New Mayor, Commissioners Sworn In Early At Meeting

A new mayor and three city commissioners, elected in last Tuesday's municipal election, were sworn in this forenoon and took office immediately following today's continued meeting of the Pampa City Commission.

Originally, the four officials were to have been sworn in at next Tuesday's regular meeting. However, it was decided late Wednesday to induct them today inasmuch as the council session had been continued from last Friday.

Saigon Reports Action

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today reported the heaviest ground action since the cease-fire Jan. 28, with more than 200 casualties. Military sources claimed that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were "probing" in preparation for a major offensive.

Atty. Gen. Denies Ervin Can Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst says the Senate has no power to arrest White House aides who refuse subpoenas to testify on the Watergate case.

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., chairman of the Watergate investigating committee, says the attorney general is "clearly wrong."

The dispute came Wednesday as four men convicted in the break-in and bugging of the Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building agreed to talk to a federal grand jury.

Rep. Price Blasts Boycott On Meats

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa today sharply criticized the current meat boycott across the nation as "a flight into the world of fantasy and an effort by special interest groups to confuse the public about the economic facts of life."

Treatment Plant Gets Acceptance

Pampa's $1.2 million water treatment plant was accepted by the city today, three years and four months after construction was started in December of 1970.

Pinnell and Jack Mosely, Forrest & Cotton consulting engineering firm's project engineer, both pronounced the plant 100 per cent complete.

Greater Controls Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Directly challenging President Nixon's House Banking Committee is recommending that prices, rents and interest rates be turned to levels of Jan. 10, the day before President ended Phase 2 economic controls.

Nixon Views Pipeline Case

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon confers with Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. Morton today on legislation designed to remove a major obstacle to construction of the controversial Alaska oil pipeline.

Prior to the swearing in of new city officials elected in last Tuesday's city-wide balloting, the current city commission took up two items of business.

In seeking the Supreme Court review, the federal and Alaska governments and pipeline contractors had contended that because of an energy shortage construction of the pipeline is necessary to serve "vital national interests."

But environmentalists have mounted a major campaign to block the pipeline, which would carry oil from the fields of Alaska's Arctic Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez. The oil would then be shipped by tanker to refineries in the contiguous 48 states.

TO POLLUTION PROBLEM Teacher Believes He's Got Solution

HOUSTON (AP) — A Lufkin high school teacher believes he may have the ultimate solution to the auto exhaust pollution problem. It's a carburetor device costing less than $50 which he says could save millions.

Edward Smith, a 50-year-old automotive repair teacher with the Lufkin school system, said he and his pupils developed the device, tested it and were flabbergasted at the results.

"We made it in auto shop class at Lufkin High School," said Smith, moments after testifying about his invention at a hearing here on transportation controls, needed to produce clean air. "We put it on a 1964 Chevy and it worked better than we expected."

The device mounted beneath the carburetor of a car operates on the engine's vacuum to stop the flow of fuel during certain phases of the car's operation.

Smith said it will save up to 10 per cent in gas mileage at the same time it cleans up the auto exhaust.

The teacher said he and his class started working on the device early in February and just recently perfected it.

Asked now he and his pupils could discover a solution to the auto emission problem after the multi-billion-dollar auto industry had tried for years and failed, Smith just shrugged.

"I dunno," he said, "but I know this works."

He paused a moment before adding, "They may laugh at me, but I really think it works."

The device is about the size of a man's palm. It has holes to permit the passage of fuel and valves which can shut down the holes.

Smith said an auto produces most of the objectionable pollution when it is either decelerating from a high speed or when it is accelerating from a slow start.

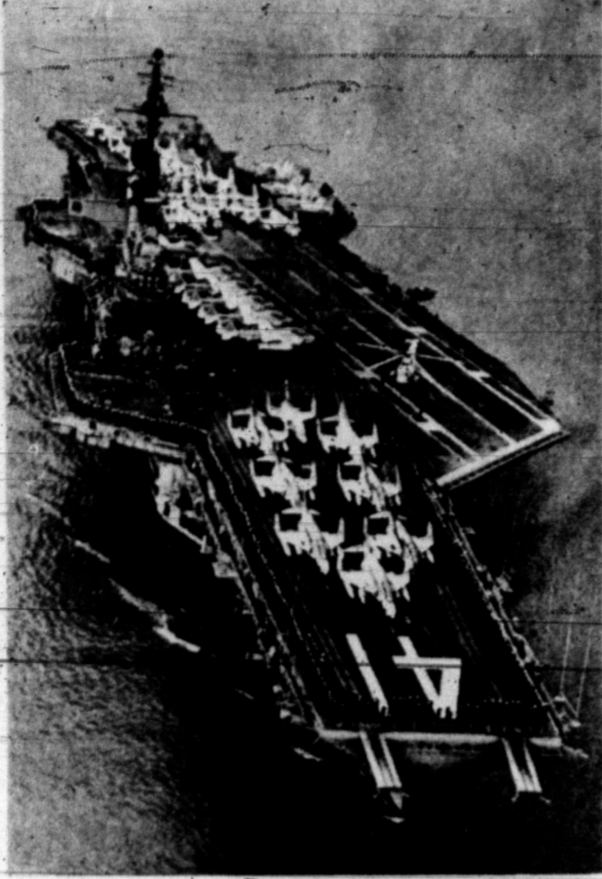

His device, he said, blocks the fuel flow at both of these phases of engine operation.

Smith held up a half pint jar about half filled with gasoline.

"In a car without the device, we got this much gasoline from the carburetor during the deceleration phase of a car's operation," he said.

Smith showed federal tests which indicated that it is during these two auto operation phases that most of the polluting emissions are produced from a car.

The Lufkin teacher said he has already been approached by two automotive manufacturers who are interested in the device. He was advised, he said, by an attorney to keep the device a secret until he has been protected by a patent.

Radio Club Offers Code, Theory Class

Pampa Radio Club is currently sponsoring a radio code and theory class Fridays at 7:30 p.m. in Room 237 at Pampa High School.

The course is enough to obtain a novice license for amateur radio operators. The class is not for citizen band radios.

A code practice is geared to 5 to 7 words per minute. The theory section concerns laws and regulations for operating amateur radio sets, legal operations of equipment and set-up and how the equipment works.

The course is offered free to those wishing to become amateur radio operators.

Teachers are Oscar Nichols (call letters W5BKL), Calvin Barbaee (W5DPV) and Herbert Wood (W5BCHG). For more information, call Wood at 665-1936.

Pampa Radio Club holds its meetings the first Monday of every month at 6:30 p.m. at Furr's Cafeteria.

Wholesale Prices Index Posts Sharp Rise Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices soared 2.2 per cent in March, posting for the second month in a row the sharpest climb in 22 years, the government reported today.

The surge in prices, led by a 4.6 per cent jump in the wholesale costs of farm products and processed foods, offered no let-up in consumer prices at the retail level for at least the next several months. It also forecast further troubles for President Nixon's efforts to curb inflation.

Industrial commodities shot up 1.2 per cent last month, the steepest rate since January 1951. Wholesale prices of finished manufactured goods jumped 2.1 per cent, a rate unmatched since August 1951, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Nearly everything in the government's wholesale price index was up, with processed foods rising 4.6 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis, the highest rate on record.

Big increases were posted for livestock, poultry, eggs, petroleum products, lumber and various textile products.

The continued rise in prices seems virtually certain to bring further pressure on the administration to clamp tighter controls on the economy. Nixon last week put a ceiling on meat prices but organized labor and congressional Democrats are pressing for even further controls.

The House Banking Committee has approved a bill to roll back prices, interest rates and rents to the levels of Jan. 10.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' gloomy report came on the fifth day of a nationwide consumer boycott against meat but the figures did not reflect the effects of the drive.

The 2.2 per cent jump in the wholesale price index for March works out to an annual rate of 26.4 per cent.

The index for farm products and processed foods moved up at an annual rate of 53.1 per cent from December 1972 to March, after rising at a rate of 30.1 per cent in the previous three months and at rates of 17.4 and 4.8 per cent in the quarters that ended in September and June respectively, the government said.

For consumer finished goods, the annual rate of increase in the December-to-March period was 21.7 per cent compared with a 5.9 per cent for the previous three months.

The wholesale price index, when adjusted for normal seasonal fluctuations, also moved up 2.2 per cent in March, the highest climb since January 1951.

On that same basis, farm products and processed foods were up 4.7 per cent in March, the highest since the 5.2 per cent jump last December, while industrial goods increased 1.2 per cent, the steepest monthly rate since January 1951, and manufactured goods rose 2.2 per cent, equaling the previous monthly record of January 1948.

