$20,000 Bond Issue Defeated By 13 Votes

Purchase Of Extra Land Turned Down

Total Of 511 Votes Polled In City Bond Election Here Tuesday

A total of 511 voters of Big Spring went to the polls Tuesday to determine outcome of a proposed $20,000 bond issue to purchase additional land at Scenic Mountain Park. A scant majority of 13 votes showed that the issue was defeated.

The vote stood: For issuance 249. Against issuance 262. The election had been called by the city commission when a petition signed by several hundred voters urged that the issue be put up to qualified voters.

WASHINGTON By GEORGE DURNO Technique

President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving trip to Warm Springs couldn't have been more beautifully timed than this year. The annual turkey dinner at the Georgia resort is almost a religious pilgrimage. Otherwise, those who wish him not-so-well politically might be able to say he was hibernating deliberately in the face of an undercurrent of friction that has been in Washington for some weeks over future New Deal recovery policies.

C. H. McDaniel Predicts First Freeze Nov. 24

C. H. McDaniel and the Weather Man surely put their heads together this year over the season's first freeze—if one can believe the weather man.

Back in August, Mr. McDaniel cocked a weather eye and forecast that the first killing freeze would hit Howard county about Nov. 24. He said he would give it three days leeway, before or after the 24th, but no more. The 24th is Saturday. Today is Wednesday, just three days early and the temperature is dropping.

For thirty years Mr. McDaniel has prophesied the date of first freeze and hit it right every time. Last winter it looked as if he might be mistaken when the temperature flirted with freezing point the first of November and then coyly held off until the very last of the month. But the freeze came not more than three days after Mr. McDaniel expected it.

Therefore everybody is warned by local forecasters that if the thermometer doesn't jump down tonight, be prepared for it to do so by Saturday.

Gladewater Oil Driller Killed By Stray Bullet

Attempted Hold-Up Of Domino Parlor Results In Gunfight With Robbers, Policemen

GLADEWATER, Texas (AP)—"Foots" Matthews, oil well driller, was killed and three other men wounded Wednesday in a shooting resulting from an attempted hold-up of a domino parlor.

Claud Simmons and brother, Clarence Simmons, entered the parlor and ordered sixteen players to line up. While the men were getting in line, Policemen Davis, Jones and Arroll approached a window. Jones ordered the Simmons brothers to drop their weapons. Police said the Simmons brothers opened fire. A bullet caused flesh wound on Jones' chin. Another hit Mike McMichael in the knee. A stray bullet hit Matthews.

Officer Jones fired on Claud Simmons, hitting him in the pit of stomach. Simmons is in a critical condition.

Wondering how much longer the fabric of world peace will be able to stand the strain which conflicting American and Japanese naval swiftness are putting upon it.
 Now it would be perfectly silly, of course, to suppose that because of Japanese enthusiasm for our game of baseball the difficult problems surrounding the clash of opposing national policies are going to be swept away. International mixups aren't straightened out so easily.

BASEBALL SHOWS HOW HUMAN JAPANESE ARE
 It is an odd thing that professional baseball players should succeed where statesmen and diplomats have failed.
 While Babe Ruth and his all-star crew from the American and National leagues tour Japan and enjoy a public acclaim, a national friendliness, which is as amazing as it is sincere, the statesmen are looking about nervously to the coming "disarmament" conference.

And yet there is something about Japan's welcome to the American baseball team which makes a person stop and think a little.
 Ordinarily we see the Japanese in the light of their Manchurian adventure, with the shadow of great naval ambitions falling across their shoulders. They become grotesque caricatures symbolizing ruthlessness and pugnacious greed. Given a little bad luck, we could easily put them in that gallery labeled "the enemy."

And when we read about this tour of the American baseball team, and about 65,000 Japanese turning out to see a single game; about a great popularity contest to choose the 50 most beautiful waitresses in Tokio to wait on the American athletes at the dinner table; about enormous crowds clogging the streets to see and cheer the players—and, in familiar fashion, to ask for autographs.

Reading those things, we suddenly discover: Why, these folk are like ourselves. They like the same things we like; if we got to know them, we could like them just as well, and they could like us.

PROGRESS AND SKILL
 It is always a little difficult to tell when some aviator makes an especially dangerous transoceanic flight, whether the achievement reflects a new advance in the progress of aviation or is simply a tribute to the special skill and daring of one man.

So it is, to a certain extent, with the recent flight of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith from Australia to California. Such a flight would have been beyond the bounds of possibility a decade ago, of course. To that extent, it indicates that the science of aeronautics has made a substantial improvement. And yet Sir Charles' achievement does not mean that that flight is a sure thing for every and any aviator who happens to feel like trying it. In large measure it was his own skill and endurance which made it a success.

Under The Dome
At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEARER

AUSTIN, (UP)—Mechanics of making a state budget occupy an entire year. State officials have been working on the next budget since early in January. With good luck the figures may be ready for the Texas legislature when they meet here next January.

What a job preparing the budget is, can be grasped by recalling that the last budget detailed expenditure of $46,096,072. Budgets are made for a two year period.
 J. W. Hall, formerly of Georgetown, makes the budget. The tall dark-haired, painstaking budget preparer was not entirely inexperienced with its difficulties when he took over the job four years ago. He had considerable experience with state finances as secretary to former Governor Dan Moody.

When started making a budget he found those of other states gave little aid. Different organization and varied conditions were to be met. Past Texas budgets now afford a framework upon which to hang the figures of new budgets.

In making one, Hall and a member of the State Board of Control first visit the state-supported schools and institutions. They hear superintendents and deans tell how badly their particular schools or institutions need funds. Then they go over the institution and form their own conclusions. A tentative budget is drafted. Next the superintendents and deans are invited to visit the board of control and discuss the figures set out. The visits and nearly all the conference for the next budget have been completed.
 By Sept. 30 the State Auditor is supposed to furnish the budget division of the state board of control an estimate of the state finances for the next budget period. This year the report was a month late, owing to special reports required of the Auditor on relief and other matters.
 With the report now in, the next budget job is to trim the estimates to meet the probable available funds. When that is done, the proposed budget will go to the Governor. There will be columns to show past appropriations for the same purposes, the amounts asked for the next two years, and the amounts recommended by the Board of Control. There also will be blank columns in which the Governor can note his recommendations.
 Two years ago Governor Ferguson filled the Governor's column

BLACK CREPE DINNER GOWN SETS OFF GOLD LAME COLLAR

Sophisticated restraint is evident in this simply and soundly designed dinner dress of lovely materials. The gold lame collar and cuffs glitter against the sheath of black crepe which fashions the body of the gown. Black kid, piped with gold, makes the formal pumps, and sweeping algettes trim the black velvet dinner hat.

