Nixon Places Freeze On Consumer Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon froze all consumer prices for 60 days, beginning today, in a tacit admission that his voluntary economic controls had failed to halt the country's worst round of inflation in a generation. Wages, for the time being, remained unfrozen.

and tougher than the mostly voluntary Phase III stabilization program. The President announced his latest experiment with economic controls, his fourth in two years, in a nationally televised speech Wednesday night that followed several days of debate at the White House over the nation's economic plight.

freeze, a maximum of 60 days, sellers may not charge more than the highest price at which items or services were sold between June 1 and June 8.

Congress Asked for Authority —Congress will be asked to give the President new authority to limit exports of feed grains and certain other agricultural commodities in short supply that have helped drive up the domestic cost of food.

Shultz Against Freeze —The decision to freeze prices flew in the face of recent arguments by most administration economists, especially Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who counseled that supply-and-demand forces were at last beginning to cut into inflation and that a booming economy with increasing shortages was the worst time to tighten controls.

Astros Troubled By Metal Balls

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's astronauts, gradually adjusting to an early bird schedule for their final week in space, tried to make some more ball bearings today but instead turned out some "funny looking" metal globules.

weightless chamber. Engineers know from basic physics that a freely suspended liquid will draw up into a perfect sphere.

Instead of saying "good night" to mission control at 10 p.m. CDT, the three astronauts will turn in at 8 p.m. tonight and get up three hours early Friday, 3 a.m.

Criminal Law Bill Signed —Gov. Dolph Briscoe today signed into law a wholesale revision of the state's criminal laws.

FOR HARVESTING CROPS Fuel Shortages Threaten Food —An energy shortage could turn into food shortage unless farmers get enough fuel during the summer to harvest their crops, farm organizations warned Congress Wednesday.

WAVING PROUDLY — Despite the Watergate scandal, inflation and troubles with armed conflicts throughout the world, the United States of America flag is still waving proudly over various buildings and lawns throughout the country. ## Magruder Says Mitchell Gave Okay For Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jeb Stuart Magruder testified today that John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general, personally approved the Watergate bugging. But he said he believes President Nixon knew nothing about Watergate in advance.

Magruder, who was Mitchell's deputy at the Committee for the Re-Election of the President (CRP), said the bugging master plan contained three targets — the Democratic National Committee (DNC), the Fontainebleau Hotel in Miami Beach which was the focal point of the Democratic National Convention, and the headquarters of the Democratic presidential nominee, who had not been chosen yet.

matter. He had confidence in his aides and I must confess that some of them failed him. "I regret that I must today name others who participated with me in the Watergate affair," Magruder said. "This is not through any desire to implicate others, but simply to give you the facts to the best of my recollection."

Final approval came on March 30, 1972, he said — after Mitchell had left the Justice Department to become Nixon's campaign manager — at a meeting with Magruder in Key Biscayne, Fla.

Magruder testified that as far as he knew, "at no point from the time of the planning of the Watergate to the time of trying to keep it from the public view" did Nixon have any knowledge of the plot.

But acting Defense Secretary William P. Clements opposes the idea. The committee adopted, 14-1, Wednesday a resolution sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. It urges Nixon to propose to Brezhnev "an immediate suspension on underground nuclear testing to remain in effect so long as the Soviet Union abstains from underground testing."

Senate Rejects Nomination To Power Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fearful that a long-time oil company lawyer might turn his back on the consumer, the Senate refused Wednesday to confirm the nomination of Robert H. Morris to the Federal Power Commission (FPC).

It was the first time that the Senate has rejected an appointment by President Nixon to a regulatory agency.

Unfortunately, we made some mistakes in the campaign which have led to a major national concern," he said. "For those, for those errors in judgment that I made, I take full responsibility. I am, after all, a mature man, and I am willing to face the consequences of my own acts. These mistakes were made by only a few participants in the campaign."

The Senate voted, 49-44, to return the nomination to the Commerce Committee, and even Morris' staunchest backers conceded it killed the San Francisco lawyer's chances of becoming a member of the FPC.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., called the action "a nail in his coffin" and Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, said "if this nomination is recommitted it is killed."

In past years a stumbling block in the way of a full test ban has been that the United States insisted some on-site inspections were necessary while the Soviet Union opposed such inspections. The Kennedy resolution argued that, more recently, detection techniques have improved so that on-site inspection is no longer necessary.

Nixon nominated Morris to the rest of the term, ending June 22 of this year, of John A. Carver Jr., who resigned.

The Senate's action gives Nixon the option of sending Morris' name to Capitol Hill for a full five-year term after June 22 or making a different appointment.

Fred Charles Ikle, President Nixon's nominee to head the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, told the commit-

Morris worked for a law firm that represented Standard Oil Company for 15 years and in the last seven years focused on natural gas matters involving the FPC and non-regulatory gas problems.

Committee Urging Nuclear Test Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee wants President Nixon to propose an immediate halt to underground nuclear testing when he meets with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev next week.

Survey a Repeat —Today's picture-taking survey was a repeat of the first, starting east of Oregon, cutting across the Rockies and moving over Utah, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and into the Gulf of Mexico.

Also on this afternoon schedule was the deactivation of the trusty fuel cell electric generators in the Apollo command ship that ferried the pilots to Skylab and will carry them back to earth.

Other results of the nation's shrinking supply of fuel Wednesday included complaints by industry in Texas that cutbacks in their natural gas supplies threatened to force them out of business. Iowa's Highway Commission was told the state's major contractors don't know how to bid on $26 million in road construction work because of the uncertain fuel supply.

In Georgia, Public Safety Commissioner Ray Pope told state police to curtail the use of car air conditioners and reduce cruising as part of a program to cut gasoline consumption on the force by 25 per cent.

He is looking for ways to increase, rather than decrease, parts of the defense budget. He said getting the budget through Congress would be "tough" in the wake of Watergate, but expressed optimism there would be no large scale cuts.

The new drug law, effective Aug. 27, will reduce penalties for possession of four ounces or less of marijuana from a felony subject to two years to life in prison to a misdemeanor punishable by only a $2,000 fine and a maximum jail term of one year.

The new capital punishment statute is designed to replace a statute declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court last year. It prescribes the death penalty for five categories of murder, including killing a policeman or fireman.

On Capitol Hill, George B. Watts, president of the National Broiler Council, told a Senate will convene as a Board of Equalization July 24-25 and July 31.

HAVING A SHOWBOAT — First Christian Church will present a "Showboat" variety show tonight for its annual father and son all-church banquet at 6:30 in Fellowship Hall. Practicing for the show are Mrs. Tom W. Williams, pianist, and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bowers, directors. The show will present a tribute to fathers. (Photo by Terry Hanna)

County Establishes New Speed Limits

The commissioners' court of Gray County, meeting in regular session today, approved the recommendation of Commissioner Don Hinton that a 50 mile an hour speed limit be established on both Kentucky and 23rd Sts. from the Pampa city limits west to Price Rd.

Members of the commission will go to Miami Tuesday for a public meeting on the Red Deer Creek Watershed Project. The project involves the Soil and Water Conservation Boards of Gray, Roberts and Hemphill Counties in connection with the federal government.

Study Session Set On Funds

City commissioners were scheduled to go into a study session at City Hall at 4:30 p.m. today. City Manager Mack Wofford said purpose of the meeting will be to determine how the city will spend its federal revenue sharing money.

Approximately 20 dams will be constructed according to the plan. Of those six will be in Gray, 10 in Roberts, and four in Hemphill.

BUTZ CLAIMS

Increased Food Supply Needed

WACO (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz told Texas farmers Wednesday what President Nixon told the rest of the nation—lower food prices will come through more abundant supplies and not by controlling prices at the farm level.

Butz said too many customers have the mistaken belief that cheap food is part of the American heritage.

City Manager To Visit Meet

City Manager Mack Wofford will attend the spring meeting of the Texas City Managers Association which opens Saturday in Abilene and runs through next Tuesday.

The four-day sessions will feature speakers on various phases of city management and panel discussions for exchanges of ideas.

Expected to have a prominent place on the business agenda, Wofford said is the federal government's revenue sharing program.

Charles E. Duckworth, city manager of Garland, is president of the association.

Vandals Strike Another Pool

Vandals or would-be burglars hit another city swimming pool Tuesday night.

Employees at Marcus Sanders Pool, 438 Crawford, reported someone broke a window to the office in an apparent break-in attempt.

Municipal Pool at 800 Sloan was visited by vandals Monday night when they threw bricks, benches and boards into the swimming area.

More Insurance Firms Lower Coverage Rates

AUSTIN (UPI) — More than half the insurance companies in Texas selling fire, extended coverage and homeowner protection charge less than the maximum rates set by the State Insurance Board, chairman Joe Christie said Wednesday.

He announced 17 additional companies were given permission to cut their rates 10 to 25 per cent.

The latest filings shows that 53 companies have sought and have been given permission to reduce premiums on this type of coverage in force, according to our figures, Christie said.

We have encouraged companies to use lower rates to compete with each other for the consumer's business, and the consumer, as the record shows, has benefited through lower insurance costs.

Approved reductions include — 25 per cent on fire and extended coverage on commercial

"We should not treat lightly the danger that threatens U.S. agriculture from pressure groups and consumer advocates no matter how well intentioned they may be," Butz told thousands of Texas farmers at the dedication of the new $2.7 million Texas Farm Bureau headquarters.

"In this current flap over food prices there is a growing feeling among many Americans and organizations that cheap food is their birthright—that somehow it is up to the government and farmers to work out a system between them so that cheap food—subsidized food—is always available.

Don't Appreciate
—These people fail to appreciate the invisible cement, the opportunity to make a little money, the incentive that encourages men and women on the land to produce for market.

Greater abundance is the key to lower consumer prices. The way to bring down the price of food in supermarkets is to let the farmer make a profit producing it. The opportunity to earn profits is what the farming business is all about.

"It's the only road to abundant production, which is the best antidote for inflation."

Butz delivered the speech shortly before President Nixon went on national television to announce a 60-day price freeze that will not affect unprocessed farm products. In his speech, Nixon said much the same thing that Butz had told the Texas farmers.

"Because the key to curbing food prices lies in increasing supplies, I am not freezing the price of unprocessed agricultural products at the farm level.

—20 per cent on fire and extended coverage and 15 per cent on homeowners policies sold by American Guarantee and Liability Insurance, Select Insurance Company, Vigilant Insurance Company and West American Insurance Company.

—20 per cent on fire and extended coverage on farm property, policies sold by American Security Insurance Company.

—10 per cent commercial fire and extended coverage, 15 per cent on dwellings and 15 per cent on homeowners insurance, by American Fire and Indemnity Company and American National Fire Insurance Company.

—20 per cent fire and extended coverage, 10 per cent homeowners, American Casualty Company.

—20 per cent fire and extended coverage on commercial property and apartments, American Druggists Insurance Company.

—20 per cent fire and 10 to 20 per cent extended coverage depending on territory, Employers Casualty Company.

Denmark Seeks 4-Leaf Clovers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you have 250,000 four-leaf clovers for sale, the Agriculture Department would like to hear from you.

The agency's Trade Opportunity Referral Service, a division of its Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS), confessed today it had struck out in trying to fill a request from a Danish firm which wants to locate a U.S. source of a quarter of a million of the lucky plants for use in novelty items like key rings.

