VC Release POWs

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The last 32 American prisoners of the Viet Cong were freed in Hanoi today and flown to Clark Air Base.

The release of the 27 military men and five civilians launched the final phase of the repatriation of Americans captured by the Communists in Vietnam and Laos.

The 32 Americans landed at Clark at 6:52 p.m., or 4:52 a.m. CST.

The departure of their C141 flying hospital from Hanoi was held up more than an hour by a rainstorm that delayed the arrival from downtown Hanoi of members of the International Commission of Control and Supervision to observe the transfer.

Another 49 Americans and a Canadian are to be handed over Wednesday in Hanoi, including 40 Americans captured by the North Vietnamese and nine captured in Laos.

The last 67 Americans held by the North Vietnamese are to be released on Thursday, bringing to 587 the number of American military and civilian prisoners freed by the Communists since Feb. 12.

Man's most precious possession...

second only to life itself, is freedom," said the senior officer of the group released today, Col. Benjamin H. Purcell, 45, of Columbus, Ga., to a cheering crowd of base personnel who greeted the freed prisoners.

"Today, 32 of us have regained our freedom and a chance to start again our life in the years... our faith in our country, in our way of life and in our President has been unwavering. And we wish at this time to express our thanks to our President Nixon and to the American people for keeping faith with us."

Purcell was captured on Feb. 8, 1968, when his helicopter crashed in Quang Tri Province. Also in the group was the last American pilot downed before the cease-fire. Lt. Cmdr. Phillip A. Kientzler, 32, of Poway, Calif., who was shot down on Jan. 27, the day the cease-fire agreement was signed in Paris.

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong had offered to free the last of their prisoners last weekend, but the United States insisted on knowing when the nine Americans captured in Laos would be freed. To pressure the Communists, the United States suspended withdrawal of its last troops in Vietnam.

Monday night, after five days of wrangling, the Pathet Lao announced it would free the nine in Hanoi Wednesday. The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong issued a new schedule of release dates, the United States agreed to complete its troop withdrawal Thursday, and President Nixon said he was "particularly gratified."

Radio Hanoi has attributed antiwar statements to four of the POWs freed today.

A broadcast June 8, 1972, said Army Capt. Richard C. Anshus, 25, of Minneapolis, Miss., Marine Sgt. Jose Jesus Anzaldua Jr., 22, of Refugio, Tex., and Army Sgt. Jon R. Cavani, 29, of Merced, Calif., were among 16 signers of a letter urging Congress to end the war and negotiate the release of the POWs.

IN GUNFIRE

Indians Wound Federal Agent

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — A federal marshal wounded in a major flareup of gunfire at the besieged village of Wounded Knee was reported in serious condition today.

Federal negotiators, meanwhile, said they were willing to talk with militant Indians in the village despite the shooting incident.

U.S. Marshal Lloyd Grimm was hit by a single burst of gunfire from within the village late Monday afternoon, according to Wayne Colburn, chief of the U.S. Marshals Service. Grimm, 56, is from Omaha, Neb.

Colburn said Grimm, who usually works in a command post area in nearby Pine Ridge, was at a roadblock manned by marshals to obtain firsthand knowledge of the activities of American Indian Movement (AIM) leaders who have occupied the tiny hamlet for 28 days.

The wounded marshal was taken to Fitzsimmons Army

Medical Center in Aurora, Colo., after receiving a transfusion at Pine Ridge.

"His condition was reported serious, but not critical," Colburn said, adding that x-rays indicated the bullet missed the spinal cord and vital organs. The bullet which entered his chest left through his back.

Grimm underwent a five-hour operation at the hospital to relieve pressure on his spine and was reported in stable condition following the operation. Colburn said the marshals and Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) agents manning perimeter roadblocks did not return fire until about four minutes after Grimm was hit.

Assistant Marshal William Hall said fire came from bunkers on the outskirts of Wounded Knee and from within the village. He said several occupants of the hamlet were moving between bunkers and that at one point Indians attempted to move toward federal positions.

Prater Found Guilty

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — William J. Prater's attorney says the former United Mine Workers organizer found guilty of murder in the Yablonski slayings hopes he will win a new trial and reversal of his conviction.

Prater, accused of helping to plot and finance the 1968 slayings of UMW reformist Joseph A. Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter, was convicted Monday night on three counts of first-degree murder—one for each of the victims.

Richard Sprague, special state prosecutor in the case, had asserted in court earlier that the murders grew out of a chain of events set in motion by former UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle, Yablonski's union archrival.

Boyle has not been charged in the killings. He has steadfastly maintained that he knows nothing about them.

An Erie County Court jury of seven men and five women returned its verdict against Prater after 6½ hours of deliberation, climaxing a three-week trial.

Under Pennsylvania law, Prater will face a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment.

Prater, of LaFollette, Tenn., remained tight-faced and rigid as the verdict was read, displaying only tenseness.

His wife Maxine, red-eyed but not crying, cradled the couple's 12-year-old daughter Ann in her arms as the verdict was announced. The youngest, one of seven Prater children, had begun weeping even before the verdict was read.

Career Day Set At PHS

Tomorrow is D-Day for at least 1,200 students of Pampa High School... "D" for destiny as job opportunities are explained during the 14th annual Career Clinic.

Some 69 consultants on vocations ranging from the highly technical to the great out-of-doors to the "wild blue yonder" will conduct sessions setting forth opportunities, requirements and remuneration potential in exhaustive detail.

It is significant that at least half of the career consultants participating are from local business and industry personnel while at least one coming in from Dallas is a "local-boy-who-made-good."

These clinics, with a long history of success, are jointly sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the Altrusa Club and the Junior Service League.

The clinic schedule starts at 8 a.m. with a coffee in the high school cafeteria and briefing of consultants and student chairmen. Chamber President Jerry Sims is in charge of this affair.

Following the coffee students will report to homerooms for consultation session assignments, then attend a general assembly in the field house at 9. There they will hear the keynote speaker, Rev. Kenneth Wyatt, Tulsa pastor, artist and humorist.

The clinic then will be divided into two sessions.

Upon completion of the sessions, consultants will be entertained at a luncheon at Coronado Inn.

Plant's Acceptance May Come Friday

Final acceptance of Pampa's $1.2 million water treatment plant may come next Friday.

City commissioners considered the final change order at their semi-monthly session this morning and voted to reconvene at 8:30 a.m. Friday after further study of the project engineer's recommendation of a 206-day total time extension to the contractor beyond the original contract completion date of March 15, 1972.

Mayor-Milo Carlson and Commissioners George B. Cree Jr. and Arthur J. Rohde approved the report of Forrest and Cotton, Dallas consultant engineers, recommending a $9,469 increase in contract price changes and liquidating damages of $16,500 consisting of 165 days at $100 a day.

That would leave a $7,032 net decrease and bring the adjusted contract price to $1,222,467.92, according to the contract change order.

Commissioners asked that they be permitted to study the engineer's report for final action on Friday.

Time provided for completion of the water treatment plant job by the A.E. Mitchell contractors of Dallas was increased a total of 368 calendar days. This set the job completion on March 21, last Wednesday.

Present at today's commission meeting were Jack Moseley, project engineer for Forrest and Cotton of Dallas, A.E. Mitchell, Dallas contractor, and Harlan York, contractor's representative. Dallas Mitchell and Moseley said they would return for the Friday meeting.

In other business today city commissioners approved an ordinance on first reading granting Pioneer Natural Gas Co. a 5 per cent increase in gas rates to become effective April 15.

