Kissinger, Le Duc Tho Set Up Talks In Paris

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today launched a new diplomatic attempt to salvage the Vietnam cease-fire agreement by setting up talks in Paris between Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho, chief negotiators of the pact. The bargaining will begin Friday between William H. Sullivan, the outgoing deputy assistant secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific affairs, with Nguyen Co Thach, Hanoi's vice minister of foreign affairs.

Kissinger will follow up by going to Paris in mid-May, White House sources said.

Ronald L. Ziegler, the White House press secretary, said Sullivan and the North Vietnamese official would prepare a review of the implementation of the Paris agreement and all appropriate measures to bring about strong implementation.

Officials said that this would involve more than simply setting an agenda, that Sullivan has clear authority to engage in hard bargaining with Thach.

Kissinger, the national security adviser to President Nixon, was the chief architect of the Jan. 27 accord to end the fighting in North Vietnam. Since then, Washington and Hanoi have regularly swapped charges of violations. In a note over the weekend to 10 nations that agreed March 2 to guarantee the pact, the United States formally accused North Vietnam of "numerous and extremely serious violations" of the agreement in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Meanwhile, in Paris, prospects for a political solution to the continuing violence in South Vietnam dimmed as Saigon and the Viet Cong presented radically different proposals at the eighth session of their deadlocked talks.

Both sides called for new elections, but there was wide divergence on the details. Two days from now marks the end of the 90-day deadline for reaching agreement on political issues.

U.S. officials confirmed, meanwhile in Washington that some 300 Cambodian military personnel and a lesser number of Lao was being trained in Thailand to fly and maintain cargo and fighter planes and armed helicopters.

U.S. officials disclosed the three-to-six month training operation while pursuing on Tuesday a diplomatic offensive to try to end Hanoi's infiltration of men and supplies into South Vietnam.

The planes being used are C123 cargo craft, AU24 armed helicopters, and T28 trainers, which can be used as fighters. Officials said they did not know how many Lao were involved. Among the techniques being taught are logistics and radar, they said.

On the diplomatic front, Washington is appealing to the Soviet Union and to China to restrain North Vietnam. Also, the 10 nations besides the United States that agreed to guarantee the Jan. 27 cease-fire have received a formal U.S. note accusing Hanoi of "numerous and extremely serious violations."

Among the catalogue of charges by the State Department is that North Vietnam has infiltrated more than 30,000 troops.

Officials said the objective of the public accusations is to train world opinion on Hanoi. The note evidently is not a prelude to reconvening the International Conference on Vietnam, it is understood. Another mission by Henry Kissinger, to Paris or Hanoi, apparently would precede such a move.

Nixon Plans No Aides' Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Nixon has made "no decision at all" on whether to fire top-level aides as a result of the Watergate affair.

Nixon spokesmen deny reports that Secretary of State William P. Rogers has been asked to head a post-Watergate shakeup of the White House staff and that the President was in any way involved in a reported offer of executive clemency to conspirators already convicted.

The chief spokesman for the Nixon re-election drive, DeVan L. Shumway, said he was not told the whole truth at the time he was issuing blanket denials of high-level knowledge of political-espionage plans.

And Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., past chairman of the Republican National Committee, said that from his observation of "the players involved," it is entirely conceivable the Watergate plot could have been hatched without Nixon's knowledge.

Stating the expenditures never were reported to the General Accounting Office as required by law, the Post said the campaign also included writing and paying for telegrams of support sent to Nixon as well as for rallies and an organized telephone campaign supporting the decision to mine North Vietnamese harbors.

Highway 60 Convention Plans Made

Plans for a delegation from Texas to attend the U.S. Hwy 60 convention next month in Beaumont, Calif., were made last night in Amarillo at the annual meeting of the Texas Branch of the Hwy 60 group.

Attending the meeting from Pampa were Warren Mayo, chairman of the Tourist Development Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Harold Barrett, president of the National U.S. 60 Association and E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager.

Officers elected for the coming year included:

Barney Weigard, Amarillo president; Lynton Allred, Hereford, vice president; and Byron Vermillion, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer.

Modification Plans Due Consideration

Pampa City Commission members will meet at luncheon in Coronado Inn Thursday to hear latest developments in proposed modification plans for the city's sewage treatment plant.

A report will be given by Gene Barber of Merriman & Barber, consultant engineers on the project.

Pampa has an application on file for a federal grant which has been pending for several months pending priority assignments by the Texas Water Quality Board.

The TWQB has ordered the city to make modifications in the plant to bring it up to state standards with regard to effluent disposal.

Committee Okays City Cleanup Plan

Dates and plans for Pampa's annual city-wide cleanup were set up this forenoon at a meeting of the Fire Prevention and Safety Committee of the Chamber of Commerce with city officials in the Chamber office.

Paul Payne, committee chairman, said May 7 through June 4 were designated for the general cleanup campaign. Dates for pickups are as follows: Ward 1, May 7 through 11; Ward 2, May 14 through 18; Ward 3, May 21 through 25; Ward 4, May 29 through June 4.

Pampa residents are urged to gather trash and debris and place it in the alley prior to the designated pickup dates. The following assignments were made to implement the program: Kirk Duncan will be coordinator of general publicity through the newspaper and radio stations; information to local service organizations will be handled by Payne, and Dan Johnson was designated to be responsible for getting information to Pampa schools.

The amount of trash and debris this year, Payne said, is expected to be heavier than ever before due to the wind and ice storms during the winter which caused extensive damage to trees in the city, and heavy rains within recent weeks which is causing an unusually fast growth of weeds and other vegetation within the city.

Wet grounds have slowed down the regular trash pickup in the city according to R. B. Cooke, city public works director.

A WELCOME HAND — Mrs. Cheryl Schaub, left, hostess, pins an identification tag on Frank Shaller, Canadian, during registration this morning for the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association convention. Meetings will be held today and continue through Thursday at Coronado Inn.

Livestock Drug Gets Total Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration later today will announce a total ban on the livestock growth drug DES, an industry source said.

A ban would add hundreds of millions of dollars to Americans' annual meat bills, according to government and industry estimates.

The additive is used to fatten cattle faster. The FDA had imposed a ban on the use of diethylstilbestrol or DES in animal feed effective last Jan. 1, because illegal residues of the cancer-causing chemical were being found in edible tissue.

But until now, the agency had allowed producers to use DES ear implant pellets which, although more troublesome to cattlemen, also promoted livestock growth and weight gain.

The industry source said the FDA ban on implant pellets will be immediate, accompanied by a recall of all unused pellets on the market.

Although the Agriculture Department was unable to determine whether highly sensitive radioactive tracer tests were finding DES residues in implanted animals, the source said, the FDA contracted with a Boston laboratory which found residues of 40 and 120 parts per trillion.

That boggles the mind, the source said. That's something less than nothing to me.

PROA Meeting's Activity Underway

FOR TWO DAYS
A vanguard of some 80 members of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association had registered by the start of the directors meeting at 11 a.m. today.

That meeting is the official start of the annual convention today and tomorrow at Coronado Inn.

Before the affair concludes, members will hear such speakers as Tom Medders Jr., Taylor Yoakum, T. B. Pickens Jr., Walter E. Rogers, Jim Langdon and Dr. William C. Phinney.

