White Deer Damaged By Tornado And Hail

By HAY BAXTER
A funnel dipped out of boiling clouds churned by baseball-size hailstones, touched open country west of White Deer, shortly before 6 p.m. Monday, then cut a swath of destruction through the south part of the city.
Three persons were brought to Highland General Hospital for treatment as a direct result of the storm.
Mrs. Mary Harrah had apparent rib injuries, cuts and contusions suffered when the twister struck her home. She was brought to Pampa by the Panhandle ambulance service operated by the fire department in that city.
Her son told the News he narrowly missed being in the house, too. He was delayed enroute by the hail and blinding rain.
Mrs. John Hubbard, an expectant mother, was brought to Pampa by a neighbor couple who had watched the storm's approach.
"If you're from the Pampa News," the good Samaritan said as he and his wife waited with the injured woman's husband, "you should sure tell the world that warning siren at White Deer didn't sound a note, and anybody in town looking, saw that twister coming in!"
The man told of watching the funnel from the time it touched down west of White Deer until it turned up the street where he lives and struck the Hubbard residence.
Mrs. Hubbard was treated and released.

Idele Crumpacker, 79, was brought to Pampa by Metropolitan Ambulance Service after she apparently suffered a heart attack during the stress of the storm.
First reports said three homes, a garage and a mobile home were damaged by the twister. The figure was later upped to 13 homes heavily damaged or destroyed and 27 damaged.
The storm cell that struck Carson County continued into Gray County, bringing a heavy shower that left streets and underpasses flooded in parts of Pampa.
A hail storm accompanied the rain, with reports of golfball size hail falling. Sections of the city and outlying areas were left white by the accumulation of hailstones. (See Photos, Page 2.)
Pampa received 68 inch of new moisture, making a total of 3.42 inches for April and 11.86 inches for the year.
No reports of damages were received in Pampa from the storm, which soon ended with sun breaking through the clouds again before 7 p.m. and bringing a rainbow to arch in the skies.
The Pampa post of the Salvation Army sent three members and three volunteers to White Deer shortly after the storm hit.
A temporary food kitchen was set up at the Fire Station where sandwiches and coffee were served to workers and storm victims.
Capt. L. Z. Sullivan said 400 to 500 persons were served until last midnight.
He said the Salvation Army still was on call to assist families who lost their clothing and furniture in the made.
Capt. Sullivan said the Army also served members of the Citizens Hand Radio Club who were on duty at White Deer until far into the night.
The town of White Deer was quickly cordoned off by law enforcement officers after the tornado. At first officers were just routing traffic around the few blocks where the funnel damage was. When it became known that there was extensive damage all about the city from the huge hail stones leaving many homes open and unprotected, officers kept traffic moving right on through town on U.S. 60 unless it was someone with a home in the disaster areas.
Baseball size of the hailstones was verified by a number of residents of White Deer. It was unofficially estimated that 60 to 70 per cent of the structures in town suffered roof and glass damage.

President Strives To Clear Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trying to turn his shaken administration to "the vital work before us," President Nixon has assumed final responsibility for the Watergate scandal while declaring those criminally guilty must pay the penalty.
Addressing a nationwide television-radio audience on the 100th day of his second term, Nixon said Monday night:
"In any organization, the man at the top must bear the responsibility. That responsibility, therefore, belongs here, in this office. I accept it."
But he pictured himself as the victim, for nine months, of lies by trusted associates who, he said, convinced him one in his administration was involved in last June's campaign burglary of Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate here.
Speaking from his Oval Office in the White House, the grim-faced chief executive said:
"I pledge to you tonight, from this office, that I will do everything in my power to ensure that the guilty are brought to justice, and that such abuses are purged from our political processes."
Barely nine hours earlier, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had announced, on Nixon's behalf, the resignations of four key administration figures: Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, presidential assistant John D. Richardson and White House Counsel John W. Dean III.
Dean was fired; the others resigned.
The only new element disclosed by Nixon in his address was authority granted Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson, his nominee for attorney general, "to name a special supervising prosecutor for matters arising out of the case" that should Richardson deem that appropriate.
A number of Congress members of both parties have demanded that Nixon himself appoint a special prosecutor from outside administration ranks.

The criticism was not stilled by Nixon's address, although he won general praise for his attempts to clean up the White House staff.
However, there were continued calls for appointing a prosecutor with no administration ties—a suggestion offered by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine; former Rep. William Miller, the Republican nominee for vice president in 1964, and Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.
"I do not believe Congress or the people will be satisfied with the results of any investigation carried on by the administration," said Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla. "I wouldn't be satisfied."
But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the normal judicial process is adequate to handle the Watergate probe.

3,380 miles. Three railroads hauled my feed as well as two truck lines that hauled feed from out of state to me, and seven truck companies within the state.
"My buddies and I (119 of us) helped wheat farmers, corn and milk farmers, cotton farmers, soybean farmers, hay and alfalfa farmers, and bankers from here to New York."
"The mill that made my feed used machinery from two foreign companies and 13 stateside manufacturers."
"People who worked in 32 states benefited from me during my short life span."
"The only person who operated with no assurance he would ever break even, let alone make a profit, was the cowman."
"I might mention also that no cowman ever had a 40-hour week."
"Now, the politically appointed economists say the only way for cheaper meat is to increase production and put ceiling prices on beef at the raw production end."
And, addressing the housewife directly, Ferdinand concluded:
"Mrs. Housewife, do you think it is advisable for the cowman to get another load of Ferdinands, buy everything retail, pay freight both ways and sell for wholesale?"

