

Laughter Makes Clown's Life Worth It All, News Reporter Learns

of grease paint to final shot of the reporter, back in the office, writing his story, the picture strip depicts a full evening. In the fourth picture is the finished product, a real live clown! Next is a bit of clowning with circus performer Delia Zacchini. Helping prepare the reporter for his clown debut in the first pictures is Billy Griffin, head clown for the circus which appeared last night at the rodeo arena. (News Photos)

Indo Power Struggle Shifts To Assembly

SAIGON —UP— Premier Ngo Dinh Diem summoned the national political assembly to meet a day early Wednesday in an apparent struggle for power with the revolutionary committee that demands the firing of absentee Emperor Bao Dai.

Diem called the delegates to his presidential palace for a meeting at 4 p. m. to precede the scheduled session called for Thursday by the revolutionary junta. The junta is expected to dominate Thursday's session.

When the 1,000 representatives began pouring into the yellow stucco presidential palace an organizational committee handed out a three-point "plan of decision" put forward by Diem for their approval. It appeared to fall far short of the revolutionary committee's demands.

Diem asked that Bao Dai turn over his civil and military powers to a national assembly, that the powers meanwhile be given to Diem while he organizes elections for a national assembly within four months, and that Bao Dai not change premiers in the meantime.

The revolutionary committee demanded Bao Dai be deposed outright and that the French expeditionary corps be withdrawn.

The government announced the street fighting in Saigon had ended. It said army units probed south of the city limits toward the marshy land where the rebel Binh Xuyen gang had taken refuge and met only sporadic resistance.

Diem's enemies have charged, and his supporters have denied, that Communists have infiltrated the revolutionary committee which calls for the end of Bao Dai's reign and proclamation of a republic in free South Viet Nam.

This blow at Diem's prestige came as the rebel Binh Xuyen killed one of his foremost supporters, Cao Dai Gen. Trinh Minh The, in a fierce battle in Saigon's suburbs where government forces were trying to wipe out the last rebel pockets in the city.

Showdown Nears On Farm Prices

WASHINGTON —UP— The House moved toward a showdown vote Wednesday on a Democratic effort to kill the administration's program of flexible farm price supports. Both sides conceded the vote would be close.

The Senate, meanwhile, convened 30 minutes earlier than usual for a third day of debate on the President's liberalized foreign trade program. Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) hoped for a final vote Wednesday or Thursday.

Administration sources said Mr. Eisenhower and the State Department consider as acceptable changes made in the trade legislation by the Senate Finance committee to placate some of its foes. This appeared to put the odds heavily in favor of passage of the bill.

The trade measure would extend the reciprocal trade law for three

US Plans Talks On Viet Nam

WASHINGTON —UP— The United States plans high level talks with France in an effort to find a common policy for dealing with the Viet Nam crisis, informed sources said Wednesday.

The talks will come when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flies to Paris Friday for meetings with the French and British foreign secretaries.

The French and British are expected to dominate Thursday's session.

When the 1,000 representatives began pouring into the yellow stucco presidential palace an organizational committee handed out a three-point "plan of decision" put forward by Diem for their approval. It appeared to fall far short of the revolutionary committee's demands.

Newsman Is Clown For Night

By JOEL COMBS (Call Me Emmett)
Pampa News Staff Writer

How does it feel to make little children laugh?

Ask the Elks Club and the circus people... ask the clowning... Ask me.

Last night I was a clown in the Bailey Brothers Christian Circus, and I can tell you.

You didn't recognize me?

I was the tall clown with the big shoes, a white face, little red nose and a wide grin. Maybe you noticed me because I wasn't as polished a performer as the rest of 'em.

Being a clown is no cinch. Yesterday afternoon, the editor said to me: "Joel, how'd you like to be a clown in the circus tonight?"

"No," he said, "I want you to be a clown in the circus; find out how it feels to make people laugh, see if you can catch the real drama and the strain and hard work of these people, and then come back and write about it."

I got a note, "Report to Billy Griffin the head clown at 7 p. m." It read "everything is arranged."

I learned one thing for sure — a bachelor clown at a circus has it made — that's all — he has it made.

I never saw so many skin-tight, dressed beautiful trapeze artists in my whole life.

The circus is a real drama, with hard work and more hard work up, talent, practice, and it's all fun. Even the loading and putting the animals to bed for the night radiates an emotion.

You want to say, "Well, you're through for the night but get a lot of sleep and rest good because we've got another show tomorrow."

Clowning involves just a whole lot more than acting silly and making a fool of yourself — it takes patience when you're being made up, talent, practice, and most important of all — a good sense of timing.

A lot of practice and effort are put into an act that might not last over two minutes. But if the crowd laughs, applauds, and just goes wild in general it was worth every minute you put in at the mirror and alone in the middle ring, going over the stunt. It even helps if the crowd just grins.

The circus folks were as friendly as they could be and the whole deal was done in a spirit of general cooperation. It took real patience to take a raw recruit like me, cover his face, and lead him through his part of half a dozen stunts but no one seemed to mind at all... in fact they enjoyed it nearly as much as I did. I wanted to meet them all and nearly did — "Nick," the construction superintendent; Fritz, the clown; The Christianis and Bob Stevens, the owners; and best of all, Delia Zacchini, a gorgeous gal trapeze artist. Wow!

But, boss, I found out what makes a clown.

It happened at intermission. I was a pretty tired guy about that time. After putting in a day at the office and then romping through all this clowning business for half a show.

I was walking around looking for a place to rest when I came up on a group of little children. Their faces lit up like Christmas trees!

"Look," they shouted, "here's a clown!"

And they laughed.

And I wasn't tired any more.

Polio Cases Lag, US Survey Shows

By UNITED PRESS

Polio cases this year are lagging behind the pace set in 1954, even though 38 children inoculated with Salk vaccine have been afflicted, a survey showed Wednesday.

A United Press check of 44 states and the District of Columbia showed 1,138 cases of infantile paralysis, compared to 1,573 at this time last year. Six of this year's victims have died — two each in Louisiana and Idaho and one each in Illinois and Minnesota.

The Idaho victims were among the estimated 500,000 youngsters who had received inoculations of Salk vaccine manufactured by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

Temporary Ban on Cutter

The vast majority of polio cases among vaccinated children occurred after inoculations of Cutter vaccine. A temporary ban has been placed on Cutter vaccine, although scientists emphasized that there was no evidence that it or any other kind of Salk vaccine was to blame for the 38 polio cases.

A breakdown of the 38 cases showed 16 in California, 11 in Idaho, three in Oregon, two in Louisiana, and one each in Missouri, Georgia, Colorado, Washington, Texas and Illinois. There were two suspected cases among vaccinated children in Nevada.

The latest cases to be reported were three children in the Portland, Ore., area. They were among 1,800 Oregon children who have received inoculations of Cutter vaccine from private physicians.

Plan on Distribution

The encouraging lag in polio cases across the nation became apparent as state governors and the Eisenhower administration reached apparent agreement in plans for a voluntary system of distributing the revolutionary Salk vaccine.

However, the governors were not altogether happy about distribution of the vaccine so far.

Red Attack On Matsus Might Be Considered Formosa Move

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower said Wednesday that a Chinese Communist attack on Quemoy and Matsu Islands, backed by excess military equipment, would justify an assumption that such an assault was pointed at Formosa.

But Mr. Eisenhower was careful not to say how the United States would react to such an attack.

The United States is committed to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores. But Mr. Eisenhower repeatedly has refused to tip his hand on how this government would react to a Red attack on Quemoy and the Matsus — immediately off the coast of Red China.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that if there were an accumulative buildup and an attack started against the offshore islands with excessive types and kinds of equipment, this would justify the assumption that something more than an attack on those islands was intended.

He pointed out that Red China never has said it was going to attack the Nationalist held offshore islands. The Reds, he added always have said they were going to "liberate" Formosa.

200 Expected At Soil Award Banquet Here

An estimated 200 persons are expected tomorrow night in Recreation Park for the 10th annual Fort Worth Press "Save Our Soil and Save Texas" regional barbecue and awards presentation — the first time it has ever been held in Pampa.

The program is scheduled to get underway at 7 p. m. tomorrow in the Gray County Community Building, according to Jim Strawn, work unit conservationist for the Gray County Soil Conservation District.

Two Gray Countyans will be honored on the program, Strawn said.

Quentin Williams, Pampa, was named the "Best Non-Farming Conservationist" in the region by the newspaper. And Feb Eversett, McLean, was named the "Best Comeback Farmer" in the region. The region encompasses some 34 West Texas Counties.

A meeting was held at 10 a. m. today by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee to iron out final details for the fete.

W. B. Jackson will be master of ceremonies. Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pampa, will give the invocation at 7 p. m. Then barbecue will be served.

Jackson, secretary of the Gray County Soil Conservation District, will make the introductory remarks at 8 p. m. Floyd Watson, president of the chamber of commerce, will give a welcoming address over our debt in 1933." dress.

Strawn will introduce the special guests and Mrs. Lavinia Webb, secretary, will entertain. Walter Hemphries, editor of the Fort Worth Post, will conclude the activities with the presentation of awards.

Byrd praised the Eisenhower administration's efforts to balance the budget. But he also charged that President Eisenhower has advocated the "longest step yet to federal paternalism" by recommending "the greatest increase in federal grants to states yet undertaken."

Ike Pledges Swift Polio Distribution

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower pledged Wednesday that polio vaccine will be distributed swiftly and fairly and that no child will be denied its protection because of inability to pay.

The President told a news conference that the government is going forward with the vaccine program as fast as possible in keeping with safety.

He said he believes a voluntary system for distribution is the best plan for getting the vaccine to children in the quickest and most equitable manner.

And he said the government has this determination — never will a child be denied this protection for inability to pay.

Mr. Eisenhower opened his news conference with a discussion of the vaccine program, a subject which he said is close to all our hearts.

US Mortgaged To The Hilt, Byrd Says

WASHINGTON —UP— Sen. Harry F. Byrd said Wednesday that the federal debt "is equivalent to the full value of all the land, all the buildings, all the mines, all the machinery, all the livestock — everything of tangible value in the United States."

"I think no one can deny that we are mortgaged to the hilt," Byrd (D-Va.) said in an address to the final session of the 43rd annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

"Today the direct debt of the federal government is $280 billion," Byrd said. "Percentage-wise, this is an increase of nearly 1,200 per cent over our debt in 1933."

Byrd praised the Eisenhower administration's efforts to balance the budget. But he also charged that President Eisenhower has advocated the "longest step yet to federal paternalism" by recommending "the greatest increase in federal grants to states yet undertaken."

If it comes from a Hardware store, we have it. Lewis Hardware, "we are ready today."

Underworld Slayers Of Green Lost

FORT WORTH —UP— The slayers of ganglord Cecil Green, one of the Southwest's most noted hoodlums whose criminal connections reached into Los Angeles and Kansas City, had lost themselves Wednesday in the haze of the underworld.

Green was ambushed in his air-conditioned Cadillac in front of a downtown cafe in Fort Worth a few minutes before midnight Monday. True to the last to the underworld code, he died 16 hours later without naming his killers.

