Why, The Son-Of-A-Gun

HOUSTON (UP)—The celebrated desire of the poet, Robert Burns—to see ourselves as others see us—has been attained by Deputy Prohibition Administrator C. H. Kellogg. Carrying a load of confiscated beer and whiskey, Kellogg halted his car at a red light. A young man in another machine drew up and halted his car at a red light. Kellogg's bottles rattled loudly. "What you got there?" asked the youth. "Just a little beer and whiskey," replied Kellogg. "You'd better watch out," warned the other, "or old man Kellogg will get you and take your car and everything." "He wouldn't take my car, would he?" "Take your car," said the youth. "Why, that son of a gun would take his grandmother's car."

Unusually severe floods threatened a half dozen towns in the state of Chihuahua. While two days ago hail ruined all crops around Villamatamoros in that state, north Monterrey highway traffic was stopped and rail traffic threatened by torrents pouring over Don Melin dam. Much of the flood water of Chihuahua and Nuevo Leon will reach the Rio Grande Valley shortly, further endangering flooded sections of the river's lower regions.

Red Sheridan Made Eligible By Committee

Sweetwater Session Results In Reversal Of Previous Findings

Ney "Red" Sheridan, "The Pony Express" of the Sweetwater high school football team, is eligible to play through this season. After a six-hour session which included testimony of a score of prominent Sweetwater citizens, the executive committee of District 3 of the Texas Interscholastic League Wednesday voted at Sweetwater that Sheridan was eligible. It was ruled that the 1928 Sweetwater "Rooster" team was school-sponsored and that playing on it constituted a year of participation by a high school boy. It was ruled, however, that the "Rooster" team of 1929 was not school-sponsored. Sheridan played both years with the Boosters and has played two years with the regular high school club. Motion to declare the Mustang star eligible was made by Supt. L. P. Shoemaker and seconded by Principal Watson of Colorado. Big Spring and Sweetwater representatives on the committee, who had been designated at a previous session, were present.

Big Spring Cotton Compress Plant Manager And Son Perfect New Press

Speed and economy in equipment, vital factors in the cotton compressing industry, are embodied in a new high density press installed at the El Paso Compress company plant here. F. Shoemaker, who manages the plant, and his son, D. L., designed the new powerful press. By hydraulic pressure 500 pounds of cotton can be compressed into a bale five feet high, twenty-four inches wide and eighteen inches in breadth. By use of the new press standard compressed bales can be reduced to approximately one third in size, enabling shippers to conserve much space. Shoemaker and son have designed a press that offers more speed than the average high density press at less cost. Present high density presses have doors or wickets that must fold up against the press in much the same fashion as a drawbridge is brought from across a moat. Workers must wait until the doors are lowered before they can fasten binders around the bales. Shoemaker's press brings the door on a perpendicular journey from the floor. The wickets are eliminated and the doors or wickets are raised to the correct height, they fit into grooves that make them im-

Jurisdiction Lacking Says Trial Judge

AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge W. F. Robertson Wednesday afternoon overruled a motion for a rehearing on his decision, rendered earlier in the day, in which he held that the Travis county district court did not have jurisdiction over a contest filed by Governor Sterling seeking to oust Miriam A. Ferguson and the Democratic nominee for governor.

Attorneys for Governor Sterling immediately filed a motion with Judge Robertson asking him to continue in effect an injunction restraining Mrs. June Y. McCallum, secretary of state, from certifying Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee. The governor's attorneys said this was the only way by which jurisdiction could be maintained over the subject matter of the election contest until higher courts had been given time to review Judge Robertson's decision, which held the Travis county district court was without jurisdiction to try the suit.

AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge W. F. Robertson Wednesday held he did not have jurisdiction to try an election contest suit filed by Governor Ross Sterling to test the right of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson to enter the November general election as the Democratic candidate for governor.

