Easements On Garden City Road Offered

Commissioners Vote To Buy Right-of-Way If State Builds

Howard county commissioners court Monday acted to help clear the way for a highway to Garden City by adopting a resolution agreeing to furnish right-of-way for the project if and when undertaken.

The resolution was contingent upon action by the state highway department and set forth that the county would secure the roadway when the highway department asked for it in order to construct a road.

It was similar to one adopted by a previous court but which has since expired. Position of Glascock county in regard to the matter was one for officials of that county to determine, but some here thought they might be willing to follow Howard county's example.

The road has received tentative designation at the hands of the state highway commission as a segment of a conditional designation from Gail to Garden City. This in turn was part of a master plan for a road connecting Post City and points with Big Lake.

According to a previous state highway department survey, route of the road in Howard county would leave the Elbow lateral road about a mile from highway No. 9 and continue in a southwesterly direction a distance of 5.8 miles to the county line. Tentative designation for the route carries No. 207 with the state highway department.

Jumbo Voting Box No. Three Cut In Two

Voting precinct No. 3—the jumbo of Howard county's electoral system—will be divided next year, according to an order of the commissioners court passed in regular session here Monday.

While No. 3 will be reduced in size and potential vote, the Soash box (No. 15) is being combined with Knott, thus keeping the precincts in Howard county to 14.

The segment pared from the western part of No. 3's territory will become box No. 8 with a voting place to be set up in West Ward school. The number was taken from the abandoned Highway box.

Roughly, the county's biggest precinct would be divided along a line extending down W. 4th street to the Lancaster street intersection, thence south to W. 18th and westward down the extension (it is really an alley) to a point west of scenic Mountain. Then it would go south to the county line.

Thus the new portion No. 8—would embrace the southwestern and western residential districts of Big Spring, including Park Hill addition but not Edwards Heights, Elbow and Lomax communities. The remaining part of No. 3 would be largely residential area in southern Big Spring.

Since residential building in Big Spring spread to the box, No. 3 had taken on such a voting load until it had fully one-third of the county's potential. It was the only voting box in commissioners precinct No. 3, and it was a political saying, based largely on fact, "as No. 3 goes, so goes the county."

County Gathers 1,525 Pounds Of Old Aluminum

Howard county's contribution of aluminum—1,525 pounds—was shipped to the concentration point at Lubbock today.

Gregory Iron and Metal Works pressed the sheet aluminum—more than 1300 pounds—in a big metal press until it consisted of solid chunks. Cast aluminum, constituting the remainder of the collection, was sacked.

When hauled to the metal works, three or four big truck loads were made. After other metals were cleaned out and pressing completed, the metal was hauled away in a pickup truck, said County Judge Walton Morrison, county chairman of the drive.

RETURNS ON PLANE

Louise Ann Benenit, who is the official sponsor of the Big Spring rodeo, left Chicago this morning by plane and will be in Big Spring tonight. She had been on the tour conducted by Lillian Shick and is returning home to participate in rodeo functions.

Odessa Appears Doomed To Onrushing Germans

British Audaciously Make Daylight Raid On Cologne

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The RAF bombed Cologne in an audacious daylight raid today and sent a great air armada out to attack the coast of German-occupied France on a non-stop foray which sharply renewed Britain's large-scale air offensive against the reich.

The raid on the ancient Rhineland metropolis was described by the British press association as possibly the heaviest daylight attack yet made on Germany. The assault on the French coast was carried out in such force that observers on the English southeast coast gave up trying to count the number of planes roaring out over the channel.

High-flying bombers and protecting fighter planes swept eastward in both "v" and diamond formations. Crowds gathered all afternoon to watch the spectacular offensive.

Blenheim bombers were reported to have carried out the bombing of Cologne, the third daylight attack on this city since the beginning of the war. The city, which straddles the Rhine and contains many of the vital industries for which the Rhineland is famed and which are feeding the German war machine, has been raided approximately 100 times by night.

It is the metropolis of the Rhineland and the third largest city in Germany, having a normal population of about 750,000.

Navy Operation Of Shipyards Studied

By The Associated Press

Navy Secretary Knox today weighed an offer by the president of a strikebound New Jersey shipyard to turn over the huge establishment to the navy for immediate operation so that work might be resumed on $493,000,000 worth of naval and merchant ship construction.

In advance of a scheduled meeting with L. H. Korndorff, president of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Knox withheld any hint of his attitude toward the company official's proposal to give the navy possession of the big plant at Kearny, N. J., where 17,000 workers have been idle since Thursday.

In proposing this drastic step yesterday, Korndorff declared that the strike "involved no issue but the maintenance of the open shop. We are unwilling to abandon the defense of the freedom of the American worker to choose whether he will belong to a union or not."

At the heart of the dispute is the union's insistence on a contract clause providing that a union member must maintain his union membership in good standing if he is to continue as an employe.

The mediation board recommended such a clause, along with increased wages. The company granted the wage boosts but balked at the maintenance-of-union proviso.

Legal experts here believed that if the navy should decide to take over the plant in the executive order by President Roosevelt might be necessary. In the east, the Jersey City and Dover, N. J., plants of L. O. Koven and Brother were struck, halting work on $1,000,000 navy contracts for submarine manifolds and gasoline and water tanks.

The Curtis-Wright Corporation's propeller division said today that for the first time since a strike broke out Friday there was an increase in the number of men passing through picket lines to work on $100,000,000 in defense orders.

John Hart, public relations counsel for the firm whose plant was the scene of an unauthorized demonstration that developed into an AFL Machinist Union strike, said that 230 men in the vital factory departments reported for work on the day shift while 272 remained out. The revised figures for yesterday, he said, were 206 in and 296 out.

Selectees Will Leave Wednesday

Three young men will leave here Wednesday at 7:55 a. m. to fill Howard county's quota in response to state call No. 22 under the selective service act.

They are John Lewis Stripling, Woodrow Wilson Coots, and Enrique Velardez Parras. Stripling has been designated as leader of the group.

One other, slated to go with the trio, received a 60-day deferment at the hands of the board due to the fact that he was badly needed on his father's farm where he is engaged in fighting an acute infestation of cotton bollworms. Board officials said he likely would go with the October group.

Food Makes This Marine—Marine Pvt. James Rees plunges into the making of an average good meal for him at San Diego, from five to seven pounds of food. Corps doctors report Rees has consumed this amount regularly and in the three and one-half months since his enlistment at Watrloo, Ia., he has gained 15 pounds. He has won expert medals in target and bayonet practice.

BIG BLACK SEA PORT HEMMED IN

By The Associated Press

German military dispatches pictured Russia's big Black sea port of Odessa as doomed to quick surrender today, with naval troops storming down both sides of the Bug river and red army forces desperately attempting to escape by sea.

DNE, the official German news agency, reported German bombers already had sunk six troop-laden Russian transports off the Ukraine coast near Odessa.

The Germans declared inland avenues of escape from both Odessa and Ochakov, farther east, had been virtually cut off.

Advices reaching London further emphasized the critical plight of Soviet Marshal Semyon Budenny's army of the south, reporting that Adolf Hitler had thrown perhaps 1,000,000 troops into the Ukraine conflict and that German armored forces had advanced within 40 miles of the big grain and ship-building port of Nikolayev, about 65 miles east of Odessa.

Authoritative London quarters said the main German onslaught was developing from the Uman sector, midway between Odessa and Kiev, where the nazis last week reported the slaughter of 200,000 red army troops.

