American-Backed Premier Gains Control Of Nation

By LOUIS GUILBERT

SAYON, (UPI)—Supporters of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem "deposed" Emperor Bao Dai as chief of state Saturday and forced army chiefs appointed by the emperor to renounce their powers in a dramatic palace overthrow.

A hastily convened "revolutionary assembly" declared Bao Dai was ousted and charged the premier with forming a new provisional national government to "re-establish order and security."

Nationalist troops surrounded Bao Dai's palace and of about 500 soldiers, and the emperor fled to the United States. Bao Dai's flight was reported by the Associated Press.

Nationalists Will Agree To Cease Fire

The United States has received assurances from Nationalist China that it will go along with a cease-fire in the Formosa Straits if Red China agrees to discuss its closed Saturday night.

Assurances that the Nationalists would make by a cease-fire were said to have been obtained by Airm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson, during their recent talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek at Taipei, Formosa.

Radford and Robertson arrived at Richmond, Va., Saturday afternoon to spend the night at Robertson's home. They will drive to Washington Sunday evening and will report later to President Eisenhower and other officials.

Twelve administration Republican senators meanwhile joined in declaring their support for President Eisenhower in his efforts to negotiate a cease-fire with Red China.

Two of the 12 Senate GOP Whip Leverett Saltonstall (Mass.) and Sen. H. Alexander Smith (N.J.), second ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, attached a supplement statement saying they believe the Chinese Nationalists should be represented if possible.

The four-paragraph declaration supported Mr. Eisenhower's expressed willingness, voiced at his news conference Wednesday, to negotiate with the Peiping government for a cease-fire in the troubled Formosa strait provided Nationalist China's rights are protected.

The senators' statement was regarded as a direct reply to attacks on the President's policy by Sen. GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. William F. Jenner (Ind.). But it did not mention their statements.

The declaration was issued from the office of Sen. Clifford P. Case (N.J.), one of the signers. Other signers besides Case, Smith and Saltonstall were:

Sen. Gordon Allott (Colo.), J. Glenn Beall (Md.), Prescott Bush (Conn.), Frank Carlson (Kan.), Norris Cotton (N.H.), James H. Duff (Pa.), Irving M. Ives (N.Y.), Thomas H. Kuchel (Calif.) and Frederick G. Payne (Me.).

"As we supported the Formosa resolution, we now support the President's efforts for negotiation of a cease-fire with Communist China. We know he will carry them forward with candor and without the sacrifice of this nation's most solemn obligations."

The declaration said the President "has a right and obligation to wage peace as well as to wage war. Waging peace is what he is trying to do."

Man Gives Self Up In Shooting Here

A hail of bullets estimated by witnesses to be six or seven from a .45 pistol cut down Edward Tiffin, about 50, about 11 p.m. Saturday in front of Elmer's Super Market, 600 East Frederic.

About half an hour later, Duff Lewis, 31, surrendered to police and sheriff's officers and admitted doing the shooting.

According to witnesses, Tiffin was shot first in front of Stapleton's Boot Shop on Frederic.

He kept running as the gun was fired at him, and he finally was shot in front of Elmer's.

At Highland General Hospital, Tiffin was reported to have been shot in the shoulder and once in the hip according to Sheriff's Deputy Buck Haggard.

According to Sheriff Ed Jordan, the shooting was a result of a dispute between Tiffin and Lewis over Lewis' wife.

Tiffin's wife once lived in a hotel on Brown Street which is operated by Lewis' wife. His present address is 519 South Somerville.

Sheriff Jordan said Lewis left Alton, Okla., where he had been working in a boot shop at 10 p.m. Saturday. He arrived in Pampa about 10 p.m. and was directed to Tiffin's apartment where he attempted to get Tiffin by some party who to Stapleton's boot shop where Lewis once worked.

Tiffin refused to go, and according to the reports from the sheriff's office, the shooting began.

The actual number of shots fired was not determined. Sheriff Jordan, who was raising a red flag report of the shooting, was able to find only two shots.

The extent of Tiffin's wounds was not determined late Saturday night.

Tiffin is an employee of Cline Service Co., according to Sheriff Jordan.

Time Running Out For Texas Solons

AUSTIN, April 30—UP—An all-work-and-no-pay period of indefinite duration faced Texas lawmakers Saturday as they headed into the last full week of their regular 120-day session.

The legislative wage of $25 a day ends May 10, one week from this coming Tuesday. However, not even the most optimistic of the lawmakers foresaw final agreement by that time on the record-size $1.5 billion appropriation bill and a controversial tax bill aimed at closing the $60 million gap between contemplated spending and estimated revenue.

The appropriation bill is in conference committee where members from both House and Senate are attempting to iron out differences of opinion as to how the final bill should be drawn.

Scheduled for hearing Tuesday, the tax bill, which sparked a storm of House debate before clearing the lower chamber, is scheduled for public hearing before the Senate.

Benson Hits Dem Policies

WASHINGTON, April 30—UP—Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson says past Democratic farm policies are partly to blame for the drought and dust bowl conditions in the Great Plains states.

He made the statement after reporting to President Eisenhower Friday on his four-day tour this week through stricken areas in Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, and New Mexico.

He said some of the blame must be placed on "high rigid supports on wheat which encouraged expansion of wheat acreage in marginal areas." Wheat supports were part of the farm policy of past Democratic administrations.

Benson did not reveal exactly what he told Mr. Eisenhower regarding his five-state tour. But he did not deny there is a dust bowl problem, as some reports have said.

As a matter of fact, the Agriculture Department issued gloomy figures on the situation Monday, the day Benson left on his tour. These showed that between last November and April 20, 13 million acres of land were "damaged by wind erosion" in seven Great Plains states. This was three million more acres than were reported as of April 20.

Benson has said that the "dust bowl situation is serious, although not so bad as it was during the 1930's. He has not made a public report yet, however, on his tour this week.

President Woos Labor In New Talk

WASHINGTON, April 30—UP—President Eisenhower held out an olive branch to organized labor Saturday.

He spoke at cornerstone-laying ceremonies for a new $35 million marble building, little more than a block from the White House, that will be headquarters for the AFL and CIO when they merge into one big organization this fall.

Both by his personal appearance at the ceremonies and in the conciliatory words of his speech, Mr. Eisenhower was clearly trying to patch up the sharp political differences between labor leaders and his administration.

He quoted the words that President Woodrow Wilson used in laying the cornerstone of the old AFL building in 1916:

"If you come at me with your fist I will double mine, but if you come at me in the spirit of friendship and negotiation, you will find that I will say 'come, let us sit down together and there, I assure you, we shall find that our differences are far more imaginary than real.'"

Mr. Eisenhower also used the occasion to reiterate his pledge to work untriflingly for world peace.

"So far as the Almighty will give to this administration and to me personally the ability to discern the proper tasks, we shall do nothing but devote our efforts to try to lead this world—this nation of ours—toward enduring peace, toward a better prosperity and equal justice for all here at home," he said.

"Our members, who represent all segments of the producing industry believe they have been imposed upon enough and are solidly united against this new tax," he said in a prepared statement.

Panhandle Man Killed In Mishap

Matt Frank Berninger, 33, Panhandle, was killed instantly when his car overturned one and one-half times approximately 9.5 miles north east of Pampa Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

Berninger, a welder, was going west on the Highway when his 1955 Mercury sedan swerved after passing another car and went off the road, clipping a telephone guy wire and overturning.

Investigating officers figured the car to be a total loss.

Dr. Salk, Other Experts Say Shots Should Continue

WASHINGTON, April 30—UP—Dr. Jonas E. Salk and 19 other top polio experts said Saturday nationwide inoculations with the new Salk vaccine "should be continued" despite the occurrence of polio in some 25 children who received shots.

The experts said the "Public Health Service was right in banning further use of vaccine produced by the Cutter laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., pending further investigation."

But they said that "at the present time there is no reason to suggest the vaccine of manufacturers other than Cutter should be withheld."

The recommendations of Technical Advisory Committee on Polio Vaccine were made public by Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general of the Public Health Service.

Only Tim Fraction, head of one week pending the completion of a Public Health Service investigation of vaccine produced at the Cutter Laboratories.

"It is important to remember that the field trials of the vaccine indicated that it was from 60 to 90 per cent effective. It must be anticipated that additional cases (of polio) will inevitably occur among some of those for whom the vaccine is not effective."

The committee, which was summoned here by Dr. Scheele for an emergency review of the vaccine situation, issued its recommendations shortly after California called off its immunization program for one week pending the completion of a Public Health Service investigation of vaccine produced at the Cutter Laboratories.

"They drafted a series of recommendations Saturday to speed a decision on what gave polio to more than 30 children who received Salk shots. Officials said they hoped to make some of these public Saturday night.

The proposals are said to call for an exhaustive study of each victim's original history and to spell out a program for checking the safety of the California vaccine of Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.

Meanwhile, there was a flurry of other developments in the vaccine politics across the nation. They include:

1. The number of cases among vaccinated children rose to 34 with the report of five new cases — two in Louisiana, two in San Diego, Calif., and one in Houston.

They Have A Purpose In Coming To Pampa

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

They don't make a cent in salary for two years.

They don't use tobacco and do not drink, whether it is alcohol, coffee or tea.

And they'll have to wait before they go on "dates" or take up any more studying for their chosen professions.

But they will go into American business, each of the four of them. One intends to be a chemical engineer. Another wants to be a mathematician. A third is a future lawyer. And the fourth will be an electrical engineer.

There is little doubt, too, that each of them will marry and will rear a large family.

They are dedicated young men, none of them younger than 20 or older than 22. And that is why two of them will be in Pampa for the next three to six months and the other two were here for a few days last week.

For they are "elders" of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (the Mormon Church) and are doing "missionary" work for a two-year period.

Elder Ronald D. Hatch, 20, of Provo, Utah, the chemical engineer, and Elder Floyd Warren, 20, of Spanish Fork, Utah, the mathematician, are the ones who will be in Pampa a while.

Elder Reed J. Bowen, 21, of Rexburg, Idaho, the lawyer, and Elder Ivan Wright, 22, of Salt Lake City, Utah, the electrical engineer, are the two who travel over the entire Texas-Louisiana "mission," doubling back to each "branch" of the church every three months.

First In Pampa

Lawrence West, the city-county sanitarian, was the first Mormon in Pampa and, at present, is the president of the Pampa "branch." His counselors or right-hand men, are Gene Barnes and James Waldrop.

The Pampa Mormons—there are an estimated 50 of them—meet in the Carpenters' Union Hall, 706 W. Foster. But a Mormon church is to be built in the 700-block of Sloan.

Since Dec. 21, 1952, the date the Mormons in Pampa were organized, Pampa has been the "target" of such young men as these four "elders" with the "two leather books each of them carries: the King James version of the Bible and the Book of Mormon.

The Bible to the Mormon Church, they explain, is the standard work of the church, just as it is for so many church-goers. It is basic to their belief and is believed "to be the word of God as far as it is translated correctly."

The Book of Mormon is not the Mormon Bible—it is one of the complementary works "that the Mormons accept as scripture. It is principally the history of Ancient America, from about 600 B. C. to 421 A. D. It takes its title from a man whose name was Mormon, who was one of the later prophets of the 1,000-year period and who was not greatly different from the prophets of Old and New Testament times except that he lived in the Western Hemisphere.

A Nickname

Strictly speaking, the "elders" point out, there is no such thing as a "Mormon" and no such thing as a "Mormon" Church. "Mormon" is just a nickname for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

The four "elders"—the two permanent and the two traveling ones—are prime examples of how the work of the Mormon Church is carried on.

"We tell people from house-to-house about our belief," they say. "We believe this is the gospel of Jesus Christ—and we call on all denominations."

There is no such thing as a paid minister in the Mormon Church, either. Youth like these, or adults. And there is no formal schooling for Mormon ministers.

"Everyone works together in the church," they say, proudly. "It is strictly a layman's organization—the laymen do all the preaching."

And that's what these young men are doing. They are laymen doing the preaching. They preach on the basis of "just what we have learned in church," nothing more.

During the two years they are "on the road," they are backed financially by their families and friends. They devote their full time to preaching and hold no other jobs or any means of making a living.

Two Conditions

"Elders" like Hatch, Warren, Bowen and Wright "hit the road" on only two conditions: (1) they must be "called" to it by those in charge and (2) they must volunteer to do it. Then they put aside their own personal futures for two years—it can be longer—and become "missionaries" for the church. They can be sent anywhere. And are.

But wherever they are for those two years or more, they are not allowed to "date" girls. They do manage to go bowling and to the movies occasionally. But that's about all.

They—and all other Mormons, too—are just like any other Americans, even if they don't believe in smoking or drinking, even if it is only coffee or tea. There's nothing "fancy" about them. They just believe the body is a temple and should be treated accordingly.

When they go "out into the country" to proselyte other people, they generally stay with fellow Mormons. After their "tour of duty," they return home and go on with their chosen careers.

The Texas-Louisiana "mission," in which these four are working, is one of 19 in the United States. (There are 42 in the world.) Elders Hatch and Warren are two of the 110 "permanent" in the two-state area. Elders Bowen and Wright are the two who travel all over the "mission."

