Chuckle Corner

By HAL COCHRAN More than two million people in America can't speak English. We've heard a lot of them calling trans. A smile goes a long way sometimes, when it really would do a lot more good at home. A teacher says that when two students get their heads together they can do wonders. With the modern dance steps? Too many people pay too little attention to what they hear and much too much to what they overhear. It's foolish to think that everyone else seems younger. It just makes you feel older.

New Law Changes Exemption Rules

Editor's note: This is the second of five special articles written by the top revenue official to help taxpayers make out their federal returns. This one takes up various questions about exemptions.

By T. COLEMAN ANDREWS
Commissioner of Internal Revenue

WASHINGTON, —UP— The new tax law has reduced a number of questions on deductions a taxpayer may make from his income for his wife and his dependents.

A survey of Internal Revenue Service offices indicates these three questions are the favorites: May I claim exemption for a dependent who earns money of his own? How about my wife, if she earns money? May I claim extra exemptions for dependents who are aged or blind?

Each individual taxpayer is entitled to at least one $600 exemption, for himself (or herself). An additional $600 exemption is allowed if the taxpayer is 65 or older. Still another $600 exemption is allowed if the taxpayer is blind.

Rules Differ

The rules on exemption allowances for a spouse (husband or wife) are different from those for a dependent (a near relative or a member of your household).

If a husband and wife file a joint return, they may claim both of their $600 personal exemptions, or a total of $1,200. Each may also add exemptions for age or blindness if he or she qualifies, up to a total of $3,600 in exemptions for the couple. (The courts say you become a year older on the day before your birthday, so if your 65th birthday was on Jan. 1, 1955, you may legally claim to have been 65 on Dec. 31, 1954.)

If a husband files a separate tax return, he may claim his wife's exemption only if she had no income and was not supported by another taxpayer such as her father. If she had income and files a separate return, she claims her own exemption and her husband must not claim it. Nor can she claim his, of course.

Last Day of Year

The status of your marriage on the last day of the year is the determining factor for exemption purposes. If you were man and wife on Dec. 31, you are considered to have been married all year. The same rule applies if you were divorced or legally separated as of Dec. 31—you are single for the entire year for income tax purposes.

Dependents are not the same as spouses. They never count for more than one exemption apiece on your tax return. One dependent equals no more than five exemptions for you. Age and vision affect the exemptions of spouses but make no difference in the case of dependents.

For a person to qualify as your dependent, you must provide more than half of his or her support (except in a situation where several people support one person but no one provides more than half the support, which is explained in the third paragraph below). The dependent must be closely related to you, or be a member of your household living in your home.

Less Than $600

A dependent must have less than $600 income of his own, except that a child under 19 or a student may earn $600 or more and still qualify as your dependent, if you provide more than half of his support.

Even though you may claim him as a dependent, if this child or student earns $600 or more he must file a return himself. He may claim his own personal exemption. Thus, in such cases, the child or student will qualify as two exemptions: once on his own return and once on yours.

When several people combine to provide more than half the support for another person, one of the supporters may claim the supported person as a dependent, if the others agree in writing.

The 1954 tax law also provides new benefits for surviving widows and widowers who are still supporting their children, and for unmarried persons (divorced, legally separated, widowed or never married) who are supporting parents or other near relatives.

Training Ship Docks In Houston

HOUSTON —UP— A Canadian training vessel, the destroyer Algonquin—a veteran of the Normandy invasion—was docked here Wednesday for a six-day visit.

The 2,530-ton destroyer, commanded by Capt. Ralph L. Hennessey, arrived here Tuesday from Kingston, Jamaica. Hennessey said the destroyer and its 216-man complement will sail Monday.

The vessel was to be open for public inspection from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. A dance for the ship's men and officers was held Tuesday night at an American Legion hall.

One Texan, John Howard Pierce, whose mother lives in Fort Worth, is a member of the ship's crew.

"Oh, that must be the plumber's kit your father bought the year you were born—I think he used it once or twice—it was one of his money-saving ideas!"

THIS IS MY DISH

Mrs. F. E. Matheny Has Original Recipe

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

Mrs. F. E. Matheny, 806 E. Brunow, has her own original recipe for Spanish spaghetti which is economical and easy to prepare.

A Pampan since 1935, Mrs. Matheny originally came from Lubbock, where she was reared on a farm and ranch. Mrs. Matheny, who learned to cook "by experience" after she was married, likes to cook very much and seldom follows a recipe exactly. She adds and subtracts until she devises a dish she likes.

Mrs. Matheny now cooks for her husband, her daughter, Mrs. June Chamberlain, and her grandson. She has another son, F. E. Matheny Jr., of Pampa, who has two children.

In addition to her household duties, Mrs. Matheny is chaplain of the Rebekah Lodge, a member of the League of Women Voters and belongs to the Calvary Baptist Church and the Women's Missionary Union of the church.

Her hobbies, she states, are her grandchildren and baseball, of which she is an enthusiastic fan. Her husband is a mechanic for C. C. Matheny.

SPANISH SPAGHETTI
1/2 lb. shortening
1 medium onion, sliced fine
1 small bell pepper, chopped fine
2 pods garlic, chopped
Brown the above ingredients and add 1 lb. hamburger, cooking until brown also. Add 1 can spanish-style tomato sauce and simmer 25 to 30 minutes. Cook 1 package of spaghetti, drain. Pour into baking dish and add meat sauce. Cover with thin slices of cheese. Bake slowly for 20 to 30 minutes. Serves six to eight people.

With the spaghetti, Mrs. Matheny serves a tossed salad made with lemon juice, garlic-butter toast, tea or coffee and cherry pie. She makes the garlic-butter toast by melting butter, sprinkling a little garlic powder, brushing on bread and then toasting it in the broiler.

Mushroom Sauce With Beef, Fillets

Red table wine and beef, whatever the cut, just seem to go together. We have added a touch of luxury, by way of broiled-in-butter mushrooms, and have evolved a sauce that is dreamy. Let it grace the most expensive filets and prime roasts or let it raise the lowly hamburger to a higher position in life.

MUSHROOM SAUCE
1 (3 oz.) can sliced broiled-in-butter mushrooms
1-3 cup water
1 beef bouillon cube
2-3 cup California bugundy or other red table wine
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon kitchen bouquet

Place contents of can of mushrooms, water and beef bouillon cube in saucepan. Bring to boil over moderate heat and allow cube to dissolve. Combine and add wine and cornstarch, stirring constantly until sauce is thick and clear. Stir in kitchen bouquet and serve immediately with your favorite form of beef and accompany with the remainder of the bottle of wine.

Yield: About 1-3 cups sauce, enough for 4 generous servings.

TWO-WAY POT ROAST — Pot roasts are economical and always a family favorite. One good way to use a pot roast for a small or medium size family is to have the butcher cut it in two. Pot roast one piece and cube the other to use in stew or a braised beef dish.

Variety Of Preparations Are Possible With Economical Beef Chuck Pot Roast

Here's a good idea for making use of the beef pot roasts. It's made-to-order for the small or medium sized family. Instead of cooking a pot roast all in one piece and having meat left over, buy a beef chuck (shoulder) pot roast and have your meat man cut it in two. Cook one piece as a pot roast and make an entirely different dinner dish from the other — braised beef served in rice ring or beef and vegetable stew, for instance.

This barbecued pot roast, made from half of the roast, is one of the most delicious meat dishes ever to come out of a test kitchen.

BARBECUED POT ROAST
Beef pot roast
Salt, pepper, fat
1/2 cup water
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
3 medium onions
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup each lemon juice and vinegar
1/4 cup catsup
1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce
Rub meat with 2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper; brown in 3 tablespoons fat. Add water, tomato sauce, thinly sliced onions and minced garlic. Cover and cook over low heat 1 1/2 hours. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat; cover and continue cooking about 1 hour, or until tender. Remove meat to hot platter. Skim off most of fat, dilute with water to suit taste, then thick-

Unusual Crab Soup Is Fine Lenten Dish

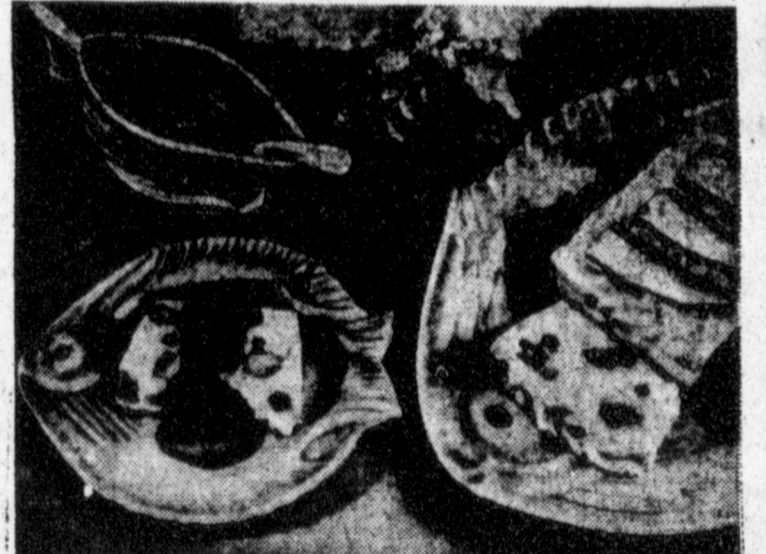

A few choice ingredients added to a basic soup can make it into something spectacularly good. For instance, there is this crab soup which starts out with a can of condensed cream of celery soup.