The suave Green was cut down even as he himself faced trial on an indictment for the "guarantee" murder of Texas oil millionaire William P. Clark. He was freed in $15,000 bond three weeks ago and a trial date was pending.

The Rev. Croupier funeral home claimed the body from St. Joseph's hospital and a spokesman said Wednesday Green's pretty blonde wife had not completed funeral arrangements.

But he indicated the body of Green may be placed in a Dallas cemetery beside that of his infamous brother, Delois, who was assassinated on Christmas Eve, 1949.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Mark 10:46-52
Life is a personal matter. This is an inevitable result of the fact that we are individuals invested with an amazing independence of personality. Each of us is able to shut some people, some ideas, completely out of our lives, at the same time admitting others. Always it is we who decided which shall be admitted and which shall be excluded.

there is a spirit of royalty within us which no man can take away from us.
Dear Lord, help me to hold myself in high respect this day. I will live like a spiritual aristocrat, for there flows within my soul the blood of heaven. I was not created to cringe, but to stand upon my feet and hold communion with thee, Amen.
Review the events of this day and note the number of decisions you have made which no one could have made for you. How much have these decisions affected your day? How could you have changed your day with your choices?

Woman Foe Of Draft Defies U.S.

BETHEL, Vt. —UP— A 44-year-old mother of three children barricaded herself in her home Tuesday and threatened to shoot federal marshals who had orders to take her to Washington, D. C., for mental tests.
The woman, Mrs. Lucille S. Miller, was free in $1,000 bail on charges of advising youths not to register under the Selective Service Act.
Marshal Dewey Perry, Deputy Marshal Jack Breen and Matron Ester Anderson arrived at her frame, two-story home.
Mrs. Miller refused to admit them and talked to the three through a locked screen door.
She was armed with a Winchester 30-06 rifle and "plenty of ammunition."
She told the United Press by telephone:
"I wouldn't shoot out of the building at them, but I will if they try to enter my house."
She said Perry read a telegram from the Justice Department in Washington ordering him to deliver Mrs. Miller to St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington. The telegram was dated April 28, she said.
Mrs. Miller's husband, her 74-year-old mother, a local reporter, her three children and a small niece were in the house with her.
Mrs. Miller said the marshals "are just sitting around outside."
"Threaten to get Army," she said. On April 18, Federal Judge Ernest W. Gibson ruled that Mrs. Miller was suffering from depression, manic type. He held she was not capable of properly aiding in her defense and placed her in the custody of the U.S. attorney general.
Mrs. Miller had been indicted for writing letters to youths advising them not to register for the draft.
She said she wanted a quick trial on the charge and didn't want to be committed to a "booby hatch."
She claimed she is "anti-Communist" and "favors a big volunteer army with good pay," as against selective service, which she claimed is unconstitutional.
Varnished furniture that has become soiled may be cleaned with a solution composed of a quart of hot water, one tablespoon of turpentine, and three tablespoons of boiled linseed oil.

Gymnasts Entertain JayCees

Blais Gee, a Pampa High School student, balanced himself upside down atop two tables and a chair—all separated by Coke bottles—yesterday noon and earned plaudits of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members who were on hand for their weekly luncheon.
Gee and four other members of the Pampa High School gymnastics team did a series of such things as the straddle back flip, the shoulder foot flip-out and the back lay-out to provide the program for the JayCees. Gee's feat was the culmination of the program.
Jerry Holt, Ken Lyon, Marvin Dehis and Wendell Powell were the four other gymnasts.
George Neef told his fellow JayCees of the plans for the annual JayCee installation of officers banquet, scheduled for 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday in the Palm Room of City Hall.
Prof. R. E. Jackson, dean of women at Texas State College for Women, Denton, will be the featured speaker, Neef said, adding that he will be a humorous speaker, JayCee-ettes, wives of JayCees, will also have a brief part on the program.
George Reed reported on plans for the teenage safe-driving road-e-o, slated for 2 p. m. Sunday on Atchison, between Starkweather and Ballard. Tests were to be given in the afternoon (yesterday afternoon) to Panmpa High School students.
Albert Gunter was accepted yesterday noon as a new member of the club.

Woman's Body Is Found In East Texas

MARSHALL, Tex. —UP— The thin-clad body of a woman, the head badly beaten and crushed, was found in an isolated "lover's lane" just inside the city limits Monday night and authorities said "there is no doubt she was murdered."
The woman, tentatively identified as Mrs. Irene Pate Walker, 32, of Houston, was clad only in a slip, a blue and white cotton dress, and shoes. The dress and slip were pulled up around the waist.
Police Chief C. M. Ezell said the body was too decomposed to tell immediately if the woman had been raped, or even had been beaten or shot to death.
An autopsy was scheduled. Tentative identification was made from an auto driver's license found in a billfold near the body. Mrs. Walker's husband, W. H. Walker, 50, a Houston carpenter, was en route here for positive identification. Mrs. Walker had been missing since Friday.
"There's little doubt that it is Mrs. Walker," Chief Ezell said. "And there is no doubt that she was murdered."
Ezell said there were two wounds in the head, one behind the ear which could have been made by the exit of a bullet. There also was a deep cut on the left thigh.
"There was a great deal of blood around the scene, on the woman's left shoe and on some rubbish near the scene," Ezell said. "There is no doubt she was killed right there."

WASHINGTON —UP— The House Judiciary committee threw open to the public Tuesday what was to have been a private writing of the latest in wiretap techniques.
The committee also decided the public might be wiser if it knew more about what wiretapping devices can do. It also opened the hearings because earlier claims about wiretapping wonders by Tuesday's witness were challenged by District Attorney Edward S. Silver, Brooklyn, N. Y. He said such claims were to be found "mostly in the newspapers."
It was just as well. The committee room was "bugged" and it wouldn't have been very private anyway.
A mass of electronic equipment including two big wire recorders was spread on the mahogany writing table and wires ran every-where across the red carpeting in the ornate hearing room.
The committee's own telephone was tapped. A tiny microphone hooked into one of the receivers was hidden in the telephone at the elbow of Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.).
The equipment was brought down from New York by Bernard Spindel, 33-year-old private detective and self-styled "jone wolf" wiretapper, to give committee members the low-down on the electronic marvels that have made the old hand-set method of wiretapping as outmoded as the crystal set.
The committee is considering bills which would outlaw all wiretapping — including Spindel's — which is not authorized by a federal court specifically to trap and convict spies, traitors, saboteurs and, possibly, kidnapers.

Governors' Aid Sought In Road Plan

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower sought the support of state governors Tuesday for his $101 billion, 10-year road-building program which a Senate subcommittee voted last week to scrap.
The subcommittee substituted for the administration proposal a five-year $21.3 billion plan.
The White House looked to a conference of state governors here for help in putting the administration plan back on the track.
As speakers for a session on highway matters the administration lined up Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, F. V. DuPont, special consultant to the secretary of commerce, and Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of an advisory committee which drew up the administration proposal.
Chief complaint in congress against the administration plan is a proposal to finance it, in part, by issuing $20 billion in government-guaranteed bonds outside the federal debt.
The two-day conference of governors closes this afternoon with a talk by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare. She was expected to discuss the new program for distributing and allocating polio vaccine.
The "Muskingum Conservancy District of Ohio is planting 20,000 pine and hardwood seedlings daily on lands adjoining the flood-control reservoirs.

Rodeo Starts Friday At McLean

McLEAN —(Special)—The American Legion's annual rodeo will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, May 6 through 8, in the recently improved arena in that city.
The show, which features Jake Mitchell as clown and Tom Harlan's stock, will have four performances and two go rounds. Fences at the arena have been moved back to make more parking space and give a better view of the events.
There will be seven events in the rodeo and the rodeo books will close at 3 p. m. May 6. Entry fees must accompany the entry.
All entrants in the parade, which will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday, will meet at the High-School at 10:30 a. m. to get organized for the procession.
There will be dancing Friday and Saturday nights to the music of Emmett Allen and his Sunset Ramblers.

Offer To Buy Eagle Dropped

NEW YORK —UP—Fortune Pope, publisher of an Italian language newspaper, said Tuesday he has withdrawn as a prospective purchaser of the Brooklyn Eagle.
Frank D. Schroth Sr., publisher of the strike-closed paper, said he still was hopeful it would be sold as a unit but said the Eagle's physical assets would be put on the auction block May 11, 12 and 13 if no buyer has turned up by then.
Pope gave no reason for cancelling a tentative agreement to buy the newspaper, which suspended publication Jan. 29 when CIO American Newspaper Guild employees went out on strike.
However, O. Rundle Gilbert, in charge of sales arrangements, said Pope withdrew because of "labor difficulties." Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the New York Newspaper Guild, denied Gilbert's statement.

Explosion Rips Secret US Lab

DAINGERFIELD, Tex. —UP— An explosion in a highly secret laboratory that Convair Aircraft operates for the U.S. Navy, demolished a building and slightly injured "several persons" Monday.
Officials of the laboratory refused even to say exactly how many persons were hurt; but said injuries were slight. The explosion happened between shifts, and most of the men who work in the laboratory were outside.
The laboratory is primarily occupied with research on power plants for guided missiles. It has a supersonic wind tunnel, a ramjet burner laboratory and a high altitude test chamber.
Rio de Janeiro is growing at a rate of some 70,000 persons a year. Its population now is estimated at 2,650,000.

No End In Sight To Twin Strikes

ATLANTA — UP — Twin rail and communications strikes in the South engaged various federal, state and local officials on five fronts Wednesday but there was no sign of ending the 31-day walkouts.

The violence - marked strikes hit operations of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in 13 states and the nine-state territory of the Southern Bell Telephone Co. The telephone strike was called by the CIO Communications Workers of America.

The five "fronts" of official actions:

1. Federal mediators in Washington held steady, but thus far unavailing session with representatives of the L&N and of 10 non-operating unions in a dispute over a health and pension plan.
2. Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee and Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky conferred Tuesday with the White House about possible steps to end both strikes, and indicated they might approach other top federal officials.
3. In Alabama, the state legislature passed a plea from Gov. James E. Folsom to repeal state "right to work" laws, which Folsom blamed as at least "one cause" of the strikes in Alabama and other southern states.
4. Various local law enforcement agencies and local courts conducted investigations, hearings or trials in connection with widespread, persistent vandalism and picket line violence stemming from both strikes.

5. The Alabama Public Service Commission ordered the L&N to remove 13 non-striking trainmen being used to maintain partial rail service in the state until they can qualify under Alabama regulations to operate trains.

Gray, Roberts School People Meet Here

Representatives from each school district in Gray and Roberts counties met yesterday at 1 p.m. in the Junior High Auditorium to discuss the present school setup in the area as concerns the organization of the districts.

The group went on record as approving the local school district financing its own additions and new buildings except in hardship cases where the state was requested to assist.

They also decided that the present plan under consideration on the state level to have each school district serve 1,000 students would not be fair to this area because of the sparse population which would necessitate traveling vast distances and incorporating several districts to comply.

The meeting was held in conjunction with meetings all over the state to consider the present Texas school set-up.

B. R. Nuckols, county schools superintendent, was elected president of the organization which is referred to as the Local Citizens Advisory Conference.