The first five are leaders in area oil and gas business and Dr. Phinney is the chief geologist with the National Aeronautics and Space Agency. He will be the banquet speaker Thursday night.

Rogers, president, Independent Natural Gas Association of America, will be the luncheon speaker Thursday.

Medders, Yoakum and Pickens will speak on the Thursday morning program beginning at 10 Langdon will speak at 1:45 p.m. Thursday.

Bev King, spokesman for the organization, said the directors meeting today would determine the officers for the coming year. He noted also that the board would consider various resolutions pursuant to the conduct of Association business.

Members planning to participate in a golf tourney at Pampa Country Club 1:30-5:30 this afternoon were keeping a wary eye on the weather.

Weather-hold no concern for those looking forward to the gin rummy tournament slated to get underway at 2 p.m. today in the Starlight Room at Coronado Inn.

There will be an immunization clinic at Carver Center 321 E. Albert, 1:4 p.m. May 9, a part of the joint effort between various area organizations and the state department of health.

Both school and health officials urge parents to take advantage of this free opportunity to protect children against such enemies as polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles and rubella.

The immunization clinic will be open to pre-school children without cost to parents. State health officials urge that infants be started on the initial series of immunizations at two months of age.

SALUTE TO BEEF — Rex McAnelly, left, president of the Southwestern T-Bone Club, discusses the Pampa beef industry with Mayor R. D. Wilkerson, center, who is pointing to Pampa on the map, and Gray County Agent Foster Whaley while making preparations for the upcoming Beef Appreciation Day on Monday, April 30. The Chamber of Commerce has slated a special luncheon for the day to salute the beef industry.

Chamber Invites Congressman To Beef Appreciation Lunch

By TEX DEWESE
New York Congressman B.S. Rosenthal (D) — one of the leaders behind the meat price rollback and ceiling on beef prices, has been invited to attend the Pampa Chamber of Commerce luncheon to salute the beef industry.

Understanding for all concerned, Sims said today reservations for the Monday luncheon were coming in well and a capacity crowd is expected in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.

Mayor R. D. Wilkerson issued a proclamation yesterday afternoon declaring next Monday "Beef Appreciation Day" in Pampa.

The mayor's proclamation reads in part: "Whereas the men and women who make up the Beef Industry have worked long and hard to supply the nation with a high quality product at a reasonable price, and

Whereas the Beef Industry has proven itself a good neighbor and supporter of things that make our America the strong nation it is, and

Whereas we wish to express our appreciation for the industry's dedication and devotion to the support of strong bodies and minds through the production of a top quality food for the tables of the world.

I do hereby proclaim April 30, 1973, to be Beef Appreciation Day in Pampa and request the cooperation of all citizens to actively participate in programs honoring the beef industry." (Signed R. D. Wilkerson, Mayor)

The Monday luncheon will feature home-grown and processed filet mignon steaks, described as "the best in the world" by Foster Whaley, chairman of the Chamber's Agricultural and Livestock Committee.

Incidentally, the going price for the steak at dining places is $6, but those attending will pay only the regular $2.50 chamber luncheon price.

Reservations may be made until 10 a.m. Monday by calling the chamber office at 669-3241.

Huntzinger Concludes Knife & Fork Season

By CLAY LIVELY
The Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club concluded its season last night with a program in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Ernest Huntzinger Jr. of Elmhurst, Ill., gave the address. Huntzinger, a minister with the First Congregational United Church of Christ in Elmhurst, put together a unique type program called "America Sings."

Rather than a lecture or a speech, his talk about America was interspersed with songs. The songs punctuate the points he makes while speaking.

Huntzinger sang 10 songs during the course of the evening. Included among them were "Desert Song," "My Lassie," "On the Road to Mandalay" (from Kipling's poem of the same title), Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Romberg's Serenade" from "Student Prince."

He closed the program with Clara Edwards' "Into the Night."

Huntzinger started his ministry with the Central Congregational Church of Topeka, Kan. While there, he inaugurated a series of "singing sermons."

He was also one of the featured singers in the musical pageant with which the Sunshine State celebrated its centennial in 1961. On that occasion he sang with Lucille Norman in the Kansas Story.

Huntzinger was accompanied last night by Jerry Whitten on the organ. Club President Ray Duncan presided over the program.

Allan Wise made the introduction of the speaker and Bill Chafin gave the invocation.

Crash Kills Pampa Man

Elmon Douglas Fischer, 49, 2117 Coffee, died in a one-car crash just north of the city limits at about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to Department of Public Safety officers Dunham and Fielding who investigated the accident, Fischer was traveling south on US 70 when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

The small compact car left the roadway on one side and traveled 450 feet down the barrow pit, then crossed to the other ditch and went another 150 feet, turning over at least three times.

Fischer was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson in his capacity as coroner.

'A Splendid Little War' (3)

By Don Oakley and Ed Kudlaty

SO SAYS BOYLE

Few things outraged American public opinion over Spain's attempts to suppress the Cuban revolt as the actions of Captain-General Valeriano Weyler y Nicolau.

In 1896, the newly appointed military commander—quickly dubbed "Butcher" Weyler by the New York press—proclaimed a policy of "reconcentration" in which women, children and old people were herded into villages and towns while the Cuban countryside, in which the elusive guerrillas operated, was laid waste.

That year also saw a new administration elected in the United States.

Historians have credited the outgoing Democratic president, Grover Cleveland, who adopted a policy of strict neutrality in 1895, with refusing to embroil the nation in the Cuban problem.

At the same time, his successor, Republican William McKinley, has been portrayed as a weak politician who finally yielded to the demands of the warhawks in Congress.

Yet it was Cleveland who, in his last annual message in December, 1896, warned Spain that America's patience was not limitless, adding pointedly that "The United States is not a nation to which peace is a necessity."

Throughout 1897, the worsening plight of the reconcentrados, the destruction of American property in Cuba, Spain's obstinacy in the matter of reforms and an endless series of incidents seized upon and magnified by the press continued to shrink McKinley's options. Americans were becoming convinced that it was too late for reforms; the only solution was complete Cuban autonomy.

On Feb. 8, 1898, the New York Journal published a letter written by Spain's minister to Washington, Deputy De Lome, in which he referred to President McKinley in sneering terms. It was a monumental blunder which a subsequent Spanish apology could not undo.

Two weeks before that, however, a decision had been made whose consequences were to render war all but inevitable. The battleship Maine was ordered to Havana.

The announced purpose was to renew goodwill visits by the navies of both countries. But as one crewman was to say years afterward, sending that ship down to Havana "was a mistake."

You Can't Go Home Again, Except On Memory's Lane

NEW YORK (AP) — You can't go home again — with one exception.

The exception is memory. In memory you can go home again anytime by a thought.

In fact, you are at home there all the time. Memory is man's chief home actually. He dwells there longer than he does in any hut of wood or mansion of marble or brick.

And your own memory house has a lot of rooms in it if you can look back and remember when—

Nothing was longer or lovelier than a nice summer day.

You could get to work quicker on a 1920 streetcar than you can drive through traffic and find a place to park now.

When you saw someone walking fast, you figured he must have a real emergency. The normal pace of life was slower.

A policeman could spend his whole career on the force and retire without ever having given out a traffic ticket.

No matter how big your family was, you were expected to know who all your cousins were — and keep track of what happened to them. Blood was a lot thicker than water and kinkol felt more responsible for each other.

