Vietnam Peace Proposal Facing Serious Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a series of tactical moves, the United States has served notice on Hanoi that the Vietnam peace agreement may be in danger of flying apart.

First the Navy suspended minesweeping operations in North Vietnamese waters. Then the chief U.S. delegate to Paris talks on reconstruction of the war-torn country was called home for "consultations."

And finally, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told Hanoi Thursday that the administration would drop its assistance plan unless North Vietnam lives up to the pact signed in Paris Jan. 27.

Notary Public Deadline Near

It is time for notary publics to renew their commissions for the new term beginning June 1, according to the office of Gray County Clerk Wanda Carter.

Secretary of State Mark W. White Jr. has announced that all presently commissioned notaries desiring re-appointment must pay the required fee and file a new oath and bond with the county clerk between May 1 and May 15.

White also stated that any person not now a notary public who desires appointment for the beginning of the new term should apply to the county clerk before May 14.

Mrs. Carter's office has the necessary forms.

White emphasized that notaries should not send requests for appointment or for commissions directly to the secretary of state inasmuch as the law specifically requires that the county clerk approve notary bonds and forward copies of the application to the secretary of state.

The three pressure moves were designed to persuade North Vietnam to stop infiltrating men and equipment into South Vietnam and to withdraw its troops from Cambodia and Laos.

Rogers acknowledged that the United States had intensified its bombing in Cambodia, as well as carrying out a two-day raid in Laos, and he recalled the threat of "appropriately vigorous reactions" issued jointly by President Nixon and South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu on April 3.

Although these actions were intended to be taken seriously, U.S. officials noted privately that there still was considerable room for diplomacy at least two trump cards that could be played would be sending Henry Kissinger to Hanoi or to Paris for another round of negotiations or reconvening the original 12-nation Paris peace conference.

North Vietnam made the initial announcement that the United States had suspended the sweeping of mines it placed in North Vietnamese waters last May.

Confirming the action Thursday, Jerry W. Friedheim, the Pentagon spokesman, blamed "continued cease-fire violations by the other side in South Vietnam and Laos."

Recall of Maurice Williams, Deputy Director of the Agency for International Development, from the Paris reconstruction talks was announced by Charles W. Bray, the State Department spokesman.

"The North Vietnamese and their friends cannot reasonably expect to pick and choose as to those portions of the agreement which they wish to observe and those which they wish to disregard," he said.

Damaging Winds Sweep Across Panhandle Area

High winds continued to sweep over the Panhandle area late Thursday afternoon, but most of the force had abated from the hurricane velocity winds reported in a number of places during the morning.

The force of the wind damaged various structures and left tree limbs scattered across yards and streets in Pampa and other area towns.

No official wind velocity was available for Pampa, but the new wind gauge at Perry Lefors Airfield, replaced after damage by an earlier windstorm, hit the peak calibration of 85 mph and then broke when the wind put the tube fluid into overflow.

Airport manager Clarence Swindell estimated gusts hit at least 90 mph several times yesterday.

A few panels of tin were blown from a 40-year-old utility building at the field. Southwestern Public Service Co. was still working on a backlog of power emergencies created by the winds late Thursday evening, but reported most situations under control this morning.

A number of Pampans who braved the winds for trips to surrounding areas reported marred windshields. One woman said her car's windshield looked as though it had been "hit with buckshot."

A resident paused at a traffic signal at Cuyler and Brown Sts. and had his car damaged when the light on the west median was blown from its standard and struck the vehicle.

Other damage reports included bent television antennas, blown-out windows, broken tree limbs, roofs partially blown off, panels removed from buildings and fences and even a few personal injuries as residents were blown down or struck by flying objects.

No immediate cost estimate of damages was available. Winds were expected to be westerly today, at 15 to 25 mph, with some gusts, but not as strong as yesterday. Skies were to be clear to partly cloudy through Saturday, with a slight chance of late afternoon and evening thundershowers. High today was to reach into

Mitchell Says He Vetoes Watergate Bugging Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was quoted today as accusing other Nixon campaign officials of planning the Watergate bugging, and more extensive intelligence operations as well, over his personal veto.

Mitchell spoke to a reporter in the offices of federal prosecutors prior to an appearance before a federal grand jury. He confirmed a news account that he had told friends he attended three meetings at which plans to bug the Democrats were pro-

Welfare Changes Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has proposed sweeping changes in federal welfare rules to help states weed out ineligible and overpaid recipients.

The new regulations announced Thursday, cover eligibility, appeals hearings and recovery of overpayments. They could save hundreds of millions of dollars in the $18 billion-a-year welfare system, said Robert B. Carleson, a special assistant on welfare matters in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He said the initial reaction from state welfare administrators has been "overwhelmingly positive."

Carleson, Gov. Ronald Reagan's former welfare director, was brought to Washington by HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger to promote California-style welfare reform throughout the nation.

When HEW threatened last year to withhold nearly $500 million a year in federal matching grants to states as a penalty for welfare errors, Carleson said, governors complained that many of the overpayments were due to federal rules which tied their hands.

HEW later softened the threat, and has given states two years to improvement management of their welfare systems.

Weinberger disclosed earlier that he would attempt to improve welfare management through rules changes, because Congress did not act the last three years on the President's welfare-reform legislation.

Two key provisions in the proposed changes, Carleson said, would allow states to make private investigations of recipients' eligibility and give states a free hand to recover payments under "all circumstances."

