Norther Greeted In Texas

Weather Brings Welcome Moisture

By UNITED PRESS
A vicious cold wave ripped across Texas Saturday, bringing welcome moisture in the form of rain, snow and not-so-welcome sleet. The temperature was due to plunge to near zero in the Panhandle back of the front. It was the coldest wave of air of the winter. Severe thunderstorms were set off over a wide area of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Turbulence was so severe that a warning of possible tornadoes was issued for an area 50 miles either side of a line between Bryan and Lufkin, but the danger period passed at 6 p.m. Saturday without any tornadoes being confirmed. Later, the weather bureau issued two more warnings of possible tornadoes, covering sections of East Texas and South Texas.

Warning Area
The later warnings said "isolated locally severe thunderstorms" could be expected until midnight as the cold front moved through "an area along and 100 miles east of a line from 100 miles west of Brownsville to 40 miles north of Shreveport, La."

"There is a risk of an isolated tornado for the same period 60 miles either side of a line from Lufkin, Tex., to Eldorado, Ark., and also 60 miles either side of a line from Lufkin, Tex., to Eldorado, Ark., and also 60 miles either side of a line from 30 miles south of Alice, Tex. to Victoria, Tex."

Snow and sleet fell in the Panhandle Friday night and in the Wichita Falls area. There was a possibility of sleet in the northern part of Texas Saturday night, but West Texas and the Panhandle had clear weather back of the front.

Temperatures of from 2 to 12 degrees above zero were forecast for the Panhandle and Upper South Plains Saturday night. The lowest temperature in that area early Saturday was eight degrees at Dalhart, and most of the area had (See NORTHER, Page 3)

'Windfallers' To Be Checked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—UP—The Federal Housing Administration announced Saturday that all builders applying for FHA-insured loans henceforth must fill out two forms designed to flush those who allegedly have made illegal "windfall" profits in the past.

Commissioner Norman P. Mason said the new forms, required before a loan application can be processed, "will isolate those who have abused FHA programs and at the same time remove any cloud of suspicion which may hover over others innocent of any wrong-doing."

He said the FHA will deny loan guarantees to any builder whose completed forms reveal "evidence of criminal violations, unauthorized distribution of profits, false statements, fraud or other wrong-doing" in connection with past FHA loans.

The forms apply only to builders; individual home buyers applying for FHA-insured mortgages are not affected.

What Is A Water District?

The chief concern of folks in the Top O' Texas area is water, and the formation of an underground water district has been discussed and will be talked further in subsequent meetings.

Pampa News Staff Writer Bill Kerr has reported these three meetings and has made a study of the water district proposition. His findings are to be reported in a series of articles beginning today on page 5. There will be other articles next week.

This is another example of timely feature reporting designed to help keep readers of The Pampa Daily News well informed.

Short Hop Airliner Disappears Over New Mexico With 16

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 19—UP—An airliner carrying 16 persons on a 20 minute flight from Albuquerque to Santa Fe disappeared in a snow storm Saturday over rugged north central New Mexico, there was little hope any of the 16 survived.

Upwards of 50 planes and hundreds of men searched the area all day for some sign of the plane without success. All were called in for the night except for one plane which will search for possible flares and campfires. The temperature was expected to drop to five degrees Saturday night.

The twin-engine Trans-world Airlines Martin Skyliner took off at 7:02 a.m. with 13 passengers and a crew of three for the 60 mile hop to Santa Fe. The tail end of a blizzard was blowing light snow over the area.

Several Indians in the area told of seeing a huge plane circling the area as if in distress and two briefs in a heavy snow, only to return as if searching for a place to land. He said the plane's wheels were down.

Pete Quintana, a rancher, observed a plane circling his home southwest of the Domingo three times, each time disappearing briefly in a heavy snow, only to return as if searching for a place to land. He said the plane's wheels were down.

The Nationalist air and sea forces Friday destroyed 21 Red warcraft in a daylong battle off Taishan. The air force claimed it bombed and machinegunned a submarine, which may have been Russian, but the defense ministry would not confirm or deny the report.

The Communist fleet hit Saturday on its way from the port of Foochow on the Red-held mainland to Taishan, from which the Reds would have to mount their invasion of either Nanchi or Matsui, military sources said.

The air force communique Saturday said only three of 23 Red warcraft caught near Taishan escaped into the open sea. The other 20 were bombed and riddled with machinegun and cannon fire in the attempt to put new Red troops on Taishan.

Dems To Sponsor Income Tax Cut

Renaissance Masters Displayed In Pampa

A capacity crowd has attended the showing of Renaissance painting masters at the Lovett Memorial Library, exhibited by Dr. Victor B. Lonson of New York, and sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, which closes today at 9 p.m. following a one-week exhibit.

Dr. Lonson, in the photo at left, looks on admiringly while his assistant, K. H. Engle, points out some of the fine detail in Gianbatista Tiepolo's "The Banquet of Cleopatra," priced at $35,000. Listening intently to the explanation of the technique used by Tiepolo are, from left, Mrs. Earl J. O'Brien and Mrs. Fred Sloan.

Jump The Gun On Republican Aims

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — UP — Speaker Sam Rayburn announced Saturday that House Democrats will launch a drive Monday to cut everyone's income taxes, effective next Jan. 1.

He said the Democrats, now in majority control of Congress, will back legislation to provide each taxpayer with a cut of at least $20, with an additional $20 reduction for each dependent.

The surprise announcement jumped the gun on President Eisenhower on the tax relief question which is bound to be a main issue in 1956 election year politics. Mr. Eisenhower said in his budget message earlier this year that no tax cuts are warranted this year but he "hoped" to be able to recommend some next year.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey restated the administration stand in a Chicago speech Saturday. He said the administration favors tax relief in "the long run" but "not this year."

Rayburn made his announcement after meeting privately with Democratic members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee. It represented a sudden switch in Democratic strategy. Only last week key Democratic reporters they had about given up hope for early tax cuts because of the Formosa crisis.

Rayburn said the Democratic plan for across-the-board income tax cuts will be offered as an amendment to administration-requested legislation extending for one year the corporation and excise (sales) taxes due to drop April 1.

The committee will begin hearings on this bill Monday. The tax relief proposed by the Democrats would cost the government about $1.4 billion a year. Rayburn pointed out, however, that if the cuts take effect next Jan. 1, the revenue loss during the current 1956 fiscal year would be only half that much, or about $700 million. The fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.

Rayburn himself plainly indicated the Democratic plan was aimed at beating Mr. Eisenhower to the punch.

Lie Machine Unfavorable To Preacher

HOUSTON, Feb. 19 — UP — Police Capt. Frank Murray, said Saturday that handsome lay evangelist Jesse Bolin, suspected of knowing something about the murder of middle-aged widow of a Baptist minister, has failed a lie detector test.

The widow was Mrs. Lucille Quarles, 46, who was killed Tuesday night in her home. Her murderer, choked her and dragged the body to a bathroom, where he arranged it so blood from her head would drain into the bathtub.

"The machine (lie detector) shows he is not telling the truth about everything," Murray, of the Houston police department's homicide detail, said.

He would not say what questions Bolin was asked and he did not formally charge him. But he ordered him sent back to jail after the test, his third. He was so nervous from earlier questioning on the first and second tests that he did not complete them.

But a Bible-toting friend lent him the composure to complete his third test today. Bolin said he knew he was suspected of killing Mrs. Quarles, but he didn't do it.

"I didn't kill her and I didn't hire anyone to kill her," Bolin, 39, said. "She was a good and generous woman and I can't imagine anyone wanting to kill her. I was stunned to hear about her death."

Notice of Hearing in Error
AUSTIN, Feb. 19—UP—A notice posted by the Senate's Water Rights, Irrigation and Drainage committee that a public hearing would be held Monday night on legislation creating a Lower Rio Grande Commission was in error. Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg said Saturday. Kelley is chairman of the committee which posted the notice, but he said it was in error and no hearing date has been set.

The veteran senator, who has steered several trade measures through the Senate in past years, conceded there would be a sharp fight to restrict the program. However, he anticipated final approval without changes.

"I don't think it will be as hard fought as it was in the House," George told a reporter.

George now is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Formerly, he was chairman of the finance committee which handles such reciprocal trade legislation.

The House voted 295 to 110 to approve the overall administration program. However, the key test on the controversial measure came on a 206-199 vote by which the House rejected a strong bid by protection-minded congressmen to trim the President's tariff-cutting powers.

Conservation Program Lauded
AUSTIN, Feb. 19—UP—The enactment of a state-wide conservation program would be the greatest single act of good faith in youth that could be written, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey told an estimated 2,000 Scouts and their leaders Saturday. He pinch-hitted for Gov. Allan Shivers in speaking at the presentation of Texas Scoutings' annual report to the governor.

Saturday High Hovers At 26
The high Saturday set a chill through even the most warm-blooded Pampans. The thermometer never got higher than 26.

Prospects for today are encouraging with the mercurial reading expected to rise into the mid 30s, but according to the weatherman at Radio Station KPDM, there is no prospect of rain. Forecast for today is generally fair, with a high of about 33.

Claim 41 Ships Sunk Nationalists Take Toll Of Commies

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 19—UP—Nationalist bombers sank or damaged 20 more Communist ships Saturday, trapping a Red troop convoy for the second time in 24 hours near the invasion-bulldoz base of Tai island.

Many of the 20 ships hit Saturday were heavily loaded with troops as were the 21 Red warcraft and a submarine sunk or damaged Friday in an air-sea battle off Taishan, 120 miles north of Formosa.

The Nationalist air force now claims a total of 41 ships sunk or damaged on Friday's air-sea battle and Saturday's bombing and strafing. The air force also claims to have bombed and sunk a Communist submarine off Taishan Friday.

'Situation' Is Test To Dulles

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—UP—The United States has been caught with one of its ambassadors out. Out of Rangoon, Burma, that is.

That situation is causing the State Department some embarrassment. The reason is that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is going to stop in Rangoon on his far-reaching trip to the Far East.

Dulles, who left here Friday, will stop at Rangoon on Feb. 26-27 for a visit with Burmese Prime Minister U Nu and other leaders.

Unfortunately — diplomatically speaking — the United States has not had an ambassador in Burma since July 15, 1954.

Burma is regarded by American officials as a highly-important anti-Communist nation in the Far East. It has been friendly to the United States although it has stayed out of alliances with that nation.

Recently, U Nu visited Red China and the Peiping regime has an ambassador in Rangoon. Russia also has full diplomatic relations with Rangoon.

Diplomats said a host of factors is responsible for the unfortunate American vacancy. They said none of these indicates any American dissatisfaction with Burma. They said there is no friction between the two countries which would prompt a diplomatic snub.

GLEN BURNIE, Md., Feb. 19—UP—Police and firemen Saturday rescued a three-year-old boy trapped for nearly five hours in a 25-foot, newly dug well.

Young George Machette, caught in a standing position with his hands above his head, was fed oxygen through a pipe while rescuers worked desperately to extricate him.

'Little' Man Is Benefactor

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 19—UP — A tax reduction favoring the low income group is the Democrats' answer to last year's Republican cut for big business. Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler said Saturday night.

He said he was "delighted" with Speaker Sam Rayburn's announcement in Washington that Democrats will launch a drive to cut everyone's income tax $20 per person.

Margaret's V-Lines Hit Headlines

LONDON, Feb. 19 (UP)—Princess Margaret's plunging necklines Saturday made British newspaper headlines.

The princess has appeared in her lowest-ever necklines during her present Caribbean tour. The British newspapers have been splashing pictures of her in low-cut gowns on the West Indies tour, but discreetly avoiding comment.

The princess has obviously decided to keep to the romantic décolletage designed for her by her English couturiers rather than follow Dior's flattened A and H lines," the article said.

The Women's Sunday Mirror goes on sale Saturday night. It printed pictures of the princess from 1949 to the present Caribbean cruise.

The 1949 pictures showed the princess, aged 18 in her first low-cut lace gown. Next she was pictured in 1952 in "the low-cut camisole line" she wore to a dance in Scotland.

In 1954 she is pictured in a pretty off-the-shoulder satin gown, bending to hand poses to a child. Personnel Of 'Mr. Peepers' TV Show Make The Rounds

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (UP)—The people who work on the "Mr. Peepers" program certainly get around. They can't complain of boredom from being held down to this one show.

Take Marion Lorne, the program's Mrs. Gurney, for instance. She's been out in Hollywood for several weeks with a fat part in a movie called "The Girl Rush."

Her absence was explained in her last appearance on TV just before her departure by saying that she was going to a teachers' convention.

Her "Mr. Peepers" contract, by the way, forbids her to use her two pet expressions, "Bless You" and "Ee-Ge-Boo," in the film.

Wally Plays Circuit Peepers himself, Wally Cox, has been getting around TV this season in much extra-circular stunts as guest star with Martha Raye and in the television version of "Yellow Jack."

Patricia Bennett, who is Mrs. Peepers, has been relatively inactive outside of the program. She is to become a real life mother about mid-year. Last summer, however, she played in summer stock.

Ruth McDebit, who plays Peepers' mother, has headed the cast of the Broadway hit, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," for some eight months now and left town with the attraction this week end as it began a lengthy tour. Needless to say, she won't be in any of the TV episodes for a while.