FAS officials said the Danish firm had heard an American company produces such clovers in a special breeding program. But the FAS computer bank of information on U.S. agricultural product suppliers produced only a blank when asked about clovers.

Officials said the data bank has been successful in getting would-be foreign customers together with American producers of a wide range of products, and had "linked" buyers and sellers in $9.5 million worth of sales in its first four months of operation.

But some requests for information run up against a blank wall. The FAS has not yet, for instance, been able to fill an Icelandic request for the name of a firm manufacturing homebrew kits.

Paper Uncovers Funds Paid On San Clemente

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — More than $414,000 in government money has been spent on President Nixon's Pacific Coast estate—more than 10 times what the White House originally said—the Santa Ana Register (Sister paper of The Pampa News) reported Wednesday.

On May 26, the White House, in response to questions generated by Register stories about the estate, told The New York Times that government-paid improvements to the Western White House cost $39,525.

The Register said building permits on file at San Clemente, where the 10-room villa overlooking the Pacific is located, indicate the President paid $10,950 out of his own pocket for home improvements.

The White House has said previously that work billed to the government had been ordered by the Secret Service to protect the President.

That included the $184,174 worth of electrical work, which the White House said was needed to power security devices, and $76,000 for landscaping work, to plant shrubs blocking lines of vision from outside the estate.

The Register said other projects billed to the government included

—$9,000 for a 272-foot sewer connection.

—$2,400 for septic tank repairs.

—$3,990 for work on the roof.

—$10,612 for roadways, driveways and a parking area.

—$2,800 for work on the swimming pool.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said he had not intended, when he gave out the $39,525 figure, to give the impression that it was the total amount.

Youth Declared Delinquent Child

A 16-year-old Pampa youth picked up on a morals charge May 24 was placed on indeterminate probation after a hearing yesterday before Juvenile Judge Don Cain.

The youth was declared by the court to be a delinquent child, according to Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard.

Police Requested To Hunt Youths

Police were asked yesterday to aid in a search for a missing 16-year-old boy and a 13-year-old girl.

According to a report filed with police, the two Pampa youngsters were believed to be together.

Dollar Value Decreases Despite New Measures

LONDON (UPI) — Dealers called President Nixon's 60-day price freeze "too little too late" today and selling pressure mounted against the dollar on money markets throughout Europe.

Gold prices in London, home of the world's most important bullion market, opened slightly lower, then at midday spurted rapidly forward to $116 an ounce—up from Wednesday's $115.50 close.

"Nixon's freeze was too little too late," one London gold dealer said. "And there is still Watergate and the question whether he has the long-term authority to set the American economy straight."

Bankers said the dollar opened fairly strong on most major markets, but that skepticism over Nixon's measures quickly developed and its value began to droop.

Fort Worth Girl Wins Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Barrie Trinkle, 13, of Fort Worth, Tex., outlasted opponents through 10 rounds of competition today to win the 46th annual National Spelling Bee.

It was Barrie's third trip to the national spellingdown. She finished 28th in 1971 and fifth last year.

She won by correctly spelling the word "onomastics"—the science of the origin of words. The other finalist, Stephen Hayes of Oxon Hill, Md., had misspelled the word as "onomastics."

Soviet Police Detain 10 Jews

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secret police detained 10 Moscow Jewish activists Wednesday and warned them not to cause trouble during the forthcoming visit to the United States by Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. Jewish sources said today.

The Jews also were told that their chances of getting permission to emigrate to Israel would be improved if they did not demonstrate in connection with the visit, which starts Monday, the sources said.

They said the Jews were warned that if they attempted to demonstrate they would be arrested for the duration of the visit.

At the same time, the sources said 12 Jewish activists in Moscow, Odessa, Riga and Leningrad who have been denied permission to emigrate several times in the past were granted exit visas during the past 10 days.

They said another Moscow Jew, engineer Mikhail Babel, was given permission to emigrate but not given the necessary exit visa. They said Babel, a leading activist, was told that the exit visa would be granted next month provided his friends do not "misbehave."

Babel was detained briefly and questioned Wednesday when he went to the headquarters of the KGB, the Soviet secret police, to protest the fact he had been detained last Sunday along with 16 other Jews, the sources said.

Western diplomatic sources said there has been no unusual increase in number of Jews getting exit visas before the Brezhnev trip. Last year the Soviets allowed a large group of Jews to emigrate just prior to the U.S. presidential election in what was generally interpreted as an election eve gesture to President Nixon.

The sources said Jewish emigration has been averaging just over 2,500 persons a month so far this year—roughly the same rate as in 1972.

Briscoe Signs 94 New Bills

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has signed into law a bill authorizing the Texas Education Agency to spend $700,000 in the upcoming school year to train teachers and develop materials for students who can't speak English.

Briscoe said the bill is a very, very important step forward in the history of education in Texas.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, and Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, and was one of 94 bills the governor signed Wednesday.

The others included:
— A bill to increase pension benefits for 8,200 retired state employees from 4 to 8 per cent.

— Legislation designed to step up collections of delinquent taxes by requiring anyone who is behind in turning sales tax collections over to the state after Jan. 1, 1974, to put up a performance bond to continue doing business.

— Measure outlawing use of "black boxes" to make long distance phone calls without paying for them.

— Legislation outlawing certain unfair settlement practices by insurance companies.

— A bill to expand the Texas Animal Health Commission from six to nine members. Panhandle ranchers had complained they were not represented on the six-man commission.

— A measure to bar police from fingerprinting persons accused of driving without a license.

— A bill to allow sale of bread in prepackaged quantities less than a full loaf.

Panhandle Youth Wins Pythian State Contest

Leon Breeden, representing Pampa Lodge No. 480, won first place in the Knights of Pythias state public speaking contest at Abilene Tuesday during the Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge and Temple state convention.

Breeden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin F. Breeden, Panhandle, is a sophomore at Panhandle High School and a speech student of L.A. Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Sparks accompanied him to Abilene.

He will now enter the Sectional Six contest July 7 at Salt Lake City and will be competing with other state winners for a $1,000 scholarship to the college or university of his choice.

Among the other awards winners named at the achievements and awards banquet Tuesday were Miss Georganna Eller, Panhandle High School, representing Pampa Lodge No. 480 and Region One, who won first place in the state Highway Safety Poster contest. Her poster will be entered in the national contest in August against other state winners for the $900 in bonds to be awarded to 12 winners.

Pampa Lodge also placed first in the scrapbook award and third in the competitive rank team contest.

Pampa Temple No. 41, Pythian Sisters, won first place in Grand Temple attendance and first place for the Marie Shaw Award.

Mrs. Bernice Keen, 1937 N.

Faulkner, stepped down from her role as Grand Chief of Texas Pythian Sisters Temples.

A husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wright, Fort Worth, were elected as Grand Chancellor and Grand Chief, respectively, of the Knights of Pythias Lodges and Pythian Sisters Temples of Texas A.L. Weathered, a member of Pampa and Tyler Lodges, was reelected as grand secretary and was also elected as a Supreme Lodge representative for four years.

Members of Pampa Temple No. 41, with Mrs. Joyce Howell, chairman, were in charge of arrangements for the Grand Chief and Grand Chancellor banquet at noon Monday, with Mrs. Annie Brown and B.B. Altman Jr. Temple and Lodge representatives.

Longview will be the site for the 1974 state convention.

Members attending all or part of the convention were Mrs. Bernice Keen, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson S. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Parsley, Mr. and Mrs. B.B. Altman Jr., Mrs. Annie Brown, Mrs. Stacy Stubbs, Mrs. Martha Hazlewood, Mrs. Mamie Fisher, Robert Elliott, Randy Phillips and Gary B. Clark.

Honor Student Pleads Insane

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Herbert W. Mullin, 25, a onetime high school honor student, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday to charges he killed 10 persons during a three-week period.

Mullin's plea was entered in Santa Cruz County Superior Court by Public Defender Jim Jackson. Trial was set for July 9.

The insanity plea means his trial will be conducted in two stages. There will first be a trial on the charges. This will be followed by an insanity hearing if the suspect is found guilty.

Mullin, described by friends as having "freaked out" after LSD, was arrested in February. Among the victims were a mother and her two sons and four teen-agers.

4-H Sponsors Orientation Tea

4-H girls are sponsoring a Mother-Daughter dress revue orientation tea from 2 p.m. Friday in the Court House Annex.

The purpose of the event is for the 4-H girls to explain the 4-H opportunities to their mothers and friends. Stephanie Eastham will be the mistress of ceremonies for the event.

Dana Smith will explain the overall 4-H summer program. Melinda and Mary Margaret Spearman will describe the dress revue on the county, district and state levels.

Elsaine Webb will show her 4-H record book, which won third in the state, and give helpful preparation hints.

Special guest for the event will be Mrs. W.H. Monroe of Sands Fine Fabrics. Mrs. Monroe will speak on new spring and fall materials and give guidelines to choosing patterns and fabrics.

A question and answer panel will be composed of Mollie Carlton, Regina Atwood, Doris Carlton and Mary Holman.

A grooming seminar will be given Thursday, June 21, in preparation of the July 23 County Dress Revue.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The devaluation of the dollar and upward valuations of other currencies are working to correct the U.S. payments deficit, says Chemical Bank. In addition to the April announcement of the first surplus in U.S. trade accounts since 1971, the bank says there has been a notable absence of complaints about loss of competitive position that in earlier years were almost daily occurrences in the steel and textile industries. Chemical Bank also says scattered reports indicate firms are redirecting expansion plans from abroad to domestic facilities while foreign companies are exploring possibilities of opening American subsidiaries.

Shearson Investment Policy Letter says it views the market cautiously because of a preponderance of uncertainties that cloud the outlook for the period immediately ahead.

While a technical rally may be in the offing, the letter says a conclusive improvement in the market will not occur until the inflated 100 glamor stocks and blue chip stocks favored by institutions seek a more realistic level. The market then will "require a breadth of activity needed to regain the attention of individual investors," it adds.

The pattern of consumer spending over the next six to nine months will be a major determinant of economic activity in the United States in the next two years, according to a Bank of America forecast. "The longer the current boom in consumer durables continues, the more severe will be the correction in 1974," says the San Francisco-headquartered bank.

Despite the gloom hanging over Washington these days, the overall government budget including federal, state, and local governments showed a first-quarter surplus of $7 billion, says First National City Bank. "The surplus, the first since 1969, is making even the most pessimistic forecasters take stock of their predictions and may open the way to federal budget reform," the bank says.

Nixon Preparing For Brezhnev's Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon begins final preparations today for summit talks with Soviet Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev which he predicts will result in "major new progress" on disarmament and world peace.

Nixon was expected to discuss arrangements for the summit today with foreign affairs adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who successfully concluded an agreement with North Vietnam Wednesday in Paris for strict enforcement of the Vietnam cease-fire.

Brezhnev officially will begin his visit Monday with a red carpet welcome on the south lawn of the White House after an overnight stay at Camp David, the presidential retreat in nearby Maryland.

Nixon turned to foreign affairs after announcing a move Wednesday night to place a new 60-day freeze on all wholesale and retail prices to combat inflation. In a televised address to the nation, he digressed a bit to forecast a successful meeting with Brezhnev because of extensive preparatory work already done.

