New Hampshire: Bush, Dole face tight race

Poll leader Dukakis greets prospective voters.

Debates rage as Congress considers policy on AIDS

House resumes its struggle toward a national AIDS policy this week with two sharply contrasting Californians at the extremes of disputes over issues ranging from discrimination to testing.

On one side is Democratic Rep. Henry Waxman, the liberal and influential chairman of the House health subcommittee, whose Los Angeles district is ethnically diverse and big-city tolerant.

Across the ideological gulf but geographically next door is Rep. William Dannemeyer, R-Calif., a conservative from straight-laced and suburban Orange County.

Their differences will be aired Friday at what Waxman is calling a "refresher hearing" on his bill to provide money for voluntary AIDS tests, guarantee confidentiality for those tested, and protect AIDS victims and carriers from discrimination.

The hearing follows a series of canceled work sessions last year that Dannemeyer claims were scratched because Waxman approval of his bill.

'If he can't achieve his objective ... of anti-discrimination status for those with the virus, he will not move a bill in the 100th Congress," Dannemeyer said.

"We had other things pressing on us," Waxman responded when asked why the sessions were canceled. He said he expects to finish work on the AIDS bill within two

Though he maintained he is "always open to discussion," Waxman indicated he would not compromise on the measure's confidentiality or civil rights provisions and said he detected little support for Dannemeyer's posi-

"The whole public health world has concluded we need to protect against discrimination." Waxman said.

Dannemeyer calls it "in appropriate and absurd" to legislate anti-discrimination safeguards because of what he contends is the "unstable status" of information about AIDS transmission.

While Waxman quotes the prevailing view of virtually all public health authorities that AIDS cannot be transmitted by casual contact, Dannemeyer asserts that those authorities are rethinking 'their dogmatic pronouncements that the AIDS virus is not a threat in the workplace.

Dannemeyer says employers should be free to decide whether to fire an AIDS victim or carrier.

Going against the grain of prevailing psychiatric thought, be contended that homosexuals voluntarily choose their sexual preference and said schoolchildren should be taught that 'homosexuality is a perverse lifestyle, it's an unhealthy lifestyle. That's a fact. We should tell CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Vice President George Bush drew heart from his midnight victory in the village of Dixville Notch as New Hampshire primary voters began today to put their often unpredictable mark on the 1988 presidential campaign. Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis expected a neighborly boost from Democratic voters.

As the polls opened, final surveys pointed to a tight race between Bush and Kansas Sen. Bob Dole, who was hoping to make New Hampshire his second big win in a row Several candidates visited polling places. Democratic Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois and Republican Pat Robertson ran into each other at Northwest Elementary School in Manchester. "It's going to be an interesting contest," said Robertson. "I met three of 'em that voted for me early so I hope that holds. Best wishes to you today

'Well thank you, thank you very much,'' replied the senator.

In keeping with longstanding tradition, the 34 voters of Dixville Notch cast their ballots shortly after midnight at the Balsams, a resort hotel, and gave the edge to Bush and Democrat Richard

Commenting on the Dixville Notch results in which he received 11 votes to 6 for Dole, Bush, desperate for a comeback from his Iowa defeat, said, "I think that it's an indication, because they have been right since 1952, and it shows that I've been getting my message out, in contrast to Sen

In many communities the polls didn't open until 9 a.m. Those that did open early reported a moderate to heavy turnout. 'It's more than we've seen in the last few elections," said an election official in Goffstown. Statewide, about 150,000 Republicans and 115,000

Democrats were expected to vote, according to William Gardner, secretary of state. The weather cooperated. There was light rain in the southern part of the state and snow flurries up north. Partly cloudy skies were expected by after-

The final opinion polls pointed to a tight race between Bush and Dole on the Republican side and a battle for runnerup honors behind Dukakis between Gephardt and Simon. A CBS News poll, released today, of likely voters had the Republican race at 34 percent for Bush and 30 percent for Dole. On the Democratic side, Dukakis had the support of 38 percent, Simon 16 percent and Gephardt 13 percent.

"It feels good, like it did in Iowa last Monday." said Dole, referring to the Iowa caucus victory that catapulted him to the forefront of the race.

But Bush, who suffered a jolting setback in Iowa. predicted he'd bounce back in New Hampshire. "I sense a rising tide," the vice president said. Bush took some comfort from New Hampshire's See RACE, Page 2

White Deer interviews Cathey, others for superintendent post

WHITE DEER - White Deer school board members Monday night met with Pampa Assistant Superintendent Tom Cathey, completing the first round of interviews to fill the school superintendent position opening in Au-

Jack Back, business manager, said the White Deer Independent School District (ISD) board had narrowed the number of applicants to seven, all of whom were personally interviewed, ending with the meeting with Cathey Monday night.

Back said school board members have not said when they will announce who the finalists will be, nor have they said how many will be considered before naming the new superintendent.

"I assume they will narrow it down, but I can't tell you how many they will narrow it to,"

Back said, adding."They have not projected a date. We hope it will be soon.

"I feel very good (about the interview)," Cathey said early "It was one of the best interviews I've been through in a long time. The board was very knowledgeable and they had excellent questions," he said. 'I was the last one, so by then they really knew what they wanted. It was done very profes-"I don't feel that I'll be in the top three," Cathey said. "They said they would get back with He added that they did not give him a definite time when he would be told whether or not he had been chosen as a finalist.

"I just hope for the best. My goal is to be a superintendent and you have to start somewhere. White Deer had 65 people apply and I beat 58 of them. So that's pretty good," Cathey said.

The seven applicants chosen to be interviewed, according to Back, are Dr. Billy Bowman, assistant superintendent of the Diboll ISD: Charles Bright, superintendent of Aransas County ISD; Cathey, assistant superintendent Pampa ISD; Dr. Laura Martin, education program director of Texas Education Agency in Austin; Kenneth Oller, assistant superintendent of Dalhart ISD; David Sharp, assistant superintendent of Cuero ISD; and Richard Souter, superintendent of the Alpine ISD.

The White Deer school superintendent position became open following the announcement of current superintendent Tom Harkey's plans to retire in August.

White supremacist leaders face conspiracy charges trial

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Three leaders of the white supremacist movement accused of conspiring to overthrow the federal government and form an Aryan nation and 11 other defendants faced trial under tight security today

The charges against individual defendants, members of various white supremacist groups, include involvement in bank robberies, armored truck holdups, bombings of utility facilities and a plot to kill a federal judge and an FBI agent.

Jury selection was to begin today amid tight security, including dozens of heavily armed law enforcement officers and at least two metal detectors for screening courtroom visitors.

Late Monday, manacled defendants guarded by officers with submachine guns were brought into the federal courthouse as patrol cars blocked streets by the building. Ten defendants are accused of conspiring "to destroy by force the government of the United States and form a new Aryan nation," according to the indictment by a federal grand jury last April. "If the indicted leaders are convicted and sentenced to lengthy prison terms, some of these organizations will have trouble surviving." the Anti-Defamation League of the Jewish organization B'nai B'rith said after the indictment

In the weeks leading up to the trial, the Ku Klux Klan held 15 rallies in Arkansas cities. In most cases the turnout was small, and Klan backers were met in some cases by hostile observers.

At a rally here Saturday, Robert Edward Miles, 63, said the government was persecuting some of his fellow defendants because it didn't like their choice of associates.

"This government wants one cookie mold ... one garden in which all the flowers look alike," Miles The three defendants widely regarded as white supremacist chieftains are: Miles, 63, of Cohoctah, Mich., leader of the Mountain Church of Jesus Christ the Savior at Cohoctah. A former grand dragon of the KKK in Michigan, Miles was convicted in 1973 in connection with the bombing of empty school buses in Pontiac, Mich., then under a court order to desegregate schools.

 Louis Ray Beam Jr., 41, of Houston, a former grand dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Beam, who was arrested in Mexico, led a campaign of violent intimidation of Vietnamese immigrants fishing in the Galveston area, Texas officials said. During his bond hearing, he said that the U.S. government no longer belongs to the people.

In a letter obtained by government agents, Beam said America was under the control of a Zionist Occupation Government, or ZOG. Richard Girnt Butler, 69, leader of the Church of Jesus Christ Christian (Aryan Nations) of Hayden Lake, Idaho.

A former aerospace engineer, Butler leads a church that has attracted some white suremacists to its fold, including some who formed a group named The Order, sometimes called the Silent Brotherhood, authorities said.

