voile and cotton lace designed with a high neckline, bib front, long Gibson-girl sleeves and semi-bouffant skirt. Inserts of lace complemented the neckline, bodice, sleeves and hemline of the gown. Her mantilla of sheer nylon tulle with matching cotton lace trim was attached to a matching band of lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, turquoise and white carnations, stephanotis, baby's breath, and satin streamers, with love knots atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
Matron of honor was Mrs. Max Patton of Aspen, Colo., sister of the bride. She wore a street-length dress of turquoise double-knit, a pill box hat of matching material and carried a bouquet of white and turquoise carnations, white rose, baby's breath and satin streamers with love knots.

MRS. DORMAN W. THOMAS, JR. ...nee Miss Gerogiann Grayson

Douglas Taylor of Canyon, served as best man, and ushers were Hall Herndon of Panhandle and Joe A. Grayson, brother of the bride, Amarillo. Serving as aisle cloth layers were Wade and Weston Patton, nephews of the bride, Aspen, Colo. Guests were registered by Mrs. Douglas Taylor of Canyon.

RECEPTION
The reception was held in the W.I. Gilbert Youth Building of the church. The serving table was covered with a turquoise satin cloth overlaid with a handmade white net cloth. The cloth was decorated with white Wyley Feese and Y.E. Turnbo. For a wedding trip to Oklahoma City, the bride wore a turquoise and white double knit dress and suit jacket with white patent accessories and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride was graduated from Panhandle State College in Goodwell, Okla., in 1970 and is presently employed by the Texas State Highway Department in Pampa.

The bridegroom was graduated from West Texas State University in 1971 and is employed by Carson County Feedyards in Panhandle. The couple will make their home at 420 N. Warren in Pampa.

Approximately 60 wedding guest attended from out-of-town.

Popular Pastels

The delicate pastels that brightened up fall and winter will, of course, remain popular for warmer months. But a different look comes with dark, muted colors in light-weight fabrics for spring. Contrasting the light and dark will be a popular look.

Pleats Make News

Pleated skirts, part of the big news for spring suits, come in different styles. The skirts that are pleated all around and start at the waistband are best left to the thinner woman or the pleats will never lie flat.

Dear Abby

Making her an offer she ought to refuse

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Greg and I have been married for six years (no children) and I thought we were getting along rather well when suddenly, after a trivial argument, he walked out and didn't come home that night. I was frantic.

The next day I called him at work and his receptionist said he was busy and would call me back. He never called. And he didn't come home that night either. I phoned his office again and got the same treatment.

Finally I went to his office and waited for him outside. He said he was fed up with married life and he was coming for his clothes that night, which he did.

All he said was he would stay married to me if I agreed to let him come and go with no questions asked. Also, if he felt like taking me somewhere he would, but I wasn't to ask HIM. Finally, he didn't want to see my face around his place of business.

I have seen a priest and a lawyer. They both said I should either accept Greg on his terms, or let him go. I am 35 but people say I look 25. He's 32, and looks 45. What do you think?

DEAR BEWILDERED: I think your husband's terms are absurd. If I were you I'd say, "bye bye" while I still "looked 25."

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine told me that her husband has a very coarse and heavy beard, so he shaves every night before he goes to bed so his stubble doesn't irritate her tender face when they cuddle during the night.

When I told my husband how sweet and considerate I thought that was, he said, "He sounds like a first-class jerk to me."

You see, I told my husband that story for a reason, but he didn't get the hint. Maybe if you print this, he'll catch on.

DEAR FACE: Sometimes the best approach is the direct approach. Quit hinting, and tell your percipience what's on your mind.

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher with a serious bronchial condition. The doctor told me I should not even be where others are smoking. Well, I put a sign up in my apartment reading "Thanks for not smoking."

Everyone who has come to visit me has respected that request, and I really appreciated it. Last week I had a few guests who had never visited me before. When one of them saw the sign, she said, "Don't think I am staying here and not smoking. Give me an ashtray!"

When I told her I didn't have any ashtrays she asked for a dish. I refused. I served coffee, and she and the others smoked and used their cups for ashtrays.

Abby, I couldn't believe it. I didn't want to hurt them, but I hurt myself. That night I couldn't sleep, and the next day I couldn't use my voice to speak to my students.

So what can I do about rude, inconsiderate people who smoke regardless?

DEAR INSULTED: You can tell THEM (not me) that you cannot tolerate smoke, so they will have to make a choice between your company and their cigarettes. But say it like you mean it!

Your Horoscope

By Jean Dixon

TUESDAY, MARCH 13
Your birthday today! Arrives amid preparations for a coming showdown, with either rivals or with your own natural limitations. Today's natives tend to be quick, positive thinkers.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Business negotiations drift into embarrassing circumstances. High pressure carries risk of misunderstandings.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Revision and re-routing are the order of the day. Purely creative expressions are effective.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Where you've been neglected or refused lately, see if a different attitude is developing, but assume nothing is permanent.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: What you sign in haste turns out to be quite permanent. Stubbornness is more a virtue than a fault.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You have a good chance to understand trouble coming from hidden sources. Your serene and generous mood should prevail.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Re-evaluate your work, allow margin for probable changes. Share the effort and the earnings.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: A streak of resistance continues but is diminishing. By later hours much is possible that seemed improbable earlier.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Long journeys encounter smooth going, with encouraging responses from new acquaintances. Those who stay put attract exotic people and interesting ideas.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Once you're into the main program, it's best to come to terms quickly, sign up and proceed with new activities.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Your most gentle approach is the only path to deeper understanding. Home can easily be reorganized. Main thing is a determined effort.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Proposals fall apart as you try taking them seriously. Time out for a good laugh and a good cry. A secret is exposed.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Aside from the temptation to promise the moon to loved ones, this is a successful day.