The increase, sought because of decreasing gas supplies in Gray County, will mean an additional charge of 3 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas consumed. Gas company officials say it will amount to an increase of about 37 cents per month on the average gas bill.

The minimum monthly charge will go from $1.90 to $2.

The Harold Barrett Ford Co. was awarded a contract for its low bid on three police patrol cars at $2,598 each.

Approval was given to retain City Atty. Bob Gordon to handle legal matters in connection with the purchase of right-of-way for the SH 273 widening on S. Cuyler and Barnes Sts.

OF NATION'S LIFESTYLE

Petroleum Industry Necessary For Survival

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of three articles by Pampa industrialists dealing with Oil and Gas Appreciation Week being observed nationally this week to point up the energy crisis, particularly petroleum based energy. Today's article is by C.E. (Gene) Steel, general manager of the Celanese Chemical Co. here.

When we think about the oil and gas industry most of us think in terms of fuel for our automobiles, trucks, and farm machinery. Upon further reflection, we realize that we take for granted the natural gas used to heat our homes and places of business.

As a result of recent newspaper articles, most of us are beginning to develop an appreciation for the fact that our electricity is also, to a large part, dependent upon the oil and gas industry.

Further investigation of our dependence upon the oil and gas industry will cause us to realize that virtually everything our society manufactures and uses requires energy. Recent statistics show that at present 76 per cent of our country's energy is provided as petroleum and natural gas, with the balance provided by coal, nuclear, and hydroelectric power.

It is startling to realize that without energy none of our manufacturing plants could operate. If our plants do not have sufficient energy to manufacture goods, our entire lifestyle is affected.

Energy is required to convert ore into usable metal. Energy is required to convert metal into automobiles, appliances, airplanes, farm equipment and other manufacturing equipment. Energy is required to operate automobiles, appliances, airplanes, farm equipment and other manufacturing equipment.

So, if we follow the energy cycle we soon find that without energy we are without! This gives further reason to be concerned with the pending energy shortage.

To say that the petrochemical industry appreciates the oil and gas industry is a gross understatement. The petrochemical industry was born of the oil and gas industry. The application of chemistry to petroleum hydrocarbons has resulted in a technology that affects all of us.

It is through this technology that we have derived plastics, modern pharmaceuticals, man-made fibers, synthetic rubber, paints and varnishes, food additives, insecticides, fertilizers and a host of other commodities.

The petrochemical industry, which is directly dependent on petroleum and natural gas as raw materials as well as energy, has sales in excess of $20 billion a year and employs some 315,000 people in 1900 plants throughout the United States.

The Celanese chemical plant at Pampa employs about 300 people with an annual payroll of more than $5.2 million and spends more than $10 million in supplies and services each year within a 50-mile radius of Pampa.

Is it any wonder that the petrochemical people appreciate the oil and gas industry, or that they are concerned over the potential shortages of fuel and hydrocarbon raw materials?

As oil and gas reserves are depleted and as we see more and more shortages in petroleum and petroleum products, the petrochemical industry gets a double dose of the problem. Hydrocarbon raw materials as well as fuel are necessary for survival.

As competition for available petroleum intensifies, its price is expected to increase. It is estimated that for most manufacturing plants the cost of energy is between 10-30 per cent of total manufacturing costs. In the petrochemical industry the costs of hydrocarbon raw materials must be added to the energy costs.

As shortages occur the costs of energy and raw materials will increase. It is not necessary to be a professional economist to appreciate the impact of the resultant higher manufacturing costs on the petrochemicals industry and ultimately the consumer.

Almost every newspaper or magazine we read gives at least one point of view as to why we are experiencing a shortage of energy, particularly petroleum based energy.

The simple fact is that we are depleting our petroleum reserves at a faster rate than new reserves are being discovered. Government controls on the oil and gas industry, plus environmental restrictions, appear to further aggravate the problem by delaying the discovery of new oil reserves and the development of new energy sources such as nuclear power.

The problem facing not only the petrochemical industry, but the entire country is the period of time when we will have virtually depleted existing energy sources and the time when we can develop and implement new energy sources. This period of time is commonly referred to as the "energy gap."

The solution to this problem is unclear. Many believe that there is no solution; consequently, we will experience the "energy gap" within the next several years. If there is no short range solution then we must work to minimize the impact.

By encouraging energy conservation, by promoting more oil and gas exploration, and by supporting the development of other energy sources, it must be the hope of all of us that our society can avoid the catastrophe of a major energy gap at a price we can afford to pay.

Registration Validity Clarified

Jack Back, county tax assessor-collector, today issued a statement to clear up questions on the validity of voter registration certificates.

The certificates are valid for three years from the effective date shown at the bottom of the card, he said.

Although the certificates mention only federal, state and county elections they also apply to city and school elections, according to City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden.

So, if your registration certificate shows an effective date of January, February or March 1971 - it is valid for voting in all elections through 1974.

Spring's Arrival Uncertain

According to the calendar, Spring supposedly crossed the threshold one week ago, but area residents have about decided the old girl's foot got caught in the door.

For Pampans the "trickle of spring" has ranged from the patter of rain to howls of wind, both very cold for spring.

Despite a 34 degree chill in the air early this morning and a cold rain that started about 10 a.m., the weather man insisted it would be warmer today with a high in the mid-sixties both today and Wednesday.

Chance of thunderstorms is 30 per cent for this afternoon and 20 per cent tonight with the possibility of showers tomorrow.

The only predicted change in the wind is direction; strong gusts will continue through Wednesday.

The rest of the state seems to be having the same trouble in getting spring established. The parade of cold fronts from the west have not stopped in the Panhandle but have pushed deep into all sections of the country.

In some areas, rain-swollen streams were causing trouble with evacuation of some sections necessary at Conroe.

Temperature extremes overnight ranged from 33 degrees at Dalhart to 65 at Brownsville.

DURING HEARINGS Water Quality Board Comes Under Attack

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Water Quality Board came under the sharp attack of Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, Monday as a committee heard a bill to create a state Environmental Quality Council. "It's obvious we've got state agencies that need better direction than they're getting from their executive directors," Schwartz said, referring to the board. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Bill Brackeclin, D-Dallas, would create a council to formulate environmental policy for the state. It was referred to a subcommittee. A version of the measure has already passed the House, where the water quality board and its executive director, High Yantis, also came under fire. In House hearings, Rep. Carl Paker, D-Port Arthur, angered when a high board official appeared against the bill, suggested both the official and Yantis should be fired. In the hearing before the Senate Human Resources Committee, Schwartz railed at the board as an example of an anti-pollution agency that needs a council to make sure it enforces state laws. Richard Shannon of Austin, appearing for the bill, said it would do just that—"make sure other agencies are doing duties they are charged with performing."

Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, asked how the legislature might insure that the director of an environmental council would be aggressive in stopping polluters. Schwartz said he'd go along with an amendment to the bill providing jail terms and fines for directors who didn't vigorously enforce the law.

Mengden agreed. "Let's put that in there and get this environmental council where it ought to be. Let's start putting some of these officials in jail."

Mengden eventually offered an amendment allowing the director of an environmental council to be removed by the governor, instead of serving a fixed term.

"If we achieve an environmental policy statement on a state level, then we could reverse the process in which everybody gets away with what they can get away with as long as they can get away with it," Schwartz said.

Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless, objected that the council would be "another layer of government" and would cost too much. Shannon told the Senate committee estimates the council would cost $1 million per year were inflated by hostile state agencies.

