Russian Troops Near German-Held Bryansk

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Bryansk, big German base and key to the Nazi defense position on the central front, was menaced by Russian heavy artillery today as Red army troops drove to within 12 miles of the city from the east. A Soviet communique disclosed that Russian troops were at Belye Berega after a four-mile drive which resulted in the capture of 40 villages in bitter fighting. The advance was ground out in a sector notable for stubborn German resistance since the fall of Orel a month ago gave the Red army its first major victory of the summer offensive.

Heavy Program Faces Congress As It Convenes

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Congress returns from a summer recess tomorrow to work for the war and prepare for the peace.

International and domestic problems of historic import confront the refreshed lawmakers as they resume their legislative chores in an atmosphere brightened by the surrender of Italy.

Immediate congressional attention was focused upon the direct problems of war and their impact on the domestic economy—problems of raising revenue, of rationing, of mustering manpower for production and for the military forces.

Ahead are questions of long range legislation—issues and controversies which may shape American foreign policy in the postwar world and blueprint the pattern for economic life at home for years to come.

Pending before the house is a resolution, sponsored by Rep. Fulbright (D-Ark.), which would put the house and senate on record in favor of world cooperation to preserve peace. Leaders are reported to have agreed to make it the first order of business.

The move to draft fathers after Oct. 1 vied for primary interest. Plans have been made for a swift test on Senator Wheeler's (D-Mont.) bill to ban induction of fathers at least until Jan. 1 and thus give congress time to inquire into the whole manpower problem.

Here are some of the other major issues on the congressional calendar.

- 1. Benefits for the returning veterans.
2. Prevention of postwar unemployment.
3. Limitation on the size of the army.
4. National service legislation.
5. Compulsory military training after the war.
6. Extension of the Commodity Credit Corporation and its use of subsidies to hold down consumer prices.
7. Economies in government.
8. Repeal of the renegotiation law authorizing the government to recapture "excessive" profits in war contracts.
9. Reconversion allowances for industrial war plants.

Daring Raid Gains Vital Airdrome

Aid In Loosening Japan's Grasp On New Guinea

By C. YATES McDANIEL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in the Southwest Pacific, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Japanese garrison at Salamaua today made desperate attempts to keep open a trail to Lae, its only channel of escape, so tight was the Allied surface and aircraft blockade along northeastern New Guinea's coastal barge route.

Australian pioneers who swam the flooded Francisco river Saturday had overrun prized Salamaua airdrome two miles from the city without encountering resistance. Anzac troops who followed the pioneers across the river were last reported pushing Japanese remnants holding a ridge one mile and a half northwest of the airstrip.

In a drive around the outskirts of Salamaua, Australians saw no Japanese except the fallen, abandoned and decomposing amid the ruins of a stronghold virtually obliterated by hundreds of tons of bombs since the first Allied air attack on April 1, 1942.

Even if the survivors of Salamaua garrison succeed in reaching Lae, their fate was sealed. For Japanese failure to offer serious resistance to the Australian landing from American naval craft on the Huon Gulf, Sept. 4, and the apparent inability of the enemy to smash an Allied bridgehead on the Lae side of the wide, swift-flowing Busu river seemed a clear demonstration of the decisive success of the Allied command's strategy.

That strategy was to weaken Lae garrison to a point where it could not hope to fight its way free of an Allied trap, set by the Australian-American drive to Salamaua, and sprung by the seaborne landings north and airborne landings west of Lae.

After seizing the airfield, the Australians drove north and east toward Salamaua, two miles away, and made a fresh contact with the enemy along a jutting ridge a mile and a half north of the airdrome.

At the same time seaborne Allied troops from the east and airborne forces from the northwest slowly closed their lines on Lae, 18 miles above Salamaua and, except for that tottering base, the only remaining Japanese position of consequence anywhere along the 175-mile rim of Huon Gulf.

Both fighting units encountered opposition, but neither today's Allied communique nor a spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur gave any suggestion that they were checked seriously in their joint advance.

50 Billions Needed By War Department

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Rep. Snyder (D-Pa.), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee handling army funds, predicted today that the war department would need $50,000,000,000 for next year's operations.

The department was voted $59,000,000,000 in cash and $12,000,000,000 in unexpended balances from previous appropriations for the fiscal year that started last July 1. The additional $50,000,000,000 would be for the year starting next July 1.

CLOTHING STOLEN Law enforcement officers are investigating the theft of two women's dresses and a woman's suit from a car parked near Fashion Cleaners on Saturday night. The clothes belonged to Mrs. L. G. Stutville of Big Spring.

other fascist leaders were freed from Mussolini. (The Office of War Information noted that while the nazis were boasting about "Mussolini's capture," they hadn't seen fit to have him broadcast, and weren't even quoting him today.)

The Netherlands radio said that Vittorio Mussolini, eldest son of the deposed Duce, had arrived in Germany, but it did not indicate whether he was one of those whom the Germans claim to have freed.

What the Germans intended to make of Mussolini after his 49 days of confinement away from his balcony at Palazzo Venezia remained to be seen, but it was like that he might be restored as a puppet dictator in the Nazi-controlled territory in northern Italy.

Details of the reported rescue were still lacking, but a Berlin communique last night said that he had been freed by parachute troops, security service men, and armed members of the S. S.

The British foreign office stated it had no information on the whereabouts of Mussolini and at no time had he ever been in British-American hands.

The Italian Fleet Passes—Italian warships pass in review during maneuvers in the Mediterranean. An Allied communique announced that "battleships, cruisers and other units of the Italian fleet" had arrived off Malta, while the 35,000-ton battleship Roma was reported to have reached the neutral Spanish port of Palma De Mallorca in the Balearic Islands.

Allies Have 38 Italian Ships As More Surrender

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Another Italian naval force arrived at Valletta, Malta, today, including the 23,000-ton battleship Giulio Cesare, the 5,000-ton seaplane carrier Giuseppe Miraglia, four destroyers and a number of submarines.

The arrivals brought to at least 38 the known number of Italian warships in Allied hands, and naval authorities waited word of other arrivals from a score of Mediterranean bases.

Six of Italy's seven battleships now have been accounted for. Five are in Allied hands, the Roma was sunk by German planes, and only the 35,000-ton Impero remains unreported.

The 35,000-ton battleships Italia and Vittorio Veneto and the smaller 24,000-ton Andrea Doria and Duilio, as well as six cruisers, eight destroyers and 14 submarines arrived at Malta late last week, shortly after the armistice was announced.