Pearl Buck: A Last Interview

(EDITORS: The following is Pearl S. Buck's last interview. It was conducted at the late author's home in Danby, Vt., in conjunction with the publication of her last work of nonfiction, "China: Past and Present," six days before her death on March 8. The John Day Company published her last book, a novel, "All Under Heaven.")

PEARL S. BUCK photographed in Danby, Vt., home.

DANBY, Vt. — (NEA)
When I was a little girl, I believed that Pearl Buck was an adventurer who had a special role in controlling all the decisions made in my concept of the world. I never quite realized whether she was a man or a woman; I only knew that Pearl Buck was a personage so great that no one could question her power or her ability.

I met Pearl Buck recently. I realized that my childhood vision was completely correct, except I am able to verify that she is very much indeed a beautiful, gracious woman.

Pearl S. Buck is the most translated author in the history of American literature with published books equal in number to her age of 80. She is the recipient of the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes and innumerable other honors. The world's greatest authority on China has also made unprecedented strides in the loving care and adoption of Amerasian children—those born of American fathers and Asian mothers in far-away places we know of in the context of war and poverty.

Pearl Buck now lives in a tiny New England town which is well into its second century of life. The village is Danby, Vermont, located just off state route 7, about 10 miles south of Rutland. Danby's existence sprang from three natural industries—lumber, marble and wholesale fur. Before Miss Buck arrived in the late 1960s, it seemed inevitable that the kind of death called "selling out" would forever take away the charm and remoteness of this once prosperous community.

The plan of Danby's 950 residents was to raise enough funds to burn down the fine old stores and buildings in hope that a development firm would buy the land for a modern shopping center. Miss Buck, who loves people above all else and to whom the beauty of things old is sacred, had another plan altogether.

Today, under the direction of Miss Buck and her staff, the Danby Construction and Decorating Company, Inc. is restoring the town to its former dignity and adding tasteful attractions to entice travelers off the main highway.

Miss Buck received me in her sitting room, resplendent in a traditional Chinese robe of royal blue brocade. Her presence immediately put me at ease and I felt at once a friend, a confidante, a person of importance, if only for the time I would spend with her.

Pearl Buck was modest, as always, in explaining her role in the Danby redevelopment program. She sat regally in a comfortable chair and murmured that the village is situated in an area reminiscent of a mountainous region of China close to where she grew up and lived for 40 years. She also spoke in quiet tones of the "fine air in Danby—that her life here is 'peaceful.'" In reviewing Miss Buck's life, it is far more likely that her spirit was simply, perhaps unconsciously, searching for a new challenge which would benefit others.

She rarely moved while she spoke, even to gesture, and yet the vitality which was transmitted to me was as much by what she said—although her literate humor, and quick, well-phrased replies astounded me at the time and in retrospect)—but by her obvious awareness of what life is all about. As she said to me, "I, myself, am a writer. My books come out of where I am—not necessarily physically."

Miss Buck lived in Japan for one year following her family's temporary expulsion from China during the revolution of 1926. I have just returned from living and working in Tokyo for three years. I am sure that my communion with Miss Buck was enhanced by my limited understanding of the Asian mind, for Pearl Buck is and will always be Asian.

Impossible to speak in this way of a woman who was born in the United States of American parents and who has spent the past 40 years of her life in this country?

No, not impossible, for as Miss Buck herself has admitted that she still thinks first in Chinese and then speaks in English. What she says is carefully weighed; there is no waste, no superfluities in her conversation. The Asian subtlety which is her nature is so delicate that I felt myself seated beside a Confucian scholar, a Bodhisattva, a rare treasure of the mysterious Orient never to be completely fathomed by the Western mind.

When I gave Miss Buck my token present, a ritual observed when visiting an Asian home, she admired the wrapping at great length, believing the decorated paper to be the bookmark I had brought. When she discovered there was something within, she did not apologize for her error. She examined the simple woven strip of cloth from the mountains of Sapporo, Japan, and praised it with even greater extravagance, immediately placing it in the book she was currently reading.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, March 12, the 71st day of 1973. There are 294 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1938, Germany invaded Austria. The next day, Hitler announced that Austria union with greater Germany would take place.

On this date:

In 1664, New Jersey became a British colony as King Charles II made a land grant to his brother, James, duke of York.

In 1912, the first parachute jump from an airplane was made by Army Capt. Albert Berry at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

In 1939, Pope Pius XII was elevated to the papacy.

In 1940, Finland surrendered to the Soviet Union in World War II.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman proposed U.S. aid to Greece and Turkey. It was establishment of what became known as the Truman Doctrine.

In 1971, the government of Turkey resigned after military leaders threatened a takeover.

Ten years ago: The U.S., Britain and France recognized a new military government in Syria four days after it staged a coup.

Five years ago: Independence was proclaimed for the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius, which had been under British rule.

One year ago: Britain and China agreed to exchange ambassadors, 22 years after London first recognized the Peking government.