Headquarters

The headquarters of the Mormon Church is, of course, in Salt Lake City, Utah, site of the world-known tabernacle and temple. At the head of the church organization are a president, his two counselors and the 12 apostles (Secy. of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is one). Then the church is organized into "stakes," "wards" and, in the more unorganized parts of the world, "branches." Pampa is a "branch."

These four "elders," like all Mormons, believe there can be no Heaven without their families, and marriage can be for time and eternity. The proof is that most Mormons have large families. And, on the other hand, divorce is deplored and discouraged. "Temple divorces," as distinguished from civil divorces, may be granted only by the president of the church for serious cause, including infidelity.

Polygamy, at one time, was practiced by part of the Mormon people. After the U. S. Supreme Court in 1890 passed favorably on the constitutionality of laws prohibiting the practice, the church president issued a manifesto preventing further polygamy. To practice it now means excommunication from the church.

One thing often misconstrued, the "elders" point out, is the idea that Mormonism is a Protestant faith. It is not. Joseph Smith, the first Mormon, never belonged to any church, claimed no authority by succession from any other church or sect and inferred no authority from the Bible. He, his successor, Brigham Young, and their followers, testified they received their authority by direct divine bestowal.

Articles

The guiding "laws" of Mormonism are the 13 "Articles of Faith." They are what Mormons live by. To talk to these four "elders" is to realize they are well versed in everything Mormon.

"Men will be punished for their own sins, and not for Adam's transgression."

"We believe the Bible to be the word of God as far as it is translated correctly; we also believe the Book of Mormon to be the word of God."

"We claim the privilege of worshipping Almighty God according to the dictates of our own conscience, and allow all men the same privilege, let them worship how, where or what they may."

These "articles" and others are things these young men believe in and follow. The Mormon loves freedom like life, they say. And they really believe it when they add: "All this leads to greater happiness."

Heinz Ulrich, Jr., will be the instructor for the retail credit institute which will operate in Pampa this week for three days. Thirty-five persons had signed up in advance yesterday for the course which will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. tomorrow through Wednesday in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Sponsored by the merchants activities committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association, the school will deal with such subjects as opening accounts profitably, reducing credit risks, increasing credit volume, controlling accounts safety, decreasing collection problems, "hot-check" laws and other related topics. The public is invited to attend the school. Class-goers can enroll at the first session tomorrow night—the fee will be $3 for the course.

VAPOR IS VICIOUS

Whenever the water vapor that accumulates within a household strikes a surface that's cold enough, it condenses into water. If interior surfaces are cold enough to cause condensation, the decoration on them can be spoiled in this manner. Moisture vapor can also make its way into the cool hidden spaces inside the walls, then condense and soak sheathing and timbers that may eventually rot and weaken. As the moisture continues its course outward from within the house it can get under exterior paint, making it blister and peel.

California Calls Off All Polio Vaccine Test Shots For Week

BERKELEY, Calif., April 30—UP—California established a week-long ban on all polio vaccinations Saturday to give federal medical authorities time to determine whether the vaccine caused a number of cases of polio across the nation. The State Board of Public Health called for the seven-day ban and Los Angeles county, the state's most heavily populated county, immediately announced it would comply. Other counties were expected to follow suit. The board also asked that all children who have received their first shots of vaccine from Berkeley's Cutter Laboratories be closely observed for possible reactions. They should not be given any counter agents, such as gamma globulin, the board advised.

To Meet in Washington

The National Technical Advisory Committee scheduled a meeting in Washington to go over the entire matter. Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, is a member of the committee. The requests came as two more San Diego children who received Cutter vaccine April 16 were reported stricken with polio. This brought the number of San Diego victims to five. All received Cutter vaccine.

Across the nation 31 cases have developed among children who received the Cutter vaccine. The laboratory has halted distribution of its solution, and health authorities have acted to halt its use until they can find out whether there was any possible relation between the vaccine and the polio attacks. The board of health recommended the seven-day ban after it held a special meeting with its 18-member advisory committee on policy Friday night.

Applies to All Vaccine

The ban voted by the group applied equally to Salk polio vaccine produced by all six vaccine manufacturers. Before the recommendation was made, at least 19 counties, including

HEALING HUES

Finishes for hospital furniture are now being supplied in more than thirty different pastel colors. Doctors have learned that these cheerful hues promote a patient's recovery and that they are as effective in symbolizing absolute cleanliness as the gleaming white which was once considered mandatory for hospital furniture. When the chemists of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry formulate finishes for medical equipment, they know that these finishes must meet a variety of exacting conditions. Among other things, they must be easy to clean and resistant to alcohols and acids.

Houston Tot Gets Polio After Shot

HOUSTON, April 30—UP—A seven-year old second grade pupil who took his first Salk anti-polio shot April 19, was admitted to a hospital Saturday with "acute bulbar polio." The boy, Harold Michael Hilsher, son of a home supply firm executive, was stricken Friday and a doctor diagnosed the case as paralytic polio. The diagnosis was confirmed by spinal tap Saturday. The child was the only one, so far, of 87,000 school children who took the first vaccine shot in Harris county last April 19. The vaccine used was supplied by Eli Lilly & Co.

MUST BE CLEAN

Before repainting a surface make sure that it is absolutely clean so that the new paint will adhere properly. The surface must not be dusty—or have oily or greasy deposits on it. Oily or greasy deposits may be present in houses that are heated by oil or they may be left as a residue after the use of polishes or paint removers. To remove all traces of oil or grease, use mineral spirits. Moisture condensation in an attic can cause roof boards to rot. The solution to the problem is to make sure that you have adequate ventilation through the use of vents or louvers.

Small Planes Can Fly Big A-Bombs

ST. LOUIS, April 30—UP—An Air Force leader said Saturday night small fighter planes now can deliver atomic bombs "much more destructive" than those which big bombers dropped on Japan during World War II. He said such planes could be "decisive" in preventing or quickly ending so-called little wars. Gen. Thomas D. White, air vice chief of staff, unveiled in a prepared speech to the Reserve Officers State Convention a new Air Force concept for using tactical aircraft — "equipped with either atomic or non-atomic weapons" — to cope with nibbling Communist aggression "at any trouble spot on earth."

Offered One Answer

His statements offered one answer to a question some congressional Democrats have been asking—how is this country going to fight "fringe wars" like Korea with the Eisenhower administration's "new look" defense force which emphasizes air power and atomic weapons and sharply reduced Army ground force strength? White also was clearly speaking in the context of recent remarks by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to the effect that this country no longer regards atomic bombs as weapons to be used only in case of all-out world war.

Diminish Sharp Distinction

White said the development of nuclear weapons and in-flight refueling has diminished the former sharp distinction between strategic bombing forces and tactical fighter forces. He said many military and civilian leaders believe a major war of the future would be decided in a very short time. He said that similarly any "brush fire" wars in which the United States becomes involved "might be best extinguished immediately." "In Korea we learned the futility of trying to fight a long war with traditional means against vastly superior numbers of Communists," White said. He said tactical air forces now have a "new look." "One relatively small fighter bomber can now carry a bomb much more destructive than the

Clean-Up Starts Monday In Ward 4

The annual Pampa clean-up campaign begins tomorrow in Ward 4. Sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the campaign will run through Wednesday in Ward 4 and will move on to Ward 3 Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Ward 2 will get the "treatment" May 9-11 and the campaign will conclude after three days, May 12-14, in Ward 1.

Papers, magazines and other trash should be removed from attics, closets and basements and placed in the alleys to be picked up by trucks during the clean-up drive. All materials, including tree prunings but excluding bricks, rocks and concrete, will be hauled away — if they are placed in the alleys on the scheduled days.

Weather Promising For A-Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 30—UP—The strong-willed but empty-waisted survivors of Operation Due were teased with another bit of hope Saturday. The Atomic Energy Commission said weather conditions might be favorable to finally set off the off-delayed atomic blast at the Nevada test site Sunday.

The Saturday morning weather briefing flashed the green light for all hands to again begin preparations for the pre-dawn detonation. However, two more weather briefings will be held between now and 6:10 a. m. Saturday. Should either the 10:30 p. m. briefing Saturday night or the 4:45 a. m. session Sunday show a change for the worse, the shot will again be postponed—for the sixth irritating time.

The weatherman said Saturday morning that the forecast was favorable for firing Sunday except for cloud conditions that were "marginal" and could interfere with air observation work connected with the blast.

The news left the survivors cold. Most are now convinced that there is no atomic device and that the preparations for the blast are all part of a diabolic plan to test the tolerance, endurance and effects of repeated disappointments on a large mass of people. "Their doubts" will remain until that mythical morning arrives when the bomb is finally exploded before their eyes. Even then a few grouches are expected to cry "fake."

The civilian ranks have thinned fast since last Wednesday when the first dry run occurred. No one knows how many of the civilian and military observers and newsmen have left; the estimates run from one third to one half. The ranks of the 800 military participants are intact. They are under orders to remain here until the project is complete and face a court martial if they bug out.

'Miss Mac From Two

AMARILLO — (Special) — First Hannibal, Mo., a typical American small town which hovers on the banks of the Mississippi River, produced Mark Twain, whose ready wit and likeable humor became a world-wide institution.

Eighty-six years later Hannibal came up with another "native son" off the same block in lovable "Miss Mac," new star of KGNC-TV's "Food Fiesta" show, seen each week day afternoon from 2:30 to 3:00.

Miss Mac, as she's called by Louise, Negro assistant and a long-time fixture on the show, is actually Betty McMahon, or Mrs. Tom McMahon.

"Why, she's as natural as the day is long," is how one KGNC executive described Miss Mac after watching her on her initial appearance after replacing popular Jean Holland some months ago.

"If I was natural," Betty sighed after hearing of the comment, "it was only because those cameras were never focused on my wobbling knees. Why, I could barely stand up. Those cameras scare me to death. And those commercials—wheew!"

"If Freshe bread (one of the participating sponsors of Food Fiesta) didn't go out of business today, they don't have a thing to worry about!"

And, considering that show was not only her television "baptism" but also her first appearance on a live microphone, this could easily have been what she was feeling underneath—but on the surface she was an ole trouper—what they call in the business—"a real pro."

"They don't have to worry a minute about Miss Mac," Aunt Phyllis (O'Keefe) star of Channel 4's "For Kids Only" show and a veteran radio and TV performer, remarked sincerely after watching Betty's initial appearance. "That personality of hers is so strong it's bound to come through that camera lens."

That's the way it's been. A pleasantly plump, 34-year-old mother who always looks more than presentable on or off camera, but to whom "glamor" means nothing, Miss Mac is one of those rare people who's easy-going personality and appearance automatically put guests at ease. That's a real accomplishment in this case because once a week "Food Fiesta" features an honorary "Cook of the Week" and in nine cases out of 10, she's an average housewife who's thrilled to death—but equally perturbed about being on TV.

Petroleum Scientist, Egleoff, Dies

CHICAGO, April 30—UP—Dr. Gustav Egleoff, one of the world's foremost petroleum scientists and director of research for Universal Oil Products Co., Des Plaines, Ill., died Friday night after a brief illness. He was 69.

Egleoff was known as "Mr. Petroleum" in the scientific world. He was the author of 650 articles relating to the petroleum industry and chemistry of hydrocarbon, particularly on the cracking and refining of oil.

He had over 300 patents to his credit on the processing of petroleum oil, coal and shale oil. A vice president at the World Power Conference in London in 1928 and 1950, Berlin in 1930 and Washington in 1936, Egleoff was active right up until the time of his death.

Two weeks ago he was the keynote speaker at the 21st annual engineer's day celebration at the Colorado School of Mines in Golden.

Egleoff was born in New York city of Swiss parents and was a graduate of Cornell University. He received masters of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Columbia University.

He is survived by his widow, Clara Mellor Egleoff.

Knowland Has No Plans To Quit Position

WASHINGTON, April 30—UP—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said Saturday he has "no present intention" of resigning his party post because of differences with President Eisenhower over Far Eastern policy.

He made the statement to newsmen coincident with published speculation about the possibility of his quitting the floor leadership and about possible successors.

The speculation grew out of Knowland's blunt challenge Wednesday to Mr. Eisenhower's willingness to negotiate with the Chinese Communists about a cease fire in the Formosa Straits and the "advancement of world peace."

Knowland said then and repeated Saturday that he did not see how there could be negotiations without Chinese Nationalists participating. Mr. Eisenhower said it would be legitimate to negotiate with the Nationalists present as long as Nationalist rights were not infringed.

Knowland described as "purely speculative" the stories suggesting that his dispute with the administration might lead to a complete break with the White House. He said he is "not going to anticipate anything which hasn't taken place."

"I have no present intention of resigning," he said. At the same time, a prominent Eisenhower Republican senator, who asked not to be identified, told a reporter he hopes and believes that no complete break is in the offing. This senator expressed belief that there is no substantial desire yet among staunch administration backers to have Knowland step aside.

Another Republican, Sen. George D. Aiken (Vt.), said he did not always agree with Knowland's "hellcat attitude" but did not think the Californian should be asked to quit.