Aunt Lil is Busy Peepers' Aunt Lil is played by Reta Shaw, who is busy six nights and two matinees a week as a featured player in the Broadway musical hit, "The Pajama Game."

Her sister, Marguerite Shaw, incidentally, is on leave of absence as dean of women at American University in Washington, D. C., to play the same role in the touring company of this show.

Tony Randall, who is Harvey Westkit, Peepers' pal, ended about six months as a leading player in the Broadway comedy, "Oh, Men, Oh, Women," in December when the play went on tour. Since he is in almost every Peepers' episode, he couldn't go along.

Georgianna Johnston, the blonde beauty who is Mrs. Eskitt, had her share of Broadway lights until recently as the leading lady of "reclining figure."

Rosie Increases Series Rosemary Clooney's singing series on CBS radio will be on twice instead of once a week beginning next Tuesday as a result of what is known as popular demand. She recently asked listeners to her Thursday night show how they felt by a second weekly program; and better response was large enough to convince CBS. She's on at the same time both nights, 9 o'clock.

Ford Fund Offers Prizes The fund for the Republic, established by the Ford Foundation, is offering $29,000 in prizes for scripts of one-hour television dramas and for treatments or scripts of half-hour documentaries for TV.

Sunday Highlights Listed "Philo Television Playhouse" promises to have a rousing drama on NBC Sunday night when the story of the assassination of Leon Trotsky is told in "The Assassin" by Bernard Wolfe. Jacob Ben Ami will play the old Bolshevik leader who met his fate in a Mexican sanctuary.

Other Sunday TV highlights: "Toast of the Town" on CBS will offer a tribute to the late Gertrude Lawrence. Some of the stars who will be involved are Judith Anderson, Beatrice Lillie, Grace Fields, Dorothy Sarnoff and Mindy Carson. Ed Sullivan went to Britain and filmed scenes for use on the show.

NBC's "Colgate Comedy Hour" originates in New Orleans with such stars as Gordon MacRae, Louis Armstrong, Peggy Lee and Gene Sheldon.

School Bill Changes To Be Accepted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (UP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) indicated Saturday the administration will accept changes in its controversial school construction bill.

The New Jersey Republican is former chairman of the Senate Labor committee which has been studying the program. He also is sponsor of President Eisenhower's school construction bill.

Smith told newsmen he expects Mrs. Ove's Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education, and welfare—or her representatives to make another appearance before the committee next week to reply to criticism of the program.

Asked by newsmen if he believes the department is ready to accept some changes in the administration bill, he replied, "I see no reason why it is immune to changes."

State education officials and spokesmen for national education groups have criticized the administration proposal. It would provide a federal outlay of $1,120,000,000 mostly in loans, to stimulate an overall $7 billion investment in school buildings, over three years.

Smith said he thinks Mrs. Hobby and her aides have "thought through some of the objections" to the bill and are ready to discuss modifications.

Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.) commented that the criticism of experienced educators has made a "swept" of President Eisenhower's program. He said he did not know whether Mrs. Hobby wants an opportunity to present further testimony.

"They may want to come back to pick up some of the flotsam and jetsam," said Hill. He is author of an aid to schools bill which stresses direct grants to the states rather than loans.

California Closes Gap On New York

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (UP)—California may equal New York in population 10 years hence, the U.S. Census Bureau said Saturday.

This depends on what the Bureau called "illustrative projections" of growth rates. These are not predictions, it said, and the figures "are subject to error."

Basically, they involve births, deaths and net migration.

The Bureau said Pennsylvania should keep third place in population, with Illinois fourth, Texas and Ohio will be in close contention for fifth.

The "projections" are based on 1953 population estimates and include Armed Forces stationed in a given area.

Here are the current estimated populations of the various states, and the outlook in 1965:

California, 12,190,000 and 15,269,000; New York 15,233,000 and 16,182,000; Pennsylvania 10,656,000 and 11,285,000; Illinois 9,603,000 and 10,754,000; Ohio 8,269,000 and 9,222,100; Texas 8,298,000 and 9,288,000.

BUCKLER PAY RAISE COMMENT QUOTED $7,000 TOO LITTLE

C. P. Buckler's appraisal of the cost of living in the nation's capital is considerably higher than a report in The Pampa Daily News Friday indicated. Buckler, one of 10 persons questioned in The News' "Question of the Week" feature Friday, said he believed U. S. Congressmen were entitled to a raise in salary because "they need it to live up there." However, a typographical error listed Buckler's idea of a raise as $500. In reality, Buckler's comment was: "My idea is a $7,500 raise is pay."

Water Legislation On Austin Agenda

By LLOYD LARRABEE AUSTIN, Feb. 19—UP—Far-reaching water legislation was docketed for debate during the coming week as Texas lawmakers move into the 54th session's seventh week facing issues ranging from comic books to labor. Investigations into the scandal-ridden veterans land program continued before both House and Senate committees. The Senate's general investigating committee was scheduled to resume its inquiry Wednesday, while a special House committee will meet again on Thursday. A constitutional amendment proposed by Rep. Harold Parish of Taft, to set up a $200 million fund to help finance local water projects, was looked for consideration by the House on Tuesday. A week's day was voted by the lower chamber last Tuesday. Similar legislation with a $100 million ceiling on issuance of bonds to aid in financing local-level projects was voted out of Senate committee last Tuesday for floor consideration. The plan is sponsored by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo. Introduction of Gov. Allan Shivers' tax program was completed this week as Rep. W. G. (Cotton) Kirkin of Odessa offered a bill to boost the state's cigarette tax a penny a pack to five cents, estimated to raise $10 million a year for the depleted general revenue fund. No hearing on tax plan. Legislation previously was introduced by Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston to increase the gasoline tax two cents a gallon above the present state four-cent levy. However, neither of the two tax plans have been set for hearing. A bill banning "lewd, depraved or corruptive" comic books was scheduled for early action on final passage in the House, after receiving tentative approval Friday when the lower chamber held its first Friday meeting of the 54th session. In addition to Parish's water proposal, two other constitutional amendments were set for consideration by the House Tuesday, both sponsored by Rep. Douglas Bergman of Dallas. One would tighten bond requirements, while the second would abolish automobile property taxes and increase registration fees. Labor Bill Advances A controversial bill affecting labor was voted out of Senate committee this week and was ready for floor consideration. The measure, sponsored by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, would deny unemployment compensation benefits to members of a union idled by a strike in the same union, whether in or out of Texas. The House gave final approval this week and sent to the Senate a bill by Rep. Joe Pyle of Fort Worth which would bring insurance securities in Texas under regulation of the State Board of Insurance Commissioners. Such statutes are not now under state regulation. However, the lower chamber postponed action until next Tuesday on a bill by Rep. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi setting up an exemption system for women jurors.

Telephone Tappers Nabbed In Gotham

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—UP—Three men were charged Saturday with setting up an elaborate telephone tapping service on Manhattan's swank East Side, home of all kinds of industry, finance and society. Police said they knew of only 35 lines that were tapped but that the three had the equipment and organization to listen in on thousands of conversations. Some of the lines tapped went to officials of the E. R. Squibb Pharmaceutical Co., William J. Keating, counsel for the New York anti-crime committee said. He said it was possible the taps had been set up to give competitors inside information on Squibb's operations. There was no official information on why the taps were established but Keating said it was possible they could be used for extortion as well as for gaining secret business information. Walter B. Shannon, 30, tenant of the apartment where police uncovered the wire-tapping operation and seized $10,000 worth of eavesdropping equipment, was charged with malicious mischief, along with Carl R. Ruh and Walter Asmann, suspended employes of the telephone company. Ruh's job was to test all telephone installations and Asmann made connections between telephone lines and exchanges. Authorities said the wire tap scheme could not have operated without them because an eavesdropping network of such widespread proportions must have connections right straight to telephone company equipment. The FBI has entered the case, and in Washington, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, said an investigation has been launched to determine whether any official telephones in Washington have been tapped. Officials still have not disclosed whose wires were tapped or why they were tapped. The Feb. 11 raid was kept secret for nearly a week. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said "all the facts in the case" will be presented to a grand jury Monday.

NORTHER

(Continued from Page One) below-freezing readings all day long. Snow, Sleet Coat Roads Snow and sleet coated highways over the northeast part of the Panhandle and there was danger that wet roads over much of the northern part of the state would freeze and become dangerously slick Sunday night. The snow in the Panhandle area was driven by winds of 25 to 35 miles an hour, and it contained so much dust that the snow was reported as "brown colored" at Amarillo. The strong winds also made the weather seem more distasteful than it actually was, interfering with highway travel and causing the cold to knife through clothing. The southern part of the state enjoyed summery weather Saturday, but it was due to get much colder in that area overnight. Lows of from 25 to 35 were predicted for the interior Saturday night and 32 to 42 near the coast. Highs in the area Saturday afternoon were in the 70s and 80s. The cold front was knifing across the state toward the southeast Saturday night. Forecasters didn't believe it would get cold enough in the southern tip of the state to endanger citrus trees. In the Panhandle, where the coldest weather hit, the sun shone through late Saturday. Two bus drivers who arrived an hour and a half to two hours late at Amarillo said conditions were worse Friday night and early Saturday in New Mexico than they were in Texas. The snow reached as far south as Clovis and Roswell. Storm Cuts Wires A freak storm accident cut telephone communications between Mexico and San Antonio. A high tension power line fell across the lines after muggy weather and dust broke insulators on the power cable. The power line then fell across the cross-arms, burned them through and the power lines then fell on the telephone lines, cutting them through. The accident also cut United Press news circuits for a short time. Rains in Texas was not unusually heavy in most sections. Celina, north of Dallas, had 2.40 inches. But heavy rains were predicted for parts of east Texas late Saturday night. Other rainfall amounts included: Roanoke 1.26, Austin .67, Waco 1.66, Fort Worth .57, Sherman 1.21 and Dallas .54. Several other points had traces of rain. Temperatures were upside down Saturday, with many points having the day's high during the hours of darkness early in the day, then having the low after the front passed through. At Dallas and Fort Worth, for instance, the high was 63 degrees, but the afternoon temperature was about 34 degrees. Laredo had a high of 89 and still had 80-degree temperatures at 7:30 p. m., before the front went through. In South Texas, the front was not dropping temperatures quite as much as it did in the north, but Cotulla's high of 86 was down to 60 by nightfall.

SPY

(Continued from page one) to do next about agriculture. They are afraid—afraid to abolish the collective system or even to make adjustments in it toward a more capitalist system. Even a little concession would be the end of the state—that's why they are afraid. Expected Something to Happen It is very interesting to note from my own life in Russia—that the feeling among many members of the Communist party was strongly against collective farming. This was especially so during World War II. People in the street, on the farms and even officers in the security organs talked openly about the fact that the collective system wasn't working in Soviet agriculture. We expected something to happen. The peasants take no initiative under the system. They work just enough to get by. New lands are not producing what they should. It is certain that the Soviet Union today has inadequate food. And what do the Soviet rulers see at the other end of the tunnel? A population increase of 3 million every year to feed! Russia has many, many problems. But I am sure that the agricultural and general economic picture inside Russia is much worse than anybody expected. After Stalin died nobody had enough power to grab unchallenged leadership in Russia. That was why the collective leadership concept was followed in the early days of March, 1953. Malenkov made one very important mistake when he let the top Communist post go to Krushchev. It took Stalin 25 years to become a complete dictator. All this period he stayed at the head of the Communist party because he knew that if he died there could be hold power inside Russia. Krushchev and the people around him learned Stalin's lesson well. That's why Krushchev in two years gained the popularity and power much faster than Malenkov. He was in the driver's seat of the party. Krushchev today is not in the position Stalin was in 1935 after he had moved against the opposition group. But he is approaching the dictatorship much faster than Stalin did. In other words, now we can consider Krushchev as the only possible man who sooner or later will become dictator of the Soviet Union.

Nixon Draws Stage Smiles

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 19—UP—Vice President Richard M. Nixon was greeted here Saturday by official smiles but backstage frowns. The day was proclaimed a national holiday in Nixon's honor, and U.S. flags fluttered from virtually every building in Managua as he rode through the city from the airport to the U.S. embassy. It was an open secret, however, that there is considerable backstage dissatisfaction with U.S. "intervention" in the revolt that flared last month in Costa Rica—specifically, the cutrate sale of U.S. fighter planes to the government of Costa Rican President Jose Figueres. The revolt, launched by Costa Rican refugees from Nicaragua, climaxed years of friction between the two countries, dating from Figueres' victory in the revolution of 1948. Nixon and Assistant Secretary of State Henry F. Holland insist their visit here is purely one of good will, but reliable sources say they will do their best to restore a "climate of friendship" between Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

Beer Tax Increase Proposed

AUSTIN, Feb. 19—UP—The House Revenue and Taxation committee Saturday set a hearing March 7 on a bill calling for a penny-a-bottle increase in the state beer tax. The measure is sponsored by Rep. Jerry Sauler of Percilla, who asked earlier this week for the hearing. He charged that the "honey-money boys" are planning a scheme to block tax measures in the 54th Legislature so a special session will be called to pass a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax. The House Revenue and Taxation committee also set for hearing several other tax proposals. One would levy a tax on storing and parking garages. An opponent of incumbent Mayor Malouf Abraham's proposed city manager form of government for Canadian, Deaton said he will campaign on a platform calling for the lowest taxes and utility rates possible. He is the second citizen of Canadian to toss his hat into the mayoralty ring. Former County Judge W. L. Helton has already filed for the job. Abraham has not yet stated his intentions.