DNE described the German advance as "impetuous, with swift-striking panzer columns throwing a gigantic net around Odessa, main base of the Russian Black sea fleet.

Battle maps issued in Berlin showed the nazis pushing forming a huge bulge deep into the southern Ukraine, below Kiev, and nazis front-line dispatches asserted German troops also were closing in on the Ukraine capital.

Violent aerial battles were reported raging over the blood-drenched field as Soviet warplanes smashed at German infantry and motorized forces and nazis pursuit planes attempted to fight them off.

All major arteries behind the Soviet lines in the southern Ukraine were reported jammed with retreating red army troops, under falling attack by German warplanes. The Germans said rail traffic was disrupted.

Berlin dispatches said German troop columns advancing on Kiev were rolling along "well-paved road highways leading straight to the city."

Wreck Near Coahoma Is Fatal To One

Mrs. Dessu Ruby Willingham of Odessa was fatally injured and her daughter, Rita Bess, was injured in a truck-car crash on highway 80 at Coahoma Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Willingham died at 1:30 a. m. today in a local hospital, where she was carried after the accident.

The daughter remains there under treatment for concussion. Another daughter, Lana Belle, and the husband of the dead woman, H. B. Willingham, were not injured.

The Willingham family was enroute from Coleman county, where they had been visiting, to their home in Coahoma at the time, and a trailer-truck skidded across the road, witnesses said. The Willingham car crashed into the truck.

In addition to members of the immediate family, Mrs. Willingham is survived by her father, H. E. Hutchins of Hemet, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Jewell Clayborn of Munday; a brother, J. C. Hutchins of Hemet.

Funeral has not been arranged. The body is being held by Eberley funeral home.

Americans Die In British Air Crash

MONTREAL, Aug. 12 (AP)—Twenty-two men, seven of them from the United States and eight from Canada, were killed in a flying accident in the United Kingdom last Saturday. It was announced here today by the Royal Air Force command.

(A dispatch from London said 22 persons were believed to have been killed when a transport plane crashed on a hillside just after leaving a British airport.)

The American dead were listed as follows: Flight Engineer E. G. Reeves, Roslyn Heights, N. Y.; Capt. G. T. Harris, Kansas; Capt. D. J. Duggan, Winthrop, Mass.; Capt. H. R. Judy, Dallas, Tex.; Capt. J. Wiken, Los Angeles; Capt. J. J. Roulstone, Long Beach, Calif.; Capt. W. M. King, Arkansas.

Judge Files Proposed '42 County Budget

50 Cent Tax Levy Provided, Changes Few In Document

A suggested 1942 Howard county budget has been placed on file in the county clerk's office for public inspection by County Judge Walton Morrison, and the commissioners' court has ordered a public hearing on the subject for 10 a. m. August 30.

The proposed budget is similar in most details to the 1941 budget, under which the county is now operating. It estimates resources of the county at $201,520 and calls for expenditure of the same amount. The judge and the county auditor have estimated 1941 expenditures will total $207,609.

A tax rate of 50 cents per $100 valuation is used as a basis for estimating revenues. Should the budget be approved in its present form, the commissioners' court is expected to levy a 50 cent rate, same as that for the past several years.

Should the legislature meet in special session and pass an act providing for state assumption of certain road bonds; the budget will be hastily revised, said Judge Morrison. However, he considers this unlikely, and at any rate the tax levy will be 50 cents, he indicated. Many counties are being forced to sharply increase tax levies to meet bond obligations falling on them due to failure of the legislature to pass its customary bond assumption act.

However, the indebtedness of Howard county is so small—only $141,500—that no great readjustment of county finances is necessary.

The proposed budget calls for an increase from 8 cents to 11 cents of the levy for the good road bond fund, from which the county must pay $10,000 principal and $4,000 in interest on the issue. This year the state paid $9,140 toward retirement of this issue, leaving the county $8,259 to pay.

The viaduct warrant fund levy remains at one cent, as this year. The county must pay $1,000 in principal and $1,410 in interest on this fund, a total of $2,410. The levy will provide only an estimated $1,300, but a cash balance of $1,740 is expected to be on hand in this fund at the start of the year. This year, the state paid $2,270 on this issue, or 90 percent of the total.

The proposed budget would abolish the one cent levy for jail and courthouse warrants, inasmuch as a balance of $2,475 is on hand and the payment of interest and principal will amount to only $1,310.

Levy for the road bond refunding issue is cut from two cents to one cent. The county must pay $3,132 in principal and interest on this, but there is a balance of $8,764.

Total levy for payment of debts and interest, then, is 13 See BUDGET, Page 8, Column 2

Darlan Takes Broad Power In Government

Aged Marshal Asks United States For Full 'Understanding'

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Marshal Petain, the French chief of state, committed himself to full collaboration with Germany in a radio address to the nation tonight, a few hours after his vice-premier, Admiral Jean Darlan, had been given supreme military powers in the Vichy.

The aged marshal ranged himself squarely on the side of Germany in the fight against Russia, which he said was a "defense in the east of civilization" and was a battle which could "change the map of the world."

Marshal Petain personally appealed to the United States for understanding and to the French for their cooperation.

He admitted that his so-called national revolution had failed of its aims so far.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 12 (AP)—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan was named minister of national defense today in a reorganization of the French cabinet which concentrated all military powers in his hands.

A decree published in a special edition of the official journal gave Darlan greater powers than any person or combination of persons in France except Chief of State Marshal Petain himself.

Darlan, who on June 6 called for "loyal" collaboration with Germany and who has publicly attacked Britain's war role since the fall of France, was placed in charge of the following by today's decree:

1. General organization of national defense.
2. Distribution and use of the armed forces.
3. General inspection of the armed forces.

The clue to the concentration of powers was seen in statements when such a measure first was hinted that Darlan would thus have his hands freer to conduct negotiations with Germany for collaboration.

The German-controlled Paris Press has been insistent lately that collaboration include military as well as political and economic matters, and has urged that such cooperation especially be extended to cover the defense of Dakar on the western "hump" of Africa and other strategic points in French Africa.

All members of the government were raised to ministerial rank by the new decree. Some of them previously had held the rank only of state secretary.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull indicated unusual interest today in the increased powers conferred upon Vice Premier Jean Darlan by the French government, but withheld comment pending further information.

He said this was certainly a matter which the United States wished to verify and to see exactly what its significance would be before commenting on its effect on French-American relations.

Advance Interest In Rodeo Great

More advance interest is being shown in the eighth annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo than in many previous shows. Curtis Driver, assistant secretary, said Tuesday as he gathered up the loose ends on all arrangements for the western extravaganza.

Never before in the history of the show has there been so many ropers and riders notifying the association that they would be here. Delbert Lyons, Byers, told Driver that several riders from points as far south as Brady had said they were coming.

It began to appear Tuesday that there would have to be morning, afternoon and evening sessions for ropers, although this will not alter the schedule of regular performances Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon.

Tuesday the sponsor totals went booming again with six new names added to the list. They were Betty Glover, China Grove; Laura Davis, Sand Springs; Marilyn Lowe, Crane; Nancy Benford, Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo; Nancy LaForce, Midland; and Earlene Jeffrey, Penwell. This brought the number of visiting sponsors to 17.

First rodeo stock—11 broncos—were delivered Tuesday by Red Lyons, Byers, who brought them here from Johnson City. He will return Thursday morning with nine more wild horses and 20 head of raw-boned Brahma steers.

