Accusation By Committee

Writer And Producer Are Added To List

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)-Two more screen figures were cited for contempt by a House un-American ac-fivities subcommittee today, raising to six the number now facing this accusation. The committee acted agaist:

Samuel Ornitz, a writer. Herbert Biberman, a producer and director.

Called as witnesses in the com-mittee's Reds-in-Hollywood investigation, these figures refused to newer questions. They took the same stand four writers had taken earlier-that the committee had no right to inquire into their af-filiations or political beliefs.

The eighth day of the committee's hearings was launched with a statement from Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) that it won't stop "until all the communists in Holly-wood are exposed," but immediate-ly ran into difficulties.

Before calling screen writer Same Ornitz as the first witness, Thomas read a prepared statement in which he referred to "powerful influences" which he said "have ght in every manner to divert this committee from its main urse of inquiry."

Ornitz is one of 19 writers and workers represented by Robert W. Kenny, Los Angeles attorney. Four of the 19 already have been cited for contempt for failing to answer ttee questions as to wheth-

SOLON SAYS Limited Rationing May Be Necessary

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)- Republican Senator Buck said today restoration of wartime food rationing on a limited scale "might be feasible" in order to aid Europe.

The Delaware lawmaker turned thumbs down on return to any form of price control. Buck is a member of the Senate banking committee. This group and its House counterpart will consider the price-curbing program which President Truman has announced he will lay before Congress ing November 17.

Reds In Paris Start Riotous Street Braw

Estimates On Injuries Vary From 40 to 300

PARIS, Oct. 29. (AP)-Unofficial counts of the number injured in last night's bloody, head-cracking street fight between Communists and Paris police ranged today from 40 to 300.

The riotous street brawling, the first major political street battling in Paris since the bitter conflicts of 1936, occurred only a few hours Ramadier after Premier Paul opened his government's fight for life in the National Assembly, summoned into special session to deal political with France's vexing and economic problems.

Communists estimated to number about 35,000 responded to a call in their newspaper L'Humanite to break up an anti-communist meeting in the Place D'Etoile, sponsored by former Senator Gustave Guatherot.

They besieged the meeting place and broke through three police lines and wooden barricade before police drove them off. The meeting, attended by about 1,500 persons, was held and ended early today.

Estimates of the number injured ranged in the Paris press to as high as 150 on each side. An official police statement said eight officers had been hurt.

The assembly, which yesterday heard Ramsdier attack both the communists and Gen. Charles De Gaulle, was in recess until tomorrow, when it was expected a vote of confidence would be taken.

U. S. Considering Hike In Greek Aid Move Would Speed Guerrilla Cleanup

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)-Government officials are considering an increase in the American military mission to Greece as a means of helping the Greek Army prepare for a cleanup offensive against the Communist guerrilla forces.

Authorities said the present mission, totaling 40 officers and men, now appears to be too small to do an adequate job. The mission's assignment has been to help the Greek forces assemble United States equipment being furnished them under the "Truman Doctrine" aid program and to train the Greeks in the use of this equipment. These authorities flatly denied, however, that there is any thought now of sending American troops to Greece or of having any American officers participate in Greek combat operations, as was reported from some European capitals last week-end. The belief here is rather that an increase in the military mission would simply speed up the work already undertaken and give the Greeks a morale boost in launching the offensive, probably some time this winter.

An offensive is considered es-sential to bring the guerilla fighting under control and restore to, The United States agreed with Rus-Greece the minimum political sta- sia today that "elected represenbility which officials say is neces- tatives" of the Korean people sary to enable the nation to undertake an effective recovery program.

Some Advice Worth Giving Heed

Not every family in the county is blessed with a home freezer or a locker box, but approximately one in 15 possess one or both.

Thus the percentage is sufficient to give substance to a bit of advice from a seasoned cattleman to the effect that now is the time to lay in meat supplies.

This suggestion is predicted on two counts: 1) that the supply of fair to good beef now is greater than it will be for many months to come, and 2) that the price now is roughly 15 per cent better than it was a month to six weeks ago and 15 to 25 per cent better than it may be six to 10 weeks bence.

Of course, events will have to give testimony on these points, but there is considerable logic involved. For one thing, the sucking calf crop is on the market now and in the absence of favorable range conditions, most of it is offered for consumption rather than being in demand for stocker purposes. Too, there is a woeful shortage of feed in the country, partly due to drout's but mainly due to a terrific all-out swing to cotton. This means that there will be practically no feeding for market.

When the calf crop is gone, available cattle of fair to good quality will be reduced sharply. When that happens, meat prices are quite apt to rise.