Today's birthdays: Former astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. is 50. Playwright Edward Albee is 45. Actress and singer Liza Minnelli is 27.

The first floor of Pearl Buck's house is filled, nearly cluttered, with Asian treasures from her past. But her living and reception area on the second floor is decorated in cheerful tones in a style which might be called "dateless-comfortable" with only a few reminders of China gathered about. And yet Miss Buck's presence in that western room changed it into a latter-day Imperial Court.

I requested permission to photograph her in this setting and she instantly became endearingly human again. She checked to see that the silk button on her mandarin collar was fastened and she quickly smoothed her soft white hair, wound up above her graceful neck.

Taking my leave, I suppressed my overwhelming desire to bow, Asian fashion, and we lightly touched hands. I felt the sense of awe that one would expect, not because she was the immortal Pearl S. Buck, but because I felt she was the most complete person I had ever known. Pearl Buck has, in essence, the humility and grace of nobility born of a noble spirit.

IT'S MECCA, the holy city of Islam, and you are looking down on the Holy of Holies, the Great Holy Mosque, with thousands of pilgrims thronging its courtyard. The small structure in the center is the Kaaba, housing Islam's Black Stone, which the faithful believe was given to Abraham by Gabriel. When Moslems kneel to pray they face toward the Kaaba, wherever in the world they may be.

WORRY CLINIC

Rev. Paul dared his plump parishioners to join him in a diet prior to Easter. He lost 20 pounds and his blood pressure dropped from 190 to 168. Knowing he was dieting, his parishioners were then not offended when he declined their pie and cake!

CASE W-549: Rev. Paul, aged 39, is head of a thriving parish. "But, Dr. Crane," he began, "I am a victim of hospitality!"

"For when I call on my parishioners, they invariably ask me to have a cup of coffee and a piece of pie or cake."

"And I can't resist their gracious offer, for I not only like such delicacies."

"But I also feel it might affront the housewife's culinary skill if I refused her proffered food."

"As a result, I am now 40 pounds too heavy. And my blood pressure is 190."

"It is slowing me down in my coverage of the parish."

"And I am rapidly losing my erotic verve, too, so how can I diet under the circumstances?"

DIETING CHALLENGE

Every 5 pounds of extra fat causes 3 miles of extra blood vessels to sprout.

Your heart thus must force your blood through those additional miles of "pipes" at every beat.

Since Rev. Paul is 40 pounds too fat, his faithful heart is thus compelled to move his 6 quarts of blood through 24 miles of extra blood vessels!

That's why obesity alone can raise your blood pressure, even without hardening of the arteries or cigarettes to further tax your heart!

And this additional blubber makes you more tired, so you thus drop down into a chair (often at the dining room table) to perk up via a soft drink!

A vicious circle then ensues, for the more you drink, the fatter you become.

And the fatter you become, the more often you sit down to prod your weary muscles with drinks or a snack.

Furthermore, obesity has a de-sexing effect!

You are aware that surgical castration tends to produce fat barrows, steers and capons.

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

But excessive fat itself likewise tends to reduce erotic urges and produce platonic marriage!

Wives, if you wish to serve far more enticing cheesecake in the boudoir, lop off the extra blubber you have accumulated around your equator since your wedding day!

Remember, too, that boudoir cheesecake doesn't add any extra calories to your own or your husband's daily quota!

So reduce your attention to fancy recipes for the dining room and learn how to improve your bedroom cheesecake!

Rev. Paul decided to go on my dehydration diet during the 6 weeks till Easter.

He lost 11 pounds the first 10 days and 9 pounds the following few weeks, making a 20-pound reduction.

Soon he perked up in his physical vigor, as well as his eroticism.

This dehydration diet requires a low fluid intake the first 10 days, coupled with special stress on protein foods, like lean meat and cottage cheese.

Your stomach shrinks within a few days so you thus feel fairly full on your 800 to 1,200 calories per day.

And your craving shifts from food to a desire for ice water! So send for the booklet "How to Lose 10 Pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Rev. Paul challenged his plump parishioners to join him on the diet and 37 did so, contributing $2.50 to the church for every pound they shed!

Today's birthdays: Former astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. is 50. Playwright Edward Albee is 45. Actress and singer Liza Minnelli is 27.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hepburn Bldg., Westport, Indiana 47168. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

 Yield: 2 individual steaks
 2 Proten Boneless Broiling Steaks,
 1 1/4 inches thick
 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1/4 cup chili sauce
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese
 Cut edges of steaks to prevent curling. Place on oven broiler rack so tops are 3 to 4 inches from heat. Or place on outdoor grill over glowing white coals. Broil until one side is brown. Turn. Broil other side. While steaks are broiling, pan-fry green pepper in butter. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat slowly and stir until cheese is melted. Top broiled steaks with hot sauce and serve immediately.

Trevino Blows 4 Shot Lead But Wins Tourney

MIAMI (AP) — Lee Trevino sighed wearily. "I aged 10 years on this one. So many guys got so close. I could have finished third or fourth," he said.

But, the man with the pressure-proof nerves didn't. He won, responding to a stretch challenge with a pair of birdies, and a crucial putt on the final hole.

Trevino, now winner of two tournaments in three weeks, blew a four-stroke lead before staging a dramatic rally for a one-stroke victory over Bruce Crampton and Tom Weiskopf in the Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

The $30,000 first prize boosted Trevino's money winnings to $98,543 and vaulted him into the No. 1 money-winning spot this year, ahead of Crampton, the leader since he took consecutive titles at Phoenix and Tucson early this season.