Peru Seizes U. S. Ships

TALARA, Peru, Feb. 19—The Peruvian navy has seized eight American tuna clippers and escorted them into this port, it was disclosed Saturday. New Mexico Bar Bandits Admit Deed

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 19—UP—Four bandits, one of them wounded, were captured Saturday by El Paso police and confessed they robbed a Mayhill, N. M., bar and patrons of $600 late Friday night. The wounded man is Darwin Magby. The others, giving Carlsbad, N.M., addresses, are Buddy Yates, 30; J. B. Green, 23, and Johnny R. Ballard, 23. Magby and Yates told police they were parolees from New Mexico state penitentiary. The four men, their faces masked with adhesive tape, shot the bar-owner's wife during the hold-up. Mrs. Eula Savoie, wife of Bryan Savoie, received a scalp wound that required four stitches to close. Mrs. Savoie explained to New Mexico state police that "one of the men just walked up to the bar, said 'this is a stickup,' and shot me." Her husband said he dashed from the bar as the bandits fled and fired after their car with a 30-30 caliber rifle. It was one of these bullets, police said, that hit Magby in the back.

Income Tax Primer No. 12

Final Steps More Tax -- Or A Refund

By RICHARD A. MULLEN, Written for NEA Service

If you have been following the preceding articles of the Tax Primer, the Forms 1040A are all filled out and those of you filing on Form 1040 are almost finished.

All that remains is to compute your tax, complete the part of Page 1, Form 1040, marked "Tax due or refund" and fill out the blanks at the bottom.

Remember, you should have a Form W-2 from every employer who withheld tax from your pay. If you had more than one employer, add up the amounts deducted from your pay for F.I.C.A. (Social Security) tax.

You are entitled to treat any deduction of F.I.C.A. tax in excess of $72 as additional income tax withheld. In other words any excess will be either credited or refunded to you provided you report the excess on your return as required on page 15 of the instructions.

If you owe an additional amount to Uncle Sam, payment must be made when you file your Form 1040. The return must either be in the District Director's Office or postmarked not later than midnight of April 15, 1955.

If you have a refund coming, you can either have all or part of it paid back to you or credited against your 1955 estimated tax. Do not ask to have any credited unless you expect to file a Declaration of Estimated Tax on or before April 15, 1955.

The first step in using the tax computation schedule on Page 3 is to enter on Line 1 your adjusted gross income as shown in Item 1, Page 1. What you enter in Line 2 is important. You have a choice of showing either your itemized deductions or one of the amounts shown in (a) or (b) of the instructions with Line 2. Use whichever gives you the larger deduction.

You can change your method of computation from itemized deductions to standard deductions and vice versa any time before the statute of limitations expires, which is normally three years from the time your return is due.

For example, suppose your itemized deductions are $611 while your standard deduction (10 per cent of income) is $590. You should itemize and claim the $611 deductions. Suppose also that a year or two later you or a revenue agent discovers that an additional $1000 should have been reported as income in 1954.

This would increase your standard deduction by $100 (10 per cent of $1000) making it $690. Since the standard deduction would then be larger than your itemized deductions, you could change to the larger one in making your new computation.

Fill out the remainder of the tax computation schedule of Page 3 following the instructions opposite each line and you will end up on Line 15 with the amount which goes in Item 7, Page 1, of Form 1040.

After your return reaches the District Director's office, it will be checked for mathematical accuracy. If you have made an error the District Director will send you an explanation together with either a bill or a refund depending on whether you figured too little or too much tax. If you should receive a notice telling of a mathematical error in your return and you do not agree, write the Director explaining why you don't concur in his statement.

Your return will also be reviewed to determine whether it should be examined by a Revenue Agent. Ordinarily only those returns which have doubtful or suspicious items are examined closely. The last few years, however, the Internal Revenue Service has been picking out some returns at random and giving them a close examination.

If your return is examined and additional tax proposed, you have the right to ask for a reconsideration of the change if you do not agree with it. If you are not satisfied with a decision made in your District Director's office, ask the Director for the address of his District Commissioner to which you can appeal.

Ordinarily the Internal Revenue Service has three years from the time you file your return in which to charge you additional tax. But, if you make a fraudulent return, or if you fail to file a return, action can be taken by the Internal Revenue Service at any time to collect the tax and penalties.

April 15, 1955, is also the due date for filing the Declaration of Estimated Tax for 1955 (Form 1040-ES) and paying the first installment of tax due thereon. Because of changes made by the new tax law, many persons who formerly had to file on Form 1040-ES will not have to do so in 1955.

In order to determine whether you must file a Form 1040-ES on April 15, follow whichever of the two rules shown below is applicable:

1. If you expect to receive income of more than $100 not subject to withholding, you must file a Form 1040-ES if your estimated gross income exceeds $600 times the number of exemptions to which you are entitled, plus $400. For example, if you expect to receive more than $100 not subject to withholding and are entitled to four exemptions, you must file a Form 1040-ES if your estimated gross income exceeds $2800 ($600 x 4 plus $400 equals $2800).

2. If you expect to receive income of $100 or less which is not subject to withholding, the necessity for filing Form 1040-ES depends on your marital status and the amount of your estimated wages.

A single individual (not the head of a household or surviving spouse) is required to file Form 1040-ES if his total estimated gross income exceeds $5000.

A married couple filing jointly or a person entitled to the status of head of household or surviving spouse is required to file an estimate if the estimated gross income is expected to exceed $10,000.

Husbands and wives who are not entitled to file a joint return or who do not combine their income for purposes of applying the above rules under test 2 will be treated as single individuals who should file if the total estimated gross income exceeds $5000.

Don't forget to keep a copy of your completed tax return and Declaration of Estimated Tax in a safe place. Attach to your file copy any figures or facts that will help answer possible inquiries from the Internal Revenue Service.

Pioneer Flyer To Be Honored At Ft. Houston

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 19.—UP—A man who made a memorable airplane flight of 246 miles, breaking the distance and endurance records of 1914, will be honored at Fort Sam Houston March 2.

The history-maker is M. Sgt. Herbert Marcus, a 79-year-old retired member of the Army's original flying detachment. He will be one of the guests of honor during a "Birth of Military Aviation" celebration sponsored by the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

Marcus and Lt. T. F. Dodd, a U. S. Army pilot for whom Dodd Field here is named, flew from North Island, Calif., to Los Angeles and back without stopping in four hours and 33 minutes.

The plane they used was an old wire-and-fabric Curtiss bi-plane, latest thing in those days.

Marcus remembers the plane and the flight vividly. On the return trip, one connecting rod broke in the motor when they were 20 miles out. The mishap didn't stop the engine, but cut revolutions of the propeller down from 1,800 to 1,300 a minute.

"We barely made it back to the island," Marcus said.

That was only one of the earlier adventures of the flyer. He served in the Spanish American War, the punitive expedition against Pancho Villa in Mexico, and in World War I.

Harvesters Win Third Straight 1-4A Crown

Press Box Views

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

GUESS THERE'LL BE A LOT of complaints coming in from Harvester basketball fans on why E. Jay McIlvain wasn't chosen on the All-District 1-AAAA Northern basketball team, released today.

Well, we were startled somewhat, to say the least, over McIlvain being overlooked on the All-District cage balloting, ourselves.

But, before we jumped to conclusions, we reviewed the list of probable all-district honorees and the way it shapes up in our calculations. There are six boys in the Northern 1-4A who are definitely all-district material.

However, only five make up the all-district team and one of these fellows would have to be left off. McIlvain was the unfortunate boy in this case.

McIlvain lacked only one vote of winning a spot on the all-district first team which shows how closely bunched the top seven boys were in the balloting.

Personally, we'd take McIlvain and Gary Griffin of the Harvesters, Bub Farrell of Amarillo, Wade Wolfe of Lubbock and Gerald Meyers of Borger on our all-district team.

No sports scribe or coach was allowed, however, to vote for their own players. So the all-district team we turned in consisted of Farrell, Wolfe, Meyers, Mike Kelley of Borger and Carroll Stephens of Lubbock.

Once again our voting kept a Harvester player from making the all-district team. Had we left Wolfe off McIlvain would have made the first team. But we don't operate like someone we know of in this all-district balloting business.

You'll recall Bob Harrell, San Angelo coach, didn't vote for the Harvesters' Harold Lewis on the all-district football team or even the second team last fall despite the fact that Lewis gained more yardage against San Angelo than the entire Bobcat team gained against the Harvesters.

Lewis gained 287 yards against the Bobcats, 51 more yards than the entire San Angelo team gained.

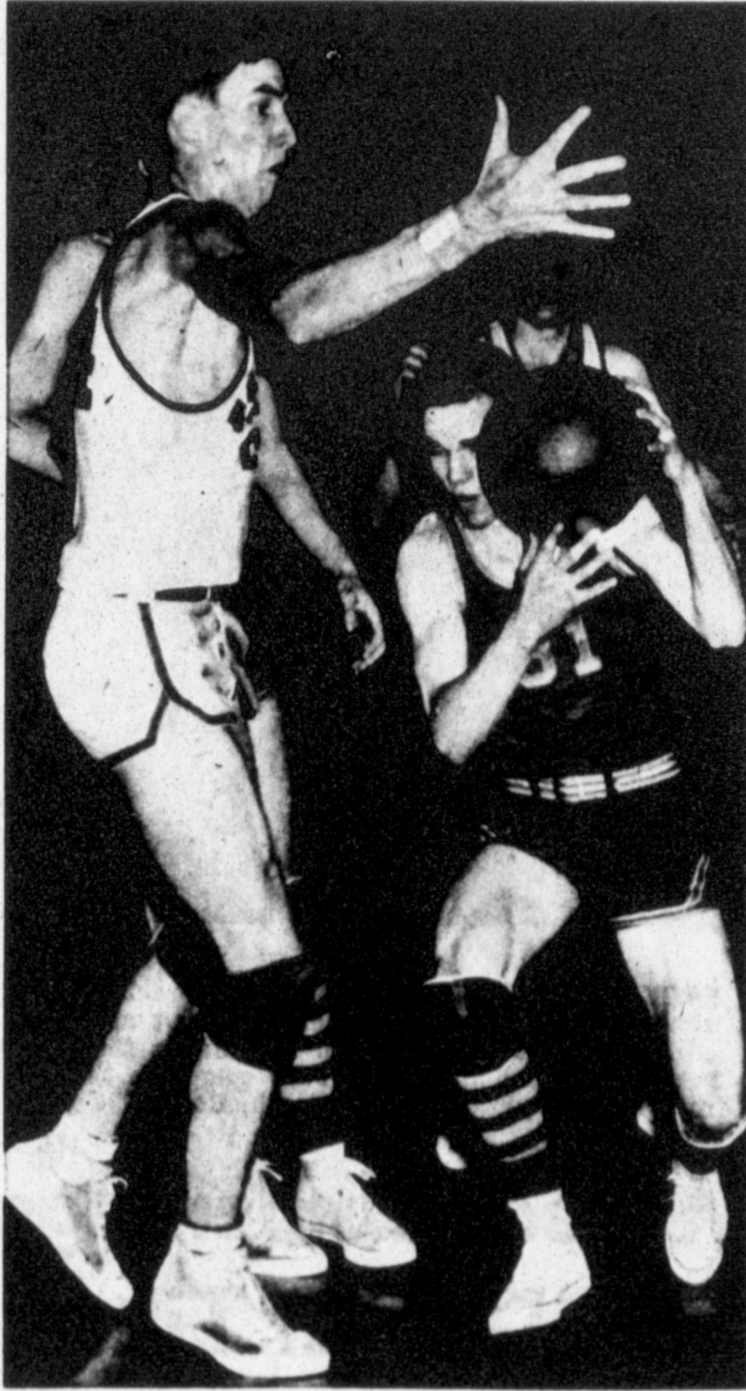

The only reason that could be behind Harrell's action, apparently, was to give his boy, Marvin Lasater, a better chance of making the team.

It worked because Lasater edged Lewis by one vote. And to think we voted for Lasater on the first team.

It's a shame you can't trust fellows to use better judgment in making their picks.

We don't know who voted for who in the basketball all-district team except our own vote.

We doubt, however, that we got any votes from the Borger News-Herald sports editor, Jake Saxton.

The Hustlin' Harvesters raced to a 71-55 triumph over the San Angelo Bobcats at Harvester Fieldhouse last night to win their third consecutive District 1-AAAA championship.

Last night's game was the third and deciding game of the three-game playoff for the 1-4A title. San Angelo, the Southern Zone champion, had won the first game of the series with the Harvesters, the Northern Zone champs, bouncing back to win the second and third games for the championship.

The Bobcats were simply no match for the Harvesters last night. The visitors made it interesting throughout the first quarter but the Green and Gold-ers caught fire in the second quarter to lead 38-18 at halftime as capacity throng of 2,500 went wild.

The San Angelans trailed by only three points, 11-8, after one quarter of action. It was 52-37 after three quarters.