Based on the months of preparatory work that has been done for this meeting, and based on the extensive consultation and correspondence we have had," he said, "I can confidently predict that out our meetings will come major new progress toward reducing both the burden of arms and the danger of war, and toward a better and more rewarding relationship between the world's two most powerful nations."

Nixon appeared relaxed during his 16-minute broadcast from his oval office. There was no mention of the Watergate scandal which next to the economy has preoccupied him in recent days. Neither Nixon nor Brezhnev was inclined to permit the scandal to put off their summit talks, although this has been suggested by some congressional leaders.

Both were eager to make their talks a success for different reasons. Brezhnev, now No. 1 in the Politburo, is seeking new long-term trade and cooperation deals with the United States. Nixon hopes his diplomatic skill will help him to shore up his waning popularity resulting from the Watergate fallout and to divert attention to his larger goals for world peace.

The consultations will cover the second round of the SALT negotiations and relations of the superpowers in the Middle East and Europe where many problems divide them and their allies.

Adding a new dimension of solidarity to the growing friendship between the two countries, administration officials said that some five or six agreements will be signed during Brezhnev's stay for joint oceanographic exploration, broader cultural exchanges, income tax arrangements for nationals working in each other's countries and mutual agricultural research.

Nixon and Brezhnev will divide their time between the White House and Camp David between Monday and Thursday. On Friday, June 22 they will fly to San Clemente, Calif. Brezhnev will deliver his address to the American people from Los Angeles that week end.

Doctor Treating Patients With Marijuana Brownies

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Dr. Frederick Blanton, an ophthalmologist, is treating some of his glaucoma patients with brownies—filled with marijuana—despite the illegality of the weed, because of its successful results.

Blanton cannot obtain the drug legally but the U.S. Division of Dangerous Drugs is "looking into" his application to acquire marijuana through government research agencies.

Blanton, 42, told the Fort Lauderdale News this week he was using the brownies to treat about 50 volunteer patients, following a precedent set by University of California—Los Angeles (UCLA) researchers in 1970.

Head of an eye surgery clinic here, Blanton said he conducted his own research and presented a paper on the subject at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore in April.

He said it is illegal for him to use the marijuana, but he "acquires" it nonetheless, blending the leaves into powder and baking them into a ready-made brownie mix.

He said that within an hour of eating a marijuana cookie the pressure of eye fluid within the eye of glaucoma sufferers drops 25 to 35 per cent. These results last for several hours without affecting vision he said.

Pressure of the eye fluid on the optic nerve is the cause of glaucoma, a disease which can cause blindness and death. Blanton said legal or not he feels he must go on with his marijuana-brownie treatment, "while I have patients dying of glaucoma."

SARDINES WILL BE PACKING THEM IN WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — There may be a bumper crop of sardines in New England waters this year.

The National Marine Fisheries Service says that larval herring spawned in 1971 were the most numerous in eight years and that if all continues to go well with them there should be a strong rise in the sardine pack. The five-year average is 27 million pounds, but in 1972 it was only 22 million.

WORRY CLINIC

Jenkin Lloyd Jones is a superb writer and incisive thinker, so scrapbook his articles. He stresses political "Horse Sense" instead of the mollycoddling policy of letting enemies demand "off limit" sanctuary, while killing our boys!

CASE X-534: Jenkin Lloyd Jones should be a model for Journalism Colleges.

For his terse style and incisive thinking are a delight to all professional writers. Recently he compared America to the declining Roman Republic, where the wealthy Romans tried to bribe the barbarian tribes not to attack them.

Mr. Jones then decried our letting hijackers make the airlines bring a million dollars in cash to buy them off regarding their threats to destroy an airplane.

This is a unique reversal of the old bank robbing technique, he added.

For bank robbers formerly had to go to the bank to obtain their loot while now they wait in air conditioned, luxurious air liners to have the bankers actually carry the loot to them!

REMEMBER PERDICARIS

Back in 1904, a naturalized American named Perdicaris was kidnapped in North Africa. Raisuli, the bandit chief, sent a message to our American officials demanding a heavy ransom for the release of Perdicaris, or Raisuli would kill him.

It might do well for many of our "Better Red than dead" Americans to memorize the terse reply cabled to Raisuli. For our Secretary of State sent this answer:

"Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead!"

—And a U.S. Navy vessel was ordered into the designated port city.

Perdicaris was released, alive and well, the next morning without our paying a red cent!

Bullies are intimidated by force, not by meek acquiescence!

That's an axiom of political psychology that seems to have been forgotten in modern America.

When former President Truman's daughter released her biography of her father, she mentioned the feud between Truman and Gen. MacArthur.

The Chicago TRIBUNE headlined the story: "TRUMAN SAYS 'MACARTHUR PANICKED'."

And in the body of the article, Truman is quoted as saying he "fired" Douglas MacArthur because the latter nearly panicked!

That word "Panic" connotes cowardice of the "Better Red Than Dead" variety.

So millions of American cursory readers may have imagined that Gen. MacArthur turned "chicken."

Actually, what Truman called Gen. MacArthur's "near panic" was MacArthur's wish to follow the Korean Communist troops who fled across the Yalu River to their sanctuary.

"That could have precipitated World War III," said Truman. But our military experts were almost unanimous in stating neither China nor Russia was then remotely equipped to oppose our A-bombs, so Gen. MacArthur's plan would probably have averted the entire past 8 years of futile fighting in Vietnam.

And if Washington used the sterling psychology that Jenkin Lloyd Jones demonstrates, we'd never have mentioned buying off North Vietnam with extra billions of taxes to rebuild that country.

The American psychology of 1904, would have required the quick and total destruction of the Red River dikes, Hanoi's power facilities, plus Haiphong Harbor, instead of leaving them "off limits."

ANTENNA SYSTEMS

LOOK BACK FROM SPACE MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — GTE Sylvania Inc. has announced completion of an electrical design of antenna systems that, from space, might probe the earth and other planets in search of oil, mineral deposits and water.

The antenna systems were used in the Apollo 17 mission.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In some respects the Watergate case is like a car wreck. Other motorists stop to gawk and pretty soon traffic is stalled for miles.

At the moment there is a lot of talk about the need to start traffic moving again. The theme being repeatedly sounded is that government officials should cease being so preoccupied with Watergate and get back to the business at hand.

I am pleased to note that at least one governmental body—the Commission on Highway Beautification—is doing just that.

Next month, the eight members of Congress and three presidential appointees who comprise the commission will tear themselves away long enough to spend three days in Alaska studying junked cars.

Junk Car Collector
Other highway beautification problems also will be taken up by the commission. But according to its chairman, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., the removal of abandoned autos from roadsides is the major concern.

Wright reported that Alaska has exceptional problems collecting junked cars because of its rugged terrain, vast distances between population centers, and remoteness from scrap consumers.

Apparently distances in Alaska are so vast your car is likely to wear out before you reach your destination. But if you send a tow truck to haul in the derelict, it is likely to wear out before it gets back. Thus compounding the problem of debris along the right of way.

This is an ideal problem for getting your mind off the Watergate scandal. And certainly well worth sending an 11-man commission three or four thousand miles to study.

But I have a hunch the solution will be found right here in Washington.

Remember the controversial order by the National Highway Safety Administration that air bags be installed in all passenger cars beginning with 1976 models?

In collisions, the bags would inflate upon contact and cushion the impact for the occupants.

Very well. Now suppose the bags were filled with helium rather than the common or garden variety of ozone. Do you see the advantage that would have from a highway beautification standpoint?

Once inflated, the bag would cause a wrecked or abandoned car to float into the air. Then the vehicle would be wafted along by the breeze until it drifted over a population center. There it would be hauled down and carted off to the junk yard.

Aren't you glad you've had this opportunity to talk about something besides Watergate? Don't you wish everybody did?

Lobster Clause

Though 10-pound lobsters once were common in New England, by the 1870s catches were averaging 2½ to 3 pounds, necessitating laws setting minimum sizes that could be taken.

"Unflappable"

The giant Andean condor rarely flaps its 10-foot wings except on takeoff, in landing, or in emergencies. It usually soars on thermal currents.

Of Brewers Crandall Is Ecstatic About Improvement

By United Press International
AMERICAN LEAGUE

Del Crandall, a former catcher for the Milwaukee Braves, championship team during the late 1950s and now the manager of the Milwaukee Brewers, is ecstatic over his team's tremendous improvement this season and believes the club can be a contender in the American League East.

"So far, it's hard to argue the point. The Brewers came from behind on a two-run homer by John Briggs in the eighth inning Wednesday night to defeat the Minnesota Twins 4-3 for their sixth consecutive triumph. The victory left the Brewers tied with Detroit for second place in the American League East, only a half game behind the New York Yankees.

"I'm excited about this club," said Crandall. "I really am. A team can't play any better than we are now. I felt spring training feeling optimistic but really didn't envision a streak like this.

The Yankees took over first place in the topsy-turvy East by whipping Oakland 8-3 in their AL games. Chicago pounded Detroit 10-2. Kansas City blanked Baltimore, 2-0. Milwaukee trimmed Minnesota, 4-3. California topped Pittsburgh, 6-5. Chicago trounced Detroit, 10-2, and Texas tripped Cleveland, 4-2.

Del Unser, one of the few displaced American Leaguers to make good in the National League, continued his hot hitting with two hits and four RBIs as the Phillies spoiled the Dodgers' chances of gaining first place in the NL West. Unser was joined on the offense

"I hope things like this will warrant some merit for me on what I'm doing now," said Wise who upped his record to 8-3 with the 8-0 victory. The fact that the Reds' Joe Morgan spoiled his bid with a one-out ninth-inning single didn't seem to matter.

Wise, who retired 14 consecutive batters in one stretch, got all the hitting support he needed in the third when the Cards scored seven runs, climaxed by Luis Melendez' grand slam home run.

In other games, Philadelphia bombed Los Angeles, 16-3. Atlanta crushed Pittsburgh, 18-3. The New York Mets edged San Francisco 3-1. Montreal nipped San Diego, 3-2, and Houston breezed past the Chicago Cubs 6-1.

In the American League, the New York Yankees moved back into first place in the East by clubbing Oakland, 8-3. Kansas City blanked Baltimore, 2-0. Milwaukee trimmed Minnesota, 4-3. California topped Pittsburgh, 6-5. Chicago trounced Detroit, 10-2, and Texas tripped Cleveland, 4-2.

Del Unser, one of the few displaced American Leaguers to make good in the National League, continued his hot hitting with two hits and four RBIs as the Phillies spoiled the Dodgers' chances of gaining first place in the NL West. Unser was joined on the offense

Leahy Awards Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI) — Awards will be presented to four pro athletes, two owners, and one will be designated posthumously to the Pittsburgh Pirates' Roberto Clement tonight at the first Frank Leahy Awards banquet.

Owners to be honored will be Arthur M. Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers, and Charles O. Finley of the Oakland Athletics and California Seals, as Owner of the Year.

Players to receive plaques will be Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears for football, Bob Love of the Chicago Bulls for basketball, Stan Mikita of the Chicago Black Hawks for hockey, and Chuck Tanner, manager of the Chicago White Sox, for baseball.