Monday 20 cows and a like number of salty calves were cut from the Capps-Lucas ranch of A. L. Wasson for use in the rodeo. Kyle Gray will haul the animals in Thursday so that they will become used to the rodeo grounds. He also will bring 20 wild mules—they have yet to be handled—for use in the show.

Decorations were going up over the city and show windows were blossoming out with bucking horses.

Putting the decorative scheme on a personal basis, residents were coming out with loud shirts, screaming neckerchiefs, boots and big hats.

Policeman E. B. Bethell rounded up a group of business men with the aid of the long-unused city machine gun and gave them the choice of going western in attire or going to jail. They were let off with a promise to dress up for the show.

Parade plans were being shaped up by Burke Summers, general chairman of this activity, and Dan Conley, high school band director, was issuing old uniforms—which come nearer carrying out the western theme—to band members for the parade. The band also will play at the rodeo performances.

JAPAN GIVES WARNING
TOKYO, Aug. 12 (AP)—The militarist daily, Kokumin, said today that the United States and Britain had been warned that any further anti-Japanese pressure by them would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan will go ahead with grim resolve toward establishment of her sphere in East Asia.

Proud Of His Division—

General Birkhead Commands Texas' Boys

By WILLIAM T. RIVES

MANSFIELD, La., Aug. 12 (AP) Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead, commander of Texas' 36th division encamped in Louisiana, strode from the mess tent toward his office, halting to chat with a subordinate.

An aide whipped out a notebook and scribbled in it.

That night an entry went into the general's daily log.

"12:21 p. m.—General talked two minutes with colonel."

Birkhead began the study of law as an office boy in a Waco law firm many years ago.

In Waco, too, his military career found seed. He enlisted in the mayor's guard there, the local unit of the Texas volunteer guard, forerunner of the present 36th division.

In the World War, General Birkhead was a field artillery colonel. He assumed command of the division in 1936 after rising to the rank of major general.

The general is intensely proud of the 36th and its history of brave deeds and strong men—of the time, for example, when First Lieut. Donald J. McLennan led a scout patrol cross the Alamo river in 1918.

As he returned under heavy fire with valuable information, Lieutenant McLennan was the last man to cross the river.

Refusing to turn his back to the enemy, he backed across the foot-log over the stream, shaking his fist and shouting to the Hunst: "We're going back but I'll take you."

General Birkhead has devoted almost as much time to military life as to his big law firm in San Antonio. After the war, instead of plunging immediately into his legal practice again, General Birkhead used his influence to provide positions for those of his men who returned jobless to civil life.

Notes
By MARY WHEALEY
Everybody has quirks and peculiarities, whatever they are, and we've got two that are always getting us into situations.

Sometimes the situations are amusing but more often they leave us red-faced and embarrassed.

We've tried most everything to overcome these two habits and just when we think we've got them under control, something happens. Habit is too strong.

First one is straightening pictures on the wall. A cock-eyed picture seems like it just reaches out and begs us to straighten it up. That's very well around our own home and we do a continual job of it there. But to just walk into somebody's house—well, folks usually resent it.

Sometimes we wait until everyone has left the room and then do our straightening up work, but more often than not, we get caught at it. We never can think of a very good excuse either.

Our other habit is plucking strings or pieces of lint off the shoulders of other people. This is a habit that doesn't bother us much in summertime. But in the winter, when men and women wear dark wool coats and dresses, we have to sit on our hands to keep from snatching a piece of lint off their shoulders.

This will get you into all sorts of messes and if you don't believe it, just try it sometime.

Course these habits are better than if we took dope, but they certainly get us into peculiar conversations.

"No Child of Mine will ever get WORMS!"

Don't be so sure, Mother! Anybody, anywhere, can have roundworms! Yes, and the ugly creatures may be living inside your child right now, starting trouble without your even knowing it. If your child is pale, underweight, nervous, has an uneasy stomach, picks at nose or seat—these ugly roundworms may be at work.

Play safe! Get Jayne's Vermifuge at once. It acts very gently, yet expels stubborn worms. And if no worms are there, it acts just as a mild laxative. Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine, used by millions, for over a century. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge! At all drug stores.

President Orders Strict Control Of Installment Buying

Bigger Down Payments To Be Required

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Easy payment plans felt the impact of defense requirements today, as the administration acted to curb the nation's $10,000,000 installment credit business.

The announced purpose of the curb was twofold: To discourage consumers from buying many things containing materials that otherwise would be conserved for defense production needs; and to contract inflationary tendencies that arise when the demand for certain goods is greater than the supply.

President Roosevelt, in an executive order issued late yesterday, directed that the control system be set up to regulate the huge credit business now being transacted through the country's banks, stores and personal finance companies.

The order instructed the federal reserve system to formulate and administer the regulations under a world war statute which carries criminal penalties as high as 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine, for violations.

There was no immediate indication of what the rules would be, but Mr. Roosevelt specifically authorized such measures as requiring down-payments where they are not now required; requiring bigger down-payments than now necessary; requiring larger weekly or monthly installments, and reducing the length of time such payments may run. Credit contracts already existing or entered into before the new regulations become effective will not be subject to the new control system.

The president held that the regulations were necessary to curtail the present use of installment credit for purchase of "consumers' durable goods."

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board said that

English Lad Writes About Thoughts Of Britishers Under Siege of War

Everybody wonders what the people in London are thinking, talking about and doing these days since their island has been the target for an unknown number of bombs from Germany. A letter received by Bruce Frazier, Jr., from his pen pal, a 14-year-old English lad, makes pretty good reading.

Ronald Darnell who lives at 42 Hinwick Road, Wallaston, Northants, England, has been writing to Bruce and here are excerpts from his letter:

"The first of his letter concerns his health since an appendectomy and how much better he is feeling. He mentions worrying over a friend, 15 years old, who lost four fingers of his hand while working."

"Then he says 'I hope your friends were interested in this piece of barrage balloon I sent. What I want you to do now is to tell everyone that we are not on our last legs over here, and that the time will come when we will pay Jerry back and come out victorious.'"

"We had a bit of excitement around here the other week. It was on a Saturday night. We were wakened by some people talking under our bedroom window. So we got out of bed and I asked what was the matter. 'There's a plane crashed about a quarter of a mile away across the fields,' the man

Miss Williams And Virgil Perkins Marry Here

Calla Mae Williams and Virgil Lee Perkins were married at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening at the parsonage of Wesley Memorial Methodist church.

The rites were read by the pastor, the Rev. J. A. English. There were no attendants. The bride wore a blue ensemble with white accessories. The couple will be at home in Big Spring.

Connie Scudday Is Complimented

FORSAN, Aug. 12 (SpI)—Mrs. M. M. Hines complimented her niece, Connie Scudday, with a party at the Hines home Friday afternoon on Connie's fifth birthday anniversary.

Games were played and gifts presented to the honoree. Refreshments were served to Kerline Sue and Connie Scudday of Denver City, LaRue Walker and Sonny Walker of Kilgore, Billy Green, Billy Miller, Tommy Miller, Quota Lowry, Madge Louise Anderson.

replied. So we dressed as quick as we could (getting up in the night is not fresh to us, we have to because of bombs sometimes). "When we got out there we saw a huge glow in the air about seven or eight fields away from us. There were purple lights.