SUPPLY RUNS LOW Horsemeat Business Booms With Customers Lining Up

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "We've done it again!" Ed Carroll exclaimed after selling his 3,600-pound supply of horsemeat in six hours. His business is soaring with soaring beef prices. Horsemeat, high in protein and with no fat, is an easy winner at the cash register. Tenderloin beef steak was selling for $2.98 per pound at one chain supermarket here Monday. Tenderloin horsemeat steak, Carroll's most expensive item, was going for 95 cents a pound.

Carroll, 31, said it was a day of record sales for him. His market is closed today because his supplier can't prepare the meat fast enough to meet the booming demand. But he plans to reopen Wednesday.

Amarillo Man Arrested On Charge Of Burglary

Edgar Lee Dyer, 23, who gave police an Amarillo address, has been charged with daytime burglary. Bond was fixed at $2,000. Dyer was taken into custody inside a north Pampa residence at noon yesterday after a woman called police and said she had a burglar in her home. The house was quickly surrounded by officers. Some of them went in to find Dyer being held at gunpoint by the woman's husband.

The woman told them she had come home for lunch, found the house in disorder, heard a noise and found an intruder crouching in a corner in the den. She screamed for her husband, asleep in a back bedroom, and he came with a gun. Dyer reportedly had left a small station wagon, borrowed in Amarillo, in front of the house with the motor running. He allegedly had entered through an unlocked front door and ransacked the house, even entering the bedroom where the

Toastmasters Hold Contests

The Pampa Toastmasters Club held its annual serious and tall tales contest Monday night at Furr's Cafeteria. Jerry Allen won the serious competition with "My Native Land." Paul Fauss took second place with "Terrorism — A World Problem." Allen also won the tall tales contest with "Contra." Tom Wilkinson captured second place honors by reminiscing about "My Beautiful First Love."

First and second place winners will compete in the area contests in Borger Monday, April 2. David Osborne served as toastmaster for the evening's events, while Lee Foxworthy served as chief judge.

Missing Plane Search Continues

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A search continued today for a plane missing on a flight from Dalhart, Tex. to Mesa, Ariz. Earl Livingston of the Civil Air Patrol said no trace of the aircraft was found Monday as pilots of eight planes scanned wide areas. He said the Arizona CAP might be hampered today by bad weather, which closed in the search area Monday. The single-engine Mooney Mark 21 failed to arrive in Mesa after leaving Dalhart, Tex., about noon Thursday. The plane was piloted by Virgil Brewer, 31, and also carried his brother Harold. Livingston said the two were on the way to see their ill father.

Brando May Be Absent For Awards Ceremony

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For the second time in two years, the Oscar spotlight may be on the man who is not there. Marlon Brando, heavily favored to be named best actor tonight for "The Godfather," has not responded to his invitation from the Motion Picture Academy nor to a letter or telephone calls. He has not designated anyone to accept on his behalf should he win. Brando's absence could be a repeat performance of George C. Scott's refusal to accept an Academy Award for his title performance in "Patton" in 1971. Scott, however, announced in advance he would not accept. The Academy will present the Oscars tonight in ceremonies to be telecast from the Los Angeles Music Center. Besides an award for Brando, "The Godfather" is favored to collect a number of other awards, including best picture and best director. Brando reportedly is in Los Angeles, but he has not answered the Academy invitation nor a letter from its president Daniel Taradash. An academy spokesman said it was unlikely that he would appear at the ceremonies without answering the invitation. Howard W. Hoch, who is producing the telecast, has been unable to reach him by telephone. Brando previously won an Academy Award as best actor for "On the Waterfront" in 1954 and altogether has received six nominations in this category. Besides the Oscars, the Academy's board of governors voted honorary awards to the late Edward G. Robinson, who celebrated 50 years in motion pictures before his death Feb. 26, and to Charles Boren, longtime chief executive of the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers.

Here are the nominees for the major awards: Best picture — "Cabaret," "Deliverance," "The Emigrants," "The Godfather," and "Sounder." Best actor — Marlon Brando in "The Godfather," Michael Caine and Laurence Olivier in "Sleuth," Peter O'Toole in "The Ruling Class" and Paul Winfield in "Sounder." Best actress — Liza Minnelli in "Cabaret," Diana Ross in "Lady Sings the Blues," Maggie Smith in "Travels with my Aunt," Cicely Tyson in "Sounder" and Liv Ullmann in "The Emigrants."

Farmers Grain Program Requirements Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers who have signed up for the government's 1973 feed grain program under an option requiring that 25 per cent of their base acreage be idled in return for full payment benefits will have to take only 10 per cent from production. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz Monday announced the change "to prevent or alleviate a shortage in the supply of agricultural commodities" later this year.

Producers who had enrolled during the signup that ended March 16 for another option requiring no acreage to be set aside in return for reduced payments—were not affected by the new order. Producers who signed up before March 16, representing only 18 per cent of the farms enrolled in the feed grain program generally, will have to abide by an earlier rule calling for reduced payments in return for permission to plant all their base if they choose to remain in the program, officials said. Spokesmen said more farmers signed up under the full set-aside plan than anticipated and that the requirement was lowered so more land would be brought into production. The department said that the lower 10 per cent requirement clears the way for an additional 13.5 million acres to be planted to feed grain and other crops this spring. An estimated 2.5 million to 3.5 million acres more of corn and 500,000 or more acres of soybeans could result, officials said.

Child Injury Case Studied

Pampa police are investigating injuries to a 20-month child placed in Highland General Hospital last night for treatment of bruises to face and body. The baby and two older children were left with the mother's common-law husband while she went to work. The man called her later on the job, saying the baby was sick. She went home and found the injured child, but the man was gone. No charges have been filed in the incident but police are continuing their investigation.

Fire Department Issues Warning

LEFORS—Floyd Cotham, chief of the Lefors volunteer firemen, issued a warning today against people following ambulances and firetrucks engaged in answering calls. Cotham said the department has been having trouble completing its business properly because of interference caused by those following the vehicles. Those caught in following the vehicles will be fined, with law enforcement officials ready to enforce the regulations, Cotham said.

Church Hit By Thieves

Thieves entered Central Baptist Church sometime Sunday night, ransacked offices and made off with an undetermined amount of change. Entry was gained through a basement window. From that point, according to police reports, the intruders apparently went straight to the suite of offices. From one they took a large quantity of book matches and used them for light as they continued their search. Evidently they were seeking money only for none of the other equipment was bothered, police said. Police believe they have some "excellent" specimens of fingerprints and footprints.

School Board Holds Meeting

Members of the Pampa school board conducted a breakfast meeting this morning to act on items carried over from the top-heavy agenda of the last regular meeting. The list of recommended textbooks presented by the selection committee was approved. Some changes had been made since the initial presentation of the list and board ratified the new list. The panel had planned to consider recommendations for the coaching staff, but these were not ready for presentation at this meeting.

Charges Changed

Charges of carrying prohibitive weapons against five Burger men were changed to disorderly conduct in Judge Ed Anderson's court yesterday afternoon. Fines of $27.50 each were assessed Charles King, 26. Harold Ray King, 20. Donald Wayne King, 18. Daniel James Burse, 25 and Willie Aubrey Green, 28. The quintet paid their fines and were released.

Pollution Enemy May Be Ourselves

By C.R. BATTEN

In our search for the causes and cures of environmental deterioration, we are often told that, in the words of Pogo, "We have found the enemy and he is us;" that each and every one of us contributes to the problem by the demands we make through our individual needs.