But children themselves never felt entirely guiltless either. There were so many precepts to guide them that they always were in violation of some. Even when they had to go to the dentist they felt it must be because they had unconsciously done something wrong.

You could tell a grandmother by the way she looked and dressed.

If the head of a family could afford to buy a new suit every two years, he was doing pretty well.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Because my husband and I both work, we have a maid come in to clean up and to be there when our child comes home from school. Can we deduct the maid's salary as a child care expense?

A. You can deduct expenses for ordinary and usual household services if they are employment related and if you meet the other requirements for this deduction.

For more information on these requirements, see IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled, Dependent Care." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue District office.

Q. I pay my sister $10 a week to take care of my child while I go out to work. Are these payments deductible as child care expenses?

A. No. Payments made to relatives or dependent household members may not be included in computing the child care deduction. Such persons include: children, stepchildren, brothers or sisters, stepbrothers or sisters, parents, stepparents, nephews or nieces, aunts or uncles and in-laws.

Q. What kinds of medical expenses are deaf persons likely to deduct?

A. Some medical expenses deaf persons are likely to deduct include: payments for hearing aids and component parts; guide dog expenses; the cost of sending a deaf person to school to learn to lip-read (including meals and lodging); and the cost of special telephone equipment which enables a deaf person to communicate effectively over a regular telephone via converted teletype signals.

Among the other items that may be deducted as medical expenses are unreimbursed medical insurance premiums (one-half, up to $150, directly, the balance subject to the general limitations on medical expenses) and bus and taxi fares or the cost of driving to and from the doctor.

Remember medical expenses are deductible only if you itemize and, except for the special rule for medical insurance premiums, may be deducted only to the extent they exceed three percent of your income. For more information, see IRS Publication 502, "Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses." Just use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

Q. I took a new job out of state and had to move. What moving expenses can I deduct?

A. If you qualify, you can deduct as moving expenses: 1) travel expenses (including meals and lodging) from your old residence to your new one; 2) the cost of moving household goods; 3) the cost of removing householding trips; 4) the cost of temporary quarters at the new location during any period of 30 consecutive days after obtaining work; and 5) the cost of selling your residence.

For details on the limitations and requirements for the moving expense deduction, see IRS Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses." For a free copy, fill out and mail the order blank on the back of your tax forms package.

Q. Where can I get a copy of your official income tax guide?

A. IRS Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," is available for 75 cents at Internal Revenue offices, Government Printing Office bookstores and many post offices. For business taxpayers, IRS Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business," may also be helpful. It may also be purchased for 75 cents at the same locations.

Painful Venom
A black widow spider's venom — more potent drop for drop than a rattlesnake's — causes intense pain. Deaths, however, occur from only four or five of the more than 1,000 bites reported in the United States each year.

Wall Size
Transferred to a map of the United States, the 1,500-mile Great Wall of China would reach south and westward from Washington, D.C., past Chattanooga and Memphis, Tenn., and Shreveport, La., and all the way across Texas into New Mexico.

Veteran 'Outreach' Programs Receive Increased Emphasis

The Veterans Administration has stepped up its "outreach" program of informing Vietnam Era veterans and servicemen, including returned prisoners of war, of the availability of government benefits. Jack Coker, VA Regional Office director, said today.

Coker noted that "outreach" efforts begin while servicemen are on active duty, and continue after discharge.

Thus far, GI Bill details have been provided to two million servicemen in Vietnam. Another 250,000 have been counseled in military hospitals, and three million at separation points.

"Outreach" is continued after discharge, and veterans assistance counselors at 72 Veteran Assistance Centers around the country have interviewed 1.5 million veterans.

In addition, four million letters have been mailed to veterans, and millions of telephone contacts have been made.

Coker said it appears most servicemen who were prisoners of war plan to remain in military service. However, they have immediate eligibility for two readjustment benefits.

One is payment of tuition costs of servicemen who go to school under the GI Bill, not to exceed the $220 monthly rate paid single veteran trainees. The other benefit is a VA guarantee of 60 per cent of GI home loans lenders make to servicemen and veterans, up to a maximum of $12,500.

Coker cited other VA benefits available to Vietnam Era veterans and servicemen: Specially adapted housing ("wheelchair" homes) grants of up to $17,500, and $150 annual clothing allowances for certain disabled veterans.

Dental and medical treatment, including drug treatment.

Compensation for service-connected disabilities, pensions for non-service-connected disabilities.

Burial benefits — flags, interment in national cemeteries and reimbursement of burial expenses.

In general, veterans are eligible for VA benefits after receiving an other than dishonorable discharge based on at least 181 days of active duty, any part of it after Jan. 31, 1955. Servicemen become eligible after the same length of service.

Veterans also become eligible if discharged for service-connected disabilities, without regard to length of service.

Ranger's Hall Of Fame Gets Boost From Daisy

AUSTIN — Another boost in the fund raising program for the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame building program commemorating the 150th anniversary of the famed law-enforcement organization has been announced by Texas Ranger Senior Capt. Clint Peoples.

On May 3 at a meeting of the Austin Woods and Waters Club a presentation will be made to Gov. Dolph Briscoe of the first Daisy Commemorative B.B. carbine and a matched pair of Daisy Peacemaker B.B. pistols. The non-powder guns bear a replica of the Texas Ranger badge and the official Ranger Commission seal.

With this introduction, Daisy joins two other famous gunmakers, Winchester and Smith & Wesson, who are also officially authorized to especially make the commemorative guns available for this historically important year.

The Daisy carbine and pistols will have their premiere showing throughout Texas during the month of May prior to being offered nation-wide. The Daisy carbine is a "spittin' image" of the famous 30-30 rifle and the receiver has a case-hardened plating reminiscent of the work of the early gunsmiths.

The B.B. pistols also have the iridescent plating and are embedded in a styrofoam shadow box-type case. Also included is a 48-page history book of the Texas Rangers.

The sale of the famous guns and many art objects authorized by the Texas Ranger Commemorative Commission will provide funds to assist in building the million dollar Hall of Fame. The ground breaking has been set for Aug. 4 at Fort Fisher, Waco, where the first Ranger camp was established in 1823.

The Daisy carbine and pistols were especially authorized by the Ranger Commission to provide commemoratives that would particularly appeal to the "younger set." Daisy had previously produced commemoratives for the National Rifle Association, Buffalo Bill observance, and revived the famous Red Ryder rifle.

Following the ceremonial presentation of the Daisy guns to Governor Briscoe on May 3, Bill Jordan, "fast man with the slow draw," will feature a shooting exhibition.

Jordan, now Southwest representative for the National Rifle Association, was formerly assistant chief inspector of the U.S. Border Patrol with thirty years of service and is a former Marine officer.

Nuclear Cardiac Pacemakers Implanted Into Human Bodies

PHILADELPHIA — Nuclear-powered cardiac pacemakers, developed for the Atomic Energy Commission by ARCO Nuclear Company of Leechburg, Pa., a subsidiary of Atlantic Richfield Company, have been implanted in humans at the Newark Beth Israel Medical Center in New Jersey and at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md.

The nuclear pacemakers are the first to be completely developed, built and fueled in this country.

A pacemaker is used for treatment of "heart block," a condition in which the heart rate is abnormally slow. The pacemaker causes the heart to beat at a more normal rate.