Not only will those with boxes and home freezers be saving themselves substantial sums of money and laying in quality supplies of food by acting now, but the backlog of meat in boxes will greatly reduce consumer pressure at the meat markets in the winter and early spring. Thus, those with-out boxes might be beneficiaries, also.

More Stable Approach To Problem

Framework of a Community Chest organization is taking definite form here, and prospects are that it will emerge solidly organized within the near future.

If and when completed, this agency would replace the Community Fund, set up here last year as the emergency answer to appeals to conserve manpower and avoid duplication of effort in multiple drives for support of private social and welfare organizations. The Community Fund accomplished a great deal of what it set out to do -namely, wrapping several drives into one package and furnishing finances for half a dozen agencies.

But the Community Fund had one weakness aside from a somewhat loosely knit organization, begat by its very nature. It was composed of representatives from the various agencies, was operated by them. and consisted of an "askers" group.

In contrast, the Community Chest is a "givers" organization. Thus, in the beginning it has the spuport of some of the largest donors, who are not only giving but who are also assuming responsibility for the success of the venture. Such a group necessarily can and will be more dispassionate in its appraisal of budgetary requirements and in allocation of funds. It will be able to avoid some of the pitfalls and deadlocks which might easily, sooner or later, involve representatives of separate agencies in futile contention within the organization. In other words, it would be entirely independent and would exercise control over affairs of other units only in the acceptance of certain standards for participation.

House Is Due Another Shake-Up

By FRED ZUSY (For JAMES MARLOW) WASHINGTON, UB-The House of Representatives is due for its 16th shakeup in membership after the 1950 census is taken. These periodical changes re-sult from a provision of the Con-stitution which calls for a census every 10 years and says each state shall be represented in the House according to population. The membership of the House hence has varied each time a new census was taken. There was one exception. No re-apportionment was made in 1920.

But every other decade since 1970-the year after the first Congress met-some states have gained or lost members in the House has increased from the original 65 to the present 435. The Constitution requires that (1) each state shall have at least one representative and (2) that there shall be no more than one for each 30,000 persons in the or lose members in the Rouse. This may change, however, before 1950, when the actual cehsus is taken.

Following the 1940 census, 16 states gained or lost one or more representatives. The 1930 census affected 32 states.

California, which had only eight representatives in 1900, has 23 now and would increase that to 30 on the basis of 1947 population estimates. The census bureau reports a big shift to the West Coast.

New York increased its delegation from 37 to 45 since 1900, but it would lose three members according to the latest figures. Oregon and Washington would gain one each. Michigan would

When voting for president, a citizen does not vote for the candidate directly, but for electors who are pledged to vote for this candidate in the electoral college

This is what will happen after the 1950 census:

1. The President, after being informed by the census bureau of the population changes by states, will tell Congress in January, 1951, how many members each state is entitled to under the new figures.

2. Fifteen days later the clerk of the House will mail certificates to the governor of each state relaying this information. 3. The new apportionment will be in effect at the next election. Re-districting is a matter sole

Prices Back Special Session

WASHINGTON. - When Presdent Truman called in Capitol Hill leaders to explain his decision to summon a special session of Congress, one of his arguments was supplied by a commerce department chart. It showed trends of price and exports in recent months. Giving his "classroom" of Senators and Congressmen a lecture on living costs, Truman pointed to the "price line." It disappeared at the top of the chart. Meanwhile, exports showed a definite decline.

"A lot of people believe that the less we ship abroad for relief, the lower prices will be at home," the President commented as he passed the chart over to Senator Taft. "However, the opposite is now true, as you can see. Our exports have actually gone down in the last several months, yet domestic prices have increased."

"I suggest, Mr. President," interrupted Taft, "that you give us comparable figures on the increase in wages."

The President replied that wages are lagging behind, a statement that Taft promptly challenged with some figures of his own.

Truman then went on to point out that increased prices were solely responsible for the increased cost of relief to Europe. The original estimate of funds needed to carry needy Europeans through March 31, 1948, was $580,000,000, the President explained. Now it is $642,-000,000 and, he added grimly, it may go higher unless Congress does something about prices.

"We've got to remember that the higher prices go, the greater our relief costs are going to be," he said.

House G. O. P. Majority Leader Charles Halleck inquired as to just what the President wanted Congress to do about prices. He said that Congress never would approve restoration of price controls and that if this issue took priority over relief appropriations at the special session, Congress might argue all winter before any funds were voted for Europe's starving. Truman replied that he had no intention of asking Congress to restore general price controls, partly because it would cost too much to set up the necessary administrative machinery; also, it would take too long to get the program under way, even if Congress gave its approval. Allocation of key materials, greater export-import controls, and price ceilings on certain key commodities (at the producer instead of the consumer level) were some of the things he had in mind, Truman revealed. However, he did not clarify what materials should be allocated or what effect allocations would have on the over-all price picture.