Currently an applicant's consent is required before information such as income, employment and family size can be checked through other sources.

posed, and had rejected the plans. "I want to add the plans were not just to bug somebody," Mitchell said. "They were for more detailed intelligence. We were not there just to discuss bugging."

Mitchell's conversation was cut short as the reporter, Lesley Stahl of CBS, was asked to leave.

What Mitchell was quoted as confirming was a report in The New York Times saying Mitchell told his friends that Jeb Magruder and G. Gordon Liddy proposed bugging plans on three different occasions and that he vetoed them.

Magruder was Mitchell's second-in-command at the campaign, and has reportedly told prosecutors that the bugging operation was planned and approved by Mitchell and White House counsel John W. Dean III. Liddy was a lawyer for the campaign and is serving a jail term after being convicted in the bugging conspiracy.

Mitchell's statement today seemed to conflict with a sworn statement he made in a civil case last Sept. 1, when he said he knew of no one higher than Liddy who was involved in the burglary, wiretapping and bugging incident.

Christians Observe Good Friday Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christians around the world attended Good Friday services today to usher in the Easter weekend, and many prepared to flee crowded city life for holidays in the country or at the seashore.

Pilgrims were to retrace Christ's steps to Calvary through the narrow streets of Jerusalem, and in Rome Pope Paul VI was to preside over services at noon in St. Peter's Basilica.

After dusk the Pope, who will be 76 this year, was to carry a cross from the Colosseum to the ruins of the Temple of Venus in the annual Way of the Cross procession.

Putting aside his gold and white mitre and chasuble for a deacon's vestment and apron, the Pontiff left his throne in the Lateran Basilica Thursday to wash the feet of 12 children in the annual papal re-enactment of Christ's washing the feet of the 12 Apostles on the eve of his death.

The Lateran Basilica is the Pope's cathedral as bishop of Rome, and in a 10-minute homily he told the crowd of 6,000 that he was his host just as Christ was host to his disciples at the Last Supper.

But Mitchell said all his previous statements remained "operative," particularly his insistence that he didn't know about raid plans in advance.

Mitchell, Magruder and Dean are now engaged in a three-cornered argument, carried out through public statements and news leaks, over which of them should bear blame for planning the Watergate operation.

Outside his home in Georgetown, H. R. Haldeman, the President's chief of staff, told ABC's Frank Tomlinson that reports about his being about to resign were untrue.

Asked whether he flatly denied the reports, Haldeman replied: "Yes, sir."

Sources close to the Senate Watergate investigation have told The Associated Press that the Justice Department expects to see all three of them indicted, along with others.

Magruder, who was Mitchell's second-in-command at the Nixon campaign, reportedly has told federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean helped plan the Watergate bugging and later arranged payoffs to buy silence from men convicted of the crime. Magruder has been unavailable to newsmen, but his lawyer says he intends to testify voluntarily when called before the grand jury.

For his part, Mitchell told newsmen Thursday that the Magruder report is "nonsense."

Today the New York Times said Mitchell had told friends he was present at three meetings last year when Magruder and G. Gordon Liddy, later convicted in the conspiracy, proposed plans to bug the opposition party headquarters. But the Times quoted sources as saying Mitchell insisted he rejected the plans at all three meetings. Dean was present at one or more of the meetings, Mitchell reportedly said.

An associate told the AP today that Mitchell has said privately if he had known of the Watergate plans, "he would have tried to stop it."

Nixon Rejects Pentagon Attempt To Control Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has rejected a Pentagon bid to wrest control of U.S. military aid from the State Department congressional sources say.

The President has overrudden the decision of Buzhardt, Richardson and company and the aid program will stay the way it is, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said Thursday.

He was referring to Pentagon general counsel J. Fred Buzhardt and Defense Secretary Elliot L. Richardson.

The Richardson proposal surfaced earlier this week when Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., disclosed a letter written by Buzhardt to the White House Office of Management and Budget.

Buzhardt was quoted as saying the shift from State Department control to the Pentagon would make U.S. military assistance "less visible since it would be spread" through various accounts in the defense budget.

The letter, Humphrey said, also stated the changeover would remove military aid from an unfriendly Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

WIND DAMAGE — Gusts up to 90 miles an hour Thursday damaged various structures around the city. Examples of the damage include a plate glass window blown out, left, at Warner Janitor

DPS Issues Reminder On Bus Stoppings

AUSTIN — A reminder on the state law about motorists stopping for school buses was issued today by Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Speir said the law, which applies on city streets as well as rural highways requires motorists moving in either direction on the same roadway or street with a school bus to stop and remain stopped as long as the flashing top red lights on the bus are in operation.

He said the problem is becoming more serious in cities due to increased use of school buses in urban school districts.

There are only two exceptions to the law on stopping for loading or unloading a school bus. Those vehicles on another roadway of a divided highway (divided by median or physical barrier) are not required to stop, and stops are not required if the bus has stopped in a loading zone of a controlled access highway where pedestrians are not permitted to cross.

Speir said the problem of school bus accidents is of concern to law enforcement officials and educators throughout Texas. Only a few weeks ago, the Travis County Grand Jury urged the news media to publicize the law about stopping and not passing a school bus which is loading or unloading children.

The grand jury noted that serious criminal charges might result if a motorist disregards this law.