To the celery soup is added rich evaporated milk, a can of crabmeat, a hint of sherry and some salt and pepper. As easily as that you have a different very fine flavored soup.

Especially good for Lenten meal soup is extra nutritious. It's an excellent choice either as a soup with dinner or as soup for lunch with salad and hot rolls.

CRAB SOUP
1 7 ounce can crabmeat
1 10 ounce can condensed cream of celery soup
1 1/4 cups evaporated milk
2-3 cup water
1 teaspoon sherry
Few grains pepper
1-16 teaspoon salt
Drain crab and remove the cartilage. Cut larger chunks into bite-size pieces. Empty soup into saucepan. Stir until smooth. Blend in milk, water, sherry, salt and pepper. Add crab and heat to serving temperature. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

Sardine and Macaroni Loaf Maine Style

FISH IS THE DISH THESE DAYS. You've broiled them, fried them, and mixed them in salads; now try sardines from Maine in a delicious macaroni loaf. Served with a thick tomato sauce, this fish dish has both eye and appetite appeal. Add a tossed green salad, and your main course is ready to go without any need for potatoes or extra vegetable.

Because sardines from Maine are slightly larger than fancy imported brands, you'll find they lend themselves particularly well to main course cooking. And here, too, you have protein for pennies, almost as much as there is in a sirloin steak!

2 1/4 or 4 oz. can Maine sardines, drained
1 small green pepper, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or shortening
2 cups elbow macaroni, cooked
2 eggs beaten
1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste

Saute onion and pepper in hot fat. Mix with macaroni, eggs, milk, broken sardines and bread crumbs. Season to taste. Turn mixture into greased loaf pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 1 hour, or until firm. Serve hot with tomato sauce. Makes 6 servings.

TOMATO SAUCE
2 tablespoons fat
1 large onion, minced
1 can tomato paste
2 cans of water
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Other seasonings to taste

Heat fat in a saucepan. Add onion and cook until golden. Stir in tomato paste and stir for about 3 minutes. Blend in remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil, then cook uncovered over moderate heat for 10-12 minutes or until desired thickness. (ANS)

"Beanee Weenees" Give Clever Dishes

The recipe variations given here show different ways to serve the wonderful combination of beans and wieners. For a buffet supper use your chafing dish to keep the Beanee Weenees piping hot for guests to enjoy first and second servings.

BARBECUED
1/4 cup Tomato Catsup
1/2 teaspoon ground mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
2 drops tabasco
2 cans (12 oz.) Beanee Weenees
Combine first four ingredients in measuring cup. Add to Beanee Weenees. Bake, covered, in 350 degrees F. oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

ON TOAST
1/2 cup grated cheese (2 oz.)
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
Few grains salt
1 can (8 oz.) Beanee Weenees
2 slices toast
Finely cup parsley
Put cheese and milk in double boiler to melt cheese. Add seasonings. Add Beanee Weenees. Serve on toast; sprinkle with parsley. Makes two servings.

It's like an axiom by now: the wardrobe that must be cramped to meet the ever-narrowing budget needs lots of jumpers and costumes that can be changed with a blouse. Mattress-ticking blouse for home or work, fabulous long sleeves and jewel necklines for going out.

Salmon and Lima Fritters—for Lent!

These attractive fritters are an unusual combination of salmon, lima beans, green pepper and other zesty flavors. They're so delicious and easy to make that homemakers will want to serve them often during the Lenten season—and other times throughout the year.

Salmon and Lima Fritters
1 lb. can salmon
1 cup cooked lima beans
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1/4 cup catsup
1/3 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chopped onion
2 eggs, beaten
Remove bones and skin from salmon and separate into fine flakes. Add next 6 ingredients and blend. Add eggs and mix well. Drop by tablespoons into deep hot Spry (375° F.) and fry about 3 minutes, or until brown. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 6 servings.

At end of frying, pour cooled Spry through a Filt-r-Fat strainer and it will be fine for further frying.

The Filt-r-Fat referred to in the recipe is a unique kitchen utensil designed to filter shortening that has been used for frying. The filter paper is exclusive with Filt-r-Fat and it is the only paper of its kind. It deodorizes, restores taste and color, and removes all impurities from used shortening as it strains. The Filt-r-Fat has a fair trade retail price of $1.49 but it is being offered with a new Spry frying booklet "Frying Made Easy" for only fifty cents and a Spry label. The Filt-r-Fat was thoroughly tested and approved in the Lever Test Kitchens.

France, Germany At Odds Over Saar

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

A new dispute between France and Germany over the little Saar region is becoming really serious. The dispute now threatens to delay the final ratification of the Paris Treaties which provide for German armament. It is even possible, though not likely, that the disagreement might prevent the final ratification and bring about a new West European defense crisis. The latest complication is that the United States and Great Britain are being drawn into the dispute.

Situation Sensitive
The situation is so sensitive that anything they try to do about it might make things worse instead of better. The Paris Treaties have been approved by the French National Assembly and the West German Bundestag. Two bodies also approved a French-German agreement on administration of the Saar, the 139-square-mile coal area which is nestled between France and Germany. The Saar is German but it is not economically so. France does not want Germany to have it because the Saar turns out 10 million tons of coal a year.

Special Status Provided
The French-German agreement provides for a special "European" status for the Saar pending the conclusion of a final German peace treaty. The agreement gives France special economic rights in the Saar. France forced the Saar agreement as part of its price for agreeing to the arming of West Germany. West Germany accepted it reluctantly. During the ratification debate in the German Bundestag, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, fighting to get the Saar agreement approved, emphasized that it was only temporary.

Saarländers Free
He said that Saarländers would be free to campaign for their return to Germany. He said also that the United States and Britain had abandoned a previous promise to support France's claim to the Saar when the German peace treaty is negotiated. France disputes these statements, and disputes them so strongly that a critical situation is brewing. The Saarländers, 970,000 of them, are sitting back listening to the arguments. They do not seem to mind what happens. They regard themselves as tied culturally to Germany. Materially, they do well in cooperation with France.

Way Paved For Approval Of Court Justice

WASHINGTON — UP— The Senate Judiciary committee Wednesday finally approved the controversial nomination of John Marshall Harlan of New York to the Supreme Court. The vote was 10 to 4, with one member — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) voting "present." Voting against the nomination were two Democrats — Sens. James O. Eastland (Miss.) and Olin D. Johnston (S.C.) — and two Republicans — Sens. William Langer (N.D.) and Herman Welker (Ida.).

The nomination, which has been hanging fire since last November, was approved by a combination of five Democrats and five Republicans. Chairman Harley M. Kilgore (D-W.Va.) said he hopes the Senate can take up the nomination for final action late this week. "But I don't see how we can get it up before Friday under the Senate rules," Kilgore told reporters. The 55-year-old Harlan, now a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge, was nominated last November by Mr. Eisenhower to succeed the late Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson. But the last Senate failed to act on it during a special session called to consider censure action against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Harlan's name was resubmitted when the new congress met in January, but action by the committee was delayed repeatedly.

Churchill Gets Honor
LONDON — UP— Prime Minister Winston Churchill has become an honorary member of the Sons of the American Revolution. Col. G. Edward Nichols of New York told Churchill he was eligible for membership because a maternal ancestor, Lt. Reuben Murray, fought with Connecticut troops in the Revolutionary War.