"Tracers were flying in all directions. Then all of a sudden there was a terrific explosion which rumbled for about five seconds and shook the ground. I should say it was about equal to five bombs going off. Before the explosion there was a queer flash, a sulphur color which seemed to land as a flash on the hut in the yard.

"Honestly, I have never experienced anything like it. After this the fire continued for about an hour and a half. By the way this happened at 1:30 o'clock in the night. At about 2 o'clock the Home Guard turned out to go and identify the craft. As I saw them march down the street it made me feel as everyone felt, proud and more determined to pull through and stick it to the end.

"We got into bed again and knew no more until next morning when we were wakened by a bomb followed by a second explosion. Later we learned that a British plane had crashed and the crew of five were burnt to death.

"We haven't been allowed to go near it yet, as some of the bombs haven't gone off, but I hope to get you some war relics one day from that spot. It was quite a thrilling night but I don't want another one like it....

"I should like you to be here next week when it is feast week, that is to say the birthday of the church. About Thursday or Friday if you were here you would see big lorries and steam engines drawing trucks packed full with amusements of all kinds... We shall have a swell time spending all the money we've got... Hope this letter finds you well."

"I think I need to have my head examined, Doc!"

"Dear me, my good man, why so?"

"Because I didn't buy a Servel Gas Refrigerator back in 1941."

Nat'l Loop Race Hits Hotter Pace

By the Associated Press
A couple of years ago people were pooling fun at the National League as a big minor circuit but it knocked out the rival American League in two all-star games and the 1940 world series and this summer has been giving the fans the only run for their money under the big top.

The battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals for the pennant in the senior circuit is as exciting as the "Perils of Pauline" with the buzz saw getting closer at the end of every installment.

Nat'l Golf Rounds To Open Thurs.

Some 600 Crack Amateurs To Play Over 27 Courses

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — Pursuing 13 players who already have earned their places in the National Amateur golf championship at Omaha, some 600 crack amateur golfers will play 36-hole rounds over 27 different courses Thursday in sectional qualifying rounds.

Although this collection of shot-makers is one of the smallest in years for the amateur, it includes practically all of America's top-flight players. The full entry list, announced today by the United States Golf association, shows that only one of last year's quarter-finalists, George Dawson of Chicago, failed to enter this year's tourney.

The 28th district sent six players into the fold yesterday when Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., paced a field of 29 at Denver, Colo. Todd shot rounds of 73 and 69 for a 142 over Denver's Cherry Hills course. That indicates Todd should be a serious contender in the big tournament.

Other qualifiers yesterday were John Jory, Denver, 148; Frank J. English, Denver, 149; John Kraft, Denver, 151; John Oliver, Amarillo, Tex., 152, and Rex Eaton, Denver, 152.

Some other prominent golfers who will try to qualify are Strafac, Tommy Goodwin and Nell White at New York; Art Doering and Gus Moreland at Chicago; Tom Praper, Jr., recent sensation of the Canadian open, and Art Pomy, semi-finalist in the national public links tournament, at Detroit; Reynolds Smith, at Jack Mungler at Houston, Bill Holt and Ted Bishop at Boston and Pat Abbott, Bruce McCormick and Ellsworth Vines at Los Angeles.

with the Dodgers still in front by the slender margin of .003. Kirby Higbs pitched and batted the Dodgers to their triumph, his 16th. He checked the Giants on seven hits.

In the only other National League contest the Phillies whipped the Boston Braves, 6-3, for Boom Boom Walter Beck's first victory of the year. The tall-enders collected 15 hits.

The listless New York Yankees, so far in front of the American League that few people pay any attention to them, were shut out, 0-0, by the Boston Red Sox as Jack Wilson pitched four-hit ball for his first complete game of the season.

The wave of "beanings" during the weekend brought on a fight as part of the doubleheader between the St. Louis Browns and the White Sox at Chicago. In the first game Elden Auker smacked Joe Kubel on the shoulder with a pitch. One word led to another and then to fistfights. Players of both teams rushed out and Alan Strange of the Browns joined in the sparring. All three were banished.

The White Sox went on to win, 14-9, with Luke Appling hitting in five runs in leading a 14-inning attack. The Browns captured the nightcap, 10-3, with a 17-hit assault for George Caster's first victory of the year.

The Minor League managers agreed to contribute their funds to charity, giving the American Baseball Union, winners of the division, the choice of how the money should be distributed.

Plans were made for a barbecue for the league, but no definite date was set.

Cities' Services led in placements on the All-Star team, putting six of its lads on the list.

Major-Minor Leagues Decide On Use Of Money On Hand

City Major-Minor softball league managers met Monday night, named a fast League All-Star team, counted their money and figured what to do with it.

Both brackets had $37.50 on hand. Major division of city softball decided to use their funds for the purchase of a trophy for the champion of the circuit, Cities' Services Officers, and to award individual watch-charm softballs to all-star selections.

The Minor League managers agreed to contribute their funds to charity, giving the American Baseball Union, winners of the division, the choice of how the money should be distributed.

Plans were made for a barbecue for the league, but no definite date was set.

Buck Schulze Hangs Up Sixteenth Win Of Current Season

Buck Schulze added his sixteenth victory of the season here last night as he led the Big Spring Bombers to a 9 to 2 triumph over the Amarillo Gold Sox and winding up the last series of the Sox will play on Roberts Field during the regularly scheduled season.

Tonight, 8:30 o'clock, the Bombers open a three-day series with the Lubbock Hubbers, the last time the Hubbers will appear on the local scene in 1941. Tuesday morning, Manager Jodie Tate said Andy Mohrlock would start on the hill for the Big Springers.

Schulze delivered nine-hit ball last night, as he tossed barriers in all but two Amarillo scoring threats. Going the route without letting up the pressure at any point, Schulze struckout ten Gold Sox and gave four passes.

Amarillo called on the efforts of three hurlers to stop the Big Spring slugger attack. Russ "Kid" Crider went out of the game in the fifth, after allowing five hits and five runs. Rinsinger came into the game to finish the fifth, but left the mound in the sixth after being hammered for three runs and four hits. Delbert Thurman then came into the contest and pitched a smooth, hard-to-hit curve over the rest of the route. It was the 16-year-old pitcher's first game with the Gold Sox and his initial actual test under fire. He gave up one run and two hits during the three innings he served.

Larry Drake put the fire in the game with a homer off Crider in the initial frame. The blast scored Jack Lindsey and Hayden Greer putting the kibosh on Crider's game. Dick Ratliff doubled in the fourth to score Greer. Hank Poltras three-base hit in the fifth stanza drove in Ratliff and Drake. Then, in the eighth, J. L. Haney hammered out a two-batter, then advanced to third on an error by leftfielder Hargrove.

The game wound up with a bang as Haney snagged a hard-hit ball by Hargrove to retire the side. Amarillo— AB R H P O

Lamesa Bows To Clovis Pioneers, 12-1

Open Three-Game Series With The Spudders Tonight

LAMESA, Aug. 12—The Clovis Pioneers took the final game of the series Monday night, crushing the Lamesa Lobos with a 12 to 1 count. The tussle was sloppily played, with the Lobos guilty of seven errors.

Lamesa was never able to bunch hits off Bond, although he was hit hard. Walter Buckel, Lobo third-baseman, broke loose for the first time this season, getting three hits for four trips, the last one a screaming triple against the left-field wall.

Kirby Jordan hit two for three and Don Lang got a couple of safeties, the first one a triple down the third base line.