Alert Siren Cries 'Wolf' Once Again

One of the sirens in the Pampa disaster alert system cried "wolf" again during last night's heavy hail and wind storm that swept across Pampa.
When the storm was on its last legs, the siren in an alley near Aspen and E. 22nd St. was triggered and startled many residents who already had heard that a tornado had hit White Deer.
R. B. Cooke, city public works director, said this forenoon officials are confident they would find the trouble and it was remedied today.
The wind, he said, opened a crack and allowed water to seep in and short out the alarm starter.
The same thing happened two or three weeks ago during a thunderstorm.
The disaster alert sirens are not supposed to be set off unless danger is imminent and residents need to take cover.

Ferdinand Relates Life Story to C-C Audience

By TEX DEWESE
"The Trials and Tribulations of Ferdinand" was the topic of Rex McAnelly's discourse on the life of a beef calf from birth to the housewife's table at Monday's Chamber of Commerce Salute to the Beef Industry and Beef Appreciation Day.
McAnelly, vice president of the chamber, president of the Southwest T-Bone Club and feedlot operator, spoke to a luncheon crowd of 250 persons in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room.
He took his listeners through a period just 88 days short of three years required by one particular calf to wind up on a steak plate.
The diary of Ferdinand was designed to show the many things that happen which enter into the cost of producing beef and the roadblocks that face the cowman from start to finish. Ferdinand was born in Staunton, Va.
After detailing his trip to the Texas Panhandle, nearly three years of existence, Ferdinand summarized it this way:
"So you can see there is no such thing as instant beef. Twenty-one major drug Ferdinands help keep me healthy."
"Nine different trucking companies hauled me a total of

County Joins New Plan To Eradicate Coyotes

Gray County Commissioners heard a report on coyote control at their regular meeting this morning from Don Hinton that should sound an optimistic note to ranchers who have suffered loss of baby calves to the predators.
The commissioners court voted to participate in a new plan of coyote control which began April 1, after the federal ban on lethal agents drastically curtailed the old method of dealing with coyotes, bobcats and rodents.
During April a national record for killing coyotes was set in Gray County. The predators were shot from a helicopter at the rate of eight per hour. The previous record average was 5 1/2 per hour.
The effort, in cooperation with the Texas Co-op Trapping Fund, is a project on 500 sections of cow-calf ranch land in the southeast part of Gray County. Ranchers in the area had suffered a $22,000 loss in baby calves.
The helicopter project killed 274 coyotes in 32 1/2 hours of flying at a total cost of $2,437.50. The county bore half the cost and the Co-op Trappers Fund paid the other half.
Commissioner Don Hinton recommended to the court that plans be considered to participate again next year.
Chief consideration by the court had to do with repairs and replacement of pre-catch equipment and repairs to the courthouse and the annex. The purpose was to map a plan for both expenditures and for work needed.
Other than a canvass of the returns in the consolidation election for Grandview and Hopkins schools, the remainder of the meeting involved routine transaction county business.
Following adjournment, commissioners planned to visit a prospective site for a new barn.

Volunteers Gain Praise At Red Cross Meeting

By LARRY HOLLIS
"THE LABRY OF OUR TIME is not affluence, poverty, or ecology and pollution. The problem of our time is apathy," Norman Sanders, a professional staff member for the American Red Cross, told the audience gathered for the annual Red Cross meeting this morning.
Sanders, safety programs representative for the West Texas Division with headquarters in Fort Worth, was the guest speaker for the 7 a.m. breakfast of the Gray County Chapter at First United Methodist Church.
"The largest problem we face is taking time to reach out and care for others," Sanders said.
Noting that the Red Cross attempts to project a humanitarian aspect in its programs, Sanders suggested that volunteering services is a step towards removing apathy from a society.
"The statistics speak well for Pampa and the Gray County Chapter," he added. "I am highly impressed by the county leadership" and its accomplishments.
Critiquing those who "hold a grudge" against the Red Cross because of alleged activities of the organization, Sanders said most of these are the result of false information or of regulations imposed upon it by the government during war.
These people, Sanders said, should spend more time trying to help others and join with the efforts of the Red Cross.
Sanders introduced Andy Stephens, a student at Pampa High School, who spoke on the Red Cross swim program and its aid in getting people to learn how to swim.
Mrs. Don George, outgoing chapter chairman, presided over the meeting. She presented various special awards to volunteers for their service in aiding the Red Cross program.
New officers for the coming year who were elected this morning include Joe Palfren, chairman, Miss Norma Brien, vice chairman, Mrs. Charlene Frazer, secretary, and Art Hill, treasurer.
New board members are George Warren, Gary Baker and Bill Harris. Mrs. George will serve on the advisory board.
Mrs. Louise Sewell will serve as the hospital chairman.
Reports were given by Mrs. Fred Ammeter, hospital volunteers, Karen Parish, Red Cross Youth, and D. V. Biggers, nominating committee.
Jack Chism introduced Sanders and invocation was by Rev. Francis J. McNeil, St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

Boost in Education Funds For Vietnam Era Veterans

By RAY CROMLEY
(Second in a Series.)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The big education news for Vietnam era veterans is the 26 per cent boost in G.I. benefits.