Obituaries

MYRL M. DAVIS
Myrl Monroe (Bud) Davis, 59, a former Pampan, died at his home in Redding, Calif., Sunday.

Funeral services were set for 10 a.m. today in Duenkel Memorial Chapel with Rev. A. E. Burns, pastor of Highland Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was to be in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

He was a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Avis Williams, Huntington Park, Calif., and Mrs. Johnnie Malone, Vancouver, Wash., and a brother, Wylie Davis, Pampa.

ROBERT H. HAYNES
Funeral services were scheduled for 2 p.m. today in Miami First Baptist Church for Robert Bernard Haynes, 85, of Miami, who died at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday at Highland General Hospital.

Rev. Roy Moody, pastor, was to officiate, assisted by Rev. Ray Manning, a Baptist minister of Amarillo. Burial was to be in Miami Cemetery by Duenkel Funeral Home.

Mr. Haynes was owner and publisher of The Miami Chief for more than 46 years prior to retiring and selling the business to his son, Ed, in December.

Survivors include a daughter, Miss Juanita Haynes, Miami; two sons, Ed, Miami, and Bob, Amarillo; and five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The family requests that memorials be sent to favorite charities.

IN STATE HEARINGS

Auto's Pollution Role Lessened

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Varying opinions on auto pollution in Texas' largest cities highlighted three public hearings held by the Texas Air Control Board Wednesday night, ranging from near-unanimous belief in transportation control in Dallas-Fort Worth to the blasting of "doomsday seers" in Houston.

The hearings, held simultaneously at Houston, Dallas and San Antonio, were called to give the TACB data concerning the need and feasibility of transportation controls to meet national clean air standards.

The board said information gathered at the hearing may be used by its members in writing such controls into its air quality plans. Deadline for the plans, to be submitted to the federal Environmental Protection Agency, is April 15.

At Houston, city public health director Dr. Albert Randall said testing at nearby Dickinson, Lake Jackson, Beaumont and Orange show air pollution there often approach or exceed those within Houston itself.

"The fact that there are approximately 90 per cent fewer vehicles in these areas compared to the City of Houston indicates that major hydrocarbon emission sources are not from automobiles," Randall said. He advocated addition of emission control inspections to the annual state auto inspection, but added that other transportation controls, if any, be initiated on a limited basis.

Dr. Walter Quebedeaux, Harris County pollution control director, blamed 70 per cent of Houston area air pollution on industry.

Another witness downgrading the role of autos in the overall air pollution picture was Gordon L. Jennings, who spoke on behalf of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. He said any major transportation control would kill downtown Houston.

The implementation of such controls either directly or indirectly will change the city," Jennings said. "In short, it will begin to die."

At the Dallas meeting, however, a Fort Worth councilman, John O'Neill, advocated the bypassing of downtown traffic to other routes as one means of cutting down on the use of automobiles. He also listed programs to implement efficient traffic flow and inspection of emission controls on all autos as means of ultimately cutting down on auto pollution.

Public mass transit was an integral part of the testimony of many at the Dallas meeting. O'Neill and James L. Wells of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce both advocated a strong mass transit system for that city.

George W. Crawford, professor of physics at Southern Methodist University, D.C., recommended "creation of a public transit system that has the same ease, convenience and an even lower price than autos." He said this would not only decrease pollution, but also conserve fuel, decrease freeway congestion and increase safety.

Another SMU professor, Dr. Carlos Coon, agreed that mass transit is the most attractive means of cutting vehicular use, if it can be made as equally "attractive, efficient, and mobile" to the public as automobiles.

He said such programs as encouraging wide use of car pools could be effective, but warned that gas rationing would be "too unworkable and too unpopular" with the public. Other witnesses agreed.

Another advocate of public transit was John J. Rouark, who said, however, that both long-range and short-range transit programs are necessary. Rouark is director of transportation for the North Central Texas Council of Governments.

Two men representing the City of Dallas each spelled out special programs for the TACB board.

Fred Barnes, section chief of Dallas air pollution program, asked for implementation of spot check-maintenance of vehicle emission controls, establishment of a vapor-recovery system at gas dispensing sites and the encouragement of conversion to gaseous fuels, but no gas rationing.

John J. DeShazo, director of the City of Dallas Traffic Control Department, called for reduction of air pollution by increasing the efficiency of transportation. He cited metered freeway ramps, computer traffic controls and message signs that tell motorists of freeway conditions and possible alternate routes.

DeShazo said a "Park and Ride" program would be one of several ways to cut vehicle miles traveled and therefore the amount of pollution emitted. The program allows for motorists to park their cars at a specified location and then to board express buses that would take them to the central business district.

Devoering the "doomsday seers" in Dallas was John H. Blain Jr., district design engineer for the Dallas district of the Texas Highway Department.

He applauded the goal of the TACB to curb vehicular pollution but he questioned possible measures against it, especially gas rationing.

He expressed confidence that the auto industry will succeed in cutting emissions to acceptable levels.

"Mass transit efforts are good," he said, "but the public's preference for cars cannot be ignored. Any rules must bear strongly on this point."

Another highway department representative, Oliver Stork, echoed that sentiment at the Houston meeting. He said, "We share with you the desire to re-

French Seize Russian Ship

BREST, France (AP) — A French destroyer stopped a Soviet cargo vessel in the Atlantic today and a boarding party ordered the ship to return to French waters after it apparently rammed and sank a French fishing trawler.

The Soviet ship was being escorted to Brest.

The trawler, the Dany Gerard, out of the Brittany port of Locudy, was lost with six men aboard.

French naval authorities said the Soviet cargo ship was stopped after a French air force helicopter took photographs of it clearly showing traces of a collision on its hull.

The freighter, identified as the Juzenny Burg, reported that the trawler had sunk but gave no details. The Soviet vessel remained in the area of the collision for about three hours, then resumed its course toward the northwest.

It was at this point, navy authorities said, that they decided to intercept the freighter.

Settlement Near?

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Settlement of the armed confrontation at Wounded Knee could come today despite a minor snag that has developed in peace talks, the government's chief negotiator says.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell said he had expected to reach an accord on Wednesday with leaders of the American Indian Movement, which led a takeover of the hamlet by militant Indians Feb. 27.

But Frizzell said the peace talks adjourned when disagreement arose over minor legal terminology in the final point-on-a-10-point list of Indian demands.

A sixth straight day of negotiations was scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. CST today.

Woman Arrested On Drug Charge

Mrs. Judy Anne Cloud, 38, 455 N. Stark weather, was arrested before Judge Ed Anderson for alleged possession of marijuana and bond was fixed at $1,000.

Last night, Pampa police stopped a suspicious vehicle to question the occupants. When asked to get out of the car, Mrs. Cloud hid something on her person.

According to police, she was handcuffed so that she could not dispose of the suspected material and was taken to Highland General Hospital, where nurses were asked to make a search.

The supervisor in charge told police the woman voluntarily surrendered the suspected narcotic with the necessity of a search.

Radio & TV News

NEW YORK (AP) — Dinah Shore was just breaking into the big time here some years ago when she had a backstage interview with a newspaperman named H. Allen Smith.

The cad didn't tell her he was of the Fourth Estate. She didn't ask either. She thought he was a musician. The result was a wonderful interview that caught her with her guard down and her humor up.

She now has a press agent to at least alert her when a scrivener is on the premises. But that seemed about the only difference the other day when the alert sounded and a scrivener was ushered into her hotel suite here to meet her.

Miss Shore was in town on a gray, rainy day to promote a women's golf show on which she was appearing on ABC television. She was sunny and chipper.

Somehow the talk went immediately from that of the fairway to the music business. Miss Shore is an expert golfer, but I realized how much of a pro she is when it comes to music matters. Particularly when it involves the sound we hear at home on TV.

She mildly griped about one of my long-standing gripes — those one-watt speakers most TV sets seem to come equipped with — and bemoaned the fact that most television transmitters "jam" sound signals.

That is, they compress the high and low frequencies so that no matter how good the musical arrangements or the recording at the TV studio, everything comes out sounding tinny at home.

"It seems that they gear everything to the sound of Marshall Dillon saying, 'Come here and hold my horse, pardner,'" Miss Shore said. "I wish they'd fix that someday. It drives me nuts."

This technological awareness may startle older listeners in Nashville, Tenn., who first heard of her only as the young girl who sang on "The Dixie Flyer," a local five-minute radio show.

On the musical side, younger fans might be just as startled to learn that the Dinah Shore they only know from "Dinah's Place" on NBC-TV also is a fine blues singer and a hardcore jazz fan.