Federal investigators have said The Order is a Nazi-like group whose members turned to violence to bring about the government's downfall.

According to the indictment, the 10 defendants accused of sedition conspired from 1983 to 1985. The document includes a list of robberies and

Fire report

The Pampa Fire Department responded to the following fires during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

MONDAY, Feb. 15

11:50 a.m. - A grass fire was reported one mile west of Price Road, north of the railroad tracks. About 10 acres of grass belonging to Red Hawkins and Harold Lawley was burned.

6:20 p.m. - Pampa firefighters extinguished a small grass fire on land belonging to Enron Corporation, Price Road and Highway 60.

Michael Smith, a squad leader, are both with B Company, 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry, 49th Armored Division, Texas National Guard. Kreider is employed by Mr. Gatti's

Guard returns from cold lands

Approximately 640 Panhandle and North Texas residents returned to their homes and civilian jobs last week following a twoweek winter training exercise in northern Minnesota.

Members of the 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry, 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard were welcomed home with more of the same weather they had been training in. An artic cold front blanked much of Texas with several inches of snow, with cold, chilly winds blowing across other sections.

Cooping with northern Minnesota temperatures in the minus 40s, members of the National Guard learned how to survive in subarctic conditions

Training at Camp Ripley, located about 125 miles northeast of St. Paul, Minn., is geared to "learning by doing." National Guard members spent most of their time in outdoor training and in living in shelters ranging from tents to improvised snow and timber huts.

Champion animals to be given drug tests

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The first drug testing of champion market animals ever made at a major livestock show is being done at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition this week,

Show officials said Monday the testing of champion market steers, lambs and barrows is part of a survey by the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and that the results won't affect the outcome of judging.

This is the first stock show where anything like this is being done in the nation," Dr. Larry Ehrlund, a San Antonio veterinarian who is coordinating the tests, told the San Antonio Express-News.

"This is strictly for our information and the Texas Veterinary Medicine Association's information as to whether they do have (drug) residues," said Richard Traylor of the SALE executive committee

"We have no idea whether we have a problem or we don't have a problem," Traylor said. "This is more of a survey for informa-

Urine samples were taken Sunday night from 26 steers, including the grand champion and all breed champions and reserve champions, and eight champion and reserve champion market lambs, Ehrlund said.

Samples also will be collected from the grand champion and reserve champion market barrows as well as all breed champions and reserveson Wednesday, he said. Tests at three laboratories are designed to detect 25 different compounds representing just about every potentially abused drug imaginable," Ehrlund said.

Veterinarians nationwide are concerned that some show animals might be given drugs such as diuretics, tranquilizers or anabolic steroids which give the owner an unfair advantage, he said.

"There's certainly a potential health hazard in using drugs," he said.

Ehrlund said some drugs are limited to a minimum time before slaughter and others are not allowed on animals intended for human consumption.

Texas veterinarians passed a resolution last August to design a screening program 'to help out our local stock shows in whatever way we could," Ehrlund said.

A similar program will be conducted at the stock show in San Angelo next month, and at other shows in Texas.

Test results, which are expected later this week, will become the property of the stock show organization, Ehrlund said.

No decision has been made about releasing the results, or about what policy to set for next year concerning the tests, Traylor said.

Fourth 'R' added Seymour school

SEYMOUR (AP) — When students returned to classes at Seymour High School today, they found a fourth "R" added to the traditional three.

The fourth "R" is for repairs The school district's board of education voted last week to close all schools indefinitely until the 70-year-old high school could meet state regulations for temporary occupancy

Students and teachers missed two days of class Friday and Monday while work was done on the building

Superintendent Charles Barron met with a structural engineer and a state fire marshal Monday before announcing that school will resume "In my opinion these remedial measures appropriately solve our imme diate concerns for the safety of the occupying students and teaching staff as regards the structural safety of the building," engineer Ray Pinnell Jr. told the superintendent in a report.

The district has purchased three portable buildings and is negotiating for a fourth to house classes. Two of the buildings were moved onto campus Monday afternoon.

The district is requesting that the state commissioner of education grant a waiver so that students do not have to make up the two missed days. Although the high school houses only grades 7 through 12, trustees canceled classes for all grades to avoid bus and scheduling difficulties.

Florida citrus

ORANGE (AP) — State agriculture officials seeking to enforce an emergency 30-day quarantine on Florida citrus have set up roadblocks to check trucks entering Texas.

Checkpoints went up near Orange on the Texas-Louisiana border Monday as part of an effort to protect the state's crop from citrus canker.

The checkpoints are expected to remain in place for at least two weeks, said Jim Whitmire, district supervisor for the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The disease, discovered in Florida in 1984, weakens trees and damages fruit.

"It's a devastating disease and our citrus growers are just recovering from the 1983 freeze. They don't need any more problems right now," Whit-

Truckers also were being pulled over for inspections on Interstate 20 near Marshall in East Texas and on the state's western border near El Paso. "We think it'll be a pretty good means," Whitmire said. "We'll try to check every truck that comes on through.'

Truckers with shipments of Florida citrus destined for points outside of Texas were being allowed through the state, he said. But the trucks were being sealed at the border, preventing the doors from being opened within Texas.

The state quarantine took the place of a federal ban on shipments of Florida fruit to other citrusproducing states. The U.S. Department of Agriculture lifted its ban last week, saying the disease did not pose a problem, prompting complaints from Texas agricultural officials who said the federal agency had caved in to pressure from Florida pro-

State officials did not know how many trucks were stopped during the first day of the quarantine, but said drivers were generally cooperative. They get a little annoyed at times. It's a little trouble for them to have to pull over and stop and then move on again," Whitmire said.

The checkpoints also are enforcing other quarantines and regulations on the transportation of agricultural products, he said.

Housing agency falls behind in distributing rent vouchers

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Housing Authority failed to issue 1,335 rent vouchers and certificates in the last 13 months, while 1,440 poor families remained on a waiting list, housing authority reports show

An attorney in a desegregation lawsuit against federal and local housing agencies has requested a court to force officials of the housing authority and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to begin matching needy families to the rental assistance funds immediately.

"It's a valid criticism," said DHA deputy executive director David C. Morton. But he said there have been positive accomplishments made during the difficult first year of a court-ordered plan to desegregate Dallas public housing.

'We have met every goal of the consent degree." Morton told the Dallas Morning News in an interview published today.

Mary Kate Smith, 69, who is disabled by heart problems and other ailments, said she and her two teen-age grandchildren have been waiting for help with their rent for the last four years.

Mrs. Smith said she supports her family on a total monthly income of $444, with $200 earmarked

'They have all the information about me, from when I was born until when I expect to die, but keep asking for renewals over and over again," she

The desegregation suit, filed in 1985 by attorney Michael Daniel, contended the agencies were concentrating minorities in low-income, black neigh-

The suit's settlement in January 1987 included a provision to raze 2,600 mostly uninhabitable units of the 3,500 public housing complex West Dallas. The settlement also called for replacement housing, mainly through rental assistance for 1,335

The special allocation meant DHA had more than 5,000 rental certificates and vouchers available to needy people.

· On Feb. 8, Daniel filed a motion claiming the housing agencies haven't abided by the settlement by leaving 1,335 rental certificates and vouchers unused. His request for court intervention has not yet been heard.

Morton said DHA was using the vouchers and certificates solely to relocate West Dallas residents until last fall, when they realized the assistance could be used to help any needy family.

"We let it go far too long before issuing more certificates," he said. "But it's a very complex situation and you cannot simplify in one sentence, a simplistic analysis.

Nitrate levels prompt concern

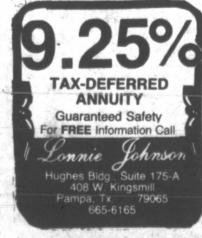

DALLAS (AP) - Some West Texas wells contain nitrate concentrations that are 15 times above federal limits, prompting concern about rural Texans' drinking water.

Health officials say they have received no reports of unusual infant deaths or illnesses because of the nitrate concentrations.

We're especially concerned about the rural drinking water supply. We have about 1 million Texans drinking out of private wells, mostly in rural areas, and these wells have no protection under (federal laws) that require the testing of public drinking water supplies," said Rick Piltz, of the Texas Department of Agriculture's Office of Natural Re-

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Humans to blame for Oct. 19 crash

Computers continue to be made the scapegoat of the Oct. 19 stock market crash. Just after the crash, instant pundits said that the computers of the major brokerage firms all sensed that the stock market was headed downward, then, in unison, sold stocks in massive quantities.