A dispatch from Madrid, however, said that an Italian cruiser and four other warships, destroyers and gunboats, had been interned at Port Majo in the Balearics for over staying the 24-hour leave as provided by international law.

Two other Italian destroyers, the dispatch said, departed from Pollegas, Mallorca, one of the Balearic Islands, last night after landing 25 wounded.

Seven of Italy's 10 known cruisers have joined the Allies and seven Italian warships reported to have put in previously at an Allied port may have included others.

There still are numbers of good freighters and tankers under Italian registry which, in Allied hands, would be valuable in further easing the transportation problem.

There has been no announcement by Allied headquarters of what plans have been made for use of the Italian ships, but it was presumed that they would be put into service as soon as possible.

Companies Make Big Security Purchases

The big guns were being touched off Monday as Howard county went into its second week of the Third War Loan campaign—but drive leaders made it plain that the machine-gun and rifle fire of the small purchasers was also essential in winning a battle.

Helping to boost the county along toward its $1,791,400 goal were subscriptions in government securities by three firms doing business in Big Spring. They included: Texas Coca-Cola Bottling company, $25,000. American Airlines, $10,000. C. R. Anthony Company, $10,000.

Allotment in these concerns' purchases were made to the credit of Howard county. Solicitors are hopeful that other companies will follow a similar policy.

Nevertheless, it is the "little fellow" to whom the treasury department—and all volunteer workers—are directing their best efforts. Sales have been disappointing here so far, and a heavy pickup is needed this week if the people are to come anywhere near their "back the attack" assignment.

The concerted drive for individual subscriptions gets under way Thursday, when all city solicitors will meet at the Settles hotel for an organizational session at 9 a. m. From there, (See SECURITY, Page 8, Col. 3)

Film Players To Appear At Football Game

The western stars of Hollywood will be at Big Spring's football game Friday night.

Coming here for appearances in connection with the Third War Loan bond campaign, Bill Elliott, the cowboy favorite; Gabby Hayes, his comic running mate; and Ann Jeffreys, his leading lady, will be guests of honor at the Big Spring-Colorado City set-to at Steer stadium.

This was confirmed Monday when it was determined that the Hollywood players, on a Texas tour for Uncle Sam, will reach here Friday. Hayes and Miss Jeffreys will arrive Friday morning, Elliott by plane Friday evening.

Local war bond committeemen are arranging for the three to appear in a special program between halves at the grid game.

Their major bond appearance will come Saturday morning, when they will head a parade and program beginning at 11 o'clock. In tribute to the western stars, Saturday's parade will be a mounted one, with local horsemen joining in a colorful western review. The parade will be climaxed with a program on Main street east of the courthouse, where Elliott, Hayes and Miss Jeffreys will appear in special numbers and assist in stimulating bond investments in the cause of quick victory.

County Tax Rate To Remain At 50 Cents

County commissioners were in session Monday to approve treasurer's and auditor's monthly reports and to set the tax rate for the county.

The tax rate is to be 50 cents on $100 valuation, the same rate as in the past. The commissioners also ordered a discount for payment of taxes. Three percent discount is to be allowed if taxes are paid within 90 days of date due, two per cent if paid within 60 days, and one per cent if paid within 30 days.

Elum Posey Injured In Pacific Action

Mrs. W. C. Newton, 711 Abrams, has received word that her brother, Pfc. Elum Posey, was wounded in action somewhere in the Southwest Pacific area on July 30th. The notice from the war department stated that she would be given further details. Mrs. Newton said, but so far she has not heard anything else.

Pfc. Posey was stationed with the engineers as a member of the military police. He was reared at

8th Army Pushes Steadily Ahead In The South

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 13 (AP)—A bitter and bloody battle raged into its fifth consecutive day around the American Fifth army's Salerno bridgehead today with growing German forces resisting desperately the determined penetration into their hill positions girding the plain and protecting the broad port of Naples.

The British Eighth army, speeding steadily northward from the Italian toe against little or no enemy opposition, captured the port of Crotona, 110 miles from the southern tip of the peninsula, and found that harbor in good condition for allied use, a communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced.

The British force landed at Taranto—the eastern leg of the allied invasion which had been thrown across the saddle of the Appennines—swiftly extended its hold on the entrance to the Adriatic after the capture of Brindisi. While reinforcements poured ashore to strengthen this right wing of the allied assault, small German forces left in the vicinity were being pushed back rapidly.

(The British radio broadcast that the British had captured Altamura, 22 miles west of Bari. Bari is approximately 50 miles north of Taranto and an important port on the Adriatic. It is 63 miles up the coast from Brindisi. The broadcast was heard by NBC.)

Previously elements of the first German parachute division had been encountered in the push up the Adriatic shore, but whether these were the forces remaining to oppose the advance was not stated.

The main bodies of enemy troops in southern Italy were still converging toward the big Naples-Salerno battle, however, and it was there that the crucial action was being fought.

"Very heavy fighting continues in the area of the Fifth army at Salerno," said the communique. "The Germans are resisting desperately our determined thrusts to break through their positions."

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's chief of staff in this critical battle, Allied headquarters disclosed, is 44-year-old Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther of Platte, Neb., rated among the United States army's smartest tacticians and organizers.

(Also indicating fierce fighting in the Salerno area, the German communique said Nazi troops were throwing hard punches of their own in the northern part of the battle area and threw back Allied forces "to the town and coastal strip"—presumably Salerno.)

(It was conceded, however, that the Allied forces southeast of Salerno were making strong thrusts "to break through mountain positions east of the coastal plain.")

Enemy troop movements on the highways toward Salerno were heavily attacked all day yesterday by Allied dive-bombers and strafers which raked convoys ranging up to 200 vehicles streaming northward toward the fight.

The importance of the Nazi command attached to preventing a further enlargement of Gen. Clark's foothold immediately south of Naples also was shown by the continued presence over the battle area of large numbers of enemy bombers and fighters, both day and night.

Enemy broadcasts, too, said the defending forces were well entrenched on higher ground and conceded that the fighting was grim.

The Allied war bulletin said the British Eighth army on the Calabrian toe "continued its rapid advance" against "little or no enemy resistance," although extensive demolitions are causing some delay.