Miss Shore, who was born in Winchester, Tenn., said she fell in love with jazz and the blues — "real blues is black blues" — primarily because of a family maid who got her hooked on gospel music at an early age.

"I would go to her church with her and hear unbelievable sounds where people clapped their hands and sang with some broken-down little organ playing in the background," she said with a soft smile.

Mississippi became the last state to abandon Prohibition, adopting a local-option liquor law in 1966.

New York Cancer Unit Wins Battle Of Bequest

AUSTIN (AP) — A New York cancer organization won a court struggle today with a Texas cancer group over a $10,000 bequest by an elderly retired Dallas teacher.

The Texas Supreme Court affirmed lower court rulings granting the money to the National Cancer Foundation, Inc., of New York City over the pleas of the American Cancer Society, Inc., and the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, Inc.

Records show that Grace Greenwood Taylor, 81, died in April, 1968 two years after she made out her last will, leaving money to 11 charitable organizations, including $10,000 to the National Cancer Research Foundation.

Since there was no such organization, her executor, the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas filed suit to locate the beneficiary. The court designated the New York group although 10 other bequests in the will were to Texas organizations and she had made out a $5 check the year before to the "Cancer Research Fund," which was cashed by the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, Inc.

The appeals court in Dallas noted that the all 36 directors of the New York organization lived in that state and that the deceased had never given to the organization before her death. It also noted that the Texas

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, April 5, the 95th day of 1973. There are 270 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1792, President George Washington exercised the first presidential veto, refusing to sign a bill dealing with representation.

On this date: In 1621, the Mayflower sailed from Plymouth, Mass., on its first return trip to England.

In 1827, the English surgeon who founded modern antiseptic surgery, Sir Joseph Lister, was born in London.

In 1869, the last surviving soldier of the Revolutionary War, Daniel F. Bakeman, died in Freedom, N.Y. His age was said to have been 109.

In 1939 all German children between ages of 10 and 13 were ordered to serve in the Hitler youth organization.

In 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg of New York City were sentenced to death as atomic spies for the Soviet Union.

In 1955, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill submitted his resignation to Queen Elizabeth II. He was 81.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union accepted the American proposal that a "hot line" be set up between Washington and Moscow to reduce the threat of accidental war.

Five years ago: Army troops were moved into Washington, D.C. as blocks rioted following the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

One year ago: Enemy troops in South Vietnam drove to within 60 miles of Saigon.

Today's birthdays: Actress Bette Davis is 65. Actor Gregory Peck is 57.

"Mutt and Jeff," published continuously since the early 1900s, is the nation's oldest comic strip.

What we eat and how we eat it has become one of the most controversial domestic issues of this country today.

Today's cook doesn't consider herself a health food enthusiast, but she is interested in better nutrition, and enjoys cooking with whole wheat flour and wheat germ in recipes which are listed.

Not only are the recipes nutritious, but her family likes the extra flavor they add to food.

She has experimented with whole wheat bread, but has not perfected a recipe, yet.

She is Mrs. Gene (Jannie) Lewis, a native Pampan, having attended Woodrow Wilson and graduating from Pampa High School.

Jannie resides at 518 N. Somerville, with her husband, Gene, an insurance businessman, and their two children, Jay, 11, a sixth grader, who enjoys sports and plays the cornet in the school band, and Jill, 8, a third grader, who participates in Brownie Scouts and is an art student of Alva Satterwhite. Both attend Sam Houston school.

Mrs. Lewis is a member of Central Baptist Church and is presently engaged in working with the Sunday morning bible ministry and children's church, having recently attended a bus ministry clinic in Dalhart.

She also works with the Thursday afternoon Children's Hour, an after-school Bible class for approximately 100 children at Calvary Baptist Church, and is presently executive secretary for the "Time To Run" film to be shown locally, April 11-17, at the Capri theatre.

Aside from her hobbies of family and home, she enjoys sewing, reading and cooking, canning and preserving, organic gardening.

She is employed as a secretary by S. Gene Hunt, S.P.A.

By JANNIE LEWIS
OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN
10-12 chicken pieces
1/2 cup whole wheat flour

1/4 cup wheat germ
1 tablespoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
pepper to taste

Melt 1/2 cup Crisco in shallow foil lined baking pan in 350 degrees oven. Place above ingredients in plastic bag. Shake each piece of chicken in mixture, coating thoroughly. Place in baking pan in single layer. Bake 30 minutes. Turn and continue baking until tender, about 30 to 45 minutes.

OVEN-BAKED BEANS
1-16 to 18 oz. can pork and beans
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup catsup

2 slices of bacon, cut in cubes
Combine above ingredients. Bake in greased covered casserole at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 20 minutes. Serves four.

WHEAT-GERM BISCUITS
(Since biscuits are supposed to be light and fluffy, I don't use whole wheat flour.)
2 cups white flour
one-third cup wheat germ
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
one-third cup shortening
3/4 cup milk

Cut shortening into dry ingredients with pastry blender. Stir in milk. Place on floured bread board and knead lightly. Too much handling makes biscuits tough. Roll to 1/2" thickness. Cut. Place in greased pan. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes.

pie, is in the baking. Pour filling into crust and pop into the oven at 400 degrees for 2 or 3 minutes, just long enough for crust to turn brownish. Turn oven temperature to 250 degrees and bake for 30 to 45 minutes. Pie is done when it shakes like jelly. Don't let filling boil! Don't bake pie too long!

WHOLE WHEAT BUTTERMILK PANCAKES
(This makes a bunch)
3 eggs
2 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
2 1/2 cups sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt

Beat with mixer until smooth. This makes a lot of pancakes, but leftover batter keeps well in air-tight container in refrigerator.

NAIDA'S FRESH APPLE CAKE
3 cups finely diced apples
1 1/2 cups Wesson oil
3 eggs
Beat the above ingredients well.

3 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts

Combine and add to first mixture. Blend well. Cook in bundt pan at 350 degrees for 1 hour. After first 30 minutes, lay a piece of foil loosely over top.

WHOLE WHEAT PIE CRUST
(Makes 4 crusts)
2 cups whole wheat flour
2 cups white flour
1 1/2 cup Crisco
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup water

Cut shortening into dry ingredients. Add water, a little at a time.

I like this large recipe, and make a couple of pies and freeze the remaining unbaked shells. I believe pie crust is flakier when it has been frozen.

GRANNIE'S CUSTARD PIE
(Gene's favorite pie is custard. This is my mother's recipe and instructions.)
Heat oven to 400 degrees.
Beat 3 eggs and blend two-thirds cup sugar and a pinch of salt. Stir in 2 cups of milk, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

KINDS OF MILK

So often I'm asked about the various kinds of milk that one can buy nowadays. There are fresh whole milk, skim milk, two percent milk, buttermilk, chocolate milk, chocolate dairy milk, evaporated milk, fortified milk, and nonfat dry milk, to name a few. There are other kinds in a few markets but these are the milks most often available.

How is one to know what it is that each milk has to offer? Here are details that you might keep handy in your cookbook:

Fresh Whole Milk: By law, fresh whole milk generally must contain not less than 3.25 percent milkfat and not less than 8.25 percent milk solids-not-fat. Individual states set their own laws and percentages can vary somewhat. Most whole milk is pasteurized. An 8-ounce glass contains about 160 calories.

Skim Milk: Skim milk is fresh whole milk from which the fat has been mostly removed. In different states standards will vary but usually skim milk will be between 0.1 and 2 percent milkfat. An 8-ounce glass contains about 90 calories. The nutrient value is the same as whole milk except for the milkfat, and fat-soluble vitamins it does not contain. Many dairies, though, add both vitamin A and D.

Two Percent Milk: This milk contains two percent milkfat and is made from fresh whole milk and skim milk. About 150 calories per 8-ounce glass. Many dairies modify two percent milk by adding nonfat dry milk.

Chocolate Milk: This is whole milk flavored with chocolate syrup or powder. Milkfat content is usually not less than 3.25 percent. Chocolate milk is pasteurized after all ingredients are combined. An 8-ounce glass - 213 calories. Chocolate dairy drink is made from skim or partially skim milk - about 23 percent milkfat and the concentration of nonfat milk solids is at least 90 percent that of skim milk. 190 calories per 8-ounce glass.

She feels nursing home best place for father

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a woman who felt guilty because she had put her senile, incontinent father in a nursing home. Her guilt was reinforced when she was reminded how her father had diapered her and put up with her childish babbling. To compare a child with an elderly person is ridiculous.