The award to Clement will be based on his humanitarianism. He was killed in a plane crash New Year's Eve while carrying relief supplies to Nicaragua.

The other trophies are based on the individual's contribution to his sport and his humanitarianism.

Leahy will be unable to attend the banquet because of illness.

Jack Nicklaus Seeking After Fourth Open Win

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, already a three-time U.S. Open winner and now only one championship away from golfing immortality, says he wants "to win as many as I can," and right there you know who is the favorite in this 73rd renewal of America's foremost golf event.

Tom Weiskopf arrived here fresh from an impressive pair of back-to-back victories and three wins in his last four tournaments and some thought he might be the favorite, but nobody really knew how hungry Nicklaus was to achieve his 14th major title—more than any other man in golfing history.

Nicklaus has taken pains to let people know he wants this one, and because he has, he and not Weiskopf, his fellow Ohioan, is going off as the favorite in the 150-man field which began competition today over Oakmont's legendary 6,921-yard, par-71 course dominated by 187 traps and 18 lightning fast greens.

The first threesome went off at 6 a.m. CDT. Nicklaus teed off at 9:04 with amateur Marvin Giles and former Masters champion Bob Gauby as his partners.

The rain that hit the course Tuesday softened the greens a bit but a hot sun and a light breeze dried them sufficiently to put them back to their former slick condition. The weatherman says it will be fair and warm today with little chance of any more rain.

Lee Trevino, a two-time Open winner, considers Oakmont an "ideal" course for his low ball game.

"I'm playing very well here," he says.

Tommy Aaron, the Masters champion who is not particularly fond of fast greens, has been hoping for more rain to "make them hold a little better."

Others echo his hopes. Arnold Palmer, an old hand at Oakmont, is the sentimental favorite on this course where he became a member only a few days ago. Palmer knows Oakmont better than any pro on the tour.

"What does this one mean to me especially?" asked Nicklaus, the 33-year-old Columbus bomber, who won his first U.S. Open on this same course in 1962. "It means a number of things to me. First of all naturally, I'd like to win my fourth one. I'd also like to come back and win the Open where I won my first one. And of course I want to win as many as I can."

Only three other golfers ever have won four Open titles—Bobby Jones, Ben Hogan and W. Anderson—and now Nicklaus is bidding to join them.

Following the first 36 holes Thursday and Friday, the field will be trimmed to the low 60 scorers and ties for the Saturday and Sunday's final rounds which will be televised by ABC.

Seamen use a fid, a tapered pin, to open strands of rope for splicing.

Yale Sailors Leading

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Yale University sailors held their lead in the North American Intercollegiate Sailing Championships' dinghy competition Wednesday, leading a field of 15 other teams by only two points.

Golf Tips from the Old Masters

By The Editors of Golf Digest
BOLT SAYS GOLF IS NOT FOR SLUGGERS

Golf is more a game of precision and control, not power, according to one of golf's all-time master players, Tommy Bolt. To get maximum distance, Bolt says, you must hit the ball squarely and to do that you must swing at a controlled tempo.

"To see the difference, open the face of a 5-iron and hit a shot as hard as you can. Then hit another, using half the effort but bringing the clubhead squarely into the ball. The second shot will go farther than the first which has lost distance and direction because of the slice spin imparted by the open clubface.

"The good players you see all have discovered this fact," Bolt says. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Winning Open Is Dream Of Lifetime Come True

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) — A man, any man, wins the U.S. Open in his lifetime, and he dies happy.

That goes for most any man you can think of. It goes for Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer or Lee Trevino the same way it does for utterly determined little Bennie Beerbelly, the fellow who rounds out that friendly foursome of yours every Sunday morning.

Winning the U.S. Open means everything to any golfer who ever has swung a club.

It's the equivalent of climbing Mt. Everest, winning the World Series and hitting the sweepstakes all rolled into one. In short, it's the dream of a lifetime come true.

Let's take one of the golfers in this U.S. Open, which gets under way today.

Let's take Chi Chi Rodriguez.

He's Lost Count
Chi Chi has lost count which Open this is for him. He figures it's somewhere around his 10th, but he hasn't lost count as to what the Open means to him.

What would he give to win it? Not much.

Only a hunk of his heart and a piece of his soul.

Chi Chi Rodriguez will readily tell you that.

He'll tell you something else, too.

No matter who wins or loses, he'll tell you, "it's beautiful to get up in the morning, look out the window and realize not only are you in the best country in the world, but also you're a citizen of it. To me, that is worth more than winning 100,000 U.S. Opens."

Chi Chi Rodriguez was born in Puerto Rico. That makes him as much of an American as Jack Nicklaus, born in Columbus, Ohio, and if there are a few of you out there who think maybe he's getting carried away a little, I don't.

Climb on a Soapbox
Climb up on a soapbox, begin telling everyone what a great country yours is, how it's better than any other one in the world, and you can get to be a bit of a zealot.

There's nothing really wrong though with taking a minute once in a while to voice your feelings, yes, maybe even some appreciation, for the country you come from, the one that, no matter what else is wrong with it, does give you a chance.

To that, Arnold Palmer says hear, hear.

Palmer makes a special point of saying he can't possibly agree with Rodriguez more.

He's absolutely right in what he says, Palmer points out.

"I've said it so much myself, I think sometimes maybe I've oversaid it. It's great simply to be here. I have to say the same thing for the fact that there even is such an event as the U.S. Open, and that so many of us can make a living at a sport like professional golf."

As for the U.S. Open proper, Rodriguez says he doesn't want to get into any argument with Sam Snead, but he thinks luck plays only a very minor part in determining the eventual winner. Snead claims a guy with a couple of horseshoes in his pocket can win the Open.

No "Fluke" Ever Wins

"I don't see it that way at all," Rodriguez says. "What's so beautiful about the Open is no 'fluke' ever wins. To win, you really have to play good. Look at the last 10 winners: Jack Trevino, two Boros, Casper, Player, Jacklin, Venturi and Moody.

Everybody says Orville Moody was a fluke. Orville was not a fluke. He was the finest driver of the golf ball the year he won."

How about this one though? Who does Rodriguez like to win this time?

"Nicklaus, Weiskopf, Palmer, Trevino, Player," he said, rattling off the five names nonstop.

That's like picking Secretariat, laughed the little longballer. "With all the heat and humidity here, this is no fat man's weather. Notice those I mentioned? Which of the ones I named is fat?"

"What about you?" someone interjected. "You're skinny!"

For a moment, 5-7, 120-pound Chi Chi Rodriguez was stopped. Only for an instant though.

"I never pick myself," he said. "Besides, in Puerto Rico I'm a giant."

Charles O. Finley Will Keep His Hockey Franchise

MONTREAL (UPI) — Charles O. Finley will keep his National Hockey League franchise in Oakland, the board of governors ruled Wednesday night in one of the final decisions of the three-day NHL meeting.

Finley's first proposal Wednesday was to move his club to an undisclosed location, but Finley later requested the motion be withdrawn.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said the issue could be brought up again at the league's semi-annual meeting in Toronto Aug. 23. For the present, however, Campbell said the franchise will remain in Oakland.

In other decisions, the board of governors passed a regulation, which went undecided by the rules committee, concerning the width of goaltenders pads.

The minor penalties which were brought against a net-minder sporting illegal pads in the past have been eliminated and there will be no more measurement of the pads by officials.

Pads Do Not Change Game
The governors felt that this ruling does not accomplish anything, Campbell said. "Wider pads do not change the game in any way."

The governors announced also they have abolished for security purposes, the past practice of players skating around the ice at the end of each period.

Campbell also set Jan. 29 in Chicago as the date and location for next year's All-Star game between the East and West divisions.

The governors wound up the three-day annual meeting Wednesday night with discussions on a number of issues, including a new tie-breaking procedure to decide which team makes it to the playoffs.

Campbell said if two teams have identical records then the series between the two clubs will be the deciding factor.

Bullets Hire Bob Ferry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Capital Bullets' new general manager, Bob Ferry, thinks the team's coaching vacancy will be filled "as soon as possible."

Ferry, a former National Basketball Association player associated with the Bullet franchise for the last nine years, said after his appointment as general manager Wednesday, "I assume a decision has been made" on a replacement for the recently departed Gene Shue.

Bullet owner Abe Pollin said Ferry "will coordinate with the head coach on all personnel matters, trades, scouting and the draft of players."

The selection of Ferry as general manager came after a successful stint as the club's chief scout. Among those recruited for action in a Bullet uniform by Ferry were center Wes Unseld, and forward Phil Chenier.

Up until his appointment Wednesday, Ferry headed a list of prospective Bullet coaches. But he indicated he was not interested. "I have no coaching aspirations at all. I wanted to stay with the organization. They know what I'm best suited for," he said.

Personnel problems have been blamed for the Bullets' poor showing in recent playoff encounters. One of Shue's frustrations that reportedly led to his resignation, was Pollin's interference in salary negotiations with the players.

Ferry said he will handle all salary negotiating and promised to re-examine the status of highly paid guard Archie Clark. Before his resignation, Shue indicated that Clark would not be with the Bullets next year, but Ferry would say only that "the situation will be looked over very closely."

San Francisco State Head Reflects

S. I. Hayakawa: College Riots Left 'No Benefits'

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)

With the official retirement next month of Samuel Ichijiro Hayakawa, Ph.D., D.Litt., LL.D., a phase of American education passes.

Not even five years ago, S. I. Hayakawa was deep in the bowers of academe, a limited semantist of limited fame.

Then, with a proud fan of shanter on his round head, he mounted a sound truck which symbolized the core of student rebellion at San Francisco State University and stridently ripped out the wires.

He himself became the symbol of backlash to the disruption of the academic system by student and faculty dissenters, and eventually the restoration of authority.

It wasn't easy. Twice the police of Mill Valley, the sylvan community where he lives, ousted him out of his home because of personal threats. Doc Hayakawa had to pay the motel bills himself for those nights.

The California Highway Patrol and the San Francisco Police Department escorted him to the campus on the southwest edge of the city, within view of the ocean where he was elevated to the post of university president in November 1969.

But Hayakawa's firmness—some said repressiveness—prevailed. The student faculty strike which rent the campus in the winter of 1967-

68, when many of America's colleges were enflamed, sputtered to oblivion.

So now, fewer than five years later, he sits in his office from which he controls 22,000 students, backdropped by a wall which reflects his passionate interest in Oriental and African art.

He is a small, kinetic man who can't sit still for long, but he takes time for unabashed reflection.

"The student uproar here," he reviews, "was extremely racist and extremely arrogant. Black students would protest the teaching of a course in African history by a white professor who was the only one competent to do so here. If white students had tried to prevent a black professor teaching an English course because he couldn't understand the soul of a beautiful white poet like Chaucer, we'd have thrown them out for racism right away. But because they're black we condone it."

"So I say the whole thing was racist. Also elitist and arrogant because they knew what was right and wrong."

Why did it occur specifically at that time?

It was a product of affluence, a generation brought up to believe supremely in its own opinions. They were led by people without serious career or vocational commitments. They didn't come out of business administration or engineering. They came out of liberal arts and social science.

"It was true at Harvard, Berkeley and Columbia. And here. Many of them, I think, were simply draft evaders."