Burglars Busy Here Last Night

City police were investigating one break-in and another attempted break-in this morning as burglars were busy during the night.

A break-in was reported at the Bovard Supply, 115 E. Atchison, where the burglars broke a glass pane in a door to gain entrance and made off with approximately $4.50 in stamps.

Another break-in was attempted at the Master Cleaners, 218 N. Cuyler. The would-be burglars broke a glass pane in a door but were unable to gain entrance.

Credit Clinic To End Tonight

The annual Pampa retail credit clinic will hold its third and final session tonight in the Palm Room of City Hall.

It will run from 7 to 10 p.m. according to Pampa Chamber of Commerce officials.

Heinz Ulrich, Jr., retail credit specialist with the University of Texas, is the course instructor.

BULLETIN
PONCHATOUA, La. — UP — Five Negroes were drowned Wednesday when a boat in which they were crossing a canal capsized. Officer Ed Tucker of the Ponchatoula police department said the five were working on a highway construction job.

Hagler Hearing Thursday
FORT WORTH — UP — A hearing will be held in criminal district court Thursday to see if David Fred Hagler Jr. is to be returned to Oklahoma to stand trial as a torch murderer. Judge Dave McGee reset the hearing Tuesday.

For the first time, the North American pulp and paper industry in 1954 exported more paper than it imported.

162 Gray Farmers Seek Relief

More than one-fifth of the estimated 750 farmers in Gray County have applied for drought relief.

Miss Evelyn Mason, manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, reported today that 162 farmers had applied for the relief by the last Friday deadline.

The emergency feed program, Miss Mason said, provides for the government to pay $1 per every 100 pounds of grain sorghum, corn, barley and oats that the farmer buys. The farmer, of course, pays the remainder.

Miss Mason's office issues a purchase order to the farmer for so many pounds of the grain. When he buys the grain, the store collects all but $1 per each 100 pounds. When the store applies to Miss Mason's office for it, the store manager is issued a check.

Austria Treaty Progressing

VIENNA — UP — The five power conference writing a state treaty for Austria skipped over two major stumbling blocks Wednesday and took up a third — Soviet demands for huge economic concessions from Austria as its price for freedom.

The conference, in a long session described as "unpleasant," was unable to agree Tuesday on Soviet demands that the treaty provide for the return of 36,000 anti-Communist refugees, and on the size of a defense army for a free and independent Austria.

It was believed these and other possible stumbling blocks may have to be left up to the Big Four foreign ministers for settlement. Neither the Soviet nor the West showed signs of backing down on either. The United States was reported strongly opposed to "selling out" the refugees.

Jury Hearing Damage Suit

A 12-member 31st District Court jury late this morning was hearing arguments in the damage suit case of B. M. Enloe and Deluxe Dry Cleaners vs. Home Insurance Co.

It is the only jury case to be heard this week by Dist. Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in Pampa. Two others on the docket were passed and a fourth was settled out of court.

On the jury hearing this case are Warner A. Phillips, C. A. Martin, Vern P. Miller, M. C. Darman, Audel Swafford, F. C. Laffoon, L. C. Qualls and R. W. McElroy, all of Pampa; C. R. Barnett and Clyde Trusty, both of Lefors; P. G. Barbee, McLean, and A. H. Moreman, Alameda.

WIRETAPPING

A House Judiciary subcommittee summoned a New York telephone firm official to tell it how many telephones have been tapped in the nation's largest city in recent years. The witness was Wellington Powell, operating vice president of the New York Telephone Co. The subcommittee is considering bills to outlaw wiretapping except when authorized by a federal court in espionage, sabotage and other national security cases.

POSTAL PAY

Chairman Tom Murray (D-Tenn.) of the House Post Office committee and Rep. Edward H. Rees (R-Kan.), its ranking Republican, indicated they may oppose a compromise pay raise bill for postal workers when it reaches the floor. Murray and Rees were members of a Senate-House conference committee which agreed on an 8.8 per cent raise Tuesday as a compromise between the 8.2 per cent boost approved by the House earlier and the 10 per cent increase voted by the Senate. They said they believed the President would veto a raise as large as 8.8 per cent.

Business And Govt.

Those who sustain the concept of limited government frequently express amazement that so many businessmen and industrialist appear to support collectivism. Although it does seem strange on the face of it that men who owe their all to the free enterprise system would give aid and comfort to those seeking to destroy that system, a little concentration on the subject will resolve the mystery.

Businessmen, by and large, are not noted for their political acumen. The brains that helped create our giant productive output are better attuned to the profit and loss columns than to the nuances of political strategy. The businessman who has trained himself to look after himself against all comers is all too eager to accept the apparently beneficent largess of the government, if that largess is potentially intended for his benefit.

The fact that other businessmen may have to pay a part of his benefit seems to him to be as worthy of joy and approval as the promise that he is to be the chief recipient. And even in those cases where government intrudes most obviously by actually entering the lists as a business competitor, the businessman isn't too worried. Since he can easily get a government guaranteed loan, the unfairness of his plight isn't too grossly apparent.

Also there are subsidies for his line, government contracts to be jockeyed for, chance for a favorable hearing from the State Department so that foreign operations can be extended, and always a chance that a little finagling along the line will get him a tax adjustment.

Frankly, the businessman looks at government operations in business as a rather beneficial intrusion. Sure, all this government costs money. A part of which he must pay. But the businessman is always figuring the angles, and he's just not very upset about the way things are going. After all, as any good businessman will tell you, he doesn't really pay any taxes. It is his customers who pay in increased costs and controlled scarcities. So why should this worry the businessman?

Businessmen are normally professional salesmen with a built-in case of optimism. If they weren't they wouldn't be in business. They look at the immediate profit column and are pleased with themselves. Even gloomy forebodings of economic storm clouds on the horizon fail to disturb them. They've heard calamity howls before. These storms are visionary. What is real are those old dollars racked up in the bank. That is what counts.

So here we see the fundamental reason for America's plight. The very men who sustain the system which made us great and who operate in that system, are frequently unwilling or unable to approach the problem from a long-range and moral point of view.

All too frequently they succumb to the Robin Hood philosophy of plunder. Let the government have the money... what if it is stolen... the government will do something good with it, so what's the harm? Here is being formed the body of thought which, if adhered to, will wreck to country. Certainly, it is true that stolen money can be spent in such a way that benefits appear to accrue from that spending. But the fact remains that a plunder has occurred. And the individual who has been plundered has become a little more resentful, a little more distrustful than heretofore.

Remember, now, it is not the businessman who has been plundered. It is the customer of the businessman who bears the brunt of all collectivist iniquity. This is an immoral age. When the customers, and we are all customers, conclude that morality must be re-enthroned, then the short-sighted businessman will become as outmoded as the high-wheeled bicycle.

So long as an unholy alliance between the businessman and his government continues, so long will we have predatory governments, rising taxation, and onerous controls. If the businessman will save himself he must learn to be as self-reliant as he can and to have as little to do with his government as possible.

THE NATION'S PRESS
DEATH OF A MONOPOLY
(The Wall Street Journal)
The report of the President's Cabinet Committee on Transportation begins this way:
"Within the short span of one generation this country has witnessed a transportation revolution. . . . As late as 1920, the railroads held a virtual monopoly of intercity transportation with the exception of areas served by water. In striking contrast, there is available today a wide selection of transport methods for the movement of goods and people from one place to another with economy, expedition and safety."
This is so obvious that you almost wonder why it is necessary to say it. Yet we think it took some courage, for it leads to very obvious conclusions that involve basic changes in our transportation policy. And basic changes always meet the obstacle of political entrenchment.
Since the new competition "for all practical purposes has eliminated the monopoly element," the committee urges that we quit treating the railroads as though they were a monopoly. This means giving back a large measure of their freedom to fix their own rates and adjust their traffic patterns to meet this new and ever-changing competition. That should have been done long ago. It certainly should be done now.
The committee's report also points up something else which may not be quite so obvious but is equally as important.
The Interstate Commerce Act was a law to deal with problems

The Power Of Asia To Wage War

I want to quote from an article in the magazine U. S. A., written by John C. Caldwell, who was born in that part of China close to the sea facing Matsui and Quemoy. He takes such writers as Drew Pearson and Joseph Alsop to task for their lack of knowledge about China about which they write. He explains that Alsop contended that Quemoy Island is "flat as a pancake" and "almost completely indefensible." Then he explains that it is very mountainous and can be seen from the coast of China. Here is the way Caldwell puts it:

Mao Out On A Limb
"If there is a crisis in Asia, it is a crisis for Red China. She is far out on a limb, has bragged that she will attack. If no attack is forthcoming Red China faces enormous loss of prestige among the wavering and neutralist nations. If she does attack, she faces military disaster."

"In short, it is my prediction that the U. S. can utterly smash Red China in a matter of days. And this prediction is not based on any secret information not available to the Alsopian writers. The facts of which I write are available in any atlas or good geography."

"The Communist attack, whether it be directed against Matsui, Quemoy or Formosa, must be staged in coastal Fukien Province. I was born on the Fukien Coast, twenty-five miles from Matsui. I have walked every mile from Amoy to Fochow. I have spent days along the mudflats and beaches, on the islands. And I pass on these simple facts of geography."

"There is not a mile of railroad along the Fukien Coast, or anywhere in the province. There is one coastal highway, from Amoy to Fochow. It ends at the latter city. There are two usable later highways into the interior. There is not one mile of paved road—most of the widest river crossings have never been bridged—must be made by crude ferry. Existing bridges are often one-way affairs. Highways into the interior cross range after range of mountains. Even in peace-time the highways were frequently closed by landslides."

"The only sure way of communication with the interior and the northern supply centers is by sea or by river. The Min River, which empties into the sea near Matsui has for centuries been the main artery of commerce with interior China. It is 150 miles from the mouth of the Min to the nearest interior highway at Nanping. I have made the trip up and down the Min some fifty odd times. The river is wild and rapid, filled, negotiated by ancient junks or specially built shallow-draft river launches. The launches must be dragged through the rapids by great gangs of coolies."

"One boat sunk anywhere along the upper Min, will bottle up traffic in both directions. One fairly large craft, sunk anywhere near the mouth of the Min, will block traffic in or out of Pagoda Anchorage, the port of Fochow. Amoy harbor is already rendered unusable by Nationalist positions on Quemoy, Little Quemoy, Tawang and Erh-jaing Islands."

"The U. S. Air Force can completely interdict all traffic along coastal Fukien within a matter of hours. A few well-placed bombs can block every highway and the Min River at a half-dozen points. This would leave the Communists with one supply possibility; by sea, down the coast from Shanghai. And here past history gives us a clue to what will happen."

