Meany told congressional hearings that unless prices leveled off, labor would demand large wage increases this year. Stein has been forecasting an improvement in the price picture later in the year.

EPA Grants Delay On Auto Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus today granted a one-year extension of the 1975 antipollution standards for automobiles, but established interim standards requiring some use of new antipollution devices.

Ruckelshaus set interim standards which, he said, would require the use of "catalytic converters" on all domestic automobiles sold in California in 1975.

In Detroit, General Motors said it was "disappointed and dismayed" by the ruling. While the 1975 standards, as originally established, have been delayed for a year, the interim standards will be most difficult to attain and may well require the use of catalytic converters nationally.

GM board chairman Richard Gerstenberg said in a statement. He said the company intended to study the decision and "determine the best course of action from the standpoint of the consumer and the environment."

There was no immediate comment on the ruling from the other major auto manufacturers, who last year asked for a one-year extension.

The United Auto Workers this week joined in the plea, saying the union feared for the health of the auto industry.

Ruckelshaus said he believed that the "oxidation catalyst" antipollution device on which the U.S. auto industry has been working—could do the job and must be used if the legal requirement for a 90 per cent reduction of auto emissions is to be achieved. He said the purpose of his interim standards was to "phase in" the use of catalysts.

The 90 per cent emission reduction, originally scheduled for 1975-model cars, now must be achieved by the 1976 models. The present law permits no further extension.

The original standards would have limited hydrocarbon emissions to 0.41 grams per mile compared with the 3.0 grams permitted in 1974.

Instead, Ruckelshaus has now set the 1975 standard at 1.5 grams, exactly half the 1974 level, and he set a separate standard of 0.9 grams per mile for California in 1975.

The original standard for carbon monoxide would have been 3.4 grams per mile in 1975, compared with 28.0 grams in 1974.

The interim standard, instead, will be 15 grams in 1975.

nationwide and 9.0 grams in California. The interim standards are somewhat tougher than those proposed, in general, by auto companies who sought the one-year delay.

In making the announcement, Ruckelshaus said, "this is a terribly complex and important decision that involves the whole mix of our nation's struggle for a cleaner environment."

Under a 1970 law, emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon had to be reduced 90 per cent in 1975-model cars. A 90 per cent reduction of nitrogen oxide emissions was required for 1976 models.

Expressed as grams per mile, federal standards permit emissions of 38 grams of carbon monoxide from 1974 cars; 3.4 of hydrocarbons, and 3.1 of nitrogen oxides.

The original 1975 standards required that carbon monoxide emissions be reduced to only 3.4 grams per mile and hydrocarbons to 0.41.

Students Riot In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Security forces in armored cars, on foot and wielding batons dispersed 500 demonstrating students trying to reach the American Embassy today to protest Israel's surprise raid on Lebanon.

The shouting, clapping students, who had been marching in the streets since early morning, scattered into side streets to regroup. Other students marched elsewhere in the troubled city.

Equipped with rifles, several students led a demonstration in chanting "Down with Imperialism" and "There is No Difference Between Israel and the United States."

Extra security forces were moved up to the embassy in the wake of the Israeli attack. Demonstrators who tried to reach it Tuesday also were turned back.

Premier Saeb Salam, who signed Tuesday night, cautioned the Lebanese and Palestinians against "exploiting funerals to stir up violence."

Public funerals are planned Thursday for the three Palestinian leaders slain in their apartments by the Israeli commandos early Tuesday.

Informed sources said President Suleiman Franji has decided to accept Salam's resignation.

The United States meanwhile denied charges by the Arab guerrillas that it had a hand in the raid.

Salam, who has been premier since October 1970, submitted his resignation after a special cabinet meeting Tuesday. He said he was quitting in the higher interest of Lebanon.

There was speculation that Salam was dissatisfied with the failure of the army and the police to crush the Israeli invaders. Most local newspapers said he had asked for the resignation of a prominent official, believed to be the commander of the army, Maj. Gen. Iskandar Ghannem.

But Franji was said to have cautioned against premature action. The Palestine Liberation Organization charged that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency helped carry out the Israeli attack in which three Arab guerrilla leaders were killed, and that the U.S. Embassy in Beirut gave refuge to some of the Israeli raiders.

"That allegation is utterly without foundation," said State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray in Washington.

"It is mischievous and it has been denied categorically by our Embassy in Beirut."

The hitch in a meeting scheduled last Saturday morning with Leonard Garment, a presidential adviser, developed when Garment insisted that the In-

Briscoe Approves Open Meeting Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed a bill that would send public officials—including legislators—to jail for taking part in closed meetings.

"This will be extremely effective in helping government to be completely open and responsible to the people of this state," Briscoe said when a television newsman asked if he would like to make a statement about the bill.

The governor was surrounded after a news conference by reporters who drew these remarks from him about pending legislation.

"He would not make any comment or decision about whether to sign a bill removing prison or jail sentences for marijuana possession "until the bill reaches my desk. I would want to consider the entire legislation."

Gov. Bill Hobby and others have recommended only a fine for possession. Briscoe's bill provides a possible jail sentence (misdeemeanor) for first offense and a prison term (felony) for a second conviction.

"It is essential that the appropriation for the Texas Industrial Commission—removed from the state budget bill under study by the House—be restored."

"I feel the commission has done an extremely effective job of creating new job opportunities and better job opportunities."

"His opposition to creation of a special commission to police lobbyists, legislative ethics and a campaign finance practices remains unchanged."

"I have made it clear that the judicial system is where enforcement should be placed."

The open meetings law takes effect Jan. 1, 1974.

An open meetings requirement has been in the law since 1967, but there have been few attempts to enforce it, partly because it lacked a workable definition of "meeting."

The new law defines meeting as any deliberation between a majority of the members of a governmental body at which public business over which that body has control is discussed or considered. Social gatherings, however, are exempt.

For the first time, the law applies to the legislature and its committees. Senators may still hold closed door sessions to discuss gubernatorial appointees, but everything else must be open.

Nixon Praises Efforts Of Supporters Of Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon says America's consumers and taxpayers will be eventual winners because of veto-sustaining victories in Congress by what he calls his courageous though outnumbered supporters.

The Constitution's demand of a two-thirds majority for a congressional override of a presidential veto enabled Nixon to post a 51-vote victory Tuesday in the year's first test of House willingness to force him to spend money appropriated by Congress.

