Astronauts To Attempt First Space Showers

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Like most anyone on a day off, Skylab's astronauts slept late in their orbiting station today. They looked forward to the luxury of Nixon's first space shower after a week of work in the warm laboratory. They slept nearly three hours past their normal wakeup time and once they were up and around they had little to say to Mission Control of the first leisure day ever enjoyed by free in space. It is one of three free days planned during the 28-day mission by Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz. Experiments are scheduled for the day. Unless there is an emergency, mission control will leave them alone, except for relaying routine messages. Experts on the ground will continue to troubleshoot Skylab's power shortage, working on procedures for a one week walk to release a stuck solar panel. Commander Conrad hinted Thursday night there may be at least some chores to do. "It'll be more like a field day," he radioed. "We've got an awful lot of housekeeping to do. Things are scattered all over the place, so we'll spend some time cleaning house." Conrad said he hoped to play orbiting tourist and snap some pictures from the window during the day. He asked the control center for the map coordinating the mission.

County Gives Approval For Precinct Projects

Members of the Gray County Commissioners Court voted to pave the annex parking area, proceed with the Precinct One building and buy a new pickup for Precinct Four ... all through the beneficence of revenue sharing funds. The consulting firm of Merriman and Barber were instructed to go ahead with obtaining bids for both the building and the building at Lelors. There will be an ad bid for the pickup, too. In other business the panel renewed the contract with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Soil Conservation Service for office space at the annex for another year. The panel also voted to pay jurors according to statute, $10 for serving and $5 for appearing as law directs. Members of the court will be

Senate Okays Halt To Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conference committee will have the task of thrashing out a compromise between a Senate bill that would cut off all funds for U.S. military action in Indochina and a milder House version. The Senate Thursday voted to cut off all funds for U.S. combat activity in Cambodia and Laos. The House had voted 218 to 183 May 10 to deny any funds in a $3.6-billion appropriation bill for any further hostilities by the United States in Cambodia. # Nixon, Pompidou Agree To Work For Alliance

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — President Nixon and French President Georges Pompidou today ended their two-day summit talks. They agreed to work for a revitalized transatlantic alliance that can meet the changing needs of the 1970s. The American and French leaders took leave of each other with few if any firm records of substance but with an understanding that if all goes well a unique summit conference of North American and West European government leaders can be arranged. This would bring together all 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, plus Iceland which is the only NATO country inside the Common Market. Personal relations between the two presidents evidently warmed considerably during their conference with each passing subtle political commitments to the other. French officials, for instance, reported this conference exchange between the two leaders: Nixon claimed he has been working since 1969 to improve American-French relations. Past misunderstandings in his view were the fault of American politicians who had failed to understand the aspirations of the late Charles de Gaulle. He was quoted as guffing, "I'm becoming more and more Gaullist myself." Aides reported Pompidou came back immediately with: "In my own country people are saying I'm becoming less and less Gaullist." "That," rejoined Nixon, "is not apparent to me." Pompidou emerged from the conference briefly to address newsmen saying his agreement with Nixon outnumbered their disagreements. The results will show themselves in the coming months and years," he said. Nixon and Pompidou shook hands after their windup meeting and Nixon said, "I'll see you in Paris." Pompidou smiled and waved goodbye. The two presidents could point to nothing in the way of a dramatic achievement from their private talks Thursday in Iceland's chilly capital. But their spokesmen indicated hope for eventual agreement through negotiating procedures endorsed by the two chief executives.

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's foreign policy advisor, told newsmen Thursday that procedures now set in motion may produce an unprecedented summit of 16 Atlantic nations by the time Nixon visits major European capitals in October or early November. The participants probably would include all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Common Market. Kissinger said, however, that "it really is too early to tell" whether enough progress can be made at lower levels to justify an autumn summit. According to the rather flexible Nixon-Pompidou plan outlined by Kissinger, this is how representatives of the United States, France and other Western European countries will go about their search for solutions to monetary, trade and defense issues: "Current and contemplated Atlantic Alliance negotiations on specific questions 'will continue in established forums.'" —The United States and

Iowa Beef Processors To Build Amarillo Plant

Iowa Beef Processors, Inc., announced a decision today to locate a multi-million dollar plant at Amarillo. The announcement was made at a news conference this morning by Paul Engler, group vice president for the carcass division. Engler said the decision came after an exhaustive search of the Panhandle area and noted the firm's representatives had the most gracious cooperation from each community considered. Pampa had been considered as a possible site. "Although we have decided to build the plant near Amarillo, I hope that every community on the High Plains will feel that it is an area industry," Engler said. He revealed that the 625,000 square foot plant for slaughtering and processing beef would be located on a 450 acre site east of Amarillo near the juncture of FM 1912 and U.S. 60. It will be built at a cost of $25 million and will employ 1,500 people earning an annual payroll in excess of $13 million. Engler assured that 90 per cent of this 1,500 people would come from the local work force. He also assured that the plant would draw on High Plains fed cattle supplies primarily when the facility began operation. Asked about possible future satellite plants, Engler said there was definitely a possibility since it would be easier and less expensive than transporting live animals to the central plant. Construction is scheduled to begin within six weeks to completion expected within 18 to 24 months. J. Fred Haigler, president of Iowa Beef Processors, Inc. and Bill Burns, vice president, IBC Division were also present for the news conference. "The firm is the largest beef processor in the United States."

The Packers, coached by Roy Sparkman, are second, with 532. In third place are the Raiders, coached by Gary Stevens, with 485. The campaign for contest purposes will be concluded at 11 a.m. Wednesday, June 6, with final tabulations in the Chamber of Commerce office, according to Gene Steel, finance director. Steel urged workers to complete working cards before Wednesday. ### Greece To Return To Republic Rule

ATHENS (AP) — Premier George Papadopoulos announced today that he was abolishing the monarchy and making Greece a presidential republic. Papadopoulos proclaimed himself first president of the new republic in a radio broadcast to the nation. Papadopoulos had taken over as strong man and crown regent in March 1972. He masterminded the April 1971 coup which brought the military junta to power, suspending parliamentary rule. He said the junta made the decision to end the monarchy in a special Cabinet meeting today. A plebiscite will be held within two months to ratify the decision, he said. Following the referendum, Greeks will vote in a general election for a new parliament by the end of 1974. It will be the first election in Greece since February 1961. The junta's decision was no surprise. For a week the junta had been leaking rumors of its intentions to solve the monarchy issue. Papadopoulos said that the 33-year old king, instead of conforming to the 1969 constitution after his counter-coup failed in 1967, "cooperated with all shades of reactionary political forces despite the constant warnings of the government."

Whether or not there should be a summit of the European leaders with the President will be decided after the results of all these other negotiations are evaluated.

Kissinger seemingly played a key role in the Iceland summit. It was he who met with Jobert on the eve of the first session to lay out a blueprint for the talks. He alone participated in the Nixon-Pompidou meeting Thursday.