If single, you may be entitled to $220 a month to complete high school and up to 36 months full-time at the same rate for college and graduate school.

If you are married with one child, you may receive $298 a month. Each additional child will bring you $18 more.

You may also be eligible for additional funds for tutoring assistance in subjects in which you are weak.

Some veterans will be entitled to a one-time $250 "work-study" allowance payable in advance. They must agree to perform 100 hours of service for the Veterans Administration during school sessions or vacation weeks. (This program is limited to 800 man-years of benefits annually.)

Many veterans may also be eligible for preferred treatment in securing school loans and assistance in finding part-time work to make it possible to stay in school.

You may study full or part-time, attend day or night school, even take correspondence courses. Courses of study may range from elementary school to graduate work in college. Almost every subject option is open, provided it is serious and leads to a recognized occupational objective.

You may receive credit for open-circuit television or radio courses if you are enrolled in residence in a program leading to a standard college degree, which includes subjects offered through open-circuit TV and if the major portion of the course requires conventional classroom attendance.

Under some circumstances you may study abroad at an institution of higher learning.

In every case, the school must be VA approved.

You may, if necessary, shift from one program to another. One change is acceptable without question. Two, and even three are allowed if you can prove to the VA these shifts are necessary and beneficial in the pursuit of your objective.

You are entitled to the maximum 36 months of full-time college or other post-high school benefits if you are a veteran with 18 months of continuous active duty since Jan. 31, 1955.

You are entitled to the full rates quoted above for full-time study. If you go to college half-time, you are paid half as much, but you are entitled to twice as many months.

If you have not completed high school, you may also take the elementary or secondary schooling you require at the G.I. Bill rates noted above without using up your entitlement for college or other post-high school training.

If you are a veteran with less than 18 months of active duty you are entitled to a month and a half of schooling for every month of service since Jan. 31, 1955, provided you have at least 181 days of active continuous duty. This does not include active duty for training as a national guardsman or reservist.

If you take approved correspondence courses or flight training, and meet the qualifications, the Veterans Administration will pick up 90 per cent of the bill.

If you are a female veteran, you may count your husband as a dependent regardless of how much he earns. If both husband and wife are eligible veterans they may each count the other as a dependent and both may count all their children as dependents.

Generally, you have eight years from the date of your last discharge from active service to complete your schooling under the G.I. Bill. But no eligible veteran will be required to finish before May 31, 1974.

If you are still in the armed services you are entitled to an educational allowance for regular schooling and for remedial or refresher courses after 181 consecutive days of active duty.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recommended in 1968 that men over 55 limit their eating to 2,400 calories a day. The average American consumes 3,300 calories each day.

WHEN CAR OVERHEATS...

LINDEN, N.J. (AP)—If your car overheats while sitting in heavy traffic, you may be able to keep going if you follow a tip given by Clark Equipment Trailer Division.

Try increasing your idling speed to improve the cooling power of your fan and radiator. If your hot light goes off, keep up the gentle pressure until you get moving again. If not, you'll have to turn off your engine and lift your hood to indicate that you're a road block.

Worry Clinic

Drew Pearson and I often addressed State Teachers' Conventions, like the two mentioned today. For teachers use this newspaper column to help stop promiscuity, school dropouts, plus the drug, tobacco and liquor habits. Note, however, how its foes use "excuses" to attack it!

CASE W-592: Leonard T. aged 47, is a school principal. "Dr. Crane," he began, "I heard you and Drew Pearson a generation ago when you addressed our Wisconsin State Teachers' Convention over at Duluth."

"You spoke first at Superior, followed by Drew Pearson. Then he drew the first assignment at Duluth and you were next."

"But I was shocked to find that our Wisconsin editor soon dropped your 'Worry Clinic' column."

"When I phoned to learn why, he bluntly told me you were 'too frank' for a family newspaper."

"Yet our Guidance Counselors have been using your newspaper column all over America, so why should he say you were too frank?"

"And especially since divorce has been increasing, as well as teenage sexual delinquency."

REASONS VS. EXCUSES

For many years I taught the courses on "Psychology of Sales and Advertising," both at George Washington University and also Northwestern University.

Therein I always warned my college students to distinguish between a customer's excuses vs. actual reasons.

For tyro salesmen often spend futile time trying to answer a prospect's objections, when the latter aren't logical.

In the case of this "Worry Clinic," the standard "excuse" for canceling it used to be that "too frank" alibi.

That was patently an excuse, for the same newspapers were running lurid stories about sexual assault and rape on Page One!

From my friends on the staffs of many newspapers where this column has been cancelled, I have learned the real reasons, though they were camouflaged under that inane "too frank" label.

Several publishers had fat, stodgy wives who resented my trying to stimulate dieting by my comments about "Waddling Walruses" or "Baby Hippos."

So the wives put the pressure on their husbands and had the column cancelled.

Without a single exception, this "Worry Clinic" has ALWAYS rated first on reader polls among women, if it has been run daily beside any other advice column, whether medical, political, financial, or psychological.

And it pulls far more mail than any other column.