All these questions would be answered at his next meeting with the congressional leaders, the President promised, at which time he would have a specific program to recommend to Congress.

NO SIGHTSEEING G. O. P. Congressman August Andresen of Red Wing, Minn., in charge of an agriculture subcommittee touring Italy, gave strict orders to his fellow congressmen against sightseeing. On the way to Rome, however, they were blown to Nice by a hurricane and forced to make an emergency landing in a 60-mile crosswind. Next day, they made another start. Again the weather was too turbulent over Rome so they nosed toward Pisa and circled over the city: Peering out the window, Congressman Harold Cooley, North Carolina democrat, pointed excitedly.

"There's the leaning tower of Pisa!"

"What do you think we are doing." snapped Andresen, "sightseeing?" CONVENTIONS

Some highly interesting byplay took place behind the scenes in high Democratic circle before the Democratic national committee met today to select the city for the national convention, Both President Truman and

Postmaster General Hannegan strongly favored San Francisco. Hannegan went even further and suggested Oakland and San Francisco as joint sponsors for the convention

However, the hotel men at San Francisco turned thumbs down. Overcrowded, they actually discouraged the Democratic delegates. Jimmy Roosevelt and Ed Pauley, meanwhile, urged Los Angeles. In fact, that has been about the only thing they have agreed on lately. But they wanted to hold the meeting outdoors in the coliseum, and Democratic bigwigs in Washing ton were afraid both of the weather and the idea that the coliseum might be picketed by Henry Wallaceites.

Meanwhile, Philadelphia came, forward with some attractive offers. Holding the Democratic convention in the same hall right after the Republicans, they pointed out, would cut down expenses. Hannegan, however, was still skeptical. He figured that with the Democrats sure to nominate Truman, the convention would be minus fireworks, suspense, and drama. Also he was afraid that, in steaming hot weather. too many delegates would be off to Atlantic City and television would show up the empty seats in the convention hall. However, inertia in the far West, plus the fact that Senator Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, new Democratic chairman, favored Philadelphia, means that the City of Brotherly Love will get two political conventions next summer.

UNSPOKEN LINES

Not all the dramatic dialogue of the Hollywood un-American show gets into the official stenographer's script. More revealing than the official testimony are some of the remarks that pass back and forth behind the Congressmen's bench which they don't want the public to hear. On the day screen-lover Robert Taylor testified, headlineconscions Chairman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey beckoned to him. "Did you see the terrific job Menjou (actor Adolphe Menjou) did for us the other day?" Thomas whispered. Then he coached: "Go ahead and say just what you told us in

Later, when the photographers asked the handsome screen idol and the bulbous congressman to pose together and pretend to be talking, the New Jersey Republican snorted: "These photographers get crazier and crazier." But as soon as the flash bulbs started popping, he beamed into the cameras and obligingly wagged his mouth. The public who see this newsreel shot will think Thomas is talking about something important. Actually he was repeating something about a friend with a broken leg. (Copyright 1947 The Bell Syndicate. This probably isn't a style that will catch on, or cause as much controversy as the new long dresses, but a police report in San Antonio recorded a woman walking down a main street wearing blue jeans and a whiskey bottle." . . .

Texas Today—Jack Rutledge

And Clarice Scott, clothing specialist for the U.S. department of agriculture, says the ideal work dress would be so comfortable that the wearer would not know whether she had on a dress at all.

Maybe that's what Jeanie with the light brown whiskey bottle had in mind.

But what Miss Scott recommends is a dress with no collar and no sleeves, pockets at hand level with the opening slanted, skirts wide enought for a normal stride, and about calf length. If they're any longer, she points out, they might catch on shoe heels or be stepped on when the wearer stoops.

The common conception of a coed dressed in sweater and bobby socks has been shattered by editors of a magazine who conducted a survey, found the girls getting swankier.

Listed among the ten U. S. schools where coeds have adopted a "wholesome and mature femininity" with "grownup dresses designed to catch the male eve" was one from Texas-Southern Methodist University.

That element of players and coaches within the District Seven six-man football domain who have been making life unpleasant for the game officials are not enhancing the reputation of their league. The decisions handed down by the arbiters are, most likely, unbiased, and certainly final.

Referees in the abbreviated sport have had a rugged time of it in several of the communities within recent weeks and all because the coaches and/or the players insisted on verbal protest on the manner in which the overseers ruled on a play. Ordinarily, haggering on the part of a player or coach Distance of the player will be taken up by the partisan spectators. Their attitude, invariably, is equally uncomplimentary.

The officials are armed with the authority to suspend an athlete from play when that party makes an issue of a decision. Such a decree could have been handed down on numerous occasions by officials.