"During World War II, without benefit of jet planes, General Claire Chennault and his 14th Air Force completely paralyzed Japanese shipping along the China coast. And his planes flew from bases far in the interior. He had not a single airfield in Fukien Province. He had no airfields in either Chekiang or Kwangtung, the two other coastal provinces. The base nearest to the Coast was at Kanchow, in interior Kiangsi province, over 300 miles from the sea."
"Perhaps the Reds have built a vast field near this city (Fochow). I do know that the Nationalists tried for years to develop a decent airfield at Fochow. The only sizable flat ground is flooded every year by the ravaging Min River. The Nationalists finally developed a field suitable for DC-3's on Nantai Island. It is surrounded by hills. If the Reds have made this into a jet base they have had literally to move mountains. And one wonders how the bulldozers and primemovers were transported to the interior province."
"If Red China has done all the things the Alsopians tell us have been done, we must come to one conclusion: Mao Tse-tung and his cohorts are supermen and we might just as well surrender now."
"And this superman theory brings up another point. We are warned of the vast strength of the new Red air force along the coast. The Reds have far more planes than we do. But our prophets choose to forget the story of Korea. There the Reds also had more planes, flying from bases close to the scene of combat. Yet the ratio of losses was approximately 20 to 1—in our favor."
Newsmen Who Weren't There
"It is a strange commentary upon the objectivity of American reporting that so many of those who write of Quemoy either do not go to the island or take the 'Three Hour Tour.' Plane service is excellent, planes arriving from Formosa around noon each day and departing at three in the afternoon."
"The Reds may attack, to be sure. None of us can really know the thoughts of the madmen who

Ike Has Thwarted Powerful Lobby In Stand On Airways

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower personally has thwarted one of the most powerful political-economic lobbies at Washington by his successful fight against successive expenditures and any attempt to establish a monopoly in domestic and overseas aerial transportation. He has saved many millions for the taxpayers, and given a pocket-book break to airplane travelers.

It is no secret that the carriers in question are Pan American World Airways and its 50 per cent controlled subsidiary, Panagra, which flies South American routes. Under Roosevelt and Truman, they enjoyed special favors from the White House and Civil Aeronautics Board. Political friends backed their bill for the "single instrument" policy, a monopolistic measure.

Their legal and lobby staffs comprised influential members of both major parties; included were former Cabinet members, national committeemen, former members of Congress and nationally known lawyers with political connections in key states and at Washington. The operating head of this group is Samuel F. Pryor, Jr., former Republican National Committee man and Pan Am vice president.

This massed array of bipartisan legal and political talent had rarely lost an important struggle over aerial privileges before. Ike took office. It anticipated the same flow of favors under him because of its strong GOP connections. Ike had different ideas, however. Defying this pool of politicians, and overriding CAB and Secretary Weeks, the President has dealt savage blows to Pan Am and Panagra in six major controversies involving reappointments, subsidies and routes, to wit:

(1) Ike refused to reappoint Oswald P. Ryan, a Pan Am supporter and sympathizer, to CAB, despite terrific pressure from Pryor and Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Ryan is a Hoosierite.
(2) Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., has brought an antitrust suit against Pan Am and Panagra, charging that they monopolize transportation between the United States and South America. Pryor also intervened here, but in vain.
(3) After years of costly delays, resulting from Truman's favoritism to Pan Am, CAB has decided against Tripp's interests in the famous Balboa case, which involves an interchange of airplane services at Miami. Ike approved it without delay.
In this controversy, the two giants — Eddie Rickenbacker's New York-Miami Eastern Airlines and Tripp's Panagra — proposed that they be permitted to link up at the Florida resort. Two smaller rule China. But if they attack, if we fight back, it could be the best thing for Asia's future. The crisis will be theirs, not ours. It is time that we forget the prophets-of-doom and have faith in America. It is time that we make judgments on the basis of fact, rather than on the basis of hysterical reporting. And it is time our reporters forget hysteria and deal in facts."

Fair Enough

Fowler's Rhapsodies Fail To Clean Up Characters

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES — Gene Fowler has written rhapsodies about John Barrymore, Sadakichi Hartman, and a hybrid Japanese-German, and William C. Fields, who began his theatrical career as a juggler under the name of Claude Neaseiro. The more he tries to make them admirable and amusing the more repulsive they come out.

Fields was an unregenerate specialist in raucous, uncompromising low-downness and a dirty double-crosser, too. He promised to leave me one million dollars in gratitude for the pleasure I had given him with my essays about Eleanor Roosevelt. When his will came out I did not get a nickel.

There was a bequest for an orphanage with a specification that colored children as well as white should be admitted. Fowler has always insisted that, in the long run, this was all for the best, but it came to nothing because the bum did not leave enough to cover this philanthropy. I feel that I am not qualified to discuss it objectively.

As for Fowler, for many years he has been known as Booker T. Fowler and, in the days of the rubber-neck wagons in Hollywood, he used to parade the block where he lived pushing a two-passenger baby-carriage. The passengers were little girls, one a golden blonde, the other a pale chocolate, named Mavis, a pretty name, too, which her mother, a Puerto Rican sojourner, had adopted from an advertised chocolate drink which you may remember.

The mother presently took Mavis back to San Juan and after a few years the Fowlers got a request for a grand piano as Mavis was showing symptoms of talent. Gene and Agnes settled for an upright.

Mr. Fowler's office in his home has a stained glass chapel window from the old Tombs prison New York which Bill O'Dwyer sent him when they were tearing it down, and other churchly ornaments which impart a pervasive fragrance of religion. He is a strange man in a way that I have never observed in any other man. Do you suppose he may have been helling around with a saint all these years?

He appointed himself public defender of Barrymore, Hartman and Fields after they had died respected by few and those few mostly low characters. And, as most of piety, he did "Beau James," a biography of Jimmy Walker which quietly soothed away the angry contempt of many who had not forgiven Walker's betrayal of the people.

No man but a cop or a warden has known intimately as many hard cases as Gene has, and it is a strange thing, impressing me more and more, that he never condemns anyone. In any gathering of worldly men, conversation always drifts around persons who have not troubled to endeavor themselves, but the worst if I have ever heard Gene say is that one such character always puzzled him.

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN President, Spiritual Mobilization

"Man is a creature that lives by values, no less than by bread, and of late too many of his traditional values have been cast into doubt." Dr. Iago Gladston, of the New York Academy of Medicine, declared recently.

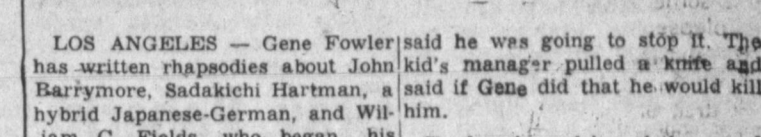

"There is current a highly organized, energetic, and cunningly resourceful propaganda," he continued, "which makes the homely virtues and the religious persuasions and faiths of our fathers appear like a compound of neurotic anxiety, infarile delusion, political-economic naivete, and mean escapism."

This is, of course, true. But it is probably no more true than that it has been more or less ever since Satan, in the Garden of Eden, told Adam and Eve that God had lied and attributed to Him an ulterior motive.

Moreover, it is still just as true as it has always been that "blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord" and "blessed is the man that trusteth in Him." While the worldly-wise scoff at anything they can't apprehend with their physical senses, those with a childlike faith in spiritual things gain the eternal victories.

chief rivals, will enjoy a penny of Federal bounty.

Now, thanks to White House and Congressional economies amounting to $23,000,000 annually, the two heavily subsidized carriers must begin to pay their own way. They can do so, according to Congressional experts, by cutting high salaries for officials, lawyers and lobbyists by eliminating champagne, filet mignon dinners, and by trimming the operations of their luxury hotels, swimming pools and golf courses now supported by the taxpayers.

Fowler stopped it and the crowd booed him terribly. But he followed the boy and his handlers to the dressing room and the kid slumped back dead in his arms on the table.

"That night I learned to despise events who can see God's hand in the wondrous news of Dr. Salk's successful polio vaccine. He reminds us: 'We are inclined to credit it man with all such achievements. Do we forget perhaps that behind man is the guidance of the Master?'"

Many years ago, when this writer was about twelve years old, she contracted one of the dread diseases of an earlier era — diphtheria. Her memory of the illness itself has long since vanished, and she cannot recall now the name of diphtheria's Dr. Salk, although his anti-toxin helped save her life. But she will never forget the sight of her parents on their knees beside her bed, giving their thanks to Almighty God on the night she passed the crisis. nor her family doctor's unashamed tears of relief and joy.

Long-ago scenes
This long-ago scene returned to mind when the news broke recently of Dr. Salk's success. Instantly and spontaneously she found herself thanking God that her four young children, and their children after them, may now be spared the possibility of this crippling disease. Gratitude to Dr. Salk and his efforts came much later, and even then, this gratitude did not limit itself to Dr. Salk alone, but spread out in a great inductive circle to envelop all those unknown and unthanked individuals who struggle in the dark with such mysteries year after year, striving ceaselessly to add another page of healing knowledge for humanity's many ills. Great honors due to Dr. Salk, and whatever fame and fortune come to him personally will be more than deserved. But there is another, and perhaps even better way to reward Dr. Salk, and that is for all of us to contribute more generously to the field of medical research, thus helping future Dr. Salks to discover more and more answers to the endless mysteries that surround us.

In the midst of all this wonder, why should any sour notes be heard? Some cynics are already predicting that selfish and greedy parents will trample each other in a stampede to "get the first." Others have expressed no faith whatsoever in our medical profession or drug companies to distribute this life-saving miracle wisely and justly, and insist that the federal government must step in and assume heavy-handed control. What degrading nonsense is all this! Have the medical miracles of the past ever failed to reach all the people? Was the new diphtheria anti-toxin "unavailable", or "priced out of reach" when this writer needed it in her childhood? Can anyone forget that only last Spring there was no protection from polio, while this Spring there is the discoloration of safety ahead? Is that a cause for panic? Or for thankful prayer? Do we not know that every child who is made immune to polio contributes to the ever-wider area of safety to all others? Can a scientific miracle be turned by man into a moral defeat?

Another old Spavin obliged with his own autobiography in which he said his hobby was drinking who key. This was signed and authorized, but Gene said he could not bring himself to use it. It would harm the man's reputation.

Once, a few years ago, he was going to do a magazine piece about a genius who had been a pretty nasty fellow. In one incident, an old manager of fighters had turned up busted, selling burial plots in cemetery for colored people of elite status. He wanted $200 and he related, bitterly, that he had tried to touch this other fellow, only to be turned off. He had actually given this man a many thousands and had paid his way all over Europe back in the golden age. Fowler gave him the $200.

Now Gene was going to do this magazine piece about this ingrate and he was going to lay it on the line for once.
I bet him $10 he would flinch. The piece came out sheer eulogy. He first came to New York escorting a corpse for an undertaker in Denver according to legal requirements of long ago which may obtain still, for all I know. They got separated in Kansas City and there was painful confusion for several days because the first war was on and Gene had lost his draftcard while he was out sight-seeing and got arrested.
This was the climax of a run of hard luck. Just before the left Baker Theatre, a burlesque house, and stopped it when one of the boys went limp as he stumbled to his corner. Gene looked at his glazed eyes and spoke to the kid. There was no answer and Gene

LOOKING FOR NEW IDEAS on what gifts to buy for Mother's Day? Instead of the usual flowers or candy, here are some suggestions on other types of gifts that are sure to please.

IS MOTHER ON A DIET? Is she allergic to flowers? Or is she just tired of the same old box of candy and a bunch of posies for Mother's Day? For a change of pace, give her something in leather this year. Your gift can be anything from a gay suede clutch bag to a piece of gleaming luggage — both glamorous and useful, and not too much of a tax on your budget.