CHICAGO—The two New York Sultans of Swat Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, gave the American League champions their third consecutive victory over the Chicago Cubs in a thrilling slugfest Saturday afternoon 7 to 5.

Ruth's first home run in the first inning with two men on base put the Yankees off to a three run lead and consecutive home runs by himself and Gehrig in the fifth brought a 4 to 4 tie and put the New Yorkers into a lead that was never relinquished.

"Kiki" Cuyler drove out a single, a double, and a home run to take slugging honors for the Cubs. Hartnett, Chicago catcher, also hit for the circuit while Jurges, rookie shortstop, connected for three hits.

High Pennock, veteran New York southpaw, stopped the Yankees' Chicago rally in the ninth. Root, Malone, Mays, and Tinning saw service on the mound for the Cubs.

Home Town

Reports come in that there is sentiment south of town for division of county road and bridge monies between the four commissioners' precincts. That is, each precinct would receive for work within its boundaries only the money paid into road and bridge tax on property within that precinct.

His method should be adopted, and it is used in many counties—the 10 south precincts, Nos. 2 and 3, would get about 75 or 85 per cent of the money, while the north precincts, embracing most of the farming territory, would get very little comparatively.

One would think sometimes that most of the taxes paid Howard county county come from the south of town, but due to location of the oil field, this is not the case. Only 13 per cent of all tax valuations of the county last year represented farm and ranch acreage. All the remainder is city property, oil and gas properties, utility and railroad properties.

Reason for the sentiment south of town, it is said, is the feeling that county roads through the oil field, over which much more traffic passes, would be more permanently improved if the south precincts used all the road and bridge money they pay on their own property. There is justice in this claim but it might not be practical as a permanent policy.

Then he will rush back to Hollywood where he will begin another picture.

Hoot Gibson In Big Spring For Short Stay

Hoot Gibson, idol of all youngsters and admired by thousands of western picture enthusiasts, stopped in Big Spring Monday afternoon, but very few people knew it.

So unostentatious was he in his visit to the downtown section for lunch that many of the employees of the cafe in which he dined knew who he was. The house cashier, when asked if Gibson was or had been in the cafe, politely but firmly replied that she was sure he had been.

Waiting patiently for a sandwich which he had ordered, Gibson did not appear as the fiery cowboy of Hollywood. Clad in an aviator's cap, he fumbled with his headgear and goggled as he talked. A scarf, carefully wrapped about his neck was tucked under a leather jacket. Of medium but sturdy build, he looked more like a college athlete, but for his age, than a movie star.

As for his facial features, the camera gives an accurate account of the famous Hoot. Clean cut but somewhat fleshy, he carries the same whimsical smile that has brought a cheer from many an audience when Hoot told the "rustlers where to head in." He has blue eyes and almost sandy hair. He possesses distinct, even voice that is affected by a catchy brogue.

Left yesterday about 1:30 in the afternoon," he said, "and stopped over in Tucson last night. Yeah, just got through with work. My picture business keeps you pretty busy."

Gibson has just finished a picture entitled the "Cowboy Counselor," a western comedy.

Norman Thomas Talks In Seattle, Washington

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, followed the route of his democratic opponent, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, through the Pacific Northwest Tuesday.

He climaxed his Washingtonian tour for support of socialism as a principle, asserting that the two major political parties are crumbling and that capitalism is falling with them. Earlier he had spoken at Spokane and Tacoma.

Thomas boarded a train for Portland, Ore., where he was to speak tonight.

The tall, forceful speaking candidate who, unlike his democratic and republican opponents, frankly admits he has no chance of election in November, pleaded for immediate and concerted action of the socialist party in his speech here.

"We must not lose sight of the fact that the republican and democratic parties are breaking up and that with their dissolution goes the capitalist system," he said.

"We must perfect an organization and a new order sufficiently strong to replace adequately the now obsolete system. We must establish an order by which industry can be regulated for common benefits of the masses and not for private profit."