Griffin, Hinkle High Gary Griffin and Ken Hinkle led the Harvester scoring parade with 17 points apiece with Benny Cartwright close behind with 15. Cartwright played a bang up game under both backboards.

Bobby Joe Walker, who made 12 of 12 free shots, led the Bobcats with 16 points, Curtis Crook, 6-7 center, was the second high Bobcat with 14 points.

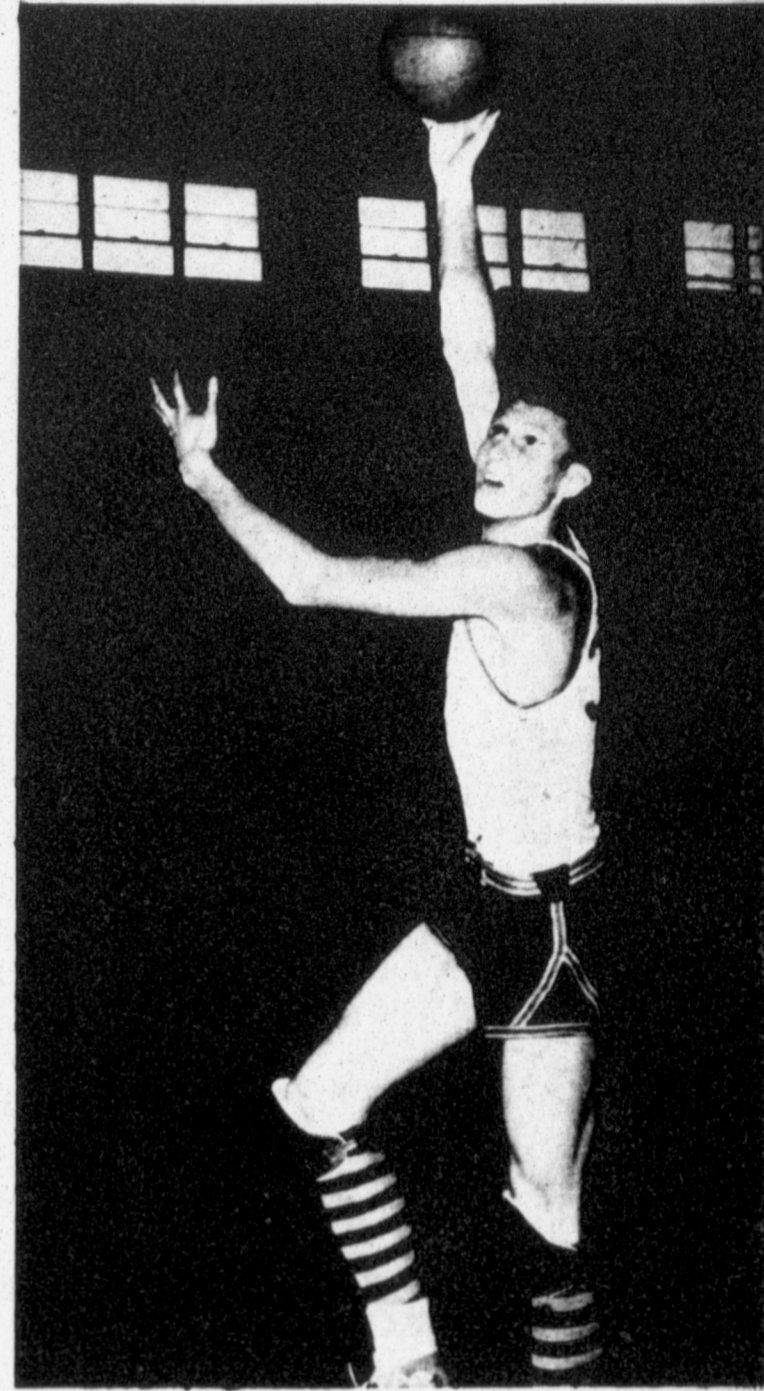

The Harvesters hit a better than average of their field goal attempts, 19 of 44 for 43.2 percent. San Angelo hit an even 34 percent, hitting 17 of 50.

The big difference of the final outcome was in free throws, the Harvesters picking up 33 via this method to 21 for the Bobcats, San Angelo, however, had a good percentage from the free throw line, hitting 21 of 24. The Harvesters hit 33 of 47 gratis tosses.

Most of the San Angelo fouling was done after the Bobcats pulled out of their zone defense. The Bobcats dispensed with the zone throughout the second half after the Harvesters had built up a commanding lead.

A late rally by the Bobcats cut the final difference to 16 points. San Angelo trailed 21 points on three occasions, 60-39, 62-41 and 66-45.

Sanlee Races To U. S. Indoor Title

By EARL WRIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—UP—Wes Speteer, the Kansas cowboy who owns the American outdoor mile record, captured the U. S. indoor title Saturday night by producing a terrific sprint finish to beat Gunnar Nielsen and Fred Dwyer in the meet record time of 4:07.9 in the national AAU championships.

Santee's first Madison Square Garden triumph climaxed an evening in which Parry O'Brien of Los Angeles set a new world indoor record of 59 feet, 5 1/2 inches in the shot put and Arnold Sowell of the University of Pittsburgh equalled the world mark of 2:08.2 in winning the 1,000-yard run.

Santee had taken the dust of his rivals in the last two mile starts. But Saturday night the Kansas speedster, who holds the American outdoor mark of 4:00.8, ran a perfectly paced race and defeated Nielsen by three yards.

Dwyer, the little ex-Villanova runner, who trounced Nielsen and Santee by 70 yards last week in the Baxter mile, was another three yards farther back in third place as Santee cracked the meet mark of 4:08.3, set by Gild Dodds in 1914.

Joe LaPierre of Baltimore was fourth and Lawton Lamb of Chicago was fifth. Robert McMillan of Los Angeles dropped out after setting the pace for the first seven laps.

O'Neal Leads TCU By Rice

By EARL WRIGHT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19—UP—Center Dick O'Neal tied the South-west Conference basketball scoring record Saturday night as he led the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs to an 84 to 80 victory over Rice Institute.

O'Neal scored 49 points, more than half of the TCU total, and in addition broke two other season records. One of the records that fell was the oldest scoring record on the books.

His 49 points gave O'Neal a season's total of 3310, eclipsing the 280 record set in 1945 by Bill Henry of Rice Institute. He still has two games to play.

His 49 point total tied the Southwest Conference Record set by Salter Martin of the University of Texas in 1949 which was set against TCU in Austin.

His performance enabled him also to set a new season scoring record of 824 points. The old record of 804 points was set last year by Gene Schwinger, of Rice, in 28 games. O'Neal has played only 22 games so far this season.

Tech Upset By Tempe, 77-75

By EARL WRIGHT

TEMPE, Ariz., Feb. 19—UP—Sophomore Dave Graybill sank a 20-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left in an overtime period to give Arizona State an upset 77-75 victory over Texas Tech Saturday night.

The basket by Graybill, who had been held scoreless in the second half, marked the only points scored by either team in the five-minute overtime. Texas Tech is the Border Conference leader and was a heavy favorite.

Senior guard Bruce Perkins had tied the game at 75-75 on a jump shot with only four seconds remaining in regulation play before a screaming crowd of 3,200.

Just before that, DuWayne Blackshear, who has the third highest percentage on field goal attempts in the nation, sank two free throws to put Tech ahead 73-73. But Perkins then came through with the tying basket.

Jim Reed, Texas Tech scoring leader, sank 25 points to lead his team while Blackshear added 22. Texas Tech led at the half 42-39, although Arizona State once

Souchak Keeps Hot Pace In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 19—UP—Stocky Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., held on to his lead in the $12,500 Texas Open Golf Tournament Saturday by firing a seven-under-par 64 over Brackenridge Park course.

The former Duke University football player has a 54-hole total of 192, two strokes better than the 194 of Fred Haas Jr. of Claremont, Calif. Haas, who played off with Souchak and Shelley Mayfield in the recent Thunderbird tourney at Phoenix, Ariz., fired a 65 Saturday.

Souchak's 54 hole total read 60-68-53-51-192 and Haas was 65-67-32-32-198.

The top players were still taking the short course apart Saturday as five others, besides Souchak, shot 64s.

They were Gene Litter, Palm Springs, Calif.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco; Jerry Kesselring, Toronto; Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.; and Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa.

Rosburg was third behind Souchak and Haas, with a 196 total, and Litter, the sensational 24-year-old Californian, fourth at 198.

Tied for fifth, all with 199 totals, were Kesselring, Al Baiding of Toronto and Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kan.

PHS Evens Score With Bobcats Friday, 53-45

Pressing Defense Baffles Visitors

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Hustlin' Harvesters solved the zone defense thrown up by the San Angelo Bobcats Friday night and in so doing evens the District 1-AAAA championship series by downing the Bobcats, 53-45, before a capacity crowd of 2,500 at Harvester Fieldhouse.

The Harvesters, playing cautiously at the outset, didn't pick up steam until late in the first period when they took the lead for good, 8-6, on a field goal by Gary Griffin with 2:30 minutes left in the quarter.

The Harvesters then moved ahead, 12-6, on field goals by Benny Cartwright and E. Jay McIlvain before tall Curtis Crook hit one just before the buzzer to cut the lead to 12-8.

The Green and Golders then pulled away to a commanding 14-point lead in the second quarter when they scorched the threads for 20 points to San Angelo's 10, sending them out front 32-18 at the midway mark.

McIlvain and Ken Hinkle led the Harvester second quarter spree with six points apiece.

The Harvesters led 43-40 at the third quarter mark and then finished up with the reserves in the lineup as San Angelo cut the final difference to eight points.

The Harvesters hit 20 to 47 field goal tries for 42.6 percent while San Angelo hit more than 50 percent of their attempts from the floor, 17 of 32 for 53.1 per cent.

Harvesters Use Press

The Bobcats managed only five shots in the first quarter but made good on four for 80 per cent. San Angelo fell off to 2 of 7 in the second quarter but rang the bell for 50 per cent in the last two quarters, 2 of 4 in the third and 7 of 14 in the fourth.

San Angelo had difficulty getting off a shot by the pressing Harvester defense that rattled the visitors.

The Harvesters' best quarter percentage-wise, was in the second when they hit eight of 16 for 50 per cent. The Harvesters hit 6 of 13 in the first quarter; 3 of 8 in the third and 3 of 10 in the fourth.

Griffin of the winners led both teams in scoring with 14 points. He was followed by a teammate McIlvain and Frank Trevino of San Angelo with 12 each.

Two others hit in the double figures, Hinkle of the Harvesters and Don Abbott of San Angelo, each making 10 points.

In free throws, the Harvesters made good on 13 of 17 for 76.5 per cent, San Angelo made 11 of 16 from the gift line for 68.7 per cent.

Bobcats Lead Only Once
The Bobcats, who won the opening game of the series Tuesday night at San Angelo, 54-48, led only one time in Friday's game.

Bobby Joe Walker broke the scoring ice with 2:15 minutes gone with a field goal. The lead was short lived, however, as McIlvain came back with a jump shot to knot the count at 2-2 15 seconds later.

The Harvesters then took the lead 4-2 on a fielder by Buddy Sharp with 3:15 minutes gone. Crook tipped one in to tie at 4-4 but Hinkle gave the lead right back to the Harvesters with a long one-hander.

Frank Trevino then tied the score for the final time at 6-6 with a close-in shot. Griffin broke under for a field goal at the 5:30 minute mark to give the Harvesters the lead which they held rest of the way.

The game was cleanly fought from the standpoint of personal fouls. Only 20 fouls were called in the game. San Angelo's first foul didn't come until 45 seconds were left in the first half.

Tech Picks Moser For Grid Clinic

LUBBOCK, Feb. 19 — Guest lecturers for Texas Tech's fifth annual clinic for high school coaches Mar. 18 and 19 have been announced by Coach DeWitt Weaver.

They will be Phil Dickens, University of Wyoming coach, and Chuck Moser, whose Abilene High School team captured the Conference 4-A state championship last season.

"We are naturally highly honored that these two outstanding coaches will be here for the clinic," Coach Weaver said. Tech staff members will also conduct classes and demonstrations.

McLean Underdogs In Bi-District Tilt

McLEAN, Feb. 19 — The McLean Tigers will go into Monday's bi-district game with Sudan at Canyon as distinct underdogs but Coach Hap Rogers' Bengals aren't conceding anything to the veteran Hornets.

This is the third straight year the Tigers have walked away with the District 1-A crown and they have fallen by the wayside in bi-district play the past two years.

The Tigers and their backers are hoping that the "third time is a charm" will work for them this year.

Monday's one-game "sudden death" affair will be unreeled at the spacious West Texas State College Fieldhouse in Canyon.

Winner of the game will qualify for the Region 1-A tournament to be held at Lubbock next week end.

Sudan holds two wins over Class 4A Lubbock and one over Berger, another 4A toughie. The Hornets lost by only four points to the defending state Class 4A champion Pampa Harvesters in December, 46-42.

McLean, after winning the 1-A crown last year, bowed to Sudan in bi-district. Sundown went on to win the Region 1-A meet and advanced to the state finals before losing to Sweeney in the state Class A championship game at Austin.

The Tigers will pin their victory hopes on tall Jim Farren who has been chosen on the All-District 1-A team the past three years and the All-Regional team the past two seasons.