Many who want to live "eco-logically" are attempting to reduce their demands on natural resources and on the environment.

"When goods are made of different materials," they ask, "and we have a choice among materials, how can we know which is least damaging to the environment?"

We are told, for example, that it takes six times as much electric power to make an aluminum beer can as it does to make a steel can.

But another source says it takes only twice as much energy to produce aluminum as steel, and since aluminum is so much lighter we can get two or three times as many cans from a pound of aluminum than from a pound of steel, there is a net savings in the use of aluminum.

C.W. Dane, professor of business administration at Oregon State University, attempted to explore this problem in the December issue of the "Journal of Forestry." He briefly described two possible ways of determining the comparative environmental costs of various construction materials.

The "materials balance approach" is based on the amount of materials that must be processed in order to produce a ton of the end product. Dane believes a better method for comparing environmental costs of various materials is the "social cost" approach.

"It is the 'external' or 'social costs' — those incurred by society rather than by the producer — of these wastes that is important," he wrote. His social costs are "the costs of avoiding environmental impacts from production processes. Thus, the social costs of air pollution from steel production is an estimate of the cost of avoiding air pollution."

By relating the social costs to the 1970 price of the materials, he estimated the amount that prices must be increased if the purchasers are to pay the entire cost of the production of the materials. For the purpose of this column, the specific results are not pertinent.

Dane made "no claim... that (his) estimates are beyond dispute," and emphasized the difficulty of estimating social costs.

He has entered a very complicated field, and necessarily ignored many factors. He did not consider, for example, the amount of electrical energy required to produce the various construction materials, or the amount of coal, oil or gas that it takes to produce that energy.

Neither did he consider the useful products that are made from many processing "wastes" or the savings realized in recycling many materials.

Nor can any study such as this recognize the variation within an industry. One company, for example, may have installed the latest pollution control equipment and may be virtually free of external social costs, while another manufacturing the same product may have a minimum of pollution controls and very high social costs.

The true environmental cost would be reflected in the price paid for the goods produced by the first, but not for those goods produced by the second.

Attempts such as this to identify the social costs of environmental deterioration may have their value — if only to make us realize the immensity and the impossibility of such an approach.

For there is no way that any individual or group or unit of government can determine which product is more environmentally responsible until all the external "social" costs are eliminated, and until all the costs of production are included in the prices paid by the purchasers.

Herein lies the challenge and the solution:

To find ways of claiming and recognizing ownership of those resources that are now considered to be common property (which are those that are most seriously polluted), so the owners may claim all the benefits from their property, and will be responsible for all the costs. James C. Hite and others "The Economics of Environmental Quality" point out environmental quality is a scarce resource, and that "... economics tells us that scarcity demands payment: anyone desiring the use of a scarce asset must pay for the privilege."

Then, all the environmental costs will be included in the prices paid by each individual decisionmaker. He will be able to balance the costs of his actions and his purchases against their benefits.

The choices of materials that appear to be best for the individual will be best for the society.

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "Powerful" and "moving" are two descriptions that critics use far too often. Still, they're good enough start for characterizing "Pueblo," which the ABC Television network plans to broadcast Thursday night.

We should add "terrifying," "brutal" and "uncompromising" to the list and cap it with "brilliant." Because the two-hour show is all this and more.

It's a dramatization, using real names and basic facts, of the seizure of the Navy spy ship, Pueblo, by North Korean PT boats off the coast of North Korea on Jan. 23, 1968.

It encompasses, among other things, the Navy and House inquiries into how the Pueblo became the first U.S. naval vessel to surrender to a foreign power in peacetime since 1897.

It also covers, in brutally realistic detail, the mental and physical anguish of the Pueblo's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, when he had to make the decision under fire to surrender his slow, lightly armed ship and its crew to the North Koreans.

It doesn't hedge in graphically portraying the beatings and torture Bucher and his men endured in their 11 months of captivity.

Nor does it omit the ribald way they showed the world they were holding on, their message flashed in the obscene, upraised finger gesture their captors knew only as "a Hawaiian good-luck sign."

The story of what led to the Pueblo's capture and what happened afterward — is superbly told through a series of flashbacks and scene changes that move from court to ship to prison and back again.

It starts with the lonely figure of Bucher (unforgettably etched by Hal Holbrook). He is seated in a chair, talking about his youth, his days at Boys' Town, his love for the Navy.

His face is strong, his manner alternately firm and uncertain as flashbacks go off in his face and voices interrupt him to announce the opening phases of a naval court of inquiry.

The program builds from there, slowly and deliberately at first, then quickening and, in the process, building a damning case against a military hierarchy that sent Bucher to sea with uncertain communications, an uncertain ship and totally inadequate support.

The show undoubtedly will arouse its share of controversy over what it calls the "true facts" of the Pueblo affair.

Its chilling realism in portraying prison-camp brutality also may well cause an uproar from well-meaning people who think the grimmer facts of life should be watered down for television.

I'd advise them to find another channel Thursday night if they feel "Pueblo" will prove too disturbing. Because it is disturbing, very disturbing, as well it should be.

Problems, Solutions Mixed In Film

"Time To Run," a new film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, is scheduled to open at the Capri Theater April 11. The full-length feature, filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, is scheduled to run through April 17.

Filed on location in the Southern California area, "Time To Run" stars Ed Nelson, Randall Carver, Barbara Sigel, Joan Winmill and Gordon Rigby. Ed Nelson is perhaps best known for his portrayal of Dr. Rossi on television's "Peyton Place."

In the film, Nelson plays Warren Cole, a hard driving success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer who, because of over-involvement with his work, has failed to communicate with his wife Fran, played by Joan Winmill, or their son Jeff, played by screen newcomer Randall Carver.

The movie allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of the three different levels.

Viewed purely as entertainment, it's the suspenseful story of Jeff's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant, conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action.

Viewed on an emotion level, "Time To Run" is the deeply moving drama of the conflicts that are tearing a family apart conflicts that develop between husband and wife, and between father and son. In an attempt to find freedom from the ever-growing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover "some meaning in his confused life."

Approached from a religious perspective, it is also a story of friction between Jeff and his girlfriend, Michelle, played by Barbara Sigel, a familiar face to television viewers.

Michelle has discovered a spiritual dimension in her life, and this aspect is very

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Martha, in pioneer days, could have hobbled around outdoors with reasonable safety. Urban life now precludes that. Remember couples vow to "forsake ALL others," if necessary, to preserve a happy home for their children!

CASE W-662: Martha, W., aged 78, is typical of probably 1,000,000 Americans.

"Dr. Crane," her 40-year-old married daughter protested, "Mother is driving us crazy."

"Yet she hasn't been here but 10 days."

"She is worse than a little child, for she gets into all my cupboards."

"She is also like a pack rat, for she has a bag into which she slips any small object that attracts her attention."

"And she wraps up her false teeth; then hides them, so the last few days she hasn't been able to eat any solid food."

"For she can't recall where she put them and neither I nor my 3 children can locate them."

"Same is true of her eye glasses, for she sticks them away in the cupboard or under her bed or even at the bottom of the wastebasket."

"It was 4 days before we found them the last time she placed them in some secret place."

"And she gets up about 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, after which she snoops around until she wakes me, too."

"We give her a sleeping pill at bedtime and keep her off of coffee at night to help make her sleep."

"But the pills wear off in 3 or 4 hours."

"And she is obsessed with the idea she must be taking medicine several times a day."

"My sister and I have wanted to alternate taking care of her, but I doubt if we can stand the strain very long."