"Yeah, I'm the leading money winner," Trevino agreed. "But I'm taking two weeks off, and I won't be when I get back."

Crampton, an Australian veteran enjoying the best season of his 17-year career on the American tour, agreed. "I'm confident I'll get it back," he said.

He came very close to retaining it. Trevino finished with a 276 total, 12-under-par on the 7,065-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

Crampton bolted out of the pack with a seven-under-par 65 on the final round—his card included nine threes—and tied with Weiskopf for second at 277, one stroke behind Trevino.

Weiskopf holed a 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole for a 67.

Ralph Johnston and Rod Carl, a pair of non-winning tour regulars, tied for fourth at 280, with Jerry Heard and Dave Hill another shot back at 281. Hill and Heard each got to within one stroke of Trevino at one stage of the final round before folding.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1972 champion and the pre-tourney favorite, never was in contention. He had a final round 69 for 285 and a tie and 16th place—his poorest finish of the year.

Basketball Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last time the Carolina Cougars lost three games in a row, there were 50 shopping days until Christmas.

The Cougars, trying to clinch their first American Basketball Association East Division title, lost to the defending ABA champion Indiana Pacers 115-105 Sunday. The loss was the Cougars third in a row, the first three-game losing streak since early November.

"What concerns me is the lack of effort," Cougar Coach Larry Brown said. "It's got to be my fault we are playing this way. We will be ready to play Friday against Virginia at Greensboro if that's any consolation," Brown said.

Brown was especially disturbed about his teams performance Sunday. "I don't think we played badly in our previous two losses, but today we didn't play well and Indiana did."

The Cougars hold a three game lead over Kentucky with seven games to play.

In other ABA action Sunday the New York Nets stopped Memphis 120-113, the Kentucky Colonels bombed the Denver Rockets 119-88 and the Utah Stars beat the San Diego Conquistadors 112-101.

In ABA play Saturday, Virginia edged Denver 106-103, Kentucky beat Memphis 121-110 and San Diego stopped Dallas 120-116.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Boston clobbered New York 122-107, Houston beat Atlanta 129-118, Golden State edged Philadelphia 97-93, and Los Angeles blasted Detroit 141-117.

Saturday in the NBA New York smashed Kansas City-Omaha 125-102, Buffalo edged Portland 106-101, Seattle beat Philadelphia 106-96, Atlanta squeaked by Golden State 117-113, Chicago defeated Baltimore 105-99 and Houston stopped Cleveland 131-118.

Freddie Lewis and Roger Brown led a third quarter rally that enabled the Pacers to break open a tight game. Indiana outscored the Cougars 28-17 in the third quarter after the scored was tied at halftime and maintained at least a ten point lead the rest of the way.

Lewis scored 24 points and Brown added 23 for Indiana. Steve Jones led the Cougars with 22 points, while Tom Owens clinched in 16.

Bill Melchioni hit two jump shots to spark a 9-2 fourth quarter spurt enabling the New York Nets to defeat the Memphis Tams.

Jimmy Bond Speaker At Basketball Banquet

Jimmy Bond will be the guest speaker at the 1973 Harvesters basketball banquet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria.

There are a limited number of tickets still available for the banquet. They may be purchased at the football fieldhouse at PHS, John McGuire Motors, radio station KPDM and at Hood Pharmacy.

Also on the program for the evening is the naming of the "Hustling Harvester" for 1972-73, the crowning of the basketball queen, and other awards for the basketball squad.

Bond was an all-state performer for the Harvesters in the 1950's and led PHS to two state basketball titles (1953-54).

During Bond's tenure at Pampa High, the Harvesters ran up a 56-2 record. He later played college ball at Pasadena (Calif.) College.

Bond recently completed a year's missionary work in Brazil and is now serving as pastor of the Lakeview Park Church in Oklahoma City.

Willie Mays Hit With Fine By Manager Yogi

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not to be outdone by the marital headlines of New York Yankee pitchers Fritz Peterson and Mike Kekich and their respective spouses last week, one of the New York Met wives made a little news over the weekend.

Mrs. Mae Mays received an expensive visit from husband Willie while the Mets, who are looking for a center fielder anyway, put out baseball's version of an APB for the AWOL Willie.

The Yankees' official policy was hands off the Peterson-Kekich hi-jinks. Mays wasn't so lucky, and Manager Yogi Berra slapped him with a fine estimated from $500 to $1,000 after the 41-year-old superstar missed connections on a flight back from his Atherton, Calif., home to the Mets' St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp and failed to show up for a Saturday workout.

"I made a mistake," Mays admitted after Berra socked him with the first major fine of his long career at a Sunday meeting. "He made his point and he was right. When I'm wrong, I'm wrong. I should have told him."

At first, Mays said his wife wasn't feeling well. Later, he amended his story, saying, "Mostly my wife's lonesome, but she'll join me next week."

At any rate, Mays' absence Saturday had the Mets sending a search party to his apartment a few miles from St. Petersburg. Asked why he hadn't phoned when his original flight back from California was canceled, Mays shrugged:

"I should have—it sounds silly, but I didn't know the number. I could have found it out. I agree, but I thought I could be back before anybody knew I was gone."