If It's Not Classified, Then It Can't Be A News Story

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP—To my agent at Camp Desert Rock, near Las Vegas, Nev., some rather amusing things have been going on behind the scenes during the current atomic tests.
The lads handling releases to the press, for example, daily cross swords with the wheels in the Atomic Energy Commission. Much of the material is classified, which is proper, of course. But one Army officer had a sign painted for press headquarters which read:
"If it isn't classified, it isn't a story."
My friend didn't say whether the officer got away with his little joke. But the agent did vouch for this one: Army men are known with affection as "dogfaces."
The area which is known as "ground zero" is restricted and to get within 2,500 yards of the place every dogface had to have a badge, and there were very few badges.
So help me, my informant said, "one day a bound dog trotted into the forward trench section. Around his neck the pooch wore a completely valid AEC pass—sealed in plastic and with a mug photo showing bared fangs. The badge bore the dog's name and his 'organization.'"
Incidentally, the dogs at Camp Desert Rock don't exactly lead the life of Riley, like they're supposed to in the Army, according to my friend.
Sure, the soldiers pet and feed them and welcome them as friends. But the ground is rocky. Combat boots wear out quickly and blisters appear on a man's heels. On the dogs, havoc is played with the paws. The boys tried bandages, but they kept slipping off and wore out too fast.
Overnight, the problem was solved. A soldier went to Las Vegas on pass and visited a sporting goods shop. There he bought some of those leather covers that golfers use to protect their woods against the weather. The dogs were pretty happy about it.

The Marines, for once, had to lean on the Army. The Leathernecks arrived at the maneuvers, but the situation was far from in hand. A violent windstorm greeted them and they had a dickens of a time putting up their kitchen tents. Those who tried it found themselves dragged across the premises trying to hang on to the billowing canvas. When the storm finally let up, the pooped marines stood aside while Army engineers put up the tents.
The GI, my agent would have you know, called on his ingenuity to solve a problem at the camp. For insulating field ice boxes, the Army used roots of the Yucca plant, native to the area. The boxes were dug into the rocky terrain leaving only the tops at ground level. A small ice box was fitted into the larger one and the Yucca roots were chopped up and packed between the two for insulation. It worked fine.
Incidentally, my friend observed, Camp Desert Rock probably is the only Army post without a guardhouse—no place to put prisoners.
Reason is, he said, there are no prisoners.
The nearest town is 70 miles away, and getting there takes a bit of doing. A hitch-hiker could stand by the roadside half a day without seeing an automobile.
So few ever ask for a pass. There are no AWOLs.

Long Lost Brother Back From 'Grave'

DENVER —UP—Gus Miller's mother, three brothers and two sisters got a surprise Wednesday—a visit from Gus, who for 43 years they had believed dead.
Miller, now a 61-year-old Atoka Okla., coal miner and farmer, found time heavy on his hands when he lived here in 1909. At the age of 15 he ran away that year with the Sells-Floto Circus.
A newspaper story in 1912 said a Gus Miller of Denver had been killed when he was stepped on by a circus elephant. But his family was financially unable to make the trip to identify the body. It was assumed the victim was their son and brother.
Meanwhile, Gus had quit the circus to become a miner at Atoka. His family moved to western Colorado. Gus tried to get in touch with them without success.
When he returned from overseas after World War I he again tried to contact his mother, brothers and sisters, and failed again. He returned to Oklahoma, married and had 13 children.
One of his daughters, Mrs. Millye Boyd, now of Pueblo, Colo., became interested in locating her father's family. Every time she came here she called every Miller listed in the telephone directory until finally she called a Rudolph Miller, one of Gus Miller's brothers.
Gus finally got back home Tuesday night, and a family reunion was in full swing Wednesday.

Police Shots Down Negro Attack Suspect

HOUSTON —UP—An attractive, 30-year-old divorcee was kidnapped and raped in her own car early Wednesday and police 30 minutes later shot down a 25-year-old Negro ex-convict after a back alley chase.
The blonde victim, a jobless carhop, said the attack occurred shortly after midnight when a Negro man jumped into her car and forced her to drive to an isolated spot.
The Negro, she said, held a knife at her throat.
The man later drove car to another spot, she said, and left it, telling her he would be back with a bottle of whiskey. She said she saw her chance and ran for it.
The suspect, spotted driving the women's car a half-hour later, jumped from it and ran through back alleys. Detective T. C. Christian fired once, hitting the man in the hip.
Officers said the Negro fell and then lunged at them as he got up when they approached. Christian fired again, hitting him in the chest.
The suspect, admitted to Jefferson Davis hospital, was identified as Earl Lee Brown, freed last Dec. 20 from a five-year term for burglary and theft.
He was charged with criminal assault and auto theft.
Police said Brown was wearing crepe-soled shoes of the type which left bloody footprints at the home of a Baptist minister's widow who was murdered here last Feb. 15.
Brown was to be questioned about the bludgeon murder of Mrs. Lewis Quarles, officers said.

'Alger Hisses' Still Believed In U.S. Pay

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON —UP—Responsible individuals here concede that Communist agents more likely than not are employed on sensitive government projects and that one or more Alger Hisses doubtless remain on the public payroll.
It is reasonable to believe that several highly placed Communist agents—at or near the His level—are operating actively within the government structure.
Belief that the government still is seriously penetrated by Communist spies is based on deduction drawn from known facts. These facts include:
1. Positive evidence that the Communists have not eased off on their efforts to infiltrate the government, labor unions, key industries and vital institutions in general.
2. The vigorous and frequently successful Communist propaganda against government security and loyalty procedures.
Top Communist Objective
A top Communist objective now and for some time past has been to compel secret informers to confront the accused when government security or loyalty machinery begins to function. Some, perhaps many, of the loyalty accusations against government employes have come from FBI plants within the Communist party. They are men and women who spy on the Communists for the United States government.
Not only Communists demand that these accusers be compelled to identify themselves and confront the accused. A great many citizens of the United States condemn the present practice of secrecy and it is possible that the loyalty and security procedures, including the question of confrontation, may be made a major political issue in next year's presidential election.
Granting the hazards to personal liberty of permitting an accuser to hide his name and face, the other

Amish Ban Sexy Movie

PHILADELPHIA —UP— Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. said Wednesday it has been forced to cancel a scheduled premiere showing of its cinemascope production, "Violent Saturday," at Lancaster, Pa., after the city fathers decided the movie is "too sexy."
Lancaster, located 83 miles west of here, is the county seat of Lancaster county, heavily populated by the Amish sect.
The movie tells the story of a bank robbery, and an Amish family winds up as the "hero" of the tale.
Twentieth Century said Lancaster originally accepted a bid to be the site of the premiere showing of the film.
After all arrangements were completed for the premiere to take place April 1, the company said, the city fathers backed out on grounds the movie was too sexy and "might offend the Amish," who are known as the "plain people."
The company said the arrangements for the premiere included the staging of torch light parades and receptions and attendance by the movie's featured performers—Victor Mature, Sylvia Sydney, Stephen McNally, J. Carroll Nash and Margaret Hayes.
Twentieth Century said it would look for another city in which to hold the premiere.

Cadillac

Acting on a 20-Year-Old Decision!

Let's suppose it was a couple of decades ago when a young lad, with his book strap over his shoulder and his lunch basket under his arm, started slowly down a dusty road that led to a country schoolhouse.

But his walk was short that day. For a big, handsome Cadillac—with its smiling driver traveling in the lad's direction—stopped and gave him a "lift."

And as he stood on the schoolhouse lawn and watched the car roll into the distance, he made a decision. He decided that, some day, he would own a Cadillac.

And here you see him, his dream come true, standing in the showroom of his Cadillac dealer—taking the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac!

As a Cadillac dealer, we've been privileged many times to see such a dream come true. And it never ceases to be a thrill.

But we do feel, in all sincerity, that many motorists—not realizing the Cadillac car is practical as well as wonderful—wait too long to make the move.

The lowest-priced Cadillac, for example, actually costs less than twelve different models of other makes. Its economy of operation is far beyond anything you could logically anticipate from a car of Cadillac's size and luxury. And at the time of resale, a Cadillac traditionally returns a greater share of its owner's investment than any other car in the land.

If, like the gentleman in the picture above, you have been looking forward to a Cadillac of your own—you should give careful consideration to these remarkable facts.

It is entirely possible that the time for your Cadillac has come—and, as we said, it is always a pleasure to help make such a dream come true.

Better come in and see us today.

