

At least 11 dead in surprise attack on Greek tourist ship

PIRAEUS, Greece (AP) — A body was pulled from the Aegean Sea today and a second was found on the Greek ship where three men threw grenades and fired guns at sunbathing tourists. The death toll in the bizarre attack rose to at least 11.

The casualty count was expected to keep rising after Monday's assault aboard the 370-ton City of Poros cruise ship.

"We also have found some floating body remains that indicate the death toll could go higher," said a harbor authority officer who spoke on condition of anonymity.

One body was found on the ship today and another was taken from the sea, he said. Nine bodies were recovered Monday and at least 98 people were injured in the attack.

Police said the three assailants fled in a speedboat. No group claimed responsibility for the attack, and police said they had few clues to a motive.

Earlier Monday, two unidentified men believed to be of Arab origin were killed when an explosives-packed car blew up near the Trocadero Marina, police said. They said the blast probably was linked to the cruise ship attack.

Police said they found an Iranian magazine in the wrecked car. They said the vehicle had been rented to a 36-year-old Lebanese man, Hamoud al Hamid, and contained hand grenades and automatic weapons.

Terrified passengers scurried for cover and leaped into the sea when the gunmen hurled grenades and sprayed gunfire at the tourists on the crowded vessel. The grenade blasts triggered a fire aboard the ship as it headed for the Trocadero Marina in this Athens port.

Closeup of 'City of Poros' bridge and sundeck.

The ship, about 16 miles out, was returning from a day-long cruise.

Although the harbor authority reported some bodies may have not been recovered, a Merchant Marine Ministry spokesman said all 471 passengers and 22 crew members had been accounted for today.

The spokesman said 50 of the wounded were hospitalized, 15 in serious condition, he said.

By today, authorities had released the names of only two of the dead: Antonis Demaizis, the ship's 45-year-old first mate, and a Danish tourist, 33-year-old Karl Johan Grabas.

"I was on deck when I heard automatic fire," Jean Wogewoda of Lorient, France, said from his bed in a Piraeus hospital, where he was recovering from gunshot wounds in both legs. "I turned around and was thrown into the air by the impact of the bullets hitting my leg."

"I saw a man who was shooting and I couldn't believe it and thought it was a joke. When I saw others falling to the deck, it turned out to be real."

A Swedish passenger who asked not to be identified said he saw a man in his early 20s pull an automatic weapon from his backpack and open fire.

"Then he threw two hand grenades and fire broke out and the deck caved in. There were burning sheets of metal falling on the people in the saloon below," the Swede said. "There was total panic, it felt like a million years but all in all it must have been over in four minutes."

Just a regular guy

Massachusetts Governor and Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis uses a man-powered push mower instead of a horse-power electric mower. Dukakis takes a break before the upcoming convention to mow the lawn at his Perry Street home in Brookline, Mass., Monday evening.

PRI still claims victory, but final vote counts still not in MEXICO CITY (AP)—The governing party says new election returns confirm its claim that its candidate, Carlos Salinas de Gortari, won the presidency, even though votes are still being counted nearly a week after the election.

The Institutional Revolutionary Party denies that final results are being delayed by vote fraud and squabbling among members of the party that is now losing its 60-year near monopoly in Mexican politics.

Interior Secretary Manuel Bartlett said Monday that Salinas had received 52.89 percent of the 13.24 million votes counted from Wednesday's election.

He said the leftist National Democratic Front's candidate, Cuauhtemoc Cardenas, was second with 29.1 percent and Manuel Clouthier of the conservative National Action Party was third with 16.68 percent.

The Federal Election Commission did not say how many votes remained to be counted. It said it would release final totals on Wednesday and blamed the delays on computer problems and bad weather.

Institutional Revolutionary Party officials conceded Monday that Cardenas won 58 percent of the vote in his home state of Michoacan, compared with 25 percent for Salinas.

Party officials in Mexico City also said privately that Cardenas was expected to win in the federal capital, which has one-quarter of Mexico's people. Cardenas has claimed a national victory and Clouthier has said he is leading the balloting.

The governing party has not lost a presidential, senate or gubernatorial race since it was founded in 1929.

The latest vote tallies "confirmed the triumph of our candidate for the presidency," said Jorge de la Vega Dominguez, the Institutional Revolutionary Party chairman.

"It is our duty to defend without wavering or compromises (the governing party's) popular mandate," he said in a statement he read during a news conference.

De la Vega denied numerous reports that the vote tally has been delayed by party infighting.

"The (Institutional Revolutionary Party) is solidly united in its sectoral (and) territorial structure and with its broad militant base. The leadership forms a single united will with our victorious candidate," he said.

The party reportedly has been split between members of the old guard who resist change and reformists loyal to Salinas, who is seeking to modernize the political system.

Opposition members have said the vote tally has been delayed by traditionalists who want to doctor the returns to reflect the party's usually huge margin of victory — in excess of 70 percent in past elections.

The commission reconvened Monday night to release additional results in races for the 500-seat Chamber of Deputies, only to adjourn until Wednesday.

Bartlett said the delay would allow time for the commission to obtain final results for the remaining congressional seats, the Senate and the presidency.

Partial returns released Monday gave 242 of the 500 seats in the lower house to the governing party, 31 to National Action Party and 10 to parties that support Cardenas.

Cardenas rejected the commission figures and said the slow vote count was enabling the government and the governing party to manipulate the results.

"The figures of the Federal Electoral Commission are not believable and only can be the product of fraud," Cardenas said. He said his coalition might call a protest march for Saturday in Mexico City.

Clouthier said irregularities in the elections "have demonstrated the incapacity of the Mexican government to organize trustworthy elections."

"There were two elections: those of July 6 conducted by the people, and those conducted by the rulers last night," he said.

Opposition parties kept vigils outside district offices in an effort to prevent manipulation of the results.

Compensation has its opponents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's decision to pay families of the 290 people killed in the U.S. downing of an Iranian airliner is meeting resistance on Capitol Hill, where some lawmakers say the gesture is premature and politically touchy.

Reagan's spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, revealed the plans on Monday, saying Reagan was motivated by humanitarian concerns and was acting out of charity rather than obligation. He made it clear that payments were to go to victims' families and not to the Tehran government of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

But some members of Congress said that distinction may be largely lost on the U.S. electorate, which harbors long-simmering resentment of Iran stemming from the seizure of the U.S. embassy in 1979, from its sponsorship of international terrorism and from the continued holding of Americans in Lebanon.

"As long as Americans remain held hostage, there will be resentment, under any circumstances," said Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz. McCain said no decision should be made until all the facts are in.

Reagan's request "has some problems," added Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., the chief Democratic vote counter in the House, who said he personally opposed the idea. "I don't understand why they're trying to move it along."

The compensation issue was also expected to arise at the United Nations, where the security council was to debate the airliner incident today. A Navy investigative team is still looking into the incident, in which the USS Vincennes fired on the airliner after apparently mistaking it for a warplane.

Numerous questions about Reagan's decision remained unanswered, including how much money would be paid to the families, how contact would be made in the absence of formal diplomatic relations between the two countries and just what legal authority would be used to make the payments.

A State Department official, briefing reporters on condition of anonymity, said it is not clear whether a flat amount will be paid for each victim or whether the age, number of dependents and earnings of the victims will be taken into account in assessing compensation.