The General Accounting Office said that the computers indeed were to blame, but for another reason. GAO said that nine of the 12 major systems used in computerized trading broke down, causing uncertainty on Wall Street and propelling the market downward.

But there are far better reasons than blaming the technology. Human forces were at work, not machines. A series of bad economic events had introduced tangible uncertainty into the economy. The new Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan had begun tightening the money supply. That meant there wasn't going to be as much money in circulation for expansion.

President Reagan was at the low ebb of his tenure in office. That meant he didn't have the willpower to stop Congress from going on a new spending and taxing binge. And nothing hurts investments more than higher taxes, which are taken from company investments and consumer purchases.

Such palpable explanations are themselves theories; no one has yet pinned down a perfect explanation. It may take years to analyze all the data.

But in contrast to these explanations, the computer breakdown theory rests on a foundation of sand. Saying that the computers' collapse induced "uncertainty" and "confusion" in the market is like saying the symptoms caused the disease. Instead, it was the uncertainty and confusion tha caused the computer breakdown.

What should be done? Some people have suggested that computer trading be limited. That's silly. Brokers will then just make the calculations and transactions by hand, as they did before computers. The 1929 crash was just as bad as last October's, but took place long before computers. Everybody says GAO is a neutral agency. But it is an arm of Congress, and its report urged Congress to require the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Commodities Futures Trading Commission, and the Federal Reserve Board to develop a crisis plan within the next 60 days to deal with future emergencies. That recommendation actually shows what the 'nonpartisan'' GAO's own interest truly is expanding control by the government of which it's a part.

The main thing now is to resist increasing government control, and even to try decreasing it. The best theories of the crash's cause implicate government itself. Giving us more government control would be giving us more of the disease.

Enough about private lives!!

Nearly everyone agrees that in the current presidential campaign, the press has gone much too far in nosing into the candidates' private lives. Gary Hart is not the only candidate to complain about it, and probably all of them resent it. But I'm shocked to discover how far some reporters will go.

How far? Would you believe inside George Bush's bedroom? Right there in living color, in the pages of Fortune magazine, you can find a candid photograph of George Bush sitting up in bed, a yellow bathrobe only partially covering a manly chest. And he is not alone. Perched alongside are a cute grandchild and a lovable cocker

Even the Miami Herald, which unearthed the Donna Rice affair, never got beyond the front door of Hart's Washington town house. But then the Miami Herald didn't have Gary Hart dragging their photographers inside

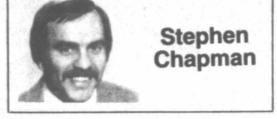

The Bush-in-bed photo is merely the most egregious symptom of an excess of reporting on the private lives of the candidates — most of it, contrary to myth, instigated or at least assisted by the subjects themselves. In the spirit of full disclosure and all-American openness, politicians are determined to prove themselves immune to natural human inhibitions. Answering questions about whether you've ever smoked marijuana is one thing, but throwing open the bedroom doors is another.

As the field narrows and the scrutiny intensifies, things will probably get worse instead of better, as the candidates labor to show us what regular guys they are. That's a depressing thought. Already we have learned more than we need to know about things that have nothing to do with the candidates' suitability for the Oval

Consider Sen. Robert Dole, who is reputed to be exceedingly reluctant to talk about his personal background. In interviews about public issues, Dole can be about as open and congenial as a snapping turtle. But Fortune somehow got a photograph of him dutifully pedalling an exercise bike in his living room, as his wife reclines on a nearby couch.

Somehow he has overcome his shyness about his war wounds and his poor beginnings, to the point of becoming a bore on both subjects. These reminiscences are intended to show that Dole. presumably unlike some other Republicans, is acquainted with misfortune and pain.

I don't mean to demean Dole's trials: 39 months recuperating from the effects of a German shell, which left a shoulder shattered and an arm permanently useless, isn't something to dismiss lightly. Still, it isn't ennobling to see him put the episode to political uses. And Dole, characteristically, ends up using his ordeals as a weapon against his rivals. Contrasting his origins with Bush's, he says with the famous Dole grace, "Maybe he can try to dig up a log cabin somewhere.

Dole is hardly alone in exploiting personal good therapist.

irrelevancies. In one TV interview, Sen. Paul Simon volunteered that he has his hair cut by a 'regular barber, not a hair stylist," bravely risking the loss of Iowa's hair stylist vote. Bush, eager to demonstrate that he was not a Gucci kind of guy, once took off his shoe to show a reporter the Freeman label.

A few candidates have a healthy aversion to this trend toward exhibitionistic soul-baring. Friend wants to live forever

My friend Rigsby, the health freak, has decided he wants to live forever. 'That's impossible,' I said to him.

'Not with the recent breakthroughs that foil the aging process and also guard against certain life-threatening diseases," he replied. I asked him to give me specifics

"First," he began, "there's Retin-A, the new skin cream that takes away aging lines, blemishes, blotches, and also makes the skin take on a youthful, rosy glow.

"Are you sure," I said, "this isn't just some new snake oil?"

"What, you don't read the papers?" asked Rigsby. "Said C.M. of Oshkosh: 'My face looked like it had been run over by every participant in the New York Marathon until I began using Retin-A. Now, I look 20 years younger and have joined a square-dance club. "And C.M.'s not the only one," Rigsby went on. "D.F. of Montgomery said, 'For the last 15 years, my husband has made me wear a sack over my head when we go out. Then I discovered Retin-A, and this old bag is finally out of the

I told Rigsby I had read a bit about Retin-A, but that alone wasn't going to make him live

"I'm not going to die of a heart attack," he said

"And how do you know that?" I asked. "Because studies now indicate that heart attack risk can be greatly decreased by taking regular doses of aspirin. 'It's only 11 in the morning," he went on, "and I've already had two Anacins, an Advil, a Goody's powder and a Midol, for good mea-cutting action of Pepto Bismol. "OK," I said, "You got Retin-A for your skin, you're taking aspirin to prevent a heart attack.

What else are you going to do in order to live forever?"

'Simple," Rigsby replied. "I'm going to use Simplesse by the NutraSweet Company.

"It's the new natural substitute for fat that mimics its rich taste and texture, but cuts the calorie content in ice cream, butter and other foods up to 80 percent.

'By using Simplesse, I can cut down my cholesterol intake and lose weight and not have to sacrifice taste.'

'What about cancer?'' I asked

"I've given up smoking and eating bacon." "Liver problems?

"I drink non-alcoholic beer."

"What about getting killed in an accident?"

"I've quit flying, I always wear my seat belt in my car, I have a smoke alarm in my home, and I avoid ladders and black cats. 'But,'' I sad to Rigsby, 'you're still not going to live forever.

"I guess you're right," he answered. "Besides," he added, becoming philosophic, "it's like R.F. of Des Moines said with his dying words, 'Forever is a long time to take Pepto Bismol.

There is a message there somewhere. I'm not certain what it is, but it's there.

Judge's slashing comments out of place

By SARAH OVERSTREET

It was one of those crimes that sends us searching the papers for updates several days afterward:

Beautiful young fashion model has her face slashed by razor blades, at the hands of thugs hired by her landlord. As the story unfolds day by day, we learn the dispute was over the se-curity deposit that Marla Hanson wanted back, and the landlord didn't want to return. Yes, she'll be disfigured for life, we see as she talks to re porters from her hospital bed. No, she doesn't intend to let the 150 stitches and their resulting scars deter her from her dream, to be a model.

We don't hear of crimes so horrid, or see displays of such bravery, every day. We keep looking, in newspapers and magazines, for more of the story. We especially wait for the trial. Some of us hope the judge sentences the landlord to tango lessons with a pack

Instead, we are dumbfounded at what happens to Marla Hanson, not landlord Steven Roth, during Roth's trial. Having little to work with (his client admitted to having been recruited by Roth to "cut up" Hanson, holding Hanson down AND having razor blade in his hand during the attack), the attorney for one of the attackers turns on Hanson

He accuses Hanson of being a manchaser and a racial bigot. He asks her to define a four-letter word Roth had used to describe her. (Imagine, for a moment, an attorney asking a male victim to define a demeaning four-letter word a female attacker had used to describe him.) He tries his best to paint a portrait of the stereotypical emasculating woman whom juries have been historically fond of deciding "brought it on themselves."