Celanese Net Income Drops

Celanese Corporation of America reported net income for 1954 amounting to $8,590,286, or 32 cents on each share of common stock, according to a recent corporation report.
Net income dropped slightly over $4 million from the previous year when earnings per share of common stock amounted to $1.01. Sales were some $20 million below 1953's total of $165,980,967. Cash on hand at the end of 1954 was almost $10 million above the 1953 figure.
Funds in banks totalled $33,719,698. Total assets, which also reflected the improved cash position, aggregated $95,189,521 against current liabilities of $16,737,947. Net working capital was $78 1/2 millions, $7 1/2 millions above the 12-month period ending 1953.
Continued growth in the sales volume of foreign affiliates of the company in Canada, Columbia, Mexico and Venezuela indicate, in addition to the domestic market, still greater possibilities for Celanese expansion, according to the annual report. Equity of the corporation as of December 31, including the foreign affiliates, was $48,271,837.
The company's research in the past year has produced an expanded market for its new fiber, Arnel. It has developed a new process for the production of heavy denier Fortisan rayon, which is expected to increase the market potential.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)
One of the most familiar types of contracts is the insurance policy, as nearly everyone carries some sort of insurance protection. Yet, few people take the trouble to read their policies and lawyers have to answer many questions regarding insurance generally.
Here is a problem frequently presented: "I have a hospitalization insurance policy. Will the company pay all of my hospital bills if I become ill?"
It may or may not. Insurance is a contract between the insurance company and the policy holder. In the usual contract the policy holder agrees to pay a certain sum of money for the policy of insurance. The insurance company agrees that should the policy holder incur hospital expenses that the insurance company will make payment to the policy holder of stated sums, as set out in the policy of insurance.
The insurance policy itself must state the complete contract between the parties. The oral statements of agents not in harmony with the policy are not binding on the company. The company is bound to pay only such sums as are specifically set forth in the policy of insurance.
Practically all policies have a section called exceptions and exclusions. The policy holder should particularly read this section before purchasing a policy of any kind of insurance. It would be possible for a policy of insurance to have so many exceptions and exclusions as to practically nullify any benefits under the policy.
Another question often asked is: "Can I sue the insurance company which issued a liability policy covering the car of someone who runs into and damages my car?"
For all practical purposes you may not sue the insurance company which carries insurance on the other fellow's car to protect him from suits in case of his negligence. You must look to the owner or driver of the other vehicle for your damages. Upon his becoming liable to pay those damages to you, then he in turn looks to the insurance company to make the settlement for him, or to reimburse him for the settlement which he has made.
If the case goes to trial before the jury, even though you may know that the other party carries insurance, if there arises any discussion of the fact that insurance is carried by the other party, then the courts have held that it is the

Italy Senate Fight Is The Real McCoy

ROME —UP— Communists touched off a slugging, scratching free-for-all fight in the Italian senate Wednesday during debate on the Paris accords to rearm West Germany.
One senate usher was injured in the brawl before Senate President Cesare Merzagora sounded the emergency alarm bells which suspended debate for an hour.
The fist-swinging brawl was sparked by Communist Sen. Emilio Sereni who rose to defend his record in the last war and answer charges he "stabbed Italian soldiers in the back" while working as a saboteur in occupied France.
Cat calls and interruptions from the extreme right-wing MSI (Italian Socialist Movement) continued until Sereni made a scathing remark on the latter-day Fascists.
"These corpses who have been handed down from fascism," he cried.
The MSI group leaped to their feet. Shouting Communists and left wing Socialists met them in the middle of the senate floor.

"These corpses who have been handed down from fascism," he cried.
The MSI group leaped to their feet. Shouting Communists and left wing Socialists met them in the middle of the senate floor.
Cries of "assassins" and "murdering saboteurs" rang through the air as the two groups shouted about swapping punches and shoving. No senator was injured but an attendant was hurt trying to separate the brawling law-makers.
The duty of the trial judge to declare a mistrial.
This means that you will have to start all over again and try your case from the beginning before the jury, at a later date. Your case is not dismissed, and you do not lose your rights to be heard on your case because of the word "insurance" coming into the case, but it does mean that the trial then in progress must be dismissed and you must start all over again before a new and different jury.
The theory of the appellate courts is that the mere introduction of any evidence or testimony to the effect that there is an insurance company involved in any way in the case, is highly prejudicial to the Defendant and his cause of action.
The appellate courts further say that it is reversible error, that is, such error as will set aside the findings of the jury, if the jury is retiring to consider their verdict discuss whether or not either or both of the parties might or might not have insurance to back them up or protect them.

Wheat, Oats Respond To Warm Spell

AUSTIN —UP—Warming temperatures over the state last week caused good response to wheat and oats in the blacklands and low rolling plains, but additional moisture was needed to maintain that development, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.
The USDA, in its weekly crop and weather bulletin, said already-dim dry land wheat prospects on the High Plains were adversely affected by strong, moisture-sapping winds. Irrigated wheat prospects in the High Plains area continued fair to good, the USDA said.
Row crops over the eastern half of the state were reported off to a good start, aided by February moisture and warm weather, in central and southeastern counties pear, peach and plum buds were opening.
South Texas commercial vegetables, set back by mid-February cold, were helped by high temperatures, and planting in later areas was stimulated, the USDA reported.
Livestock over the eastern half of the state were picking up weight as green feed was becoming available in increasing quantities. In the eastern plateau and low rolling plains, small grains were supplying some feed, but additional moisture was needed, the USDA said.
Heavy supplemental feeding continued over the drought-ridden western third of the state with no prospects for spring grass until soaking rains are received.

CAUTION!

YOU MAY BE THE VICTIM OF A FAST-TALKING ARTIST AND, SO, WE OFFER YOU THESE SUGGESTIONS

Be on your guard when approached by certain out-of-town roofing and siding salesmen. It's always wise to consult your local lumber dealer and compare notes and figures. You'll save if you take local, friendly advice. You'll have few, if any, regrets later. You'll avoid buying inferior materials and poor workmanship. Home owners throughout the country have learned the hard way and now they take caution . . . they consult the man in their home town with whom they live and see every day. Don't be pressured or kidded into buying a roof or a siding job at prices which in the end cost you more than your local dealer asks. Your local, reliable lumber dealer will give you estimates without cost. Be sure to consult him!

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD PAY

ROOFING SIDING

Roofing is sold by bundle or by the square. It takes three bundles or one square to cover an area 10x10 ft. An average size roof, completely applied, should cost about $6.39 Per Month

Asbestos cement siding is the most popular type. This is also sold by the square. An average home can be sided, including all labor charges for as little as $11.19 Per Month

HERES WHAT YOU SHOULD GET

No. 1 quality Rubberoid tite-on 230 pound shingles. The latest colors and patterns (no discontinued lines or factory seconds.) Applied by local workmen and sold by a local merchant who will be right here to back up a guarantee of complete satisfaction.

Johns-Manville First Grade Abestos Siding. All siding looks good when it's first applied. But it takes first quality material, skillfully applied, to hold up year after year. Because we're here in town to stay, we take pains to see that everything's okay. We want you to be a satisfied customer for years to come.

Please Note: Our own workmen apply INSULATED SIDING on an average house, including labor and materials, and insurance on labor, for as little as $14.38 per month.

Kitchens Take Lead As Source Of Fire

The American kitchen is the focal point for most family activities. It also rated as one of the leading beginning points for last year's 295,000 home fires.

Because of the presence of the cooking stove, matches, grease, electrical and gas appliances, and all of the other potential fire hazards usually found in the kitchen, safety precautions and a knowledge of basic fire fighting are especially important here.

For the grease fires which can so easily spread from a frying pan or broiler, many fire fighting experts recommend the prompt application of liberal quantities of baking soda to quickly smother the blaze. Water, which may spread the blaze, should NEVER be used on blazing oil or grease.

Regular baking soda (also called bicarbonate of soda) can be purchased in any grocery store. It not only helps to smother a fire, but gives off carbon dioxide when heated which acts to cut off the oxygen supply from the fire. Most dry chemical extinguishers and many of the liquid type use baking soda as one of their principal ingredients.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends that the kitchen range be located a safe distance from walls and cabinets and all curtains and towel racks be well away from reach of open flames.

The NFBU also warns against use of oversized or nonapproved fuses for electrical appliances and suggests that such appliances be located on nonflammable surfaces out of reach of children and pets.

For maximum safety in your kitchen and in your home, follow these simple precautions: 1. Observe all safety precautions BEFORE a fire starts. 2. Call the fire department at the first sign of fire. 3. Know the most effective ways of keeping little fires from spreading to become big fires.

Long Torso Line Is Suited For Spring

By GAILE DUGAS NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NBA) — The long torso line is the line that's all-important to the spring suit. A longer waistline, higher bust, slim hips and narrow shoulders typify this suit, which has a very different look from its predecessors of other springs.