It also was unclear whether the gesture would require new congressional legislation. Congressional leaders assumed that the White House would seek House and Senate approval out of a desire for support for its policy decision, if not out of a need for money to pay the families.

House Speaker Jim Wright, D-

Texas, said offering payments to the survivors of the victims would be "a voluntary act committed by a nation that is both generous and genuinely regretful" of the incident. He said he expected quick action once Reagan formally makes a request of Congress.

"We are a just and generous people," said Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., who said the payments should go forward "on basic grounds of fairness and decency."

Fitzwater said the money would be channeled through some third-party organization or intermediary, such as the Red Crescent, an arm of the Red Cross.

All but 38 of the Iran Air passengers were from Iran. The others were from India, Italy, Pakistan, Turkey, Yugoslavia and the United Arab Emirates.

Some lawmakers linked the payment issue with the question of U.S. hostages who continue to be held in Lebanon, apparently by radical elements with ties to Iran. McCain said the hostages should be freed as part of any compensation deal.

But Wright said that would amount to ransoming them, and Fitzwater added: "I don't think there are very many congressmen who want it to appear we're doing business with Iran over the hostages."

OFFICIAL DEALER
Wrangler
 Official Licensed Products
PRODECO
 WESTERN WEAR

FREE RODEO TICKET
 With Purchase of Any Mens, Ladies, Kids Regular Price Wrangler Product
 (excluding 13MWZ Cowboy Cuts)
 (Limit 1 ticket per purchase)

TOP O' TEXAS RODEO
 (Now a WRANGLER CIRCUIT RODEO)
 JULY 14-15-16 Kid Pony Show July 11-12-13
 PAMPA TEXAS

Mens & Students
 13MWZ $13.85
 Cowboy Cuts.....
 No Free Ticket At This Price

Best Selection of Mens, Ladies, Kids Colored Cowboy Cuts in Town.

There's only one jean endorsed by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association: Wrangler Cowboy Cut Jeans.

WAYNES WESTERN WEAR, INC.
 9-6 Daily
 9-8 Thurs
 Closed Sun
 Wayne Stribling, Owner-Operator
 Layaways Welcome
 1538 N. Hobart 665-2925
OPEN 'TIL 8 P.M. THURSDAY

Wrangler

Cash and Carry
Discontinued Merchandise
 on Items Like

- Power Tools • Weiser Locks • Hand Tools
- Cabinet Hardware • Lawn & Garden Tools
- Faucets • Towel Bars
- Plumbing Parts • Weather Strippings • Thresholds
- Turned Columns • Mail Boxes

Select Group 40% OFF	Select Group 50% OFF
--------------------------------	--------------------------------

SALE
Stain Release Carpet
 Reg. $14.95 Sq. Yd. ... $10.95 Sq. Yd.

Specializing in: Carpets-Paints & Sundries
 Linoleum - Wallpapers & Blinds

Covalt's Home Supply
665-5861 1415 N. Banks

If You're Particular Come To Covalt's

Blowing smoke

Engineers at United Technologies Research Center in East Hartford, Conn., use smoke to study the complex flow of air through a room air conditioner model. The experiments into air flow and acoustics are carried out in an anechoic chamber lined with noise-absorbing fiberglass wedges. (AP Laserphoto)

Texan killed in Utah crash

PRICE, Utah (AP) — A Texas truck driver was killed in a weekend accident when his rig apparently lost its brakes on a steep canyon highway, tore through a concrete wall at more than 100 mph and rolled down a hillside, authorities said.

Utah Highway Patrol Trooper Cort Childs said Charles Raymond Short, 40, Breckenridge, Texas, died instantly in the 2:45 a.m. Sunday accident on Highway 191, about two miles north of the Carbon-Duchesne county border.

Childs said the victim was driving down from the 9,100-foot summit of Indian Canyon with 42,000 pounds of seismic equipment when the tractor-trailer rig's brakes failed for unknown reasons.

The truck was going about 30 mph when the breakdown occurred so the driver apparently tried to put his truck into a lower gear to slow down. He missed the gear, however, and began to pick up speed, authorities said.

The trooper said the runaway rig pushed aside a lead pickup, whose driver had slowed to try to stem the semi's descent. The driver, Roland Cowan, 24, Vernal, was not injured.

The semi then crashed through a concrete wall at an estimated 105 mph and rolled down a hill into Willow Creek River, spilling its load and partially ejecting the driver, Childs said.

FREE RODEO TICKET

When you purchase a pair of Wrangler Jeans

42nd Annual Top 'O Texas Rodeo
July 14, 15, 16, 1988

8:00 p.m.

Rodeo Grounds
Pampa, Texas

100% Cotton for durability, comfort and fit.

There's only one jean endorsed by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association: Wrangler Cowboy Cut® Jeans.

Wrangler

Libertarian: Slash taxes, withdraw troops

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The Libertarian Party's vice presidential candidate called this week for slashing income taxes, withdrawing U.S. troops from foreign nations and reducing the power of the federal government.

Andre Marrou, a resident of Alaska and member of the Alaska House of Representatives from 1985 to 1987, talked to 10 young people from Youth for Peace of Omaha and Youth for Nuclear Freeze of Lincoln in Memorial Park Sunday.

Marrou said the party's ideals are "based on individual liberty versus governmental power" and founding father Thomas Jefferson's idea that "government is best that governs least."

Marrou, who is running with Libertarian presidential candidate Ron Paul, a four-term Texas congressman, was raised in Texas and received a degree in chemical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Campaigning has been complicated by having to gather the signatures necessary to get the party's candidates on the ballot in as many states as possible, Marrou said.

Mark Shepard, the party's executive director in Nebraska, said the party has about 100 active members in Nebraska and several thousand nationwide.

Marrou said the party now has candidates on the ballot in 28 states and plans to qualify for inclusion in 13 more, including Nebraska, in July.

One of the party's priorities is reducing the "crushing tax burden" on U.S. citizens, Marrou said. The nation also must move to privatize welfare and convert Social Security to a voluntary program that would eventually be phased out, he said. If taxpayers' burdens were reduced, he said, they could save money for retirement in private accounts.

Marrou said the United States should bring home troops stationed in foreign nations.

"People should be allowed to do what they want to do, provided they don't hurt other people," he said.

Gambling forces betting on third try

GALVESTON (AP) — For the third time in four years, a pro-gambling faction is betting on the passage of a non-binding referendum on casino gambling.

Casino gambling, say Galvestonians for Economic Development, will bring a year-round tourist attraction to the island.

On the other side of the table are Galvestonians Against Casino Gambling. They say casinos, despite their attractions, would ruin the laid-back, family atmosphere of the island.

Neither side is about to fold. H.L. "Shrub" Kempner Jr. once again is leading the anti-gambling faction with some coups, most notably the recruitment of Sam Clark, who led the pro-gambling movement 18 months ago.

Clark said he opposes casino gambling this time because he doesn't believe Galveston's economy is in dire straits as it was two years ago.

"We don't need the quick fix," Kempner said pointing to the U.S. Navy set to begin construction of its new base, an expansion of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, the Moody Foundation well into its 20-year, $120 million development of Moody Gardens and the new rail trolley system.

"If we were to have casino gambling, most of these things would be in jeopardy," he said.

Even if the Aug. 13 referendum passes, casino gambling cannot become a reality unless the state Legislature approves a bill granting the city permission to adopt its own ordinance to legalize it.