Of course, bringing a razor-slashing on oneself is stretching even this precedent a little, but that's what some defense attorneys do. The American Bar Association's ethical code allows this kind of treatment - if the alleged conduct of the victim is relevant to the defense. It wasn't relevant here, but at least one can understand a lawyer trying to use it.

What one can't understand is a judge allowing it, and this one did. Boy, did this one allow it. And what he did next rates him at least a few points on the scale that Hanson's attackers scored so high on. He stingingly criticized Hanson for talking about her ordeal to reporters. Summon all the grit you've got to survive a hell like this, but don't be so brazen as to talk about it.

When I read about Judge Jeffrey Atlas' attack on Hanson, I was stunned. Has he been sequestered in his chambers so long he's lost the sense of what it must be like to be a talented young person and have your body sliced up by razor blades? I wonder what his reponse to a victim's talking to reporters would be if the victim were not a female model, but a young pro football player, his throwing arm sliced up by a landlord over a rent deposit?

Would he have remonstrated the fellow as he stood talking to reporters about years of practice and dreams slashed to ribbons in less than a minute? I don't think so

I guess I was naive enough to think even an ignoramus would have some sensitivity to a young woman to whose face thugs had taken a razor blade. Surely he knew it would make

Atlas later apologized to Hanson. I don't imagine he went home, reconsidered and came back with tears in his eyes. Someone with a little more savvy probably told him he was way out of line. However he arrived at his apology, it's not enough. He ought to be booted off the bench, told to take his robes, clean out his chambers and get away from innocent victims looking to the system to protect them.

Let him go back into private practice where no one will question his right to champion criminals.

MIT study identifies weaknesses in American industry

BOSTON (AP) - Poor management, an inability to cooperate, and a preoccupation with short-term profits are among reasons American business is losing ground to foreign competitors, says the first report of the MIT Commission on Industrial Productivity.

The U.S. economy is still the most productive in the world, but could be surpassed by other nations that are gaining on it, the commission reported Monday at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"We are talking about keeping the standard of living in the United States and enhancing it," said Michael L. Dertouzos, director of the Laboratory for Computer Science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and chairman of the commission. "In that sense, we think productivity is imporcember 1986 by MIT President Paul E. Gray. Its 18 MIT scientists, engineers, political scientists and economists - including Robert Solow, last year's winner of the Nobel Prize in economics were asked to determine the causes of the weakness in U.S. productivity and to make recommendations to industry, universities and government concerning what might be done to correct it.

In its interim report Monday, the commission listed what it believes to be the five principal causes of the decline in American productivity. They are:

Excessive attention to activities and investments that are profitable in the short run. America invented the transistor radio, color television and the video cassette recorder, Dertouzos said. American businesses quickly lost interest in producing them, however, and lost those markets to Japan.

Parochial attitudes that led American businesses to pay insufficient attention to foreign competitors. In the machine-tool industry, American firms tried to backlog orders rather than aggressively deliver products on time. Japanese firms promised quicker delivery and captured much of the market, Dertouzos said

 A lack of cooperation within firms, among competing firms and between firms and their suppliers. One reason that Japanese automakers can bring new cars to market faster than those in the United States is that Japanese designers and production engineers work together more closely than their American counterparts, Dertouzos said.

"That's endemic to our educational system," said Lester Thurow, a commission member and the dean of the MIT Sloan School of Management. "We throw you out of school if you cooperate on an exam - it's called cheating."

Weaknesses in human resource management. "The worker is viewed as a cost factor to be minimized, rather than as an evolving human resource that has to be educated, motivated,' Dertouzos said.

Failures in applying technology to make simple, reliable, high-quality products. In the case of VCRs, the Americans who invented them couldn't develop production lines that would meet the close tolerances necessary and would do so at an acceptable cost, Dertouzos said.

Thurow said the United States clings to certain practices that might have served us in the past, when our economy was far ahead of everyone else's, but are not serving us well now.

"The United States is the easiest country in the world to hire and fire people," he said. It is the only industrialized country where people can be fired at will, he said. In France, to take one other example, workers must be given one year's notice before they are dropped, Thurow said.

While the ability to fire workers might seem efficient in the short-term, it provides powerful incentive for workers to sabotage innovative technology that might cost them their jobs, Thurow

Solow said that the comparatively high cost of borrowing money in the United States, compared with Japan, makes it more difficult for American firms to profit from long-term invest-

Mardi Gras revelers party like there's no tomorrow

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Thousands of Mardi Gras revelers thronged the French Quarter today for America's biggest block party, where madness is a way of life and the only sin is to be a party pooper

Mardi Gras, or Fat Tuesday, was the crescendo of two weeks of nightly pre-Lenten Carnival parades in The City That Care Forgot.

As early as noon Monday, the lines were a half block long outside Pat O'Brien's bar, a popular watering hole in the Quarter, and the non-stop party was just getting started. Narrow streets of the city's old section were wall to wall with revelers.

As the party grew, jazz and fireworks heralded the arrival of a costumed stand-in for Rex, the King of Carnival, who disembarked from a Coast Guard cutter at the Riverwalk shopping mall on the Mississippi River just outside the Quarter.

By midnight, George Moore and his friend Don Granda, both from St. Louis, were getting into the swing of things at Molly's Pub, a crowded bar on the Quarter's river edge. Moore said it was his 15th Mardi Gras

"This has always been my second home," he said. "Last year was great, and we're hoping good weather will make this one just as good. If it is, I'll need five days to sleep when I get back to St.

The first of 17 organizations scheduled to take to the streets today was jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain and his Half Fast Marching Club, preceding the real Rex along a route winding past the stately homes of the Garden District to Canal Street in the central business district on the edge of the Quarter.

In the Quarter, women on wrought-iron balconies often bare their breasts, and gay bars play host to male cross-dressers barely clad in various combinations of women's underwear, hosiery, high heels, feathered headresses and beaded

Today's crowds could surpass the estimated 1 million people that jammed metropolitan area streets last year, said police spokesman John

The day officially concludes at midnight tonight with the meetings of the courts of Rex and Comus. signaling that Mardi Gras has given way to Ash Wednesday and 40 days of Lenten sacrifice.

Last year, police were criticized for clearing the streets after Mardi Gras with a little too much vigor. Assistant Police Chief Ray Holman said officers will be more gentle this year, but no less insistent.

In nine days preceding the 1988 celebration, police had made 1,434 arrests, 79 fewer than last year, a police spokesman said.

New 'Fat Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and

No Dieting—Eat Normally Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire.'

There has never been anything like it before. It is a totally new major medical breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patent pending)

Flushes Fat Out of Body The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat particles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested.

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated.

"Pills Do All the Work" According to the doctors, the fatmagnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals. The fat-magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public If you need to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 hand-ling). or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat-Magnet, 7095 Hollywood Blvd., Dept. threatens to resume attacks on Israeli targets

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The PLO today threatened to attack Israeli targets around the world to avenge the killing of three guerrilla commanders and the bombing of a ferry being readied for a protest voyage by Palestinian deportees.

The Palestine Liberation Organization has blamed Israel for the slayings on Sunday and the explosion aboard the Sol Phryne ferry on Monday

"Israel knows that the PLO is not handcuffed ... The blood of our martyrs will not go unavenged," said a statement issued in Nicosia.

The PLO officers - Col. Marwan Kayyali, Lt. Col. Mohammed Sultan and Lt. Col. Mohammed Buheis - were killed in a car bombing in Limassol, on

Cyprus \southern coast, apparently after arranging the sale of the Cypriot ship to a PLO-affiliated firm for the socalled "Ship of Return" voyage to

"We had adhered to the Cairo Declaration to halt military operations against enemy targets outside the borders of our country (Israel)," the statement said. "It is not logical or possible for the halt to continue unilaterally. This is a double-edged weapon," it

PLO chief Yasser Arafat declared during a visit to the Egyptian capital of Cairo in 1986 that his guerrillas would restrict their attacks in the Arab-Israeli conflict to targets inside Israel and halt terrorist attacks on Israelis abroad - a policy the PLO had pursued since Arafat took over its leadership in 1969.

An official at the PLO office in Nicosia said today: "There are alternatives. We are not desperate," when asked what the PLO planned to do after the explosion that crippled the Sol Phryne.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, would not say whether the PLO has found another boat to charter for the 130 deportees and hundreds of sympathizers and reporters who planned to go on the voyage to protest the deportation of Palestinians from the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The PLO had tried to launch the voyage from Greece, but it was repeatedly delayed, reportedly under Israeli pressure.