Mike Schmidt drove in six runs with a triple and grand slam homer, powering the Philadelphia Phillies to a 9-7 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates' B squad. Bill Robinson socked a two-run homer after Schmidt's grand slam in the sixth inning.

Milwaukee's George Scott also had a six-RBI game with a pair of three-run homers in the Brewers' 12-2 rout of the San Diego Padres. The Brewers also got home runs from Darrell Porter and John Vukovich.

Cliff Johnson's grand slam capped a tie-breaking five-run uprising in the ninth inning as the Houston Astros outslugged the Minnesota Twins 10-5. Doug Rader also connected for the Astros while the losers got consecutive homers in the seventh inning from Bobby Darwin and Danny Walton. In other games it was Montreal 11, Texas Rangers 2; Baltimore 10, New York Yankees 0; Detroit 13, Cincinnati 8; Los Angeles 6, Atlanta 3; Boston 6, Pittsburgh 4; Kansas City 4, Chicago White Sox 3; San Francisco 9, Cleveland 5; Cleveland 7, Oakland 4; California Angels 8, Chicago Cubs 7.

GOLF

HOUSTON — Kathy Whitworth earned the $20,000 first prize at the S&H Green Stamp Ladies' Classic, scoring by two strokes over Mary Mills.

TRACK & FIELD

DE ROJIT — Manhattan's distance team raced to a world record in the medley relay, clocking 9 minutes 43.8 seconds in the closing session of the NCAA indoor championships.

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands — Yordanka Blagoeva of Bulgaria set a new world record for the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 3 1/4 inches, and countrywoman Yordanka Yordanova established a new standard for the 800-meter run with a clocking of 2 minutes, 2.65 seconds at the European Indoor Athletics Championships.

AUTO RACING

MALLORY PARK, England — Jean Pierre Jarier of France, driving a BMW powered March, averaged 112.75 miles per hour in winning the first event counting toward the European Formula Two championship.

BRISTOL, Tenn. — Rain halted the Southeastern 500 Grand National stock car race with Gale Yarborough in the lead. The event will resume on March 25.

TENNIS

HARTFORD — Ken Rosewall of Australia topped Stan Smith of Silver Springs, Md. 6-7, 6-0, 6-4 to give his homeland a 4-2 match lead and insure its victory in the Aetna World Cup tourney.

DALLAS — Virginia Wade of Great Britain used a bristling serve and sharp forehand to defeat Australian Evonne Goolagong 6-4, 6-1 and win the Maureen Connolly Brinker Tournament final.

SAN JUAN — Alex Metreveli of the Soviet Union topped Britain's Roger Taylor, 6-4, 6-4, 6-6, 7-5 in winning the singles title at the $20,000 Puerto Rico International tournament.

CHICAGO — Australia's Margaret Court bested Billie Jean King of Hilton Head, N.C. 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, to win her sixth of a possible seven titles on the Virginia Slims tour.

form charts

MINNESOTA TWINS

American League West

PROSPECTUS: The way the Twins stars are aging, Calvin Griffith could put some of the 18 relatives on the executive payroll, supply them with field uniforms and come out ahead.

Harmon Killebrew is 36, Jim Perry is 36, Jim Kaat is 33 and Tony Oliva is 31. They even had a rookie, Bob Darwin, who was 29! But the Twins have not been resting on laurels of old. They have traded and rustled up some young players, unproven but with potential. It is up to Frank Quilici, oddly enough the youngest manager in baseball at age 33, to put this assortment into functional order. The Twins finished third last season after having won two 1st division titles.

PITCHING: A 4-1 point and could get stronger. There are 12 men who have a shot for the starting rotation. Bert Blyleven (17-17), Dick Woodson (14-14), Jim Perry (13-16) and Jim Kaat (10-2) until he broke his navicular bone) are best bets for last season. Former Cubs Bill Hoedes and Joe Decker, and ex-Phillie Ken Reynolds, plus rookie Steve Luebber, are also in contention. Ken Sanders is, however, only a reliable reliever.

INFIELD: At first, Harmon Killebrew is a question. He can still hit homers (26 in 1972 and 541 career—fourth best in history) but he is having wheels problems and mobility is cut. Joe Lin will be his caddy or regular if Killebrew is DPH. Ron Carey was second hitting title, at second base; Donny Thompson (.275) at short and Steve Braun (.289) of third make up formidable infield.

OUTFIELD: What about right-fielder Tony Oliva? Only his doctors know. The three-time batting champion played only 10 games last season, and underwent a knee operation. Darwin (80 RBIs to lead club) in center. Maybe recently obtained Larry Hise in left. And maybe a youngster, like Steve Brye or Jim Holt or rookie Mike Adams.

CATCHING: Glenn Borgmann, 22, who batted .234 for Twins in only 56 games last season, is expected to be starting catcher. Weak-hitting veterans George Mitterwald and Phil Roof are backups.

Predicted Finish: Fifth in West.

form charts

TEXAS RANGERS

American League West

PROSPECTUS: Ted Williams has thrown up his hands as manager and departed to his happy fishing grounds, wherever they may be. The great slugger could no longer take "these high-school mistakes" by his players. Some of his players, however, are not terribly sad to see Williams gone. Especially the pitchers. They felt that Williams' resentment toward pitchers as a player carried over as a manager. So Whitey Herzog is the new field boss, and he has some new faces to work with. Such as Rico Carty and Mike Epstein (who in fact was once before a Ranger—or Washington Senator), as well as some of the old medicine faces.