Ahead lie further tests which will demand from us the same measure of courage and cooperation," Nixon said after his veto of a $120-million rural water- and sewer-grant bill was sustained.

It was his second veto victory of the year. The Senate last week sustained his rejection of a bill authorizing a $2.6-billion program for rehabilitating the handicapped.

The President thanked those who upheld him on these bills. The House, he said, demonstrated it has courage to take a firm stand in favor of consumers and taxpayers. Congress, he said, should stay the course with me in keeping a tight rein on the federal budget.

While this does not in itself point to the likelihood of any major new offensive in the short term," Richardson said, "nevertheless, the process by which this has been going on has been in violation of the cease-fire agreement."

Thus, the North Vietnamese supply shipments have been continuing without letup despite President Nixon's warnings first uttered in March and twice repeated since then.

South Vietnamese military authorities have told American officials the North Vietnamese will have been resupplied and equipped sufficiently to launch major attacks this month in the two vulnerable provinces just below the demilitarized zone.

Regardless of differing estimates as to when a North Vietnamese offensive might come, there is general agreement that Hanoi is preparing for extensive military operations in South Vietnam, where the war was supposed to have ended through the cease-fire Jan. 27.

Applications Ready For Tax Exemption

Property owners in Gray County who are 65 years of age and older may make application for the homestead exemption voted in the general election last November.

Applications should be made at the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Back. Applicants must bring with them some legal proof of their age.

Gray County Judge Don Cain said he has received a written opinion from the state attorney general and has passed that information on to back.

"Therefore, any questions in the mind of prospective applicants should be taken to Back."

This is an additional homestead exemption.

This set the scene for Tuesday's clash, with Speaker Carl Albert telling the House it was dealing "in a sense with the basic constitutional system of this nation (and) with the authority of the Congress of the United States to make the laws of the land."

Nixon won that showdown with the help of 161 Republicans and 28 Democrats. There were 200 Democrats and 25 Republicans favoring the override, but the 225-189 vote fell 51 short of the two-thirds majority.

The Senate originally approved the rehabilitation bill 86 to 2 when just a simple majority was needed but Nixon emerged a four-vote victor in the 60-36 veto decision.

Nixon killed the rural water-sewer program in January, but the House voted 297 to 54 last month to require him to spend $120 million for it in the year ending June 30 and up to $330 million annually in the coming years. Nixon vetoed this last Thursday, saying the program "has attained a distinct flavor of pork barrel."

Hanoi Maintaining Infiltration Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent about 1,000 tons of artillery shells and other ammunition into northern provinces of South Vietnam last week, U.S. intelligence sources report.

Meanwhile, an estimated 700 North Vietnamese trucks were said to have rolled down the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos during the same period.

Most of this material also is expected to end up in South Vietnam, the sources said.

FOR BUTZ' DISMISSAL Price Denounces Labor's Request

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa today termed Labor's request for the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz unwarranted.

Price said, "One would think that the resignation of Secretary Butz would bring to an end the cost of living problems Secretary Butz with his broad background in domestic affairs and natural resources is now more than Secretary of Agriculture—he is a counselor to the President and his knowledge of agriculture and agriculture's relationship to the nation's economy is vital to the Administration's success in controlling our economic problems."

Secretary Butz, Price stated, in his defense of the economic position occupied by agriculture and agri-business has done no more than parallel George Meany's defense of the economic position now occupied by organized labor.

The Pampa congressman went on to say "The cost of living has indeed increased. Today's cost of housing, transportation, clothing, medical services and interest have all increased annually for a number of years."

"This increase seems to have been taken in stride along with an increase in manufactured products and in wages. It was taken in stride because the percentage rate of increase has been gradual."

"On the other hand, the cost of food products has taken an increase over a relatively short period of time. This to some degree appears to be why so many of our housewives have taken issue with the cost of feeding their families. The housewife shops for groceries each week and is keenly aware of the increase in the cost of food," he continued.

"The increase in the cost of feeding a family has been no more than the increase in the cost of the other necessities of life. I think it is impossible to lay the blame for the increase in the cost of living at the feet of any one segment of our business world."

"I hope in the weeks ahead that each and every consumer will take time to objectively study the over-all situation relating to the cost of living. I would also urge every individual to weigh both sides before taking part of any action which would or might cripple the economy and possibly bring ruin to one of this Nation's leading industries." Price concluded.

US Flies Oil, Gas

PHNOM Penh, Cambodia (AP) — The U.S. Air Force is flying gas and oil into Cambodia's capital to ease a shortage that has been talked about a lot more than it has been felt.

The Americans have been flying in 20 plane-loads of weapons and ammunition a week for two months, but the fuel airlift began Tuesday with the arrival of a huge plastic bladder of motor fuel filling the cargo hold of a C-130 Hercules.

U.S. officials wouldn't say how much fuel, gasoline and kerosene would be flown in, but the Pentagon said it would not be a "major" airlift.

Phnom Penh's fuel routes—by road from the south coast and up the Mekong River from Saigon—have been cut by the Communists most of the time since January. Fige tankers made it up the river Sunday and Monday, but Communist gunners still hold long stretches along the waterway.

The government has been rationing motorists to three gallons of gas per purchase, but the number of filling stations that can be visited in succession is limited only by the capacity of the tank.

Kerosene for cooking also is rationed, and some Cambodians have switched back to charcoal and wood the fuels they once used.

The Communists are all around Phnom Penh, and many foreign observers think the only reason they haven't taken the city is because they don't want it. But Phnom Penh shows none of the faces of a besieged city.

Royal's Daughter Dies At Hospital

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Marion Kazen, 37, daughter of University of Texas athletic director and Mrs. Darrell Royal, died today at 9:10 a.m.

Mrs. Kazen had been hospitalized and in a coma from head injuries since the small car she was driving and a passenger bus collided on March 22.

She had been listed as in serious condition most of the time but her condition changed to critical Tuesday night, the hospital said.

Two of her children, David, 3 and Christian, 5, were in the car with her and suffered minor injuries but had been discharged from the hospital.

Mrs. Kazen's former husband is the son of Rep. Abraham Kazen Jr., D-Tex., of Laredo.

County Court Sets Dates For Cases

Arraignments in criminal cases in County Court have been set by Judge Don Cain, ten cases each having been set for April 23, 24, 25 and 30 and May 7, 8 and 9.