An air communique said that Allied aircraft continued night and day attacks on enemy concentrations streaming north out of the southern sections of Italy, presumably headed for the main battleground in the Salerno-Naples district. At Salerno, fighters also intercepted enemy aircraft and shot down four, the announcement said. Four more were knocked down elsewhere. Two Allied planes are missing.

Heavy bombers again attacked the German-occupied airfield at Frosinone, southeast of Rome.

Decline Foreseen In School Attendance

AUSTIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—An overall decline of 15 to 20 per cent in high school attendance in Texas was foreseen today by State Superintendent of Public Instruction L. A. Woods.

War-time employment of many students who normally would be in school is the principal factor in the decline, he said. Woods said most public school systems would be in operation this week and a few will begin next week.

Program To Cut Food Prices Is Fixed By OPA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—General Manager Chester Bowles of the Office of Price Administration today announced a sweeping price reduction program designed to lower the cost of living to consumers by 2.3 per cent and effect substantial savings in retail prices of potatoes, lard, apples, oranges and other products.

The roll back would be accomplished through a $100,000,000 government program of transportation subsidies, government crop purchase and resale, and in the case of peanut butter and probably lard, roll-back subsidies within the financial limits set by congress.

Partial effects of the program will be felt by mid-October or November, Bowles told a press conference.

It will be followed up with a price program on winter fruits and vegetables, which Bowles said would bring their prices down to about 15 per cent less than last winter.

The $100,000,000 now is available, but additional funds from congress will be necessary, Bowles said, in order to hold down the price of milk.

Asserting that some action would be necessary very soon to put a lid on milk prices and still encourage expanded output from dairy farms, Bowles said he hoped congress would approve the use of subsidy or production bonus payments to producers.

The OPA program expected to be announced shortly will, according to Bowles, achieve the following price reductions to consumers on staple grocery store items:

APPLES: A cut to 8.75 or 9 cents a pound, by comparison with prices of 10, 12 or 15 cents at present; a theoretical decline of 17 per cent.

ORANGES: A cut to 9.7 cents a pound at retail, as an annual average, compared with a present average of 11.2 cents a pound.

POTATOES: A rollback to 3.5 cents a pound annual average, compared with four cents and up.

LARD, vegetable oils, and salad oils: down one cent a pound. The lard average now is 18.9 cents.

PEANUT BUTTER: A new top ceiling of 26.5 cents a pound compared with the present level of about 33.3 cents.

Rix Purchasing Used Furniture Of All Types

You never will have a better opportunity to trade your used furniture than now. Lewis B. Rix, head of Rix Furniture Co., advises householders.

Today, with the demand for war production soaring, manufacture of new furniture has been seriously curtailed while the demand for it has held steady or even increased.

Naturally, this has created the best opportunity on record for householders to dispose of furniture which is no longer needed or in use.
 "For years most families have had from one to several items of used furniture which they stored away in the garage, attic or which just seemed to get in the way in the house. It may be an extra bed that is no longer needed now that the children are grown and have moved from home. It may be an old chest discarded because of its scratched finish, etc. It might be gas heaters or ranges, or oil stoves, an old table or some paint-flaked chairs. It might even be a divan, a day-bed or an old set of bedspreads.

"The things weren't worth selling or trading, but seemed just too valuable to throw away, he said."

"Well, the time to profitably dispose of those old pieces of furniture is right now for the market is the best it has ever been."

"Rix Furniture Co. is paying the highest cash prices for used goods—and that means you don't have to buy something to sell."

"We are in a position to pay sound prices for this material and to take a wider range of it because of our repair department facilities. Furniture that has been badly scratched can be refinished by our employees to where it may be resold to persons needing that very item. Pieces with lumpy and bulging upholstery can be reworked. By using parts off of some hopelessly battered stoves, we are able to put others in working condition."

"So if you have any household furniture not in use or not needed, call us at 260. We'll be glad to appraise it and trade with you."

Burnett-Uhl Shop Turns Out Machine Orders Of Any Kind

The versatility of experience and equipment at the Burnett-Uhl Machine shop in Big Spring makes possible the turning out of almost any kind of a job. And the shop has accomplished many a mechanical trick, perfected many useful devices.

One of the most interesting jobs yet to come from the shop is one for the Empire Southern Service company which is building a gas line to a war prison camp at Brady, Texas.

Burnett-Uhl was called upon, by the local gas company, to bore 18-inch cylinders, and make new pistons which will be used in the gas plant during the winter months to boost gas pressure. Although it is difficult to obtain the same amount of parts essential in the rebuilding of engines, the local machine shop, located at 24th and Gregg, is turning out the same quality work, specializing in the rebuilding and selling of all makes of engines, such as Waukeshaw, Clark, CILmax, International, Allis Chalmers and Kohler light plants.

E. J. Uhl and R. B. Burnett have been partners, operating the Burnett-Uhl Machine shop, since 1935, and are backed by years of experience in their trade. R. G. Burnett has spent the last 20 years in this type of work, and Uhl, having had 50 years experience, states that he has seen many developments in the rebuilding of engines, which changes through the years with the replacement newer models in engines and machines.

Since agriculture is a vital factor in the war program which has been set up today, Burnett-Uhl maintains an excellent record of quality service in rebuilding and repairing farm implements from combines to tractors.

They also handle welding contract jobs, working on tanks, and have just completed a government job for the Big Spring Bombardier School, rebuilding a caterpillar scraper.

Rebuilding Of Motors Vital In Wartime
 Harry Lester Shop Specializes In Car Conservation

A part of the business that has been built up since the war is the motor rebuilding offered by Harry Lester Auto equipment shop at 404 Johnson.

Prior to the war, this was only a small part of the auto equipment shop business, but with new cars no longer available, motorists soon began to take advantage of the rebuilding service.

The shop not only rebuilds automobile motors but motors for stationary units, oil field equipment and tractor engines.

Also, in the past, customers who did have motors rebuilt asked only for patch jobs while now, knowing their motors must last for the duration and longer, they demand a complete rebuilding service in order to make their motors last.

Time required to have a motor rebuilt varies with the necessary parts that must be ordered, for shortage of many parts requires time to receive them here. However, the Lester shop has been fortunate in getting most its orders through remarkably well.

Six men are now employed in this branch of the Harry Lester shop and are kept busy working all the time. The business has also been fortunate in being able to keep well-trained men on the job in spite of the manpower shortage.