A living room that is especially cool and charming in the summer, time has walls that are painted in medium gray that tones into the waxed flagstone floor. Woodwork is painted to match the walls and the ceiling is an oyster-white. A large secretary desk is painted white as are the lamp bases. In the upholstery on chairs and sofa, as well as the paintings on the walls, are soft blue, shell pink and lilac.

Just wait till you switch the pitch of Buick's new Dynaflo!

How would you like to take the wheel of a high-powered Buick and feel an experience you never felt before in any earth-bound vehicle?

How would you like to do—just by pressing down the gas pedal—what a pilot does when he's ready for take-off?

And how would you like to drive with the happy thought that you're getting plenty of miles per gallon in normal cruising—and the electrifying action of the world's first airplane-principled transmission when you need it for split-second getaway response or accelerating power?

It's all for you when you say the word and slip into the driver's seat of a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Not only do you take command of record-high Buick V8 power—and the most envied ride in the industry—and the brawn and heft and luxury of a truly solid automobile.

You also call the turn on twenty propeller-like blades deep inside a wondrous new Dynaflo that's patterned after the principle of the modern plane's variable pitch propeller.

You hold these blades in their high-economy angle when you press the pedal in the normal way—and you get a lot more miles from a tankful of gas.

You switch the pitch of these blades to take-off position when you press the pedal way down—and you get spectacular action instantly.

Don't take our word alone that this is thrilling beyond all previous experience.

Talk to anyone who's tried it. Or, better yet, come try it yourself. That way you can learn firsthand why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other series.

'Miss Mac' Hails From Twain's Home

AMARILLO (Special) — First a bit out of place, in the way she put it in an interview. She and Tom were married in 1941 in St. Louis. He is a salesman for a midwestern manufacturing company and they've lived in Amarillo for the past nine years.

Eighty-six years later Hannibal came up with another "native son" off the same block in lovable "Miss Mac," new star of KGNC-TV's "Food-Fiesta" show, seen each week day afternoon from 2:30 to 3:00.

Miss Mac, as she's called by Louie, Negro assistant and a longtime fixture on the show, is actually Betty McMahon, or Mrs. Tom McMahon.

"Why, she's as natural as the day is long," is how one KGNC executive described Miss Mac after watching her on her initial appearance after replacing popular Jean Holland some months ago.

"If I was natural," Betty sighed after hearing of the comment, "it was only because those cameras were never focused on my wobbling knees. Why, I could barely stand up. Those cameras scare me to death. And those commercials—wheew!"

"If Fresh bread (one of the participating sponsors of Food Fiesta) didn't go out of business today, they don't have a thing to worry about!"

And, considering that show was not only her television "baptism" but also her first appearance on a live microphone, this could easily have been what she was feeling underneath—but on the surface she was an ole trouper—what they call in the business—"a real pro."

"They don't have to worry a minute about Miss Mac," Aunt Phyllis (O'Keefe) star of Channel 4's "For Kids Only" show and a veteran radio and TV performer, remarked sincerely after watching Betty's initial appearance. "That personality of hers is so strong it's bound to come through that camera lens."

That's the way it's been, and a pleasingly plump, 34-year-old mother who always looks more presentable on or off camera, but to whom "glamor" means nothing, Miss Mac is one of those rare people who's easy-going personality and appearance automatically put guests at ease. That's a real accomplishment in this case because once a week "Food Fiesta" features an honorary "Cook of the Week," and in nine cases out of 10, she's an average housewife who's thrilled to death—but equally perturbed about being on TV.

That's before they meet hostess Miss Mac, who's comfortable as an old shoe and honey as a fire-place. "I met my husband on a scavenger hunt. And, he didn't seem printed "Geographer."

Dick's Quickie: Judy Holiday, expiating her Brooklyness accents. "It's the result of hard work, concentration and two semesters of speech at Ebbets Field."

Twenty-one towns and six cities were incorporated in Illinois in 1855. The cities were Decatur, Freeport, Kankakee, Macomb, Marshall and Urbana.

Ben Alexander, who plays Jack Webb's sidekick, Frank Smith, on "Dragnet," takes his part seriously. So seriously that we must consider his Siamese cats and flannel shirts.

If you know your "Dragnet," you know that Frank is something of a hypochondriac. His locker is a pill paradise. But Ben Alexander is no hypochondriac—or at least he didn't use to be.

"Since I've been doing the part," he says, "my wife says I'm getting more like Frank Smith every day. It's sort of a family joke. I can't stand drafts these days. So in our new home we put in radiant heating, which cuts down drafts. But I keep insisting that's just to protect my Siamese cats. She says it's because I'm getting BE Frank Smith."

The cheerful, fair-haired star has also become a sort of ex-officio police officer. It started as a research project—he's spent time with the police to absorb their mannerisms. But he found that he liked the company of policemen, and now spends at least one evening a week "with the boys."

"I got dressed in a working detective's outfit," he says. "They wear old pants and flannel shirts and leather jackets. You see, I've always liked the company of men. But I don't play poker or pool, so this is my chance to have a night with the boys."

Nowadays the Alexanders count several policemen among their best friends. They and their wives exchange social visits. He does everything but go along on official police business—his face would be an immediate tip-off to a any criminal.

"Dragnet" and "Badge 714"—the latter is the re-run of old chapters—mark the peak of a long career in Hollywood. Once upon a chubby little fat, he was one of the very first child stars. This was even before Jackie Coogan. His first part was as Cupid. "They superimposed me over a hot DeMille love scene, so people wouldn't object to it."

After movies came long years in radio, then the Navy during the war. With seven Navy buddies, he established a post-war chain of gas stations. (Which may have a few rise to the rumor that he is rich. He denies it emphatically.)

Then came "Dragnet." And Ben Alexander became Frank Smith. Case closed.

Prepare yourselves. One of the biggest spot advertising campaigns in broadcasting history will soon commence to acquaint you, via television, with the fact that a new Buolva watch flew faster than a sound. The company stuck a couple of watches on a jet which crashed through the sound barrier. Lo and behold, they were still ticking away when it landed.

It's almost as practical to have a watch that can do that as it is to have a pen that writes underwater.

Richard Barstow, who has much to do with the charm of the Ringling Bros. circus, was choreographer on Judy Garland's film, "A Star Is Born." On the set, Judy introduced her daughter to Barstow. The child couldn't manage to say "choreographer"—it came out "geographer."

When the film was finished, Judy gave Barstow a movie director's chair. On the back was

A Few Fast Facts: Jackie Gleason may conduct the Symphony of the Air (the old NBC Symphony) in a Yankee Stadium concert late this spring. A Tosca-ninny? The first 13 episodes of the new CBS Phil Silvers show are finished, and even though not one has been telecast yet, the network is so excited that they've told Phil to go ahead and make 13 more. This may be the next Big show. . . . Florian Zebesh, the TV violinist, is secretly taking clarinet lessons. And he's not just fiddling around. . . . Marion Marlowe's offers, since Arthur Godfrey fired her, now total more than $300,000. . . . TV nightclubs, theaters, movies. She'll be making enough to open a discharge account.

Salaries are so fabulous in Las Vegas that stories like this one, from Amelinda Lecher, of the Sierra Club in upstate New York, are being circulated.

An unknown dance team got an offer from a Las Vegas hotel. The salary would be $10,000 a week.

"But since I never heard of you," the owner said, "it's without me."

Betty's four children are proud as hops of mother these days. They're Mike, 12; Marsha, 5; Kevin, 4, and Candy, 2.

Miss Mac has one of the most unusual backgrounds in TV, undoubtedly.

As an example: "While Tom was in the service during World War

II, I accepted a position with a company in St. Louis which made shrouds. I wasn't quite sure what my duties were, but hastily resigned when they brought in a corpse to be measured for one.

"Then I was a truck driver," she reveals. "Yes, that's right—a truck driver. That only lasted about a day. I knocked over a fire hydrant turning a corner."

Actually, she volunteered to drive a truck temporarily as some part of the war effort.

"But, you can't really say I have not had any experience along these lines. Why, once I wrote, produced and starred in my own play. I not only starred but I played a dual role. The title of the production was 'The Doctor's Wrong Again.' I played the doctor and the patient, which was quite difficult. But, of course, I was only five at the time! In fact, I even had the refreshment stand in Grandma's living room prior to the show."

Betty has had considerable experience in little theater work with the Cathedral Players group in St. Louis.

However, this is incidental because she's one of those rare natural down-to-earth showmen.

Could be she's the George Gobel of the all-electric kitchen.

BRANDING TIME FOR TOOLS Now that everyone in the neighborhood seems bent on repairing and renewing his household and garden, the borrowing instinct of ten comes to the fore. For this reason, it's wise to paint the handles of your tools in a color that's as distinguishable as a cattleman's brand. When you choose a paint color, remember to select one that contrasts brightly with grass and earth so that garden tools will not be overlooked when you complete a job and round up your accessories.

COURT HOUSE — The Roberts County Court House, built in 1913 at a cost of $40,000, is in Miami, the county seat and only town in the county. Miami is the shipping center for the county's major product, beef. (News Photo)

Roberts County Seat Selection Was Big Mix-Up

By JOEL COMBS
Pampa News Staff Writer

MIAMI — Roberts County, one of the earliest counties to be settled in the Texas Panhandle, is distinguished by the fact that it contains only one city — Miami.

Organized in 1889, the county was divided in opinion as to which of the two existing cities, Parnall or Miami (then as it was called then) should be the county seat. Unable to get together as to which town would be the center of the county, an election was held in both places and two sets of officers elected.

Termed a "spurious" election, it was some time before the group installed as officers at Miami was ousted in favor of the Parnall group. Parnall then was the official county seat of Roberts County and continued so, carrying out the official functioning of the county except for judicial purposes which were performed in Wheeler County, until 1898. At that time, as a result of a county election, Parnall was voted out and Miami was named county seat.

With the move to Miami, which was on the Santa Fe Railroad, Parnall soon ceased to exist. Most of the residents moved to Miami and before long the town of Parnall just dissipated.

The old court house, a one-story wooden frame building which was moved to Miami, was replaced in 1913 by a new $40,000 structure and the city of Miami became the only town in Roberts County. It is also the location of the county's only schools and post office, the shipping center for the counties agricultural products.

Roberts County is approximately 600 square miles and therefore produces large amounts of beef for commercial use. The present list of county officers includes Ed Haynes, county judge; M. M. Craig, Jr., county clerk; W. H. Carr, sheriff and tax assessor-collector; and Mrs. Annie Keen, county treasurer.

Roberts County has a present population of approximately 1,000, a loss of over 400 in the last 30 years. The county was named for John S. Roberts, a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence, and Governor O. M. Roberts. The altitude of the 892 square mile county runs between 2,500 ft. and 3,200 ft.

Roberts County is in the center of a lot of excitement in the Panhandle right now with the opening of the Canadian River Bridge on Highway 70 between Pampa and Perryton.

The bridge is located in Roberts County and is expected to contribute largely to the economical ability of the area in general with the increased amount of transportation facilities and tourist traffic.

Slab Foundation No Positive Protection From Termites

Some property owners have the mistaken idea that a concrete slab foundation protects a house from termite attack. Their reasoning is that a thick slab of concrete serves as an effective barrier against the insects. Experience shows this is a fallacy. Far from being termite free, slab constructed houses are more frequently termite traps — making control difficult and expensive.

Instead of protecting the houses the concrete slab actually protects the termites! In conventional construction — that is, houses built on foundation walls or pillars — termites may be forced to pass through an open space in order to reach wood from their underground nest. To gain access to the house they frequently have to build mud tubes along the walls in order to protect themselves from light, air and other enemies. Although these tubes are usually built in the most inaccessible area under the house, they often can be spotted and are a warning sign of termite infestation.

In slab construction these signs are rarely visible. The termites can enter the house directly from the soil and work completely hidden from sight. Slab-type houses extend many invitations for the tiny termite to enter. Hairline cracks in the slab, small spaces around plumbing fixtures, heating ducts and pipes, voids or breaks in the concrete, form boards left in contact with the ground, leveling stakes driven into the ground, and expansion spaces all offer termites an easy way into the house.

Expansion joints between the slab and foundation walls probably offer the termite the most convenient entrance. Since these joints are customarily filled with cellulose packing — and termites will eat anything containing cellulose — these spaces not only provide them with passageway but furnish food as well. Since this means of

Youth Deal Set June 6

CANADIAN — The summer-long youth program in Canadian will begin June 6, with registration scheduled two days before.

Coaches Johnny Cardinal and Grady Burnett have been selected again to direct the program, Tom Abraham, Canadian Rotary Club president, announced.

Solicitation for contributions to the youth program are underway this week and under the direction of the Rotarians and letters will go into the mails to all Canadian residents seeking support for the program.

A budget of $2,000 has been set up for maintaining the program and contributions will be sought to meet that quota.

Supervised recreational activities for youngsters of all ages will include softball, tennis, swimming, square dancing, volleyball, basketball, arts and crafts and others.

Canadian Must Wait 3 Months

CANADIAN — It will probably be mid-July or early August before Salk polio vaccine will be available in Canadian for general distribution.