"Call of the Docket" has been set for 10 a.m. May 7 to set cases for trial by jury beginning May 22.

All motions in cases set for jury trial will be heard by the court at 10 a.m. May 21.

Indians Suggest Peace Proposal

WOUNDED KNEE, S. D. (AP) — The government faces a new seven-point proposal to end the 43-day occupation of Wounded Knee, a key element of the proposal was said to have been suggested to the Indians by a medicine man in vision.

American Indian Movement (AIM) leaders said the seven-point reply to the government's latest disarmament demands was presented Monday night and discussed again late Tuesday night.

Ass't U.S. Atty Gen Stanley Pottinger said AIM leaders demanded the government demands.

Meanwhile, at a news conference Tuesday in New York, AIM leader Russell Means said he intended, after an aborted meeting with officials in Washington, to return to Wounded Knee and "secure our borders."

The hitch in a meeting scheduled last Saturday morning with Leonard Garment, a presidential adviser, developed when Garment insisted that the Indians first surrender their arms.

Pottinger said the Indian counterproposal, listed these points:

—Traditional Oglala Sioux chiefs and headmen shall be allowed immediate access to and from Wounded Knee.

—Two 11-ton truck loads of food shall be allowed into the village immediately, with necessary medical supplies and fuel, and telephone communications shall not be interrupted.

—Armored personnel carriers, bunkers and federal personnel surrounding the village shall be moved back to their original perimeters.

—All weapons, ammunition and explosives inside the village shall be played in a tepee near the AIM security building with a sacred peace pipe guarding the entrance.

—Community Relations Service personnel of the Justice Department and AIM representatives shall monitor the completion of the above points.

Cow Chips Could Be A 'Gas'

By GODFREY ANDERSON Associated Press writer DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There may be gold in them there cow chips.

Cattle manure can be converted into pipeline gas by reacting the dried manure with hydrogen to form methane and ethane, the major constituents of natural gas.

At least that's what the chemists say. Herman Feldmann, of the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh told delegates to the 165th national meeting of the American Chemical Society all about it. Only he calls it "hydrogasification of cattle manure to pipeline gas."

Feldmann says the Bureau of Mines is developing technology to convert solid wastes to clean energy processes. If an economic way can be found of doing this, he contends, the solid waste disposal problem could be solved and the clean energy shortage alleviated.

Which brings us back to cattle manure. "An attractive feed stock for a synthetic natural gas plant" is what Feldmann calls it. For example:

—Cattle manure is abundant and the size and concentration of feed lots simplify its collection in the amounts required for reasonably sized gas plants.

—It requires no preparation, apart from partial drying. The cow has taken care of the necessary shredding and grinding.

—The areas with the highest concentration of cattle-feed are located in areas of high natural gas production, so gas transmission lines are usually available.

is easily converted to a gas having a greater heating value than could be gotten by converting coal or naphtha.

"So how's it done?" Feldmann says the reaction occurs at around 1,000 degrees and at a pressure of around 1,000 psig—which, of course, means pounds per square inch gauge—thus allowing the gas produced to be injected into gas transmission lines without recompression.

Approximately 40 per cent of the carbon in the manure is converted with the hydrogen. The remaining portion of the carbon is used for the production of hydrogen, so that the only residue remaining after converting the manure to pipeline gas is the sterile inorganic ash.

Which should help keep the feed lot clean.

National Book Awards Given, Tie In Fiction

NEW YORK (AP)—National Book Award judges have named dual winners in the fiction and history categories for the first time in the 24-year history of the literary prizes.

Sharing the fiction prize were "Chimera," by John Barth, and "Augustus," by John Williams. Barth and Williams are professors of English.

The history prize was split between "The Children of Pride: A True Story of Georgia and the Civil War," by Robert Myers, and "Judgment: The Jewish Councils in Eastern Europe Under Nazi Occupation," by Isaiah Trunk.

The National Book Committee announced the awards—considered the book world's equivalent of movie Oscars—in 10 categories at a news conference on Tuesday. Each award is worth $1,000.

Other winners chosen from 109 nominees were: Contemporary Affairs—"Fire in the Lake," by Frances Fitzgerald; Arts and Letters—"Diderot," by Arthur M. Wilson.

Biography—"Anguish and Farewell (1793-1799)," by James Thomas Flexner; Science—"The Serengeti Lion: A Study of Predator-Prey Relations," by George S. Schaller.

Poetry—"Collected Poems: 1951-1971," by A. R. Ammons; Philosophy and Religion—"A Religious History of the American People," by Sidney E. Ahlstrom.

Children's Books—"The Farthest Shore," by Ursula K. LeGuin; Translation—"The Aeneid of Virgil," translated by Allen Mandelbaum.

ney general ruled that a skeleton recently unearthed was "with certainty" the remains of Hitler's long missing deputy.