While some suit jackets actually are an inch or two longer, the longer look is chiefly an illusion created through use of narrow shoulders and lapels, buttons to the hemline, and the higher bustline. Semi-fitted and straight box jackets get the biggest play but the bloused silhouette with buckled belt is evident, too. Most suit skirts are slim this year but there are some pleated skirts shown with the longer length jacket. But even the pleated skirts retain the smooth hipline, fanning out just enough to allow for walking ease.

The costume look has been borrowed for suits: the bolero jacket, the short-jacket over sheath, the torso overblouse. Most often, the blouse is matched to the silk of a jacket lining.

As with the new coats, fabrics for suits are lightweight, porous and soft to the touch. Featherweight wools, silk-and-wool blends, weightless tweeds all are popular. Navy is a big suit color again this year, followed by gray and rounded out by pastels.

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor

You meet more than movie stars on Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood, Calif. You meet good food, too. For example, the Welsh rabbit served on toasted crumpets with sliced turkey at The Cock 'n' Bull restaurant is a stellar affair. The food tends to be substantial with an English accent, and the servings are lordly. John A. Morgan, who owns the restaurant and likes to wear English tweeds, lunched with us. He talked about his rabbit recipe.

"I originally got it out of a cookbook belonging to my great-great-grandmother, written in her own handwriting. It never seems to get stiff and rubbery like most other Welsh rabbits. I spell 'rabbit' like the little animal and not 'rarebit.' While living in England, I discovered that the term 'Welsh rabbit' originated thusly: The poor people in Wales could not afford hares (or rabbits). Therefore, they substituted cheese for 'rabbit' and settled for what we now call 'Welsh rabbit.'"

WELSH RABBIT (About 1 pint) Two pounds aged Cheddar cheese, 1 1/2 cups milk, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup flour, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1/2 cup beer, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 2 teaspoons aromatic tomato sauce, 2 dashes Tabasco sauce, 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Pour the milk into double boiler and when warm add the cheese cut into small cubes, stir until cheese has dissolved. Melt the butter or margarine and sift the flour, mustard, cayenne and salt into the melted butter or margarine. Mix well until a thick paste is formed, and then add slowly to milk and cheese, stirring constantly. Cook for 10 minutes and then add beer, sauces and Tabasco. Keep warm until served.

Pour over dry or buttered toast or heated shredded wheat, with broiled chicken liver wrapped with a slice of bacon.

As an appetizer Welsh rabbit is delicious over a toasted crumpet or muffin. It can also be served over sliced turkey or chicken with the muffin or crumpet.

E. JAY McILVAIN ... repeats as all-state tourney choice

E.J. McIlvain On All-State Tourney

AUSTIN—UP—The state Class AAAA all-tournament basketball team has two repeaters on it this year.

They are champion Dallas Crozier Tech's A. C. Black and Pampa's Jay McIlvain. However, the two were the only two repeaters on all-state teams in any of the tournament's five divisions.

Black, the only player from Crozier Tech named on the all-state squad, scored 47 points in two games to set a new Class AAAA record. Runerup Waco won two places with Charles Pack and Kenneth Brunson. Wayne Wedgeworth of Beaumont took the fifth berth.

The Class AAA team had two players from Victoria, the champion, and French of Beaumont, the runnerup.

A unanimous choice was Neill Swisher of Victoria. Larry Roach of Victoria and Brenton Hughes of French polled all but two votes while Buddy Humphrey of Kilgore and Charles Williams of French were clear-cut choices for the other two positions.

Texas City Returns To Big State Loop

GALVESTON—UP—The Big State League was an eight-city circuit again Thursday with Texas City back in the fold.

Texas City was readmitted to the league Wednesday following a meeting here. It takes the franchise operated at Temple last season.

Texas City had withdrawn its franchise because the new park there would not be completed in time for the start of the season. But, it was decided at the meeting to make Texas City a road club for the first 30 days of the season.

Malone Sanders represented the Texas City interests at the Big State meeting. He said the Texas City Texans had access to about 15 good players and many more prospects. Officials and a manager for the Texans are expected to be announced soon.

A 147-game schedule beginning April 12 was adopted by the league. Other members of the Big State League are Galveston, Austin, Waco, Harlingen, Corpus Christi, Tyler and Port Arthur.

East Texas 5 Advances In NAIA Tourney

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—UP—All four remaining seeded teams made their way into quarter-finals of the 17th annual NAIA Basketball tournament here but at least one is sure to tumble Thursday night when Western Illinois tangles with Gustavus Adolphus in a late contest.

Top-seeded Western Illinois, which hung on last year until the finals, squeezed into the quarter-finals by a one-point margin Wednesday night and beat underdoged Northeast Missouri State 86-85. Gustavus Adolphus, seeded fifth, beat Texas Southern of Houston 67-55 with little difficulty.

The Western Illinois and Gustavus Adolphus game is at 9 p.m. Thursday night, while No. 2 favorite Beloit, Wis., meets East Texas State of Commerce at 7:30 p.m. The third-seeded Steubenville, Ohio, plays Southeast Oklahoma of Durant at 8 p.m. and Alderson-Broadus of Phillip, W.Va., has a 10:30 p.m. quarter-final against Arkansas Tech of Russellville, Southwestern Falls.

The only former champion in the field, the 1939 title-holder Southwestern College of Winfield, Kan., fell Wednesday night to East Texas State 94-78. The Texans were too big, too fast, easily controlled the boards, and were ahead 52-30 by halftime.

Southeastern Oklahoma scored in three figures again Thursday night as it beat Nebraska Wesleyan of Lincoln 106-69 in almost a walk-away. Southeastern had showed its power the previous night when it downed Middle Tennessee 120-67.

The two games gave Southeastern a total of 226 points scored, or a 113-point average that is far ahead of the 91.6 average Indiana State set in five tournament games in 1953.

Federal Control

When it comes to the fire power of a bazooka or the calculation of the speed of a guided missile, Dwight Eisenhower probably has it all over us. But when he starts talking schools — he better duck.

We would like to start in by saying that the proposal that the federal government give "aid" to the schools is no such thing but is a clear-cut effort, directed by the National Education Association, to bring about federal control of the public school system.

We who have followed the activities of the NEA with more than passing interest down through the years know that this has been a long felt and vaguely expressed hope of this lobbying organization. The more centralized the school system becomes, the easier it is to gain control of the system and to foist upon coming generations the kind of thinking that the statist wants. And NEA is dedicated to statism.

The proposal of the President does show clearly one thing — that the federal government cannot spend a dime it has not first taken from someone and that all that the proposal can mean is more jobs for bureaucrats — not more schools for children. Eisenhower plainly showed this in his message to the Congress in connection with his school program.

He said: "I propose, therefore that the federal government furnish one-half of the administrative costs of state programs which are designed to overcome obstacles to local financing or to provide additional state aid to local school districts."

"For this purpose, I recommend a total authorization of $20,000,000 with an appropriation of $5,000,000 the first year of a three-year period."

There you have it. He is going to take our money away from us, give it back to us in the form of schools and charge us $20,000,000 for doing it.

Those of you who bothered to read the entire text of the message, and a great many people haven't, might have been taken in by his statement at the opening of the message.

Having said that the question of proper classrooms "must be weighed most carefully," he then deliberately repeated the Big Myth in connection with public schools. He said:

"The phrase 'free education' is a deliberate choice. For unless education continues to be free — free in its response to local community needs, free from any suggestion of political domination, and free from impediments to the pursuit of knowledge by teachers and students — it will cease to serve the purpose of free men."

Now Eisenhower knows that he was repeating a myth when he selected, or had selected for him, these words. He knew that public school education is not free but on the contrary is the most expensive form of funneling information we have — so much more expensive than private schools that private schools can exist even though they also have to pay the cost of the public schools.

He also knows that NOTHING that is operated with public money is "free from any suggestion of political domination." By the very fact that he has made the proposal to a political group in Washington for action he demonstrated that the public school system is and has to be shot through with politics. It cannot be otherwise.

If he will agree that freedom is no impediment to the pursuit of knowledge by teachers and students and that people living under socialism or communism are not free, then he also would have to admit that by the very fact that the public school system is a form of socialism or communism that the system itself stands as an impediment to the pursuit of knowledge.

One thing that continues to puzzle us is the fact that there are a great many people who agree with us that federal control of schools is a terrible thing and that this program is the starter towards it, do not agree on the danger or evil if it is transacted to a lower level of government — the state, county or community. Many can see the danger of federal control for that is "government control" but refuse to see that control by any lesser segment of government is still "government control."

From this point of view the proposal of the President makes good sense. If we are to have our lives and schools controlled by government, then the efficient thing to do is to turn the control over to the federal government, cut out a lot of the state bureaucrats and officials and bring the notion to the logical conclusion of some form of dictatorship.