Moreover, its emphasis is ALWAYS on how wives can prevent straying by their husbands or dropouts by their school children or the adoption of tobacco, liquor or drug habits by their teen-agers.

For I launched this column as a broad educational form of "vaccination" against immorality, delinquency and broken homes.

Obviously, I get down to the nitty gritty, but always in terms that are not vulgar, for I employ euphemisms, such as "boudoir cheesecake" or "erotic calories."

Yet if people get their toes stepped on, they don't dare say they hate me or this column for that selfish fact, so they must invent "excuses" for demanding that this column be dropped.

That strategy, too, is the standard recourse of people who let emotion becloud reason, so send for my booklet "Common Fallacies in Logic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hopkins Bldg., Mellett, Indiana 47624. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

'A Splendid Little War' (8)

June 22, 1898, was D-Day in the Spanish-American War.

Gen. William Shafter's plan was this: After a softening-up bombardment by the Navy, a landing was to be made at the village of Daiquiri, 16 miles east of Santiago de Cuba. At the same time, feints were to be made at other points along the coast, while from the mountains, Gen. Calixto Garcia's guerrillas were to engage the Spanish. With Daiquiri secured, the Americans would sweep five miles westward to Siboney, which would become the main disembarkation port.

Shafter ordered all newspaper-reporters to remain on the troopships until the landing was completed. Thereafter, unlike the popular and politically astute Teddy Roosevelt, Shafter never enjoyed a very good press.

The landing was disorderly and prolonged. Fortunately, Spanish General Linaires, who commanded 36,000 troops in Santiago province, elected not to oppose it and thus missed an opportunity to change the course of the war.

By nightfall, some 6,000 Americans had been put ashore. The only casualties were two infantrymen who drowned.

First enemy resistance was met the next day when Gen. Joseph "Fighting Joe" Wheeler of War Between the States renown led elements of the dismounted First and Tenth Cavalry Regiments and the Rough Riders into the hills beyond Siboney. In dense jungle at a crossroads called Las Guasimos, the first blood of the Cuban campaign began to flow.

The sudden spray of bullets from the Spanish waiting-in-ambush was like the "hailstones of a storm," wrote one correspondent. The Spanish were equipped with Mauser rifles and smokeless powder. The Americans used old-fashioned black powder that made them highly visible targets.

But the Spanish overestimated American strength and began falling back. "We've got the damn Yankees on the run!" shouted excited Confederate "Fighting Joe."

The American casualties were carried to Siboney, where Clara Barton and her Red Cross organization were to establish a field hospital to care for the far greater casualties that were to be suffered in hard fighting in the days ahead. It was war, real war, for the first time.

Leisure Boom Hits Americans

NEW YORK (AP)—Piercing through the somber droning monotony of grumbling and discontent over the high cost of living, each year there is heard the shrill laughter of America at play.

Which is to say that despite constant concern about making ends meet, Americans never lose their enthusiasm for a good time. This year they plan the best times yet, costs notwithstanding.

Not even the dollar devaluation is likely to slow travel, and early estimates based on surveys and passport applications indicate more than eight million Americans will travel abroad in 1973, compared with 7.4 million last year.

Such an increase would be unusual. Between 1960 and 1971 foreign travel by Americans rose 153 per cent, and together with domestic travel now accounts for expenditures of roughly $45 billion a year, says the Conference Board.

While some people are traveling from place to place, others will occupy their free time riding up and sliding down hills or boating or chasing balls. Skiing has grown from 50,000 participants in the 1940s to 4.5 million now.

More people than ever before will be bicycling, unless those 9.6 million bikes sold in 1972 — an increase of 13 per cent over 1971 — represents more the resolution than the execution of those who planned to exercise.

Others will be taking to the road in larger vehicles. Camping is growing in popularity, which probably accounts for the fact that there are now about four million campers, motor homes, trailers and related vehicles on the road.

Most of these figures are from a study by the Conference Board, a nonprofit research organization largely supported by business, which reports that Americans are in the midst of a leisure boom.

Recreational and leisure time spending, it claims, now exceeds $80 billion a year, and is rising each year. These are some of the percentage increases between 1960 and 1971:

Radio, television, records and musical instruments 186; books and magazines 185; personal consumption expenditures 104; admissions to legitimate theater, opera and entertainment of nonprofit institutions 101.

The study shows that more than 80 million Americans participate in picnicking, more than 70 million in swimming, 60 million in games and sports, and a like number in attending sports events and concerts.

Rising incomes and more available leisure time are making such pursuits possible. The leisure time is made available not so much by changes in the length of the work week, which has remained stable in the past decade, but by an increase in the length of the average vacation from 1.8 weeks to 2.2 weeks, and to recent federal legislation assuring five long holiday weeks.

Psychologist or psychiatrist?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A wife complained that her husband, a psychologist, was being intimate with some of his women patients. (He said it was "in the line of duty.") You told her that her husband needed to see a psychiatrist.

Why didn't you recommend a psychologist? Some psychologists are as competent as psychiatrists to treat individuals with emotional problems.

DEAR WANTS: A psychiatrist is first a physician, which qualifies him to rule out a physical problem that could be responsible for the emotional problem. Furthermore, only a physician is able to prescribe medication, should it be needed.