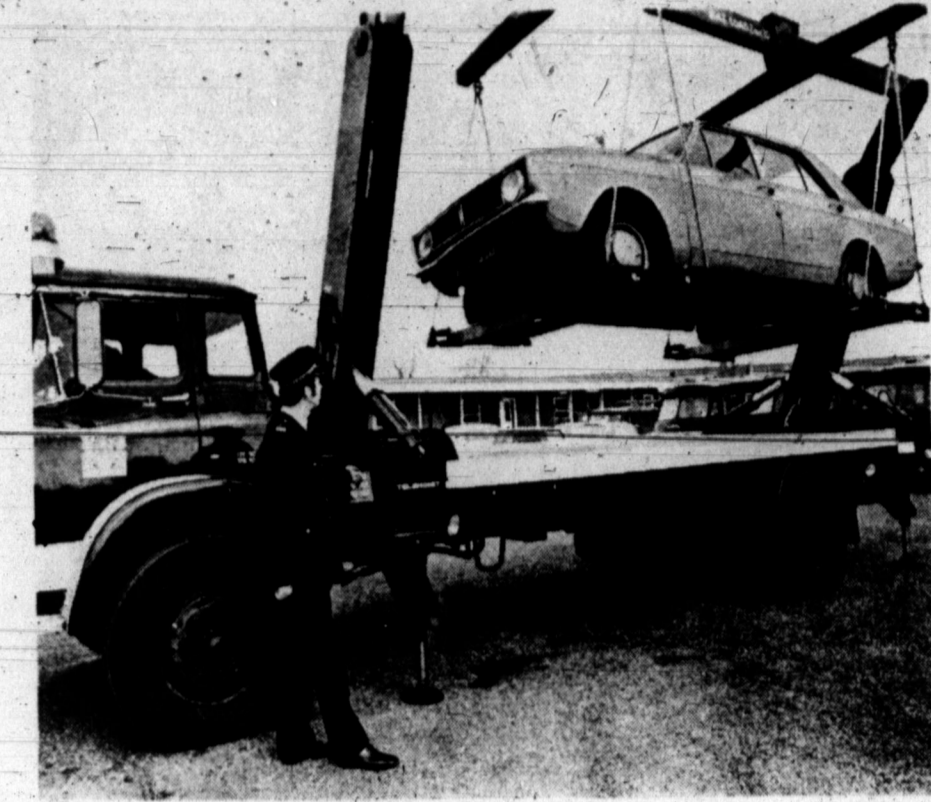

Martin Bormann died on May 2, 1945, between 1 and 3 a. m. on the Invalidenstrasse railroad bridge in Berlin, a short time after his accomplice Adolf Hitler. Attorney General Horst Gauß said.

He ordered that the 28-year search for Bormann be terminated and the warrant for his arrest lifted.

Gauß told a news conference that if anyone is arrested on suspicion that he is Bormann, "we will be dealing with an innocent man."

Gauß and investigator Joachim Richter based their conclusion on:

1. A comparison of the skeleton's teeth with an old sketch from Bormann's dentist.
2. Skull and bone measurements.
3. The discovery of mended fractures in an arm and collarbone, fractures such as Bormann had suffered.
4. Reconstruction of Bormann's face on the basis of the skull of the skeleton.
5. Discovery of glass splinters from a capsule like those used by leading Nazis to commit suicide by cyanide poisoning.

IN SPEAKER'S RACE

'Promising Favors' Bill Awaits Action In House

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Don Adams needed a nod from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby today to move on a bill outlawing the alleged practice of promising favors in return for a legislator's vote for House speaker.

The Senate scheduled a 10:30 a. m. session, and the House opening was set for 1 p. m. Adams, a Jasper Democrat, gave notice he would ask the Senate to vote today on the legislative bribery bill, one of nine so-called reform measures proposed by Speaker Price Daniel Jr. But Hobby must first recognize him for a motion.

The bill prohibits a speaker candidate or his supporters from promising committee assignments in return for votes in the speaker's race, which is decided the first day of the legislative session.

Violators could be sent to prison for as long as five years.

Tuesday, the Senate approved, 21-9, and sent to the House a bill to require all women under 50, who have not been sterilized, to take a pre-marriage test to see what chance they have to catch German measles.

There was an epidemic of German measles in 1964-65, which resulted in the birth of 346 children in Texas who were either deaf, deaf and blind or mentally retarded. Texas led the nation in the number of cases in 1970 and was second to California in 1971.

The House was expected to approve Senate amendments today to a bill which would add $2,500 in personal injury benefits to every Texas auto liability policy, unless the policy buyer rejected the additional coverage in writing.

Adams also a sponsor of that bill, claimed the "ultimate effect" would be "to reduce rates," but critics say it will raise premiums.

The Rhode Island Democrat predicted there would be little support for the new administration measure but promised his panel would give it a fair hearing.

Pell's alternative package would include these features:

- A four-year extension of present major federal aid programs including the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and aid for areas with concentrations of federal employees.
- But he said these might well be revised as the subcommittee works on the bill.

A new general aid program of $100 paid to school districts for each child enrolled in a school, plus $25 per child for those whose family income is less than $4,000, roughly the poverty level for a family of four. This would not start until 1976.

Federal payments of up to 10 per cent of a state's aid-to-education program if the state adopts plans to equalize education expenditures among school districts. This would begin in 1977.

A sharp reduction in the level of authorizations for federal jobs for youth.

The money will go for summer jobs for the young and public service jobs for the unemployed, Fowler said. He said about $8 million is earmarked for the youth jobs.

The money was from a nationwide federal grant of $803 million from the Labor Department for its Public Employment Program through June 30, 1974.

AS LABOR SECRETARY

Former Union Leader Finding Position Rough

WASHINGTON (AP)—In office less than three months, Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan is finding it tough for a union man to serve in the Nixon Cabinet and keep his former labor associates happy.

Brennan ran into trouble Tuesday following his first appearance to discuss legislation at a congressional hearing, presenting the administration's proposals for increasing the minimum wage. Labor leaders accused him of selling out to the White House.

"We are not surprised at the administration's position," snapped AFL-CIO President

George Meany. "We are agast, however, that Brennan has so completely abandoned the trade-union principles he espoused for all of his life before coming to Washington."

President Nixon tapped Brennan, a Democrat and "hardhat" leader of New York building-trade unions for the past 15 years, to be his labor secretary last November. The union leader supported Nixon's re-election.

At the time, most labor leaders praised Brennan's choice of Brennan, the first trade-union official appointed to the labor post since President Eisenhower picked Martin Durkin, president of the Plumber's Union, in 1953. Meany hailed Brennan as "a very good choice. He'll make a very fine secretary of labor."

Meany's stinging criticism followed Brennan's testimony before the House Labor subcommittee in which he proposed that the minimum wage be increased from $1.60 an hour to $2.30 over a three-year period. Included was a request for a lower wage for teen-age workers, something Brennan opposed in his confirmation hearings.

"I don't consider this your proposal," said subcommittee Chairman John H. Dent, D-Pa., "but that of an administration that shows little concern for those who need it most."

Brennan explained later at a meeting of the national meatcutters union that the proposal is a compromise effort by the administration to get a minimum-wage-increase bill passed this year.

The youth-differential issue blocked an increase last year when the House approved a bill containing one and the Senate passed a bill without it. Efforts at a compromise failed.

In a rambling, often-defensive speech to the labor secretaries, the labor secretary indicated that while he did not approve of the administration's position on the issue he had to go along.

Brennan said he took the job to bring the voice of labor into the Cabinet.

"But when you get on a team you have to play with the team," he said, quickly adding that "it doesn't mean you have to double-cross your friends."

IN NEW PLAN

Senator Proposes Public School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Claiborne Pell today proposed a new federal aid plan for the nation's public schools as an alternative to President Nixon's special revenue sharing for education.

The plan suggested by Pell, chairman of the Senate education subcommittee, includes extension of two major aid programs: per-pupil grants to school districts; property tax rebates, and incentives to states that equalize expenditures among districts.