Television 'And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope's seventh and final NBC special of the season Thursday night was partly composed by a new 69-year-old writer hurriedly pressed into duty. The writer was Hope.

His seven-man team of jokesmiths, all members of the Writers Guild, had to go out on strike when the Guild did last weekend. This left Hope without writers just before rehearsals began.

They had turned in a basic outline of the show before leaving—but not all the gags had been tested, timed, accepted or rejected.

"This put Hope in a bind because, as he explained, 'ordinarily we work right up to the last minute on the script, even while we're shooting.'

"If we don't like something, we go back and redo it or put a bandaid on it here or there.

"And while we're shooting we have the writers up in a room, watching on a TV monitor, and we go up and we say, 'What can we do here?' We do a lot of repair work."

This week, Hope had to fix it himself, as well as write part of it, aided by comedian Milton Berle, who appeared on the show along with Glen Campbell, The Supremes and Joey Heatherton.

Citation, with a total earnings from 1947 to 1951 of $1,085,760, was the first horse to win a million dollars in races.

WORRY CLINIC

Scrapbook this case! For it describes the most unique event in all religious history on this planet! And it explains why Easter is the summa qua/ non of Earth's ethical evolution. So teach your children these facts.

CASE W-583: Prof. Simon teaches a large men's Sunday School Class. "Dr. Crane," he asked while I was a guest in his city, "would you mind telling my group why Christianity surpasses other religions?"

So I quickly explained that in no other religion ever evolved on this planet Earth, has Deity ever been depicted as a loving, affectionate type of Father!

Genesis says we human beings were created in God's own image—and thus are the children of the Almighty.

But every primitive tribe soon realized that some powerful force was behind the rain and wind and lightning.

So they developed many gods, like the Romans' Mars and Neptune.

But always, WITHOUT A SINGLE EXCEPTION, their gods were regarded as sadistic and vindictive, eager to incinerate us human worshippers as by the thunderbolts of Thor and Woden.

So our primitive ancestors tried to appease or bribe the favor of those cruel gods with offerings of food and wine and even human sacrifices.

Even faithful Abraham and such great prophets as Samuel and Elijah continued this one-way type of sacrifice to Jehovah.

But Abraham "jumped the gun" 1,800 years on the brilliant philosophers of Greece and Rome by deciding there was just one Deity, called Elohim or Jahweh (Jehovah).

However, nobody had yet conceived of God as an affectionate, long suffering Father, willing to forgive us erring mortals here on Earth.

Since Abraham had been willing to sacrifice his son Isaac as proof of his love for God, God must have decided to reverse all religious customs and reciprocate Abraham's evidence of total affection, by thus sacrificing Jesus to prove his love for us puny mortals.

That was the most unique event in all ethical history! For no god had ever previously deigned to sacrifice to us puny mortals!

Always and inexorably, mankind had bowed down in fear and trembling to placate

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D. vengeful deities via sacrifices. So Calvary is unmatched in any other religion on this planet!

Jesus was sent to Earth to demonstrate these startling new concepts:

(1) That God is a loving Father and we are His children; not abject slaves of a cruel dictator deity;

(2) That man is a Spirit, only temporarily encased in an animated mammalian machine, for transporting him on foot and effecting the plans devised by his superior brain;

(3) That at death, our true personality (Spirit) is unfettered from the human machine we previously occupied and then can instantly travel via thought to places 1,000 light years away.

Which is why Jesus, until His Crucifixion, took hours to trudge the few miles between Bethlehem or Nazareth to Jerusalem, for He, too, was then chained to a human body with a walking rate of only about 3 miles per hour.

But after His Resurrection, He could break bread in Emmaus, yet in a split second be back in the Upper Room.

That's also why Jesus said, "Ask and ye shall receive," for His Spirit is diffused everywhere; so any kindred soul who so wishes may instantly "tune in" upon it.

For example, our Sun is in a fixed spot at the center of our solar system but its light radiates everywhere.

And that freely diffused Spirit of Deity is what we mean by the Holy Ghost, which can suffuse anybody for the asking!

Neither Buddha (Gautama), nor Zoroaster nor Confucius ever offered anything remotely like Christianity!

Foundation Seeks to End the Cry Of 'Oh, My Aching Head!' Victims

By AP Newsfeatures
NEW YORK (AP) — Migraine gives women a real pain.

Of more than 10 million Americans who suffer from migraine headaches, 75 to 80 per cent are women, according to the National Migraine Foundation.

Dr. Seymour Diamond, foundation president, profiles the typical migraine sufferer as female, intelligent, trim and a hard-driving perfectionist with a history of headaches.

Each year, 2,000 persons have a new migraine headache, he added.

Diamond's organization is two and a half years old and was patterned after the British Migraine Foundation, a unit of lay people, and Migraine Trust, composed of physicians and scientists.

"When I visited Great Britain to talk about my headache studies, I was amazed by the amount and quality of research being done on migraine. There is widespread financial support among lay people for research, and this in a nation where there's no income tax deduction for contributions," Diamond said.

"I was impressed with the character and type of research. Almost all of our work is drug oriented because it is supported by pharmaceutical donors."

Diamond said the Chicago-based migraine unit is the first to study headache in the United States on a massive scale. So far the foundation has awarded two grants for migraine study to colleges.

"I would say that 90 per cent of the headache problems seen by the average physician are psychogenic in nature. Eight per cent are vascular, one-sided or cluster migraine. Two per cent of headache complaint is caused by organic disease," he added.