In addition to the rebuilding service, Harry Lester's does pressure plate rebuilding, brake shoe exchanges, brake drum service, and nearly any type of machine work for automotive motors.

The Old Grid Spirit Really Is Working On The New Steer Squad

Spirit is a pretty loosely defined term as applied in the realm of sports, but the Big Spring Steers have something that approximates the real meaning this year.

When you get two score youngsters huddling around with the coach shouted to the background while captains and leaders make unpolished, straight-from-the-shoulder fight talks, brother you've got something.

This is not uncommon for the team this year, for this "spirit" comes from within the squad and is not something spread on like so much butter from the outside. It's built on that all-for-one, one-for-all angle.

For instance, at a typical practice session the boys crowded around Dewey Stevenson and Barclay Wood, co-captains were talking. In effect they said just this: "Listen, you guys. Nobody can make you train. It's something you got to do yourself, but if you want to be a part of this team, you better train."

"You just watch us. If we break training, then you haven't got any reason to train. But if we don't, brother, you better not."

Thus, each member of the squad is a committee of one to see that not only he but everybody else gets in shape and puts out plenty in practice and in competition.

The happy thing about it is that neither John Dibrell, coach, nor Jack Odle, who has been volunteering as assistant, seemed to have anything to do with this.

But when you come down to brass tacks, both Dibrell and Odle have the fever about like the boys. They just conceal it better.

It crops out on Odle, though.

He's leaving for his hitch in the army probably after this week and when you talk with him about his ends and backs, you get the idea he likes throwing up his work with the youngsters like parting with his right arm.

So appreciative of their willingness to try and learn is Odle that he openly says that "if those backs and ends don't come through, don't blame them. Just put the blame on me where it belongs."

The Steers don't pack much poundage, but with that sort of feeling running through the squad from top to bottom, some of the more favored teams of 3-AA may wonder what's got into the old Steer before they find how to turn him loose this year.

Cincinnati Ace Hurls One-Hitter

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

It isn't very often that a one-hitter is pitched in the major leagues after Labor Day, but Elmer Riddle, of the Cincinnati Reds, accomplished the feat against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday.

In a day marked by superlative mound performances, Riddle's effort was easily the best. Pitted against the 20-game winner, Rip Sewell, in the first game of a doubleheader, Riddle retired the first 22 men to face him. Then, with one out in the eighth, Bob Elliott doubled for the Pirates' lone hit.

Riddle went on to gain his 19th victory of the year with a 1 to 0 shutout. Pittsburgh gained a split by taking the nightcap, 7 to 0, behind Xavier Rescigno's four-hit twirling.

Ace Adams, the "work horse" of the majors, came nearest to Riddle's performance. Yesterday he started his first game and beat the Boston Braves, 7 to 2, with a neat three-hitter. In the opener southpaw Cliff Melton blanked the Braves, 3 to 0, by scattering seven hits.

The New York Yankees swept a five-game series from the Boston Red Sox, 1 to 0 and 9 to 8.

The St. Louis Browns likewise got good pitching from Bob Muncrief and Denny Galehouse and swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 2 to 0 and 6 to 2.

Washington moved within two percentage points of the second place Cleveland Indians by beating the Philadelphia Athletics twice, 4 to 3, and 9 to 5.

Tommy Bridges hurled a four-hitter for Detroit against Cleveland, but lost, 2 to 1, when Mike Rocco tripled and scored on Lou Boudreau's fly.

Brooklyn won its 18th game in 21 starts by beating the Phillies, 8 to 4, through a six-run uprising in the seventh.

A scheduled doubleheader between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs was postponed.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Comparing this year's Oklahoma football squad with the 1942 outfit, Harold Keith comes up with the following sets of figures: 1942—age, 20.8 years; height, 6 feet 1-2 inch; weight 187 pounds; 1943—19.3 years; 5 feet 11-2 inches; and 174.6 pounds. . . . And his average 1943 player is a navy trainee, too. . . . Clemson's Joe Sherman puts the situation at an "army" school somewhat more simply—"we're planning to do the best we can with what we have, which is not quite some."

FUTURE BOOK
West Coast golfers, including Lieut. Marvin (Bud) Ward, the National amateur champion, are high on the prospects of 14-year-old Buddy Moe of Spokane, who shot 72-69-141 in the Spokane city championship this summer. . . . And the folks out that way want to watch for Light Heavyweight Joe Kahut, who is "frozen" on his Oregon farm. . . . Alrick Man, Jr., who handles the Junior Davis Cup team, rates the young tennis players in this order: Bobby Falkenburg, Jimmy Brink and Jack Tuero. Bobby gets the top spot because of his tennis brains, but Man isn't so sure that Brink won't be the best player in the long run.

QUOTE UNQUOTE
Don Kollaway, on a visit from Camp Grant, Ill., to his old White Sox buddies: "Know what we did the other day? Well, after a four-hour hike with full pack we went through an hour of calisthenics. And then did we get to go to our barracks to rest? We did not. We went to the mess hall to scrub for two hours. . . . Wonder why I ever thought playing a doubleheader at second base was hard work?"

SERVICE DEPT.
Joey Archibald, former featherweight champ who was turned down as too short when he tried to enlist in the navy last year, was inducted last week and assigned to the navy. . . . Capt. David E. Nopper, former All-America LeNapper player at St. John's (Louisiana) and also a former AP scribe, is news section chief of the marines public relations division in Washington. . . . One of the navy's new destroyer escorts has been named for Lieut. (jg) Joe Finch, former Northwestern U. track captain who died when the destroyer Laffey went down in the Solomons. . . .

APPROPRIATE ABBREVIATION
Dick Wakefield's Tiger teammates disclose that Dick's secret ambition is to be another Frank Sinatra. . . . But those who have heard him sing say the only likeness is in the first syllable of Frank's name.

Two Texans Awarded The Silver Star
GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 31. —(Delayed)—(AP)—The award of the silver star for gallantry in action to two Texans of the U. S. fifth air force was announced today by Lieut. General George C. Kenney, commander, Allied air forces in the southwest Pacific area.

Those decorated were 1st Lieut. Phil H. Hawkins, Panhandle, and Tech. Sgt. Everett W. Snyder, Alameda, Gray Co.

Fair Squad Is Shaping Up For Arkansas U.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 13 (AP)—The University of Arkansas has no ideas of football grandeur this year but neither does it expect to be a soft touch in the Southwest conference race.