That is the report received by the Canadian Pharmacy from three leading pharmaceutical distributors, Gilbert Dickens reported. Supplies of the vaccine are on order, however, and will be available through local doctors and the local pharmacy as soon as manufacturers are able to fill orders.

All of the vaccine supply immediately available has gone to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to be used in the nationwide free vaccination program of first and second graders in U. S. schools.

Only 2441 of the 7083 islands in the Philippine group have been named.

Thousands At Bridge

The dedication of the Canadian River Bridge, between Pampa and Perryton, is history today.

But Friday it was the No. 1 item of conversation in Pampa and the vicinity.

Texas Highway Commission Chairman E. H. Thornton, Jr., Commission Member Marshall Formby and Former Commission Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt were in the Top o' Texas area to officiate at the bridge dedication.

There was a free barbecue attended by thousands at the bridge site, prior to the actual dedication ceremony. There were the speeches, the introductions and the ribbon-cutting. There was an informal get-together in Perryton for highway officials.

And then there was the stag banquet Friday night in the Pampa County Club at which Gen. Bobbitt talked. The three special guests left early yesterday morning for home by plane — and the dedication was officially over.

The Pampa Daily News here presents a series of pictures on the occasion.

Lemon Wins 5th; Tigers Edge Sens To Hold Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
Bob Lemon, the Cleveland Indians' sinkerball ace, kept a pair of perfect records alive Saturday with a 5-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

In hitting the Orioles to four hits, Lemon registered his fifth victory of the season without a defeat and his fourth without a setback over Baltimore since it entered the American League last year.

Lemon had a no-hitter going until Willie Miranda singled in the sixth to break it up, just as he did Saturday night against Mike Garcia, Saul Rogovin, attempting a comeback with Baltimore, ran into a three-run homer by Ralph Kiner in the fourth-inning. As it turned out, that was all the margin Lemon required.

Detroit Still on Top
Detroit remained atop the American League with an 11-7 victory over Washington. The game was curtailed in the eighth in order to allow the Senators to catch a train for Kansas City.

The Tigers collected 14 hits off five Washington pitchers in extending their winning streak to seven straight games. Ferris Fain leading the attack with a pair of doubles and a single that produced three runs. Al Kalina went hitless for the first time in 15 games this season. Jim Delsing homered for Detroit while Al Aber, the third Detroit pitcher, was the winner.

Jim Rivera came off the bench to deliver a two-run pinch single in the seventh that gave the White Sox a 3-1 victory over the Red Sox. George Susce Jr. of the Red Sox, making his first major league start, walked three men in the seventh to set the stage for Rivera's blow. Ellis Kladar relieved him and got Sherm Lollar, who had homered in the fifth, to hit into a force-out, but Rivera then punched a 3-and-2 pitch into right field for the deciding runs. Sandy Consuegra pitched a four-hitter in gaining his second victory.

Yanks, Athletics Not Scheduled
The Yankees and Athletics were not scheduled.

Brooklyn retained its 4-1-2 game lead in the National League by beating Chicago, 7-5, behind Russ Meyer's five-hit pitching. Aided by homers off the bats of Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson, Meyer stretched his personal winning streak over the Cubs to 17 games while making his lifetime record over them 22-2.

Preston Ward's pinch single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning snapped a tie and gave Pittsburgh a 5-4 triumph over Cincinnati.

Homers by Stan Musial, Rip Repulski and Del Rice plus effective relief pitching by knuckleballer Paul Lapalme helped the Cardinals to a 6-2 victory over the Giants.

Johnny Logan drove in two of Milwaukee's runs with a homer and a double to help defeat Philadelphia, 4-2.

Ground Work Laid For City Softball Loop
The ground work for the formation of a City Softball League was laid Friday night in a meeting of interested parties.

A second meeting has been called for next Thursday night at 7 in the City Commission Room.

Five teams were represented at Friday's meeting. Any other teams desiring to participate in the city league this summer are urged to be on hand at next Thursday's meeting.

Teams represented Friday night were Panhandle Packing, Bell Telephone, National Guard, Phillips and Schlumberger.

A schedule for the coming season will be mapped at next Thursday's meeting. Also officers and board of directors for the coming season will be elected at the meeting.

Local officials invited persons who can speak for possible other entries in the league to Thursday's meeting.

Shantz returned to the role of the man in charge Friday night when he whipped the power-laden New York Yankees in a three-hit 6-0 shutout. He was the picture of complete confidence as he permitted the Bombers their three widely scattered singles.

"Little Bit" had a one-hitter going for six innings after Andy Carey singled to left in the first. As the horse collars continued to go up on the scoreboard, Shantz paralyzed the Yankees until the seventh when GM McDougald bounced a single to left. Elston Howard plunked a 1st-gap single in the ninth for New York's final effort.

The usually reticent Shantz, with some mild effusiveness, said after the game that "I'm not a bit tired." He should have been because he was on base all night. He forced brother Wilmer at second base in the second, walked in the fourth and popped a sharp single in the sixth.

"I got behind only four batters," Shantz said happily, "and I walked 'em all."

He admitted that he was particularly wary of Mickey Mantle. He gave the Yankee centerfielder two free passes after Mantle parked a soaring foul in the parking lot beyond left field the first time up.

Dusty winds prevented any phenomenal scores and only one of the 65 competing professionals dipped below regulation figures. The leader was Buster Reed, former North Texas State College star from Dallas, who carded a 34-36-70—good enough to give him a one-stroke lead in the race for the $1,000 top prize. Reed had three birdies and a pair of bogies on the front nine, then came home in even par.

Hawkins had a 71 on his tour while McBride, who owns championships in several Texas Invitational tournaments, carded a nifty 72.

Little Takes Wide Lead In Champ Meet

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 30—UP—Gene Littler opened up a 10-stroke lead over the star-packed field at the end of 34 holes in the $37,500 Tournament of Champions Friday as he turned in a blazing 68.

Chipping four strokes off par in a 20-mile-an-hour gale that sent scores skyrocketing in the third annual event, Littler reached the point where he can coast in to the $10,000 first prize in the final 18 holes Sunday.

The former national amateur champion, now playing out of Palm Springs, Calif., shot some of the finest golf of his career Saturday as he went out in 33 and came back in an easy 35 on the par 36-37 course.

Littler was the only man to break par and it was a remarkable feat considering the winds that were sweeping across the desert and even moving balls that were lying on the green.

In second place, with little chance of ever catching up, is Billy Maxwell, the Odessa, Tex., star, who had a 74 Saturday for a 218 total.

The two men who were closest Friday, Pete Cooper and Chick Harbert had bad rounds. Cooper took a 78 and had a 221 total; and Harbert climbed to an 80 for a 223.

Following Maxwell came Bob Toaki, the world champion, and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, recent winner of the Masters. They had 219, on rounds of 75 and 74, respectively.

Corpus Star Tops Batting In Big State
By UNITED PRESS
Shortstop Ed Charles of Corpus Christi is one of the main reasons the Clippers have made such a quick getaway in the Big State League.

In individual statistics, Charles topped just about every department, according to official averages that included games of April 25.

He led in batting, with a .448 percentage; in total bases, 43; triples, 4; hits, 26; and was tied with teammate Jack Wilkinson in doubles, with six each.

A familiar face was at the top in home runs as Roy Sanner of Port Arthur had slammed five, which tied him for the lead with Lenay Lindborg of Waco.

Following Charles in batting were Jim Kirby of Port Arthur, with a .431 mark; Manager Jodie Beeler of Galveston, .422; Len Vandenberg of Texas City, .409; and Chico Cabrera of Port Arthur, .396.

Sanner led in runs-batted-in with 22, followed by Charles with 19. The top base thieves so far were Joe Duham of Waco and Junior Griffith of Texas City. Each had pilfered four sacks.

Leo Posada of Corpus Christi had scored 18 runs, which was tops in the league and Wilkinson had drawn the most walks, 18.

Three pitchers had perfect 3-0 records to top the list. They were Jim Vitter and Rene Vega of Corpus Christi and Jim Newberry of Port Arthur.

Five other hurlers had 2-0 records — Chris Nicolosi and Jack Bumgarner of Port Arthur, George McDuff of Austin, and Vic Stryska and Jim Logan of Galveston.

Mel Tappe of Harlingen led the league in innings pitched, with 33, and Doug Rowe of Waco had 30 strikeouts to top all hurlers. Rowe was a star pitcher with Phoenix of the Arizona-Texas League last season, compiling an 18-3 record.

Port Arthur held a wide bulge in team batting, with a .331 percentage compared to Galveston's .292, and the Waco Pirates were the fielding leaders, with a .957 percentage.

Santee Runs 4:08 In Drake Relays

DES MOINES, April 30—UP—Wes Santee won the invitational mile run at the Drake Relays Saturday in 4:08.4, far above the four-minute mile he was shooting at.

Santee ran his 38th mile under 4:10, but his time was a disappointment to the huge crowd which picked the Drake stadium hoping to see the first American in history break the four-minute barrier.

Santee conceded he had a "comparatively bad day," but he optimistically pointed out "there will be six more chances for me this season." He predicted after the race that his new son, born Wednesday, also could develop into a miler.

"He has the lungs and long legs," he said.

Wins By 10 Yards
Santee took the lead about 250 yards from the finish and outran Fred Dwyer to win by 20 yards.

The cocky Kansan dropped back to last place at the start of the race with Dwyer just ahead of him.

Art Dazell, former teammate of Santee, took the lead at the start. He refused to let Dwyer into the lead shortly after the third lap started and the crowd boomed. Dazell finally dropped back and Dwyer took the lead until Santee overtook him on the last lap.

Santee did the first quarter in one minute, hit the half-mile post at 2:04 and the three-quarter mark at 3:10.

Six Records Fall
Six major Drake records fell during the final session of the 46th running of the relays.

A new record in the university division of the one-mile relay was set by Oklahoma A&M's speedsters. The Aggies ran it in 3:11.7, topping the old mark of 3:12.6 by Illinois in 1954.

Iowa was a surprise winner and record breaker in the university 480-yard shuttle high hurdle relay. The Hawkeyes ran it in :39.2 to top Ohio State's 1947 mark of :39.4.

Bill Neider, Kansas, set a new shotput record with a throw of 56 feet 3.4 inches. The old mark of 55 feet 10.2 inches was set last year by Tom Jones, Miami, who placed third Saturday.

The Emporia, Kan., Teachers sprint medley relay team rang up a college record of 3:21.9 to best a 1932 mark of 3:23.9 set by Abilene Christian.

Abilene Christian ran the quarter-mile relay in :41.3 to better the :41.4 mark it set in Friday's preliminaries.

Santee's 4:08.4 in the mile rounded out the day's major record breaking.

ACC Breaks Record
Abilene Christian, anchored by freshman Bobby Morrow, broke its day-old 440-yard relay mark in the fourth.

Dallas Rookie Top Texas Loop Hitter

By UNITED PRESS
Ovaldo (Ozzie) Virgil, a 21-year-old Dominican, wasn't given much chance to make the Dallas ball club when the Texas League season got underway. But the rookie third baseman is dispelling all doubts as to his capability.

Through games of last Wednesday, Virgil was leading the league in hitting, with a booming .378 percentage, in triples with nine, and was tied with Bob Boyd of Houston in total number of base hits, each with 31.

The official statistics were released Saturday.

The crowd was estimated at 15,000, largest single-day crowd to witness the meet.

The track was fast, the temperature 75 and a slight westerly wind was blowing. Morrow, north even with Boyd Dollar of North Texas State, took the baton and exploded down the straightaway to win by two yards.

Runs Into Photographer
He crashed into a photographer just after he broke the tape and both fell to the track. However, both got up quickly and brushed themselves off. Neither appeared to be injured.

Robert Derrick, Oklahoma was second, Bill Biberstein, Kansas, third, and Kenneth Kelley, North Texas State, fourth.

Billy Tidwell ran a great half-mile to anchor Emporia State Teachers of Kansas to a new sprint medley record of 3:21.9.

He took the baton about 10 yards behind North Texas State and ran a blistering 1:48.6 to finish about five yards ahead of North Texas.

Jim Golliday of Northwestern won the 100-yard dash in :09.9, Dick Blair of Kansas was second, John Johnson of Michigan third and Juel Sweatte of Oklahoma fourth.

Redlegs, Phillies In 3-Player Swap

PHILADELPHIA, April 30—UP—The Philadelphia Phillies, intent on bettering themselves both in the league standings and at the box office, negotiated a three-for-three trade with the Cincinnati Redlegs Saturday.

The Phils, sorely in need of another righthanded hitting outfielder, filled that need with the acquisition of Jim Greengrass, a long ball hitter. They also re-acquired catcher Andy Seminick, one of the outstanding members of the pennant winning 1950 Phillies and so popular with fans here that "Andy Seminick Fan Clubs" still exist in Philadelphia.

The third man acquired by the Phillies in the straight player-deal was outfielder Glen Gorbous, a rookie regarded as a comer.

Cincinnati Gets Burgess In return, the Phillies sent to Cincinnati catcher Forrest (Smoky) Burgess, their leading hitter last year, pitcher Steve Ridzik, who never filled the Phillies' expectations, and rookie outfielder Stan Palys.