with figures just 25 per cent lower than those in the columns filled by the Board of Control. The section of the budget for state-supported schools and colleges has an additional space. In it recommendations of the State Board of Education are supposed to appear. So far, this space has been left blank in budgets. Not having been given funds with which to make its own investigations, the board has declined to recommend.
 When the budget reaches the legislature, it is just a bit of advice. The legislators can raise it, lower it or junk it altogether. The Governor's figures can not be entirely ignored. The Governor gets another whack at it before appropriations can take effect. He can not add to or reduce the amounts specified for any particular purpose—but he can eliminate any item.
 The Governors - Ferguson are thorough enjoyers of horse racing, but "Governor Jim" who places the bets is not very successful at picking winners.
 When legalized racing with betting first returned to the state after long absence, the Governors were opening-day attendants. Racing men crowded to the Governor's box. Naturally they wanted the Governor to have a happy day. They gave their best advice, but even then the Governor didn't win.
 Just what Governor-Elect Alford's attitude is going to be toward race track betting is causing considerable wonder at the capitol. His announcement that the new tax commissioner will not have to bother about racing duties, indicates that he is going to recommend some change in the present law. It makes membership on the racing commission part of the tax commissioner's duties.
 Labor representatives also are urging that the State Labor Commissioner be relieved of the duty of supervising boxing and wrestling. Perhaps there will be a new agency to supervise sports generally.

The Political Anvil

Cong-Elect Nat Patton of Crockett has resigned from the state senate, effective Jan. 1 and Rep. Gordon Burns of Huntsville has announced as a candidate for the place.
 Former Rep. E. T. Murphy, of Livingston is reported also as an aspirant to the senate. Election will be for the remaining two years of Patton's term.
 Mr. Burns had a record of effective and constructive service in the house, on up through the session just closed. He is among the three or four most effective speakers the body has produced in recent years. His colleagues of the recent session were congratulating him upon what appeared a good prospect of his advancement to the

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.
 How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.
 Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.
 Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

upper branch of the legislature.
 If Mr. Burns is elected, he will retire from the house at the date of the election; but if the election is held 30 days before Jan. 8, a special election can be held to name his successor so there will be no vacancy during the regular session.

What was hailed at first as a rip-roaring joke has turned out to be serious and solemn sense—the proposal of Railroad Commr. Ernest O. Thompson to let railroads haul, at 10 cents per mile, loaded freight motor trucks on hauls of over 220 miles, which would otherwise cost the truck operators 15 cents per mile.
 Some truck line operators have seized upon the plan, welcoming it as a means of saving five cents a mile. Railroad people will be perfectly happy to haul all the loaded trucks there are at 10 cents a mile.
 Of course, for large-volume haulage between chief cities, the trucking lines will have detachable bodies for their trucks and ship only the bodies, rather than the entire equipment.

Another death blow to hot oil has been administered, another loophole closed, another powerful weapon for enforcement created. The railroad commission has ordered that trucks can not haul oil or gasoline without commission tenders. This step, affecting several thousand barrels of oil and gasoline a day—enough illegal oil to jar the stability of the market—strikes at the easiest form of evasion of conservation orders. Pipelines and railroad cars are readily accessible; trucks are not.

Compt. George H. Sheppard has worked out a plan that will bring much of $300,000,000 unencumbered property into the state and county tax rolls. . . . He is preparing separate rendition rolls, to take all registered automobiles into assessment. Texas has over 1,000,000 cars, a very large percentage of which have escaped ad valorem taxation.

200,000 Motor-Minded Men See Why Germ Processed Oil Cuts Motor Wear and Saves You Money

AFTER seeing the demonstration of oiliness and film strength pictured below, at least 200,000 motor-minded men have been convinced that "Any oil would be better oil if Germ Processed!"
 Every well-known motor oil in America has been tried in this instrument. The addition of a drop of Germ Essence to every oil used gave an increase in film strength and oiliness that could be felt, seen and heard!

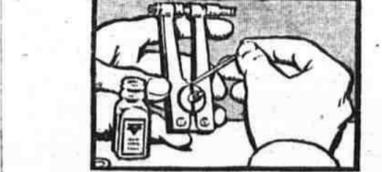

That's proof that New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—the only oil made by the patented Germ Process—has greater film strength and more oiliness than any mineral oil. Proof that it will give you greater motor protection and lower oil consumption.
 Change at any of the 18,000 Conoco Red Triangle stations and ride with the comfortable feeling that you have the safest, finest motor oil ever made.

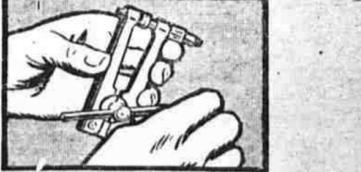

1 Assembled instrument. Split bearings and shaft, lubricated with competitive oil, are clamped between "jaws" of instrument. With set-screw, extreme pressure is applied.

2 Crank is now used to turn shaft. Oil film ruptures and bearings "seize." Shaft extremely hard to turn. You can even hear the metal-to-metal contact!

3 Drop of patented Germ Essence is added to oil in bearing. Same extreme pressure is applied. Original oil has now been Germ Processed!

4 Shaft can now be turned easily. Smooth, quiet movement—no seizing—no sound. Proof that Germ Processing increases oiliness and film strength of any oil!

SCIENCE IMPROVES ON NATURE

By combining other elements with iron, science produced alloy steels of special strength and durability. Many of these alloy steels are used in your car. By adding Germ Essence to fine mineral oil, Continental scientists produced Conoco Germ Processed Oil, which has greater film strength and stability. Drive in at the Conoco Red Triangle to get greater motor protection and lower oil consumption!

CHEVROLET—TEN MILLIONTH CAR

M. E. Coyle (left), president of Chevrolet Motor Co., and Charles E. Wetherald, vice-president and general manufacturing manager, inspected the 10,000,000th Chevrolet car on the assembly line at Flint, Mich. Mr. Coyle's connection with the company covers a period in which 9,882,856 Chevrolets have been built; Mr. Wetherald has been with Chevrolet ever since its beginning.

Bill Parker, veteran Associated Press sports writer, has referred to Big Spring's victories thus far as a string of upsets. Parker has been misinformed. The Steers have been favorites all along.

All of which reminds that the herd is next scheduled to gallop through the McCamey Badgers here Friday afternoon, and the Steer mentors have been pushing their charges mighty hard. Not only have they received a lot of fundamental work and hard practice, but the coaches are doing a lot to build up their wind and endurance.

Big Spring, for the first time in several years, has a wealth of substitute material. There are spots in the line that probably need a little bolstering, but the out-lay looks pretty good. The second string has been giving the regular outfit "fits." The boy in the backfield named Woodrow Coots has great possibilities.

Marlin Hayhurst's McCamey Badgers were idle the past week, and from all reports they will need as much rest as possible.

Bill Collins, scribe for the McCamey News, has a sad story for his readers: Walter Knight, Badger quarterback, received an injured foot in the recent McCamey-Big Lake game and will likely be out of the battles during the remainder of the season. He is on crutches this week and it is feared that the snap of his right foot is broken. Knight played a very nice game against the Owls. His loss is a hard blow to the squad, and his place will be hard to fill. He is a fair blocking and defensive half.

