STUDENT LEADER — Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Cogdell accept the Key Club's Student Leader of the Year award for their daughter, Shelly Cogdell, for her contributions to the school in the past year. Miss Cogdell was gone on a choir trip.

REVIEWS BUDGET

Board Changes Easter Holiday

By RAY BAXTER
A calendar change, a new depository, a new business office and a new contract for the school tax attorney were the salient items of business at the regular meeting of the school board Tuesday night.

Tentative budget figures were reviewed, but it was stressed that this was chiefly a matter of orientation for the two new members since many factors needed for an accurate fiscal projection are not yet in hand. An example of this is the average daily attendance which cannot be official until school is out.

Mrs. Maxine Smith appeared in behalf of a change in the Easter Holidays and, after the lengthiest discussion of the evening, the board added two more days to the calendar for next year.

Thus, Easter Holidays will be the Friday before Easter Sunday and the Monday Tuesday and Wednesday following. This will project the end of school to May 24 provided there are no "snow days." Actually, classroom activity would end on May 23. The next day, a Friday, would be an in-service day for personnel.

The First National Bank of Pampa became the depository

Key Club Gives Student Awards

Two senior girls and a junior boy, all students at Pampa High School, were honored with awards at the annual Key Club officer installation banquet Tuesday night at First United Methodist Church.

Nancy Dingus, art editor of the Prairie Gold literary magazine, was named recipient of the Sandy Nininger Award, presented to a student for three years of outstanding service in school.

Student Leader of the Year was presented to Shelly Cogdell. The award was accepted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Cogdell, as Miss Cogdell was on a choir trip.

Bert Casey, installed as president last night, was named Key Clubber of the Year for his activities within the club.

Officers installed in addition to Casey were David Hampton, vice president; Steve Wilson, secretary; Steve Weatherly, treasurer; Terry Neslage, senior director; and Willis Price, junior director.

Dane Rasmussen, lieutenant governor of Division VI Texas Oklahoma Key Club District, a

Egil Krogh Resigns Transportation Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egil "Bud" Krogh Jr., accepting full responsibility for sending burglars into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, resigned today as undersecretary of transportation.

He had been, until January, the top aide to John D. Ehrlichman, President Nixon's domestic affairs assistant, who quit under fire April 30.

"My overriding desire now is to accept full responsibility for my acts and decisions and to assist in bringing all the facts and circumstances into the open so that a fair judgment of this activity can be rendered," Krogh said in a letter to the President.

"I am making truth my guide," he said, adding that he hopes his future actions "will contribute to the inexorable process of healing in which our country is now caught up."

In an affidavit filed last week with Judge Matt Byrne of the Pentagon Papers trial in Los Angeles, Krogh revealed that he sent Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy to Los Angeles to burglarize the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

"My overriding desire now is to accept full responsibility for my acts and decisions and to assist in bringing all the facts and circumstances into the open so that a fair judgment of this activity can be rendered," Krogh said in the resignation letter.

He said public confidence in government already is shaken by the Watergate affair.

"I cannot remain in the administration while my role in the special investigative unit is submitted to the legal scrutiny it must now properly receive," Krogh said.

"It is the right that the men and women of the Department of Transportation have an un-

McCord Claims White House Attempted To Put Blame On CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — James W. McCord Jr. says he is "completely convinced" the White House was behind a scheme to blame the CIA for the Watergate wiretapping.

McCord, who faces a prison term of up to 45 years on his conviction for burglary, wiretapping and conspiracy in the case, told of pressure to blame the CIA in a memo given to Senate and government investigators.

The memo was published in the New York Times today, and confirmed as genuine by McCord's attorney, Bernard Fensterwald.

The development came as top present and former CIA officials headed for Capitol Hill to explain why they disavued a spy camera, a tape recorder and phony identification papers were supplied to White House aides bent on burglarizing the office of a psychiatrist who treated Daniel Ellsberg, defendant in the Pentagon Papers case.

The Justice Department meanwhile refused to comment on why the CIA involvement had been kept quiet since last year, when the department first learned that CIA assistance had been given to E. Howard Hunt-Hunt was then under indictment in the Watergate case, and has since testified that he helped engineer the Ellsberg burglary.

McCord said in his memo that his then attorney, Gerald Alch, met him twice last December prior to the Watergate trial in January. "There followed a suggestion from Alch that I use as my defense during the trial

Richardson Faces Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson goes before the Senate Judiciary Committee today for questioning on his nomination to be attorney general with attention focused on his plans to name a special Watergate prosecutor.

No opposition has surfaced to President Nixon's nomination of Richardson, now Secretary of Defense, to succeed Richard G. Kleindienst as head of the Justice Department.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen he assumes Richardson will win the unanimous approval of the Judiciary Committee.

But Mansfield said serious consideration should be given to delaying Senate confirmation of Richardson's nomination until an outside prosecutor is selected to take over the Justice Department's investigation of the Watergate case and related charges of political espionage and sabotage in last year's presidential campaign.

Mansfield said this would not be an expression of any lack of confidence in Richardson but rather a move to speed up appointment of a special prosecutor.

Saigon Rejects Lebanon Fighting Continues

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong proposed today a three-point plan for a new truce to end the fighting throughout South Vietnam. It was rejected immediately by Saigon.

The plan was proposed by Nguyen Van Hieu, minister of state of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government, at a session of the deadlocked political talks with the Saigon government.

It was rejected by Saigon's deputy premier, Nguyen Lau Vien, who said a general cease-fire throughout South Vietnam cannot be established at present because of the "reciprocal lack of confidence" between the two sides.

Hieu and Vien met for the tenth time in their seven-week old talks at the chateau of La Celle-St. Cloud near Paris. The talks, held under the terms of the Jan. 27 peace agreement, were intended to seek an accord on South Vietnam's political future.

Hieu proposed that:

- Both sides put an immediate end to all hostilities and return to the positions they held on Jan. 28, the day the Paris cease-fire agreement went into effect.
- The commanders of opposing military units make contact in the field and meet to draw up local agreements to avoid new fighting and keep the peace.
- The joint Provisional Revolutionary Government Saigon military commission set up by the peace agreement determine without delay the respective zones under control of each side and agree on corridors for military transport linking the various zones across the other side's territory.
- Vien said the plan was unacceptable to the Saigon government and repeated his demand for an over-all solution of all political problems, including South Vietnamese elections.

PRPC Youth Programs Get Fund Allocation

The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission has been allocated some $148,000 for a summer youth program similar to the Neighborhood Youth Corps program operating in parts of the region.

The planning commission will work with the Texas Area Manpower Planning Council and the Texas Panhandle Community Action Agency, Inc. in implementing the program designed primarily for deprived youth 14-22 years of age.

A second consideration will be given to Vietnam veterans not over 29 years of age, while a third would take in college students home for the summer.

Gray County Judge Don Cain will attend an Amarillo meeting at 2 p.m. Friday that will determine where the manpower allocation should go in the county.

The new program is funded with money from the Emergency Employment Act used under the Public Employment Program that has been designed only for summer youth employment.

Judge Studies Redistricting Voting Ruling

Gray County Judge Don Cain, concerned with a recent ruling on redistricting, has asked County Attorney John Warner to get a copy of the decision from the Texas attorney general's office.

The ruling was made at the request of Hemphill County regarding "at-large" voting in county commissioner elections. The at-large system was inaugurated to satisfy the federal requirement of one man-one vote.

Judge Cain said the attorney general's ruling said at-large redistricting violated the Texas constitution.

"Gray County voted at-large redistricting May 12, 1972, to become effective Jan. 1, 1973."

"At this time we do not know if the ruling applies to Gray County as well or whether it is peculiar to Hemphill County," Judge Cain said. "However, we are concerned and will study our copy of the decision when it comes. If it does apply to us, we will have to tackle redistricting in another way before any elections are held."

Gray County has had no elections that would be affected under the at-large system of redistricting.

Men Plead Guilty In Burglary Case

Cecil Ray Williams, 23, and Ricky Eugene Young, 21, entered pleas of guilty to burglary in 31st District Court Tuesday afternoon and were sentenced five years and four years respectively.

The pair had been charged with the Feb. 11 burglary of Barber Drug.

Presiding Judge Grainger McIlhenny did not suspend sentence. The two will be turned over to the Texas Department of Corrections to serve sentences.

Lebanon Fighting Continues

BEIRUT (AP) — Explosions rocked banks and a restaurant in four different areas of Beirut today, cannon and artillery fire rumbled intermittently and the Lebanese army warned guerrillas it will retaliate "intensively and violently" to cease fire violations.