The truth is that government control is government control no matter where you find it. True, it may be a little easier to deal with at a local level than it is in Washington, but the fact remains that both are government agencies and if they run and control schools then the schools are "government schools."

So far as the President's program for spending billions of our dollars through the Washington funnel instead of letting us spend them here ourselves, we hope that the Congress will be too wise to make this new attack upon state's rights and the plan to further impoverish the states by adding new federal taxes. We hope that the Congress will give a firm thumbs down to any such program.

The new Russian government, which is violently anti-American, has made Marshal Zhukov its top military figure. So, with danger of war at any minute, it's natural that he should now be a favorite with a lot of people in Washington. They want to get him over here as a guest, presumably at the White House, as soon as possible. They point out the fact that Ike and Zhukov laid the foundations for American-Russian cooperation in Berlin and, for some reason, they seem to think that this turned out so well that the old team ought to be got together again. So far, Ike hasn't said that Zhukov should be invited to the White House. But he hasn't said he won't be invited. The only people he is sure will never be invited are Senator and Mrs. McCarthy. But then they have none of Zhukov's qualifications. They've only fought for this country.

Methodist Bishops

Crusade For UN

III

I want to quote further from the Methodist Bishops' booklet "Piousness and Praying Hooks," in which they attempt to present the meaning of peace. And since I have criticized their interpretation of the meaning of peace, in order to be fair, I want to define later in this article what I believe to be the genuine meaning of peace.

In the last issue I was discussing Dr. Ralph W. Sockman's interpretation of the meaning of peace. Since the Methodist Bishops are so convinced that the United Nations is the best means of promoting peace, they seem to believe that it is absolutely necessary to liquidate our citizens' belief in the moral ideas of our government, as set forth in the Declaration of Independence. So long as people in this country believe that our government was founded on moral principles, it will be very difficult for the advocates of the United Nations to get them to have more faith in the United Nations, which is based on no moral law, than they have had in the moral principles of our Founding Fathers.

Are We Pharisees? Dr. Sockman would leave the impression that we who believe that our government was based on moral virtues are pharisees. He puts it in this clever manner:

"We should avoid any pharisaical pride which might attribute our prosperity to our superior virtues. Involved as we have been in the milieu of international selfishness, let us at the throne of grace pray for mercy."

Of course, our government has done a lot of foolish things, but that was a result of departing from the moral ideas of the Founding Fathers. Our prosperity was due to the fact that our government was more moral than any other government in the world. It had more respect for individual initiative.

On the same page that Dr. Sockman talks about our praying for mercy, he contends:

"Governments are not persons and, therefore, cannot be guided strictly by personal moral codes."

On the same page he also contends that the government is responsible for the welfare of the citizens within its borders. But all governments are paupers. They can only take care of people by using aggressive force to take from some in order to benefit others.

If we want to have peace or even approach having peace, we must first have a clear conception of peace. We cannot even approach peace if we do not know what it is. We will have little chance of approaching peace unless we get rational people — people who will answer questions without evasion or contradiction — to agree on the real meaning of peace.

My Definition of Peace Now, since I have criticized the Bishops' interpretation of peace in their 25-page attempt to clarify the meaning of peace, I want to briefly define what I believe is peace.

I believe peace is the absence of aggressive force or fraud; the absence of coercive force, either individually or collectively. That means, of course, that people would get what they get on a voluntary basis rather than by aggression. To my notion, peace is the same as liberty. Liberty is also the absence of aggressive force, and since things that are equal to each other, then peace is liberty and liberty is peace.

When I use the word liberty I am using it as the Founding Fathers used it in the Declaration of Independence, and as St. Paul used it when he said "where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." That means where the spirit of the Lord is, there is peace.

Free Market For Labor Peace means there would be an absolutely free and unimpeded market throughout the world for labor.

Now, if we accept this definition that peace is the absence of aggressive force, what will we have to rule out in order to promote peace?

This definition, of course, would eliminate coveting, murdering and stealing individually and collectively. It would eliminate drafting soldiers.

It would eliminate tariffs and immigration quotas. It would exclude taxation. As long as we have taxation that is secured by the use of aggressive force, we can have a truce in our country, but not real peace.

Peace would not sanction compulsory tax-supported schools. We cannot have peace when the majority has the right to use aggressive force to make people attend schools and to pay for them. It is simply a truce.

Individuals who believed in peace would never attempt to do things on the theory that might makes right or the end justifies the means.

A belief in peace would cause people to abandon the belief in collective bargaining that takes away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain. Peace is based on individual inalienable rights, just as liberty is based on those inalienable rights. These are just some of the things that a belief in the true meaning of peace would cause people to do.

Result of Belief in Peace If people really understood and believed in peace, the spiritual and material well being of the people all over the world would be greatly improved. Practically all the bureaucrats would be producing wealth that would benefit mankind.

Unions Gobbling Up Stock In Key U. S. Corporations

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The demand for federal supervision and periodical examination of labor unions' welfare funds has been strengthened as a result of their alleged use in Louis E. Wolfson's attempt to obtain control of Montgomery Ward Company from Sewell L. Avery, present head of the mail-order house.

Dave Beck's International Brotherhood of Teamsters has already bought $1,000,000 worth of M-W stock, and he has announced that he expects to buy at least another million. Smaller unions are reported to have made a similar investment, and to have urged individual members to buy.

Montgomery Ward has liquid assets of $300,000,000, and if Wolfson follows his usual practice of distributing reserves in immediate dividends, Beck and his associates will make a killing.

The Florida capitalist pursued this method when he won control of Washington's transit system, handling out funds that had been built up for improvement of the service. As a result, there have been suggestions that the Federal government take over the trolleys and bus lines.

A trustee of the Teamsters' welfare fund is James B. Hoffa of Detroit, who is also a vice president of the union. In fact, Hoffa is regarded as the real boss of the organization. He has had several encounters with local and federal courts for alleged use of violence in compelling workers to join unions against their will.

Senator Homer E. Capehart of Indiana will cite these facts in support of his measure to force publication of the names of proxy holders in fights for control of great corporations. The Indiana Senator also charges that underworld interests are buying into many key industries.

There were 28 proxy battles in 1954 alone, involving great industries and billions of dollars with no publicity with regard to the ownership of vast blocs of stock. The Hoosier believes that this secrecy constitutes a serious threat to future control of the nation's economic system.

The Teamsters' Union is now striving to obtain a union shop contract for more than 10,000 Montgomery Ward employees. A rugged individualist, Avery has opposed unionization. But, as fairly large stockholders, the unions will occupy a strategic position in future dealings with M-W management.

Hoffa's strong-arm unionization tactics have led him into frequent encounters with local and Federal courts, as well as with state and Congressional investigating committees. They revealed that in 1947 he paid a fine in Detroit for violating a state law by forcing members to join a union.

In 1947, he pleaded no contention to a Federal charge that he forced dealers and mills to do business with his union.

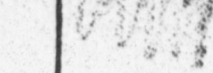

any greater blessings than peace and liberty.

Better Definition This column would be glad to publish any better definition of peace than I have made an attempt to present. We cannot have too clear an understanding of the true meaning and blessing that come from real and genuine peace. The columns are open.

Fair Enough

Executive Hesitant To Admit Making $200,000 From $60

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have undertaken to reveal activities of the Union Casualty and Life Insurance Company of Mount Vernon, N. Y., whose president has been writing letters to newspaper editors all over the country for years and getting them printed. This president is Alfred Baker Lewis, an inveterate Socialist Party functionary who sets forth in Who's Who his connection with the insurance company but says no more about that.

Dr. Leo Periman, who derived his title from an "equivalent" degree from "The Charles University in Prague," was examined in Detroit in November, 1953. He referred to himself as "doctor," William McKenna, counsel for a special committee of the House Committee on Education and Labor which in 1953 investigated "union welfare funds and labor racketeering," and several congressmen of that committee examined him. The most diligent of these congressmen was Clare Hoffman, of Michigan. His purpose of smashing the rackets and sending grafting dignitaries of the teamsters' union to prison was frustrated by Republican politicians of the Eisenhower machine who were counting the crooked political agents of the rackets as ardently as the Roosevelt corruption courted them in years past. McKenna got disgusted and quit.