Pell said in a prepared Senate speech that the Nixon proposal "is simply a less attractive revenue-sharing bill we found so unattractive in the last Congress."

The Rhode Island Democrat predicted there would be little support for the new administration measure but promised his panel would give it a fair hearing.

Pell's alternative package would include these features:

- A four-year extension of present major federal aid programs including the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and aid for areas with concentrations of federal employees.
- But he said these might well be revised as the subcommittee works on the bill.

A new general aid program of $100 paid to school districts for each child enrolled in a school, plus $25 per child for those whose family income is less than $4,000, roughly the poverty level for a family of four. This would not start until 1976.

Federal payments of up to 10 per cent of a state's aid-to-education program if the state adopts plans to equalize education expenditures among school districts. This would begin in 1977.

A sharp reduction in the level of authorizations for federal jobs for youth.

The money will go for summer jobs for the young and public service jobs for the unemployed, Fowler said. He said about $8 million is earmarked for the youth jobs.

The money was from a nationwide federal grant of $803 million from the Labor Department for its Public Employment Program through June 30, 1974.

Opera Appearances Set In Dallas

These five are among the great voices of the world to be heard in Dallas when the Metropolitan Opera presents four operas at the new Music Hall at Fair Park, May 17, 18 and 19: "Carmen," with Marilyn Horne (upper left), and James McCracken; "Macbeth" with Grace Bumby, Sherrill Milnes (upper right), and Franco Corelli; "Tosca" with Elinor Ross (center), Sandor Konya and Tito Gobbi; and "Il Trovatore" with Hana Janku, Richard Tucker (lower right) and Robert Merrill (lower left).

A gala benefit performance of "Carmen" will open the spring tour, the first performance by the Metropolitan Opera in Dallas since the renovation of the Music Hall, and will be followed by "Macbeth" on May 18, and a matinee of "Tosca" on May 19, with an evening performance of "Il Trovatore," also on May 19.

Bizet's "Carmen," in a completely new staging, will star its original New York cast of Marilyn Horne, Adriana Maliponte, James McCracken and John Heardon. Verdi's "Macbeth" will have Grace Bumby, Sherrill Milnes, Franco Corelli and Ruggero Raimondi in leading roles.

Puccini's "Tosca" brings Elinor Ross, Sandor Konya, Tito Gobbi and Fernando Corena as stars. "Il Trovatore" marks the Dallas debut of Czechoslovakian soprano Hana Janku, and will have Irene Palis, Richard Tucker, Robert Merrill and James Morris in principal roles.

THE WORDS OF CHRIST

BY DAVID POLING

And when they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, Jesus was walking ahead of them, and they were amazed, and those who followed were afraid. He said, "Behold we are going up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man will be delivered to the chief priests and the scribes, and they will condemn him to death, and after three days he will rise."

Jesus was quite aware of the events which were about to unfold in Jerusalem. Through his faith, he was confident of the power of Another thought on this passage: it takes place "on the road." So many significant events take place on the highways of life. The scriptures are filled with such encounters, for here would God meet man, in the everyday happenings of existence. Christians need to consistently sharpen their senses, their awareness of the Spirit of God in the whole universe.

Thank You Very Much!
My sincere "Thank You" to all who supported me in the recent election.

Ideal To Promote Equal Billing Of Private Brand

LIBERAL, Kan. — Private brand merchandise is "getting out of the back seat" and moving up front with national brands at Ideal Food Stores as a result of a new merchandising policy announced by the chain.

Private brands are an important solution to the problem of reducing the shopper's grocery bill. Phillips added. More and more shoppers today are turning to private brands in the face of rising food costs.

Private brands are going to get billing and equal space with competing nationally advertised brands, said Steve Phillips, vice president and general manager of the 33-store chain which has three stores in Pampa.

"Our brands are equal to or better than the best national brands, and we so guarantee them," he said.

WORRY CLINIC

Tom wonders at the 5-year greater lifespan of kissing husbands! But there are at least 7 medical and psychological reasons to explain such longer life. Wives, order the booklet below, for it will bring you far more kisses!

CASE W-575: Tom B., aged 27, is an insurance salesman. "Dr. Crane," he began, "a recent report from the insurance companies of Germany has puzzled me. For it showed that a husband who kisses his wife each morning will outlive the non-kissing husband by at least 5 years! Since you are both a psychologist, as well as a physician, how do you explain that fact?"

likely to show that she serves, enticing cheesecake in their boudoir.

HAPPY AND HEALTHY

Here are a few of the reasons why such husbands live longer:

(1) Such a show of affection indicates a happy home life. And happiness actually makes your endocrine glands help ward off ailments.

You readers already are aware that tension, fear and anger, zoom blood pressure, thus leading to strokes and heart attacks.

They also aggravate your peptic ulcers.

And even seem to thwart many a wife's desire for a baby.

For after she finally adopts a youngster, and then relaxes happily in her inner-tense physiology, she often becomes pregnant!

(2) Happiness also gives you a better appetite for food.

Indeed, happy husbands often eat too much, which is why so many of us have a roll of excess upholstery around our equator!

(3) Happiness also promotes better digestion.

For when a person is angry, snarlish or fearful and tense, even his saliva output is less.

Same goes for his other digestive juices.

If you have suffered from stage fright, as at the time of your first speech or solo, or first chance to run out upon the playing field to join the varsity team, you will remember your dry throat and lack of an appetite in advance of your public performance.

(4) If a husband kisses his wife in the morning, that is

When you expect a headache, take a couple of aspirin; when you have a sore tooth, get it treated; when you have to make a painful discard, make it quickly and gracefully.

South decided to play dummy's deuce of spades at trick one. West might have led from jack-10. He also decided to take East's 10 with his queen and run his diamonds quickly.

East dropped the nine of hearts as his first discard and followed with two spades. West threw the deuce of hearts and the four of clubs without any signs of torment but his third discard presented a terrific problem. He finally solved it by chucking the seven of hearts.

South, who had jettisoned four clubs and a heart, played the five of hearts from dummy. East did the best he could by ducking and West was in. He cashed his three spades and then had to lead away from his king of clubs.

East and West discussed the possibility of beating the contract by West holding just two spades but agreed that the club end-play would have worked irrespective of which defender led the suit.