Farren leads the McLean scorers with 420 points in 20 games for a 21.0 average per game.

Farren stands 6-5 and is one of the best rebounders in Class A circles.

Another Tiger selected on this year's All-District 1-A (South division) is Rodney Gunn. Gunn specializes in a one-hand shot from around and beyond the free throw circle.

Named on the All-South 1-A five with Farren and Gunn are Phil Earhart of Lefors, Jimmie Davis of Memphis and Don Landers of Clarendon.

McLean defeated Gruver (the North 1-A champion) in the district tournament finals at White Deer a week ago to qualify for the bi-district game with Sudan.

Gruver led the all-district balloting in the Northern Division by placing two players, Al Mitts and Robert Dahl. The other three choices on the mythical five were Greg Sherwood of Panhandle, Bill Miller of Canadian and Marion Bichsel of White Deer.

Panhandle, who will represent District 1-A in post-season play in the girls division, and Canadian, led the All-District balloting for the Northern Division while McLean, the 1-A girls runnerup, dominated the Southern team.

Panhandle put high scoring Kay Williams and Leona Bednorz on the all-district team while Canadian landed Kathleen Riley and Wilma Beth Croster. Rounding out the North team are Patay Smith of White Deer and Ramona Jones of Gruver.

McLean put Helen Bruner, Annette Smith and Mavis Medley on the All-Southern team while Memphis put Pat Hickey and Donna Harrison and Clarendon landed Harlene Smith.

Holy Cross To Defend NIT Crown

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — UP—Holy Cross accepted a bid Saturday to defend its National Invitation Tournament championship, becoming the eighth entry for the Madison Square Garden basketball event to be played March 12-19.

The Crusaders from Worcester, Mass., who won the NIT last year by beating Duquesne in the final 71-62, had a record of 15 victories and six defeats before Saturday night's game against Temple at Philadelphia.

In announcing Holy Cross' acceptance, Walter McLaughlin, president of the sponsoring Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association, announced a list of 14 teams from which the remaining four tournament entries will be chosen.

The list is made up of Tennessee and Alabama of the Southeastern Conference, Lafayette (18-2), Memphis State (16-3), Connecticut, Fordham, Texas Tech and West Texas State of the Border Conference, Williams (13-0), St. Louis and Tulsa of the Missouri Valley Conference, DePaul, Seattle University and Texas Christian of the South west Conference.

In the case of conference teams, the NIT choices would have to be runnerup, since league champions are committed to competing in the NCAA tournament.

The seven teams previously entered in the NIT were Duquesne, Dayton, Louisville, Cincinnati, Manhattan, Niagara and St. Francis of Laredo, Pa.

This will be the third invitation tournament venture for Holy Cross, which was eliminated in the 1952 quarterfinals before winning in 1954.

Walls Said To Be On Way Out At LSU

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 19 — UP—LSU Assistant Football Coach Will T. Walls Jr., who about 40 players backed for the job of head coach, Saturday prepared to leave the university amid rumors of other staff changes.

The players signed a petition asking that Walls be "considered" as the replacement to Gaynell (Gus) Tinsley after Tinsley was fired Feb. 5.

Paul Dietzel, 30-year-old assistant at Army, won the job Wednesday with a three-year contract at $13,000 annually.

Walls, former head coach at Kilgore College in Kilgore, Tex., and a star end at Texas Christian University in the Sammy Baugh era, was not available for comment.

To Buy Up Contract
Reliable sources said Walls' contract would be bought up and he would be officially dismissed "any minute." Walls and the other assistants signed one-year contracts just six weeks ago.

At Lincoln, Neb., it was disclosed that Nebraska Football Coach Bill Glassford had talked with Walls about a coaching job there, but that Walls "has not been hired."

Nebraska Athletic Director William Orwig said Glassford "visited" with him (Walls) by telephone.

Nebraska End Coach Ray Prochaska quit March 1, and Orwig said: "If Walls is the man Glassford wants that's fine with me."

Reports that Walls plans to take an assistant's job at the University of Nebraska could not be confirmed, but a close friend said the post had been offered him.

Rumors circulated that Freshman Coach Clarence (Pop) Strange might also leave and another stated Backfield Coach Carl Maddox plans to take a similar post at Tulane.

"I'm staying on as long as my contract runs," Strange said. "That is nothing but a rumor." Maddox said, "I have no basis in fact. My plans are to remain as backfield coach here."

After his appointment was announced, Dietzel said he planned to keep all the assistant coaches on the staff for the duration of their contracts. He added that he plans to bring in one assistant, who he has not yet named.

Saddler To Defend Title Friday Night

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — UP—At long last, Sandy Saddler will defend what's left of his world featherweight crown against Teddy Davis at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

It will be the first time the lanky New Yorker has risked his laurels in more than three years.

In this very strange title fight, a partial champion will face the most-often-defeated challenger in any division in ring history; but the winner will be undisputed world king of the 126-pounders.

It doesn't add up until one recalls that the National Boxing Association withdrew title recognition from Saddler on Dec. 14 because of his failure to defend within a reasonable time after his discharge from the Army in April, New York state which doesn't belong to the NBA, and affiliated states continued to recognize Saddler as champion, however.

Irishettes, Dalhart Tie For Cage Title

SHAMROCK, Feb. 19 — (Special) — Shamrock's Irish Lassies basketball team will meet the Dalhart squad in the Phillips gym on Friday night, February 25 to decide the winner of District 1-AAA.

Until last week the Lassies, coached by Scott McCall, had recorded six straight conference victories and seemed on the road to the District 1-AAA Championship without a single loss.

Bad luck in the form of illness struck the team. On Friday, February 11, playing without their star guard Molly Kay Mayfield, the Irish came out on the short end of a 45-35 score in a game with Dumas — a team which they had previously defeated, 61-37.

Then last Tuesday, minus Nancy Etter, another brilliant guard, and Connie Lewis, the leading Irishette scorer with an average of 31 points per game, they lost to Canyon 58-53 even though Julia Holmes scored 42 points during the session.

Shamrock had previously beaten Canyon, 62-48. These two losses placed the Lassies in a tie with the Dalhart team, which they have defeated twice this year in conference play — 47-28 in Shamrock and 53-48 in Dalhart.

The playoff game has been set to determine the championship. The winner will represent District 1-AAA in the regional tournament to be played in Lubbock on March 4-5.

Games with Wheeler scheduled this weekend have been canceled because of illness.

Chosen for that honor as only sophomore last season, Reed is racing along at an even faster clip for the defending conference champion Red Raiders, whose 15-5 season record includes wins over nationally-known cage powers.

Statistics don't tell the complete story, for Reed is just as valuable as a playmaker and defense man as he is a scorer. Yet the figures do mirror the improvement achieved in a year.

Reed averaged only 15.5 points per game last year and has upped that to 21.7 in this year's first 20 contests. His rebounding, Reed has been the best in the Border Conference for three seasons — has increased from 12.5 per contest to 25.8.

Tech's Reed Headed For 2nd 'Most Valuable Player' Award

LUBBOCK, Feb. 19 — Election tip from Texas:
Look for Texas Tech's Jim Reed to complete a successful campaign for re-election as "Most Valuable Player" in the Border Conference. And get a lot of All-American votes.

Chosen for that honor as only sophomore last season, Reed is racing along at an even faster clip for the defending conference champion Red Raiders, whose 15-5 season record includes wins over nationally-known cage powers.

Statistics don't tell the complete story, for Reed is just as valuable as a playmaker and defense man as he is a scorer. Yet the figures do mirror the improvement achieved in a year.

Reed averaged only 15.5 points per game last year and has upped that to 21.7 in this year's first 20 contests. His rebounding, Reed has been the best in the Border Conference for three seasons — has increased from 12.5 per contest to 25.8.

That scoring mark won't register on fans who look at only the top 20 or so listed in the weekly statistical releases. But the Raiders generally distribute their scoring — a team average of 52.3 per contest — around pretty liberally, as shown by the fact that four are averaging 14 points or better.

Reed can run with the best of them, however. Take the Furman University game. Against last year's national scoring champion, Reed set a new Tech record by scoring 41 points to lead Tech to a 111-105 victory.

Four nights previously, Tech met the leading defensive team of last season, Oklahoma A&M, and Reed shared high point honors, with 34, with teammate Carl Ince. But Reed's big contribution was his rebounding. He got 17 for the night, half of them coming in the second half, when the entire Oklahoma A&M team could get but five.

A tremendous pair of legs helping Reed in his rebounding, for he stands only six feet four.

Oilers To Make 4 10-Day Road Trips

The 1955 West Texas-New Mexico League schedule, released today by the league office, shows each of the eight member clubs with 70 home and 70 road games. The league will open April 20 and close Labor Day, Sept. 5. The Oilers will open the season at Plainview. After a two-day stand at Plainview, the Oilers will return home to open an eight-game home stand, April 22.

Plainview will come to Pampa for three games, April 22-24 to be followed by Amarillo, 25-26, and Clovis 27-29.

Double-headers are scheduled for two days, July 4 and Labor Day, Sept. 5. The Oilers will play at Plainview on July 4 and will host Plainview Sept. 5 on the double-header dates.

The Oilers will make four 10-day road trips during the season. Each of the 10-day trips will be from Lubbock to Albuquerque to Clovis to El Paso. The Oilers will return home the following night after each of their four visits to El Paso.

Following is the opening home series for each club:

April 20-21 Pampa at Plainview
Albuquerque at El Paso
Clovis at Amarillo
Lubbock at Abilene
April 22-23-24 Plainview at Pampa

Odessa Club On 'Ropes'

ODESSA, Feb. 19 — UP — The fate of the Odessa franchise of the Class C Longhorn Baseball league was a mystery Saturday after all of the club's directors resigned.

The Odessa club was reported deep in debt after financially disastrous seasons for the last two years.

A letter from the directors, signed by the president of the club, Tom Ray, said the directors disclaimed any authority or responsibility to act for future baseball in Odessa and that anyone who wanted the club was welcome to take it.

The directors held a secret meeting earlier this week and then mailed the letter to its stockholders. It said the Odessa Civic Baseball Association's state charter had been forfeited July 5, 1953.

However, Ray was reported to be in New Mexico on a business trip and could not be reached for comment.

Longhorn League President J.C. Cunningham said at Midland he had received no official notice of the board of directors action and he would be unable to act until he receives such action.

The Odessa club is reportedly about $25,000 in debt.

Relays To Honor Ex-Texas Athlete

AUSTIN, Feb. 19 — UP — The 28th running of the Texas Relays April 1-3 will be dedicated to Dr. Wilson H. (Bull) Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, it was announced Saturday.

Elkins won eight letters in three sports—track, football and basketball—at the University of Texas from 1920 to 1932.

He came under the tutelage of Clyde Littlefield, track coach and director of the Texas Relays, in track and football.

But Elkins needed help in the scholastic field as he became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a Rhodes scholar, and also served as president of the university's student body.

Elkins was an outstanding athlete who attended the relays and receive the honor bestowed upon him from his former coach.

Elkins was an outstanding athlete at Brackenridge high school, San Antonio, playing on a state championship basketball team there before going to Schreiner Institute and the University of Texas.

All Giants Are Now In Fold For '55

By UNITED PRESS

There will be no dissatisfied spring, money-wise that is, in the training camp of the World Champion, New York Giants at Phoenix, Ariz., when Manager Leo Durocher sounds the bell on March 1.

Giant President Horace Stoneham, who takes pride each year in his efforts to complete player contract signings earlier than any other club, boasted Saturday that the last player was in the fold. Rookie outfielder Bob Lennon, a solidly-built 26-year-old Brooklynite, agreed to terms to complete the Giants' signings for 1955.

Lennon, who will compete against incumbent Monte Irvin for part-timer Dusty Rhodes for the left field post during the training period, came to terms almost immediately after his return from Venezuela, where he played winter baseball. Last year, the left-swinger Lennon led the Southern Association in homers with 64, a new league mark, and in runs batted in with 161. His batting average was a gaudy .345.

A couple of other Winter league players also came to terms. Outfielder Dave Pope, who hit American League pitching for a .394 average last year, signed with the Cleveland Indians.

Muscular Bob Cerv, hoping again to make the Yankees, came to terms with the ex-champs. He was the 37th New Yorker to sign his 1955 contract.

Cerv, a star in the minors but a bust so far as a major leaguer, batted .260 last season while seeing limited action in the Yankee outfield. He had a .285 average in the Puerto Rican league, collecting 19 homers and 70 runs batted in.

Low Burdette dropped into the Milwaukee Braves office to sign his 1955 pact. Burdette, who compiled a 15-14 won-lost record in 1954, is believed to have signed for about $18,000.

The Boston Red Sox announced the signing of two young pitchers—Tommy Hurd and Herschel Freeman. Hurd, used mostly in relief last year, was credited with two victories and no losses, while Freeman, who spent most of the 1954 season at the Red Sox' farm in Louisville, had a record of 7-5 with an average of 2.22.

Frisco, Two Others Accept NCAA Bids

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — UP — San Francisco, the nation's No. 1 team, Canisius and Penn State were chosen Saturday to fill three of the "at-large" berths in the NCAA basketball tournament.

That brought to five the number of teams which have been selected to fill the 24 berths. Marquette and Villanova, previously accepted at large bids. Fifteen conference champions qualify automatically for the NCAA tournament. Four more at-large teams are to be chosen.