John (Bud) Tomlin is starting his first campaign as a college coach without the help of the navy as in the case of most of the other conference schools but he appears to have done a good job of getting a team together that will demand respect from all opponents.

There is one letterman—lanky Ben Jones, who was a regular end last fall but has been shifted to the backfield this year. There also is one squadman—Bob Cope, 195-pound guard who saw enough service to almost win a letter in 1942.

Eight others on the squad have had college or college freshman experience. That Tomlin can count on four backs, three tackles, one guard, one center and one end who have the benefit of college coaching.

Few members of the squad are likely to be called to the armed service. Jones, for instance, is ineligible for military duty because of a physical injury suffered in childhood and Cope was rejected a year ago and returned to school this semester to complete work for his degree.

Two lettermen from senior colleges have brightened the prospects. They are halfback Marvin Lindsey, regular on the high-scoring Ouachita eleven last fall, and Ed James Snyder, Washburn tackle.

There also are four junior college transfers—Jim Young, Arkansas Tech tackle; Lamar Dingle, Murray Aggies wingman; Leon Pense, Northeastern Oklahoma State center, and Ewell Thompson, former Alabama freshman and Arkansas Tech regular quarterback.

Walter (Buddy) Davis, seat back, and J. P. Carpenter, left end, are up from last fall's freshman team. Arkansas will use the double wingback for the first time since Francis Schmidt left the campus in 1929.

INJURIES FATAL
CORSIANA, Sept. 13 (AP)—M. H. Schmans, about 40, died in a hospital here last night from injuries received near Rice Saturday night when his car was in collision with a parked truck.

3-AA Heads Have Few Eligibility Cases To Settle

With only three questionable eligibles on the docket, both sessions of the district 3-AA Coaches and Officials association, meeting here Sunday-ran in routine channels.

Presided over by Pat Murphy, Big Spring, coaches and officials spent most of the morning session in selecting officials for the season with the predominating thought of keeping expenses at the lowest level.

Representatives of all seven of the district schools were present. Murphy was reelected chairman, and John Dibrell, Big Spring coach, secretary.

Coaches present other than Dibrell were: Jewel Wallace and assistant Puss Irwin, San Angelo; Jake Bentley and assistant Fred executive committee of which V. Z. Sweetwater; Gene McCollum, Midland; Volney Hill, Lamesa, and Clayton Hopkins and assistant Pat Patterson of Odessa.

Officials chosen for the Friday game here between Big Spring and Colorado City were Prentice Walker, Tahoka; Jim Maedgen, Midland, and Pat Murphy, Big Spring.

At the afternoon meeting of the executive committee of which V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa, is chairman and Murray Fly, Odessa, secretary, three Odessa players whose birth certificates had not been found were approved as eligible.

The same prices for games as heretofore were set at 30 cents for students and enlisted men, 55 cents for adults and 85 cents for reserved seats. The committee voted that home teams will pay tax on 3-AA passes instead of the holder, and the vote was passed that the same organization as established now would continue through the basketball season.

Dallas Man Slays Wife, Then Himself

DALLAS, Sept. 13. (AP)—A verdict holding that Joseph J. East, 68, shot and killed his 36-year-old wife and then shot himself to death was on file today.

Justice of the Peace Tom King entered the verdict yesterday after the woman's body was found in the back-yard and that of East in the kitchen of their home.

Mrs. East was employed by an aviation company.

The couple had four children, aged 7 to 16, none of whom were at home when the shooting occurred.

A Dallas county grand jury last February no-billed East, a Spanish-American war veteran, in the January 4 slaying of Franklin McAleer, 53. East told investigators that during an argument McAleer accused him of un-Americanism.

White-Wing Area To Be Patrolled

McALLEN, Sept. 13. (AP)—South Texas will be divided into zones for supervision of hunting during the white-winged dove season opening this afternoon and a complete staff of game wardens will be on hand to check on the shooting. E. T. Dawson of Houston, state game warden captain, has announced here.

The summer drought hastened grain crop maturity and as a result large flights of the birds have been found as far north as Webb, Uvalde, Live Oak and Bee counties this season.

Captain Dawson and Capt. T. A. Harris of Sinton will be in charge of wardens patrolling South Texas all next week. Dawson will have headquarters in McAllen and Harris at Raymondville. The McAllen zone will extend as far west as Laredo, while the Raymondville area will extend up the coast.

Captain Dawson said numbers of hunters had asked him whether it was lawful to shoot white-wings in trees—evidence, he said, that many are planning to conserve their ammunition. There is no law against shooting them out of trees, he said.

SPLIT IN THE LINE?

LUBBOCK, Sept. 13 (AP)—There may be a split in the line of South Plains Army Air Field's football team this fall. Capt. Nathan B. Eubank, coach of the Winged Commandos, has five tackles so big he hasn't got pants large enough for them.

CAT HISSSED MICKEY MOUSE

RANGER, Tex.—Citizens of Ranger are mourning the death of Oscar, a 15-year-old cat who had been attending the movies, without missing a performance, for 12 years. Oscar sat on the back of the front row seats and offered local movie-goers much amusement when he got excited at Mickey Mouse.

A barn owl is able to eat its own weight in food.

Farm Disputes May Be Turned Over To WLB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—With potent farmer groups reported ready to cry a loud "no!" the war labor board will take up the question this week of whether it has any jurisdiction over agricultural labor disputes.

This is a field that was specifically closed to the national labor relations board by congress.

In a test case to be heard on Wednesday, the majority of a panel recommended that the WLB perform a function—ordinarily within the province of the NLRB, that is, determine whether the union has a majority of the employees and, if so, order the employer to bargain and sign a contract. The industry member of the panel filed a minority report.

The case involves the California Packing Corporation's midwest division at Rochelle and Delah, Ill., and the CIO United Cannery, Agricultural Packing and Allied Workers. The NLRB credited the union as the bargaining representative of the cannery workers, but did not take jurisdiction of the agricultural laborers because the national labor relations (Wagner) act specifically excludes agricultural labor from the operation of the act.

The union asks the WLB to assume this jurisdiction.

Two Students Die As Plane Crashes

STAMFORD, Sept. 13. (AP)—A double funeral will be held this afternoon for John Culp, 16, and Edgar Kirkpatrick, 15, Stamford high school students killed yesterday when their plane struck a power line and burned seven miles east of here.

Culp, who had been taking flying lessons, rented the plane shortly before the accident.