Preparations Step Up For Raton Races

Raton, N. M. — Preparations for the opening of the tenth season of racing at La Mesa park will be stepped up this week with the arrival of Harvey Foster, veteran racing secretary and handicapper, who moved in following the close of the winter racing season in Arizona.

Foster's arrival touches off the coming of top officials who will handle various important assignments at La Mesa this summer.

Harold Morrison, who will again be La Mesa's presiding steward this season, is due at La Mesa late this month. He is the presiding steward at the 44-day meeting of the Ascot track near Akron, Ohio, which ends May 21 and he will come immediately to La Mesa, arriving about the time entries are being taken for the opening week, and races set for May 28-29-30.

On his arrival, Foster found plenty to do. Already more than 200 horses are in training on the grounds and more arriving daily. Many will be coming during the next few days from the Arizona tracks to get acclimated before La Mesa's 37-day season gets underway.

Cowboy Carlson comes along to "scout" the tag teams, and also to wrestle big Chet Wallick of Detroit in the semi-final, set for two best of three falls or 45 minutes. Wallick is to be joined soon by his illustrious big brother, Leo, and they, too, no doubt will campaign for the tag title. They have held similar championships in various parts of the country.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By S. V. WHITEHORN Every year about this time the Texas Game Warden has a two-day re-training or re-fresher course at the Bastrop State park 30 miles east of Austin. While this course is strictly Game Dept. business, it nevertheless gives the wardens from all parts of the State a chance to visit when school is in recess, and to find out what is happening in the rest of Texas.

One of the most interesting sights witnessed was helicopter that just came buzzing in over the tall pines and nibbled set down in a small opening near the mess hall.

Upon asking a few questions it was learned that Warden Blackie Bowers, from west of San Antonio in the deer country, had used this plane on several occasions in spotting and apprehending game law violators.

One interesting thing about this plane is that it acts very much like a huge hummingbird, it hovers for any length of time then can set gently down or vanish over the trees in a minutes notice.

The Texas Game Dept. does not own one of these at this time.

Braddock To Ref Moore, Valdes Duel

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 30—UP—Jim Braddock will referee Monday night's significant fight at Cashman Field between Archie Moore and Nino Valdes, outstanding candidates for a September shot at the heavyweight crown.

Ex-heavyweight champion Braddock arrived Friday night in this fabulous, over-crowded gambling center to officiate at the 15-round bout in which Moore, of Miami, will be risking his prestige but not his light heavyweight title against big Valdes of Cuba, top-ranking heavy contender. It's an over-the-weight match.

Whether Braddock of North Bergen, N. J., must share the voting with two judges will be decided Sunday. Managers of the two fighters want no judges, but the Nevada Athletic Commission says.

Promoter Jack Kearn — former manager of Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker — hopes that the excellent match will lure enough sportsmen away from the thriving casinos to provide a crowd of 14,000 and a gate of $150,000. It is the most important fight ever slated for the Las Vegas area.

To stimulate attendance, Kearn has scheduled the Moore-Valdes fight to start at 6:30 p.m. (pdt) about an hour before sunset. That will not conflict with the heavy play that begins in the gambling saloons about 8 p.m. The boxing show will start at 6 p.m. and at least one preliminary will be staged before the main event.

Regardless of the size of the crowd, Kearn has been assured receipts of at least $100,000 by the hotel men's association. The bout will not be televised in any fashion.

Moore and Valdes fought once before, Archie won a 10-round decision over big Nino at St. Louis on March 11, 1953.

Moore is favored at 7-1 to 5 to win again Monday night, although the 38-year-old champion will be spotting 30-year-old Valdes advantages in age, weight, height and reach. Moreover, certain California physicians reported Moore's heart no longer in condition for fighting. But Las Vegas medics said his ticker is okay.

Archie, who hasn't fought since last August, was unimpressive in training at nearby Nellis Air Base. He appeared somewhat blubbery and sluggish at 185 pounds, the heaviest of his career. Meanwhile Valdes, with about 208 pounds on his six-foot-three frame, drew much favorable comment during his sparring sessions at the Silver Slipper Casino.

Moore is favored because of greater experience, his combined skill and punch, and his excellent body attack.

Oregon Star Signs BOSTON —UP— Jim Loscutoff of the University of Oregon has signed his first professional contract with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. The six-foot-five forward was the Celtics' No. 1 choice in the recent NBA player draft.

EASY DOES IT . . . Pictured above is the helicopter used by San Antonio's game warden to spot game law violators.

however, they do own several conventional planes that are situated in various parts of the state. Frank Hamer, Jr., son of the famed ranger captain, is a flyer-warden and is located at Brownwood. Mr. Hamer occasionally makes sorties over this part of the country and is in direct contact with the wardens here via two-way radio.

Another interesting feature of the school is the pistol shoot that is always staged at the end. The most interesting part of this, for me, is that yours truly won first place

AUSTIN—UP—Prices on Texas broiler and fryer markets gained one to two cents for the week, the State Department of Agriculture reported Saturday.

Closing prices of 28-29c, mostly 29, for South Texas; 26-28c, mostly 27 for East Texas; 27 for Waco and 28 f.o.b. plant at Corsicana corresponded with 24c for South Texas and 23 for East Texas. Waco and Corsicana in the comparable week last year.

The South-Texas Market, steady for the week, closed firm with supplies short and some buyers and dealers unable to fill orders. Demand was rated fair to good. Trading was about normal, the undertone steady and closing prices mostly two cents higher.

The East Texas market was steady to firm through early week trading but closed weak. The undertone was about steady, and supplies adequate for a fair demand at the close. Trading was normal to heavy, with closing prices up one cent.

The Waco-Corsicana market was unsettled at the close, and supplies were rated adequate for a slow to fair demand. Trading was relatively light for the week, with some processors off the market. Closing prices were one cent higher than the previous close.

The Northwest Arkansas market closed very active after improving from moderate on Monday. Supplies of light weights were generally adequate but heavy weights were short of needs at most points. Closing prices were one to two cents higher, with the bulk of trading up one cent.

The Batesville-Floral market showed a one to two cent advance over 4-6-5-5, shorn stocker and feeder lambs 10.00-14.00.

WEEKLY GRAIN ROUNDUP

FORT WORTH—UP—USDA—Weekly grain:

Most grains declined at South-west cash markets this week, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported Saturday.

However, milo continued to climb, gaining 3c per 100 pounds from April 22 through 29. It closed at $2.88 to $2.98, the highest since last May. Scarcity of free milo stocks helped to boost prices.

Also, barley went up 1/2c to 1c per bushel in line with the Kansas city upward trend. It cashed at $1.42 1/2 to $1.45.

No. 2 white oats lost 2c a bushel and sold Friday at 96c to 97 1/2c. Only fair demand for liberal offerings plus the nearness of the new crop helped to weaken the oat market.

Corn followed the downward trend in northern markets. No. 2 white declined 1/2c to 1 1/2c a bushel and brought $1.83 1/2 to $1.85 1/2. No. 3 yellow declined 1 1/2c a bushel and sold at $1.80 1/2 to $1.82 1/2. Offerings of corn were plentiful in view of the limited demand.

No. 1 hard wheat of ordinary protein content dipped 3/4c a bushel, closing Friday at $2.61 to $2.71. Demand was poor with little export business. Most mills bought on a hand-to-mouth basis, waiting for the new crop and lower prices.

All these grain prices are based on wholesale carlots, Texas common freight rate points. Here's what happened to wheat at Oklahoma county elevators, No. 1 hard wheat lost 2c at most

Peg O' Pampa

TODAY IS MAY DAY . . . Peg has always regretted that the custom of the Maypole dance is almost extinct . . . and of placing little baskets of flowers on the doorstep of your favorite people . . . always seemed like such nice customs to her . . . and believe it or not, Peg used to fix little May baskets as a child . . . Peg always thinks of balmy weather . . . not cold and not too hot . . . when she thinks of May . . . sort of a prelude to summer and a postlude to winter.

BOY, OH BOY! . . . Our Oilers have really been going to town . . . we've certainly had some thrilling baseball during this home stand . . . Peg and Mr. Peg were out there as often as they could make it . . . spied at various games . . . they weren't all at the same game . . . were Sheriff and Mrs. Rufe Jordan . . . who, by the way, are avid baseball fans . . . Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Brown . . . who Peg doesn't think miss a game . . . Bunny Berhman with another man Peg didn't know . . . Otto Mangold . . . Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Shotwell . . . Deck Woldt . . . Jerry Butler and family . . . Ed Nash . . . Jo Ann Neel . . . Jeanne Bell . . . Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Matheny . . . also great baseball enthusiasts . . . Dr. Joe Donaldson . . . to name a few . . . certainly have had good crowds . . . except during the duster . . . at almost every game . . . Newt Sechrist can be seen at every game all dressed up . . . hope Pampans keep supporting the team . . . Grover Seitz and his boys have been giving us a wonderful brand of baseball!

PEG HEARD THERE WAS A DINNER PARTY . . . this week at the Pampa Hotel . . . after inquiries . . . she found out it was for Marjorie Magee's son, Bill Irvin, who is going to France soon . . . understand Marjorie looked stunning in a gray and black ensemble . . . other than Marjorie, Bill and his wife . . . there were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bouquet from Panhandle . . . THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK Dear reader, right thinking, right feeling and right acting - honesty, purity, unselfishness - in youth, tend to success, intellectuality, and happiness in adulthood. (Mary Baker Eddy) . . . Youthfulness should be and can be like the continuous flowering of a plant; but its blossoming is too often atrophied or stunted by faults of behavior which are like weeds growing over one's personality. (Gelett Burgess) . . . In this is Youth most wonderful that it knows not fear. (Anonymous) . . . One thorn of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning. (James Russell Lowell) . . . You grow up the day you have your first real laugh . . . at yourself. (Ethel Barrymore) . . . No one should make a statement like "youth is the happiest time of life" without being prepared to accept its intellectual consequences. (William Lyon Phelps).

HERE AND THERE . . . Understand Rilla and Larry Jarrett took a jaunt East last week . . . stopped off to see Jerry and Doug Nelson . . . said they were just fine . . . and are living in a beautiful spot thought the Nelsons' Pampa friends might like to hear about them . . . spied charming Pearly Mitchell in front of her fabulous home the other day . . . also saw Al Curry riding around with her car full of kids . . . saw pretty Sarah Parker walking along Somerville.

RIDING AROUND THE OTHER DAY . . . Peg spied some Girl Scout leaders around the GS bus at Marian Osborne's home . . . they're off for a training course, Peg heard . . . a whole bunch of them . . . about twelve . . . speaking of Girl Scouts, the buzzing in the Palm Room Thursday was the Scouts stuffing letters for the Cancer Society . . . they were really going to town . . . Part of the girls' requirements for going to the next Scout rank is public service, Peg was told . . . it certainly was nice of the girls to do it . . . and for the leaders to give up their time . . . and meeting day . . . to help out in such a worthy cause.

PEG JUST LOVES CHICKEN . . . and is always looking for new ways to fix it . . . here is one of her favorite methods . . . chicken a la king in green bean and rice ring.

- CHICKEN
- 1-4 cup butter or margarine
  - 1-4 cup flour
  - 1-4 teaspoon salt
  - Few grains pepper
  - 2-4 teaspoon Ac'cent
  - 3-4 teaspoon paprika
  - 1 can (6-ounces) broiled mushrooms
  - 2 cups milk (about)
  - 2-3 cups diced leftover chicken
  - 1-3 cup diced pimiento
  - 1 cup cooked or canned peas

Melt butter or margarine; blend in flour, salt, pepper, Ac'cent and paprika. Drain liquid from mushrooms into measuring cup; add milk to make 2 cups; add to first mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Add mushrooms, chicken, pimiento and peas. Heat.

- RICE RING
- 1 cup uncooked rice
  - 2-1-4 cups water
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1-4 teaspoon Ac'cent
  - 1 (No. 2) can (1 pound) cut green beans
  - 1-4 teaspoon Ac'cent
  - 2-1-4 to 3 cups chicken a la king
  - 1-4 teaspoon Ac'cent
  - Salt, to taste

Cook rice with water, salt and 1-4 teaspoon Ac'cent until tender and all water is absorbed. Spoon a layer of rice into bottom of well-oiled 8-inch ring mold. Heat beans in their liquid with Ac'cent. Use remaining rice and hot beans alternately to fill mold level full. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) to heat through. Heat chicken with Ac'cent; add salt if needed. Turn mold out upside down on hot platter. Fill center with hot chicken mixture. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

POIPOURRI . . . guess who has joined the crew cut team? . . . Warren Hassa . . . Peg's been looking . . . but hasn't seen too many . . . other than those mentioned last week . . . guess it isn't quite warm enough yet . . . noticed two proud mothers with their daughters the other day . . . Jeany Stroup and Jo Ann . . . and Mrs. Lee Harrah with Joyce . . . both their grandchildren are home too . . . spied charming Ann Sidwell Fathere while riding, by the church last Sunday.