San Francisco, rated tops in the land by the United Press Board of Coaches, will play in the western regional preliminary playoffs, March 7 or 8, against the Border Conference champion.

The Penn State quintet, another at-large team from the East, will go into a qualifying elimination at Lexington, Ky., on March 8 against Marquette, another eastern at-large team to be selected and the winner of the Mid-America Conference championship. Miami of Ohio currently is in front in that race.

Canisius will face its first post-season test at Madison Square Garden on March 8, in a triple-header involving six contenders. The other teams will be Villanova, the winner of the Middle Atlantic Conference championship where LaSalle is regarded as certain to defend its laurels, the New England champion, and the representatives of the Southern and Atlantic Coast Conferences. The winners of post-season tournaments represent the Southern and the ACC in the championship competition.

San Francisco became one of the Pacific Coast entries automatically when it clinched the California Association championship Thursday night.

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.J., Feb. 20 — UP — Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, Conn., threatened Friday to match champion Sandy Saddler's "foul tactics" in their featherweight championship bout at Madison Square Garden Feb. 26, if the Boxing Commission fails to take control of the situation. TALK WITH SPEAKER — Since to the Junior High School PTA meeting recently, Mrs. Knox Kinard, center, and Mr. Kinard, superintendent of Pampa schools, chat with Miss Loula Grace Erdman, left, guest speaker. Miss Erdman has written eight books and numerous articles and short stories. (News photo)

Talk Presented To Junior High PTA By Loula Grace Erdman, Noted Author

"People on the sidelines sometimes can see how the game is going better than the players," do," and the acceptance of the fact that hard times are coming. Children should also be taught that crisis is a "natural part of life" and the "lack of it is abnormal."

"We can't always be head of the class — we can't always be queen of the May," she explained. Miss Erdman's third gift was "intelligent discipline" which she pointed out is synonymous with self-discipline. A child has to learn what he must do and why, she stated, and it is important that a child learn for himself with sufficient firmness to make it stick.

Since a parent can't always be at a child's elbow, the best thing to give is self-discipline, she advised.

Fourth gift was of laughter, "one that has to be most carefully taught and practiced." This gift makes things easier, Miss Erdman stated. She added that if a mother would learn to laugh, the child might pick it up "through osmosis."

Self-analysis was the fifth gift. Miss Erdman pointed out that parents can help a child see himself as he is — "either for good or evil" — and can help him realize his potentialities and his limitations.

Twentieth Century Cotillion Presents Talks On Architecture, Owning Home

Mrs. R. J. Sailor Jr. presented the program, "Regional Characteristics of American Architecture," at the recent meeting of Twentieth Century Cotillion in the home of Mrs. Charles Brauchle, 1206 N. Russell.

"The United States has been subjected to world-wide influences more than any other country," she stated. "Its citizens have come from practically every nation, so it is no wonder that the architecture of America is a conglomerate."

"We have not only the more original styles, brought by colonists from other countries, but we have later styles developed in other countries brought to us or derived from historic example, not used in their original forms, but adapted to our needs."

The terms used for some American architectural styles include Colonial, Dutch Colonial; Tudor, Old English, Modern English, Spanish, French, Italian and Mission, she pointed out. However, the terms are relatively meaningless and are gradually going out of use.

The greatest American triumph, Mrs. Sailor advised, is in the development of the suburban home with the practical features stressed. Many innovations in the way of conveniences appear in the suburban home, which make the American house the "most livable in the world."

Second portion of the program was given by Mrs. J. B. Maguire Jr. on home ownership.

"For most American families, buying a home involves (embarking on a practically unknown experience," she pointed out. "Only careful thought and painstaking preparation will bring success. No American, including the Government, has succeeded in taking the risk out of home ownership."

Mrs. Maguire explained that it is natural to want to own a home. It is an American tradition to put faith in home ownership, yet families bent on owning a home, can't say just why.

"If planning to buy, abandon all preconceived notions about home ownership which might interfere with a frank consideration of the problems," she advised. "Important decisions must be made. No absolute and infallible rule can be laid down to take away the risk."

During the business session, led by Mrs. Ralph McKinney, the women voted to participate in a bake sale, to be sponsored by the library association. Funds will be used to buy books for the library. During roll call, each member responded with "the thing I like most about my house."

Attending were Mmes. Winifred Wyatt, Don Morrison, Charles Brauchle, Stanley Chittenden, J. B. Maguire Jr., Kenneth Meaders, Lee Moore Jr., Ralph McKinney, W. D. Price Jr., T. B. Rogers Jr., R. J. Sailor Jr., Ray Thompson, Thelma Bray and Norman Henry.

Oily Skin And Diet Cause Large Pores

NEW YORK — Don't be dismayed by large pores. This condition can be kept to a minimum and effectively camouflaged, says the February issue of "Seventeen," which suggests a three-way plan for (1) reducing skin oiliness (2) making pores appear smaller and (3) using make-up for camouflage.

Explaining that the large pore condition usually goes with oily skin, the article says it can be kept to a minimum by reducing over-oiliness through proper diet and skin care. Make sure your diet includes plenty of green vegetables. Go lightly on starch, fatty and fried foods and on heavy desserts. Take care of your skin externally by cleansing it thoroughly at least three times a day with lots of soap and water and a rough washcloth. Consult your doctor, too.

To make pores appear smaller temporarily, the magazine suggests using an astringent, a skin freshener or alcohol. Apply one of these after soap-and-water scrubbing with a pad of cotton that has been moistened in cool water.

Make-up will provide some camouflage. For every day, dust on a lightweight face powder. Puff it on liberally, then brush off the excess. For date nights, try a make-up base for a smooth effect.

Debutantes And Mothers Meet

Mothers of members of the Debutante Club of Carver School met recently in the home of Mrs. Nester Woodley to select officers for the mothers' group.

Those chosen were Mrs. Winnie D. Roland, president; Mrs. George Russey, vice-president; Mrs. Virginia Carter, secretary; Mrs. Joe M. Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Annie Johnson, reporter; and Mrs. E. L. Franklin, program chairman.

The Debutantes met separately in the home of Mrs. Leonard Cash, with Miss Margaret Cash as hostess. Installation of officers, slated for March 3, was discussed. Misses Willie Roland, Virginia Frazier, Margaret Cobbs, Nettie Tucker and Margaret Cash were chosen to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

Refreshments were served during the social period.

Do you have one of those gems of a mother-in-law who knits and crochets: She's made you a stole and now you can't think what's next — except maybe knee-warmers. If she's willing, suggest a knitted suit of that crunchy ribbon. It goes fast in making and nothing could be more dressed up.

PANCAKE DESSERT—Make cakes extra large, spread with cream cheese, stack and top with lingonberries.

COOK'S NOOK

Lingonberry Stack Cakes Are Scandinavian Treat

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Mrs. Harry Sheff, homemaker and schoolteacher of Wykoff, Minn., tells this story about her family's favorite pancake dessert, lingonberry stack cakes. Pancake Day here in America will be celebrated on Feb. 22, in 1955. Whether your family eats pancakes on Pancake Day or just any day of the year, let's listen to Mrs. Sheff.

"When it comes to pancakes, we Scandinavians have always been known for the richness of our concoctions. We make the most of such simple foods as honey buttermilk pancakes, cream cheese and lingonberry sauce, until the final result is extravagantly good, and as varied as any in the world."

"Many superlative desserts are built around the native lingonberry stack cakes. For lingonberry stack cakes, the pancakes are baked larger than average and then, so each pancake stacks atop the next one, a generous portion of cream cheese, spiked with orange rind, is spread over each. Warm lingonberry sauce spooned over the top adds the crowning touch. You'll love the tangy-fresh fruit flavor in contrast to the rich cream cheese."

Lingonberry Stack Cakes (Makes 6 servings)

Lingonberry Sauce: One-half cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup lingonberry juice, 1 cup cooked lingonberries, drained.

Pancakes: Two cups pancake mix, ½ teaspoon soda, 2½ cups buttermilk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted shortening.

Filling: One 8-ounce package cream cheese, ¼ cup sugar, grated rind of 1 orange.

For the sauce, combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add lingonberry juice and heat slowly until mixture thickens. Stir in lingonberries.

For the filling, combine all ingredients and beat until creamy. For the pancakes, dissolve soda in buttermilk. Add with egg and melted shortening to pancake mix all at once and stir lightly. Pour ½ cup batter for each pancake onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

To serve, stack 4 pancakes sandwich fashion with cream cheese filling between. Top with hot lingonberry sauce. Cut each stack into 3 wedges and serve immediately with additional sauce if desired.

Chicago is a hospitable city. One spot we enjoy visiting is the high modern apartment of Marian Looft overlooking Lake Michigan. Miss Looft, well-known economist and hostess never fails to serve unusually good appetizers before dinner. The kind of little snacks most hostesses would like to make for their friends. So we asked the gracious and always smartly dressed Miss Looft to give us a few of her recipes.

Salami Pinwheels
(Yield: About 30)
Five thin slices (1/4 pound) cooked salami, 1 5-ounce jar blue cheese spread.

Spread each slice of salami with cheese spread. Roll up each slice. Wrap each roll in waxed or aluminum foil. Chill thoroughly. At serving time, slice each roll diagonally into 6 pieces, each about 1/2 inch thick. Serve on a pick. These may be kept in the refrigerator 4 to 5 days.

Cornucopias
(Yield: 36)
Thirty-six thin slices cervelat, 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine, 1/2 cup cheese spread.

Cut to center of each slice of cervelat. Fold into cone or cornucopia shape. Fasten with pick. Whip together melted butter or margarine and cheese. Fill cornucopia with pastry tube or paring knife. Chill. To Store: Wrap in waxed paper or aluminum foil. Keep in refrigerator. Do not freeze.

Braunschweiger Pineapple
One and one-quarter pounds braunschweiger, lemon juice, pimento olives, tops of fresh pineapple or green onions.

Remove covering from braunschweiger. Use hands to mold and shape like a pineapple. Brush surface with lemon juice. Arrange slices of pimento olives in rows around braunschweiger, to resemble "eyes" of pineapple. In top place 3 or 4 leaves from top of fresh pineapple or green onions.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace
Can you tell me how I might find typing to do in my own home?

I have many times seen ads in the paper to address envelopes. Now that I am interested I have seen none.

Do you know where I might write to get information along this line. Also where I might go or write to see about local firms that might have letters, envelopes, statements etc. to be typed.

I have better than average speed at typing and a great deal of time on my hands.

Thank you very much for your help.
J. H.
Dear J. H.
I would suggest that you apply for the work at each big store which might need that sort of thing done. They will have you fill out a form, call on you when you are needed. Also try the state employment agency, and ask public stenographers whose addresses you can get from the yellow pages of the telephone directory.

In the meantime keep watching the classified. Sometimes writers run ads asking for someone to type their manuscripts. Incidentally you might run a small ad yourself in the junior college papers. Students may be looking for someone to type term papers etc.

BRIDE'S GIFT
Dearest Grace Friend
My best girl friend is going to be married and she has asked me to be the bridesmaid at the wedding.

I would love to Grace but there is a problem which is this. She knows that my family doesn't have any extra money for extra dresses for me and so she has told me that her mother wants to buy my bridesmaid dress for me so that I can be in the wedding.

My mother says that the bridesmaids are supposed to buy their own and if we can't afford to do what's right I will just have to give up being a bridesmaid.

She says that if you say it is all right she will change her mind and let me accept the dress.

Worried
Dear Worried
The bride always gives something to her bridesmaids and if she chooses to give them their dresses they should accept them graciously as they are offered.

As a general thing the bridesmaids buy their own costumes but if the bride's family wants to give them their outfits it is quite correct to accept them.

Most women who are starting a pregnancy limit the amount they're going to spend on a wardrobe for their bulky months. But it's wise to buy one good suit, of a washable fabric. It will do for a next time and give you something to look presentable in.

shortie nightgown is popular. Those who do a wrestling match, full-length nightgown. Really a nightgown with matching panties or knee-length nightgown. It's pretty as a baby. You need not freeze — get a good robe.

Larger Hats Is Spring Forecast

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The most pronounced change in hats this spring centers in the crown. The crown is either wider or deeper and is held lightly to the head by an inner band.

This new "more-hat" look is in keeping with ready-to-wear. The deeper or wider crown balances the straight, slim look of the long-torso dresses and suits. Brims remain tiny for the most part and generally are straight.

These new bulkier hats are done in straw so lightweight that they are not cumbersome to wear. Straws may have a high shine, dull surface or may combine the two for contrast. There are lots of printed silks, airy stitched organzies and light-looking felts.

Though the new hats are so much lighter, they stay securely on the head by means of firm anchorage. This is accomplished by grips, clasps and head clips that are made a part of the hat.

The profile, or side-tilted hat, the back-tilt hat and the deep hat worn straight on are all fashion news.

There are still diminutive hat shapes for women who are devoted to them and for the full-skirted silhouette. These take the form of the profile hat, the turban and the cloche, all done in light materials and clear, flattering colors.

Spring Handbags Are Gay, Colorful

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Inside winter's handbag is gloomy darkness. But inside spring's handbag color and gay femininity bloom.