FORCED INTO PORT

LONDON, Sept. 13. (AP)—The German International Information bureau, in a radio broadcast recorded by the Associated Press, said today that Nazi speedboats have overhauled a large Allied troop carrier and a merchantman and had forced them to put into a German-controlled Italian port.

"BODIES" for BOMBERS

ON OCTOBER 25, 1940—more than a year before Pearl Harbor—U. S. Army Air Corps officials notified us of the urgent need for a vastly increased aircraft production program, and invited us to participate.

Already we were making Army trucks in great number, completing a huge tank arsenal, building field ranges and test heaters, and making our first studies of anti-aircraft gun manufacture.

Here was another urgent job that had to be tackled at once.

Without waiting to learn what aircraft job would be assigned to us, we produced 500,000 sq. ft. of additional plant space and, from our own personnel, began to select engineering, metallurgical and manufacturing specialists for this new work.

It was just three months after our first meeting with Air Corps officials that we were officially notified our job was to build the complete nose and center fuselage sections for medium bombers including installation of complete mechanical and control systems.

We immediately sent forty of our technicians to a producing aircraft plant where skill and experience to the production of bomber parts.

The big nose of the bomber houses the Bombarrier, Pilot, Co-Pilot, Navigator and Radio Operator. Nearly all the mechanical and electrical controls are here, while the center section is the bomb carrying space.

If you could look within these sections as the work of assembly goes on, you would see a bewildering network of wires and tubing as well as the structural skeleton of the ship. Every one of these 1,963 separate wires and over 1,000 feet of tubes—to say nothing of all the control mechanisms—must operate faultlessly.

In the production of "bodies" for bombers—a new field to Chrysler Corporation—again is demonstrated how our experience in peacetime car and truck production now is being applied to the production of war equipment in quantity . . . and on time.

the enemy's just over the hill!

MAYBE I'm your boy—or the boy next door. You know, Mary's sweetheart, Joan's husband, Timmy's daddy. Your son, Father! Your boy, Mother!

Anyway, I've got something to say to you. I've got to make you understand.

This is it. This is zero. This is INVASION!

I'm here, with a million other boys just like me. We're your INVASION forces. And we're going to stay. It wasn't easy getting here, and it is going to be a lot harder before we're through.

WE'RE GIVING ALL WE'VE GOT

I said we were going to stay. I promise that, even if it means the thing—well, the thing we don't like to talk about. Because we're giving all we've got: Our minds, our strength, our blood.

But you see, this isn't going to be enough. Not unless those planes we need snarl down out of the sky on the enemy just over there. Unless those tanks get here. Unless the supply ships get through. Unless there are enough bullets for this rifle.

YOU'RE ON THE INVASION FRONT NOW!

It's that extra $100 War Bond, all of them together, making up the $15 billion worth they're asking you to buy in September, that will prove that you are on the INVASION front with him.

Your part is at least one extra $100 Bond during the Drive—at least $100. Of course, that's in addition to your regular bond buying. A $100 Bond is the rock bottom figure. Some of you will have to invest thousands to put this Drive across. Take it out of your pay check—or out of that nest egg you were saving for a rainy day.

All you can spare is too little, all you've got is just going to be enough.

Look at it this way: You won't be giving anything. You will be investing in VICTORY—and your future. Things like safety for your family and money after the war to buy a new home, or to educate your children.

You're buying a stake in VICTORY—and that means America, yours and mine!

I guess that's all I've got time to tell you now. The enemy is waiting, just over the hill. Don't keep us waiting for you!

Home Nursing Study Starts At High School Today With Around 180 Girls Enrolled

Girls' Mothers Urged To Attend Wednesday Meet

Home nursing classes started in the Big Spring high school today with approximately 180 girls, representing six sections of junior and senior students, taking the course which is sponsored by the Howard-Glasscock chapter of the Red Cross, with the approval of the state department of education.

Mrs. W. J. McAdams, chairman of home nursing for the local chapter, announced that Mrs. D. A. Rickett, R. N., and Mrs. J. E. Pritchett, R. N., have been employed as regular paid instructors to teach the course, and they will be assisted by Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach and Miss Marguerite Wood, physical education teachers.

Upon completion of the course, the students will receive one-fourth credit in physical education, and phases of the study will include community health; personal health and hygiene (value of personality in business and social contacts); sick room procedure (taking temperature, baths, diet); pre-natal and child care, and care of the expectant mother.

Ordinarily the National Red Cross headquarters furnishes registered nurses as instructors for the course, but during the present emergency, the local chapter was forced to secure its own instructors. Classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Mrs. McAdams also announced that there would be a called meeting of mothers, whose daughters are taking the course, in room 119 at the Big Spring high school Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Every mother is urged to attend the meeting, and to inspect the home nursing laboratory.

Needs which will arise from the new course will be discussed. The local Red Cross chapter, as sponsor, is eager to make this course 100 per cent successful.

DOWNTOWN STROLLER

Got a letter from Mrs. BERT READ, who is residing now in San Antonio, telling that she has sold her house and moved to the Aurora Hotel. She issued an invitation to all her friends to visit her if they come to San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. FARMER and their son were dining down town Sunday evening and their boy entertained the people in the coffee shop by playing a piece or two on the piano. He didn't just give out with the C scales or anything like that, but really played a number that sounded good.

The bond drive is going, well, maybe slowly but surely is the expression. But if Howard county doesn't make its quota it won't be the worker's fault. Saturday the sound truck boomed all day whooping it up with patriotic music and talks urging folks to buy more than their share. The workers take to the house to house canvas method this week.

Mrs. LYNETTE McELHANNON, cadet club hostess, reported that the cadets and their dates had a big time Saturday evening at the formal shin dig held at the club. The girls turned out in their prettiest, fluffiest formals, and as one cadet remarked, "don't they look pretty!" They did indeed.

Lieut. MARY FRANCES GOLDMAN was around the other day to show us her new insignia of the Woman's Army which she had just received to replace the insignia of the Woman's Auxiliary Army Corps. She was really proud of the new status of the woman's army.

USO Will Not Engage In Separate Fund Raising Campaign This Year

USO will not engage in a separate fund-raising campaign this year, Dr. C. W. Deats, chairman of the Big Spring USO Council, announced today. Instead, a large part of the money raised by the will go to USO, he said. The Fund campaign, starting next month, will raise the funds necessary for the support of 16 member war agencies.