"So we are debating placing her in a Nursing Home, yet we hesitate to do that to our Mother."

GERIATRIC PSYCHOLOGY
All of you readers under the age of 60, should re-read Martha's symptoms!

For most of us will ultimately sprout many of these same senile habits, if we live into the 80 to 90 age brackets.

We'll become pack rats!

And hide our money under the rug, inside of books, in teapots and also other most unexpected places, after which we won't even remember where we put it.

Thereupon, we'll accuse even our own middle-aged children of stealing it!

Alas, we'll also keep asking the same questions over and over, yet never remember the fact our companions answered us not 2 minutes before.

And we'll even forget the names of those who are kinfolk, including our own aged mates or elderly children.

Recently a woman named Pearl, aged 82, was taken by her daughter to visit Pearl's twin sister.

They visited all afternoon; then the two sisters went to bed. Suddenly Pearl exclaimed, "Who are you? And what are you doing in my bed?"

Actually, it wasn't Pearl's bed at all and a few hours earlier she had seemed fairly rational while discussing childhood events with her sister.

Alas, we medicans can't guarantee cures for this senile deterioration of thinking that affects all older people to a greater or lesser degree.

Hyperbaric (Oxygen) therapy may temporarily alert the older's brain, as does banishing the usual anemia of the aged.

Caffeine drinks (coffee) and emotional tonic (discussing past childhood events) will also help for brief periods of time.

But when the happiness of a younger family is seriously jeopardized, Nursing Homes are a great boon.

Clements Barber Shop Has Fountain Of Youth Styling

Looking for a "Fountain of Youth?"

Clements Barber Shop, 310 S. Cuyler, may not be able to restore youth, but a styled haircut and scalp massage can help one look and feel younger.

Looking forward has been a policy of Bob Clements, who has been a barber since 1946. He has had training at Amarillo, Tyler, and Dallas.

"I went to some of these styling shows and saw what some of these barbers were doing that I couldn't do and I said to myself, that's for me," Clements said.

In an effort to provide better service for his customers, Clements has kept up with the latest trends and methods of haircutting and styling.

Clements has satisfied customers from Miami, Wheeler, McLean, Canadian, Pampa and other Panhandle points.

Trust Co. Goes Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., which touched off criticism last week when it boosted its prime lending rate to 6 1/2 per cent, said Tuesday it was cutting the rate back to 6 1/4 per cent "for the time being."

Manufacturers Hanover, the nation's fourth largest bank, was the first last week to boost its rate from 6 1/4 per cent. The hike, the largest jump in almost two years, was matched by several other major banks and triggered pressure for a cutback from Arthur F. Burns, chairman of both the Federal Reserve Board and the House Committee on Interest and Dividends.

Other banks which had boosted their rates rolled them back to 6 1/4 per cent Friday and over the weekend.

Manufacturers Hanover said today the Committee on Interest and Dividends had informed it the committee did not feel the bank's March 19 increase was within guidelines.

The prime rate is the interest charged by banks on loans to top corporate customers. Bankers have argued that pressure to hold down the prime and other lending rates has caught them in a pinch since their own borrowing costs, including interest charges on funds borrowed from the Federal Reserve, have gone up.

Shortage Solution?

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal official suggested today that highway speed limits might be reduced 20 miles per hour as a way of saving gasoline in case of a shortage this summer.

Darrell M. Trent, acting director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said "localized shortages" could result from low gasoline inventories and it would be up to affected states to take precautions.

Gasoline stocks grow during winter and spring and drop during the summer driving season, but the growth last winter fell drastically short of expectations.

"The automobile is much less efficient at high turnpike speeds and reducing average speeds by 20 miles per hour could save 15 to 20 per cent in gasoline consumption per car," he said.

Trent prepared his remarks for a Seaside Conference on Energy, Money and Ships.

With a practicing knowledge of hair-less retardation, Clements massages the hair and scalp for 20 minutes to increase the circulation and to relax the scalp.

"If this procedure is not followed, the hair stands straight up, making a good styling or cutting job nearly impossible," Clements claimed.

Clements doesn't claim to be able to restore hair that has been lost, but he does feel he can help a person to retain the hair he has.

Handling a line of Roffler's products, Clements recently received an award for being the best Roffler salesman in the Lubbock-Amarillo-Pampa area.

Keeping pace with the need of a style for long hair advocates, the Avante, or forward look, was created by Roffler.

Men who want to keep their hair long but clean and neat will especially like this style. Clements has added the style to his list of credits.

"The natural look" is Clements' specialty, but he does regular barbering as well as styling.

So if you're looking for aids to a more youthful appearance—or if you're young and want to look your best—drop by Clements Barber Shop or call 665-1231 for an appointment.

ROMAN HOLIDAY—Delmar Watkins, manager of Gibson Discount Center, and his wife Barbara were among the dealers who went on a trip to Rome, Italy, on a junket sponsored by GTE Sylvania Incorporated. The trip was offered as a premium for photo retailers who ordered Sylvania Blue Dot flashbulbs and Flashcubes in the fall.

Friedan Says Man-Hating Is Hurting Women's Cause

NEW YORK (AP) — Betty Friedan, now involved in controversy with her more radical sisters in the women's liberation movement, sees an alliance between the sexes as the most effective way to achieve equality for women.

At the first major fund-raising event for the New York chapter of the National Organization for Women, the outspoken feminist on Sunday cited man-hating and lesbianism as issues that could only hinder the movement's progress.

Ms. Friedan first emphasized the victories for women over the last few years: the Supreme Court's abortion decision, passage of the equal rights amendment by Congress, the millions of dollars in back pay women received from American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

But she repeated her view expressed previously in various magazine articles that the lesbian issue was being used by some as a ploy to divide women. Several feminists, such as Robin Morgan and Ti-Grace Atkinson, have denounced publicly Ms. Friedan's opinions.

"The essence of the move-

Towles Tile Company Offers End To Waxing

While the season of snow and ice may be behind us the problem of maintaining an attractive surface on floors in your home or business is one which never goes away.

If you are tired of the constant effort required in the upkeep of waxed floor surfaces, perhaps you should think of the advantages of Neverwax, a liquid plastic floor covering hailed as an answer to floor protection and maintenance problems for types of flooring normally requiring wax.

Neverwax, produced by Perma Seal of Texas, Inc., is available locally from Towles Tile Co.

The non-slip coating is guaranteed to maintain 70 percent of its original gloss for two years, except where subjected to extremely heavy wear—for instance, at benches, scales, or other pivot points.

Neverwax puts a transparent, non-yellowing, very highly abrasion resistant coating on vinyl asbestos, asphalt or rubber tile floors, or on other surfaces that ordinarily require waxing, such as wood, stone, etc.

The coating comes in a clear finish or in a choice of colors.

Neverwax is ideally suited for flooring in office buildings, banks, retail stores, beauty parlors, hotels, nursing homes, restrooms, theaters, corridors, laundries, cafeterias, restaurants or in your own home.