If Mom has a passion for neatness or if she can never find anything in her handbag, she'll love the new cleverly-designed leather accessories. You can find complete sets of wallets, change purses, eyeglass cases and key holders in every color in the rainbow in wonderful new leathers — some with polka-dots, others with handpainted designs in plaid and gingham, and still others in floral prints.

RUTH MILLET

Want your daughter to grow up to one day be a happy wife and good mother? Chances are she will be if — You enjoy homemaking and take real pride in doing your job easily and well.

You really like, as well as love, your husband and don't envy him his life or think that "a man gets all the best of it." You like other women, instead of feeling yourself always in competition with them.

You enjoy your children, and worry about them only when you have a definite reason for worrying, and even then don't worry out loud.

You never think how much better your life would have been if you had chosen a career instead of marriage, or married a man who has proved to be a bigger money-maker than your husband.

You don't get panicky over small mishaps or go to pieces when things go wrong but take the practical attitude, "What can I do to set things straight again?"

You laugh a lot, and have the ability to make others laugh with you.

You often look at your husband and children and think how lucky you are to have them.

You don't demand perfection from yourself or from your husband or children.

What has all this to do with your daughter's future happiness, you may be thinking.

Well, children learn more from example than from preaching, and a girl whose mother sets her an example of happiness is very likely to grow up to be happy herself.

Insurance companies give children in Washington State a longer life expectancy than other average United States children. This is due in part to an ample supply of protective foods such as the healthful apples which grow abundantly in the State.

OFFICERS INSTALLED — Shown at the recent May tea, given by Holy Souls Parish Council of Catholic Women, are the presidents of three parish organizations. They are, left to right, Mrs. Roy McKernan, parish council; Mrs. Lloyd Simpson, home and school association; and Mrs. E. J. Dunigan Jr., altar society. Officers for the three organizations were installed during the tea. (News photo)

Holy Souls Parish Women's Groups Hold Installation Service At May Tea

A joint installation of officers for the three parish organizations of Holy Souls church was held at the recent May tea, presented by the Parish Council of Catholic Women. Mrs. James W. Archer was installing officer for the candlelight ceremony.

Officers for the Parish Council are Mrs. R. E. McKernan, president; Mrs. H. W. Waddell, vice-president; Mrs. A. D. McNamara, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. M. F. Roche, parliamentarian.

Those installed for the Altar Society were Mrs. E. J. Dunigan Jr., president; Mrs. J. A. Sheldon, vice-president; Mrs. L. J. Flaherty, secretary, and Mrs. Elvin Svoboda, treasurer.

For the Home and School Association, Mrs. Lloyd Simpson was installed as president; Mrs. Emil Urbanczyk, vice-president; Mrs. C. L. Sullins, secretary; Mrs. Victoria Jamieson, treasurer; Mrs. Albert Doucette, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Roger Farrow, historian.

The program, introduced by Mrs. R. A. Mack, featured a vocal solo, "Ave Maria," by Mrs. Fred Neslage, who was accompanied by her daughter, Judy Neslage. Mrs. Neslage also led group singing. Mrs. O. Ray Hudson gave a "Tribute to Mothers" and seven Parish Council women presented a skit, "Your Conscience."

Following the installation ceremony, tea was served to the 70 members and guests present. Mrs. Elvin Svoboda presided at the tea service. The table was covered with a white organdy cloth over blue. The centerpiece was a silver candelabrum with blue tapers, with white daisies entwined around the candles and blue statuettes of the Madonna at the base.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Emil Urbanczyk, Leroy McBride, J. New, Herb Carter, A. J. Martin and John Frisby. Among the guests were Father Myles P. Moynihan, C. M., Father Francis Kunz, C. M., and sisters of the Holy Souls School.

Mrs. J. Osborne Chairman Of Tea For PHS Seniors
Mrs. Jake Osborne is general chairman of the tea to be given following the vesper service May 22 for the Pampa High School graduating class. She was chosen at a meeting Monday evening of members of high school seniors.

Other officers and committee chairmen are Mrs. Tom Lindsey, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Hall, decorations; Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson, food; Mrs. W. A. Green, favors; Mrs. B. G. Gordon, chairman of junior students' mothers, who will assist with the tea; Mrs. Joe Tooley, invitations, and Mrs. B. E. Cantrell, publicity.

It was announced at the meeting that any mothers interested in helping with the tea should call Mrs. Hall. Approximately 50 women attended the meeting.

SPICY TOPPING FOR SPICE CAKE is made by adding 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar to 1/2 cup fresh made apple sauce. Mix well and spread. The tangy flavored Washington Winesap apples are ideal for this frosting because these apples hold their aromatic fragrance and flavor.

Mrs. Martin Stubbe Will Give Program To Golf Association

Mrs. Martin Stubbe will present a program on dried plant arrangements at the luncheon meeting of the Ladies Golf Association Friday in the Pampa Country Club. She will demonstrate how to prepare the dried plants and how to make the arrangements.

Following Mrs. Stubbe's talk, Mrs. Traylor Price will give a demonstration on fresh or garden flower arrangements.

The all-day session will begin at 10 a. m. with bridge and golf, with the luncheon slated for 12 noon. Bridge and golf may be played again during the afternoon. A $2 door-prize is awarded each week to a bridge player, and golf balls

May Fellowship Luncheon Slated

A May Fellowship luncheon will be presented at 1 p. m. Friday in the First Methodist Church by the Pampa Council of Church Women. Women of all churches are invited to attend the event, which is a covered-dish affair.

The program will be entitled, "The Responsible Christian Family." It will be in the form of a panel discussion with Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, as moderator. Panel members will be Mrs. Coy Palmer and Mrs. Al Metz.

Worship leaders will be Mrs. R. L. Gay and Mrs. B. R. Plummer. Luncheon reservations must be called into the Pampa Country Club by noon Thursday.

Council Of PTA Installs Officers

New officers were installed at the meeting Tuesday morning of the City Council of the Parent-Teacher Association, held in the Junior High School. Installing officer was Mrs. L. J. Zachry.

New officers are Mrs. James Lewis, president; Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, vice president; Mrs. George Newberry, secretary; Mrs. Shirley Nickols, treasurer; Mrs. W. L. Boosa, parliamentarian; and Mrs. B. E. Tidwell, historian.

For the ceremony, Mrs. Zachry used a gold chain as a "symbol of unity, each link representing an officer and the members of the Council."

"To me, duties of all PTA officers are important because our objective is the welfare of children," Mrs. Zachry stated, "You (the officers and members) are a part of this chain. If you all work together, it will stay strong. If you are chosen as a member of a standing committee, your link is important. If you fail, the chain is broken and useless."

Following the ceremony, Mrs. W. L. Boosa, outgoing president, presented the gavel to Mrs. Lewis, who adjourned the meeting.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Boosa was presented a gift from the Council of a silver vegetable dish. Mrs. Lewis made the presentation.

A business meeting was also held prior to the installation. Reports from representatives of the various units were given. Mrs. B. E. Tidwell presented a historian's report, telling of the Council's activities during the year. Mrs. Boosa, who led the meeting, announced that she will install the officers of the McLean PTA unit Wednesday.

National Baby Week Stresses Eating Practices Of Children

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

During 1954, over 4 million babies were born in the United States. That gives added significance to the 27th annual National Baby Week to be celebrated April 29 through May 7.

The need of good eating habits for babies and very young children cannot be overstressed, say top pediatricians and nutritionists. It's never too early to begin. The makers of canned baby foods have cut labor and guesswork from baby's nutritionally balanced meals, and newspaper columns and magazines have carried sound feeding advice to American mothers. Therefore, it's far easier today than in grandma's time to start children eating intelligently and happily right from the start. The result will be stronger bodies and more alert minds.

Here are three luncheon recipes for wholesome dishes ideal for toddlers and for mothers too. When children eat with their parents, good eating habits are more easily learned.

Jiffy Sandwich Spread
Combine 1-8 cup (one 3 1/2-ounce container) junior lamb, 2 tablespoons finely shredded carrot and 1 to 2 teaspoons mayonnaise. Season to taste. Serve on whole wheat toast.

Vegetable Soup
One cup junior mixed vegetables, 4 tablespoons instant nonfat dry milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 cup water.

Place junior vegetables in saucepan. Sprinkle combined dry milk powder and flour over soup. Stir until well blended. Add water. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture thickens and is thoroughly heated. Do not allow to boil. Remove from heat. Season to taste.

BABY

When you're up to the point when you think Baby might learn to feed himself, let him try at the beginning of the meal, when he's hungriest. Put down the spoon and the bowl and leave him alone with it for a while.

Many girl babies learn to walk pushing a doll carriage. What's a boy Baby to learn with? First, patience, don't hurry him. Second, he'll probably discover he can push his eating table, if it's on wheels, or his own stroller. At any rate, he'll learn.

Start it early, if you're going to do it, but two smart parents have discovered that their Baby doesn't mind having the light turned off at night because he "helps." At first he only flipped at the switch, but now he does it himself.

Seasoning Roasts
Roast may be seasoned before, during or after cooking because salt penetrates little more than 1/4 inch.

Platters for Roasts
Plan to serve roasts and other large cuts of meat on platters large enough to hold the roast, garnishes and carved slices without crowding the carver. Otherwise, provide an extra platter for the slices. A platter which is too small will make carving difficult and will not show the foods to the best advantage.

West Germany Becomes Free State, West Ally Thursday

By CHARLES M. MCCANN United Press Foreign Analyst A new period in European history will open Thursday when the Federal Republic of Germany becomes a sovereign nation. West Germany, as it is called, will become an ally of the United States and the other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It will start to raise an army of 400,000 men, an air force of 80,000 men and a navy of 20,000 men. Russia will have suffered a momentous defeat in the cold war. At the same time, West Germany's allies will be faced with some new problems. One will be to make sure that Russia does not succeed in the desperate attempt it is sure to make to keep German rearmament from becoming a reality. Limited by Treaty Another will be to keep Germany, with its militaristic tradition, from becoming a danger instead of a safeguard to democracy. The new German army — the "Streitkraefte" or fighting forces — will be strictly limited by treaty. But so was the Wehrmacht of the years between the two world wars. Adolf Hitler just tore up the treaty. For the present, however, and for the foreseeable future, Soviet Russia is the threat. Every step which West Germany takes in the process of rearmament will make the danger of a third world war more remote. Russia has shown how deeply it fears West German rearmament. It fought every step of the long, painful process of writing and ratifying the rearmament and accompanying treaties. It has denounced its treaties of alliance with Great Britain and France. Russian Desperation It is about to form a joint military command with its European satellites as a retort to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. At the same time, the Kremlin is now trying a new tack — the treaty to restore to Austria the sovereignty it lost when Hitler seized it in 1938. Dispatches from Vienna, where treaty negotiations are being conducted, say the Allied delegates are most hopeful that Russia will agree to an acceptance treaty. If that happens, it will be merely another indication of Russia's desperation over the German situation. Russia's sole reason for even thinking of concluding an Austrian treaty is the hope that it will sabotage German rearmament. If an Austrian treaty is signed, Russian occupation troops will leave. The Kremlin's idea would be to use the treaty as bait, telling West Germans that the Red army would leave East Germany, and the country could be unified, if only the Federal Republic turned its back on the West.