A psychologist who behaves in an unethical manner [and engaging in intimacies with patients is indeed unethical], should, in my opinion, see a psychiatrist. And I'd make the same recommendation for a lawyer, C. P. A., or any other professional person who gets carried away in the line of duty and appears hell-bent on destroying his family and livelihood. If the psychiatrist decides that only psychotherapy is indicated, a referral to a clinical psychologist could then be made.

DEAR ABBY: You advised someone to "go the 70x7 route," and no one in our office can figure out what you meant. Please clarify.

DEAR STUMPED: I meant that however many times—7, or 70x7—someone trespasses against you, if he asks forgiveness, forgive him. [New Testament: Matthew, XVI: II, 21-22.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy with an unusual problem. For the last two years I have had a paper route and done odd jobs. I have saved $800 to do with what I please.

My sister lives in Belgium and has asked me to visit her during vacation time. She is 28 and teaches school there.

Mom said I may go, but my father hit the ceiling. He said I was too young to learn anything, that it would be a waste of time and money for me to make that trip at age 14. Abby, I do well in school and I think I would learn a lot if I made this trip. I earned all the money myself and saved it, and I think I should be allowed to go. What do you think?

DEAR READER: From your letter I would say you are a responsible young man and would learn a great deal from the trip. Furthermore, a 14-year-old boy who can earn and save $800 should be permitted to spend it as he sees fit. I vote with Mom. [P. S. If you go, send me a postcard.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOHNNY: The best things in life are far from "free"—they oftentimes come with experience. And experience can be expensive.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Twentieth Century Club Given Convention Awards

The members of the Twentieth Century Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Rayburn Thompson. Miss Elsie Cunningham conducted the meeting, in the absence of Mrs. Rex Rose.

Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Gene Steele, and Mrs. David McGahey reported to the club members on the District Federated Convention which was held in Canyon. This committee urged the members to enter the Arts and Crafts contest. They also presented the certificates that were awarded the club, a first prize for money raising project, a first prize for crime prevention and Law Observance, first prize for work on the "Big Thicket", second place for Scholarship and Student Aid.

The program of the day was on public affairs, with emphasis on Americanism. Mrs. Paul Harbaugh, leader, opened the program with a quotation from President Kennedy. "Only in winter can you tell which trees are truly green. Only when winds of adversity blow can you tell whether an individual or a country has courage and steadfastness."

Mrs. Fred Neslage spoke on the "Returnee". She stated that President Nixon is anxious for each returnee to take advantage of the opportunities and benefits that will make their transition from the military to civilian life easier and more beneficial.

After checking in the Pampa area Mrs. Neslage said she felt that the Red Cross, Veterans Office and the Texas Employment were doing all in their power to aid the returning veterans.

Mrs. Richard Stowers and Mrs. Steele conducted a workshop on Americanism. Each member told how she would teach her children Patriotism. Some of the ideas presented were: History of our country, history of the American language, music, with emphasis on Folk Music, freedom equated with responsibility, enthusiasm, love of the

The Jacoby Two No-Trump

South's two no-trump response had nothing to do with no-trump but showed a strong spade raise. North's three-spade rebid said, "I have a very good hand without a singleton."

The four-club and four-diamond bids showed aces, whereupon South went right into Blackwood and found that his partner held two aces and two kings. He also knew that North held at least two diamonds.

This made it possible for South to count to 13 tricks provided one of North's kings was in spades. If he did not hold the spade king there would be the same play for either grand slam so South bid seven no-trump and got his top score.

 In rubber bridge, seven spades is the correct North-South contract. It can only be beaten if the opening lead is ruffed.

It is also a pretty good contract in match point duplicate but seven no-trump is a better one. It won't make if diamonds break 5-1 and the man with five diamonds hangs onto all of them, but the extra 10 points are going to mean a top score as against one just a trifle above average.

Here is how one pair got this top score by use of one of our conventions, the Ja-

Artis Gilmore Leads Colonels To 1-1 Record

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sore-backed Artis Gilmore, causing the Indiana Pacers a number of pains along the way, has led the Kentucky Colonels into a 1-1 tie in the teams' play-off series for the American Basketball Association title.

Los Angeles Favored To Whip The Knicks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defending champion Los Angeles was rated a solid favorite to beat the New York Knicks again and retain their National Basketball Association title in the championship series starting tonight.

For the opening game at the Forum before a capacity crowd of 17,506, the Lakers were listed as four-point favorites and they were 9.5 at Las Vegas and 8.5 in Reno to win the series.

A year ago Los Angeles beat New York four games to one in the finals.

Fully rested, the Lakers have had since last Wednesday for injuries to Jim McMillian and Keith Erickson to heal. Both men practiced with the team on Sunday after the Knicks had upset Boston 94-78 to win the Eastern Conference crown 4-3.

Laker Coach Bill Sharman feels his club might get stale with too long a layoff and the Lakers were at a peak in downing Golden State 4-1 in the Western Conference playoff series, which ended Wednesday.

Unanimously, the Lakers preferred to meet New York in the finals. They would have the home court advantage, and

Golf Tips from the Old Masters

BOROS TELLS HOW TO CURE PUTTING JITTERS

Putting jitters stem directly from lack of confidence, or fear of missing, says Julius Boros. This fear is most prevalent when a great deal is at stake. Boros is convinced that is why most golfers get most nervous on putts that are very important.