A child can be diapered in public in a stroller. An elderly person cannot. A child can be left in a playpen. An elderly person cannot. A child learns and matures in time. An older person becomes worse. The old person who can get around thinks he is capable of "cooking" and using matches and has to be watched every moment.

It's easy to get a baby sitter. Try to get someone to sit with an old person. Relatives won't even help.

So, after eight years when I couldn't take it anymore, I found the nicest, cleanest nursing home I could afford and I took my elderly father there. I said goodbye with tears in my eyes to someone who didn't even know me.

Then I went home and started to be a wife and mother again. I looked at my husband with grateful eyes for his willingness to pay for the care of my father in a nursing home. (It isn't cheap.)

Then the letters started to come from my brothers and sisters who had never offered to keep Dad for one day. They said, "YOU put Dad in a nursing home. How could you?"

I'll sign myself what my father always called me.

"PRINCESS"

DEAR ABBY: Tell me if I am out of order. I have asked our two daughters, ages 18 and 20 to kindly wear bras when they are home. They both say they don't like to wear them and they refuse to do so. Their 15-year-old sister (who lives at home) has picked up the no-bra style from the older girls and she sneaks out of the house without one even tho I have told her time and time again that I did not want her going to school without a bra.

This no-bra business has practically ruined our home. All my daughters need bras, and I think they look terrible without them. Should I insist, or drop the whole thing?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Drop the whole thing. That's what THEY'RE doing.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 15 and have wonderful parents, or so I thought until about a week ago.

My mother and father both leave for work before I go to school and while I was looking thru my mother's drawer for some nylon I noticed her diary hidden in the corner. Abby, I know I shouldn't have done this, but I was curious and I began to read.

Now I wish I had never seen it because I found out my mom is having an affair with another man. This has caused me to lose all respect for her, and now I am wondering whether I should tell my father.

Please help me as it is too embarrassing to talk over with my friends.

BAFFLED IN MYRTLE CREEK

DEAR BAFFLED: Don't tell your father. And let this be a lesson to you. The price one usually pays for violating the privacy of another is learning that which he was happier not knowing.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90009. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, APRIL 6
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Introduces a year of expansive busy growth. It may be difficult to find time for study, to acquire new skills, or to practice them. Today's natives are resourceful, intense people with strong preferences and usually specialized vocations.

Aries [March 21 to April 19]: Your pleasant mood converts today's light trend into a personal picnic. Bfing in friends, leave serious business aside.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Tread lightly because people tend to be volatile. It can be a stimulating day if you aren't in a hurry.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Be self-assured and yet gentle as you take full advantage of a peak in your persuasive powers. Cooperation is short-term.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: You can rely only on yourself, this day makes conflicting demands on your time and attention. Pace yourself.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Your friends are full of wild and lively schemes; check facts. It's not so much deceptive as misunderstanding.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Put business and important planning aside as much as you can, make today a personal holiday.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]:

You can learn much from watching your fellows at work—there's enough to keep you busy, as well.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: However you go about the day's work, it's not going to balance. Make decisions early and stick to them.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Be alert for a sudden move from either partner or competition. You have plenty to do and continued special application is needed. An old friend awaits your advice.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Make your bid for your share of pooled resources, scholarships, dividends, and whatever is owed you.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Self-expression is vivid, fluent, and probably near your highest creative levels today. Career building efforts pay off.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Survey what you have and whether it's arranged as you want. Financial matters require quick adjustments.

GOOD SERVICE PAYS
MONTREAL (AP)—Taxi driver Albert Benoit believes everyone should enjoy the illusion of having a private chauffeur. Dressed in a private chauffeur's uniform and operating a gleaming car, he sets out each morning—providing first-class service. The customer's tip well.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Old man Z, who used to play all the dummy's in the auction bridge columns some 50 years ago, is back at the club again after a short illness.

He called for dummy's queen of hearts at trick one. East produced the king and Z remarked, "Match points or no match points, I played a hand like this for Milton Work back in 1926 or 27. Every card was wrong, but I still came out with 10 tricks and my game."

Then Z let East hold the trick. East returned a heart. Z took his ace, ruffed his last heart, drew trumps with two leads and led his nine of clubs.

West played low. Z called for the deuce from dummy. East won the trick with the jack; whereupon Z showed his hand and remarked, "I don't care what you have or what you lead, I am going to lose just one more trick."

Needless to say, Z was right. A heart return would give him a ruff and discard. A diamond return would be up to dummy's ace-queen and a club lead would allow him to discard one diamond, then another later on if West happened to hold the ace.

This was magnificent rubber bridge technique and gave Z a top score this time because every card was wrong for those declarers who tried to make an over-trick with the hand by the simple play of rising with dummy's king of clubs.

What do you do now?

A—Three no-trump would imply better spades. Three clubs is inadequate; four clubs unwieldy. We favor the underbid of two no-trump, with the very fancy bid of two spades as second choice.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid two no-trump and your partner bids three hearts. What do you do now?

HOUSING STUDIED

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—

A study by the city's social services department has found that housing for welfare recipients is generally good. But 29.4 per cent was in only fair condition, about 3 per cent in poor condition and 1.6 per cent in poor condition and judged unfit for human habitation.

EL PROGRESSO CLUB
The El Progreso Club met in the Flame Room recently. Mrs. Tom Perkins, hostess, and Mrs. Glen Dawkins presiding.

A new member, Mrs. M.G. Herring, was welcomed. Also, the club was pleased to have a former member present, Mrs. Darrell Cameron who now lives in Nebraska.

During the business meeting, the District Federation Club meeting to be held at Canyon, April 6, 7, was discussed. Mrs. L.K. Gaylor was selected as delegate to represent the El Progreso Club at the convention.

Mrs. Richard Bray was in charge of the program: "Knowledge is Power," this consisted of two tests. The first was for fun. Sentences were read, and directions followed.

The second test put the members to more serious thinking in trying to recall the names of people and facts about places that had been in the news papers and on T.V. the past year, or in recent months.

Mrs. Quenton Williams and Mrs. J.F. Curtis were the winners of the tests.

The next meeting of the club will be at the Presbyterian Church, April 10, with Mrs. Bray as hostess. This will be "Golden Moments with Exceptional Children."

Fifteen members and the guest were present at the meeting.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Skellytown—Bill Price was honored at his home recently with a surprise birthday party for his 80th birthday, hosted by his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon (Doc) Bates of Lefors.

The large white sheet cake decorated with flowers in the shades of yellow and orange with 80 years, in the center.

Mrs. Bates served the cake and her daughter, Tammy, presided at the punch bowl.

84 guests signed the guest book.

Shanghai was the first Chinese city to have telephones, installed in 1887.

A Reporter Offers A View Of The Press And The Public

"You hardly pick up a newspaper these days without finding some evidence that freedom of the press is being rubbed away... and what's equally significant, that quite a few people think it is not a bad idea."

James Reston,
The New York Times
By TOM TIEDE

(Fourth in a Series.)

NEW YORK (NEA) — Every working reporter knows, with a sense of futility, what Reston means. Americans generally believe in freedom of the press as they believe in freedom of any expression: just so far as they may agree with it.

I found this out as a young reporter on a newspaper in Kalispell, Mont. I was a sports writer. It was autumn and I was reporting football information. The Kalispell team was locked in a dreadful combat with the Missoula team. The score was tied. Our side sent in a substitute, poor kid, who got confused out there in Big Sky Country and fumbled. The other side quite naturally picked the ball up, ran it out, scored and won the game.

I reported it exactly. Next morning, Sunday, when everybody should have been in church, I got a call from a man who described himself as "the father of the boy you rumbled." I said, "what?" He said I was some kind of dirty name for writing that his son dropped the football. I said I was sorry. He said just before he screamed that, well, he never liked newspaper people anyway and he was gonna blow my head off.

It was the beginning of a career of similar threats. In the years since it has been thoroughly communicated to me that I rank slightly below the roach in the estimate of many of those I meet. I believe it was Sophocles who said: "None loves the messenger who brings bad news."

There is an old play called "The Critic" in which one character sneers to another: "The Newspapers! Sir, they are the most villainous, licentious, abominable, infernal — not that I ever read them!" I fear many Americans feel the same. The news from Swat, as George Thomas Lanigan said, is almost always sad or bad.

Millions of citizens resent seeing their names in the divorce statistics, the court reports, or at the bottom of the bowling scores. Millions more can't understand why their neighbors' names never appear in the same places, when everybody knows what kind of people their neighbors are.

For either reason, and for other reasons, Americans have always been anti-press. George Washington called newspapers "scurrilous" and "nonsensical." H. L. Mencken called them "querulous and bellicose," and many have lamented that news freedom was the one great mistake of the Constitution.