Lamesa will be host in a three-game series with the Wichita Falls Spudders, opening here tonight. These games were originally scheduled for the Spudders home park, but were transferred here last week.

The War Today— Japan Awaits Right Time For All-Out Attack On Siberia

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Herald Special News Service)

There is little doubt that Japan is seriously considering the expediency of attacking Russia in Siberia, on the basis that this would be less likely to draw armed intervention by the United States than would an attempt at expansion southward from the powerful new Japanese base in French Indo-China.

Fear of the United States, rather than of preoccupied Britain, has been the chief deterrent to Japanese action thus far. This reluctance to antagonize Uncle Sam into drawing his shooting iron could hardly have been otherwise than strengthened by the remarkable warning which Kamekura Wakasugi, Japanese minister to Washington, gave his people yesterday.

Mr. Wakasugi, who was at Los Angeles enroute to Tokyo, declared in a trans-Pacific telephone interview that "the United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities."

However, while Nippon definitely doesn't want to measure strength with us, she is playing an opportunist game quite openly.

The Russo-German conflict is the gauge most likely to give us an accurate indication of the danger in the Far Eastern crisis. A big German break through the Red defenses might set the Japanese war machine to rolling across the Manchukouan border against the Bolsheviks.

For this reason the present Hitlerian gains against the Red hanks, especially in the Ukraine, must be regarded as strong encouragement to the Japanese to capitalize the position.

The Bolsheviks continue a fierce resistance in this eighth bloody week of war. Still, I think we are warranted in concluding that there has been a gradual weakening of the Russian line—not numerically but in the power of defense.

The third phase of the German invasion has developed into an operation of fast movement again in some sectors, especially in the more open Ukraine. The strain of this blitzkrieg warfare is so terrific that only a highly trained soldier who is absolutely fit physically can stand up under it.

One hastens to add that there is no intention of drawing a picture of impending catastrophe for the Russians. However, the Germans seem to be headed for a very sizeable victory in the Ukraine, and perhaps at Leningrad.

That should come as no surprise to regular readers of this column, since we have discussed the probability often enough. We also have considered the likelihood that the Muscovites would have to make considerable withdrawals of their line to new positions farther east.

As pointed out before, everything depends on whether they are able to retire in order. A debacle might lead to irreparable disaster.

Flashes Of Life-

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK—The police bomb squad was called to investigate a suspicious package found near the Queens Electric Light and Power company plant.

The experts handled the package gingerly, mindful of past bomb cases, soaked it in oil and then opened it to find—something of a clam chowder instead of powder. It contained a bushel of oily clams.

KANSAS CITY—The Duncan Dallam's chickens are back home, still confused about the whole thing.

An irate neighbor shoved them into a taxicab and whisked them off to police headquarters.

"These are Dallam's chickens. They were in my sinias," she told Sgt. E. K. Bullard, and left.

Bullard booked the fowls and notified their owner.

They rode home in the family car, hours later, pledged to stay in their own backyard.

SALT LAKE CITY—There was no address on the postcard—just a photograph and "Salt Lake City."

But it was delivered all right, all right.

The picture was Postmaster I. A. Smoots.

ROLL UP ANOTHER LOG—Through Puget Sound's narrow Deception Pass a big log boom is towed, evidence of the increasing need for lumber that's being used in homes and defense plant construction work. That white patch in the upper center is another log boom being towed to a mill where it'll become lumber to supply nation's unparalleled demand.

Senator Reynolds To Marry Fifth Time

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, 57, red-headed and four times married, received congratulations today from his colleagues on his engagement to Evelyn W. McLean, 20-year-old Washington heiress.

"I consider myself a very fortunate man," said "Our Bob," confirming reports of the forthcoming wedding. He added that no date had been set and that other information would have to come from Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, mother of the bride-to-be.

Miss McLean, a tall, willowy blonde, is a close friend of one of Reynolds' two daughters. Her mother owns the celebrated Hope diamond; her father, the late Edward R. McLean, former Washington newspaper publisher, died last month in a Maryland sanitarium.

New McAlester Warden Expert Escape Stopper

McALESTER, Okla., Aug. 12 (AP)—Stern Fred Hunt, promoted from warden of Granite reformatory, took over at McAlester penitentiary today as funeral services were held for his predecessor, Jess Dunn, slain in a bloody Sabbath day break.

Hunt, who once attracted national attention by dressing recalcitrant reformatory inmates in lace panties and seating them on a platform to receive the jeers of their fellows, was named to his new post last night by Gov. Leon C. Phillips.

Ed O'Brien, chief clerk of the state board of affairs and a former merchant with no previous prison experience replaced Hunt at Granite.

Hunt, who never has lost a prisoner nor had a major break attempt during his six and one-half years as warden at Granite, took over his new post with a pledge of full cooperation from Governor Phillips.

Prison breaks have played a major part in the career of the new McAlester warden, once known as the "boy sheriff" of Johnston county because of his youth when he was first elected to that office.

Now in his late forties, Hunt, six-foot, three-inch, 200-pound man who regularly wears cowboy boots and a ten-gallon hat, took over at Granite when 33 felons broke out in February, 1935, killing tower guard Pate Jones of Chickasha.

Mrs. W. D. Lovelace Program Leader For Wesley Methodists

The program on "Investing Our Heritage in Inter-Denominational Cooperative Work," was led by Mrs. W. D. Lovelace for the Wesley Memorial Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service members at the church Monday.

Mrs. Lovelace also gave the call to worship and Mrs. H. J. Whittington the scripture.

Mrs. Cecil Nabors had the meditation and others on the program were Mrs. T. L. Lovelace, Mrs. J. D. Stembriidge, Mrs. E. R. Cawthron.

Others present were Mrs. J. A. English, Mrs. Mary Edwards, Mrs. J. I. Low, Mrs. W. W. Coleman.

The next meeting is to be at 2:30 o'clock Monday at the church.

Women May Trade In Old Stockings

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12 (AP)—A plan whereby women would trade in their old silk stockings when they buy new ones will be presented to the committee on regulations and proposals for the hosiery industry at Washington.

"There's a great possibility of relieving the hosiery shortage if we can reclaim all the old stockings which have been put away in chests and bureaus," said Charles P. Bloome, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Wearing Apparel Board of Trade which will offer the proposal.

Your Electric Service Knows No Vacation!

"Yes, folks, have a good time on your vacation. I'll stay on the job as usual, and when you get back, I'll be ready to start working for you where I left off. If you come home after dark you can light up the house at the snap of a switch, and I've kept a tray of ice cubes in your electric refrigerator."

Most everybody takes a vacation, or at least gets a day of rest, but your electric service is always instantly ready when you want it, 24 hours a day and 365 days a year. Like the sun which rises every morning, like the air we breathe, electric service is taken for granted, so dependable and so essential is electricity to our everyday comfort and convenience.

But dependable, good electric service doesn't "just happen." Skilled employees, miles of wire, great electric turbines and other equipment combine in the Texas Electric Service organization to make available for you this modern service any hour of the day or night.

Have You Ever Worked In A Store?

It doesn't take long, when you work behind a counter, to find out that when things are advertised they sell better than when they are not.

In other words, advertising means more goods sold and more manufactured.

And that means more jobs in stores and factories.

That's worth keeping in mind—advertising makes jobs.

Editorial — Voting District 3 Needed Division

The county commissioners' court's action Monday in dividing up old voting precinct three, we believe, was a wise and well-justified action.