Nannie Doss Called Shrew By Prosecutor

TULSA —UP— County Attorney, J. Howard Edmondson, who wants to try Mrs. Nannie Doss for murder, told a sanity jury Tuesday he will present testimony of a psychiatrist that she is a selfish shrew who killed four husbands for sadistic reasons. In Edmondson's opening statement, he said five psychiatrists and psychologists will testify that Mrs. Doss is sane. If the 50-year-old grandmother is found sane she will go on trial next month for the murder of Sam Doss, her fifth husband, who died after she put rat poison in his breakfast prunes. The defense plans to put on the stand five witnesses who will say Mrs. Doss is insane. If she is declared insane, she will be committed to an institution. Edmondson quoted from Dr. Milford Ungerman's report on Mrs. Doss, which said "she is a shrewd, clever, sharp, calculating, selfish, self-aggrandizing, female whose aggressive behavior under frustration releases her hostility toward men—particularly her husbands—in the form of a sadistic secretive." The 50-year-old giggling grandmother has confessed to poisoning four husbands, and is suspected of the arsenic poisoning of five other members of her family. Mrs. Hazel Dawson, ward superintendent at Eastern Oklahoma hospital, testified Mrs. Doss was subject to periods when she giggled extensively at nothing, followed by periods of deep depression. Mrs. Dawson said Mrs. Doss liked to be the center of attraction, and would put on her best dress and primp before examinations by staff psychiatrists. In her opinion, Mrs. Dawson said, Mrs. Doss is now insane. Dr. George McCoy, a hospital psychologist, testified Monday that Mrs. Doss is insane and incapable of defending herself in a murder trial.

6 Million Salk Shots Shipped Out

NEW YORK —UP— The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Tuesday that it has shipped more than 6 million first-shot doses of Salk anti-polio vaccine and expects to reach the halfway mark or better by the end of this week in its program to immunize first and second-grade children. The foundation has contracted for a total of 18 million cubic centimeters of the vaccine to provide first and second shots for 9 million school children. Each shot uses one cubic centimeter. In the three weeks since the vaccine was licensed for use more than 4 million children have received their first shot, the foundation estimates. Dr. Foard McGinnis, director of the foundation's vaccine program said he is presently compiling figures from manufacturers in an effort to determine how soon the foundation's shipment program can be completed. Fifteen states which have not received their first round of vaccine will receive it this week, and it is expected that the second round shipments may also begin before the end of the week. The second round shipments cannot, however, be completed this week.

Graham Rests From Crusade In Scotland For Golf Week

INVERNESS, Scotland —UP— Billy Graham wound up his all-Scotland crusade in this "capital" of Scotland's highlands and took off Wednesday for a week of "rest and quiet" and some golf. Eight thousand persons braved biting cold and drizzling rain to hear the North Carolina evangelist speak Tuesday night in Bught Park. It was the final meeting of a Scottish campaign that opened in Glasgow March 21 and has taken in meetings in Perth, Edinburgh, Aberdeen and Prestwick as well. Graham and his tea mbeagan a week's vacation Wednesday before moving south for a week's stand in London's Wembley Stadium. From there they go to Europe. Neither Graham nor Jerry Beavan, his aide, would say where they planned to go. Beavan hinted some of the team members were planning to tour the Scottish highlands. Plans Some Golf "I'm not saying where I'm going to spend my holiday because I want rest and quiet so I can prepare a series of fresh addresses for London and the continent," Graham said. "But I hope to get some golf in as well. I can do with a rest." Mrs. Graham and their daughter, Virginia, were with him. Graham said Sunday the Glasgow phase of the campaign—eight meetings a week in the 17,000-capacity Kelvin Hall—had been the most successful crusade he had ever conducted. The number of persons who heard him preach either in person or via leased wires verged on the 3 million mark. Some 52,000 "decalared for Christ."

But a minister who helped organize relays of Graham's service from Glasgow to churches in South on the outskirts of London said that doesn't make him a Graham fan. Shocked at Graham The Rev. Claude Williams, rector of the South Parish church, vetoed a plan by members of his congregation to charter a bus and travel to London to see Graham. "Billy Graham's methods are contrary to mine," Williams said. "His meetings are like football matches. They are treated as entertainment. They are too sensational." Profits Estimated BURBANK, Calif. —UP— Lockheed Aircraft Corp. stockholders were told at the annual meeting Tuesday that profits for the first quarter of 1955 should total about $4 million. President Robert E. Gross said the firm's backlog in orders totaled $1,085,000,000, with $170 million of it in commercial contracts. Good Eyes Big Asset To 'Color Man' At Race Track

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS LAUREL, Md. —UP— If George McKeven were color blind, he might now be working in a glue factory. But George, it so happens, is possessed of fine eyes and can tell dubonnet from bright red. At present, he is doing right well at the Laurel race course as the so-called "color man." It is his business to see that the right jockey gets a leg-up on the right horse beating the wind with the right-colored silks of the right owner. "Listen, mister," the little guy said, "I have to have the eyes of a what-you-may call it, I don't make a mistake. I keep book on 1,000 sets of colors. Every one is different from the other. And suppose I get the fuchsia silks of Langolan Farms mixed up with one of C. V. Whitney's colts in a feature race. Whish and bang—the walls could come in on me!" All of the colors for all of the stables have to be registered with the jockey clubs. Just in case an owner has a colt which runs from track to track. Say an owner comes into Laurel. He must present all of his papers, including the registration of colors. "The jockey isn't supposed to keep tracks of colors," George says. "He may ride for one owner one day and another the next. That's my job. Wrong colors not only confuse the on-looker or bettor, but they could come down on my neck." Supervisor of the jockey quarters here is little Johnny Bejshak, who once sported the silks of Alfred Vanderbilt, when he rode Discovery. The silks in that case were a combination of cerise and white. Under Bejshak are 13 valets, a trainer, a flock of bootshine boys and the above named George McKeven. Johnny gets a lot of help from the valets. A number of them are former jockeys. These little guys have to keep the jockey's gear in shape. Polish the leather, replace worn-out "poppers," or whips and see that the silks are clean. CRMWA Board To Meet Monday

The board of directors of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority of which Pampa is a member, will meet at 10 a. m. Monday in the Hotel Hilton, Plainview. A. A. Meredith, authority secretary, yesterday notified directors of the regular meeting. On the agenda are the report of the Industrial Water Sales Committee, the consideration of alternate financing plans and the transaction of other business, Meredith said. There has been a question of federal and state financing methods which could not be ironed out till the Texas Legislature passed enabling legislation. At last report Gov. Allan Shivers was about to sign the bill. At that, however, authority directors have not yet made a decision on how the proposed dam-and-reservoir project, near Stanford, should be financed—by private funds, public funds, or a combination of the two. B. D. Robison is one of the two Pampans on the board. The other has been Lynn Boyd, who is now Pampa mayor. As late as yesterday, the Pampa City Commission passed over the naming of another man to take Boyd's place on the board.

Texas Senate Honors Oldest Ex-Member

AUSTIN —UP— The Senate Monday honored its oldest living former member, C. V. Terrell, on his 94th birthday. Terrell, elected to the Senate 58 years ago, later served four years as state treasurer, and 15 years as a member or chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission. As a member of the railroad commission, he helped write the law and signed the first order prorating production of crude oil in Texas. He was the first president of the Texas Heritage Foundation, and relinquished that office Tuesday to become president emeritus of the organization. Brig. Gen. Paul Wakefield succeeds him as the new president. Escorted to the rostrum of the Senate president, Terrell made a brief speech and then sat down to the echoing applause of Senate members, personal friends and gallery spectators. Terrell had thanked the lawmakers for "honoring" him. "You do us honor by coming here on your 94th birthday," he was told by Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris.

Diaper Service Operators Predict '55 To Be Wet Year

NEW YORK —UP— Diaper service operators, assembled for the 10th annual convention of their infant industry, had good news from their vital statistics department Wednesday — it looks like 1955 will be a very wet year. The birth rate is the only statistic vital to diaper laundrymen, and prospects are that nearly 4,100,000 babies will bow in as U.S. citizens and potential customers this year. That's almost 100,000 more than 1954. The convention of the Diaper Service Institute of America has drawn more than 300 delegates to the Hotel Statler for four days of chit-chat on what's new in rinse formulas and water softeners and anti-bacteria techniques. Robert Mandel, president of the DISIA and head of a diaper service that helps 7,000 babies on Long Island through these changing times, took time out to measure 10 years of growth in the industry. "The first convention was just a handful of men in a Chicago hotel room in 1946. We have a $75 million a year industry now, and if people keep having babies we'll continue to grow," he said. Although the first diaper service started about 20 years ago, it was not until World War II that the idea began to catch on. After the war, the government encouraged veterans to get into the business as a venture which required comparatively small capital. There are now about 400 diaper services around the country keeping 400,000 babies supplied with up to 100 clean diapers a week. Some of them make deliveries in a 100-mile radius on schedules that are as important to mothers as the daily milk delivery. Mandel is most proud of the DISIA's scientific arm, a fellowship at Texas State College for Women. This involves a testing laboratory for new chemicals and laundering techniques, and acts as sort of a watchdog for the industry. Members of the institute must send a sample laundered diaper to Texas regularly to have it checked for proper sterilization and cleanliness. Read The News Classified Ads

Stomach in Uproar Get fast, soothing relief with PERCY MEDICINE

Advertisement for PLAINS CLEANING featuring a giraffe and text: 'HAVE YOU SEEN SUSAN? SAN ANTONIO —UP— Supplemental irrigation by sprinkler system is being tested by the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education as a possible "cure" for crop damage caused by the Texas drought. The foundation is trying out the system on a 20-acre tract in its San Antonio grass and legume nursery. Dr. C. L. Shrewsbury, associate director, said "many people are beginning to wonder whether the past five-year drought will become normal, or if the rainfall pattern will return to that of previous years. If the drought is permanent, there are going to have to devise a way to meet it." The sprinkler system is being tried to bring the total moisture up to at least an inch per month, Dr. Shrewsbury said. "It is our belief," he said, that "most harm to plant growth during drought is done in months when there is less than one inch of rain. If we could "spread out" the rainfall so that there would be at least an inch a month, I think the countryside would look quite a bit different." Read The News Classified Ads

TOMORROW WILL BE A BIG DAY for our kid baseballers, the boys who'll be participating in the Little League and Pony League this summer.

We hope there will be no disappointments at the meeting since tomorrow has been designated as "cutting down" day in the kid leagues.

The Optimist Club, sponsors of league that will give all the boys the local boys baseball program, who are cut off from the regular rosters a chance to play baseball.

Regular team workouts will be held and games will be played each Saturday.

The plans are to form 12 "Farm League" teams, the same as that are competing in the Western and Eastern Little Leagues and Pony League.

Monogrammed "T" shirts, caps and catching equipment will be furnished each farm team.

There will also be insurance carried on the Farm League participants.