Man Trapped Beneath Car 10 Hours, Dies

ROBERT WHEATLEY, cotton company employe, died Sunday, Sunday, ended more than 10 hours of suffering for Robert Wheatley, here, cotton company employe, here.

His car plunged through a guard rail on highway 70, south of here, overturning in a deep ravine. From 11 p. m. Saturday until 8:30 a. m. Sunday, he lay trapped beneath a car, when he was rescued by a passer. He died an hour later.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Rio Grande floodwaters which broke through the north levee south of Sebastian Sunday night, Monday were spreading over the same territory flooded early in September.

The water was expected to reach Sebastian tonight, then flow on toward the edge of Iglood. Sebastian residents said they expected the flood waters to cover more territory than the former inundation and many people were preparing to leave the town, while others were preparing to move to higher ground.

The river's stage remained unchanged at Mercedes and Brownsville Monday.

Judge Rules Mistrial When Jurors Falter

NEW YORK (AP)—The trial of United States Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania, ended abruptly Monday when Judge Frank J. Coleman declared a mistrial at opening court for what would have been the third week of trial, because two of the jurors communicated with the defense attorneys over the week-end.

Acts of the jurors was reported to the court by defense counsel, Charles J. Margiotti.

Davis was charged with violation of federal lottery laws in conduct of charity balls by the Royal Order of Moose, of which he was director-general.

Margiotti told the court that juror Henry J. Moore reported to him that alternate, Abe H. Weintraub, had been telling the other jurors during the trial that defense witnesses were lying.

Judge Coleman held a formal investigation and exonerated Weintraub, severely reprimanding Moore, who was paroled from his own custody until Tuesday.

Farmer Reports Heavy Yield In Peanut Crop

C. W. Shaffer reading on the Dee Big farm sixteen miles north of Big Spring, left an exhibit with the chamber of commerce a peanut vine, representative of the yield on his place. Although an unusually large vine bearing a heavy yield of Kentucky red peanuts, Mr. Shaffer said the vine was only average for those of his crop.

He also has a variety of beans, peas, pop corn and feed stuff on his farm, he said.

JOBS
When we get in the world on our own we will find there are three types of jobs to be filled. First this is the job that anyone can hold. Next the job that most anyone can hold. And then the jobs that only a few can hold.

In this first class we find the jobs that require no training. Anyone may step into the other person's shoes and carry on with little difficulty. They are never missed in the world. They have fallen to leave their footprints on the sands of time.

The next are the jobs that require some training. They are the ones that you must be qualified to do. You must be qualified.

The last of these are the ones who go into life with a high standard to work to. They are the ones who are willing to sacrifice to attain their goal. This requires a good object and a willingness to carry on. Their work can not be taken and carried on. They are the beginners and finishers of their own work.

We may pick our jobs. We are the only ones responsible for ourselves, so we must decide what we will be. There is no better time than now to start. There is no better time to start this work than in our everyday school work. Begin now.

MAKE THE ACQUAINTANCE OF GOOD AUTHORS
Most of the students haven't the faintest idea of what the true value of a library is. They all think that a library is just a place to go for their required school work.

They look upon the library as a place that they are required to go. They do not know it holds a wealth of enjoyment in the shelves which they look on as only another means of study.

There is nothing better than a good book. For those hours when it seems that life is absolutely nothing to do, try sitting down with a good author. You will be surprised at the enjoyment you get.

When you read a good book written by an outstanding man in the literary world, you may be sure your time is far from wasted. As much is derived from an outstanding book as is from coming in contact with an outstanding person.

So after this you may take a little time in selecting the books you are to read. Get acquainted with your library and derive the benefits which it offers you.

FIRE PREVENTION OBSERVANCE PLANNED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The public schools of the city, working in conjunction with the Fire Prevention Committee of the chamber of commerce, are planning a complete and interesting program for the observance of Fire Prevention Week here, October 9-15.