The sentiment, to be sure, is not only discouraging, it is one of the major obstructions to adequate news gathering. Ironically, very often it is an uncooperative citizenry which leads to the news errors and speculation the citizens so soundly, rightly, denounce.

I recall an incident a few years back in South Texas. I had heard for years about a slightly legendary, big and plump, red-faced and red-necked old Texas Ranger officer, who was, allegedly, both the terror and the villain of the region. The white establishment cherished him. The Mexican-American minority claimed he was ruthless and fearsome, with several notches on his gun.

I visited the Ranger captain for an interview. The occasion was his retirement. I asked some opening questions. He seemed tolerant. Then I asked him if he had ever been wounded in action. A harmless, routine question, it seemed to me, but not him. He raged. Turned blue-black at the collar. Opened his desk drawer, pulled out a revolver, perhaps the one with notches, slammed it on his desk and said: "You git outta here."

I got.

I retell the story because in the column I subsequently wrote, I included, some speculation, some reliable source information and a small but unavoidable error of fact. Had I had more time with the Ranger officer, had the Texas Ranger headquarters helped me, the article would have been more substantial. It would also have carried, as fairly as possible, the Ranger's side of the story.

It is, however, and perhaps, too much to ask of people to cooperate in what might turn out to be embarrassing publicity.

It is always astonishing, for example, that Ku Klux Klan leaders in America are often more than willing to chat with reporters toward what invariably is a printed denunciation or, at best, a kiss off. Even the so-called average citizen, usually wise beyond his image, knows that he takes his chances with newsmen.

Critic-author Edward Lucas asked early in this century: "Has any reader ever found 100 per cent accuracy in the newspaper account of any event of which he himself has inside knowledge?" The answer, most assuredly, sadly and unavoidably, is no.

And there is no doubt that some of the chances the citizenry takes with reporters are unnecessary. The news industry, one of the mightiest accumulations of power in the nation, is too often served by only the slightly competent.

A Nobel scientist can complain about potholes in his street and the potholes might only grow larger; but let a 21-year-old journalism graduate write three paragraphs in the local paper on the condition and the mayor himself will be out, no doubt, with new macadam.

A force with such muscle, obviously should require excellence. It is not to slight the majority of competent men and women who are my colleagues to admit the industry has harbored some bona fide and appalling duds.

And while the working reporters have sometimes been inefficient and unworthy, so too, have some editors and publishers been more interested in profit than excellence. I once worked on a paper where I was not allowed a new pencil until I turned in an old one worn down to within three inches of the point.

I worked on another paper that, in order to cut down on the amount of news copy to be set into type and cut down on overtime paid to the staff, reduced the width of its news columns and increased the size of its type. I worked on a paper at one desperate juncture where I was forbidden to print a story about the indecent exposure charge against the manager of a department store because the publisher feared the arrested personality would cancel his advertising contract.

It is no wonder the public is concerned. Some years ago the cartoonist Mort Walker added another character to his Beetle Bailey comic strip. The character was a hip, Afro-wearing, goateed black lieutenant named Flap. The editor of at least one newspaper, ironically the military-operated Stars and Stripes, objected to the addition so much he pulled the strip from his pages. Never mind that Flap was wonderful, that there were a lot of black officers in the Army, that putting minorities in comics is, at base, good business for good readership. Flap was censored. Explained the editor, to signs of disbelief: "The Army wouldn't allow a soldier (like Flap) to wear a goatee."

Again, it's no wonder at all the public is concerned.

And yet, even the worst side of journalism is better than no side at all. French historian Alexis de Tocqueville said it: "In order to enjoy the inestimable benefits that liberty of the press ensures, it is necessary to submit to the inevitable evils that it creates."

Adds CBS editorialist Eric Sevareid: "The central point about the free press is not that it be accurate, though it must try to be; not that it even be fair, though it must try to be that; but that it be free!" And this freedom, it occurs to me, cannot be preserved without the cooperation, if not the sympathy, of the people.

More than 100 million Americans read daily newspapers. Virtually no one of age and competence is isolated from television and radio. Admittedly, the system is imperfect; there is no such thing as total reportorial objectivity; also, readers in many cases get only that news that advertising buys or that newscast time allows; also, some news (minority events, counterculture activity, and that which is successfully suppressed by the bureaucracies of all heads of government, business and labor unions) does not appear in some prints at all.

SHORT RIBS

THIS WINE HAS AN ODD TASTE.

MAYBE IT'S THE FOOT POWDER, SIRE.

FOOT POWDER?

YES, OUR GRAPE SQUASHER HAS A BAD CASE OF ATHLETE'S FOOT!

HEY, MANAGER, DO YOU THINK THIS GAME WILL BE OVER BY DARK?

I HOPE SO... WHY?

I HAVE NO DESIRE TO BE CHOMPED BY A NIGHT SNAKE!

A NIGHT SNAKE?

ONCE YOU GET CHOMPED BY A NIGHT SNAKE, YOU'VE HAD IT!

THIS IS TOO MUCH! OUR LECTURES OVER TV'S BAD ENOUGH.

BUT, WHEN THEY START ANNOUNCING IF WE HAVE ANY QUESTIONS TO SEND THEM TO HOLLYWOOD SQUARES...

OH, SO THIS IS YOUR LATEST YARN! YOU CAME BACK TO GET A FAMILY HEIRLOOM!

A SWORD?

YES, WITH A HILT CARVED LIKE A STAG'S HEAD AND A GAELIC SLASH-GHAIIRM, OR WAR CRY INSCRIBED ON THE BLADE!

A CLEAN TREASURE, NO DOUBT.

MY GRANDSIRE BEQUEATHED IT TO MY MOTHER, AND SHE TO ME! AND BY THE BEARD O' BRUCE I MEAN TO HAVE IT!

YOU MUST GET PRETTY LONESOME ALL ALONE UP THERE, FOSTER.

UH-HUH, BUT YOU DON'T HAVE TO HANG AROUND... I NEVER GET THAT LONESOME.

THAT'S WHAT YOU GET WHEN YOU TRY TO BE A NICE GUY.

IT SAYS HERE THAT THE MEEK SHALL ONE DAY INHERIT THE EARTH!

I WONDER WHEN THAT WILL BE!

JUST AS SOON AS THE BIG BOYS GET ALL THE MINERALS OUT!

YOU'RE 103 POUNDS.

WHIRR-R-R-R

RIGHT ON, GIRLS!

"YOU DREAMER YOU!"

103 POUNDS.

WHIRR-R-R-R

RIGHT ON, GIRLS!

"YOU DREAMER YOU!"

YOUR CAR WILL BE READY IN ABOUT AN HOUR, MISS PETUNIA!

HOW COME YA TOLD HER THAT? YA FINISHED WORKIN' ON IT TWO HOURS AGO!

'T WAS A HARMLESS LITTLE WHITE LIE, GUNNAR!

I'M USING THE RADIATOR TO HEAT WATER FOR A SPOT O' TEA!

WELL, I'LL CONFESS TO BEING AN HONEST MAN, MR. TARNISH! NOW WHAT CAN I DO FOR YOU?

SHERIFF, I HAVEN'T BEEN AN HONEST MAN! IN FACT, I'VE BEEN INDICTED FOR GRAND LARCENY—FOR EMBEZZLING FUNDS FROM MY FIRM!

MY CASE COMES TRIAL NEXT WEEK! I WENT TO SEE THE JUDGE, IN HIS PRIVATE OFFICE—TO TELL HIM THAT I WANTED TO PLEAD GUILTY!

HE OFFERED TO THROW MY CASE OUT OF COURT, ON A TECHNICALITY—FOR A BRIBE!

YOU'RE 4-CENTS SHORT ON THE DEAR.

THAT'S THE THIRD FINE YOU'VE PAID THIS WEEK, HOLLYHOCK!

IT'S LIKE OWNING THESE OF THE LIBRARY!

WHEN?

SHE DOESN'T KNOW YET.

WELL, WHO'S SHE MARRYING?

SHE DOESN'T KNOW THAT EITHER.

SHE'S LEAVING ALL THE DETAILS TO THE LAST.

YOU SEE, IN ORDER TO MAKE THIS ATTRACTION... WE'VE GOT TO DRAW PEOPLE.

AN EXHIBIT SO UNUSUAL, THEY'VE COME IN PROVES TO SEE IT! DO YOU FOLLOW ME?

AND IT SOUNDS LIKE YOU HAVE SOMETHING IN MIND!

AS A MATTER OF FACT, I HAVE, DOC. A VERY UNUSUAL SOMETHING!