They were right about that and also about the fact that if West had ungarded his king of clubs defender could have played his ace and picked it up but that ungarding of the club king represented West's best chance. If he chucked his four and six of clubs and then the deuce of hearts South might have gone wrong. He didn't against the actual defense.

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

THURSDAY, APRIL 12

Your birthday today: Expect no dramatic successes or dramatic failures this year. Concentrate on finding spiritual enlightenment. Today's natives are nearly always confirmed optimists, ingenious at finding solutions to problems.

• Aries [March 21-April 19]: Cooperation, good will, hospitality come fluently but mean little in terms of real results. Offer no promises.

• Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Emotions are free; you have a chance to declare something long awaited. Romance beckons.

• Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Life flows swiftly. Enjoy what is available. No extra striving at the moment will bring immediate betterment.

• Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Most pressures ease off. Recoup your energy. Evening brings news, perhaps welcome visitors.

• Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Pushing on with the momentum of recent past could cause embarrassment. Pause for reflection and enjoyment.

• Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: All will go well on a low-pressure basis. You will not fret over inconsistent behavior or incomplete details.

• Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: If you hope to buy, or invest, this is the day for research and checking out facts. Spend a reasonable sum on entertainment, perhaps.

• Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Life should be enjoyable most of the time. Today may show you something on this subject. Relax, reflect, pray.

• Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: A sense of personal duty carries you thru a day of surprises. Many communications are vague—don't worry.

• Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Empathy switches from your resources and responsibilities for others' welfare to what is said in many words without deep meaning.

• Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Circumstances which lack any special pressure must consciously be taken in stride. Somebody lets slip a long-hidden secret.

• Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Routine, particularly household, tends to take more time than expected—it's just as well, as you see later.

Dear Abby

Daughter, 30, wants to know 'who's my dad?'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and reasonably well adjusted although I grew up without a father. My mother told me that a few months after she married my father he was killed in the war. It didn't take too much intelligence to figure out that if my father had really been killed in the war he would have been considered a hero in the eyes of his widow, and she'd have kept his memory alive with pictures, letters, and souvenirs to be shared with his family. It also seemed strange to me that I had never met one relative on my father's side.

I have concluded that I am illegitimate. Believe me, I love my mother and I am not judging her regardless of what the facts were, but I would like to know who my father was. Should I ask my mother?

CURIOS DAUGHTER

DEAR CURIOUS: You say you "love" your mother, and I'm sure you do. For 30 years you've given her no reason to suspect that you doubted her explanation. Leave it that way, dear.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 14-year-old daughter who is so boy crazy she worries me sick. All she thinks about is boys. She's got boys' names written all over her books. And every piece of paper by the telephone is marked up with initials and boys' names.

When the doorbell rings she runs like lightning to talk to any delivery boy it happens to be.

What really bothers me is she lies. I don't allow her to go in cars with boys so she walks to a girl's house and the boys meet her with a car there. I found this out by reading her diary. I asked her for the truth and she lied to cover up her lies. How can I get the truth out of her?
MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: The only reason children lie is because they haven't the courage to tell the truth. Give your daughter that courage by assuring her that no matter what she has done you will understand and forgive her. Perhaps your threats are too frightening and your punishments too severe. Give your child plenty of love and expect the best, and you'll rarely be disappointed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old single woman. I am reasonably happy and normal in every respect, and believe it or not, I am not desperate to get married. Nobody can believe this.

I have several relatives who are determined to find a husband for me. They have given my telephone number to dozens of men. From 25 years-old to 60! I've been called by widowers, bachelors, and men who have been married from one to five times! I have dated any number of these strangers and have found them to be boring, presumptuous, arrogant, immature, and in-general a waste of time.

When a friend suggests a blind date, I ask the friend to invite both of us to a party so we can meet. But with relatives giving my phone number to every Tom, Dick, and Harry, I am "off" the spot unless I say, "I'm going with someone," and I hate to lie.

So, what can I do about these well-meaning relatives?
NOT THAT DESPERATE

DEAR NOT: Treat them as friends, and ask them to invite you and the man they had in mind to a party. Or if a stranger calls who sounds interesting, make a coffee date with him. That way you won't have to invest a lot of time on a pig in a poke, and he won't invest a lot of money on a gamble.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "S" IN ROSEBURG, ORE.: Tell your "ex" that the key to your home does not go with visitation privileges to see the children, so please return the key. And if he doesn't, have your locks changed.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

Crochet A Summer Stunner!

By JUDY LOVE

Ready or not, now is the time to get hooking for summer! It's not a moment too soon to start work on the fashion that will be the talk of your summer season.

One of the prettiest, most feminine dresses I've seen is a floor-length summer night cooler.

You'll work this winner quickly, and easily, including the unusual ruffle pattern that's worked into swinging godets on the skirt. The same crisp ruffle circles the flattering empire waistline in a neat double row.

The gauge is five meshes for two inches, and three rows should equal an inch. As always, getting the right gauge is vital to the fit and look of your garment. Work your test piece first, to get the gauge. Incidentally, always count turning ch as your first dc.

The dress flows, is softly feminine, with a flattering V neckline and sleeveless raglan armholes. The skirt is planned for 45-inch length from the pretty empire waist. If you want it either longer or shorter, simply work more or less rows before the first decrease.

The yarn, Bali by Bernat, also is fashion news for you crochet fans. It's a blend of cotton and nylon, with a smooth hand that's cool to touch, works into a crisp, perfect warm-weather texture on a 2.50 mm or New hook.

Wear this at home, to the country club, or the smartest party of the year. You'll be the envy of your friends. I promise. Add your favorite feather-light summer stole—preferably in a different color, for fashionable warmth in an evening breeze.

Directions for this floor-length beauty to crochet are available from your local paper, in sizes 8 to 16. Get your hooks out, girls. It's time!

Just send 50 cents to Stitch-in-Time c/o your local paper, Radio City Station, Box 303, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for leaflet S366 and be certain to include your name, address and zip code.

Dark Tunics

Sleeveless tunics in dark sueded lend an interesting effect to spring print dresses. Taking the place of a jacket, the tunic can also be worn over pants or a skirt.

There's a lot of summer magic in this feminine floor-length sleeveless crochet dress. A soft, flowing skirt is beautifully worked in unusual ruffle-patterned godets that match the ruffle circling the empire waistline.

