CAUTION!

YOU MAY BE THE VICTIM OF A FAST-TALKING ARTIST

AND, SO, WE OFFER YOU THESE SUGGESTIONS

Be on your guard when approched by certain out-of-town roofing and siding salesmen. It's always wise to consult your local lumber dealer and compare notes and figures. You'll save if you take local, friendly advice. You'll have few, if any, regrets later. You'll avoid buying inferior materials and poor workmanship. Home owners throughout the country have learned the hard way and now they take caution . . . they consult the man in their home town with whom they live and see every day. Don't be pressured or kidded into buying a roof or a siding job at prices which in the end cost you more than your local dealer asks. Your local, refiable lumber dealer

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. WOODROW ADCOCK First Methodist Church Pampa, Texas

THE MEANING OF FRIENDSHIP

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if you do whatsoever I command you."

-St. John 15:13-14

The word "friendship" takes on a new and deeper meaning because Jesus blessed it and demonstrated in His own life the real significance of it. Friendship in the mind of Jesus was one of the most beautiful and significant qualities of life one might possess. He said, "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends." According to Christ a real friend is one who is willing to spend himself for the other and this not only ungrudgingly without reckoning up the cost, but eagerly giving his very life, if need be, to aid and save his friends. Aristotle said, "Friendship seems to lay in the loving rather than in being loved."

Friendship also consists in a frank, unhesitant opening of one's heart and whole mind to the other, without pretense or secretiveness. Many of our acquaintanceships fall far short of friendships at this very point. We are not willing to share our deep secrets with others because we do not sufficiently trust them. But Jesus said, "I do not call you servants but friends because I have made known to you the deep secrets of Mv own heart." He has held back nothing from us concerning God's love; God's willingness to forgive us of our sins; God's ability to empower us for a triumohant and victorious life. How deeply indebted we are to Jesus for being such a friend to us as to reveal the deep mysteries of God to us; He held back nothing.

Finally in real friendship there is a trust in the other that believes in him, that is willing to risk everything on the other without doubting his loyalty. That is the kind of friend Jesus was to His diciples, and is to each of us today. He believes in us; He can see good in us; He is always seeking to encourage us; and He wants us to recognize Him as a real friend whom we can trust and believe in with all our hearts.

If a person has friends, he is rich, indeed, regardless of his standing or station in life. Friends are more valuable than money, they are more est sential to happiness and joy than the material possessions of this world and the greatest friend of all is Jesus Christ, the Lord.

"For example, take the history of our own United States. In the middle of the last century, the sovereign states within the union were closely bound together by an effective federal constitution. There was little armament. The small companies of volunteer troops in the various states were maintained primarily for internal security.

No state in the union could legally go to war against any other state in the union. In the case of conflict between states, or between a state and a nation outside the un-authorities would be binding upon all the states within the union.

And on demand, the various states

were obligated to supply troops

Their "contributions" will make it possible to put off the evil day of reality. Meanwhile, there is no solution to the problem. However, the end is in sight and there is no possibility of a solution other than these two: (1) Some administration with courage and a normal sense of arithmetic will repudiate the whole business, either paying back the money which has been filched from the wage-earners or repudiate that, too. Or (2) The whole rotten system will continue to expand until we are all in the same boat and then it will collapse. Either of these drastic terminations will bring us back to the moral principles expounded by no less a student of government and freedom than Thomas Jefferson. He said: "To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our election between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude . . . If we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

Occuring in the midst of this heart-stirring account, the abovequoted sentence struck me as somehow epitomizing one of our biggest jobs as Christian citizens: to fight evil wherever we find it -but with gentleness toward the I sometimes think we fail too

Paul instructed us to "abhor that which is evil" and "overcome" it, but he also reminded us that "the servant of the Lord must . . . be gentle unto all men.'