Periman as a slippery witness was constantly stalling and trying to turn the questions. McKenna and Hoffman let him get away with a good deal of this when it must have been plain that he knew quite well what the questions meant. Hoffman and Congressman Wint Smith and Phil Landrum, in their report to Congress, wrote that Lewis's Union Casualty Co. was at the center of the inquiry into union "welfare" funds. Periman was "executive vice-president" of the company and he revealed a curious thing. He said Union Casualty grew out of another company which he controlled called United Public Service Corp., which was "the manager of Union Casualty and Life." The insurance company was formed in the early 1940's. Lewis became vice-president in 1943 and president in 1944. It had only 18 or 20 employees. United Public Service was created on an investment of $60 by Periman "to become the managing arm of Union Casualty and Life." He had a 50 per cent interest. Periman had great success in obtaining union welfare fund business despite the insurance company's abnormally high retention rate and rate credit refunds paid directly to the unions, although the premiums were paid by the employees.

Through one Joseph Jacobs, a Chicago lawyer acquainted among union operators, Periman met Paul Dorfman, proprietor of a local union of the A.F. of L. composed of garbage and trash collectors, mostly colored men. Dorfman had a son, Paul, at the University of Illinois earning $50 a week teaching gymnastic work and "economics." After a course of training in Periman's New York office, this young man formed an insurance agency for mass "welfare" policies, first called "The Circle Agency or something, later changed to Union Insurance Company of Illinois." Young Dorfman, in Periman's words, "didn't have the slightest notion — I want to make that clear — about the business," but in a period of four years he received "in the neighborhood of $250,000 in commissions on one policy" covering Local 1321 of the "United Electrical Workers of the AF of L." This must be an incorrect identification, for the AF of L electricians are called "The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers." The UEW is a CIO union.

This policy covered 5,800 subjects when Dorfman wrote the "business" in 1949, but there were 20,000 in November, 1953. At the start, Union Casualty paid Dorfman 10 per cent and Periman's United Public Service Corp. paid him 5 per cent. Periman said his lawyer friend, Jacobs, was attorney for the electric local. Dorfman's mother was her son's partner.

Hoffman asked Periman if it were not true that his United Public Service Corp. got 7 1/2 per cent commission on all premiums. Periman said "not in all instances," although that was a basic agreement between his service company and Union Casualty. This agreement was made in the spring of 1942 and Periman agreed that it gave his public service company "exclusive right to manage the affairs of Union Casualty."

Periman's tax return showed, that in 1951 he sold his 60 shares of Public Service Corp. which had cost him only $1 a share, for $200,000. There were only 120 shares in all. Periman first tried to have it that this stock had cost him $2,000. McKenna nailed him fast. McKenna: "How much did you pay for those shares?" Periman: "Originally, I would have to look into the record. Not too much."

McKenna: "What is your recollection?" Periman: "I think they were of non-par value. We paid about 2,500 and something dollars for our interest. I state it with reservation because I am not sure and, if permitted, I will give the figures from the books."

No McKenna confronted Periman with his tax return, stating that the stock which sold for $200,000 had cost him only $60.

"That may be that," Periman said. "So it was not $2,000 but $60," said McKenna.

Periman stalled again. He would like to consult the records, McKenna demanded. "If it states $60 it was $60," Periman said, "I don't remember."

The committee reported that Periman's Service Corp. was paid $1,300,000 in commissions and expenses from 1948 until the middle of 1953 while the Dorfman Agency got just over $1,000,000. Of course the Periman-Lewis interests got much other income from other unions.

Practically all parents are faced at one time or another with curious behavior problems in their children. One mother writes, "An 8-year-old daughter of mine does not eat well and has developed a twitch in her face wrinkling her nose to one side. My husband and I differ on how to handle this. He feels she should be kept at the table until she eats or punished if she does not. I think if he, her brother and three sisters would ignore her she would be better. There is also a new baby 18 months old who may be affecting her behavior."

Another mother asks what could cause her child aged between one and two to pull his hair out along the side of his head.

Hank Gets An Opportunity To Test Auto Gas Mileage

By HENRY McLEMORE

Come midnight Sunday, 22 and 1/2 crack drivers will get behind the wheels of that many 1955 American stock cars and leave Los Angeles for Colorado Springs in the annual Mobilgas Economy Run.

I will be the fractional, or 1/2 crack driver. The purpose of the 1,323-mile journey is to determine the average miles-per-gallon of the cars, which are divided into four classifications — low price, low-medium, upper-medium, and high price.

The cars will include nearly every size, shape, and style of this year's passenger cars, and are strictly stock. They were chosen at random by the AAA (which conducts the run under rules and regulations stricter than those of an Army court-martial) from factories, showrooms, and warehouses throughout the country. If there ever was a dead level test this is it.

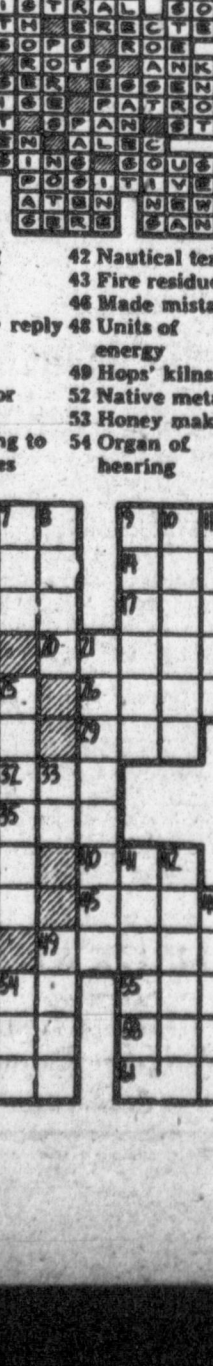

The run will be made in three legs, with stops at Tucson, Albuquerque, and Colorado Springs. The distance must be covered in a maximum of 32 hours 30 minutes and AAA observers (two of them) will ride in each car to see that the drivers observe all traffic laws, take no short cuts but stay strictly on the course, and live up to the letter of the law laid down by the officiating body.

I am going to make the run to see what sort of mileage I can get. I am not officially entered, and my mileage won't count, but I will get the same treatment as the official drivers. My gas tank will be sealed and will not be opened except by officials at the designated refueling stops. My car will be impounded before the start to keep me from fiddling with it, and it will not have been driven

PICTURE NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

ON ITS WAY—A new 2500-ton ferry is sliding down the ramp at a shipyard in Hamburg, Germany. Capable of carrying 1600 passengers, the boat will operate between Hamburg and the island spa of Heligoland in the North Sea. She cost about $1,500,000 to build.

COLD COMFORT—The seats are upholstered in soft snow in New York's Central Park where Peter Frazier usually reads his morning paper. The city's heaviest snowfall of winter didn't keep this morning stroller from following his routine. It almost seems as if he's quietly sitting there, waiting for more of that soft white stuff.

DUNK GUARD—Singer Burl Ives decided in New York that someone should invent one, and he came up with this idea. He places a paper cup in his coffee so he won't drown that doughnut. Ives is rehearsing in Tennessee Williams' latest play, "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof," heading for Broadway.

SHOW PUPS—Johnny Heslip, nine, has a mighty fond look for "Scrappy," his month-old pup of unknown origin, which won first prize in the puppy class at the 33rd annual Pet Show at Madison Square Garden, above. Drina Ruttkay, 10, of Royersford, Pa., below, is hoping for the best with her pair of Keeshond pups at the 79th annual Dog Show of the Westminster Kennel Club, also at the Garden.