"To eliminate tension in putting you must eliminate fear of missing," Boros advises. "Fill your mind with positive thoughts like making solid contact with the ball or moving the putterhead along your line. Once you make up your mind about how you want to putt, set yourself over the ball and putt decisively.

"Above all, you must do away with any indecision about the correct direction of the putt. Once you line up the putt, don't second-guess yourself. Putt quickly and decisively."

showed why he led the league in three departments during the regular season, as the Colonels won 114-102.

Gilmore connected on 11 of 16 field goal tries, hauled down 26 rebounds and swatted away 7 pacer shots.

During the regular season he was the league leader in field goal percentage, rebounds and blocked shots.

His performance came after he reinjured a pulled back muscle during pregame warm-ups.

"It was hurting my play some," Gilmore said. "At times I normally would have taken it right to the basket, but I couldn't tonight."

Meanwhile, Indiana's center, Mel Daniels, who also complained of a sore back, was held to 14 points and 16 rebounds.

"He wasn't himself out there," Indiana Coach Bob Leonard said of his 6-9 center.

"Mel's giving up a lot of size already to Gilmore and he was feeling a lot of pain tonight," Leonard said.

"And Artis is always capable of a game like that," Leonard added.

Forwards Dan Issel of Kentucky and George McGinnis of Indiana neutralized each other, finishing with 28 points apiece.

In an injury that could have a bearing on the rest of the series, Colonel guard Rick Mount sprained his left ankle after scoring 11 points in the first 14 minutes.

X-rays were to be taken of the ankle today.

Rookie Is A Veteran

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The most promising rookie entered for the Indianapolis 500-mile race this year is a veteran with more than 17 years experience.

Bobby Allison, who started racing while he was still in high school, has finally found a "ride" he wants for the May 28 classic. The 35-year-old Hueytown, Ala. stock car veteran will drive a McLaren-Offy for Roger Penske's team.

"I've had a couple of other offers in the past to drive at Indianapolis," Allison said. "But Roger's offer came at a time when I could fit it in my schedule."

"Before I've always had other commitments," Allison made it look easy Monday as he completed his rookie tests. He finished practice with a "comfortable" 181.336 m.p.h. lap around the 2 1/2-mile oval.

"The only reason I'm here," Allison said, "is that I really believe I have a chance to win."

"I've had an exciting, full career, but racing at Indy is one thing I've always wanted to do. From the time I was seven or eight years old, the big thing in racing was to listen to the Indy 500 on the radio."

"To me, it's the biggest thing in racing."

Allison is the latest in a series of NASCAR drivers who have tried to win the Indianapolis race, including Cale Yarborough and brother Donnie Allison.

The younger Allison brother was named Indy rookie of the year in 1970, with a fourth-place finish. Donnie, 32, was sixth in 1971, but hasn't been back since because of sponsor commitments.

Yarborough finished 10th last year.

Allison was one of eight on the track Monday, the third day of practice. The fastest lap of the day was registered by 1972 Indy rookie of the year, Mike Hiss-The Tustin, Calif. driver pushed his new Eagle Offy to 184.955.

Russians Beat America; Even Series At One-All

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "I'm an old alley fighter but I want equal muscle," declared Coach Bob Cousy of the U.S. national team after Russia squared their series in a rough basketball battle.

On the other hand, Russia's coach Vladimir Kandrashev declared through an interpreter, "Sven Nater is a dirty player," and he made motions with his elbow.

The Russians had just beaten the Yanks, 78-76 in the second game in their series of six after the opener in Los Angeles went to the Americans convincingly, 83-65.

Bill Walton, the National Collegiate Player of the Year the past two seasons, missed the second game because of a knee injury suffered in the first one.

His UCLA understudy, Nater, was the starter in San Diego.

Cousy fumed again. "It's organized mayhem under the basket. Outside fouls are called closely, but the criterion under the basket seems to be blood."

The coach of the Kansas City-Omaha National Basketball Association club declared he wanted to add a center and "muscular forwards" to his national team which currently depends on finesse.

The teams head for Albuquerque and Wednesday night's third game.

Before 13,895 fans in the Sports Arena, the deciding points came with one minute 52 seconds remaining when Jaak

Pampa Held Hitless In Loss To Sandies

Amarillo High School hurler Manley Davis held the Pampa Harvesters hitless yesterday in a District 3-AAAA game at Optimist Park and emerged with a 4-1 win for the Sandies.

Davis would have had a shut-out if a throw from him to the first baseman for Amarillo, Mitch Gentry, had been caught by Gentry instead of bobbed in the second inning.

Pampa catcher Bobby Hendricks was headed for home with two outs on the Harvesters, when Gentry missed the relatively routine throw. Hendricks scored for Pampa's only bright moment in the game.

The win raised AHS to 3-4 in district play while the Harvesters dropped below .500 in the league with the same record.

Amarillo scored its first two runs in the first inning following a missed fly ball by Pampa left fielder Mike Robbins.

With two men away, Sandie first baseman Mitch Gentry hit a high fly to Robbins' right. He moved over to make the catch but the ball fell out of his glove.

Davis had gotten on base earlier by a single. With two men on for AHS, Sandie left fielder Jesse Parrish lashed a single into right-center scoring Davis and Gentry.