An official communique said guerrilla rockets and mortars were hitting army positions and residential areas in acts of "pure sabotage."

The army said 13 soldiers had been killed, 65 wounded and six were missing since hostilities erupted Monday night.

Guerrilla casualties were not immediately known.

The government continued censorship on news dispatches.

The new explosions, which came in an area previously unaffected by the week-long fighting, destroyed the Development Bank on Hamra Street, Beirut's equivalent of Fifth Avenue; the G. Trad Bank on the Damascus Highway and the Lebanese Commerce Bank in the Shiyah suburb.

The fourth explosion blew up a restaurant between the plush St. George and Phoenicia hotels next to the British Bank of the Middle East.

The army said its positions at the radar station, Beirut airport, the army combat school and the army officers' housing compound were being fired on by mortars and rockets.

Guerrilla attacks today also were reported against a number of army installations and villages in southeast Lebanon, near the Syrian border. There was speculation in Beirut that the attacks were made by Palestinians who had crossed into Lebanon from Syria; as they did during the fighting last week.

Local Group Attends Meet On Hwy. 60

Pampa's 4-man delegation to the annual meeting of the U.S. Hwy. 60 Association in Beaumont, Calif., returned home late Tuesday.

Attending the two-day session were Harold Barrett, retiring president of the national association; Wayne B. Smith, Hansford Ousley and E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager.

Barrett, who presided at all sessions, reported today a new program of work was adopted calling for the printing of a new brochure and strip map to be distributed by travel bureaus and information stations throughout the United States.

An extensive advertising program for the trans-continental highway also was approved.

New officers elected at the final banquet session Saturday night were:

- Buford Richardson, Socorro, N.M., president.
- John Adams, Seiling, Okla., vice president.
- Pete Cowart, Riverside, Calif., secretary.
- Bartlesville, Okla., was chosen as the site of next year's annual meeting.

Barrett said much enthusiasm was evident for the highway by delegations from the various states along the cross-country highway.

Many major improvements are being made along the U.S. 60 route, especially in New Mexico, Arizona and California, he stated.

Pets Getting Rabies Shots

Pampans are having pet dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies in larger numbers than ever before, veterinarians reported today.

Beth Dr. Kenneth Royce and Dr. M. W. Horne, who are operating special anti-rabies clinics this week, said the number of animals brought in for vaccine shots was up considerably.

It was estimated close to 300 cats and dogs have been vaccinated so far.

Cost of the shots has been reduced from $4 to $3 during the current week.

The veterinarians pointed out that chances of a rabies epidemic is practically eliminated if 70 per cent of any city's pet owners will have their pets vaccinated.

The clinics will be open daily through Saturday at 1238 E. Frederic and 1329 S. Hobart.

John Connally Facing Political Salesmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — For John B. Connally, there is a job of political salesmanship ahead, if he is to establish firmly his new Republican credentials in time for what looks like a crowded 1976 presidential contest.

As he switched parties, Connally said he sought no office, appointive or elective. That is the kind of thing politicians say three years in advance of a presidential campaign.

Stolen Camper Unit Recovered

A local dealer who had reported the loss of a camper previously told police yesterday he had spotted the stolen unit on the back of a pickup truck.

Officers contacted the owner of the truck and were told that he had purchased it from two men for $200 cash.

Both he and his wife, who supposedly was present when the transaction was made, refused polygraph tests.

Police said the dealer later reported an agreement whereby the couple would pay for the camper but he would file if they failed to keep the contract.

new and Sen. Charles H. Percy may well be pointing out that Connally after all is a fledgling Republican with a long Democratic past.

Agnew, Percy, and Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California all are potential entries in 1976 Republican presidential competition. There may be more.

So Connally clearly is not going to move to the top of his new party without a fight.

Having forsaken his Democratic ties, the former Texas governor now needs to get his lines open and his alliances made in the Republican party.

Some already have been forged, during his days as Nixon's secretary of the treasury and 1972 campaign ally.

He has the advantage of his role as head man of Democrats for Nixon, an assignment that demonstrated his political preference, and leaves him out of what has become the Watergate scandal.

One obvious step for Connally now is to start on the Republican speechmaking, fund-raising circuit. Beyond that are the 1974 congressional and state election campaigns. By that time, if he is to make a move in 1976, Connally will have to be a Republican on active duty, working for GOP candidates for Senate, House and governor.

A more immediate, and more difficult question is the Watergate affair: how does he handle that one? So far, he has denounced the incident as stupid, while saying that it was not the work of the Republican party itself. Associates had said Connally's long anticipated political switch was delayed because of the Watergate controversy. He denies that, saying the scandal had nothing to do with his timing.

Monday, he turned up in Key Biscayne, Fla., to confer with President Nixon at the President's request.

'Commercial' Cowboy Dies

KNOX CITY, Tex. (AP) — The rugged looking cowboy who appeared in the Marlboro cigarette advertising series, has drowned after being thrown in a stock pond.

Sheriff Marvin Crawford said Tuesday that Carl B. Bradley Jr., 33, was riding an untamed bronc when the animal plunged into the pond Monday.

Bradley was struck on the head, possibly by the animal's hoof. The horse also drowned.

Funeral services were scheduled for 10 a. m. today in the Knox City First United Methodist Church.

When the cigarette commercials were filmed, Bradley was wagon boss for the 6666 Ranch. At his death he worked on the Bill Flowers Ranch in the Old Glory community southwest of Knox City.

Survivors include his widow, a one-year-old son, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bradley Sr. of Knox City, and a brother, Douglas of Seymour.

Americans To Visit At US Graves

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. spokesmen said today that a team of Americans will fly from Saigon to Hanoi on Saturday to visit the graves of 23 U. S. servicemen who North Vietnam says died in captivity.

It was the first progress reported in the recovery of "the last POWs," the American servicemen who died while prisoners.

The spokesmen said that North Vietnam had agreed to allow the American team to talk to officials in Hanoi and work out arrangements to return the remains to the United States.

The U. S. group is part of a four-party joint military team charged with carrying out the Vietnam cease-fire agreement's promises of a search for missing military personnel and the return home of the remains of Americans who died in enemy territory.

North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong are also members of the team.

The United States has turned over to North Vietnam a list of more than 1,300 Americans missing in action in Indochina.

House Approves Death Penalty

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas House tentatively approved restoration of the death penalty Tuesday, quarreling only over what crimes it should cover.

The 102-33 vote came after an afternoon of debate on amendment, cut off by Tyler Rep. Billy Williamson's request to "move the previous question."

It was the first time this session a vote was taken with amendments still waiting to be read. House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. said.

Guards Admit Pot Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the military men assigned to Camp David have admitted using marijuana while guarding the presidential retreat in the Maryland mountains, the Pentagon says.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that it had removed 28 Marines and 18 Navy personnel from Camp David duty following an investigation into marijuana use there.

President Nixon frequently works at Camp David, as did his three immediate predecessors.

"Some of the personnel transferred admitted use of marijuana at some time during their assignment," said the Pentagon.

"Others were either suspected of use or provided information used during the investigation."

The Pentagon did not name those who admitted to using marijuana, nor did it disclose the number.

The servicemen were assigned to the Navy Support Activity at Thurmont, Md. That unit is responsible for maintenance and security at Camp David, which has been used by several presidents as a retreat.

"Because of the sensitivity of the assignment and the special clearance procedures followed in the selection of personnel for assignment to the facility, all personnel involved in any way were transferred," said the Pentagon.

Private Schools Increase In the United States

Non-public schools and private schools have increased in the United States. People are interested in the important, if not essential, role of God centered education.

Among the Christian churches, excluding Catholics, they have gone from 2,000 schools in 1937 to 5,700 as of now. A Christian background completes the individual. That is the purpose of St. Vincent's School.

Pre-Registration for Kindergarten through sixth grade will be held May 10th and 11th from 12:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Small classes, plus individual programming mark the quality teaching. The accredited staff works in specialized departmental teaching. An outstanding reading laboratory under a teacher who handles only that subject adds to the fine program.

Most important, prayers of each individual are part of the daily curriculum.

Come, visit St. Vincent's at 23rd and Hobart during the school hours, or call 665-5665 or 669-3826.

hire, killing a policeman or fireman, killing a prison guard, or murder during a kidnaping, rape or robbery.

The House still must vote on the measure one more time before sending it to the Senate.