Big Spring got a break in the selection of officials for the game with El Paso. Those selected were Jim Cantrell, Pat Murphy, Baumgarten and Phillips.

Bob Ingram, sports editor of the El Paso Herald-Post, has it all

Two District Championships To Be Decided This Week-End

figured out: "Getting the Big Spring game in El Paso will be a break for the Paso High Tigers, providing they win the title of this district. "The Tigers will have the advantage of playing on their home football field before a friendly crowd. However, slight such an advantage is, nevertheless, it is distinctly in favor of the Bengals. "It will also be a break for El Paso fans who may have the pleasure of watching an El Paso team bring the first bi-district championship to this part of the border. The Tigers should beat the Big Spring Steers if they play up to form. "El Paso figures on a profitable season: "If the Tigers defeat Big Spring they will play a quarter final game in the state league. Their opponent either will be Amurillo, Ranger or Pampa. "Likely this game will be played away from El Paso. These three cities are in a position to pay higher guarantees than El Paso. "If the Bengals go no further in the state race they should wind up the season in good shape financially. The Big Spring game will be profitable. The guarantee they will receive in a quarter final game should they beat Big Spring will probably be even more profitable for them."

AUSTIN (UP) — Two district championships will be decided and three other teams have an opportunity to earn at least a tie for the championship this week-end when Texas high school eleven's battle for state honors. The week-end's big game comes Saturday in Fort Worth when Masonic Home meets the Polytechnic Parrots for the district seven football title. Both have gone undefeated through five conference games. The other title bout is El Paso high versus Austin of El Paso. Ex-trimming Austin, El Paso high can succeed Bowie high of El Paso as district four champion. Big Spring can clinch at least a tie for district three laurels Friday if it defeats McCamey. Highland Park of Dallas does likewise if it beats Sherman in district six. Athens Hornets will try to eliminate Henderson from the title picture of district eleven Friday. By doing so Athens will stand tied with Jacksonville if the latter can stop the important Lufkin eleven. As the race now stands, Greenville's 1933 championship team is again winner in district nine. Vernon already has at least a tie for district five's title. Corpus Christi has the same status in district 16. Barring major upsets, both will enter bi-district play.

Bruins Face Rough Test

Baylor Work-outs Hampered By Pouring Rains

WACO (Sp.) — Hampered by pouring rain which has soaked the practice field, the Baylor Bears turned this week to the task of preparing for the hardest test they have yet faced. They meet the Southern Methodist Mustangs on Carroll field next Saturday afternoon. Although the Bruins are not conceded the ghost of a chance against the powerful and versatile Pony machine, they may offer the Morrisonmen more opposition than many critics think. Last Saturday at Shreveport, the Bears turned in their best defensive game of the year to outplay the strong Centenary team, only to lose 7-0. No injuries were received by the Baylor players, and their full strength will be on hand for the clash with the Dallas aggregation. With Russell back in the line-up and fully recovered from an injury which has hampered him for some weeks, the Green and Gold offense is considerably stronger than it has been since the start of the season. Two fast aerial attacks will combat each other in Saturday's battle. The Ponies have long been nationally famed for their daring heaves, and the Bruin overhead game is nearly as effective. The main advantage which the Methodist hold over the Baylorites is found in the line. The heavy and fast forwards tutored by Matty Bell have proved themselves almost impenetrable, at the same time opening wide holes for the fast Mustang backs to scramble through. The Bears will probably be at top form when the opening whistle blows Saturday, and will be fighting hard to accomplish the seeming impossible and send the Galloping Mustangs home in defeat. The Bruins have held a sort of jinx over the S.M.U. teams of the past, defeating or tying them when it seemed impossible that they do so. The players will be reminded of this fact, and will be striving to further uphold the tradition. With the weather remaining in doubt, it is safe to say that the Bears will have much better chance to upset the charging Ponies on a dry field. If the contest is played in the mud, the superior weight of the Methodist's will count heavily against the Jenningsmen. This game is the feature attraction of Central Texas this week-end, and no matter what the outcome, will be a spectacular one from the spectator's standpoint.

Wildcat Stadium Enlarged For Game

WINK—Expecting a record-breaking crowd of 500 fans, construction was started Wednesday at the Wildcat stadium on new bleachers to take care of an additional 1000 spectators here Friday when Wink's powerful Wildcat gridgers tackle the Pecos Eagles in a return battle to decide the title of the northern half of district 15-B. Following a meeting at Crane it was decided that the two teams, dislodged for first place after Wink had trounced the Eagles at Pecos last week, 12-0, should play again. Previous to last week's meeting between the two clubs, Pecos had been undefeated while Wink had suffered a lone setback at the hands of the Midland Bulldogs.

from the White House.

Little Expresses Best Wishes

Judge W. P. Leslie, justice of the 11th appellate judicial district, was unable to attend but expressed best wishes to Mahon through a letter. To do the "greatest good for the greatest number" was the sentiment from Leslie. He praised Mrs. Mahon for her part in the new congressman's advance and lauded the good example Mahon had established for the youth of the district.

Snyder Man Speaks

John Bentley Snyder, made home by observations of the activities of a congressman and told Mahon so far as he could see, the main thing was to "keep your sails primed for two years from now. In a light vein, he suggested that the new congressman establish more post offices, distribute better garden seed, and locate as many government bureaus in as many towns as possible. Seriously, he said that the district would have "a leader of unquestioned honesty, integrity, and ability."

Judge Mauzey said that he had observed that Mahon "feels most keenly the responsibility. He cited the type of leader he believed the country needed and expressed the hope that Mahon would fill the need and the opinion that he (Mahon) was endowed of the same fundamental leadership" possessed of the president in making the nation a better place in which to live. "We need leaders for a life of unselfish service," said Mauzey. "I believe that George Mahon will never be weighed in the balance and found wanting, but will be found worthy."

Lions Welcomed

District Deputy Jim Green, Colorado, welcomed the Lion visitors to Colorado for the zone meeting. He spoke on behalf of District Governor E. L. Pitts, Lubbock, who was unable to attend.

To Big Spring went the honor of entertaining the next zone meeting.

Jake Smythe Presides

Jake Smythe, Snyder, president of the zone, presided over the Lion activities during the evening and introduced two other speakers, Miss Maurine Cunningham, Snyder, and Charles W. Corley, Big Spring.

Reports were heard from Hamlin, Anson, Big Spring, Colorado, and Snyder. Midland was not represented. Smythe quoted Governor Pitts as urging that active clubs aid inactive clubs in reorganization.

Anson Furnishes Music

Anson furnished music for the occasion. Presentation of a guitar and vocal artist was prefaced by an eloquent flow of oratory by an Anson club member.