Dr. Victor Parsonnet, director of surgery of Newark's Beth Israel Medical Center, performed the first implant of an AEC-ARCO heart pacer. A total of 15 pacers will be implanted at Beth Israel over a period of several days.

Two implants were also performed at National Institutes of Health by Dr.

Charles L. McIntosh of the National Heart and Lung Institute's surgery branch. Thirty-five more AEC-ARCO heart pacemakers are expected to be implanted in humans at other medical centers throughout the U.S. over the next few months.

The nuclear heart pacers are designed to operate for at least 10 years compared with the two to three year life of conventional battery-powered devices. The longer life of the nuclear pacemakers could mean fewer operations for those who require a pacemaking device to regulate their heartbeats.

The AEC-ARCO nuclear heart pacer is about one-half the size of a deck of playing cards and weighs three and one-half ounces, as compared with about six to seven ounces for conventional heart pacers.

Eventually the nuclear-powered pacers are expected to replace battery-operated pacemakers because of increased life and the compactness of the nuclear devices," an ARCO Nuclear spokesman said.

WORRY CLINIC
By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Sally succumbed to the erotic salesmanship of a university student. She stampeded into tupid promiscuous relations, hoping to be thought older and more sophisticated. Girls aren't passionate but submit to gain attention!

CASE W-587: Sally G., aged 17, was a Chicago high school senior when I first met her, back in 1948.
"Dr. Crane," she wept, "I am pregnant and my father would kill me if he knew!"
"And it all resulted from my being invited to a fraternity dance at the University of Chicago."
"I was dated by a boy 19 years old."
"And it was very flattering to me to be included in a college group, for I am still in high school."
"After the dance, 6 of us went to a night club, where we had a few drinks."
"To appear sophisticated, like the older coeds, I drank, too."
"Then we paired off afterwards and indulged in easy petting."
"My boy friend tried to make me submit to him, though I resisted at first."
"But he told me all these college girls do it so finally he got the best of me."
"A few weeks later he invited me to another dance."
"This time there was more drinking, and finally he boys paired off with their aces and had sexual relations."
"But before morning, they began to exchange girls, so I was intimate with different college boys before morning."
"And now I find I am pregnant!"
"Dr. Crane, what can I do?"
"For my original boy friend has jilted me!"

WOMEN'S LIB

You addicts of Women's Lib might test our wits on this dilemma:
Since you claim equal privileges, then you must grant Sally the same opportunity to cohabit with those 3 college men, as they enjoyed when they swapped sweethearts.
But the ancient adage is still true, namely, "It's the woman who pys!"

Change Of Venue Asked By Fire Chief's Lawyers

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for former Fire Chief C. R. Cook and two other men indicted on charges of theft and conspiracy to commit theft from the fire department asked Monday for a change of venue.
The former chief, his brother, T. W. Cook, and Lee DeFork, a former supervisor in the department who was T. W. Cook's boss, asked that their trial be moved because "there exists in Harris County ... so great a prejudice against them that they cannot obtain a fair and impartial trial."

A hearing on the motion was set for Friday.

French Government Is Now Offering Subsidies

PARIS (AP) — The French government has decided there's long-term virtue in the flea bag hotels of Paris.

After five years of offering special financial inducements to builders of 1,000-room plastic palaces, the state hotel credit agency is cutting off incentives to the deluxe hostels and for the first time offering subsidies to anyone who will put up the kind of hotel a $5-a-day tourist can afford.

The long Easter weekend showed what brought the change. The Ritz and the George V had plenty of space, but about 5,000 of the city's 300,000 visitors had to sleep in cars or public buildings, in rooms costing much more than they intended to pay or at inns as far as 75 miles from Paris.

The little hotels, the friendly flea bags that traditionally handled most of the budget tourist trade, are dying at the rate of about 20 a year. Their owners,

Leary Sent Up

SAN LUIS OBISPO (AP) — Dr. Timothy Leary has been sent to Folsom State Prison to serve from six months to five years for escaping from the California Men's Colony.

Superior Court Judge Richard F. Harris ordered the sentence on Monday and ruled that Leary, 42, must serve the time consecutively with an earlier term of six months to 10 years for marijuana possession.

A probation officer had recommended Leary be allowed to serve the sentences concurrently.

Social Security Q & A

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 N. Hobart, Pampa, Texas 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

By HOWARD L. WEATHERLY
Q. Under the new $2100 retirement test, do I have to earn $175 a month? What happens if I go over or under $175 a month?

A. Many people are confused about this. However, if you don't go over $2100 it doesn't matter whether you earn $175 per month or $500 in several months. Even if your earnings do exceed $2100, you may still receive a monthly check for any month in which you earn no more than $175.

Q. I filed for social security at age 65. I'm now 68 and have a wife and minor child. My benefit rate is $269.70 per month, and I will earn $10,000 this year. Should my wife and child file now?

A. Yes, they certainly should. You, your wife, and child would be entitled to receive $494.90 a

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and consequently misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a tire's tread wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wear Allowance
40,000 miles	Forfeit on Miles Driven

Dear Abby

Wife is not impressed with weekend outings

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Neil and I have been married for three years. It's the second time around for both of us and I am determined to make a go of this marriage. Neil is 53 and I'm 50.

My problem: Every weekend Neil wants to entertain another couple on our boat. The other couple always turns out to be a cute young female employee and her husband.

Now, I can see that the purpose of these weekend outings is to impress the new employee. But last weekend was the last straw. The girl [about 22] wore skintight pants and a sheer blouse, to show off her figure, which was beautiful. [I am not bad for my age, but I can't compete with that.] My husband kept calling her "Honey," "Doll," and "Babe." The young husband sat like a bump on a log and tried to make small talk with me.

Should I go along with entertaining such couples? We have plenty of friends our own age, but my husband prefers these kids. Please advise me. JEALOUS IN NEWPORT

DEAR JEALOUS: Tell your husband that if he wants to entertain his employees, you will go along with an annual Christmas party, but weekends on a boat with that kind of foursome is boring.

DEAR ABBY: I cannot tolerate smoke, but it seems the world is geared for smokers. In waiting rooms, and in almost all public places, if the nonsmoker wants to escape the pollution of smokers, he has to find a smoke-free corner where he can breathe some fresh air.

Why don't they post NO SMOKING signs in all places where people gather, and provide the smokers with a dinky, little, airtight room off to the side somewhere where they can all crowd in together, smoke to their hearts' content, and inhale each other's smoke? Then, the fresh air will be left for those of us who are more deserving of it.

SICK OF SMOKERS

DEAR SICK: I'm with you. And to the next smoker who asks me if I "mind" if he smokes, I shall say: "Why don't you do us both a favor and refrain?"

DEAR ABBY: My first letter to any kind of newspaper, but I feel so strongly on the question raised by "Dad in Hackensack." I must express myself. Believe me, the money loaned to anyone in a family (or a friend for that matter) should be accompanied by a cold hard note. It may seem unfriendly, but once it is an established fact, it is the most friendly way to handle a loan, and avoids a lot of problems in the future.

When my husband and I borrowed from our parents, it was a businesslike procedure. True, we paid only 3 per cent interest, and the note was renewed, but it was all on paper in case something happened to any of us.

I know elderly people who have only their Social Security to live on because they foolishly "loaned" their own children money, never dreaming they needed a note, and of course they never got one penny back.