If a person has migraine headaches, it is likely his parents suffered from them, also.

After heredity, factors which cause the headaches involve personality. Intelligent people who are compulsive and precise often suffer from migraine.

Diamond said that more than $400 million is spent annually on across the counter headache remedies.

"That's why we want to learn the cause of migraine, develop methods of relief and organize treatment centers throughout the nation. We need to educate the medical community and the public about migraine," he said.

"In addition to drug therapy, we are investigating biofeedback. Volunteers are working with special equipment to learn to control the temporal artery every time they feel a migraine coming on."

Eventually the National Migraine foundation plans to establish clinics for headache across the nation. Diamond believes there are enough migraine sufferers around the country to support such clinics.

Grandpa wants tattler to rat on best friend

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior in high school, and I live with my grandparents. My best friend (I'll call her Donna) is my age and we've been like sisters all our lives since she lives across the street.

My grandparents think Donna is an angel, so yesterday while they were going on and on about how perfect Donna was, I got mad and blurted out that Donna went all the way with Kenny, the boy she's been going steady with. I was sorry right after I said it, but it was too late.

Well, last night Grandpa said he felt it was his duty to tell Donna's father what I told him, but he needed my cooperation. Now he wants me to repeat to Donna's father what I told him. Abby, what I said was true, but I don't want to repeat it to Donna's father.

My grandpa is giving me a week to decide on what I want to say. I need your help, Abby. Should I cooperate or not? I really don't want to. I feel like a rat. BIG MOUTH

DEAR BIG MOUTH: You've already done too much talking. Tell Grandpa you don't want to repeat what you said about Donna. If he wants to tell Donna's father, you can't stop him. If he does, I hope you have a substitute best friend warming up in the bullpen.

DEAR ABBY: My divorce will be final in three weeks, but my ex is still following me around begging me to give him another chance.

Abby, I still love him, but I don't want to live with him. He's insanely jealous for no reason at all. I am a good Christian woman and never gave him cause to doubt me, but he has beat me up several times trying to get me to "confess."

Once he broke my nose, knocked out four teeth, and I had 22 stitches on my lip. Then he pinned me up against the wall and broke my collarbone. That's when I filed for divorce.

My friends say I'd have to be crazy to take him back. I still love him. What would you do? IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: I certainly wouldn't take him back. But if you do, you should try to find a psychiatrist with two couches—one for you and one for him.

DEAR ABBY: In an attempt to criticize you for your views on bathing, a quartet of women from Hagerstown, Md., wrote: "You belong in India, where your views allow you to label women 'unclean' and 'untouchable.'"

First of all, the untouchable caste, which applied only to men, has been outlawed in India since 1947. Secondly, Indians are among the cleanest people on earth. Hindus, who comprise 85 per cent of India's population, bathe every morning as a religious ritual. And it is not uncommon for an Indian to take three or four baths a day. They may be poor, but they're clean.

And finally, anyone who believes that women take a back seat in India should be reminded that India's leader is a woman UP ON INDIA

DEAR UP: Three cheers for India! People are usually down on what they're not up on.

Pam Green Becomes Bride Of John Neil

Wedding vows were exchanged April 7, in Fellowship Baptist Church of Pampa, by Pam Green and PFC John D. Neil. The mid-afternoon vows were read by Rev. E.D. Maddux, pastor of the church, before an altar decorated by an arrangement of white carnations.

Mrs. Carole Scott, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and the traditional marches.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Green, 909 Barnard, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neil, 1604 N. Faulkner.

THE BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of white satin, fashioned with an A-line skirt and a high-waisted bodice of satin covered with white lace. Long sleeves of lace were puffed from the elbow and gathered into wrist bands of white satin. The scoop neckline was accented by a gold necklace with a narrow chain, her "something new." The tiered veil of white tulle was of finger-tip length and fell from a headpiece of satin and lace, edged with seed pearls. To complete the tradition of something blue, she wore the bridal garter, something borrowed was the white Bible belonging to the maid of honor, something old was a two-cent piece in her shoe, also carried for luck. Her going-away costume was of purple polyester knit with a matching sleeveless vest.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Cindy Hicky, maid of honor, was dressed in a floor-length gown of lilac polyester crepe, with purple velvet ribbon accenting the empire waist line. She carried a nosegay of white split carnations and wore a wide hat of lilac straw.

Ushers were PFC Kenneth

Democracy Is Alive and Talking in New England

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Town Meeting, America's original form of participatory democracy, has in most states given way to less cumbersome governmental processes. However, many municipalities in New England cling to the concept. Tom Tiede reports on one.)

By TOM TIEDE

PEMBROKE, Mass. (NEA) — When the last of the stragglers found a folding chair in the Center School gymnasium, Moderator John Walsh opened the meeting with the inevitable announcement:

"Will the owner of a green station wagon, license number G5589, please move his car. It's blocking traffic in the parking lot."

That done, Walsh gavelled the ancient rites (Pembroke was founded in the early 1700s) to order. Bang, bang. Later, when the 350 voters present began to get restless and feisty, Walsh was forced to bring out a three-foot gavel with a six-inch head to preserve Robert's Rules of Order. Yuk. Most of the time, however, the only disorders were coughs, sneezes, sighs and the ringing of the dadd-ratted microphone.