Miss Cunningham, who has her masters degree from the University of Mexico, brought an impelling description of Mexico City, international convention site in 1935. The city and the nation present a series of striking paradoxes, according to her. Antiquity and modernism, unblemished beauty on the one hand, utmost squalor on the other, wealth here and abject poverty there, romantic atmosphere yet a love for bloody adventure, perfect climatic conditions and a people possessed of inertia, tranquil serenity broken occasionally by earthquakes, indescribable cathedrals and modern gambling houses—these were a few of her descriptions.

Chas. Corley Speaks

Corley followed in a brief address urging that the Lions of this district take up the slogan "on to Mexico." He alluded to Miss Cunningham's address as presenting an opportunity for enjoyment at the next international convention. In a larger sense, said Corley, Lions were confronted by the opportunity of promoting better relations between two adjoining republics, of showing that Lionism is international in scope.

R. D. Bridgeford, Colorado, who presided over the general session, announced that International Lion President, Vincent Haschall, would visit the Colorado club December 12 and the Big Spring club December 13.

More than 150 persons attended the meeting held in the Colorado hotel.

The Tennessee Valley last week, Ickes holds out for a gigantic public works program continued over the next few years at the rate of about $5,000,000,000 annually as the only sure-fire solution.

The day after Thanksgiving Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins will leave for Warm Springs to confer with FDR and travel back with him to Washington. Hopkins likewise thinks the national pump must be primed with a great gushing of federal money but he differs as to technique. Last winter, Hopkins put 4,000,000 men to work temporarily on a hastily conceived Civil Works program. He thinks immediate action should be the administration keynote again this winter—although on a basis of eliminating last year's waste and errors.

Ickes wants comparatively long-range projects put into operation on the theory they will slowly but

NEW YORK

By JAMES McMULLIN

Spearhead

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce is going in for supporting the President in a big way. In the next few weeks you'll see plenty of evidence that the vanguard of criticism has been dissolved in the honey of collaboration. Representatives of big business will testify publicly that confidence has been restored and make it clear in other ways that they are ready to hop on the steadily produce further employment indirectly in the so-called heavy industries and thus gradually diffuse increased purchasing power over the whole country. Hopkins wants action—and to this extent they differ.

Balance

The President is presiding as the great conciliator in this little difference of opinion, and the white cottage at Warm Springs is affording him a swell retreat for heavy cogitation between now and Thanksgiving.

Recent developments in Washington—such as appointment of Marriner Eccles as Governor of the Federal Reserve Board—would indicate a leaning toward the Ickes school of thought.

On the other hand Hopkins produced results last winter when they were needed badly and the President regards his ability highly. FDR is a past master at charting a middle road over which all of his boys can march. So the answer may pop out around dead-center.

Moving?

Rumors ran around Washington steadily during the last two weeks that Big Jim Farley was about to quit either his job as Postmaster General or as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

They popped into print on the same day Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, Republican white dove at the moment for 1936, gave vent to a statement. Farley's resignation—has head on a charge—agreement between the New Deal and the remnants of the G. O. P. was all he wanted.

Big Jim's office declined to dignify the resignation rumors with any official comment whatever. His lieutenants inferred broadly, however, that Vandenberg had nothing to offer that could force the victorious Democrats into any kind of a bargain.

There is this to be said of the reports Farley may be considering retirement from the cabinet: It is common gossip that the man who built up Mr. Roosevelt's political juggernaut would like to become Governor of New York in 1936. Why then, ask the skeptics, should he quit as Postmaster General—which title would afford an impressive stepping-stone to Albany—and go back to private business, with management of the Democratic National Committee as a sideline? They argue this would expose him officially as a straight-out political boss without the saving mantle which goes with a cabinet post.

But—everyone knows the Postmaster Generalship and the Democratic chairmanship now merge indefinitely in Farley. He is the nation's big patronage boss. So long as he attends cabinet meetings regularly and thus gets at the President's ear, he will never be able to satisfy disappointed job hunters and their sponsors that he really tried. It would be easier to soothe the unlucky ones as National Chairman only.

And a minimum of hard feelings in New York state would help in 1936. Don't forget furthermore that Farley already has achieved his goal as Postmaster General by producing a $12,000,000 book profit in the face of years of deficits.

Roasts

They do say hereabouts that Senator William E. Borah is fighting mad. The Idaho Lone Wolf has heard those Democratic boasts that his lion mane will be clipped clean off if he dares stick it up for reelection two years hence.

As a result Borah has sent that hair shirt Herbert Hoover complained about so bitterly to the laundry. He's having it bristled up to scratch red scars on the hide of Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Borah's complaints to date about inefficiency and waste in administration of federal relief are only practice shots. Wait 'til congress meets in January and then sit back and listen to his sonorous roasting of the whole setup in Washington. The front pages will take it, and the Wolf will smile.

Vacancy

Remember Jim Watson, of Indiana? He used to be Republican leader of the senate. Well, Jim is busy these days playing his favorite instrument—the long-distance telephone.

Cagey Jim is busy digging up a successor to the late Frederick Landis, only Republican to win a house seat in the recent Hoosier state elections. It was Watson who induced Landis—brother of Judge Kenesaw Mountain—to enter the race in Will Wood's old district. He asked only that Landis be "a regular Republican."

Landis agreed. Watson got him to the county bosses and he won by 11,000 votes. Strain of the campaign unfortunately brought about his death. Now Jim is looking for another "regular."

Notes

Cutting of New Mexico may be knocked out of the senate, for excessive expenditures—a first-class feud is on. Business men hope to take advantage of New Deal squabbles to tone down certain emergency laws. Unemployment insurance ideas are foggy and long delay is seen. Wallace and Tugwell opinions clash on foreign trade conditions. House Republicans sniff at Vandenberg's "coalition" proposal.

Drain

Here's the utilities' pet crack about TVA: "The Tennessee river flows through three states and drains the other 45."

Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Roosevelt handwagon.

But there's an important reservation beneath all this harmony. Labor's New Deal gains have industry seriously worried. Strong pressure will be applied to nullify them—in the name of recovery—and the Chamber of Commerce is slated to serve as spearhead of the attack. Legislation will be sought to give proportional representation in collective bargaining—as exemplified in the motor industry—the sanction of law and thus suppress the majority rule threat which gives organized labor a dangerous edge over company unions. If the whole of Section 7a can be thrown in the scrap heap so much the better—but even the most optimistic conservatives hardly dare hope for that—yet. The Chamber's activities in this direction will mostly be conducted off-stage—but they won't be any less vigorous on that account.

Many business leaders don't want to grant labor even the sop of proportional representation. Their decision to concede the point is simply a compromise with reality. They recognize there's no chance of getting back to the old individualism in labor relations at one jump and that progress towards that goal must be made step by step—if at all.

There's a reason why the Chamber of Commerce is getting so busy right now. It has a powerful rival in the National Association of Manufacturers—which is even more conservative. Its revenues have been cut heavily and it is confronted by the necessity of justifying its existence to its members.