Meanwhile, the pro-casino faction has gotten the financial backing from Jack Pratt of Dallas-based Pratt Hotel Corp., Frank Fertitta of Galveston's Key Largo Hotel, Willis Thames, president of Central City Development Co. of Galveston and several other prominent Galveston businessmen, pro-gambling forces have amassed a larger war chest than ever before.

They also are circulating a slick 40-minute documentary on the benefits casino gambling brought to Atlantic City, N.J., and last week, Pratt announced his company is ready to build a $150 million casino hotel and convention complex just as soon as legalized gambling is given final approval.

On the political front, they have recruited state Rep. Lloyd Criss, D-La Marque, co-author of the recently passed pari-mutuel racing law, plus long-time Galveston political activist Pete Fredriksen and Mayor Pro Tem Don Brooks.

We're Fighting For Your Life.

Charlies Carpet Connection

DUPONT CERTIFIED
STAINMASTER
CARPET

$12.95 Sq. Yd.
Completely installed
with Luxurious Pad

Charlie's

CARPET CONNECTION
1533 N. Hobart 665-0995

The New — Improved
Hobby Shop
217 N. Cuyler 669-6161

"BIG AS TEXAS"

SALE
Grand Opening

July 11-16
One Full Week Mon.-Sat. 9:00-5:30 Inside And Outside

WOOD CUT-OUTS and ACRYLIC PAINTS	10¢-50¢
WOODEN HOOPS	25¢-$1.00
PLASTIC DECO HOOPS	25¢-$1.00
Ribbon	Straw Wreaths
5 yards 25¢	10" size 75¢
Beads	Crochet Books
Select Group 75% OFF	One Selection $1.00 Each
One Selection: Assorted CRAFT BOOKS	Each $1.00
Boxes-All Sizes and Kinds	10¢-$1.00
DOLL HEADS	10¢-$1.00

DOOR PRIZES
Show And Tell Displays
In Our Store: Something New Every Day

SEE YOU AT THE RODEO

John Deere 650

Give this compact 16-hp liquid-cooled diesel the right tool and watch it go! Mowing. Landscaping. Cleaning livestock areas. Building fences. Splitting firewood. Removing snow.

Whatever the job, whatever the season, the John Deere 650 is the right tractor with the right tools to keep your operation running efficiently and economically. Stop in for a test drive soon.

Nothing Runs Like a Deere®

"We Service What We Sell"

Crossman Implement Co.

665-1888 Hwy. 60 East
Across from Rodeo Grounds

Official Dealer

Official Licensed Products

Wrangler SILVER LAKE

For High Fashion with Western Flair try Silver Lakes

100% Cotton Denim Cotton Canvas Colors

Addington's Western Store
119 S. Cuyler 669-3161

Camp brings space dreams for young Galveston student

By MAX RIZLEY JR.
Galveston Daily News

GALVESTON (AP) — Ken Macdonald's first space suit was just a little big for him — but he's determined to grow into it, someday.

Although at 10, Ken may seem a little young to be commanding a space shuttle, that's just what he did during a recent stay at the U.S. Space Camp in Huntsville, Ala.

'We said a bunch of stuff, like Commander ready, Mission Specialist 1 ready, Mission specialist 2 ready, and then we lifted off.'

In June, Ken was immersed for five days in the language and lore of the Space Age. He scooted around on a rocket backpack trainer, bounded in a lunar-gravity simulator, ate such delicacies as freeze-dried chicken and astronaut ice cream and launched a model rocket.

And he commanded the space shuttle Columbia.

Well, maybe this Columbia didn't really loft its crew into space; still, to hear the red-haired Trinity School student describe it, the flight was real enough.

Speaking with a test-pilot cool reminiscent of John Young or Bob Crippen at one of their post-flight press conferences, Ken told of his trip into a 185-by-185 mile orbit, strapped into the left-hand seat of a simulator with a control panel like the real shuttle's.

"There was a countdown," he said, explaining that — just like the Youngs and Crippens and Haucks in the big birds — there was a script to follow, a timeline that he and his crewmates had to adhere to. "We said a bunch of stuff, like 'Commander ready,' 'Mission Specialist 1 ready,' 'Mission specialist 2 ready,' and then we lifted off."

"Liftoff," he explained, was accompanied by piped-in rocket noises and video footage of an actual shuttle liftoff on a screen in front of them.

"We dropped the SRB (solid rocket booster, but then no proper astronaut would ever use a full name when abbreviations will do) after two minutes," Commander Ken said. "After nine minutes, we dropped the external tank."

... the bane of 10-year-olds the world over: 'What was really scary, was we were being graded ...'

Out their shuttle windows, the crew — Ken, his pilot, two mission specialists and two payload specialists — could see the Earth. "There was cloud cover over Florida and over India," he said.

While in orbit, the crew did pretend experiments with a telescope, glass-making and formation of rubber balls to be used on Earth in medical applications. They also had to deal with several glitches during the flight, little meannies thrown at them by the simulator's computer.

"We had a couple of malfunctions," the commander said off-handedly. "One with the ET (external tank) and one with a fuel cell. You would say, 'Houston, Columbia, we are having a malfunction.'"

The computer screen would tell them what the "mal" was, and offer solutions.

But it wasn't the malfunctions that worried the crew so much as the down-to-the-earth problem — indeed the bane of 10-year-olds the world over: "What was really scary, was we were being graded ..."

But there was more than just the shuttle simulation; in fact, that only took up an hour of his time.

Ken and his crewmates built model rockets, decorated them with appropriate decals, loaded them with solid-fuel cartridges and launched them.

He also took a turn in the V5, a hovercraft-like device that uses compressed air to float its occupants just off the floor simulating the rocket powered manned maneuvering unit used in space. And the "moonwalker" was a long counterweighted beam that lets future astronauts bounce around in simulated lunar gravity.

And Ken tried on an honest-to-gosh space suit, the model used by astronauts during spacewalks.

It was a little baggy around the knees and the helmet fit a little cockeyed, but he's determined to make it fit, eventually. His emphatic "Yes, sir!" when asked if he wanted to fly into space for real one day left no doubts on that point.

Ken shows off his model rocket he built at space camp. (AP Laserphoto)

Helicopter makes a daring flight to get prisoners in New Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A helicopter landed in the recreation yard of the Penitentiary of New Mexico's Main Facility Monday morning and took off with two prisoners in a daring daylight escape, state Corrections Department officials said.

Department spokeswoman Priscilla Gallegos said correctional officers "red on the helicopter as it fled the prison, in a flat plateau about 12 miles southeast of downtown Santa Fe.

Don Caviness, department spokesman, said it was not known whether any of the shots hit the helicopter.

"It lifted off and was last seen headed toward the Santa Fe airport," Caviness said.

Gallegos said the prison was immediately locked down.

"That means all inmates are being moved back to their cells and locked in their cells so we can check and see who is not in their cells," said Caviness.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Dan Taylor said the brown and beige helicopter apparently flew into the area at a low altitude about 9:40 a.m. It took off and left at a low altitude, he said.

Taylor said New Mexico National Guard and U.S. Customs Service helicopters took to the air searching for the escape copter. The state prison activated its emergency notification system to the press and nearby residents, informing them of the escape.

The Federal Aviation Administration said state police asked for help in tracking the helicopter.