ANOTHER FASCINATING PROGRAM was held Friday by the Ladies Golf Association . . . a style show for women of all ages and sizes . . . the clothes were lovely . . . and so were the models . . . ## The Slimming Coat Is Spring Feature

By GAILE DUGAS NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) - Making most fashion news this year are the slim, straight coat and the slim, fitted coat with definite long-torso lines.

Fabric excitement is centered in lightweight coatings in the full-length styles which, to some extent, are replacing the perennial fleece short coat.

For the woman who's staying with the full-skirted dress, there's the coat with modified fullness at the soles. These are cut, like all coats this spring, from feather-weight fabrics: silks, woolsens and synthetics. Fabrics have never been as soft, light and yet hardy as they are this spring.

Long-torso lines may not be extreme but they are exactly defined by cut or trim. These are the long-torso lines for everybody, easy to wear, pretty, flattering to nearly any figure.

Whether straight or fitted, the spring coat is ladylike. Shoulders remain narrow; cuffs are neat.

Navy is the big color in coats, just as it is in suits and dresses. Freshening touches of white appear in removable linen collars and cuffs, most of these done as overlays. But there's color, both brilliant and pastel, in the cloud-light tweeds, fleeces and hopsacks.

Most important of these vibrant spring colors is mauve in some form (be it hyacinth, lavender, lilac or violet). Wonderful color worn with navy, pretty by itself.

Twentieth Century Club Presents Dinner, Hears Speech Concerning Estate Taxes

Members of the Twentieth Century Club held a dinner recently honoring their husbands in the home of Mrs. Ralph Sidwell, 905 Gray. Mrs. Joe Gordon was co-hostess with Mrs. Sidwell.

A May Day theme was carried out in the decorations. The serving table was centered with a miniature May Pole from which streamers, extended to "ballet dancers" made of pastel-colored carnations. Each individual table was centered with a candle surrounded by a garland of pastel-colored mums.

The guest speaker, S. E. Hale of Amarillo, was introduced by Mrs. W. R. Campbell. His topic was "A Wife Knew What A Widow Learns" with special emphasis on estate taxes.

The people who complain the most bitterly about estate taxes are generally those people who do little or nothing about them while they are alive and this often times results in an estate being taxed up to 80 per cent of its value," he told the group.

The first means of lowering estate taxes is by "the gift," he explained. By law, there is allowed, tax free, a gift of $3,000 annual exclusion and a $30,000 specific exemption, which, however, cannot be made in contemplation of death. The reasons for giving of the gifts should be kept in your files to prevent the government from claiming that they were made in contemplation of death, he told the group.

The second major way of reducing estate taxes is by putting the estate in trust, Mr. Hale pointed out. He closed by again emphasizing that savings on estate taxes can be made while a person is living, not after death has occurred.

Attending the dinner were Messrs. and Misses E. L. Campbell, W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culbertson, R. S. Duncan, Jack Foster, I. B. Hughey, J. B. Massa, Fred Neslage, R. H. Sanford, R. W. Stowers, George Vineyard, Joe Gordon and Ralph Sidwell.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend This is the first time I ever wrote a note like this but there is a little matter of etiquette that I would like to have straightened out in my mind, and I'm sure you can give me the right answer.

I know it is correct to address letters and messages to young boys as "Master John Jones." When does it become proper to change the address to "Mr. John Jones"?

Thank you so much for the information you can give me and also for the fine advice you give in your answers to others. I read your letters every night.

Perplexed Dear Perplexed The title "Master" is only suitable for children. I should say that it would not be used after a boy is 12, certainly not after he is in his teens.

WIDOW'S NAME Dear Miss Friend Since my husband is dead I am not sure how to sign my name. I know that when he was alive he signed his name to business papers and that I signed my own given name with my last name.

Now that he has passed on, I wonder if I should use his name in signing papers etc. If you will answer soon I'll appreciate it as I have to use my name soon in signing several documents.

Mrs. M. D. Dear Mrs. D. Sign your name just as you have always done, for example, Mary Smith.

You are Mrs. John Smith to others but never sign your name that way. Always use your first name.

MOVIE STAR'S PICTURES Dear Grace Friend I have a friend who is bedridden and as a hobby she collects movie star pictures - old and new. Could you put in touch with someone who could give me pictures for my friend? Or could they mail pictures through you? This hobby passes many long hours for my friend and any help would be deeply appreciated.

Betty Dear Betty I'll be happy to forward any letter to you for your friend. I remember that when I was a little girl I used to write the various stars asking for their photographs and they were always generous in sending them. Has your friend tried this method, or have times changed so much that movie stars no longer give away, or can afford to, their photographs?

Mrs. William Fraser presented a review of the book, "Believe In Yourself" by Margery Wilson, at the recent meeting of the Twentieth Century Forum, held in the home of Mrs. Frank Kelley.

"We all need such a book at times," Mrs. Fraser stated. "The author insists that belief in oneself is not conceit, but a recognition of the gifts of life and humble gratitude that one may use them."

"Why should we quake in our boots at the thought of the atom or H-bomb," she continued, "when you are the real menace; as well as the hope of the world. Certainly you are the only hope for yourself. For you must win or fail each minute, hour and day, no matter what the world is doing. You will find peace and contentment only if you believe in yourself."

Members present were Mrs. Joe Daniel, E. J. Dumigan, H. C. Federer, William T. Fraser, J. E. Holloway, B. L. G. Horn, Dick Hughes, Homer Johnson, Frank Kelley, J. B. McCrery, M. McDaniel, Nolan McKean, Bruce Pratt, Aubrey Steele, Eben Warner Jr., and C. V. Wilkinson.

RUTH MILLET

When a Maid of Cotton is chosen each year to represent the American cotton industry, it is more than just another beauty contest. And so I was interested in the printed form showing just how contestants for Maid of Cotton were judged this year. The three main classifications were beauty, personality, and background and training.

Reading the specified points listed, it occurred to me that with a few additions, and maybe one or two subtractions it wouldn't be a bad guide for a young man picking out a wife.

For instance, under beauty is the reminder that the Maid of Cotton has to be "physically strong, strong enough to stand six months of grueling work." Well, it's a lucky man who chooses a wife who is physically strong, but a wife should be able to stand not just six months of grueling work, but nearer sixteen years, the years while children are being cared for.

Under personality is the notation: "The Maid must have the best of personality that will make people like her instinctively—alertness without undue aggressiveness or egotism—friendliness that is natural and spontaneous." Any young man who gets a wife with that kind of personality would be lucky, indeed.

Also under personality is the requirement that the Maid should be "easy to get along with in day-by-day working relationships." That ought to be part of any man's dream of the ideal wife.

Listed under background and training is the statement: "She should come from such a home that other members of her family who join her on any occasion will be a welcome asset."

Young men often don't think of that requirement when choosing a wife. But they should, since when they choose a wife they are also choosing their in-laws and one set of their children's grandparents.

Cook's Nook

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
This is the peak marketing period for last fall's pig crop. The supply is larger than last year. So this all adds up to more ham, spareribs, picnics, bacon and loin roasts at economical prices.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports other plentiful foods for May. Broilers and fryers are in large supply again and offer good protein at reasonable prices. Beef is plentiful, too. So are eggs, both canned and fresh oranges and grapefruit, dairy products (milk and cheese) and potatoes.

All winter we've been using chilled orange juice poured from a container. This juice, pressed from oranges in Florida, shipped rapidly to northern cities under refrigeration and sold in quart paper cartons has had considerable success this past winter.

This "chilled" (not-frozen) juice generally is marketed with fresh dairy products, either from refrigerated cases at food stores or delivered to homes by the milkman. It follows the current trend toward time and labor-saving food products. All you have to do is to pour from the carton.

Processors in California have prepared juice this way on order for hotels and restaurants for years and in Florida it has also been prepared for local sale. But last year was the first time it was tried out for long-distance shipment.

Congenial Couples Class Takes Trip

Members of the Congenial Couples Class, First Methodist Church, and their families took a trip to Boys Ranch recently. They had a dinner and fellowship in an Amarillo restaurant enroute.

One of the projects of the class is the sponsoring of a Pampa boy at the Ranch.

Those taking the trip were Flaude Gallman, teacher of the class; Messrs. and Mmes. Ben Graham, Elizabeth, Charles and Mary Nell, Elmer Radcliff and Jim, Mildred and Jessie, Ralph Delashaw and Sara Nan, Ross Byars, Clyde Medkief, Vernon Moore, Henry Taylor; Mmes. Henry Link and Malcolm Denson and son, Wayne; Miss Carolyn Gallman, Mrs. Linnie Delashaw of Houston was a guest.

RUTH MILLET

An observant woman says she has noticed time and time again that families seem to lose a certain closeness once they begin to worry less about money and can afford most of the material things that they want.

When money is scarce, she says there are family picnics in the back yard and cheap outings on excursion boats, swimming, and a lot of other things the parents do because they know they can't give their children much except companionship and family good times.

But as soon as Papa starts making more there is often less planning of all-of-us-together family fun and more emphasis on expensive presents and summer camps and "advantages" for the children.

All of this is fine if companionship isn't lost in the struggle. But too often it is.

Papa has to work harder to pay the bills. Mama gets involved with a busier social life of her own. And because they are giving the children so much that money can buy they often lose sight of the fact that they aren't giving the children the close companionship they once did.

So watch it, you parents who think you are doing the best you can by your children because they are taking piano lessons and dancing lessons or because they are going to get to go to a good camp next summer and because they have all sorts of expensive equipment for sports.

That is all fine unless they have been bought at the expense of family companionship and family closeness.

And unless you can give these advantages to your children without constantly telling them how much you are doing for them and how grateful they should be.

You never tell kids that about family fun, only about so-called "advantages."

Council, Altar Society, and Home and School Association.

All women of the parish are invited to attend.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

If you are ever tempted to tell a friend an unpleasant fact "for his own good," reflect first upon the advice of Oliver Wendell Holmes who said: "Don't flatter yourself that friendship authorizes you to say disagreeable things to your intimates."

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
During Norma's third year at high school, she suddenly became a "late hours" problem. All of a sudden, she was dating nearly every night. The daughter who used to check in for permission to remain out for late movies and sodas now stayed out without bothering to even telephone her whereabouts.

Like you and I, her parents had heard about the Adolescent Child's resentment of coercion. So every day, they appealed to her with a new reason for a return to disciplined hours.

Her mother made intense speeches about Norma's health. Her father made grave ones about the "importance of education."

Finally, one Thursday night, came the climax. Norma and her "date" got bored with the movie they were seeing and left it to attend a popular local midnight-to-dawn radio show. She got home at 2:30 a.m.

Her father met her at the door. As she closed it, he spoke with the quiet sincerity of the person who's accepted his own limitations.

He said: "Daughter, this will be all. Tonight, your mother and I have both lost four hours' sleep we need badly. We are tired of worrying about you. From here on, it will be one date a week on school nights. When you're out after 12, we'll expect to know where and why. This is what we want from you and what we have to have."

Since then, Norma has only once failed to telephone her whereabouts. And she took great trouble to explain how this occurred.

Let me point out that this happy development took place because her parents stopped protesting their concern for Norma's welfare — and advanced some interest in their own.

They stopped telling her what she should want, to state what they did want. They gave up pretending they had no stake in behavior that enabled them to get a proper night's sleep.

If teen-age people dislike coercion, they even more violently dislike efforts to control them by telling them what's "good" for them. It is their conviction that they know what's "good" for them better than we do. So we get along with them best when we confine our attention to what's "good" for us.

Then there's no basis for argument. If we don't want to entrust the car to Bill's careless driving, that's what we say when he asks to borrow it. That's open talk that he can respect. It's when we lend it to him resentfully with appeals to please spare himself injury that he gets really mad.

This is not surprising. Like Norma, Bill feels suspicion of people who protest interest in others' welfare because they're scared to admit any in their own.

First Baptist WMU Plans Lunch Meet

Grandmother McCully's Did-It-Herself Venture Has Un-Grandmotherly Result

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Ethel Walbridge McCully is a wisp of a lady who looks as if she should be sitting in front of a marble fireplace, sipping tea from a Dresden china cup.

Mrs. Ethel McCully at Island Fancy. Sometimes the donkeys look it on the lam.

The trouble with this picture is that it would be almost impossible to get Mrs. McCully to sit still for it. She has seven grandchildren and gray hair. But before she settles down in a rocking chair, she will undoubtedly build it herself, for Grandma McCully has the do-it-yourself dodge licked seven ways for St. John.

St. John happens to be the Virgin Island locale of her most ambitious she-did-it-herself venture to date, an un-grandmotherly house in the West Indies.

Mrs. McCully's do-it-yourself technique is also remarkable in that she juggles several projects at once and makes each one work for the other while she, for the most part, stands in the wings calling directions.

For instance, to build Island Fancy, her Virgin Island home, she:

Sublet the apartment she owns on New York's fashionable Beekman place to pay for her winter-time living — and building — on St. John.

Worked as a summertime stenographer in New York to build up the kitty for the winter's building.

Organized Walbridge McCully Contractor, an unincorporated firm consisting of Grandma McCully and letterheads, so suppliers, ship-pers and other stumbling blocks to her venture wouldn't think they were doing business with a help-less little old lady — which, except for the little, she isn't.