Was his firmness responsible for quelling the unrest?

"I think so. I saw no other solution. College teachers and professors, me included, are all pretty nice guys. We try to understand our students. Even if they display irrationality, we try to reason with them."

"I think an administrator's task is different. He has to maintain conditions under which education can be continued. I had to suspend my ordinary teacherly functions of trying to understand unreasonable howling mobs."

"I just had to call in the cops to restore the kind of order under which the majority of students could go back to class."

Some bitterness still lingers among faculty and students who have branded him a stooge of Gov. Ronald Reagan (who applauded Hayakawa). They deplore his authoritarianism.

"So much of my fan mail," retorts Hayakawa, "came from people who had never been to college themselves, sometimes badly misspelled, ungrammatical, letters saying, 'I never got past fifth grade and can't understand kids trying to tear up the place.'"

Were there any benefits to the educational process from the student commotions?

"No. No benefits whatsoever. There was disruption of peoples' education, destruction of academic standards, the introduction of a lot of contentless courses, so-called 'relevant.' For a couple of years, black studies, for example, were simply staging grounds for revolutionary propaganda."

During the five years since he became president of the university has he been able to pursue his own scholarly interests?

"Nothing. Of course, I reflected on these events. So many faculty, particularly in the Ivy League colleges, have this liberal sympathy for the underdog. No one surveyed the Negro masses to find out if the Black Panthers really represented what they wanted. They just took the Panthers' or the Black Students Union's word for it and white liberals supported them, like Kingman Brewster of Yale."

"I myself know something about Negro masses, having worked for a Negro newspaper (the Chicago Defender) and having spent much of my adult life within the Negro community. I knew the Black Panthers didn't stand for any large constituency and therefore I could take a stand against them. I was called every kind of damn racist, of course."

Did he come out of this whole experience with a good feeling?

"It's been good for me. Lot of self-insight, lot of confirmation of basic beliefs. I was 62 years old when I got into this. I wasn't a kid. I knew what the hell I wanted to do, what my values were. I am a teacher of semantics. I am a licensed psychologist in the state of California. I believe in therapeutic communication and still do. I also understand there are limits. In the heat of battle, if someone is coming at you with a bayonet charge, you don't commit psychotherapy on the guy. You defend yourself."

The error of most people in administration was trying to achieve therapeutic communication where it was totally inappropriate. The history of the triumph of Nazism in Europe is a perfect example of what happens and this was in the back of my mind. Especially when I watched Berkeley go to hell in 1964."

Hayakawa's work in semantics, manifested publicly with his best-selling book, "Language in Action" in 1941, stemmed from a study of the word tactics of Nazism. Now he has been asked to write a book on his adventures as a university president and intends to do so in retirement.

Will he miss the excitement?

"There hasn't been any for a few years," he says, and shrugs.

Today In History

By United Press International Today is Thursday, June 14, the 165th day of 1973 with 200 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Gemini.

American novelist Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was born June 14, 1811.

On this day in history:

In 1775, the U.S. Army was founded when Congress authorized the recruitment of 10 companies of riflemen to serve one year.

In 1777, the "Stars and Stripes" became the national flag.

In 1940, German troops entered Paris at dawn and began World War II occupation of the French capital.

In 1951, Wisconsin Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy charged Defense Secretary George Marshall with having "common cause" with Josef Stalin of Russia during World War II.

A thought for the day: Spanish novelist Miguel de Cervantes said, "Tell me thy company and I'll tell thee what thou art."

Arabs Suggest Help For West

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Arabs suggested Wednesday that they might help the West ease its oil and monetary crises in exchange for helping curb Israel's militarism.

The consequences of the disruptive Israeli forces could not and should not be underestimated—Ambassador Edward Ghorra of Lebanon told the Security Council on the sixth day of its Middle East debate.

The council was expected to suspend its debate today after hearing from the United States and China, the only superpowers yet to speak on the Middle East, so delegates can focus on next week's talks in Washington between President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. Diplomatic sources said the Middle East is certain to come up in their talks starting Monday.

Appealing to the industrialized world through the nerve centers of its oil and money problems, Ghorra said:

The financial crisis, the energy crisis, the traditional bounds of friendship and cooperation existing in trade, education and tourism are positive elements to further improve and develop relations between the Arab countries and the industrially and technologically developed countries.

Lefors 4-H President Wins In State Baking Competition

By BOBBYE COMBS
Elaine Webb of Lefors was awarded a red ribbon State 4-H Food Show competition at College Station recently, for her entry of "New Year's Breakfast Rolls," which she prepared.

She earned the right to compete at the state level when she became top scoring individual of her entry class in the senior division at district competition recently in Amarillo.

Winner of 26 first-place ribbons and 25 second-place ribbons for entries in the Tri-State Fair for the past seven years in the baked goods division, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Webb of Mobeetie.

Elaine, 15, who will be a sophomore at Lefors High School this fall, is a very active member of the Lefors 4-H Club, having served as vice-president and reporter, and is currently serving her second term as president.

She has entered a food project for the past seven years at the County Food Show and has won the honor of participating in the District Show each year, and winning there.

This year she has sponsored five girls in a Food Project, 55 boys and girls at the Salvation Army, trained 18 for the Bake Show, and has given seven demonstrations to 91 people, assisted two girls in giving food demonstrations at monthly meetings, toured grocery stores with two different groups to check prices and quality.

Four girls she sponsored, won blue ribbons at the County Food Show, one received a red ribbon at the District Food Show and one girl she helped from another county won a blue ribbon at their County Food Show. During this period of time, she reached 170 people. Elaine stated that "my most meaningful experiences have been in teaching and sharing with others the things I have learned as a junior leader."

Her hobbies are handwork, embroidery, macrame, crocheting and horseback riding.

We think that each one of these recipes is fun, exciting, delicious and a winner and hope that you will enjoy them.

By ELAINE WEBB
NEW YEAR'S BREAKFAST ROLLS

5 1/2 to 6 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
two thirds cup dry powdered milk
2 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine (room temperature)

1 1/2 cups very warm tap water
2 eggs (room temperature)
4 ozs. cream cheese
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon lemon bits
1 egg white
6 candied cherries

3/4 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon milk (about)
8 tablespoons favorite preserves

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 1/2 cups flour, sugar, salt, powdered milk and dry yeast. Add margarine.

Gradually add tap water to dry ingredients, beat 2 minutes at medium speed of mixer. Scrape bowl occasionally.

Add eggs and 1/2 cup flour and beat 2 more minutes at high speed. Add enough flour to make a soft dough that will leave the side of the bowl.

Cover and let rest for 20 minutes.

Roll out in rectangle on floured board; cut in 27 equal pieces. Gently roll each piece into a rope about 20 inches long, on greased pan hold one end of each rope in place and wind dough around loosely to form a coil, tuck end firmly underneath.

Brush rolls with liquid shortening, cover lightly and place in refrigerator 2 to 24 hours, or if you wish let them rise until double. Make indentions in center of each coil, pressing to bottom; fill with favorite filling.

If they are refrigerated overnight, uncover the dough carefully. Let stand uncovered for 10 minutes or until double in bulk. Fill with filling as above. Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit 10 to 15 minutes or until done. Makes 25 to 30 rolls. Cost 4 cents per serving.

Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. If desired, drizzle with confectioners' sugar frosting or sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

CREAM CHEESE FILLING
Let cheese soften, add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon lemon bits, and 1 egg white. Mix well.

Fill center of coil with 2 tablespoons filling, topping with candied cherries. Fill 6 buns.

PRESERVES
Add 1 1/2 teaspoons of preserves in the indentation of the coil.

PECAN FILLING
Spread indentation with 1/2 teaspoon margarine, sprinkle 1 teaspoon brown sugar and 1 tablespoon chopped pecans.

WESTERN HASH
1 1/2 lbs. ground beef

3 1/2 cups canned tomatoes
1/4 cup chopped green pepper (Optional)
1/2 cup chopped onions
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
6 slices cheese

Brown beef in heavy skillet. Add tomatoes, chopped green peppers, chopped onion, uncooked rice, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 25 minutes or until rice is tender, stirring occasionally. Place into two-quart casserole or serving dish. Top with sliced cheese. Heat until cheese melts. Serves 6.

FRESH FRUIT SALAD IN ORANGE CUPS

6 oranges
1 apple, diced
2 bananas, sliced
1 cup strawberries, quartered
1 cup orange chunks
1 cup green seedless grapes
2 peeled peaches, diced
15 1/2 oz. can of chunked pineapple (drained)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
3 tbs. cornstarch
Juice of pineapple plus enough orange juice to make 1 1/4 cups.

Drain pineapple, reserve juice, cut oranges in two using a pointed design. Remove sections in as large pieces as possible, saving juice. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch well, and add enough orange juice to pineapple juice to make 1 1/4 cups. Add slowly to sugar mixture, cooking on low heat. Cook until thick. Cool while preparing fruit. Prepare fruit then add sauce and mix well, put in orange cups that have been cleared of pulp.

(Note: Save remainder of the orange and juice and have orange pudding topped with orange slices for dinner.)

SCALLOPED POTATOES

Boil 6 medium-large potatoes in salted water until done. When cool, peel and slice into a buttered 2-quart casserole. In heavy sauce pan melt 1/4 cup butter or oleo, add 1/4 cup flour.

mix well. Add 2 cups milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 lb. cubed cheese. Cook over medium to low heat until medium thick and cheese is melted. Pour over potatoes, bake in 300 degrees oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

This dish is one that can be prepared ahead of time and put in the oven just before your meal is ready.

ORANGE OATMEAL CAKE

1 1/2 cups orange juice
1 cup quick cooking oats
1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/4 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1 tbs. grated orange peel

Bring orange juice to boiling point, pour over oats and set aside. Cream together butter and sugars until light; add eggs and vanilla. Mix well. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and cinnamon. Add alternately with oats to creamed mixture. Stir in grated peel. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until done. Remove from oven and spread immediately with Orange Delight Topping. Place under broiler for about 1 minute or until bubbly.

ORANGE DELIGHT TOPPING
1/2 cup brown sugar

1/4 cup butter
1 cup coconut
1 tbs. orange peel
1 tbs. orange juice
2 tbs. canned milk
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Combine sugar, butter, grated peel and orange juice. Spread on cake, broil for 1 minute.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

6 tbs. cocoa
6 tbs. sugar
1/4 cup water
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. soda
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening (room temperature)
1 cup sour milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

In a small sauce pan, cook together cocoa, 6 tbs. sugar and water until mixture forms a paste. Cool while mixing other ingredients. Sift into mixing bowl, flour, sugar, soda and salt, and mix well. Add shortening, and sour milk. Beat 3 minutes on medium speed of mixer. Add 2 eggs, vanilla and chocolate mixture. Beat 3 minutes on medium speed of mixer. Pour into two 9" round pans or one 9x13 long pan. Bake about 30 minutes at 350 degrees or until done. Frost with favorite frosting.

Zucchini, scrubbed and sliced thin, may be used uncooked in a salad.

Making Every Garden Food Pay

By Sheila and Allan Swenson
NEA Garden Columnists

Here's how to make every square foot of garden pay its way most abundantly.