Issues

The Federation of Labor's two major objectives—the 30-hour week and majority rule in collective bargaining—will not be reached overnight. Informed New Yorkers play themselves up as the rightful custodians of these issues and claim that they must be entrusted with the job of seeing them through. The battle to come is a godsend from the angle of quelling internal rebellion.

Challenge

Brooklyn - Manhattan Transit's refusal to obey the National Labor Board's order to reinstate employees fired for union affiliations is the most flagrant defiance of that body yet.

Up to now Houde Engineering has been the most conspicuous mulliner against Labor Board rulings. But Houde's case rests merely on its contention that it has not violated the collective bargaining provisions of the law. BMT goes much further by denying that the Labor Board has any legal authority on which to base its order. There is reason to believe that BMT—which ties in to high financial sources—was urged to force the stiffest possible show-down on the Labor Board's powers. The fact that it operates wholly intrastate puts it in a stronger position for a court contest with a federal agency than a corporation with interstate activities.

Insiders agree that the board's prestige is permanently shot unless it can meet this challenge successfully. They understand that Francis Biddle—its new chairman—will go the limit to prove that his board amounts to more than eyewash. His emphatic liberalism makes his appointment distasteful to conservatives and suspicious New Yorkers cite it as evidence that the President is only kidding business along with his reassuring gestures in other directions.

Defenders

Utility companies would like to see their security holders rally more effectively to their defense. The several organizations so far formed for the purpose have been about as useful as buttons on a handkerchief.

One trouble has been that such groups are dependent on the corporations themselves for their membership. You can't enlist security holders unless you know who they are. The companies have been surprisingly reluctant to give this cooperation. They don't want to offer any fresh grounds for government criticism and they don't relish giving private lists of security holders to strangers. There's always the chance that they might fall into the wrong hands.

Another difficulty is that the leaders of these organizations—however well-meaning—are people whose names carry little weight either in enlisting recruits or in their cause. They figure an organization headed by prominent insurance and financial executive would have a chance of getting somewhere. But so far they have been unable to interest these desired defenders in carrying the torch.

Affection

Richard Whitney's sudden public exchange for the Securities and Exchange Commission—a contribution to the "new cooperation"—causes Wall Street scoffers to wonder how soon the international bankers will send orchids to Father Coughlin.

Add Flavors Gravy

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—A "glutamic acid," extracted from sugar beets, now can be used in making gravy, or as a meat flavoring, according to W. H. Campen, Omaha city chemist. The acid is now being prepared from waste residue at sugar beet refineries in west Nebraska. The acid, a white substance, is not new, according to Campen. It has been made from wheat for at least 200 years and by the Chinese for use with rice for centuries, he said.

Xmas Tree Harvest Begun

MENOMINEE, Mich. (UP)—With Christmas scarcely more than a month away, activity has commenced in the upper peninsula Christmas tree region which supplies Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, St. Paul and other large cities with their Yuletide trees. The trees are generally cut early because they cannot be bunched for shipping if they are frozen.

Marriage Aids Applicants

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Miss Helen Housens, long forgotten, are being dug out of dusty vaults here since the introduction of Iowa's old age pension system. Many aged persons, married in Omaha and now living across the Missouri River in Iowa, have requested copies of their marriage certificates, which are acceptable in Iowa as proof of age of pension applicants.

MINUNDERSTOOD AGAIN
 Marian remembered as they neared home that Hamlin had mentioned having a lodge at a place which she associated with summer resorts, and then she remembered he had given Lon his address on a card. She would ask Lon for the address; but what excuse would she have for that? Lon would naturally want to know why she was interested in Hamlin. She knew she wouldn't have enjoyed having Lon ask her for Silver's address, if they autumn wind was whirling dead leaves into yellow piles. Marian watched him and her determination to do something to change this queer route their life had taken awakened anew. "Lon" she said, "do you remember Max Hamlin's giving you his address, that last evening we were with him?"

Lon gave her a quick, suspicious look. "I do, why?"
 "I was trying to think of the place today. A summer resort, wasn't it?"
 "Not that I know of."

"Quit McSwain?" Lon asked with a bitter laugh.

hadn't chanced to meet again. Under the circumstances she'd have to risk his displeasure.

She did, and found she hadn't minimized it.

Lon came in from work, his brow creased with a worried frown. He looked at the shrubs with apathetic interest, barely touched his dinner, then went out to stand on the hill and look down on the subdivision he had started so bravely months before.

Marian finished her housework and joined him.

"Looks like a cemetery," he said moodily, "those stakes are like so many headstones."

"I'm sorry, Lon," she touched his sleeve with her hand. "I do understand how you feel!"

He patted her hand and continued staring down hill, where the cool

"You still have the card, haven't you?"

"No, I threw it away."

"Lon," she couldn't help the hurt cry, "why did you do that?"

"Because," he said evenly, "I thought the time would come when you'd want to know where he lives."

He turned and started walking to the house, leaving Marian looking after him.

Marian watched Lon, a queer baffled feeling dulling the hurt she might have felt. Mechanically she walked to the other side of the hilltop, sat down on the dry grass and looked out over the valley.

A dreary place on this autumn evening, overcast sky above, yellowing trees smudged with twilight below. Diablo had retired beneath a blanket of clouds, only the pinnacle with its shining eye above, "like an old woman pulling the quilts around her chin," thought Marian. How to locate Hamlin. Her thoughts wandered for a few moments, resting on the events of the day, the previous week, back on the problem before her.

"I'm a fine newspaper woman," she thought suddenly. "I know there's a pile of old newspapers in the garage. The summer ones will have lists of names. I'm sure if I once read the name I'll remember."

She waited until Lon had left the following morning, then burrowed into the yellowed sheets, chose a

Miss Esther De Lee, 21-year-old teacher of 12 rural school pupils at Pompey Hollow, N. Y., gave up her efforts to hold her job after she learned her superintendent had taken sides with trustees in an argument over her substitution of a small American flag for a large one. She contended the large flag hung too close to an oil stove in the class.

Sunday newspaper and opened it to the page carrying display advertisements of resorts. Almost instantly her eyes caught one section topped by the words "Russian River Resorts." That was it. Russian River... but the river was miles long and was lined on both sides of its banks with resorts.

"John King said to call on him. I know he'll be able to locate Hamlin with this lead."

Lon grew more restless. Marian would awaken in the middle of the night to find him gone. She would listen, stiff with apprehension, then hear matches striking, hear the roar of the fire in the fireplace, or she would hear dry leaves crunching as he paced up and down outside.

If only he could tell her what was worrying him. But he wouldn't. One night when a bitterly cold wind was preaging the coming of a cold spell she heard him pacing up and down outside. She arose, built a fire on the hearth, heated milk for a warm drink, then called him in.

He responded to her request that he sit down before the fire and drink the hot milk, allowed her to sit beside him. But he said nothing, just stared into the fire.

"Lon," she began, at length, "if you don't tell me what is worrying you, I'm... I'm going to do something desperate."
 "What do you do when you're desperate?" he asked her and watched intently as she answered.