Rep. Terry Doyle, D-Port Arthur, argued against repeated attempts to extend coverage of the measure on grounds it might become unconstitutional.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled arbitrary application of capital punishment violates equal protection of the laws.

Two Houston Democrats, Reps. Andrew Baker and Craig Washington, tried unsuccessfully to block reinstatement of the death penalty.

Baker's motion to replace the proposed death penalty with a life sentence failed, 105-29.

Washington offered an amendment to hold executions on the floor of the House chamber. It was defeated 114-19.

Also passed by the House, 137-3, was a competitive auto insurance plan for Texas. The measure goes to the Senate.

Under the bill, insurance companies could compete on rates after approval of the State Insurance Board.

The Senate voted 24-7 Tuesday to set up a University of South Texas System that would include schools at Edinburg, Kingsville, Laredo, Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

In a rare rebuff of Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, the Senate turned around and rejected a bill, 18-13, that had tentatively approved only the day before. Moore's bill would have let game wardens, prison guards and some other law officers retire after 20 years with 40 per cent salary.

Several representatives voting against the death penalty bill were from minority groups.

Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, wanted to be certain the bill would not let judges or juries execute blacks or Mexican-Americans while giving life sentences to whites.

"It's a mandatory death penalty. That's the reason it's drawn that way," said Doyle, emphasizing it was designed to apply across the board to anyone convicted of the designated capital offenses.

The House rejected two amendments by Washington making the law applicable to policemen or prison guards found guilty of murdering someone under guise of law.

When Williamson moved to vote on the bill even though five amendments were pending. Rep. Anthony Hall, D-Houston, asked, "Is this the first time we've done this?"

"Yes it is," said Daniel. During the marathon seven-day appropriations bill debate, the House moved to cut off accepting further amendments, but it still heard all the ones that had already been filed.

Tuberculosis Still Problem, Group Notes

Bill Mackey, a local director of the American Lung Association (formerly called the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association), today revealed that Texas reported a total of 596 cases of tuberculosis as of April 21.

"Fifty-three cases of tuberculosis were reported between April 13 and April 21," he said, stating that over a five year period, a median of 59 cases per week, state-wide, were reported.

The Christmas Seal organization recently changed its name to include all lung diseases and such related disease factors as air pollution and cigarette smoking.

"TB remains one of our high priorities," he explained. "With over 50 cases per week sprinkled throughout the state, TB is far from being whipped."

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Despite the rich bounty provided to us by the land, Texas—and the nation—are described as nutritional illiterates.

Nutrition is a relatively new science. For this reason there is room for misunderstanding, and even intentional misrepresentation. Although much malnutrition is the result of poverty, a full pocket doesn't mean a nourished body, says the State Health Department.

Focus on the high price of meat has made Texans more aware of their eating habits. But one group of individuals—the food faddists—are willing to pay through the nose (and sometimes through their health) for items no better than those offered in supermarkets.

Like bobbysox, beeboppers, pointed-toe shoes, ponytails and rock 'n roll, fads come and go. But for some the memory may linger in since food fads can affect health and quality of living for a long time.

A big fad at the moment is the weight reduction kick, which is tied in by food faddists with better health and some particular foodstuff which they say can cure all ills of the believers. Some reducing diets, when followed too long, can lead to permanent health problems.

Nutritionists say there is no one particular cure-all food, and they have scientific proof. Faddists, on the other hand, push hundreds of different contradictory food systems, including the current "organic" food theory.

Many diet or nutrition advocates are opportunists whose major motivations are economic. Some of these persons appear to be sincere, albeit misguided and close-minded in their nutritional beliefs.

A look at the highly-publicized diets which have been put forth gives you an idea of the perplexing situations greeting those interested in dieting—either for weight loss or other health reasons.

The drinking man's diet, Zen diet, grapefruit and egg diet (misnamed the Mayo diet), vegetarian diet, cereal diet, low-protein, high-protein, low carbohydrate diet—are all a part of the present-day food craze, says the Health Department. Some, such as the Zen diet, can result in malnutrition.

And, there are the vitamins and food supplement faddists who push all types of supplement concoctions off on the willing indulger. Vitamin E and Vitamin C, both essential to the body, are among the vitamins being pushed at present.

Dr. Janus Pauling advocated great amounts of Vitamin C to prevent the common cold. Research has failed to substantiate his claim.

The State Health Department says you can get all the required nutrients, including Vitamins C and E, through a wise selection of foods. Selecting foods properly will also insure efficient utilization of the food dollar—something that can shrink rapidly in today's supermarkets.

Supplements generally are expensive and unnecessary, unless prescribed by a physician.

The Nutrition Services Division of the State Health Department says the basic food groups still are the best guide for the average person who needs strength and vitality to meet each day's challenges.

These are divided into the milk group, meat and alternate protein group, fruits and vegetables group, and the bread and cereal group. While giving you sufficient energy, these groups also supply the trace elements of minerals which your body needs.

If these basic food groups remain unscientifically challenged, why do people succumb to faddism?

Nutritional quackery appeals to desperate people who want to believe in the impossible and the incredible.

In the case of weight-reducers, they want to believe in something simple and easy, in a cure-all calling for no effort on their parts. Traditional calorie counting is too slow, too limiting for their appetites. People with illnesses want a miracle to help them.

Compared to the exotic nutritional advice, which borders on the occult or is rendered with spiritual fervor, normal everyday nutritional education lacks pizzazz," writes an Ohio State nutritionist.

That is why the voices of the home economists—the dietitian—the nutritionist—food technologist—are not heard when they contradict the often untrue and sensational health claims being made by those who so avidly degrade the American food supply.

Significant progress has been made in the science of diet and its relationship to health, but science advances by slow, difficult steps which are much too slow for impatient, desperate people who want immediate solutions.

But when the fads have run their course, the accepted, scientifically approved four food groups still stand tall as the one way to receive proper nutrition from the foods you eat and drink, says the State Health Department.

A place to look for reliable information about nutrition and health is your local physician or your local health department. You may go also to a home economics teacher, or the county extension agent. They too will be able to give you some help and printed information.

Another Church Admits Women To Priesthood

REGINA SASK (AP) — The Anglican Church of Canada has become the fourth Anglican church to accept the principle of admitting women to the priesthood.

The church's 26th General Synod gave overwhelming approval this week to a resolution to that effect. However, an amendment delayed implementation "until the House of Bishops has worked out a pattern for the Canadian church that would include an educational process for the church."

Pampan's Nephew Chosen For Honor

T. Glen Cary, Pampa High School graduate and one-time member of Pampa Harvester Football and basketball teams who is now vice president and director of Agencies and Markets for Great American Reserve Insurance Co., has been honored by the Board of Governors of the International Biographical Centre sitting in session at Cambridge, England.

He is the second member of the CARY family whose biography has been chosen for inclusion by the Biographical Centre.

Tracy D. Cary, 430 N. Sumner, a cousin, was chosen in March on the basis of his contemporary achievement and contribution to the international fields of history, music and journalism.

T. Glen Cary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Cary, Brownfield, Tex. His father, when residing in Pampa, was an employee of Texas Furniture Co. The family moved to Brownfield after young Cary's graduation from Pampa High. He is a nephew of Fred Cary of Pampa.

He will join his cousin as one of the select group of North Americans whose biographies have been chosen for inclusion in the Royal Commemorative Edition for 1973-74 of the International Dictionary of Biography under the patronage of their majesties: Queen Elizabeth II of England, Queen Margrethe II of Denmark, the Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, and King Baudouin of Belgium.

Rangerettes To Tour In Venezuela

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — The Kilgore College Rangerettes are exporting their high kick, with the blessings of the U.S. State Department.

Accompanied by the Kilgore College Ranger Band, the precision drill and dance troupe will perform in Barquisimeto, Venezuela, May 9-13 at a convention of the National Chambers of Commerce of Industry.

Known nationwide for their football halftime and other performances, the Rangerettes and band will be making their first trip outside the United States, said Dr. Randolph Watson, president of the college.

Convention officials, looking for entertainment, contacted the U.S. Embassy at Caracas, Venezuela. The Embassy got in touch with the U.S. State Department in Washington, which recommended the Rangerettes and Ranger band.

Heading the entourage of over 100 girls, band members and college officials will be Miss Gussie Nell Davis, Rangerette director, and Wally Reed, band director.

They will leave Dallas May 9.

New Study Launched On Grain Sorghum Pest Management

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has launched a three-year study of grain sorghum pest management, centered in the Edmonson community of Hale County on the South Plains.