The three-foot gavel aside, there were precious few jolies this evening. The Town Meeting, as one official kept telling a visitor, "is no picnic." More than $8 million worth of community expenses had to be considered for an 18-month period (normally, finance decisions are for 12 months but a change in fiscal year dating necessitated an extension; and considering the sum, many there were downright grim. True, some of the budget would be coming from "revenue sharing," and special interests kept reminding the audience that this raise of that raise "would only add a dollar or so to the rate," but the mostly middle-aged, mostly middle-class voters had little to really cheer.

"A dollar here, a dollar there," grumped one resident, "if taxes go up much more we might as well move to Russia."

That, of course, was the ultimate lament. These were solid Americans assembled, the kind who put flag decals on their windshields. Pembroke was a patriotic community when the Indians were teaching the Pilgrims about corn. All signs in this area seem to lead either to the Miles Standish monument or Plymouth Rock. And many a man hereabouts has preserved his World War II uniform faithfully in an attic place of honor.

To be sure, the town has changed over the generations. George Gillette remembers when there was only one Democrat in the area — "and he didn't admit it." Now, what with immigrating commuters from Boston, a population that has doubled in 10 years (currently, 12,000), and reports that some kids grow pot the other side of the Cardinal Gushing Highway, Pembroke is not so crusty as before. But it is still conservative. Says resident Mary Birchmore: "People in this town watch every penny." Mrs. Birchmore, the village registrar, should know. Often she has to address Town Meetings for more money. This year, in fact, she had to do it twice. Her first plea was flatly rejected. Then, standing in the back of the gymnasium, to the right of the rolled-up basketball hoop, she asked for reconsideration. Noting that even the dog catcher had received a hefty increase in salary, Mrs. Birchmore made a stirring plea for 500 clams, and, to her surprise, won approval.

Other city employees were not so persistent or fortunate. The town collector, as example, began an impassioned speech, dry-throated, with the statement: "I know nobody likes the town collector, but somebody has to do it." Shifting nervously from foot to foot, she asked for a fat hike and was resolutely, almost gleefully, refused.

The most gleeful refuser, as it happened, was also the most prolific. Robert Jordan (pronounced Jaahdon here), a resident for five years, led what early looked like a charge toward fiscal strangulation. Popping up to question almost every budget proposal, from the restoration of Turkey Pond to the expenses for Dutch Elm control, he urged those present to "hold the purse strings!"

Alas, he protested too much. About the time he rose, for the umpteenth time, to question the need for new fire hoses, the frustrated Moderator brought in his big gavel: "Mr. Jaahdon, how would you like to serve on a committee to inspect the old hoses?" After that, Jordan kept his seat and measure after measure passed virtually without questions.

Indeed, nitpicking was not welcome at the Town Meeting. There simply wasn't enough time. The 1973-74 budget catalogue ran 56 pages, covering everything from a multimillion dollar school budget to a $247 salary for the herring fisheries superintendent. Besides, as the moderator repeatedly reminded, the budget proposals had been worked on "all year" by a finance committee made up of townspeople. "So unless you have really serious objection, let's move along."

Move they did. Before the evening was out, the conservative, penny-watching Pembrokeans had not only voted for the proposed expenditures but added to them. The apparent contradiction between conviction and action, was not unusual.

"They do it every year," said Mrs. Birchmore, who doubles as Pembroke's news correspondent. "I don't think they want to but they have to. Nobody likes to look like a cheapskate in front of his neighbors. So unless there's a groundswell of resentment against an item, it will just breeze through. It's one of the weaknesses of the Town Meeting."

There were other weaknesses apparent in this meeting. The audience comprised, at best, only about eight per cent of the eligible voters. Citizens with good points lacked the articulateness to express them clearly. And the weight of the proposed budget was too massive for most people to deal with intelligently — many in the audience, in fact, had not read the proposals before coming to the meeting.

"The big thing is," said one old-time present, "a lot of these damn fools have their priorities confused. Last year we had a two-and-a-half hour floor fight over the feeding of ducks in the pond, but nobody said nothing when we voted on nearly three million dollars for the school system. Damn, I don't know. They don't seem to pay attention. Somebody's always arguing sewage when drainage is being considered."

Despite the deficiencies, though, Pembroke is more than satisfied with its Town Meeting. There has been talk of change, perhaps to a more manageable "representative" meeting, but few are really interested.

Except after a long manure session when the gymnasium air is stale, and the rumps are tired from sitting, and spirits are exhausted, then someone or another will stand up shortly before midnight, and, only half in jest, move "that this blasted meeting be adjourned until the moon comes over the mountain."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

First Christian Church

REV. RALPH T. PALMER
Minister

As a result, the Chapel has held firm for hundreds of years and Christians still may find deep inspiration from Michelangelo's beautiful paintings.

Sunday is Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week.

During this week Christians around the world will hear again the events of Jesus' fatal visit to Jerusalem. In much the same way that Michelangelo portrayed the weaknesses in the Sistine Chapel in order to cause improvement, the gospel writers cause us to examine ourselves that our faith may be strengthened. They tell of Jesus' triumphant entry into the city amidst shouts of joy and later show the crowds shouting "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

We are reminded of our own fickle faith by which we praise God in bursts of love and faith only to turn against Him when things don't go our way. Jesus' cleansing the temple of the money changers and are called upon to examine our own motives in giving and worship. Are we really keeping God's church as a house of prayer?