Please print this, Abby. Some people are much too trusting. PASADENA PARENTS decided from the bidding that North would hold just one heart. South also was marked with the king of spades so maybe your ace-queen would keep but mature analysis would indicate that South would be able to get rid of all or at least all but one of his spades on North's diamond suit.

At least this is the reasoning used by Giorgio Belladonna of Italy when he led the spade ace and helped his team win that year's world championship.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

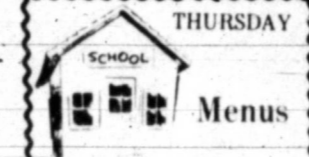

It was the late Cmdr. Winfield Liggett, Jr. who is supposed to have said, "I care not who makes the nation's systems if I can make the best opening leads."

Now if you can cover up all hands except West and look at the bidding you will find yourself on lead against six clubs. What do you lead and why?

Now if you look at all the hands you will see the winning defense is to lead the ace of spades and continue. The answer to the why is that analysis will show that no other lead can do you any good.

Look at the bidding. Your partner could not overcall the diamond opening but did back in with three hearts. South just bid three no-trump over this three-heart call. When you bid four hearts, North could find no bid at all.

Then why did South jump to six clubs? Because he had

Timely Touch

Fitting into the antique scheme of things, a weathervane clock makes a perfect focus for wall arrangement with its sampler-center dial and cast metal direction indicators. The battery-movement clock from Barwick Dic. of Howard Miller was used by interior designer Virginia Frankel to create a mood of hospitality and warmth in a small shelf area. Marble shelf with a drapery of chains against a brick surface wall offers a contrast in texture for straw bread baskets, an eye of glass from an antique sign, a sculpted hand breadboard, a picture frame mirror and antique breadbox.

BETTY CANARY

You Win Battles, but War Goes On

By BETTY CANARY

I'm too realistic to believe I'll win every big and little battle in life.

At the least, what I expect now is to stay even—to not let it all gain on me too quickly.

I feel I'm making a bit of headway these days if:

I can have an occasional conversation with a man without having him look me in the eye and say, "The trouble with women is..."

At least once a week, everybody in the house has matching socks. At least once a month, my husband wears matching cuff links.

I can buy a dozen eggs and get home with none of them cracked. (I'd like to meet whoever runs the school for checkout boys. The person who teaches them, milk carton on top of the eggs and drop the beer on the tomatoes.)

I can drive three blocks without seeing heaps of trash in the street.

I'd believe I was a real winner if only, once in awhile:

I'd turn on a television talk show and hear the host admit he does not know how to run the public schools, get out of Vietnam, repair our image in the Philippines, raise the employment level in Seattle and get rid of air pollution.

One of my children would fail to start a conversation without saying, "You probably won't agree with this, but..."

I could pick up a news magazine or newspaper without discovering that we have once again made a national hero out of some such characters as those who hijack a plane and then parachute to safety, or try to pull off the hoax of the century with a publishing house.

Federal Court Judgement May Do Little More Than Delay Extinction

Editor's Note: The office of Economic Opportunity sought to change the lives and conditions of the poor. The following, second in a four-part series on the OEO from The AP Special Assignment Team, looks at some of its projects.

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

BARBOURVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Seated in the OEO restaurant next door to the OEO furniture factory, Hollis West recalled the early days of the war on poverty.

When he took over as head of the county antipoverty agency six years ago, West said, "Most of the OEO money, so far as I was concerned, was being thrown in the Cumberland River out here because they were primarily putting it in recreation and all kinds of foolish things."

Comprehensive planning and precise accounting were relative latecomers to the OEO and they may not be enough to save it.

President Nixon has ordered the agency dismantled by this summer. A federal judge has intervened, but this ruling may do little more than delay OEO's extinction.

What the people in the Barbourville area wanted, West said, were "jobs and roads fixed and this kind of thing. So that's the approach we took."

With financial help from OEO, West started Lawson Furniture Co., which today employs 110 people. Most never had any job other than cutting weeds for $2 or $3 a day. The company expects to do $1.5 million in business this year to stores from Massachusetts to Florida.

The furniture business, restaurant and craft shop, along with community centers and road crews that have built 136 small wooden bridges, make the antipoverty program, called simply "The OEO" by Knox County people, the county's second largest employer.

To residents like Burchell Sizemore, who grew up in Knox County, OEO has brought vast changes.

"If OEO was to happen to fade out right now, in six months it'll be just like it was when we started."

But to a visitor, Knox County people still have the gaunt, hungry look that flashed across the American consciousness a decade ago when Appalachia became a synonym for rural poverty.

According to the 1960 census, Knox County had 25,000 persons, of whom 18,000 fitted the government's definition of poor. Ten years later, the number of poor had dropped below 13,000 and the only major change in job opportunities had come from OEO.

OEO often failed to live up to its assigned role as coordinator of all the antipoverty programs based in other federal departments. The result was programs competing to provide the same services.

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark, N.J., said that at one time "you had a funded program coming from OEO that was manpower training. You had a funded program coming from the Labor Department that was manpower training."

Both trying to do the same thing. Both trying to go through the same employers to provide jobs for two different buys getting different kinds of training.

Jobs were what many people wanted from the antipoverty program. But in many urban areas riots, crime and high tax rates had driven both retail and manufacturing jobs into the suburbs beyond the reach of the poor.

So the poverty programs themselves along with local governments became the biggest sources of jobs.

The New Careers program, based in the Labor Department but administered through the Community Action Program of OEO, was set up to train poor people for public service jobs ranging from policemen and firemen to clerks and stenographers.

The program was established in Newark in 1967 during the administration of Mayor Hugh Addonizio, now serving a 10-year sentence for extortion in a federal penitentiary.

A grand jury that examined the New Careers program found that $4 million for the program appeared to be paying for little more than a vast patronage system for local politicians.

When the administrator of the program appeared before the grand jury and was asked what his duties were, he replied: "I open the door in the morning and close it at night."

Attempts to determine whether the government's several manpower training programs have produced results to justify their cost have failed to provide definite answers.

A staff study for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress noted that $179.4 million was spent on manpower program research and evaluation between 1962 and 1972 and called the expenditure "a disturbing contrast to the anemic set of conclusive and reliable findings."

The committee report concluded that, if unemployment remained above 5 per cent, much of the $1.6 billion planned for manpower programs for the current fiscal year probably would be better spent on creating jobs.

Along with jobs and benefit the poor wanted most from antipoverty programs was a better education for their children. Probably the most popular OEO program of all, both among the poor and within the government, is Head Start, the pre-school program designed to give poor children an exposure to reading and writing skills they may not be getting at home.

But many of the studies also conclude that unless the children are placed in followup programs, they soon lost the advantage they gained from Head Start.

Consumer Surveys Show That Millions Of Americans Undergoing Money Crises

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on recent consumer surveys, millions of Americans are undergoing even more painful money crises — not only in their pocketbooks but in their outlook on the economy — than had been apparent.

The developing situation could mean even more problems for the Nixon administration, which seeks to achieve economic equilibrium by subtle, long-range and fundamental changes, than through the expedient of price controls.

A "precipitous decline" has been recorded in the consumer outlook by the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, which notes that optimism which grew during the first three quarters of 1972 has now been erased.