"Things," she replied. "Lon, why don't you quit McSwain? Conditions are so much better and you can find work elsewhere and even if you can't we've a nice bit of money behind us now. I'll be so economical you won't know me. Lon, won't you?"
 "Quit McSwain?" he repeated and then he gave a short, bitter laugh. A little later he asked her to go back to bed, promised he would keep the hearth fire burning, even went out and brought in a few logs to convince her. She went to bed but she couldn't sleep. She lay listening to the whimper of the wind under the tiling of the roof, the occasional ruse of rain on the window pane, and the rare sound of someone moving in the next room.
 At dawn she went in to find Lon on the divan asleep, the fire burned to grey ashes. She covered him with an Indian blanket, then built up the fire and sat down to enjoy the warmth, and as she sat there she studied her husband's face as if he were a stranger.
 The man lying there was a stranger, compare with the one she had married. The pleasant lines of an assured future had been erased to give place to ones of care. The soft boyish line of the chin was gone and the face, lean now since his brief illness, showed a surprisingly strong chin.
 Lon was certainly being disciplined. Would he learn whatever lesson there was to be learned?

DEAR EDITOR: May I ask if the band is the Abilene Eagle Band? This question has puzzled me ever since school started.

At the crucial moment in the Ranger game when a pep song would have encouraged the boys, the band struck up with "Once I was happy, but now I'm forlorn," and to dampen the spirit a little more, the official music makers played "Taps" at the end of the Ranger game. A bit of heart-breaking sarcasm!

Could it be arranged for the band to play our pep songs here after the game? If they tire during games, the members are always in place and busy all the time.

The "Wheel" wishes to commend the Steer band on its behavior during games; the members are always in place and busy all the time.

Thought for Today "The true purpose of education is to cherish and unfold the seed of immortality already sown within us; to develop to their fullest extent the capacities of every kind with which the God who made us has endowed us." Education, meaning "to lead out," comprehends not only instruction and breeding, but also formation of mind, regulation of heart, and establishment of principles of life. Good instruction makes us wiser; good breeding, more agreeable; good polish; and good education, really good.

P. T. A. REDOUBLES EFFORTS

A good P. T. A. promotes a feeling of friendliness between teachers and parents; it helps to unite them into a band that will wage a battle to make our schools a more pleasant and sanitary place to spend long hours.

Many P. T. A.'s have kept children clothed and fed through bitter cold winters. This help, given and received so gratefully, has enabled hundreds of boys and girls to attend school and receive a much needed education.

The American women of our nation have formed this organization to help and our schools of learning in fighting their way up from this mire. Many parents have fallen into this mire, blissfully ignorant of the union that has formed and needs their help.

In our own city a score or more of children have had minor operations performed at the expense of the P. T. A. The work and effort of the mothers and teachers banded together.

Minor offenses committed by school children are often dropped or privately dealt with through the influence of the P. T. A.

Conditions in our schools are greatly improved. Heaters, song books, new desks, necessary school equipment, is procured through the co-operation of the Parent Teachers Association.

The funds of this organization are supposedly limited but we have never found an occasion to arise without the P. T. A. dealing with the matter properly.

The P. T. A. is without a doubt, the most useful and influential auxiliary outside organization in our school.

At last! J. D. CAUBLE has been connected with the school—when we had not weather cold enough for heat before November 11," said Bill Olsen Monday. This is Mr. Olsen's eleventh year with the school.

High School -Sports- By Jim Brigham

At last District 4 has its title definitely decided, and the winner is the El Paso Tigers who have defeated all teams in that district. They finished their conference games by trouncing Cathedral 40 to 0 with the substitutes playing the greater part of the game. El Paso is reported to be plenty tough especially in their backfield. If the Steers come through with victories over Colorado and McCamey, as they should do, they will meet the Tigers the week following Thanksgiving.

The location is still being thrashed out by both school officials but indications point that, by chance, the game may be played on Steer Field. The seating capacity is far from what it should be for a bi-district encounter but it's the home field and the Steers are pointing for a victory. The San Angelo field has been offered but officials say that our team has a far better chance on their own playground.

If the Steers do not get very far in the state race this year, it will probably be the last chance for a long time, but the Broncos the Junior High team, and the Devils' team each year are training youngsters in the art of football.

The Broncos have several shining lights on their team this year. Johnny McGee is a backfield ace who punts, passes and runs with equal ability. Johnny weighs about 135 pounds and is still in Junior High and chances are when he's a sophomore he may develop into another Tack Donnis. Captain Howard Hart is a tiger on defense, and regularly a center. He has been shifted to the backfield, to back up the line. Howard is quite young and has not been able to show the full ability. A. G. Jones is rather large for a junior team but he plays like a senior.

The Broncos before he enters High school, A. G. has not learned the ways of football, but when he does, look out!

On the Devil's team there are several members who show plenty of ability. Jimmy Ford, who does the signal barking for the "band" is rather small to be a junior in High school, but look at Jack Buckler, army! All American half-back, weighing only 140 pounds. The brown does not always count. Pilar Yanez, playing right end is very adept at snagging passes and plenty tough on the defense and is one of the Devil's stars. Al, though Pilar may not play much more High school football on account of his age, but he will be outstanding on a college team as he has weight, speed, judgment, and a fine source of football.

Leroy Woods, who plays end on the team, is going to be fine material for the Steers next year. Bruce Phillips, a guard, is a fine blocker and a great defensive man. Donald Gibson, a freshman in High school, has a half back berth reserved on the future Steer team some day. Donald is five foot three inches tall and is built up like a brick wall with plenty of fat added in. The younger Gibson is noted for his fine punting. George Phillips, a guard, is the Devil for two years, has proved that he certainly deserves his place. Bruce covers the whole center of the line. Seldom does a play get through him.

Those that will be returning next spring for the Steer squad are Jack Wilson, this year's regular guard; Sam Flowers, two year letterman, Louis Madison, substitute guard, L. D. Cunningham, substitute tackle, Dick Coleman substitute tackle, Cecil Whisenand, who played both tackle and end, Nelson Henninger, substitute back, Woodrow Coots, substitute back, James Stiff, substitute guard; Willard Denton, substitute guard.

The Steers, next year will have about twenty lettermen for a nucleus from which to build a strong team.

Rev. Shettlesworth Speaks In Assembly Reverend E. J. Shettlesworth, pastor of the First Christian church, was the speaker in the regular chapel program Wednesday morning.

Reverend Shettlesworth gave an inspiring talk on "The Good Fight," taking his theme from the well known statement by Paul.

"No player is worthy of the honor of success who has not kept the faith," said Reverend Shettlesworth. It is a source of pride to me and to all the citizens of Big Spring that the representatives of our school have always been careful to make a strict observance of the rules of competition.