When a French spokesman was asked why Pompidou had not called in an adviser of similar status, he replied: "The president feels he can deal with these matters on his own."

IN VIETNAM

Experts Skeptical About Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some American diplomatic and intelligence experts are skeptical about Henry A. Kissinger's optimism over prospects of a meaningful cease fire in Indochina.

The main point of concern at the moment is the reappearance of major North Vietnamese tank forces in at least two areas of South Vietnam recent days.

One intelligence source said a complete North Vietnamese tank regiment has infiltrated through the demilitarized zone into the area around Hue in Military Region I.

He noted there was another infusion of armor last month down the Ho Chi Minh trail into South Vietnam along the border with Cambodia.

This bold move indicates Hanoi is very confident these officials say since such an operation requires moving sophisticated equipment far from supply bases.

They add it also means Hanoi is preparing to launch an offensive of new attempts to make the Jan. 27 cease-fire truly work.

Kissinger will meet in Paris Wednesday with special North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho in the second round of the latest effort to implement the original cease-fire.

Kissinger said after returning from the first session last week that he expected to reach new understandings next week on implementing the Jan. 27 agreement.

When asked about the nation's security adviser's optimism, the sources said they wished they could share Kissinger's view, but they knew of nothing to substantiate his assessment.

The doubters also pointed out that Kissinger was optimistic about the chances of the original agreement to end the fighting. Instead, the combat level has stayed high throughout most of the past cease-fire period.

Kissinger also predicted a quick cease-fire in Cambodia and that has never come close to fulfillment, they said.

Another source also indicated recently captured enemy documents may have been planted to fool South Vietnam and the United States. These documents and other intelligence information indicated Hanoi intends to abide by whatever new arrangement Kissinger and Tho work out.

Hijackers Take Off For Peru

By The Associated Press. Two young hijackers, 22 passengers and a fresh crew of seven took off from Aruba bound for Lima, Peru, early today.

The owner of the Colombian plane, SAM Airlines, said it had forked over $50,000 in return for a promise that every one aboard would be freed and the plane abandoned at the next stop.

Eighty-nine persons were aboard the plane when it was hijacked Wednesday, but all the women and children were set free. 11 men escaped Thursday and 9 more were released early today.

The two men ordered the plane flown to Aruba on Wednesday and threatened to blow it and the passengers up if they did not get $200,000 and the release of 140 leftists from Colombian jails.

The Colombian government stood firm, however, and the hijackers abandoned their demand for the leftists' release and reduced their ransom demand.

Before dawn Thursday the two men ordered the pilot to fly to Lima. The plane remained in the air for two hours, but then returned to the Aruba airport because problems developed with the propeller lubrication system.

The plane sat under a blazing sun on the Aruba runway most of Thursday as the hijackers negotiated with SAM officials and deliberated their next move.

The hijackers then ordered the plane flown to El Salvador, but it never touched down and returned to Aruba shortly before midnight.

Daniel To Prepare For New Session

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he won't call the legislature back to work on the school finance problem but Speaker Price Daniel Jr. wants to be ready if Briscoe's mind changes.

The measure, House Bill 946 is the one that passed the House but died in the Senate during the regular legislative session that ended Monday night.

Daniel said the committee should have it ready for legislative action no later than Sept. 15, 1973.

The speaker's refusal to break a 20-minute final hour of the session Monday killed a compromise bill worked out by a House-Senate conference committee.

Carlton Carl, Daniel's executive assistant, said there was no special significance to Sept. 15 other than it would allow plenty of time for a session before the Jan. 8 constitutional convention.

Briscoe asked the Texas Education Agency and the Legislative Property Tax Commission Tuesday to make thorough studies of public schools and their financing. He said he would use the results in recommending a new school finance system to the 1975 legislature.

Daniel, however, said in a statement the problem has been studied to death at a cost totaling almost $2 million since 1965.

Briscoe opposed the House bill at least partly because it would have required new expenditures of $97 million over the next two years plus vast new amounts of money over its six-year period.

The compromise bill, boosting state and local districts both rich and poor, by $47 million over two years, seemed to meet a long-held need of a better equal education, Daniel said.

He said he could have accepted Briscoe's plan to give the 111 poorest districts $39 million in one-time grants in 1974. The annual grant would be $3.5 million.

He said he would like to see the Legislature taking a break in the middle of the year to study the problem.

U.S. To Sell F1 Jets To Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is preparing to sell F4 Phantom jets to Saudi Arabia and is considering a similar sale to Kuwait. The aim is to counter Soviet arms shipments to rival Arab forces.

Iran also would receive American arms according to disclosures here Thursday that aroused concern in Israel despite assurances from the State Department that we would obviously not enter into any program of sales which would place Israel's security in jeopardy.

The number of planes and other equipment that will be sold to the two Arab states and to Iran was not divulged by American officials. However, Abba Eban, the Israeli foreign minister, said any arms sales to Saudi Arabia and Kuwait will definitely influence the balance of power in the Middle East.

And Israeli officials in Washington said the prospective sales would not only pose a military threat but could stiffen Israel's attitude about yielding territory won from Arab countries in the 1967 six-day war.

These officials pointed out that jets in Saudi Arabia could reach any point in Israel with out refueling. Therefore they went on, Israel would be less inclined to return territory that acts as a buffer between it and the Arabs.

Working Force Holding Steady

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's unemployment rate still failing to respond to the economic boom, held stubbornly at five per cent of the work force in May, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the U.S. job picture was essentially unchanged since last November although the economy was in the midst of one of its most vigorous expansions in history during that period.

As in April, the number of people that the bureau counted out of work totaled 4.4 million. The work force remained at 84 million, the bureau said. The figures were adjusted to take seasonal job patterns into account.

Actually, there was a small decline in total unemployment but the drop was about in line with the usual job picture from April to May, the bureau added.

The report cast new doubt on whether the Nixon administration will be able to bring the jobless rate to the range of 4.5 per cent by year end as it has forecast. The administration now is trying to push the economy down a policy that would tend to push the unemployment rate up.

The bureau said the number of nonagricultural payroll jobs climbed modestly last month, increasing by 150,000 to 75.2 million. There was a similar increase in payrolls in April.

The jobless rates for most of the other major groups of the labor force remained at about the same levels as in April. For adult men, it was 3.4 per cent, adult women, 4.6 per cent, and teen-agers, 15.4 per cent.

There was a small decline in the unemployment rate of white-collar workers, from 3.1 to 2.8 per cent. For Vietnam veterans, age 20-29, the jobless rate was 5.9 per cent. But for those from 20 to 24, it was 8.2 per cent, an improvement from the 9.3 per cent in April.

For blacks and other minority groups, the jobless rate increased slightly from 9.1 per cent in April to 9.4 per cent in May.