"The National War Fund," stated Dr. Deats, "was created at the suggestion of the President's War Relief Control Board through the insistence of community leaders everywhere that there be a unified effort to finance relief and welfare needs at one time and under one appeal. The National War Fund is the answer, as it eliminates needless duplication and unnecessary expenditure of energy in fund-raising, in order to give more time to the problems of war production.

"On the board of directors of the National War Fund are names well-known in USO circles. They include: Chester I. Barnard, president of USO; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., honorary chairman; Prescott S. Bush, formerly USO campaign chairman, who is now national campaign chairman of the National War Fund; Francis P. Matthews and Mrs. Henry A. Ingraham, who are vice presidents; Randall J. LeBoeuf, Jr., secretary; Walter Hoving, chairman of the board; and Walter Rothschild, member of the board who is also a vice president of the National War Fund.

"In addition to providing funds for the continued activity of USO for off-duty recreation, comforts and spiritual welfare of men and women in uniform and for USO-camp shows which sends entertainment units to practically every place where our men are stationed in this country and in theatres of war, the National War Fund provides for two other activities on the military front.

"On the United Nations front, provision is made for the distribution of food and medical supplies as far as possible in occupied areas; and for the support of hospitals, nurseries, children's homes, ambulance units, and the training of doctors, nurses and other aides, in unoccupied areas.

"While battles rage a great civilian population that managed to get out of the war zone, as well as the vast number which fled from the yoke of nazism when their homeland was engulfed, must

Editorial - - Secy. Hull Wields The 'Big Stick'

Secretary of State Cordell Hull's reply to Argentina's request for Lend-Lease materials flips back the pages of history to the well-thumbed and oft-criticized chapters of Theodore Roosevelt and the phrase for which he lives in the memory of Americans, "Speak softly, but carry a big stick."

Teddy was direct and unhesitating in a foreign policy which not only kept the nation on friendly terms with her neighbors but made her a power in international councils. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill are tailoring a big suit for the Allied Nations to fill as a policing power in the postwar world. Hull made the first step in revealing the impressive and unyielding torso that must fit that suit to the seams. Argentina is the only nation in the Western Hemisphere who has not declared she is anti-Axis. Argentina is the only nation who has

Texas Today - Cambridge Assignment Doesn't Worry Dobie

By HOMER OLSEN
Associated Press Staff

J. Frank Dobie, the University of Texas professor who goes to England this month to teach American history to Royal Air Force and naval cadets, says he doesn't know whether the joke's on him or Cambridge university. "I'm not much of a historian," Dobie smiles. "They want me to tell them about the United States, but I can only tell them what I know."

That, as many who have read his books can answer, is considerable—particularly about Texas, Mexico and the Southwest.

The famous story-teller is not greatly upset by the fact that his "stuff," as he describes it, might sound a bit strange to young Englishmen. He has had a reassuring letter from Henry Steele Commager, the Columbia university professor who preceded him at Cambridge.

"Commager told me not to let my ignorance worry me too much," Dobie chuckled.

Asked if he had planned the course he was going to teach, the Texas professor said he had not—"and it bothers me."

Then, as an after-thought, he added:

"But I never did work one out very far ahead anyway."

Here's another way he looks at it: If he goes by boat he'll have time to think about it on the trip; if he makes the trip by plane he'll get there early enough to work on it before school starts.

All arrangements for getting Dobie to Cambridge's Emmanuel college, where he'll live and teach,

THE LONG NIGHT

By Eleanor Atterburg

Chapter 18

They crouched there for nearly an hour considering one plan after another. To attempt to scale the mountain at night was impossible. To wait until daylight was simply to invite a Jap bullet. But how to get down that murderous guard blocking the trail now?

"Our only chance of getting back to the Post now is to skirt the island. It isn't large," Scott added, "though appearing small from four or five hundred feet up doesn't mean it will seem small when we come to walk around it."

"It couldn't be any worse than climbing those mountains."

Night had followed the long twilight more abruptly than usual and the wind was rising. Bette felt drops of rain.

"Whatever we do, we've got to do it quickly or we'll be caught like rats," Scott said then. "They probably won't miss me down there for awhile yet." He laughed abruptly, softly. "I've been locked up for the night. Having had nothing to eat for a week, I'm considered in good shape to start a little of their fancy third degree tactics tomorrow."

"Oh, Scott. How horrible."

"Uh-huh. I thought it was time I moved on."

"But how did you—"

"Luck. And a little scrimmage practice. That luck holds, they won't miss me until dawn tomorrow," he whispered. "This bird down here is just an outpost sentry. He thinks he heard a noise back there, but he's not sure. Not sure enough to bother coming up this hill."

"Then maybe he'll go away pretty soon."

"I doubt it. This is part of his regular beat. He'll probably squat right there until daylight."

Bette was silent a moment, her own thoughts rounding up new escape possibilities. Then, "Have you a gun?"

"Nope. Nothing but a nasty looking knife I borrowed back there."

"Paul Porter has my pistol," she told him. "And a first-aid kit is all I have to offer."

"We may need that, all right," he said grimly. "Look. As I figure it, there's only one thing we can do now."

Then swiftly he outlined a plan. Simple enough—if it worked—and it had to work.

"Are you game?" Scott concluded.

"Of course." Now that the plan was decided, she was eager to put an end to the long waiting.

"Let's go."

"Give me time to get across the trail and down as far as that first pine over there. Then light one match. Let it burn up brightly for a second. Then douse it."

Scott's directions came in a sharp whisper. "Repeat it until you're sure you have attracted his attention. When you think he has started up the trail, increase the length of the intervals between each match. Got it?"

"Perfectly."

"We've got to chance it he won't shoot just on suspicion," Scott continued. "I think it's an even chance. Still—" he hesitated, "—wish I could think of some way that wouldn't involve you."

"Don't be silly. You have the worst end of the job as it is. So, hurry."

She felt his hand on her shoulder, briefly. Then, "You're all right, chum. Well—happy landings."

He crept away then, through the tangled brush, feeling his way cautiously until Bette could no longer hear him. When he'd been gone so long she felt sure something must have gone wrong, she finally heard the prearranged signal. Three small stones dropped in succession.

Dragging herself carefully along the way Scott had made through the brush to the trail, Bette struck the first match, let it flare up yellow-bright for a moment. The tiny flame seemed to glare like a torch. She trembled so that the match slipped from her hand and went out.