The deportees, sympathizers and reporters were taken in buses to Athens airport Monday and were told they would be flown to Cyprus to board the boat. After news of the blast reached Athens, most returned to their hotels.

Another PLO official in Nicosia had disclosed that the 40-year-old ferry, which was sold Saturday only a few days before it was to be auctioned, had a hole blown in it by "an underwater blast caused by a mine that was stuck, probably by frogmen, onto the vessel. It was attached to a time fuse.'

The boat was supposed to sail to the Israeli port of Haifa, but Israeli officials have said they will refuse to let the vessel enter their waters.

De La Madrid: Mexico has diversified economy

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Miguel de la Madrid claims that Mexico has taken some big steps in diversifying its economy, but warns the country will not develop fully until its becomes part of the world concert of trading nations.

Speaking at a breakfast meeting with Mexican and American business leaders Monday, de la Madrid said one big step was taken when Mexico joined the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade three years ago, permitting it to do away gradually with its protectionist policies.

He recalled that when he took over as president in 1982, in the middle of a sharp economic crisis, oil sales abroad made up more than 70 percent of the country's oil revenues. Now, he said oil exports represent not more than 50 percent.

Mexico has achieved that by boosting non-oil exports and attracting increasingly greater number of foreign tourists, de la Madrid said

"I am certain that we Mexicans will persevere in these reforms to consolidate and widen them, and Mexico will once again take the road to firm and sustained development within a few years," he

Nicaraguans complain that reforms are aggravating inflation

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - are being adjusted automati-A union leader and people in Managua complained that the government's new attempt to combat runaway inflation through currency and economic reforms has sent consumer prices soaring.

On Monday, the government began trading one new cordoba for 1,000 old ones and raised salaries up to seven times their December level.

It also increased prices and ended government subsidies for a host of staples — ranging from rice to beans, milk, sugar and cooking oil.

·Last year, inflation reached at least 1,500 percent.

President Daniel Ortega announced the reforms in a broadcast address Sunday, declaring that 10 new cordobas would buy one U.S. dollar.

"The new measures enforced by the government has left us in an even worse state than we were before," said Nilo Salazar, general secretary of a 30,000- member federation of construction un-

Nicaraguans have until Wednesday to exchange up to 10 million old cordobas at 2,000 booths the government has set up across the nation. Bank deposits

Under the reform package, the government-subsidized price of gasoline jumped fivefold overnight to 15 new cordobas a gallon. Gasoline is rationed at 17 gallons a month for private automobiles.

Salazar said people in his federation say they are worse off than before.

As an example, he cited an assistant bricklayer whose monthly salary has risen from 191,808 old cordobas to 792.50 new

"A liter of milk which yesterday cost 2,500 old cordobas now costs 6.60 new cordobas, or 6,600 old cordobas. That is to say these prices have gone up more than 60 percent," Salazar said.

The revaluation is also an attempt to do away with the black market, where a dollar had until Monday been worth up to 60,000 cordobas

Angel Moreno, 40, a mechanic, complained that a "housemaid will not be able to buy anything with the 500-cordobas (a month) minimum salary that she gets paid, when a pound of beef costs 35 cordobas, a dozen eggs 25 cordobas," and bread from 7 to 10 cordobas a pound.

America West, Southwest, rivals in air, on

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Similarities between America West Airlines and Southwest Airlines are plentiful, but there's one big difference: the balance sheet.

America West lost $45.7 million last year, while Dallas-based Southwest had a net profit of $20.2 million.

The Tempe-based America West is cutting back on operations in a determined push to return to profitability.

By March 1, America West plans to eliminate nearly 10 percent of its flights, reduce the size of its aircraft fleet and to reduce the size of its workforce by 500 jobs through attrition and voluntary leaves.

"In our opinion, this is the correction necessary for us to be a profitable company," said Ed Beauvais, chairman and founder of America West.

"We call it a leveling off," Beauvais said. "We've been climbing steadily for almost five years and now we're going to level off and make a profit, and then continue to climb.

The number of daily departures will be cut March 1 from 547 to 518. Eighteen flights originating from Phoenix will be canceled, leaving the airline with 155 daily departures.

The cutback in operations is expected to save America West about $60 million to $70 million in 1988 out of estimated revenues of $700 million to $800 million.

Helane Becker, an airline analyst with the investment firm of Shearson Lehman in New York, said the airline may be doing too little, too late.

The airline is faced with the problem of filling not only its 122-to-143-seat Boeing 737 aircraft, but also the seven 190-seat Boeing 757s that provide service from Phoenix and Las Vegas to Chicago, New York City and Baltimore-Washington, she said.

She said an uncertain economy could dampen consumer spending and further darken the company's outlook.

She also suggested that America West may find it difficult to successfully shrink its operations, adding that some airlines that have tried to cut back operations find the revenue loss greater than the cost savings.

Southwest Airlines, America West's biggest competitor, is expanding its operations at Sky Harbor International Airport by taking over USAIR's space and creating a "California Express" ticket counter.

Southwest also is building a new, enlarged streetside canopy at Terminal 1 to shield travelers from the sun and the occasional Phoenix rain, as well as walling in the open baggage space at the north end of the terminal.

Southwest has 75 airliners. America West has 69. Both are modern fleets, six years old or less. Both have seat-mile costs among the lowest in the industry. America West filled 56 percent of its available seats in 1987; Southwest filled 58 percent. Southwest employs about 6,000 people: America West has about 7,000 em-

The competition between the two is fierce. Beauvais has accused Southwest of "predatory behavior" in the Phoenix market.

Southwest is using special fare pricing to attract more passengers. "Since October we've doubled the number of people who board our planes at Sky Harbor on routes where we've put in our special low promition fares," said Don Valentine, Southwest's vice president for marketing.

America West is counting on demand to catch up with its reduced seat capacity, with a focus on drawing more business travelers through specific advertising promotions

Survey shows the economic outlook may be deteriorating

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - A smallbusiness survey released today indicates inflation could become a worsening problem during 1988.

The National Federation of Independent Business, which studies responses from more than 2.000 member firms each quarter, said "a trend toward more frequent and larger price increases has become quite evi-

While signs of economic deterioration weren't sharply defined in the latest study, the inflation component jumped sharply. said Professor William C. Dunkelberg, who interprets the find-

Dunkelberg, dean of Temple University's school of business, said 27 percent of all companies in the survey said they plan to raise prices, a 6 percentage point jump from the previous survey and the highest level in several

The sharp rise in price expectations among respondents is considered significant for the economy as a whole, since the smallbusiness community produces about 50 percent of the nation's gross private product.

In spite of the negative implications of the inflation component and despite expressions of doubt about the economy's future the survey showed businesses plan to spend on equipment, inventory and additional jobs.

Such spending plans, said Dunkelberg, appear inconsistent with a rise in negative opinions about future business conditions.

Each year since 1985, he said, the percentage of companies expecting a worsening of conditions rises, while the number anticipating better markets shrinks. Simultaneously, those declaring it to be a good time to expand fell to just 13 percent of all companies, a four-year January low.

"Apparently, many believe the law of gravity applies to economic statistics as well as to apples," he said, explaining that the longer the recovery continues, the greater is the percentage believing it will end.

Negative and positive variations in the January report left the small-business optimism index almost unchanged at 101.8 seasonally adjusted, compared with 102.3 in the previous quarter.

The index, which sets 1978 as its base, is made up of responses to 10 questions, including expected business conditions, current job openings, plans for capital outlays, expected credit conditions, and changes in net earnings.

The latest reading of the optimism index, which was begun in late 1974, compares with an alltime high of 108.7 in January 1984, and an all-time low of 81.1 in the second quarter of 1980. Except for brief dips in the final quarters Dirty Truth of 1985 and 1986, the index has exceeded 100 in every survey since early 1983.

Some highlights of the components include:

-Employment - Strongest hiring plans since 1978. Nineteen percent of companies plan to increase employment in the next three months, while 5 percent plan net reductions.

Job openings reached a new high for the expansion, with 23 percent reporting unfilled positions. In New England, the percentage was 42 percent.

New hiring plans were strongest in manufacturing, with 28 percent planning increases and only 8 percent planning workforce reductions.

-Interest Rates - Average interest rates paid by small companies held at 11.1 percent in the fourth quarter of the year. Fifty percent of all short-term loans were tied to the prime rate.