The bureau said that the number of unemployed persons who had lost their last job was 1.6 million, the lowest point since April 1970.

The report said the average hourly earnings of production or nonsupervisory workers went up by two cents to $3.84.

Average weekly earnings increased $1.12 to $142.46 primarily because of the increase in hourly earnings and a small rise in the work week.

Record Peak Of Tornadoes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Weather Service says there have been more tornadoes so far this year than in the first five months of any previous year.

The service said Thursday that more than 700 tornadoes had been reported through May 29, with a month remaining in the peak tornado season.

The previous high for the first five months was 504 in 1957. The record for a year is 928 in 1967.

The Weather Service also announced that the hurricane season starts today and continues through November.

Thieves Rifle Coin Machines

Pampa police officers are investigating a burglary at the Harriet's Nest, 758 W. Brown St. where four coin-operated machines were broken open sometime Wednesday night.

The thieves gained entrance through a northwest door, went straight to one of the pool tables, coin-operated, according to tracks on the floor and pried it open. A second pool table, the juke box and the coin-operated machines were also broken open.

The searching machine company representative said some $1 was taken from the machines, but he had no idea how much was missing from the other machines.

Police said they appeared after an unsuccessful attempt to pry open the first the burglars took a walk through the juke box and the coin-operated machines, looking for valuables, including a finger ring and a watch, police said.

Daddy's money oils the skids for fiance

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl with a broken heart. I met Rick in college at the beginning of the year. We fell in love and planned to be married this summer. Rick is a graduate student.

My daddy is in oil and has a lot of money, but I wish we were poor because Daddy's money is what caused my problem.

When Rick went to talk to Daddy about marrying me, Daddy asked Rick to meet him at his office. Daddy had a lawyer there with some papers for Rick to sign, saying if the marriage didn't work out Rick wouldn't get any of my money I'll be getting when I turn 21.

Rick wouldn't sign anything, instead he called me up and said he didn't want any part of a family like mine, so now I am without a boy friend.

My daddy said if Rick really loved me he would have signed those papers. I told my Daddy he had no right to ask Rick to sign anything.

Please tell me what you think about all this? I don't have a mother. CRYING MY EYES OUT

DEAR CRYING: Your father should have talked it over with you first. But if Rick gave you up just like that, your daddy could have been right. Dry your tears, honey. Rick could be back.

DEAR ABBY: Because my husband and I are unable to have children of our own, we applied as foster parents thru our state welfare department.

Our first child was a teen-age girl, fresh out of a girls' correctional institution. It was a frustrating experience for us—and for her, too. After admitting our failure, the case-worker removed her from our care and gave us another foster child. Since then, we have had many, mostly teenagers. Many we've helped. A few we have not, but those we've helped have more than compensated for the others.

Abby, you wouldn't believe the number of friends and relatives who ask us: "Why do you take in those damaged kids who have been abused and kicked around and taught to lie and cheat? If they were your OWN, you'd have to put up with them, but you're crazy to ask for unnecessary headaches. Can you really love those kids?"

Our reply: "Most of our children are just like your children, with one exception. Our children have been denied the love and understanding of their natural parents. We have tried to provide them with that love and understanding. If you and your spouse were to suddenly die, and neither friends nor relatives wanted to take on 'unnecessary' headaches, what would happen to your children? I guarantee you, we could love them as easily as we love the children we now have."

What else can we say, Abby? FOSTER PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Nothing. You've said it all. And beautifully.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my wife and I went to the office of a physician by appointment. It was our first visit there. It was a nice morning, and on entering the waiting room I said: "Good morning, everybody!"

There were about a dozen people of all ages sitting there, and not a single person responded to my greeting! I thought perhaps I had come upon a group of deaf and dumb people, but they all answered when their names were called by the receptionist.

My question: Has it gotten to the point in this country where nobody speaks to anybody except by appointment? SENIOR CITIZEN

DEAR CITIZEN: I'm surprised that out of a dozen people, not one returned your friendly greeting. But why make it an American trait? Such an unexpected burst of cheerfulness on entering a doctor's waiting room would probably have met with the same lack of response in England, France, or Italy.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Three Kappa Chapters Attend State Convention

"Keep A Dream In The Making" was the theme for the state meeting of Kappa Kappa Iota Women Teachers' Sorority held at the Cibola Motel in Arlington, recently. Representatives from the two Pampa Conclaves, Gamma and Alpha Iota, and the Beta Chi Conclave of Lefors, proudly watched as Mrs. L.B. Penick of the Gamma Conclave was installed as president of the state organization in an impressive ceremony at the banquet.

On Friday morning, Mayor Tom Vandergriff and Ralph Shelton, of the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the convention guests and brought greetings from the city of Arlington.

The morning business meeting was directed by Hazel Standlee, Lubbock, state president. Seminars were held in the afternoon following a festive luncheon and vacation presentation by an American Airlines Representative.

The evening banquet was appointed with decorations, table favors, and gifts for each member. An outstanding program was presented by The Madrigal Singers of Lamar High School of Arlington.

National President, Myrl Cable, Odessa, installed the officers for the coming year. Mrs. Laura Penick assumed the position of state president after several years of service in many capacities in the local and state organizations. Her first official act was to appoint as parliamentarian, Myrl Cable, a former Pampa teacher and charter member of Gamma Conclave.

Her acceptance speech challenged to remember that today is our heritage. Today is important: It is the only day we have and we must make it count. She charged the membership to strengthen and grow in Kappa. Installation chaplain was Mrs. B.G. Gordon, past state president.

The Kappa song was sung by Ruby Ruddick Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Dan Johnson. Other officers installed were: president-elect, Bobbie De Vinney, Fort Worth; vice-president, Nadine Denson, Brownsville; secretary, Mary McCurry, Amarillo; financial secretary, Ouida Biggers, Odessa; board post I, Hazel Standlee, Lubbock, board post II, Virginia Beth Long, Dallas; and director of the bounty, Gladys Crayton, Houston.

Miss Norma Lantz, president of Beta Chi, and Mrs. John L. Lantz, guest, were accompanied from Lefors by John L. Lantz.

Alpha Iota members attending were: Mmes. Leroy

Hanks, president, and John L. Best.

Press books were displayed and judged. Gamma and Alpha Iota rated superior and Beta Chi was excellent.

Houston extended an invitation for the convention to meet there April 5-6, 1974. The National Convention will be held in Topeka, Kan., June 18-22. Several local KAPPAS plan to attend.

Fresh rock lobster tails can be served in minutes boiled, broiled or in casseroles. The boiling time in minutes should equal the weight in ounces, plus three minutes if you're serving straight from the pot, if you are going to reheat in a sauce.

To broil the tails, first parboil for four minutes per six ounces of weight, cool slightly, slit the cartilage down the middle and pull it out from each side of the shell. Crack the back lengthwise, use a slawer from stem to stem to prevent curling, douse with butter, add salt and pepper, broil until brown and serve with a dry, white wine. Umml! A gourmet's delight!