Swam ashore with her baggage perched on her head in a basket to stake a claim on the slice of beach and hillside she picked out for her island paradise.

Collected a stable of donkeys, variously named Whiskey & Soda, Gin, Daiquiri and Hangover, donkeys being the major form of transport on St. John.

Wrote a book about the whole thing called "Grandma Raised the Roof," published this winter, having previously abandoned mystery writing (after three successful novels) because it didn't pay enough.

All this was not accomplished in such seemingly rapid chronological order, however. There were, among other tribulations, donkeys that ran away, native workers who just drifted away, and dogs, cats and sandflies that wouldn't go away.

"There were times when my enthusiasm for paradise was on the wane," she remarked one day on sleeping at a sandfly that wasn't there.

But she stuck it out. Grandma McCully has been traveling since she was 17. She was a YMCA truck driver in World War I. On a voyage to Formosa before World War II, she sailed (as she discovered later) perched on a hold full of ammunition.

"I've always been independent of my children," she said, "and left them happily immersed in their lives as I've been in mine. So I wasn't going to give up my Island Fancy dream."

It took three years, and finally the roof was up on Island Fancy and the last chapter of Grandma McCully's adventures in raising it were finished, more or less simultaneously.

But she's not ready to build that rocking chair yet. She'll rent her Virgin Island house, and take some more trips on the proceeds.

Conceal Big Secret Under Glass Plate

By KAY SEHRWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

No better excuse for a gay spring party than one to announce the engagement of a sweet young thing to the man of her dreams. If she can keep the secret until the party, it's fun to spring a surprise on guests to reveal the happy news.

Talking with a friend of mine who plans a dessert supper to announce an engagement, we worked out a table setting that will keep the secret until all the guests are seated. It's simple to do. Hide the wedding news under a clear glass plate at each place. Cover the announcement with the napkin.

For this setting, we used a wedding bell and gold ring for the background, and malleable letters to spell out the names and wedding date. A white ribbon bow, threaded through the top of the bell, joins a spray of lily-of-the-valley peeping out from under the plate. The gold cardboard ring is cut the same size as the base of the plate. A wedding bell cut from white cardboard is pasted on the ring. If you are artistic, draw or paint the laws on the bell. A white floral centerpiece will point up the lily favors.

Clear glass plates, which can cost as little as 25 cents, coupled with decorative devices underneath, make such an effective setting (and with so little effort) that I plan to experiment with it on other occasions. A summer lunch table, for example, using pastel-tinted place mats centered with a round, lace-paper doily, would show up cool and fragile under a see-through plate. Might try them, too, over flat green or autumn leaves that repeat leaves used in a low centerpiece arrangement.

A Long, Lean Line For Daytime Wear

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The long, lean line is the daytime dress for spring. Millinery and accessories, from the bigger hat to the slim, pointed shoe, are cued to this line.

This long line will be seen in many guises. A pleated skirt beneath a long torso is one pretty expression of this look. Another is the over-biouse with straight skirt. This is usually a two-piece dress that features the high and rounded bustline.

Molded sheaths, full-skirted dresses and the shirtwaist in many moods all offer wide choice. Navy is important to the daytime dress, just as it is to coats and suits. This year, it's navy with touches of white at neck and wrists. These are in form of linen or lace, are removable for laundering or for a switch in accessories.

There are lots of graceful, wide skirts for the woman who prefers them to the slim line for day. Here, the long-torso effect is achieved by releasing fullness at hip yoke.

Mauve is prominent for day-time.

TO BE JUNE BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wilson of Lefors announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to Fred W. Blackwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blackwell of Lefors. The wedding is slated for June 12. The bride-elect was graduated from Lefors High School and is attending Draughon's Business School, Oklahoma City, Okla. The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Lefors High School and is attending the University of Texas.

Little-Girl Styles Copy Big Sister

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Fashions for little girls this spring follow the same general lines as those for big sister: the long torso dress or the dress with full skirt propped by petticoats.

Pleats are prominent; they are permanent, washable and practical. Fabrics, like silhouettes, offer two chief choices: crackling crisp or soft. There are many blends: cotton or silk with the synthetics or even two and more of the synthetics.

Interest centers around the long-torso line modified for little girls. Detailing indicates a dropped waistline, sometimes combined with the Empire line for a corsetted effect. Otherwise, hiplines are cuffed and banded for the mid-line.

Fabrics include the sheer (and practical) nylons, crease-resistant organzies, lawns and voiles, textures and will be seen as a flash of color under ravy coats. Beige, gray and black follow. Then come the vibrant pastels, the prints (in a class by themselves) and the yellow and gold tones.

Following silk in fabric importance, thin woolsens, linens and cottons assume significance for spring wear. Most prints are in silk, of course, and so are many of the navy dresses with white touches.

Long-Torso Line, Fabulous Fabrics Lead Style Parade

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A softened long-torso line and a fabulous fabric story mean new fashion life for suits this spring.

Semifitted, fitted and boxy lines lead off the parade. Even the boxy suit has some shaping and usually is molded at the hipline.

The suit with graceful pleated skirt (mushroom, accordion or deep box pleats) generally has a long jacket, often belted. But there are brief fitted types and middy jackets, too.

Along with soft styling, suits offer great variety in fabrics: tweed, worsted crepes, silk, gabardine, alpaca, the synthetics, ribbed, mossy or textured surfaces. Many of these fabrics are so lightweight that they resemble dress materials. But they tailor well and retain their shape.

The shorter jacket with slim skirt is still in the picture. This is the suit with dressmaker detailing, always done in soft (and this year, a light) fabric.

Stepping along at the head of the color parade is navy. But it's followed closely by black this year (in the silk tweeds and flannels, the tweed mixtures, the whitened colors).

Mrs. Harrah announced Saturday noon her appointment of three chairmen for the association. They are Miss Joyce Wanner, publicity; Mrs. Leora Rose, corresponding secretary; and Curt Beck, presentations chairman.

GOOD OL' DAYS? — Way back when (in 1778) Marie Antoinette launched this hair-do to which a contemporary designer recently gave a come-back. No information was made available on the appropriate occasion for this coiffure, however. A costume ball, perhaps?

WINNER—This nautical hair-do won a $5600 gold cup for its designer, M. A. White, in a London hairdressing contest. The style actually is not original, as it was first launched by France's Queen Marie Antoinette in 1778.

Union Anarchy

One of the best examples of anarchy we know is the labor union. This organization flouts the law all the rest of us obey.

It is a type of government which has no legal or moral standing. Its subjects render it supine and spineless obedience.

It uses force in an arrogant and unbridled manner. It collects taxes in the form of dues, initiation fees; fines, assessments and various insurance and welfare rackets. It has a kick-back system which is rotten with graft and corruption.

Its bosses rise to political power and then maintain a form of dictatorship, sometimes for twenty or thirty years.

It maintains its own standing army, a legion of goons, selected for their muscles and low intellectual capacity, whose job is to terrorize all rival theories or claims.

As an anarchical form of government it has declared perpetual war upon management in business. It levies tribute from executives who tremble at the sound of marching pickets and sign abdication agreements in which they grant the unions the right of hiring and firing men in their own business.

Its ambassadors have penetrated the diplomatic corps of our federal and state governments. It treats with other governments as though they were of equal or inferior status.

It holds so many of our politicians in thrall that they have virtually become the slaves of the terror tactics of the labor bosses. Both of this nation's political parties today to the unions. Both fear to oppose their demands, despite the fact that the army, navy, marines, air corps and coast guard could still be summoned in defiance of this illegal, immoral anarchical monster in our midst.

The unioners respect neither law nor national boundaries. They openly defy all constituted authority. Their programs and propaganda sap the vitality of our own Constitution and Bill of Rights. Their international character is duly attested by their adherence to the International Labor Organization (ILO), at present a subsidiary of the United Nations, but an outgrowth of the old League of Nations. The ILO secured American participation as early as 1936. Within the ILO the unions are in league with the Soviet, which band of collectivists have always openly defied the rights to private property. They teamed up in 1954.

All unions advance the thesis of Karl Marx. It was Marx in the Communist Manifesto in 1848 who declared the coming anarchy, a dictatorship of the proletariat which would sweep all other governments into the ash heap.

It was Marx who sang: "Workers of the world, unite!" He admonished the working man to join unions and become the tools of the new order. He said they had nothing to lose but their chains and they had a world to win. He proclaimed class warfare, the pitting of the wage earner against the capitalist, that in the end all men would be ruled by union might.

The unions themselves will ultimately take over and run the government, or they will reveal the government as impotent to survive and will function in open defiance of its laws, as today most unions are doing.

All business are forced by their federal and state governments to reveal the nature and the extent of their finances. Unions operate beyond the pale. They defy the government and today operate in a tax-exempt status.

We who are libertarians are opposed to the onward march of big government. We are also opposed to the anarchy of unions. We favor the right of the individual to make his own decisions and to move forward in his own way without fear or political connivance.

There is no way of dealing with gangsters and racketeers. They are already buying into many businesses with their vast sums of tax-exempt dollars. They plan to own and rule the world. If America would survive, it is time it recognized the danger already within its borders.

If this nation is to perish, it will perish by the doggers of the unioners already held at our economic throats, rather than by the bayonets of any foreign foe. The time for defiance has come.

Businessmen who bow to labor boss demands in order to buy a little time of peace, are betraying America and the free enterprise system which has made this nation great.

They buy nothing but a temporary delay. And with each new concession, the unions in their anarchy grow stronger. Their demands never stop. Each year there are new demands, new extortions, new exactions. When will the American businessmen awaken, and dig in to defend our way of life?

We do not know. We only know that the time must come, and the sooner it comes the better will our chances be to overthrow this union anarchy and be free.

Friend Or Accomplice?

In a recent issue I had an article telling how to spot a collectivist or a socialist. I also briefly tried to explain how to recognize a friend.

When one analyzes a collectivist or a socialist, one has to place him as an accomplice. He is a party to some form of exploitation. He wants to use a police pistol to redistribute wealth the way he thinks it should be distributed.

No accomplice can be a friend to anyone. He can be an ally, or a confederate, or a partner, but not a real friend. He cannot be a real friend because he is governed by no principles.

Plato recognized this a couple of thousand years ago when he said:

"Fate, which has ordained that there shall be no friendship among the evil, has also ordained that there shall ever be friendship among the good."

Cicero expressed about the same idea that men who are not sincere enough that they are willing to answer certain questions about public matters are not capable of friendship, when he said:

"I exhort you to lay the foundation of virtue, without which friendship cannot exist, in such a manner that, with this one exception (virtue), you may consider that nothing in the world is more excellent than friendship."

William Ellery Channing expressed it this way:

"Sincerity, truth, faithfulness, come into the very essence of friendship."

Emerson put it this way:

"A friend is a person with whom I may be sincere. Before him, I may think aloud."

It would seem that these thinkers of the Ages pretty well agree with my contention that a man who will not answer questions on public matters about what he is advocating or opposing is not capable of being a friend of man. Only men who attempt to live by principles are thus capable of friendship. And if they are lying by principles, they will never lose a friend.

Allies And Accomplices Quite Different

It is entirely different, however, with allies or partners or accomplices. They stick together as long as it is to their mutual advantage. They line up with one group and then desert them and line up with another. Any group that I will have them more power they associate with. It is the same with nations as individuals. How foolish we are to think that any collectives government like Russia or China can be a friend of a limited government!

Are Government School Teachers Friends Or Accomplices?

With the above interpretations of a friend and an accomplice, it might be well to consider whether a government school teacher can really be a friend, or whether he is an accomplice. He is joined together with the agents of the government to use aggressive force — a tax pistol — to compel others to help pay for his support. Of course, he can be a partner or an accomplice in teaching how to read and write and figure and learn material sciences, but he cannot teach moral principles, because government schools are based on a violation of the great moral laws, such as the Golden Rule and the Commandments.

Of course, many people regard government teachers as friends because they do not realize that sincerity and virtue and frankness and a willingness to answer certain public questions are primary essentials of friendship. They are not really friends, but they are partners or allies or accomplices. And the way this country is going, it looks as if they were accomplices in promoting state socialism. Since state socialism is based on aggressive force, they do not have the mental or spiritual ideologies that are necessary to promote real friendships.

There is nothing needed more than having our children come in contact with instructors who are capable of friendships rather than alliances and being accomplices.

The columns are of course open for anyone to throw more light on the subject of friendship and collectivism — and accomplices.

The CRACKER BARREL

The United Nations voted that the taxpayers of the United States should pay 36.12 per cent of the costs of running their outfit. And you're doing it. Why? There is not one word in the American Constitution authorizing your representatives in Congress to delegate to any foreign body the right to tax you. The right to tax includes the right to confiscate. We should keep that right where it belongs — in our own hands.

BID FOR A SMILE

A dentist working in lower New York on the East Side came to a woman who was literally crowded with children — and observing a woman bending over a wash tub he addressed her as follows:

Genus: Talor — Madam, I am the genus: Talor; how many children do you have you?