"Because of the increase in living costs," the latest SEC study found, "the proportion of families saying that they were worse off than before and expecting to be worse off, increased substantially."

The same survey found fears growing that inflation will accelerate and that unemployment will rise.

The confidence decline, a direct feedback from the soaring prices at retail outlets, comes at a time when many families are enjoying relatively substantial incomes and are equipped with strong buying power.

Thus, the various surveys are discovering, some families are building their savings accounts in anticipation of a recession while others are spending heavily in expectation of a continuation of inflation.

Albert Sindlinger, head of Sindlinger & Co., reports that he is hearing "greed amplified" on the seven-day-a-week surveys his researchers conduct by telephone from Swathmore, Pa.

Convinced that the economy is out of control, says Sindlinger, and fearing that the administration won't directly intervene in the market place, many consumers are devising their own defenses, some quite bizarre.

Some, he relates, are buying television sets and other heavy appliances and then leaving them in the packing cases until the time when they're needed.

The tremendous surge in automobile buying, which is setting records almost every week, is believed to be partially in anticipation of higher prices, and costly pollution-control devices expected to be placed on cars in future years.

Already, Sindlinger said, such buying has taken one million sales from next year's outlook.

The SRC also has found "a greatly increased proportion" of consumers who, despite financial doubts, believe it is a good time to buy cars, large household durables and houses "before prices go up."

Sindlinger's daily surveys are showing that, "people are even hoarding gasoline," he says, citing the case of a man who described how he had placed a 500-gallon tank of fuel at the rear of his garage.

The instance isn't isolated, Sindlinger claims, adding: "Fire departments all over the country should be alerted."

The hoarding, he believes, is an activity mainly of a one-third segment of the population that is enjoying unparalleled prosperity. Some of them, he finds, are headed by union members with escalator clauses in their contracts.

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — It's hard to believe, but there's a guy running loose who says he's got a different kind of new mystery series. What makes me agree with him is that the series is for radio.

He's Jay M. Kholos. He's from Los Angeles, where many strange ideas often occur. The strangest is that someone these days can sell a half-hour, five-day-a-week radio series, complete with sound effects.

But the selling is brisk according to Kholos, who says 110 radio stations in the United States already have bought the new series, called "Zero Hour." He hopes to have a total of 300 stations signed up by July.

If you are a confirmed television buff, you may think Kholos has a screw loose. But if you are a radio freak, you may see—or hear, as this case may be—what he's up to.

There's been a gradual nationwide revival of old radio series like "The Lone Ranger" and "The Green Hornet." Charles Michelson, a New Yorker who leases these and other shows to radio stations, says more than 400 stations now are carrying them.

What Kholos, a Los Angeles advertising man, is doing is simply coming up with modern versions of the good old days and, as he puts it, "trying to anticipate a trend."

"We feel there's going to be a demand for new shows on radio, so we wanted to be the first one out of the box with it. This is the first time this has been done in well over 20 years."

A few established Hollywood stars have joined the effort. Writer-producer Rod Serling will be the host of "Zero Hour." The series' premiere week will star Howard Duff, Patty Duke and John Astin.

The show will take the form of a five-part story each week, with four of the segments ending with a cliff-hanger and the admonition to tune in tomorrow and see who survived what.

Ironically, Kholos barely remembers the golden days of radio. He's only 32.

"I used to hide the radio under the pillow at night and listen to the old shows," he said. "But they went out before I really had a chance to get into them."

SELECTING A NURSING HOME — Practical tips on nursing home selection are included in the new HEW booklet Nursing Home Care, first of a series of consumer publications planned by HEW's Office of Consumer Services. Nursing Home Care can be purchased for 45 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

BLOOD BANK REGULATION — HEW's Food and Drug Administration has established regulations for uniform nationwide registration, inspection, and licensing of up to 5,000 blood collection facilities, and about 200 centers which collect and process blood plasma. All community blood banks, hospitals, clinics, etc. which handle whole blood or plasma will be registered annually and will be inspected by FDA every year. The new regulations are primarily intended to protect patients from the hazard of getting blood from unhealthy donors.

CAREERS WITHOUT COLLEGE — A recent survey by HEW's Office of Education and industry associations shows that many career opportunities as technicians exist for men and women who don't have college degrees, and don't plan to get them. Pilots, data processors, oceanographers, sanitation specialists and civil engineers are some of the careers discussed in "25 Technical Careers You Can Learn in 2 Years or Less." Free copies are available by writing to Careers, Washington, D.C. 20201.

VETERANS' EDUCATION — HEW's Office of Education announces a new program to improve services to returning veterans. A counseling service has been set up in the ten HEW regional offices and in some overseas locations to interview returning servicemen and determine their educational needs. In addition, the new program will help veterans apply for financial aid for their education and to overcome any educational deficiencies they may have. Veterans or others interested in this program can get further information by writing to Veterans' Program, Office of Education, Room 4012, 400 Maryland Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C., 20202.

For further information on these and any other topics write: Information Center, Department of HEW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Damage Repair Steps Listed

AUSTIN — Since windstorms and tornadoes have caused millions of dollars in insured damage to several Texas communities recently, the Texas Insurance Advisory Association (TIAA) today urged homeowners to be prepared to take several steps if their property is damaged in a future storm.

These key steps and preparations can speed getting the necessary repairs made both quickly and properly, said the TIAA.

They are:

1. As soon as possible after the storm, notify your insurance agent and give him a general estimate of the damage to your property. If the damage amount exceeds any deductible provision, he will report the loss to your insurance company and have an adjuster call upon you.
2. Make whatever temporary repairs are necessary to prevent further damage by wind or rain, including boarding up and covering broken windows and covering holes in the roof and siding. Keep a record of the costs, if any, and provide the insurance adjuster with itemized bills.
3. If you must move into temporary living quarters, let your agent know where you can be reached. If your insurance policy covers additional living expenses, keep a record of those expenses for the adjuster.
4. Be prepared to provide the adjuster with an inventory of damaged personal property — furnishings, clothing, jewelry, etc. This can speed the processing of your claim.

Postal Service Adopts Flexible Budgets To Help Improve Mail System

More flexible postal budgets have been authorized to help improve service.

Carl C. Ulsaker, Southern Regional Postmaster General, enunciated that new postal policy recently at the conclusion of a three-day conference of postal managers from throughout the South.

Postmaster General E.T.

Klassen participated in the conference to underscore "my determination to give the American people the best postal system in the world."

Ulsaker said to field managers, "We must make the achievement of acceptable service standards our paramount objective."

To do this, Ulsaker declared,

"We will have more flexible budgeting in fiscal year '74. "Meanwhile," he added, "If you (district and sectional center managers and postmasters) have to overrun your budget to achieve service levels, do so. Now, I don't mean you should neglect practical cost consciousness, but rigid restrictions by unrealistic budgets have hurt service and we must correct this at once." During the conference Klassen and Ulsaker and their top staffs met with field managers to seek ways to improve the postal service throughout the South.

The conference was held at Memphis State University and was attended by 66 sectional center managers and 17 district managers. The final day's proceedings were communicated live by a closed circuit telephone network to some 1,500 postmasters who have city delivery mail service.

"We have come here to listen to you," Klassen said.