-Prices - There are indications, Dunkelberg said, that inflation could be worse than generally anticipated. "Based on plans to raise prices, non-food inflation should begin to pick up, heading toward the 5 percent level.'

About 1,350 Mobil employees went on strike Feb. 4 over the staffing of a new centralized control center at the refinery. Mobil wants to use supervisory employees, while the OCAW insists that union members work the Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local also struck against Mobil because the company wants to relax some rules regarding which workers can perform electrical work.

Meanwhile, union members at Texaco Inc.'s research laboratory in Port Arthur avoided a possible strike by unanimously approving a new 2-year contract Monday.

The Research Technicians' Union represents 91 technicians at Texaco's laboratory, which tests different catalysts for the company's refinery process.

Texaco offered the technicians the same wage package as its refinery workers: a 30-cents-anhour increase, plus a $900 lump-sum payment for the first year. Workers will receive a 3 percent wage boost in the second year.

Labor contracts also expire Saturday for workers at Texaco's refinery and chemical plant in Port Arthur. Call

My daughter would just as soon have a quick ceremony by a judge, but Bobby wants a big church wedding with her in a white wedding gown and veil and him in a white tux. He is paying for everything so she is doing it his way. They have everything they need in a house, so how do we go about telling people if they want to give them a gift to please make it money? Would that be in bad taste? I have heard it would be. I thought maybe if the invitations were written up explaining their circumstances, it would be OK. What do you think?

KENTUCKY READERS

DEAR READERS: It would be in poor taste to ask for money. And it would be unthinkable to 'explain their circumstances" in the wedding invitations.

tility bill aid skyrockets at Good Sam

Good Samaritan Christian Services, Inc., 309 N. Ward, during January provided the largest amount of aid for utility bills in the interfaith mission's five-year history, due to the Hoechst Celanese disaster and very cold weather, according to Bill Ragsdale, executive director of the mission.

Over 91 families requested utility aid and 91 were paid, for a total of $5,201.02 spent in January alone, Ragsdale wrote in the mission's monthly newsletter.
"The pace has continued into February, with no sign of letup. This cannot continue too much longer, but some help is in sight. "Other local agencies will receive about $10,000 in a month or so for this type of aid, and we expect to have to cut back at that time. We will receive a similar amount for food at that time, so if we work together, all will be taken care of," Ragsdale wrote.

Good Samaritan celebrated its fifth anniversary Sunday, Feb. 14 with a reception

January requests for aid were up 16 percent over December 1987, and up 62 percent over November 1987. Utility aid requests were up 102 percent over December, and 250 percent over November. Food requests were up 2 percent from December, and clothing requests were down 9 percent.

Of 349 families requesting aid, 329 were helped. This aid included food, 228 families; clothing, 93; rent, four; utilities, 91; transportation, 16; lodging, four; medical, 15; and other, three. Total number of individual persons receiving aid was 1,129.

Twenty families were marked as not receiving help because several requests for utility aid were dependent on the applicant raising part of the money elsewhere, and were recorded as not helped on first visit, but were helped on a later visit, Ragsdale said.

Gray County families seeking aid totaled 320. Newcomers totaled 24; those outside the county but within 25 miles of Pampa numbered three; and two were transients.

Six were referred by churches; friends, 49; news, one; other organizations or agencies, 20; and returning families, 275. There were two emergency after-hours calls.

Out-of-pocket expenses for January totaled $7,033.28, compared to $4,352.51 for December 1987. Of the total, $235.47 went for food; clothing, $207.16; rent, $65; utilities, $5,201.02; transportation, $336.41; lodging, $70.34; and medical, $617.86.

More food was issued in January than in December. The availability of food was above that of December, but "there have been some short times in early February, Ragsdale said.

Clothing items especially needed by Good Samaritan clients are children's clothing, tennis shoes, blue jeans, maternity clothing, work clothing and work boots.

UIL rejects 20 appeals

AUSTIN (AP) - A review board of the University Interscholastic League has rejected an appeal by the Eagle Pass school system to move out of a district that includes Del Rio and the powerful northside San Antonio schools

School officials wanted to move into Class 5A's District 29 so their students would have a more even level of competition, but the UIL board ruled that Eagle Pass must remain in District 30.

The appeal was one of 20 denied on Monday by the UIL review board. Nine were approved, including the request by Austin Westlake that it be placed into the same district with seven other Austin schools instead of one that stretched halfway to Dallas.

Appeals to the state review board's decisions of Monday must be made to the UIL by Feb. 22. The state executive committee meets Feb. 26 for the final

Supporters of Austin Westlake jammed a hearing room Monday, and the UIL review board responded by granting Westlake a move from District 14 to District

As in the past four years, Westlake this year was first placed into a district with schools in Waco, Killeen, Temple, Copperas Cove and Round Rock - which in the case of Waco would mean a drive of 110 miles. In District 25, Westlake's longest trip will be 14

Most of Monday's appeals complained about distance of travel and school time lost

In other decisions Monday, the review board:

allowed Bandera High School to change from 3A. District 8 to a San Antonio-area 3A district in basketball, but not football:

allowed Friendswood to change from 4A-23 to 4A-19;

- allowed Santa Fe Alta Loma also to change from 4A-23 to 4A-

allowed Cisco to change from 2A-District 7 to 2A-District 15 in basketball: allowed Granger to move from A-District 58 to A-District allowed Floresville to go from 3A-26 to 3A-29;

- allowed Medina Valley to move from 3A-29 to 3A-26; and allowed Quinlan to change districts in Class 3A

The UIL denied the appeals of the following:

Stanton, which wanted to move from 2A-5 to 2A-6; Kermit, from 3A-4 to 3A-3; Grand Prairie, DeSoto and

Duncanville from 5A-11 to 5A-7 or Deer Park from 5A-21 to 51-

Baytown Sterling and Baytown Lee from 5A-22 to either 5A-21 or 5A-23;

Harvesters play host to Borger

By L.D. STRATE Sports Editor

Pampa vs. Borger. Borger vs. Pampa. Anyway you say those two names, it always sounds like a war is about to break out. Well, maybe not really, but these two schools have a darn good rivalry going.

Tonight's Pampa-Borger clash at 8 p.m. in McNeely Fieldhouse has more riding on the outcome than just another win in an annual rivalry. A victory for the Harvesters clinches a tie for second place while the Bulldogs must win to even have a glimmer of hope for the playoffs.

'When I first came here I heard about Pampa's rivalry with Borger. After seeing the big crowds at the games, I can believe it. The whole community is excited about tonight's game. It's a big one for us. The game means more to us than it does Borger because some other teams have to lose for them to have a chance,' said Pampa coach Robert Hale. Pampa holds down sole possession of second place in the District 1-4A standings with a 9-5 record, a game ahead of Canyon. Borger has dropped to a 7-7 record, but the Bulldogs own an earlier win over the Harvesters 55-51.

"Borger's press had a lot of success against us in that first game," added Hale. "That's a big part of their game." Hale said the Harvesters must stop

Borger's Steve Ford and Danny Loftis, who combined for 41 points in the Jan. 19 win over the Harvesters. "Those two players really hurt us," Hale said. "We've got to be able to match up with them and not get caught up in an emotional game. We've got to stick with our fundamentals and work hard.

Ivan Hunnicutt, a 6-0 guard, is a good outside shooter for the Bulldogs

'Hunnicutt didn't hurt us that much, but he's been a good player in several of their games," Hale added

Offensively, the Harvesters will continue going to their big man inside, 6-4 Dustin Miller, who drilled 40 points in Pampa's 92-71 trouncing of Lubbock Dunbar last Friday night. That win, combined with Levelland's 66-52 win over Canyon, put the Harvesters in second place all by themselves.

However, Hale looks to the Harvester defense as being the key to victory.

"If we go out and play good, sound defense, then everything else is going to take care of itself," Hale pointed out. 'Work hard, that's our goal every

The first Pampa-Borger game was close the first half with the teams tied at 24-all at halftime. But an 18-8 third quarter run by the Bulldogs put the Harvesters behind the rest of the way.

Since dropping a 56-54 thriller to Canyon two weeks ago, the Harvesters have won their last three games to to put them in contention for the playoffs. Levelland clinhed the first-place spot last week.