We see Jesus in an upper room with His disciples, one of whom has betrayed His Christ for a few pieces of silver. Our spiritual cracks are evident when we look at ourselves and see how much the desire for money and material things have caused us to betray our Christ in order to get THINGS for ourselves.

Jesus is arrested, tortured, and suffers an agonizing death on the cross while his faithful followers flee in fear. And Peter, who declared "You are the Christ, the son of the living God" and who stolidly maintained he would ever be faithful and true, denies knowing the man of Galilee.

When we examine ourselves we are startled to realize how often we have been afraid to let others know we are Christians and have run from sharing our faith with those who do not know Christ Jesus.

Yes, this is a time when we should re-examine our lives and faith. It is a time for prayer and redemption. It is a time when our weaknesses should glare at us until we are forced to bring in spiritual brick and mortar that we may be strong in the Lord.

Presbyterian Withdraws Candidacy

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Judge Michael L. Carr Jr. of Clinton, Miss., says recent developments in the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and his own congregation have prompted him to withdraw as a candidate for moderator of the denomination's 113th General Assembly.

Carr apparently referred to a move by his Brookhaven First Presbyterian in joining 29 other congregations in inviting other churches to send representatives to a meeting for the discussion of plans for a new denomination.

The meeting, called a "convocation of sessions"—congregational governing bodies—is scheduled May 18-19 in Atlanta.

The chancery court judge, who was endorsed by the Mississippi synod last fall, announced his withdrawal in a letter to the synod's stated clerk, the Rev. Albert H. Freundt Jr., also of Clinton.

Carr's withdrawal as a nominee leaves only one bona fide candidate for moderator of the denomination's highest governing body, which meets June 9-15 in Fort Worth, Tex.

Jehovah's Witnesses Hear Planning Report

Richard Fetter, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, reported an organizational meeting in Pampa over the weekend in connection with their upcoming circuit assembly, May 5 and 6.

A group of Witness ministers from the area of Western Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle were present at the Sunday evening session where Robert A. McCarroll, circuit overseer, discussed plans for the convention to be held in the M.K. Brown Auditorium and Civic Center in Pampa.

McCarroll outlined plans for setting up 20 service departments that are customarily used at conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses to facilitate smooth operation and provide essential needs for the delegates.

The local congregation, together with delegates from 22 other congregations in Texas Circuit 19, will attend this convention. It is estimated that 1,400 will be present to hear the public discourse Sunday, May 6, delivered by John P.

Sutherland, district overseer and traveling representative of the Watchtower Society of New York.

Fetter serves on the convention administrative body and is responsible for Food Service. Eddie Ripley and Douglas Cullins, both of Pampa also have appointments to that body.

Richard Fetter reports meet

Just outside the walls of the old city of Jerusalem is an eroded hill that bears a resemblance to a skull, and is called Golgotha. It is said that upon this hill stood three crosses the day that Jesus was crucified. That agonizing day that Christ died is referred to today as "Good Friday."

GOOD FRIDAY APRIL 20, 1973

Mark 15:16-28 & John 19:38-42 from The LIVING BIBLE

Then the Roman soldiers took Jesus into the barracks of the palace, called out the entire palace guard, dressed him in a purple robe, and made a crown of long, sharp thorns and put it on his head. Then they saluted, yelling, "Yea! King of the Jews!" And they beat him on the head with a cane, and spit on him and went down on their knees to "worship" him.

When they finally tired of their sport, they took off the purple robe and put his own clothes on him again, and led him away to be crucified.

And they brought Jesus to a place called Golgotha. (Golgotha means skull.) Wine drugged with bitter herbs was offered to him there, but he refused it. And then they crucified him and threw dice for his clothes.

It was about nine o'clock in the morning when the crucifixion took place.

A signboard was fastened to the cross above his head, announcing his crime. It read, "The King of the Jews."

Two robbers were also crucified that morning, their crosses on either side of his.

And so the Scripture was fulfilled that said, "He was counted among evil men."

Afterwards Joseph of Arimathea, who had been a secret disciple of Jesus for fear of the Jewish leaders, boldly asked Pilate for permission to take Jesus' body down; and Pilate told him to go ahead.

So he came and took it away. Nicodemus, the man who had come to Jesus at night, came too, bringing a hundred pounds of embalming ointment made from myrrh and aloes. Together they wrapped Jesus' body in a long linen cloth saturated with the spices, as is the Jewish custom of burial. The place of crucifixion was near a grove of trees, where there was a new tomb, never used before. And so, because of the need for haste before the Sabbath, and because the tomb was close at hand, they laid him there.

Bachelors Work Hard At Developing Island Paradise

MOOREA, French Polynesia (AP) — Kelley, Muk and Jay, the millionaire beachbums from California, just opened their third Bali Hai, and they're already planning two more.

It's almost like working, the hotelmen say.

"I love it," says Don McCallum, dispensing what he calls his Mukian philosophy. "Every person who gets off that boat is worth at least ten dollars, even day trippers. It's like Christmas every day."

Actually, added Hugh Kelley later, "we're not in this for money — we had to stay in Tahiti some way... Yeah, you can say we're worth more than a million now."

Kelley, McCallum and Jay Carlisle used to listen to Tahitian mandolins together in Newport Beach and work over the Great American Dream of a South Seas paradise.