But a woman at the FAA in Albuquerque, who asked her name not be used and said she was relaying information from the watch supervisor, said the helicopter was "way too low and there was no way we could track anything like that. We have not seen a target on our scope."

Eddie Binder, a press aide for Gov. Garrey Carruthers, said the governor was attending the Western Governors' Association meeting in Seattle, Wash., but Lt. Gov. Jack Stahl had been briefed on the escape.

"Within three minutes after the action all state police district commanders were notified," Bender said.

He said that included getting all aircraft into the air.

State Corrections Secretary O.L. McCotter had said on June 27 that improvements in security at the state prison greatly reduced the possibility of another mass escape such as the one that occurred on July 4, 1987, when seven prisoners broke out of the North Facility.

"There is no such thing as an escape-proof prison anywhere in the world today," McCotter said.

"But with the recent upgrades it has made that process (escape) much more difficult than it has ever been in the state of New Mexico.

"I don't even think you can compare the present system with what it was on the Fourth of July, 1987," McCotter said.

The seven inmates, using a gun smuggled into the prison, escaped from the maximum security unit of the North Facility at the penitentiary.

Four of the escapees were recaptured within a week and three others were recaptured on July 30, 1987, in Garden Grove, Calif.

The Main Facility is the old portion of the penitentiary where 33 inmates were killed by fellow prisoners during a 36-hour riot Feb. 2-3, 1980.

Two satellite prisons, the North Facility and the South Facility, were built after the riot. Both are about one-quarter mile from the main penitentiary.

The Main Facility houses mostly medium security inmates, while the South Facility is for medium security prisoners.

IS COMING TO PAMPA...

Friday-Saturday-Sunday

July 29, 30, 31

"Let's All Participate"

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

In order to have the entire town of PAMPA Participate in this Garage Sale, The Pampa News will print a special section on THURSDAY, JULY 28. We are hoping that everyone in Pampa will want to participate in this Gigantic Garage Sale.

RULES FOR PARTICIPATION:

Anyone wishing to be included in this special section must have their GARAGE SALE AD placed by Thursday, July 21, At THE PAMPA NEWS.

(RESIDENT-BUSINESS-MALL-ANYONE MAY PARTICIPATE.)

THE PAMPA NEWS WILL BE RUNNING A CITY MAP WITH YOUR LOCATION MARKED ON IT. ALL GARAGE SALES WILL BE HELD AT PARTICIPATING RESIDENCES OR BUSINESSES.

LET'S TRY TO MAKE THIS AN ANNUAL AFFAIR...

DRASTIC REDUCTIONS

SAVE UP TO

60%

SPRING-SUMMER SHOES

Dress Shoes • Sandals • Pumps

By Fanfare, Stanley Phillipson, Joyce, Selby and Easy Street

Regularly $38.00 to $84.00 $14⁹⁷ to $39⁹⁷

Casuals • Sandals • Hirachis • Flats

By Trotters, Magdesians, Fanfare, Nicole, Cobbie and Penaljo

Values to $55.00 $19⁹⁷ to $29⁹⁷

Canvas Shoes

Large Selection of Several Styles and Colors

now $5⁹⁷ to $11⁹⁷

Please-All Sales Final

Hubs Booterle
Latest in Women's Shoe Fashions

119 W. Kingsmill
669-9291

DRASTIC REDUCTIONS

Lifestyles

Low-fat diet isn't advisable for most growing children

By DONNA BRAUCHI
County Extension Agent

Homemakers' News Donna Brauchi

The typical American diet — heavy on fatty and fried foods and light on fruits, vegetables and grains — may be our worst enemy! A high-fat diet is associated with a high risk of heart disease. There is also some evidence that it increases the risk of certain cancers.

Fat is also a health risk just because it's fattening. A single gram of fat at 9 calories contains more than twice the amount found in a gram of protein or carbohydrates, which is 4 calories. Being overweight puts us at risk for high blood pressure and diabetes, as well as heart disease.

However, fat isn't all bad. It helps us absorb certain vitamins, keeps our skin from drying and flaking, and helps maintain cell membranes. It doesn't take a lot of fat to accomplish all these good things. A single tablespoon of polyunsaturated vegetable oil in foods each day will do.

Right now Americans consume about 40 percent of their daily calories in fat. National health organizations recommend that we try to cut these calories to 30 percent or less.

Is this good advice for children and teenagers? Probably not. Most children and adolescents now get 30 to 40 percent of their calories from fat, and medical authorities believe it should stay in that range.

The American Academy of Pediatrics is concerned that a lower-fat diet may have detrimental effects on the growth and maturation of healthy children. Fat is a concentrated source of energy needed for normal growth. In addition, the benefits of low-fat diets for children have not been established. Most research studies have been conducted on an adult population, and the results may not apply to children.

The academy also questions whether a low-fat diet can meet the calorie needs of teenagers during the adolescent growth spurt. Reducing fat intake in teenagers also means decreasing the amount of protein they get from meat, eggs and dairy products. Yet these foods are needed for normal growth.

When a child or adolescent is diagnosed as being at risk for heart disease because of family history or a high blood cholesterol level, the benefits of a low-fat diet aren't disputed. But a low-fat diet isn't a necessity and could be harmful if applied to all healthy children.

A low-fat, low-calorie diet for infants is not a good thing. Infants have different nutritional requirements and need certain amounts of fat and calories for normal weight gain and complete brain development. Children under age 2 need whole milk and regular dairy products rather than those lower in fat.

When selecting fats to eat, adults should follow these guidelines. Eat good fats such as olive oil and peanut oil. Research studies have shown that monosaturated oils such as peanut oil help reduce blood cholesterol levels. Or use other vegetable oils such as cottonseed, sunflower, corn and soybean oils. They are known as polyunsaturated and will also help reduce blood cholesterol levels.

Avoid fat from animal products. Meat and poultry, for example, are very nutritious foods, but eat the lean, not the fat. Trim all visible fat and buy cuts that are labeled as lean.

Choose low-fat dairy products. Also avoid coconut and palm oils. They're not the same as other vegetable oils because they are saturated and can raise blood cholesterol levels. These fats are typically found in commercially packaged cookies and cakes and in some imitation dairy products.

Does it seem like trying to eat better is a complicated task? Actually, most healthy Americans just need to follow these simple guidelines every day:

- Eat four or more servings of fruits and vegetables or fruit juices.
- Eat four or more servings of bread, cereal and starchy foods.
- Eat two or more servings of low-fat milk, cheese and dairy products.
- Eat five to six teaspoons of fats and oils.
- Eat more egg whites and limit whole eggs or egg yolks to no more than two per week.

For more information on diet and health, contact your Gray County Extension Office.

Swirly silhouettes

Floor-length gown with Roman appeal, left, features a rounded and scalloped hemline on a full skirt slit up to its Empire waist — a wide panel of intricate contrasting lace; the deep V-neck bodice is trimmed with a rich applique of matching lace, also in a scalloped pattern. Soft gathers, contracting lace and teasing translucence give this long gown, right, a special glamour with its low-waisted bodice of inverted V-shaped lace panels topping a full skirt that falls in sensuous folds. (Left, by Val Mode; right, by Pam Division of Claxton; both in Patina nylon.)

Hard of hearing must open their eyes to facts of life

DEAR ABBY: "Hurt in Paterson, N.J." said her day was spoiled when the florist delivered a beautiful basket of fruit — an Easter gift from her granddaughter — and on the delivery order was written: "She is deaf, so please wait for her to answer the door."