Each of the 2225 students enrolled in the schools is to have a definite part in the city wide program, Mr. W. C. Blankenbush, superintendent, stated. In the high school, the program is to be carried on through the English department. Essay writing contests with suitable prizes are to be sponsored by the department for each of the four classes. The four best essays from each class will be judged by a committee of the English faculty and a winner for each class will be announced.

The junior high school will present a play featuring the fire prevention motif on Friday evening, October 14. Miss Jeannette Pickle is directing the play.

The pupils of the ward schools are to enter competition in a poster making contest.

Information concerning the rules and prizes for the contests may be obtained from the members of the English faculty or Mr. C. T. Watson, secretary of the local chamber of commerce.

"The Good Old Days" Recalled By "Old Head" Of Student Body

By HOWARD WHITEHEAD
Having been in high school for quite a few more years than the average student, I will point out a few of the things which we had "in the Good Old Days" that the students of today have forgotten or about which they know nothing.

In the good old days, we had only half the present building. In the good old days, the teachers found other means of venting their wrath upon the pupils, for then we had no lawn.

In the good old days, we studied by the noise of the steam shovel which was cleaning the campus of debris.

In the good old days, a regular army was maintained, Scott's Army to be exact.

In the good old days, we had a band which was directed by Mr. Riggs.

In the good old days, Miss Cox was head of the English department. Now she is married.

In the good old days, Miss Agnew was librarian with a staff of assistants.

In the good old days, Mr. Boyle was head of the science department and assistant coach.

In the good old days, Ben Daniels' "Black Devils" were a notorious football team.

In the good old days, J. A. Coffey's "Calves" always "set" several records in the county meet.

On the good old days, the home economics pupils usually served the library staff refreshments once or twice a week.

In the good old days, Miss Clara Pool was head of the English department.

Those were the days that Buck Burdine and "Ike" Manual were students.

In the good old days, cows and chickens were set loose in the halls on Halloween night.

Last Week's Grid Results

Over the week-end many changes took place in the football triangle that most concern local fans at the present.

The mighty Eagles failed to soar to victory and the Sweetwater Mustangs, seemingly on winged feet, brought home a score of 20 to 0.

Steers Tie With Lamesa Mud Fight Raises Curtain Of Season For Both Outfits

In a slow and unexciting game the Big Spring Steers and the Lamesa high Tornadoses fought to a scoreless tie Friday on a muddy Lamesa field, raising the curtain for both teams in their quest for 1932 gridiron honors.

Most of the first quarter was played in Lamesa territory with a slight advantage in favor of the Steers. Robert's jaw was injured in this period of play.

A pass to Cordell in the second quarter gained thirteen yards for the Steers. This was the first highlight of the game. It also resulted in the initial first down of the contest.

Another pass was intercepted and returned by Cox to the Steer's 45-yard line. Cox's punt was fumbled by Koberg, and Noncaster's Tornado tackle, covered on the Boyle 19-yard stripe.

Three line plays brought a first down and the ball on the 8 yard marker. Three other line plays netted but 3 yards. Cox, on the fourth play, fell short by a yard for a touchdown. Koberg kicked to the 33 yard line. Conkili returned to the 21 yard stripe.

Three plays netted 7 yards. An incomplete pass gave the ball to the Steers on their own 14 yard line. Covered with Lamesa covering. A pass over the goal-line ended the scoring threat, giving the Steers possession of the ball on the 20-yard stripe. The locals were penalized 5 yards for offside; Townsend picked up a yard as the play ended.

Again the Lamesans penetrated the Steers 20-yard line. Townsend's fumble and a pass to Cox gave the Tornadoses first down on the 22 yard line. With a defensive rally the Steers held the Tornadoses on the 14 yard stripe as the ball went over.