The Harvesters got their run in the bottom of the second and the game then went scoreless until the top of the sixth when Amarillo scored its two final runs. Those were also made after two men were away.

Davis and third baseman Curtis Alexander were the first two men up in the sixth for Amarillo. Davis struck out and Alexander flied out to Harvesters second baseman Rick Bigham.

Gentry, the next man up for the Sandies, singled and then Parrish got his second hit of the game—a double which moved Gentry to third.

Mike Hefer, AHS' second-sacker, was next up and he doubled both men in, closing out the scoring.

Davis struck out nine Pampa batters and walked five in getting the win. Pampa's Dennis Edmondson struck out five Sandies and walked none in absorbing the loss.

The Harvesters are scheduled to meet Palo Duro today at Optimist Park and will host Tascosa tomorrow.

Pampa will close out its season against Amarillo High Friday in Amarillo. All games are scheduled for 4 p.m. starts.

Texas League Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cellar-dwelling Alexandria, with a 2-10 record so far this season, needed a helping hand from Texas League East leader Arkansas Monday night to post its third victory.

The Aces took advantage of three walks and two errors in the seventh inning to defeat the first place Travelers 5-4.

Things started normally for Alexandria, as Arkansas starter Larry Volkening pitched five perfect innings, allowing his teammates to slug their way to a 2-0 lead.

But Arkansas began to fall apart in the sixth when Don Elliott tied the game for Alexandria with a two-run triple. Volkening was taken out in the seventh as the Aces scored three runs on three walks, two errors and two sacrifice flies.

In other Texas League action El Paso whipped Amarillo 8-2, Midland eased by San Antonio 8-7, and Memphis blanked Shreveport 5-0.

Midland took an extra inning to beat San Antonio as Bill Droege scored on a grounder in the bottom of the 10th inning. Droege took home three hits during five times at bat.

Memphis pitcher Ed Burgy gave up four hits in six innings to blank Shreveport. Relief

Lamar Joins

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dwight Lamar, twice the nation's leading collegiate scorer, has joined the San Diego Conquistadors, a basketball team with no home and little history—but with enough money and faith in Lamar to make him a rich young man.

"We'll play in San Diego, that's all I know," Lamar said Monday after signing a three-year, no-out contract with the Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association. Estimates of his salary ranged from $500,000 to $600,000 for the three years, although no announcement was made.

"They have a coach I respect," Lamar added, referring to K.C. Jones. "I hope he can teach me some defense."

Lamar didn't have to play much defense at Southwestern Louisiana, where he averaged 36.0, 36.3 and 28.9 points per game in three seasons, leading the nation his first two years.

Standing At Watergate

Though serious, in the sense that all burglaries are serious, the Watergate case is about in the same class as mutual slaughter between rival Mafia gangs. Politicians who plunder the public are not adverse to plundering one another. What really blew the episode out of the water was the 20-year sentences handed down by the trial judge. According to the usual custom of the courts, if the Watergate defendants had shot somebody in the course of their night-time prowls, they would have been out of jail in five years. The punishment was out of proportion to the crime, but it served the purpose of causing some of the defendants to talk.

Mr. Nixon is not exactly an amateur at handling tough situations, as those who are old enough to remember his 1952 "Checkers" speech will recall. That experience may stand him well again. But we are mindful of a word from Emerson in which we have repeated in these columns more than once: Watergate provides another occasion "Great causes," said Emerson, "are never tried on their merits. The issues are, instead, reduced to particulars to suit the size of the partisans, and the contention is ever hottest around minor matters."

Because Watergate, relatively speaking, is a minor matter does not mean that it will be unimportant so far as the historical aftermath is concerned.

Letter's Worth

Many people wonder whether letters to the editor carry any weight. An article published in the San Francisco Chronicle back in 1972 has just been sent in to us regarding one of our sometimes letter writers, C.C. Moseley of Glendale, Calif.

A football player at USC, a World War I pilot and founder of an arttime, who claims he trained more pilots than anyone else in World War II, he is now 79 and has a new occupation: writer of letters to the editor, as well as other pursuits such as owning an 84-business industrial park, raising race horses and collecting art works.

He has a regular mailing to 1825 daily newspapers and to every U.S. senator and congressman, mostly on economics. Why does he do it? Well, he understood that he should write his congressman, which he did, but they did not at first seem to heed his messages.

Later, the Chronicle reported, "when I got enough dough to do it, I started mailing to all Congressmen. But they ignored them. Then I started to mail to 1825 newspapers as well, and if you think they don't pay attention now, you're crazy."

Asked why he is trying to change things, he said, "I'm trying to get the public interested... in stopping government spending. Government spending is the sole basis of inflation."

"My main objective is to try to save the thrifty people and the old people who have retired from the 'embezzlement' of their money through inflation."

Although the News as a matter of practice, does not favor mass produced letters, especially those advocating some political candidate in preference to some others, we have welcomed Moseley's letters, because he is working toward his goal, a goal we approve. One thing true, he has mastered the art of letter-to-editor writing. His letters, neatly typed, are always brief (never more than two-thirds of a page), and always clearly stating his point.

C.C. Moseley does not want the country to "go down the drain" and donates many hours typing out positive suggestions to keep that from happening.