Style Show Will Highlight Banquet

THERE'S MORE THAN ONE WAY TO GET TO THE TOP of a tough hill in a cycle race — such as hoofing it. Competitors in the World Cyclo-Cross Championships of 1973 huff and puff in London with Belgium's Robert Vermiere (12) eventually coming in the winner.

Warriors Beat Bucks 100-97; Take 3-2 Lead

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Milwaukee General Manager Wayne Embry had the right idea when he tried to have Game 5 of the Bucks' National Basketball Association playoff series postponed.

Forced to play the game in Madison, Wis., after being evicted from their home court by a realtors show, the Bucks asked for the delay when a snowstorm prevented them from reaching their impromptu home for a workout.

Golden State beat the snow into Madison and held a two-hour practice. It must have helped, because the Warriors knocked off the Bucks 100-97 Tuesday night to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-7 quarter-final.

Artis Gilmore, Erving Head ABA All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Towering Artis Gilmore of Kentucky, Most Valuable Player Billy Cunningham of Carolina and Julius Erving of Virginia head the American Basketball Association 1972-73 All-League team announced today.

Gilmore, the 7-foot-2, 240-pound Colones' center who led the league in rebounding, two-point field goal percentage and blocked shots for the second straight season, was the top vote collector. He received 55 first-team votes and one for the second team among 58 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. He had a total of 111 points on the basis of two points for a first-team vote and one-point for second.

Cunningham, chosen Monday as the ABA's Most Valuable Player in his first season in the league, was named to a first-team forward berth on 50 ballots and a second-team spot on seven for 107 points.

Winning Masters Was Aaron's Lifetime Dream

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The quiet world of golf's perennial bridesmaid has been shattered in the fulfillment of Tommy Aaron's lifetime dream—a Masters championship.

My phone's been ringing off the wall," the curly-haired Aaron said Tuesday. "I've never had to worry about having an unlisted number like some of the fellows in the larger cities, but it's beginning to look like I might have to get one now."

Aaron, a 14-time runnerup with only one American victory in 13 years on the pro tour, was the center of attention in this north Georgia city of 40,000.

Thousands lined the streets in unseasonably cold weather to greet their latest hero along a three-mile parade route, part of a "Welcome Home Tommy Day" celebration hastily planned by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

The 36-year-old slow-talking Georgian earned a lifetime invitation to the Masters—one of the four major tests of golfing greatness—when he fired a four-under-par 68 in Monday's rain-delayed final round to record a one stroke victory over C. Snead.

Expos Pull Comedy Act To Lose To Philadelphia

By The Associated Press There's nothing funny about losing.—Gene Mauch, April 10, 1973.

Perhaps not, but Mauch's Montreal Expos, the San Diego Padres, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Texas Rangers were sights to behold Tuesday night.

In classic displays of baseball futility, the Expos lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5, the Padres were crushed by the San Francisco Giants 11-2, the Dodgers bowed to the Houston Astros 4-3 in 12 innings and the Rangers were mauled by the Kansas City Royals 12-1. In a relatively well-played contest, the California Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 4-2.

Six other games were postponed by a combination of snow and cold weather—Oakland at Chicago, Baltimore at Detroit and Boston at Milwaukee in the American League and Chicago at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at

67-Year-Old Freshman Has One Major Problem

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP) — Frank Sadler, retired after 41 years as a professional at the Bellingham Golf and Country Club, says his handicap as the oldest freshman at Western Washington State College is concentration.

"I can sit down and read a chapter, close the book and forget the whole thing," said the 67-year-old Sadler, "but I'm getting used to reading more."

There wasn't much time for reading during Sadler's nearly 50-year sports career that began when he started boxing for Seattle promoter Nate Drumman in 1924 while still in high school.

Starting as a featherweight and growing up to a welterweight, Sadler had 86 fights before turning to golf full-

NBA Hardship Cases Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — There was almost as much interest in the names that were missing as there was in those that showed up on the National Basketball Association's list of hardship cases eligible for next Monday's draft.

Absent from the list were junior Bill Walton of national champion UCLA and sophomore David Thompson of second ranked North Carolina State, both All-America selections. They had been expected to request the hardship status so they could be eligible for this year's draft, but did not.

Granted the status were 11 collegians including William "Bird" Averitt of Pepperdine, the national scoring leader.

Others on the list were Larry Harris of Genesee Community College in Flint, Mich.; Larry Kenon of Memphis State; Arnold Zigmond, Mast of Oklahoma City; southwestern junior College; Larry McNeil of Marquette; Ed Searcy of St. John's, N.Y.; John Lee Williams of New Mexico State; Malory Mitchell of Southern California College at Costa Mesa and David Brent, formerly of Jacksonville.

WHA Decides To Fight It In Court

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Hockey Association has decided it is better to fight it out in the courts than make an unworkable peace with the National Hockey League.

An attempt to bring the two leagues together in the near future failed when the WHA vetoed Tuesday any merger or association with the NHL pending the outcome next fall of antitrust lawsuits against the NHL and its reserve clause.

"We are in very serious litigation and any future relationship with the NHL would have to come out of the litigation," said Gary Davidson, WHA president.

The WHA will go ahead with its lawsuits seeking damages "in excess of $50 million on all accounts" from the NHL because of the strong position our counsel tells us we have," Davidson said.

The WHA alleges that the NHL has violated the antitrust laws but maintaining a conspiracy to monopolize major league hockey, using the reserve clause to bind players to one team until traded or sold, and preventing competition.

Houston To Defend

HOUSTON (AP) — The 19th annual All-America Intercollegiate Invitation Golf Tournament kicks off at Atascocita Country Club today with host University of Houston defending its team title.

Couach Dave Williams' Cougars rallied from third place on the final day last year to win the team trophy and the University of Texas' Tom Kite claimed medal honors.

Kite has joined the men's PGA tour, leaving this year's individual honor open for grabs, but the Cougars are back along with several other contenders including Florida, Oklahoma State and Arizona State.

Some of the top individual players are Texas' Ben Crenshaw, the low amateur at the Masters tournament in Augusta, Ga.; Gary Koch of Florida, Ted Goin of Oklahoma State, Danny Edwards, Oklahoma State and Bruce Lietzke and Bill Rogers of UH.

The tournament runs through Saturday.

Riessen Wins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Deadlocks were the order of the day as the Cleveland Classic's first round closed, but top-seeded Marty Riessen found the key in his forehead to gain the quarter-finals and the chance he needs to regain first place in the standings.