What do purse-peersers predict for spring? Pale pink and olive green, if you like. Pastel shorth gloves launch the lovely look at hand. A silk chiffon square carries the note to the neckline. Utility? Oh, yes. A beaded change purse and a companion specs case for those pastel glasses.

Fleecy and crispst of all, a linen handkerchief that unfolds into a lily-light wisp of spring. It's in pale pink and olive, too, with an idea of a leaf motif wending around the edge.

To keep such a delight perfect and smooth for its blooming, how about tucking it into its own tiniest of purses until the very moment of spring?

B&PW Club Adopts A Savings Project

The Business and Professional Women's Club has pledged its help in expanding the U. S. Treasury Department's School Savings Program in Pampa, according to Mrs. Alma Ash, president. Members voted at a recent meeting to adopt the project for the 1954-55 club year, working with the County Savings Bonds Committee and local school authorities.

Four national women's organizations—American Legion Auxiliary, Daughters of the American Revolution, General Federation of Women's Clubs, and National Congress of Parents and Teachers—have accepted leadership in backing this project across the country. State presidents of twenty additional women's organizations, represented on the Texas Women's Savings Bonds Advisory Committee, have asked all local branches in Texas to adopt a "Pledge Of Service For Community And Nation" for the 1954-55 club year.

In addition to endorsing weekly Savings Stamp Days in all local schools and offering active assistance in servicing these Stamp Days, if desired by school officials, each local organization is asked to conduct an informational program on U. S. Savings Bonds, particularly Series E and H Bonds, and the advantages of holding Series E Bonds after maturity, to distribute informational leaflets on these Bonds, and to urge members and their families to buy them.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY! MOVIES - TV - RADIO by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: There's a backstage, now it can be told story about Red Skelton's zooming CBS-TV ratings this season.

Now he's sticking to the script, let's you do the laughing and he's funnier than he's ever been.

What happened? Several things, including better scripts, a new director, Jack Donaghy and shelving of his old characters.

And if you know comedians like I know comedians, you'll realize this hasn't happened since Nero's court jester advised a visiting clown:

1955 Movies To Spotlight Music Stories

Lovers of both classical and popular music have a treat in store in several of the motion pictures being released by MGM during its 1955 Motion Picture Theatre Celebration.

The celebration, a salute to the local movie theatre and exhibitor and to the part they play in the progress of the movies and in bringing the public its chief entertainment, also marks the achievements of motion pictures in bringing both the world's greatest classical music and the melodies of the nation's foremost popular composers to the screen.

Among pictures to be released by MGM during the coming months, in which music plays an important part, are "Interrupted Melody," telling the story of the famous opera soprano, Marjorie Lawrence, who, at the height of her singing career, was stricken by polio.

A waiter new to the U. S., who speaks very little English, works in a luncheon near CBS' Television City. Unable to recall his name the other day, a CBS fellow hailed him with:

John Guedel is rushing through a new telefilm series, "The Fabulous Flash," for Vanessa Brown. All about a chorine who marries into a stuffy socialite family.

Fernando Lamas, on the "Girl Rush" set, about a friend: "He's the most meticulous man I ever met. He even washes his hands before turning on 'Medicine'."

ED GARDNER, who retired as a comic after making 29 Duffy's Tavern telefilms, hopes to produce a movie... Sponsor of Bill Williams' Kit Carson series asked for and received some changes in the script of his latest film, "Wiretapper."

He grew up with the music business, fronting his own band—the "Billy" McEachern Band—from his sophomore year at Amarillo High School through his junior college days here.

Frank Fay, veteran vaudeville, film and night-club star, was the comedian with the nerve to slap about Red Skelton's zooming CBS-TV ratings this season.

What happened? Several things, including better scripts, a new director, Jack Donaghy and shelving of his old characters.

BOOK PATTERN

By BILL KERR Pampa News Staff Writer

Two contemporary authorities on books and religion recently announced their selection for Lenten reading, according to word received from the Religious Publishers Group, an organization of publishers in the religious field.

Bishop Gerald Kennedy, of the Los Angeles area of the Methodist Church, and a well-known writer, lecturer and radio broadcaster as well as clergyman, was selected by the publisher group's Protestant Lenten List committee to select 26 recently published books for Lenten reading.

Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, New York City, and a noted Catholic layman, made the selection of 26 recently published books, for the Catholic Lenten list.

The lists are noted for the wide variety of titles, and the titles on each list are chosen to whet the appetite of a widespread reading audience.

Both men failed to include their own recent books among the list of selections. The publishers group adds them to the list of important Lenten reading: Dr. Shuster's "Religion Behind the Iron Curtain," and Bishop Kennedy's "What Speaks for God," and "God's Good News."

The complete lists may be gotten from Religious Publishers Group, c/o Dick Taplinger, 115 W. 57 St., New York 19, N.Y.

Here are but a few of Bishop Kennedy's selections and comments. "The Book That Is Alive" by John Paterson — mainly of a religious nature, with the literature of the Old Testament; "Christian Deviations" by Horton Davies — concerns itself with certain sects which have separated themselves from traditional Christianity; "Creed Of Our Hope" by Merrill R. Abbey — one of the most helpful books to appear in many a moon in its explanation of the Apostle's Creed.

Other thumbral reviews of outstanding books which Bishop Kennedy recommends are: "The Inspirational Reader," William Oliver Stevens, editor — The Bible's word is not easy to come by, especially for those who do not know the Book very well. This gives the great passages under subject headings and will prove to be "a very present help in trouble." "The Measure of Man" by Joseph Wood Krutch — Bishop Kennedy calls this volume "the book of the year and one of the great books of the generation."

Dr. Shuster in his selection for Catholics says that choosing books is never easy, and that in a young person's mind, it is frequently overlooked, possibly yielding "their influence later on." The educator's list includes volumes of meditation, history, comment on the times and reflections on human experience.

Prefacing his list Shuster says "... People want to be shown how to live. Sometimes, in a civilization of cities, they feel alone, and so in a manner helpless; and of course this year of Our Lord is not designed for timid souls. For this reason among others it is good that there should be tales of saints and near-saints who have coped with trouble, now

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

Believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. To be consistent with truths expressed in such great documents as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Whenever we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we do not appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with moral guides.

See A Danger

We are pleased to note in the new that Southern California Catholic leaders have launched an attack on the public school system. This is described by Francis Cardinal James McIntyre, bishop of Los Angeles, as a "violation of the rights of both God and man."

McIntyre added that "it is the policy of the state to take away the basic rights of parents and their children." Each special significance to the report since its recognition by Roman Catholic church officials is more involved in compulsory government schools than the lack of religious instruction. The principal objection voiced by many leaders of all faiths to the public school system is their viewpoint that the children were being instructed in religious matters. They have been attempting to bring home for that public schools are a vicious form of discrimination ought to be abhorred — has largely been the citation of a 1925 decision of the United States Supreme Court by Chief Justice Warren. The fundamental theory upon which all governments in this union rests is the power of the state to standardize its laws and to enforce its laws.

McIntyre failed to point out that the public school system is a government system. Apparently overlooked, the point that there is no consideration given to the parent who is willing to pay for the education of his child in a private or parochial school and thus relieve the burden of giving the child an education.

It is pathetic to see how the parents of rich men when they have so much wealth seem to want to help someone else rather than develop their own understanding. They seem to think they can do it with money — that a child does not need to have the will to learn if enough money is spent on him.

When I read this report, I could not help but think of the introduction to "The Thomas Jefferson Bible" by Henry Jackson. He contended that very few people recognize the fact that an idea cannot be organized; that you can organize a task but not an idea; that the way to kill an idea is to organize it or attempt to make a monopoly of it.

It is this great book Nock observed: "The only thing that the psychically human being can do to improve society is to present society with one improved unit. In a word, ages of experience testify that the only way society can be improved is by the individual method which Jesus apparently regarded as the only one whereby the Kingdom of Heaven can be established as a going concern; that is, the method of each one doing his very best to improve one."

The Ford Fund For The Advancement Of Education

Some time back I wrote to the Ford Fund for the Advancement of Education to ascertain whether they had issued a fellowship to a party by the name of Mrs. Senchal. I did not get a direct answer — all I got was a copy of a Report for 1952-1954 of The Ford Fund. The Ford Foundation has made grants to this Fund for the Advancement of Education in the amount of $16,402,859 for the period from July 1, 1952 to June 30, 1954.

I was rather interested in looking over the Board of Directors of this Fund. It is made up of a few prominent businessmen like Walter Gifford, honorary chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and Walter P. Rebeck, chairman of the board of Container Corp. Then it has such people who are always seeking publicity to make the public think they are great humanitarians and great educators, as Roy E. Larsen, president of Ticon, Inc., and Walter Lippman, who writes a column. They are not even enough interested in education to answer questions about it. They only want publicity. Most of the rest of the Directors are politicians of various kinds representing the United Nations and employees connected with the Fund. Of course, 15 million dollars is quite a lot of money to pay out for salaries and it can attract a lot of people.

The Fund complains about having the Board of Education of Los Angeles accept a grant from them and then shortly afterwards refuse the grant.

The Report recognizes that the tax-supported schools are keyed down to take care of the average or mediocre student and neglect the student who has exceptional talent.

Equalization Of Educational Opportunity

It has a chapter on "Equalization of Educational Opportunity." It is rather hard for me to understand how any fund or any group or any individual can bring about a condition where all children have equal opportunity for an education. A child who is born into a family where the parents believe in individual responsibility and that it is their duty to help develop their children has a much better opportunity for an education than a child born into a home where the parents think the state should do the educating.

Rich Men's Sons

It is pathetic to see how the parents of rich men when they have so much wealth seem to want to help someone else rather than develop their own understanding. They seem to think they can do it with money — that a child does not need to have the will to learn if enough money is spent on him.

Organize An Idea

When I read this report, I could not help but think of the introduction to "The Thomas Jefferson Bible" by Henry Jackson. He contended that very few people recognize the fact that an idea cannot be organized; that you can organize a task but not an idea; that the way to kill an idea is to organize it or attempt to make a monopoly of it.

No Endowment Funds

Then Mr. Jackson observes: "It is worth remembering that the movement Jesus started did not begin with an endowment fund. It began with a poor workingman, who had convictions and the courage to stand by them. The way to advance the world most effectively is to stand by the truth as it is."

The Directors of the Fund probably never read "The Memoirs of a Superfluous Man" by Albert Jay Nock or they would not be a party to enlarging the monopoly of education.

In This Great Book Nock Observed:

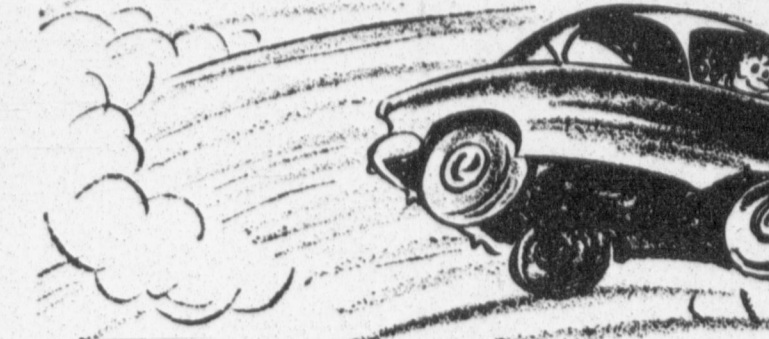

"The only thing that the psychically human being can do to improve society is to present society with one improved unit. In a word, ages of experience testify that the only way society can be improved is by the individual method which Jesus apparently regarded as the only one whereby the Kingdom of Heaven can be established as a going concern; that is, the method of each one doing his very best to improve one."

But the Directors of this Fund, many of whom are members of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, seem to be more interested in trying to educate other people after their own mold than in educating themselves.

The woman, asthma and high blood pressure. It was also concluded from this study "20 years after" that the patients were suffering from a chronic disorder which did not interfere seriously with work, social or family life. Twelve out of 100 recovered, 35 out of 100 had symptoms, but no disability, and only 15 of 100 had symptoms with moderate or severe interference with their work or living conditions.

Ike's Education Program Is Middle Of Road Idea

By THURMAN SENSING

The President's school aid program is another one of his so-called "middle of the road" proposals. It may be good political strategy to try to please both sides, but any such program certainly does not set well with those who have definite ideas on the subject of federal aid to education.

To those who do not believe in centralization and federal control over the schools, any federal aid at all is too much.

To those who believe in complete decentralization and federal control over the schools, the President's proposal was simply a gesture in the right direction.

Actually, supporters of Constitutional government — which leaves education to the states — cannot support federal aid to education for a number of reasons.

In the first place, regardless of what some may say, federal aid gives the federal government control over the public schools of the nation. It is entirely logical, and has been so ruled by the Supreme Court, that the federal government has the right to control that which it subsidizes.

Nothing worse could happen to the educational system of this country than to have its control placed in the hands of a centralized bureaucracy. Yet there are some, such as the Americans for Democratic Action and Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, who would have this happen immediately.

There are others — and this would be the effect of such programs as proposed by the President — who would have it happen gradually.

In the second place, federal aid to education is simply another illustration of the whole fallacy of federal aid. Under our Constitutional republican form of government, the federal government has no powers not granted to it by the several states. Neither does the federal government have any money that does not come to it from the people of the several states.