An exchange of kicks brought the ball to the 31 yard line. Richbourg made 2 yards over left tackle. Harris passed 24 yards to Cordell and another first down. Richbourg lost 5 yards at left end. Harris passed to Schwarzenbach for 2 yards. Harris made another try for a pass, found no player clear and went through center for 3 yards. Harris kicked to the 12-yard line as the quarter ended.

An intercepted pass initiated the Tornados' offensive drive for three successive first downs to bring the ball to the 12 yard line. McKinnon, Cox and Gable bore the brunt of this offensive attack. Harris kicked 39 yards to Schmidt, who returned to the Steer 47 yard mark. Schmidt lost a yard, a pass to Cox was incomplete, another pass to Cox made 6 yards as the final whistle blew.

Dyer, Center, Cordell and Coats, ends, Sanders, tackle and Smith, guard, were outstanding in their forward wall.

Lamesa's luminaries were McKinnon, Gable, Noncaster and Barker.

Five first downs were made by the Tornadoses to four for the local Steers. Koberg's and Harris' efforts won the defensive rallying of the Steers inside their 20 yard line, offset this advantage.

And Mother Believed Him!
Our poor mothers, how trusting they are—especially their sons and daughters! Mother's pride and joys when their children get in high school, and some of these sweet children get away with things that they never could dream of attempting in the grades. This applies especially to the dignified juniors and seniors.

You should have been in assembly last Wednesday and seen the guilty expressions on faces when Mr. Gentry told the high school students he didn't want them going home and telling their parents that little "fairy tale" of not having to study at home.

A certain senior boy went home (before Mr. Gentry's little speech) and told his mother that he didn't have to study at home any more.

His mother asked why—"Oh, well, we have hour periods, and the students are not allowed to take any books home," he said.

And mother believed him.

Mrs. I. N. Smith and Mrs. Laura Schultze returned Wednesday to their home in Fort Worth after several days' visit with Mrs. John Notestine and Mrs. J. D. Biles.

Mrs. Herbert Stanley and her father, Ben Miller, have gone to Gateville for a visit of a week.

George Ed O'Neal is out of school suffering from a bad cold.

Glee Club In First Session

The high school Glee Club had its first get-together last week on Monday morning at the activities period with 75 taking part.

"It looks as if a big year is in store for the club with almost twice as many members and a whole school year in which to train," said Mrs. Bruce Frazier, director.

Two weeks are being devoted to rudiment work, breathing exercises which give one strength, much "singing and ahing," which is necessary to correct tone placement.

Mrs. Frazier will take her students through a strenuous sight reading drill. The club is to run through these preliminaries before real chorus practice begins.

The Glee Club will stage a Christmas cantata in December and a miscellaneous program in March with perhaps an operetta at commencement beside baccalaureate music.

Other clubs are to be organized in the near future. Among these are: Woodcraft club, sponsor, Mr. Etter; Commercial Club, Mrs. Low; Home Economics, Mrs. Brown and Miss McElroy; Spanish Club, Mrs. Drake; Dramatic club, Miss Brown and Mrs. Hoop; H. V. Mr. Coffey.

CALL OF THE WEST

CHAPTER XIV

Asper spent a restless night and Dona was forced to stay at his side most of the time. Toward morning she was relieved by the doctor who sent her to bed. She fell asleep with an uneasy feeling and a wish that she and her father were safely away from Three Rivers.

A yellow hammer awakened her by drumming on the casing of the window in a hinky search for wood hoppers. Dona blinked at the gayly decked bird for a few moments, then sat up.

"Good morning, sir," she called sleepily.

The yellow hammer cocked his head on one side, flicked his tail twice and soared away. Dona watched him go and wondered if he knew where Ball might be hiding. This thought roused her to find out if Swergin had made the bad man a prisoner. She arose and splashed in a bowl of cold water. The few hours of sleep had freshened her except for two dark patches on her soft cheeks just below her eyes.