Woman: — Well, James, I've got six stretched up and wiped her hands on her apron. There's Mary and Ellen and Della and Susie and Emma and Tommy and Albert and Eddie and Charles and Frank and —

Genus: Talor (interrupting) — Madam, if you could just give me the number —

Indignantly, the number: I want you to smile — did that we got in number 24. We ain't run out of enamel!

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

"When I was a young girl I had nosebleeds quite often but finally outgrew it. Lately I have been having them again on the right side of my nose about a week apart. I wonder if high blood pressure could cause this condition?" So writes Mrs. J.

It is hard to say what caused Mrs. J.'s nosebleeds when she was a girl but they may have been related to the action of her hormones at that time. At least there have been some reports to indicate that the changes in the hormones occurring during adolescence may be sometimes responsible.

THE CAUSE OF HER NOSEBLEEDS now is, of course, a matter of speculation without further information. High blood pressure is one possible cause but there are others. If she is having them as often as a week apart she might quite possibly develop an anemia and certainly the cause could be further investigated.

There is a family form of nosebleed which is sometimes found in several generations. This condition is caused by enlarged blood vessels in the nose which may rupture and result in nosebleeds at all too frequent intervals.

NOSEBLEEDS may be associated with several blood diseases. When the blood does not clot properly, bleeding is particularly likely to show up in various openings of the body, including the nose. In fact, nosebleeds may be the first sign of some "bleeding" disease.

Some people get a nosebleed merely by going to high altitudes; in others violent exertions will bring on bleeding; acute infections are frequently at fault, and here are other less common causes, such as tuberculous ulcers in the nose itself, and chemical poisoning.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE may be associated with extensive nosebleeding. In such patients bleeding may last a long time and be extremely difficult to stop.

Deception

A further example of the deception that is being practiced by UN spokesmen is furnished by an interview with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. in which he was questioned concerning costs of the U. N. Said Mr. Lodge: "We contribute 13 million dollars, and that's a third. The budget is 39 million." (U. S. News & World Report, Nov. 26, 1954)

In the above statement Mr. Lodge not only strayed far from the truth, he even contradicted himself. In a Department of State publication of January 28, 1954, entitled "What the United Nations Means to the United States," Mr. Lodge stated that our annual contribution to the United Nations was 25 million dollars.

He also contradicted State Department publication 5354 of August 1954, entitled "The United Nations, An Appraisal for 1954," which set the total cost of U. N. participation in the UN at approximately $89 million a year. This, incidentally, is the same State Department publication that gives us the pitch of "less than 10 cents per year for every American."

Where in this welter of deception and confusion is there a grain of truth? Apparently nowhere. All of the above figures are in conflict with those transmitted by the Department of State on May 29, 1954, to the House of Representatives, as published by the Government Printing Office in House Document No. 410, 83rd Congress, 2d Session, entitled "United States Contributions to International Organizations" for the fiscal year 1953 (which ended June 30, 1954).

House Document No. 410 is, so far as I know, the latest official publication on U. S. contributions to international organizations that is available to the public. But you have to know that it is in existence and then ask for it in order to get it. Its contents are not likely to be voluntarily revealed to you either by the government or through regular news channels.

The figures contained in this document are at variance with claims made by State Department booklets and by UN spokesmen. For example, in fiscal 1953 the United States (which means U. S. taxpayers) was assessed $25,351,073 by the UN and its agencies. In addition, our government further

Peace Piping From Reds Fall On Deaf Ears In U. S.

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Russian and Chinese communists' peace pipping, have struck an entirely unresponsive chord at Washington, in view of the Machiavellian design behind their broad strategy on the Asian and European fronts. Diplomatic and military experts here promptly analyzed and warned against the effect of Western agreement to their schemes.

Austrian unification under Moscow's current terms would have adverse political and military effects. But it is an extremely clever trick, for it will embarrass the West, whether we agree or not. If Washington, London and Paris oppose, the antiwar, anti-alliance and pro-unification elements in Austria may charge that the Allies alone block the path to peace and full recovery.

If we accept the proposed solution, it will have an unfortunate psychological reaction in West Germany. It might prevent implementation of the rearmament and NATO pacts which Bonn has already ratified. In recent local elections, the Adenauer Christian Socialists lost seats to the Opposition. But the military effect would be equally threatening. The Western Zone of Austria now provides a land link for our occupation forces in Western Germany, Austria, Italy and with Yugoslavia.

It could be, in time of war, the keystone in the southern wall of our anti-Russian bulwark, necessary as a communications and supply connection.

In Russian hands, it would split that southern land frontier in the strategic center. It would also give the Reds another jumping-off place for invasion of Italy, North Africa and Greece without breaking through the Dardanelles.

Finally, it would furnish the Kremlin with the solid buffer against the West which it has long sought. The new "No Man's Land" would extend from neutral Sweden, the powerless Finland, the Latvian satellites through Eastern Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Rumania.

It is doubtful if the Senate would ever ratify an Austrian treaty on the basis advanced by Moscow and Vienna. It provides that the West's powers guarantee Austria's permanent neutrality, although the Reds would withdraw their 50,000 troops now in that country only to Hungary, which is a short march to Vienna. We could no more make good such a pledge against future Russian encroachment than England could protect Poland against Hitler in 1939.

Neither Russia nor China has complied, or will comply, with the Eisenhower - Dulles demand that they show some signs of sincerity in peace moves. Khrushchev, Bulganin and Zhukov are still egging on Mao Tse-tung in Korea, in Indo-China, in Tibet and Afghanistan, and in a prospective invasion of Formosa and the Pescadores. The Peiping dictator would not dare to taunt the West without assurance of Russian reinforcement and supplies in an actual war.

Chou En-lai, of course, showed no real change of heart at Bandung. He switched from frowns to smiles because of the unexpected opposition and condemnation he met from our friends there — the Colombians, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

Despite his proposal of a peace or compromise conference with us, in the same breath he rejected our terms for a get-together. He would not abandon his determination to "liberate" Formosa or his refusal to admit Nationalist China to the meeting.

He has broken the Korean peace treaty, and he still keeps 16 American fliers in jail. He charges that the British permitted sabotage of the plane carrying his personnel to the Bandung Conference from Hong Kong to the Indonesian mountain resort. He is infiltrating into Tibet and Afghanistan. He has given us reason to believe that the only result of conferring with him over Formosa would be the loss of more American "face" in Asia.

THE NATION'S PRESS

LABOR UNION RACKETEERS MAKE DEMAND WHICH COULD WRECK AMERICAN ECONOMY

The Southern Conservative

One of the most dangerous economic experiments ever proposed in human history is under consideration and although there is strong belief that its adoption could wreck the American economy, very little is being said about it in the press.

This is the preposterous demand of the CIO United Auto Workers that automobile companies guarantee fifty-two weeks of employment to automobile workers, with forty hours pay in all fifty-two weeks. And if there should be an "act of God" such as a storm, flood or fire which destroyed the automobile plant, the management would have to keep on paying the workers anyway.

It seems too bad that the United Auto Workers couldn't all move to Moscow where their beloved leader got his understanding of "economics" and his political views.

They would, in that event, be assured that at least fifty per cent of their program would be put into immediate effect.

They would get fifty-two weeks work per year without doubt and while their pay would be a small detail which the Soviets would overlook, they should be willing to make this small sacrifice in order to establish the principle of compulsory employment in which they believe.

This ridiculous demand results from labor unions enjoying special privileges from the Federal government which they have done since Roosevelt "drove all the money changers out of the Temple" (except Elliott and Jimmy) and let labor union racketeers and other minority group spokesmen have the run of the place.

SOCIALISM AND SCARCITY (Christian Economics)

In a frank plea for socialism, a British contemporary magazine says of our country:

"One of three things must happen:

1. The U. S. will find new markets for investment and sales overseas;
2. The Government will siphon off redundant labor and capital into Government enterprises or relief to under-developed countries, or both;
3. The market will go bust."

The writer does not seem to realize that we have domestic markets right here in our country sufficient to keep all our available labor and capital busy for the foreseeable future. All we need is the flexibility of a free market where in labor and capital will flow away from the making of goods that in demand at prices offered, and into the making of goods that are in demand. With this degree of flexibility there is no limit to the expansion of the domestic market of any country. Under such conditions there is little redundant labor and capital. Where freedom reigns there is very little involuntary unemployment and a never enough capital to produce the goods and perform the services that are in demand.

The writer of the article in question goes on to say that capitalism "... depends fundamentally on scarcity." How can the writer fail to observe that capitalism is the only system that has ever made appreciable progress toward relieving scarcity. There is nothing in the history of socialism for which he pleads that would lead anyone to believe it could alleviate scarcity. His own largely socialist Britain has leaned heavily upon American bounty and even so, has been obliged to practice strict austerity. What socialist country has produced abundance?

Of course we would all like to go faster; but the only way we can do so, on a sustained basis, is by producing more energy more efficiently — just as our railroads have done by shifting from coal to oil — not by consuming energy faster than it is being produced.

Cleveland maintains a series of gardens in Rockefeller Park, each honoring a different national culture. The project was begun in 1926. Sixteen of the Cultural Gardens are finished.

commission's regulation, under Supreme Court order, of independent gas producers who sell in interstate commerce. Only Congress can extricate the industry from this one. But the law-makers themselves are divided between producing and consuming interests. This makes a long and hard battle certain when the issue comes to the House and Senate floors.

The Senate Finance committee handed President Eisenhower a major victory Wednesday when it refused to approve oil import curbs. Mr. Eisenhower was against them as a menace to reciprocal trade. But when the trade extension bill comes to the Senate floor, oil and coal state legislators are expected to renew the fight.

A filibuster is possible unless the bill is amended to include curbs. The foregoing are only a few of the problems keeping industry lawyers, lobbyists and trade associations on their toes.

The Richfield Oil Corp. of Los Angeles, as bellwether for the entire industry, is fighting in the courts against a government order requiring it to bargain with the CIO Oil Workers union on a stock purchase plan. The company claims the plan is voluntary but the National Labor Relations board held it is subject to collective bargaining.

The industry itself faces an all-out organization drive by the new CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International union. The union already is winning wage increases. Its 200,000-man strength could be swelled tremendously if the CIO-AFL merger goes through. Meanwhile, the AFL Teamsters union, one of the biggest in the nation, is casting covetous eyes on unorganized oil transport workers.

Burdened by Surpluses
The industry is burdened by oil and gasoline surpluses and many refineries are idle. Competition is intense and may become more so as the Canadian petroleum industry expands and seeks U.S. markets.

Perhaps the most painful headache of all is the Federal Power

THE LINE LULLS

That long white line — one of your best protections when you're alert — can lull you into danger when you're drowsy. It can become hypnotic if you watch it too closely too long. So stop for a rest every hour or so and avoid "highway hypnosis," says Carol Lane, women's travel director of Shell Oil Company.

Doc Says Women Should Stay Home

CHICAGO — UP — Dr. Herbert Washburn, a young housewife, said women should stay home and take care of their kids. "Because it's your job," said Dr. Washburn, who minces no words. "There was a husband, followed by a wife, health commissioner of masculine guffaws.

"Why should a woman try to make a second-rate woman out of her husband?" Dr. Washburn demanded. "What are we trying to do, set up a matriarchy?"

Rather, an associate professor of preventive medicine at Loyola University, said most parents, husbands included, don't show their youngsters enough affection. "Many young mothers, he said, are too busy with clubs and 'community-work'."

"We're raising a generation of latch-key kids," he said. "They come home to find that mamma has gone out to improve the school system or the police force."

Civic and community organizations should be left to older women who already have raised their families, he said.

But many young mothers become "willingly and happily enslaved" in such groups, he said, and bid themselves that they are doing a "greater good" for their children.

So the child, unsure of his parents' affection, shows off or "acts up" when company comes, or scribbles on the walls to express his resentment, Dr. Washburn said.

One out of every 12 children born in this country is headed for a mental institution, he said, so it behooves parents to expend their energy on "a bang-up job of child rearing."

Oil And Gas Business Has Troubles

WASHINGTON, April 30 — UP — Not in years has the oil and gas industry been harassed by so many troubles.

A survey shows they range from pressure for wage increases to civil anti-trust suits, and are internal as well as external.

The most vexatious and far-reaching are being thrashed out in Congress. These include an all-out, but apparently losing fight by independent oil producers to curb foreign oil imports and a fight to end federal control of independent natural gas producers. This also could be a losing battle but any estimate of the outcome would be premature.

Here are other headaches the industry would like to, but can't, shrug off.

The Justice Department still has pending in New York a civil anti-trust suit charging the "big five" integrated oil companies with monopolistic practices.

The department also still has in its active file charges that the nation's oil producer's connived two years ago to raise oil and gasoline prices.

House Urges Probe
A House committee is investigating charges of independent filling station operators that they are being coerced into carrying only certain lines of oil, lubricants, tires, batteries and accessories.

A Senate small-business committee has lodged demands that the Federal Trade commission investigate use of additives in gasoline to determine whether they give more power for less money, as claimed.

The Richfield Oil Corp. of Los Angeles, as bellwether for the entire industry, is fighting in the courts against a government order requiring it to bargain with the CIO Oil Workers union on a stock purchase plan. The company claims the plan is voluntary but the National Labor Relations board held it is subject to collective bargaining.