How then can the federal government help the states when it must get the money with which to help them from the people who live in those states?

Yet the supporters of a centralized welfare state ignore any such common sense reasoning. The President's message was delivered while the writer was in Washington, and upon reading an editorial in one of the Washington newspapers, this sentence was noted:

"They (the proposals for federal aid) offer financial assistance from the Nation because the problem is a national one and because the states lack the resources to meet local responsibility and local independence."

Surely, these proponents of federalized control cannot possibly believe what they say. They must

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

By JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

"It is futile to worry about yesterday or tomorrow, and it is foolish to worry about anything so temporary as today."

I don't know who first said this, but I think it is the truth. The only trouble connected with it, of course, is the fact that most of us find it rather hard to consistently follow this sound admonition.

Worry is a form of fear that consumes a great deal of energy and does little, if any, good.

Throughout the Bible we are told to "fear not"; "be of good courage"; "be not afraid, only believe."

Both worry and faith have to do with the unknown. Worry fears it and draws back from it. Faith faces it and steps out upon it. Maybe our worries are simply a measure of our lack of faith.

At any rate, I think it can be safely said that the more vital our faith, the less vital our worries.

Jones — Certainly not.

Smith — Nobody has ever had the nerve to tell you before. And you are such a splendid, noble fellow.

Jones — Yes, yes, yes.

Smith — You're one of those fellows who never really know what is being said to them; you're always pursuing some train of thought. Anybody can tell half the time you are not listening by the far-away look in your eyes.

Jones — Of course, it's terribly rude of you to say that. You mustn't say more, old chap (putting his hands on Jones's shoulders). Promise me you'll quit.

Russia's Tough Policy Shows Soviet Unprepared For War

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The current political and economic turmoil within Russia is interpreted by Washington's experts on the Soviet as evidence that the Communist mightily military facade and bellicose policies actually conceal grave internal weaknesses. The so-called "tough policy" of the new Bulgarian-Khrushchev regime shows Moscow to be entirely unprepared for a major and offensive war for at least a decade.

In fact, contrary to the general opinion, President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles are more optimistic over prospects of peace in our time than at any period since Stalin switched from friend to enemy. The Marx-Lenin system has suffered its blackest eye since the 1917 revolution, and from a blow delivered by the Kremlin hierarchy.

Reports on breakdowns of Russian industry, agriculture and transportation, the basis of a war machine, no longer came from hostile sources. They have appeared recently in the official and censored press, but diplomats thought at first that these critical articles in Pravda and Izvestia were deliberate smokescreens designed to delude the West into complacency.

Now, however, these rumblings are substantiated sensationally by the top-level shake-ups involving the political organization, the industrial and agricultural planning corps, the Supreme Court, and, finally, the defense establishment. No government so monolithic and so dominated by a few figures as Russia's, makes such a public confession of national failure on so many vital fronts unless it has been frightened into doing so.

George Malenkov resigned as Premier with the brutally frank but absurd admission that he had failed to increase food production. The fact is that Nikita S. Khrushchev has been responsible for agricultural operations for five years. And the basic reason for decreased output of grains and livestock has been Khrushchev's ruthless expansion of the collectivized farm system.

Since collectivism is the foundation of the Communist state's whole economy, its conceded failure after 27 years of intensive trial strikes at the Soviet system within Russia, the satellite empire and China.

Farmers simply will not produce as slaves of the state. The per capita output of such animal products as meat, eggs, milk and butter, for instance, has declined 30 per cent in the last 23 years. Grain production per capita now approximates that of 1928. With a population growth of 3,000,000 annually, Russia will not be able to feed her people, her armies and her satellites in a major conflict for at least 10 years.

Nor do factory workers enjoy their enslaved status. It is true that Russia has become the second most important industrial nation through her successive five-year plans. The Kremlin has virtually achieved its 200,000,000 people to include the United States alone (not including our Allies) leads Russia by from 160 to 300 per cent in the production of all major war materials — coal, pig iron, steel, petroleum, electricity. If the U.S. stood still, Russia could not match our capacity within a general tit.

In their speeches and writings, the economic commissars complain regularly and bitterly about excessive production costs, shoddy goods, high prices and losses. Zvevezneva recently warned that drastic economic measures must be inaugurated, and that continued waste would be treated as a "very gross violation of state discipline." Other officials have talked in "crisis" terms.

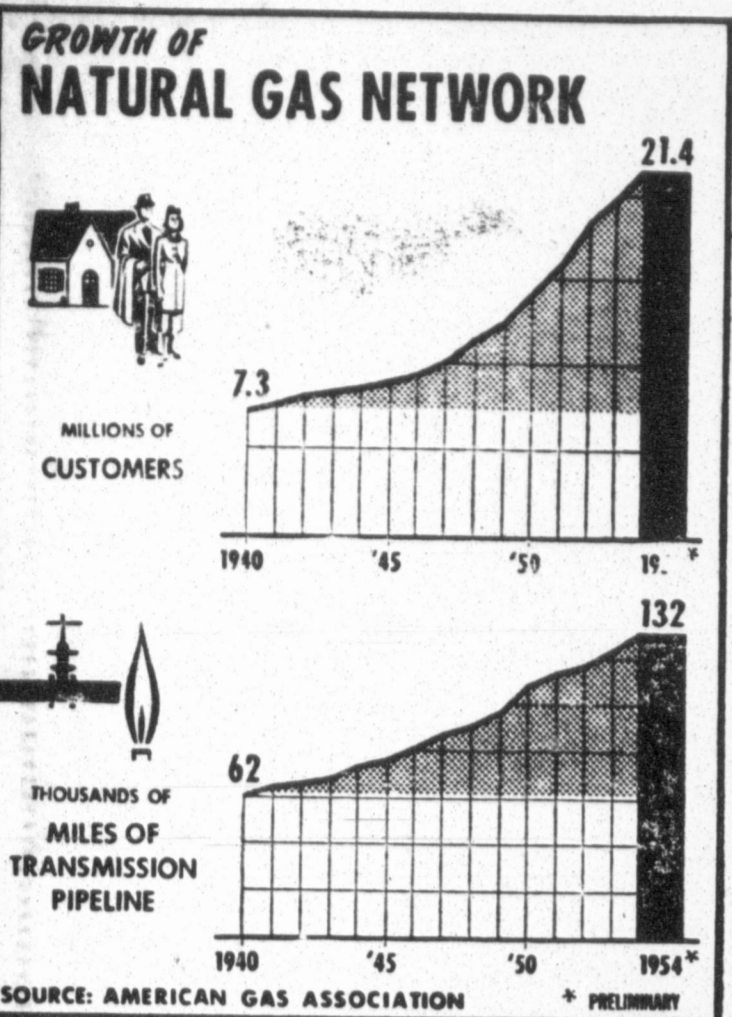

These internal defects are also seen to affect the armed forces. Selection of three Army Marshals — Bulganin as Premier, Zhukov as Defense Minister, Voroshilov as President — indicate that the military establishment has suffered from internal dissensions. The higher officers have long resented their enforced subordination to the secret police and the party.

Meanwhile, the long-suffering Russian people will be ground deeper into misery. Malenkov's promises of more consumer goods will be deferred, making another admission that munitions output has lagged. Satellites may begin to doubt Moscow's boasts that a Communist society provides a human and material Utopia.

In the past 15 years, ten new states have been added to the nation's expanding natural gas pipeline system. With a total of 43 states now served by natural gas, customers have tripled since 1940. Proved gas reserves have outpaced this expansion, reaching an all-time high of 211 trillion cubic feet at the beginning of 1954.

Production Efficiency To Keynote Convention

Oilmen from Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas gather in Amarillo March 23 to swap information on improved techniques for bringing oil to the earth's surface more efficiently.

Hundreds of the oil industry's top production men will attend sessions of the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Production Mid-Continent District three-day annual meeting in the Herring Hotel.

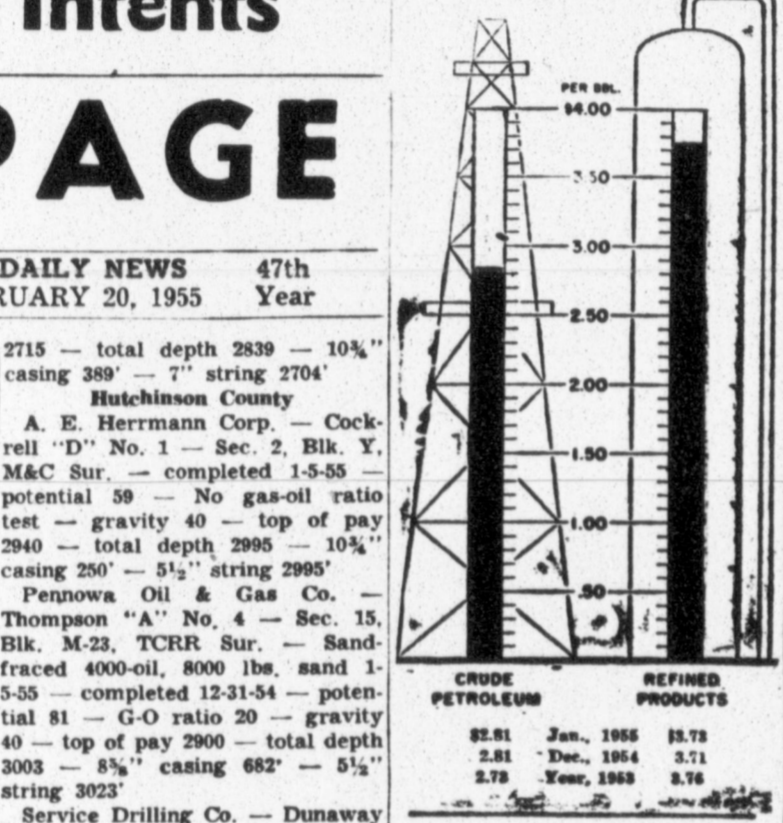

Amarillo Producer R. C. Kay announced the meeting dates for the convention. Kay is general arrangements chairman.

Latest developments in technology, equipment and field practices used in drilling and producing operations will be discussed in papers, study committee reports and group sessions.

A new feature of this meeting will be presentation of formal papers on the first day's session relating to surface-string cementing practice, use of stabilizers in controlling hole deviation, casing-string design factors, water-flood project performance following formation fracturing in Eastern Kansas and a panel discussion of hydraulic fracturing in secondary-recovery operations.

The general session at the halfway point in the three-day convention will highlight principal speeches by Rex Baker of Houston, vice-president of Humble Oil & Refining Co., and J. Ed Warren, Na-

API Chapter Stages Dance

The annual dance of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will be held the night of March 4 in the Top of Texas Sportsman's Club.

Fifty members of the chapter have tickets for the affair and can supply them, according to Martin Ludeman, chapter secretary-treasurer, who also has some on hand at the West Pampa Refining Association.

Along with the dance duets, tickets of membership in the chapter are also being sold. Ludeman said Saturday, dance tickets are $3 and membership duets, $1.

Marguerite Brown and her Orchestra will be featured at the dance. Ludeman said the orchestra is a versatile organization with outstanding dance rhythm. The band plays the latest dance hits, the blues, mambo, rumba and a few polkas and waltzes. And there are three vocalists, each singing a different type of number. Requests will be played by the orchestra which includes electric guitar, saxophones, clarinets and the drums.

Vernon Watkins is the chairman of the chapter dance committee and he assures chapter members and their guests there will be tables enough for everyone attending.

Ludeman also pointed out that the API's Mid-Continent District spring meeting, sponsored by the Panhandle chapter, is scheduled for March 23-25 in Amarillo and that "your API membership is more important than ever." The district includes the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma, Kansas and Illinois.

Speaker, Post Seek To Free Independents

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18-UP—The voices of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and the Saturday Evening Post were added this week to clamor for Congress to free 4,000 independent natural gas producers from federal price regulation.

Rayburn said sharply that it was past time for President Eisenhower's Cabinet Fuels Resources Committee to lead Congress in its promised recommendations on the issue. "These people have been studying this matter all these months," he added. "They ought to come up with something. I don't like it."

The Post said editorially that federal control raises a threat to a free economy. It said this was "a basic principle" which should not be lost sight of when, it said, Congress begins debating the issues.

Report Due Last December

The committee report was due last Dec. 1 but has been delayed by inability to agree on policy decisions. Meanwhile, oil state congressmen are champing at the bit. They want to get action on bills which would exempt the producers from a 1954 Supreme Court decision which held that they are engaged in interstate commerce as part of the gas distribution and sale process. This brought them under jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission which must approve their prices.

The congressional measures face strong opposition. Senators and representatives are champing at the bit. They want to get action on bills which would exempt the producers from a 1954 Supreme Court decision which held that they are engaged in interstate commerce as part of the gas distribution and sale process. This brought them under jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission which must approve their prices.

Snow, Ice Cripple Britain

LONDON, Feb. 19-UP—Snow and ice crippled much of Britain and the Continent Saturday. Many parts of the Scottish Highlands were cut off by snow drifts for the second time this year and Navy helicopters set up an airlift to ferry food and medicines to those isolated.

Card of Thanks

Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God. Believe also in me. To our kind neighbors for their many mansions: if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. I will come again and receive you to myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.