Riessen was one of three who had to make it past tie-breakers successfully during Tuesday's action in the touring World Championship Tennis meet. Others were Arthur Ashe of New York City, fourth-seeded, and unseeded Ismail El Shafei of Cairo, Egypt, who upset the Netherlands' Tom Okker.

Landing Site Of Columbus Is Pinpointed

BY HAROLD J. LIDIN
SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — A Pulitzer prize-winning authority on Christopher Columbus has sided his opinion to the lingering controversy over where the Genoan landed in Puerto Rico.

The Great Discoverer, according to his biographer Samuel E. Morison, first anchored on the west coast of Puerto Rico at a point on Anasco Bay.

Some historians have maintained that Columbus landed in the northwest corner of the island, about 12 miles above where Morison says Columbus first touched shore in Puerto Rico. A third theory holds that Columbus may have gone ashore at Boqueron, on the southwestern corner of the island.

"He couldn't possibly have gone inside Boqueron due to the reefs," Morison asserted emphatically in an interview here.

His first reef-free entry was Anasco," Columbus approached Puerto Rico from St. Croix, in the U.S. Virgin Islands and was steering a northwesterly course.

Morison had flown over the western section of Puerto Rico, accompanied by Aurelio Tio, president of the Puerto Rican Academy of History. After scanning the area from the air the 85-year-old Morison then made an on-the-ground investigation of the place where the Spaniards landed on Nov. 19, 1493.

Morison's findings agree with the theory defended by Tio. The latter's conclusions also rest upon testimony given in a 15th-century court battle over the ownership of some property in the vicinity of the landing spot.

The landfall was made, according to Tio, on the northeast side of Anasco Bay at a point called "Ensenada de Rincon."

Morison's research into the Columbus landing is connected to his upcoming work entitled "Columbus — the southern voyages." The book, to be published by Oxford University Press, culminates a lifelong interest in the Columbus saga.

His impatience with historians who produce a book to "prove" a hypothesis boils over quickly when Columbus is the topic.

Spanish authors, over the centuries, have shown unflinching ability to discover "evidence" that Columbus came from Spain and not from Genoa, as has long been generally accepted.

"He came from a family with three generations in Genoa," says Morison.

Eugene O'Neill, considered America's greatest playwright, was the first important writer of tragedy in American drama.

Eckstine Never Lacked Contract

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Billy Eckstine has had recording contracts — steadily since 1939.

Lately he's been all over the place — on the TV show honoring Duke Ellington, in the "Wattstax" movie, in Europe before Christmas, in Las Vegas, after, twice at New York nightclubs in less than a year, with three LPs on his current label, Enterprise. They're "Stormy," produced by Isaac Hayes, "Feel the Warm" and "Senior Soul."

BILLY ECKSTINE

Mr. B has been slowed down at times — he formed a big band just when big bands were in their decline and later rock music took over in popularity what had been the country's — and Eckstine's — meaning of popular. But he hasn't been stopped. There always was a recording contract and a concert date — and some people who wanted to listen.

Now, Eckstine's live performance includes something old and something new. "The contemporary background is more modern than the flowing ballad things I did earlier. But you still personalize them to your own style. But they're good songs and they're still ballads. David Gates of Bread writes these, and Jimmy Webb. They're beautiful ballads, still in the contemporary field, though."

What about the songs that Eckstine has sung thousands of times, that somebody is sure to request? "I tell you. It is an honor when people remember songs that you've made famous or were identified with you. Therefore, if I ever feel tired of doing them, the thing that keeps me from really being tired of doing them is the fact that it is an honor to be remembered."

Memories of Eckstine records can go back to 1939. "I was working in Chicago in a club there and Earl 'Fatha' Hines came in and heard me and asked me to join his band. Chicago was his base. My first gold record, 'Jelly, Jelly,' was as vocalist with Earl."

Eckstine was with "Fatha" Hines' band from 1939 to 1943.

From 1944-47, he had his own. "It was a great musical experience, but it was right at the start of the decline of the big bands. I didn't prove lucrative. Right after the war, moving a 20-piece band was expensive and we didn't have priorities for a bus and stuff. But I liked it better than going out by myself." Two gold records came from this period, "Prisoner of Love" and "Cottage for Sale," and among those who were members of the band for a time were Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker and vocalist Sarah Vaughan.

"I started doing a single and went with MGM Records in 1948. The first record I did was 'Everything I Have Is Yours.' That one went real big; it was the springboard for my solo start."

That record turned gold and so did "My Foolish Heart," "Blue Moon," "I'm Falling for You," "Caravan" and "I Apologize."

Sometimes songs were submitted. Sometimes I picked them. Some I didn't think were quite going to make it, I would wind up getting acclaimed for. We as artists think too artistically; we don't think commercially.

The adaptation from Villoldo's "El Choclo" that Lester Allen and Robert Hill did, "Kiss of Fire," I didn't like at all. I didn't think it was going to be a hit — and it sold very well." Eckstine played trumpet with the "Fatha" Hines band and trombone with his own band and now plays guitar in his nightclub act, but singing always has come first.

The Four Tops were his backup group for a time. "They're good guys. We're good buddies. Right after they were with me two and a half years they made some records on their own. They hit like a rocket and the rest is history."

At the time Eckstine became a solo singer it was rare for a black singer to be anything except a band vocalist or, like Nat Cole, identified with jazz.

Eckstine says, "I didn't take so much nerve to go out alone. I had a lot of aspirations, things I wanted to do. I thought people were waiting for them. I never paid that much attention to the fact I happened to be a black vocalist. Society did see differences. So there were a lot of things that the other vocalists had their chances to do that I never did get a chance to do, motion pictures, things of that nature. I made no personal appearances in the South."

"But radio stations would play my recordings. The hardest part of the business was the traveling. I've never had my own TV show where I could sit at home. My work is still traveling."

"I always have a little feeling of remorse in this respect. I would like to do a picture, for my own personal satisfaction. And being on the road, here this week and there the next, it's a little hard to keep your concentration together."

The Eckstines and their seven children live in Southern California. "The children all enjoy music but I don't know if they'll be performers."

Eckstine, who was born in Pittsburgh, is 58, three years older than Frank Sinatra, who has retired from singing. "Well, I think he'll come back and dabble in it some. I think he has got too much love for the business to completely walk away."

"I love the business. I have from childhood. I don't think I'll ever retire."