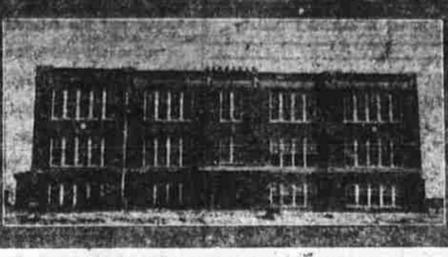

School Boilers Get Into Action The boiler in the basement of the High School building was fired Monday morning for the first time this year. A careful check was made on all radiators in both Junior and Senior High School buildings in anticipation of the cold weather that local weather prophets expect within the next few days.

"I do not remember a single year before this one since I have been connected with the school—when we had not weather cold enough for heat before November 11," said Bill Olsen Monday. This is Mr. Olsen's eleventh year with the school.

18 Years Ago Wheel Staff Find Cuts

In the Sophomore issue of La Reata, a monthly publication of the B.S.H.S. classes many years ago, of February 1916, a statement appeared as follows: "Constant booting will get you the new High School." Exactly one year later the February issue of La Reata dedicated the "new High School" in the following manner, "We, the students of the Freshman class, dedicate this issue of the 'La Reata' to the faithful citizens and taxpayers who by their co-operation have given us this magnificent High School building."

The "magnificent High School building" was not the present High School, but only that portion of the present House of Knowledge which lies west of the principal's office. Quite imposing it was, too, in those days with its new red brick, awnings and columns at each doorway; barren and hard campus, and the vastness of its interior compared with old Central Ward.

Outstanding among these cuts, dating as far back as the 1923 El Rodeo, B.S.H.S. Annual until 1930, are: Bill Olson, shovel and pipe included, standing before the boiler in the furnace room; Mrs. Low in the good old days of her first few years in this school—she had her cigar box then, too; Mr. Gentry as "Cap" of the baseball teams and without glasses; Mr. Blankenship as he was then; Miss Pool with a bunch of papers; Mrs. Bumpass with a club group she was then sponsoring, and many cuts of teachers and pupils now gone and disappeared from the life of this school.

Many other good cuts that can be used at some time are those featuring various school buildings, the stadium, basketball court, and other similar scenes.

"Silly Seniors saw some Freshman On the High School stage one day. Said, 'You Freshman, we must practice On our little Senior play.' Said the Freshmen, 'Silly Seniors, To this stage we first did come.' Then the Seniors sadly whimpered And the tears did freely run."

Each year there are a few people who jump the gun in every sport. This year ten or more basketball hopefuls are prancing in the gym at every chance they have to shoot a few goals. Caught in the act were Weldon Bigony, twice letterman on the Calves, Ambrose Fitzgerald, two year letterman on the Devils, John Pat Norris, and others.

Several basketball teams are using the court after school and at nights. This year's Cosden team promises to be one of their strongest ones. The Diltz Bakery will have a powerful quintet with the same members of last year and several others. The Transient Bureau is organizing a basketball team but will not be as powerful as other outside teams, as they will be handicapped by the lack of material. Other teams will soon start working out, and the gym will soon be used continually.

Wheel Gets New Bulletin Board

A new three by three bulletin board has been placed in Mr. Houston's room for use of the Wheel staff. Students from time to time may refer to the bulletin for the establishment of a fact concerning the student body.

The "Wheel members" assignments are to be placed on the board, thus avoiding any neglect or mistake on the parts of the staff in preparing their work for the paper. Important announcements will also find a place on the bulletin.

First Mud In Halls Is Seen During Week

With the appearance of rains during the early part of this and last week, mud was introduced into the halls of the Big Spring High school for the first time during this school term. Such a long period of time without rain enough to at least make considerable mud for the students to bring into the halls and classrooms is quite unusual, even for a West Texas climate.

NORWOOD, Mass. (UP)—All-silent funeral services were held for Michael Jaumika, deaf mute. The deceased's wife, the pastor, Rev. Stanley Light, who conducted services, and the six pallbearers also were deaf mutes. Services were conducted in sign language.

The Literary Spectator By Eddyee Rae Lees

In the "News-Week" for November 10 there are interesting articles on World News. The items of "Yugoslavia: 11-year-old King Now Army Commander-in-chief" was very interesting as an oddity.

Young King Peter II has charge of more than 112,000 Yugoslavian troops. When Prince Paul called at the palace to make this announcement, he found the child playing "soldiers" with his young brother. Many have scoffed at court stories of his design to conciliate Croates and Slovenes. They declared the country was governed by hard-boiled cabinet members.

The Iran Minister, the Premier and the Minister of Justice seemed determined to maintain the absolutist regime. Only Prince Paul's swift assumption of power prevented this trio from establishing themselves as Regents.

Of King Alexander's strong armed triumvirate, only the dread General Zhivkovic remains.

The young monarch has found the dead King's shoes hard to fill. They are exceptionally large for such a small boy.

Classroom Notes

The second year Foods class in studying marketing, visited two of the local stores last week. Thursday they visited Wilson and Johnson and each student was given a sample sack of flour. This week they are going to take up cake making.

The first year class is going to plan, prepare and serve a light luncheon Wednesday as a climax to a unit on luncheons.

Last Thursday Mr. E. V. Spence, city manager, talked to Miss Currie's Civics class on the forms of city government. The discussion included the essential features of the three different forms.

Miss Brown and Mr. Parson's general science classes are going to make a visit Wednesday to the Big Spring weather bureau headquarters. Jack Cummings, the weather man, is going to tell them all about the weather prophecies.

The Speech class is going to have a puppet show. They have planned to show "The Three Bears," they will start work today on the stage.

Members of Mr. Houston's 2b English class are completing exhibits for Good Book Week which is being observed nationally from November 21 to 27. Visitors are invited to visit the class room, 21a, and see the display which is being prepared in the Chamber of Commerce window in the Settles hotel building.

On Thursday and Friday class groups will present programs featuring Good Book Week.

MOTHERS GUESTS AT McCAMEY Game

The Steer squad will dedicate the coming game with McCamey to the mothers. The mothers of all members on the squad will be given free admission tickets and will be allowed to sit on the sidelines to cheer their boys on to victory.

One game each season is always set aside for the mothers of the gridsters.

"All the mothers are urged to be present Friday afternoon at Steer Stadium, 3:15," Captain Bob Flowers said.

School Officials Return From Trip

George Gentry, Obis Bristolow, and Bob Flowers returned something during Saturday from El Paso, where they have been making arrangements for the El Paso High and Steers Football game. While there, they attended the Cathedral High and El Paso High football game.

P. T. A. MEETING

The High school P. T. A. is beginning the year with a revival of interest which promises to make its work of greater value than ever before.

The November meeting, scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon, will have a very interesting program, with Mr. Gentry in charge and Miss Clara Pool speaking on "Do Our High School Pupils Have the Proper Attitude Toward School?" Mr. Seth Parsons will talk on "Goals of Our American High Schools."

His House Was Stolen SALT LAKE CITY, Utah. (UP)—E. C. Morgan owned a house. For two years it was unoccupied. He decided to apply for a federal loan to repair it. He went to look at the house. It wasn't there. The police turned seven neighborhood boys over to juvenile authorities, alleging they moved the house to a vacant lot and transformed it into a shack.