PITCHING: Rich Hand was top Ranger winner last season with 10 (and lost 14). Then there was Dick Bosman who won 8, Mike Paul who won 8, Pete Broberg 5 and Bill Gogolewski 4. And they all lost more than they won. Besides this, the management traded off Paul Lindblad, the team's best relief pitcher. Maybe rookies Mike Thompson and Rich Kemp can aid.

INFIELD: Carty, with a lifetime .321 average, was obtained from Braves. Rico is 32 and often hobbling. He will be designated pinch hitter or at first unless Epstein regains his old position (Mike hit 26 homers for A's last season). Vic Harris looks like best bet at second, even though he hit .140. But he is a switch-hitter. (Whatever that's supposed to mean.) Toby Harrah at short is good; can handle a grounder as well as a curve. Dave Nelson (.266) or Bill McNulty, a minor leaguer, will be at third.

OUTFIELD: Ted Ford, Elliott Maddox, Joe Lovitto, Larry Bittner are outfielders, according to the official roster. Jeff Burroughs, who hit 24 homers at Denver, may be best of the lot.

CATCHING: Dick Billings (.254) and two guys with under .200 averages, Hal King and Bill Fahey, are vying, if that's the word, for the first-string job.

Predicted Finish: Last in West.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Lysander Who?

Did you ever hear of the man who declared the Constitution unconstitutional?

Don't laugh. There was such a person. He lived 1808 to 1887. He was a lawyer and pamphleteer. Many of his writings survive. They are hard-headed and realistic. Lysander Spooner was his name.

Spencer did not say that the U.S. Constitution was unconstitutional. Not in so many words. But what he tried to show was that the document was not in accord with the natural and proper order of things.

According to the Reason review, authored by Carl Watner, Spooner stressed contract law as the basis for relationship-between individuals, including the governmental relationship.

Watner described Spooner's belief as follows: "Applying these ideas to the national government, Spooner concluded that the government and the Constitution on which it is allegedly based, is illegitimate."

Spencer's writings are important to libertarian literature of our day because he so ably peels the elective and appointive politicians down to stark reality.

Stubborn Arithmetic

The 1971-75 five-year plan is in trouble. Year-end reports for 1972 are now in. Biggest pinch is shoes, clothing and home appliances. These were the lines for which the planners had promised the greatest improvement.

Freedom and duty always go hand in hand and if the free do not accept the duty of social responsibility, they will not long remain free.

Nixon Not Abandoning The Poor

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon is being pillorized these days by some sections of the Congress and the press for abandoning his family welfare proposals.

He is being written off as being against significant aid to the unfortunate, and described as lacking feeling for human suffering.

But consider the facts. For something over three years Mr. Nixon's men have attempted to get Congress to act on the Nixon formula for family assistance—money instead of direct services where possible, and greater incentives for the working poor.

One major bloc was against any program of this kind whatever—immovably so. Much of the clamor for reform in Congress has to do with getting rid of barnacles like the seniority system.

What this signifies is most serious. For the successful working of the American system of Congress depends on compromise—not with principle, but a modification by each grouping in Congress of its objectives and points of view.

But what we have developing in welfare and in other fields, is a polarity, politics above all—a divisiveness not as between Democrats and Republicans, but a cleavage based on small cliques.

This is a syndrome which has plagued a score of major countries over the years. The eventual result, in practice if not always in name, is a slew of small splinter parties or cliques within parties.

The recent testimony in hearings on the Internal Revenue Service provided some glaring evidence on this score. Several witnesses said flatly that the Internal Revenue Code today is a morass.

First off, it is the product of a succession of tax laws enacted without any serious attempt to coordinate the code and thus make it simpler to apply.

We all know, of course, that what counts is how a law is applied, and that any law covering a broad field demands interpretation by the administrators.

But it doesn't seem to follow that if Congress itself goes into detail, the administrators lay off and add fewer interpretive regulations. The way Congress puts together a complex law appears, indeed, only to assure that it will bewilder virtually everybody and throw a still heavier burden of interpretation upon the administrators.

I have done some extended writing in the field of Social Security. I can testify, from a reasonably close look at the

BRUCE BOSSAT Revisions of Law Spell Puzzlement

By BRUCE BOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Much of the clamor for reform in Congress has to do with getting rid of barnacles like the seniority system.

In updating a basic book on Social Security last fall after Congress had enacted a wide array of changes, I encountered many such thickets.

At one point, it seems wise to note that, in case of the death of a man qualified under Social Security, not just the widow and children might be able to draw survivorship benefits.

Just that simple statement was not sufficient for survivors who might be affected. So I delved into the details that our lawmakers had set down in explanation of what the "certain conditions" were.

The 1972 revisions had some important new features pertaining to widow's benefits. They were so ensnarled when they hit the Social Security Administration, which of course administers and oversees the dispensing of benefits to some 28 million Americans.

including the interpretive confusion which follows enactment, can be put right at the door of "congressional method." House and Senate committees labor long, and almost always come up with a patchwork of compromises.

Everybody understands that compromise is the heart of workable government, but surely, if compromises to keep its good name are a worthy art, the net product has to be far less murky than it is.

Death Evokes Parental Guilt

By Lawrence E. Lamb M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Our son died a few months ago at age 27. The diagnosis of his illness was hypertensive pyleonephritis finally going into uremia and anemia due to chronic glomerulonephritis.