The study is part of an expanded effort by the Extension Service of the U.S. Agriculture Department and the Grain Sorghum Producers Board which has headquarters at Lubbock.

Hale County Extension Agent Ollie Limer will supervise the program with a new county entomologist, Gene Latham of Paducah.

Latham, a Texas A&M graduate, will supervise the scouting phase which concerns checking fields for insect populations and determining the need for insecticide applications. Extension Area Entomologist Dr. Robert C. McIntyre of Lubbock is the project leader and coordinator.

The project will involve 20,000 acres of sorghum within a three-to five-mile radius of Edmonson.

The site was picked for its heavy production record and its ideal location near large cotton acreage, necessary to assure the use of beneficial insects found in cotton fields. The project will use beneficial insects which actually help keep plant-destroying insects at a minimum.

"We know we've been overspraying in some instances in recent years," Limer said.

"This has been demonstrated by research of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and by demonstration plots in Hale County. These studies have shown that greenbugs, major grain sorghum pests, can be controlled effectively with minimum amounts of insecticides. The studies have also determined how many greenbugs that sorghum plants can tolerate without suffering yield loss."

EXPLAINS PRE-MED
NEW YORK (AP) — Medical student Davis Simmons of Boston explains some of the pitfalls of attending medical school in his book, "The Medical School Game" (Drake). Simmons discusses applications, admission requirements and interviews. He explains how to overcome some of the problems a pre-med student encounters. The book lists all American medical schools and those abroad.

Congress, VA Promise Liberal Aid to Older Vets

By RAY CROMLEY
(Ninth in a Series.)
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Congress and the Veterans Administration say they're becoming more liberal in their treatment of "older" veterans.
If you become a patient at a VA hospital or clinic you may take part in a preventive medicine program under which you will receive physical examination and instruction in the proper care for your age and condition.
If you have a chronic disease, you may, through the intermediate care section in the nearest VA hospital, be taught how to take care of your disease. Members of your family may be trained to assist. To make you as self-sufficient as possible, you will be helped with a variety of personal problems, including family difficulties, if this is necessary.

If you have a chronic kidney disability, the VA may make an artificial kidney available through a VA or private hospital. Or you may be provided an artificial kidney unit for use directly in your own home, if you require regular dialysis for long periods. Your wife or some other family member will be trained to operate the unit. Eligible veterans with end-stage renal disease have priority.
If you are accepted as a VA home-care patient, you will be visited at home by a physician, nurse, social worker or physical therapist, as necessary. Laboratory tests and EKGs can be provided at home, it is also possible to receive occupational and speech therapy and vocational counseling. Your family will receive

Students Begin Truman Statue Campaign For

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Students at Truman High School have begun a drive to raise $100,000 to $150,000 for a life-size statue of the school's namesake, former President Harry S. Truman.
Randy Davidson, president of the school's Student Council, announced the start of the drive Tuesday the 89th anniversary of Truman's birth. He then made a contribution of $500 on the part of the students.
He said high school students throughout the nation would push the drive throughout the next school term.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I filed my return just before the April 16th deadline. When can I expect my refund?
A. If there are no mistakes on your return that might delay processing, it normally takes about six weeks after a return is filed. It might take a little longer to get your refund, however, due to the large volume of returns filed in April.

Q. Through my own fault, I wrecked my car. I don't have insurance to cover the damage. Can I deduct this loss on my 1973 return?
A. Yes. If you itemize your deductions, damage to your car caused by an auto accident is deductible as a casualty loss whether or not it resulted from the faulty driving of either driver, as long as it was not caused by your willful negligence.

Remember, a personal casualty loss may be deducted only to the extent it exceeds $100. For more details, see IRS Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. I just found out that I could have deducted the actual sales tax on the new car I purchased last year, in addition to the amount shown in the sales tax tables of my 1040 instructions. Can I still claim this deduction?
A. Yes. Just file a Form 1040X which is designed to amend a previously filed return. On this form, you simply recompute the portion that has changed from your original return and send it, along with any necessary information, to the address shown in your 1040X instructions. Your amended return must be filed within three years from the date your original return was filed (a return filed early is considered to have been filed on the due date), or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later.

Q. I dropped some old clothes off at my church. Can I deduct the value of these clothes as a charitable contribution?
A. Yes. If you itemize your deductions, used clothing is deductible as a charitable contribution to the extent of its fair-market value at the time of the gift.

Remember, you can also deduct your cost of transporting the clothes to the church.

Firms 1040X are available at any IRS office.

Roger Brooke Taney of Maryland, was the first Catholic chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

White Deer Student In 'Who's Who'

WHITE DEER — Sharon Kay Pettit, a senior at White Deer High School was recently notified she is to be featured in the Seventh Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1972-73, the largest student award publication in the nation.

Students from more than 18,000 public, private, and parochial high schools throughout the country are recognized for leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service in the book. Less than two per cent of the junior and senior class students nationwide are awarded the recognition.

Miss Pettit is the daughter of Mrs. B.B. Pettit, White Deer. She is active in band, basketball, volleyball, Future Homemakers of America, Future Teachers of America, National Honor Society, Science Club, and has been selected as Basketball Queen, 1972-73, at White Deer High School.

In addition to having her biography published in the book, she will also compete for one of ten $1,000 scholarship awards funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual 'Survey of High Achievers' later in the academic year.

Miss Pettit plans to attend Amarillo Junior College for two years then transfer to West Texas State College upon graduation.

In the early days of contract, the most successful players didn't bother with grand slams. Bidding was in its early development and they were satisfied to collect the small-slam bonus.

Today, they have learned to bid grand slams and, of course, Blackwood is one of their grand-slam tools.

Sometimes the Blackwood bidder can go right to seven after finding out that his side holds all four aces. On other occasions, he rebids to five no-trump. This bid asks partner to tell him how many kings he holds.

Strangely enough, this is not the chief value of the Blackwood five no-trump. Its chief value is that it tells partner that the side does hold all four aces. On many occasions, this information will enable partner to bid seven.

Today's hand is a good example. South intends to bid at least six spades after his partner's jump raise to game. He uses Blackwood as a start toward a possible grand-slam contract.

His partner responds five diamonds just as South expected he would and South bids five no-trump. South intends to bid seven if North shows all four kings, but South doesn't expect that to happen.

It doesn't! North has just two kings—but North doesn't care. The fact that South has announced the other three aces is enough for North. He can see 13 easy tricks and bids the grand slam himself.

OPERETTA WEEKS.
150th YEAR AS A SPA
BAD ISCHL, Austria (AP)
Operetta Weeks here will run from July 15 to Sept. 9 this year. The program calls for nine performances of Franz Lehár's "The Merry Widow," seven performances of "Czardas Princess" by Emmerich Kálmán and two operetta concerts.

To commemorate the 150th anniversary of Bad Ischl's status as a spa, a Biedermeier exhibition and an historical pageant also will be mounted. This town in the Salzkammergut was turned into a watering place in 1823 by Dr. Franz Wirrer, physician to the imperial court.

A teaspoon of lemon juice may be added to rice that is being cooked. The lemon juice helps keep the rice white.

Dear Abby

Help! My husband needs spelling lessons

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-M. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's spelling. It's horrid. I swear I don't know how he ever got out of high school.

He is just beginning his career as a policeman, and his poor spelling has already started giving him trouble. He has to make out reports in writing and when he writes, "suspishun" and "reizing" on a report, it raises a lot of eyebrows.

He talks well, but his spelling is outrageous. I told him to carry a small dictionary and to look up any words he isn't sure of. He says: "You have to know how to spell a word before you can find it in the dictionary so what's the use?"

Abby, do you know where an adult can learn how to spell from scratch? Even if it took a year it would be miracle enough for us. Thank you.

DEAR WIFE: Call your board of education and ask them what is available in their adult education department. Evening classes, or special tutoring could be the answer, but first your husband should take some tests to determine the kind of special help he needs.

DEAR ABBY: You've made references to May-December marriages, but you have never given any advice with regard to them. You should, and it should be one word. DON'T!

I have witnessed four, including my own, and all of them have been very unsatisfactory. Especially for the younger partner. Older husbands make poor fathers. Children make them nervous, and they are too tired to go anywhere with their young wives, and all too soon they are inadequate lovers.

A young woman is flattered to be pursued by a dashing, sophisticated "older" swain. But after they are married, he becomes a dull old man. When she is 22 and he is 36, the age difference doesn't show much, but when she is 35 and he is 49, things start to go downhill for her.