WHAT IS IT?

A PREHISTORIC PLEGIOSAUR!

NOW, LOOK IF AMOUNTS ON LINE 6 AND LINE 13 ARE NET LOSSES, ENTER THAT AMOUNT ON LINE 10—ADD 50% OF AMOUNT ON LINE 9 AND...

OH, BROTHER! EVERY YEAR I ALWAYS HAVE TO GO THROUGH THE SAME THING!

...IT WOULD BE A LOT SIMPLER IF HE'D JUST USE THE SHORT-FORM!

STATE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

GOT ANYTHING FOR A COUPLE OF DIPLOMATIC COURIERS?

WELL... YA WANTED T' SEE HIM... SO HERE HE IS! HIS NAME'S GALLOPIN' GHOST!

OH, WHAT A BEAUTIFUL HORSE... JUST LOOKIT THEM BIG LOVIN' EYES!

I'LL GIVE IT TO YA STRAIGHT, JER! WE JUST DROPPED HIM IN A 15 GRAND CLAIMER, AN' HE QUIT AFTER TWO FURLONGS!

MAYBE I CAN FIND OUT WHAT'S WRONG WITH HIM!

AND I SAY WOMEN CAN HANDLE THE DUTIES OF BEING A PATROLMAN.

IT'S A LOT EASIER TO ARREST A DRUNK 250-POUND THUG THAN IT IS TO...

MAKE A 10-YEAR-OLD BOY GO TO DANCING SCHOOL.

ON CORY'S ORDERS DIANNE MADE IT LOOK LIKE I CHEATED! AND MADE JILL LATE FOR AN EXAM?

AND NOW WE'RE REALLY IN TROUBLE FOR FIGHTING?

BUT WHY?

TO FORCE US TO JOIN HER SHOCKLIFTING GANG, OR AT LEAST SCARE US OUT OF TALKING ABOUT IT!

CORY WOULD NEVER DO THAT!

KEEP IT DOWN, WILL YA? HER BROTHER'S UPSTAIRS! HE DOESN'T KNOW ABOUT, YOU KNOW... IT'S TWELVE HE DID?

Basketball Roundup

By The Associated Press
The Knicks had balanced scoring and their trademark team defense. Baltimore had Elvin Hayes, but little else.

As a result, New York is one game away from sweeping its first-round National Basketball Association playoff series with Baltimore, and Knicks Coach Red Holzman, a master of moderation, is saying things like, "We're in a good spot now."

Each of the five Knick starters scored 16 points or better, more than offsetting a brilliant 36-point performance by Hayes, as New York grabbed a 3-0 lead in the playoff series by beating the Bullets in Baltimore 103-96 Wednesday night.

Bill Bradley was high scorer for New York with 23 points, followed by Dave DeBussche, 19, Earl Monroe 18, and Willis Reed and Walt Frazier, 16 apiece. Hayes, meanwhile, was a one-man gang, hitting 16 of 26 shots from the field and also grabbing 14 rebounds.

The key to the victory, in addition to New York's balanced scoring, was the team defense played by the Knicks—and not by the Bullets. Time and again Knick players would elude their defenders and break free for clear shots, while at the other end of the court the Knicks' switching tactics blanketed the Bullets.

In other playoff games, the Boston Celtics took a 2-0 lead in their first-round NBA series with Atlanta by beating the Hawks 126-113 in Atlanta, while in the American Basketball Association, Utah beat San Diego 103-92 to take a 2-0 lead. All series are best-of-seven.

John Havlicek, who scored 54 points in the series opener, led here at the 37th Masters Tournament, starting today. Crenshaw, an amateur, may find out quickly. He's paired at 11:06 a.m. EST with the old king himself, Arnold Palmer, four times winner and the man whose personal magnetism sent the game on a dizzying spiral in the 1960s.

He's one hell of a player, said Palmer.

I rate him on the 10 best players in the world, pro or amateur, said Alia's David Graham. "You can tell he's destined to be a great champion by the way he grips a club."

Few men possess a strong, almost infallible grip. Sam Snead does. Ben Hogan did. And of course, Palmer and Nicklaus. So does Crenshaw. He could win here—make no mistake about it.

Crenshaw is one of two strong amateurs, threats this year in a tournament with Nicklaus heavily favored at 9-1 odds. The other is Vinnie Giles, a 36-year-old lawyer, investment banker and management representative from Richmond, Va., who is the current National Amateur champion.

The select hand-picked field consists of 59 American pros, 15 foreign pros, six U.S. and two foreign amateurs.

Just make it. Love to Susan, would you please?

The target of the onslaught wasn't Arnold Palmer. It was 17-year-old Jack Nicklaus, slim and modish Johnny Miller nor the chatterbox Lee Trevino.

It was Ben Crenshaw, 20, from Austin, Tex., and don't take his name in vain. He's got new Mr. Personality, the Charisma Kid, the fuzzi-faced collegian who many are predicting is the game's super star of the future.

When Palmer is tired of missing three-foot putts and Nicklaus has become bored with $50,000 checks and Grand Slam talk, young Crenshaw may be the player who sends galleries busting through restraining ropes and going into wild hysterics.

That's what they're saying.

That's what they're saying.

Boston with 29 points. Jo Jo White added 24 points, Dave Cowens had 20 points and 25 rebounds and Paul Silas added 17 rebounds.

Boston led 29-13 after the first quarter, then shook off an Atlanta comeback with a 10-0 spurt in the second period.

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn, emulating Holzman, also was not ready to claim victory in the series, despite his team's second consecutive impressive triumph.

"It's not over yet," he warned. "They're capable of playing better than they have. We just played real good defense."

Atlanta was led by Pete Maravich with 30 points and Lou Hudson with 27. Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons observed, "We're better than we have looked. We know we have to slow them down to win, but when you're behind you can't play a slow-down. But Boston played with confidence; they were awesome."

Willie Wise scored 29 points to lead Utah past the expansion Conquistadors. Utah led most of the first half, San Diego grabbed a brief lead in the third period, then Wise and Ron Boone moved Utah out to a 99-88 lead with four minutes to play.

Boone finished with 23 points, while Chuck Williams and Stew Johnson topped San Diego with 23 and 21, respectively. In addition to his points, Wise grabbed 10 rebounds and had five assists.

In playoff action tonight, Milwaukee meets Golden State at Oakland in the NBA and Carolina plays the New York Nets at Uniondale, N.Y., and Indiana is at Denver in the ABA.

Don Gullett Slated To Throw 1st Pitch

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati's Don Gullett was scheduled to deliver the first pitch of the 1973 baseball season today, giving the major leagues a two-week jump on last year.

You remember last year, when opening-day was a little late—15 days late to be exact—because of the first player strike in history.

The only strikes this opening day were to be thrown by Gullett of the Reds and San Francisco's Juan Marichal, the opposing pitchers in today's only scheduled game.

The American League and its revolutionary designated player rule gets going Friday with five games scheduled. The remaining five NL openers, following Cincinnati's traditional yearly start, are also set for Friday and the final AL opener will be played Saturday.

Gullett, Cincinnati's ball-faced left hander and Marichal, the grizzled ace of the San Francisco staff, had the starting jobs for today's opener between the Reds and Giants. But gloomy weather threatened the game with cloudy skies and showers predicted, possibly mixed with light sleet.

Along with today's opener, the Texas Rangers and Cleveland Indians close out the exhibition season with a game at San Antonio, Tex.

In Wednesday night's exhibition action, the Indians stopped the Rangers 4-3 as Walt Williams collected four hits and Leo Cardenas knocked in two runs.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers stopped the Oakland A's 6-3, the Chicago Cubs beat the San Diego Padres 5-0, the California Angels nipped the Milwaukee Brewers 2-1, the New York Yankees clipped the New York Mets 3-2 and the Minnesota Twins topped the Houston Astros 6-4.

Rain washed out games between Baltimore and Atlanta, Montreal and Boston, St. Louis and Kansas City and the Chicago White Sox vs. the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bill Bonham, Bob Locker and Rick Reuschel combined for a five-hit shutout as the Cubs beat the Padres. Bonham allowed no hits in three innings. Locker one hit in four and Reuschel four hits in four.

Reliever Fred Beene pitched out of a one-out bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning to help the Yankees trim the Mets, Gerry Moses knocked in two runs for the Yankees, including one with a ninth-inning homer.

Bob Darwin drilled a three-run homer in the fifth inning to power Minnesota over Houston. In the field, Hector Torres to Houston and Boston sent relief pitchers Ken Tatum and Don Newhauser.