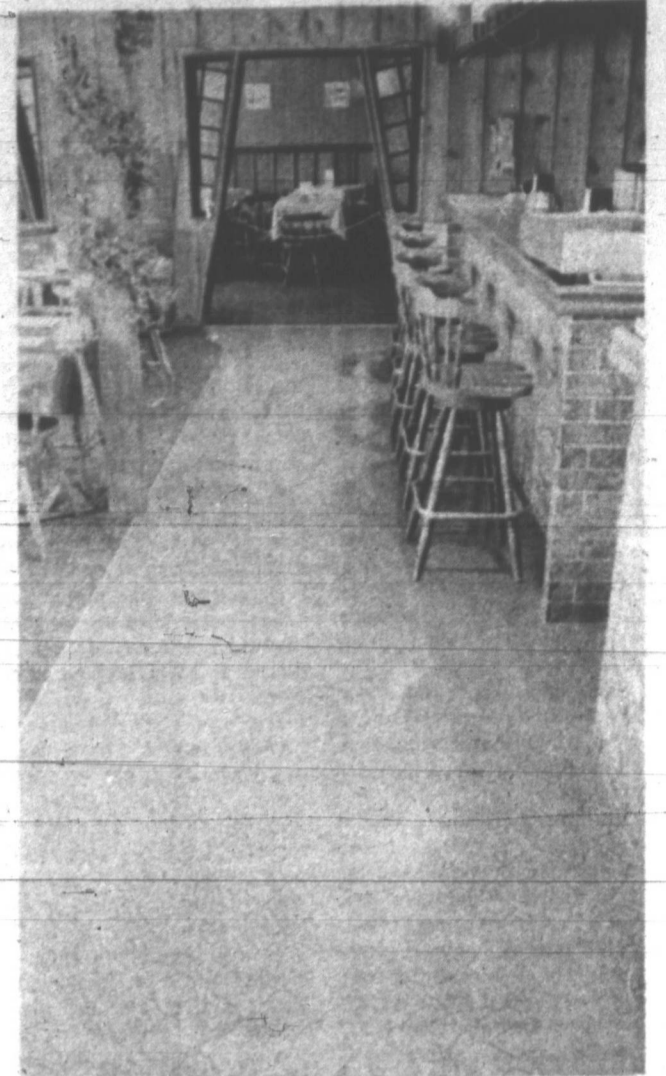

A permanent gloss floor finish, it saves up to 70 percent in maintenance costs. It never needs waxing, buffing, polishing or stripping and is not subject to strain, cracking, yellowing or absorption of most foreign elements, including most liquids and chemicals.

A Neverwax floor can be easily cleaned with a wet mop to provide a deep lustrous finish. It even resists black heel marks.

For homeowner do-it-yourself installation, there is a choice of two kits: One coats up to 100 square feet of flooring surface while the other coats up to 400 square feet.

The kits consist of Neverwax cleaner, primer and finish, with easy instructions provided. The tough finish can last up to five years without having to be waxed. And it totally seals cracks and seals so that dirt and grime cannot collect.

For more information contact Towles Tile Company at 665-5075.

SHINE WITHOUT WAX — Put an end to the chore of floor waxing with Neverwax, a clear plastic floor covering requiring only sweeping and wet mopping for up to five years. It's available at Towles Tile Company of Pampa, 665-5075.

Committee Urges Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trade and monetary talks between President Nixon and the leaders of Canada, Japan and Western Europe have been urged by a joint congressional committee.

Two members of the Joint Economic Committee disagreed with the recommendation, one saying that the committee should not be telling the President to meet with heads of state.

A statement by the House-Senate panel said President Nixon should hold the meetings in an effort to win new trade concessions and to speed up a reform of the world monetary system.

Specifically, the committee said Nixon should try to end tariff and nontariff barriers to U.S. trade, and it supported the U.S. position of support of "paper gold," the new international monetary asset that supplements gold in paying debts.

The committee also asked Nixon to seek agreement for repayment to the U.S. of "our net overseas expenditures," for defense. A statement by the committee did not say how retroactive these payments should be.

Some Chinese Remedies Are More Than A Little Exotic

EDITOR'S NOTE: When Chinese feel under the weather, they doctor themselves just like Americans do. AP's science editor, who just completed a three-week tour of China, finds that sometimes their remedies are exotic.

SHANGHAI, China (AP) — To relieve your headache or toothache, you might try this Chinese remedy: On the back of your hand, massage the spot located about one inch behind the webbing between thumb and forefinger. Rub it with fair pressure for five or ten minutes.

For a toothache, it is very effective to relieve pain for several hours or even a whole day," says Dr. Hsu Chia-Yu, a doctor of internal medicine who visited the United States last October.

The Chinese people trot off to drugstores or go see their doctors for treatment of various ailments just as Americans do. Dr. Hsu said, but there are differences, some rather exotic.

Like a pill containing antelope horn for the common cold. Some herbs soaked in wine are one preparation for arthritis. Turtle shell is the main ingredient of one general tonic. Six herbs are concocted in a syrup to treat insomnia. Seeds from a particular kind of bush are said to combat spells of dizziness.

Massaging the spot at the base of the thumb—called the "snuff box" because people used to put snuff there to lift it to their noses—is being used as a new way of inducing anesthesia for head and neck surgery without any other treatment, including acupuncture needles.

Dr. Hsu says he shows some patients how to do the massage themselves. And Mao Kuo-Hua, the genial chief interpreter for a group of visiting American doctors, says he does it to relieve a sore throat and that it usually works, at least temporarily.

Mao added that he sometimes does his own acupuncture, administering a needle into a spot on the outside of the leg, just below the knee, for relief from an upset stomach.

When the sniffles of a common cold strike, some Chinese wear face masks, like a surgeon's mask, in order, we were informed, not to pass the cold on to someone else.

Many Japanese follow the same custom. Drugstores sell "detoxifying tablets," a kind of tonic called Yuing Hwang, with many ingredients.

For bronchitis, the choice is antibiotics or herb medicines.

For arthritis, Dr. Hsu and colleagues prescribe cortisone and other steroid drugs, sometimes herbal lotions applied externally or herbs taken by mouth. Acupuncture "can bring symptomatic relief" through treatment given daily or every other day for ten to 15 times, the physician said.

Never again!

Dear Abby

Foreign-born woman sneers at U.S. women

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a foreign-born woman, but I enjoy reading your column to study the strange, insecure ways of the American people.

Most American men are henpecked by bossy wives who in turn shout for their own liberation. It makes me laugh. Since I have come to this country I can now understand why so many American men prefer to marry foreign women. We are not so different from American women, only we actually enjoy our womanhood and do not try to be something else. We are truly liberated, and it is a lot of nonsense that we walk three steps behind our husbands and refrain from speaking our minds.

The boldness and lack of grace I have observed in many American women make it quite obvious why there are so many divorces in your country. In my country, we say: "A strong wife and mother is the source of a strong husband, children, and country."

What could be more complimentary to women?
 S. M. G.: LONG BEACH
 (P.S. I am married to a wonderful American man.)

DEAR S.M.G.: I presume your "wonderful American man" was raised by an American mother who must have done something right.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old, college educated, fairly good-looking woman. I am single. To get right to the point, I have dated many men, but not one of them has ever turned me on. I feel absolutely nothing when a man kisses me. But that is not the case with women. I would like to be the "man" to another woman. I have never done anything with either sex. How would you define a homosexual?

NO NAME, NO CITY

DEAR NO: A homosexual is one who has erotic feelings about members of his (or her) own sex.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old, married, and am working. We have no children and don't plan on having any for another three years. When that time comes, I plan on quitting my job and staying home until the child goes to school. That will mean six years of being completely dependent on my husband—financially.

I am very independent, and I can't see asking my husband for every cent I need or want. I like to spend money, and I buy many things that aren't necessities.

I am contemplating opening my own bank account and keeping it a secret from my husband. That way I will have some money saved up and I won't have to beg, borrow, or steal. What is your opinion?
 CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: I don't know what your financial agreement is with your husband, but if you agreed to pool your earnings and share it, for you to have a secret account would be dishonest.