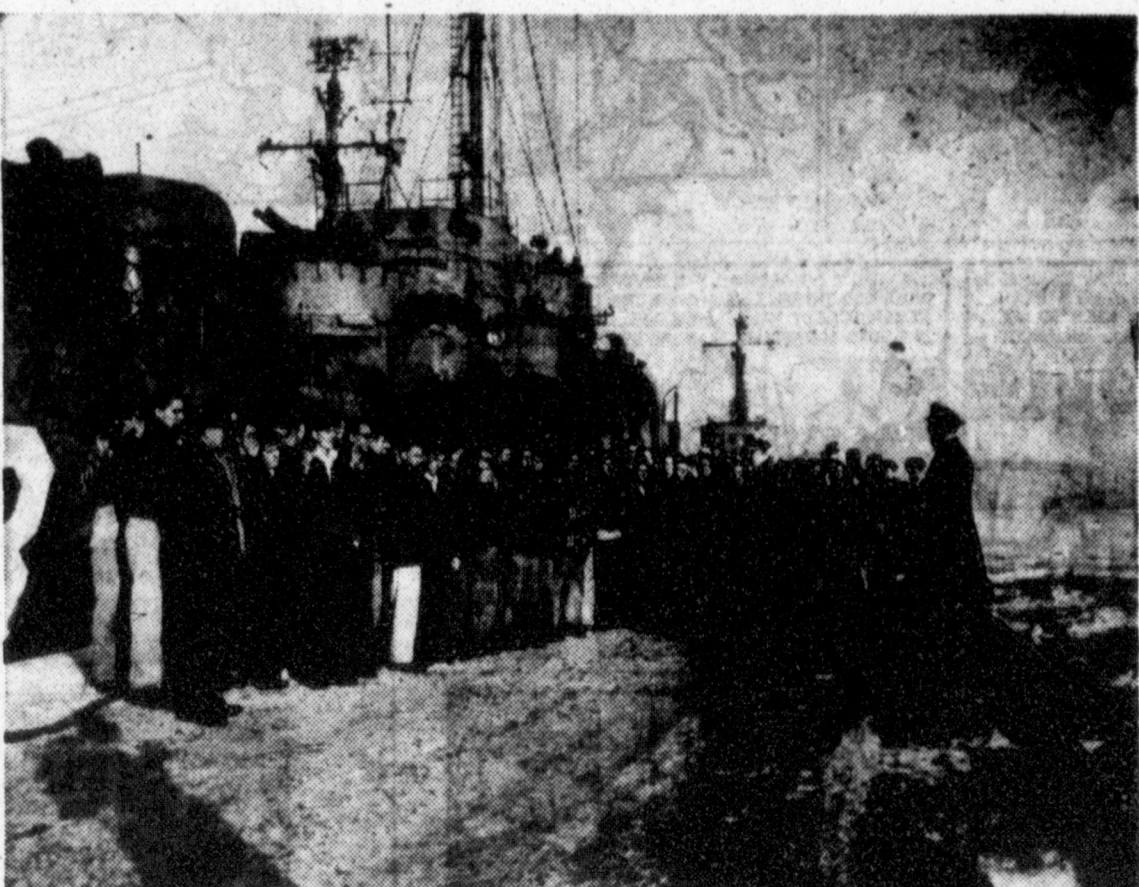

RIDERS IN THE SEA—These thoroughbred race horses frolic in the surf of Miami Beach as a happy interlude between races. Ocean swimming, in addition to recreational benefits to horses, also helps relieve sore legs and muscles. It is one of the best conditioners known to trainers, and these horses will be ready for the Gulfstream Park meeting in March.

REFLECTIONS IN A POOL—Any guests of the Flamingo Hotel who happened to be under water when this photo was taken in Las Vegas, Nev., got a fish-eye view of Ruth and Dorothy Costello, 21-year-old twins from Des Moines, Ia. They were posing at the swimming pool of the hotel where they are dancing, and a mirror had been placed on the water for a more accurate reflection.

COSTUME LOOK—Ever a fashion favorite, the costume is again an important item for spring. Typical is this three piece ensemble which combines navy wool and checked blue and white linen. The slim cardigan coat is lined with the linen almost to the edge. The overblouse, also made of the matching linen, is very loose fitting for added chic.

ANCHORS AWEIGH—In a proper nautical setting, 70 Naval Reserve recruits were sworn in on a pier jutting into frozen Lake Michigan at Chicago. The future sailors, the Navy's first all-Illinois company, were sworn in by Rear Admiral Daniel V. Gallery.

GREEDY BOY—That's the impression an elderly seal seems to be giving to an acquaintance who's swimming up to film at the London Zoo. The fact that it's chow time probably has a lot to do with this one's stand-offish attitude; he doesn't want to share his fish with anyone else.

FIGHTING PAIR—Rosalind Russell and arthritis victim Kirsten Lund, 7, teamed up in Hollywood to put the crippler on the run. Kirsten has suffered with it since she was 18 months old, and Miss Russell is co-chairman of the national fund-raising drive. She just finished "The Girl Rush," a new movie.

REAL FAIR DEALER—Sleight of hand and long on legs—that's pretty Dominique Wilms, who shows some fancy finger-work with playing cards in Paris. With her skill at the pasteboards, Dominique hopes to win an apartment in a tournament of Belote, a French card game. Friends of the actress organized the tournament to help their pretty acquaintance.

Successful Comic Knew Two Failures Before Becoming Star

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Danny Thomas, television's man of the hour, Wednesday patted his two gold Emmy statuettes, but his success, he admitted, came after two failures.

The sad-eyed Thomas' comedy series about the family life of a night-club entertainer, "Make Room for Daddy," nosed out such competition as "Burns and Allen" and "I Love Lucy" at the TV Academy awards presentation Monday night.

And Thomas himself won the "best actor" award over Jackie Gleason and Jack Webb in another surprise upset of the Emmy race.

To Danny the statuettes are meaningful for his success story has been a long and painful one.

"I had a rough time in TV and radio," he said as he relaxed in his Beverly Hills home. "I was on TV two seasons, once a month, but I was neither fish nor fowl. It bothered me tremendously, I had always done well in clubs but I couldn't get off the ground in TV. I think being on once a month didn't give me a chance to snowball."

"I had my own show on radio

but again I was neither fish nor fowl."

"Then I signed with ABC-TV. I made an honest plea to my writer and producer for a wonderful show. I was on the road so much I would

Probe Not Cause Of Stock Price Decline

WASHINGTON — UP — A top official of the nation's largest brokerage firm expressed doubt Wednesday that a Senate investigation of the market boom had anything to do with the decline in stock prices.

The broker, Winthrop H. Smith, also told the Senate Banking committee that he does not believe there is any justification for statements that the investigation will affect stock prices.

Smith is managing director of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, a brokerage firm with headquarters in New York and offices throughout the nation and some places abroad.

He attributed the stock boom of the past 18 months to confidence on the part of investors that a long period of prosperity lies ahead.

"I told them I wanted to make good in TV so I could stay home and be with my children. My three kids thought I was a visiting uncle. I was on the road so much I would buy them clothing that didn't fit. I told the producer and writer, 'you've got to do something.'

"They cried — that's the format of the show! Make it slightly biographical."

The program originally was called "Here Comes Daddy." Mrs. Thomas suggested the current title after a family slogan. When Thomas would leave on night-club tours in his pre-TV days, one child would move into mother's room. When Thomas returned, the youngster would move out his belongings to "make room for daddy."

"I failed twice," the comedian reflected. "The third time I either had to strike out or get on base. 'Monday night at the Emmy awards,' he grinned, "we hit a home run."

I guess it proves that if you honestly feel you belong in show business you've got to keep working until you find your niche."

Thanks to Danny's success, Memphis, Tenn., is getting a new hospital for underprivileged children. Back in 1940 in Detroit he prayed to St. Jude, "inspire me and I'll build you a shrine." That year he was a nightclub hit in Chicago, and has not forgotten his prayer. The hospital opens soon.

Five Die, 18 Hurt In Coast Hotel Fire

PORTLAND, Ore. — UP — Five persons died and 18 others, including 13 firemen, were injured Wednesday when a three-alarm fire gutted a three-story downtown hotel.

Three of the injured were reported in critical condition.

Billy The Kid Meets Jess James

FRANKFURT, Germany — UP — Billy the Kid met Jesse James here but not a single shot was fired.

Five-foot, eight-inch Billy the Kid Roberts — that is his legal name — ran into 6-foot, 2-inch Jesse James at U.S. Fourth Infantry Division headquarters here. Billy the Kid is a corporal, Jesse a private. Both like the famed gunman of the old West are expert marksmen.

Roberts said he was named after Billy the Kid to please his great uncle, Kit Carson, a descendant of the American frontiersman, Uncle Sam Roosevelt, N. M.

James, a distant relative of train robber Jesse, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud C. James, of Ponchatoula, La.

The coroner's office identified four of the dead as George Naidenoff, 69; George Nunotami, 79; William Covington, and Robert Edward Roden. A fifth body, not immediately identified, was found later.

The fire was discovered about 1 a.m. by a tenant who ran into the street yelling as Patrolmen Alfred Aaronson and Melvin Hulett were passing.

The officers turned in the alarm and helped get the seven children of the managers, Tom and Mary Saito, out of the building. Mr. and Mrs. Saito braved the thick smoke to awaken persons on the second and third floors.

Nunotami, one of the victims at U.S. Fourth Infantry Division headquarters here, wearing nightclothes, scrambled to safety down the stairs like the famed gunman of the old West are expert marksmen.

Four firemen were hospitalized and others were treated at the Billy the Kid to please his great uncle, Kit Carson, a descendant of the American frontiersman, Uncle Sam Roosevelt, N. M.

Firemen battled the flames for nearly three hours. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. About 75 persons registered in the 70-room hotel.