During the past year, while writing our latest book, "Practical Book of Organic Gardening," we interviewed hundreds of fellow gardeners across the country. They listed top vegetables with their own tips for best results.

The top 10 home garden vegetables are: 1) Tomatoes, 2) beans, 3) sweet corn, 4) cucumbers, 5) peas, 6) lettuce, 7) radish, 8) squash, 9) melons and 10) beets.

When you select seeds or plants, ask for disease resistance and extra earliness, especially among hybrids. Check for good flavor too.

Bush beans are highly productive for the space they take. Pole beans save space and are usually better flavored than bush varieties.

New corn varieties are extra sweet. You can plant several varieties with different maturity dates to have a longer supply. Or use succession plantings to extend the harvest. Illini Extra Sweet is one of the best.

A few cucumber plants provide enough cukes for salads. Trained up fences, poles or wire hoops, they take little space but yield enough pickles, too. Try interplanting in corn to make every square foot pay, but fertilize and water more than for one crop.

Dwarf peas that don't need support on trellis or fence are more popular. Sweetpod sugar pea lets you eat pods too when young, or peas alone later.

Put peas in very early, then again in late summer. They thrive best in cool weather so you can get two crops this way.

Radishes are the easiest to grow of vegetables. Round red are most popular. By far the most favored squash is zucchini. We would like to learn more recipes for this delicious squash, so if you have good ones, let's swap. Send us your favorite zucchini recipe and we'll send you a set of ours.

Cantaloupes and watermelons are high favorites. Newer, sweeter varieties like Burpee's hybrid, Hearts of Gold are disease resistant and bear heavily.

If you want to make the most of your space as a new gardener, stick with the new, improved hybrids that really produce for less work.

VIOLA'S CORNBREAD
2 cups Aunt Jemima Self-Rising Cornmeal
2 cups Cinch Cornbread Mix
2 eggs
Milk
In a medium mixing bowl add the first three listed ingredients and stir in milk to slightly thickened consistency. Pour immediately into well greased, hot skillet (or if you like a thinner cornbread, use a cookie sheet) and pop into pre-heated, 425 degree oven until golden brown.

NOTE: This cornbread is easy to prepare and very delicious.

Bikini-wearing mom an eyeful for neighbor

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In your opinion, should a 26-year-old wife and mother of four wear a skimpy bikini while painting her house and doing her yard work?

We have a young woman like that in our neighborhood. The houses are close together and the viewing is easy. A few of the wives have mentioned to her that maybe she should cover herself a little more, but she says it's the only way she can get any sun. Meanwhile, all the men and teenage boys are getting a free show.

I think it's positively indecent. Is there any way we can get her to put some clothes on when she's outside?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: Probably not. But if SHE gets burned from all that overexposure, it may teach her a blistering lesson.

DEAR ABBY: Some members of my family have been putting me down because my husband and I do not go overboard decorating our son's grave.

We prefer to give a nice donation to our Baptist Children's Home in honor of our son's memory instead of spending a lot of money on plastic flowers that are picked up and put in the trash can at the cemetery in a few weeks time.

My sister says it looks like we don't care about our son. One sister in law who never even sent our son a get-well card during his illness, now drags flowers out to the cemetery nearly every Sunday.

We hardly ever visit our son's grave because we feel he is not there, but his soul is in heaven. The two times we went it was just hysterics for all of us.

My family are constant cemetery visitors. A trip to the cemetery becomes an all-day outing. They visit everyone they can think of. Are they right? Or are we?

MOM AND POP

DEAR MOM AND POP: Pay no attention to your family's remarks. There is no "right" or "wrong"—each person is entitled to do as he pleases in such matters.

DEAR ABBY: Please print these simple rules for people who have a party line:

1. Limit your calls to 15 minutes. If you can't say it in 15 minutes, hang up for 15 minutes and place another call. Someone else may want to use the line.

2. Please don't curse someone who is using the line when you want it. Words can really hurt a person.

3. Never take your telephone off the hook because you don't want to be disturbed. You tie up the line so no one can use it—not even the little old lady down the road who may need a doctor in a hurry.

Abby, I am only 15, and I like to talk on the phone as much as anybody, but when you have a party line you have to think of other people. My boy friend told me he tried to get me for 2 hours last night. He called every 5 minutes and kept getting a busy signal.

I follow the rules and I sure wish everybody else with a party line would. LIVE AND LET LIVE

DEAR LIVE: Beautiful! Thanks for writing.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

FRIDAY, JUNE 15

Your birthday today: Life is like a kaleidoscope. The slightest readjustment provokes a series of abrupt changes to different patterns. Today's natives sometimes have a propensity for mathematics, sometimes the opposite, but always a penchant for theorizing.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Family members assume initiative, may distract you unnecessarily. It's up to you to get around them.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Make no extra outlays until you've lined up your week's accounts, settled outstanding obligations.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Planning for changes in work, vacations, social activities is all very fine, but do your regular work now.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Curb your impulse to criticize. Special attention to your work-mates, but not their personal lives.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Disagreements seem natural today. You needn't expand them into schisms. Budget-making is helpful.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your work and other aspects of your visible daily living come to critical review with possibility of pressure.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): It is necessary to decide whether to take a side or to avoid taking sides. Stick with your decision.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The world seems to expect you to put a dollar value on nearly everything. Hold out for esthetic values.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Today's eclipse is enough excuse for an extra rest-break. In subtle ways this is a turning point in your experience.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Endless rounds of bickering are easy to begin, but difficult to exit. Take time. You have a would-be rival.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Wind up your workweek putting every minute to advantage. Social life should be exempt from pressures.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Any lapse in your performance provokes criticism. Those who comment may distract you.

The Professor's only problem after his partner opened with three spades was to decide if game would be a cinch. In that case he wanted to bid the game. If there were to be a problem in the play, he wanted to stop at a part score since his partner played the dummy rather badly. Finally the Professor raised to game.

Dummy's jack of hearts held the first trick. South thought a while, or at least looked at dummy a while, before cashing dummy's king of spades and then leading a heart toward his king.

East ruffed and led a low diamond. West won with the king and shifted to a club.

South thought some more but it didn't matter what he did. The birds had flown.

"Could I have led a diamond and made the contract?" he asked.

"No, you couldn't," replied the Professor.

Some time later, when the game was over, the student who had been watching asked the Professor why he had not told his partner how the hand could have been made.

The Professor's reply should serve as a warning to those players who like to pontificate at the table.

He said, "Of course, he could have overtaken dummy's king of spades with his ace, cashed the king of trumps, led the king of hearts and made the contract, but why upset him? He was still my partner."

The Pampa Rainbow Girls greeted the new season with an all-day bicycle ride and picnic to Pamel Hall at Celanese recently. Fourteen girls and four sponsors enjoyed the all-day outing.

Eight girls and three adult sponsors will be attending the 1973 session of Grand Assembly this year to be held in Fort Worth, June 25-27.

Tinker Diest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Diest, Loydean Melton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Melton, Becky and Kim Gooch, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gooch, Penny and Cheryl Miser, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miser, Shirley Muns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Muns, and Carol Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig, along with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miser and Mrs. Robert Craig will attend.

The eight Pampa members will hold church services on the bus.

Tinker Diest will participate in the Grand Choir, and Shirley Muns will be a Grand Guard.

RESHAPING THE IMAGE OF THE TUBA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., (AP)—

The largest assemblage of tuba players in history is expected at Indiana University for the First International Tuba Symposium-Workshop.

About 400 persons are expected. In charge is IU Prof. Harvey G. Phillips, a leading tuba soloist.

He said the aims of the conference are "to redefine the role of the tuba; to reshape the image of the tuba and tubist; to improve methods, teaching materials and instrument design; to explore new directions in technique and in performance; to generate new compositions; and to expand performance opportunities."

Sponge cake may be frozen for up to one month.

Local Rainbow Girls To Attend Grand Assembly

Both will attend their respective banquets.

Pampa will have five voting delegates this year: Loydean Melton, Worthy Advisor; Becky Gooch and Tinker Diest, Past Worthy Advisors; Penny Miser, proxie for Worthy Associate Advisor; and Carol Craig, proxie for Charity.

Attending five sessions, Tinker Diest and Becky Gooch will attend the Grand Cross of Color breakfast, being the newest recipients of the highest award in the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Other activities planned are sightseeing, swimming, shopping, and an all day trip to Six Flags.

If you are making rice salad, cook the rice until very soft. This way the rice will not harden when the salad is chilled.

PROGRESSIVE HD CLUB

A short business meeting followed by a covered dish luncheon was held recently in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room by members of the Progressive Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. J. A. King, president, presided and Mrs. G. B. Hogan assisted.

Members presented a gift to the outgoing president, Mrs. D. A. Rife.

Attending were Mmes. B. F. Dorman, E. C. Golden, Grady Grant, G. B. Hogan, J. A. King, J. T. King and D. A. Rife and guests, Irene Humberson and Mrs. Lee Jackson.

The door prize was won by Mrs. E. C. Golden.

The July meeting will be with Mrs. B. F. Dorman, 2207 Lynn.

CRICKETS BECAME

LOVE BUGS

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP)—A student experiment had a laboratory at Cleveland State Community College crawling with 90 sex-starved male crickets.

The insects were among 300 being studied by biology students learning the courtship behavior of male crickets.

Students and an instructor, Judy Cox, had separated 100 males from the 200 females and placed them in separate boxes.

All but 10 of the males escaped.

WHO SAYS THERE'S A LOBSTER SHORTAGE? This giant economy-size monster, caught by Clifford Earl on the New Jersey shore, weighed 19.7 pounds. Turned over by Earl, left, to Chef William Hastings of a Basking Ridge, N.J., restaurant, it supplied enough main course to meet the demands of 10 lobster fanciers.

Mystery Man

LONDON (UPI) — Mr. Mystery went wordlessly to jail Tuesday to start a 9-month sentence for burglary.

That left police with the same problem they have been trying to solve since they arrested him two months ago—his identity.

Until they find out, police sources said, Scotland Yard will file the man's criminal record under "unidentified."

Mr. Mystery, a blond-haired man with an Irish accent, refused to give his name to police who arrested him. He said nothing in court after he pleaded innocent to charges of stealing from a student hostel.

When Judge Suzanne Norwood asked if he had anything to say before sentence, he replied: "No."

As the man started his sentence, police started to check thousands of files. A police spokesman said, "It looks like a long, long job. But we are satisfied we will identify him at some stage."

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Newspaper publisher Hank Greenspun told the Internal Revenue Service Tuesday there is "no way" the government will get his private files on Howard Hughes, even if he goes to jail for his defiance.

"I told them I had not produced the documents and I would not produce the documents," Greenspun said, emerging from a meeting with IRS agents that lasted less than an hour.

The IRS subpoenaed his files on Hughes following a reference in the Senate Watergate hearings to confidential files in the safe of Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun.

Greenspun was ordered to appear at the local IRS office Wednesday and turn over his files on Hughes, the mysterious billionaire who once lived in seclusion atop a hotel here and has millions of dollars invested in Nevada, to agents of the Special Task Force, which carries out criminal investigations.

He Appears Minus Papers
He appeared, but brought no papers.

"I stand firm on this," Greenspun said. "No way they will be able to get those papers from me. We will go to the Supreme Court if necessary. There is no question."