"Our players have worked hard for this opportunity," Hale said. "They can really make it pay off with a victory tonight." If the Harvesters win tonight, they can claim second place outright with a victory at Levelland Friday night. Even with a loss tonight, the Harvesters would still have a playoff shot, depending upon how Canyon (8-6) does in its final two

Olympic hockey

By HOWARD ULMAN AP Sports Writer

CALGARY, Alberta — Once more, the powerful Soviets stand in the way of a U.S. Olympic hockey team. It might take another miracle for the Americans to win.

The last time they met in the Winter Games, six days short of eight years ago, a stunning upset sent the United States toward a gold medal at Lake Placid.

Any medal will do at Calgary. With a three-goal lead over Czechoslovakia and a chance to virtually assure itself of a berth in the medal round, the United States blew both in the final 27 minutes Monday night and lost 7-5. Now it must fight back into contention. The battle begins Wednesday night against the Soviet Union, a quick-skating, sharp-passing squad that picks apart aggressive teams like the United States, whose defensemen are offensive"They're the strongest team in the tournament," U.S. Coach Dave Peterson said after Monday night's loss.

The Soviet Union, seeded second, routed 11th-seeded Austria 8-1 Monday. Two days earlier, the seventh-seeded Americans also were dominating Austria. But in the final seven minutes they gave up three goals and won 10-6.

Austria assistant coach Bill Gilligan thinks the Soviets will win Wednesday night.

'Both teams played very well against us. The United States played a very physical game and the Soviet Union played a skating game," he said. "The United States is not without chances.

"If they don't get caught up ice too much and play with patience, they have a chance.'

That system worked for eighthseeded Poland Sunday when it nearly upset fourth-seeded Canada before falling 1-0. In today's games in the A pool, Poland meets Sweden, Canada takes on Switzerland and fifth-place Finland plays France, the 12th seed.

Boilermakers' defense too much for Iowa

By The Associated Press

Purdue kept the entire Iowa team away from the basket and won. Drake couldn't box out one Bradley player and blew its chance for an upset.

"We were going to make them beat us from the outside," Purdue Coach Gene Keady said after the second-ranked Boilermakers' 73-66 victory over the No. 13 Hawkeyes Iowa, fourth in the nation in field goal percentage, shot only 38.4.

Meanwhile, Bradley guard Hersey Hawkins tipped in Luke Jackson's missed free throw with two seconds remaining for the last of his 38 points, giving the No. 17th Braves an 85-83 Missouri Valley Conference victory over Drake.

Jackson had tied the game two seconds earlier when he made the front end of a one-and-one. His second toss bounced off the rim and Hawkins circled around Drake's Bart Frederick to grab the rebound and put the ball in.

"They didn't block me out," Hawkins said. "I was able to just sneak around and I was too tired to go into overtime. I thought I'd just put it up."

In other Top Twenty games, Charles Shackleford shook off a first-half ankle injury and scored 16 of his 20 points in the second half, leading No. 14 North Carolina State to a 99-77 victory over Maryland-Baltimore County while Charles Smith scored 17 of his 22 points in the second half as No. 18 Georgetown beat Villanova 56-54.

Troy Lewis scored 20 points and Purdue pulled away from Iowa in the first 10 minutes of the second half to maintain sole possession of first place in the Big Ten. Lewis hit five 3-point baskets. Jeff Moe led Iowa with 13 points.

Iowa Coach Tom Davis felt the officials, rather than Purdue's defense, were responsible for his team's poorest shooting night in his two seasons.

'The way the game was officiated, they allowed a lot of contact," said Davis, who was called for a rare technical foul in the first half. "Purdue is used to that and we're not. It was disruptive to our shots, but that's just the way it was called. I felt that caused our poor shooting percentage.

No. 17 Bradley 85, Drake 83

Hawkins, who entered the game with a scoring average of 34.3 points, made 17 of 28 shots as Bradley upped its record to 17-4 overall and 7-2 in the MVC. Drake led the entire first half and Bradley didn't take its first lead until Donald Powell's dunk four minutes into the second half.

The Braves trailed 83-82 with 27 seconds remaining but Drake's Johnny Woodson lost the ball out of bounds to give Bradley possession. After a timeout, Anthony Manuel missed a jump shot with six seconds remaining and Jackson was fouled in a scramble for the rebound. No. 18 Georgetown 56, Villanova 54

At Landover, Md., Charles Smith scored 17 of his 22 points in the second half as Georgetown posted its third straight Big East victory. Smith, who had three personal fouls in the first 11 minutes, scored 13 points in a 16-10 run that enabled Georgetown to take a 43-37 lead with 8:22 remaining After the Wildcats cut the margin to 45-

43, Smith's driving layup ignited a 9-4 surge that gave the Hoyas a 54-47 advantage with 40 seconds left. Villanova scored five straight points to cut the gap to 54-52 but Smith sealed the victory with two free throws with seven seconds to play. No. 14 N.C. State 99, Md.-Baltimore 77

At Raleigh; N.C., Charles Shackleford shook off a first-half ankle injury and scored 16 of his 20 points in the second half.

Bret Harnett (top) of Las Vegas, Nev. delivers a hard smash to Mike Ray of Tennessee in the semi-finals of the Pampa Pro-Am Racquetball Tournament last weekend at the youth center. Harnett, who is the No. one ranked player in the nation, defeated the seventh-ranked Ray 5-11, 9-11, 11-7, 11-3 and 11-2. Harnett advanced to defeat Rueben Gonzales of New York 11-6, 11-6, 3-11 and 11-9 in the finals. Proceeds from the tournament went to benefit the Polio Plus fund and the construction of a park for the handicapped in Pampa.

Americans lag behind in Winter Olympics

By STEVE WILSTEIN AP Sports Writer

CALGARY, Alberta — U.S. athletes say it's too early to count them out of the quest for Olympic gold, as one of their top officials suggests, but trouble's brewing after three days without even coming close to a bronze.

Instead of medals and celebrations, there's bickering, excuses and promises.

So far, the hills and rinks of the Winter Games belong to European athletes. Swiss downhill racer Pirmin Zurbriggen carved a giant Z into the twisting slope of Mount Allan on Monday, and the sturdy Soviet crosscountry skiers pushed their team's medal total to a high of five.

The East Germans, showing a passion for speed, added Jens Mueller's luge gold to a speed skating world record and gold the day before and tied Switzerland, Finland and Czechoslovakia with two medals each. U.S. fortunes seemed about to change in the evening, in stunning fashion, when the seventh-seeded American hockey team riddled No. 3 Czechoslovakia for a 3-0 lead early in the first period. When it reached 4-1 in the second period, the first chants of "U-S-A" rumbled through the Saddledome, only to be answered a moment later by a Czech goal, the first of a barrage capped by a short-handed goal and a rink-length slapshot into an empty net for a 7-5 Czech victory.

"Heartbreaking, no. Disappointing, yes," said U.S. Coach Dave Peterson. "We're big boys. We're not going to fold our tents and go home. It's not crushing. It's a defeat. The world won't end because we lost a hockey game.

The chances of a U.S. hockey medal, however, certainly dimmed. The Americans, 1-1, next play the No. 2 Soviets, who crushed Austria 8-1, and will be hard-pressed to survive into the six-team medal round.

Peterson blamed the loss, in part, on officiating, saying it "was just lousy." But that excuse hardly explained why the American squad seemed worn out in the second period and suddenly shy about going for the puck.

The poor start of the American delegation overall was "not unanticipated," said Baaron Pittenger, the second-highest ranking U.S. Olympic official. Indeed, he added pessimistically, "I think it is possible, although I hope it doesn't occur, that we won't win a gold medal."

Don't tell that to the U.S. athletes. They're not buying Pittenger's early write-off.

Figure skater Brian Boitano, for one, is ready to go for the gold with a newfound purpose since arriving in the Olympic Village. "I used to feel I was skating just for myself," the four-time U.S. champ from Sunnyvale, Calif., said. "It was just for Brian Boitano. But since coming here, I feel like going out there to skate for the Americans, too.' There are no quitters here

"We're gonna go out and kill them," said pairs skater Todd Waggoner, who could team with Gillian Wachsman to give the United States its first medal tonight. They're fourth after the short program, behind Americans Jill Watson and Peter Oppegard in third and two Soviet teams, but Waggoner isn't conceding anything.

Neither are figure skater Debi Thomas and speed skaters Bonnie Blair and Nick Thometz, all of whom have good shots at a gold.

But the losing is taking its toll with ill feelings that began brewing before it came here.