N. Viet Aid Prospects Dwindling

Prospects for U.S. aid to North Vietnam dwindled somewhat in late March, when former prisoners of war divulged the agonizing details of torture and suffering endured at the hands of the Communist enemy. "Severe torture, degradation, deprivation, humiliation, you name it," is the way one returnee put it. He put it mildly.

Asked what purpose the POW stories of torment might serve, one ex-prisoner answered, "It gives you some idea of what we've been up against all these years. People over here have been screaming that the North Vietnamese are humane and their cause is just. Well, this shows how humane and just they are."

That some of these screaming people over here contributed to the prolongation of the prisoners' plight was indicated by POW testimony. Some of them charged that the antiwar movement in the United States actually made the war longer by causing the North Vietnamese to misjudge the influence of protesters on Government policy. "The violent antiwar reaction in the U.S. that followed the Communist 1968 Tet offensive apparently convinced Hanoi that the war could be won by propaganda," said Time in its April 9 issue. As for "peaceful" visits to Hanoi by antiwar groups, prisoners said they were beaten for refusal to meet with such groups. And as far as the press is concerned, a former prisoner told how, during a torture session, one interrogator displayed clippings from U.S. newspapers showing pictures of peace demonstrations. "In one of the pictures, I saw way in the background two guys with American legion hats holding a sign that said 'Drop the Bomb.' That really bolstered me." Asked another ex-POW why: "Why do you think we're so disturbed by the New York Times? While Harrison Salisbury was sitting in Hanoi (in 1966) me and other guys were being tortured, and he knew nothing about it. — he was completely duped."

Joel T. Brodyhill, congressman from Virginia, declared "that not a cent of American aid money should be spent rehabilitating a country that is apparently run by savages." And Congressman Jerry Litton of Missouri suggested that American "aid" consist of sending draft evaders to work in North Vietnam: "If those in America who evaded military service loved the North Vietnamese too much to fight them, perhaps they still love them enough to help them in their reconstruction program."

The administration hopes that such gut reactions in Congress will mellow as memories wane; no specific aid-to-Hanoi is expected to be proposed until May or June at the earliest. Supposedly, moreover, no proposal will be made at all unless Hanoi ceases its infiltration into the South. Since Hanoi has denied infiltration from the beginning of the war, we can expect the outline of an aid program to appear as soon as current emotions die down.

How long will we remember?

Living Like A King

The phrase, "living like a king" is meaningless today. "Living like a President" is more expressive. Few kings ever lived like American Presidents. In all fairness, though, President Nixon is trying. Sometimes, very trying. But he has cut down to his last yacht. The last yacht he got rid of cost $200,000 a year from our government expense. But he's making up for that in parties. In case you hadn't thought of Richard Nixon as a party-boy-and-who has? it is reported that he and Mrs. Nixon have about 40,000 guests for breakfast, lunch, dinner, tea, etc. during the year. Even though you don't get invited, you pay part of the bill. The President also has vacation homes in San Clemente, California, Key Biscayne, Florida and Camp David, Maryland. Why Florida and California? Votes! Presidents use your money to get re-elected. A recent estimate says it costs $80 million a year to keep a President fed, housed, staffed, protected, transported, vacationed and subject to reelection. We might be better off with King Saud!

Costly, Wasteful Housing Program Fails of Its Aim

By RAY CROMLEY.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A recent in-house review of federal housing and urban renewal programs does not present a pretty picture.

The rehabilitation loan program has provided a quarter billion dollars in subsidized 3 per cent, 20-year loans over the past eight years to selected owners and tenants to promote the rehabilitation of property in urban renewal areas.

Investigators uncovered the distressing fact that in some localities, overhead or administrative expenses have accounted for half of the costs of the program.

In a majority of cases, the aid did not go to help the neediest families. Well over half of the subsidized loans have been going to persons with incomes above the median in their areas. Nearly 500 went to those earning more than $20,000.

Though the improvement of substandard housing was a major objective, most of the housing being subsidized already met minimum housing code standards. Families receiving the loans used the funds for additional improvements.

The situation in the 24-year-old $13 billion urban renewal is worse. The studies indicate a substantial part of the federal subsidy has been going to land speculators who have unloaded land at several times its worth. In one eastern city local officials counted 20 instances in which the urban renewal agency purchased land at more than double its appraised value; the price paid exceeded the appraisal by more than 500 per cent in nine instances, by 1,000 per cent in five, by 1,500 per cent in three and by 2,000 per cent in one.

Participating cities must observe 1,800 pages of federal regulations. Local officials must, of necessity, spend much of their time finding ways of staying within or circumventing the rules. In many cases this further distorts the objectives.

Commitments now outstanding in federal low-rent public housing rent supplement, home ownership assistance and rental housing programs are expected to cost the taxpayers $57 billion to $82 billion in direct subsidy payments over the life of the projects.

Yet the investigators have found these programs provided, "a fortunate few with new housing while comparable families pay more for unsubsidized housing that is not new."

The projects have placed some families in homes they can't afford to maintain, have provided inordinate financial gains for intermediaries and have inflated housing costs, in part at least because officials supervising the programs have not properly inspected homes.

Generosity during life is a very different thing from generosity in the hour of death; one proceeds from genuine liberality and benevolence, the other from pride or fear. — Horace Mann, American educator.

"The beginning of wisdom is calling things by their right names."