WORTHWHILE CLUB
The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club met recently in the Reddy Room, Southwestern Public Service Co. with Mrs. Cora Lee Robertson, presiding. Members voted to continue meeting at 2 p.m. through the summer months.

Mrs. Mildred Prince presented a program to the group on the safety values to be observed in and around the home. She stated, "one thing to remember when using electrical tools outside of the house, be sure they are grounded, and wear rubber sole shoes. Do not stand or step in water or wet ground or floor, and air conditioners should be grounded at all times. In using extension cords, be sure they are the same size as the cord with the appliance and be sure and use safety adaptors. Approximately 13 members were present."

"It's a Small World" will be the theme of the seventh annual recital of Madeline Graves School of Dance, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 2, in the M. K. Brown Auditorium. Featured ballet numbers will be "Les Preludes" with music by Liszt and "Symphony In C" with music by Bizet. Both were choreographed by Madeline Graves. The recital will be presented in three scenes: "The World of Childhood," "The World of State and Screen," and "This Wonderful World of Ours — International Tour."

With more than 20 years of experience in all aspects of dancing, Mrs. Graves has studied with many of the "greats" in the European and American dance world and has performed with various civic ballet companies and symphonic orchestras. She performed, also, in countless ballet and musical productions at Texas Christian University, from which she was graduated in 1964 with a BFA degree in ballet-theatre. She is a member of three professional dance organizations, Oklahoma Dance Masters, Texas Association of Dance Teachers and Dance Masters of America. This year she was choreographer for the Amarillo Little Theatre's opening production, "Gypsy," and was on the teaching staff of a winter workshop for Dance Caravan U.S.A. and for Dance Masters of America, in Tulsa, Okla. She is co-founder of the Ballet of the Golden Spread, a regional ballet company, serving as artistic director. Students of Mrs. Graves who are members of the Ballet of the Golden Spread are Kristie Richardson, Meredith Dingman, Debbie Lewis, Anne Kadingo and Cindy Thompson. Graduating seniors to be honored during the recital are Meredith Dingman, Tamara Chambless and Becky Thompson. Original choreography by Mrs. Graves will be featured in 18 of the show's 25 numbers.

Scholar Urges Oil Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Middle East scholar urged Thursday that the United States promote an even-handed settlement of the Arab-Israli dispute to protect a needed source of oil.

Dr. Michael Hudson of Johns Hopkins University said that without such a settlement some Arab states may refuse to increase their oil output to meet American demand.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that if a new Arab-Israli war should break out there is possibility of partial or complete stoppage of Arab oil supplies from North Africa and the Persian Gulf, and of sabotage in the oil fields.

Gas Company Limits Supply To State Industries

HOUSTON (AP) — Coastal States Gas Producing Co. has shut off or limited natural gas supplies to at least 40 industries across a broad stretch of Texas, a company spokesman said Thursday.

The action was taken within a Coastal States pipeline system that stretches from near Fort Stockton in far West Texas to the Louisiana border and from near Austin to the Mexican border, the spokesman said.

The economic repercussions to the industries could not be immediately determined at once.

In many cases, the industries could have supplemental fuel supplies to stoke their fires and run their machines, the company said. In some boilers, fuel oil can be substituted for natural gas.

Robert Wells, a vice president of the Houston-based Coastal States, said some of the industries affected were petroleum refineries and other companies in the heavy industrial belt along the upper Texas Gulf between Beaumont and Houston.

Industries affected are plants of Union Carbide, Gulf Oil, Marathon Oil, British Petroleum, B. F. Goodrich, Texas City and Phillips Petroleum, he said.

Wells said Coastal States is sending the companies "the minimum to avoid damage to their equipment." In some cases, he said, no gas at all is being supplied.

by the Texas Railroad Commission was the cause of the latest company action. That order set out priorities concerning who should receive natural gas within a system when the supply is limited.

"It boils down to a fact of deliverability within the system," Wells said. Company officials have said the maximum they can deliver within the system: the only one available in many areas, is about 1.5 to 1.6 billion cubic feet of natural gas daily, although they have daily commitments to deliver about 1.9 billion cubic feet.

Television And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC television network has aired a two-hour videotape of the Indianapolis 500. It'll probably show the 1974 model next May, but I can't see why.

The main saving grace of ABC's delayed Wednesday night broadcast of the Indy 500 was the sober, thoughtful commentary of Jim McKay and Scottish race driver Jackie Stewart.

They provided the few hopeful notes Wednesday night when ABC rebroadcast the day's earlier fiery Speedway accident that seriously injured a driver and resulted in the death of a pit crew member.

The scene of wreckage and massed fire trucks and ambulances on the track was followed within a minute on TV by a cheery STP commercial that began with Andy Granatelli booming out to his garage help: "Okay, fellas! Let's get going!"

ABC did give us later a trackside picture of a shocked, somber Granatelli on his way to the winner's circle, if that was any help.

Technically, ABC's camera work during the race was excellent. ABC's use of slow and stop-motion replays time and again captured and magnified the horror of two fiery crashes — one that stopped the race Monday and the second that delayed it more than an hour Wednesday.

Stewart, a top driver on any race circuit and an outspoken advocate of racing safety, had to leave the rain-delayed race Tuesday for one later this week at Monaco.

But before he left, he and McKay intelligently analyzed the way this year's Indy 500 was begun, pointed out for viewers what might have caused Monday's accident and unsparingly noted the potential hazards of both the Indianapolis Speedway and the cars racing on it.

McKay, working either solo or with a commentator, stood out — as he did during last year's Munich Olympics tragedy — as both a solid professional and as a man who can be deeply shaken, just like the rest of us, by disaster.

Rios Zepeda Sentenced For Strangulations

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — District Judge J. R. Alamia sentenced Antonio Rios Zepeda Jr. to 12 years in prison Thursday after the defendant entered a surprising no contest plea in the strangulation of deaths of two teen-aged girls.

Rios Zepeda, 20, a migrant laborer from San Benito, entered the plea in the deaths of Maria Norma Delgado and Patricia Segura, both 15 and of San Benito.

The plea came after a jury of seven women and five men had deliberated about nine hours on the charge of murder with malice in the death of the Delgado girl. The defendant was being tried in Miss Delgado's death.

Judge Alamia accepted the recommendation of both the defense and prosecution that Rios Zepeda be sentenced to 12-year prison terms for each charge to be served concurrently.

Judge Alamia set formal sentencing for June 10.

Cameron County Asst. Dist. Atty. Johnny Gavito said the prosecution was "reluctantly" accepting the plea of no contest because of the lengthy jury deliberation.

CHECK YOUR CAR BEFORE SUMMER

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Raise the hood on your car now to check for cooling system problems so you won't have to do so this summer, advises Modine Manufacturing Co., maker of automotive cooling system components.