Making a hasty toilet, she slipped into her father's room. He was sleeping soundly so she quietly left herself out on the wide porch. No one was in sight except Malloy down at the corral. Dona crossed to the mess cabin and entered. The doctor pointed to the old man. "He mustn't hear about this or anything else connected with this crazy man hunt."

"Did Ball shoot this man?" Dona's eyes began to glow dangerously. "Hit him with something hard

"The doctor straightened. "Your father is all right, but he must be kept from being irritated. The doctor pointed to the old man. "He mustn't hear about this or anything else connected with this crazy man hunt."

your feet." Dona spoke soothingly. Asper grunted and eyed Dudley. "You're going to take this young lady and return to the city," he informed Dudley in a voice that held much of its old authority. "What about you? I'm having arrangements made to ship you along with us." Dona patted his hand.

"I'm staying here. There will be a trained nurse in tonight by stage and then you kids can clear out." "Dona bent over her father and shook her head firmly. "We three are going together. If you don't go we stay."

Asper grinned. "I knew that before you spoke. Well, you and Winters stay then. But you stick close to camp! No more jaunts like you took yesterday, young lady."

"Has Swergin been in to see you?" Asper nodded. "And I told him plenty! If he doesn't have that whipsnapper strung up or tied up by tomorrow I'm going to get up and that doctor can go hang!" Asper's face flushed and Dona clapped a hand over his mouth to stop further words.

"Dad, you must be quiet! You couldn't get up if you wanted to." "That's what comes of having a woman and a doctor around."

Asper grumbled. "If this was the old days I'd have been on a horse two days ago and had that whelp's hide by now."

"Swergin will bring him in," Dona assured him soothingly. To Dudley she added, "Wait out in the hall. I want to talk to you."

Dona went to Dudley what the doctor had said and sent him to find Swergin. Dudley hurried away and Asper sat down in the open door of her father's room to think. She had to act rapidly and she would have to keep her father from guessing her plans.

Sheridan Evidence Insufficient For Declaring Wyatt Ineligible Declares Oil Belt Committeemen

ABILENE—Until more and stronger evidence is brought against Glynn Wyatt than Big Spring produced against "Red" Sheridan of Sweetwater, the Oil Belt executive committee will hold the Abilene quarter-court eligible, it decided in a meeting at Eastland yesterday.

A ruling on the status of Wyatt had been asked by Abilene authorities. In 1928 Wyatt played with Sheridan on the "Rooster" team at Sweetwater, for which playing Sheridan was held ineligible by the district 3 board last Saturday. The district 3 body, however, will reopen the Sheridan case at Sweetwater this morning at 11 o'clock.

After Mr. Dudley's request for a ruling yesterday, the Oil Belt committeemen discussed the league rules having a bearing on the case, and heard all the evidence available, in essence the same as that presented by Big Spring at the Sheridan hearing in district 3.

"They did not think any formal action necessary," Mr. Dudley said. "If Glynn is not to be allowed to play, it is now up to somebody to protest him, and unless that is found more cause for action than was presented in district 3, I am satisfied there will be no protest."

Bond Signers Wanted
The Oil Belt committeemen were hearing in 31st court in regard to fixing of supersedeas bond in connection with the appeal of Judge George L. Davenport's decision on the Cisco football case. A compromise bond of $5,000 was fixed. Davenport had indicated that he would set the figure at $10,000, and the committee had asked that only a nominal bond be fixed. The judge was quoted by Dudley as saying that to bring the bond below $5,000 would be "to lower the dignity of the case."

The committee has 20 days from the date of Judge Davenport's filing of judgment—Wednesday of last week—in which to make the bond. It is planned to ask for five signatures to the bond in each of the five towns interested. The move will originate in Breckenridge, Ranger will take it up next, and Eastland, Abilene and Brownwood in order.

Jim And Crane Almost Clash In Courtroom

Jurisdiction Is Mandatory. Attorneys Plead; Evidence Not Opened

AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge W. F. Robertson Tuesday afternoon that it was probable he would not render a decision until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning on the question of whether he had jurisdiction to try the suit filed by Governor R. S. Sterling contesting the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as the Democratic nominee for governor.

AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge W. F. Robertson shortly after noon took under advisement the question of whether he had jurisdiction to try the suit filed by Governor R. S. Sterling contesting the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as the Democratic nominee for governor.

AUSTIN (AP)—Attorneys for Governor Sterling Tuesday asserted the court had mandatory jurisdiction to try the suit filed by Governor Sterling contesting the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as the Democratic nominee for governor.

AUSTIN (AP)—Contentions that Governor R. S. Sterling did not file his suit contesting the right of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson to be the Democratic candidate for governor within the time limit, and that he had no legal interest sufficient to allow him to maintain the action were made Monday by the legal battle over the prize of Texas democracy, the gubernatorial nomination.

Her attorneys claimed the order was invalid because of lack of jurisdiction. While the fight today centered in Judge Robertson's court, there was pending in the supreme court a motion of Mrs. Ferguson to leave to file a petition to mandamus Mrs. McCullum to certify her as the nominee.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS NOMINATE CANDIDATES
BUFFALO, N. Y.—New York Republicans today set in motion the machinery necessary to gather evidence of fraud and illegality in the August 27 primary election, as alleged in the governor's petition.

Not Filed in Time
In claiming the suit was not filed in time, Sterling stated the governor's petition was based on charges of fraud and illegality in the election proper. He stated a suit contesting the election itself must be filed within nine days, counsel for the governor having dismissed their original action, filed the day after the election.

Roscoe Defeated 24 To 0 By Steers In First Home Game

Fred Koberg Stars For Big Spring; Many Players See Service In Listless Contest

The Big Spring High Steers made their first appearance of the 1932 season in Steer Stadium by defeating the Roscoe High Plovers 24 to 0 in a slow, unexciting game here Tuesday afternoon.

Whatever honors the locals might have gleaned from their second start of the season went to Fred Koberg, playing his first year in the backfield, and a pair of veteran linemen, Mike Roberts and Dub Coats. Koberg scored two touchdowns in the initial quarter to account for a Big Spring lead which never overcame.

Time Element Vital
In opposing presentation of the plea in abatement, Crane stated that the time element was "the life of this contest," and that any delay would prevent a final decision before the November election.

Crane estimated a large portion of the evidence could be gathered within ten days, stating it "only would be necessary in many instances, to interrogate election officials to ascertain if they were furnished certified copies of poll tax lists and if they signed their names on the back of the ballots."

Three successive first downs on running plays after the Steers had taken the ball on downs on their 33 yard line placed the locals in a scoring position again. Richbourg broke over on two running plays with the ball on the Roscoe 18 yard line. But Koberg dropped back and passed to Coats for a touchdown. The Steer captain wiggled out of two opponents' hands to slip over the goal line. Koberg's kick was blocked.

Another Run
Koberg reeled off 14 yards after the Steers returned Anthony's punt to his own 34 yard line, and Big Spring gained 4 yards on the exchange when Koberg kicked to the Roscoe, 45 strip. Swatzy lost 10 yards on an attempted double lateral but Koberg's kick moved the Plovers back to their own 34 yard mark. "Mind Reader" Declares S. M. U. Will Beat Rice
DALLAS, (UP)—Southern Methodist football fans took new hope after Gene Dennis, psychic and theatrical performer, forecast a victory over Rice Institute when the two schools meet here Saturday.

She said S. M. U. would win by 13 points. "I see this victory of S. M. U.," she said. "In spite of the fact that Rice will have the best team this year. There is a new gridiron star in the ascendancy, an Auburn-haired lad who will attract national attention."

Ray Morrison, coach of the Mustangs, was apparently unimpressed by the prediction and continues to forecast defeat for his team.

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leger, who underwent a successful operation Wednesday are recovering nicely.