He said he was ready to go to jail rather than relent "if that is the alternative."

"We are protected by the 1st Amendment," he said. "I believe the IRS always has taken the position that they are above the United States Constitution, and I believe our senators and congressmen have given them those rights."

"Someone has to call them to account. I'm too small to do it, but maybe if the entire press rises up and says 'You cannot have our records, you're not permitted to have them'..."

Greenspun said the IRS agents put him under oath and asked him several questions, but his attorneys objected to all of them on grounds they violated his constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press and Nevada laws protecting newsmen from being forced to reveal their sources.

U.S. Attorney Devoe Heaton has 60 days in which to decide whether to continue action against Greenspun by taking the case to court.

McCord Quotes Liddy
Convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. told the Senate Watergate Committee May 22 that co-conspirator G. Gordon Liddy had talked about plans to break into Greenspun's office to get files believed to contain information damaging to Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, then a leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Greenspun, after McCord's testimony, said the information on Muskie was "trifling," and not considered worth printing, but that the safe also contained important information about Hughes. The documents cover Hughes' political contributions, including orders in Hughes' own handwriting and the Hughes "game plan" for electing certain politicians, Greenspun said.

McCord said Liddy talked about plans to have a Hughes plane waiting to spirit the burglars to a Latin American country following the rifling of Greenspun's safe.

Greenspun has said he suspects the real motive behind any burglary plot was to steal the Hughes files, perhaps to retrieve them as a favor to Hughes in return for big political contributions.

Polaroid Guarantees Every Picture You Take With These Cameras
If you don't like a picture, you can take another one free

If you buy one of Polaroid's Focused Flash cameras during this special offer, every picture you take until next July will be guaranteed. It's true. Polaroid guarantees you'll be delighted with all the pictures you take—or you'll get free film to take them over again. Here's how it works: You'll receive a booklet of coupons when you purchase your camera. Each one entitles you to return to Polaroid any color pictures you take and judge to be unsatisfactory for any photographic reason for free replacement Colorpack film before July 1, 1973.

Polaroid can offer this unusual guarantee because they feel the Focused Flash Land camera and Colorpack Land film make an almost foolproof combination. Focused Flash keeps your flash shots from coming out too light or too dark. An electric eye and electronic shutter automatically control your other shots. Indoors or out, there's never an exposure calculation to be concerned with.

Uses Focus Flash!

MODEL 430 LAND CAMERA

Built-in mechanical timer, coupled range and viewfinder, sensitive electric eye and transistorized electronic shutter. Sharp triplet lens. Simple to operate double image focusing. Comes with detachable cover and carrying strap. Flash Unit sold separately.

Power All Around Us

With the price of fuel oil and gasoline going up, a space scientist proposed the use of windmills to generate electric power. We suppose we shall soon hear a suggestion for the harnessing of the ocean tides for the same purpose. Well, don't laugh these ideas off just yet. After all, wind drives the mills and pumps of Holland. Wind pumps the water for the cattle that graze on the Western plains. At one time wind provided the energy for primitive direct-current generators of American farms. As the tides, we recall having read of a substantial pilot plant off of Huntington Beach that operated in the early part of this century. Actually, when you get to thinking the problem out, mankind requires two types of power. One type can be described as stationary power, the energy supplied by the natural gas and the electric utilities. You can call it stationary power, because it is produced through stationary plants. The other type of power can be described as portable. That is the internal combustion engine that drives your car and the diesel engine used for heavy mobile equipment. What happened in the development of this country's power resources is that we got into a power rut. The fuel for portable power (gasoline and diesel oil) was so plentiful and so economic that there was no point in not using it also for electric generation. In other words, why do things the hard way? As long as plenty of oil was available there was no reason for avoiding the consumption of it.

But now the economics change, partly because of government tinkering and partly of the enormous rate of consumption of petroleum products. So the time has arrived to look at alternatives. Wind is an intermittent force, but any farm boy who has raced across the yard to fold the windmill fan so that the mechanism would not beat itself to death can tell you there's a whole lot of power up there. Despite the stop-and-go disadvantages, wind may — with a little inventive genius yet to come — provide auxiliary potential. If it cannot serve as a central power source, it can certainly be helpful for isolated rural situations as was proved by the electric "chargers" of yesteryear. Unlike the space scientist, however, we won't call for a government appropriation so that law clerks and technicians can draw a paycheck as they debate. What we say is, refrain from encouraging politicians to interfere in the matter. Do what you can to let the profit motive operate. You can rest assured that if somebody can make a dollar by providing you with electric power more cheaply than same can be supplied by current means, you will get the power you need. There is no substitute for incentive, and individual reward is an incentive acclaimed both in heaven and earth.

Driving Dollars Abroad

Speaking of the trade imbalance, a reader telephoned to point out one leak in this country's dollar bucket. Americans spend millions in other countries, she said, to obtain medical treatments that are illegal in this country. Some of these treatments, she pointed out, have been proved to be non-toxic, yet are forbidden by political government here. The result is that afflicted individuals travel to Canada and Mexico to obtain such therapy. By way of example, she cited the Laetrile cancer treatment that many obtain in Mexico and other foreign countries. You can see why a person would leave the United States for such a purpose. If he has cancer, if he believes — as do numerous men of science — that Laetrile offers some hope for prolongation of life, if the substance is not harmful (which even the Laetrile opponents concede), then he would be less than rational not to try it. So far perfectly obvious reasons, American dollars flow abroad as a consequence of unprotective laws. Such dollar leakage may be only a drop in the bucket, yet it is good business experience that stopping the seemingly insignificant drains can make the difference between solvency and disaster. No doubt the medical laws are not the only example that can be found on statutes that literally compel American purchasing power to seek a foreign marketplace. The perennial scarcity under Communism is not an accident, it is not something beyond the dictatorship's control — it is exactly what the dictatorship wants, an inseparable part of Communist policy, because, once again, scarcity is a good weapon with which to keep people enslaved. Experience is recognizing a mistake the second time you've made it.

Abuses Of Authority; What Next?

One finds it hard to believe, swamped in the apparently bottomless mire of Watergate revelations, that life goes on; the earth continues to turn (at this writing). How much more appropriate if the world came to a standstill in proper awe of the shameful acts that seem to have been committed by everyone who is, or has been, anyone! Where, or when, it will all end is hard to surmise. Will the President resign? Be impeached? Or merely be tarred and feathered by the righteous? Will the high-echelon abuses of authority destroy the American people's respect for authority — and thrust us into anarchy? The last question disturbs me. Whose interests would anarchy serve? Who would benefit from the dissolution of authority in the United States? It occurs to me that the incredible bunglings, the amateurish — indeed, stupid — mistakes of the Watergate conspirators are too numerous to have "just happened". Might there have been a counter-conspiracy at work from the very beginning; designed to create the sort of confusion that now reigns in the nation? It will take a Devil's Advocate to do it, but I seriously hope the question will be pursued. For the radical left, or, as Jeffrey Hart puts it, the "counter-government", Watergate is just too good to be true. Which brings us to another question. Will President Nixon — assuming he does not resign — attempt to assuage his liberal critics by making a sharp turn to the left? The indications are there. In which case Watergate will have very nicely indeed served the purposes of the left in America. Several other points, generally submerged in the waves of spectacular findings, allegations, and developments, deserve a moment of attention. The sordid events now under scrutiny did not take place in a vacuum. There was reason — not merely wild speculation — for officials within the Administration to believe that (1) certain outsiders were privy to secret information because (2) unknown insiders were no doubt dispensing it rather freely. Moreover, the partisans for "counter-government" were announcing quite clearly their intentions of destroying the system, which is quite another thing altogether than campaigning to defeat one candidate with another. None of this is excuse enough for the illegal acts committed, and no one can try to make saints of those who committed them. Nonetheless, Watergate should not be construed as reason enough to dismantle the presently constituted Executive Branch of our government. I use the word "dismantle" literally, for it is not merely the resignation of Mr. Nixon the Leftist are after. What are they after? Just ask yourselves how many Liberals would cheer when Spiro Agnew became President by default.

We Deserve Answers

Under questioning, the White House has said that Richard Nixon still owes $630,000 on his "California White House" estate in San Clemente, California. Presidential aide Ronald Ziegler has issued a statement denying that campaign funds had been used to purchase the estate. The Santa Ana Register, a highly reputable California newspaper, has reported that Senate investigators believe Nixon may have used $1 million in unreported campaign funds left over from his 1968 Presidential race for the purchase of the San Clemente property. If the President of the United States did, indeed, misappropriate these funds, then the President of the United States should go to jail. At the time the property was purchased in 1969, the White House says the price was $1.4 million. Questions: How much was the down payment and where did Nixon get it? (He was not a rich man when he came into the Presidency). Who did he borrow the balance from and at what interest rate? Who paid the several hundred thousand dollars involved in remodeling, refurbishing, decorating and furnishing? Obviously, Nixon has put more than $1 million into it — where did he get it? Daily I am more and more convinced that we should have a law requiring all public officials and their immediate families to make public, annually, their financial status and their income tax returns. Every President from Roosevelt to Nixon with the exception of Harry Truman, has shamelessly enriched himself and family at the public trough. Admittedly the taxpayers have contributed more than $100,000 for "improvements" to Nixon's private castle. Most of this was spent in the name of "Presidential security". What security has the poor beleaguered taxpayer got? Why should he pay to keep up three homes for the President, two of which are, presumably, in the President's name? How much of the San Clemente estate and adjoining property is owned by Nixon's multi-millionaire industrialist confidant, Robert Abplanalp? How much has Abplanalp invested in Nixon — and how much has the federal government invested in businesses controlled by Abplanalp? As a taxpayer, even if you are a Republican, you are entitled to have all of the above truthfully, not Watergately, answered.

H. L. Hunt Writes

THE senseless slaying of State Trooper Werner Foerster on the New Jersey Turnpike and the wounding of another officer point out the constant dangers lawmen face every time they go on duty. In the case of Troopers Foerster and James Harper, who was seriously wounded, it all began with the stopping of an automobile that was traveling too fast. As the two troopers questioned the occupants of the vehicle, shots were fired at the officers and a gunbattle was on. One of the occupants of the stopped automobile was a woman who was identified by police as being a member of the Black Liberation Army and a suspect in the slaying earlier of two New York City policemen. Tragedies like the Foerster case should make us all realize that policemen need our support. They risk their lives in our defense. They are taken for granted until we call for them when our homes and stores are robbed or we are attacked on the street. One way of supporting your local, state and national police officers is to follow the guidelines of Law-Aid, an unofficial program to support lawmen. Public acknowledgement of their good work is appreciated by officers. They would like your help in locating suspicious persons. You can mark your property for identification purposes in case it is stolen. You can drive carefully and cut his work in the traffic law enforcement field, all of which enables him to devote more time to halting crime. Let's back our lawmen.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The U.S. Congress on Mar. 1, 1875 passed the first Civil Rights Act which guaranteed equal rights to Negroes in public accommodations and jury duty. This Act was invalidated in 1883, when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the federal government can protect only political, not social, rights. The World Almanac recalls. This ruling allowed segregation to be practiced in public places.