She lit another. Then another. Then, still flattened on the bank above, she lay waiting for a first telltale sound, a footstep. She was about to strike a fourth match, convinced that the first three had gone unnoticed, when a whisper of sound came toward her up the trail. It might have been only the movement of some small animal. Hurriedly, Bette struck the match, let it burn clear to the end, dropped it.

This time she was sure someone moved up that steep trail toward her. And toward the man waiting behind that first pine.

Should she strike another match or had the man's curiosity been aroused sufficiently to draw him into the trap? She was still trying to decide when she heard a heavy grunt, the dull thud of a body striking the earth.

Then she heard Scott's mut-

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— Tallulah Is Happy To Be In Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Miss Tallulah Bankhead said, in that wonderful throaty voice of hers, "Have some coffee? Oh, do have some coffee. I just clap my hands and it appears—isn't it wonderful?"

I didn't want any coffee, but I couldn't deny a great stage lady the pleasure of a demonstration. She didn't clap her hands. She stepped outside her dressing room and called, "George! Two coffees, please," and pretty soon George and two coffees appeared. Good coffees.

Miss Bankhead was in good spirits, and she didn't frighten me a bit. She was supposed to be a terror, a wildcat who might claw into Hollywood and tear it to pieces—and you too if you happened to be in the way. So I never had a better time in my life. I never met a woman I liked better, a personality any brighter, friendlier, or more interesting and full of warmth. (George, bring me a fresh tray of adjectives.)

As for Hollywood, Tallulah said she liked it and never had said she didn't. She thought it was wonderful working here—the coffee, and scarcely having to lift a finger for herself. "Somebody does everything for me—my hair, my clothes, everything,"—and even so, making pictures was twice as hard as stage-acting.

"There, it's three hours a night and your work's done," she said, "but here it's all day long. Some people say the waiting between scenes is the hardest, but I'll never think so. I'm a lazy Southern gal, and I just love waiting around."

Tallulah is making her first movie ("Lifeboat") in eleven years. Last time she left, she said things about Hollywood's climate, and the uproar was terrific. The chamber of commerce and many other Hollywoodians took it as a personal affront.

"You see," Tallulah explained, "when I went back to New York I knew my pictures had all been bad. I had friends out here. What could I say? I thought that though God might not forgive me, people might understand if I said I didn't like the climate."

So Tallulah was being very discreet about the climate this

Washington Daybook— American Money Goes With Invasion Forces

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Bureau of Engraving is printing money by the bale—the kind of money this country never printed before, but probably will keep on printing for months to come.

The money is "Allied Military Liras," "Allied Military Francs," "Allied Military Marks," "Allied Military Pounds," "Allied Military Dollars," "Allied Military Yens." In Sicily, the liras already are circulating. It may be presumed they will also be used in Italy if we move in there. It may be presumed too that the above mentioned, in the order named, will be used in Greece, Germany, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Poland and Japan, when and if we move into those countries.

It is a chapter from the Axis warbook, because the Germans and Japs even took their printing presses with them on their invasion junkets. But it's a chapter that must be read another way. The Axis used its spurious bills merely as fiat money with which to strip conquered nations of supplies. The Allies are using their liras, etc., to provide a stable and convenient medium of exchange, which the countries taken over can readily understand.

On the surface the procedure is simple.

In Sicily, for example, the Allied armies are paid off in AM liras which are guaranteed to be redeemable on the basis of 100 liras to the dollar and 400 liras to the English pound.

These lira notes are also used to purchase supplies from the natives on the same basis and are even given rather "lent" to local industries, utilities, and local governments to supply particularly their payroll needs, with an understanding, of course, that they will be repaid from earnings or taxes.

In the case of local merchants, banks, municipalities, etc., the post-war redemption value is not guaranteed—presumably leaving this a matter to be settled at the peace table.

Apparently, issuance of this money is a matter of convenience and humanitarianism. There is no thought of flooding the lands with worthless legal tender. For the moment, at least, nobody stands to get gipped out of a penny—certainly not the soldiers who, any day, can trade their liras for the dollars or pounds they would have been paid anyway.

There are two important questions that the Treasury and State Departments and Army have allowed to go unanswered:

- (1) Who established the rate of exchange at 100 liras to the dollar and 400 to the pound—and why?
- (2) What is to be done about redeeming the money in post-war times?

Any answers you can give to those two questions is going to raise a terrific furore in the ranks of the monetary theorists. That's undoubtedly why they have gone unanswered. But until they are answered, the Allies will continue to be suspected—except in payment to soldiers on a guarantee basis—of toying with the vicious fiat-money the Axis has so cruelly employed.

Chiang Is New Head Of China

CHUNGKING, Sept. 13 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was elected president of China to succeed the late Dr. Lin Sen at a meeting of the Kuomintang central executive committee today.

Under a revision of the national government's organic law adopted Saturday Chiang becomes, as president, commander-in-chief of China's land, air and naval forces.

In a statement to the central executive committee, Chiang expressed the hope that the communists would redeem their pledge of 1937 to give up the communist movement, dissolve the soviet organization and disband the red army by incorporating it into the national army.

The central committee decided to abolish the present system of political tutelage, or one-party rule, within a year after the conclusion of the war.

Under a resolution approved by the committee a national congress will be convened within a year to adopt a constitution after the end of the war.

The central executive committee also confirmed Chiang in his post as president of the executive Yuan or premier and decided that the heads of four other Yuans or councils should continue in office.

British Fleet Units Sent To The Far East

LONDON, Sept. 13. (AP)—Great Britain was reported today to be transferring many of her heavier naval units to the far eastern fleet under Admiral Sir James Somerville for the opening of an Allied payoff drive against the Japanese in southeast Asia this fall.

Lord Louis Mountbatten's new southeast Asia command forces probably will be strengthened, too, with the transfer of some thousands of commandos from Britain.

It is anticipated here that the coming offensive will be on a far greater scale than anything attempted thus far in southeast Asia and will get under way some time in October when the monsoon season ends.

In addition to early operations against outlying islands now in Japanese hands it is believed generally in London that recapture of the Burma road is one of the immediate goals of the Allies.

Both the United States and Britain are expected to increase air power in that theatre. The Arakan campaign which the British undertook last December demonstrated that the key to the reconquest of Burma is naval and air power and that without control of the sea lanes the number of troops which can successfully be maintained in Burma is strictly limited by the extraordinary complexity of land communications.