Dissension destroyed much of the team spirit among the men's speed skaters, and now the coach says it's hurting performances. The death of Dan Jansen's sister and his poignant defeat helped bring the squad together and briefly assuage some of the problems, but they're far from over.

Coach Mike Crowe acknowledged that his team may have lost confidence in him after bitter disputes over selection of skaters.

"It seems that way right now," Crowe said. "It disturbs me. ... It definitely has affected performances of people involved."

There are never problems, though, for win-

The turns and drops and jarring ruts of 7,447-foot Mount Allan, a runt in the Rockies dwarfed by taller peaks nearby, proved too tough for most of the cocky downhillers but not Zurbriggen.

The 25-year-old Swiss with the ever-sunny smile tamed that pernicious slope with a time of 1 minute, 59.63 seconds, the only one under 2 minutes, and listened politely as his fans talked of him winning an unprecedented five gold medals in Alpine events.

"Now I have won a gold, I am more relaxed," he said. "The others will be a little more nervous than me.

Winning five golds, though, would be "very difficult," he said. "The conditions would have to be just right every time.

And beyond conditions, there stands Italy's Alberto Tomba, the hard-charging, almost reckless favorite in the slalom, giant slalom and new super giant slalom. Only two other Alpine skiers, Toni Sailer of Austria in 1956 and Jean-Claude Killy of France in 1968, won even three golds - the downhill, slalom and giant slalom. Zurbriggen has a shot at those, plus two new eventsthe super giant slalom and the combined slalom and downhill starting today

Peter Mueller, the old man of Swiss skiing at the otherwise youthful age of 30, sought a gold to top off his fine career. He put the first tracks of the day on the course and sped through in 2:00.14.

Twelve skiers followed, trying to beat him, and all failed. Then came Zurbriggen.

"I was really nervous because Peter had done so well," Zurbriggen said. "I didn't want to hear the times before my start. Unfortunately, I heard on the radio that Peter had clocked a fantastic time. I knew I couldn't afford any mistakes. I pushed hard. I had a slight problem in the first turn, but I skied better and better.'

Franck Piccard of France came down immediately after Zurbriggen to claim the bronze in 2:01.24.

WHEELER-FOLLETT Being on a roll is nothing new for Wheeler (see Mustangs football, 1987).

The Wheeler Lady Mustangs, perhaps a bit overshadowed by the success of the boys football championship, are quietly going about their business, beating opponents right and left.

The Lady 'Stangs are 22-5 and just last week completed a perfect 10-0 district record.

Tonight, they hope to see the good times continue as they face the Follett Lady Panthers in bidistrict playoff action.

Follett finished the season at 15-7, runners-up in District 3-1A. The two teams tip off in Perryton tonight at 7 o'clock.

"If we play well, we're able to play with anybody," Lady Mustang head coach Jan Newland said. "At this stage, though, you have to be able to play well because anybody can win on a given night.'

Newland's crew will have to watch closely for the outside shooting threat posed by Follett's Tracy Tyson and Shelli Redelsperger.

The Lady Mustangs hope to counter with DeAnn Collins, who averaged 17 points per game throughout the regular season.

Wheeler will also look to Marcy Smith (11 ppg), Dee Dee Dorman (9 ppg), Bobbie Kuehler (7 ppg) and Tera Henderson (6 ppg).

The winner of the Wheeler-Follett game will next face the winner of the Sunray-Claude matchup in Class A area action this weekend.

PAMPA — It was like the Super

You remember this year's Super Bowl, when in the first quarter. John Elway looked as if he would have no trouble guiding the Denver Broncos to an easy win over Washington.

But then came the second quarter and the Redskins' onslaught. That was the way it was Monday night at Clifton McNeely fieldhouse as the McLean Lady Tigers were defeated 46-35 by the Vega Lady Longhorns in bidistrict playoff action.

The Lady Tigers were ahead, and seemingly in control, 10-6, when the first quarter ended. The momentum was nowhere to be found on the Vega bench. After regrouping, Vega head coach Don Drinnon sent out what looked to be an entirely different squad in the second quarter. It was a quarter that altogether squashed any hopes McLean would have.

And, again, it was a fierce press by Vega that led to the Lady Tigers' demise.

The Horns' defensive pressure forced 13 McLean turnovers in the second quarter.

The Lady Tigers committed seven personal fouls during the eight-minute span before the half; Vega proceeded to connect on 8-of-13 from the line, outscoring McLean 20-8 in the second.

Junior Brandy Richardson led the Lady Longhorn effort. Ten of her 22 points came in the second frame. She also scored 12 straight to open the game.

McLean fought and clawed its way back and trailed by only four, 34-30, at the beginning of the fourth quarter. It would never be any closer, though, as the Lady Longhorns again combined timely baskets with a tough defense, outscoring McLean 12-7 in the

"We didn't shoot the ball as well as we should have," McLean head coach Bill Wilson said. "We planned to beat 'em 50-45. We held them, but we couldn't score The game was even better than the score shows. We made 'em pull out everything and slow down the tempo at the end."

The Lady Tigers had two in double figures - Shandee Rice had 14; Kim Beaver, 10.

McLean's Darla McAnear, playing a tough fought game, fouled out with 6:38 remaining; she racked up her first four fouls with just under three minutes left in the first half. Field goals did not come easy for either team. McLean hit only 12-of-44 (28 percent); Vega connected on just 18 of 52 (35 percent). The difference came from the Vega defense and the 63 percent free throw shooting for the Lady Longhorns. Because of those two factors, Vega will next meet the winner of tonight's Kelton-Higgins game in area 1A action this weekend. For McLean, it was a year of success cut short by a fiesty first round playoff opponent. The Lady Tigers, who finished with a 12-12 mark in the '86-'87 campaign, close out this season at 19-

Rangers' Parrish to have surgery ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) -

Larry Parrish will undergo arthroscopic surgery on his knee Thursday, but is expected to be ready for the start of the season, the club said Monday.

Parrish, who set a Rangers' record last season with 32 home runs, felt pain in his right knee while jogging last week near his home in Haines City, Fla.

He was examined Monday by Dr. Dan Kanell in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Kanell said Parrish suffered a torn lateral miniscus cartilage.

Kanell said Parrish would be sidelined for about three weeks and should be ready to play by the middle of March.

"We're not concerned right now," Rangers general manager Tom Grieve said. "If it is what the doctor expects, it just means he's going to miss the marathon sessions (of spring training) and be ready to tune up the final three

Syracuse signal caller claims O'Brien Award FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) -

Syracuse quarterback Don McPherson joked that his only preference for playing professional football is "to play in this country" as he added the Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award to his bevy of plaudits and prizes.

At a black-tie banquet Monday night, McPherson called the award a "great honor" and said his status as the first black to be honored by the O'Brien committee "is a significant step in a lot of people's minds.

But, he said, it will not erase the slowly changing stereotype that black quarterbacks operate best, and win most frequently, out of an option offense similar to that at Oklahoma.

"This hasn't settled the issue of black quarterbacks," McPherson said. "That won't be settled until people say (Washington Redskins quarterback) Doug Williams is a great quarterback period. Not that he's a great quarterback who happens to be black.

""There's really nothing unique about Doug Williams or Don McPherson as quarterbacks other than the fact we happen to be black. And that has nothing to do with our performance.

McPherson is the seventh recipient of the O'Brien award since the competition was revised in 1981 to honor the nation's outstanding quarterback. Jim McMahon of Brigham Young was the first winner and Vinny Testaverde of Miami was last year's

Named in honor of the late quarterback and Heisman Trophy winner from Texas Christian University, the award is presented annually by the Davey O'Brien Educational and Charitable Trust. McPherson said he has no idea where he'll go in the NFL draft, noting that some have said a quarterback is not likely to be picked in the first round. "I have absolutely no preference where I play next year," he said, adding, "I would like to play in this country. McPherson said the most important event of the year was the performance of his Syracuse football team. The Orangemen achieved a record of 11-0-1, with a 16-16 tie at the Sugar Bowl with that tie," he said. Mike Ditka, Chicago Bears coach, who was the main speaker Monday night, congratulated McPherson and described his ideal NFL quaterback.

"He has good mobility, a good arm and a good head on his shoulders. He has the ability to get out of the pocket. He knows what's going on in life, and he's going to be all right," Ditka said.

With 2,341 passing yards, 22 touchdowns and a 56.3 completion percentage, McPherson led the nation in pasing efficiency, yards per attempt and touchdown percentage. He also led Syracuse to a No. 4 ranking.