All this, of course, will take money to put the program over.

The Optimists are asking for team sponsors for the Farm Leagues. The sponsors fee in the Farm League has been set at $60.

This amount will only get the Farm League started so far as finances are concerned.

The Optimists will take over from this point.

Anyone who would like to sponsor a Farm League team is asked to contact Johnny Campbell at 5-3737 or 4-7890.

The managers are holding in secret the boys who'll be chosen on the regular team rosters until tomorrow's mass meeting at Kiwanis Club Park.

There was considerable doubt about Hoelt's promise when he lasted only two-thirds of an inning in his first start against the Cleveland Indians and was tagged with a setback.

But Hoelt bounced right back to blank the Indians on three hits and followed with a six-hit triumph over Washington on the Senators.

His most recent success was a 4-2 decision over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday, another six-hitter.

And he won that one despite a stomach disorder which troubled him throughout the morning.

Mass Meeting On Tap For Kid Leagues

A mass meeting of all boys competing in the Pampa Little League and Pony League will be held tomorrow at 5:15 p.m.

The meeting will be held at Kiwanis Softball Park.

Purpose of the meeting is to make final plans for the coming summer.

Managers of the 12 kid teams, eight Little League and four Pony League, will announce their team rosters for the coming season.

Each Little League roster consists of 15 boys while the Pony roster consist of 16.

Complete plans for the "Farm Leagues" will be revealed at the meeting tomorrow. All boys who aren't selected on a regular roster, will be eligible for the Farm League.

Johnny Campbell, chairman of boys work in the Optimist Club, sponsors of the kid baseball program, will direct tomorrow's mass meeting.

A full scale Farm League program is being worked out by the Optimists.

Monogrammed "T" shirts, caps and catching equipment will be furnished each farm team.

There will also be insurance carried on the Farm League participants.

COACH SETS GOAL -- Coach Dwaine Ly on the left, Harvester track coach, sets the bar at the mark he wants his charges, D on Hinton, center, and Jon Cantrell to jump in the state meet at Austin this week end. Lyon has the bar well above the six-foot mark. However, to win this event, a jump of about 6-2 will probably do the trick. Cantrell, in addition to the high jump, will compete in the shot put and discus. (News Photo by T. D. Ellis)

Conway Holds Baffling Lead

Bob Conway slipped 52 percentage points in batting the past week but nevertheless held on to his batting leadership among the Harvester baseballers for the 1955 season.

Conway now sports a .370 average as compared to .442 he held last week.

Conway still leads in runs-batted-in with 13 and is tied with Bill Fulewider with most hits, 20.

Jerald Clark and Fulewider are tied for most runs with 15. Clark is also the second leading hitter with 358.

Following are the Harvester averages:

PHS Thinlies Leave For State Meet

Coach Dwaine Ly and two Harvester tracksters will leave late today for Austin for the state high school track and field meet to be held on the University of Texas campus.

Preliminaries in the state meet will be held Friday with the finals to be unrolled Saturday.

Making the trip will be Jon Cantrell and Don Hinton.

Cantrell, who owns the best shot put mark in the state this season, will be entered in three events at the state meet.

In addition to the shot put, Cantrell will enter the discus and high jump.

Hinton will enter only the high jump.

Cantrell captured the Region 1-A shot put title to qualify for the state meet with a record toss of 55 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Hinton tied with four others for first place in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10 inches. All five boys thus earned a trip to the state meet.

Cantrell bettered his region toss last week with 55 feet 10 inches at the Dallas Invitational meet.

In eight meets this season, Cantrell has set records in six of them.

While in Austin, the Harvester party will be quartered at the Mount Vernon Courts.

Trainer Impressed

CALISTOGA, Calif. --UP-- Jack Stelzner, 55-year-old former trainer of heavyweight Bob Fitzsimmons, was "greatly impressed" Wednesday with the way heavy-weight champion Rocky Marciano handles himself. After watching the champ work five rounds in training here, Stelzner said the Brockton blockbuster was a "throwback to the old days of the bareknuckle boys."

Pollet, Oilers Nip Dukes, 3-2

ALBUQUERQUE, May 3 -- The Pampa Oilers pulled into a second place tie in the West Texas-New Mexico League here Tuesday night when Tom Pollet hurled the Paipans to a 3-2 victory over the Albuquerque Dukes.

The Oiler win, coupled with Lubbock's defeat at El Paso, moved the Oilers into a tie for the runnerup spot with Lubbock.

Manager Grover Seitz' Pampa club was never behind in Tuesday's tilt here. The Oilers grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first inning and after the Dukes tied it up in the second, the visitors went ahead for the second time in the fourth with their second run.

Albuquerque tied it in the fifth at 2-2 and the score remained tied until the Oilers pushed over the winning marker in the eighth.

Paul Halter was the batting star for the Oilers, driving in two of the three Pampa runs including the winning marker in the eighth.

Halter drove Curtis Hardaway home in the first inning and Red Dial in the eighth. Hardaway had walked and moved to second on a wild pitch before Halter drove him home in the first with a single.

In the eighth, Rach Slider opened the inning with a bunt single but was forced at second on Dial's attempted sacrifice bunt. Dial took second when Gil Valentin fumbled Hardaway's grounder and scored the winning run on Halter's line single to right.

Albuquerque threatened in the ninth after two were away when Felix Guzman and Vince Sarubbi hit successive singles. But Pollet

Blue Sox Take Over WT-NM League Lead

The Abilene Blue Sox claimed undisputed possession of first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League Wednesday, and Lubbock and Pampa were dethroned for the second spot, one game behind.

Abilene downed Amarillo 8 to 6 Tuesday night in a battle of home runs while last-place El Paso whipped Lubbock 9 to 4, and Pampa edged Albuquerque 3 to 2. In the fourth game played, Clovis pounded Plainview 15 to 11.

All six Amarillo runs were made on four homers in the first six innings, while two round-trippers accounted for four of Abilene's eight runs. Stan Machinsky slammed two homers for Amarillo and Manager Red McQuillen and Karl Heger contributed one apiece.

Tom Barton and Charley Goza homered for Abilene, the latter's a three-run blast.

Pampa scored an unearned run in the eighth inning to get its winning score against Albuquerque. Albuquerque shortstop Gil Valentin made an error on a ground ball, and this set things up for Paul Halter's single that scored the run.

Clovis pounded 19 hits off two Plainview pitchers.

Tom Gallagher, playing first base with Manager Frank Benites out of the lineup, led the Pioneer attack with four hits, one a double. Pete Trabucco and Paul Flores homered for Clovis and I. B. Palmer homered for Plainview. Don Stokes got four singles for the Ponies.

Wednesday night's schedule: Lubbock at El Paso; Abilene at Amarillo; Pampa at Albuquerque, and Plainview at Clovis.

Rookie Bats Tribe Into League Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

An obscure rookie pinstriped reminded the Yankees Wednesday--just in case they had forgotten--that Cleveland still is "boss" of the American League.

The rookie who drove home the lesson literally in the Indians' 7-4 victory over the Yankees Tuesday night was catcher Hank Foiles, who once belonged to the Bronx Bombers but was cut afloat.

Foiles, whose greatest recommendation heretofore was that he was Herb Score's regular receiver with Indianapolis of the American Association last year, ran wild against the Yankees in a four-run seventh inning rally that enabled the Indians to beat their old nemesis, Ed Lopat, and keep control of the American League lead.

Lopat led 4-3 until the seventh but Bobby Avila's single with the bases full in the frame tied the score. Foiles, a husky 23-year-old with the inclinations and dimensions of a fullback, charged all the way around from second base and straight at Yogi Berra, who was waiting at the plate with the ball in his hand. The 200-pound Cleveland rookie slammed into Yogi, knocking the ball out of his grasp all the way back to the screen. Foiles and Al Smith both scored while Berra was collecting himself, and Avila, who went to third on the error, came home with the fourth run of the frame on a single by Vic Wertz. Mike Garcia was the winning pitcher.

Kalime Homers

Southpaw Billy Hoelt's six-hitter and Al Kalime's two-run homer gave the Tigers a 4-2 decision over the Red Sox, who went down to their sixth straight defeat. The Tigers, remaining a half game behind the Indians, spotted Boston two runs in the third inning but scored one run in the fourth on a walk and Bill Tuttle's double, then chased Ike Delock with two more runs in the fifth.

Minnie Mino's two-run single in the seventh inning gave Kansas City a 4-3 triumph over Baltimore which had gone out in front on homers by Hoot Evers and Chuck Diering. Wilson's game-winning wallop came at the expense of Erv Falck. Ed Busby, who relieved Art Cederhill in the eighth, was the winning pitcher.

Giants Falter

Bob Rush's smooth four-hit pitching plus three booming triples gave the up-and-coming Cubs a 6-0 victory over the faltering Giants. Rookie Bob Speake's triple with the bases full in the first inning was enough to beat Jim Hearn but Dee Fondy added a pair of triples later. It marked the Cubs' fourth straight victory and moved them to within 1 1/2 games of the National League-leading Dodgers, who were idle. The loss left the world-champion Giants eight full games off the pace.

Southpaw Dick Littlefield, Pittsburgh's most effective pitcher last year, hurled a fine seven-hitter in beating Milwaukee, 4-0, for the Pirates' third straight conquest. Littlefield registered seven strikeouts, getting Eddie Mather a three-time, and collected two of Pittsburgh's eight hits off loser Warren Spahn and two relievers.

Four home runs powered Cincinnati to a 7-5 triumph over Philadelphia. Ted Kuszewski hit his sixth and seventh homers, Gus Bell his third and Chuck Harmon his second as the Phils dropped their fifth straight. Bud Podbielan, fourth Cincinnati pitcher, retired the last 11 men in order to gain the win.

Tuesday's star -- Southpaw Dick Littlefield of Pittsburgh for his seven-hit 4-0 shutout over Milwaukee.

There were few store windows without something to offer the derby fans on the way to the races, or less practical gear and gadgets for racegoers. Jockey caps, miniature horses of all descriptions, gay scarves in racing silk colors with past derby winners emblazoned on them, all were for sale.

Newsboys hawked scratch sheets as well as the newspapers, and it was a backward drug store indeed that didn't offer special box lunches to take to the track, or a special on cheap binoculars.

A railroad strike now in its eighth week hampered movement of passenger trains in and out of the city, but railroad officials said that 23 special trains loaded with derby fans would pull into Louisville Friday and Saturday.

Two of the special trains brought added color to the crowd. One was the Texas & Pacific special which each year brings a crowd of white-hatted, whooping Texans, who live for three days in the pullmans, parked in the railroad yards.

Another train, dubbed the Filly Special, was bringing several hundred members of a Chicago businessmen's sorority, which has made the derby trip an annual tradition.

The real all-out invasion won't start until Thursday, when hotel and motel reservations take effect. Such reservations must be made far in advance, and must be for three nights. Rooms run from $30 a night on up.

Clint Murchison, the Texas multi-millionaire whose wife is part owner of derby candidate Jean's Joe, will arrive with his party Friday.

Kazanski's departure cut the Phillies' roster to 30 players.