Abby, this grandmother has mistaken a kindness for an insult. In some cities, delivery people merely ring the doorbell, and if no one answers, they leave the package by the door where it can remain for hours — or even days.

How thoughtful it was of her granddaughter to have given those special instructions to the florist. And since florists make numerous deliveries in one day, their drivers can't be expected to remember special instructions unless they are written on the package.

Abby, a hearing loss is a fact of life; it is neither an insult nor anything to be ashamed of. I was surprised you didn't point that out instead of agreeing with "Hurt" that it was "insensitive and thoughtless" for the delivery instructions to have been in plain sight.

Seems to me, "Hurt" is overly sensitive. If that spoiled her day, she should have sent the basket of fruit to a nursing home where residents would have been thrilled to be remembered at all.

DOLORES WERDER,
SUN CITY, ARIZ.

DEAR DOLORES: You are

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

absolutely right — I rate a raspberry on that answer.

One wonders why so many people who are hard of hearing are reluctant to admit it. And how ironic it is that so many of us willingly stick something in our eyes to improve our vision, but we're too embarrassed to stick something in our ears to improve our hearing.

Let's hear it from a sister who's right on in Sisters, Ore.:

DEAR ABBY: "Hurt in Paterson, N.J." should have been grateful, not hurt.

I was hospitalized not long ago. Several nurses were in and out of my room to take care of me. Some of them scolded me for not following instructions until I explained that I could not hear. One of the nurses made a sign and hung it over my bed: "Mrs. Tuggle is deaf, but she reads lips well."

From then on, all the people who came into my room made sure I could see their faces when they spoke to me. I wasn't offended by that sign. I was grateful to the nurse who put it there.

I hope that "Hurt" will accept her disability and not try to deny it or reject the help that comes from letting others know about our special needs. I have never known a person who did not respond positively to me when I explained my special needs.

Thank you, Abby, for giving space in your column to the problems of hearing impairment. You may use my name.

RUBY TUGGLE,
SISTERS, ORE.

DEAR RUBY: Thank you for sharing your sensible attitude. Many people who are hard of hearing pretend they aren't. They sit in groups, smiling and nodding, and either remain silent, or frequently they'll interject inappropriate comments because they don't have the faintest idea of what the conversation is about. Letters such as yours may help to persuade them to put vanity aside and see an audiologist.

MID-SUMMER

CLEAN-UP SALE

We've Cleaned House To Make Room For Fall Merchandise

FABRICS
2 Groups
50%-75% OFF

Summer Fabrics: Sport to Dressy. Also Some Decorator Fabrics.

CRAFT CORNER
25% OFF
All Crafts

VOGUE PATTERNS
Now Through July 31..... 1/2 PRICE

SANDS FABRICS
And QUILT CORNER
Janie Morris, Owner and Manager
Open Daily 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
225 N. Cuyler 669-7909

1 / 2

PRICE OR LESS!

We've regrouped and repriced all sale merchandise and now every sale item in every department is half-price or less! Hurry into...

HI-LAND FASHIONS
1543 N. Hobart
9:30-6:00 669-1058

Today's Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Insecticide
 - 4 Prenatal home
 - 8 Mustard plant
 - 12 Agnus
 - 13 Author Jean M.
 - 14 Vehicle
 - 15 Fermented drink
 - 16 Exasperate
 - 17 Too much (Fr.)
 - 18 Fabric measures
 - 20 Manorial land
 - 22 Beast of burden
 - 24 The (Ger.)
 - 25 Seed
 - 29 Singer Bob
 - 33 Irish islands
 - 34 Clare Boothe
 - 36 Bring into play
 - 37 Measure of temp.
 - 38 Existed
 - 39 Biblical boats
 - 40 Full of lather
 - 42 Entrance
 - 44 Conclusion
 - 46 Popeye's friend
 - 47 Wiped
 - 51 Beat
 - 55 Iron (dial.)
 - 56 Courts
 - 58 Salary
 - 59 List of foods
 - 60 Brute
 - 61 Clatter
 - 62 Formerly
 - 63 Fate
 - 64 Simple sugar
- DOWN
- 1 1944 invasion date (comp. wd.)
 - 2 Creme
 - 3 Row
 - 4 Capital of Poland
 - 5 French yes
 - 6 Merge

- 7 Run together, as dyes
- 8 Diluted
- 9 Belonging to us
- 10 of bricks
- 11 Information
- 19 Actress Cannon
- 21 One of an ancient race
- 23 Variety of cabbage
- 25 Not gentlemen
- 26 Of Mars (comb. form)
- 27 Indian music mode
- 28 Cosmonaut
- 30 Bait
- 31 Questions
- 32 Loch
- 35 Common (comb. form)
- 38 Comedian Ed
- 39 Folksinger Guthrie
- 41 Edible nut
- 43 Calcium mineral
- 45 Deposited moisture
- 47 Answered summons
- 48 Recliner
- 49 Sea birds
- 50 Inflict on (2 wds.)
- 52 Hairstyle
- 53 River nymph
- 54 Force unit
- 57 Ear (comb. form)

Answer to Previous Puzzle

K	O	L	A	S	U	R	E	V	U	G
W	O	E	S	L	S	A	T	I	S	A
A	P	E	S	A	N	D	Y	V	I	P
I	S	S	I	N	G	M	E	E	S	E
M	O	T	V	O	W
I	S	L	E	T	L	I	N	E	A	G	E
V	I	A	A	D	E	S	S	U	M	P
E	L	K	O	R	E	A	M	T	A	O
S	L	E	N	D	E	R	I	R	O	N
C	I	D	V	E	E
I	V	I	E	S	L	I	N	E	M	A	N
V	I	M	A	D	I	N	K	O	K	O
O	V	A	R	I	V	E	E	L	I	S
R	A	M	M	I	E	S	D	Y	N	E

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
12						13				14
15						16				17
18						19				20
21						22				23
24						25				26
27						28				29
30						31				32
33						34				35
36						37				38
39						40				41
42						43				44
45						46				47
48						49				50
51						52				53
54						55				56
57						58				59
60						61				62
63						64				65

0245 (c) 1988 by NEA, Inc. 12

GEECH

By Jerry Bittle

THE WIZARD OF ID

By Brant Parker and Johnny Hart

EEK & MEER

By Howie Schneider

B.C.

By Johnny Hart

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

Past experience will serve as a user-mentor in the year ahead, and you're not apt to stumble over old obstacles. You'll be in control instead of being controlled.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you let others direct you in a situation where you should be leading, nothing very fruitful is likely to result. Take charge yourself. Get a jump on life by understanding influences which are governing you in the year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) New vitality will be breathed into a secret ambition. Your chances of fulfilling your desire are much better than before. Keep the faith.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you've been thinking of establishing a new social affiliation, this is the right time to make your move. You could be very lucky in involvements with clubs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do not settle for second best where your personal objectives are concerned. The only thing standing in your way to success is yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Knowledge and expertise gained from experience can be utilized to your advantage in this new cycle. Conditions will provide you with the right opportunities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Beginning today, be alert for opportunities that will enable you to increase earnings through other than usual sources. Start probing around.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) New agreements look promising today, provided you seek the best counsel available before signing any documents that could bind you legally.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Advancement is possible in your chosen field of endeavor, but you must have a well thought out plan. Be sure everything you do is aimed toward your goals.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not despair if Cupid has not been too attentive recently. He's about to make amends and you should like what he has in mind for you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today, it looks like you will be able to disengage yourself and start anew regarding a matter that has been a source of annoyance to both you and your family.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Plan your day carefully so that you do not end up spinning your wheels. If you fail to make appointments, you might not find your people in.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something propitious could develop at this time that will help enhance your material well-being. It might start with a pop instead of a big bang.