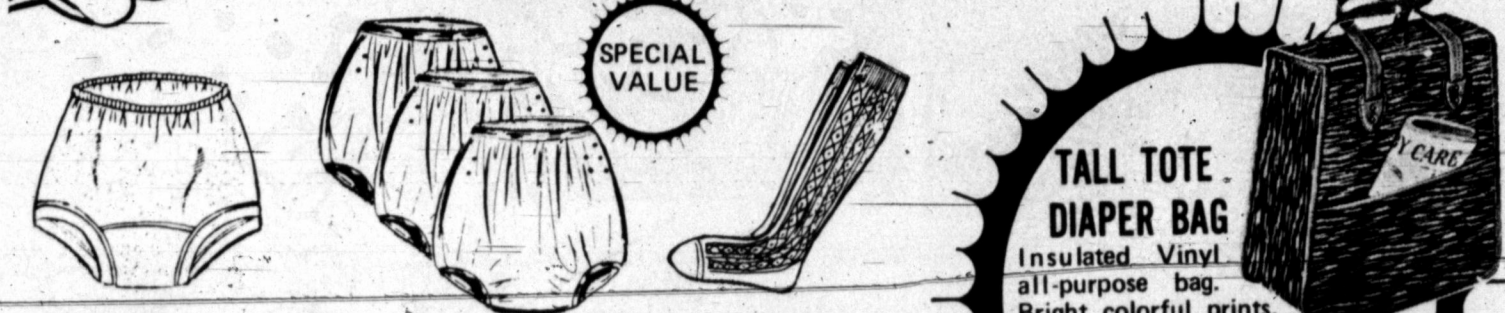

Ulsaker told his postmaster-managers, "This has been a most rewarding and productive conference. I have learned a great deal and you can be sure that I shall do all in my power to put this knowledge to work for the improvement of the mail service."

Ulsaker promised to give increasing delegations of authority now and in the future to field managers."

NBA Draft Is Finished; But Bitter Taste Remains

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1973 National Basketball Association's college draft is over but the bitter taste of the Brisker affair remains.

Philadelphia, foiled in a last-minute attempt to delay the already twice-postponed draft, announced before making the first pick Tuesday that it planned further action to get a first-round choice it feels it should have because of Seattle's signing of John Brisker. The 76ers then opened the draft by picking Olympian Doug Collins of Illinois State, whom some pro scouts describe as having "the quickest hands and feet in college" basketball.

Three All-Americans also were first-round selections—guard Ernie DiGregorio of Providence, by Buffalo; Kermit Washington of American University, by Los Angeles, and guard Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State, by Houston.

It was a day of apprehension and annoyance for NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy.

At 10:30 a. m., EST, famed trial lawyer Louis Nizer, representing the 76ers, went before a judge in the Second U.S. Court of Appeals here asking for a temporary restraining order that would stay the draft.

The 76ers sought the injunction so that they could initiate action in an attempt to restore a ruling made by Kennedy last November that awarded Philadelphia Seattle's first-round draft pick as a payment for signing Brisker, a former American Basketball Association player who was the NBA property of the 76ers. Seattle, picking fourth, took Mike Green of Louisiana Tech.

State was the NBA's No. 1, taken by Philadelphia.

Before the start of this so-called "public" draft, ABA Commissioner Bob Carlson is expected to release the names of players selected in its secret, or "private" draft, as the ABA terms it, last January.

The San Diego Conquistadors pick first in the ABA and, even though he has said he will finish his career next season at UCLA, they are expected to select All-American Bill Walton of the national collegiate champion Bruins.

Memphis will pick second after San Diego, followed by San Antonio, New York, Virginia, Denver, Indiana, Utah, Kentucky and Carolina.

But before picking Collins, Philadelphia General Manager Don DeJardin announced, "We exercise this pick under protest before these proceedings commence. He also said that an effort would be made to get a reversal of a U.S. District Court ruling overturning a decision made by Kennedy last November when Brisker signed with Seattle after having played with the now defunct Pittsburgh club of the ABA.

For a time it looked as if Philadelphia might give up the right of picking first. However, a trade that would have sent the draft pick to Chicago for veteran guard Bob Weiss and center Cliff Ray fell through when Ray, who had a knee injury this past season, failed to pass a 76ers' physical.

One trade did take place, with Cleveland and Portland swapping first-round draft picks, and Cleveland also sending Portland center Rick Roberson and forward John Johnson. Cleveland also received four other draft picks from Portland.

Colonels Join Indiana In Championship Finals

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels made it decisive, leading all the way as they finished off the Carolina Cougars to join Indiana in the American Basketball Association's championship finals.

Dan Issel paced the 107-96 victory with a game-high 31 points and he added 17 rebounds to his scoring barrage Tuesday night as the Colonels won the best-of-seven East Division playoff series four games to three.

Kentucky and Indiana will meet in a nationally televised opener at Louisville Saturday to open their series for the ABA championship. The defending champion Pacers won the West title over Utah in six games.

"I was delighted with the win," said Colonels' Coach Joe Mullaney. "It was a tough game against a good team away from home and I'm very proud of our guys."

Whether Boston captain John Havlicek will be able to play awaits a final decision by the team physician, Dr. Thomas Silva. Havlicek suffered a painful shoulder bruise last Friday and missed Sunday's game, a double-overtime loss.

In the West, the defending champion Lakers also have injuries to surmount for tonight's game, with two key players hobbling. Starting forward Jim McMillan has a knee injury and No. 1 reserve Keith Erickson has a bad ankle.

Golf Tips from the Old Masters

SIZE UP THE GREEN ON LONG IRON SHOTS

Many times just getting the ball on the green with a long iron isn't good enough, according to Sam Snead, one of the great long iron players of all time. On large greens you must finish close to the hole or you may three-putt. The first thing you must do, Snead says, is size up the shot.

"If the green is hard and I want to hit the shot high so it won't bounce over, I'll play the ball farther forward in my stance than normal, about opposite my left heel. The shot will fly higher than normal and stop quickly.

"If I need a low, boring shot I address the ball farther back in my stance, about halfway between my feet. The shot will fly lower and run farther. The key to swinging on both types of shots is to take a long, smooth swing with a wide arc," Snead says.

For Winning None Of The Cardinals Wants To Take Credit

By The Associated Press
As 'befits a team with a 2-12 record, the St. Louis Cardinals are such a modest bunch that no one wants to take the credit when they score one of their rare victories.

Manager Red Schoendienst shook things up Tuesday night by putting Tim McCarver behind the plate and catcher Ted Simmons in right field and the Redbirds ended their seven-game losing streak with a 2-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers as Rick Wise pitched a six-hitter. But Schoendienst disclaimed any managerial genius.

"I don't think the shuffling of our line-up made much difference. McCarver was only 1-for-4. Simmons failed to hit in three chances and Bernie Carbo was a defensive replacement for him in the eighth inning."

Ted Sizemore, who doubled home the second run in the fifth inning, wasn't having any of the hero's role, either.

"I'm not the hero," he said. "Give the credit to Wise and Jose Cruz. He drove in the first run."

Joe Torre scored the first run in the second inning when loser Claude Osteen walked him and Simmons and Cruz singled, but Torre also didn't think much of his night's work.

"I'm not a hero," he said. "All I did was score the first run of the game and after that I didn't break out in a sweat."