Phils Option 'Bonus Baby'

PHILADELPHIA--UP--Ted Kazanski, the $100,000 bonus player who never lived up to his price tag with the Phillies, was optioned Wednesday to Syracuse of the International League.

Signed off the Detroit sandlots in 1953, Kazanski is making his second trip back to the minors. The 21-year-old shortstop batted only 135 in 39 games for the Phillies last year and appeared in only two games this season.

Uranium Investment Pays Off To Tune Of 10,000 To One

CAMP CHAFFEE, Ark.—UP—A career Army officer with 29 years' service took a 10,000-to-1 chance and invested $3,000 in a venture that promises to pay off to the tune of a million dollars. Col. Benjamin E. Thurston spent a 10-day leave prospecting for uranium in the New Mexico desert country in April. He and a partner, Mrs. Jeanette V. Martin of Farmington, N. M., staked out some 500 20-acre claims during the 10 days.

Since the colonel and Mrs. Martin registered their claims, they have received several offers from mining corporations and speculators, the latest totalling "well over a million dollars."

Turn Down Offers So far, they've turned them all down. They expect to sell the rights rather than mine the claims but they've adopted a "wait and see" policy in anticipation of higher bids.

The excursion cost about $3,080 for equipment, including jeeps and a scintillometer, an instrument for detecting radio-active deposits which is far more sensitive than geiger counters. About $600 of the total went for wages for the other members of the prospecting party, who were allowed to stake claims of their own in the rich area on the last day out.

The colonel, recently stationed here with the Fifth Armored Division as assistant training inspector, had confined his previous ex-

Ag Man Says U.S. Needs Water Policy

WASHINGTON —UP— Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Ervin L. Peterson said Tuesday the United States needs "a nationwide water policy and resources policy" under which private interests and local, state and federal governments "can all work in harmony and accord."

Any federal activity and any national water policy "must honor fully the right of any user" which is granted by a state law, he said, and it must also "recognize the authority of the states to control and regulate the use, appropriation and distribution of water within their geographic boundaries."

Finally, a nationwide policy must "provide the framework within which the states can resolve conflicts arising between themselves for the use of water," he said.

Peterson spoke at a water supply session of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce 43rd annual meeting. A cabinet committee appointed by President Eisenhower is now working on a national water resources policy.

He said there is "more water than in all man-made reservoirs" and cited as need for all forest lands to be "brought under sound management, both in the interest of the maximum yield of forest products and in the interest of water conservation."

The country must also continue to move ahead with construction of man-made water storage and distribution facilities, he said.

At the same session, Harry E. Jordan, secretary of the American Water Works Association, said personal demands for water are expected to increase by two-thirds during the 25 years from 1950 to 1975.

Cullen Wins Alger Award

HOUSTON —UP— Philanthropist Hugh Roy Cullen, a living example of an Horatio Alger saga, was one of 10 prominent Americans to win the annual Horatio Alger award.

Winners were announced Monday by the American Schools and Colleges Association, which makes the annual award on the basis of student balloting all over the country.

Cullen, who has poured many millions of dollars of his wealth into the University of Houston, was named on the basis of his climb-up success ladder from the traditional "rags" to "riches."

Cullen said he would be unable to personally accept the award at an awards banquet in New York May 10. It will be accepted for him by publishers of Cullen's recent biography.

Untouchability Outlawed

NEW DELHI, India —UP— The upper house of the Indian parliament Monday approved a measure making the practice of "untouchability" punishable by law. The government-sponsored bill already had been approved by the lower house. India outlawed "untouchability" in 1950, but the measure, without penalties, had not proved strong enough to stamp out the practice.

Linda Christian Granted Divorce

HOLLYWOOD —UP— Linda Christian was awarded a divorce Tuesday from Tyrone Power after sobbing on the witness stand that the film star was "cool and distant" and preferred to "be alone."

The beautiful red-haired actress was granted an interlocutory divorce decree and a whopping property settlement after a 15-minute hearing before Superior Judge Edward Brand in Santa Monica.

She also received custody of two children, with Power getting two months visitation rights each year. Attorneys for Miss Christian refused to estimate the amount of alimony and property settlement, but friends said it would be more than $1 million.

'Dancing Waters' Gives Stiff Competition To Major Stars

By ALINE MOSBY LAS VEGAS, Nev. —UP— Carmen Miranda, Danny Thomas and other big money entertainers here are being upstaged by a new star that dances, is pretty but has no sex appeal.

The curly chorines and even Liberace's $50,000 act get stiff competition from this new celebrity — plain, ordinary water. The act is called "Dancing Waters," five superclassical fountains. Nightly it stops the show at the new Royal Nevada hotel, that is, if you like a musical shower with your steaks and Scotch.

While the orchestra plays and the tourists oh and ah, the colored waters cavort to the mellow, waltz and skip around.

"Dancing Waters" is not a new idea. It was developed in Germany in 1952 and is a veteran of New York's Radio City Music Hall and state fairs around the country, from Shreveport to Albuquerque. This is the first time the waters routine has been used in a nightclub act with stars.

"I developed it with an electrician and we first showed it at the Berlin Industrial Exposition," explained Hans Hasslach, who brought the dancing waters to this country two years ago.

Hasslach operates the gurgling gadget, and his actions are so interesting, the audience often watches him instead of the water. The $250,000 piece of plumbing consists of pipes in various designs installed slightly below stage level on the back of the Royal Nevada stage. How the chorus girls keep from falling into the pipes during their routines is another feat.

The pipes are connected by wire to 400 buttons on a console that looks like a pipe organ. Hasslach "plays" the buttons and the streams of water—38 tons worth—leap into the air.

"There are 20 basic combinations of water designs and I can mix them in various ways," the German impresario added.

The current headliner at the hotel is opera star Helen Traubel, a singer of renown who is not used to being upstaged. Yet the dancing waters is given the choice closing spot in the show. Opening night Miss Traubel even introduced the waters and faded off.

Most birds move their wings in unison, but the swift, a champion speedster, beats its wings alternately.

Teen Topics

By MARLENE KOLB

It's hayride time again! And believe me, they are popping up all over. Tomorrow night the youth of the First Baptist Church are going to climb aboard what in olden times would have been a hay wagon but is now a hay truck.

And PHS's Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y Clubs are having one Saturday night, believe, Can see that big yellow moon already.

And speaking of Tri-Hi-Y, congratulations and best wishes for success to new officers Carolyn Miller, president; Joa Robertson, first vice-president; Peggy Olivio, second vice-president; Cynthia Duncan, secretary; Carol Carnes, treasurer; Diane Robinson, historian, and Jeneane Price, reporter. They will take the reins of the Christian organization next fall.

We never quite outgrow that "Mmmm goodies coming" feeling that we get when the tinkle of the ice-cream man's bell is heard. Arlene Hazel made beau Don Robinson stop in the middle of the street the other day after school so that she could get some of the "goodies."

Contrary to the belief of some, Pampa High School's constitution isn't just there because every school ought to have one. It is an operating, living, growing thing. An amendment which if passed will put into effect the system of Initiative and Referendum advocated and begun last year by James Phippen—was voted on by the student body Monday. This is what it says:

"The right of a specified initiative number of students, which shall be 30, to unite in proposing laws and expressing ideas to the Student Council which after due consideration must submit the same to the student body for their approval or disapproval."

It's just plain old Democracy in action.

Gals, there are just all kinds of ways to find out the gruesome (?) details about your boyfriends—now the way he wears his hair gives a clue about what to expect. Left part — wants your love, but doesn't know how to get it. Middle part — he doesn't care — girls are just a passing fancy. Right part — he's in love, but bashful. No part — he's a dirt. Pig snarf — desperate — watch out, girls! Uncombed — two timer — don't trust him. Crew cut — he's full of fun, but bashful. Princeton — he acts like a wolf when he's in a crowd, but is just trying to cover up his true bashfulness.

Congrats to this month's Civic Club guests: Lions Club Sweetheart — Betty Osborne; Jr. Rotarian — Gary Griffin; Jr. Kiwanian — Ted Swindle.

And laurel wreaths to Jo Tooley, senior, who has won second place in a theme contest sponsored by the Science Department of Texas Tech, Lubbock. Her topic was "Medical—Technology"—and her award will be a very famous, according to Jo, chemistry book with her name engraved on it.

Talk about scrambled eggs! You haven't seen nothin' yet until you've seen PHS's halls these last few days. Seniors are causing it all by trying to exchange personal cards with everyone all at the same time just as fast as they can. (But it's fun.)

"From theme, prom theme; who knows the prom theme?" And such tight-lipped people — nobody will tell. Just have to wait 'till Friday, May 13, to find out. It will be, following tradition, a program dance — so in case you need to brush up on the proper way to go about these things.

Come, come to the Fieldhouse Friday night. The annual all-school Choral Spring Festival will begin there and then at 8 p.m. Just wait till you hear 500 voices booming out. Come, come.

Isn't spring in our Panhandle just simply great? Mmmm good!

Channel Swimming Boom Expected In Dover, England

By ROBERT MUSEL.

DOVER, England — UP—This little town, flanked by the towering white cliffs, smugly expects a boom year in English Channel swimming this summer despite the predictions that, as a sport or stunt, the hard way across the water is finished.

"They say that every year, pay no attention," grinned the old salt in front of Annie's East Cliff hotel, headquarters for channel swimmers.

"My granddad says they were claiming no one would have any reason for trying after Mathew Webb swam it in 1855 — and there have been hundreds following him."

The lure of swimming in this moody, chilly ditch escapes most people. But it must have a terrific pull because some of those who have tried it before are returning for another dose of self-inflicted suffering.

Numbered by Agony

And how they suffer! There are, of course, super athletes like Florence Chadwick of San Diego who finished her 20-odd mile swim with a sprint.

But most of the starters, especially those who fail, are little more than numbing automatons, numbed, by agony, by the time they are hauled from the water.

Nevertheless, Bill Floyd, the Folkestone cop who is head of the channel swimming association, says that he has had notifications from 30 prospective starters and more are expected before the water warms up enough to sustain human life in early July. Floyd is cautious but he feels this 80th anniversary (dated from Webb's swim) will set a record.

Dover's unique industry already is stirring to life. The Burwill family, which provides pilots and boats for swimmers, is laying in a supply of grease and first aid equipment — the grease protects swimmers from the cold.

Firsts Possible

The East Cliff hotel is ordering hundredweights of steak and potatoes — the staple pre-swimming diet. Strong-armed young men are practicing to row along in the training swims. Retired seamen confide to visitors that a good observation point is just near the ruined Roman lighthouse above the East Cliff which lit the way for Caesar's galleys 1900 years ago.

There may be several firsts this year. Miss Chadwick, the handsome, former stenographer, is going to try to swim the channel both ways non-stop and set a woman's record each way.

Dr. George Brewster, 64, is going to make his 15th or 16th try to become the oldest successful swimmer.

Roberto Maddalena of the Argentine, who is 13, will try to become the youngest successful swimmer. He will be 14 when and if he makes the attempt. The present youngest is Philip Mickman, 17, of Britain.

Usual speed of common birds in flight is about 25 miles per hour.

"String beans, carrots, beets, tomatoes—I hope the weeds and bugs kill these before they ever get ripe!"