I wish someone would have wised me up. Until a woman has lived in such a marriage, she has no idea how many problems arise.

DEAR SHORT: I rarely give advice with regard to marriages and age because one's condition is far more important than his age. Some men of 65 are in much better shape than some men of 30. While youth is prized, it's no assurance of vim, vigor, and virility.

DEAR ABBY: Today when so many marriages are going sour, may I tell you about one which was sweet for almost 63 years?

I married a wonderful girl in April, 1910. She was 5 years my senior. We had five children who bore us 27 grandchildren. They in turn bore us 10 great-grandchildren—all doing well.

My beloved died last December. I have her engagement and wedding rings and don't know what to do with them. Would it be prudent to sell them and give the money to the orphans? Your reply would be appreciated.

A READER: TEMPLE, ARIZ.

DEAR READER: Someone in your family may place a high sentimental value on the rings your beloved wore for so many years. Don't sell them before letting your family know you want to dispose of them. If more than one wants them, let them draw lots. And lots of luck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WHITE VERSUS PURPLE" IN PANAMA CITY: Neither: To be appropriately attired for a divorce hearing, I'd vote for BLACK. In a sense, one is burying a dead relationship.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.
For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

BAPTIST WOMEN
Mrs. Win Cates, 2129 N. Christy, was hostess of the Zelma Northcutt Bible Study Group recently.

Mrs. E.L. Anderson, chairman of the group, was in charge of the meeting.

Bare Middles
There'll be lots of bare midriffs moving around during warm summer evenings. The long, sleek dress is still around, but the two-piece halter top and skirt with bare middle is gaining in popularity.

Mrs. Jerry Allen led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Anderson asked Mrs. Ed Cantrell to report on a personal shower held recently in her home for Zelma Northcutt.

Then Mrs. Anderson announced that the mission project for the month of May is to give food and paper goods to Genesis House.

She turned the meeting over to Mrs. Johnny Glover who taught the Bible lesson, using Mark 10 as the text. Mrs. Glover will continue this study when this group meets again on May 23 in her home at 2620 Comanche.

One visitor, Mrs. Reggie Brown, was welcomed.

FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN
The Mission Prayer Group of Baptist Women met in the Prayer Room of the church at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, April 11. Mrs. Owen Johnson, chairman of this group, was in charge of the meeting. She announced that the mission project for the month of April will be an offering for the Woody Northcutts, who serve as missionaries in Brookings, S.D. She presented the program on mission work being done in Trinidad.

Members attending the meeting were: Mmes. L.V. Hopp; Jack White, Lee Moore, R.L. Edmondson, Sr., G.E. Groninger, S.E. Waters, J.P. Heath, J.A. Hopkins, and Johnson.

The next meeting of the group will be May 9, in the Prayer Room.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, MAY 10
Your birthday today: Opens first phase in a two-year encounter in which you learn what your real limitations are, how to make constructive use of them. Relationships suffer from your busy schedule. Today's natives seldom incur an ordinary problem, often meet strange coincidences.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: When you find arbitrary colleagues try patient conciliation, ask detailed questions rather than being contradictory.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: The more people care for each other, the more likely a conflict. If let alone, the clash is short-term-taking it seriously risks permanence.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Schedules are jumbled by misunderstandings, perhaps juvenile mischief. Disregard trivia with dignity but have something to do while you wait for things to straighten out.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Positive personalities tend to enlarge, take more time and space than you're willing to offer them. Concentrate on career.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Finances concern you today. Sudden outlays may require juggling of budgets, postponing of important purchases.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Getting agreement on anything seems difficult—stay with things as they are rather than forcing issues.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: You can easily take on more than is comfortable to cope with now, with probability that temporary arrangements may become permanent.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Following friends' schemes leads you into awkward situations: you learn something of your inner nature by disengaging yourself.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Sowing seeds of discontent, stirring up verbal battles can be accomplished so easily today. Seek the most cheerful environment.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Trying for too much is a sort of extravagance—strive for moderation in all things. Prepare for contingencies.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Stick to your schedule and budget, extra expense is unnecessary, let others squabble. You may be called on for troubleshooting late in the day.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Allow others their differences of opinion. With so much to do there's no time for gossip or bickering, much as some provocations may demand.

NEW PATIENT-AIDS—B and B Pharmacy now offers a full line of Futuro Patient-Aids for sale and rental. Designed for the needs of the home convalescent, the handicapped and the elderly, the quality items are on stock to meet the needs of the customers at B and B Pharmacy. The firm still offers its other goods and services for which it has been known for years.

B And B Pharmacy Offering Full Line Of Patient Aids

Always ready to serve their customers, B and B Pharmacy has now provided sales and a rental service for Futuro Patient-Aids.

These quality products meet the needs of the home convalescent, the handicapped and the elderly. Fully researched and tested, Patient-Aids carry the Futuro name, quality and reliability.

Those who know the Futuro name know it stands for excellence in design, engineering and manufacturing.

Among the items B and B offers for patients and convalescents are canes, crutches, walkers, wheel chairs, adjustable commodes, bedpans, urinals and many other items often needed for those needing special care.

In addition to this new section of goods, B and B Pharmacy continues to provide all the other goods and services for which it has been known throughout the years.

B and B also offers many gift items for the shopper.

The firm has received a new shipment of costume jewelry for shoppers.

And if something else is desired, B and B has a fine selection of candies, including Russell Stover chocolate candies and Pangburn's and Ann Raskas hard candies.

Featuring a fine selection of other small gift items, B and B offers various women's fragrances, including Nina Ricci, Lanvin, Crepe De Shine, Coty, Faberge and Vitabath. And for those wanting good cosmetics, the store has Frances Denney, Dorothy Gray, Revlon, Bonne Belle and Allercreme beauty aids.

Other items include glassware, billfolds and goods for men's shaving needs. In men's fragrances B and B carries English Leather in the regular or lemon-lime scent, "That Man" by Revlon, Old Spice, and Robert Denney, Black Belt and Signorini.

And in case of illness, B and B features well-trained pharmacists to fill prescriptions.

The highly competent pharmacists at B and B have been filling the prescription needs for area-residents to the best of their ability and to their customers' satisfaction since 1953.

Pharmacist R.B. Ragsdale and his assistants have filled well over half a million prescriptions from their stock of 10,000 medicines since the store opened for business.

Two pharmacists are on hand, at all times at B and B and are on call Sunday.

The firm also carries "over-the-counter" medicines and are equipped to meet all drug and first aid needs, including Dr. Schol's remedies.

And for a break in the routine of shopping or working, B and B has a short order restaurant to aid when hunger strikes.

The business is directed by F.L. Stone and Lucille Foster, with other employees ready to serve the customer.

Job Safety Act Is Bothering Some

Editor's Note: The government has 550 inspectors to enforce its job-safety rules. The following, third in a series from The AP Special Assignment Team, examines that enforcement.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

In case you were wondering, Ralph Zuber's electrical outlets aren't orange. And the federal government won't make him paint them.

Nor will it force Zuber or any other employer to install split toilet seats or give up ice in drinking water.

Still, Congress remains in a mood to pull some teeth from the two-year-old job-safety act that supposedly was bothering Zuber and a lot of other small businessmen.

Zuber is manager of a 15-man custom furniture shop in Amana, Iowa. In a recent national news story, he and other small businessmen were quoted as being worried, perplexed and angry about the Occupational Safety and Health Act. OSHA, they felt, imposed regulations that were often expensive and petty.

Zuber reportedly said, "I want to comply, but I've got to make a living. Did you know we've even got to paint the electrical outlets orange? Why, I don't know."

Zuber now says he can't remember saying that. Anyway, there's no requirement that electrical sockets be painted orange, or any other color.

Furthermore, Zuber says, he supports the job-safety act, even though its costing him around $20,000 to do such things as replace ungrounded electric hand tools, install emergency cut-off switches on some power machinery and install guards on power saw blades.

"We needed something like this," he said. "But they have to use common sense. You can't do these things overnight."

Like most other small businessmen, Zuber never has had a visit from one of the Labor Department's 550 job-safety inspectors. With five million workplaces to inspect, chances are it would take them years to reach Zuber unless a fatal accident or employ safety complaint puts him on the inspection list.

Nevertheless, Congress is receiving howls from plenty of small businessmen who don't like OSHA. "It's just fear," says Herbert Liebenson, legislative vice president for the National Small Businessmen's Association. "They only hear the horror stories."