We would like very much to know what caused this disease and if it was present since his birth. He did not drink but did indulge in drinking much milk, one of the first foods forbidden when the nephritis was discovered through urine, blood tests and X-ray studies two years ago.

We feel more should have been done for him, perhaps a transplant that may have caused him to live longer. All that was done was the blood and urine test every four months and he was given medication for high blood pressure.

Mott's Money Backs Democratic Attempt to Keep Party Liberal

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Stewart Mott, multi-millionaire "sugar daddy" of leftist Democratic candidates and organizations, is at it again.

This time the 35-year-old heir of a huge auto fortune is largely financing a small clique of ultra-liberal ex-kingmakers bent on keeping their faction in control of the Democratic party.

Reputedly Mott is "angeling" this covert operation to the tune of $100,000.

Its informal designation is the Democratic Planning Group (DPG), and it's supposed to function chiefly at the "grass roots" level—that is, in state and local sectors.

DPG already claims one significant victory "this was the election of California assemblyman John Burton, militant leftist, as chairman of the State Central Committee—despite the fact that McGovern lost the state by a wide margin.

Burton was one of the South Dakota radicals' leading promoters and had a big hand in managing his disastrous California campaign.

Moderate elements vigorously opposed Burton's grab for state chairman, but were unable to block it.

DPG sources credit Sen. McGovern with playing an important backstage role in putting over Burton. Reportedly, the South Dakotan sent word to California henchmen to go all out for Burton and under DPG steering they delivered.

Publicly, McGovern has said nothing about DPG. But it's claimed he heartily approves of the movement and is working closely with it.

Mott contributed some $400,000 to McGovern's presidential fiasco. In 1968, when the gilded do-gooder first surfaced as a big-money contributor to leftist candidates and causes, he put up around $250,000 for former Sen. Eugene McCarthy's abortive scramble for the White House.

Last December, while McGovern was still wallowing licking his wounds, Mott staged a fund-raising affair for him. It took the form of a "by invitation only" $100-a-plate dinner in a swank New York eatery.

McGovern and his wife were state and local Democratic leaders. Although invited, they stayed away in droves.

Later, Mott let it be known that $15,000 was raised for McGovern's 1974 third-term election campaign.

Who's Behind It Masterminds of the Democratic Planning Group are an assortment of far-out liberals of various vintages and backgrounds.

Top wirepuller is Alan Baron, squat, beefy, brash and an aggressive leftist. Known among politicians as "five-by-five," he bossed former Democratic national chairman Jean Westwood's frantic efforts to hold on to the job after the crushing November defeat.

kingpin of McCarthy's 1968 campaign.

Former national chairman Jean Westwood is in the group, but her effectiveness is questionable. There is some indication that her chief function is to serve as a "cover" for Baron's machinations.

He claims he is in "constant consultation" with Rauh, Clark and other DPG maestros, but Baron is known to have no hesitancy in throwing his weight around on his own.

Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss will have some good financial news to report when the committee meets in Washington in two weeks.

In the three months he has been in office, he has cut $1 million from the committee's four-year-old $4.5 million debt, and thinks it can all be wiped out before the start of the eventual 1974 state and congressional elections.

Strauss is erasing the red ink by negotiating 25-cents on-the-dollar settlements and other bargain rate payoffs.

Of the 25 additional national committee members Strauss will propose at the March 22 meeting, six will be laborites, ten women and eight blacks—some of them among the women. His list will also include prominent big contributors and fund raisers.

Arthur Krim, board chairman of United Artists Corporation and finance director of the national committee under President Lyndon Johnson, is slated to be head of a new Advisory Council planned by Strauss. It's to consist of leading elected Democratic officials.

Strauss will also seek national committee backing for his plan to postpone the "mid-term convention" scheduled for next year until December, well after the November elections. This meeting was ordered by the 1972 convention at the insistence of the assorted McGovernite leftists and activists then in control. Under that edict, the call for this "mini-convention" is to be issued by April 1, 1974.

But congressional and state leaders up for election next year are strongly opposed to that, and are urging the affair be delayed until after the November balloting. Strauss is in complete agreement with that, and will ask the national committee to approve the change.

Democratic party chiefs are anxiously awaiting AFL-CIO president George Mealy's decision on an invitation to address a still-unnannounced big fund-raising affair in New York. He was asked to be one of the main speakers and said he would "consider it." That in itself was deemed an encouraging sign.

If you make good grades at school

You're the one we want (especially if you plan to go to college)

We've noticed it. Our best carriers all seem to be above-average students. Perhaps it's because in the daily management of their routes, they apply the lessons they learn in the classroom. Like arithmetic in making change and in keeping a record of their profits. Or, maybe it's because newspaper route management is just one of those things a good student can do well. In any case, if your grades are A's and B's and you plan to go to college, we want to hear from you. We can show you how to build a savings account that can be a help when you get there. Why not get started today... by calling us. There may be a route available in your neighborhood.

Stock Public Probably Fund, Insurance Firm

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Whenever you hear about what "the public" is doing in the stock market, you should take note of the latest figures on institutional ownership. The public is probably an insurance company or a pension fund.

Continuing a 25-year trend, the multibillion dollar institutions raised their percentage of ownership last year and now account for nearly 30 per cent of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

But that is only the official figure. Data doesn't exist for several institutional categories, such as bank-administered personal trusts and investment-counseling organizations; as they are not included in the figure.