The Cardinals pretty much forced the hero's mantle on Wise, who has pitched both their victories.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego overtook Pittsburgh 7-5. Montreal trimmed Cincinnati 7-2. San Francisco shaded the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in 10 innings. Houston downed the New York Mets 4-2 and Atlanta lathered Philadelphia 11-2.

American League scores: California 6, Baltimore 5 in 10 innings; Milwaukee 8, Kansas City 1; Texas 2, Detroit 1; Minnesota 6, Boston 4; Chicago 8, New York 4; Texas 2, Detroit 1; Oakland 4, Cleveland 0.

San Diego had lost four in a row and had a headstart on No. 5 when Pittsburgh erupted for four runs in the first inning. The Padres pulled to within 5-3, including Leron Lee's solo homer, as they came to bat in the eighth and tagged Bob Moose and Dave Giusti for four runs.

"You know, I've never won a tournament in Texas," Trevino said. "It's something I'd really like to do."

And a victory, or even second, would make him pro golfer's fourth $1 million winner. Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper are the others.

The slumping Palmer, who plans a lengthy break from the game after this tournament, and the portly Casper both are in the 150-man field that will challenge Trevino over the water-logged course. Nicklaus is not competing.

Week-long rains, and another downpour early this week, have made the course all but unplayable. It's so wet that tractors were being used Tuesday to pull cars INTO parking lots, as well as out of them.

Pitcher Carl Morton snapped a 1-1 tie with a two-run double in the second inning and drove in another run with a grounder in the third as Atlanta swamped Philadelphia. Mike Lum and Johnny Oates homered for the Braves.

"Lively League" Now To Conduct Its Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Now it's the turn of the "Lively League," the slogan of the American Basketball Association when it came into existence six years ago, to hold its draft of college players today.

The ABA has twice postponed its draft in order to follow that of the rival National Basketball Association and, while its session likely will not be as lively as the NBA's on Tuesday, it will be interesting to note if many of the same players are chosen.

Particularly interesting is what player will be the No. 1 choice. Doug Collins of Illinois

Bruins Decline

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA basketball team says it is sorry but must decline an invitation to visit the Republic of China because scheduled times for the visit make it impossible.

"Naturally I'm disappointed," said Coach John Wooden whose team won the national collegiate championship for a seventh straight year.

"It seemed like a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. But things didn't work out."

The 62-year-old coach said, "So many of our boys would not have been able to go in June."

A school spokesman explained that the original suggestion of May could not be met because of final examinations and term papers due that month and that several players already had commitments for June, including the possibility of professional contracts.

Five Agree?

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Five teams have reportedly agreed to break the National Football League's 23-year television rule of blacking out home games when they play the exiled New York Giants next season in Yale Bowl.

Sports Editor Bill Guthrie of the New Haven Journal-Courier and Register made the report in Wednesday morning editions.

He said the Dallas Cowboys, Washington Redskins, St. Louis Cardinals, Green Bay Packers and Minnesota Vikings have agreed to a special arrangement that will allow WTIC-TV, a New Haven-Hartford based station, to televise the Giants' games in their temporary home whenever the Bowl's 70,876 seats are sold at least six days before the game.

Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL, told The Associated Press Tuesday night, "I have no idea whether that is accurate. In any case, our office would not be involved. It would have to be five separate agreements between the Giants and the individual clubs."

The NFL constitution calls for a mutual agreement between the two teams involved. That is because the visiting team's share of the gate could be affected.

Rentzel Pleads Guilty To Appeal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wide receiver Lance Rentzel of the Los Angeles Rams has pleaded guilty to one count of marijuana possession but plans to appeal the case.

Two other drug-related charges, cocaine possession and furnishing marijuana, are to be dismissed when Rentzel appears for sentencing May 22 in Superior Court before Judge William Caldecott.

Meeting Scheduled

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Sam Houston State will meet the winner of the Big State Conference for the Dist. 4 NAIA baseball title.

The Bearkats gained a split with Trinity Tuesday in a doubleheader to qualify. Sam Houston won the opener 3-2, 3-2 but dropped the nightcap 4-1.

The winner of the Big State Conference will be either St. Mary's or Texas Lutheran.

Rusty Staub of the New York Mets carried a 282 career batting average into the 1973 season.

Debusschere, Jerry West Head Choices

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Debusschere of the New York Knicks and Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers head the National Basketball Association All-Defensive team announced today.

Debusschere, a forward, made the team for the fifth straight year and was the top vote-getter for the third successive year. West, a guard, made the team for the fourth year in a row in the balloting by the NBA coaches.

Joining them on the first team are John Havlicek of Boston at forward, Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles at center and Walt Frazier of New York at guard.

For a second year, the coaches picked Mike P. of Baltimore and Paul of Boston as the forwards. Nate Thurmond of Golden State at center and Norm Van Lier of Chicago and Don Chaney of Boston as the guards.

Moon Rocks may be old stuff even on earth these days, but not even astronauts have seen anything quite like this. Looking almost like the real thing scattered across the desolate lunar surface, these "rocks" are actually tiny iron crystals in specimens brought back from the Hadley-Apennine region landing site by the Apollo 15 mission. They are so small that 1,000 crystals would fit on the edge of a sheet of paper.

Many Skilled Professionals Used For Building Highways

AUSTIN—Everyone knows it takes engineers to design and build highways.

Not many know it also takes professional sociologists, economists, biologists, archaeologists, air, water and noise pollution experts and many other skilled professionals.

How these scientific disciplines can be best employed in the public interest is the subject of an action plan now being prepared at the direction of the Texas Highway Commission.

The draft of the plan has been mailed to federal, local and state government agencies; wildlife, conservation and environmental groups and others. They have been asked to review and comment on the plan.

The Texas Highway Commission long has made it a policy that all highway projects in the state be planned and developed to make positive contributions to the social, economic and environmental well-being of the public.

Simply stated, the final action plan will outline specifically how human, community and environmental factors will be considered in planning all new highway projects.

The draft plan, presented for review this week, also provides for adding more professionals in the fields dealing with social, economic and environmental factors to the permanent staff of the Department.

Consultants and staff members of other public agencies including cities, counties and councils of government would be involved in the planning process as appropriate.

Another key feature of the proposed plan provides for more public involvement during highway and transportation systems planning processes.

The process includes informal public meetings for an exchange of views and information between highway planners and members of communities which might be affected by a highway project.

Such meetings would be in addition to the more formal public hearing which precedes decisions on projects.

The draft action plan was prepared following guidelines set out by the Federal Highway Administration, U. S. Department of Transportation, and based on provisions of the Federal Highway Act of 1970.

Initially, some 375 governmental units and agencies, environmental and conservation groups such as the Sierra Club, the National Audubon Society, the Citizens

Environmental Coalition and others were asked to submit information to be considered in drafting the Action Plan.

The plan was prepared by an interdisciplinary team consisting of 25 members representing fields such as mass transportation, sociology, economics, environmental sciences, aesthetics, architecture, public participation, urban transportation systems planning, land service roads, history, water resources, archaeology, right of way and law.

In addition to the specialists employed by the Highway Department, the team includes staff members of Texas A&M University, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Governor's office, Texas Water Rights Commission, Texas Water Development Board, Texas Mass Transportation Commission, Texas Municipal League, and the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

In addition to governmental agencies, cities, counties and private organizations receiving the draft action plan for review this week, other organizations and individuals interested have been invited to review the draft plan. All comments will be given careful, serious study and consideration.