He says a poll of his members shows they are more worried about OSHA than anything else, even taxes.

Congress has the message. Last year it voted twice to exempt millions of small-businessmen from the safety standards. But both times President Nixon vetoed the spending bill to which the exemption was attached as a rider. So virtually all employers still are covered.

This year few expect that Congress will approve an exemption again, but even OSHA's friends are willing to soften its bite on business somewhat. And the law's old critics are pressing for nothing.

CHRYSLER FULL-LINE—Pampa Chrysler-Dodge Inc., 821 W. Wilks, now offers the complete line of Chrysler products—Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge and Dodge Trucks. If you are in need of a new automobile or pickup, the place to go is Pampa Chrysler-Dodge.

Doug Boyd Is Now Offering Full-Line Chrysler Products

Since the first of this year, Doug Boyd, car dealer in Pampa for over 13 years, has had the Chrysler Products dealership for Pampa.

Pampa Chrysler-Dodge Inc. is the first dealership in Pampa to offer the entire line of Chrysler automobiles and trucks — Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge and Dodge trucks.

Located at 821 W. Wilks, the motor company features a four-car showroom and a half-block area completely full of cars for your selection.

Chrysler now offers an electronic ignition system as standard equipment on all of its vehicles. It is a feature only available on Chrysler products.

Eliminated as an area of concern in a Chrysler vehicle is the replacement of points and the condenser — they have been eliminated from the system.

With no points to replace the car needs no distributor timing adjustments.

Also, in a Chrysler product automobile or pickup there are fewer spark plug replacements.

Chrysler recommends replacement at 18,000 miles. Most other manufacturers recommend that the plugs be changed after 12,000 miles.

There is also virtually no voltage regulator replacement. The Chrysler regulator replacement is a solid-state with no moving parts.

Practically everything that causes car tuning problems has been eliminated from the ignition system of the 1973 Chrysler line.

Among other advantages in buying a Chrysler product this year: fewer fuel system filter replacements, no normal transmission service needed, fewer front-end lube and fewer air cleaner replacements.

For full details on these and other good reasons for buying Chrysler, come by the showroom and talk to the sales personnel there.

Besides Boyd, Harold Starbuck, L.D. Boyd, Wallace Jouett and Tom Ammons are on hand to show you the cars on hand at Pampa Chrysler-Dodge Inc. They feel that the car you are looking for is right there.

Pampa Chrysler-Dodge also has an experienced service department. Gale Sanders is the service manager. Mechanics are Roy Hunter, Jimmy Gilliam and Terry Jennings. Carl Baumgardner heads the clean-up department.

Opal Stevens is the office manager and Gaylene Winborne is her assistant.

If you are in the market for a new car, Doug Boyd and his staff think that your best bet is at Pampa Chrysler-Dodge.

WITH SERVICE IN MIND—The people at both locations for Dixie Parts and Supply are always ready to aid Pampa area customers to find the parts and accessories needed for repair and customization of vehicles. Larry McWilliams, left, and Ed Henley are among those ready to serve the customers at the store at 417 S. Cuyler. The other location is 1421 N. Hobart.

Dixie Parts Carries Full Line Auto Parts, Accessories

Dixie Parts and Supply, with two convenient locations, provides Pampa and the surrounding area with an automobile supply center that is unequalled in the trade zone.

Complete lines of brand names and factory guaranteed parts are kept in complete stock at both store locations, 417 S. Cuyler and 1421 N. Hobart.

Many years of experience in the supply field by the Dixie personnel insure sound purchases for the customer. Parts for all trucks and cars are in supply or can be obtained by fast individual order.

Auto air conditioning is another feature of the stores. Operating with the slogan, "complete stock auto parts," Dixie has in the stores such items as mufflers and tailpipes, starters, generators, shock absorbers, fuel pumps and brake shoes.

All automobile accessories are available. Professional and backyard mechanics are reminded that for the best replacement parts on any model of any make of automobile, they can give Dixie a call.

If they don't have the part or accessory in stock, they will be happy to make quick and special orders.

Years of successful business and many satisfied customers in the Pampa area testify to the quality of merchandise and service offered by the stores.

Ask Not Who Hit, But Where He Lives

By CARLTON SMITH

One of the things few car owners understand about the way auto insurance is priced is "rating territories."

Let's take an unlikely but entirely possible set of circumstances that would increase the premiums of a food many drivers.

You're a citizen of Wyoming, driving around peacefully and slowly, looking at the cows and the sheep. Not many accidents in your part of the state. Not many cars, or that matter.

Suddenly a couple hundred vacationing members of the Fortnightly Fun Club of Cloth Rogen, Penn., pass through on their annual Coast to Coast Fun Tour, and decide to start rounding up the dogs in their cars.

Not having much experience with roundup techniques, they mostly run into each other. Enough to double the annual accident rate in your part of Wyoming.

Does this phenomenal rise in the accident rate, when it comes to the attention of the insurance industry's computers, mean that you are now faced with paying higher premiums, because you live in an area where the wreck rate has doubled?

No, fortunately for you, the premiums are going to increase back in Cloth Rogen, Penn., where all those floods came from. Which is as it should be — except that all the peaceable citizens of Cloth Rogen, who stayed home hoeing their turnips instead of going off on the fun tour, will be stuck with higher car insurance costs.

A rating territory can be part of a large city, an entire smaller city, a suburb or a group of suburbs or a fairly extensive nonmetropolitan or rural area. Insurance companies will look at the incidence of claims by drivers whose cars are garaged in that territory, and set their base rates accordingly.

Thus, even if you do most of your driving in a high-accident area, you may get the benefit of relatively low premium rates if you live (or if your car is garaged, more accurately) in a low-accident area.

There is not much you can do, obviously, about the cost of your insurance as determined by your rating territory. Unless, that is, you can arrange to live in the city, garage your car out in the country, and take a bus out to Cob Corner whenever you want to use it.

Individual drivers who live within your rating territory, however, will pay considerably different premiums — and here you may have some control over the price factors, and be able to work your costs down.

The major factors determining the premium you pay, according to the Insurance Information Institute, are age, sex, marital status, driving record and use of your car.

If you drive your car to work, for example, your premium automatically goes up a certain percentage of the base rate. The dollar increase will depend on how many miles you drive, each way, during the week.

Check with your agent to see how much the premium would be reduced if you didn't drive to work. You might discover that the saving on insurance, plus the per-mile costs of auto operation, could make it more economical for you to ride a train or bus, and even take cabs at an end or the other.

Not much you can do about your age or sex. (Well...there's Sweden.) Marital status? A male, age 20, single, pays about three times the base rate. Married, he pays about one-third less than that. A male, age 25, can save half his insurance costs by getting married. (That's the way it works in most states; not all.) Get married.

Realistic Facts Dispute Some Widely-Held Economic Concepts

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Test yourself. There's a good chance that you believe one or more of the following statements:
—We don't have any more family farmers in this country. Oh, a few, of course, but the big corporations have taken over and they've pretty much run the little fellow out of business.
The facts dispute this widely held notion. Data from the 1969 census aren't available yet, but those who follow the trends, such as the Conference Board, believe that 95 per cent of farms are still family-operated.
That was the percentage found in other studies made in 1949, 1959 and 1964, even though there was a sharp decrease in the number of farms — from 6,350,000 in 1940 to 2,876,000 in 1970.
There are several reasons why the belief has taken hold. One is that the average farm size has grown from 175 acres to about 390 acres in the past 30 years or so. Another is that the 5 per cent non-family farms account for a big share of production — 35 per cent in 1964.
The fact is that many of the large corporations that did go into farming found it not nearly as profitable as they had expected, and some of them now believe that there may be size limitations on the efficient farm.
What is a family farm? According to the Agriculture Department it is "an agricultural business in which the operator is a risk-taking manager, who, with his family, does more than half of the farm work."

—The reason for our high food prices is the middleman. He's got a great big appetite for money, and he's making all of us pay through the nose.
The explanation isn't that simple. There's no denying that in recent years the foods that leave the farmer's lands go through many processes that add to delivery cost. But there's little evidence of any profiteering.
First National City Bank notes that civilian spending for farm foods in 1971 totaled $111.1 billion, an increase of $44.2 billion over 1960. Of this increase, farmers received only $13.5 billion, the middleman $30.7 billion.

However, little of this increase seems to be reflected in middleman profits. It seems there are more and more middlemen to prepare and distribute foods that once were delivered raw. And the middle-man's expenses also have risen.