Broncs To Meet Colorado Team

The Junior High Broncos have a return game matched with Colorado juniors Thursday of this week in Colorado. The Broncos managed to edge the boys from Colorado out in the closing minutes of the game and finally emerged victorious to the tune 13 to 12. The Mitchell county lads plan to get even in Colorado Thursday afternoon. In the short time that the Broncos have been working out several boys have already shown signs of making the Steers good men in the near future.

Following is the complete roster of the Bronco team.

Table listing Bronco team members: Center (J. C. Anderson), Guard (Edward Earnest, Delbert Burg, Harold Plum, Delwood Dearing, Sammie Roy Nichols), Guard (Paul Francis, Yve Sherwood, Tackle George Beard, Tackle Pat Kelley, Tackle Hershel Freeman, Tackle Leon Webb), End (A. G. Weeks, Harold Hall, Henry Bugg, Bobby Martin), End (Seamon Fostick, End Charley Reed, Back Chuck Jones, Back Fenton Williams, Back Jerrel Jones, Back Johnnie McGee, Back Jackie Bishop, Back Delbert Wallace, Back Harold Creek, Back Charles Boyle, Back Charles Stager, Back Howard Hart), Center (Johnnie Burns, Back Alton Bostick), Back (Roy Knapp, Tackle Lefty Beneth, Back James Ahern, Back Orvil Wright, Back Verda Taylor, Back Sterlin Tucker, Back Robert Dabney), Manager (Farris Bass), Coach (Forget All About Fire).

Safe Combination On Wall

NEWTON, Mass. (UP)—The burglars' paradise awaits them at the City Hall here. The combination of a large safe in the city clerk's office is chalked on the wall. City Clerk Frank M. Grant, however, explained that the contents of the safe are of little value. It is used only for old records and as a clothes closet. The combination was on the wall because it was feared the combination might become lost.

Benny Wilson To Try Jimmie Murphy

Benny Wilson, the only man who has conquered Yaqui Joe, the tough Indian wrestler, in Big Spring, will appear here Friday night on the semi-final against the wild Irishman, Jimmie Murphy.

Murphy proved so tough last week against Kodrick that he was disqualified.

Murphy is not the only grappler who can get rough, however, as Wilson likes them wild and has a reputation of being able to handle almost any toughy.

The main event will be a two out of three fall battle between Bloddy Crane, the Abilene flash, and Lew Kodrick, the "little giant from Austria."

Loboes Have Fine Record

Miss Phillips' Team Wins Seven Out Of Eleven Games

MOORE, (Spl.)—The Moore basketball team, the Loboes, coached by Miss Arsh Phillips, has won seven out of eleven games this year.

The Moore team has played some of the strongest rural and Class B schools in this section. Miss Phillips, who formerly coached championship quintets at Lomax, says this is her best team.

Senior boys out for the team are: Ray McKinnon, J. D. Rowland, Curtis Winterowd and Joe Luck, forwards; Ross Winterowd, Buster Broughton, Carl Hammock and Troy Newton, guards; James Hoodenpye, center. The pivot man is six feet four inches tall, Newton, guard, is six feet two inches.

The line-up, is the same as that of last year's team with exception of Leroy Wood, who was captain, and who is now enrolled in Big Spring high school.

Games will be played Friday night beginning at 7 o'clock with Junior and senior boys and girls from Coahoma. There will be no admission charge.

McCamey Has Star Injured

Walter Knight To Be Out Of Line-Up With Foot Injury

The McCamey Badgers will have one of their star players out of the line-up when they face the Bovines here Friday afternoon in a conference game.

The Badgers should prove nothing more than a gentle breeze, but Steer coaches Bristol, Brown and Moffett are not taking any chances.

Walter Knight, a midget but all-around flashy quarterback, who has been the spark-plug of the McCamey squad this year, has a severe foot injury and will probably remain on the sidelines during the entire game. Coach Marlin Hayhurst has not yet named a player to take Knight's place.

Officials will be Clyde Park, Ft. Stockton coach, and B. Henderson and Dutch Baumgarten of Midland.

No. 13 Unlucky For Midland Bulldogs

MIDLAND—The number 13 may be lucky for some football teams but for Maurice "Dutch" Baumgarten's Midland Bulldogs it has been disastrous. The Bulldogs have scored 13 points in every conference game of district 12, Class B, this season.

Baumgarten's Bulldogs surprised West Texas class B football followers when they beat Wink, two years district and regional champs, by a 13-12 score. Then Buddy Wither's Pecos Eagles came over and beat the Bulldogs 29-13. A hard fighting Stanton team held the Bulldogs to a 13-7 score.

Last Friday night the Bulldogs had a chance for a three-way tie in the district had they beat

MRS. BRIGHAM TELLS THE JUNIOR HIGH P.T.A. OF BIG SINGING CHORUS PROJECT

Members Also Hear Of Proposed Traffic Regulations For High School Corners, And Of T. B. Meeting At Colorado

Members of the Junior High P.T.A. had an unusually interesting session Tuesday afternoon with many items of importance to attend to. Mrs. C. C. Coffee presided. Mrs. Flewellen gave the devotional from the 91st Psalm.

The address of the afternoon was a talk by Mrs. Pauline Brigham, county superintendent, on the singing chorus of 100,000 Texas school children being promoted as part of the state public school music course up to the eighth grade. Mrs. Brigham told how both county and city schools could organize choruses and take advantage of the graded songs for a first year's cost of $27 which included Victrola and records. The idea behind the course, she said, is to have that number of Texas children learning songs according to grades as a preparation for the Texas centennial in 1936.

D. W. Connelly supervised a singing of the members. Mrs. Fox Stripling told of the tuberculosis conference held at Colorado.

Mrs. Porter announced a bridge benefit to be held at a date not yet decided upon. Mr. Gentry made two reports, one that 32 children were being given warm milk and lunches from relief funds under Junior High supervision, the other that he was working with the American Automobile Association on traffic signals for high school rush periods. The traffic plan was he said, to select high school boys, furnish them with belts and badges and make regular traffic officers out of them at these periods to guide and direct children and automobiles, especially at the noon hour. The teachers would cooperate by teaching the importance of obeying traffic laws and children would be forced to confine street crossings to times when signals permit them to cross.

The following mothers were present: Mmes. J. A. Myers, Robert Hill, James Nelson, Albert Fisher, G. B. Cunningham, Ralph Smith, Thomas J. Coffee, H. C. Porter, R. H. Miller, G. A. Woodward, Harry Lee, Herbert Lee, W. W. Inkman, C. A. Murdock, A. J. Cain, C. C. Coffee, Fox Stripling, J. E. Brigham.

Announcements

The Duplicate afternoon class will meet this Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Crawford Hotel, instead of next Thursday, announced Mrs. Ashley Williams.