Harvesters Beaten By Caprock Longhorns, 7-2

The Pampa Harvester baseball team was finally able to get underway in District 3-AAA yesterday as it hosted the Caprock Longhorns at Optimist Park. Caprock won the decision 7-2.

Paul Smith collected the win for the Longhorns in a match-up that had twice been postponed because of inclement weather. Dennis Edmondson sustained the loss for Pampa.

The game was scoreless through the first 3½ innings of play. Pampa went out front 1-0 in the bottom of the fourth. Caprock came right back in the top of the fifth to go ahead 3-1.

The Longhorns added two more runs in the next inning to increase their lead to 5-1. Pampa's final run came in the last of the sixth frame and Caprock made two more in the seventh to close out the scoring.

Caprock got seven hits in the game, including two doubles in the seventh inning by Mark Glass and Smith.

Pampa got four hits in the contest, all singles.

The win made Caprock 1-0 in league play while the Harvesters are 0-1 in district and 5-5 on the year. The game marked the first time since March 19 that Pampa was able to get a ball game in. The Harvesters next scheduled game is tomorrow against Borger, again in Optimist Park.

Ben Crenshaw Getting Most Of The Attention

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A cluster of giggling girls strained against the ropes around the Augusta National practice putting green and thrust pencils, tickets and scraps of paper at the harried golfer on the other side.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Immunity For Reporters?

Some members of the journalism profession are beginning to have second thoughts about the wisdom of legislation giving reporters immunity from being forced to reveal their news sources in a court of law.

Congress is currently considering such legislation. In fact, no less than 34 "shield" bills have been introduced in the House and Senate this session.

While many of the legislators and all newsmen who have testified on the matter favor blanket or absolute immunity, sentiment seems to be stronger for a law that would spell out a qualified or limited immunity to protect reporters from official "fishing expeditions" or the kind of legal harassment which has sent a number of them to jail in recent months.

Yet mindful of the proverbial camel which first stuck its nose into the tent, then took over the tent, some observers are asking whether there can really be such a thing as a little bit of government legislation in the area of freedom of the press.

The more the newsmen are subject to legislative control, the more that will become regulatory control. Roger C. Crishton, assistant attorney general in the Justice Department, told a House Judiciary subcommittee.

"Step by step," he warned, "once you start down that road what starts out as a privilege or favor to the news media ends up with some species of regulation."

Newsmen may view with a jaundiced eye such solicitude for themselves on the part of a government official. Much the same warning, however, has been voiced by at least one respected member of the fraternity. Vermont L. Royster, former editor of the Wall Street Journal.

The very word, immunity leaves a bad taste in the mouths of many people, even though the law has always accorded such immunity to doctors, lawyers and clergymen.

But to compare reporters with these professions is to get onto shaky ground, says Royster. Physicians, attorneys and priests don't write newspaper stories on the basis of what their clients tell them.

Even the idea of limited immunity may be a dubious one. To have any useful application, such a law would have to differentiate between those who are bona fide journalists and those who are not.

But how is this distinction to be made, and by whom? As of now, a journalist is anyone who says he is, and this may not be the worst kind of situation we could have.

For once we let the law decide WHO may write, we will have taken a very long step toward letting the law decide WHAT they may write.

Others will argue that the current wave of pressure against newsmen constitutes a clear and present danger to freedom of the press in America, and to the people's right to know.

Nevertheless, the wisest course may be to rely on tradition rather than on new statutes, on increasing public understanding of the role and the needs of a free press in a free society rather than on a law or laws which would attempt to cover every conceivable circumstance.

Both freedom of the press and the profession of journalism have, after all, flourished for nearly 200 years under the First Amendment. And while this "blanket" may have had some worrisome holes punched in it lately, and while it may seem a little threadbare and short in places, it still serves.

Inflation? Look At This

According to the 1972-73 edition of Jane's All the World's Aircraft, the 115 million pounds which British Overseas Airways is paying for its small fleet of Concorde supersonic airliners would have bought all the Spitfires and Hurricanes with which the RAF entered the Battle of Britain in 1940—some 37 times over. Cost of the famed fighter planes was a mere 3.1 million pounds. This, of course, was before post-war inflation and currency devaluation, when the pound was worth five U.S. dollars and the dollar was worth a dollar.

Question Box

QUESTION: What do you think of the "tax strike"? Is it legal? What might be the consequences to a striker? I have not seen an editorial regarding the tax strike, but have read many times comments that the government bureaucracy couldn't do much if we would stop paying taxes, also that people should be able to spend their money as they wish, not as some bureaucrat thinks it should be spent.

ANSWER: The tax strikers of whom we have knowledge are trying to avoid the paying of taxes and are trying to do so through legal means. The problem that they have is that they are threatening the source of the judge's pay check under whom they will be tried, if and when they are arrested and charged.

On the other hand, the disposition of politicians is to take only what they can get and, if they can't get it, they ordinarily back off from trying. To illustrate the principle involved here by an example from a related field—50,000 revolutionaries can successfully stage a demonstration in the nation's capital. But if 100 law-abiding citizens tried to do the same thing, only more peacefully, they would be carted off to the psych ward. Thus for the perpetrators of a tax strike to avoid the penalty of legal or illegal incarceration, they will have to be great in number.

In other words, the tax strikers are steering between the rock of Scylla and the whirlpool of Charybdis, a difficult passage. We surmise the IRS will smite them at their most perilous moment. It will be a feat of supreme audacity if the tax strikers get through. They likely will be safe as long as they are not too effective. They may become safe after they are very effective. The in-between is the danger period.

Frankly, we prefer the educational approach to the income tax problem. The going of the IRS becomes more obnoxious creates a listening attitude for one to show the historical roots of taxation, that it is not a means for raising government revenue for free men but rather a form of subjection formerly required only of conquered nations.

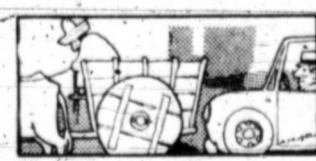

Our approach has the disadvantages of being slow. We all may be dead before the benefits arrive. On the other hand, it has the advantage of being a transformation process that does not involve inherently revolutionary activity. St. Paul said: "Be ye not conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your minds." That's the method that we are applying to the tax problem. We are offering the reader information which we hope will lead him into new ways of thinking specifically, better ways of raising governmental revenues than the income tax.

Wit And Whimsy

By PHIL PASTORET

If they'd recall enough autos, we'd have a lot more room for safety on the highways.

Now that they're listing everything but the truck on their name labels on products are a lot more fun to read.

After simmering in a morning traffic jam, one wonders why they call 'em "throughways"?

Pill manufacturers are gulping their own products to ease the pain of the new regulations.

Just when we've learned how to pronounce "methadone" and "haloperidol" from our favorite cough medicine.

With the price of pooch food going right through the ceiling, our dogs are getting what we eat, and leading a people's life.

The difference between a luxury and a necessity is in how badly you want it!

When are they going to make 'em list the ingredients on the gauz-a-tul glue on postage stamps?

'GOOD NEWS! EH, MISTER?'

GLOBAL VIEW

Continued Viet 'War' Run by Hanoi

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Captured North Vietnamese documents show the fighting since the cease-fire is no sporadic, haphazard thing initiated by aggressive local commanders.

Instead, the captured papers document a systematic campaign planned by Hanoi's headquarters in the South.

Orders are regularly issued to this and that mainline unit-capture this road intersection, occupy that hamlet, kill the key personnel in "X" village, surround are "Y."

When the pattern of these orders is analyzed, it is clear they are part of a systematic plan aimed at insuring control over specific regions of South Vietnam.

The orders captured to date concentrate wholly on rural areas. There are none reported thus far for the capture of, or attacks on, major cities, towns or even large villages.

There is a great deal of attention to blocking key highways and controlling points on specified roads.

What this all points to is a reversion to the Mao Tse-tung approach in the war in South Vietnam—control the countryside, surround the cities.

That is, Mao doctrine would call for a gradual strangulation of commerce and the cities through the control of strategically placed hamlets, roads, rivers and checkpoints.

The evidence to date is that the regular North Vietnamese army forces in the South, though many have been ordered to doff their uniforms, are not being used as guerrillas, but as regular army troops attacking the aforementioned specific targets by rather conventional means.

In any event, these North Vietnamese regulars, or most of them, would be a dead loss as guerrillas. They are not native to the countryside. They have no relationships with the population. They are "foreigners" and mistrusted locally.

Therefore, the only purpose for leaving these men in the South must inevitably be to engage in continued military campaigns. Not being hard-core Communist indoctrinated men, they cannot be left idle to wait for the future; they could grow impatient and be tempted to desert, enticed by the relative local prosperity.