Saving is a sound idea. Why not tell your husband that you'd like to start saving now for the time when you'll not be a working wife? And by the way, where did you get the idea that nonworking wives must either beg, borrow, or steal in order to get money from their husbands?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90089. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: After a slow start your year builds to a plateau of general thrifty success, improved standing in the world. Today's natives include many who distinguish themselves for courage in dangerous places and adventures.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: It may take most of the day to get on the right track for serious business, and very likely it's just as well.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: This isn't a favorable time for premises. Live for the moment, let people express themselves without your immediate comment.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: It's an interesting day in which nothing is apt to have a lasting impact on your life—unless you make a need-less error.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Explaining plans insures interference and complications. Accounting for past enterprises becomes a fine art. Just keep the story straight.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You should pause to think where you are in your lifecycle, ask the questions you've dodged for so long.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: The discipline to stop short of overdoing, belaboring a point of argument, adding a "last touch" is your much needed virtue.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: If you are entrusted with group finances, be prudent in your management. Evening hours may include something long wanted.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Nearly all the day and early evening is spent in practice toward an evening show-down in which your finest skills are manifest.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: What looks like easy money either isn't. Stay with regular work habits and normal procedures.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Getting down to work usually has its merits, but for the moment it doesn't quite come off. Avoid forcing issues.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Tidy up your work schedule, do some trouble-shooting, last minute checking. You are in a pause prior to a flurry of activity.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Bridle your temper and your bright remark; both are apt to be misplaced and misunderstood.

WIN AT BRIDGE
A Big, Brave Astro Cue Bid

It worked this time because South, who could not be expected to hold much in the way of high cards, had the perfect hand and in addition he played well and the hand broke favorably. Just give West or East the queen-jack-small of spades and South would be down at least one at his four-spade contract.

Furthermore, North was really playing with dynamite when he stuck in his astro cue bid. Suppose East's opening bid had included four spades to the king as the second suit. South would have had to try two spades with a three-card suit and a double would have left him somewhere between a rock and a very hard place.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Club News

WORTHWHILE HD CLUB
 "Beauty is not discovered with the eyes, but with the soul," stated Mrs. Cora Lee Robertson, president of the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club, who met with Mrs. Janice Carter, hostess for the recent meeting.

Roll call was answered with "favorite songs," and a letter was read from Genevieve Tidwell expressing Altrusan's thanks to the club for serving the Senior Citizen's recently.

Mrs. Pauline Beard was nominated the "good cook" from the club and will present four favorite recipes to the News office.

The home-demonstration clubs of Gray County are to tour Levi Straus in Amarillo April 5, with each club furnishing their own transportation.

Mrs. Betty King and Mrs. John T. King presented the program on how to crochet stretch bracelets, choker necklaces and belts.

Refreshments were served to the following visitors Mmes. T.J. Watt of Levelland, Alva Richard, Battle Creek, Mich.; Lauriof of International Falls, Minn.; and L.D. Howard, Beth Carter and Bill Carter and son Bill.

Members present were Mmes. Maggie Smith, Dona Lee Brown, Pauline Beard, Odessa Blakesell, Alma Jaynes, Gladys Stone, Janie Carter and Cora Lee Robertson.

The next meeting will be April 6 with Mrs. Estelle Purvis, 432 Crest St.

FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN
 The Mission Study Group of Baptist Women met recently in the home of Mrs. Ed Langford, 1926 N. Faulkner.

Mrs. Alfred Cross, chairman of this group, was in charge of the meeting. She read the call to prayer and Ms. Ed Cantrell led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Cross announced the current revival services and that the mission project for the month of March is "Shoes for Buckner's." The ladies present gave a monetary offering for this.

Mrs. George Warren continued in the mission study of the book, "Peril, By Choice." She will conclude this study when the group meets next month on April 11.

Members present included Mmes. Hugh Peoples, Irene Crawford, Paul Turner, A.N. King, Cross, Langford, Warren and Cantrell and Misses Vada Waldron and Claudia Everly.

The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Crawford.

CONSERVATION
'FATHER' HONORED
 WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bird Grinnell has been placed in the National Wildlife Federation's Hall of Fame for conservation.

Known as the founder of the Audubon Society, he was influenced as a youth in New York by the widow of John James Audubon. A trained scientist, he took over the weekly Forest and Stream magazine and made it a national force for conservation. He campaigned for enforcement of game laws, for proper forest management and for protecting park land.

By Laura B. Cornelius
 The Senior Citizen's were hosted by Pampa Temple 41 Pythian Sisters last week at Lovett Library. Eleven sisters helped with the serving and presented two gifts to the ladies and two gifts to the men. Serving were: Pearl Bernard, Annie Brown, Bertie Brown, Helen Cain; Lola Mae Fugate, Bernice Goodlett, Joyce Howell, Bessie Kosvnen, Nadine Meers, Stacey Stubbs and Suretha Thompson.

Door prizes were presented to Mrs. L.B. Cornelius, Genia Noland, O.L. Day and Elmer Frazier.

Seniors in the hospital are John Parker, and Mmes. Margaret White, Mae Flavin, Mina Benhan, Elizabeth Kretzmeyer and Gladys Huggins.

We were happy to see our "candy man" back with us today, J.P. Stephens, who is living with his daughter, Mrs. A.C. King in Liberal, Kan.

Mrs. Ruby Stovall has returned from a 10 day visit in Stephenville and Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. B.A. Tucker, Oakley, Calif. visited in the home of her mother, Mrs. Daisy Brunson, recently.

Mrs. Jewel Laramore spent the weekend in Amarillo as a guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Walls.

Mrs. D.R. Henry, present after an absence of about a year, told us she attended the St. Patrick's celebration in Shamrock with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. E.S. Carroll, and grandson, Mark Griffith, who is a student at WTSU. Their home is in Kellerville.

A visitor from Canadian, Mrs. Isaac Simpson, was a guest of Mrs. Lillie Reynolds.

Mrs. Edith Lawrence spent last weekend in Groom visiting.

Bill Walton's 44 Points Leads UCLA To 21 Point NCAA Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Death and taxes...and UCLA.

The Memphis State Tigers and their personable coach, Gene Bartow, should be pretty well convinced today that they're all alike. You can't beat 'em.

The Tigers, perhaps with the highest hopes of any basketball team in a long while, set out to conquer the mighty Bruins

Monday night and failed, losing 87-66.

The victory gave the big, bad Bruins their seventh consecutive National Collegiate Athletic Association championship and their 75th straight triumph over a three-year span.

Indiana, led by John Ritter and Steve Downing, turned back Providence 97-79 for third place despite a 29-point performance by the Friars' Kevin Stacom. Ritter and Downing had 21 points each, and Downing topped all rebounders with 14.

The Bruin who did most to annihilate the Tigers was Bill Walton, a 6-foot-11 junior, who poured in 21-of-22 shots from the floor, many on tip-ins preceded by fantastic moves, and wound up with 44 points, a record for the championship game.

Gail Goodrich, a UCLA star of yesterday, held the old record of 42 for eight years.

Bartow, after it was all over, could do little more than mumble. "Walton...Walton...Walton." He knew first hand why the pros would like to get Walton today, tomorrow, just as quickly as possible.

"We couldn't contain Walton," Bartow said grimly. "I've never seen a player so dominating as Walton. He is big and strong and wiry."

John Wooden, the UCLA coach for 25 years, seemed almost as proud as if this was the first championship the Bruins ever won. He was filled with praise, like Bartow, of Walton.