In summary: True, the transporting, processing and distribution of foods is eating up a lot more of the food dollar. But rather than blaming any one group, perhaps you should accuse our changing customs and appetites.
—By any measure, General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph are the largest companies in the United States, in fact, the largest in the entire world. It's been that way for years.
Times change and that statement isn't true today. GM might be the largest manufacturer and have the greatest profits. And AT&T might have the greatest assets and the largest number of shareholders, but...

International Business Machines has the greatest market value of any company in the world, with investors giving it a price of $47.8 billion. That's the figure you'll arrive at by multiplying price per share by shares outstanding.
That price is almost double the combined market value of AT&T and GM. AT&T is in second place, with a value of $30.79 billion. GM is in fifth, with market value of $20.42 billion.
In between, in a compilation by Standard & Poor's, are Eastman Kodak, at $21.81 billion and Exxon, at $21.53 billion.

DeBusschere Says It Was Hope Shot

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was a hope shot," explained New York Knickerbocker forward Dave DeBusschere.

"I was looking for the free throws—it was just luck that the ball went in."

A horde of reporters were gathered in the New York trainer's room where the 6-foot-6 DeBusschere, an ace pack on his sore right knee, was describing the key play in the Knicks' 103-98 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden.

"The Lakers had cut a 21-point New York lead down to two, 94-92, with one minute to go. Los Angeles was surging, having scored eight points in a row. The Knicks were disorganized. Walt Frazier had fouled out, and none of the Knicks was shooting well. Knick forward Bill Bradley tried a jump shot from the right side. It missed, bounding high off the rim. The two centers, Willis Reed of New York and massive Walt Chamberlain of Los Angeles, went for the rebound—with DeBusschere lurking alongside.

"Willis kept the ball alive," said DeBusschere. "He and Walt went up, but neither got control of the ball. When they came down, that's when I went up. I just grabbed it and put it back up."

Wilt reacted by grabbing me. The shot I threw up was just a hope shot. I was playing for the foul, since Wilt had both his arms around me."

The ball went in, and the foul was called on Chamberlain.

"It was instinct," the 7-1 Chamberlain said of the foul. "He just had better position than me; all I could do was foul him."

DeBusschere calmly sank the free throw, and the Knicks were ahead 97-92 with 48 seconds to go. The Lakers couldn't get closer than three of the rest of the way, with two free throws by Earl Monroe and four by DeBusschere keeping the Knicks safely ahead.

As a result, New York took a 3-1 lead in the National Basketball Association's championship playoffs. The Knicks can wrap up the best-of-7 series with a victory in Los Angeles Thursday night.

DeBusschere finished with 33 points, his career playoff high

Leonard Calls It "Greatest Series"

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Bob Leonard called it "the greatest series" he's ever seen in the American Basketball Association.

The Indiana Pacer coach could afford an optimistic outlook with his club just one game away from another league championship and a chance to wrap it up before the home folks in Indianapolis Thursday night.

The Pacers, on George McGinnis' last-minute heroics, edged the Kentucky Colonels 89-86 Tuesday night in game No. 5 and, for the second time, won on the Colonels' court for a 3-2 edge in the best-of-7 series.

McGinnis stole an in-bounds pass at midcourt and dribbled under for a stuff shot that applied the clincher which only 23 seconds left.

Only seconds before, McGinnis came close to being a goat, when he broke under the basket, and a pass trickled off his fingertips to give the Colonels possession.

The crowd of 16,779 saw the neighboring state rivals playing tough defense in a game that was void of the high emotions and roudiness that had marked some of the earlier contests.

The teams opened the final quarter with the Colonels in front 64-62, but six-year veteran Freddie Lewis hit 11 of Indiana's first 13 points in the period as the Pacers opened their biggest advantage at nine points.

That spurt was aided by stolen passes by rookie Don-Bise that led to six of the Indiana points.

The Pacers appeared to have things under control, but the Colonels scrapped back to tie it on a fast break by Louie Dampier with six minutes to go.

Then it was Kentucky's turn to take command, and a hook shot by Walt Simon opened an 85-80 edge with only 1:45 on the clock.

Kirkpatrick Found Out He Can Hit In Majors

By The Associated Press

"I found out that I can hit in the major leagues," says Ed Kirkpatrick.

Everyone else knows that now, too.

The Kansas City outfielder, who had a .233 lifetime batting average before this year, raised his season's mark to .389 with three hits Tuesday night that helped the Royals beat the Detroit Tigers 7-2.

"I'm about the most relaxed I've ever been in the majors," added Kirkpatrick after a big night of two doubles and a triple. "Each of the three pitches I hit was a little different. I got in some bad habits and it has taken me years to come out of them."

While Kirkpatrick played for the California Angels and Royals in a checked major league career that started in 1962, he never had a 14-game hitting streak, which he has now.

In the other American League games, the Cleveland Indians stopped the California Angels 2-0; the Texas Rangers trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3; the New York Yankees crushed the Minnesota Twins 14-4 and the Chicago White Sox tripped the Boston Red Sox 1-0.

Rain postponed Baltimore's game with Oakland.

In the National League, it was Montreal 4, Houston 3; Cincinnati 7, Philadelphia 1; Atlanta 10, New York 6; Los Angeles 7, Pittsburgh 4; San Francisco 9, St. Louis 7 and Chicago 3, San Diego 2 in 12 innings.

Kirkpatrick doubled in the second inning and scored on Paul Schaal's single. He tripled after Hal McRae's single to drive in the first of two runs in the sixth and then scored on a misfired squeeze play when Detroit catcher Duke Sims dropped the ball during a run-down. Kirkpatrick also doubled and scored ahead of Schaal's homer in the eighth.

Gaylord Perry stopped a personal three-game losing streak with a four-hitter and Dave Duncan belted a home run as Cleveland beat California.

Mike Epstein scored the tie-breaking run on Elliot Maddox' infield out in the eighth inning as Texas beat Milwaukee.

Ron Blomberg drove in four runs with a 440-foot home run and a single as New York buried Minnesota under a 14-hit offense. Every Yankee in the starting lineup collected at least one hit, drove in one run and scored one.

Eddie Fisher and Terry Forster combined for a three-hitter and Carlos May knocked in the game's only run with a fourinning single as Chicago beat Boston.

Four Play Series To Conclude

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — It's Trinity versus Arkansas and Texas against Pan American May 24th in a double elimination National Collegiate Athletic Association Dist. VI baseball tournament first round in Arlington's Turnpike Stadium.

Trinity plays the Razorbacks at 5 p.m. while Southwest Conference champion Texas jousts independent Pan American at 8 p.m.

The winner of the tournament advanced to the College Baseball World Series in Omaha, Neb. June 8th.

Texas went last year and Pan American the year before.

Arkansas, a member of the SWC, competes in baseball as an independent.

The announcement of the tournament was made Tuesday by Kal Segrist, Texas Tech baseball coach and chairman of the NCAA Dist. VI

A near-capacity crowd is expected at the Civic Center when the shooting and playmaking of Ernie DiGregorio, rides in on a three-game winning streak.

DiGregorio was hailed Tuesday by Vladimir Kandrashin, the Russian coach, as "sort of the conductor of the game; one who changes the climate of the game."

Apparently fresh in Kandrashin's mind was the contest in New York Monday night, when the 6-foot guard scored 25 points and handed out 11 assists in an overtime U.S. victory.

The Lakers had cut a 21-point New York lead down to two, 94-92, with one minute to go. Los Angeles was surging, having scored eight points in a row. The Knicks were disorganized. Walt Frazier had fouled out, and none of the Knicks was shooting well. Knick forward Bill Bradley tried a jump shot from the right side. It missed, bounding high off the rim. The two centers, Willis Reed of New York and massive Walt Chamberlain of Los Angeles, went for the rebound—with DeBusschere lurking alongside.

"Willis kept the ball alive," said DeBusschere. "He and Walt went up, but neither got control of the ball. When they came down, that's when I went up. I just grabbed it and put it back up."

Wilt reacted by grabbing me. The shot I threw up was just

Golf Tips from the Old Masters

SOUND SWING DEPENDS ON GOOD POSTURE

Sam Snead owns the sweetest golf swing in the world, according to all the experts. It is also one of the most effective golf swings ever seen. Snead believes that one of the overlooked reasons for his classic swing is good posture, a factor many people overlook in their own game.