Like everybody else in Howard county, we have a sentimental attachment to No. 3 because of its size, for it normally carried at least one-third of the county's potential vote and usually polled its proportionate share of the actual total.

Sentiment is about as far as our attachment goes. We've helped cover too many elections to have a high regard for the degree of efficiency that is humanly possible in so large a box as No. 3. It is true that it reports sometime before smaller boxes, but that is an indictment against the management in the other boxes. Most of the time No. 3 is the last to report.

Perhaps if it were still further split, it would be well, but we're satisfied with division of the box into two. Election results will be known to the public much earlier than has previously been the case. And as little as it actually matters, this business of knowing how an election comes out is tremendously important to all of us on election night.

Too, the voters will be inconvenienced by having two places to vote. Crowds, waiting and confusion will be diminished.

We suggest those who hate to see tradition broken forget their sentiments in view of the more practical arrangement now provided by the commissioners court.

Dorothy Thompson Says England Seeks Normalcy While Facing Hard War

By DOROTHY THOMPSON
LONDON (By Wireless)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, frail in black gaiters, a huge gold cross on his chest, his white hair like an aureole around his pale, old face is framed in the shattered arches of the Twelfth Century chapel in Lambeth Palace, which has been the residence of the head of the Church of England for 800 years.

"All ruined," he says, "but like an act of God the altars were untouched."

His chin trembles. . . . The Sixteenth Century library is gutted, the floor littered with cinders, ruined books. "It is very hard to burn a book," The leaves cleave together under pressure. Only the flyleaves burn. I open one. It is dated 1788 and written in Latin. "The Canon Law of France."

The house of commons, bombed and burned, is clean and all-look in the empty cellar-like ruin so strangely small. The middle is black. On much of what once was the floor charred papers are scattered. "Votes and proceedings of the house of commons, Monday, the 8th day of June, 1808. . . . Of galleries flanking the house, where eyes demolished nays untouched. . . . England still says no."

The gallows humor and ironic understatement of Londoners. . . . The taxi drivers account. "Nothing happened to me throughout it all, but me aunt Maud 'ad a bit of bad time. 'Ad 'er 'ead blowed off." . . . A fire fighter says, "We wasn't what you'd call really prepared at first for the fires, but the bombings were a bit of an innovation in England."

The fire fighters. . . men and women sleeping in stations on mattresses on the floor ready to spring into the streets at the sound of the sirens. . . . An immense army of them, part-time workers, whole-time workers, paid and unpaid ladies and ladies' maids, dentists and carpenters, lawyers and teamsters, Oxford accents, East End accents, each knowing his or her exact task, each ready for unforeseen emergency—fire fighters, soldiers of the realm.

Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, broad and brawny, says, "I talk of pacifist palaver, too. Now I know that you have to create peace, not hope for it by default. I now know the defense of the people is the first social service. But the man who works, must eat, and you cannot revolutionize diet in the midst of war. Coal miners sometimes lose from three to seven pounds in weight in one day in the mines. A miner's wife and children cut their own rations in order to feed their man. Tell our brother workers in the United States to see that we get more meat, sugar, cheese and tea. That is a British workman's diet."

A Cambridge intellectual: "Workers are eating more sensibly than they have in years. They always had too much protein and not enough vegetables."

Take your choice.

Rosy Cambridge and gray Oxford are deserted by half of their students. All the classicists in the midst of war. Coal miners have been drafted; scientists and engineers are exempt. "They must complete their education. We shall center aisle perfectly disgustingly happy."

Man About Manhattan— Xavier Cugat Has Many Appeals

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—For eyes appeal, Xavier Cugat puts on a bangup show. The Spaniard has a first class organization, with plenty of frills and maneuvers that mean absolutely nothing to the quality of his music, but the spectators eat it up. Cugat now has monopolized the similarities and differences of this and the Napoleonic wars. . . . Professor Toyne of Oxford struggling for the "long view."

Consistent objectors are more tolerantly treated in this war than in the last. They are gravely heard before a tribunal and after being exempted from military service they volunteer in the most dangerous civilian service, such as bomb evacuation and fire fighting, but they are cold shouldered by their fellows. They suffer and argue.

The frantic applause of the people in a cinema on seeing Russian newscasts. "Their ways ain't our ways, but they gotta right to their own ways and they're giving 'im a time." There comes the sudden realization that I have never heard Adolf Hitler's name mentioned. It is always "he."

A young girl, pink, white and fluffy-haired, in the khaki uniform of the auxiliary army, trudging six miles from Oxford to join a camp where she is a telephone operator. "It's a wonderful life. We all love it, only you don't get to see your mother often. We do get homesick. I've never been in London. Is it really so bad there? I saw a bomb only once, and it fell in a field. I never met an American before. We love Americans. We think they are heroes for helping us when they didn't actually need to. We sing songs about Americans. A nice one is called 'God Bless America.' Did you ever meet one of those beautiful film stars?"

V. Sackville-West, England's most soil-bound and refined novelist and poet, avoiding politics and never mentioning war, is organizing a land army of girls. . . . As a trained horticulturist, moving orchids from greenhouses to make way for golden bantam corn, she said: "If you want to do real service for England tell them there are other vegetables than cabbage and potatoes."

Knole, her childhood home, is one of England's greatest country houses, standing proud and winsome above the freshly-ploughed fields. "Three hundred and sixty-five bedrooms and you can bet it won't be bombed. Goering's got his eye on it."

didn't like his pen and ink impressions of her. . . . But Cugat won the case. . . . Thursday's are busy days for 'im, because he rehearses all day, and goes on the air that night, in addition to his regular dancing stint. . . . He used to have 12 dogs but now has only two—a shepherd and a peke. . . . They live at the hotel with him. . . . In canine fancy, he follows no set breed. All dogs are fine, he explains.

The color scheme in the fruit markets of 6th avenue is now plum and peach. . . . Meaning all those new shipments from California, Georgia and Florida are arriving. . . . I have seen peaches in New York advertised for a dollar each. . . . But they were from South America, and were put out to attract idiots.

For one thing, there is always a breeze there, and whether it is artificial or not I have never been able to ascertain, but I do know that you come away with the impression that that breeze was put there just for you.

For another, the lights are just right, neither too dim nor too bright. For a third, Cugat himself is good company. He's a fine caricaturist, one of the best, and if anyone asks him for an autograph, he sketches a caricature of himself on a menu and presents it to you. At the moment Cugat is illustrating a book and he is working very hard at it. He does an illustration a day.

Cugat also takes time out occasionally to rail (but good-naturedly) at swing bands who swing the congas and rumbas.

In protest recently he made a conga out of the Hut-Sut Song. As Cugat plays it, the Hut-Sut now stands out like the imprint of lipstick on a bald head.

"After all," he says, "you've got to do something to get even with those guys."

The prettiest dancer I ever saw at the Starlight Roof was Loretta Young. She was dressed in something that was pale blue and she seemed to float on the air. The most enthusiastic American I ever saw there was Irving Berlin. The most gratifying sight I ever saw there was a flet mignon garnished with mushrooms and soufflé potatoes. There I go again, thinking about food. . . .

Most of Cugat's friends call him Xavey. . . . He was born in Barcelona, drives a special-model car, and wears a beret. . . . He's a top-notch swimmer, and he has two brothers who are top-notch artists. Cugat's love of caricaturing people about got him into trouble. . . . A woman sued him because she

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— And Now They Have Show Called 'Sweater Girl'

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Short-short story:

It is hot, a burning valley heat, outside the sound stage. The shirt sleeved watchman fans himself with a folded newspaper.