© 1988, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

MARVIN

By Tom Armstrong

ALLEY OOP

By Dave Graue

SNAFU

By Bruce Beattie

The Family Circus

By Bill Keane

While Bill Keane is on vacation this week, Billy gives us his version of Daddy's fishing trip.

THE BORN LOSER

By Art Sansom

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schultz

MARMADUKE

By Brad Anderson

KIT N' CARLYLE

By Larry Wright

WINTHROP

By Dick Cavalli

CALVIN AND HOBBS

By Bill Watterson

FRANK AND ERNEST

By Bob Thaves

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

Sports

New faces dot All-Star lineup

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI — Mark Davis likens his first trip to the All-Star Game to "a two-minute spree in a toy store for a kid." And there are lots of kids in this toy store.

Davis, the San Diego Padres' bullpen ace, is one of 30 first-timers on the teams that will meet tonight in the All-Star Game. The National League will have 18 first-time All-Stars, the American League 12.

Whitey Herzog of the St. Louis Cardinals, manager of the National Leaguers, believes this may signal a changing of the guard in the major leagues, "but there still are a lot of good veteran ballplayers out there."

And there will be several on both sides for the scheduled start at 8:30 p.m. EDT, if rain that washed out part of Monday's workouts holds off tonight.

There are two first-time All-Star starters on the American League squad, the battery of left-hander Frank Viola of the Minnesota Twins and catcher Terry Steinbach of the Oakland Athletics. The AL starters, however, have 39 years' All-Star experience among them, including 12-time All-Star Dave Winfield of the New York Yankees.

The National League starters include three first-timers — Vince Coleman of the St. Louis Cardinals, Bobby Bonilla of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Will Clark of the San Francisco Giants. Nonetheless, the National League starters have 41 years' All-Star experience among them, including 11-time selection Gary Carter of the New York Mets.

"There are a lot of young players here," American League

Manager Tom Kelly of the Minnesota Twins said. "And there are a couple more around who didn't get picked like Ellis Burks, Joe Carter, Dave Henderson, Dave Stewart. There could have been more first-timers."

"But you've also got your Dave Winfields and Don Mattinglys — bona fide All-Stars who get the job done year in and year out," Kelly said.

Both starting pitchers come into the game with some rest. Dwight Gooden of the Mets, 11-5 with a 3.04 ERA, will start for the National League on three days' rest, one short of normal, after last pitching on Friday night in Houston. Viola, 14-2 with a 2.24 ERA for the defending World Series champion Twins, has not pitched since last Wednesday, giving him five days' rest.

"It'll be hard to top what we did in the World Series, but at least this will be a chance to show off our ability," Viola said, referring to himself and four teammates on the squad, the most ever for Minnesota. Oakland also has five All-Stars. Viola is the first Minnesota pitcher to start an All-Star Game since Dean Chance in 1967.

Kelly said his elected starters would bat in this order: Rickey Henderson, New York, center field; Paul Molitor, Milwaukee, second base; Wade Boggs, Boston, third base; Jose Canseco, Oakland, left field; Winfield, right field; Cal Ripken, Baltimore, shortstop; Mark McGwire, Oakland, first base; Steinbach, and Viola.

The lineup for the National League will be Coleman, left field; Ryne Sandberg, Chicago, second base; Andre Dawson, Chicago, center field; Darryl Strawberry, New York, right field;

Mets' catcher Gary Carter (left) joins Cubs' pitcher Greg Maddux in autographing baseballs.

Bonilla, third base; Clark, first base; Carter, catcher; Ozzie Smith, St. Louis, shortstop, and Gooden.

"I kind of feel like the old man of the team," said Strawberry, on his fifth All-Star team. "There are so many new faces here that it just doesn't seem like the same NL All-Star team anymore. It's good to have some new blood."

The Cubs top the NL with six All-Stars, the most in their history. The Mets and Cardinals have four each.

Kelly said Viola would be followed on the mound by Roger Clemens of Boston, who pitched Saturday, striking out 15 Chicago White Sox. Herzog will follow Gooden with left-handers Bob Knepfer of Houston and Danny Jackson of Cincinnati.

Bonilla, hitting .303 with 17 homers and 59 RBI, was elected over 11-time All-Star Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia, who is suffering through a subpar season.

"He's really improved at third base, and his numbers at the plate speak for themselves," said Davis, whose own numbers are pretty good (tied with Todd Worell of St. Louis for the league lead with 16 saves). "It's a great tribute to him and to all these young players."

The National League's backup third baseman, Chris Sabo of the host Reds, is the only rookie on either squad.

Weather threatened to be a problem tonight when the major leagues hold their first outdoor All-Star Game outside California since the 1983 game at Comiskey Park in Chicago. Rain washed out the American League workout and a special skills contest — which includes home run hitting and relay drills — on Monday. The forecast called for 80 percent chance of rain today, 50 percent tonight.

"I would have liked to go out there and pitch some batting practice today," Kelly said. "Cincinnati's been great except for the weather. Great for the farmers, though."

This is the fourth All-Star Game in Cincinnati. The National League won the previous three.

Although the American League ended the National's All-Star winning streak at 11 in 1983, the National Leaguers — who lead overall at 37-20-1 — still have won 14 of the last 16 and three of the last four. In fact, the only two National League losses — 1983 and 1986 — in the past 16 years have come with Herzog managing, following his World Series appearances in 1982 and 1985.

He doesn't relish the prospect of going 0-3, "but the All-Star Game doesn't have anything to do with league superiority," Herzog said.

"It's only important in that I like to win," Herzog said. Herzog said he liked the philosophy of former Minnesota Vikings football coach Bud Grant, who lost all four of his Super Bowl appearances.

Girls' softball all-stars

(Staff Photo)

Pampa's 11-12 year-old all-star girls' softball team begin district tournament play Tuesday night in Borger. Their first opponent is Dumas. Team members are (front row, l-r) Jennifer Medley, Misty Scribner, Angie Everson and Sherie Minyard; (second row, l-r) Danette Hoover, Tammy Chesher, Ketra Thompson, Lara Adams and Tonya Brown; (back row, l-r) Christy Hendrick, Sherri Utzman, coach Bill Forman, Julie Forman, Crystal Tomas and Misti Plunk.

Pampa advances to finals

The Pampa All-Stars hung on for an 11-10 win over Dumas Monday night to advance into the finals of the Babe Ruth District 13-year-old Tournament.

Pampa's foe in the finals has not been determined yet in the double-elimination tournament. The finals start at 6 p.m. Thursday, and a second game, if necessary, will follow.

Pampa broke an 8-8 tie with a three-run sixth inning and then in a nail-biting seventh choked off a Dumas rally for the victory.

With two outs in the seventh and two runners on, Dumas' cleanup hitter Smiley Garbajal rapped a two-run double off the fence to trim Pampa's lead to one. Pampa pitcher Jason Brantley then struck out the last batter to send Pampa into the championship. Garbajal had advanced to third on a steal when the final batter was called out.