Inside Washington

State's Soviet Desk Stalling In Reply to Jackson Inquiry By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — With Soviet Communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev due in Washington next week, the State Department apparently is unhappily finding itself very much on the spot regarding certain highly revealing details of U.S. - Soviet relations. Inside word is the embarrassing information shows Russia is decidedly getting the best of the bargain. The State Department has only itself to blame for being in this jam. Nearly two months ago, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., asked for explicitly specified "basic data relating to reciprocity in U.S. - Soviet relations" — and he is still waiting for an answer, with no indication when it will be forthcoming. Indicative of the relevant facts he is after are the following: —Numbers of diplomatic personnel, journalists, commercial officers, etc. in Washington and Moscow. —Nature and extent of the recently arranged educational, cultural and technical exchange program. —Frequency of exemptions granted Soviet travelers from the rules under which certain areas of the U.S. are closed to Russians. Unless the administration is trying to cover up disconcerting disclosures of the one-sided nature of the U.S. - Soviet ties, it's a mystery why it has taken so long for Jackson to get a reply to his inquiry. On April 12, he wrote to Jack Matlock, Jr., director for Soviet Union Affairs in the State Department, asking 12 carefully spelled-out questions. Jackson made perfectly clear the information he wanted, and there is no reason why the Department can't furnish it — unless it's afraid to do so for fear of adverse public reaction.

Asking For Trouble From long experience, one thing the Department (and the White House) should know by now is that Jackson is not to be trifled with. He is tough, resolute, knowledgeable and personally and politically powerful. Serving his fourth term, the Washington state legislator is chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, ranking member of the Armed Services Committee, of the Government Operations Committee and the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. Jackson is also author of the most serious menace facing President Nixon's highly touted trade bill — an amendment barring most favorite-nation treatment to countries that "deny their citizens the right or opportunity to emigrate by imposing the payment of more than nominal taxes, fees or other charges." This amendment is aimed squarely at Russia because of harsh treatment of Jews seeking to emigrate to Israel. Grimly illustrative of the gravity of Jackson's threat is that his amendment is co-sponsored by 76 Republican and Democratic Senators, and 276 Republican and Democratic House members — an overwhelming majority of both chambers. Pinpoint Bombing Sen. Jackson makes no secret why he is seeking "basic data relating to reciprocity in U.S. - Soviet relations." He is convinced these ties are decidedly one-sided in favor of Russia. Certainly the State Department's long delay in answering his letter tends strongly to confirm these suspicions. Says Jackson: "I have been concerned for some time at the deterioration of the principle of reciprocity in the many facets of U.S. - Soviet relations. I understand the administration believes that the one-sided figures they are now withholding can be justified. But we cannot know — and the American people cannot know — how to evaluate the administration's explanation until they make available the relevant data so that we can carry out a serious and careful analysis. I urge the administration to stop withholding the facts so that the American people can judge for themselves the adequacy of this element of our foreign policy." If and when Jackson's highly pertinent questions are answered, they will present a graphic insight of "reciprocity in U.S. - Soviet relations."

Here is why — as spelled out by Jackson: (1) Number of American representatives in Russia, diplomatic and other, number of Americans resident in Russia in non-official capacities. Similar data regarding Soviet citizens in the U.S. (2) Number of U.S. and Russian journalists resident in the two countries. (3) Number of U.S. journalists expelled from Russia in the past five years; same information regarding Soviet journalists expelled by the U.S. during that period. (4) Number of U.S. newsmen and broadcasting reporters denied visas by Moscow; similar information about Russian media representatives refused entry by the U.S. (5) Areas of the U.S. closed to travel by Soviet nationals; list of areas and cities closed to Russia to travel by Americans. (6) Number of exemptions granted by the U.S. for travel by Russians to closed areas in each of the last five years; number of similar exemptions to Americans by the Soviet during that period. (7) Number and category of consulates, trade offices, etc., other than an embassy, maintained by Russia in the U.S., and by the U.S. in the Soviet. Widely conjectured among Jackson's colleagues is whether he will be invited to confer with Brezhnev during his Washington visit. Meetings are being arranged between key congressional leaders and the Soviet chief. Jackson says he will be glad to talk to him. He has done it before and is ready to do so again.

Comrades Send Call For Arms

At the Guardian Forum in New York City on March twenty-third, Comrade Irwin Silber announced: "The Guardian has consciously committed itself not only to writing about a new Communist party, but to playing an active role in its formation. The new Communist party must be a party of revolutionary theory...based on the principles of scientific socialism first articulated by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels... A party of revolutionary theory rejects the illusion that a peaceful transition will be made from capitalism to socialism. It considers such a view as harmful to the working class which must prepare itself for mass armed struggle against its class enemy..." Silber warned that "the creation of a new Communist party is nothing less than a declaration of war against the entire imperialist system. Our business with the ruling class is a serious business that will not end until we or they have been destroyed... Let the ruling class of U.S. imperialism tremble. The spectre of Communism is here." Another speaker at the Guardian Forum, Mike Hamlin of the Marxist-Leninist Black Workers Congress, said: "It becomes our task to build a 'new' Communist party of the U.S. and merge the Communist movement with the labor movement and the various national movements of the oppressed nations and nationalities." Comrade Hamlin spoke of taking the road and traditions of Engels, Lenin, Mao Tse-Tung, Marx, and Stalin: "It is the road that says that the party must make every factory, transportation and communication facility a fortress. It is the road that says the party must have the 'factory unit' as the predominant form of its organization... It is the road to revolution..."

Television In Review

Television In Review
By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television hangover may soon become an even more widespread national malady than it already is.

The reason: Network video's late-night programming, and late-night programming, continue to get increasingly competitive.

If the trend keeps up, we may have around-the-clock television nationally one of these years, and then we can all go slowly mad together.

An example of the stepped-up attempts to hook late-night audiences is CBS-TV's plans for a sort of festival of famous motion picture musicals that will be seen around the midnight hour the week of July 9.

The films are part of the "CBS Late Movie" series, and here are the musicals that bleary-eyed workers will be able to tell their colleagues and bosses they stayed up until the middle of the night to see:

Some of the Movies

- July 9: "An American in Paris," with Gene Kelly, Leslie Caron and Oscar Levant.
- July 10: "On the Town," with Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Jules Munshin, Vera-Ellen, Betty Garrett and Ann Miller.
- July 12: "Damn Yankees," with Gwen Verdon, Ray Walston and Tab Hunter.
- July 13: "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers," with Howard Keel and Jane Powell.

The "CBS Late Movie" series is, of course, one of a number of network entries that compete head-on for the stay-up audience.

NBC-TV has the longtime ratings champion in the field, Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show. And a third competitor is ABC-TV's "Wide World of Entertainment," a potpourri of programs.

Well, there has been three-network rivalry for ratings in the late hours for some time. But now the hours for programming are being stretched more and more, as follows:

Beyond Standard Length

Ever since CBS-TV began its late movies, it has naturally gone beyond the standard 90-minute length of the three network entries competing head-on in this general time period.

Then along came NBC-TV's weekly, late-late-hour pop music series, "The Midnight Special," which goes on immediately following the Friday night Carson show.

And now NBC-TV is planning a fall debut for a late-late-hour talk series entitled "Tomorrow," that would go on immediately following the Monday-Thursday Carson shows.

Many English towns and villages still sound the curfew bell each evening at 8 or 9 o'clock.

Primitive Man Hunted Among Early Animals

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — An archeologist who recovered the bones of Florida's first residents from an underwater cave said today the relics are proof that primitive man lived with—and probably hunted—mastodon and saber-tooth tigers in North America.

Dr. Wilburn S. Cockrell, the bearded young scientist who recovered the bones Feb. 5 from the warm mineral springs of North Port Charlotte, said the bones are about 10,250 years old—give or take a century. That would put the early Florida-Indians in the late archaic or early paleoindian period on the archeological timetable.

Such "megafauna" as the saber-tooth tiger, mastodon, mammoth, cave bear, and ground sloth were bowing out between 10,000 B.C. and 6,000 B.C.—and the warm mineral springs bones date right in the middle of that period, Cockrell said.

"There's no question about that now," he said. "We knew the megafauna were around 10,000 years ago, but we didn't know the people were around—we suspected they were around 10,000 years ago, but we didn't know then."

Some "projective points" found at the same strata—but not in the same burial cave—indicate the early man was a hunter, Cockrell said the bow and arrow was not invented 10,000 years ago but pieces of hand-held spears and a "dart thrower" were found in the area where the Indians lived.

The dart thrower, he said, was an arm extension which could triple the hunter's leverage, thereby boosting the velocity of his throw.

Cockrell said the Indians looked just like modern man. He said the human race has not changed physically in 20,000 years.

Each John Dory fish has a round, black spot on the middle of its side and is called "St. Peter's fish." Legend says this spot is a thumbmark, left there when St. Peter took a coin from the fish's mouth.

Court Orders New Trial On Charges

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trials for Bob Prudhomme of Jefferson County on two charges of marijuana sale, but upheld his conviction and five year sentence in a third case.

The court ruled the judge at Prudhomme's trial erred in not questioning the defendant to make sure his guilty pleas were made voluntarily.

The court upheld the third conviction where a jury found Prudhomme guilty after he pled innocent.

Prudhomme had faced five year sentences for each case.

Golda Meir Under Pressure To Seek Election

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Despite the fact that Israeli Premier Golda Meir is 75 years old, she is coming under mounting pressure to seek another full four-year term in general elections this October.

The reasons are the same as they were four years ago—the former Milwaukee schoolteacher may be the only one who can hold Israel's ruling Labor party together.

Pressures on the party come from both the right and the left. In between is the moderately Socialist leadership which links Mrs. Meir, Deputy Premier Yigal Allon and Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir.

Leftist Blamed

On the right is Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and on the left the secretary-general of the Histadrut (trade union federation), Itzhak Ben-Aharon.

Ben-Aharon is blamed for provoking a series of wage crises and for recent mass strikes.

Election of Histadrut officials is scheduled for September, a month before general elections, and Mrs. Meir and friends had hoped for Ben-Aharon's retirement.

But he has disappointed them by suggesting he may run again, and the strategy now is to attempt to postpone the Histadrut elections for several months so that party leadership energies are not dissipated between the two so close together. The leadership wants to be able to direct all its energies against what they regard as Ben-Aharon's extreme socialism.

Perhaps more troublesome to the leadership is the popular Dayan.

Opposing Views

Dayan's chief rival is Allon. Both have been army generals. Both are in their 50s and both want to be premier.

They have sharply opposing views on dealings with the Arabs.

Dayan is associated with the Rafi, which left the Labor party some seven years ago when former Premier David Ben-Gurion did so. They returned later but still do not enjoy full confidence of the party leadership.

Differences between Dayan and Allon came into sharp focus recently after an interview Dayan gave to the British Broadcasting Company and for which he was sharply attacked by a number of cabinet ministers.

In it he declared Israel should keep the west bank of the Jordan River "forever and ever and ever and ever" regardless of what may be the Arab stand on a peace settlement.

Allon, author of a more compromising plan, and Sapir have come out strongly against what they call "creeping annexation" of the occupied territories. Most party members appear to support this view.

As result, some see another Dayan bolt from the party.

Despite a million-to-one odds, around 600 people will be killed by lightning and 1,500 injured — more than by hurricanes and tornadoes.