With the engine turned off, inspect the condition of the fan belts and hoses. Make sure the coolant level meets the manufacturer's specifications.

Look for stains on the radiator surface or water bubbles mixed in with oil on the dip stick. They indicate leaks in the system and that a trip to the radiator repairman is necessary.

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Kidnap Of A Newsman

Generally speaking, organized crime does not attempt to bully the press. The reason is a bit obscure since newsmen desire to live, as nearly everyone else. Therefore they are equally subject to physical intimidation. However, by experience, newsmen have learned that the one thing underworld chieftains dislike the most is to get their names in the paper. Somehow or other when a hood gets his name in the paper too often, other hoods do not like to be seen with him, for his notoriety rubs on them. Sometimes, the more publicized underworld characters become the targets for assassination. The rule of thumb seems to be that those who bring discredit on the order must be eliminated for its benefit.

For that reason, newsmen who write about crime have had a built-in protection. But there are exceptions. One of them is Victor Riesel, who writes an Inside Labor column. He was blinded midway in his career by a splash of acid thrown by a gangster. And just recently, you read about Howard Kohn, a reporter for the Detroit Free Press. He had been writing about the connection of narcotic traffic and a half dozen Detroit police officers. Last month he was threatened. This month he was kidnaped. He escaped death only because the would-be assassin's gun jammed.

The Kohn case and the Riesel case, both unusual in the modern crime context, have one element in common. Both had been writing about the connection between organized crime and some more respectable component in society. Riesel had been writing about the inroads of organized crime into organized labor. Kohn had been writing about the inroads of organized crime into law enforcement. There is a reason that writing about a connection is more alarming to criminals than writing about crime per se. Writing about the connection tends to expose the respectable front without which it is more difficult for criminals to operate gainfully.

As to the narcotic traffic, we have been advised for sometime now that the market could not have grown to its present proportions without the knowing cooperation of some percentage of officialdom. For one thing, it is obvious the dope trade depends on larceny, for it is by stealing that the users get enough money to buy product.

Larceny in turn involves a visible mechanism through which the stolen goods are sold. For a second thing, the trade involves the transfer of large sums of money. Thirdly — we are reliably informed — the underworld couriers are well-known to law-enforcement circles.

The attempt to assassinate reporter Howard Kohn may serve to provoke a closer look at the tie-in between crime and other elements of our community life. If so, the scrutiny would be another of the several encouraging developments that are taking place in our land today.

Never Thought Of That

We learn from a confidential source that the "most sold" bridge in history was 90 years old on May 24. It spans the East River, linking Brooklyn and Manhattan. The name, of course, is the Brooklyn Bridge. It stands a popular symbol of gallantry for the reason that local wise guys repeatedly "sold" it to unwary visitors — or so the story goes.

What we can't understand though is why the Brooklyn Bridge was not actually sold. It had a certain amount of event utility, being a traffic artery. To judge by the legend, there were plenty of persons who were willing to buy it. Why then ought not the venerable span to have been on the tax rolls these many years — as private property, being a revenue producer rather than a municipal maintenance expense?

Makes you wonder which category is the most gullible, the people who "bought" the bridge or those who did NOT sell it.

Abraham Lincoln said "I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to what light I have. I must stand with anybody that stands right, stand with him while he is right and part with him when he goes wrong."

"When bad men combine, the good must associate else they will fall one by one, an unpitied sacrifice in a contemptible struggle." — Edmund Burke

Crossroad Report

Dear Editor: With inflation in overdrive and prices zooming there is considerable weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Some self-charmed economics wizards pronounce that what we need to cure this condition is higher taxes, to put a damper on demand.

Which, my broke-economics neighbor says would further finance the wild government spending which begat this case of inflation and would be like giving a shot of flu germs to a man to cure his cold.

Considerable mouthing goes on—about what some folks call misuse of campaign funds wrung from hopeful people by politicians.

Which is a lot of palaver over peanuts. The real campaign funds are the budgets of all governmental bodies, which are largely and more or less legitimately used by the "ins" to buy votes in the next election.

Few career politicians ever vote to spend a public dollar without considering about how many net votes it will buy to help him stay "in."

There is considerable complaint, about mail service these days, by folks who forget that back in the old 4-cent postage days the postal people jammed our mail through like it was hot or smelled bad.

Nowadays, for only 8 cents, they treat our missives royally, handle them lovingly, give them interesting side trips and sometimes a weekend or two in swanky furnished Postal Centers.

Some cranks say, though, they wish the PO folks didn't get so attached to our mail matter and so reluctant to part with it.

Considerable demand is heard lately for federal taxpayers' money to rebuild and restore some big cities which have become slummy at the core.

Dire prediction is that these huge people-hives will ghost out if they don't get succor from tax suckers who live elsewhere.

Thousands of tons over the U.S.A. are not on the maps anymore because they couldn't support themselves, and in an Equal Righteous society, how come New York City is more entitled to federal savorism than Loco, Texas?

I see where the Army is now offering a $2,500 bonus to volunteers who sign up for four years service, plus wages and working conditions that differ from the former Army.

My non-volunteer yet neighbor says this plan may work in peacetime, but if there was a war, the enemy might just offer a $5,000 bonus and get our whole army on their side.

He says volunteers often feel privileged to volunteer at will, and to set their own pace and priorities. Like our all-volunteer Congress.

Some world-fixers are wild-haired about coyote-killers, eagle killers, etc., because they say that thinning out these creatures will unbalance the ecology.

And now science is plotting to wipe out the friendly house fly, which will disjunct the said ecology even further.

Next move by the ecologists likely will be to outlaw: cyclone cellars; furnaces and air conditioners. In getting back to a purely natural world, we'll just have to take whatever Nature sends: flies; coyotes, heat, cold, and storms.

Blowing your own horn is all right, if it's not in the key of G-wahz.

If Nixon Quit Agnew Would Face Most Trying Task

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Notwithstanding President Nixon's bold assertion that he will not resign under the pressures of the Watergate scandal, it is vital to weigh what would happen if he did.

On the assumption that Vice President Spiro Agnew would not feel compromised despite his oft-renewed professions of loyalty to the President, he would be expected to succeed to the office as the Constitution provides. But he would do so under the most trying conditions ever faced by such a successor.

Agnew's most formidable task, pressing upon him with crushing immediacy, would be to assemble his own top level White House staff, put together a full Cabinet and fill at least half a hundred major agency posts already standing empty under a beleaguered President Nixon.

No vice-president succeeding to the presidency in mid-term has ever had to undertake so massive a recruitment, knowing that the alternative would be a dangerously immobile government.

It is a fair presumption there could be a few holdovers from the Nixon regime, since the conditions which might lead the President to resign would be of such magnitude as to compromise if not openly taint many of the high officials working for him.