Inside it is late autumn. Snow (lakes swirl) over a village square. The villagers all wear heavy overcoats, with upturned collars, and stamp their feet to keep warm. They are waving flags, blowing horns, ringing bells, cheering. It is November 11, 1918. They are celebrating the end of a war.

The celebrants converge upon a frame cottage beside the square—the Methodist parsonage of "One Foot in Heaven." They call for their pastor.

"The war's over," they cry.

"Come to the church and ring the bells!"

The pastor (Fredric March) registers deep gratitude, and raises his hand for silence. No time for riotous celebration or bell-ringing, he says, but a time for thanksgiving. He kneels on the porch. The people, quiet, kneel in the snow as he prays. . . .

"Help us to live as brothers in Christ Jesus, that wars may be no more. Give us strength to endure the sorrows of this hour. Courage to start life anew. And in the troubled days ahead, when we are entering what must be a new world, give us Thy peace. Amen."

"Cut!" says Irving Rapper, the director. The big stage door slides open. Sweatered players rush for the exit, kicking the snow as they go.

Outside the watchman is still fanning himself with the folded newspaper. You can see half the headline: "Nazis Thrust . . . Reds Scatter . . ."

Anna Neagle and Herbert Wilcox are off to the war—to make a picture in London. After "Nurse Edith Cavell" and three musicals here, they'll do another serious film between blitzes: the story of Amy Johnson, England's famed flier who perished ferrying a bomber over the Atlantic.

"I'm doing what I've wanted to do for a long time," said Anna before leaving. "They always said I was more useful here, but now they think this film would be helpful at this time—and I'm so glad!"

And I doubt if there's any one who could leave more friends behind in Hollywood. . . .

Bette Davis is taking no chances on that sweater-girl stuff—or rather Orry-Kelly, the designer, isn't. He has put away the several sweaters made for Bette in "The Man Who Came to Dinner"—and has given her tailored blouses instead. . . . But Paramount proceeds blithely with a musical I called "Sweater Girl," and there are cuties in sweaters all over the place. It wasn't sweaters, per se, that were banned by the Hays office—but the way the sweaters were worn.

Ruth Warrick goes with Doug Fairbanks, Jr., in "The Corsican Brothers" . . . Herbert Marshall will be Shirley Temple's daddy in her comeback movie "Kathleen. . . ."

Freston Sturges is writing one—and will direct it—for Claudette Colbert. . . . Don't tell anybody, but Sam Wood, the director of "Kings Row," once played a heavy in the silents—under the name Shad Applegate! . . .

MADE UP TO KILL

Chapter 21
WEDDING BELLS

Before the brakes had been jammed on, Jeff was out of the taxi. Clint Bowers was close behind him. The elevator door slid open as I reached it. Jeff held the key in his hand while we were talking up. A bell rang on the third floor.

"Don't stop," Jeff said. "Go on up."

The boy looked at him and opened his mouth. But the elevator went on past the third floor. At the sixth I looked with a prayer for Crowley's bulky figure. The hall was empty.

My heart dropped with a dull, sick thump. We went down the passage and Jeff said the key into the door and opened it.

Steve Brown was there, standing in the middle of my living room. Close to him was Carol. Her arms were clasped around his neck and Steve's head was bent over hers and he was kissing her.

I leaned back against the wall and snorted. My knees were wobbling and I was out of breath so the snort was a feeble one, but they heard it. Steve raised his head, startled, and then a sheepish grin crawled over his face when he saw us.

Carol flushed and made an effort to pull away but he held her firmly to him with one arm around her shoulders. Putting his hand under her chin he tilted her face up to his.

"The jig is up, Carol," he turned to us. "Are you following me by any chance?"

"By any chance?" I hooted. "We followed you here hellbent to keep you from murdering Carol!"

He stared at us incredulously. "From murdering Carol?" he repeated, pulling her closer to him. "I'm not going to murder Carol. I'm going to marry her."

"We're. . . we're going to be married," Carol echoed in a small voice.

"You're going to be married. . . ." My echo was even smaller.

"I certainly hope so," Jeff said primly. He flopped into a chair and expelled all the breath he had been holding for the past ten minutes in a gigantic sigh of relief. I still couldn't manage to get as far as a chair.

"Congratulations, I'm glad," Clint said, his face lightened in a smile.

"Be happy, children," Jeff said, "and have children, but please bring them up to take better care of their keys."

Steve frowned behind his face broke into an embarrassed grin. "Oh, Carol's key. I thought I might have lost it at Clint's."

"You did. And I found it. And we've been chasing you with a long rope to put around your neck."

"I just heard about it from Carol. How Jim came up with his tale of a man at the door. She should've told you it was I. If you'd asked me, I would have."

"You mean Carol knew all the time?" I manager to gasp.

"Sure, she knew. She gave me the key Sunday night. Incidentally, I did just what you figured I had done, Jeff, walked up the stairs, let myself in and waited by the window, watching for Carol to come. And when I saw that she hadn't gone to that party after all, I screamed. But you were awful wrong on one point. I didn't come to kill Carol. I came to praise her and, incidentally, whip up some Texas hash."

Texas hash. I repeated, somewhat hysterically. There was a pause while Jeff and Clint and I all looked at each other muzzling "Texas hash."

"Yeah," Steve said, "Texas hash. You eat it. It's delicious. And it's a nice thing to cook when you're alone with your girl; you don't have to watch it."

"Look," Jeff said. "Let's all sit down and Steve will start at the beginning." We sat, Steve and the studio couch beside Carol. He reached for her hand and their eyes met and said things to each other.

"The beginning," Steve said, "is that Carol and I fell in love, almost at once. We want to get married, and there are. . . well, there are obstacles. The obstacles are my family. Not that they'd disapprove of Carol once they met her; they'd love her, but it's just that they're so dead set against the theater. You probably know what a row they raised when I got my first job. Well, I'm afraid that with Carol, and I don't want that. So we hit upon a plan and it was a pretty damn good one, too. We were going to keep our engagement quiet, not let a breath of it slip out until this show was over, and then I was going to take Carol home and she was to play dumb about the theater until they'd sort of got to know each other. The gag's a million years old, I know, but it's still good. It might have worked."

"But all this secrecy. . . did you have to go in for that?"

Steve grimaced. "Yes. You know, Halia, what the papers do to me. If Carol and I had lunched together more than twice, if we walked down the street, if I took her home from the theater, the gossip columns would have it. We didn't even want to take that chance. We hated it, but. . ."

"And that was what you meant about the lousy publicity. I thought. . ."

"I know what you thought," Steve said, smiling. "Shame on you, Halia."

I was abashed; I should have known Steve better than to think what I did, and he saved me from turning brick-colored by going on quickly: "It meant an awful lot to us to have our plan about my family work. Those gossip columns would have ruined it. That's why we're tried to be so careful all during rehearsals. Then, after the opening night. . ."

"After that night," Carol interrupted, "I wouldn't let him tell. He wanted to. He wanted to tell everyone and marry me right then and there. . . and take care of me."

"And why not? Jeff wanted to know."

Carol's teeth bit into her lips. "Don't you see? I can't do it now, not while this thing is hanging over me, not while I don't know from one day to the next if I'm still going to be alive! That's no way to start a new life. It isn't fair to Steve. His life might be in danger too!"