One slow season Kelley left his law practice long enough to sail down. He came back and lasted a half a day in the office. Not long afterward, in 1960, all three were in Tahiti looking for work.

Eventually they scraped up money to buy a collapsing little hotel on Moorea, maybe the most beautiful island in the world, and the rest is legend wherever travel snobs meet.

The Moorea Bali Hai, and the new ones on the other Tahiti outer islands of Huahine and Raiatea are jammed.

People know the trio in Rio, Mexico City and Bangkok where they show up for steam-releasing vacations with entourage of a dozen Tahitian lovelies, guitar players and drink pourers.

Muk, noted for counting empty tin cans in the hotel kitchen at home, has been known on trips to order 75 screwdriver drinks before lunch for himself and everyone else within shouting distance.

But, in their remote-tropical paradise, they hustle harder than they ever have.

Muk shambles bare-chested and barefoot through the dining room smiling at Ohio tourists, but he's up at dawn watering the lawn and it's after 8 p.m. before he gets home.

Kelley sneaks off to ride his motorcycle up Moorea's mind-boggling mountains but more frequently he is conjuring up glass-bottom bungalows and hauling cement.

Though Jay grins easily and leers at ladies, he spends hours in a cluttered backroom counting deliveries from their egg ranch—a side project—and worrying about exchange rates.

All of them, each around 40 now, clearly work hard at the gay bachelor approach.

"When we started we didn't know anything about running a hotel," Kelley said. "We just decided to make it like a place we would like to stay in."

The Moorea hotel, the biggest at 47 rooms, is still run like a giant bachelor pad with guest facilities.

Muk loves people, but he has a W. C. Fields aversion to children and dogs. One traveler

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Eighty-one per cent of the adult students who wrote Grade 12 departmental examinations in December in the Edmonton public school board's evening classes achieved matriculation standing.

asked if the hotel had facilities for dogs and he replied, "Yes, a burlap sack, a 25 pound rock and 80 feet of water."

Sub Trade
Though Ceylon is the world's second largest producer of tea, exceeded only by India, its major export formerly was cinnamon. When the cinnamon trade dropped off, coffee plantations were started as a substitute. Not until blight destroyed coffee crops in the 1880s did tea become a major crop on the island.

Fenway Park Detroit's Home Away From Home

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fenway Park is the home of the Boston Red Sox—and a home away from home for the Detroit Tigers.
The Tigers feel very comfortable there, says Bill Freehan. "In this ballpark, you just know you'll get your share of hits," the Tiger catcher said after his team got more than its share with 16 in an 11-7 victory over the Red Sox Thursday.
The triumph gave the Tigers a sweep of their four-game series, a rarity in Fenway where the Red Sox usually are extremely tough. The usually hitting gave the Tigers 56 hits for the series and raised their team batting average from .165 to .239.

"I've seen some wild games, but I can't remember a series with so many runs and so many hits," said Freehan. "This is an exciting ballpark for the fans. Let's hope we've got ourselves into a groove going into Baltimore. Maybe we should go to Baltimore and bring the Orioles back to play in Fenway."

Basketball Roundup

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
When the Los Angeles Lakers are playing an important game and it's close going into the final quarter, you can expect to read about Jerry West and Will Chamberlain.
So here goes.

Colbert Leading Champions

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Jim Colbert refused to get very excited about his six-under-par 66 that established the first round lead in the $200,000 MONY Tournament of Champions.
"I try not to get too elated," the chipper little man said after he took a one-stroke lead over Homero Blancas in Thursday's first round of the event that brings together an elite field of the winners of regular golf tour tournaments for the last 12 months.
"If I don't let myself feel any elation, I find that I function better," Colbert continued.
"That doesn't mean that I'm out there going grind, grind, grind. That'd be just as bad. I just like to keep it level. I don't know how else to say it—just level."
"The only guy I'm trying to impress is me."
Blancas, the last player in the 31-man field to qualify for the tournament that offers $40,000 to the winner, was alone in second with his 67.
British Open Champion Lee Trevino birdied the first three holes he played, made the turn in five-under-par 31 and once was seven-under-par for the day before he cooled off for a 68 and a tie with chunky Jimmy Jamieson.
Grier Jones was alone at 69 while three-time T of C Champion Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus headed a group of a half-dozen at 70.

Mets' Team Physician Is Putting In Overtime

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dr. Peter LaMotte, the New York Mets' club physician, is working overtime these days. Unfortunately, medical science hasn't yet come up with a cure for comatose bats.
While star pitcher Tom Seaver and Manager Yogi Berra joined Willie Mays on sick call, the Mets, who have scored only 11 runs in their last eight games, took their war clubs off the critical list long enough to beat the Chicago Cubs 3-1 Thursday in the first game of a doubleheader.
But it was right back into a state of shock in the nightcap as Burt Hooton, who brought an earned run average of 10.50 into the contest, stifled them on three hits in pitching the Cubs to a 7-0 Chicago, by the way, took the first two games of the series by 1-0 scores.
Meanwhile, Berra was confined to the clubhouse on doctor's orders with a heavy cold-pitching coach Rube Walker ran the team—and Seaver was sent to Roosevelt Hospital with stomach cramps. Tests, however, showed nothing wrong and no one was able to confirm a nasty rumor that Seaver had become sick to his stomach watching the Mets—you should pardon the expression—hit.
Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal edged Philadelphia 6-5 and San Francisco shaded Los Angeles 8-6. The Pittsburgh-St. Louis game was rained out and the other clubs were not scheduled.
For three innings of the opener, it appeared as though the Mets just might suffer a third straight 1-0 setback. But with two out in the fourth, John Milner got an infield hit against Rick Reuschel. Wayne Garrett doubled him home and Jerry Grote singled Garrett across. John Milner homered in the eighth, his fourth.