"For Bill," Wooden said, "I believe this was the only time this season I've seen him so emotionally ready to play.

"I'm very proud of this team. Perhaps, I've never had a better team when you consider both offense and defense."

Walton was hot from the start. He made six of the Bruins' first 10 points and 14 of their first 23, and the overflow St. Louis Arena crowd of 19,301 seemed to sense that Walton was giving a pretty fair signal of the way things were going to go.

For awhile, it appeared that Larry Kenon, the Tigers' brilliant 6-9 forward, might be able to match Walton. He poked in Memphis State's first three baskets and four of its first five. Larry Finch, Kenon and Ronnie Robinson hit with regularity near the close of the first half after Walton went to the bench with three personal fouls to give the Tigers a 39-39 tie at the intermission.

Finch fired two free throws at the second half got under way, and the Bengals led for the last time. Walton promptly answered the challenge by dumping in three straight baskets.

Besides his 44 points, Walton snared 13 rebounds, high for the game. Keith Wilkes was the only other UCLA player to hit in double figures. He had 16. Finch collected 29 points and Kenon 20.

Walton headed the all-tournament team. The others on the honor club were Finch and Kenon. Downing and Ernie Digregorio of Providence.

Russians End Tour

CHICAGO (AP) — Olga Korbut and the Russian women's gymnastics team ended their U.S. tour Monday night, melting thousands of lingering Cold War icicles.

The tiny Miss Korbut and her teammates displayed their Olympic form to a near-capacity crowd of some 16,000 gymnastics enthusiasts in Chicago Stadium.

The size of the crowd was all the more remarkable because fans had only four days notice of the appearance of the gymnasts. No Chicago stop was scheduled on the original seven-city tour. It was arranged after Mayor Richard J. Daley cabled a personal plea to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Clarendon Rodeo Is Scheduled

The ninth annual Clarendon College Rodeo will begin Thursday and go through Saturday at the Donley County Fairgrounds in Clarendon.

Thursday's and Friday's shows will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday's program will include two shows, at 2 p.m. and 7 o'clock.

Lloyd Barby of Beaver, Okla. is the stock producer for the rodeo.

Seven events are scheduled with 57 buckles to be awarded. The events and the entry fee for each event follow.

Bull riding $10, bareback bronc riding $10, ribbon roping $10, tie down calf roping $10, team roping $15, girl's barrel racing $5 and girl's goat tying $5.

Books for the rodeo close Thursday. All students, high school or college, between the ages of 14 and 21 are eligible to compete.

Registration for the rodeo may be made at Clarendon College or by writing to: Rodeo, Box 968, Clarendon, Tex. 79226. Inquiries may be made between 9:30 a.m. and 10 p.m. until Thursday by calling 806-874-3308.

Longview Pine Tree Lands Two On Team

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Longview Pine Tree, the Class 3A state champion, landed Glen Hughes and Richard Stringer on the 1977 Texas Sports Writers Association's All-State basketball team named Tuesday.

Hughes, a 6-foot-6 senior, scored at a 13.3 clip for the well-balanced and defense minded Pine Tree team while Stringer, a 5-7 senior, was the playmaker for the state champs. Pine Tree also placed Rick Dowdle on the third team. Dowdle was the hero in the state tourney as he came off the bench to score 40 points in two games.

Runnerup Lamesa placed its fine 6-4 junior Kent McCurley, who scored at a 23.7 clip, on the first team. McCurley, Hughes and Levelland's 6-6 senior Grant Dukes were picked at the inside spots. Dukes, who was a third team selection in 1972, averaged 23.5 points per game.

State semifinalist Waco Jefferson-Moore landed guard Robert Rice on the first 6-7 Roberts hit at a 14.6 clip.

Joining Roberts at the inside spots on the second team were Crosby's high-scoring Charlie Bass, a 6-4 junior with a 27.2 average and Rockport-Fulton's 6-7 Steve Mayes, who averaged 22.7 points per game.

The guard spots were taken by Colorado City's 5-11 Melvin Jackson and Athens' 6-2 Carl Barker. Jackson averaged 24.6 per game while Barker scored at a 18.0 pace.

Dowdle was the only junior on the third team and he was joined at a guard spot by Brownfield's 6-2 senior Greg Jones, who averaged 21.3.

The inside positions on the third unit went to Wilmer Hutchins' 6-6 senior Dwight High (18.1), Henderson's 6-

Golden State Warriors Close Season Tomorrow

OAKLAND (AP) — Following a 120-113 loss to Phoenix, the Golden State Warriors will close out their regular National Basketball Association schedule Wednesday against the Los Angeles Lakers. But it may not be the last time the Lakers and Warriors duel this year.

The Warriors, in second place behind the Lakers, are scheduled to meet either Los Angeles or the Milwaukee Bucks in the first round of playoffs, depending on which team has the best win-loss percentage. The Lakers currently are .610 percentage points ahead of the Bucks but that could change if the Lakers lose and Bucks win Wednesday.

In Monday's loss to Phoenix, the Suns trailed by 15 points in the second half before overtaking the Warriors permanently in the last 1:35 of the game. Dick Van Arsdale sank a pair of free throws to put Phoenix ahead and Connie Hawkins added a field goal before the Suns went into a stall for the remaining 1:18.

Hawkins finished the game with 29 points, including 17 in the second half and nine in the final period. Teammate Clem Haskins had 24 and Van Arsdale 21.

In the night's only other NBA game, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Portland Trail Blazers 118-99 and in the lone American Basketball Association game, the Dallas Chaparrals downed the Carolina Cougars 112-110.

The Milwaukee Bucks outscored Portland 21-4 in the last six minutes of the third quarter and rolled to their 13th straight NBA victory.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led Milwaukee with 31 points and 12 rebounds while Oscar Robertson added 24 points and 14 assists. The Blazers played without Sidney Wicks, who has an injured heel.

Collis Jones and Eugene Kennedy combined for 49 points to pace Dallas past Carolina. It was the Chaps' final ABA game in Dallas.

Kennedy scored 24 points, including a crucial layup with 22 seconds left, and Jones had 25 points to pace the Chaps, who played before only 578 fans. Billy Cunningham led Carolina with 19 points.

Harvesters In Dumas

The Harvester diamond dust is in Dumas today for its first game in more than a week. The Pampa baseballers are now 5-4 for the year.

Last weekend's scheduled three games with Altus, Okla. were cancelled because of the extremely wet conditions at Optimist Park.

Gary Davis will be the starting pitcher for Pampa today. Dennis Edmondson and Roy Morris may also see some action.

Other starters for Pampa will be Bobby Hendricks at catcher, Terry Moore at first, Ricky Bigham at second, Billy Simon or Alvin Stokes at third and Toddy Black at shortstop. In the outfield Mike Robbins will be in left, A.J. Brewer in center and Rick Musgrave in right field. Rick Smith is slated to see some play in left.

The Harvesters open their district schedule Friday with a home game against Caprock in Optimist Park at 4 p.m.

Captain Kevin Joyce of North Merrick, N.Y., made 63 of his first 73 free throws for Frank McGuire's South Carolina basketball team this season.

Volleyball Team Wins

Pampa High's volleyball team upped its district second half mark to 3-1 yesterday with a win over Borger.

The girls play their last home game of the year Thursday evening against Palo Duro in Harvester Fieldhouse.

PHS won its matches last night against Borger 15-1, 15-6. The girls close out their season next Monday against Caprock in Amarillo.