A newly elected president always has the luxury of a November-January cushion of time in selecting the key people for his administration. Even that span can seem inadequate, as desired candidates for appointive posts hold out or refuse to serve.

Of the eight U.S. vice-presidents elevated to the presidency, only Calvin Coolidge moved into office against an impending period of high-level scandal. But the disgraceful criminal activities which occurred in President Warren Harding's regime still were six months from general disclosure.

With Interior Secretary Albert Fall of Teapot Dome fame already out of the Cabinet though not yet exposed as a taker of bribes, Coolidge's biographer, Donald R. McCoy, described the new president's Cabinet as "stable."

It contained such men of accepted integrity as Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes and Commerce Secretary Herbert Hoover (but also Attorney General Harry Daugherty, later twice indicted though never convicted for bribe-taking, perjury and other offenses).

Coolidge not only had this largely stable base as a starter, but actually relied on trusted Cabinet men for recommendations which he followed closely in making policy.

Plainly, should Agnew move up, he would have neither the newly elected president's time cushion or the advantage of a secure, in-place establishment such as the other elevated vice-presidents enjoyed.

Moreover, he would be the first compelled by the Constitution's 25th amendment to nominate a new vice-president. With majority vote confirmation required from both House and Senate, this could mean a hard fight.

H. L. Hunt Writes

LESSONS OF HISTORY

"Case Yellow" was launched at 0330 hours on May 10, 1940. B.H. Liddell Hart, the great military historian said of it: "The course of the world in our time was changed, with far-reaching effects on the future of all peoples."

"Yellow" was the code name for the German invasion of France in World War II. Thirty-three years later we might ponder the words of Liddell Hart: Europe did change and the whole world felt the impact.

Post-war examination showed that the French had a superiority in weapons and men but the will to fight and the leadership were not there when France needed them most. Communists had been at work in the propaganda field in France. It was at that disgusting moment in history when Hitler and Stalin were allied and the Kremlin was aiding Hitler in his schemes of divide and conquer. Stalin would get his repayment from the Nazis later, but in the meantime the world of freedom suffered.

We must keep ourselves strong here at home. We must elect leaders who have an enthusiasm for patriotism. The vicious work of communism and Nazism were demonstrated to the world in 1940 and the power structure of Europe was changed forever. No longer would Europe, the cradle of our ancestry, be the tower of strength and culture. The lot would fall to us to carry the torch. Russian communism still menaces, even more than it did in 1940 when the future of all people was changed. We alone can prevent another "Case Yellow."

Here's How To Wipe Out The Middle Class

In recent years our institutions of higher learning have come under attack from many people. We find the very values of a college education being questioned today. Many feel that under the present conditions it is a waste of time for young people to spend four years chasing a degree that might not help them very much.

We have seen the private college suffer loss of prestige while state schools have grown. We have seen many of the big name colleges throwing away their academic standards and out recruiting unqualified students because they are members of a minority race or group.

Many schools have even started special study programs so these unqualified students don't have to compete with others and be kicked out for not cutting the academic mustard.

In some cases the students have been the first to point out what was wrong with our colleges. We have seen more than a little student unrest. A few people have listened to what the students were saying.

LIKE MANY of our once-great churches, our colleges have gotten out of their field. Many churches have stopped teaching and preaching religion and gone into social reform business. Many of our colleges have just about gone out of the teaching knowledge business and gone into the social reform field.

To do this some of our educational leaders, both administrative and academic, have changed the rules. The people have not been told much about this so as not to "upset" them.

It might be more truthful to say the people have not been fully informed so as not to stop the flow of money into our colleges. It is doubtful that financial support would continue if most of the people knew what is going on with our "egg heads."

How have the rules been changed? Well, for one, when our academic social changes have found the truth, or history, not to their liking they have rewritten the textbooks. They seem willing to sacrifice honesty for social change.

One of the major changes ours would be social levelers have done is to change the criterion for granting financial aid to students. By doing this, they have divided the higher education system into two social groups, private schools for the poor and wealthy, and state schools for those in between. This change will bring down the private, colleges in the end and take many of the egg heads with them. At least we can hope that will happen.

Since higher education started in this country we have been faced with the hard fact that most young people cannot afford to pay the price to receive college degrees. Private groups, individuals and tax money has long been available to many of those who need it.

THIS HELP used to be available on the basis of achievement. The student that demonstrated ability to learn, willingness to apply themselves and good character were offered financial help. This made it possible for the cream of our young people to reach up to higher things. They also learned that following the right path in life could be rewarding.

Our educational do-gooders have changed this. It was difficult to "guide" strong young people into the social change ways of things. This made us a strong nation where good was rewarded and this can not be tolerated by some midget minds in education.

Today, the criterion for granting financial aid has been changed. It is no longer "give me the deserving young stud-its." It is now, "give me the poor students." Damn the qualified. Damn the deserving. Damn the good, just give me the poor and I will change the system to meet their needs.

Don't worry about the wealthy. They will remain wealthy and their children can afford the best. They will not suffer. It is the vast majority of solid citizens throughout the country that our educators want to do away with.

You see, if they can keep the middle class out of college by cutting off financial aid to them, they can take the poor and make them the leaders of tomorrow.

It is quite possible to wipe out the present middle class that has supported our country for so long. They just might be the unskilled workers of tomorrow while the poor, with financial aid, can pull ahead.

The penheads see this as the just deserts of the mean old solid citizens. I think it stinks and should be rejected by the people.

BAPTISTRY SCENE — Members of the congregation of Oklahoma Street Church of Christ and visitors alike have been admiring the beauty of the new picture that graces the baptistry of the church during a series of gospel services in progress at the church through Sunday night. T. A. Williams, evangelist of Sunset Church of Christ, Tulsa, for the past nine years is preaching this gospel meeting. Wayne Lemmon, minister of the local church reports many have thrilled to the preaching of this evangelist during the week. The picture is the work of two local artists, Mrs. Gwen Vance and Mrs. Earl Maddox, who executed the scene and presented it as a gift to the Oklahoma Street church. The scene might be found at almost any point along the miles the biblical Jordan River winds its narrow course through the Holy Land.

Former Cabinet Member To Speak At Latter-day Saints Convention

Elder Ezra Taft Benson, a member of the Council of Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and former presidential cabinet member, will speak Saturday and Sunday at the Texas North Stake Conference in Lubbock. Saturday sessions of the Stake (an area with several thousand members) will be for the leadership of Latter-day Saints churches in the stake. A general session of all stake members and the public is set for 10 a.m. Sunday.

A number of local members headed by Bishop L.B. Voyles will be attending.

Elder Benson is a great-grandson of Apostle Ezra T. Benson, one of the original pioneers who entered the Salt Lake Valley with Brigham Young on July 24, 1847. His parents were among the early settlers of Southern Idaho, where he was born Aug. 4, 1899. As a young man he was active in scouting and Church organizations.