The Cubs settled the nightcap quickly, jolting Jim McAndrew for five runs in the first inning, capped by Hooton's two-out, two-run single on an 0-2 pitch following an intentional walk to Don Kessinger. The outburst included singles by Paul Popovich and Billy Williams and a double by Ron Santo.
Montreal invades Shea Stadium this weekend and perhaps the Mets will get some batting tips from the Expos.
"The way this club is hitting right now, I don't care which pitcher we come up against," Manager Gene Mauch said after Ken Singleton's three-run homer keyed a decisive five-run sixth inning against the Phillies. "The whole line-up is hitting and nobody is carrying this club by himself. Everybody is doing the job."

The Expos began their big tie-breaking sixth inning with John Boccabella's single off Philly starter Larry Christenson. Pepe Frias and Mike Jorgensen stroked run-scoring doubles off reliever Dick Selma before Singleton unloaded his first home run of the season following an intentional walk to Ron Fairly.
The Giants and Dodgers engaged in one of their typical donnybrooks with San Francisco's Randy Moffitt putting down an eighth-inning Los Angeles threat to preserve the triumph despite two homers and five runs batted in by the losers: Willie Davis, Bobby Bonds drove in three runs for the Giants with a homer and single.

Two Bowlers Tie For 1st
Clyde Patrick of Pampa and Mrs. Dorothy Osborne of White Deer tied for first place in the Class B division of the Grand Bowl First Invitational Adult-Child Tournament in Amarillo last weekend. They rolled a 1317 to tie for first.
Thirty-five young bowlers and 20 adults from Pampa and the surrounding area made the trip to the tourney.
The Pampa Junior Bowlers Tournament is scheduled for May 5 and 6. Perry Moose is in charge of the tourney.

BEFORE WE SELL YOU ANYTHING, WE'D LIKE TO ASK YOU A FEW QUESTIONS.

The guy who runs your local American Parts Store will probably ask you a few questions before he sells you an auto part or accessory.
He'll ask you these questions because he wants to make sure you get what you need rather than what you think you need. So he might sell you the part you asked for. Then again, he might suggest a better way to solve your problem.
Listen to him. He's been in the auto parts business for a long time. And it's his only business.
Let's face it, when you're fixing your own car you need all the help you can get.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, April 20, the 110th day of 1973. There are 255 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1775, the siege of Boston began in the American Revolution.
On this date:
In 1662, a royal charter was granted to Connecticut. It extended to the Pacific Ocean.
In 1673, Bacon's Rebellion broke out in Virginia.
In 1889, Adolf Hitler was born in Braunau, Austria.

In 1903, the American industrialist, Andrew Carnegie gave $1.5 million to build The Hague Peace Palace in The Netherlands.
In 1934, Shirley Temple began her career as a child movie star in the film "Stand Up and Cheer," which opened in New York.
Ten years ago: In a speech in Washington, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon called for whatever action necessary to force Soviet troops out of Cuba.

Five years ago: A new prime minister, Pierre Elliot Trudeau, took over leadership in Canada.
One year ago: The Apollo 16 astronauts made a safe landing on the moon.
Today's birthdays: Former New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. is 63. Nuclear physicist Alvin Weinberg is 58.
Thought for today: Let us not be weary in well-doing — the Bible.

And Talking About Jumping To Conclusions...

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Most men can't spell mayonnaise.
At any one time—except when they are asleep—no more than two out of every ten people are usually free enough from fear, passion, financial troubles or loneliness to be called as sane and normal—as they should be: When they are asleep, the number of normal people probably rises to two out of five—on good nights.

If you are over 40 and want to be shocked by how far you have failed physically, simply play a game of hopscotch with a 10-year-old girl.
The cheapest millionaires are those who smoke cigars. They will generously take you to lunch, but when you return to their office for a talk they will fish a big cigar from an expensive box of them on the desk and spend the next hour blowing smoke in your face. Rarely will they hold out the box to you and invite you to have one or a handful. To them the cigars are a kind of symbolic reward which only they deserve. If you need a free cigar, ask a cab driver—not a millionaire.

On a rainy day, three times as many men as women will get their eyeball stuck by the point of an umbrella. Anyone who thinks this percentage is accidental doesn't know human nature—or the female gender.
The reason I haven't taken up yoga, as many of my friends have, is that I figure if God had wanted me to be a pretzel, he would have made me one.

The ordinary adult feels about teen-agers pretty much like Gelett Burgess felt about the purple cow—he'd rather see than be one. Speaking of Burgess, here are three more lines from this wry and partly forgotten humorist you may like: "Many people live alone and like it, but most of them live alone and look it." "To be two years a widow exceedeth a college education." "If the Lord would only send something interesting, I wouldn't mind if it was only a plaid pig."

Any girl who sticks a guy for a sirlin steak three times in a row when he takes her out to dinner doesn't deserve marriage anyway.
One out of three people who take up an office collection for any cause doesn't chip in a buck himself. And it isn't because he forgets to.