Neither are holdings of mutual funds not registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, foreign institutions or private hedge funds and nonbank trusts.

"Undoubtedly, the inclusion of all these groups would raise the total of all institutional holdings to, perhaps, 45 per cent of the NYSE list," the exchange conceded in releasing the percentages.

And even then, the real story isn't complete. As they grew, the institutions became more vigorous traders; and on some days, they now account for 60 or 70 per cent of all transactions. They dominate the Big Board.

The most amazing institutional growth of all has been by the corporate pension funds, which now own 180 times more stock than in 1949, when their holdings were $500 million. At $90 billion, their holdings have doubled in five years.

In second place are mutual funds, with NYSE assets of a bit more than $50 billion, followed by insurers with $40 billion and nonprofit institutions, mainly college endowments and foundations, with just under that figure.

One conclusion to be made is this: While there are 30 million shareholders today, millions of them in the past few years seemingly prefer to invest indirectly—through institutions rather than through brokers.

One of the more serious problems facing "The Street" in coming years is the matter of liquidity, or the ability to match buy and sell orders without incurring sharp rises or falls in prices.

While there were many millions of small, active traders, there always was a random mix of orders, and the NYSE prided itself on its ability to match buy and sell requests with only fractional price changes.

With the rise of institutions, and the speed-up of portfolio turnover, price changes in some stocks have become sharper. It is more difficult to match the huge blocks of stocks that institutions deal in.

It is partly for this reason that some of the more farsighted members of the investment community have been trying of late to be pleasanter to small investors.

By ARCH BOOTH
WASHINGTON — People sometimes ask me why I don't use this column occasionally to take business to task for its faults. Our business system has its problems, so let's look at some of them.

First, what kind of "faults" are we talking about? 1) Problems caused—or tolerated—by the management of individual companies. 2) Problems caused by government intervention in the free-market economy (sometimes at the request of businessmen). 3) Problems inherent in the system itself.

Category number one attracts the most attention today. So let's examine it and leave the others for another day. This category covers such things as the quality or safety of a product or service and the way in which it is represented by salesmen or through advertising.

Within this first category, there are three possible sources of trouble: honest mistakes, deliberate fraud, and differences of opinion.

Honest mistakes. Businessmen try hard to guess what the consumer wants. Usually they're right. But sometimes they guess wrong. Sometimes the engineers guess wrong, too. It takes a while for the "signals" to get back from the marketplace that the new product is a dog. Then it takes more time to replace that product with something better.

I know of no way to eliminate mistakes entirely. Even to attempt that would risk eliminating progress as well. But we can—and should—rectify those that do occur.

In our economy it's the profit incentive that prompts businessmen to correct mistakes when they are made, and to try to avoid them in the first place. On the whole, it works well. But we can—and should—rectify those that do occur.

In our economy it's the profit incentive that prompts businessmen to correct mistakes when they are made, and to try to avoid them in the first place. On the whole, it works well. But we can—and should—rectify those that do occur.

Deliberate fraud. Misrepresentation is a perversion of the free enterprise system, not a characteristic of it. No responsible businessman defends such practices...they damage the reputation of the entire business community.

Fortunately, with respect to both fraud and honest mistakes, the market tends to correct itself. Word gets out and sales fall off. The company either mends its ways or fails. (For protection from "fast buck operators" who don't intend to remain in their shady business very long, the best recourse is the courts plus publicity.)

Consumer groups can be very useful in calling attention to both outright fraud and honest mistakes—in the former case because it prevents new victims from being snared, in the latter because it helps get word of a mistake back to the company responsible for it.

I don't try to do this myself for several reasons. First, there are plenty of "consumer crusaders" around already, and their work is well reported. Second, I lack the means to investigate individual companies and products and I do not intend to repeat unproven allegations. Third, in some instances the "cures" being advanced are either unnecessary or actually worse than the disease.

This last point is one that does not receive enough attention, so I try to compensate by concentrating on it.

Differences of opinion. Who should decide what you have the right to buy? You, the consumer? Or some self-appointed "expert"? This is where I part company completely with some of the militant consumer "spokesmen."

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Aldous Huxley once described the desire for success as a situation in which "the have-nots demand a place in the sun, or in more vulgar language, a share of the loot."

Other definitions are about these days, and for that reason you might want to take a look tonight at an ABC News special called "Making Good in America."

It's a relaxed, occasionally chilling look at how modern Americans view success—and what are their values, priorities and hopes for both now and the future.

It's a broad-based study, ranging from noisy hosannas to the dollar at one of Glenn Turner's "Dare to be Great" rallies to the quiet, noncompetitive life of a cooperative farm in California's San Joaquin Valley.

The one-hour show, narrated by Howard K. Smith, was written by James Fleming, whose four-hour "Africa" special in 1967 won an Emmy award and several other broadcast journalism honors.

"Making Good" presents a host of viewpoints, including one on the role of the good corporate wife that may arouse a boo or two from women's lib advocates, not to mention some corporate wives.

It visits with the financially successful, those on the way up and those who turned their backs on the business world or plan to in favor of what some might call "voluntary poverty"—making do with a minimum of material goods.

The show also visits with those who are committed to helping the poor or troubled in society—either on a volunteer or a low-paid, full-time basis—and explores their reasons for doing so.