> "The advocates of the United Nations and other schemes for world government are doubtless incere in their wishes and plans for a better world and the end of wars. Most of them honestly believe that a supergovernment with 'teeth' in its decisions will bring this about. But, in reality, their attempts to unite peoples of con-flicting beliefs and interests are more apt to bring war than peace. This is true because their attempts could stop them. World Governments Through "Has there ever been a voluntary and permanent union of peoples or nations with violently conflicitng interests of religious beliefs, racial backgrounds, economic policies and so on? All the world governments of the pastfrom the Babylonian Empire through the empires of the Greeks, Romans, Spaniards, English, Turks and Russians - were formed by war. In rare instances, common interests developed later on in a manner to keep them voluntarily united to some extent. But in almost every case, the peoples and nations with original conflicting interests still held those conflicting interests and animosities even after the passage of hundreds years. They rebelled at the first opportunity. Ireland, Finland and all South American countries are

STURE REWS AROUND HIE SPORTS WORLD

STAND IN-Heavyweight wrestling contender Leo Nomellini struggles free of a face lock clamped on him by Joe Malcewicz, right, cagey promoter and veteran of 25 years in the ring. Malcewicz was in San Francisco to help "Leo the Lion" prepare for his forthcoming March 22nd match with FUN ON THE SIDE-Dodger outfielder Duke Snider is showing his 26-pound catch of bass to son Kevin at the Brooklyn training camp in Vero Beach, Fla. The Dodgers are really down to baseball business now, and hard at spring training.

GOOD NOOSE FOR HIM-Lassoed and apparently loving it is pianist Liberace, who was rounded up in this manner in San Francisco to receive greetings from the residents. Pretty Coraleen Jurian, Queen of the city's Cow Palace, gave Liberace an official welcome before he played a concert and it's no wonder he had so few objections to being roped in.

SHE MADE HER CATCH-Movie star Susan Hayward was certainly surprised as she hauled in this amberjack during a fishing trip near Miami Beach, Fla. Although well short of this season's Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament record, Susan had nothing to be ashamed of with this fellow; the FEELING UPSET-Dave Dawson didn't foresee the need for handsprings but he performed a rather neat one in this scramble on the basketball court as his own St. Ignatius high school team met Sacred Heart high's squad in San Francisco. Rich Furrer, left, of Sacred Heart and Bill Connolly of St. Ignatius view Dawson's impromptu gymnastics with surprise.

FIVE FOR ONE-Alvin Partridge is standing beside his catch of four bobcats and a lynx which were all bagged within 20 miles of the hunter's home, Newport, N. H. The Canadian lynx, shown lashed to the bumper on the car, was tracked for three hours on Mt. Moosilauke. This animal is considered quite a rarity in New Hampshire, and Partridge was proud of landing it.

ON HER WAY-Czechoslovakian ice-skating star Miroslava Nachodska, who fled from the Reds while in Vienna with members of the Czech ice-skating team competing in world championship events, is shown asking directions in Linz, Austria. The young escapee was taken to Linz after her break with the Reds, and she's enjoying the unknown freedom to come and go as she pleases.

POLAR PRETTY - Ann Adam is wearing the polar bear skin coat that's part of her costume as Arctic Queen of the 10-day Fur Festival in Anchorage, Alaska. This parka is made from pelts sold at the big fur auction attended by local and Stateside bidders.

SHARPENING UP-Giant second sacker, Davey Williams, flips a ball to shortstop Al Dark, left, who leaps high to get off his throw to first base during spring training drills at Phoenix, Ariz. Williams and Dark, the double-play experts of the world champions, are smoothing out the rough spots in their double-play combination.

SUNNY VIEW - Hollywood starlet Vicki Lane is taking a breather before heading down a ski trail at Sun Valley. The resort is famous for the opportunities it offers to ski and get a good suntan at the same time. Vicki's dressed in the correct outfit for it.

GETTING HIS SNAP BACK-Casey Stengel, left, manager of the New York Yankees, casts -a quizzical eye at Ewell Blackwell as the veteran pitcher rears back to fire one during a workout session at the Yanks' training site in St. Petersburg, Fla. Blackwell voluntarily retired from baseball before the '54 sea son but is now attempting a comeback.