Elder Benson graduated from the Brigham Young University and received his MS degree from Iowa State where he was elected to the Honor Society of Agriculture. From 1929 to 1930 he served as county agricultural agent in Idaho, then was asked to head the newly organized Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing at the University of Idaho.

In 1939 Elder Benson was appointed executive secretary of the National Council of Farmers cooperatives and has since served on several national advisory boards in the field of agriculture.

Watchtower Group Sets International Conventions

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York has revealed completion of plans for a series of international conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses in 1973.

Spokesman Richard Fetter, presiding minister of the Pampa congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said 60 local members would attend one of the meetings in the series set for June and July in the United States.

Conventions in the country are planned for the Astrodome in Houston, in Detroit, White Sox Park in Chicago, Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles, Oakland-Alameda Stadium in Oakland, California, Yankee Stadium in New York, Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh, Royals Stadium in Kansas City.

Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, Atlanta Stadium, and Gulfstream Race Track near Miami. Six Spanish language conventions are also scheduled for the U.S.

Internationally, five conventions have been arranged for Canada, twelve in Europe, five in Asia, seventeen in South and Central America, three in the South Pacific and seven in Africa during 1973.

The theme of the conventions world wide is "Divine Victory" and will stress the Witnesses' belief in the certainty of Divine Intervention in human affairs in order for man's problems to reach an ultimate and permanent solution.

This can only be accomplished through God's kingdom by Jesus Christ, Fetter said.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Church Of Christ - Skellytown

P.M. COUSINS, SR.
Minister

DO YOU KNOW JESUS? was rejected, unrecognized. When Jesus came, He came to a land and people who had been chosen by God centuries before. They should have welcomed Him with open arms, and He knew Him not. He came unto should have been welcomed like His own, and His own received a king coming to his own, but, Him not. "And the world knew Him instead, He was welcomed with hate and not with adoration. He not." is not an assertion of the material world for this world knew Him. All the elements, forces and laws of the material world knew Him at once and signified their recognition. What is sadly true of the world's inhabitants is that "they knew Him not." Here is the tragedy of a people prepared for a task, and then refusing the task. It often happens in this life. Parents plan, save and sacrifice to send their sons and daughters to college or to fit them for some other position in life and when the chance comes the plans and ambitions of the parents are rejected by their children. This is what happened to God. God had entered into a covenant with the Hebrew nation that if they would obey and serve Him, He would be their God to bless and to save them through His Beloved Son, the Messiah, "and His own received Him not."

John wrote again in verses 12-13, "To all those who did receive Him, to those who believe in His name. He gave the right to become the children of God. Those were born not of blood, nor of any human impulse, nor of any man's will, but their birth was of God."

Not everyone rejected Jesus when He came. There were some who did receive and welcome Him. Peter, Andrew, Philip and Nathaniel received Him with joyous hearts. There was Nicodemus who came to Him by night. Then there was Lazarus whom Jesus loved. The gospel relates the call of the seventy as well as the twelve. They "believed" on His name! What a great reception! They had faith in Him as their Saviour and partook of His word. They knew Him!

The way we treat the Lord Jesus Christ portrays the spiritual zenith in our lives. Those who brought into contact with Him through the gospel have a great responsibility. They must obey their Saviour in baptism after rejecting the life of the evil one. To accept Jesus Christ is to become a member of the family of God, joint heirs with Christ in His Kingdom. Have you found Jesus in your life? Have you looked for Him? Or do you know Him?

DO-IT-YOURSELF The Care of That Fine Redwood

By MR. FIX

Because redwood holds up under weathering so well without special protection, it is popular for fences, siding and outdoor furniture.

Yet it is one of those woods that takes all finishes very well. Once finished, redwood will hold up better than other siding materials. There are no oils or resins to weaken finishes and redwood shrinks very little.

If you want it to retain its bright, colorful look, then you will have to apply a finish. If you put nothing on it, the redwood will take on a weathered look that in itself is attractive.

Redwood bleaches to a soft gray under the effect of sunlight and moisture. You can make it gray faster by hosing it down now and then.

The wood may become dark before it turns gray. If it gets darker than you like, you can brighten it with a solution of four ounces of oxalic acid to a gallon of water.

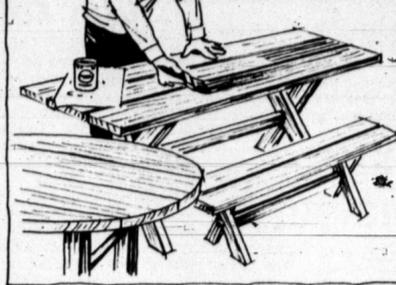

Bleaching will hasten the weathered look and do it evenly. Paint dealers carry special material for this purpose. This also eliminates the darkening stage.

Any time you want to apply a finish you can do so with no special preparation to weathered siding.

Weathered siding has an advantage. It requires no maintenance. But finishes, any finish, will wear off in time and must be renewed.

Clear finish is preferred by

many for redwood. This can be varnish or oil or a combination. Some are created especially for redwood. Other varnishes tend to break down faster.

Lacking a special varnish, use spar varnish well thinned with linseed oil and apply several coats. The glossy effect of varnish will wear off in time.

Pigmented stain is just what its name implies, an oil stain with red pigment to restore the original color. It isn't very durable but it is cheap and easy to put on. Refinishing is little problem since it weathers evenly.

A combination of stain and clear finish has the virtues of both staining and varnishing. Apply a prime coat of stain, then several coats of clear finish. The glossy look it has at first will wear off.

Paint can be applied to redwood just as to any wood, maybe even easier. Use a good exterior grade but think twice before you paint. You paid a premium for redwood because of its color and durability. Why paint over it? You could have used a cheaper wood to begin with.

The same is true of redwood furniture. If you do decide to paint redwood furniture, use enamel instead of house paint.

VOICE OF BUSINESS Watergate Scandal Has Its Ugly Side Effects

By ARCH BOOTH
U.S. Chamber Commerce
WASHINGTON — There's an ugly side effect of the Watergate scandal that is progressively poisoning the capital. It could be fully as dangerous to the Republic as corruption in high places.

Many of the President's enemies — and even some of his former friends — are beginning to act as though an error in one thing automatically discredits every other policy and program the Administration has favored.

In Congress, long-time opponents of Administration policies such as spending control are talking as though they have suddenly acquired a mandate to revive expensive, wasteful, unproductive federal programs.

And there are indications that other legislators who now fear close identification with the Administration will try to demonstrate their disapproval of the Watergate events by voting against the President frequently, regardless of the merits of the issue at hand.

In the executive branch, the effects are less visible but nearly as damaging. Elements of the bureaucracy have long been hostile to the President's economy moves, both for philosophical and pocketbook reasons. Now that the iron grip of the White House staff has been broken, this hostility is surfacing.