"Bad posture at address will never lead to consistent golf," Snead says. "A lot of golfers stand too upright with the back straight up, and down. This fellow's shoulders are forced to turn horizontally on the backswing. This throws the swing out of the proper lane. More commonly, I see golfers who bend too far forward from the waist. This golfer 'reaches' for the ball at address and consequently swings too flat."

The correct posture at address, Snead says, has the golfer standing with flexed knees, with his rear end sticking out and with the arms hanging comfortably from the shoulders. This enables you to tilt and turn properly as you take your backswing, and lets you swing freely through the ball.

Watergate: Still Many Questions

By BRUCE BLOSSAT WASHINGTON (NEA) — Friends — yes, friends — of President Nixon do not believe he advanced his personal cause or that of the presidency in any enduring way by his cool and lofty tale of the all-consuming Watergate affair.

The tone was presidential. His comment bore the marks of the high quest for truth and justice befitting his office. It was reinforced by solid action in the earlier removals of four top administration men, including his two closest aides.

IT'S HARD TO GET RELIABLE DOMESTIC HELP THESE DAYS!

RAY CROMLEY Own Weaknesses Nixon's Undoing

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The aftermath of Watergate could be a profound change in the presidency of Mr. Nixon. The root of the problem these past years, friends of the President have told me, is his deep lack of self-confidence, his nagging self-doubts — his feeling he is not liked, his cringing before criticism, his abhorrence of arguments and conflict, his lack of confidence in dealing with people, his continued fear he will be pressured into doing something he does not want to do.

CRIME IN THE SUBURBS Some persons argue that crime is caused by poverty and discrimination and that massive government expenditures in "inner city" areas would eliminate the conditions which cause crime and hence eliminate crime itself.

Question Box

QUESTION: Retired Chief Justice Earl Warren, in a recent interview, said legal aid programs for the poor deserve wide support from the people of the nation. He said they gave "exploited groups" effective and peaceful means to obtain justice. Is this a proper and legitimate use of tax money?

Bankrupt Benefactor

The 92nd Congress passed legislation providing that $30 billion of federal revenues would be turned over to state and local governments over a five-year period. The idea was that these no-strings-attached grants would bolster the independence of lower levels of government by enabling them to exercise their own initiative in solving local problems without waiting for federal intervention.

Indian Treaties Easily Broken—By 'Laws'

EDITOR'S NOTE: On February 27, a band of Indian militants seized control of Wounded Knee, a tiny hamlet on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation of South Dakota, where they vowed to remain until the United States agreed to honor treaties with the Oglala Sioux that date back more than 100 years. The question of how, or whether, Indian treaties should be honored is not a new one. It dates back to the day white settlers first came to America.

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The trouble with Indian treaties is that they are so easily broken. Once any treaty is ratified, it becomes part of U.S. law. And, like any other law, it can be amended, superseded or repealed by a newer law. So breaking an Indian treaty may not be honorable, but it can be perfectly legal. Even in cases where there has been no legal justification for breaking a treaty, Indian tribes have often found themselves without the power to force compliance. The question of Indian standing, and therefore claim to the land on which they live, has been ambiguous since the first white men came to America. Charles V, king of Spain and grandson of Ferdinand and Isabella, made the first attempt at defining Indian property rights and turned to Francisco de Victoria, professor at the University of Salamanca and one of the foremost theologians of his day.

Victoria said Indians had title to their land and Spaniards could not claim it by virtue of discovery. He suggested that if Europeans wanted Indian land, they buy it. Victoria's advice was not always taken literally, as white explorers continued to claim new discoveries in the name of European monarchs, although his ideas survived in an unwritten code which generally ascribed sovereignty to the white kings but title to the Indians. The English colonizers followed this rule, and individual colonies passed ordinances requiring acquisition of Indian land by purchase authorized by the colonial government.

The British home government held similar views. During the American Revolution the Continental Congress continued to deal with Indians in the same way and concluded the first U.S.-Indian treaty with the Delaware on Sept. 17, 1778.

In 1784, Congress appointed commissioners to negotiate peace terms with Indians along the frontier and set up boundaries, making it clear that the territory belong to the government although the Indians could live on it.

The United States alone possess the sovereign power within the limits described at the late treaty of peace between them and the king of England," David Ramsay, chairman of the Congress, declared. "You may also assure the Indians that they tell lies who say that the king of England has not in his late treaty with the United States given up to them the lands of the Indians."

But the Indians resented the government's approach and it became apparent that the United States, which had no standing Army once the Revolution was over, was going to have to soften its stand or fight.

Consequently, the secretary of war in 1788 recommended a new policy of purchasing land the government had been virtually confiscating in peace treaties. Money was appropriated to purchase Indian claims to land already ceded and treaties were renegotiated.

On Jan. 9, 1789, treaties were signed with the Six Nations and the Wampanoag, Delaware, Chickewa and Ottawa establishing a new official view of Indian lands rights. In these landmark treaties, the United States gave up claim to designated territory to be held by the Indians.

The early treaties contained several other provisions implying a degree of Indian sovereignty.

As early as 1778 Delaware treaty, the government guaranteed the integrity of Indian territory. Boundaries were set out between U.S. territory and Indian land and between Indian nations, just as the map of Europe was redrawn after the World Wars.

Treaties signed with northern tribes in 1785 and 1786 provided that any U.S. citizen attempting to settle on Indian land forfeited the protection of the United States.

The U.S. government obviously recognized an international character to Indian relations and several treaties stipulated that having allied with the United States, the Indians could not ally with other nations.

But time eroded whatever standing the Indians had as independent nations.

Some treaty provisions became obsolete, such as those requiring the government to provide grist mills and blacksmiths to repair hunting rifles. A Cherokee treaty still requires the government to hire mounted riders at $30 a day to guard the reservation.

Such anachronisms encourage a view of the treaties as quaintly out of date and not to be taken seriously, although some guarantees of goods and services are still vitally important to the Indians.

These annuities, though vital today, were the first step in downgrading Indian stature. They made the Indians dependent on the government at a time when the shrinking frontier denied their traditional huntsmen's livelihood.

Weakness on the part of Indians invited whites to take advantage. Defeated by U.S. forces in 1814, the Creeks were forced to surrender 23 million acres, half their ancestral domain, although a big chunk of it belonged to loyal Indians.

Finally, Congress eradicated the last illusion of Indian independence by legislating in 1971 "that hereafter no Indian nation or tribe within the territory of the United States shall be acknowledged or recognized as an independent nation, tribe or power with whom the United States may contract by treaty."

In 1903 the Supreme Court said Congress could break old treaties and take Indian land so long as it was justified by circumstances "which will not only justify the government in disregarding the stipulations of the treaty, but may demand, in the interest of the country and the Indians themselves, that it should do so."

Indians today claim the government has found it in their best interest to allow their lands to be dried up or flooded by dams; ravaged by strip mining; denuded of forests, stripped of minerals and turned over to real estate developers.

Dental Floss For Prisoners Under Review

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Dental floss should be issued to state prison inmates to reduce tooth decay, despite the risk it might be used to saw through prison bars, says a state advisory council.

An all-day hearing on proposals to reduce cavities among California's 21,000 state prison inmates was slated for today in Sacramento by the "Strike Force for the Prevention of Dental Disease."

The agenda includes Monday's recommendation on dental floss and a counter report by prison authorities that dental floss, when coated with an abrasive substance, can be as effective as metal blades in cutting iron bars.

Electronic Supermarket Checkout 'Pay' Studied

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — What may be the biggest technological advance since self-service food marketing—electronic checkout systems to speed pay lines—continued to attract attention at the supermarket trade show here Tuesday.

More than 10,000 delegates from 800 supermarket companies throughout the nation and abroad are attending the four-day convention of the Super Market Institute, sitting in on workshops and inspecting the latest equipment available to the industry.

"After several years of theorizing, experimentation and speculation, electronic checkouts have come of age," said Alan L. Schlegel of Acme Markets of Philadelphia. "In April, 1972, six supermarket chains were testing electronic check-outs; now 38 chains are testing or installing them. This phenomenal growth represents an industry-wide commitment."

One system shown in Dallas is designed so that prices of groceries are manually punched into a keyboard connected with a computer. Another uses what is called a "scanner" that reads electronically the price stamped on a special price label, leaving the clerk with both hands free to bag groceries.

Robert L. Cottrell, director of industrial engineering for Kroger food stores in Cincinnati, Ohio, where the scanner system has been running for 10 months on an experimental basis, said the only customer resistance encountered arose from the elimination of individual price marking on grocery items. The shelves are marked, instead of each item.