Pampa was leading 3-2 after three innings when the local all-stars broke loose for four runs in the fourth.

Kurt West and Brantley both had triples in the inning while Tarin Peet doubled and Brad Millie singled.

Both teams scored a run in the fifth and then it was Dumas' turn to open the scoring floodgates with five runs in the sixth to deadlock the score.

Pampa's three runs in the bottom of the sixth came on a combination of stolen bases and errors.

Jeff Tidwell started on the mound for Pampa and Brantley finished up. They combined to allow seven hits while striking out seven and walking thirteen.

Peet was Pampa's top hitter with a double and two singles in three trips to the plate. Brantley had a triple and single while West had a triple and Millie, a single.

"It was a whaleuva game from beginning to end," said Pampa manager Dale West.

The Pampa All-Stars have now won three consecutive games in the tournament. They defeated Top O' Texas 8-4 Sunday night and then won over Canyon 9-7 in Friday's opener.

Canyon applied the 10-run rule in the sixth to blank Dalhart 10-0 in one other game played last night.

At 7 p.m. tonight, Canyon faces Top O' Texas in an elimination game with the winner playing Dumas at 7 p.m. Wednesday night.

Other district tournaments are scheduled to get under way tonight.

Pampa takes on Dumas at 8 p.m. tonight in a Babe Ruth 16-18 tournament at Perryton. If Pampa wins, they play again Wednesday night with the game starting at 8 p.m.

Pampa's 14-15 year-old all-star team takes the field tonight at Dumas. Pampa meets Top O' Texas at 6 p.m. tonight.

The Pampa girls' all-star softball teams also begin district tournament play this week.

In the 11-12 year-old division at Borger, Pampa takes on Dumas tomorrow night. In the 13-15 year-old division, Pampa meets Hi-Plains West in tournament play at Dumas.

Diablos victorious

By The Associated Press

Bill Spires singled home Tim Casey with the winning run in the 13th inning to give the El Paso Diablos a 4-3 Texas League baseball victory over the Shreveport Captains.

In other Texas League action Monday night, Tulsa defeated Midland, 8-5, Jackson edged Wichita, 4-2, in 10 innings and San Antonio slipped past Arkansas, 4-1.

Casey had opened the 13th inning with a double and moved to third on an out with two outs and raced home on Spires' grounder that went through for a hit.

The losing pitcher was Jose Dominguez, 2-6.

Monty Fariss hit a two-run double to highlight a four-run first inning and put Tulsa ahead for good as the Drillers defeated the Midland Angels, 8-5.

Jennings, Berry are partnership medalists

Mona Jennings of Wheeler paired with Janene Berry of Farwell to win medalist honors during Monday's qualifying round of the Amarillo Country Club Women's Partnership.

Jennings and Farwell combined for a 154, four strokes better than Amarillo's Robin Madison and Odessa's Candice Morgan.

(AP Laserphoto)

Rookie defenders for the Dallas Cowboys hold their first full day of practice Monday at their Thousand Oaks training camp in California. Coaches say No. 1 draft choice Michael Irvin is one of several rookies likely to challenge veterans for starting positions. Irvin is a wide receiver.

Pokes' Irvin expected to challenge veterans

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — No. 1 draft pick Michael Irvin is only one of several rookies likely to challenge veterans for starting positions for the Dallas Cowboys.

Irvin, a wide receiver, signed a 4-year, $1.85 million contract Sunday, allowing him to report to camp on time and begin earning a starting position at the other end of the line from veteran Mike Renfro.

Irvin could reap the benefits from an early signing as soon as mid-season, coaches say.

"There's no question when you are a No. 1 draft choice you have the skills to do it," said pass offense coordinator Paul Hackett. "We all saw what (Mike) Sherrard, who missed a lot of camp, did at the end of his rookie year (1986). That can happen to Michael Irvin in the middle of his rookie year."

The Cowboys will initially line Irvin up at flanker, his college position.

Irvin's 6-2, 198 pound-size, speed and background from pass-happy Miami, the college team with a pro-style offense, could make him a candidate for another Cowboy need — relieving Herschel Walker.

"Our great need at this point is to have an emergence at wide receiver, like a Sherrard," head coach Tom Landry said. "Somebody who the defense can look at and say, 'We've got to defend him; we can't just defend Herschel all the time.' We need to prevent the defense from playing an eight-man front against Herschel."

The Cowboys' youth movement, highlighted by last season's defeats of the Los Angeles Rams and the St. Louis Cardinals while starting four rookies, should continue this year.

"We would like to have a football team starting with people in place who can help us two years down the way," Landry said.

No. 2 pick unsigned linebacker Ken Norton is also expected to compete for a starting post.

Norton will be shifted from inside linebacker, his position at UCLA, to the outside on the Cowboys.

Veteran Mike Hegman, the left-side linebacker, could be the first choice to lose his starting slot to Norton, though perhaps not this year.

Norton instead will probably be a role-player — cover man or blitzer in the nickel defense and also on the special teams.

Empty beaches highlight waste problem

NEW YORK (AP) — As New Yorkers sweltered through temperatures in the 90s last week, some of their favorite beaches were vacant — except for a few men and women who picked through tidal debris.

The beachcombers were not out shelling. Syringes, blood vials and other waste had washed up at Jones Beach, Robert Moses State Park and other locations along 25 miles of Long Island shore. The workers were enlisted to comb the closed beaches for additional items of waste.

Although at first the debris was thought to be hospital waste, federal and state officials concluded last week the debris resembled household and boating garbage. Most of the beaches were reopened on Saturday.

"We don't believe this is a medical or hospital-type washup," William J. Muszynski, the deputy regional administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, told The New York Times.

He suggested that fears had been raised by the discovery of 145 vials of blood a few days earlier on the shore in industrial Bayonne, N.J.; five of the vials were contaminated with the AIDS virus. A month ago, five vials of blood were found farther south, in Ocean County, N.J.

The debris on the Long Island beaches focused attention on the issue of medical-waste disposal, commonly called red-bag trash because of the color of the bags in which it is put to distinguish it from regular garbage.

Those bags often contain lab waste, body parts, disposable medical supplies, blood vials, needles, syringes, intravenous tubing and any other material used to puncture the skin.

A 500-bed hospital will spend an average of $120,000 annually to a specially licensed carter to haul it away, said Kenneth Raske, president of the Greater New York Hospital Association. Larger hospitals which treat many AIDS patients often pay twice as much.

Carters then must take the trash to high-tech incinerators capable of burning the waste at temperatures of more than 2,000 degrees and up and pay anywhere from 50 cents to 90 cents a pound to burn it.

Most of these incinerators are far from the trash's point of origin, some as far away as Pennsylvania, resulting in added trucking costs.

This, state environmentalist spokesman R.W. Groneman says, is an invitation to the "midnight dumper." Carters can either undercut their competition or raise profits by promising to abide by the law, then dumping the refuse at sea or on land.

"As we apply tighter and tighter standards on managing garbage, we're also making it more costly and as a result we're getting a lot of illegal dumping," said J. Winston Porter, EPA assistant administrator of solid waste. "Though the EPA has seen isolated incidents elsewhere, Porter says it's 'nothing like what we've seen in New York and New Jersey, which have very stringent laws concerning garbage.'"