There are reports, for example, of federal officials telling Congressmen one thing in public testimony and quite another in private, in an effort to sabotage retrenchment in their departments. A certain amount of this always goes on in Washington, but right now it seems to be increasing alarmingly.

Finally, it is conceivable that the President himself may become reluctant to press his programs with the vigor he once did, fearing to further anger his enemies, fearing further wounds if he is overridden.

Settled in '72 — All of this behavior — taken collectively — can amount to a nullification of the policies ratified by the American people in overwhelming numbers in the election of 1972. In terms of practical impact on the average citizen that would be a bigger mistake than Watergate.

By now, no one needs to be told that the economy is in a very delicate state. We are in a boom which is good. But we are also experiencing severe inflation and serious shortages of basic commodities. That's bad enough in itself.

And added to that, these shortages will tend to bid up prices, further contributing to inflation.

On the positive side, the sharp spurt in prices early this year was caused, in part, by some one-shot factors that are not likely to influence the economy later in the year. These factors are the bulge in prices following the end of Phase II, the first quarter government pay raise, the refund of $9 billion of overwithheld personal income taxes for 1972, and the second devaluation of the dollar.

Cooling the Boom — So if the economy can be "cooled off" just a little, then we may finish the year in a prosperous condition with inflation reined in once again.

On the other hand, with the economy in its present bursting-at-the-seams condition it would not take much mismanagement to push it into an out-of-control boom with widely accelerating inflation, ending in a spectacular bust.

These are the reasons why the fate of the President's economic policies is — or should be — of such great concern at the moment. Large federal deficits are not always harmful to the economy, but they are extremely inflationary when the economy is booming.

Our economic problems — inflation, pollution, energy shortages, food shortages, the foreign trade deficit — are all closely interrelated. Efforts to improve one may actually worsen another. Under these circumstances, cool, closely coordinated action is needed on a broad front.

It is not the time for politicians to seize upon Watergate — or anything else — as an excuse to do their own thing at everybody's expense.

DIED 10,000 YEARS AGO

Scientist Uncovers Child Below Spring's Surface

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Around the year 8,472 B.C., a 6-year-old child fell into a deep Florida spring, and two of its bones are now claimed as the oldest human bones ever discovered in the Eastern United States.

Texas marine archeologist Carl Clausen said Wednesday he discovered the bones 50 feet below the surface of Warm Mineral Springs in Southwest Florida in January 1972, when he was state marine archeologist in Florida.

Carbon-dating of organic deposits around the bones shows them to be between 10,260 and 10,630 years old, Clausen said.

He has been busy with excavation of sites off the Texas coast where Spanish galleons sank in 16th century hurricanes, he said.

Only recently did he get confirmation from A. B. Wesolowsky, University of Texas physical anthropologist, that the bones were from a human.

The sex of the child is unknown, Wesolowsky said.

One of the bones is a nearly complete vertebra, probably a first or second lumbar vertebra, and the other bones are fragments of a pelvis, Wesolowsky said. Not until well past puberty would the pelvis reveal the sex, he said.

The oldest human bones previously discovered east of the Mississippi were found in Russell Cave in northeast Alabama, Clausen said. They are about 8,000 years old.

The oldest human bones ever found in the United States were discovered at Marmes, Wash., and are 11,000 to 13,000 years old, he said.

Clausen said Dr. H. J. Brooks, University of Florida geologist under whom he worked for 10 years, collaborated with him on the project.

A human skull was discovered in February this year at Warm Mineral Springs by Dr. W. A. Cockrell, who succeeded Clausen. Recent carbon-dating reveals it also is 10,000 years old, Clausen said.

Diving with Clausen Jan. 18-21, 1972, was Gordon Watts, now in the North Carolina Department of Archives and Historical Sites at Raleigh, Clausen said.

"We just sort of lucked out," Clausen said.

The bones were in the center of a small area he was excavating on a shelf under a large overhang that begins about 15 feet below the surface, he said.

"When I saw them, I thought: 'Gee, that's a human bone, and I bagged it,'" he said.

The springs are about 240 feet deep, and there is virtually no oxygen below six feet, he said.

"It is archaic ground water with a high chloride content," he said, and the limestone through which the springs flow rob it of oxygen. "It makes a terrific situation for preservation."

The bones were in a soft organic deposit made up mostly of partially charred wood, Clausen said.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Hilda's case is sad. And before the advent of Women's Lib, we doctors were more sympathetic. But now we are stressing the logical solution of such problems, without maudlin sentimentality. When you Women's Libbers gamble and lose, act like men and take your bitter medicine!

CASE X-523: Hilda Z., aged 22, is a sex victim.

"Dr. Crane," she tearfully protested, "I am the secretary to a young factory executive. He is married and has 3 children.

"But he is very attractive and when his wife took their kiddies to visit her parents, my employer dated me steadily.

"One night he insisted that I go all the way with him in sex, but I protested.

"However, he said it was O. K., for he told me he wouldn't get me pregnant, for he had undergone a vasectomy.

"So I finally consented.

"But now I am pregnant!

"And he admits he told me about the vasectomy—just to break down my objections!

"So what can I do?"

Hilda just ASSUMED he was free from such ailments, as most stupid females do when they enter into such illicit sexual unions.

"But, Dr. Crane," she defended herself, "I thought he was married so I never dreamed he would have a venereal disease."

Alas, thousands of supposedly healthy married men have gonorrhea or syphilis or both, for they also ASSUME that their paramour is venereal-free.

In science, we don't rely on such mere assumptions, so you readers must warn your teenagers against the modern fad of promiscuity that has overwhelmed young America.

LOVE & WAR

"All's fair in love and war," runs an old adage that is used by many men to break down the protests of their sweethearts. And you girls who enter into affairs with married men, know very well that the odds are stacked against you.

Women's Libbers are calling for total equality with men but they are the first to scream "Foul!" when they find themselves in Hilda's dilemma.

Hilda merely let her emotions mutiny against her brain.

For she knew her boss was married and father of 3 young children.

He didn't even promise that he would divorce his wife and marry Hilda.

So she entered this affair with her eyes open knowing she was taking all the risks.

Nor did she even consider the possibility that she'd contract venereal disease.

Yet many slick men may infect a girl simultaneously with both gonorrhea and syphilis.

In Hilda's case, the problem is now what to do about the baby.

Whatever does the most good for the most people over the longest period of time, is right and just.

Using that age-old yardstick, I suggested she go to one of the Salvation Army homes for unwed girls and bear the baby.

Then let it be adopted in a good home where it will have the love and constructive care of two mature parents who can rear it to be a patriotic American and religious idealist.

"Two wrongs don't make a right!" is another pertinent axiom to use in such cases.

Hilda committed one wrong by double-crossing her own sex via an affair with another woman's husband.

So she should not wrong her baby by letting it grow up with the stigma of illegitimacy to hamper its success and happiness.