She stopped and I knew that she was perilously close to tears. "Halia, I should have told you. It was nasty of me. You've been so swell and I owe you so much; I at least owe you my confidence. But I've got to keep Steve out of this if I can. I've got to!" She buried her face in his shoulder and he held her tight and touched her hair with his lips. I went and put my arms around them both.

"It's all right, darling. Of course I understand. I think it's brave and swell of you. And this mess will be cleared up in no time at all and you'll be strolling down the center aisle perfectly disgustingly happy."

Party

"But in the meantime," Clint Bowers said from the other side of the room, "I wish I could make head or tail of this key business."

Steve smiled over Carol's shoulder. "It's pretty complicated. You see, we knew that Halia would be out late Sunday night and we were coming here. We've done it before. It's about the only place we ever get to see each other alone. And Carol gave me the key. I was coming up first and concoct some Texas hash." We all laughed.

"What's funny about Texas hash? It's my specialty. And I did just what I told you, sneaked in with my groceries and then, when I saw Halia, sneaked out again."

"I took the key with me when I left and on Monday night Carol had to borrow yours. She didn't want to ask me for the one I had

Scout Leaders Meet Tonight

Boy Scout leaders from the 16-county Buffalo Trail council area will converge here at 7:30 p. m. today at the home of Dr. W. E. Hardy for the regular quarterly executive board meeting.

Charles A. Paxton, president, and S. P. Gaskin, area executive, will head a delegation from Sweetwater. All districts of the council are scheduled to be represented.

A barbecue will precede the business session, said Dr. Hardy, district chairman and host for the event.

Budget

cents, compared to 10 cents this year and the same last year.

Division of the 1940 and 1941 tax levies, and suggested division for 1942, are as follows:

Fund—	1940	1941	1942
Sinking Fund	10	10	13
Jury	05	05	06
Road and bridge	10	10	06
General	25	25	25
Permanent
Improvement	00	02	00
TOTAL LEVY	50	50	50

Division of the county's estimated $201,520 in resources among the funds will be little changed from this year. Estimated 1941 and proposed 1942 expenses are listed as follows:

Fund—	1941	1942
Jury	$ 9,659	$9,800
Road-Bridge	33,050	30,510
General	35,030	33,305
Perm. Imp.	4,000	2,600
Sinking Funds	24,155	27,955
Officers Sal.	51,805	42,260

Resources of the county for last year, this year and next year are estimated as follows:

Source—	1940	1941	1942
Net current ad valorem taxes	$ 74,908	$ 65,000	$ 65,000
Del. taxes	1,871	450	850

Cow 'Grease Job' Wards Off Flies

COPEVILLE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Texas farmers who have cattle and oil and flies are getting rid of the flies.

George Longley led the way with a cow de-flier that works thus:

Rock salt and other minerals are placed in a wire enclosure. Gunny sacks, dripping in crankcase oil, hang on the wire.

When the cows duck under to get salt, they get oily. Flies don't go for oil.

Now when the cattle feel the flies attacking, animals march up to the triangle and get themselves a new grease job.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—It was another case of suspended animation so far as definite trends were concerned in today's stock market.

Bullish forces were comforted by the fact offerings never were really urgent. Transfers for the full proceedings approximated 450,000 shares.

Backward were Bethlehem Steel, Great Northern, American Can, Anaconda, Du Pont, Montgomery Ward and Standard Oil (NJ).

In the resistant class were U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Western Union, U. S. Rubber and Pan American Airways.

Wool Market

BOSTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—(USDA) Graded fine territory wool of good French combing length was selling today in moderate volume at $1.03-1.05, scoured basis, the bulk of the sales being on the low side of the range. Original bag lines of fine territory wools were irregular in price with most concerns asking around $1.03, scoured basis, but some accepting offers of $1 for good French combing length. Twelve month Texas wool was sold at $1.03-1.05, scoured basis, although several houses were holding at $1.05-1.07.

Grain

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Prospects for near bumper crops indicated by the government crop report, limited storage facilities, improved weather conditions and weakness of cotton and other commodities held grain futures prices below the previous close most of the time today. Final prices for wheat and corn were at or near the day's lowest levels.

Wheat closed 3-4-1-1-4 cents under Monday's final quotations, September 1.09 3-4, December 1.13 1-4-1-3; corn was 3-8-3-4 down, September 77 1-2, December 80 3-4, and oats were unchanged to 1-4 off.

Cotton

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 36 to 41 lower.

Mexican School Dismissal Due

School for the Kats Morrison Americanization ward school will dismiss Friday for its annual vacation period.

Although no definite date for resuming teaching activities there was announced, officials indicated it would likely be the last week in November.

Kate Morrison school observes a vacation schedule different from others due to the fact many of the Latin-American children work in the cotton harvest.

The board meeting scheduled for Thursday evening was postponed until Aug. 20, according to W. C. Blankenship, superintendent.

At that time bids will be opened for extensions to the Kats Morrison and the negro schools. The board also may make a preliminary study of a budget and take some action toward providing dressing rooms at the football field for players.

Women May Ferry Planes For Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Army air force officials were reported giving serious consideration today to the use of experienced women pilots in the army's airplane ferry command for flight work somewhat similar to that which women handle for the Royal Air Force in Britain.

While no final decision has been made, it was learned that the plan contemplated would assign women pilots to ferrying training planes from factories to training centers—a task which now occupies the time of regular army fliers who could otherwise be engaged in combat training.

Germans Claim Bag Of Thirty Planes

BERLIN, Aug. 12 (AP)—Thirty British airplanes were shot down by the Germans today, DNB reported tonight.

The news agency said there were no German losses.

(The high number of attacking planes claimed shot down indicated an unusually heavy attack. London reported that Cologne was attacked in a bold daylight raid which was said to be the heaviest attack yet made on Germany by day.)

Defense Money Bill Drastically Cut

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The senate appropriations committee cut $1,234,911,530 off a defense money bill today, leaving a total of $5,828,326,948 in cash and $1,000,000,000 in contract authority for the army, navy, maritime commission and other agencies.

As passed by the house the bill carried $7,100,878,256 in cash and $1,000,000,000 in contract authority.

Germans Execute 117 More Serbs

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—Military sources said tonight that 117 more Serbs had been executed in the last two days in various parts of German-occupied Yugoslavia because of conditions of revolt which have spread to all sections of the broken kingdom.

At Zagreb, 87 were shot, the informants said, in addition to 102 executed previously. Thirty were put to death at Sarajevo. The executions followed bombings in both towns.

A 9 p. m. curfew was reported invoked over Croatia because of bombings in Zagreb.

Here 'n There

Jack Oliver, who has been visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oliver, Sr., has returned to Canada to resume his duties with the RCAF as senior flight instructor. Ambitions to join the American Eagle squadron in England have availed Jack little, for the RCAF figures his work is more important in training fledglings. One of his students recently bagged a nazi.

The burglar or burglars who broke into the Ross Barbecue cafe on E. 3rd street appeared to be hungrier than anything else. Some food and a few pennies was all that could be missed in a check. Entrance was gained by cutting a screen and breaking a glass.

Ray Pachall and George Heckler suffered head injuries when the car in which they were riding was struck by a truck on North Gregg street here Sunday. The truck did not stop after the mishap. In the car were H. A. Pachall, his wife and three children and a nephew and niece.

Lone Star Chevrolet, Inc., observed its annual picnic Sunday at the city park with around three-score people participating in the event given by Cliff Wiley for his employees and members of their families.