Meanwhile, Hanoi is sending troops down the Ho Chi Minh trails at the pre-cessate fire rate. Whether these men will be infiltrated into South Vietnam at this time or quartered just across the border in Laos or Cambodia, is not yet clear.

Thus far, there is evidence only of one regiment (or portions) having moved into South Vietnam in recent weeks.

So much for Hanoi's intentions. The question not yet resolved is how successful the North Vietnamese will be at operating this protracted war strategy.

Here the situation is murky indeed. The South Vietnamese tell our people that the 365 hamlets the Communists captured after the cease-fire, Saigon has recaptured all but seven.

This may well be an exaggeration. But it indicates the confidence the South Vietnamese feel this far into the post-cessate fire period.

H. L. Hunt Writes

NEVER UNDERSTAND.

While good citizens thrill to the proud and patriotic depiction of the fighting men returning home from communist prison camps—the left-siders are shocked and appalled. It is beyond the understanding of the brainwashed and self-deluding left-leaders that returning prisoners of war could be blessing their God, their country and the military service and commanders who sent them into battle.

When fighting men, one after another in a steady stream, simply and sincerely express their pride, their gratitude and their patriotism, the left-siders are struck dumb but, unfortunately, only for a short time. Although their own reporters on the spot testified to the obvious unrehearsed sincerity of the returning POWs, the "leading" newspapers of the East, the New York Times and the Washington Post, decided that the Pentagon had put words in the mouths of the returning men.

The leader, commander or coach of any winning team effort, in war or peace, could tell the left-siders the real truth, which is that these brave men would not have survived the years of mistreatment by the communists without faith in themselves, their cause, their teammates and their country. It is the same money war. Those without faith soon die in captivity. The ones who survive in every war or disaster suffer the same conditions as those who fail. The difference is in faith and will, the fundamentals which sustain the patriot.

Be alert and be aware of this left-line. It is to discredit the returning fighting men and their patriotism, to make their sacrifice look trifling or ridiculous and to counteract the swell of honest patriotism welling up in proud citizens all across the nation. You can challenge and defeat this leftist effort through your personal voice and influence, especially in letters to the editor.

Your Health

By Lawrence E. Lamb M.D.

Most Hiatal Hernia Needs No Surgery

Dear Dr. Lamb—You have written several good articles on hiatal hernia but you always infer that in most cases surgery is not advisable. I know from personal experience that these hernias are not fatal but I wonder if anyone has ever told you what a nuisance they can be.

You can get burning and coughing and spitting up every time you stoop or reach or get shaken up or lift. Most of us who have to hold a job find this hard. Exercise is almost out of the question.

And food is a problem. Certainly eating is no pleasure on a soft diet.

My doctor also said "learn to live with it."

I am afraid we all wonder why we must learn to think of ourselves as halfway invalids when we are so healthy in other ways. You can make a large investment in medicines and antacids.

I know I can survive for a long time with this trouble but everyday and night I get discouraged. I have paid hospital insurance for 25 years and only used it once, yet when I get a problem that is really annoying I am told to "live with it." I just wonder if the doctors know how difficult the trouble can be to manage. Most of us try not to complain about every hangnail and we know there are many, many people with fatal illnesses, and who have much pain. Maybe that is what the doctors have in mind when they tell us to "live with it" and stop complaining.

Dear Reader—It's not just that simple. In the first place a large number of people who have small hiatal hernias have no symptoms at all. From them and they are found as an incidental observation during an X-ray examination. Certainly some of these people require surgery.

Other individuals have less trouble and before surgery is contemplated it is at least worthwhile to try weight reduction, for example, so that there isn't so much fat in the abdomen that is literally forcing the stomach through the normal hole in the diaphragm.

I know it's not comfortable to live with restrictions, the diet that a person with hiatal hernia eats doesn't need to be particularly disagreeable, it just has to be small in quantity and spaced properly so that the stomach cannot be overloaded and can empty sufficiently before the person lies down.

There are people who have continued symptoms of sufficient severity to warrant serious consideration of surgery.

Although most surgeons report good results, not all cases are successful. The decision as to whether or not surgery is indicated has to be made on an individual basis, which includes the amount of surgery that needs to be done to make a satisfactory repair and the total medical status of the patient concerned.

Inside Washington

Charge Legal Services Do Not Serve the Poor

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—It's the same old dismal story with the widely controversial and scandal-bedraggled Legal Services program.

While Congress awaits President Nixon's recommendations on this heavily battered and besieged "anti-poverty" activity, it continues to rack up more black marks and outraged condemnation. Latest instances are the following:

—Irate charge by Rep. John Hunt, R-N.J., influential member of the Armed Services Committee, that "Legal Services employees have been defending convicted criminals who created riots and demonstrations, and not the poor who rely for help on this program." Adds Hunt indignantly:

"It is time these so-called do-gooders redirect their energies and concern themselves with what they are really supposed to be doing. To divert money from programs for the poor to group political activities is essentially stealing from the poor. That sort of gross maladministration must stop. The entire system that allows that must be thoroughly reevaluated."

—Denunciation of the District of Columbia Neighborhood Legal Services on a number of counts, ranging from violations of professional and ethical standards to failure to provide quality legal representation, poor training and deficient back-up aid. A new head of the agency charity admits "some problems do exist."

Howard Phillips, forceful young acting director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), is credited as strongly favoring junking Legal Services as completely as he is dismantling the malodorous Community Action program—on which more than $4 billion has been spent while it piled up one of the most sordid records in federal history of corruption, waste, mismanagement and numerous other abuses and outrages.

Privately, Phillips is said to rate Legal Services as even more discreditable and undesirable than Community Action.

Under Phillips's aggressive and highly efficient axing, Community Action will be wiped out as a federally-financed operation by June 30, end of the current fiscal year.

Fate of Legal Services is still undecided. Unless new legislation and funds are provided, it too will go down the drain. Big question is what and how much.

On the latter point, there is one answer. The President's budget lists a $70 million item for Legal Services, but no indication how this continued program is to be administered. That legislation is what is awaited.

Latest inside word is the plan that is emerging is along the following lines:

Establishment of a national legal services corporation which would serve as a transitional agency while separate corporations are set up in the 50 states. These state corporations, funded through revenue sharing, would each have a board of directors overseeing their operations. These directors would be designated in one of several ways still to be decided—by the governor, state legislature or state bar association.

The basic idea is to ensure that these legal services corporations will be under the control of state officials and not outside elements, particularly ideological, political and other activists and militants as is now widely the case.

Ultra-liberal and leftist forces in and out of Congress are vehemently opposed to shifting control. They are loudly clamoring for retention of the present system. In this raucous propaganda campaign they have organized what they call "Action for Legal Rights" with an array of headline names as directors.

Included are Sargent Shriver, McGovern's second-choice running-mate and original OEO administrator when it chafed up its blackest record; Mrs. Carolyn Agger Fortas, wife of the Supreme Court Justice who was forced to retire when a highly questionable private pension scheme was exposed; former Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., long-time chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and staunch defender of ultra-left Justice William O. Douglas; Paul Porter, member of the Federal Communications Commission in the New Deal and now head of a leading corporation law firm.

One thing is certain: if Legal Services is continued, it will be in the form demanded by the President.

If the Democratic-controlled Congress enacts something else, it will be vetoed—and that will be the end of Legal Services, as strongly favored by many Democrats and Republicans in and out of Congress.

Squalid Record

Reason for this widespread view is a Legal Services record paralleled only by the defunct Community Action program.

Following are odorous examples:

Dayton, Ohio—Legal Services provided help to a so-called "national student right center" supporting rambunctious students defying school discipline and dress codes. These cases had utterly nothing to do with the poor.

Redwood City, Calif.—An attorney for Angela Davis, black Marxist activist involved in the Marin County slaying of a judge, embezzled $10,000 from the local Legal Services program.

New Orleans—Legal Services improperly represented members of a Black Panther organization called the National Committee to Combat Fascism—a leftist-front outfit wholly unrelated to the poor.

Connecticut—Gov. Meskill charged Legal Services played a key role in defating local officials' critical-of-welfare chiselers.

Yakima, Wash.—Legal Services was indirectly run by Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers organizing committee. The federally-funded program was used in a voter registration drive and other militant political activities.

Colorado—Rural Legal Services admitted preparing articles for an underground newspaper that advocated, among other things, draft evasion and defiance of the military.

Dallas—Legal Services represented the publisher of an underground newspaper being prosecuted for pornography and obscenity.