In New York, all potentially infectious waste must be burned in special incinerators. Outside of New York City, all other medical waste can be buried in landfills. In New York City, however, all medical waste must be burned.

If medical trash is traced back to a particular hospital, they face fines of up to $25,000.

Volunteer searches beach for debris.

(AP Laserphoto)

Southerners want centrist vice president

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Most Southern Democratic Party state chairmen agree that it's more important for Michael Dukakis to pick a centrist as his running mate than a Southerner recruited to assuage regional pride.

"Dukakis doesn't need a Southerner to win nationally or in the South, although ... from regional pride, you'd like to see it," John Anderson of Georgia said.

Anderson said he would just look for a vice presidential nominee without any negative aspects "because no one's going to vote for him except his mother."

The Greenville News last week interviewed 11 of the 13 Southern and border state chairmen. Virginia's Lawrence Framme and Florida's Charles Whitehead couldn't be reached for comment.

"Dukakis has an unusual opportunity to make a political statement with his vice presidential choice, and I think he ought to make a statement back toward moderation," said Robert Slagle, an attorney from Texas now in his fifth term as Texas Democratic chairman.

But just who the chairmen want beside Dukakis ranges across the political spectrum.

One chairman picked Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri, who once was in the presidential race himself against Dukakis. Two chairmen each opted for Sens. Albert Gore Jr. of Tennessee, Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, John Glenn of Ohio, Sam Nunn of Georgia and Bob Graham of Florida.

One chairman, Richard Lodge of Tennessee, who backed Gore's presidential bid, said he was uncommitted and just wanted "one that won't hurt the ticket."

Anderson said that from a Southern standpoint, Gore would be the logical choice. But if Dukakis is looking for someone with a more nationwide appeal, Glenn could be the pick.

"For a VP, I don't look for the strongest, but for one who can do the job and has a favorable rating with the people ... because as long as it's favorable you won't hear one way or the other. If it's unfavorable, that's all they'll hound us on."

Alabama state party chairman John Baker said he felt Dukakis had to carry some Southern states to win the election, but he said that doesn't mean the candidate has to pick a Southerner for vice president.

James Van Hecke of North Carolina said he was "probably" for Glenn, but he isn't entirely sure.

"I guess he would offer more than anybody else," he said.

South Carolina's Frank Holleman said he would prefer Glenn, since Nunn has taken himself out of contention. Holleman, a Greenville attorney, said Dukakis doesn't need a Southerner, although it would probably provide a boost in the region during the immediate post-convention days.

Louisiana's James Brady said he preferred Bentsen over Gore. And he said Glenn "is a neutral in Louisiana. He doesn't hurt you, but he certainly doesn't bring you anything, either."

Lilburn Carlisle of Arkansas said Bentsen would boost the ticket in his state as well as Louisiana and Oklahoma, while Ed Cole of Mississippi said he was wary of Dukakis picking someone "offensive to this part of the country." He said Glenn, Gore and Graham would be fine, but that Rep. Lee Hamilton of Indiana and the Rev. Jesse Jackson would not.

Jerry Lundegran of Kentucky said he prefers Gore, while Karen Schafer of Missouri said she liked Gephardt.

Maryland's Rosalie Riley said she preferred Nunn, but she suggested that former Transportation Secretary Brock Adams of Washington might provide a fresh face.

MID-SUMMER Savings

COOK'S WHOLE SMOKED PICNICS
6-8 LB. AVERAGE

68¢ LB.

SLICED HALF OR WHOLE
LB. 78¢

WRIGHT'S HICKORY SMOKED SLAB BACON

$1.29 LB.

LEAN TRIM FAMILY PAK PORK CHOPS $1.79 LB.

EXTRA LEAN CENTER CUT PORK CHOPS $2.49 LB.

LEAN TRIM COUNTRY STYLE PORK RIBS $1.79 LB.

Blue Bonnet Margarine

MARGARINE QUARTERS

BLUE BONNET

1 LB. BOX

39¢

SHURSAVING FLOUR

ENRICHED

SHURSAVING FLOUR

5 LB. BAG

69¢

SHURSAVING HOMO MILK

GALLON

$1.89

Delsey

FOR THE BATHROOM

DELSEY TISSUE

4 ROLL PKG.

89¢

PAPER TOWELS

HI-DRI

JUMBO ROLLS

2 $1 FOR

45° OFF LABEL

DOWNY SOFTENER

64 OZ. BTL.

$1.99

Frito Lay

CHEETOS SNACKS

1.59 SIZE

$1.09

CALIFORNIA SWEET JUICY

PEACHES OR NECTARINES

EXTRA LARGE SIZE

89¢ LB.

SOFT SUNDAE

BETTY CROCKER ASSORTED

6 PACK BOX

$2.29

PANCAKE MIX

AUNT JEMIMA ORIG.

2 LB. BOX

99¢

PANCAKE SYRUP

AUNT JEMIMA BUTTERFLITE/LITE

24 OZ. BTL.

$2.19

FAB DETERGENT

40° OFF LABEL W/FABRIC SOFTENER

42 OZ. BOX

$1.69

FOLGERS COFFEE

ALL GRINDS

1 LB. CAN

$2.59

CRINKLES

ORE-IDA FRIES OR GOLDEN

2 LB. BAG

$1.49

CHUCK WAGON

PURINA DOG FOOD

20 LB. BAG

$8.99

FABRIC SOFTENER SHEETS

CLING FREE

24 CT. PKG.

79¢

FLA-VOR-ICE BARS

24 CT. CTN.

$1.29

CREAM PIES

BANQUET ASST.

14 OZ. BOX

99¢

PASTA ACCENTS

GREEN GIANT ASST.

16 OZ. BOX

$1.69

BEREND BROS

JUMBO EGGS

29¢

WITH EACH FILLED BIG BLUE BONUS BOOKLET 79¢ WITHOUT BOOKLET

DR. PEPPER OR 7 UP

6 PACK 16 OZ. BOTTLES

$1.29

TEXAS FRESH ZUCCHINI OR YELLOW SQUASH

39¢ LB.

JUMBO ITALIAN SWEET RED ONIONS 3 $1.00 LB.

CALIFORNIA FRESH GREEN BEANS 79¢ LB.

NEW CROP TEXAS PREMIUM RED POTATOES 4 $1.00 LB.

CALIFORNIA FRESH GREEN ONIONS 5 BUNCHES $1.00

DAIRY DELIGHTS

KRAFT CHILLED ORANGE JUICE

64 OZ. JAR

$1.99

BISCUITS

PILLSBURY ASST.

7 1/2 OZ. CANS

5 99¢

CHEESE SINGLES

SHURSAVING

12 OZ. PKG.

89¢

IBC ROOTBEER

12 OZ. NO RETURN BOTTLES

6 PACK

$1.99

PALMOLIVE

AUTOMATIC DISH DETER.

50 OZ. BTL.

$1.79

PALMOLIVE

40° OFF LABEL LIQUID

32 OZ. BTL.

$1.29

KITCHEN BAGS

HEFTY TALL

30 CT. BOX

$2.69

THRIFFTWAY

WE ACCEPT FOOD STAMPS... WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT

FRANK'S FOODS

PRICES EFFECTIVE JULY 12-18, 1988

No. 1 Store 630 S. Oyster 665-5451

No. 2 Store 421 E. Frederic 665-8531

We Accept Food Stamps No. 7 Store Days 7 a.m.-7 p.m.